BANKERS MET AT NORFOLK

Northern Nebraska Bankers Met in Norfolk Monday in Annual Convention with a Large Attendance

Bankers new association officers: President, T. A. Anthony, of Wausau. Vice President, M. Waters, Hubbard. Secretary, R. H. Mathewson, Wakefield. Treasurer, M. L. Mote, Plainview.

Wakefield was chosen as next year's convention city. Wakefield supporters were on the ground early in the day and there seemed no opposition to that city for the convention.

The sessions were largely attended, and many questions of interest discussed. N. A. Huse made the welcoming address and proved himself quite a punster. The annual address was given by President Linderink, and dealt largely with the proposed currency legislation now pending in Congress. Other interesting papers were read, officers reported and resolutions were passed.

Among those from this county we noted the names of LeRoy Ley, C. Lundber and P. H. Meyers of Wayne; G. E. French, Winside; Dan'l Davis, Carroll; and E. M. Shellington, R. H. Mathewson and Levi Kimball of Wakefield. The enrollment showed an attendance of 209.

A Big Stock Movement

When the packers and dealers find that fat cattle are getting short they look up in the direction of Wayne county, and nearly always find a bunch. During the past ten days a fine lot of fat cattle have gone to market from Wayne. Louie Wulffe from South Omaha has made a few trips here for cattle, and by bidding up gathered in several.

Perry & Gildersleeve sold him three car load and Strahn & Kingsberry six cars last week, and on Monday he shipped out fifteen cars bought from Ted Perry and five cars from Henry Klopping, making a total of 29 cars of cattle. In addition to this Dan McManigal sent out 4 cars of cattle, Hanssen & Wamberg 2, Siemon Goeman 2 and Henry Frevort.

The following shipped hogs from here in car load lots: C. E. Gildersleeve 1, Strahn & Kingsberry 2, Dan McManigal 1, J. D. Luer 1, W. L. Cunningham 1, L. M. Owen 4, Geo. Berris 1, Perry & Gildersleeve 7, a total of 18 car loads of hogs.

Miss Eva Mellor returned to her school work at Brownell hall Monday morning.

Base Ball For Wayne

The committee having in charge the matter of raising funds for the season baseball have met with excellent success and a liberal subscription, so that we are assured that the plan will carry; but we are confidentially informed that a few more shares will be issued if any one has been slighted and wishes to get in for a share of the dividends this fall.

There is to be a meeting of those who have subscribed to the stock at the court house on Friday evening to elect directors and temporary officers and transact any business that may properly come up at that time. If you are a subscriber or wish to become one attend this meeting.

The New City Building

Tuesday Contractor Helt broke ground on the new city hall site, and the excavating is well under way so that material which is due to come at any time now arrives the work can proceed with but little delay. The city has been filling in the lot, raising it fully a foot. When the building is complete and the lot properly graded no place in Nebraska will have a prettier city hall and little park.

Work will be commenced very shortly on the new library building, and before fall Wayne will have two more public buildings to which we can point with pride.

There is prospects also of a goodly number of new dwellings.

Obituary

Miss Agnes Shannon passed peacefully away at the home of her parents in Wayne, Saturday night, April 13th, 1912. God has called to her eternal reward one who bore her suffering and trials with patience and fortitude that was worthy example to those who knew her.

She was a daughter of Thomas Shannon and wife, and was born at Independence, Buchanan county, April 11, 1875, and was therefore 37 years and 9 days of age when called so suddenly, having been about in her usual health Saturday afternoon. She graduated from the Lady of Victory academy, Waterloo, Iowa, in 1892. She came with her parents to Wayne county about 17 years ago, and for the past few years has been the faithful caretaker of her invalid mother and aged father, who will sadly miss her ministrations. This pious soul has gone to receive from her Lord and Master the crown which awaits His faithful servants and her memory will linger long in the hearts of friends.

The funeral was held from St. Mary's church Monday morning, high mass being offered, Father Kearns as celebrant. Rev. Father Kearns in his beautiful sermon paid a worthy tribute to this noble woman before the large number of friends who gathered to pay their last respects in evidence of the esteem in which Agnes Shannon was held.

The body was laid tenderly at rest in the cemetery at the old home, Independence, Iowa. Her father, brothers, John and Edward, and Mrs. Dan Shannon accompanied the body to Iowa; and her brother, James, went on Sunday afternoon to make arrangements for the burial.

The bereaved parents and brothers have the sympathy of many friends in their loss.

The Nominees

The battle of primary ballots is over, and the following are now drafted for the five-month's campaign ending in November:

For United States senator—Ash-ton C. Shellenberger, democrat; Norris Brown, republican.

For Governor—John Morehead, democrat; Chester H. Aldrich, republican.

For President—Champ Clark lead in the democratic column and Theodore Roosevelt had a clear majority of the republican vote, carrying every district.

P. L. Hall was elected member of the national democratic committee to represent Nebraska. On the republican side Victor Rosewater was defeated by R. B. Howell.

Phil H. Kohl was the democratic nominee for state senator from the 7th district. The republicans had no name on the ticket and if any one was nominated by writing in the names it is not yet announced.

In the contest for county attorney Richard Closson secured the nomination on the republican ticket; L. A. Kiplinger is the democratic nominee.

Wins District Championship

After Wayne won from Randolph in the debate on April 5th the district championship was to be decided in a debate between Wayne and Creighton. Creighton recedly withdrew from the contest, thus giving the debate and district championship to Wayne by default. The Wayne team would much rather have debated Creighton than to have won the district championship by default. Having won this honor the Wayne team will represent this district in the State championship debate at Lincoln on May 17th. Tracy Kohl will represent our high school and this, the Northeast Nebraska district, in the debate for the state championship. Tracy is selected from our team because he received the highest markings in the preliminary contest and in the Wayne-Randolph debate.

In this district Randolph won from Hartington, Creighton won from Pierce, Wayne won from Randolph, Wayne won from Creighton by default.

The Cradle.

VON SEGGERN—Tuesday, April 23, 1912, to Wm. Von Seggern and wife, a nine-pound daughter. The parents and Grandpa and Grandma Bressler are receiving congratulations.

Social Notes

A number of families on the hill delightfully surprised Dr. and Mrs. T. B. Heckert last Friday evening. It was a joint affair, the doctor having a birthday that day and his worthy companion having one tomorrow, they celebrated the two events together. A sumptuous six thirty dinner was served, to which all did ample justice, after which the remainder of the evening was spent socially. A most pleasant time is reported and the guests departed wishing this happy couple many returns of the day.

Mrs. Blair was hostess at the meeting of the Acme's this week. The regular lesson was carried out, after which Mrs. Williams presented an interesting paper on a famous prose writer of today and Mrs. Brittel, on that of poetry. The club then enjoyed an excellent report of the Federation from Mrs. Walter Weber. They held their next meeting with Mrs. I. H. Brittel.

One of the happy social events of the week was a gathering of twenty neighbors and friends in the form of a surprise on Miss Lydia Skiles. The "Dripping Friends" took possession Saturday evening, and the time was happily spent with games, music and visiting, after which a choice four-course luncheon was served by the ladies, and all voted it a success.

Monday evening the members of the Eastern Star entertained the Wayne Masons and their wives, and entertained in their usual royal manner. An excellent musical program was prepared and given, and a delightful banquet served and a most social evening enjoyed by about 120 people. The entertainment will long be remembered as one of the best ever.

The Bible Circle held an interesting and well attended meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Chas. Beebe. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Dayton in the Dan Harrington house and Mrs. Wendte will have charge of the meeting.

The Monday club met at the home of Mrs. Chas. Beebe this week and the afternoon was made interesting discussing current events. Their next meeting will be with Mrs. T. B. Heckert.

The Bridge Whist club enjoyed an evening at cards with Miss Mary Mellor this week. A good attendance and light refreshments.

Miss Buffington entertained the Shakespeare club on Tuesday evening. Attendance was good and the regular lesson was carried out.

The ladies of St. Mary's Guild will hold another Food Exchange at the Berry Book Store, Saturday afternoon.

The P. E. O. Sisterhood will entertain the B. I. L. at the home of Mrs. Hamer Wilson tomorrow evening.

Mrs. Orlando Adams will be hostess at the next meeting of the Tuesday club.

Off for Germany

Mr. and Mrs. William Danmeyer departed yesterday morning for their old home in Germany. A host of old friends who have known this worthy old German couple were at the station to bid them farewell and join in extending them best wishes for a safe journey and a happy arrival back among the relatives and friends of the Fatherland. Mr. and Mrs. Danmeyer have been residents of Wayne for the past eighteen years, coming here from Fremont. While here he was engaged in the cigar business, later running a pool hall in connection therewith. As a business man he was always successful in his efforts. Through his honesty and integrity he won a high place in the estimation of his fellowmen. Mrs. Danmeyer was a prominent member of the German Lutheran church in which she was a faithful and diligent worker. They will be found missing in the hearts of many to whom they had become endeared. Although it is their intention to make the old country their future home we join in hoping that they will feel the need of a return to the good old state of Nebraska, and return to us after an extended visit. May happiness and prosperity continue to be theirs.

What About Profit In Horses?

W. H. Billiter of Carroll was in Wayne Monday morning on his way to Central City on a business mission. Mr. Billiter is one of the successful horse growers of the county. He thinks that the farmers of this part of Nebraska can raise a good horse at a greater profit than they can a good steer. And all agree with him that a good horse can be grown as cheaply as an inferior one. He told of an experience that came to his knowledge where a farmer had grown and marketed two horses together. The same season's colts, raised together and sold together. The only difference he knew in the cost of the two animals was $7 service fee. When returns came back there was $123 difference in the price they brought him. Very good interest on $7 for five years. The horse develops almost to perfection in this climate, and can be cared for until three years of age at less cost than a fat steer can be put on the market at that age, and from the age of three till five when in prime condition for market the horse will more than pay his way at farm work. On that theory there is great inducement for the farmers of Wayne county to give more attention to the horses industry.

Wedding Bells Again

At Maridian, Idaho, Wednesday evening, April 9, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Evans there occurred the marriage of one of our prominent young couples, when Mr. Chester W. Miller, formerly of near Winside but now of St. Maries, Idaho and Miss Nettie C. Jones, recently of this city were united in the holy bonds of wedlock, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. W. J. Luscombe.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mathias Jones of this city and made her home in Carroll for a number of years. The last two or three years she spent as operator of our telephone exchange, which position she filled to the satisfaction of every patron. She is a very highly accomplished and honored young lady and was very popular among the circle of friends in which she moved.

Of the groom little can be said as he only bore a slight acquaintance here, but we have no doubt that he is in every way worthy of the one he has chosen as life partner.

After the ceremony a sumptuous dinner was served, after which the young couple departed for Seattle, Washington, where the honeymoon will be spent. They will be at home at St. Maries, Idaho.—Carroll Index.

Wm. Worthing and wife are visiting with friends near Randolph a few days this week before going on a trip to Fort Collins, Colorado, and to North Dakota, where they are planning to spend the summer.

The R. N. A. Annual Convention

The R. N. A. Annual convention of district No. 3 of Nebraska will be held at Wayne on Tuesday, May 7, 1912, with the State Supervising Deputy to hold a school of instruction. The district officers will be present also. There will be an open session in the afternoon when those who are interested in this society will be welcome. All resident neighbors are urged to attend as the rates will probably be discussed. The following program will be carried out: Open session 2:30 p. m. Call to order—Mrs. Ada Rennick, Oracle No. 201.

Music—Address of welcome—Mrs. Mary Crossland, P. O. Music—Song by Neighbors Response Duet Readnig—Mrs. Barnett Music—Song by Neighbors Round Table Question Box Election of officers and choice of next meeting place. Closed Session, 8:00 sharp. Opening—Golden Rule Camp. Ritual work by Golden Rule Camp. Adoption of Candidates. Installation of District Officers. Fancy Drill. Regular Closing. Refreshments.

School Notes

Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Short were recent visitors.

The social in the high school gymnasium last Friday evening was fairly well attended, and was a success.

The tenth grade gave the following program last Friday morning with Hayes Main presiding: History of Wayne County, by Curtis Foster; Statistics and Organization of Wayne County, by Olive Griffith; piano solo, Irene Oman; History of the City of Wayne, by William McEachen; Biography of John G. Nethardt, by Lucile Carpenter.

Base ball and track team practice is well started and the boys show good form.

Our base ball team will play a game with Norfolk next Saturday.

George Warner took a photograph of his schoolmates and teacher Wednesday afternoon. Miss Hughes teaches the seventh grade.

An Illustrated School Talk

To the Farmers, Showing the Possibilities of our Great System of Free Education

By O. J. KERN
Rockford, Ill.
From Hoard's Dairyman

The following is part of an address given and illustrated by Superintendent O. J. Kern of Rockford, Illinois, before a Farmers' Institute. The reader will have to imagine the pictures as he reads with the exception of a few. For these we are indebted to Hoard's Dairyman, Fort Atkinson, Wisconsin. This excellent farm and dairy paper of March 1, gave the lecture more fully than we can give it, but the article may help to improve our excellent school system, which is now far in advance of that of some of the older states, but not so good but that there is room for improvement.

I believe the improvement of the country school, one of the farmers' own institutions, is absolutely necessary if we are to make a very satisfactory country life. I acres of ground and the building costing $17,000. The farmers last spring voted 64 votes "for" and 16 votes "against" to bond the district for $17,700 and thus provide a fine up-to-date country school building for the boys and girls of that township. You say it would increase your taxes to have a country school like this.

Yes, it ought to cost more. It does the work. Listen to me, my farmer friends. With two hundred dollar acre land and high prices for farm products the country people have the financial ability to provide better educational facilities for their children.

My first picture is a picture of a September afternoon in Winnebago county. Down the country roads this winter, all over the United States, there are about cannot tell you this afternoon what part the country church shall play in this movement, or the country home, but I will emphasize only the work of the country school.

I wish it were the privilege and the pleasure of every person here to read Luther Burbank's new book, called "The Training of the Human Plant," which discusses the training of the child. I am sure that we will all agree that Burbank, in the development of plant life, speaks as one having authority. Every farmer should read it. He discusses the effects of environment and heredity in the training of children. The environment is the first subject the pictures will deal with this afternoon, showing how it is possible to make the country schoolhouses more attractive to the children living on the farm. Burbank says that all animal life is sensitive to environment; and the most sensitive is the child. He says the outside world acts upon the soul of the child just as the outside world acts upon the sensitive plate of the camera. I wonder what kind of environment the country school children of Illinois today are observing in the ten thousand one-room country school houses? He says if the right kind of environment be applied to the child, it will, in a large measure, overcome any evil tendencies there may be in heredity. I want you to read Burbank's book, because, after all, I believe the human plant, the country boy and country girl, is the farmers' best crop.

The first series of slides will show outdoor and indoor views of country schools. I will show you also a few pictures of what we are trying to do to create an agricultural atmosphere in the country school. After all I believe that, the man to be reached is the man higher up, the tax payer in the country district. If we can change his notion, he will then insist on providing a good building and a first class normal-trained teacher, and then the children can begin to do some systematic work in agriculture. We have to create a sentiment and a desire for these better things, and the taxpayers will do the rest.

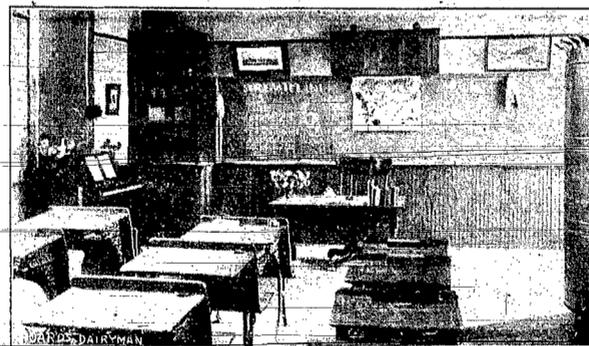

I believe the country boy, and the country girl too, needs to have a rotation of experience just as much as the soil needs a rotation of crops. So I am making an appeal for the country high school, where you can educate your boys and girls in a school of higher grade than the grammar school, and this all without being necessary for them to leave your homes and go to city.

I will show you a picture of a consolidated school having three 8,000,000 country children going to the little one room country school houses. I think the country school is the biggest single educational interest we have in the United States.

The next picture is the "Call of Spring." You ask what does the apple orchard have to do with better country life. I think the barrel of apples in the cellar will make more of a balanced ration for the country boy or girl. I want our children, as they walk along the country roads, to listen to the call of spring and be in touch with life along the country road. Here is a picture that I want you to look at. That school board has put in cement walks and steps and improved the general surroundings. Burbank says the child absorbs environment. I would like to have the children in the country schools absorb this kind of environment.

Let us get out into the open country and notice this fine tree standing at the roadside. Here is another picture and the practical farmer says "this is what I like to see raised on the farm" (picture of livestock). I like fine live stock,

Another Corner of a Country School Room

It is not the sheep, horses and the hogs that make the best crop on farm, but the best crop on the farm is the boy and girl and it is for you and me to find out how we can best improve the child physically, mentally and spiritually how we can advance to a higher standard the raising of our children so as to make them content to stay on the farm instead of having this exodus to the city. We can make the road to learning for the country child more attractive. Here is a beautiful country road. I want you to notice what work they are doing. They haven't found it necessary to cut down the fine oak trees, but there they stand, a benediction to the passer-by.

Now here is another kind of country school grounds. They put in cement walks and cement steps. There will be some planting done there this spring.

Look at the next slide and see the playgrounds for these children. I have not time to discuss the value of having adequate play grounds for the children. The children absorb environment, let me repeat.

Some of the farmers in our county gave up the farm and have moved to Rockford so their children can have better schools and they leave the farms in the hands of tenants. Here is a school at Rockford, and the children gave an entertainment and they put some of the money into playground apparatus. We are trying to get some of these things for the country school in order to keep some of the children from a desire to leave the farm. I am not advising this afternoon that the children need play as a means of giving them exercise. The average country child gets plenty of exercise so far as that is concerned.

This picture is a typical dairy scene in my own county and I tell the farmers up there that I believe the country schoolhouse for its purposes ought to be just as good as the best dairy barn is for its purposes. Don't go away and say that schoolhouses should be like dairy barns. I didn't say that. Go with me down another country road. I think you will agree with me that the boys and girls coming from country homes like I showed you and walking down country roads like this to come to the school houses and grounds in keeping with all this natural beauty—I will show you where they come. Please don't laugh. These boys and girls get their education in a place like this. The outside world acts upon the soul of the child as it acts upon the plate of a camera. The child absorbs environment. We have the three R's. Let us add the three P's. Paint the house, Plant trees, shrubs and vines and let us put Pictures on the walls.

What is the effect of having one fine tree near the schoolhouse? How do we observe Arbor Day? Largely by conversation and singing about trees rather than by planting trees.

In this next picture they planted trees as well as talked about them. This picture was taken ten days before school opened. The directors hired some one to clean up the place and trim up the trees and get everything ready for the first day of school. I said awhile ago that the country schoolhouses should be as good as the best dairy barn.

Here is slide showing one of our country homes and the farmer's wife is a school director. I hope she stands for the best possible environment in the country school. I like to tell the children every time they plant an elm tree that they are doing the very best possible to make the school grounds more attractive. I believe these trees bear some relation to better agriculture in Illinois.

"Just as the Sun went Down," a beautiful country scene in Winnebago township where the land cannot be bought for $200 an acre, and the owner of this place threatened to get out an injunction to prevent a new school house.

Go down about a mile or so and see what a beautiful view you have in that township. It is good enough for the dairy cattle, but what about the school house where his children are educated? I will take you over to the old shack

L. M. Owen is one of the successful hog raisers of this part of Nebraska. Monday he went into Sioux City with four car loads of hogs from his feed lots, making seven cars that he has put on the market within a short time, and nearly all of his own feeding. Most of the last bunch were those he bought in Dakota last fall, a nice bunch of shoats, but very hungry and thin, owing to the short crop in that state. He has his place nicely fitted to handle hogs profitably.

Mrs. Ellen M. Fisher and daughter from Red Oak, Iowa, returned home Monday. They were called here by the death of the lady's little grandson, Glen Fisher. While in Wayne they were guests at the home of Wm. Fisher and wife.

The proposition to levy a 4 mill tax to build a new $100,000 court house at Lexington carried by a vote of 1,260 to 967. Every town in the county voted against the proposition except Lexington, and it carried by such an overwhelming majority there the other towns could not cut down the lead thus gained. This made the fifth election before it finally carried. The citizens there are very jubilant over the result.

Perry Benschopf from Winside was at Wayne Monday. Last week he shipped from Winside 1,100 sheep (4 car loads) that he had been feeding through the winter. Last fall he picked up most of the bunch from the west, and while he did not get them started to putting on meat as soon and fast as he expected, he lost comparatively few, and when he did get them going they made good gains, and the balance was on the right side of the ledger when returns came in.

H. F. Slaughter and wife and daughter, from Gregory, South Dakota, arrived here late Saturday evening, accompanied by W. S. Slaughter from Dallas, and Roy Wakefield from Bonesteel, who was on his way to Canton, South Dakota. They all spent the night at the home of Henry Hansen and wife, the lady being their daughter. Sunday morning the Slaughter brothers continued their journey to Sioux Falls, South Dakota, where they expected to have gone without delay, but their train was caught behind a landslide in a railway cut and delayed until they missed the Sioux City train at Norfolk. Mrs. S. remained to visit her parents.

The Wilmington, California, Journal says that M. S. Davies and wife are on their way home at Wayne after spending several months in California. They expect to arrive at home about May 1st. The paper also adds that they are planning to return to California in the fall and there make their home.

With a properly organized and carefully conducted building and loan association we believe that Wayne would experience a building boom that would be beneficial to the place; make homes for those who need them and a safe investment for money that is now idle, and permit many worthy citizens to eventually get from under the burden of rent. A home owner is naturally more interested in a place than is a renter, and being more interested he becomes a better citizen. Why not organize to thus build a better Wayne?

"July the Fourth" is one of the hits of the season. From the very first this clever home talent production has been a success. The play is simply an old fashioned Fourth of July celebration with all its different amusing features, funny scenes and situations in a country town, with its various entertainments and amusements, ice cream stands, lemonade and peanut boys, balloon ascensions, family reunions and so on. There will be Timothy Hayworth, Rube Cornstassel and Janey Cornstassel, Bushrod Miller, Aunt Becky and Miss Octavo Alfavati Peteroski, the queen of song. The songs and choruses are all the latest catchy music and are presented in a beautiful and attractive manner. "July the Fourth" is an unusual combination of song and clever acting and will be given in Wayne Wednesday evening, May 1st, with a cast of seventy-five local people under the auspices of the Commercial club for the benefit of the baseball team, and will be under the direction of Miss Chlorine Deport.

The Battle Creek Enterprise claims that the roads out of that place are better than most roads in Nebraska this spring. We believe that no place fails to derive a great and direct benefit from good roads, and would like to see more attention given to Wayne roads.

The time is once more at hand when flies begin to breed and it is time to open with renewed vigor the campaign for their extermination. A great deal was accomplished last year and the experience gained was valuable. This year should show a marked decrease in the number of these pests and in the injury they are allowed to do to the health and comfort of our homes.

put in there by their teacher, and I will show you the front view of this same school. There are a couple of ears of highbred corn and a good library. The country school house for its purposes should be just as good as the best dairy barn for its purposes. Again it shows that the district school improvement association has been at work. The house is painted and fixed up on the inside and they have begun to plant trees.

Look at this farm home. A hard maple tree stands there, thirty-five or forty years old. There is one affording shade in the corner of a big pasture lot.

There is a country road made very interesting by the trees. Here is some golden rod on the side and there is an autumn scene.

I think we can make the country appear in a different light to the boys and girls who live on the farm.

with your window plants and window boxes.

The next slides are interesting as well as beautiful. They speak for the hardy shrub. I make a plea for the hardy shrubs. This is the common snowball that we find in the country home. Can't we take some of the hardy shrubs, like the snowball or the lilac and the mock orange, and grow them? The boys will appreciate how beautiful that flower is. Is there any reason why that indifference should come into the country school yard? The old fashioned lilac is not to be despised.

We will pass on to the next slide. This shows them planting in April and I will show you three consecutive years' work at this school house. It is right behind this school house where the farmers erected the $170,000.00 school building on the three acres of land and I will show you the new building before I get through.

We went out in September and once a week and the children of another family, and so on, and they thus passed the work around. Keep in mind what Burbank says about the children absorbing environment in the development of childhood.

The next slide shows the second year's work. The next slide shows the third year's work and the beautiful results obtained.

I want you to cross over this bridge with me across the Kishwaukee river. Nature has covered the side of the banks with common willow and the effect is beautiful. We will cross over the bridge and go down to this little school house. All the weeds were cut off two weeks before, and the school board put in cement steps, and at the rear of the building I saw something and I took this flower bed four by six as the camera shows it. I will show you four years' work here. The next year they had 350 aster plants. The same day we took this picture of 'the teacher's desk.' This is what I found, simply a ten-cent vase with some asters in it. How pleasant it makes it look with a few flowers here and there to add color to the otherwise often uncheerful surroundings. Here is a chance for a keen teacher to help the girl in the home.

When we come to think of it, what a wonderful influence the teacher can have upon the artistic temperament of the child in regard to the mixing of the colors and color effect.

Later I will give you an idea of a country home to show you the color scheme. This is on the same school grounds after four years. This is the first school to organize a Parent-Teachers' Association and the first committee appointed by that association was a committee of three farmers' wives and a preacher and the work of those three adults was to help the children keep the flowers growing during the summer vacation.

I spoke about the Lincoln gardens. I will show you the one that took the prize the first year. The next one represented on this slide took the silver cup prize and this is another one of last year's gardens.

Sometimes I hear the question discussed as to why people leave the farm, the boys in particular. Sometimes I don't see why the boy should stay on the farm. If you go around the back stairway in the farmhouse and look into the attic bedroom, you will get a complete answer of why the boy left the farm.

I want to take you inside the school house. Here is what a teacher did in one case. She provided individual drinking cups. We will pay more attention to that in the future ourselves.

I will show you some suitable pictures for the school room. You can get some excellent pictures for two dollars each, so there is no excuse for the country school room to be left without the work of the world's best masters in painting.

Here is another picture. There is a patriotism of peace as well as patriotism of war. If we can find ideals of manhood and womanhood out on the walls of our school buildings, that will be an influence along the right line to help the boys and girls.

I want to emphasize this feature of our libraries. We have built 112 traveling libraries representing 7,100 volumes and costing in round numbers about $3,800, and they go all over the country. The small boxes are for the one-room country school, the larger boxes are for the larger schools. We have many times in the last ten years had our township graduating exercises when the children and the farmers meet at some place the last of May or early in June, and we ask the farmers to pay ten cents admission. We think we have a right to ask him to pay ten cents for a moving picture show. In that way we have raised $2,800.00.

With the books we are trying to have them read bulletins, and the next generation will be a reading generation of farmers who will get more help from the agricultural bulletins.

How many of you associate Lincoln with scientific agriculture; yet in 1859 he delivered an address in Wisconsin before the Wisconsin Agricultural Society and he said some things that made Lincoln up-to-date today in scientific agriculture.

Here are two piles of high bred corn. This shows the possibility. This is the best yellow corn grown last year. If you could have had all even ears like this, the average acre would have been 180 bushels, whereas the average in Illinois now is about 40 bushels to the acre, and over the country, less than that.

There must be at least two things back of 100 bushels of corn to the acre. There should be the "100 bushel" soil and second we must have a "100 bushel" man. The best stuff out of which to make the "100 bushel" men is the boys at the country schools.

Last year we gave each boy enough corn to plant half an acre. We sent to Wisconsin and got the corn. I will show you some pictures of the results that were reached by some of the boys. (Pictures followed.)

Here is a picture that shows a farmer's home. This is the parlor. We will now go into the dining room. (Showing slide.)

Here are two views of the kitchen. They have an excellent gas-line range and do all their cooking by gas. Too many people think domestic science is cooking entirely and nothing else.

I want to show you one view of a primary room. You will see the blackboard and the colored walls. Keep in mind the text "Children Absorb Environment." The taxes this year were 81 cents on the hundred dollars.

Here is a picture that shows the boys in team work. Do you get a hint as to what that means, to get a lot of boys to play together in team work? They will more likely co-operate as men to make a better institutional life in the country. It is a matter of education. We have a township park board. This represents a ball ground for the boys in South Rockford. I will show you the swing for the girls.

Here are a few pages from my report now in press. (Indicated by slides.) The country child is entitled to as good an educational opportunity as that afforded to the most favored city child now attending the American public schools. To secure this equality of educational opportunity for the country child in a country school, the country people must spend more money on the country school and spend it in a better way.

Two-hundred dollar land, one-hundred-cent wheat, fifty-cent corn and eight-cent hogs give the country people a better financial ability to spend more money on the country school.

The above is the educational creed and practical gospel of service of the people of Seward and Harlem townships.

Here is a Remedy That will Cure Skin and Scalp Affections AND WE CAN PROVE IT.

Seed Corn for the Boys' Corn Growing Contest

This picture shows what one teacher did by taking the children out in the district and getting them to bring in specimens of all different kinds of leaves. You say that is not botany. I know that, but ninety-five out of a hundred country children never go to high school and so we begin with nature studies in the grades.

This picture shows a little shack of a school-house that I went to in 1898. Look at these farmers' homes down the road. It is the people and the children and the school officers and the teachers that have to be inoculated with the bacteria of school improvement before they can make the proper start along the line we are seeking improvements. This picture shows plenty of trees, shrubs and flowers. Why not plant them around the school grounds? Here is the old nursery way of planting.

The next slide shows how that is re-arranged to carry out the A B C of plating. This is the alphabet of beauty I am trying to teach the children in the country schools. I wish the children of today could keep in touch with the Illinois Out Door Improvement Society to make a more beautiful Illinois. It will not take away any from the yield of our corn or other crops.

This picture shows how the grounds of a country home have been built up. The floor plan of course you can't see, but you can see the effect of the architectural lines, and the mass effect of trees, shrubs, etc., on the sides. Now, you don't get that in ninety days, but it is worth while if it takes thirty years to get it.

The next slide will show you a splendid vine growth, extending from the foundation creeping around the windows, making a very beautiful effect as you can see. I want to show you some of our school garden work to show you that the children are doing something with this in the country school. Some of you say "when I am worth $100,000 I will go to the country and have a beautiful country home." It didn't take $100,000 to begin to make better environments around this place.

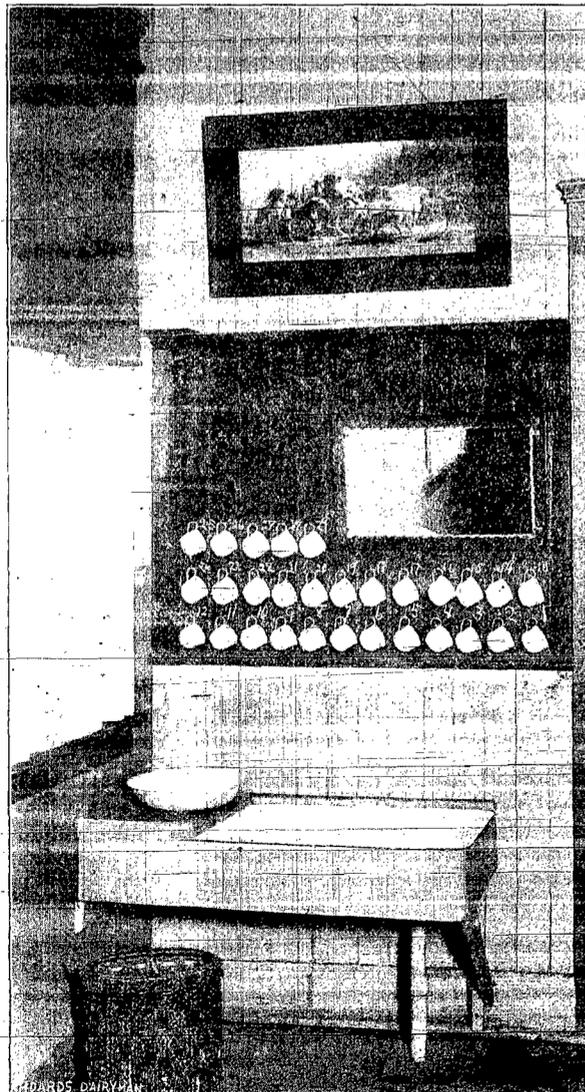

The next two slides will show you what can be done with four square feet. Look at this window and then look at the next slide. I want to show you what forty cents worth of seeds has done, coupled with a little crate.

Sometimes I meet teachers in the various parts of the United States, they being interested in plant life, and in remarking about Illinois farms, they are surprised to know that we raise plants as well as crops for profit. You can begin here is what the camera showed. I think it is so much finer to have blossoms greet the children on the school ground than ragweeds and sweet clover.

In this particular school the children for the last fifty years have made their triumphant entry into the temple of learning by way of the woodshed. Here are common asters and you see some shrubs are planted here.

You ask how did they keep the flowers growing in the summer vacation? The teacher arranged with the children of one family to come

Buy a Gasoline Engine You Can Depend Upon

TWO engines may look equally good, may even work equally well for a time. In the end one proves satisfactory, the other becomes a nuisance. Why?

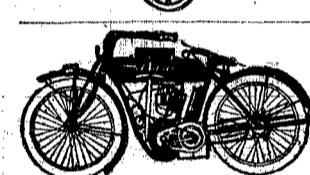

The satisfactory engine is one that is carefully built, and thoroughly tested.

Thorough testing takes time and costs money. It means careful adjustment under trying conditions. It is an expensive process, but a necessary one if the finished engine is to be dependable.

I H C Gasoline Engines Are Thoroughly Tested

No engine leaves the factory until it has proved itself thoroughly dependable. That is reason enough for buying an I H C engine. It is a good buy because it is dependable—it is dependable because it is thoroughly tested. If you want engine satisfaction for years to come go to the local dealer and buy an I H C gasoline engine. It is the safe way and by far the cheapest in the long run.

The Taft forces were again "utterly demoralized" when they heard how well Teddy ran in Nebraska. This was the third or fourth time this demoralization has been successfully worked on the president. A few more such and William will quit the game.

When 75 cents worth of advertising sells $1000 worth of goods who will stand up and say it does not pay to advertise. We have figured that such was the result of that sum or less planted in advertising in Wayne recently. We were glad to see the man do well and hope to help others in the same manner.

There are a lot of larger farm papers than Carlson's Breeders Review, published at Norfolk, but a perusal of several copies lately has convinced the Democrat that there are not many that contain so much real good sound matter for the farmer as does this little monthly. Its articles are timely and to the point.

The development of the water power of the country is going to be a great aid in solving the question of manufacturing. A great power is being constructed at Keokuk, Iowa, by a great dam across the Mississippi river and now it is proposed to build a similar power plant at Davenport and Rock Island. There is almost no limit to the power that is now allowed to go to waste in our rivers.

Because we believe the American school the greatest public enterprise in this country we have devoted most of the reading space of two pages of this issue to an interesting and instructive lecture on the subject by Superintendent O. J. Kern of Rockford, Illinois. We think that the more we expend intelligently in education the less we will be called upon to expend for criminal, insane and paupers.

With the range sheep men suffering in winter loss of from 50 to 100 per cent, and cattle winter losses the greatest in a number of years, with the hog stock depleted by short selling because of short corn crop and early spring pigs far below average in number it is now a proper time to become a vegetarian if you expect to keep the cost of living down, but if you have cattle, sheep or hogs they should bring you big money.

The Fairbury Journal says that the difference between a democrat and a republican, politically, is that the democrat lets the leader hear from him, while the republican waits for orders from the leader. If this be true we can understand why Teddy ran so like a steer in a stampede. He can give the loudest orders, and the most of them. President Taft has been under orders for so many years that he is not an adept at giving orders like our "soldier-statesman."

The political struggle goes merrily on in the republican ranks for control of the next national convention. In New Hampshire the president won out, and so they did in Iowa as to the delegates at large, but it is reported that Cummins won at least ten of the district delegates. In Missouri Roosevelt will get a greater part of the delegates. Of the delegates thus far elected the President is yet in the lead, but lacks more than 100 of having enough to nominate.

The Springfield Republican observes that "it is interesting to note how the idea finding lodgment in the minds of shrewd politicians in various parts of the country that the outcome of the Baltimore convention may be the outcome of the nomination of William Jennings Bryan." The bitterness of the fight and the difficulty of finding anybody who can leap the two-thirds hurdle causes many people to speculate on the events that may bring about a stampede to the Nebraskan. There is no doubt that his present position of an interested but unselfish promoter of progressive politics puts him in a fine position to reap the benefit of a deadlock. He is in much better case than Roosevelt in the republican party, for the enmities of the latter make him out of the question as a compromise candidate. He must back his way to the nomination or not get it at all.

Mr. Bryan must stand at one side and trust to the knottiness of the problem and the psychology of a red hot convention to turn the trick for him—assuming that he wants the nomination, which is by no means a certainty.—State Journal.

Henry Smith Williams, a statistician of New York, states that half the adult males in the United States have an income of less than $500 a year; three quarters less than $600; nine-tenths less than $800 and less than one tenth get over $800 a year. Of working women, one fifth receive less than 200 a year; three-fifths less than $325 a year and nine-tenths less than $500 a year. Only one twentieth are paid more than $600 a year. At first glance one would say that these figures would not be correct. They are certainly not correct as applied to the west except possibly with women and we know that $500 a year is more than most of our highest priced women wage earners receive. But the figures do go to show how low must be the average earning capacity of men workers in the more densely settled east and what the great increase in the cost of living must mean to them can be somewhat imagined from these figures. On account of the high wage in the west much more than one half of the eastern wage earners must live and support families on less than $500 a year. Had they a garden plot and room to raise a pig and chickens for meat this would warrant a family the average necessities, but think of buying every single article that goes into the home and in most cases paying rent besides on $40 a month. No wonder the high cost of living is a political issue and the middle man, who is usually the most helpless victim of any, being constantly threatened.

The Men and Religion Movement

Last Sunday afternoon a representative gathering composed of men from the various churches of Wayne met in the Baptist church and made arrangements to carry the message of the Men and Religion Movement to all parts of Wayne county. This movement has been attracting the attention of the country for several months, and has aroused remarkable enthusiasm amongst the leading business men of our largest cities. So complete were the plans for arousing the entire country that the Movement in some form or other has been carried to almost every part of the United States from ocean to ocean.

Wayne county will be reached by a series of meetings held in every township of the county on Sundays, May 5th and 12th. These meetings will be conducted by "teams" from Wayne, Wakefield, Carroll and Winside. Each "team" will consist of a minister and two laymen, and the following topics will be discussed at all the meetings: "The relation of men to Bible Study, Evangelism, Missions, Social Service and Boy's Work." Following this series of meetings a banquet will be held at which the leading men of the county in religion-work will meet, and arrangements are being made to make this banquet one of the epoch-making events in the history of religion in the county as far as men are concerned. The following committees have been appointed to complete arrangements for the township meetings and the banquet: Committee on location of meetings and publicity, Rev. Wm. Gorst, A. R. Davis, I. W. Alter; committee on "Teams" of speakers, Rev. Alexander Corkey, F. H. Jones, W. D. Redmond, Prof. I. H. Brittel; committee on transportation, C. M. Christensen, C. W. Hiscox, Dr. Blair; committee on banquet, Rev. B. P. Richardson, S. R. Theobald, J. E. Marsteller, and F. G. Philleo.

The movement in Wayne county has already received considerable notice and it is to be pushed still further by public meetings for men held at from fifteen to twenty places within the county on the Sunday afternoon of May 5th and May 12th at half after three o'clock. These meetings will be followed by a men's banquet at Wayne on Tuesday or Wednesday, May 14th or 15th, at which an expert speaker from abroad will further discuss the work.

The committee designates the following places for holding said meetings, pending the consent in two or three instances of the school boards, viz:—

For May 5th—Winside, Garfield, precinct, school district 55; Grace church; Carroll, Strahan precinct, school district No. 51, Wilbur precinct, school district No. 48, Hunter precinct, school district No. 8; Logan precinct, school district No. 42.

For May 12—Hoskins, Hancock precinct school, district No. 11. Leslie precinct, M. E. church, Plum Creek precinct, school district No. 34; Wakefield, Deer Creek precinct, school district No. 50; Logan precinct, school district No. 42, Sholes and Welsh church.

The time is short and if the men of the various communities are gotten together it will be the result of strenuous effort on the part of every man in the respective communities to bring the men together. Let each become a committee-of-one at once to see to it that his neighbor attends the meeting. This movement will require eight or nine teams of three men each for both Sunday afternoons and will bring into requisition the ministry and many laymen of the entire county.

The men who go out as speakers will discuss such topics as the common brotherhood of man; men as leaders in moral ideals; men at work as Christians; young womanhood and its obligations; boys' work, etc.

At the close of each meeting the men will be asked to elect delegates to represent their community at the banquet.

Flege's New Trial

The second trial of Flege's is now on at Pender, he having been granted a change of venue from Dixon county, and all of the attorneys of Wayne are in attendance except Attorney Kiglinger, who is at his father's bedside at Sioux City. A number from Wayne and vicinity have been summoned as witnesses, and have gone to Pender, but up to last evening the work of securing a jury had not been finished, and it may be several days yet before evidence will be taken. Most of our readers are familiar with the case which was tried in Dixon county and conviction given; of the granting of a new trial and change of venue.

Francis Jones left yesterday for Mt. Hermon, Massachusetts, where he will resume his studies at a Boys' college.

Mrs. J. H. Karkpenstein and children went to Columbus Wednesday morning to visit at the home of her brother.

Frank Olson and wife left Saturday evening for their new home at Wausa, where he is engaged to work for the season.

Check C. Moore, of Sioux City, visited friends at Wayne Wednesday between taking orders for the wet weather goods he sells.

Mrs. J. J. Kellogg of Hartington and Mrs. W. Munson of Ponca were guests at the I. C. Trumbauer home the fore part of the week.

Mrs. H. J. Koon, mother of Mrs. H. Kellogg went to Wahoo Wednesday morning. Mrs. Kellogg accompanied her as far as Norfolk.

Mrs. Spears and little granddaughter, Miss Smith, came up from Emerson the latter part of the week for a short visit with Wayne friends.

Frank McGahn, mother and sister, Miss Regina, of Norfolk were guests at the Pryor home Monday and attended the late Miss Agnes Shannon's funeral.

Emil Hansen and daughter, Doratha, went to Pierson, Iowa, last week to visit a daughter who lives there and visit with many acquaintances in his former home.

Miss Elsie Dornberger has gone to Tekamah to make her home for a time with a sister at that place. She was accompanied by her sister, Ernesting, who will visit there a few days.

Mrs. J. H. Wright was called to Omaha Wednesday to the bedside of her daughter, who is taking treatment there, and who was reported not to be gaining from the treatment as was hoped.

Rev. C. J. Ringer is at Omaha today.

T. G. Settel went to visit home folks at Tekamah today.

A. H. Carter, of Winside, was a Wayne visitor this morning.

R. S. Ballantyne was down from Norfolk Wednesday morning.

Wilbur Spahr and wife went to Sioux City this morning to spend the day.

Edna Neely, instructor of piano, methods modern. 17-4 Phone 126.

A. E. Smith was a business visitor at Sioux City the fore part of the week.

J. W. Gullion went to Omaha this morning on business connected with his picture show business. He will return this evening.

Aug. Beemer was over from Hoskins Wednesday looking after some road matters with which the county commissioners had to be consulted.

Henry Ley and wife and son, Leroy, accompanied by R. A. Clark, are at Omaha today with intention of driving home in a new automobile which Mr. Ley expects to purchase.

Ralph Sterling visited home folks at Sioux City the first of the week. He reports that building operations there are moving forward with a rush and that the city never before has had such a building boom.

There is, we think, a great deal of unnecessary comment just because Postmaster McNeal cleaned the postoffice window the day following the primary, taking the picture of President Taft down to do a thorough job of cleaning.

W. L. Richardson, who moved from here to Bonesteel, South Dakota, is here this week looking after his residence property on College hill, visiting old acquaintances and making new friends. He reports bright crop prospects for his new home country this year.

Among the out of town people who attended Miss Agnes Shannon's funeral Monday were T. Collins and wife, Tom Hennessey and wife, Jas. Stanton and wife, Mr. McCann, Mr. Lohbery, Mr. and Mrs. J. Finn, Mrs. Ahern and son, all of Carroll, Frank McGahn and mother and sister of Norfolk.

Now is the time for spring cleaning—housecleaning, yard cleaning, barn lot cleaning and street and alley cleaning. If it is not done voluntarily by property owners the health officers should see that it is done, for the health of the community in a large measure depends upon the removal of filth.

J. W. Dally returned the first of the week from South Dakota, where he went to file on a quarter section of Uncle Sam's broad acres on No. 177 which he drew last fall. He thinks there is much good land there, and some rough and not so good. He says that fourteen failed to file out of the first 100 numbers and 43 out of the first 200. He was the lowest man from this county in the drawing.

Geo. Anderson, of Gregory, South Dakota, was at Wayne Wednesday morning returning from Randolph, where he had been called by the death of his father, D. T. Anderson, which occurred Sunday from cancer. The son formerly lived near Carroll, but went to the "Rosebud" land eight years ago, and thinks he has made good by sticking there instead of selling a relinquishment.

L. D. Bruggeman had the misfortune to have his thirty-five foot silo blown down Saturday during the heavy wind which prevailed in this territory. The silo was of stave construction, and was damaged considerably. Jack Morgan was also unfortunate in having a chicken house blown over. So far as we have been able to learn this is the only damage done in these parts.—Carroll Index.

evening was very good and an excellent program was carried.

The Normal Male Quartette will give a concert at Inman on Friday evening and at Page on Saturday evening of this week.

In the last issue of the school paper published by the Kearney Normal a very complimentary mention is made of the Wayne-Kearney debate, and especially of the excellent treatment shown the visiting team.

Requests from boards of education for teachers have been received this week from some of the best graded schools in Nebraska, for many of which no suitable applicant can be found. Good positions in school work are open to young men and young women who have made preparation for their work.

July 2 has been fixed as the date for the dedication of the new building. All the members of the Board of Education will be present and the principal address will be given by Hon. C. H. Aldrich, governor of Nebraska. While the building will not be formally accepted until that date it will be used during the summer session.

Miss Rachel F. Fairchild has been granted a leave of absence during the summer term and Miss Emma Morrell, principal of one of the ward schools of Lincoln, has been elected to fill the vacancy. With Miss Fairchild as instructor the grammar grades of the Model school have been an exceptionally strong department of the Normal and we are pleased to know that she will return to her work in September.

Foreman H. Sterner, who has had the responsible position of directing the work on our new building, closed his labors at Wayne Tuesday and departed for Curtis, Nebraska, where he will have charge of the erection of the new agricultural school. The building at Wayne is one of the best arranged and the most substantial structures in the state, and that its construction has been so satisfactory in every way is due largely to the efficiency, the watchfulness, and the painstaking work of Mr. Sterner.

At the last meeting of the Board of Education, Miss Alwine W. Luers of Columbus, Nebraska, was elected as kindergarten critic teacher, to begin her work at the opening of the summer term. Miss Luers is a graduate of the Columbus high school and of the Wayne State Normal. She also took special training in Drake University and has spent the entire year as a student of the University of Chicago. Her years of successful experience in the public schools of Nebraska give assurance that she will prove a strong member of the faculty of this institution.

THE RACKET

VALIANT DECATUR

Reckless Bravery of the Pride of Our Early Navy.

HIS TRIPOLI HARBOR FEAT.

The Recapture and Destruction of the Philadelphia in the Midst of a Hostile Fleet Were Called by Nelson "the Most Daring Act of the Age."

Stephen Decatur, the pride of the early American navy, entered the service when the naval spirit was at its lowest ebb. He was without training as an officer when, at twenty, he began the career that was to bring him fame. Before Decatur was twenty-five he had been twice honored by presentation of a sword by congress, and at twenty-five he was a captain in command of the noble frigate Constitution.

His deeds of valor make a narrative like a dashing romance. His qualities were those the naval officer today can emulate with the profit to himself and his country and every patriot regard with satisfaction. There are few names on the scroll of fame with a brighter luster than his.

From childhood Stephen loved the sea. At an early age he began the study of shipbuilding and at seventeen helped construct the United States frigate United States, which he was one day to command. The war with France brought him his first great opportunity. Decatur was its most picturesque sea figure.

When, in 1801, all the navy except six ships was dismantled and 75 per cent of the officers dismissed Decatur was kept in the service, and he found speedy use for the naval lore he had acquired.

For centuries the Barbary States had supported themselves by piracy. Most nations, including our own, paid them shameful tribute to win protection from these pirate ships. In May, 1801, the pasha of Tripoli declared war on the United States and began to seize American vessels that were cruising in the Mediterranean. Four Yankee warships were sent to Tripoli and Decatur along with them as first lieutenant. During this war the United States man-of-war Philadelphia went aground on a reef in Tripoli harbor and was captured by the pasha. Decatur volunteered to go by night into the harbor and destroy the Philadelphia.

He seized a small native vessel called a ketch from the Tripolitans and renamed it the Intrepid. With seventy picked men as his crew and accompanied by another small vessel, the Siren, to act as escort, the Intrepid sailed from Syracuse on Feb. 3, 1804, on her hazardous errand. Inside of the Tripoli harbor he could see the Philadelphia moored close to the heavily armed castle of the pasha and the batteries around the harbor, the whole mounting 115 guns.

Twenty-four Tripolitan ships of war lay between the Philadelphia and the shore, all fully manned and ready for an attack.

The hour agreed on for Decatur's attack was 10 o'clock at night. As the Intrepid entered the harbor it appeared to be only a native boat, and little attention was paid to her. Her crew were hidden behind her rails, crouching, with their arms in their hands, ready for the desperate action. The little vessel drifted near the Philadelphia, and the crew watched with interest what they supposed was a little ketch drifting in. Decatur was now hailed from the Philadelphia and warned to keep off. His pilot, an Italian, was instructed to reply that they had lost their anchor and wished to run a line to the frigate for the night.

This request was granted, and Decatur's ruse thus far worked well. The crew began to pull the ketch up to the frigate, but as they came nearer the men in the Philadelphia saw the true character of the ketch and raised the alarm. It was too late, for Decatur was near enough to lead his men in a swarm up the side of the Philadelphia and over her bulwarks.

The Tripolitans had no time to defend themselves, and they were cut down or driven overboard until not one remained on deck. In five minutes Decatur was in undisputed command of the ship. Means of combustion had been brought, and as the Philadelphia could not be moved she was set on fire in various places. The flames were pouring from her hatches when Decatur and his men left her deck and shoved off in the Intrepid without the loss of a man.

The guns of the Philadelphia were all loaded, and as they became hot they were discharged, and their shots took effect in the town. The conflagration cast a red glare on the castle, mosques and minarets, on the batteries and on the shipping in the harbor, whose crews had been so startled by the suddenness of the attack that not a shot had been fired to stay it.

No less a naval hero than Admiral Nelson pronounced it "the most daring act of the age."

The hero of Algiers was killed in a duel by Commodore Barron on March 22, 1820, and the whole country mourned one of the greatest sea fighters the American navy has ever had.—Chicago News.

Took It.
Gilda (as girl offers him a tip)—We are strictly forbidden to receive tips, but I don't like to refuse such a charming woman anything.—Fleegende Blatter.

We are all building a coal house, yet with what different and what various care.—Becher.

Saved by a Cigar.
M. Guizot, the well known French historian, while out walking in one of the public gardens of Paris noticed that he was being followed by a disreputable looking and badly dressed individual. M. Guizot was puzzled by the man's behavior, but instead of showing alarm he calmly sat down when he arrived at his favorite seat. The ruffian, without hesitation, came and sat down beside him and gave the historian so fierce a look as to have disconcerted a less timid man. But with a delightful nonchalance M. Guizot took out his cigar case, abstracted a cigar and slowly lit it. The effect of this action upon his companion was remarkable. With a start and a scowl the man suddenly rose and, muttering to himself, "The man I want to kill never smokes," walked rapidly away. A week or so later the historian read in the newspapers that this same individual had been arrested for a violent attack upon a well known public official who bore a strong likeness to M. Guizot himself. The famous writer went home and smoked a big cigar in honor of his narrow escape.

Anecdote of Gounod.
Gounod was at one moment within an ace of taking holy orders, but on reflection he thought that the life of a priest would not suit him. He none the less remained a firm and devout Catholic and adored religious music. On this point a typical anecdote is told of him. It occurred during the rehearsal of his "Dramas Sacres" at the Vaudeville theater. The manager called on him one morning and asked permission to make a suggestion. "I think, mon cher maitre," he said, "that there is something wanting in your sacre. For example, do you not think that the Barabbas incident might be improved by a little more orchestral effect?" Gounod, without replying, hid his head in his hands and after two or three minutes of meditation suddenly exclaimed: "No; decidedly no. Such a blackguard as that does not deserve more music."—London Graphic.

Reassuring "Miss Blake."
As they boarded the train they had every look of being a bridal couple. The young man carefully escorted the young woman to a seat, while the interested passengers smiled indulgently. Then, extending his hand to the supposed bride, he said in a very loud voice, "Well, Miss Blake, the train is about to pull out; I wish you a very pleasant journey," and, dotting his soft hat, he hurried off the train. The passengers looked disappointed.

But the young woman seemed nervous. By and by she called the porter and in a whisper gave him some mysterious errand. He came back in a moment and said in a voice audible to every one:

"You're all right, ma'am. He's in the smokin' compartment."

Everybody smiled, and the bride blushed prettily.—Youth's Companion.

Sothern and Laura Keane.
The elder Sothern had a great reputation as a practical joker, and to quote his son's own words: "His nerve staggered people at times. I remember that in Baltimore he was once joined by that clever actress Laura Keane. Laura Keane was very hot tempered. On one occasion something went wrong, and she called my father to her dressing room and began to give him a terrific tongue lashing, in the midst of which he suddenly turned out the gas. 'How dare you!' shrieked the fascinating Laura. 'I can't bear to see a pretty woman in a temper,' said my father as he calmly lit the gas again."

Streets of London.
What is the acme of discomfort to which a pedestrian can be subject in London? In a morning walk this writer encountered in close proximity the following nuisances and dangers: The delivery of coal through a coal hole in the pavement. Next door beer was being lowered by an almost unseen rope into a yawning gulf—the public house cellars. The dustman was collecting at the next house, and close by the asphalt pavement was being repaired and turned the walker into the road, where he was splashed by the passing motorbus.—London Chronicle.

Knew What He Could Do.
The lawyer of the convicted pick-pocket took the fine imposed upon his client very much to heart. "Twenty-five dollars!" he expostulated. "Your honor, where is this poor unfortunate man to get $25?" "His honor did not know, or if he did he refrained from saying so, but the prisoner was less discreet. "Just let me out of here for ten or fifteen minutes," he said, "and I'll show you."—New York Sun.

That Was Different.
—Mrs. Tittle—What a beautiful world it must have been when there were only Adam and Eve in it! There was nobody to say nasty things about them. Mrs. Tattle—But, then, they had nobody to talk about. Mrs. Tittle—Well, I guess, after all, the world has improved since their time.—Exchange.

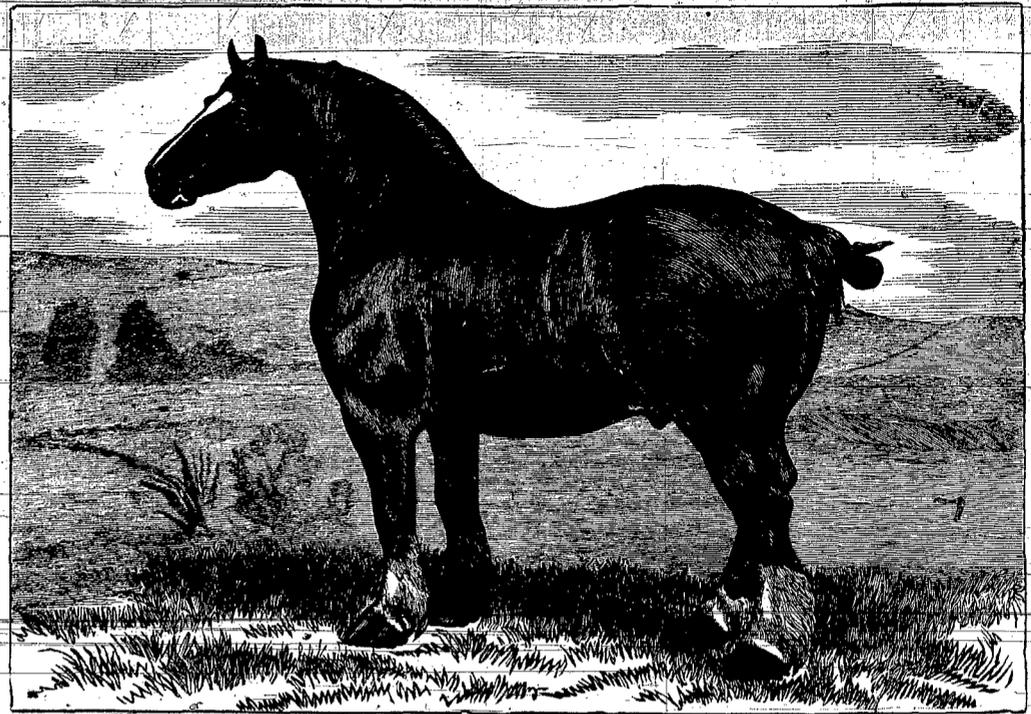

Just a Chappie in Words.
Young Clerk—Do you like to stand in front of the store and see the crowds go by? Old Merchant—No, but I like to stand in the back of our store and see the crowds come buy.—Exchange.

Selfish.
Flub—And you say you are satisfied to be making only $15 a week? Dub—Sure. If I made more than that some girl would come along and want to marry me.—Life.

The best kind of repentance is not doing it again.—Charles F. Riddle.

BALD HEADS NOT WANTED

Baldness is too Generally Considered a Sign of Advanced Age

A baldheaded person does not have an equal chance with one blessed with a healthy head of hair, because baldness is too generally accepted as an indication of age. Many large corporations have established an age limit, and refuse to take men over 35 years of age as new employees.

Probably 65 per cent of bald headed people may regain a good head of healthy hair if they will follow our advice and accept our offer. We offer a remedy that we positively guarantee to grow hair on any head unless the roots of the hair are entirely dead, their follicles closed, and the scalp has become glazed and shiny. We want people to try this remedy at our risk, with the distinct understanding that unless it does exactly what we claim it will, and gives satisfaction in every respect, we shall make no charge for the remedy used during the trial.

We know exactly what we are talking about, and with this offer back of our statements no one should scoff, doubt our word, or hesitate to put our remedy to an actual test.

We want every one in Wayne who is suffering from any scalp or hair trouble, dandruff, falling hair, or baldness to try our Rexall "93" Hair Tonic. We want them to use it regularly—say until three bottles have been used—and if it does not eradicate dandruff, cleanse and refresh the scalp, tighten the hair in its roots, and grow new hair, we will return every cent paid us for the remedy for the mere asking. There is no formality expected, and we exact no obligation from the user whatever. We are established right here in Wayne, and make this offer with a full understanding that our business success entirely depends upon the sort of treatment we accord our customers, and we should not dare make the above offer unless we were positively certain that we could substantiate it in every particular.

Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store, the Rexall store, the Sulthies Pharmacy.

A Sacred Concert

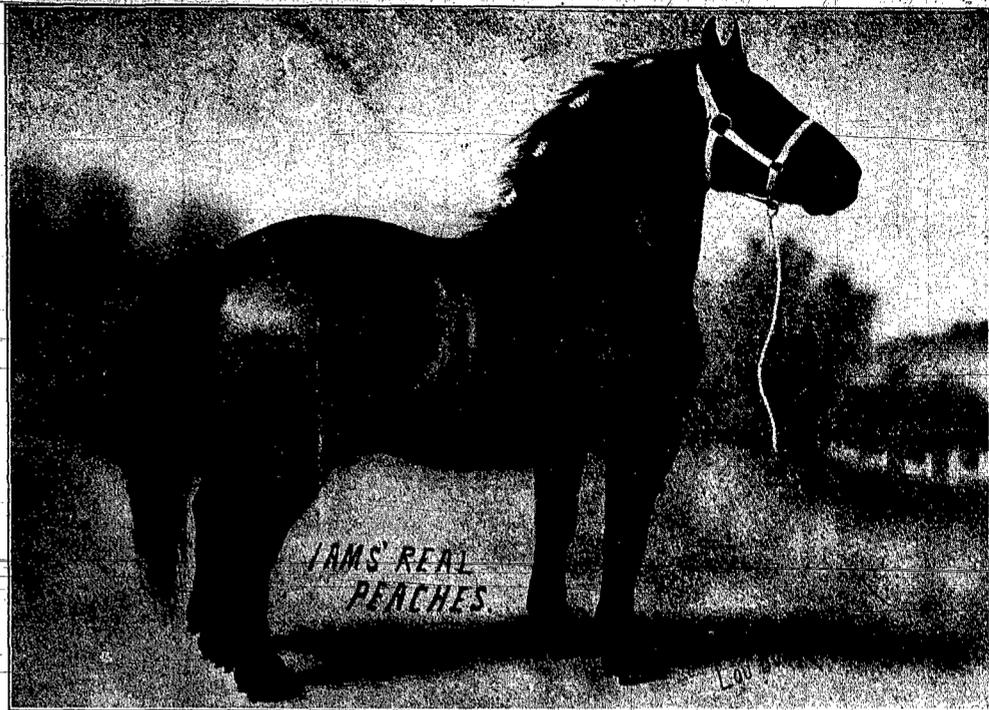

On next Sunday evening a sacred concert will be given at the Presbyterian church by the church choir, assisted by Prof. Frank Nangle. The concert will be given in place of the regular evening service, and will, of course, be free. There will be various sacred selections by the choir as a whole, and also solos and duets. Prof. Frank Nangle will assist the choir, rendering as one of his solos the song, "Babylon," which he will sing by special request. Prof. Nangle is a Wayne boy who was always noted as a singer of remarkable ability, but who has only recently given himself wholly to this work. For a large part of the past winter he assisted a prominent evangelist in holding special meetings in different parts of the country, and his success in the work has been very gratifying to his Wayne friends, who will be glad of the opportunity which this concert will give them to hear him again. The sacred concert will be given under the direction of Mrs. William H. Harris, who is the choir leader of the church. The service will begin at 8 o'clock.

Washington Political News

By C. H. Tavenner

Washington, April 23.—The railroads have inaugurated a campaign to increase freight rates over a territory comprising half of the United States, which will still further increase the cost of living to everyone.

Two years ago the interstate commerce commission refused to allow the roads to increase their rates. Now these same roads, through indirection and by piecemeal, are trying to accomplish the very thing the commission told them they could not do. As part of their strategy, the roads have filed with the commission a new classification of freights—that is, they have submitted a plan whereby certain articles of one class, on which a certain rate is allowed, have been "jumped" into a class above, carrying a higher rate. All told, more than 1,400 articles have been thus reclassified, and if the commission permits this arrangement to go into effect the people will simply have to pay more to have these articles hauled, because whenever a freight rate is increased the retailer must add the amount of the increase to the retail price of the article. The proposed increases range from ten to three hundred per cent.

The roads were careful to reduce the rates on a certain number of articles, apparently for the purpose of detracting attention from the many increases. The state railroad commissions of 18 states have united in a protest against the new classification, pointing out that the proposed increases are more than 60 per cent in excess of reductions, and charging that the classification plan is simply a subterfuge to get through a big increase of rates.

The public has no objection to the railroads paying increased wages to its workmen, but welcome such increases. The public has no objection to the railroads making a good generous rate of interest on money invested in railroad properties. The public does not wish to see the railroads hampered in any way, because they are the arteries of commerce of the nation. But the public does object to the railroads requiring the public to pay enormous dividends in addition to creating a huge annual surplus on money that is not invested, and on capitalization that represents nothing more than blue air.

Senator LaFollette has shown that the corporations of this country are capitalized at $31,672,000,000, and that 70 per cent of this capitalization is water. More and more water is constantly being injected into the capitalization of the railroads, which makes it necessary for the roads to be continually boosting freight rates and increasing the cost of living to every man, woman and child in the nation.

Under the Roosevelt and Taft administrations, Congress refused to pass a bill providing for a physical valuation of railroad properties, which appears to be the only solution of the evil which permits the gouging of the common people in order that a few railroad magnates may be still further enriched. Before this session closes, however, the Democratic house will enact such legislation, the bill having already been favorably reported from the committee on interstate and foreign commerce.

NEBRASKA NEWS

Roosevelt and Clark Win by Big Plurality.

NORRIS LEADS FOR SENATE.

Congressman Indorsed by Voters to Succeed Brown—Shallenberger Will Have Support of Democrats—Morehead Defeats Metcalfe.

All returns received from Nebraska, but accentuated results indicated earlier. Colonel Theodore Roosevelt's majority over all continues to grow; Clark has the Democratic indorsement; Norris is slightly ahead of Brown for the indorsement for United States senator on the Republican ticket, and Shallenberger has a lead over Thompson and Reed on the Democratic ticket that seems to be safe. Newton polled a considerable number of votes for the office of governor on the Republican ticket. On the Democratic ticket Morehead has a commanding lead over Metcalfe. For national committeeman the Republicans selected R. B. Howell and the Democrats P. L. Hall. No returns have been tabulated yet on the state officers below governor, nor on the candidates for electors, delegates at large, district delegates or congressmen outside of the Second district, where Howard Baldrige won the nomination. The returns from the state up to date are:

Republican.
President—Taft, 10,178; Roosevelt, 29,600; La Follette, 9,579.
Senator—Norris, 19,717; Brown, 18,890.

National Committeeman—Howell, 18,584; Rosewater, 14,580.

Democratic.

President—Clark, 10,814; Harmon 8,265; Wilson, 7,152.

Senator—Thompson, 7,346; Reed, 4,090; Shallenberger, 11,634; Smith, 2,605.

Governor—Morehead, 13,024; Metcalfe, 10,750.

National Committeeman—Hall, 11,965; Panning, 7,190.

The vote given George W. Norris caused Senator Brown to give out the following statement in Washington: "The returns indicate my defeat. Personally I am disappointed and hurt. But the people have the right to choose and I do not complain. Because they either misunderstood or misjudged me is no reason why I should misunderstand or misjudge them. I gave them the best service of which I was capable. I will leave the office high in self respect and a clear conscience and with a heart full of gratitude to thousands of loyal personal friends."

BISHOPS MEET IN LINCOLN

Will Make Reports of Progress of Work in Various Fields.

Lincoln, April 24.—Twenty-four bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church began their semi-annual meeting here today. Of the twenty-four bishops, fifteen are residents of the United States and nine of foreign lands. The official residences of the latter are in China, India, Malaya, Argentina and Switzerland. Those present are: Bishops Warren, Waldon, Cranston, Moore, Hamilton, Berry, McDowell, Bashford, Burt, Wilson, Neely, Anderson, Nuelson, Quayle, Smith, Lewis, Hughes, McIntyre, Bristol, Hartzell, Warne, Scott, Oldham and Robison. Bishop Harris of Seoul, Korea, is the only active church dignitary unable to reach America in time for this meeting.

The gathering is regarded important, as it is preliminary to the quadrennial general conference of the church, which will begin a month's session at Minneapolis, May 1. At the Lincoln meeting the individual bishops will make reports of the progress of work in their different fields.

Bishop Bashford, who represents the China station, stationed at Peking, said he was reasonably sure the newly formed republic in China would live.

Encampment Omitted.

Owing to the lateness of the season the annual encampment of the cadets at the state farm will be omitted this year. The weather is not suitable for an encampment and the condition of school work later in the year precluded the possibility of holding it at a latter date. Instead of the encampment there will be drills, the annual competitive drill between the Worlizer regiment of the farm school and the Parshing rifles of the academic department. This will be held on the city campus. Thursday will occur the competitive company drill, to be judged by regular army officers from Fort Crook, followed by a review of the cadets and presentation of prizes by Governor Aldrich.

Second Flege Trial Draws Small Crowd.

Pender, Neb., April 24.—Impanelling of a jury for the second trial of William Flege of near Wakefield for the murder of his sister, Miss Louisa Flege, in June, 1910, was begun here today. Interest in the Flege case seems to have waned since the first trial. Only a small crowd was present at the opening sitting.

Price Goes to Fremont.

State Engineer Price has gone to Fremont to consult with the county boards of Dodge and Saunders preparatory to advertising for bridges over the Platte river connecting the two counties.

MEMORIAL FOR E. BRANDEIS

Final Tribute Paid to Omaha Citizen Lost on Titanic.

Omaha, April 24.—A final tribute to flowers, sacred songs and words of praise and regret was paid Omaha's well beloved citizen, Emil Brandeis, who met death bravely with 1,600 others when the ill fated steamship Titanic sank at the Brandeis theater. The theater held an assemblage the like of which never before gathered there and 1,000 were turned away for lack of room.

Poor and rich, low and high, gathered at the place of mourning, a saddened crowd but proud of the brilliant, successful and tender-hearted Omaha man who met death with a heroism that bequeathed his friends and relatives a sacred heritage.

CONSTABLE WOODS KILLED

Shot Down by Sebastian Pugliff in Attempt to Serve Writ.

Omaha, April 24.—Murdered while carrying out an order of the county court was the fate of Constable J. A. Woods. The killing occurred in the home of Sebastian Pugliff, a Sicilian.

The murderer later was found hidden underneath several mattresses in the pool hall conducted by Joe Falina at Sixth and Pierce streets. It was learned after his arrest that his right name is Pugliff. The name of De Jargola was given to the police by his wife, who tried to hide his identity.

In a statement made following his arrest Pugliff declared that he shot in self defense, believing that he was about to be shot by Woods. Woods was not armed.

ENGLISH PRESIDENT T. P. A.

Kearney Gets Next Year's Gathering Without Contest.

Omaha, April 24.—S. S. English of Lincoln was unanimously elected president of the Nebraska Travelers' Protective association at the business session of the state convention at the Rome hotel. He succeeds F. A. Holbrook of Omaha. Other officers chosen: L. B. Adams, York, first vice president; H. J. Duncan, Kearney, second vice president; H. S. Cherniis, Omaha, third vice president; E. A. Bailey, Lincoln, fourth vice president; Sam Erskine, Grand Island, fifth vice president; Charles L. Hooper, Omaha, re-elected secretary and treasurer. The next meeting will be held at Kearney. There was no contest.

Pugsley Advises Rolling of Ground.

Omaha, April 24.—Farmers of Nebraska, who have planted winter wheat and which is affected by the cracking of the ground should not be too fast to plow it under, says Professor C. W. Pugsley of the Nebraska experiment station. Professor Pugsley has authorized the publicity bureau of the Commercial club to spread the information throughout the state that the condition of the ground is not as critical as some might think. However, he advises the rolling of the ground with a corrugated roller, if possible.

Flour Thieves Busy in Broken Bow.

Broken Bow, Neb., April 24.—A gang of thieves operating in town seems to be specializing on flour. Twice within the last few days warehouses belonging to two grocery firms have been broken into during the night and a quantity of flour taken, probably 1,800 pounds in all. A streak of flour leading from the warehouse through the alley east to Eighth avenue showed the direction taken by the thieves on their last marauding expedition, but at this point all traces were lost. There is no clue.

Urge Pensions for Postal Employees.

Omaha, April 24.—At the joint session of the Nebraska State Association of Postoffice Clerks and the Nebraska State Association of Mail Carriers the greater portion of the time was given over to oratory. All speakers favored the parcel post and a pension for years of service. Ed J. Gaynor, vice president of the National Association of Letter Carriers, dwelt upon the cost of service, the well being of the employees and efficiency.

Albert Prince on Trial for Murder.

In the district court a jury is being obtained to try Albert Prince for the murder of Deputy Warden Davis during chapel exercises at the penitentiary. C. S. Parr of Lincoln, when questioned whether he had formed an opinion as to the guilt of the accused, said: "I don't know whether you call it an opinion or not, but I think he ought to have been hanged long ago." He was promptly excused.

State Sunday School Workers to Meet.

Omaha, April 24.—Preliminary plans are being made for the annual convention of the Nebraska Sunday School association, which will be held in Omaha on June 18, 19 and 20. The officers of the organization are anticipating an attendance of 1,500, the various county organizations throughout the state having sent assurances of representative delegations. The meetings will be held in the First M. E. church.

Fire Marshal Busy.

The fire marshal's office is sending out to towns in the state copies of three proposed ordinances, designed to reduce fire risk. One compels the storing of gasoline below ground, another regulates the burning of rubbish and the third provides for the appointing of a building and chimney inspector and prescribes his duties and powers.

Sermon on the Titanic Horror

On last Sunday the pulpits of Christendom, by common consent, referred to the terrible catastrophe on the Atlantic ocean last week in which over 1,600 souls were lost. The tragic end of this triumph of the skill of man lent itself to solemn lessons which the church felt called upon to inculcate. At the Presbyterian church the pastor, Rev. Alexander Corkey, preached on the subject at the evening service. As he has crossed the ocean five times, twice on the Lusitania, which was second only to the Titanic in its magnificence, he was able to picture graphically the scenes attending the disaster. He had indeed hoped himself to cross the Atlantic on this latest ship when he made his next trip to the old country. After describing the building of the ship at Belfast, Ireland, and the character of the passenger list, which includes many notables, besides a dozen millionaires, the speaker described the collision with the iceberg, the launching of the life-boats, and the final sinking of the Titanic, leaving 1,600 men struggling helplessly in the icy waters, which soon engulfed them.

"There is no doubt whatever as to the cause of this terrible wreck," said the preacher. "Every one acquainted with ocean travel knows there was just one cause—speed mania."

The providences in connection with the salvation of the 700 survivors were noted; the use of the wireless telegraphy, the accident happening at the close of a Sabbath day on the ocean when men were at their best as men, and the calm, clear night, so unusual at this time of the year off the Banks of Newfoundland.

In conclusion the good that has come from this terrible sacrifice of life and treasure was emphasized. Ocean travel is now safer than it has ever been for years, men are humbler, manhood is grander after the noble exhibition of self-sacrifice for others displayed by the men and the crew.

HOW TO PICK THE "CLUCKER."

Volumes have been written on how to tell the layer, but where's the new tale on how to pick the clucker?
Now, cluckers are not just cluckers. They are good, bad, indifferent or devilish.
The last are destructive to eggs and
New Year resolutions not to swear.
Mediterranean breeds and their crosses when they do sit use up eggs and the patience of the poultryman.
Heavyweight hens are too clumsy and often make omelet of high priced eggs and crush chicks.
Nervous, flighty hens that skyrocket off the nest at approach or henpeck the

HOW'S THAT FOR TAME?

operator without provocation are not safe. Plymouth Rocks, White Wyandottes and Rhode Island Reds are about the right size and are generally so gentle and steady as broodies and mothers that they are conceded to be the experts at raising Rooseveltian fowl families. A light, weak hen should never be set. Such a hen often dies on the nest or quits before hatch is out, hatches nothing or in-cubates weak chickens, even from fine, strong eggs.

To bring big bon ton chicks the hen must have requisite blood heat to warm eggs clear through. Weak hens break down under the ordeal. What is more, they have more lice than ordinary because they haven't ambition to fight crawlers. But hens aren't just to sit. They are to raise the chicks.

This requires a good sized body and wide-wing to cover them; likewise health and strength to scratch for chicks.

We have never seen an unhealthy hen raise a full nor good brood of chicks.

The mother hen here shown is perfectly tame and is the type that raises

LIGHT BRAHMA, FOSTER TURK MOTHER.

the big bon ton bunch with little trouble to the owner

Some will nature fake by setting chickens on turkey eggs. If that's your style use the Light Brahma for foster mother, as she does better than the ordinary chicken hen.

Let the cluck shape her own nest.
She forms it oval, not round, as you would, and do not give her more than eleven to fifteen eggs, according to her size and the weather.

DON'TS.

Don't give duck eggs away because you have no home market. They are in great demand at big prices in the cities.

Don't forget that the busy bee and busy Biddy are a great combination, but that ducklings will swallow bees
and—quick decease.

Don't fall to clean and renew the homer's nest when the squabs are large enough to handle and burn the old nesting material.

Don't feed an egg stimulant while your hens are in molt. People who have a good laying strain and use right methods use no stimulants.

WHAT KINDNESS WILL DO.

There was a day when Mother Hen didn't prance around so swell.
Her picture wasn't in the press,
Nor did she live so well.

She roosted on the rough grindstone
And froze up in the tree.
Old skunk and fox and long eared owl
Ort gobbled her with glee.

She stole feed from the corncrib
Or from the slop bar'l rim
She reached to drink the sour witt
And, kerflop, she fell in!

She scratched in the foul dung pile
And in the dark horse stable,
And thus a living she picked up
So far as she was able.

Her color was like calico.
Of eggs she laid a few.
Her meat—well, it was fairly good,
Though some too tough to chew.

But some one pitted this poor hen
And gave her a fair chance,
And she returned the kindness
With a marvelous advance.

She's now the billion dollar hen
Of whom we're all so proud.
Her rooster's cock of the high perch.
No wonder he crows loud!

She's got the gold mines skinned a mile.
The wheat and cotton fields
Are just back numbers when compared With what bright Biddy yields.

Now, that's what thought and kindness did
With a discouraged hen.
You bet it works with Biddy!
You bet it works with me!

THE FALLOF TURKEY FORETOLD

The dire prophecy has been bandied down from the seats of the mighty at Washington that 1920 will see the end of the turkey tribe if the present rate of decrease continues.

In 1900 there were 6,594,095 turkeys in the United States. In 1910 there were but 3,668,708, a decrease of almost 3,000,000. In the same decade chickens increased from 23,566,921 to 280, 345,133.

The whole truth in a turkey eggshell is that the United States department of agriculture has neglected turkey culture, and the state experiment stations have done little to conserve the turkey, with the exception of Rhode Island, which has done more to help turkey breeders than Washington and all the other states taken together. It has been all chickens and egg.
Even the quacks have received more attention than the juicy, money making turkey, and the farmer without reliable information has gone on and inbred and ill fed his turkeys to death, so that today the United States is nearly all in the turkey graveyard belt.

Now Washington turns her conservation searchlight on the turkey remnants and commands us to hustle or there will be a turkless Thanksgiving and Christmas in 1920.

But, oh, you Washington big guns,
why not get out some practical turkey data for the turkey raiser? And, oh, you experiment stations, why not put some time and state appropriation on this question and help save the turkey? And, oh, you directors of farmer's institutes, why not compel your poultry lecturers to qualify on turkey culture and thus spread reliable turkey information throughout the states?
When the powers that be combine with breeders in a campaign for the conservation of the turkey then and then only will turkdom prosper.

FEATHERS AND EGGSHELLS.

Those who choose Dorkings for eggs are usually disappointed. The English call the Dorking the "cream of table chickens" and for the table it is dandy
when bred and fed right.

In England in 1314 twenty eggs were sold for a penny, and if the seller refused to take that his eggs were for-feted. That was before America and the American trust were discovered.

In mixing mash most poultrymen
moisten the bran and other ingredients with cold water. The bran should be scalded, otherwise much of the nutrient value is lost in the droppings and gritty sharp edged particles are apt to cause irritation.

Clearfield county (Pa.) fanciers have been so pestered with chicken thieves that the Coalport poultry raisers bought a bloodhound to track the thieves. No less than six men were in the county jail at one time awaiting trial for chicken stealing.

The gold diggers of Gold City, Johannesburg, South Africa, got a nervous shock when Sir Thomas Culliam, M. P., told them not to think so highly of the gold they dug out of their mines that it was surpassed in value by the eggs laid by the hens of the United States.

The practice of penning breeding ducks closely is a mistake. As these are select ducks and the foundation stock, they should be kept near to nature. Give them a good grass run with water, if possible, and nutritious mashes with plenty of meat food right before and during breeding season.

A committee of nine, appointed by the American Poultry association, is at present working on a standard for the utility side of the poultry business. Utility is the foundation of the poultry industry, really the whole thing, and it will not be long till the utility show will be the whole show and the industry, thus encouraged, make greater strides than ever.

It is remarkable how many professional men are raising poultry. We always find them at farmers' institutes where we lecture, and they chase us to our hotel to interview us, and we find many of them enthusiastic experts. Pure bred birds are pretty interesting pets, and they pay. They take the tired mind off the daily grind. Yes, the simple life in its varied phases is a godsend to man.

Among The Churches of Wayne

BAPTIST CHURCH

(Rev. B. P. Richardson, Pastor)

The pastor will preach next Sunday both morning and evening at the usual hours. Subject of sermons, morning, "Aggressive Christianity"; evening, "The Prince who lost his Property".

We were highly pleased with the meeting of the laymen last Sunday afternoon. A real, deep interest was shown in extending the work of the Kingdom throughout the county. On next Sunday at 8:30 another laymen's meeting will be held at the Baptist church.

On Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock our monthly covenant and prayer meeting will be held. At this time we shall consider selecting a Sunday school superintendent. This is a matter of much importance.

Friday (tomorrow) afternoon the missionary society will hold its session at the home of Mrs. Richardson.

The Boy Scouts are planning for another hike next Thursday afternoon. Those who will not be able to go at this time, can join the boys at their camp in time for supper.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

(Rev. Alexander Corkey, Pastor)

"The Temple of the Body" will be the subject of the sermon at the Presbyterian church next Sunday morning.

The Westminster Guild meets with Miss Mary Mellor on Friday evening. The usual program will be followed.

"The Home Mission Work of the Presbyterian Church" will be the topic of the C. E. prayer meeting next Sunday evening. This service begins at 7 o'clock. The Sunday School begins at 9:50 a. m. and the Juniors meet at 3 p. m. The morning service begins at 11 and the evening worship at 8 o'clock.

A Communion service and reception of new members will be held at the Presbyterian church on Sabbath morning, May 5th.

The meeting of the Women's Presbyterial last week was a good success, although, on account of the postponement, the number of delegates from the other churches was not large. The two popular services on behalf of the Indians, and in opposition to the Mormons were well attended, and the singing of the Indian quartette was especially enjoyed.

METHODIST CHURCH

(Rev. Wm Gorst, Pastor)

The Workers' class give an entertainment in the church this evening. Tickets twenty-five cents. Our young men always do things well, and they will measure up to the best this evening in whatsoever they present. The proceeds go to the purchase of the new piano which constitutes an additional reason for a very large attendance.

The solicitation of subscriptions to the endowment fund of Nebraska Wesleyan University is going on this week all over Nebraska. Rev. Dr. C. N. Davison is managing the campaign at Wayne under appointment of Mr. Stead. No money will ever be given that will tell for more than money given to this fund. Shall not every Methodist do his best on this one strong short lift?

Services morning and evening next Sunday. Morning topic "Seed in Stoney Places." Evening, "Some Further Reflections on the Titanic Disaster."

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN CHURCH

(C. J. Ringer, Pastor)

Next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock the pastor will preach his farewell sermon. A full attendance of the membership is desired.

Sunday school at 10 o'clock.

LOCAL.

Cash paid for eggs. Geo. Fortner.

Frank Nangle is here from Iowa visiting home folks.

The player piano won last week by Frank S. Morgan from the Sioux City News is here, and is a beautiful instrument, and apparently as good as it is pretty. Mr. Morgan informs us that while the instrument came in his name that it and the scholarship are partnership property, he and Fred M. Pile working together on the contest, and therefore he has but a half interest in the piano, and it will probably be offered for sale.

"Move On" is the title of this interesting item. E. W. Huse and family are moving into the King residence north of the court house, and Grant Mears is moving into his home vacated by Mr Huse, and Wm Marotz, who has been living at Hoskins and conducting business here for nearly two months past is taking possession of the house just vacated by Mr. Mears and family. Houses are in such demand here that no one can move in until some one else moves out or dies. That is the reason the Democrat has maintained that a building and loan association should be organized here. If twenty-five residences were built at Wayne this summer there would be a tenant for every one. It looks like a short-sighted policy to permit this condition to exist.

A party composed of about seventy members of the Odd Fellows and Daughters of Rebecca give Rev. and Mrs. C. J. Ringer a pleasant farewell surprise Tuesday evening in the form of a six o'clock dinner which was elaborately served by the ladies.

At the conclusion of the dinner Mayor Kate made a few remarks, telling of the faithful work the pastor had performed here for church, lodge and city, expressing the regret felt over his departure and the good wishes that would follow himself and wife to their new home, and concluded his remarks with a neat presentation speech tendered to Rev. and Mrs. Ringer a set of solid silver spoons in behalf of the members of the two orders. Rev. Ringer responded with a few appropriate remarks, and a pleasant evening social closed with an expression from all present of their good wishes.

Some of the Things Will Kay Saw

Wm. Kay, who was a caller at Ponca last week has something interesting things to tell about the part of the west that he saw while at Portland, Oregon, last winter.

He was out in the lumber woods and saw some real trees. He mentions one, a fir tree that was seven feet in diameter at the trunk and stood 280 feet tall. It was being made into lumber. He was on a boat with one and a half million feet of lumber leaving these mills and sailing for China.

He visited the place on the Columbia river where that stream crosses the Cascade Mountains, at which place the rugged peaks of the mountains are so scattered through the stream that no boat can pass. Here the United States government is spending three millions of dollars constructing a canal that will allow the passage of large boats. This canal is ten miles long.

Mr. Kay thinks there are great opportunities for people that want to get land for a home in the Twin Falls and Big Horn region. There is an unlimited supply of water and there is electric power for the many farms near by and for factory work as well as lighting purposes. Mr. Kay says that this land is covered with sage brush and will require plenty of work to put it into tillable condition.—Dixon County Leader.

Order of Hearing and Notice on Petition for Settlement of Account

In the County Court of Wayne County, Nebraska.

State of Nebraska, Wayne County, ss.

To the heirs and all persons interested in the estate of Andres Jensen, deceased:

On reading the petition of Hans Toft, executor, praying a final settlement and allowance of his account filed in this court on the 17th day of April, 1912, and for distribution of the residue of said estate, it is hereby ordered that you and all persons interested in said matter may, and do, appear at the County Court to be held in and for said county, on the 8th day of May A. D. 1912, at 10 o'clock a. m., to show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted, and that notice of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof be given to all persons interested in said matter by publishing a copy of this order in the Nebraska Democrat, a weekly newspaper printed in said county, for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing.

JAMES BRITTON,
(Seal.) County Judge.

Walter Weber and wife returned Wednesday evening from a visit to Omaha, Florence and Benson. While at Omaha they listened to the music of the Thomas orchestra.
