NEW FLEGE CASE AT PENDER

State Witnesses Add Little to Previous Testimony. State Flege Said He Would be Rid of Sister. Both Sides Confident.

The center of attraction at Pender is the second trial of Wm. Flege from Dixon county for the murder of his sister, Louise. The trial thus far is largely a reproduction of the previous trial, though several of the state witnesses have told of incidents not given in the first trial.

The Henrichs family added to previous testimony statements the information that Flege had made remarks concerning his sister to the effect that trouble between them "would soon be over" and his threatening to shoot some one they did not make clear who, but supposed that after the deed was done that it referred to the sister.

Frank A. Berry, one of the attorneys for the defence, was home last evening and is quite confident that the defence is making a much stronger case than before. The stories of prosecution witnesses he thinks do not hold together as well as on previous occasions. And he does not look upon the additional testimony of the state as in any way strengthening the case.

Another person who has been attending the trial expresses the opinion that all would depend upon the way the jury view the story of young Eichecamp. But so far nothing of vital importance in the case has appeared other than was given in the previous trial.

President Wins Massachusetts

At the close of a campaign that would disgrace ward politicians in some respects the President of the United States and the Ex-President have secured a verdict from the voters of Massachusetts that is so near a draw that both sides can still say, "I told you so." The results are reported as follows:

Returns from 1,040 of 1,080 election districts give Taft 84,948; Roosevelt, 79,564; LaFollette, 1,960. The preferential lead for Taft is 5,384. The democratic result follows: Clark, 32,972; Wilson, 14,859. Clark's lead is 18,113.

The Roosevelt delegates at large headed by Baxter, in the same precincts, received 82,687. The Taft delegation, headed by Crane, got 74,835. Indications are that Roosevelt carried but five districts, giving him 18 delegates in all. Taft carried nine districts, giving him 18, or an equally divided delegation. The Taft followers insist that as Taft carried the preferential primary, the Roosevelt delegates at large should vote for him, but the Roosevelt managers laugh at the idea.

United in Marriage

On Wednesday afternoon at the hour of four, Miss Emma L. Wieland and Carl A. Mau both of this city were united in marriage at the German Lutheran church, Rev. Karpenstien officiating. The bride was attended by the Misses Alice Mau and Bertha Wieland and the groom was assisted by Frank Klopping and William Wieland. The wedding party proceeded to the altar while Miss Rose Piepenstock rendered Lohengrin's wedding march.

The bride wore a gown of pale blue messaline with white trimmings and veil and carried a sheaf bouquet of white carnations, Miss Mau wore lavender messaline and Miss Bertha pearl gray messaline. The groom and attendants wore the conventional black.

After the impressive ceremony the wedding party proceeded to the home of the bride where a reception was held and elaborate wedding dinner served. The home was very pretty in the color scheme of blue and white, the reception room containing an arch of blue and white in the center of which a huge wedding bell covered with flowers was suspended, under which the happy young couple received the congratulations and best wishes of the guests, which were about seventy-five in number. The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Wieland and is a lady of many womanly graces and accomplishments and will make an ideal companion for the man who won her. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mau. A man of integrity and excellent character, he is most worthy of the heart and hand of his fair bride.

This happy young couple will reside on a farm of the groom's father, about six and one-half miles from Wayne where the best wishes of a host of friends accompany them.

The Democrat extends felicitations.

Miss Neva Orr Champion Speller

A certain list of 75 practical yet difficult words was recently given to our high school as a test in spelling. The average per cent made by our students was 79. The Seniors averaged 85, the Juniors 79, the tenth grade 79 and the ninth grade 72. Neva Orr spelled every word correctly and has the distinguished honor of being the champion speller in the high school. Neva is a senior and a master of the art of spelling. The second highest grade was 97 1-3 by Dorothy Von Seggern. Nine pupils had above 95 and 21 above 90.

This same list of words was recently given to 12 Kansas high school and college students and their average was 75 per cent. The list was also given to 116 Massachusetts high school students and their average was 89 per cent.

Next week we will report results in our seventh and eighth grades and will give more comparisons on the results in the high school.

The Base Ball Organization

The meeting at the court house last Friday evening to complete the organization of the base ball organization was not very largely attended, because there was so many other attractions that evening, but the real enthusiasts were there and elected the following board of directors, who, at a later meeting selected the officers as given below.

F. M. Strahan, president; Jas. Ahern, secretary; Phil H. Kohl, treasurer; J. Shannon, J. R. Severin, Chas. Craven and Frank Gaertner, directors.

No further business was done, but the matter of selecting the team was talked of and it is known that a strong team will be secured and that Wayne will rank among the top notchers in this corner of the state.

School Entertainment

Plans are being made for a box supper and program at the school house one mile north and two miles west of Wayne Saturday, May 1, to which are all invited. C. Penn is teacher, and with the hearty co-operation of the patrons of the school a profitable evening is assured. There will be a program given by the children and in addition to this Professor Bright of the college will give a talk on his travels around the world emphasizing his school work in the Philippine Island.

CITY OF WAYNE ACCEPT PARK

At the Regular Meeting of City Council Monday Evening J. T. Bressler Gave the City a Park Ground.

In addition to the regular routine business before the City Council Monday evening the councilmen were asked to accept from Ex-Mayor Bressler a park tract of six lots in block 5 of this city. This the city fathers did and passed a vote of thanks. They also directed the city clerk to draw proper resolutions expressing the thanks of the city and have them properly embossed on the minutes of the meeting. This is the tract in the northeast part of the city which will be nicely laid out and many shade trees started therein. This with the little park that will be made about the city hall will give to Wayne three nice little public parks.

Two petitions were presented to the council for consideration. One was quite generally signed considering that it was circulated but a short time, and asked that the dump grounds in the southeast part of the city be abated as a nuisance, and also that the stock yards be ordered removed to a less public place. The other petition asked for an extension of the city lights one block south and east of present terminus in the southeast part of city. The council adjourned without action, but we are informed that the board of health, made up in part of the council, are investigating the matter, and will doubtless act in the matter as the case warrants. The interested citizens can make the yards clean up and keep in a sanitary condition, and if that is done we do not know that any one will care to have them moved, and possibly could not compel them to move. That is a question to be determined by the law.

O. S. Roberts was awarded the contract of putting water to the new city hall, the price being $33.45.

The following bills were allowed before the meeting adjourned to meet again on Monday evening, May 6th, which will be the last meeting of the municipal year:

- J. M. Cherry, reading meters, April, $15.
- Geo. L. Miner, April salary, $75.
- Gust Newman, April salary, $60.
- John Harmer, April salary, $60.
- Ed Morrell, April salary, $90.
- F. L. Hughes, April salary, $25.
- J. H. Kate, Mayor, salary for past year, $100.
- C. B. Bright, salary for past year, $50.
- John Meister, salary for past year, $50.
- John Larison, salary for past year, $50.
- D. S. McVicker, salary for past year, $50.
- W. W. Kingsbury, salary for past year, $50.
- Walter Miller, labor, $11.
- J. W. Nelson, labor, $11.
- Geo. Nelson, labor, 5.
- Chas. Reise, cleaning water mains, $1.25.
- H. S. Ringland, treas., freight on coal, $186.66.
- H. S. Ringland, treas., freight on coal, $105.55.
- Theo. Mildner, labor, $1.
- Logan Valley Motor Co., labor and supplies, $20.55.
- Nebr. Tel. Co., phone rent and toll, $3.80.
- Geo. W. Fortner, feed, $6.40.
- O. S. Roberts, dirt on city hall lot, $21.50.
- Sam Miller and Theo. Mildner, dirt on city hall lot, $37.20.
- Ray Perdue, dirt on city hall, $20.80.
- F. E. Strahan, corn and hay, $51.80.
- Interstate Electric Co., supplies, $145.4.
- Machado Roller, three Columbia meters, $40.80.
- Joseph R. Lehmer Co., supplies, $4.55.
- Western Electric Co., supplies,

$19.90.
E. Ferrel, refund on bills over paid, $5.97.

F. L. Hughes, district clerk's costs, $17.50.
State Normal, water main improvements, $32.31.

The adjustable road drag tried here was returned to the Dodge Corrugated Iron Co., and the clerk was instructed to notify them that it is not satisfactory.

"July the Fourth"

No home entertainment has ever received a more liberal patronage than that given to the one which was presented at the opera house last evening by local talent directed by Miss Chlorine Dysart. On the stage the regular old fashioned celebration of our national birthday was reproduced. The characters were all there—nothing missing from the small boy to the old man, including the rubes, the lovers, the fakirs, the country band, the orator and the singer. The school children had their drill.

A well plotted play was presented, giving a touch of every phrase of a real celebration. Those who played their parts did it well, and in the little time we have at our disposal on press day morning, cannot do justice to them one an all, for which perhaps they should feel grateful.

The financial end was looked after by Mrs. Henry Ley as well as many other details, and it is needless to say that she did more than her part, and we move that when another home talent entertainment is given at Wayne that it be with all home talent, of which we have plenty, as it will mean more net revenue and no more work than the willing ones now have. The net proceeds of this entertainment were $120, which will materially aid the base ball fund for which it was intended.

Men and Religion Movement

Meetings for Next Sunday

The plans of the men who are back of the Men and Religion Movement in Wayne county have not been matured, and the campaign begins next Sunday. Meetings will be held in the afternoon in various townships and on the following Sunday the rest of the county will be covered with these special services. Plans are completed for the banquet, which will be held in the basement of the Baptist church, and delegates to this banquet are to be chosen at the township meetings so that there will be representatives from all the county at this function. A strong speaker from Omaha will be present at the banquet, which will be held on May 15, in the evening.

The meetings planned for next Sunday, May 5, and the teams which will have charge are as follows:

- Wilbur precinct, school district No. 48, Rev. B. P. Richardson, Mr. Rogers and Mr. O. E. Graves.
- Grace church, Rev. William Gorst, C. F. N. Classen, J. E. Marsteller.
- McEachen School house, west of Wayne, Rev. Alexander Corkey, Pres. U. S. Conn, A. J. Ferguson, Prof. Coleman (singer).
- Winside, Messrs. W. D. Redmond and Prof. Bright.
- Carroll, Rev. R. Davis, F. H. Jones, Prof. Britnell and Prof. Lewis.

A meeting will also be held in Hunter precinct school house district No. 8 conducted by Rev. J. M. Caldwell and Messrs. Kimball and Henton who will go out from Wakefield. The pastors and men of Winside and Carroll will also go out to neighboring precincts.

Everyone is invited to these meetings which will be held next Sunday afternoon. The district meetings are not for men only but for the wives and children as well.

Wedding Bells

On Tuesday evening April 30th at half past eight o'clock Mr. L. H. Goddard and Miss Adah Cross were married at the Methodist parsonage by Rev. Wm. Gorst. Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Rudd accompanied the young couple as best man and bride's maid. All of these people came to Wayne a short time ago from Dow City, Iowa, and are interested in the restaurant business which Mr. Rudd recently purchased. They are making many friends in Wayne who extend congratulations and best wishes.

A Big Stock Day

Monday of this week was another big stock shipment day for Wayne. On that day 20 car loads of stock were billed out from here. How much money it represents we let you estimate when you read the list.

L. M. Owen 1 car cattle, Perry & Gildersleeve 2, Herman Frevert 1 each of hogs and cattle, A. Kerwin 1, C. E. Gildersleeve 2, F. Erklaben 2, Geo. Berris 3, H. J. Miner 2, C. H. Brooks 2 and 1 of hogs, Milo Krimpy combined car sheep and hogs, H. Heineman car hogs.

There are not many counties in the state that feed to a finish more stock than does this little county of Wayne. Aside from the shipments at this station, Hoskins, Winside and Carroll all have large shipments, and since the farmers have been feeding their great corn crops and converting into meat the county has prospered as never before. Bank deposits have increased, the country has added many substantial improvements, and is in position to continue the good work, for feeding the farm product on the farm does not rob the soil like marketing the crop away from the farm. So feeding gives more wealth, and adds to farm values, and doubles profit.

College Burns at Morningside

Monday night the main hall of Morningside college burned at Sioux City, entailing a loss of $100,000 with but half of it covered by insurance. The cause of the fire starting is said to have been defective wiring, and the cause of it burning unchecked was because of low water pressure, due to not having the water pipes in good working shape, and the reason for that condition of the pipes is said to be due to some repairs started and not completed because of the labor trouble with some plumbers—and there ye are, as Mr. Dooley would say.

The school year is nearly to a close, and arrangements have been made to finish it, using a church for the room needed, and a new building is to be ready for use when the next school year begins in September.

AN OLD TREE

Will Not Bear Trans-planting

By MARTIN GOLDTHWAITE

The nineteenth century made some wonderful changes in personal responsibility. During the early part of it, whether or not there was more inherent honor among men, it was necessary to leave a great deal to the honor of individuals. An exercise of anything keeps it alive. When it is dormant it is liable to retrograde. It was not till 1860 or thereabouts that the punch system for fare collectors on railroads and street car lines was introduced, and the companies made the public the agents, informing them of the conductor's duties. It was one of these notices posted in a street car that gave rise to Mark Twain's celebrated doggerel:

A pink slip slip for an eight cent fare.
A blue slip slip for a six cent fare.
A buff slip slip for a five cent fare.
Punch in the presence of the passenger.
Punch in the presence of the passenger.
Punch in the presence of the passenger!

Then, too, the merchant of the early part of the nineteenth century considered it disgraceful to fall in business. He had inherited from his ancestors the tradition that in manly transactions he could only maintain a respected position among his fellow men by paying dollar for dollar. Many a man of that time died of a broken heart not entirely because of the loss of his wealth, but the loss of his honor.

These illustrations could be added ad libitum, but the two mentioned will suffice to give the younger members of the community today an idea of those times when there were no patent devices for insuring honesty.

When the war between the states broke out Ned Carleton, a boy of fifteen, enlisted, though he was three years under the required age, and marched south with his regiment. After the battle of Shiloh he was reported missing and was dropped from the regimental roster. His family mourned him as dead.

In the year 1900 a man giving his name as Judson MacIntyre called upon an oculist to save the sight of one of his eyes. The oculist after a number of visits on the part of the patient discovered that he was suffering from a depression at a certain point in his skull, causing a pressure on the optic nerve, and recommended trepanning the part. MacIntyre was operated on by a surgeon and the moment he became conscious after the passing of the effect of the anæsthetic cried out, rising to a sitting posture:

"Stand fast, boys! We're drivin' 'em."
"Don't excite yourself," said the surgeon gently forcing the patient down on his back.

"I see," said MacIntyre, looking at the oculist. "I've been blind since I was born. I suppose the operation has been successful. You'll be at risk very soon."

"Did we lick 'em?"

"Lick whom?"

"The Confederates."

"Those about the patient looked at one another as much as to say, 'He's out of his head.'"

"You must keep quiet, Mr. MacIntyre," said the surgeon.

"MacIntyre! Who are you talking to? My name's not MacIntyre. I'm Ned Carleton of the Indiana volunteers."

And so he was. For forty years a pressure on his brain, occasioned by a wound in the head, had made him oblivious to his existence for the first fifteen years of his life. How he had come to assume another name he didn't quite remember, but during four decades he had lived under that name. But he had not lived in America. His earliest remembrance was of Australia, though how he got there he didn't know. He had been a sailor for a part of the time since he began his second existence, while the rest had been spent as a sheep herder.

And now Carleton, fifty five years old, having recovered from the operation, was obliged to go out into the world and earn a living. He had been well educated for a boy of fifteen and wrote an excellent hand. He went about applying for a clerkship. Everywhere he applied he was received with surprise.

"We don't hire any one of your age for a clerk," he was told. "We prefer very young men."

"I'm a good penman. Can't you give me some copy to do?"

"Typewriting?"

"Typewriting? What's that?"

"That young lady will explain it to you," pointing to a girl clocking a machine.

The poor fellow, taking up as he did the thread of life from the age of sixteen, did not apply for a man's work.

One day Carleton, being kindly received by a benevolent looking gentleman, told the man his story, eliciting a great deal of interest.

"I will do what I can for you," said the gentleman. "We need a collector. How would you like that position?"

"That to do anything," said Carleton, "and I'm sure you will find me honest. I don't pocket my collections."

The gentleman did not seem impressed with that phase of the case, but he gave Carleton the position, paying him his salary at $10 a week. Carleton was surprised.

"Do you mean, Mr. Gregory," he asked, "that I am to be trusted to collect funds for you and be paid only $10 a week? It seems to me that you need a trustworthy person for that service, and a trustworthy person should command more money."

"Oh, we don't take any account of honesty. There are insurance companies who attend to that."

"And if I appropriate the funds I collect?"

"They will secure your arrest and put you in jail."

Carleton looked at the man in astonishment.

"Do you think, Mr. Gregory, that to deny a man your confidence is conducive to honesty?"

"To speak frankly, I do not."

"Then why do you refuse to trust me?"

"Because it is the system under which all men work. We cannot do business under different conditions from other concerns."

"May I consider your offer over night?"

"Yes, if you like," with some surprise.

Carleton had been born of Christian parents, who had taught him to be scrupulous in the matter of "mine and thine," never to tell a lie and to consider himself required to deal honorably by all men. This offer of a position with an insurance policy on his honor was a bitter pill for him to swallow, but he must make a living, and the next morning he went to Mr. Gregory and told him that he was ready to go to work.

"Very well; go upstairs and have your photograph taken."

"Photograph! What's that for?"

"A custom of these times. All our employees are photographed. If they run away with our funds and we have a likeness their capture is easier."

"Do you mean, Mr. Gregory, that you keep a rogues' gallery of your clerks?"

"Not at all. We keep the gallery, and it is for the individual to make a rogue of himself."

Carleton stood looking at the gentleman with eyes wide open. Finally he said:

"I was brought up by a father and a mother who would have considered it dangerous to me not to give me their implicit confidence. You are treating your fellow men as they dared not treat me, and by doing so if you are not encouraging dishonesty you are surely paving the way for it. If I acceded to your terms I should consider that so far as you are concerned I had a right to beat you if I could. This would be the first step to my own degradation. The next would be to beat the rest of the world if I could do so without risk to myself. I am much obliged for your offer, but I cannot accept it. I was born at a time when all men were trusted till they proved unworthy. I came to my youth at a time when my countrymen were acting upon the highest principle of honor in giving their lives for their fellow men. Suppose that vast army who died on the battlefield and in the hospital should rise from their graves and confront you. Would they not shudder at the standard of honor which has replaced the one under which they gave up their lives?"

Mr. Gregory listened to these words, spoken by one who had really but just renewed his existence from that period when the youth of the country had lived under a higher standard of honor, a standard of trust, manhood, and when he had finished said:

"The years, the centuries, are rolling on. The standard of one age is not the standard of another. But while we must preserve our individual honor we must submit to that which exists about us."

"You have passed with but a single step over forty years. You find that the system, or, rather, the lack of system, of that time has been replaced by another. The youth of '61 would have scorned to accept a position wherein provisions were taken to avoid loss by their dishonesty and to facilitate their capture if they betrayed a trust. We have not now the youth of '61. We have the youth of the twentieth century. Nevertheless they are the same beings, and the latter may maintain their self respect as well as the former, for, after all, it is in the man and not the system."

"Doubtless you are right, Mr. Gregory," after some thought, "but to transplant the youth of '61 into 1901 is a failure. You might as well try to grow oranges in the northern states. I thank you for the position offered me, but I shall decline it, not that I would demean myself by accepting it. It is the man rather than the system, but that I cannot bear transplanting from the soil of '61 to that of 1901."

That night Carleton slept on a bench in a park, or, rather, he lay awake, thinking of those who had been fighting with him in the "horns' nest" of Shiloh. Who of the company had fallen? Who had lived and grown to old age with the unexpired portion of the century? Doubtless those who were now alone had ceased to be a part of the systems in vogue during their youth and had glided unconsciously into the systems of their old age.

One morning a body was found floating in a river and dragged ashore. The clothing was shabby, the only adornment being an army badge made of gum metal. It was the corpse of Edward Carleton. He had spoken truly when he said that he would not bear transplanting from the middle of the nineteenth century to the beginning of the twentieth. He had tried several jobs, but the sense that he was not trusted so worked upon his feelings that he had last given up every one of them. Having been taken from an atmosphere where he breathed freely, he decided to go where breathing was not necessary to existence.

CURIOUS CLOCKS.

One in a Frying Pan With a Knife and Fork For Hands.

In a Third avenue restaurant there has been for more than twenty years an odd clock on the wall. The clock is placed in a frying pan. The bottom of the pan forms the face of the clock, and the hours are numbered on oyster shells fastened to the pan. The hour and minute hands are a fork and knife. Other curious clocks stand in out of the way corners of the city. In a dime museum that used to be on the Bowery there stood for many years a huge clock, about the size of the ordinary roll top desk, said to have been made by a cripple, with the aid of a fretsaw and a jackknife.

This clock was made of 70,000 pieces of wood of different kinds. It had five dials, showing the time in London, Paris, Berlin, St. Petersburg and New York. There were also dials that indicated the phases of the moon, orbit of the earth, small figures representing the last supper, the crucifixion and other Biblical scenes. The quarters, halves and hours were struck on small bells by gnomelike figures made to resemble familiar dwarfs in the Sleepy Hollow scene of "Tip Van Winkle." For many years this clock was the main feature in the museum. It was later bought by a club, it is said.—New York Sun.

BUILT FOR WASHINGTON.

A Philadelphia House the President Refused to Occupy.

The second year of Washington's administration the seat of government was removed from New York to Philadelphia. In the meantime the federal city, Washington, was in building, and the legislature of Pennsylvania voted a sum of money to build a house for the president, perhaps with some hope that this might help to keep the seat of the general government in the capital, for Philadelphia was then considered as the capital of the state.

What was since the University of Pennsylvania was the structure erected for the purpose. But as soon as General Washington saw its dimensions and a good while before it was finished he let it be known that he would not occupy it and should certainly not go to the expense of purchasing suitable furniture for such a dwelling, for it is to be understood in those days of stern republicanism nobody thought of congress furnishing the president's house, or if perchance such a thought did enter into some aristocratic head it was too unpopular to be uttered.

President Washington therefore rented a house of Mr. Robert Morris in Market street between Fifth and Sixth on the south side and furnished it handsomely but not gorgeously.—Exchange.

The Black of the Eye.

The invariable blackness of the pupil of the eye was a puzzle to scientific men until Professor Helmholtz showed it to be the necessary effect of refraction. Sufficient rays are reflected from the bottom of the eye to render visible the parts there situated, but since these reflected rays in emerging from the eye must traverse the same ocular media through which they passed in entering the eye it is evident that they must undergo the same refraction which they underwent as entering rays, only in an opposite direction. The result of this is that the paths of the emerging and entering rays coincide, and the former will therefore return to the source whence as incidental rays they originally started. There is nothing in the pupil to reflect light—in fact, it resembles a window looking into a dark room.

The First Erie Canalboat.

The William Tell was the first boat to pass over the Erie canal from Buffalo to Albany and down the river to New York. Her cargo consisted entirely of hogsheds, barrels and bottles of Lake Erie water, part of which was mingled with the waters of the bay of New York on the occasion of the great fête in celebration of the opening of the wonderful waterway. Her passengers included Governor De Witt Clinton, the leader in the canal enterprise and a delegation of statesmen and distinguished persons from foreign lands and various parts of the United States.

Took It Too.

Some time ago Australia had a remarkably eloquent and witty tailor, who became not only an M. P. but a minister of the crown. To him a new governor made this maladroit remark, "I hear, Mr. Jones, you were once a tailor."
"Yes, my lord, I was."
"And how are you engaged now?"
"Taking your excellency's measure."
—London Chronicle.

One Occupation Less.

A visitor at a small resort on the coast asked one of the men whom he saw at the village store what he did all summer.

"Loaf and fish," replied the native.
"What do you do in the winter?" continued the inquiring visitor.
"We don't fish."

The Hardest Work Pays Least

SAWING wood, pumping water, grinding feed, turning a grindstone—these are jobs for an engine, not for a man. There is no money in any of them when you do the work yourself or hire a man to do them. Buy a reliable gasoline engine large enough to do any work you have, let it do the work and enjoy the freedom and comfort it gives you.

IHC Gasoline Engines

are made to do the work that makes farming tiresome. They put the load where it belongs. They save hours of unprofitable labor. They are money-makers and money-savers. You can verify these statements and get facts and figures which prove them by calling on the local dealer who handles IHC engines. Made in 1 to 50-H.P. sizes and every engine thoroughly tested and guaranteed.

Mesdames Weible and Needham of Hoskins were Wayne visitors Monday.

Mrs. Foster was here from Hoskins Friday, having a mission at the court house.

Mrs. Harris of Lynch was in the city last week, the guest for a short time of Mrs. W. E. Beaman.

John Morgan went to Pender Tuesday to visit friends a few days and also listen to the large trial.

Miss Bessie Plumbly was a passenger to Hartington Monday afternoon where she will visit home folks.

Chas. Culler has sold his residence in the north part of Wayne to J. F. Barrett who will soon take possession.

Will Roggenbach has been blowing himself for a new windmill, if that is the correct term to use about a windmill.

Jas. Rooth who formerly lived here, but now of Malvern, Iowa, is spending a few days among old Wayne county friends.

The rains and the road drag between rains are putting the streets of Wayne in fine condition, a fact much appreciated by automobile owners and common folks.

E. B. Young organized two Sunday schools in Knox county last week, and assisted in starting two others, making seven new schools established in the month of April.

With present day facilities for the spread of news it is hardly expected that a jury can be obtained who will not have heard of a case of any importance unless they are deaf and blind.

The many friends of Richard L. Metcalfe will learn with pleasure that he has consented to come to Wayne the 29th of May and deliver the commencement address at the Normal school on that day.

Henry Ley, wife and son, Leroy, returned from Omaha last week in a new car purchased in the city. They selected a 5-passenger, 40, friction drive Carter car, a beauty, and one among the best makes.

The many Wayne friends of Rev. and Mrs. C. R. Weldon will be glad to learn that a son was recently born to them at their home in Peru. Rev. Weldon was formerly pastor of the Baptist church at this place.

C. E. Hollenback came last week from Spokane, Washington, to visit his parents N. P. Hollenback and wife. He has been in Washington eight years and expresses the opinion that they have us beat on climate at least at this season of the year. In Washington he was one of the representatives of the Eiler music house.

John McIntosh of Ontario, Canada, stopped here a few days to visit at the home of his brother, James, and family, and Tuesday continued his journey to Alberta, where he thinks of locating. He was much pleased with the country here and probably would have been glad to remain here rather than go on.

Dr. W. A. Ivory who formerly practiced dentistry at this place but is now at Philadelphia, came Monday evening to spend a day with his former friends at this place. He sold his business here six or seven years ago after practicing dentistry here for more than fifteen years, and went to Philadelphia to enter business with his brother who manufactures and deals in dental instruments and supplies.

Carl Furchner and wife came last week from Plankton, South Dakota, to visit his brother-in-law, Herman Mildner and wife, and old friends here. Mr. Furchner has long been interested in Wayne where he was once one of the prosperous business men, and where he yet has considerable interest. It is said he has prospered in other places too, which is good news to his many friends. Mrs. Furchner left Monday morning to visit a sister at Sioux City, where she will join him on his home trip.

Osmond is to be a soldier town, having embraced the opportunity to provide half of the soldiers of Company D., N. N. G. The work of enlisting goes forward without a fear of the future when the boys will find that they may be called for duty the same as the regular army soldiers. Possibly it is with a view of invading Mexico or repelling a Japanese army that this company is being formed.

The Wisner Chronicle produces the following fish story from some department of their story machine: "Talk about fish stories, some men were telling some the other day and one told about that West Point case where the farmers caught two tons in a neighbor's cornfield. A fellow from Pilger said that was nothing. He said that during the high water Geo. Thies had to move out of his house and when he returned the house was full of fish, and one fellow had been eating so much vegetables and breakfast food that he grew so big and fat that it made him vicious and they had to call in the marshall to shoot him."

Mack Koser, who lives about two miles west of Allen was struck by the Burlington passenger train one night last week and seriously injured. He was walking along the side of the track going west and it is supposed that he was going to his neighbors, Wm. Thompson's place. Mack being deaf was unable to hear the approaching train, and was struck by the pilot beam on the engine and hurled into a ditch along side the track. The train was stopped and the unfortunate man was taken care of by the railroad's company doctor and nurse. He had three ribs broken and received injuries on the head. He has chance for recovery.

Those who visit Greenwood cemetery, and they will be many this month, will note with pride that it is one of the prettiest and neatest kept parts of our pretty well kept city. The editor was through the grounds a few days since to see some of the new monuments which came a short time ago and were just placed by N. Williamson of the Wayne Monumental works. The most striking piece of the new work, if not in the entire cemetery is the all-polished piece of dark Barre granite which marks the Surber family lot. Another of great size and beauty marks the Main lot. This is most perfectly carved of the light Barre granite and is what is termed axed finish. In the rough finish are two other nice jobs—massive and rugged in appearance. One was placed on the P. L. Miller lot the other marks the last resting place of Mr. Mellock. Another, neat but less pretentious, tells where rest the dead of the Lage family. The new work thus far placed by Mr. Williamson proves to the satisfaction of those who will inspect it that Wayne was fortunate when one located in this business here who will provide such high class work for this semi-public place. In no place, is good, refined taste more needed than in the selection of suitable monuments to honor those who have gone before. In the new proprietor of the Wayne monument works you will find one who is competent to advise well and intelligently in such matters.

Coming, "The Cry Baby"

Give the average theatre goer their choice of witnessing a performance of their favorite play, and why is it, that they will almost invariably choose a western production? There is but one solution of the question, there they find that live wire, red blooded atmosphere that seems to involve a distinct type of man and woman, whose instinctive manner of speech and actions satisfies that craving for something that cannot be explained, but which in reality is but the inborn admiration for that open hearted, honesty of purpose and square dealing, as characteristic of the true westerner. A rare opportunity is afforded the patrons of the Wayne opera house to witness a performance of this nature on Monday, May 6, when "The Cry Baby", from the pen of C. W. Mercer, author of "The Vampire", "The County Attorney" and other dramatic successes will be presented for the first time in this city.

In selecting Elwin Strong to portray the title role, Walter Savage company manager, chose one of the best character actors on the American stage, whose subtle art in changing laughter into tears, and tears into laughter, and whose methods and mannerism are so distinctly original, that he wins for himself a warm spot in the affection of his audience, upon his first entrance, that grows during the action of the piece, until after the final curtain and you will one and all admit, that it was all too short, and express a desire to see once more "The Cry Baby."

A beautiful love story is woven through the entire four acts which is replete with heart interest, pathos and good sparkling comedy.

We are coming to show you, and in return would like to be shown.

High School Athletic Meet

The annual field meet of the Northeast Nebraska High School Athletic League will be held at Bloomfield on Friday, May 1. Ten schools will be represented, Wayne and Plainview having been admitted this year. This insures one of the biggest and most enthusiastic meets ever held by the League. Bloomfield now has the silver cup and is now going to try to keep it. The other schools will try their best to win enough points to entitle them to carry it home.

Several changes were made in the rules of the league by the annual meeting at Norfolk. The base ball throw was taken from the list of events and nothing put in its place. Hereafter the fourth man in each event will be scored as well as the first three, the points counting five, three, two and one.

The base ball and basket ball will each count fifteen points to the team winning first place and eight points to the team winning second.

A gold medal will be presented to the individual in the meet who scores the greatest number of points and a silver medal to the one scoring the second greatest number of points.

The cup which is given to the winning school each year stimulates the efforts of the schools as a whole, while the individual medals will cause each contestant to work harder.

The Care of Auto Tires

At this season of the year when roads, in consequence of spring showers, are often muddy, most motor cars are coming in for their share of washing.

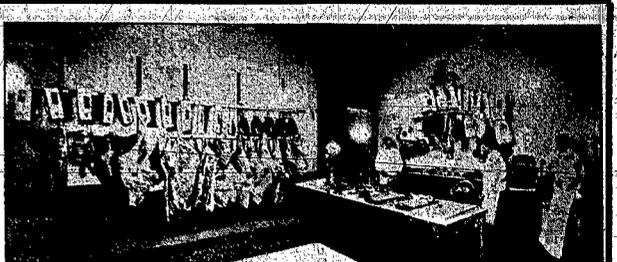

Washing tires and washing a car are two different propositions, says the Michelin tire expert. Water alone should be used to wash tires, and as little of it as necessary. After every run the envelope should be wiped clean with a damp sponge or well-wringing cloth.

A common mistake made by motorists is to mix kerosene with water. This may be advisable when washing the body of a car to remove mud and dust from the varnish, but it should never be done when washing tires, because kerosene eats rubber. This fact can be readily proved by immersing a small piece of rubber in kerosene and allowing it to soak. The rubber will soon swell and lose its elasticity. The reason for this is apparent. Kerosene is rich in fatty properties which remain after the evaporation of the gases. Every time a tire is washed with a kerosene mixture the rubber is deprived of more of its strength.

When washing tires it is best simply to dampen a sponge with clean water, care being taken that the sponge is not soaked and dripping. Then wipe the tires dry with a cloth or handful of waste.

This and many other phases of the tire question are fully covered in the "Books of Bibeendum" sent free to motorists upon request by the Michelin Tire Company, of Milltown, New Jersey.

Peter Pryor was a passenger for Winside Tuesday to look after business about his farms.

DE LAVAL CREAM SEPARATORS

The World's Standard Used Exclusively by 98% of World's Creameries

Ten years ago there were a dozen different makes of creamery or factory separators in use. To-day over 98 per cent of the world's creameries use De Laval separators exclusively.

When it comes to buying a separator why not profit by the experience of the creameryman, which qualifies him to advise you correctly.

He knows which separator will give you the best service and be the most economical for you to buy. That's why 98 per cent of the world's creameries use the De Laval exclusively.

There can be no better recommendation for the De Laval than the fact that the men who make the separation of milk a business use the De Laval for the practical exclusion of all other makes. They know the cleanest wash, skims the easiest to turn, wash, skims the cleanest, lasts the longest.

A FEARFUL FATE FORETOLD.

A bugle blew; an airship flew
Out high o'er battle plain,
Where trumpet blared and war steed reared.

And cannon did entrain.
Then cavalry and infantry
Upon each other fell,
And cannon roaring from the hills
Made of the plain, a hell.

Then Johnny Bull drew back a pace
To make an awful rush,
To sweep down like an avalanche
And every Yankee crush.

When suddenly the hill and plain
Shook with a rending roar,
The Union Jack was torn to shreds,
And John Bull was no more.

Oh, say, what killed the British lion?
What knocked brave John Bull out?
Was it an earthquake's fearful force
Or dreadful waterspout?

Oh, no; a ripe old haymow egg,
A high explosive great,
Shot from above and busted
And wiped John off the slate!

BROODER ENVIRONMENT.

Here's a clue to take in time: "Little details of a biz make the wheels of success whiz." This applies to every project, especially where problems in flesh and blood are to be worked out, and that's poultry, and one important detail often overlooked with chicks is brooder environment. Note these details: Brooders should not be set up on mucky ground, on a steep, windy spot, in a hollow where fog lingers, where water will flood or stand, nor on a bare, unshaded spot. They should not be near a barnyard where chicks can scratch in rot, near poultry yards

BROODER IN ALFALFA.

where chicks can run on rotten ground and catch lice from old stock, nor should they be near rat hole buildings, where rats may gobble them. Brood-ers should not be located near woods, where hawks, skunks and foxes may prey on them; near high brush, where weasels may make inroads; near streams, where minks may grab chicks and run.

Birds of a feather and an age should flock together.

Ducklings, goslings, poult and chicks should be kept separate, and the brooder should not be located where Mother Hen and her brood run, for the brooder chicks will get lice, the clucks will bully them and scratch and sleep in their brooders. Brooders should be set up on a sandy loam, grassy and well drained and near the house, so that attending and protecting them may be reasonably easy.

The brooder should be set level, so that the water vessel, lamp and floor are level and heat is evenly diffused.
It should stand flat on boards, so that water cannot reach floor and rats can not harbor underneath. The brooder shown is in an ideal location. It faces south on a twenty acre alfalfa field and is backed by a beautiful old orchard.

DON'TS.

Don't expect your wife to do her work and what you shirk. If you do may she henpeck you.

Don't use expensive drugs to cure a fifty cent hen. Prevention keeps disease away, and there are no drug bills to pay.

Don't worry, but smile and your troubles will burst like bubbles. Before the dawn it's dark; then come the light and lark.

Don't be cruel. We oft condemn old Nero as a devil, but what of the man who works a half starved horse or poisons his neighbor's dog or chickens?

Don't worry. That's the slogan today, for worry doesn't pay. Don't make the editor worry, but hurry to pay for your paper in advance and burden for the change.

Don't be a critic. In business, church, society, to hold your tongue shows piety. If you at business rivets knock, it shows you have few brains.
In stock, and when your tongue cuts right and left, it shows you have no good sense left.

BEATING THE EGG TRUST.

Milady in the picture is not selling eggs, but is preparing to knock out the egg trust, so far as her home consumption of preserved eggs is concerned, so that this simple story will have a special interest for the housewife who dislikes storage eggs and desires to lower the cost of living.
Thousands of thrifty women are following milady's example—putting away fresh eggs in the cheap season in water glass (sodium silicate), to be used in winter, when fresh eggs are so costly and storage companies reap big profits on eggs often unfit for food.

Water glass eggs are much superior to storage, and the method of preservation is so simple.

Note the picture.

There are a pint of water glass, a three gallon crock and fresh eggs, none over two days old.

Pouring into the crock eight quarts of water, cooled after boiling, milady

PRESERVING EGGS FOR WINTER.

stirred in the water glass, then immersed every egg in the mixture and laid them flat in the crock until it was full, the crock holding twelve dozen normal sized, clean, hard shelled eggs.

The crock was then covered tightly and placed on a cool cellar floor.

At the end of a year these eggs showed little change, had no unusual smell, beat up into the dustiest froth and made dandy egg custards and pumpkin pies. Eggs may be placed in the liquid a few at a time and used as needed.

The shell shows no stain, and customers are glad to buy them in preference to old frozen hen fruit. Better try the trick when eggs are low and save money when eggs are high.

FEATHERS AND EGGSHELLS.

Thomas Quigley of Corning, N. Y., has a game rooster with a record to make a white bulldog green with envy.
He put the cock bird in the coop at night, and next morning early the sport cleaned up the coop, killing fifteen fat pullets and a big rooster before breakfast. Next.

Twenty-five thousand egg consumers of Cleveland, O., struck against the high price of winter eggs. The hens, induced by the mild weather, increased their output, the price came down and no rotten eggs were thrown, though there were plenty being sold for fresh at 60 cents per dozen.

The idea that ostriches are a warm weather fowl is certainly exploded by the big birds at the Bloomsburg ostrich farm, thirteen miles from Riverside, Pa. The ostriches enjoy the zero weather, wade in the snowdrifts and lie down and roll in the snow like boys when the first snow arrives.

The better has been exploded that a hen cannot lay two eggs in a day, and the authorities at the North American egg laying contest at Storrs, Conn., have the goods to prove it. Two trap nested pullets have already done the stunt at that egg laying competition, where 100 pens are hustling for the international honors.

Of 1,000 turkeys shipped in cars from Philadelphia to Wilkesbarre, Pa., 225 miles, forty-five were dead when they reached their destination. It was claimed they died from the cold snap.
We have examined such shipments and in every case found the mortality came from crowding and ill usage. Excitement and starvation often kill birds cooped in such a big bunch.

The limit of conservation has been reached when Professor Surface, state zoologist of Pennsylvania, issues the ultimatum "Conserve the skunk." We advise Mr. Surface that the person really responsible for the slaughter of the innocents is not mere man, but woman, lovely, lovely woman, who wears skunk under the name Alaska sable. Instead of appealing to fanciers and hunters he should appear before women's clubs and sister societies and ask them to throw their protecting arm around the dear, harmless little polecats.

The authorities at Woodbury, N. J., have a hard nut to crack. A ducky was arrested with dead chickens in his possession. The crop of one contained a Woodrow Wilson button, and they were about to give the birds to a Democrat who had chickens stolen, considering the button proof of ownership, when two overall buttons were discovered in another hen, and as the Democrat didn't wear the blue they refused his claim. A prohibitionist then claimed the birds, but as he couldn't account for the Democratic button the case still holds fire.

HOW THE BATTLE WENT

Nebraska State Journal Gives Impartial
Summary of Primary Vote.
Large Vote and Returns
Come Very Slow

With remarkable steadiness Roosevelt's vote has stayed at 50 per cent more than Taft and La-Follette's combined votes. Champ Clark is now 6,000 votes ahead of Wilson and almost 8,000 votes ahead of Harmon. The latter had a strong lead in Douglas county which kept Wilson in third place for the first three or four days, but the returns from the west and northwest gave the Ohio governor so few votes that he lost this position and is now more than 2,000 votes behind Wilson.

Congressman Norris' vote finally will not be far from 4,000 ahead of that of Senator Brown. It effectually retires the latter temporarily at least from the politics of the state and the nation.

Victor Rosewater will preside at the deliberations of the present national convention up to the time it is called to order and the permanent organization effected. He must then step down and out in favor of R. B. Howell of Omaha by virtue of a verdict of the people of 10,000 majority for the latter at the recent primary. Howell and Rosewater have been bitter personal enemies.

The majority for the Roosevelt delegates will not be far from 14, 000 when all counties are heard from. It is now 10,000 and twenty-one counties are yet to be heard from. Love is high man on the Roosevelt ticket with Webster high on the democratic ticket. Field is second man on the Taft ticket but can hardly reach first place by the aid of Lancaster's vote which has not been included.

CONTEST OVER DELEGATES

The most interesting contest remaining is that over democratic delegates at large, where Hitchcock took up the cudgels in favor of Harmon and lent the powerful aid of his big paper to the organized effort to put Bryan out of the running as democratic leader in this state and to punish him for bolting Dahlgren for governor.
The effort has failed ignominiously.
Bryan is now 4,000 votes ahead of Hitchcock, after having overcome a 2,000 Hitchcock lead in Douglas county. Probably not another county will give the junior senator a majority over the leader.
Loomis has steadily crawled up and is now second man on the list, Hitchcock is third, which place he will probably keep. He is 2,100 votes ahead of Dunn, third progressive candidate on the list, and Dunn is not showing up strongly enough to overcome this lead in the remaining twenty-one counties.

Bryan and the progressive democrats will also have thirteen of the sixteen delegates to the convention, all opposed to Harmon. This insures Bryan's being chairman of the delegation and makes Nebraska a storm center in the Baltimore convention. Present returns indicate that the anti-Bryan forces have landed Felix McShane as a delegate in the Second district, while Smyth, progressive, defeats Strehlow, anti-Bryan. In the Third district the anti-Bryan forces had but one candidate, Kelley. He is elected, easily heading the ticket. The district also gave a majority to Harmon over Clark, as did also the Second district.
In the other districts the progressives won easy victories.

Morehead's majority for democratic candidate for governor will not be far from 3,000 votes.
Only a few counties are still to be heard from and these will not materially affect the present standing of the two candidates.
Early prognostications on Aldrich's majority over Newton were too low. It was estimated that he would win by two to one, but his majority will exceed that figure.
He now has 34,000 votes to Newton's 15,000 and will probably gain in the remaining counties to report yet. The governor's majority is larger than that of any other successful candidate.

Howard for auditor has been consistently in the lead over his opponents and now tops Evans, second man, by more than 9,000.
Beckman for land commissioner is about 4,000 in the lead and will increase this lead somewhat. Taylor for railway commissioner, is 2,500 votes ahead of Harrison, second man, and since most of the remaining counties are in the west and northwest, will increase this lead when the final vote is announced.

George, state treasurer, is 10, 000 votes ahead of Hamer, despite the latter's strenuous advertising and personal campaign, which was so vigorous that the successful candidate was considerably worried. Delzell, asking a second term as state superintendent, is 10,000 votes ahead of Whitehorn and will increase this lead materially in the twenty-five counties still to report. McKelvie for lieutenant-governor is 8,500 votes ahead of Fries and still gaining.

On the democratic side, Clark for superintendent, had an easy time with almost two to one over his nearest competitor. For railway commissioner seven democrats offered to sacrifice themselves. The people decided to let Harman make the race again. His lead for the nomination is now more than 3,000 over Maupin, second high man, Seybolt and Hall for treasurer, are having the closest contest, Hall leading now by 1,500 votes. For secretary of state Kelley won over Gatewood, who represented the democrats in another campaign.
Kelley's lead is a safe one. Morrissey and Terry for attorney general had a lively contest, with Morrissey in the lead almost all the time. He is still there with 1,400 votes to spare if he wants to.

Out in the Sixth district for congress three men went after the democratic nomination. Taylor has evidently won it over Gandy and Donohoe. His lead in two-thirds of the counties of the district is 1,200 over Donohoe, although this majority does not include Holt and Cherry counties, where Donohoe will probably be strong.

A Crippled Mind

Many strong minds, giant intellects, are held down and starved out by crippled digestive power, dyspepsia and the poison absorbed as a result of chronic constipation. If your stomach lacks digestive power the natural and simplest thing to do is to put into it the agents it lacks. Above all things avoid strong drugs that paralyze and irritate the stomach and bowels. A sound, healthy stomach contains the same digestive agents Spruce Pepsin tablets contain.

Spruce Pepsin tablets will digest fermenting, decaying food that lays like a lump in your stomach. We have proved this thousands of times or we would not dare spend thousands of dollars to prove it to every sufferer from stomach trouble. We will send you a trial box FREE.

WHAT'S BEHIND ROOSEVELT?

Clyde H. Taverner Quotes History
From the Record. Real Progressives Should Heed It.

Washington, April 30—That the steel trust is willing to spend money to elect men to public office who are willing to serve it after they get into office, is again being demonstrated.

When Theodore Roosevelt was President of the United States he permitted the Steel Trust to absorb its principal rival, the Tennessee Coal and Iron company. This permission to violate the law was worth millions of dollars to the steel trust, because it practically assured the trust a monopoly, leaving it free, by the simple process of tightening the screws on the public, to extort most any price it desired for its products.

The absorption of the Tennessee company by the steel trust was in direct violation of both the spirit and the letter of the law. No one denies this. Not even the attorneys for the steel trust contend now, or ever did contend, that the deal was legal.

This is not the only favor Theodore Roosevelt did for the steel trust, or the harvester trust, at the request of Geo. W. Perkin, then partner of J. Pierpont Morgan. Roosevelt's commissioner of corporations investigated the harvester trust, found it illegal, but at the suggestion of Mr. Perkins, the report was not made public.

The most exhaustive search of the records of Congress during the years that Roosevelt was president fails to show the passage of a single measure that even in the most remote manner affected the monopoly or the huge dividends of the steel trust. Hundreds of such measures were introduced in both the House and Senate while Mr. Roosevelt was president. Each and every one was chloroformed in committee, and Mr. Roosevelt never raised his voice in protest.

Mr. Roosevelt is now a candidate for office. Every politician in the land is aware that he is spending more money to obtain delegates than any candidate for the presidency has spent in the last quarter century. Where is this money coming from? Let us see.

Eton Huntington Hooker, treasurer of the Roosevelt League, has just filed with the Secretary of State of New York a list of contributors to the Roosevelt campaign fund. This sworn affidavit reveals that in the city of New York alone, Geo. W. Perkins, organizer of the harvester trust and director of the steel trust, spent $15,000. Frank A. Munsey, the largest individual holder of the steel trust's common stock in the country, contributed $15,000 more. Thirty thousand dollars of steel trust money spent in a city of one state alone, and there are 48 states in the Union! This sworn statement shows that in New York City $59,126.75 was spent to get about 15,000 Roosevelt votes, or practically $4 a vote.

Senator Stephenson spent only half as much per vote in Wisconsin and it was declared that he thus debauched American standards, and should not be permitted to occupy a seat in the Senate!

The point of this article, however, is that the steel trust stands by its friends.

HOW MONOPOLY WORKS

A fine example of how the railroads of this country "put on the sorrows" is revealed by a study of the statement of earnings issued annually by the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, one of the anthracite coal carrying roads. The following figures show the charge per ton mile, of hauling anthracite coal and general merchandise, over period of four years:

	1911	1910	1909	1908
Coal (cents)	.083	0.83	0.86	0.86
Merchandise	.067	0.69	0.70	0.70

These figures show that the railroad gets more for hauling coal than it does for hauling merchandise, and it is ridiculous to suppose that it costs the railroads any more to haul a ton of one kind of material than it does another. A ton is a ton after it is once loaded onto a freight car.

The only explanation for the higher coal charge is that all competition has been suppressed in the coal carrying trade, whereas the roads are still forced to fight each other for their merchandise patronage. Coal is charged "all the traffic will bear," and it will bear a great deal because the railroads control the coal fields and the transportation, and fix the tide water price by agreement among themselves.

WHAT WILL HE DO?

Will President Taft have the nerve to veto the Democratic bill to cut the tariff rate on wool?

Schedule "K" places a rate of 141 per cent on wool fabrics, 165 per cent on cheap blankets, and 143 per cent on flannel underwear.

An article worth $5 seeking entry into this market would be saddled with a duty of $7.05. Such rates are staggering proof of the greed of protectionists. They were not written into the law for the purpose of increasing the government's revenue, but were designed instead to increase the profits of the wool manufacturers.

President Taft has declared these rates to be "indefensible." In the face of this admission will he have the nerve to block the honest attempt of the Democratic House of Representatives to give the people relief?

AN ASTOUNDING CONDITION

The supplementary report of the Stanley Investigating committee shows that 23 men—officers and directors of the steel trust are in absolute control of corporations representing a capitalization of $35,521,143,009. These men, through interlocking boards of directors virtually control all these great railroad systems, street railways, express companies, telegraph companies, steamship companies, the large industrial corporations, a system of powerful banks and trust companies, and insurance companies.

The total wealth of this nation is only a little over three times the sum that these 23 men control absolutely. Twenty-three men in control of more wealth than 80,000,000 of their fellow American citizens! Isn't this a fine condition of affairs to exist in a Republic?

Hartington School Exhibit

The Hartington public schools will this year repeat an experiment tried out last year with considerable success. On the afternoon of Friday, May 10, there will be an exhibition of the work of the schools. The lower grades will have samples of their work in drawing, and designing, penmanship, composition, arithmetic, etc., on display where it will be convenient for the inspection of patrons. There will be a program, too. The students will give some demonstrations of their class work. Just what the experiments will be has not been decided, but it is possible that they will repeat some chemistry experiments shown lately in their laboratory work. In the laboratory hang some samples of yarns dyed in brilliant colors with poisonous dyes found in food stuffs sold right in the stores in Hartington, horrible as it may seem. Other practical experiments as startling have been carried on by that chemistry class without any blowing of trumpets. But possibly the class may put on some experiment like this just as a sample. The physics class and the physiology class last year did some very pretty work. A feature of the exhibition last year was a program of talks by members of the faculty and by patrons of the school. Last year this newspaper had the pleasure of publishing one of the papers read by a lady on that occasion, giving a deserved circulation to ideals which must otherwise have been confined to the small audience which it was possible to squeeze into the assembly room of the public school building. The exhibition was a highly interesting one last year, and will no doubt attract a larger attendance Friday of next week. No admission is charged, and patrons of the school are urged to attend.—Cedar County News.

Burton Hall says: "While we are paying $5.00 for $2.00 coal and using only 10 per cent of it in our engines, meantime letting over 90 per cent of our water power go to waste! While we are raising an average of 15 bushels of corn per acre, where, with only intelligence added, we could raise 50 bushels.

Where we are traveling on "roads" that often absorb half the value of the load in overcoming friction.

While we don't know enough to co-operate even in so simple a matter as the Raffaisen bank play, it seems to me to be ridiculous to say that we have reached the limit of production or of national wealth or of anything, unless it be patience. I expect, before I die, to get to Philadelphia in an hour for a dollar, and a lot more things like that, not through reforms, but through ordinary improved production, co-operation and efficiency."

The Nebraska Primary

It was a bedlam of surprises. There are wise ones who will now say that the primary went just as they had believed it would go, but the truth is that the primary voting upset the vast majority of calculations.

On the republican side the wild-est Roosevelt enthusiast had not dared to hope that their favorite would poll such a vote as he did receive. All the republican leaders predicted a close race between Taft, Roosevelt and LaFollette, and no man was prepared to see Roosevelt receive, as he did, more votes than Taft and LaFollette combined. The feature of the primary from the republican viewpoint was the overwhelming rejection of President Taft. In hundreds of voting precincts over the state the president did not receive a vote. The contest between Norris Brown (uncertain) and George Norris (insurgent) was close. Norris winning by a small margin. Had Norris Brown neglected to make that Indianapolis speech he might have pulled through. There was no real fight against Governor Aldrich, and he was nominated by an immense majority over an unknown from Beatrice. A desperate fight was made against Victor Rosewater, who desired to succeed himself as national committeeman. He was defeated by R. B. Howell, but in view of the fact that Rosewater ran far ahead of President Taft, whose cause he supported, it must be said that he made the best showing of any administration man in Nebraska.

On the democratic side the democratic state committee, one democratic congressman, a democratic United States senator and the only daily democratic metropolitan newspaper in the state, buttressed by the Omaha brewery combine, made such a loud campaign in behalf of Judson Harmon that the most active party workers either hoped or feared that Harmon would easily win the democratic preference vote for president. The Wilson and Clark men quite generally believed these influences would poll an immense vote for Harmon, and in the last day or two before the primary, earnest efforts were made by the progressives to reach an agreement under which all progressives might throw their votes together, either for Wilson or Clark, thus making the best possible showing against Harmon. To the surprise of everybody the progressives centered upon Clark, and he easily won the preference vote, defeating Harmon by fully 5,000 votes, and Wilson by about the same plurality. The official returns are not all in, but they indicate that Harmon will be the low man of the three. The progressive democrats of the state are elated, and the stand-pat element is stunned by the humiliating defeat of Harmon, who personally visited Nebraska to plead his own cause. There was another surprise in the democratic senatorial contest, which had been scheduled to be very close between Thompson and Shallenberger, but in fact it was won with ease by Shallenberger, who received the solid Harmon vote throughout the state and this, added to his own natural strength, gave him an easy victory. There was not much surprise with reference to the democratic contest for governor. All agreed that it would be close, and so it was, Morgan defeating Metcalf by a close margin. The Harmon interests directed a special attack upon Dr. P. L. Hall, democratic national committeeman, but outside of their controlled districts Dr. Hall had a walk-a-way. Of course the mad ambition of the Hitchcock-Shallenberger-Harmon machine was to prevent the election of Bryan as a delegate to the national convention, but the best they could do was to elect Bryan by a large majority.

All the proposed amendments to the state constitution were endorsed by the republican and democratic parties at the polls, thus insuring their certain adoption at the November election. The Harmon leaders and the Taft leaders made a determined effort against the initiative and referendum amendment, but the desire of the majority in all parties to give the people a larger hand in the law-making business overwhelmed all opposition.—Columbus Telegram.

WAYNE MARKET REPORT

Table listing market prices for various goods: Oats, Corn, Barley, Spring wheat, Wheat, Eggs, Butter, Hogs, Fat Cattle.

It was well that the primary was held early this year in order that the returns may all be in before time for the ballots to be printed for the November election.

Teddy is posing as an imitator of Lincoln, the martyred president, says that Lincoln held the same view as he does; but the dead president's son says this is not so.

Don't say the office never seeks the man—at least you won't say so if you happen to think of the office of vice president. That office usually seeks a man with a barrel to tip.

The bicycle manufacturing industry is one of our failing industries. In New York there are not one person engaged in that work where there were three a few years ago. But the automobiles are more than making good.

Did you notice how "too dead to skin" that Dahlman, Hitchcock, Harmon combine left the oft slaughtered man, W. J. Bryan. As on his previous political deaths, he is more alive than ever before, and we sometimes wonder if he can keep from being nominated to again lead the democrats to battle. Bryan will not die while people of the world strive to uphold popular government.

When the president and ex-president get to telling unpleasant truths about the other's mistakes and dishonest action, the public finds the veil drawn aside for an instant and is permitted to gaze upon the political mire in which both have been wallowing. The Wayne stock yards, bad as they may stink, are not a patching to the rottenness that the two "first men of our land" are found to have been living in.

The only thing we can see that will save the democrats from winning the presidency this fall will be for President Taft to get up a war with Mexico, place Theodore at the head of an invading army, for he would probably prefer to shoot Mexicans to being president again, and then raise the cry of "Stand by the Administration" and win, for it is not considered good citizenship to desert the administration in the face of enemies.

If people are not partisan blind the expose that Taft and Roosevelt have made of each other should be warning against continuing a party in power both wings of which are dominated by the big money interests of the country—the interests that are robbing the producers in a legalized way of the products of their labor. And robbery is none the less robbery because it is legalized by unjust law. Man cannot right a wrong by making it legal to do that which is not right.

They say Champ Clark once said this: "There are but two men in the hoary registers of time that Cleveland's name ought to be associated with—Judas Iscariot and Benedict Arnold."

Mr. Clark has been talking on the stage for more than twenty years. He has a weakness for astounding sayings. This one calculated for a thunder bolt in 1895 or 1896. But if he is nominated for president in 1912 it will have to be done by Cleveland democrats, acting in conjunction with Hearst. There's the queeress of it.—State Journal.

State Normal Notes

President Conn made a visit to Norfolk Tuesday on business.

Miss Ruth Ericson of Wakefield closed a seven month's term of school on Friday of last week and will attend the Normal until the close of the year.

Principal C. R. Chinn of Carroll, class of 1911, has been elected superintendent of the Atkinson schools for the ensuing year. We congratulate Mr. Chinn on this well deserved promotion.

The members of the Young Women's Christian Association are enjoying a visit from Miss Viola Marshall, territorial secretary of this organization. Miss Marshall spent a few days at the Normal last fall and the work of the local association was greatly strengthened by her good advice and helpful criticism.

It was a great pleasure for the school to have Frank Nangle in the chapel exercises Tuesday morning. He is one among the many young men in this part of the state whose training in the Nebraska Normal College helped toward a successful business career. Mr. Nangle sang with excellent interpretation and beautiful voice "Peace, Be Still" and the "Gospel Railroad."

Members of our faculty are in demand for commencement addresses and they are always glad to serve the high schools of the state in that capacity whenever their work in the Normal school will permit. This year Professor Britell will fill the following engagements: Clearwater, May 23, Bellwood, May 24, Professor Bright will be at Gregory, South Dakota, on the evening of May 17 and at Verdigre on May 23.

Miss Beva Harris, a member of the Senior class of 1912, has received notice of her election in the primary department at Ponca. Miss Harris is a graduate of the Ponca high school and her selection for this responsible position is evidence of the high standing she enjoys among the people of her home town. The primary department at Ponca will be in good hands next year.

The members of the board of education at Hoskins have very wisely selected Miss Ruth E. Sterling for the principalship of their schools. Miss Sterling graduated from Fonda, Iowa, high school before enrolling in the Normal, and she is exceptionally well qualified both in scholarship and leadership to direct the work at Hoskins. We congratulate the board on its choice and predict a successful year at Hoskins under her supervision.

Sidney M. Johnson and Clifford Penn are two of the young men who were students of the school last year who are soon to close a successful year as teachers in Wayne county. Realizing the importance of better preparation for their work, each has declined an offer of re-election and will return to the Normal for the summer term and the following school year.

The class of 1912 are pleased to know that Hon. Richard L. Metcalfe of Lincoln has accepted the invitation to give the commencement address on May 29. Mr. Metcalfe is recognized as one of the best public speakers in Nebraska, and many who have never met him personally know him as the author of "Of Such Is the Kingdom" and "Bishop Sunbeams." We bespeak for Mr. Metcalfe a large hearing when he comes to Wayne on Commencement Day.

All arrangements for Commencement week have been made and the order of exercises will be as follows:

Baccalaureate services, Sunday morning, May 26, Baptist church. Sermon to be delivered by Dr. I. F. Roach, pastor of the St. Paul M. E. church, Lincoln; Senior Class Play, Monday evening, May 27, Opera House; Alumni Reunion and Banquet, Tuesday afternoon 5:30, Gymnasium; Deputy State Superintendent Robert L. Elliott acting as toastmaster; Open Air Band Concert, Tuesday evening 8 p. m.; Commencement Exercises, Wednesday morning 10:30 Normal Chapel, address by Hon. Richard L. Metcalfe of Lincoln. A most cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend all these exercises.

A program of unusual interest has been planned by the Y. W. C. A. and will be given in the Normal Chapel on Friday evening, May 3. One of the special features of the evening will be the Passion Play of Oberammergau, illustrated with slides, accompanied by readings by Miss Olive McBeth. Miss McBeth witnessed the Passion Play during her tour in Europe in 1910 and she will bring a message of vital, personal interest. There will also be views illustrating the song, "The Holy City." Special music has been prepared for this entertainment consisting of solos, quartettes and duets. An admission fee of 25 cents will be charged; students of the Normal school and high school, 15 cents.

Social Notes

The Minerva club was given a decided treat last Tuesday evening when Miss Killen gave a lecture on "Symbolism in Art." The lecture was most interesting and highly instructive, and gave the members of the club and their friends an insight into the heart of symbolism otherwise not known. Miss Killen illustrated her lecture by charts and paintings. One would doubtless better appreciate their magazine covers, advertisements, pictures etc., were they to know all that Miss Killen told concerning their commercial value. One page advertisement of cream of wheat in the Ladies Home Journal costing three and four thousand dollars for one issue. After the lecture Miss McBeth gave several very pleasing vocal selections. The hostess next passed pieces of art post cards which when placed together formed the card. The four holding the pieces then secured a drawing sheet containing the name of some masterpiece, such as The Angelus, etc., and were to draw the same from memory. The contest was very amusing and gave decided changes for modern art. Dainty refreshments were then served and the guests departed after an evening of splendid art. The guests of the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cherry, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Welch, Misses McBeth, Kingsbury, Beechel, Fairchild, Grothe, Mrs. Johnson and Crossland.

Yesterday afternoon the ladies Union Bible Circle had a most interesting session at the spacious home of Mrs. Dayton, who is one of Wayne's welcome newcomers. Mrs. Wendte conducted the lesson study in a very helpful manner and Mrs. Lewis rendered a touching solo. There were heart to heart talks from many of the mothers. After the meeting a May basket was placed as a surprise to our blind family. Canned fruit and other goodies were taken to them in the evening in a large basket accompanied by the prayers and kind wishes of the circle. All the ladies are invited to meet with Mrs. Earl Lewis on college hill next Wednesday afternoon at two-thirty.

The Tuesday club enjoyed an excellent meeting with Mrs. Orlando Adams this week. Mrs. Johnson read an article on the works of David Graham Phillips and Mrs. W. A. Hiscox gave an excellent review on a book by Dr. David Porter. At the close of the interesting discussion following, the hostess served a delicious luncheon.

Mrs. Fred Philleo and Mrs. A. A. Welch entertained the U. D. club and the H. H. society, at the home of the latter last Friday afternoon. The affair was given in honor of Mrs. W. H. Nangle of Austin, Minnesota.

The Acme club met for their regular lesson with Mrs. Britnell Tuesday. Mrs. Raymond being leader. Current events were discussed and the usual lesson carried out. They meet next week with Mrs. Crawford.

The Ladies Aid society of the Presbyterian church met with Mrs. Chas. Shulthies yesterday for a pleasant afternoon at sewing. A good attendance was present and a splendid meeting held.

The Monday club met with Mrs. T. B. Heckert Monday and discussed current events after which the ladies enjoyed a spelling contest. Mrs. Kate will be hostess next week.

Mrs. H. S. Ringland entertained a number of close friends and relatives at a four course birthday dinner Sunday, it being the occasion of Mr. Ringland's birthday.

The Bridge Whist club postponed their meeting this week, owing to the general rehearsal Tuesday evening. They meet next week with Miss Reba Nangle.

The Shakespear club met with Miss Wallace at the home of Mrs. Jones, for their regular lesson Tuesday.

State Engineer Makes Tour of Inspection of Big Project

FARMERS RAISING OBJECTIONS

Educational Officers Busy Inspecting State Schools—Mayor Harris of Alliance Will Escape Ouster Suit at State's Hands.

D. D. Price, state engineer, has returned to Lincoln from an inspection trip over the route of the proposed power projects in the vicinity of Columbus, embracing the Babcock and Koenig flings. No work has been done on either of them so far as power development is concerned, though on the Babcock project considerable ditch has been dug on the irrigation end of the scheme. This was done a number of years ago and has been in use, though the rainfall in that section has been great enough to prevent any large utilization of the water for this purpose. In one place where the ditch was originally dug for irrigation purposes, it is now being used as a drainage ditch to carry water off of low, swampy land.

One feature of this and all other power projects along the Platte river has developed which had not been contemplated. Farmers who are familiar with the vagaries of the Platte river are fearful that if the power ditches are dug, carrying the water over lands not within reach of the river, the stream will take a notion some time to abandon its old channel and take to the power ditch. Engineers, however, scout the idea, as they say the lesser fall in the ditch, except at the point of discharge at the dams, will be so much less than that of the river that the current will have a tendency to change its channel and that diversion dams, for use during low and medium stages, will be necessary to get water into the ditches. These dams will not be high enough to affect the flow during high water.

Harris Escapes Ouster Suit.

Attorney General Martin has decided not to commence ouster proceedings against Mayor Harris of Alliance as requested to do by the governor. The governor made the request on the strength of a petition signed by members of the Box Butte county grand jury. The decision not to commence action was reached when it was ascertained that Mr. Harris' term as mayor expired by limitation on May 7 and it would not be possible to get any action on the petition before that time. It is intimated, however, that the governor's instructions have had the desired effect, which was to induce Harris not to run for re-election.

The cases of Albert D. Welpton and Lawrence H. Duff, bankers of Greenwood, charged with embezzlement, will not be tried at the May term of the federal court. Accountant John L. Proctor, one of the main witnesses of the government, is now in Alaska and cannot reach Lincoln in time for that term of court.

South Omaha Ouster Suit.

The attorney general's office has filed a brief in the case of Ryan and Pivonka, South Omaha police commissioners, against whom ouster proceedings were brought. The defendants ask that the action be dismissed as the term of office they were serving when the action was commenced had expired. The attorney general contends that so far as the supreme court knows the term has not expired and is bound to consider the charter, which extended the terms until May, 1912, was valid until declared invalid by the supreme court. Even in the event the term has expired and they are now serving by reason of a re-election the state relies on a decision in an Iowa case in which the supreme court held that the object of the law was to remove an unfit officer, and it did not matter whether it was in a preceding term or in the term during which the action was tried.

Hilyard Resigns; Teeter Named.

Commandant Hilyard of the soldiers' and sailors' home at Milford sent in his resignation to Governor Aldrich and the latter announced the appointment of Joseph Teeter of Lincoln to the place.

In his letter of resignation Commandant Hilyard thanks the governor for his "misplaced confidence." It has been rumored for some time that the resignation was to be forthcoming, owing to friction at the home, which resulted a few weeks ago in the resignation of the engineer, the matron, who was the wife of the engineer, and the expulsion of several of the inmates.

Agreement on Valuation.

The valuation department of the railway commission and the Burlington people have reached a point where they are agreed or will be able to stipulate all their differences except on land values, to be submitted to the commission. The differences on cost of transportation of material and several other matters is one of the methods of computation and will be up to the commission to decide and not a question of evidence.

Congregationalists Meet at Liberty.

The annual meeting of the Lincoln Association of Congregational Churches was held at Liberty. Many of the ministers of the district appeared on the program. Rev. Mr. Packard was installed as pastor of the Liberty church at the meeting.

BARTON FIGHTS RAISE

Insurance Commissioners Give Indorsement to Mobile Bill.

Auditor Barton has just returned to Lincoln from Chicago, where he attended a meeting of the executive committee of the Association of State Insurance Commissioners. Among other important business transacted was the indorsement of the Mobile bill, affecting rates of fraternal life insurance. All the members present, with the exception of Mr. Barton, voted in favor of it. This bill fixes rates which are said to be the basis of the rates recently adopted by the Modern Woodmen, which action has caused such a commotion in the order. The committee, in a fight led by Auditor Barton, refused to permit former commissioners to participate in the meetings of the association. Barton's objection was that the major portion of the former commissioners were now in the employ of insurance companies. Committees were appointed to draft bills which are to be submitted to the various legislatures with the idea of obtaining uniform legislation on important subjects. One of them was a bill regulating the issuance and sale of capital stock in insurance and other corporations, with the blue sky law of Kansas taken as a model. Another bill is intended to prevent the practice of writing overhead insurance, or in other words writing insurance by companies not authorized to transact business in the state where the insured property is located.

SPANISH VETERANS ELECT

H. B. Havens of Omaha Chosen Department Commander.

The fifth annual reunion of the Nebraska Spanish War Veterans closed at Beatrice with a banquet. The speakers were Governor Aldrich, General John C. Hartigan, Captain P. James Cosgrave, Major Julian Penn of the regular army, Captain Allen G. Fisher and Adjutant General Phelps.

At the business session these officers were elected: Department commander, H. B. Havens, Omaha; senior vice commander, A. H. Hollingsworth, Beatrice; junior vice commander, L. M. Laferty, Council Bluffs; department inspector general, H. D. Corneau, Omaha; surgeon, Dr. C. P. Fall, Beatrice; judge advocate, A. G. Fisher, Chadron; chaplain, Rev. Charles Melville, Beatrice; marshal, Guy M. Brown, Lincoln.

Following the election the officers were installed by General J. H. Culver of Milford. The place for holding the next reunion was left to the council of administration.

STATE BRINGS SUIT

Court Proceedings Inaugurated at Beatrice to Get Shortage.

Suit was instituted at Beatrice by Attorney General Martin against Dr. G. L. Roe, former superintendent of the feeble-minded institute there, to collect $1,378.27, alleged to be due the state. Dr. Roe's bondsmen, the American Bonding company, is also made a party to the suit. T. B. Stewart, bookkeeper at the institute under Dr. Thomas, was arrested soon after Dr. Thomas, the present superintendent, was appointed on the charge of misappropriating the sum in question. After a trial lasting a week he was acquitted by a jury in the district court.

The suit brought by the state is to recover the full amount of the alleged shortage—$1,378.27—with interest at 7 per cent from Jan. 26; 1911.

Inspecting State Schools.

Assistant State Superintendent Elcott has gone to Peru to inspect the normal school. Superintendent Delzell has a busy time ahead of him in May. On the 3d he will go to Emporia, Kan., where he is one of the judges in the interstate debate of the normal schools. May 10 he goes to Arlington to attend a meeting of teachers and on the following day a similar meeting at Cowles. Then comes a series of graduating exercises as follows: St. Paul, May 15; Gresham, May 16; Orchard, May 17; Waco, May 22; Franklin, May 23; Greenwood, May 24. May 25 he goes to Fremont to attend the eighth graduation of the Dodge county rural schools.

More Expense Accounts.

A number of candidates filed expense accounts, among them all the candidates for governor. R. L. Metcalfe tops the list of expenditures, but is well within the limit prescribed by law. He says he expended $615.93, while the legal limit is $650. Jesse Newton, Republican, expended $236.16, Governor Aldrich $10, the filing fee, and Nathan Wilson, Prohibition, the same. W. E. Selick, Republican for congress in the First district, expended $484.88, which, according to the vote cast for congress two years ago, is $14.88 above the limit, but if the total number of voters in the district at the 1910 election is taken as the basis, it is under the limit.

New Board Member.

Governor Aldrich announces the appointment of A. L. Caviness, now a member of the board of examiners, as a member of the state normal board, taking the place of B. L. Shellhorn, whose term expires in May. No appointment has been announced to succeed Caviness as a member of the examining board.

Jury Unable to Agree.

After deliberating two days the federal court jury in the case of the government against Andy Snyder and George Dobson for conspiracy to defraud the government out of a section of land in Loup county and for conspiracy to suborn perjury was discharged, having been unable to agree.

Earl Lewis and wife were at home Saturday evening when a party of about twenty neighbors invaded the place with no intent worse than to surprise them and enjoy a happy evening beneath their hospitable roof. In both matters they were successful and we doubt if any of the party enjoyed the occasion more than Mr. and Mrs. Lewis.

Rev. C. J. Ringer's farewell sermon last Sunday at the St. Paul Lutheran church, where he has been pastor so long, was largely attended in spite of unfavorable weather, by members of the church and others who were indeed sorry to attend such a service. It was not pleasant to sever the ties of friendship knit together by years of church work in which pastor and member had a mutual interest. While regrets were sincere and mutual there was a feeling that the pastor was doing his duty in heeding the call to a larger field of activities, though on previous occasions had turned a deaf ear to such calls. He goes to the new work with the best wishes of all for a successful pastorate.

Professor Coleman is authority for the statement that at the concert given by the Normal Male Quartette in a nearby town last Saturday evening, while Professor Lewis was attempting the execution of a popular selection of music, and had pitched his voice to take aim at some low, bass notes, a moderate-sized lemon was thrown from a reserved seat in the rear end of the hall, barely missing the singer. Professor Lewis was interviewed upon the subject by a reporter for the Democrat and admits that the essential features of the story are correct. His version is that the piece of fruit was an apple and not a lemon, that it was dropped by a child and rolled toward him, not maliciously thrown. The first explanation, however, is attested by such witnesses as Professor Lackey and Willis Fleetwood, and as the apple story is entirely lacking in proper corroborative testimony, and for the further reason that the reported act seems reasonable, just and was perhaps necessary, the lemon theory is the one generally accepted.

C. M. Christensen returned from Madison county this morning with his happy smile a little brighter than usual. Sold a farm of 160 acres near Madison to Dirk Boe.

Wm. Worthing and wife left this morning for Ft. Collins, Colorado, for an extended stay. Mrs. Worthing has a brother living near that place, Mr. Stevens, whom they will visit part of the time.

Henry Klopping shipped a nice bunch of hogs this week to South Omaha or St. Joseph, and went down to Council Bluffs and from there he will go out to his old home, a few miles out and join in a family reunion to be held there Sunday in honor of his father's 80th birthday.

Theodore Dockendorf, father of Mrs. C. E. Sprague who has spent the winter months in California, returned home Tuesday evening, bringing with him a sample of hand picked oranges and lemons. We, who have tasted the fruit, believe it to be the real thing. The old gentleman is hale and hearty and has many good things to say of the climate of southern California. People of Wayne are glad to see Mr. Dockendorf on our streets again and glad to hear his jolly laugh, for it "doeth good like a medicine."

Miss Rose Linke left Wayne Wednesday afternoon on a trip that will terminate at her old home in Germany which she left 20 years ago for America. She is planning to return to this country again this fall. One event that she is planning to attend in the old country is the 25th anniversary of the marriage of one of her sisters living there. At the home of her brother, Henry Linke, on Sunday quite a number of her young lady friends gathered for a little farewell party. All wish her a safe and pleasant voyage.

S. E. Auker and wife went to Sioux City Sunday morning with their youngest son, Ervin, who was taken sick the day before. Two physicians, consulted separately, diagnosed appendicitis and the parents started with the lad. At Sioux City the operation was successfully performed, and the boy is doing nicely. His mother is with him yet, but the father returned home. This is the third member of the Auker family to undergo similar operations, and two others have been on the operating table for rupture, and Mr. Auker also had to undergo an operation, making a very profitable family for the surgeons. Latest reports are that the boy is doing nicely.

A. B. Clark and niece, Miss Hattie Clark, and nephew Charles, returned to Wayne last week from Los Angeles, California, where they spent the winter. His daughter, Mabel, accompanied them as far on the home journey as Omaha where she is now staying. Mr. Clark reports a delightful winter in the west and that they enjoyed it very much; traveled about 3000 miles by automobile, viewing the sights of southern California, and were not ready to come home when they did. He saw a number of Wayne people, and says that they were at the alfalfa ranch of Dennis Newton, a former citizen here, but a few days before starting for home, and that he is prospering in the west.

A bit of change is being made on the second floor of the First National Bank building. Since O. A. King vacated his office there Dr. Adams will have the rooms vacated, a door being cut through between the two front rooms. This will give the dentist more room and more convenient. On taking possession of the new room, he vacates the west room that he formerly occupied. This will be connected by door to the room occupied by Christensen Bros., who have moved to the front rooms over the Central market. The room vacated by Christensen Bros., and the one vacated by Dr. Adams will be taken by C. H. Hendrickson of the law firm of Kingsbury & Hendrickson, who have been occupying the north front room in the same building.

Wish we were free to go on an excursion Tuesday May 7th to view the famous Costella Estate in the San Luis Valley just along the line between Colorado and New Mexico, for the reason that the trip costs but $25 from Omaha and return. This price includes board and bed for the week that the trip is scheduled to take, for it takes one via Denver, Colorado Springs and Pueblo, with stops at those places and free side trips in the two former places at least. The object of the trip is to sell one some of the best land on the market, where climate is perfect, water plenty, drainage perfect and an advance in prices is bound to come at an early day. At the end of the out trip you are shown the land and what it will produce. If interested ask Fisher, Johnson & Duerig, for particulars.

Among The Churches of Wayne

METHODIST CHURCH
(Rev. Wm. Gorst, Pastor)

Dr. C. N. Dawson and Will Crossland were in Wayne a part of last week and over Sunday in the interest of Nebraska Wesleyan University. The former occupied the pulpit at the M. E. church Sunday morning. They made only a partial canvass in the interests of the Endowment fund, and others will be seen and have an opportunity to aid in this great enterprise.

The general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church composed of an equal number of ministers and laymen sent up by the annual conference in all parts of the world, went into quadrennial session, for a month at Minneapolis yesterday morning. This is the legislative body of Methodism making laws for the government of the church in all of its enterprises throughout the world. For a month the eyes of all reading and thinking Methodist Episcopal people will be eagerly turned toward Minneapolis.

Next Sunday the pastor will not preach but instead the pulpit will be occupied by Miss Jennie Borg, a missionary, for years in Chungking, China. Miss Borg arrived in this country on the 18th of March. She is in close touch with the Chinese situation. The occasion of her visit to Wayne is her attendance on the district convention of the W. F. M. S. whose program is given elsewhere.

Another able speaker will be here for Friday evening. Mrs. Mary Mauck Romick, until recently a field secretary for the Fisk National Training School for deaconesses at Kansas City, Missouri. Mrs. Romick comes under the auspices of the W. H. M. S. of Norfolk district whose annual convention program is given on another page.

The public is cordially invited to attend all of the services of these conventions and those who do so will be richly repaid.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
(Rev. Alexander Corkey, Pastor)

Next Sabbath morning will be communion service and a service for the reception of the new members. The subject of the pre-communion address will be "Is this place vacant?"

In the evening the pastor will speak on the forces back of the Men and Religion Movement. The subject of his sermon will be "Religion a Man's Job."

Miss Edna Neely president of the C. E. society will lead the prayer meeting next Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. The topic will be "Unselfishness A Christian Virtue"

The Junior meeting at 3 o'clock will be lead by Mae Hiscox.

The Sunday school begins at 9:50 a. m. and the morning service of worship at 11. The evening preaching service is held at 8 o'clock.

The ladies of the Women's Missionary society joined this week in sending a missionary box to Laos, Asia. The gifts were chiefly small articles that the missionaries could use in appealing to the natives.

The Women's Missionary society will hold its regular monthly meeting next week on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. S. Ringland. The leaders are Mrs. Corkey and Mrs. Schroer. Siam and Laos, and Cuba and Porto Rico will be discussed.

BAPTIST CHURCH
(Rev. B. P. Richardson, Pastor)

Next Sunday will be communion Sunday. We want to give the hand of fellowship to those who have been received since last communion Sunday. It is always good to have a large number of our members out at this service.

The young people's meeting will be under the leadership of Miss Myrtle Kopp. The room was just about filled last Sunday at the young people's service, and the interest was splendid.

Our prayer meeting is a good place to come to. It is helpful, strengthening and full of inspiration. The subject for next week will be "The Abundant Life."

On tomorrow (Friday) afternoon at 4 o'clock, the Boy Scouts will meet at the church, prepared for a hike into the country. Those who cannot go with the crowd, come later.

Sunday evening at 8 o'clock, there will be our regular preaching service.

We are glad to greet strangers at our worship.

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN CHURCH
(Rev. Floyd Blessing, Pastor)

Next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, Rev. Floyd Blessing will preach his first sermon.

Sunday school at 10 o'clock.

Don't fail to read the gasoline engine ad.

YOUR HOME

is where you spend three-fourths of your existence, and naturally you like to have it attractive and comfortable. There is no one thing that will add so much satisfying comfort to the place as an American Lighting System. You will take less pleasure in operating your own independent gas plant, and in showing the apparatus to your friends and neighbors.

No matter how small your house may be, we can give you a little Lighting System just to suit it, and at so little cost that it will surprise you.

American Lighting Systems are so important. They have been on the market for nearly a century, and have the undisputed reputation of being the very best there in The American Gas Machine Company, with a capital of half a million dollars, stands back of every plant, be it large or small, and guarantees that it will do everything that is claimed for it. The gas manufactured by these Systems is suitable not only for lighting but for cooking and kitchen purposes as well.

We have just issued a fine new illustrated catalogue, showing in detail all the varied apparatus for these Lighting Systems. We are anxious to send you a copy. Drop us a postcard today. It's FREE. Address

DEMOCRAT PRINTERY:

"The Work That's Different"

WHEN THE SUN MOVED

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1932, by Associated Literary Press.

Moses Hoke, farmer, has six children, and so when the question of building a schoolhouse in his neighborhood came up he agreed that it was up to him to do the fair thing. He did it by donating the site and the county went ahead and erected a neat frame schoolhouse. There had never been a regular school in that district before, and parents and pupils were proud of it. A teacher was hired, and for six weeks after school opened all went well. Then a shadow came.

One day as Farmer Johnson, who had three children attending the school, was driving by Farmer Hoke went out to the gate to stop him and say: "Look here, Jim; about our school."

"It's fine," was the reply. "I dunno about that; I dunno."

"Why, Moses, what can be wrong? That gal teacher fills the bill mighty well, and my children are learning something every day."

"Yes; but what are they learning?" "Why, what we've all had to learn. Nothing has happened to make you dissatisfied, I hope."

"Say, George," said Moses as he came a step nearer and lowered his voice a bit. "What about the north pole and the south pole? The teacher is telling that this earth is like a pumpkin suspended between two posts with a stick through the middle of it."

"Well, I reckon that's right." "But has that got anything to do with plowing and planting? Is it going to raise more corn to the acre? Is it going to stop a kicking cow from kicking? Is it going to cure a sore backed horse?"

"No-o-o, I reckon not. But it's just as well to know these things, ain't it?"

"Just time to know these things, as I look at it. And the teacher is a-telling that this earth is round."

"That's what everybody is a-saying nowadays, Moses."

"Look at that meadow out there, George. Is it round, like an orange, or flat, like a pancake?"

"It's flat, of course."

"And all the rest of the world is round, is it? Something mighty queer about that. If the world is round why don't we fall off? Man can't walk around on a side hill and keep his balance."

"I was saying so to Smith when I was in town buying a shovel the other day, and he says it's gravity that keeps us standing upright."

"I don't believe any such got durned nonsense!" exclaimed Moses. "If that's what they are going to teach my children then I'm agin it. My Sam come home the other day and said it was 93,000,000 miles to the sun. The teacher had told him twice over—93,000,000 miles, George!"

"Yes, I've heard it was about that..." "And you hain't done anything about it?"

"Nonp. Didn't see what I could do I can't measure the distance."

Farmer Hoke thought the thing over for a week, and there might have been no more trouble had not his son Sam come home one day and asked of him:

"Pop, where is the sun at 7 o'clock in the morning?"

"In the east, you doughhead."

"And at noon?" "In the south."

"And at sunset?" "In the west."

"How does it get there?" "How do I get from the house to the barn and back? I move, don't I? What has that gal teacher been putting into your head now?"

"Pop, the sun don't move a hair's breadth all day," announced the lad, with a chuckle.

"By the jumping Jehosaphat, but that's going too far—too far!" growled the father. "Move? Move? Look at that sun up there and tell me if you dare that she hain't moving!"

"But it's the earth, pop."

"Then why hain't we moving along either toward the house or barn?" "Gravitation is a-holding us."

"By thunder, but we'll see about it! I won't tek you this time, but don't you tek any more nonsense. I'll make certain folks' eyes-bung-out tomorrow!"

Moses Hoke had said he would give the land for the schoolhouse site, but the deed to the county hadn't been drawn yet. He was, therefore, free to go to the trustees and say:

"I want you to move your old schoolhouse off my land!"

"Why, Moses, what's the matter?" was asked.

"Our children are being made fools of. That gal teacher is a-telling them that the sun don't move a blamed inch all day long."

"And it doesn't, Moses. It's the earth that moves."

"I'll give you a week to move the schoolhouse."

"But you donated the land."

"Where's your deed?"

"Moses had them dead to rights. The trustees and the teacher and the more intelligent farmers consulted together and the best they could do was to sew words to the unbelieve that they had changed their minds and were now satisfied that the sun did move. He waited a year before he gave a deed, and then when they went back on him he could settle and say:

"Well, I had her hustling right along for twelve months anyhow, and we had a mighty open winter and a powerful early spring."

A chorus of 1000 voices will be heard by those who go to Omaha in June to attend the great Sunday school convention to be held at that place the 18th to the 20th. The one who sighs "for a thousand tongues" will have the longings of his soul satisfied on that occasion.

Fred Frevert, who went to Sioux City nearly three months ago for medical treatment, came home last week much improved in health. He was at a hospital about two weeks, but spent the rest of the time at the home of an uncle. He is a son of Herman Frevert and wife.

There is a move on foot to get Omaha people to stop and look themselves in the face and see what they are doing. They call it a "know your own city" movement. Some smaller places would do well to get acquainted with home possibilities rather more intimately than they yet have. Wayne is no exception, probably.

There was a pleasant party of happy young ladies at the home of W. J. Geary and wife Friday evening when the family and especially the two daughters, Misses Margie and Fannie, were surprised by eight or ten of their young friends coming in for the evening. Games, music and refreshments were enjoyed by all, and the young hostesses enjoyed the event to such an extent that they almost hope to be surprised again.

"So great is the demand for agricultural imports in this country that our sales abroad are falling off and we are importing large quantities. The recent shipments of potatoes from Ireland are fresh in everyone's mind, and we take considerable shipments from Canada and Mexico. A recent agricultural item in the consular reports that last year 197,698 crates of tomatoes were shipped to this country from Cuba, besides 43,813 crates of okra, eggplant, peppers, etc. The farmer still has room to expand his market."

So says a news item. Let's stuff on more tariff and keep the stuff out and let the people go hungry.

The Monumental Theft
 The eastern papers are printing a statement, made by a witness in regard to the formation of the steel trust. His statement is as follows:
 "I heard Mr. Carnegie testify that the book value of his steel plant was $84,000,000; that he gave an option on it for $100,000,000; that he afterwards sold it to Morgan for $430,000,000; that he has been kicking himself ever since because he didn't charge $530,000,000; that Morgan capitalized it, with some other property, for $1,430,000,000, and the bureau of corporations tell us that his fee for the service amounted to the neat little sum of $69,300,000."
 "The difference between $84,000,000 and $1,430,000,000 is $1,346,000,000, and that is the amount—less 'some other property'—that Morgan and Carnegie stole from the American people. There were none so poor, unless they were supported at public expense, who did not have to contribute to that fund, for all use iron and steel from the cradle to the grave.
 It was the monumental theft of all the ages.—World Herald.

Dipping Seed Corn
 The following suggestion of a means of treating seed corn to prevent destruction by insect pests contributed to the Twentieth Century Farmer is worth a trial:
 Two years ago one of our neighbors farmers thought to try an experiment in treating seed corn at the time of planting in a manner that would render it immune from the attacks of worms and insects, especially cutworms which were then devastating hundreds of acres of corn plants in the surrounding country, making it necessary for the farmers to replant their fields, some of them as many as three or four times.
 This farmer took ordinary dip, the kind you see on farm animals, and sprinkled it over his seed corn, mixing it well by thorough stirring when putting it into the planter box for planting. It takes only a small quantity of the dip, as one should not get the seed damp enough to cling together or clog in the dropping process—just enough of it to scent the grains well, which naturally will be very little since it possesses such strong penetrating qualities.
 None of numerous pests molest the corn plants in the field treated in above manner, and a fine stand of healthy, vigorous corn was secured; nor did the cutworms molest it after it came through the soil. Even when the plant had reached a growth at which the seed was almost entirely rotted one still could detect the smell of the dip on the decay in grains, which accounted for its complete protection of the planted seed.
 M. A. Coverdell.

T. R. in Heaven
 New York, April 8.—Scrag McQuig one of the leading men at Republican headquarters yesterday with the following Roosevelt story: "I had a dream about Roosevelt the other night," he said. "I dreamed he died and went to Heaven." After St. Peter had shown him about and asked him what he thought of everything, Mr. Roosevelt said: "I like everything but your choir. Ought to improve that." "Well, what would you suggest?" asked Peter. "Well, first send off for 10,000 sopranos." "That'll be pretty hard, said St. Peter but, if you say so I'll do it." "Then get 5,000 altos." "Yes." "Then you'll have a real choir." "But how about the basses?" "Oh, I'll sing bass."

The Schoolroom, Too Has Need for the Bell Telephone

Bell Telephone Service, with the advantages of its local and long distance connections reaching out everywhere, should be demanded in every city and country schoolroom.

Wherever people congregate the telephone is a necessity. The possibility of sickness, accidents or other emergencies demand a medium of instant and dependable communication.

Telephone Convenience Far Exceeds its Cost.

"I am all right now, thanks to Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy."

The same relief is ready for you. Are you sure you do not need it? If Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy helped Charles Holmes, why won't it help you?

"I was troubled with heart disease, and after reading about Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy, I got a bottle. Before I got the Heart Remedy I had to sit up most of the night, and felt very bad at my stomach. Whatever I would eat made me feel worse, and my heart beat very fast. But thanks to Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy, I am all right now. I eat good, sleep good, and feel like a new man, although I am almost 68 years old. I have been a soldier in the late war of the rebellion, and was badly wounded." CHARLES HOLMES, Private Co. One of Bismarck's Roars.

On one occasion at luncheon in Berlin General Sir E. Hamley was sitting close to Bismarck, with the old Emperor William not far off. Bismarck, talking rather loudly, described the old monarch as being generous, but very forgetful. Hamley got nervous, as he thought the emperor would hear. "For instance," continued Bismarck, "I pleased him the other day, and he asked me what he could do for me." "Give me a dozen of that Tokay you have in your cellars," and he said he would. "But," added Bismarck, raising his voice still higher, "he hasn't done it." Here Hamley hastily broke in, "I beg your pardon, but I am really afraid the emperor will hear you." "I want him to hear me," roared Bismarck. "That's just what I want." And a smile broke over the face of his imperial master.—"Fifty Years of Fleet Street."

The Traveler's Test.

The eminent traveler James Bruce was highly touchy whenever his veracity was called into question. It happened that when dining out one day at a friend's house one of the guests observed that it was impossible that the natives of Abyssinia could eat raw meat. Without making any reply Bruce forthwith left the table and before long returned from the kitchen with a piece of raw beefsteak, peppered and salted in the Abyssinian fashion. Placing this in front of the guest who had doubted his word, he said, "Sir, you will eat that or fight me!" The guest preferred the former alternative. Thereupon Bruce faintly observed, "Now, sir, you will never say again that it is impossible."

Chaucer's Face in a Stone.

In the geological branch of the British museum the visitor is shown a wonderful specimen of natural imitation in a small "ribbon jasper." This stone, the material of which is not unlike that of other banded agates, has upon its surface a perfect miniature portrait of the poet Chaucer. Every detail is startlingly correct. There are the white face, the pouting lips, the broad, low forehead and even the whites of the slightly upturned eyes. The attendants say that it is utterly impossible to convince even some of the educated visitors that it is not an artificial production.

Stumped.

"I want you to introduce me for membership at the Union club, old man," more than insinuated one fellow to our acquaintance.
"I'd like to," answered the other, "but they're awfully particular, you know."
"That's your flattering way of putting it," responded the first, "but I know better. Ain't you a member?"
Cleveland Plain Dealer.

New to Him.

After he had tried for a moment to get his key inserted in the keyhole he stepped back and scanned against the side of the vestibule. Then he scratched his head in perplexity and said:
"It's strange! I never knew before that we had one of these revolving door here."—Judge.

Of Charity

A beggar died last night; his soul Went up to God, and said: "I come uncalled, forgive it, Lord; I died for want of bread."

Then answered Him the Lord of Heaven:

"Son, how can this thing be? Are not my saints on earth, and they Had surely succored thee?"

"Thy saints, O Lord," the beggar said, "Holy lives of prayer;— How should they know of such as we? We perish unaware.

"They strive to save our wicked souls And fit them for the sky; Meanwhile, not having bread to eat, (Forgive) our bodies die."

Then the Lord spake out of Heaven

In wrath and angry pain: "O men, for whom my Son hath died, My Son hath died in vain!"

NO CAUSE TO DOUBT

A Statement of Facts Backed by A Strong Guarantee

We guarantee immediate and positive relief to all sufferers from constipation. In every case where our remedy fails to do this we will return the money paid us for it. That's a frank statement of facts and we want you to substantiate them at our risk.

ReXall Orderlies are eaten just like candy, are particularly prompt and agreeable in action, may be taken at any time, day or night; do not cause diarrhoea, nausea, griping, excessive looseness, or other undesirable effects. They have a very mild but positive action upon the organs with which they come in contact, apparently acting as a regulative tonic upon the relaxed muscular coat of the bowel, thus overcoming weakness, and aiding to restore the bowels to more vigorous and healthy activity.

ReXall Orderlies are unsurpassable and ideal for the use of children, old folks and delicate persons. We cannot too highly recommend them to all sufferers from any form of constipation and its attendant evils. That's why we back our faith in them with our promise of money back if they do not give entire satisfaction. Three sizes, 12 tablets 10 cents, 36 tablets 25 cents and 80 tablets 50 cents. Remember, you can obtain ReXall Remedies in Wayne only at our store, the Rexall store, the Shulties Pharmacy.

Harness and Collar Talk...

The only harness that will give absolute satisfaction is one sewed by hand, the old fashioned way and made of pure oak tanned leather, tanned by pure chestnut oak bark. Such harness wears longer than any two sets made by a machine.

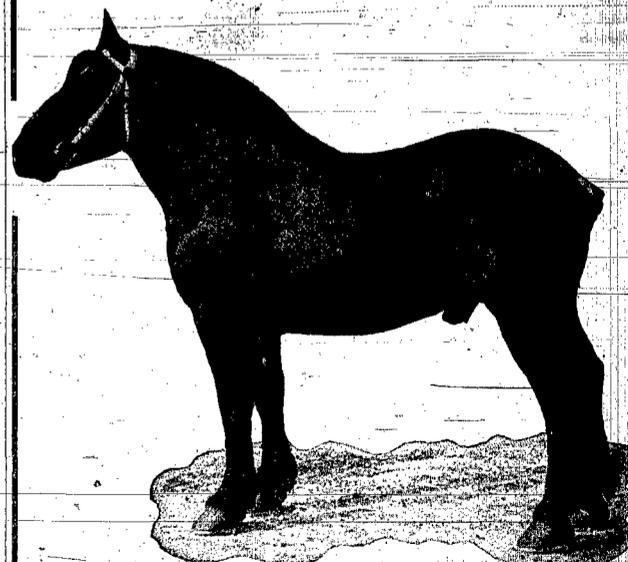

Likewise Collars. My collars are manufactured from the best of pure oak tanned collar leather and sewed with pure oak tanned thongs. As a result the sewing does not give away and it does not become necessary for you to have them repaired after a few montes service.

The only place to purchase harness and leather goods of this high merit is

Eczema? Try Zemo

Has Cured Worst Cases and You Can Try It at Our Risk

Yes, try Zemo. That's all you need to get rid of the worst case of eczema. You take no chance, it is no experiment. Zemo is positively guaranteed to stop itching, rash, raw, bleeding eczema, make a pimply face smooth and clean. Zemo is a wonder and the minute applied it sinks in, vanishes, leaves no evidence, doesn't stick, no grease, just a pure, clean wonderful liquid and it cures. This is guaranteed. Zemo is put up by the E. W. Rose Medicine Co., St. Louis, Mo., and sold by all druggists throughout America, and in Wayne by the Shulthies Pharmacy.

LIVE STOCK PRICES AT SOUTH OMAHA

Fat Cattle in Good Demand and Fully Steady.

RECEIPTS OF HOGS ARE HEAVY

Sheep and Lamb Receipts Moderate. Best Woolled Mexicans $10.10, a New Record for the Season—Few Fat Wethers and Ewes Offered.

Union Stock Yards, South Omaha, April 30.—There was a very fair run of cattle today, about 5,200 head being reported in. Prices were fully steady. Good to choice 1,200 to 1,400-pound beefs sold at $8.00@8.40 and most of the fair to good 1,000 to 1,250-pound cattle went at a range of $7.30@7.90. Common to fair grades sold from $6.25 to $7.15. Prices for cows and heifers rule strong. A bunch of mixed yearlings brought $8.00. Price range is very wide, from $3.00 to $7.50. Bulls, stags, etc., sold fully as well as on Monday, at $4.40@6.60. Prices for stockers and feeders were somewhat stronger all along the line and there was a firm and healthy undertone to the market despite the rather limited outside demand.

Quotations on cattle: Choice to prime beefs: $7.90@8.50; good to choice beefs: $7.50@7.85; fair to good beefs: $7.15@7.50; common to fair beefs: $6.00@7.00; good to choice heifers: $6.75@7.50; good to choice cows: $5.75@6.75; fair to good grades: $4.80@5.60; canners and cutters: $2.75@4.50; veal calves: $4.00@7.75; bulls, stags, etc.: $4.25@6.60; choice to prime feeders: $6.75@7.25; good to choice feeders: $5.50@6.50; fair to good feeders: $5.25@5.75; common to fair feeders: $4.25@5.00; stock cows and heifers: $4.00@5.50.

There was about 19,000 hogs received today and prices ruled 5@10c lower. Best heavy hogs on sale brought $7.80, as compared with Monday's top of $7.80, and bulk was fairly well bunched within $7.50@7.65, as against last Tuesday's bulk of $7.35@7.55.

Receipts of sheep and lambs amounted to about 7,500 head, mostly lambs. Prices were quoted steady to strong. A bunch of woolled Mexicans brought $10.10, duplicating the highest price paid during April, 1910. Other attractive woolled lambs sold at $9.65, $9.70, $9.75 and $9.80. Shorn lambs moved into packers' pens at $8.65, $8.75 and $8.80, the latter sale being top. Bulk of good shorn lambs sold at $8.75. There was only a few bunches of sheep on sale.

Quotations on sheep and lambs: Lambs, good to choice, $9.50@10.10; lambs, fair to good, $8.75@9.50; lambs, shorn: $8.15@8.85; yearlings, handy, $8.10@8.50; yearlings, heavy, $7.65@8.10; wethers, good to choice, $7.35@7.65; wethers, fair to good, $7.00@7.35; ewes, fair to good, $6.00@7.00.

Work on Stilts.

Thousands of men in England earn their living during a considerable portion of the year by their ability to walk and work on tall stilts. Most of them are employed in the hop-fields of Kent and other districts, where they have displaced the high step-ladders formerly in use. During the pole-stringing season the stilt-walkers, 12 feet from the ground, perform the work with ease and without loss of time or motion. A trained stiltman will do the work of four or five men working with step-ladders.

Does Your Farm Pay Six Per Cent on $300 an Acre?

IF NOT--WHY NOT

The Twentieth Century Farmer, the great exponent of new methods of scientific farming and soil culture, tells how it is done.

You can do it on your farm.

Have you had your soil analyzed?

Do you know what plant foods it contains, and in what proportion?

Do you know that every crop you raise takes plant food out of your soil, and that unless you are putting an equal amount back you are robbing the soil?

Do you know how to put it back?

The Twentieth Century Farmer tells you how.

It is the best farm magazine. It is printed on fine paper, with beautiful illustrations. It has a handsome colored cover each week with a beautiful artistic cover design. It is edited and published in the West for Western farmers. It contains articles by scientific men of authority on all topics pertaining to the farm, besides stories, fashions, patterns—a special department for mother and the children.

Subscribe for it now. Only $1.50 a year, for 52 big, interesting and instructive magazines.
