BROTHERHOOD HOLD MEETING

The Brotherhood Movement Shows What it Can do at Great Meeting. Instructive Talks—Charming Music—Banquet.

The Methodists of Nebraska have certainly undertaken a man's job in raising $400,000 to be added to the Endowment fund of the Nebraska Wesleyan University. However, figured on the basis of 64,000 members of this denomination in the state it is not very much per capita, and from this viewpoint the undertaking does not look so formidable.

The present equipment of the Wesleyan has been appraised at $355,000 and with an Endowment fund already provided of $100,000. The faculty numbers forty-five well trained men and women, and the student enrollment of the present year is 934, the college of Liberal Arts showing an increase of 50 over the preceding year.

University Place where the school is located has a population of 2500 exclusive of students. The town has all modern improvements and the environments is pronounced ideal for student life.

The foregoing tells the aim and purpose of the great meeting of the Brotherhood at the Wayne Methodist church Tuesday evening when more than 170 men met and listened to the story of the deeds and needs of this great religious school.

The ladies of the Aid society provided an ample two-course dinner, and it was admirably served, the entire number being served almost simultaneously. At the close of the meal the clatter of dishes and many tongues gave place to one voice, and Rev. Gorst presented W. D. Redmond, president of the Wayne organization to the people there, and he in turn with a few witty remarks introduced the toastmaster, I. H. Brittel, and he presided over the occasion with grace and dignity. He complimented the speakers and the audience, and flattered the editors until Bro. Huse blushed. Then followed instructive, witty and entertaining talks by E. E. Hasman of Norfolk, superintendent of this district, Chancellor C. A. Fulmer of Lincoln and Judge John M. Dryden of Kearney. All spoke so well that one could not tell which did the better. Then there was the singing by the Normal quartette which was most highly appreciated. They were encored every time they appeared on the program.

It was an inspiring meeting, and one that will not soon be forgotten and when the time comes when a subscription to the endowment fund is asked, those who were present will thoroughly understand the need of asking and the plans for the use of the earnings of the sum donated.

Flege Wants Change of Venue

Ponca, Neb., March 25.—After the judge had overruled a petition to change the charge from "first degree" a change of venue was asked. It was asserted that the prejudice has become so strong in Dixon county that the defendant is unable to obtain justice, a motion for a change of venue in the trial of William Flege, accused of murdering his sister, Louise Flege, was filed here today. It will be considered at once and answer given next week.

It is alleged in the petition that the people of Dixon county are by virtue of the preceding circumstances so prejudiced that they cannot give the defendant the full measure of justice to which he is entitled under the law. In case the motion is granted the trial will be held in one of the adjoining counties. If it is refused it will be held in Ponca as before.

The trial was set for the first day of the new term of court but owing to the many details to be arranged on the opening date it was impossible to reach the Flege case.

Louise Flege was found dead in June, 1910. There were no eye witnesses to the tragedy, and the first trial dealt largely with circumstantial evidence. William Flege was arrested and charged with the crime. After a long trial he was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment at Lincoln. After serving a few months he was liberated pending a second trial.

The work of the doctors who examined Louise Flege's stomach will play an important part in the trial. The defense hopes to prove an alibi for Flege and in this manner clear him of the charge.

Bryan Not to be at Norfolk

Superintendent Kemp, who is president of the N. N. Teachers' association which meets at Norfolk today, is much disappointed that W. J. Bryan is not able to speak before the teachers as was hoped. Mr. Bryan, as we have understood from the first, was never pledged or positively engaged for the meeting, but had thought that it was probable that he could be there, and it was so advertised. Mr. Kemp telephones us to announce here that the Great Commoner cannot address the meeting, as many were planning to go to hear him who would not otherwise be interested in the teachers' meeting. Mr. Bryan was at Norfolk and gave an address on Wednesday evening to a great audience, but an eastern engagement made it impossible to remain or return for Friday evening.

Contract Let For Residence

C. M. Craven has let the contract to J. H. Foster & Son for a $6,000 residence to be built at once on the lots he purchased west of the Strickland place. It will add to that part of Wayne another good residence property.

Last Request of Dan Harrington

The last loving respects to the late Mr. Dan Harrington were paid by a host of friends last Saturday morning. The funeral at the residence of Dr. W. C. Wightman was one of the most impressive ever witnessed. The floral offerings were beautiful and elaborate. Mr. Harrington expressed the wish that he might return to Wayne and take final leave of his friends and relatives. This last touching wish shows how great was his love for Wayne, and his friends with whom he had labored the greater part of his life. Here was his heart and though detached from Wayne friends by business he never wavered in his devotion to them.

In Memoriam

(A tribute by one who loved him)

We pause in our labor to honor the great and noble life that has just departed. Mere words are inadequate and written thoughts far too meager to record our great love for him. The achievements of a great life can never be fully written or spoken. Rather our unbidden tears, our silent gratitude, our precious memories more fitly express what words cannot. The impress of his life upon ours, and all that it means to us, is the greatest tribute we can bring.

One great central fact stands out in his life. Mr. Harrington was a man who lived to help his fellowmen. Everyone who came in contact with him realized this. He was in business to help men, and not simply for business. Those in his employ he trained for efficient service. They took his as their ideal and strove to emulate his virtues. They trusted in him implicitly and sought his counsel and guidance. Many young men owe to him not only their business training but their character. Their success will in a large measure be his success, a living monument to his memory. His friends were from all classes, rich and poor, high and low. Children as well as grownups and the aged counted him as their friend. His bright smile dispersed the shadows and his genuine sympathy lightened many a load. His deeds of kindness, his words of encouragement, were unnumberable as their influence is immeasurable. No unclean words passed his lips, no impure thoughts were ever voiced by him. His conscience and sense of honor were keen, alert; his self control under the most trying circumstances was a marvel to all. It seemed as if he was ever mindful of the influence he wielded. To his family he continually manifested that never-failing all-absorbing love which is the height of earthly devotion. His was an ideal home. They were first in his thoughts while on earth and he is now watching over them from above.

His ideals on business integrity were constant and unchangeable. His competitors were his true friends for they realized that he was interested in their welfare as well as his own. In the quarter of a century of his business activity in Wayne he never swerved from the highest standards. Success to him was not success unless honestly achieved. Temptation inevitably comes in all pursuits and doubtless came to him, yet he never yielded, and this integrity manifested throughout the years has not failed to bear its fruits for many have made his ideals their own. He always took a firm stand on moral issues and further more had the courage to voice his convictions regardless of the consequences. To local government capacities he gave of his time and thought. In him was exemplified the highest type of true American citizenship. And lastly he continually lived his religion in that quiet and effective way which brought the greatest service to his God. And when called by the Creator he was ready, ready to leave this earthly life, ready not to cease his labors but renew them in a grander field.

The world has been impoverished but Heaven enriched by his departure. He has ceased to labor but not to live among us. His life, his personality, his influence will grow as the years pass by. We thank the Almighty for such a life that has made us noble and better; we thank Him for all that Mr. Harrington was and will be. And the parting is not unmixed with joy. We are all journeying to the Great Beyond, we tarry here but a little while. Soon we shall all reach that land where sorrow is unknown, where friends and loved ones are reunited, where life will be begun anew. May the sublime hope of the future sustain us for the present.

County Loses Good Instructor

The many friends of Ben F. Robinson of Sholes will learn with both joy and regret that he is to leave this country. They are glad that he is stepping into a better position for which he is amply fitted; sorry to have our county deprived of so competent a teacher.

To Mr. Robinson belongs the honor of being a pioneer in the consolidated school movement in this state. He has worked out and made a success of consolidation at Sholes where three rural districts are now united in a graded school. This pioneer work done, he will move forward in school work, and the school board at Bancroft are to be congratulated on their choice in hiring Mr. Robinson for the coming year to take the position of superintendent.

Mr. Robinson attended the Wayne Normal, and is a graduate of the Fremont Normal school. He has been in school work in this county for the past ten years, and then four years at Sholes. He now will step in at the head of a 12-grade school, and the Democrat predicts success and wishes him well.

Bridge Troubles

The county commissioners have been busy men the past week looking after bridges. The heavy ice formed the past winter and the high water contributed to the streams by the melting snow are testing the bridges as never before. The bridge over Deer Creek two miles west of town is out of commission, and a new one will be put in at once, and will be finished in about three weeks. Two or three other bridges on the same stream are in danger, but may be saved if conditions get no worse. The same condition applies to two or three bridges over the Logan.

It is reported that the water is over the railroad track between this place and Wakefield, but not yet deep enough to stop traffic. The river fell last night west of Wayne, and the crest of the rise is east of here. The melting snow today is expected to restore the water above here to the high mark of yesterday. A continued raise has stopped trains between Wayne and Wakefield.

Wayne Choral Union

This organization of Wayne musicians, organized last January has been doing good work, and hope to continue. The membership now numbers about thirty, and there is room for more. At the Methodist church on Easter evening they will give "The Hymn of Praise," a cantata by Mendelssohn. This is to be a union service to which all are invited. This cantata is one of the best productions of that famous musician, containing a number of grand choruses, solos and duet.

Clinkenbeard in Bankruptcy

This morning John Clinkenbeard did not open his grocery store, and when questioned as to the reason announced that he had filed a voluntary petition of bankruptcy. He stated that he was in position to have gone on with the business for several months yet, but viewing all the circumstances and the probable result a few months later, he thought that it was better for all to act now. He has many friends here who will be sorry to learn this, and who wish it might have been otherwise.

Extended Time For Bids

When Inspector L. A. Thompson was here last week to consider bids for the leasing of a building to the government for use of post-office at Wayne, he evidently did not find what was wanted, for the time has been extended to April 26th, when the matter will again be considered. If there are now no suitable buildings available at Wayne, why not some one prepare to build one? It certainly should be a paying proposition if handled right.

Obituary—Mrs. Nathan Chace

Last week's Democrat gave a brief announcement of the death of Mrs. Nathan Chace of Stanton, resulting from an accident in Los Angeles. We were unable at the time, to learn the details which were as follows:

On Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. Chace and their two boys, Miss Bess Horton and Marie Wachob Eaton were returning from making a call at about 10:30 o'clock. The conductor had called Ninth and Bonnie Brae street, which was the corner nearest their home. Mrs. Chace nervously arose from her seat in the car, followed by Miss Horton, went to the door where she was either attacked with a spell of dizziness or else thought the car had stopped for she brushed past the conductor and fell from the car to the pavement. The car ran about fifty feet before it could be stopped. In an unconscious condition they carried her into the residence of Dr. Cook, who, by a strange coincidence, happened to be a cousin of Mr. Levi Miller of Stanton. She was then hurriedly removed to the California hospital where a noted brain specialist who had been summoned found that the skull had been fractured, and that Mrs. Chace had passed beyond all surgical aid. Two hours later, she ceased to breathe. Through the kindness of their many friends, among whom were A. B. Clark and Mr. and Mrs. Jacobs of this city, the stricken family were able to secure tickets and make immediate arrangements for their return to Nebraska. They were met at Fremont by James Wachob, where a special train brought them to Stanton Sunday evening.

Mrs. Horton and the Misses Blanche and Jessie Wachob, who had been spending the winter with them, were also among the party. Maud Anna Wachob was born in Indiana in 1869, the oldest daughter of Thompson and Lina E. Wachob. She was married to Nathan Chace on June 30, 1896. They resided in Wayne for three years where Mr. Chace was engaged in the banking business, then they moved to Stanton where they have since made their home. Two boys have blessed the union, Burton aged 10 years and Frank aged 8 years. James Wachob of Omaha, is a brother and Pauline, the wife of Mr. G. C. Higbie of Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, Blanche and Jessie Wachob, and Marie, the wife of Mr. Oliver K. Eaton, of Pittsburg, are sisters. The funeral services were held at the family residence on Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock. An immense throng of people testified to the universal respect and love in which Mrs. Chace was held. Flowers had been sent in great profusion among which she lay on her couch as if resting, with an added dignity more beautiful even in death than in life. Rev. J. J. Klopp, her pastor, who was also a mourner, delivered a most eloquent sermon, dwelling on the splendid life and character of his friend, both in church and everyday life. And it seemed to each one who heard him, that the memory of her who had gone, would bring an added blessing to each life, and the thought of her, a softer word and kinder act.

Rev. Klopp was assisted by Rev. Poucher who made an address of appreciation of the life of this noble woman, dwelling particularly on her years of unselfish devotion to her family and friends. Although her health being in frail condition, she was ever thinking of those whom she might cheer and comfort by her thoughtfulness. In a tender, touching manner he spoke to the worshiping husband, the bereaved children, the brother and sisters, who idolized her. And to the neighbors and friends who would miss her kindly smile and sweet disposition, he himself was numbered and he knew and understood their pain at her loss. Her life, he said, was like the words of the beautiful hymn she loved "The Perfect Day," which was sung by special request of the family, by Mrs. John Hollstein. The congregational choir was assisted in the music by a quartette from the Methodist church.

Many were present from a distance, among whom were R. Y. Appleby of Portland, Oregon, Judge and Mrs. Welch, Mr. and Mrs. Hamer Wilson, C. A. Chace and family, and Mesdames Ley and Williams all of Wayne; Mrs. M. B. Myers of Lincoln, Earl S. Hammond of Fremont, Mark Miller and wife of Sioux Fall, S. D., Mrs. Chas. Kearney of Morrill; and Mrs. Grant Reeder of Kirkland, Ill.

Next attraction at the opera house will be Eugene Perry's beautiful rural comedy drama "OUR VILLAGE POSTMASTER" with Mr. Chas. B. Mills and his excellent company. Mr. Mills is well known for his peculiar style of acting, now playing his second year in the Postmaster. This play tells an interesting story of an old postmaster of a small village, who spent all his earnings to educate his son for the ministry. The son's greatest ambition is to become an actor, against his father's will. So he runs away to Chicago, failing to find work in the theatres he gets discouraged. At the time the son leaves home there is a valuable package stolen from the postoffice and the son is accused of it. The old Postmaster says there never was a thief in his family and goes to Chicago in search of the thief and to find his boy. His many funny experiences in the city will keep you bubbling with laughter all evening. Other scenes will moisten the eyes and make the heart beat with emotion. The Quincy, Ill., Times has it: "Our Village Postmaster is a play that runs from tears to laughter and vice versa, with a good moral and a well balanced cast." One-night only, seats on sale at the usual place, 50c, 35c, 25c. April 3, 1912.

Obituary

Dan Harrington was born in Rockland, Maine, on November 17, 1860, and departed this life at Long Beach, California, on Friday, March 15, 1912; aged 51 years, 3 months and 28 days. His father died during his boyhood, and his mother, and family moved to Tekamah, Nebraska, in 1870. Here Mr. Harrington grew to manhood, and began his business career. In 1886, accompanied by his brother, John Harrington, and his half-brother, Charles Robbins, he came to Wayne. After a partnership for a time with his brother, John, he spent nearly a year in Salt Lake City, but returned to Wayne, and engaged in business with Charles Robbins. A few years later he became sole owner of the business, and remained in charge until a little over a year ago, when he sold out.

On September 15, 1892, he was married in the Presbyterian church of Jordan, N. Y., to May Van Keuren, who survives to mourn a faithful husband's loss. During his long residence in our community, Mr. Harrington was, in the fullest sense of the term, a good citizen. As a business man, he was capable, energetic, honorable and successful. As a member of society, he was broad-minded, public-spirited, and friendly to every effort that meant better things for the community. He was a member of the Masonic fraternity, who honored him with a lodge of sorrow last Thursday evening. In his religious faith he affiliated himself with the Presbyterian church, and the present success of that organization owes much to his life-long support. During recent years he was elected to the position of trustee, an office which he filled with loyal devotion. After a long term of service in the store he decided, over a year ago, to make a change, and on January 1, 1911, his well-known establishment was handed over to Gamble, Senter & Co.

Last summer he spent in the west with his family, returning to Wayne in the fall. Late in the month of December last he left Wayne for the west, arriving early in the year in southern California. Here by the side of the ocean, in the balmy climate of that land, he was enjoying his well-earned rest, surrounded by his family and friends. Always strong and active, he was planning to re-enter the business world, and was expecting soon to decide on a permanent location. But his life's work was over. Without warning he was stricken with paralysis on February 16th, and the serious nature of his illness was at once recognized. However, his strong constitution enabled him to rally, and in a few weeks he seemed on the highway to a complete recovery, but a last attack on March 15th resulted in complete unconsciousness, in which he quietly passed away.

He leaves to mourn his loss a wife and one adopted daughter, Natalie; his brother, John Harrington, and a half-brother, Charles Robbins. A wide circle of friends feel his loss sadly, and at the funeral hour the stores of Wayne were closed as a tribute of respect.

"His life was gentle; and the elements so mixed in him, That nature might stand up and say to all the world, 'This was a man'."

One sweetly solemn thought comes to me o'er and o'er; I'm nearer home today than I ever have been before; Nearer the bound of life where lay our burdens down; Nearer leaving the cross—nearer wearing the crown.

Savior, perfect my trust, strengthen the might of my faith; Let me feel as I would when I stand on the rock of the shore of death. Feel as I would when my feet are slipping over the brink; For it may be I'm nearer home—nearer than now I think.

Order the best coal from the Anchor Grain Co.

J. L. Davis and family, who left Wayne less than a year ago for Texas, returned Saturday evening and will make their home here for a time. Mr. Davis has a place near Providence City, Texas, and likes the outlook there very well, but was not yet ready to improve the place. They spent the winter at Hutchinson, Kansas, coming from there to Wayne.

You will find me at the old stand for another year and having had quite a successful year ending March 1, considering conditions, I wish to thank my patrons for their part in my success. I have put in a small line of mower repairs so will be able to fix up when you break down or need new sections, guard plates, knife, heads and pitman straps, etc. Phone 261. E. C. PERKINS.

The Democrats who followed John C. Breckinridge and the Democrats who followed Stephen A. Douglas, in 1860, were not further apart than are the Republicans who support W. H. Taft and the republicans who support Roosevelt in 1912. Already the re-creation indulged by both is acrimonious and a hopeless split is inevitable unless the good-luck of the G. O. P. shall return again, proclaim a plague on both their houses and draft Mr. Justice Hughes to head the national ticket. That would restore confidence, promise victory, unite and enthrone the party; and that is what the G. O. P. would do if it were the party it was all its life up to and inclusive of 1896. But there are evidences that the party of Lincoln and Grant, of Conkling and Morton, of Logan and Foraker, of Mark Hanna and Matt Quay, of Aldrichism, of monopoly, of privilege, of error, of fraud, of everything that is depraved in politics, is moribund, on its last legs, and ready to depart for the country, wherever it is, of its grandsire, the Federalist.

There was a serious split in the ranks of the Democratic party sixteen years ago; but it was upon a single matter, and that of financial policy. On all things political except 16 to 1, W. J. Bryan and John M. Palmer were in perfect accord, and today Simon Boliver Buckner and Mr. Bryan are thoroughly agreed about things political. But where is any common ground that Joseph G. Cannon and Victor Murdock, John Dalzell and Irvine L. Lenroot, Boies Penrose and Robert M. La Follette, Cabot Lodge and Moses Clapp, Reed Smoot and Joseph L. Bristow, can stand on and maintain the smallest dab of harmony?

The advent of T. R. makes the melee intensely interesting. The third term is as paramount in the G. O. P. as it was in 1890, and the third term means a great deal more in 1912 than it did thirty-two years ago. This time it means revolution whether ours shall be distinctively government by the executive, Gen. Grant had some respect for congress, and recognized that body as the law-giving department of the republic. Though a soldier—not of a skirmish, but of a hundred bloody fields—he honored the judiciary and respected its adjudication.

But Col. Roosevelt has a contempt for congress and he positively hates a judge who renders a judgment that defeats his lay opinion, or in the slightest way annoys him in carrying out his policies, as he calls them, whatever they are. Look at his treatments of Judge Anderson and of others. What does he know of law? When did he ever show any respect for it? O, yes, he did obey a summons to serve on a jury—a thing for which he is hopelessly and defiantly unfitted, by reason of his vicious temperament and his utter want of the judicial quality, mental, moral, or physical. But the act suggests to the thoughtless Cincinnati and his plough, and it may be of some use to the colonel at this particular time. That is why he was a juror.

For ten years we have heard a heap of the "Roosevelt policies." What are they? Here is what they are—"Bark like the devil, but be sure not to bite." That is what they are and all they are.

Paul Morton's case was in exact and precise point. Where is a single tentacle of a single octopus T. R., ever clipped? Did not Hariman, the biggest octopus of the entire school, raise $260,000 to buy the election of 1904 for Roosevelt? To be sure he did. Is not the steel trust for the third term in 1912? To be sure it is. Why? In utter contempt and flagrant violation of law President Roosevelt granted the Steel trust indulgences to buy out and absorb its chief, its only powerful rival, the Tennessee Coal & Iron company? No wonder Perkins is for him, no wonder Munsey is for him, no wonder the Harvester trust is for him; Wall street is ready to buy the election for him again in 1912 as it did in 1904 when it even assessed Champ Clark, a policy holder, in the contribution of the Equitable Life insurance company to the slush fund handled by the unspeakable Cortelyou.

The thing was so flagrant that even Wickersham was forced to act against the Steel trust. He brought suit to dissolve the stupendous concern as a combination in restraint of trade. Well, what did T. R. do? He sat in and, though he is no lawyer, denounced the administration of Taft for the suit and gave the Steel trust a certificate of good character. Is there any wonder the steel trust is for him? Is he not committed to a dismissal of that suit as soon as he is inaugurated, just as he dismissed the suit against the Santa Fe railroad when his friend, Paul Morton, was involved.

Now there is one positive, distinct, inveterate, fundamental "Roosevelt policy," and that is to let the tariff alone. He won't even bark at that. He was more than seven years president, while that prodigious robbery was going on, working more injury to the common people than all other vicious agencies combined, and all the time he was as mute as a fish on the subject. Nobody knew better than T. R. that the fat fried out of the manufacturer—bought elections for the G. O. P. He knew it also bought nominations, and until he had it nailed down in 1904 he was trembling in his boots lest Mark Hanna enter the market and bid over him, something Hanna could have done had he not known that he had an appointment at the graveyard that could not be evaded or postponed. Roosevelt has supporting him, the Steel trust and its offshoot, the Harvester trust. He also has the state of Oklahoma, because it is wild, woolly and West, and he is all these, and more too. He has Pinchot, Garfield, the "outs" of the South. He has some "seller" magazines. He has all the regiments of Republican Adullamites but the respectability of the G. O. P. is for Taft, and Taft will be nominated, yet the chances are there will be a bolt and an independent Insurgent Progressive ticket.

And the sun is shining bright on the Democratic side of the hedge, though even there is seen a cloud of faction, now not larger than a man's hand.

A Nebraska Child-Saving Institute

On Monday Rev. C. E. Giwits of Omaha was at Wayne soliciting aid for the maintenance of the child-saving institute at Omaha. No one can help being in sympathy with the cause, and all Nebraska should be proud of the record made by this institution. From the 14th annual report we glean a few figures that will give an idea of the scope of their work.

The report is for the year ending in October 1911. The treasurer's report shows that they received $17,932.39 and expended $17,814.96. They started the year with 41 children in the institute, received during the year 253 new ones and re-admitted 65, making the total for the year 359. Of these they placed 104 in homes for adoption 162 with relatives and guardians. Placed one in another institution, 26 died and at the close of the year had 66 children on hand, an increase of 25.

The report further shows that in the past 14 years the institute had provided shelter for a total of 3,208 children. Mr. Giwits tells us that in many respects this institution is in advance of all others. The expense of maintaining is less per capita than any similar home, the mortality is the lowest of any such home in the United States, and is growing less each year. All deaths are among the frail and sickly infants, many of whom are brought to the home in a dying condition as a last hope, for the home is most thoroughly equipped for the best of care of the little one's, and has an operating room, rooms for the isolation of contagious diseases, sun parlor, roof garden and everything modern and sanitary.

It is one of the great institutions of the state, not in the dollars they handle, but in the results that come from the small amount of money that is given, for it is a work of charity, and any who can, should give liberally.

Sermon on Genesis

Last Sunday evening Rev. Alexander Corkey began a series of sermons on the book of Genesis. In a prelude to his sermon he explained in regard to the history and purpose of the Bible, contrasting the Old and New Testaments, and showing the ripe fruit of the religious experience recorded in the inspired Word to be Jesus Christ, whose perfection of character is now unchallenged amongst intelligent people throughout the world. He declared that the purpose of the Bible was to reveal the connection which the world has with God, and teach men the true religious faith and the right human life of mortals, denying that the Bible was given to us to teach geology, astronomy, or any other science, and ridiculing those who imagine there was a conflict between Scripture and scientific knowledge.

In setting forth the teachings of the Bible in regard to the creation of the universe, and the introduction of man upon the earth, the speaker declared the first Chapter of Genesis taught the three fundamental truths of the pre-existence of God, the Creator, before the universe was called into being, the spiritual likeness between man and his Maker, and the sovereignty of man over the earth as God's viceroy. The knowledge of these sublime truths gave man an intelligent outlook on life and destiny, and fitted him to seek and find his life in God.

In the subsequent sermons in this remarkable and most valuable book, Mr. Corkey will discuss the leading dramatic scenes connected with man's earliest religious experiences as recorded.

A. M. MORRISSEY,

Candidate for the Democratic Nomination for Attorney General, at the Primaries April 19th, 1912.

From the spring of 1893 to the fall of 1911, Mr. Morrissey was engaged in the practice of the law at Valentine, the county seat of Cherry county, and during the first four years of that time, he was the county attorney of that county. At the expiration of his second term, he declined to hold the office longer and engaged in private practice. As prosecuting officer of this big county he met and tried cases against many of the foremost lawyers of the state, who had been called in to defend in criminal cases, in successfully coping with these big men of the profession, his reputation as a trial lawyer spread into the adjoining counties and for the past ten years he has been rated as one of the most successful men at the bar. In the summer of 1911 he gave up his residence at Valentine and removed to Lincoln, where he is now engaged in the practice of his profession.

He was a delegate to the last democratic national convention and has a wide acquaintance with the party workers of the state. His friends believe that his nomination will greatly strengthen the state ticket, as he is the only man who has fled who is representative of the western end of the state, and this, together with his high standing as a lawyer, will help to round out a ticket that will appeal to the voters next fall.

He is a native of the state of New York, but has lived for twenty years in western Nebraska, and may be said to be one of the pioneers of the state.

The packers were not guilty, said the jury. They must have been vegetarians, for if they had been buying meat the past ten years they might have known better.

It is the subject of a special dispatch that three meadow larks were seen Sunday in the northern part of the state. The item did not say how long they withstood the rigors of winter.

According to the Norfolk News the Norfolk folks were swimming in the Elkhorn river at about this date, 1894, and this year they would find the skating better than the swimming.

Wonder how much is cost Uncle Sam to get the wrecked Battleship Maine out of the Havana harbor and sink it in the middle of the ocean, and also what the hull would have been worth for junk. If some enterprising ship company had met with a misfortune of the kind that befell the Maine, would they have made the wreck pay its own funeral expenses? We think so.

Primaries are to be held April 19th, and every democrat in Wayne county should vote. There is something doing this year in politics. The game opens early, but not so early but that the big interests are on the job, and unless the voters turn out they may wake up too late to the fact that they have lost out by a large majority. If the trust controlled crowd can capture both nominations where will the people come in?

A delegation of newspaper reporters called upon Mr. Roosevelt and asked him for an expression to the tariff question. "That's Taft's Skunk, let him skin it!" replied the strenuous ex-president.

Mr. Roosevelt will discover that the consumers are determined to elect a man, who will protect their chickens from this, voracious polecat. The information which the investigations of the strike at Lawrence, Mass., has brought out has left a very bad taste in the mouths of men, who have purchased woolen undershirts two sizes too large for them and after they have been washed once have seen the sleeves become ashamed of the cuff bands and pull them up above the elbows. Nebraska Liberal.

Regretting that Bros. Bryan and Hitchcock fail to harmonize on the question of the propriety of a delegate attending a convention where his instructions are not in accord with his convictions, we cannot fail to recognize the merit of the position taken by Mr. Bryan and the opportune time he has taken to tell the voters his conviction. No man in this country, we think, has a better knowledge of men in politics than Mr. Bryan. He is not a man to let his personal likes and dislikes swerve him, but when what he considers a vital principle is at stake, he publicly takes a stand for what he considers right, and has never yet flinched at taking full responsibility upon himself for his action. Mr. Bryan warns the voters that he cannot consistently support Candidate Harmon, and that if elected delegate and instructed for him he will decline to serve, but he is telling no one else that they shall not accept if they can conscientiously do so. He is out in the open before the primary. His position is plain; he will accept as delegate if not instructed to vote and work for one whom he deems unworthy. He might be criticised had he not made this position known before the election; but if elected now, it will be by those who do not want Harmon for the nominee.

Winside Boy at Burial of the Maine

John Cherry, son of Dr. A. B. Cherry of this place had the honor of being a member of the crew of the cruiser Birmingham, which was one of the ships of the squadron that escorted the remains of the Battle Ship Maine to her final resting place in the fathomless depths of the Gulf stream, at 5:30 p. m., last Saturday afternoon. The battered remnants of the once pride of our navy was towed out to sea and completely covered with flowers, tributes of the American and Cuban people, she went down with colors flying as befits every ship of the American navy. According to press despatches the Birmingham was one of the most conspicuous ships in the funeral procession. On board the North Carolina were the bodies of the sailors, who lost their lives at the time of the destruction of the Maine and who were being transferred to Washington, D. C., where they will be buried in Arlington Cemetery. The following is a portion of a letter which Dr. Cherry received from John. "Well as I am in the life boat crew and am off duty from 12 o'clock until four in the morning, I thought I would write to you. The sea is not very rough this time so far, we are rolling about 22 degrees. We raised anchor at 3 o'clock yesterday and expect to reach Key West, Fla., Saturday, the 9th, where we will take some officials aboard and proceed to Havana, where we will help tow the Maine out to sea for her final burial. We will then take the remains of the sailors of the Maine to Washington D. C. I will get to see something that many would like to see, viz. the burial of the Maine.

We had a boat race with the first division yesterday and beat them by five boat lengths. Is it very cold in Nebraska? It is fine here, breathing the fresh air from the ocean. I have been in the navy just one year this month." Taken from the Winside Tribune.

Makes Suggestion to County Clerks About Printing Tickets.

UP TO OFFICIALS TO AGT.

Law Provides for No Instructions to Minor Officials—Dean Withdraws as Populist—Only One Elector Now Running With Two Indorsements.

Lincoln, March 27.—Just as the copy for the primary ballots was ready to be mailed to the county clerks Secretary Wait received from J. R. Dean a withdrawal as a Populist candidate for elector at large, but he remains on the ticket as a Democratic candidate for the same office. This leaves only one elector, both of the fifth district, running as both a Democrat and Populist. Accompanying the list of candidates Mr. Wait sent the following concerning the candidates for delegates to the national convention:

There are two sets of Republican presidential electors, sixteen on the certificate, eight to be nominated; also two sets, eight delegates at large, four to be nominated, and two sets, fourteen in each congressional district, two to be nominated, and a like number of alternates. The first four in the list of the delegates at large are indorsed by the Taft State League, and the last four indorsed by La Follette-Roosevelt State League.

All Republican delegates and alternates are pledged to vote in the national convention for the candidate for president receiving the highest number of votes at the primary.

It has been suggested that the delegates be designated on the ballot as to their choice for president. I think the better way, however, would be to write the names in fours, instead of singly, of the delegates and alternates at large, and in twos of the district delegates, thus keeping together the two sets as indorsed by the separate leagues. I have no authority in the matter or instructions to give you, and as the primary law does not cover the situation it is up to you to use your own discretion. The above plan might in some instances aid a voter in making his choice for delegate.

No requests from other political parties have been made for this manner of making up the ballot. The primary law does not authorize this department to issue a sample ballot.

RIVERS ARE SLOWLY RISING

No Signs of Ice Breaking Up in Missouri Are Yet Apparent.

Omaha, March 27.—The Blue River at Beatrice is almost as high as it was a week ago. The Union Pacific between Marysville, Kan., and Beatrice is again cut off. The company is using the Rock Island and St. Joseph and Grand Island tracks in running between Beatrice and Marysville. The Missouri river at Omaha rose one-half foot in twenty-four hours. The river is now ten and seven tenths feet above the low water level. No signs of the ice in the river breaking has been recorded at the weather bureau.

From Central City west the Platte river continues to hold as solid as a rock, though covered with water to a depth of from three to eight inches. East of Central City the ice shows signs of breaking. Above Fremont and east of Silver Creek considerable of the ice has broken up and moved out. About five miles about Fremont there is a report of a gorge and that the river has risen very rapidly.

MORLEY IS ARRAIGNED

Pleads Not Guilty to Charge of Murdering Warden Delahanty.

Charles Morley was arraigned before County Judge Risser at Lincoln on two counts and waived examination on both, after pleading not guilty.

One count charges him with aiding Gray in killing Usher E. G. Hellman and the other charges him with shooting Warden James Delahanty. He told the court that he did not desire an attorney. Beyond the time taken to read the complaints, the hearing occupied but a few minutes.

Morley was questioned after the trial as to the appearance of the man among his pursuers who killed Roy Blunt, the young farmer, driving. He described him as a tall man, shooting a short range rifle. He said that he believed that the bullet came from the man sitting on the front seat of the buggy that contained Chief Briggs, and Fire Warden Trouton of South Omaha and Sheriff Chase of Sarpy county.

Duck Hunters Want More Time.

Duck hunters from all over the state are writing the governor, and the game warden to know if the open season for ducks cannot be extended. The law makes April 5 the close of the open season, but on account of the late spring the flight of birds has not started yet and there is little prospect of any shooting until after the season closes. The governor is sympathetic, but can see no authority for suspending the law.

Indicted for Killing Deer.

Game Warden Miller received word that the Saunders county grand jury had indicted Dick Sutton and his son, Tom Andrews and Alfred Larson on the charge of illegally killing a deer. The deer was killed last summer and created considerable talk at the time.

POWELL CHECKS CAR WEIGHT

Nebraska Expert Finds Marks on Sides to Be Wrong.

Railroads may have their business down to an exact science, but figures compiled by U. G. Powell, expert rate man for the Nebraska railway commission, would not indicate it. He has been digging up some facts concerning weights to present to the interstate commerce commission at Chicago. It is customary for roads to mark on cars the weight of the cars, which marks are permanent. When a loaded car is weighed this amount is taken from the total to get at the contents. Out of 1,100 cars weighed by the commission on tested scales, 402 showed a variation from correct weight of 4 to 7,300 pounds, the others varying in lesser amounts. The one which was off 7,300 was a Northwestern car and the stencilled weight was that much less than its real weight, the company thereby cheating itself out of that much on each carload if it weighed up to the maximum.

In others the stencilled weights were too great, the whole showing there was no design in the incorrect weights. In reweighing 500 cars of coal four different scales were used and differences in scales amounting to as high as 13,000 pounds were discovered in one instance.

GRAIN DEALERS MEET

Convention of Farmers' Elevator Association at Beatrice.

The convention of the Farmers' Elevator association was held in Hastings and representatives were present from Aurora, Lincoln, Cortland, Beatrice and Kansas City. The purpose of this organization is to band together the farmers' elevator companies of the state.

J. W. Shorthill of Aurora, Neb., secretary of the association, spoke on the subject of "Insurance," and his talk contained many suggestions of great value to those in the grain business. The questions of "Scales" and "Shrinkage" were discussed by a number of the members present. These are two of probably the greatest problems of the grain men.

Miss Jessie Barnhill of Kansas City, probably the only woman grain buyer in this part of the country, was present. It is stated that last year she purchased more grain than any man who was in attendance at the convention.

NEW FRAUD COMES TO LIGHT

Man Impersonating Food Inspector Gathers Many Samples.

Posing as a pure food inspector an unidentified man, has been working in Omaha during the last few weeks, collecting samples of vinegar, catsup, butter and varieties of canned and bottled goods from manufacturers and jobbers. Wherever the man may be, those who have been on his trail declare he undoubtedly has a full larder.

Government secret service men have been working to get a trace of him, it having been learned that he has left Omaha, probably to continue his work in some other place. Marshal Warner and his deputies have worked some on the Omaha end of the case, but the stranger was careful not to attract too much attention by collecting too many samples at one place.

Bethany People Protest.

The state railway commission has been engaged in hearing the petition of the people of Bethany for a reduction of fare on the Omaha, Lincoln and Beatrice interurban road between that place and Lincoln. At present the fare is 10 cents each way or 15 cents for the round trip if a ticket is purchased. They want a straight 5-cent fare, which the company asserts it cannot afford to give and further that the company is organized on the railway law and is entitled under the law to charge 2 cents a mile.

Feeding-in-Transit Rates.

The railway commission has fixed the feeding in transit rates on live stock between South Omaha and the following stations on the Burlington road as follows: Atkins Siding and Bayard, 8 cents; Minature and Hayward, 9 cents; Scottsbluff and Covert, 10 cents; Mitchell and Tooeby, 12 cents; Henry, 12 cents per 100 pounds. The same rates apply to Nebraska City.

Registration of Animals.

Records in the stallion registration department of the state board of agriculture show that up to date the examiners have reported about 6,000 animals and there are still others, though the work from now on is simply clearing up the scattered animals. Two years ago the number of such animals reported to the university authorities under the old law was 1,200.

Judge Reese Returns.

Judge Reese, supreme justice of the state, has returned from Excelsior Springs, Mo., where he was for some time on account of his health. His general condition appears to be excellent, but the pains in his hip and leg are still severe and he hardly expects to recover until the weather becomes settled.

Cash in Treasury Low.

The funds in the state treasury with which to take up state warrants have dwindled to about $40,000 and Treasurer George fears that unless county treasurers remit more promptly than usual he will be compelled to register warrants before the July settlement.

Date for Stanton Fair Fixed.

Stanton, Neb., March 26.—The dates for the holding of the Stanton county fair this year were fixed for Aug. 27, 28, 29 and 30.

The Machine By Which All Others Are Judged

For more than thirty years the De Laval cream separator has been acknowledged as the World's Standard.

You may hear it said of some separator that "It's as good as a De Laval;" or if some competing salesman wants to make his argument particularly strong, he'll say "It's better than a De Laval."

The concern with a cheaply and poorly constructed machine says "Just as good as a De Laval and costs less."

But everywhere the De Laval is recognized by experienced creamerymen and dairymen and even by makers of would-be competing machines as the World's Standard.

The cream separator is more frequently used than any other machine on the farm, and for that reason, if for no other, only the very best should be purchased, and that's the De Laval.

Easiest to turn, easiest to wash, skims the cleanest and lasts the longest

FREE SUGAR—TAX INCOMES

Outline of Important Tax Legislation Proposed. Read it and Tell Wherein it is Wrong.

Washington, March 26.—Is it just that the men who own 90 per cent of the wealth of the United States should shoulder but 10 per cent of the burden of taxation for running the government?

The Democratic House of Representatives believes that it is not, and hence the passage of the excess-income tax bill which levies a tax of 1 per cent on incomes in excess of $5,000 a year.

This does not mean that all persons having more than $5,000 must pay a tax on the excess of that sum. It means that those who have an annual "income" of more than $5,000 must pay the 1 per cent on the excess of $5,000. It will be necessary for a man to draw a higher salary than $5,000 a year, or to have a capitalized sum of about $100,000 before he is called upon to pay 1 per cent tax on that portion in excess of $5,000.

This is class legislation, the standpatters and protectionists say. They were never heard to complain, however, of the existing class legislation which permits the burden of federal taxation to fall entirely upon the shoulders of the masses, taxing the average man, woman and child on every stitch of clothing they wear and everything else they must have in order to live, while permitting all forms of wealth to go untaxed.

The masses of the people produce the wealth, and by legislative advantage a few get possession of it, and now these few object to the transfer to wealth of even the amount of revenue derived from the taxation of sugar, but one of the 500 hundred things on which a tariff is levied. They would prefer that the government continue to tax sugar instead of wealth, because they eat no more sugar than the section hand or the mill worker and therefore under the present system are compelled to pay no greater tax to the federal government than does the poorest man. These facts may read strange, but they are facts, and will not be contradicted.

The United States is practically the only one of the great nations today that raises practically all its revenue by taxing the people according to their needs and practically according to their poverty, and allows wealth to go untaxed, so far as the raising of money to build battleships, maintain the army, and run the government are concerned.

The government now raises $314,000,000 annually by placing an import duty or tariff on things the people eat, wear or use. Banks, railroads and steamship lines pay nothing to Uncle Sam because they do not come through the customs houses.

If a fiscal system which requires a millionaire to pay no more tax to the federal government than the section hand or the mill worker is fair and just, there is no need of reform; but if such a system is unjust, the excise-income tax is a move in the right direction to remedy.

RUINED AGAIN.

The sugar industry in the United States, according to the wall going up from protectionists, will be ruined by the bill removing the tax from sugar, reducing the price to the consumer approximately 2 cents a pound. This, then, will be the fourth time the industry, will have been "ruined," according to protectionists—always according to protectionists.

The standpatters said the industry would be ruined when Porto Rico sugar was admitted free. But it wasn't. Then they said it would surely perish when Philippine sugar was admitted free, and gave up the same cry when Cuban sugar was given a downward revision. During this time of "ruin," came sugar production in this country increased materially, and beet sugar production more than doubled, but the cost of sugar has never ceased to advance in price to the consumer. The wholesale price of standard granulated sugar on the day this item is written is $5.85 per one hundred pounds. One week ago today it was $5.75. One month ago today, $5.45, and one year ago, $4.60.

Whether the sugar trust finds it necessary to increase prices to reimburse itself for the stolen millions it was forced to disgorge to the government, following the exposure of the underweighing frauds, or whether the increases are actually justified by a shortage of sugar production abroad, is considered a debatable question by many. But the fact that the wholesale price of sugar in London averages two cents a pound less than in the United States, the year around, shows the advantage in favor of the consumers of the country where there is neither a sugar tariff nor a sugar trust.

WHERE UNDERWOOD STANDS
Chairman Underwood of the ways and means committee was interrupted in his speech against the sugar tax by a Louisiana member, who inquired of Mr. Underwood what he anticipated would happen to the sugar industry in his state if the tax was taken off the sugar. Mr. Underwood stated that in all frankness to the gentlemen from Louisiana he did not know what would happen to the sugar industry of that state, but that he did know that the sugar production of Louisiana was less than one tenth of the entire sugar consumption in the United States, and that he did not believe in the principle of taxing 92,000,000 people in order that a few sugar producers in one state might make an unjust profit.

TWO SUGAR TRUST CHECKS

When the bill to repeal the tax on sugar was up for discussion in the House, Asher C. Hinds, of Maine, arose and loudly proclaimed that the ledger of the sugar trust in New York would show that the trust had sent checks to the campaign managers of both the Republican and Democratic parties. Mr. Hardwick, of Georgia, replied. He said that what Mr. Hinds had stated was true, but that the same book also showed that the check intended for the Democratic campaign fund had been returned uncashed, whereas the one sent to the Republicans had been cashed and spent.

FOOD DOPERS IN THE SADDLE

The enforcement of the pure food laws in the United States is now completely in the hands of Dr. Wiley's enemies, who stand for such drugs as benzoate of soda, which are harmful to the human system, but useful to the packers of embalmed foodstuffs.

Special Meeting of City Council

The City council met in special session March 21, 1912, with Mayor J. H. Kate in the chair and the following councilmen present: Bright, Meister, Sprague, Larrison, McVicker and Kingsbury. Mayor Kate then proceeded to open the bids on the city hall to be erected in Wayne, Nebraska, and read them as follows: J. H. Foster & Son, $7980; A. M. Helt, $7622; Dubel & Anderson, $9600; J. P. Riddle, $8725; and H. Bellas Co., $9700; these being all the bids filed with the City Clerk.

It was moved by Sprague and seconded by Kingsbury that the bid of A. M. Helt be declared the lowest and best bid and that he be awarded the contract for the erection of the city hall for the sum of $7622.00. Motion was carried by unanimous vote and the Mayor and Clerk ordered to enter into a contract with A. M. Helt for the sum of $7622.00 and according to the plans and specifications of S. D. Relyea architect.

No further business appearing before the meeting, motion was carried to adjourn until the next regular meeting night.

Council Meeting

The city council met in regular session March 25, 1912, with Mayor J. H. Kate in the chair and all the councilmen present.

The following bills were allowed:
J. W. Nelson, labor, $1.50
J. Harmer, March salary, $60.00
G. Newman, March salary, 60.00
Ed Murrell, March salary, 90.00
Geo. L. Miner, March salary, $75.00
Forrest L. Hughes, March salary, $25.00
Henry Foltz, labor and barn rent, $49.00
J. W. Nelson, labor shoveling coal, $6.00
H. W. Barnett, drayage, .50
E. C. Perkins, return of meter, $17.00
Nebr. Telephone Co., March phone rent, $2.50
Geo. W. Fortner, hay and grain, $12.95
H. W. Johns-Manville Co., supplies, $4.78
Joe McCown, labor, $2.25
Havens-White Coal Co., car of coal, $57.20
Havens-White Coal Co., car of coal, $57.00.

The council approved the appointment by Mayor Kate, of Walter Miller as street commissioner. The Mayor was authorized to take out insurance on the Light and Water plant for the same amount as carried last year. It was moved seconded and carried that the Mayor use his own judgment in regard to furnishing the railroad with water.

Social Notes

The Minerva club met at the home of Mrs. Bright Tuesday afternoon, the subject being "Factors in the Location of Cities" with Mrs. Lutgen as leader. There was an attendance of twenty members present, each lady giving a four minute talk on a certain city, telling where located, why thus named and some of the important facts concerning said city. A game of "cities" was then enjoyed; each lady guessing a hidden city in various sentences, some answers causing much amusement, others being very accurate and correct. The hostess then served delightful refreshments. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Grothe when "Ports and Harbors" will be the subject.

Mrs. O. H. King charmingly presided at a one o'clock luncheon last Saturday in honor of Mrs. Alice Philico of Carroll. The cozy home and table presented an artistic appearance in shaded lights and yellow jonquills, the favors harmonizing with the easter season. The guests of the club were, Mesdames Richardson and Smith.

Mrs. S. R. Theobald was hostess at the meeting of the Acme's this week, but owing to the absence of so many members and other reasons the "Educational Day" program was omitted and current event reviewed instead. The postponed program will be enjoyed with Mrs. Walter Weber next week.

The Monday club met for their regular lesson at the home of Mrs. T. W. Moran, where current events received due attention. Mrs. Moran then favored the club with ice cream and cake. The next meeting will be in the nature of an April fool affair at the home of Mrs. A. A. Welch.

The Bible circle held their quarterly meeting yesterday at the home of Mrs. Gossard, Mrs. Williamson presiding. Their lesson consisted of a general review after which letters from absent members were read, also reports from other missionary fields.

Mrs. Woodward Jones was hostess at the regular meeting of the U. D. club Monday afternoon, when current events formed the chief subject of discussion. They will enjoy a Kensington with Mrs. Felber instead of their usual lesson.

Miss Etta Buffington entertained the Shakespeare club at a six-thirty dinner Wednesday evening complimentary to her sister, Mrs. Wm. Hopgood, who is making a visit in Wayne.

The lecture which was to have been delivered by Dr. Gorst before the Minerva club several weeks ago and continually postponed because of various other affairs, will be given tonight.

"The Liver Pills act So Naturally and Easily."

Such a statement, coming from the cashier of a bank, shows what confidence responsible people have in these pills. Mr. A. L. Wilson after trying them wrote:

"I have used Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills and also your Anti-Pain Pills, on myself, with good results. The Liver Pills act so naturally and so easily that I scarcely know that I have taken a pill. Frequently being troubled with headache I take an Anti-Pain Pill and get immediate relief in every case."

A. L. Wilson, Sparta, Ill.
Mr. Wilson was for a number of years cashier of the First National Bank of Sparta.

are different from others. Many kinds of liver pills are "impossible" after one trial on account of their harshness. Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills do not act by sheer force but in an easy, natural way, without gripping or undue irritation. They are not habit forming.

Big Meeting at Lincoln

The annual convention of the Northwest Division of the Associated Ad Clubs of America and the first annual convention of the Nebraska Publicity League will be held at Lincoln April 16 and 17. This convention is of importance to every man in Nebraska who is in any way interested in advertising and salesmanship.

S. R. McKelvie, president of these two organizations, advises us that the program will be equal to that offered at conventions of national character.

James Schermerhorn, publisher of the Detroit Times, will talk on the subject, "Who Makes Fraudulent Advertising Effective?" Mr. Schermerhorn is a national character in the publishing world and his talk will be worth going a long distance to hear.

In Iowa manufacturing institutions have organized under the name of the Iowa State Manufacturer's Association, with G. A. Wrightman as secretary. This organization has accomplished wonders for the manufacturing institutions of Iowa, and Mr. Wrightman will talk at this convention on the subject, "Developing a State's Manufacturing Industries." There are a great many towns in Nebraska which afford special inducements to manufacturing institutions and the facts and thoughts which Mr. Wrightman will present will be of great value to business men in Nebraska towns.

The address of Ben R. Vardman, Des Moines, will be a discussion of the subject, "Suggestion a Practical Force." This address will contain the very best thoughts from the standpoint of salesmanship.

Mr. Julius Schneider, advertising counsel of the Chicago Tribune, is one of the most brilliant talkers in the advertising business, will talk at this convention on things of most vital interest to business men in the pursuance of successful advertising and salesmanship.

By way of entertainment, the Lincoln Ad club will take care of the out-of-town guests at a presentation of the annual minstrel show of this club. On the second evening the guests will be entertained at the annual banquet of the Lincoln Ad Club.

From the foregoing facts it will be readily seen that the convention of the Northwest Division of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America and the Nebraska Publicity League will afford for all those who attend two days of profitable and pleasurable entertainment.

The egg production of Nebraska is no small factor in determining the annual wealth produced in this state. This wealth would be materially increased in and around Wayne if those who grow poultry would take the pains to select some standard breed of fowls and then keep the flock pure and true to the best of the type selected. Eggs that go on the market for consumption are now bringing but 15c per dozen, and there is good money in them at that figure, but the farmer or poultry man who has pure bred stock can sell his eggs in Wayne at twice that sum all through the hatching season. That will pay for considerable extra work. Then if he cares to advertise he can dispose of a large number of eggs at a dollar or more per setting, according to the standard of his flock. During the spring the Democrat is planning to devote a department exclusively to poultry news and advertising, and we will be glad to have short contributions and local poultry news from those interested.

OLD SLOWPOKE'S TURKEY.

Look, is that a turkey gobbler?
Goodness! How did he escape
When so many after turkey
Would have run his life to take?

Did he roost upon a steeple?
Did he hide in No Man's Land?
Where, oh, did this rambler sneak, sir,
To escape the butcher's hand?

Did they have this turkey muzzled
That we could not hear him yell?
How did this turkey see the hatchet?
Come now, brother, do please tell.

Well, if you must have the story,
This turk was at Slowpoke's store,
Where big cobwebs hang in festoons
And are rats and mice galore.

Turkey did not dare to holler,
Feared the rats would get his skin.
Then at Slowpoke's quiet corner
No one ever heard of him.

Slowpoke, like some other fossils,
Can't be made to realize
That the way to sell your notions
Is to freely advertise.
C. M. BARNITZ.

A SCRATCH FLOOR NECESSARY.

Absence of eggs from so many winter egg baskets is explained by the absence of a scratch floor from so many poultry houses. Just as advertising is the business boomer and bound to bring biz, so exercise, after good grain, is life to the hen's egg machine and force for hen fruit. You may have the finest laying strain, you may feed the finest kind of grain, you may scheme and work with might and main, but if you don't have lively, fresh, red blood capering around that hen's egg capacity, you'll get nothing for your hustle
but a fat Biddy bluster.

Success and toe blisters are twin sisters,
and the hen that can't show

ON THE SCRATCH FLOOR.

corns on her triblys is a fat loafer.
The scratch floor is a health promoter,
fat dissolver and profit producer.

Turn those lazy fannies on to a deep littered floor. Change their diet from Bellevue-Stratford to prune diet. They will turn on you a reproachful, can it be possible gaze as you throw a few grains into that deep litter, but when hunger at last penetrates their fat givzard and they realize it's "root, hog,
or die," they'll scratch their bustle off
in the twinkling of an eye.

That scratching floor may be of earth, boards or concrete, the last the best.

An open front shed without drafts is bully for the Biddies, for they must have plenty of fresh air while working, and the air carries out the dust.

Dry, sweet, wheat straw is best litter as it is clean and doesn't go to pieces so quickly as leaves, buckwheat and out straw.

Mixed sound grain fed in litter keeps hens warm, busy, happy, healthy, and under its beneficial exercise we have never had a flock that didn't fill the egg crock.

DON'TS.

Don't oil the curtain of your open front house. It will rot and go to pieces.

Don't depend on leaves for scratching material. The hens soon scratch them to dust.

Don't buy a stack of corn unless you have a well ventilated place to store it.
It will mold.

Don't forget that success with poultry depends on the quality of the fowls and their care more than on the size of the flock.

Don't get discouraged if those pullets
don't lay right on the day you set.
Some grow fast, some grow slow and before they lay must mature, you know.

Don't despise oats as a grain because of its husks. It is the best balanced grain in protein and carbohydrates and is a wonderful frame builder and muscle maker.

Don't get so fascinated with birds at the show as to forget that many show birds are the result of the ridiculous double mating system and when mated cannot produce their kind.

THE BLACK TURKEY.

The Black turkey, once numerous, is seldom seen in large numbers and is mostly restricted to the south and west, this variety often being found mixed in carload shipments sent north and east at Christmas time.

The Black fell back because its raisers neglected the principles of breeding. It was so closely inbred that it deteriorated into a small, delicate bird, hard to raise and unpopular for size. Many died off.

The Bronze took leadership, and the White Holland won the place for a medium sized turkey.

Veteran fanciers remember the early Black as a good sized, well rounded, delicious turkey, and they will be pleased to know that turkey enthusiasts

A BLACK GOBBLER.

As the crossing it with the Bronze to give size and stamina and are now booming this valuable variety.

This turkey when prime is just the size to fit the capacity of the ordinary family and has the yellowest skin of all the turkey tribe, a market fad of American poultry buyers.

The pure bred has lustrous, greenish black plumage, dark shanks, feet and bill. It matures early and reaches a prime, pretty, round, yellow carcass
just in time for the Thanksgiving feast.

FEATHERS AND EGGSHELLS.

Maryland—my Maryland—shows by the late census a poultry valuation of $1,859,000, a gain of 60.5 per cent.
There are 2,650,750 chickens, 60,280
turkeys, 50,232 ducks, 23,000 geese, 91-653 guineas, 27,435 pigeons and 22 pea fowls. Her preachers are rejoicing.

The crowing of a rooster in a basement led a constable to investigate, and seven stolen fowls were discovered,
and Charles Monoski of Chester, Pa., was held in $300 bail for court. Their owner had wisely punched the fowls' foot web and easily identified them.

The show season is now on, and the public should encourage the boys by attending these exhibitions. Many poultry shows are combined with dog and cat exhibitions, and this menage erie is certainly an interesting place for the children and grown ups as well.

Harper's Weekly tells us the lyre bird is disappearing. What a pity this can't be said of the human liar birds!
David said centuries ago, "All men are liars." Perhaps now, comparing his age with our age, of course not including woman's age, monumental liars are getting scarcer after all.

In the American Museum of Natural History in New York is the largest egg in the world, eighty times the size of a hen's egg. It is the egg of the "Flying Elephant," one of the Roc family, and scientists say it was laid 400 years ago. It is two feet two inches around its shortest circumference.

When a fancier at Jackson, Tenn., entered his henhouse he missed thirteen fine hens, but under the roost was a $250 gold watch that had been lost by the thief. This is a notice to the thief to return and identify his property, but we wouldn't advise him to do so on the 13th of the month.

New York has a cold storage law
that should be adopted by other states.
It limits the time of storage, provides that food once exposed for sale shall not be placed in storage again; all storage foods must be labeled as such and must be labeled with date of receipt in storage and of its delivery therefrom.

It is remarkable what space the American hen now occupies in the newspapers and what interesting puffs she gets. Here's a cute one from the Baltimore Sun: "The American hen beats the world. She is not a possessor of great personal beauty, nor does she aspire to be a butterfly of fashion, but by keeping steadily at work and doing the best she can she has been enabled to enrich this country with more good dollars than all the silver mines of the west and all the gold of the Klondike. Statistics show that in a single generation the American hen lays eggs enough to make the Atlantic ocean one vast omelet and fill the Pacific with scrambled eggs. Placed on top of one another they would make a stack 40,000 times as tall as the Washington monument and almost as high as the price of beef."

Learn How Long a Minute Is.

A railroad man recently said that few persons realize how long a minute really is. He said if the ordinary passenger reaches a station and finds the train will go out in one minute he is nearly frantic. He rushes madly for it, knocking obstructionists in every direction, falling over himself, losing his breath, barking his shins and damaging the scenery generally, to fall up the steps and gasp unpleasantly for the next half hour. If, on the other hand, a railroad man wishes to take a train he waits until half a minute of the starting time, puts on his overcoat and hat leisurely, saunters across the yard, perhaps stops to give a few instructions to a workman and swings himself calmly up on to the steps in ample time before the train begins to move.
No; it is not only because he knows the ropes, but because he has an accurate idea how much time there is in a minute. Perhaps that explains their clocks.—New York Tribune.

Unreal Suns.

The mock suns of the arctic regions are somewhat similar to the mirages of the desert. As the long winter night of the polar region wanes, once every twenty-four hours a slight glow is seen at some point on the horizon. Often accompanying this glow is seen the phenomenon of the mock suns. Several degrees up in the heavens as many as five of these spectral orbs have been seen at one time. Invariably they are all connected in a geometric figure, the suns seemingly bound together with circles and arcs of light.
Often when only one appears it is mistaken for the real god-of-day, and natives rejoice at the early end of the long winter night, only to be disappointed as the image disappears. The explanation of the phenomenon is given by physicists as refraction and reflection of light from the real sun below the horizon on the mists in the upper atmosphere.

Fires That Never Go Out.

There are many household fires in England which are kept burning continuously. In several Yorkshire Inns—which, like the Falcon, on Cloughton moor, make a specialty of peat cakes—there is always a ruddy glow on the hearth.

There are whole districts in Wales,
too, where domestic fires never go out.
Once lit, they are kept alight because of the difficulty of starting them. This is owing to the peculiar character of the fuel, which is culm, a mixture of anthracite coal and clay. In every house in the culm districts the last job at night is making up the fire, and then it is time for bed. There is no incitation to tarry, for nothing looks more dead than the black, sodden mass from which smoke is curling. But in the morning the bellows quickly bring a blaze, and the kettle boils in ten minutes' time.—London Answers.

Estimating the Damage.

The wagon and the eggs had been settled for, and now it came to deciding on the value of the farmer's horse, which lay unquestionably dead in the ditch.

"Now," said Winkles, leaning back in the tonneau, "how much do you want for the horse?"

"Twenty dollars, I guess," said the farmer.

"Twenty dollars!" echoed Winkles.
"For that old skate? Why, he's nothing but a hat rack—a perfect plug."

"Waal," drawled the farmer, "reckord" on that there basis, the last time I got a skate on it cost me $9. Ye can't git a hat rack fittin' to be seen fer less'n $12, and, as fer the plug, I paid $4 fer the last beaver hat I bought to wear to meetin'. 'Tm's $25
on your own fingerin' without no pay fer buryin' the critter."—Harper's.

Free Fences.

In his book on Newfoundland P. T.
McGrath has this to say of the Beothic Indians: "They felled trees to form fences to stop the caribou in their annual migration and head them toward the rivers, where they could more easily kill them. Travelers who subsequently came upon these fences say they often extended thirty or forty miles and were most ingenious in their construction, the trees being cut so that they fell on one another and their branches being then interlaced in such a fashion as made it impossible for the deer to escape."

A Tip to Mamma.

"Mamma," said small Sadie to her mother, who had been very ill, "I'm glad you are able to be up again, but—but—"

"But what dear?"

"Papa does put such a lot of butter on our dry-toast at breakfast."—Chicago News.

Tit For Tat.

"You know," said a smart young man to a girl, "some one has said that if you want a lasting pair of boots make the soles of the tongue of a woman."

"Yes," replied the girl, "and for the uppers you ought to take the cheek of the man who said it."—London Tit-Bits.

All He Would Get.

"Pebbles says he is thinking of running for congress. Do you think that would be advisable?"

"Well, the exercise might do him good."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

A Kind Boss.

"Is your boss a kind man?"

"Sure. My wife came down to draw my pay one day while I was out on a job, and he wouldn't let her have it."— smallest spark of charity.—Nevins.

Free Freight.

Every railway carries more or less freight for its own use, and therefore without pay, and in some countries both freight and passengers are occasionally carried free on governmental or other account. As such gratuitous service does not increase the monetary receipts, it is ordinarily omitted from the companies' earnings. The term

A Crippled Mind

Many strong minds, giant intellects, are held down and starved out by crippled digestive power, dyspepsia and the poison absorbed as a result of chronic constipation.
If your stomach lacks digestive power the natural and simplest thing to do is to put into it the agents it lacks. Above all things avoid strong drugs that paralyze and irritate the stomach and bowels.
A sound, healthy stomach contains the same digestive agents Spruce Pepsin tablets contain.

Spruce Pepsin tablets will digest fermenting, decaying food that lays like a lump in your stomach. We have proved this thousands of times sufferer from stomach trouble. We will send you a trial box FREE.

State Normal Notes

Mrs. Alice J. Warnock is visiting her sister, Miss Lillian M. Jewell.

On last Friday morning, Professor Lewis discussed current events before the students at convocation.

There will be no school on Friday, March 29th, and the educational meeting at Norfolk will be attended by a large number from the Normal, both students and members of the faculty.

French Penn received a tempting offer from a rural school district near Wayne and has contracted for a two months' term of school. He will return to the Normal for the summer session.

Persident Conn received a message from Middletown, Indiana, last Saturday, apprising him of the death of his nephew. He and Mrs. Conn left on the afternoon train and they will be out of the city several days.

Mr. Will Crossland, formerly a student of the Nebraska Normal College and now a teacher in the public schools at University Place, was a visitor Monday. Mr. Crossland is a graduate of Wesleyan University and has won distinction in this state in debating and oratory.

A game of basket ball is scheduled to take place on Wednesday evening between the second Normal team and the Stanton high school. The boys of our second team have not lost a game on their own floor this year, and this game, which will be the last of the season, promises to be one of unusual interest.

Students and members of the faculty were expecting a visit from Chancellor C. A. Fulmer, when he was in Wayne, but owing to an engagement at Aurora, Mr Fulmer found it necessary to leave on the morning train. Chancellor Fulmer has long been identified with the educational interests of this state and he was characterized by former State Superintendent Bishop as "The best loved schoolman in Nebraska."

Professor Lewis has been keeping the school informed on matters of current interest and his talks are always instructive. Among the events discussed at this time were: 1. A recent decision of the U. S. Supreme Court that a company which had secured a patent on a mimeograph could designate the kind of ink to be used with the machine. 2. The men who are candidates for the presidential nomination and the principles involved in the campaign. 3. The discovery of the Southpole.

Our two debating teams met in joint discussion last Monday afternoon. Both teams are preparing to debate on the question of the Initiative and Referendum, the one to meet Kearney having the affirmative and the one to meet Peru the negative side of the question. The affirmative is upheld by E. W. Hesse, Eugenia Madsen and Ralph W. Sterling; the negative will be defended by James E. Brittain, J. H. Wichman and G. E. Cress. The debate with the other schools will take place on the evening of April 12th.

The school is indebted to the Young Women's Christian Association for the very unique social event which was so well planned and so skillfully executed on last Saturday evening. The people were first invited to the gymnasium to witness a basket-ball game played by the ladies of the school, also a game between the Normal and the Wayne high school. Following this in the chapel an illustrated talk was given by Professor Britell, describing a trip he and his family had made to the Southland several years ago. At the close of Professor Britell's talk an invitation was extended for all to visit the basement where it was found that one of the class rooms had been equipped as a modern "Boston lunch," and the hungry and thirsty were refreshed by doughnuts and coffee. The music furnished by the band and several special features arranged by the committee added interest to the evening's program.
