Phone 145 when you want printing. Atty. Fred Berry was a Tuesday passenger to Omaha.

Order the best coal from the Anchor Grain Company.

J. C. Pawelski, City Dray, makes every train. Trunks or passengers. Phone 15.

Artistic piano playing taught at Alexander's studio—Gaertner & Beckenhauer.

Single Comb Brown Leghorn roosters for sale. Route 3, Wayne, Neb. 1-5. ALBERT DORING.

While the operation on Engineer Jack Monroe, at Bloomfield last Thursday, was successful insofar as gall stones were concerned, it was found that he had an abscess on the liver and his friends will be very sorry to learn that he has probably made "his last run."

Representative Bartels came home from Lincoln last Friday, about sick with the grip or some similar complaint.

J. H. Mitchell was a visitor from Wakefield last Friday.

The Democrat man ran across John Owen, in Omaha, last Monday. John said he was now about all in, had a few horses in the western part of the state that he planned on railroading with next year. The family lives in Omaha.

No Sickness at College.

There have been all kinds of rumors about over cases of disease at the State Normal school. President Conn states most emphatically that there is no contagious disease at the college nor has been at any time and that students are probably safer there than running about the country.

W. H. Hognewood and wife went to Sioux City Saturday to spend Sunday with their son George.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Worthing arrived home Saturday from Colorado.

Mrs. J. P. Larsen and daughter went to Wakefield Saturday.

W. W. Beistine was in town from Winside Saturday.

Harry Hammond, formerly publisher of the Randolph Reporter, was in the city Sunday enroute to Randolph from South Dakota.

Mrs. F. M. Skeen and son Frank were in Sioux City Saturday.

Senator Kohl came home Saturday and remained here to meet the committee from the legislature on Tuesday.

Seven-room house for sale and 40 acres of land adjoining Wayne for rent. HENRY STALLSMITH.

F. M. Skeen came home from Sioux City Saturday night.

Mrs. Jas. Leahy and baby went to Omaha Tuesday morning.

John Massie was in Sioux City Tuesday to see his brother-in-law, Wm. Challen, who is recovering all right from the loss of a leg.

D. A. Jones was a Tuesday passenger to Omaha.

Homer Skeep of Butte was a Tuesday passenger to Florida and said he expected to take a trip to the canal.

Parties at the Flège sale say there was an immense crowd there and everything sold at a ridiculously high figure, old machinery bringing nearly as much as new. The buyers no doubt want it for souvenirs.

FOR RENT—Well improved 320-acre farm. Enquire of JOHN S. LEWIS, Jr.

Mrs. G. W. Griffith left Tuesday for Powell, S. D., to visit her parents.

Mrs. F. M. Griffith and daughter, Mrs. Raley, left Tuesday for places in Iowa and from there to Frankfort, Ky.

Mrs. E. B. Littlefield and daughter from Vermillion S. D., were arrivals first of the week to visit at the Dr. Hecker home.

Mrs. Al. Sherbahn and Mrs. Geo. Heady were Sunday morning passengers to Norfolk.

Ellis Kenrick was down from Hoskins Saturday to appear against the young man named Shannon who stole an overcoat, gloves, and $35 in money from his home three weeks ago. The lad was given 30 days in jail by Judge Britton.

D. S. NoVicker is again crippled up with a bad ankle. If we didn't know Mac so well—but what's the use, it must be his ankle.

FOR SALE—Some good residence property; also good quarter-block in Wayne. FISHER & JOHNSON, over Postoffice, Wayne, Neb.

Chris Nelson has a sore arm in a sling. No, he didn't get the "sling" at Winside.

The school board held a meeting Saturday and discussed the matter of closing the schools on account of scarlet fever. It was argued that there were only two or three cases of the disease under quarantine and that to close the schools meant to close the churches, theatres and all public gatherings, therefore the board will wait until the horse is stolen before locking the door.

If you have a farm or city property for sale, or want to buy, see Fisher & Johnson, the new real estate firm, over the P. O. Phone 374.

FOR SALE—Several extra good Wayne county farms. FISHER & JOHNSON, over Postoffice, Wayne, Neb.

Those interested in a musical education should inquire of Mr. Alexander at Gaertner & Beckenhauer's. Piano tuning a specialty.

H. E. Evans was a visitor from Bloomfield last Friday and Saturday and while making a call at this office stated that he would likely move back to Wayne about March 1st. Mr. Evans is a mighty good sort of a man to associate with every day in the year.

Al Martin was in town from Winside Friday.

Lee Buroker was in Norfolk last Friday on music business.

Mabbott & Root, in new, down town, quarters have a very neat barber shop. Plenty of room for "waiters" but you don't have to wait long for these expert tonsorial artists.

Just arrived, a big shipment of Wilson Bros. shirts and Gordon hats. GAMBLE, SENTER & CO.

H. E. Owen of Cheyenne was in Wayne Tuesday visiting his brothers Ed. and L. M.

Emigrate!

Sam Temple is much better this week and now thinks he "can come back" and vote for Bryan again in 1912!

Senator Fred Volpp tells the Democrat that he never in his life had met the editor of the Winside Tribune, and is a loss to know how Editor Becker ever learned so much about him, but feels very grateful to the Tribune for the favors shown, as such compliments always help a man in politics.

The weather man is certainly doing some freak stunts early in the year.

Both Bryan and Roosevelt are behaving themselves remarkably well of late; they are making less noise than our sleepless teamster. But then they have no Fallertons to brag about.

A funny thing that happened in the Millard hotel fire at Omaha Monday morning was a big-nosed, aristocratic looking Jew, who got down stairs factlessly and excitedly assisted in caring for the frantic ladies. After the "rush" was over the gentleman was very much shocked to find that he had no pants on. When he came back with his pants he also had a quart bottle with which to "put the fire out."

Every one knows that God hates a hypocrite, a spy and an informer, yet in Sioux City there are "good christians" who hire young men to do the dirty work they haven't got "sand" enough to do themselves.

Des Moines woman has sued for a divorce because her husband compelled her to live in a chicken coop. He must have thought she was an old hen-pecker.

One Fort Dodge, Iowa, man has signed his name four times in connection with the saloon petition in that town. First he signed the petition, then he signed a withdrawal, then the poor cuss signed a withdrawal of his withdrawal and then the anti-saloon boys coaxed him to sign a withdrawal of a withdrawal of a withdrawal. All of which shows, says the Manson Democrat, that one Fort Dodge man hasn't as much brains as the proverb declares that the Almighty gave to geese. That's the kind of business you'll be doing in Nebraska when you get county option.

If ever there was a man needed lynching, yea, burning at the stake or boiled in oil, it's a brute named Stehr at Norfolk who beat his little step-son, left him in a shed so his feet froze and then rotted off, the poor child dying a day or two after physicians amputated the rotten members. Every man in Norfolk ought to be happy to pull a rope that would choke the monster out of existence.

A Kansas City painter, had lost his job and was down to his last twenty-five cents in coin when a letter came telling him he was heir to an estate of $800,000 left by his grandfather. Probably his last condition will prove worse than his first, but he will at least be able to paint the town red if he wants to.

A Carroll woman gave her husband a kitchen shower recently, one skillet striking him directly over the right eye.

Baby was being baptized, and everybody was complimenting the happy parents. "I believe," said the proud mother, "that he is going to be a great politician some day." "Why?" asked the ruddy-faced father. "Well, because he crawls out of everything so easily," said the wife, smiling up into her husband's face.

The population of the United States is 93,402,161. When inclined to feel gay with importance just remember that you are the figure 1 at the end.

A Missouri wife 18 years of age is suing for a divorce. She ought to have it and enough alimony to buy a doll.

A gentleman noticing that sign on the Crystal, the other day remarked that down in Kansas in a little town of 500 that he visited there were over fifty cases of smallpox. Wayne is lucky in this regard at least, but then people can't have all these diseases at once, nohow.

If it's money you want ask Carnegie for it. He has coin to give away.

Sunny Jim Sherman says he won't run again, either. If none of the big rascals run for office there will be a chance for the honest ones.

"Early habits will stick to a man," a customer at the German store said the other day, as he left his jug to be refilled, that Herman Mildner invariably asked: "Do you want the $2.80 or $3.00?"

Bixby says: "The most ludicrous sentiment in the world is to feel sorry for yourself because you had a hard time of it when a boy. You ought to be glad that you lived through the ordeal and are having it easier now." It may look like "ludicrous sentiment" to the boys of today, but it wasn't so funny when we were going through it.

Looks as though Speaker Joe Cannon would have several "damns" coming before they get through with the vote sellers in his Illinois district.

There is certainly a conspiracy on foot to fool the coal man out of some business.

Norfolk News: A Norfolk woman who in the month of eleven children heard that if a boy were named after his father, he'd be the last child. The eleventh boy is named after his father. "I can't do any more than try it," she said.

It's a bum guess. Tried it at my house and they kept coming in the same old way, by dad.

The new president of the United States Steel Corporation is to receive only $30,000 per annum. Wait until his "expense bill" is turned in before you feel sorry for him.

"Mother, may I go out to flirt?"
"No, not as you did in the past;
But you may go if you put on your hobble skirt."
"I will keep you from getting too fast," says the Judge, by dad.

The price of sugar has also melted some.

Joy for the girls. The Chinamen are going to cut off their queues. Rats will be cheaper than paint.

It is claimed that there are eight million children in the United States who do not go to Sunday school at all. That's a hard slam at Santa Claus.

The preacher wrote an article for a Madison paper, citing: "Christians are known by their fruits," but the devil of a typeset made it read truer to nature: "Christians are known by their faults."

A nickel plate conductor has inherited an estate valued at $100,000 because he was polite to a lady passenger. It may come to pass some day that a man at a ticket window will be polite. If it ever happens, he ought to inherit a million. Record-Herald.

A Boston boy was expelled from school because he refused to learn to spell. Why not send him to college?

Wayne only got a small piece, after all. Carnegie, we notice, has given ten millions for peace.

The railroad train dispatchers are the latest to go after an increase in wages. We hope they will push it along. After a while it may get down to where us reporters, who have to "make the trains," can ask for an increase.

In the South Dakota legislature the "hatpin" bill was lost, notwithstanding the fact that a twenty-seven inch pin was on exhibition.

Doctors have discovered two new diseases—sulphhemoglobinemia and methemoglobinemia. There is nothing very bad about the diseases, but if the doctor stops to tell you what you've got he will have to stay to dinner.

Sugar alone will sustain life for a considerable length of time—if any person wants to live badly enough to tackle it. Price of things to eat will drop here—later.

Chicago man claims to have talked with an angel and predicts that the world will come to an end within the next year. Most of us, however, have but little faith in an angel that would be caught monkeying around in Chicago.

When a woman charged with a crime is at the mercy of a female detective, God help her. The other kind is bad enough.

A Kansas law-maker is urging the passage of a bill designed to prohibit the "wearing of tightness on the stage or in public by any woman." Now, while they are on the stage, it would be an easy matter to determine whether tightness are worn, and even that scanty bit of raiment would look better than nothing, but who is to determine whether or not they are worn by women, "in public" on the streets, in the churches, hotels and elsewhere? Does the Kansas law-maker want a job where he has to be shown? In this town there are a lot of women who wear "tightness," but they would be as hard to detect, perhaps, as the freaks who tote guns.

A young man came to the city a few weeks ago to take a position, and being good looking and agreeable several of the girls rather speculated on his future. One mother of a marriageable daughter invited him to their home, and was more than agreeable to the affable stranger—who said nothing but "sawed wood." The new man's wife arrived in town the other day, and oh, what a different aspect aspirations took on.

I know not what the preacher said—
His words fell muffled in a dream,
By clause and clause, from head to head,
He traced a sad and subtle scheme.

—Providence Bulletin.

I know not what the preacher said—
His words on me fell dull and flat,
Because the woman just ahead
Refused to doff her monstrous hat.

—Los Angeles Express.

I know not what the preacher said—
My mind was in an awful state;
I'd come to church without a "red"
To place on the collection plate.

—Des Moines Capital.

I know not what the preacher said—
My mind was in a perfect whirl,
For there beside the tenor sat
My roguish, smiling choir girl.

—Cherokee Democrat.

Why wouldn't Ballinger be a good running mate for Taft in 1912?

Postmaster McNeal was feeling happier Sunday. The quarantine was raised on his home Saturday night.

The New York board of health recently seized nine tons of bad eggs. The board no doubt let go of them as quickly. Why not ship them to central America to start something?

I know just what the preacher said,
'Twas hell, hot fire for me;
At Omaha, this week, by dad,
The guilty, they did flee.

Important Notice.

To the few remaining, whose accounts with me are still unsettled, I wish to say that it will confer a favor to have them call during the next week, as it is important with me to have my business closed. Very respectfully,
DAN HARRINGTON.

Please Pay Up.

Don't Miss The AUCTION SALE OF Winter Goods To-Morrow and Saturday

(The Last Two Days)
All the Winter Goods Must Go
This is the Greatest Money Saving Opportunity of the whole year

The winter goods will be sold at auction to the Highest Bidder. For the last 3 days we have been auctioning these fine new goods at ridiculously low prices and we shall continue to sell them that way---if necessary, even at a loss---until they are all gone. These are not old, shop-worn, out of style goods, but good, brand new winter merchandise bought this year.

Why Do We Sell these Good Goods in this Unusual way and at such a Loss?

Because we know from experience that it PAYS to keep a stock like this clean, fresh, new and up-to-date. Next fall our winter goods will all be brand, spick-span new (you'll like such goods---everybody likes new goods) and you'll come here to trade. You'll never buy any moth eaten underwear, tendered wool blankets, out of date shoes, spoiled rubber overshoes, out of style coats or old goods of any kind at AHERN'S.

We are going to KEEP our stock new and fresh and up-to-date. We are going to sell this year's goods this year (even at a loss) and you'll like our store best next year. This is your opportunity to save big money on all these goods. Coats, Furs, Underwear, Blankets, Wool Hose, Shoes, Overshoes, Sweaters, Etc., Etc., all go up at auction today and Saturday at 2 o'clock, and will be sold to the highest bidder. Come early and look the goods over.

Clyde Oman Auctioneers.

G. & C. Merriam Co., Springfield, Mass.

The Prohibition Movement in Epitome.

Dr. Henry Smith Williams in the Ladies Home Journal.

First as to the efficacy of prohibitory laws. Theoretically, and arguing from the history of sumptuary laws in general, it could not well be expected that an attempt to control by drastic laws so deep-seated an appetite as the desire for intoxicants would be effective. But fortunately we are not confined to theories; the question has been put to the test again and again, and the results are matters of record that, in their larger aspects at least, are scarcely open to dispute. It is a matter of history, for example, that a widespread and ardent crusade in the interests of prohibition was prosecuted in the United States more than half a century ago, with such practical results that between the years 1846 and 1856 no fewer than sixteen of the thirty-one States had voted prohibition. Prohibitory laws were in the year 1855 on the statute books of the following States: Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Indiana, Michigan, Iowa, Illinois, and Wisconsin and the (then) Territories: Nebraska and Minnesota.

"From Maine to the Rocky Mountains," says Doctor Crafts, "every Northern State outlawed the barroom by legislature or plebiscite, or both, between 1845 and 1855, with the single exception of New Jersey, which gave its people local option in 1847 for one year."

That, it has been said, was a veritable wave of prohibition; but it was a wave that soon receded. The fact that these prohibitory laws were soon repealed in every State but one suggests rather unequivocally that the laws were not regarded as having accomplished what was expected of them; and it is noteworthy that the generation which witnessed this fiasco was allowed to pass from the scene before it became possible to arouse public interest and enthusiasm to the pitch of again testing prohibition on so comprehensive a scale.

Nevertheless prohibition experiments of one kind or another continued to be tested from time to time in various parts of the country. In 1880 Kansas incorporated prohibition into its State Constitution by popular vote. Maine followed four years later, and Iowa soon after. The voters of Iowa soon became dissatisfied with the law and so modified it as to permit local option.

Local option was, indeed, the channel through which the new wave of prohibition found inlet. The first prominent victory indicative of the new movement was won in the year 1896, when Kentucky passed a local-option law under which, in due course, Bourbon County itself went "dry" for local and retail sales. The ensuing decade saw the phenomenally rapid spread of local option until in the aggregate vast territories were under this form of prohibitory law. Then came the new wave of State-wide prohibition; this time first appearing in the South, where Georgia went dry in 1907; followed within three years by Oklahoma, Alabama, North Carolina, Mississippi and Tennessee. Maine, Kansas and North Dakota already had prohibitory laws.

Therefore no fewer than nine States now prohibit the sale of liquor within their bounds. Meantime the spread of local option has continued, and prohibition charts show that about half the territory of the United States is now nominally "dry." Specifically it is claimed that forty-one million people now live in nominally "dry" territory.

If we were to seek evidence as to the actual "dryness" of these regions, State-wide or local, we should get devout testimony according to the bias of the reporter. There is, however, so it seems to me, a source of conclusive evidence that lies entirely without the bonds of personal prejudice. This is found in the bald statistics of the liquor production and consumption in the United States. Thanks to our revenue laws these statistics are unequivocal. So far as they err at all they underestimate the amount of liquor through not being able to include the products of illicit stills.

Now what are the facts of liquor production for, let us say, the past twenty years, during which time the prohibition movement had made such spectacular advances?

Why, briefly these: In 1890 the amount of liquor consumed in the United States aggregated less than a billion gallons, the per-capita consumption being 15.63 gallons. In 1907 the amount of liquor consumed had risen above the two-billion-gallon mark, the per-capita consumption being 23.63 gallons.

Throughout this period there has been a steady increase both in the aggregate quantity and in the per-capita consumption. And this, be it recalled, is the very decade which the prohibitionists point to with such enthusiasm as witnessing the rapid spread of local option.

In 1908 and 1909, however, there was a distinct decline from the high mark of 1907, and it did appear that the long-awaited turn in the tide had come. But when the new statistics for the fiscal year ending June, 1910, came to light all the hopes aroused by the statistics of the previous two years were rudely shattered. For it appeared that the recession of those two years was only a momentary ebbing of the tide as if to gather new force; and the flood of alcohol now rose again close to the "high tide" of 1907.

In the past twenty years, then, the consumption of liquor has more than doubled in the United States. In 1890 there was comparatively little territory under prohibitory laws; in 1910 about half the territory of the United States is under such laws. We are forced to conclude either that one-half the territory of the country now consumes more than double what the entire territory consumed twenty years ago, or else to make the alternative concession that the "dry" territories are far enough from being "dry" in any liberal sense.

In point of fact, the conclusion seems forced upon us that the passing of State-wide prohibitory laws and the accessions to the locally "dry" territory in the years 1908-9 did for the moment restrict the sale of liquor in these territories; but that only a few months were required in which to establish new channels of illicit distribution, after which the traffic went ahead with renewed impetus.

The Merit of H. R. No 133.

The World-Herald is very favorably impressed with the bill introduced in the Nebraska legislature by Representative Evans of Adams county, providing for a closed primary, for primary election of delegates to national conventions, and for preferential expression, at such primaries, on candidates for nomination for president and vice president.

Though this bill is introduced by a republican we think it thoroughly democratic. And it ought to appeal as much to republicans who believe in letting the people rule as to democrats.

The delegates who are sent to the national conventions from Nebraska ought to represent the rank and file of their respective parties in this state. They ought, therefore, to be selected by the rank and file. There is just as much reason why they should not be selected by a state convention as there is why a candidate for governor should not be selected by a state convention. If the primary system is good in one instance it is equally good in the other.

It is possible there will be some differences of opinion, among Nebraska voters of all parties in 1912, as well as in succeeding years, as to what candidates should be nominated for president. Those differences can be settled best, most fairly, and most satisfactorily, by the voters themselves. Conventions have occasionally nominated candidates for office who were not satisfactory to the majority of the party rank and file. There is just as strong a possibility that a convention might select delegates who were not satisfactory to the rank and file; that it might instruct those delegates to vote for the nomination of a candidate for president whom the rank and file did not want.

Such disputes and differences, settled in convention, are more than likely to cause "sore spots," to give rise to charges and recriminations that may be unjust and unfounded, but which none the less will rankle and sting. The way to avoid it all is to refer the differences to the people. "Let the people rule."

If the people are permitted to rule, the Nebraska delegation to the republican convention in 1912 will not be for Taft unless the majority of Nebraska republicans are for him and if the majority are for him then the delegation ought to be for Taft. But a delegation chosen in convention might be for Taft even if the majority of the republicans of the state were against him—be for Taft because of strong and dominating characters in the republican convention swaying the delegates against their will, or controlling them by dickers and deals and combinations.

The same might conceivably happen in a democratic convention. But it could happen to neither party if the people, rather than a convention, chose the delegates, and if the people, rather than a convention, were permitted to instruct them.

The World-Herald hopes that the legislature will give Mr. Evans' bill—H. R. No. 133—the careful consideration to which its importance, no less than its merit, entitles it.—World-Herald.

Soldiers' Votes.

The regular soldier has no vote to which condition objection is made.

But the rule is good. The regular soldier should have no vote. There should be no "regular" soldier. We have an army of 80,000 men. It is $0,000 too many and a million too few. No nation should have eighty thousand or one thousand men eating the bread of idleness. No republic should have an able-bodied citizen not qualified and equipped to take the field on a moment's notice to suppress an internal insurrection or repel a foreign foe.

Puissance is the price of peace. No nation can afford to be defenseless. No nation can afford to support any large part of its population in idleness. We do not want idle men for citizens. We do not want idle men at all. If we must have a standing army let them stand like the city policeman on the street corners controlling traffic, caring for the unfortunate, directing the stranger.

Put these 80,000 men to building roads, digging ditches, constructing parks and public buildings. Let the "nutshell navies" carry the ocean mails lay the submarine cables and "earn their board and keep."

When their main purpose is useful economic work let men vote. Let us give no hand in government to men whose only potency is destructiveness.—Hartington News.

Senate Committee in Wayne.

The state senate committee on buildings was in Wayne Tuesday, arriving on the ten a. m. train and leaving for Norfolk at 6:40. The members on the junket were Messrs Volpp, Bartling, Varney, Placek, Banning, Kohl, Tibbetts, McGraw and Johnson. The gentlemen were escorted to the college grounds and entertained there for dinner, spent the afternoon in the club room over the Hanssen shop at a smoker, and generally shown a good time by the commercial club, later being entertained by Senator Kohl for supper. They came to Wayne to investigate the needs of a new $55,000 building, which bill is now pending in the legislature.

St. Mary's Guild Entertainment.

The Ladies Guild of St. Mary's church have arranged with Miss Margaret Carroll for a program to be given at the opera house Friday evening, Jan. 27th, at eight o'clock. Miss Carroll is well known in this locality, having taught for some years in our Normal College, during which time she has shown her ability in the field of drama, and by her pleasing entertainments endeared herself to a host of friends, who no doubt will be pleased to turn out on the above date, and by their presence in large numbers show that "old friends though parted are never forgotten," and at the same time enjoy an evening of genuine pleasure from the splendid programme that Miss Carroll can and certainly will give on this occasion.

Telegrams by Telephone.

The Nebraska Telephone company has made arrangements with the Western Union Telegram company whereby telegrams may be sent by telephone at night, on Sundays or holidays, when the smaller telegraph offices are closed. For some time telephone subscribers have been able to send and receive telegrams over the telephone to and from the local telegraph office, but the plan of using long distance telephone lines in sending telegrams is a new one.

The great advantage of the new arrangement lies in the fact that while there are comparatively few telegraph offices open at all hours, every telephone user has twenty-four hour service; and when local telegraph offices are closed, telephone operators are instructed to connect any subscriber of the Nebraska Telephone company who desires a telegram, with the nearest Western Union office then open, without additional charge.

The Western Union company has made similar arrangements in all parts of the country, so that Bell telephone subscribers anywhere may send or receive telegrams at any time over the telephone without additional charge beyond the regular telegraph message rate.

State Normal Notes

Freeman and Clifford Johnson of Wayne, Neb., registered for work last week. The registration list shows 16 students by the name of Johnson attending the Normal at the present time.

The debating teams are now busily engaged in making preparation for the preliminary debates which will occur in about two weeks. The questions receiving the most attention are Socialism and the Initiative and Referendum.

On Friday, the 13th, Representative Bartels introduced into the House a bill asking for the appropriation of $55,000 for the erection of a new library and science hall for the State Normal at Wayne. This bill will be known as House Bill No. 54 and its progress through the legislature will be watched with considerable interest by friends of the school. Mr. Bartels also introduced a bill authorizing the expenditure of the money received from matriculation fees for the school library. The law provides that such fees shall be used exclusively for the purchase of reference books, but it is necessary for the legislature to appropriate this money at each session in order to make the fund available.

The class in Ancient History for the past three days has been debating. The theme was the interesting one, Resolved, That leadership was more important in the life of Greece and Rome than the education and training of the common people. Of course this is a world old theme, the relationship of great men to the masses, but it is of peculiar interest in the lives of these two ancient peoples, the vicissitudes of whose national life were so great. The students found it necessary to review practically the entire subject. The decision was awarded by the teacher to the affirmative but with the comment that there is no ultimate basis for a judgment in the case. This type of work is very valuable in developing historical judgement and the students took great interest in it.

Prohibition Booze.

In the pretty little town of St. Edward there will be new converts to believe in the power of hard wishing. Last week Jim Gibberson wished hard that something might happen to the bootleggers in his town, and now comes the supreme court with a decision touching one of the leggers $3,500. But Jim tells me that the fellow made several times the amount of that fine during the years he was engaged in the legging business. Jim once described the St. Edward process to a party of Columbus friends. He said: "The fellow who sells the stuff buys a barrel of cheap whiskey, and then he becomes a rectifier—not enough of a rectifier to pay license as such, but enough to make about seven barrels of whiskey out of that one barrel. One day I had throat trouble, and I hastened into the back end of a drug store saloon for relief. The boot-legger was answering a telephone call. I heard him repeat aloud the order as it came from the other end of the wire. It was for a quart of good stuff. The rectifier dropped the phone, grabbed an empty quart bottle, poured into it about an ounce of brown stuff which resembled tobacco juice. I don't pretend to say that it was tobacco juice. Then he went to the hydrant and filled the bottle almost full with water, adding about a gill of sure whiskey. I guess he put in the real whiskey to give it the right smell. Then he shook the bottle violently and put it on a table near where I was standing. I took a good look at the stuff. I never saw any liquor that looked any better. He told me he was mixing the stuff in the bottle for horse-medicine. He put the bottle into an empty cigar box, and then telephoned to somebody that his horse medicine was ready. I waited a few minutes, and pretty soon a friend of mine called at the drug store and the boot-legger gave him that cigar box and contents, receiving a dollar in exchange. That man who got the box never owned a sick horse in his life, nor any other kind of a horse. I was feeling a little dizzy that day. I had seen enough in that store to make me more so. The more I thought about it, the sicker I got. Finally I went to the mixer and demanded to know if the stuff I had been drinking for ten years was made the same way he made that quart of booze for my friend. I didn't get any satisfaction out of the mysterious mixer of horse medicine. Then I made a call on the friend who had purchased the horse medicine. I put on a look of thirst when I entered his place of business, and pretty soon he gave me the high sign and I went into the back room of his office. There he opened that same cigar box which I had seen him buy from the boot-legger and handed me the bottle. My friend had already taken a big drink of the stuff, and he wanted me to take a drink and do it quick, so that no customer would come in and catch me at it. I asked him if he took me for a horse. He said he took me for a friend with a thirst. I said I had the thirst all right, but told him that I would not take a drink of that poison if he would make me a present of the best horse in the Kennedy stables. Then he got mad. He said that was an insult to the friend who sent him that bottle of fine whiskey all the way from Kentucky. Then I told my friend how I had seen the boot-legger manufacture that stuff out of nine parts common water and one part common poison, resembling tobacco juice, and in a little bit my friend began to imagine pains in the stomach, and then he got sick, and I had to hold his head while he lost his dinner. From that day to this I have avoided boot-leg whiskey, and all other kinds, except once in a while when I fall off the wagon, and if I shall ever become a teetotaler I shall give all the praise to the fact that I happened to be in that joint that day when that fellow mixed that dollar's worth of medicine for my friend."—Columbus Telegram.

Poland Chinas

Three of these pictures show the boars used in J. M. Coleman's herd of Poland Chinas and there are three more good boars in his herd. Anyone in need of bred sows or gilts can find what they are looking for. I have eighty sows and gilts to select from. I have three February gilts out of Nelson's largest. They are good ones. The number of Price's Jumbo should read 150,731. My Poland Chinas range in ages from gilts to 5-year-olds, and people on the market for pure-bred hogs should see them.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Miss Hazel Ramsey of Malvern, Iowa, a guest of Mrs. Geo. Noskes. Ed. Ellis came home from Pilger on Sunday but was called back again Tuesday night. Warren Closson was in town from Miles Tuesday night. N. J. Bjorklund was in Wayne yesterday from Wakefield and a caller at this office to get the Democrat sent him. Mr. Bjorklund said he had taken "the other paper" for 27 years, but after seeing a copy of the Democrat he wanted change. We'll drink to your health, Mr. Bjorklund after we get a little practice on that name. R. Phileo and wife will return to Paine from Idaho next month. Stanley Hoffman of Neligh was an over-Sunday guest at the Mellor home. The nine-year-old daughter of L. J. Hughes who resides next residence to J. M. Cherry, is very ill with a complication of whooping cough and pneumonia. Dr. Lutgen is attending the patient. The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Reynolds is recovering from whooping cough and pneumonia under the care of a professional nurse. Thos. J. Fields, a victim of the Millard hotel fire at Omaha, was buried at Sioux City today. As five firemen were rushing through the hotel lobby with Fields they tripped on the fire hose and all fell full length on the floor, the victim taking a bad fall on the corrugated floor, but he was probably dead at the time. F. E. Francis of Carroll was a passenger to Omaha this morning. County Attorney Davis is in Wakefield today. Curt Benschoff was down from Winfield today. Mrs. John Gustafson was a passenger to Wakefield this morning. Marshal Sales was in town today on his way home from Bloomfield. Regular pneumonia weather. Fisher & Johnson this week sold the Mick farm northwest of Wayne, to Emil Hansen at an even $100 per acre. A couple of years ago this place sold at $70 there Axel Vennerberg bought it a few months ago at $88 he selling it to Mr. Hansen the man who has money to burn. It pays to keep a dry goods and shoe stock new, clean, fresh and up to date. This year's goods must be sold this year so that next fall you'll find our stock all spick, span, new and up-to-date. You like to trade where the goods are new and stylish and not shop worn. Everybody likes to trade in such places. That is why we are auctioning off the winter goods this week at such ridiculously low prices. You'll never buy any moth-eaten underwear, tanned wool blankets, rotted gloves, out of date shoes, out of style coats or old goods of any kind here. We are going to sell this year's goods this year, even at a loss, and have the best stock in town for you next fall. Today and tomorrow are the last days of the Auction. Starts at 2 o'clock. Come early and examine the goods.

Among our Clubs

Happenings in the Social World

The Minerva club will meet Feb. 1st. Hostess—Mrs. Grothe. Roll Call—Quotation from a President. President McKinley. As a Youth—Mrs. Miner. As a Soldier—Mrs. Owen. As a Statesman—Mrs. Dean. Our Martyred Presidents—Mrs. Britton. A Reading—Mrs. Huse. Music led by Mrs. House. Domestic Luncheon—Mrs. Miner and Mrs. Grothe. The members of the Rural Home society met with Mr. and Mrs. Jas. McIntosh in their hospitable home Saturday, January 21. The husbands were also invited. As it was a picnic dinner the ladies came with well filled baskets, and at 12:30 an elegant three-course dinner was served. During the dinner hour they enjoyed some very good music played by Miss Hazel McIntosh. The afternoon past away very quickly and pleasantly, there being more music, both vocal and instrumental by the Misses McIntosh and Miss June Palmer. There had been so much provided that it was decided to have the guests stay for supper, which was heartily enjoyed by all. The shades of evening were falling before the host and hostess were bidden Good-night and thanked for their efforts in making the day a success. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Brown Palmer. The Guild met at the home of Mrs. T. W. Moran last Thursday afternoon, there being a very large attendance. Mrs. Prior was elected President and Mrs. Moran secretary and treasurer. Mrs. T. W. Moran entertained the ladies of the St. Mary's Guild last Thursday afternoon, the time was spent in a social chat, and later the guests enjoyed a delicious luncheon served by Mrs. Moran who was assisted by her daughter Clara.

Cauley vs. Sullivan Case Continued.

The big breach of promise suit of Miss Cauley against Phil Sullivan which came up for trial this week in Cantelope county, was continued to the April term of court. Mark Jeffrey Badly Injured. A copy of the Cheban, Washington Leader, sent to the Democrat by S. B. Russell, states: Mark Jeffrey of Lakeside, was seriously injured yesterday afternoon, and it is rather a miracle than otherwise that he was not killed instantly or fatally injured. He was driving home from Lakeside with a big load of ice when the accident occurred. The front wheel of the wagon dropped suddenly into a rut in the road and the unexpected lurch threw Mr. Jeffrey from the seat to the ground. At the same time the hind wheels of the wagon "slonged" and before he could regain his feet or roll out of the way one wheel passed over his body at the small of the back. The wagon was loaded with nearly two tons of ice, and the wonder is that Mr. Jeffrey's life was not crushed out at once. Dr. Wentworth, who was summoned to attend the injured man, states that he found no bones broken, but that he will not be able to determine until after tomorrow just how serious the injuries may be.

Winside News

From our Correspondent. H. G. McClusky came over from Sioux City Tuesday evening. Mrs. Pearl Compton of Wakefield has purchased the Miller & Hoot restaurant and will take possession about February 1st. The German Masquerade last Friday drew the usual large crowd. Chas. Ehlers and Miss Glanitt were awarded the prizes for the best costumes. J. W. McClusky was a passenger for Sioux City Saturday, returning Monday evening. Weatherwax Bros., the third number of the lecture course presented Monday evening, gave the best of satisfaction to the large audience present. William Weatherwax, in his roll as reader, deserves special mention.

Would "Hang Her Up."

A special in the morning Journal from Norfolk says: There was a sensational scene today at the funeral of 3-year-old Knart Stehr, who died Sunday as a result of alleged inhuman treatment on the part of his mother and stepfather. As a casket containing the remains of the little boy was being carried into the St. Johannes Lutheran church, followed by Mrs. Henry Stehr, the mother of the boy, the woman was hooted and hissed by the crowd. One woman cried, "Hang her up." No violence, however, was attempted. Mrs. Stehr hung her head when the crowd began to hiss, and after she entered the church she gave way under the great strain and fainted in the arms of August Braun, superintendent of Sunday schools. She soon recovered. Rev. Otto Bergselder, the pastor, in his sermon, said, looking straight at Mrs. Stehr, that the little boy had not the love of his mother and was whipped by his father. He declared it was better to go to heaven without hands and feet than to go to hell. A large crowd attended the services. The feeling here continues extremely bitter against the Stehrs. Henry Stehr, who was practically charged with first degree murder by the coroner's jury last night and taken to the jail at Madison, probably will be kept there, as officers fear an attempt might be made to lynch him if he was kept in jail at Norfolk.

Carroll News

Mrs. Wright and daughter of Wayne spent a few days last week with son and brother, Prof. Wright. The Misses Young, White, Ganon and Anderson visited with Miss Maud Williamson Sunday. George La Croix was a passenger to Wayne Monday. The nurse that has been at Tonie Jones' for the past few weeks left for Sioux City Monday. John Dobbins is storing his furniture in one of Charley Jones' houses until he can get the new house D. M. Davis is building. Lonie Steuer was an over-Sunday visitor. Mr. White, the Evangelist of Fremont, Mich., is holding meetings at the Baptist church. Rev. Shacklock came home from Colbridge to spend Sunday, returning Monday. Mr. Schrader is laying the foundation for the new livery barn on Main street. Mr. Byron Young and Mrs. Olmstead were at Wayne Thursday to attend the sale of their brother-in-law, Mr. Phipps. Mr. Ike Walden was at Wayne Thursday. Mr. Will James made a trip to Lincoln Tuesday, returning Thursday. Mrs. T. O. Long returned home from Sioux City Thursday evening. Mrs. Maggie Terry returned to her home in Sioux City Thursday. Tom Hennessey was at Wayne Thursday attending a sale. Mrs. Tom Sylvanus was at Wayne Thursday having some dentist work done. Ed. Williams came up from Wayne Thursday evening to attend the funeral of his grandfather, Mr. Williams. Miss Lundquist was at Wayne Thursday. The M. B. A. had installation of officers Friday evening and later a big supper. Mr. Mat Jones came home from Sioux City to spend Sunday, returning Monday.

Hoskins News

Miss Sarah Ziemer was the guest of Wayne friends last Saturday. The M. W. A. had a jolly, big blow-out Wednesday night of last week, putting the lights out after a choice oyster supper. Mrs. August Hohnke had to return to a hospital in Sioux City for a second operation last week. She is now expected to be on the way to complete recovery. The baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miller was buried in the Lutheran cemetery, Rev. Aron conducting the services. The child died last Friday after a long illness. A gay party attended the opera in Norfolk last Thursday evening, having a most enjoyable time. Mr. and Mrs. Hinman, Misses Moran, Reed, Frank A. Hart and Frank Phillips. Mrs. Fred Krause died last Saturday morning, the funeral held on Tuesday, conducted by Rev. Aron. Deceased was over 60 years of age. She leaves a husband and seven children. Her oldest son, Richard Krause, was killed a few weeks ago in the belting of a gasoline engine. Mr. and Mrs. John Linden and children have moved to Clayton, Kansas. Robert Fenske is home from a trip to Kansas City where he was called to see his father who has been very ill. J. W. Overman has returned home from a Sioux City hospital entirely well from his long illness with gall stones. Why doesn't Hoskins have a commercial club and get in style? A commercial club could get plenty to do here. We need an electric light plant, a water works, modern hotel, paved streets and a street car line. But we don't need any more such rows as has been going on the past year. Hoskins is one of the best stock ship ping points in this part of the state. The prices paid for cattle and hogs here is nearly always a little higher than in other Wayne county towns. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Shultz have returned from Wisconsin where they spent the holidays. Thoroughbred Roosters. Some fine White Lighthorns and Barred Rocks. Phone 78 or call. 2-11) GEORGE LUEDERS.

E. & D. H. Cunningham, Aucrs. G. E. French, Clerk.

Senator Fred Volpp has prepared a bill providing that state senators shall be elected for four years instead of two, as at present, and they shall receive a salary of $500 per session. He would provide for a senate of thirty-three members, as the body is now constituted, and would have sixteen elected one year and seventeen two years later. This would keep half the senate in its seats all of the time so that a wholly new senate would never be organized. —Stanton Democrat.

The Wayne Democrat hopes that the above bill will die the death it surely deserves. It is not democratic, and its passage would only tend to give the corporations a firmer grip on the politics of the state. You must get a little closer to the people, Senator Volpp.

From the Columbus Telegram: If I should be asked to name a country newspaper with the most original editorial page in Nebraska, and with some of the brightest paragraphs thereon, I should not hesitate to seriously consider placing the little Winside Tribune near the top of the list. And I say this in face of the fact that Editor Ecker has not always been over-kind to me.

We give the stony stare to a horse thief, and on the same day we give the glad hand to the tax perjuror. But it will not always be so in Nebraska. Some day some country attorney in Nebraska will start the crusade against the tax perjurors, and then—why, in that day the multitude of tax perjurors on their way to court will impede travel on the broadest sidewalks in front of any court house in the state.

A lady at Lindsay writes to the editor of The Telegraph this request: "Will you please tell me what the state law says about the number of signers necessary to secure a saloon license, and also tell what the law says about the number of times the license notice must be published?" Can't do it, lady. Ask your village attorney. It is his business to give out such information. I have troubles of my own, and am not looking for any new ones.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

In remitting for the Democrat Mrs. J. H. McMath, nee Dornberger, writes from Persia, Iowa, that they all had typhoid fever very bad, and the nurse, Mrs. A. M. Leding, contracted the disease and died a couple of weeks ago at the Wise Memorial hospital in Omaha. Mr. McMath is still very weak and unable to work.

Dr. Meis was up from Sioux City Tuesday night consulting with Wayne physicians over local cases. He visited Prof. Durrin, with Dr. Naffziger, and while the visitor's diagnosis was the same as the attending physician it is now believed that Mr. Durrin will get out again, the adhesions to his bowels clearing up, etc.

Wm. Frazier was in Wayne Saturday and Sunday and out in the rural districts buying cattle.

Jas. Overman was a passenger home from a hospital in Sioux City Tuesday night. Mr. Overman said he simply felt like a new man since he had his gall stones cut out, after this he was going to be opened up any old time there was anything the matter with him. The doctors said he made a most remarkable recovery from the operation.

Ed Sellers went to Pender yesterday to visit his daughter.

N. A. Stodden went to Iowa yesterday to look after his interests.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Heinrichs were visitors to Sioux City yesterday.

Manager Britton announces with great pleasure the appearance of that great success "The Cow-Puncher," written by Hal Ried, produced by W. F. Mann, what else need be said. The company is unusually capable, the scenic equipment thoroughly up-to-date. A play typically American appealing to all. "The Cow-Puncher" at Opera House Feb. 1st, 1911.

Good board and room for two or four men boarders. Enquire at Democrat office for place.

WANTED—Girl to do housework. MR. H. BLUECHEL.

Don't forget that the Democrat can do you the neatest job of printing in Wayne county. We have the better facilities for turning out the work.

J. M. Cherry was in Hoskins yesterday.

Henry Stumpf and Chris Nelson made the trip to Winside yesterday.

Veterans Murrill and Anson returned to the soldiers' home yesterday.

Doc Nieman has been in Wayne the past week.

Geo. Griffith accompanied his wife as far as Sioux City Tuesday.

The Holy Communion will be administered at the St. Paul's Lutheran church next Sunday morning.

Henry Flege and his sister were in Lincoln last week visiting their brother at the state penitentiary. William is now an expert broom-maker and getting along fine.

The Cowboy, always an interesting character, is unusually so in Hal Ried's celebrated Western Drama, "The Cow-Puncher." Strong of heart, steadfast of purpose, tender in his love, yet meager of education, Tom Lawton retains the interest and affection of all, and the final curtain sees him triumph over his enemy and wins the beautiful girl from the Eastern college. Manager Britton has secured this great success of W. P. Mann's and same will appear at the Opera House on Feb. 1st, 1911.

Miss Criss returned to Emerson yesterday after a visit with her parents.

Postmaster Tracy was a visitor from Winside yesterday.

Aug. Deck represented Hoskins in Wayne yesterday.

The Democrat man was so unfortunate as to be at the Millard hotel, Omaha, when the place was gutted by fire, and fortunate enough to escape with nothing worse than a scare. We were to meet a party from Colorado at the Millard, and as Chas. Vail, formerly of the Boyd, was clerk, we registered for a room. Ushered up on the fourth floor we got suspicious at once of the place in case of fire. A card on the door told how to use the fire escape and to beware of the hallways, but room 443 had no sign of a fire escape, moreover the windows opened on the court and there was no possible means of getting out. After retiring we pondered over going down to the office, but figured that Vail would give us the horse laugh, the house was full and it hadn't burned down for twenty years, etc. But anyway the "hunch" would not down. We had it all figured out what the Democrat would say this week after our remains had been fished out of the ruins. "He was to have gone to Omaha Saturday instead of Sunday, and returned home on Sunday, but for some trivial reason delayed the trip and was caught in the awful holocaust," etc., and plenty more hot air of the same sort. Then there was a crash, a female's yell of terror, and the cries of fire. "And the damned thing's got here," we ejaculated out loud, as we plunged into our pants. As the fire started in the kitchen across the court there seemed plenty of time to get away, yet within two minutes the upper hallways were full of a dense, stifling smoke and we had to feel our way down the stairway to the second floor, while dozens of guests, a few women later, were sliding down fire escapes to the streets. It was a great mass of unadressed humanity that gathered in the office below. Crying babies, fainting women, crippled men two or three apparently dead ones carried out by the firemen. The fire might just as easily have been ten times worse and burned up a couple hundred people. Our premonition of the disaster gave no accurate estimate as to what the loss of life was to be.

Just a Jolly from a Friend.

When life's battle seems a loser to a fellow in the dumps, And the world seems up against him with its hard, unfeeling bumps, While his troubles, multiplying, seemingly will never end, There is nothing like a "jolly"—just a "jolly"—from a friend.

When his burden seems so heavy that its weight will break him down; When one smile would make him happy, but he gets instead a frown, All the world seems so much brighter and his heart begins to mend, When he gets that little "jolly"—just a "jolly"—from a friend.

Whether in the mail he gets it, or it comes by telephone, Or a slap upon the shoulders in a crowd, or when alone, O'er his face the smile of hope comes, and on this you may depend, Just so long as it's a "jolly"—just a "jolly"—from a friend.

Wakefield News.

Oscar and Ed. Anderson left Wednesday for Cuba where they expect to make their future home if they find anything that is to their liking.

Mrs. Chas. Shultz who was so dangerously ill last week is much better.

John D. Haskell and wife went to Omaha on Monday.

Gus Anderson of Hawarden, arrived last Saturday morning for an over-Sunday visit at home.

Mrs. C. E. Dawes and Thos. Beth went to Springfield, S. D., Monday morning to attend the funeral of the Dawes girls who died in the gasoline explosion there. They are relatives.

C. W. Garlock, a pill peddler of South Sioux City, was making the rounds in Wakefield last Monday.

A. M. Hyspe transacted business business in Coleridge on Monday.

The show here last Friday, "An Aristocratic Tramp," was a good one. They had a band that was hard to beat, considering the number of members.

A man and woman were in town Tuesday trying to get a building for a moving picture show. Did not learn if they got it or not.

Jonas Ecker, the insurance man was here last Saturday with a big cold. Said he guessed he would go home and lay up until he got better.

Strahan Precinct.

Mrs. Gus. Wendt is seriously ill this week with an attack of lung fever.

Theodore Shulte, the young son of Frank Shulte, is very sick with scarlet fever.

Frank Strahan shipped in some stock cattle last week.

The Lewis Gamble sale was well attended and everything sold at a good price.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Blazer went to Creighton, Neb., to attend the funeral of Mrs. Patterson.

RESOLUTIONS

Whereas it has pleased Almighty God to call from our midst to his eternal home, our esteemed brother Edward T. Rennick, Therefore be it resolved:

First, that in the death of brother Edward T. Rennick, Wayne, lodge number 118 I. O. O. F. has lost a faithful and highly esteemed brother, the community an upright and honorable citizen.

Second, that this lodge hereby extend its sincere sympathy to the bereaved widow and children.

Third, that a copy of these resolutions be mailed to the bereft family, and also that a copy be spread upon the record of this lodge.

Respectfully your committee, C. J. RINGER, H. B. CRAVEN, HERMAN LUNDBERG.

Presbyterian Notes

The main auditorium of the Presbyterian church has been equipped with the Tungston electric lamps, making a vast change in the lighting of the church. The large audience which gathered last Saturday evening to hear President Turner of Hastings College, appreciated very much the change from the dim light of the old incandescents to the brilliancy of the Tungstons.

Dr. A. E. Turner, the genial and talented President of Hastings College, had a strenuous time during his visit to Wayne last Sunday. He assisted the pastor of the Presbyterian church at the morning service, made an address to the students of the Normal College at 3:30 in the afternoon, and then gave a sermon-lecture in the Presbyterian church at night. On Monday morning he spoke to the students at the high school. The young people attending the Wayne educational institutions were very much interested in his addresses which were inspiring and instructive to a high degree.

School Notes

The attendance in the lower grades is poor this week.

Great Achievement of Hon. Jas. E. Bruce

Closes His First Year's Work Devoted Exclusively to Promotion of the Neal Three-Day Treatment for Alcoholism.

The Lawyer-Banker-Statesman Responsible for Redemption of Thousands of Victims of Drink Through Establishment of 61 Neal Institutes in America, Introduces Marvelous Neal Treatment at the Chicago Hospital.

When the story of great achievements of the past year is written, no chapter will be brighter—none fraught with more live interest than that which tells of Senator James E. Bruce's nationalization of the Neal Treatment which in three days' time frees men from the slavery of drink.

Although for several years the Neal Cure for Alcoholism had met with a measure of success, its administration was largely local. It was not until Senator Bruce of Iowa, with his strong personality, ample financial resources, pluck, indomitable energy and abiding faith, got behind it with a determination to make it his life's work that the movement became one great tidal wave of helpfulness.

The first anniversary of Senator Bruce's endorsement and promotion of the Neal Cure sees it strongly entrenched in 61 Neal Institutes, established and opening on this continent, and with helpful foothold in the countries of Europe, and all but encircling the globe in the mighty mission of redemption of victims of drink.

The story of the discovery of the Neal Treatment is interesting. Dr. Benjamin E. Neal made a special study of alcoholism, and as a result of his many years of research and experiment he originated and perfected the cure which bears his name. Dr. Neal's investigation led him to believe that alcoholism is due to an accumulation of alcoholic poison in the system. The habitual drinker takes on this poison faster than nature can expel it. The poisoned system craves more poison. Hence the insatiable longing for liquor continuously experienced by the unfortunate who has allowed drink to get the better of him. The Neal Treatment antidotes this poison and in three days' time all appetite and desire for drink disappears. It was only after years of investigation and practice that Dr. Neal found the component parts of the harmless vegetable compounds which constitute his famous treatment.

After the treatment was perfected and Dr. Neal realized what it should accomplish, the question of its promotion arose and proved such a gigantic one that the very thought of its possibilities bewildered him. It was just at this crisis that the "man of the hour" came forward. This man was Hon. E. Bruce of Iowa—a wealthy banker, manufacturer and lawyer, an Iowa State Senator for 9 years a man inured in business—a man of ripe experience and yet in the prime of life—a man of marked executive ability, rare judgment, keen foresight—a man with an untarnished character, whose word is as dependable as a draft issued by the Bank of England—a man with a high sense of justice, the personification of honor, with a human side to his being that reaches out in deep-felt sympathy for his fallen fellow man—in short, a man big enough to master the proposition.

The association of such a man with the Neal Cure gave it at once the stamp of intrinsic value, backed by ample financial resources and the prestige of genuineness in the open field of operation.

Senator Bruce entered into the work actively just one year ago, and he has since devoted his undivided time and effort to the promotion of this cure. To say that his efforts have been crowned with success is putting it mildly. The promotion and expansion of the cure has already been almost world-wide and it may be truthfully said phenomenal. The first Institute at Des Moines, Iowa. The second at Omaha, Nebr. The third at Davenport. The fourth at Sioux City. Then the work broke these confines and now there is a Neal Institute in nearly every state in this country, and the Neal movement is spreading to foreign countries.

Thousands of human wrecks have been reclaimed in the past year by the Neal Cure. Thousands of darkened homes have been lighted and turned into homes of joy, gladdened by the ring of childish laughter by reason of the Neal Cure. Those who do know say down deep from the bottom of their hearts, "God speed the work!"

All over this broad land, husbands, fathers and brothers and brothers are returning home from Neal Institutes living, walking examples of the efficacy of this marvelous cure—men new in their communities—men who could not be induced again to touch liquor in any form. Is it not wonderful that such a transition, such a regeneration of a life of slavery to drink, can be effected in three short days? It seems to incredible to be true, but it is true. The history of individual cases would require of this whole issue and then "the half would not be told."

When one thinks of the origination of this treatment by Dr. Neal, the discovery of Senator Bruce and the great work that has been accomplished in the past year, one's mind reverts to the words of the good old hymn, "God moves in a mysterious way His wonders to perform." So astoundingly marvelous are the results of this Neal Cure that Rev. J. F. Nugent, a noted Catholic prelate of Iowa, standing with hand clasped in that of a lifelong friend, who was then a patient in the Des Moines Institute, on the third day of his treatment, exclaimed: "Not since the raising of Lazarus from the dead has there been anything like this."

If you have a friend who ought to rid himself of the drink or drug habit don't delay a day; call, write or phone The Neal Institute, Sioux City, Iowa, 1625 Douglas Street. The address of the one nearest you will be furnished upon application to the head or parent institution now established at the Chicago Hospital. Senator Bruce is now at the Chicago Hospital supervising this National and world work, where he may be addressed or personally interviewed by anyone interested in the treatment or in making an investment in this great work.
