The State Tennis Meet

This week the state tennis tournament is being held at Norfolk and Wayne people have a double interest in the raquet, for we have just entertained a district meeting that was nearly equal to the state meeting in the point of number of players and skill as well, perhaps. Then, we have some men there who are staying in the game as the sifting process goes on, and for all we know at this writing may have a state champion before the event closes.

Messrs. Morgan, Pile and Kemp from this place entered the race. Messrs. Pile and Kemp met their fate in the singles early in the game, but were doing well in consolation and doubles, where Morgan and Pile play together and Kemp is playing with Patterson of Aarphae.

In the singles Morgan won first round from Geo. Riley from Omaha, 6-2, 7-9, 6-2. In the second round he won from Brown of Norfolk, 6-2, 6-2. In the third round he won over Halderson, 6-4, 6-3, and he was next listed to go against Harry Koch, the state champion. Here's hoping.

The last report which came from Norfolk of special interest to Wayne people was that Frank Morgan was defeated in the semifinals by Koch, Morgan winning one of the three sets from the champion.

In the doubles Pile and Morgan met their fate in the first round, so that they will only appear in the consolation hereafter.

The News is telling of the different players, and gives the following complimentary notice to two of our Wayne men which sounds well, but is a shade off so far as facts are concerned:

"F. M. Pile and F. S. Morgan of Wayne, playing doubles here, won out last week at the northeast Nebraska tournament in Wayne. They had won the year before also. When they're home Mr. Pile runs the Fremont normal college and Mr. Morgan owns a store."

Country Open Air Service

On last Sunday afternoon an open air service was held on the porch of the home of Mr. R. R. Smith, six miles west of town. There was a good attendance of those who reside in the neighborhood, and a number were present from town. Miss Bernice Moler and Mr. Arthur Parry rendered solos during the meeting and Rev. Alexander Corkey preached a sermon from the text, "I was not disobedient to the heavenly vision."

The Nicest Tooth Paste

we ever saw

Nyidenta Cream is the most delightful and effective tooth cleanser and preservative you can possibly use.

Nyidenta enters the crypts and crevices of the teeth—even where the bristles of the brush fail to go—prevents fermentation and inhibits the growth of disease germs upon the mucous membranes of the mouth.

Nyidenta Cream is a prophylactic and preservative—it supplies the cleansing elements necessary to tooth preservation, elements that are found in the normal secretions of every mouth but always absent in the presence of decay.

It hardens the gums, protects, whitens, and polishes the enamel of the teeth—sweetens and perfumes the breath.

There is absolutely no waste to Nyidenta—it is clean and economical.

The Local Wool Market

Messrs. Hanssen & Wamburg have been buying and shipping wool from this place, and one member of the firm informed the Democrat that he thought they had bought and shipped all that was raised near Wayne. We asked how many car-loads they gathered in, and were surprised when told that they had not bought quite a ton. In fact, it did not seem possible that with all the "protection" granted by a generous people to encourage an infant industry that the wool production in the vicinity of Wayne would amount to so little. The price of all wools is high enough to warrant a very generous price for wool, we believe, yet one farmer who brought in two bags of wool from his little flock said that the price was 50 per cent higher a few years ago, and he does not think there is now any over-production. The present price for a good grade of medium wool was but 17 to 18 cents per pound. Thus we are protecting the wool trust, and calling it protection for the farmer, when not one farmer in 100 even pretend to grow sheep, and the few that do must sell their wool in a market in which there is no competitive bidding; and we all have to buy our woolen clothes in market into which no competition can come, because of the protective tariff. Why should the consumer be thus taxed for the benefit of the wool trust? Here is a lesson that comes right home, and all may see how it works. The hog raiser prospers in this country, the cattle grower also, and with practically no protection, but the wool industry declines because of protection shall we say. We ask every person who wears woolen clothing to investigate this phase of the tariff question.

Knows the Next President

Chas. P. Sebring from Plainfield, New Jersey, accompanied by his aunt, Mrs. Vail of Rock Rapids, Iowa, came last week to visit at the home of his cousin, Dr. W. B. Vail, a son of Mrs. Vail. Mr. Sebring came west to attend the republican convention at Chicago, and then continued his journey to visit two sisters of his mother, both of whom are getting old. He does not agree politically with the democratic presidential nominee whom he knows well, but he has no word other than praise for him, and he knows him well, and we incline to the belief that he will not feel very bad if his party nominee is defeated. After a day or two of visiting here, he went on to Norfolk with his aunt to visit relatives there, returning here for a short stop before starting on his return trip. We are glad to have a presidential nominee who stands so high in the estimation of those who know him best.

Obituary

Rubin Elmer Liveringhouse was born October 2, 1851 at Goshen, Indiana and died at Wayne, Nebraska, Sunday, July 14, 1912, at the home of his nephew, John Liveringhouse, aged 60 years, 9 months and 12 days.

He leaves his demise three brothers and one sister: William S. and David S., of Madison, John of Wayne and Mrs. Mary Sagandorf of Portland, Oregon.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon at three o'clock, Rev. Gorst officiating. The deceased was never married and has been a resident of Wayne county most the time since 1892.

The Democrat extends condolences to those in bereavement.

The Mayor Home Again

Mayor Kate and wife reached home Saturday evening after an absence of two weeks. While away they visited Ft. Dodge, Audubon (their old home), Waterloo and Cedar Falls, all in Iowa. The Mayor traveled with his eyes open and his best ear-listening to find out what other places are doing. He says that at no place did he see a city building that will compare with the one now building at Wayne. But he visited two or three places where they are paving, and from what he learned about paving he thinks it a good investment for the property owners of any place the size of Wayne. Ft. Dodge is putting in lots of paving, and Cedar Falls is starting the work. In this place in the residence district they have wide streets, and have converted the center of the street into a park in which are shade trees, grass and flowers, with paved strip 12 feet wide between the gutter and the parking in the center. This greatly reduces the cost of paving to the property owner; and adds to the beauty of the place.

At Cedar Falls he visited Iowa's great normal school and was shown over the entire place by the president of the institution. This is one of the great normal schools of the country with everything that is wanted provided by a generous state, but we doubt if it pleases the citizens of Iowa as well as do the four comparative small schools of this state. One reason is that the location is remote from three corners of the state, and thus many feel that they cannot attend because of the distance from home. Another objection is that it seems to put, such an artificial finish on those who attend that they will not thereafter accept a place in a country school, thus robbing the country schools of the best teachers. At any rate it will be several years before the Wayne normal is equipped with an $80,000 residence for the president, a $250,000 library building, and all other buildings to correspond, but we believe that our Nebraska Normals are doing as much for the schools of the state as is this institution.

From the Gildersleeve Ranch

W. H. Gildersleeve and J. A. Schmidt, who is head man on the lower Gildersleeve ranch, drove 72 head of fat cattle to Wayne early Wednesday which were shipped to South Omaha that day. Mr. Schmidt says that he has fed out 422 head of cattle on the place the past season. Just now they have a force of six or eight men putting up hay. The yield, he says is nearly twice as much as last year. In the sloughs it is a heavy crop, but lighter on high land, but far ahead of last year on both high and low land. He says that early oats and early sowed oats are a fair crop. Part of their oats were most too rank, and went down. These are being cut for hay.

Mr. Schmidt reports that he has had good luck with young pigs this spring and that about 250 of them are drawing rations at the farm. This is good report for this year when so many have reported heavy losses of young pigs.

Band Concert

The Band concert on the lawn of the Presbyterian church last Friday evening was a most enjoyable occasion. The lawn was decorated with a number of electric bulbs, and seats were provided for the immense crowds which assembled. The young people of the church served ice cream and cake to nearly 350 people. There were two bands, Professor Alexander's Boys Bands and Mr. Herbert Lessman's band from the country. The music of both bands was of a high order and was greatly enjoyed. Wayne county has reason to be proud of such efficient musical organizations and the leaders of the two bands are to be congratulated.

Missionary Meeting

The Women's Missionary society of the Presbyterian church met last Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Henry Schroer. The usual program, including the study of "The Light of the World," was given, and afterwards the hostess served dainty refreshments appropriate for a warm afternoon, which were much appreciated by those present.

Evangelical Conference at Altona

Beginning Tuesday a two-day session of the German Evangelical conference of Central North Nebraska was held in the new church building at Altona, seven miles southeast of Wayne. The visiting members were taken from Wayne by automobiles and returned here when the session closed, and they were hospitably entertained by the members of the local congregations. Twenty-three of the thirty churches in the district were represented and the meetings were full of interest.

Among the interesting papers that were followed by general discussion was one by Rev. E. Gehrke of Wakefield on "Family Devotion" and another paper was presented by Rev. B. Mueller of Norfolk on parents' rights concerning the marriage of their children. Rev. G. Bullinger of Concord conducted preaching and religious services Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons, the latter being catechisation on the "Last Judgment."

Those present and taking part in the meetings were: F. Schaller, Altona; H. Bronemann and E. Gehrke, Wakefield; H. Bohlsen, Wisner; Wm. Schaefer, Martinsburg; F. Rex, Laurel; G. Bullinger, Concord; J. Schulz, Wausa; G. Tiefert, Orchard; A. Ollenburg, Bloomfield; J. Aron and H. Spiering, Hoskins; J. P. Mueller, Norfolk; J. Hoffman and E. Eckhard, Battle Creek; H. Hensick, Madison; A. Gundlack, St. Bernard; T. Vogel, Tilden; M. Scheips, Pierce; H. Holstein, Plainview; F. Wings, Bazil Mills; A. Guelker, Fairfax; F. Neben, Clearwater; A. Grosse, Chambers; E. Just, Madison and F. Eggert, Ainsworth.

At Hospital With Broken Leg

Last Friday evening as Ernest Samuelson was driving home, a trace came unhooked and just as he was turning in at the home place northeast of Wayne the horses became unmanageable and soon had another tug down and were going to make more trouble as they were heading toward a wire fence. So the young man elected to get out of the buggy and did so, but with the momentum of the running team carrying him forward while gravity pulled him down he hit too hard, and sustained a compound fracture of the right leg just above the ankle. The break was especially bad to handle, being so near the joint, and his physician advised that he go to a hospital at Sioux City, which he did early next morning. His mother and sister accompanied him. Mrs. Samuelson returned Monday and reported that the fracture had been properly cared for and that he was getting along very well considering the nature of the break. She left him feeling cheerful over the assurance of the physician that he would have a pretty good leg in a few weeks.

Bought Farm in Oregon

H. H. Taylor, who returned from the west a few days ago, leaving an offer on an 80-acre farm when he came away, received word the first of the week that his offer is accepted, and he is the owner of a farm near LeGrande, Oregon. This is in the northeast part of the state, and is in a dry farm country that has in the past been largely devoted to the growing of small grains and grasses, but of late years they have been giving considerable attention to fruit growing and the place he bought has six acres of young orchard just coming to bearing. With the place he gets this year's crop, as that is the rule governing sales of land in that country. The purchaser gets stock and crop, farm machinery, etc., and in some instances the household goods. Mr. Taylor plans to leave for their new home about August 10. Their many Wayne friends wish them well.

Why Not?

One of our merchants suggested to the Democrat the idea of "Booster" trips by Wayne merchants, advertising Wayne as the place to trade. He also advocated a bargain week or trade carnival for opening up the fall trade season in proper shape. The people might better buy here than farther from home if Wayne merchants will go after the customers as they should. The Democrat will do all that it can to aid such an enterprise.

Base Ball Notes for the Week

By Official Reporter
Walthill's Warriors with the celebrated Johnson pitching and those old time stars, Provo, Chingway and Malory doing most of the hitting, played two highly exciting games of ball here this week, losing the first and saving the second in the ninth by a lucky break in their favor in the umpiring.

In the first game not an Indian crossed the plate. Gurness pitched splendid ball and was ably supported. In the second game they had us seven to two when the boys got started on the famous Johnson and nothing but two awful decisions by the umpire ever saved them from another drubbing. The final count was 7 to 6.

Our team has been the victim of unlucky breaks in the umpiring in three or four games this week. Generally the "umps" mistake will even up but in the Norfolk, Walthill and Madison games the mistakes came at a time when it meant scores and they were directly responsible for the loss of the games.

Last Thursday Norfolk and Wayne battled on the Norfolk diamond in an exciting game which went to Norfolk, 4 to 3.

Friday, the fast team from Randolph came down and against our expectations went home with a victory to their credit. The Randolph team has always been a hard team for Wayne in former years and we hoped to overcome them this year. Score, Randolph 4, Wayne 3.

Saturday, the Walthill Indians came up and we let them off the easiest way we knew how. They played good ball at times, but they found the Wayne team a little too strong. Score, Wayne 6, Walthill 0.

In the game at Madison yesterday the Wayne team lost a score of 6 to 4. Defeat is attributed to the fifty mile drive taken by the Wayne boys before the game and the rough and rutty condition of the diamond.

Next week we will have three crackerjack games. Wisner plays here Tuesday and interest will be added to this game by the fact that "Wally", who pitched for us last year will do the throwing for Wisner.

Bloomfield has a crack team. It was only with the hitting of the mighty Geo. Stone that Coleridge was able to beat them.

The Saturday game against Coleridge brings together two most successful teams in our section in number of games won. Geo. Stone who lead the American league in batting for two years is playing with Coleridge, his old home team, and you'll enjoy seeing him play. Remember, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

The Democrat for job printing.

Social Notes

The Bible Study Circle enjoyed an excellent service this week at the home of Mrs. Barker with Mrs. Hickman as leader. Mrs. Andrews of Fremont was present and gave some beautiful words of encouragement to the women. Some plans were made for the coming of Mrs. Arthur Carson that courageous woman who went into the heart of Burmah over twenty years ago and gave the Chins a written language, translating the bible into it, for their enlightenment. She is expected to arrive in Wayne August 1st and will address the Circle at the home of Mrs. Coleman at that time. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Oliver Graves next Wednesday afternoon and all are invited to come and enjoy the service.

On last Wednesday afternoon the ladies of the Presbyterian church enjoyed a social time at the country home of Mrs. W. H. Gildersleeve, two miles southeast of town. The ladies were taken out in automobiles, and a social time was enjoyed during the afternoon, after which a picnic supper was served.

Miss Pearl Madden entertained a number of young people at a sixty-third dinner in honor of Miss Irene Furcher of Plankinton, S. D., last Saturday evening. After the two course menu the guests were taken to the Crystal where they enjoyed the pictures.

H. D. Schroeder entertained a large crowd of young people at his place about 8 miles northeast of town last Saturday night by giving a social dance. At an appropriate hour delicious refreshments were served. A very good time is reported.

The Bridge Whist club met for a regular meeting with Miss Monte Theobald Tuesday evening. There was not very good attendance because of the absence of so many members.

Mrs. Wm. Mellor entertained the ladies of the Bridge Whist club at her home yesterday afternoon, complimentary to her sister, Mrs. Tillman of Washington. A delightful afternoon was spent.

The ladies of the German Lutheran church will hold a Bazaar at the Clinkenbeard store on Saturday afternoon. Refreshments will be served in connection with the affair.

The Ladies Aid society of the Lutheran church are having a session at the home of Mrs. John Gustafson this afternoon.

Miss Francis Rock of Niobrara is the guest of Miss Gertrude Stodden this week.

W. H. Merriman wife and daughter returned Saturday evening from their visit to Missouri. They did not say they were in love with the land of the "Houn' Dorg" and we do not think they were. The party they visited looked very rocky.

A. J. Weimer and wife arrived Sunday from Pasadena, California, for an extended visit at the home of the lady's parents, Anton Biegler and wife. Mrs. Biegler, who was visiting at Sioux City, returned home Sunday evening much surprised to find the daughter there.

The Junior member of the Democrat firm was one of about on hundred Nebraska newspaper men who were guests of the Knights of Aksarben and the Commercial club of Omaha last week and were royally entertained. The Union Stock Yards Company of South Omaha gave a luncheon to the newspaper men at the Stock Exchange building, South Omaha. The visitors were given an auto ride in the afternoon, short stops being made at Bellevue, the oldest town in Nebraska, Ft. Crook, headquarters 16th United States infantry, the Field club, Happy Hollow club, Ft. Omaha, headquarters United States army signal corps, and the Omaha waterworks. Dinner was served at Country club. In the evening many of the newspaper men were guests at the Aksarben den where a fine program of fun and frolic which the Knights of Aksarben give at the den each Monday evening until the last of September, pleased both. The visiting newspaper men were entertained over Monday night and at breakfast Tuesday morning at the Hotel Rome as guests of the Commercial club.

Some Potatoes

Last week the Democrat repeated a potato story regarding the returns of a hill of potatoes grown by Homer Wheaton. The ink is scarcely dry on the paper before that story looks like a last year's bird-nest, for now comes the report from Park Mabbott, that he had recently gone into his garden to get a mess of spuds for dinner, and not wishing to get into the regular patch of planted potatoes, tacked a-hill that had come up to one side, a sort of volunteer crop. When he had the bunch rounded up and a census taken he found that the potatoes numbered 64 from the one hill. After these are eaten he will try a hill or two from those he planted.

Norfolk 4-Wayne 3

Just a bit of sensational sport was witnessed on the Driving Park diamond Thursday afternoon, when a crowd of enthusiastic fans topped the 200 mark saw Howe's sattes steal a game of ball from the Wayne aggregation in the very last inning by a score of 4 to 3.

Neither outfit scored until the sixth inning, when each side received a tally. Up to that inning the game had developed into a pitcher's battle with Thieman doing some gilt edged work, backed by most excellent support. Gurness' fight against Thieman was most radical, but the support the latter twirler had was also gilt edge assistance up to the said inning when the said support seemed to have slightly failed him. Thieman however, continued the wonderful twirling throughout the game.—News.

The Drop of Lorimer

Saturday afternoon the United States Senate made final disposition of the case of William Lorimer of Illinois who has been under charges of and trial for obtaining his election by "corrupt methods and practices." The trial has dragged along over a period of two years, has been the subject of rigid investigation, and an investigation of the methods of members of the legislature which elected him, followed by numerous indictments of the members, but none were convicted and we think none were acquitted, but the jury disagreed, and a charge of jury bribing has resulted.

The investigation has cost a vast amount of time and money, but we think it was worth all that it cost, for it has been the means of bringing before the people the corruption of our senatorial elections, and has done much to create an irresistible public sentiment in favor of direct election of these servants. Not only that, but it has caused the defeat of several senators who were controlled by the same corrupt interests as those back of Lorimer, and others of their kind have seen the hand-writing on the wall and are not—dare not—be a candidate for re-election, so we say the results justify the cost.

All agree that personally, Lorimer is a clean, honest man, his word as good as his bond, that he is a mental giant is also admitted, yet he evidently had a weak spot in his mental or moral conception of things for we cannot see how he could otherwise be so blind to the fact that it is far more dishonorable to betray a confiding people, when chosen as their representative, or accept an office at the hands of those who have been unfaithful to a trust, than to wrong an individual in purse. In one instance but few are wronged at the most; in the other many are wronged. If Lorimer is as smart as he is credited with being, he must have known that his election was bought, and if as honest as claimed, his conception of honesty is not on the square.

Extraordinary preparations have been made by the Nebraska State Volunteer Firemen's association to make this year's tournament at Norfolk, Nebr., July 23, 24 and 25 a success. Over $3,500 worth of prizes will be given away and hundreds of exciting contests have been arranged. Every fireman who will visit the tournament will be well taken care of and accommodations have been arranged to take care of every visitor. Citizens of Nebraska will find plenty of excitement if they visit this tournament. Many hands are to furnish abundant music, and one building has been purchased to burn up. Exciting fire fights are scheduled and some of the races promise to be spectacular. Many free exhibitions of a spectacular nature are to be pulled off. Omaha's bank clearings this season indicate the healthy condition of business in Nebraska. Without exception, each week has shown larger increases than the corresponding weeks last year and now with the crops beginning to come in, the business men are picking up and getting ready for the good times which will follow.

Why You Got the Wrong Number

Did you ever get the wrong party when you called a telephone number? Probaby you blamed the Telephone Company. Most people do. But the chances are you misplaced the responsibility.

Most misdirected calls are due to subscribers speaking indistinctly, or to their calling the wrong number. Don't try to remember a number. Memory plays strange tricks. Always consult the directory.

When you have called the wrong number you owe the disturbed subscriber an apology. Practically you have been caught on the wrong side of a street crowded with traffic.

A Crippled Mind

Many strong minds, giant intellects, are held down and starved out by crippled digestive power, dyspepsia and the poison absorbed as a result of chronic constipation. If your stomach lacks digestive power the natural and simplest thing to do is to put into it the agents it lacks. Above all things avoid strong drugs that paralyze and irritate the stomach and bowels. A sound, healthy stomach contains the same digestive agents Spruce Pepsin tablets contain.

Spruce Pepsin tablets will digest fermenting, decaying food that lays like a lump in your stomach. We have proved this thousands of times or we would not dare spend thousands of dollars to prove it to every sufferer from stomach trouble. We will send you a trial box FREE. ### Save Fodder, Sell The Hay

Ordinarily it would be regarded out of season to be talking about saving the corn fodder, when there is no corn fodder in sight. And again, the advocacy of corn fodder as a feed in this great and of plenty, where hay and foreign crops in general have been so recklessly and extravagantly wasted in years gone by, would seem to many farmers and land owners as an impracticable proposition from the standpoint of economy in harvesting and preparation of feed. It is true that some feed value has been derived from the fodder of the great cornfields of the corn-producing country by turning cattle into these stalks to pasture on them through the late fall and winter season. The value of this feed under this method of handling has been variously and indifferently estimated, all the way from nothing up to 30 cents per acre, and yet what does that amount to when compared to the actual feed value of the cornstalks analyzed and tested out in feeding experiments in recent years by the agricultural experiment stations? Forty per cent of the feeding value of the corn rests in the fodder.

In seasons of great scarcity of hay, corn fodder is sometimes resorted to as a means of helping out in the wintering of the farm animals. This is usually done by cutting and shocking the corn and later husking out the corn and feeding the fodder, or in feeding the shocked corn, fodder and all. Corn shredders are used to some extent and are satisfactory on the large farms where extensive feeding is being carried on. The inconvenience of handling and feeding corn fodder from the shock and the resultant waste by animals not eating up clean the larger parts of the stalks has caused more or less dissatisfaction in this form of the use of the corn fodder.

The fodder press has come to the rescue at the last moment and made it possible for all shocked fodder to be put into baled form as neatly as baled hay and stored in this form free from damage by rain, and at the same time crushed into a mass that makes it easily handled by fodder-eating animals, especially cattle and horses. The importance of such an improvement as a fodder baler can readily be appreciated by anyone familiar with handling fodder from the shock and knowing the waste from feeding it in an uncrushed form. The cutting machine that cuts it up into inch or half-inch lengths is a saving means of feeding fodder, but this requires additional labor in the work of handling and distributing the chopped feed.

The fodder baler that bales from the shock, with a portable gasoline power on trucks, which carries the whole machinery process, seems to be an economical proposition and goes a long way toward solving the use of the fodder product on the farm. The turning of the fodder of the big cornfield into a palatable and easily masticated form of cow feed, where all waste and manure may be saved about the feeding places to be put back on the land and where it makes possible by this utilization of a present waste product the turning of other feeds, such as hay, into the commercial markets of the country at good prices seems a long step in the interest of conservation of the farm. It is this waste of feed and waste of fertilizer that comprises such a large percent of the corn crop, left in the field to dry up and become wholly worthless as feed or fertilizer, that appeals to the farmer and land owner in this opportunity to save one of the greatest feeds produced, when its feed and fertilizing qualities are jointly considered.

The fact that the fodder is an essential part of the corn crop and must grow and mature with the grain is the greater reason why its utility qualities and properties be observed and a proper means be employed to bring it to the highest possible advantage as a source of revenue in crop-growing. The utilizing of all that the crop produces is the basis of profit-growing crops. Twentieth Century Farmer.

The Iowa Homestead is the busy farmer's paper. In summer time its contents are confined to the boiled down essentials of the season. Each department is a complete handbook of facts relating to the division of farm work of which it treats. In this respect it is of outstanding merit. ### The Skin and Not The Blood

Until recently it has been a generally accepted theory that eczema was a disease of the blood. Scientific investigations have taught us that eczema is positively a skin disease and curable through the skin alone. Meritol Eczema Remedy is applied directly to the skin, the effect is marvelous and its results permanent. Do not delay trying Meritol Eczema Remedy. For sale at Leahy's Drug store, sole agents.

Mr. Farmer, one who claims to know pretty well about some things in some parts of this county which he travels over every day except when observing Sunday or a holiday, or has a substitute, tells the Democrat that the small grain crop of this county is going to be pretty fair crop. He is not so sure about the corn, but he says that he is sure that in two or three places, and maybe more, the man who tills the soil has a job ahead of him, for Russian thistles are coming on, and that means a hard fight for their extermination. That is, unless you want to let them exterminate the crop.

And then, Mr. Farmer, another man who has been automobilizing over the country, says that he never before saw corn so backward in coming forward, especially some pieces that show lack of good farming. All corn is a little late this season, but this man says that some of it can never get out of the weeds and grass and grow nibs before frost. If we had a forlorn hope like that we would plow the field and put in a crop of millet right away quick and grow the biggest kind of a feed crop, for feed will be feed next winter, and two ton of millet per acre will beat a bunch of dwarfed corn stalks for the live stock next January.

Uplift of Rural Life

The Iowa Agricultural college at Ames has planned a week of rural life work of a highly educational and practical character to be offered to its citizens who are interested in agricultural study and training. This work is especially suited to the needs and demands of teachers, ministers and community leaders in the country districts of the state and will occupy the time from July 24 to 30, inclusive. The time will be especially devoted to the discussion and study of rural life problems. The fixed features of the program are made up of introductory discussion by men and women of local reputation who have achieved success from their practical work in the several relations and features of farm and home life.

The public school work of the country will be discussed in view of suggesting improvements and advantages that might be acquired.

The country church will be a topic handled by Dr. Warren H. Wilson, who has charge of the country church work of the Presbyterian church, and who will deliver several discourses in conjunction with other noted divines on the various relations of the church to rural life. The rural school and the rural church are by the nature of the work they are trying to do very closely related. It is the purpose of these educational sessions to put these two institutions of learning and reform more closely together in the advantages and benefit they may be able to exert among the people. The more united communities become in their mutual interest, in building up institutions of reform and social betterment, the greater their reformatory influence before the world.

There seems to be a realization among the country or rural district ministers that they should know more of the business and occupation of their parishioners; be capable of talking intelligently about the crops and the business features of the farm and have some idea of scientific farming and be able to talk farm with some degree of interest. This is not all the minister should be posted on; the social rural life problem, the sociological side of country life, is a very important subject at this time, and no one, if qualified, could do more good missionary work than the minister. People in all walks of life are eager to hear practical topics discussed, and the present-day church congregation is no exception to the rule in this respect. —Twentieth Century Farmer.

Democratic State Convention

The democratic electors of the state of Nebraska are hereby called to meet in delegate convention in the city of Grand Island, Tuesday, July 30, 1912, at 2 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of drafting a democratic state platform, the election of a democratic state committee, and the transaction of any other business which may properly come before the convention.

The representation in said convention will be based upon the vote cast for presidential electors in 1908, and each county will be entitled to one delegate for each 150 votes, or major fraction thereof, cast at said presidential election, and one delegate-at-large from each county, giving the several counties representation as follows:

Cuming, 12; Dixon, 8; Stanton, 6; Wayne, 8; Total of state 978.

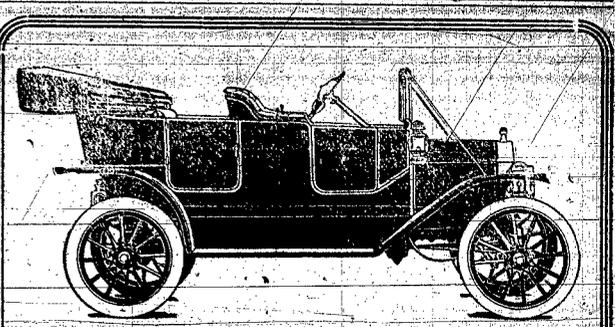

It is recommended by the state committee that no proxies be recognized by the state convention, but that the delegates actually present from each county be authorized to cast the full number of votes to which the county is entitled under this call.

J. C. BYRNES, Chairman.
LEO MATTHEIS, Secretary.

The actual valuation returned by the assessors, in round numbers, is $35,000,000.

South Sioux City is progressing, the council at the last meeting turning down a petition for another saloon and then inaugurating a move to establish waterworks for the city. The world do move.

We have been voting and then thinking what might have been had we voted after a little reflection. It is suggested that voters do the thinking first this year and then be better satisfied with results.

Ever notice how a little girl in short skirts will reach for the skirt and hold it up when going through a little water puddle that the skirt does not come within a foot of? They are just getting the habit against the time when they wear a train.

When Nebraska began to harvest its bumper grain crop the twine trust discovered that they had been caught short of binding twine. Perhaps they can raise the price on what they have high enough to get as much money as though they had cut the string longer.

The Democrats of Wayne county will meet in mass convention at the court house Saturday afternoon, the 27th, and there should be a general attendance from over the county. Democracy has never appeared to have a brighter prospect for a victory than now, and added to the prospect for winning at the polls is the promise that a democratic victory now will mean much to the people in advancing economic reforms, so do not stay away the 27th, for in spite of bright prospects it will take an organized effort to get best results. Come and help the cause you believe to be right.

The best campaign contribution the average voter can give to the cause of progressive democracy this fall is intelligent, well-directed effort to induce half a dozen friends to study the issues and vote right. If he can do that and spare a little money also he will be doing his country real service.

According to figures given out last week from one in authority, the cost of electing Roosevelt over Parker was $1,900,000. Now if they double the salary of the president several times more the four year job will not near pay the cost of an election. Of course, the President draws the salary, and the "interests" pay the campaign expenses.

It is suggested that Wm. Flinn of Pennsylvania write the tariff plank for the Roosevelt party; and no one will deny that Geo. W. Perkins if not competent to write the trust plank, can secure the aid of Morgan for the task, and possibly some of the "Dear Mr. Herriman" brand will look after the platform utterances on railroads, and possibly raise fourth of a million dollars of expenses for the honor.

Mike Harrington has jumped the fence again and is out looking for more trouble. He was for Wilson until his desire was gratified, and now he is out for Theodore. He thinks, evidently, that the Muhsy, Perkins and McCormick crowd will have a larger and better filled barrel than the crowd behind Wilson. He gives as his excuse for going away from democracy, the chaff that he did not know that Roosevelt would be a candidate, and also that after Wilson's nomination was practically assured Sullivan, Taggart and Ryan tried to catch onto the tail of the wagon as the procession went past. Those fellows were not invited to a seat in the bandwagon and they are trying to steal a ride behind.

The Iowa republicans are evidently reforming, for they never before did as they propose in the following resolution. But that talk may have been made to catch votes on both sides of the question:

The republicans of Iowa believe in the rule of the people. We believe that the popular will when fairly expressed in convention or primary, should be faithfully observed. Grave and serious abuses of the convention and caucus system of nominating our candidates have brought the party to a condition in which great numbers of our loyal adherents question the integrity of the nominations made by our national convention. However, we urge upon every republican to stand loyally by all party nominations made in the state, in districts and in counties, leaving to his individual conscience the controversy over the national nominations.

What is a Republican?

Not long ago the leading question in political circles was, "What is a Democrat?" In those days the answer was a little mixed, but today there is but one answer to the question, for the party is united as never before and the question has been settled and settled right. Now the evolution is going on in the republican party, and the answer to the question depends upon where you are when you ask it.

In Iowa it is officially declared that a republican is one who supports the state ticket and either faction of the old crowd on national issues.

In Oklahoma he must be for the Roosevelt electors to be a republican, and if he does that he may remain in good standing if he supports the democratic nominees for state offices.

If in Indiana, the question is answered by loyalty to the President and will help to oust the five candidates for electors who are for Teddy.

In Illinois the progressives are going to name a candidate for governor in opposition to the regular nominee unless he will come to their side of the fence.

If in Kansas you must be for Theodore, and what will be the answer in the 44 other states?

November will tell. But it will not matter much for a united democracy with the aid of those who are swelling her ranks from the party that is so hopelessly divided will carry the election for a progressive national policy. For a house divided, one side against the other, cannot stand.

TO CLEAN UP CITY.

School Children of New Rochelle, N. Y., Begin Campaign.

The school children of New Rochelle, N. Y., have begun a campaign in all parts of the city to clean front and back yards and to look after the cleaning of the streets and alleys. Mayor Frederick H. Waldorf and Edward J. Cordial, president of the city council, have offered gold watches to the boys and girls who have the cleanest yards and who have caused others to clean their yards by the end of June.

The children will form corps to patrol the streets to keep them free of debris and papers and ask every person who is in the habit of throwing papers, fruit skins and cigar stumps in the streets to throw them into receptacles to be placed at intervals by the General Improvement association.

Mrs. Elsie Littell returned Sunday from Chicago, where she attended the National Educational meeting last week. She realizes more than ever the magnitude of our educational machinery and the various kinds of people who belong to the profession. The sessions held in the auditorium were so large as to be unwieldy, and few speakers could make themselves heard throughout the building, and though those of the audience were teachers who probably would not tolerate whispering in their schools, those who could not hear what was going on from the stage forgot the rule, which shows that teachers and pupils are more or less alike.

Among The Churches of Wayne

Methodist Church
(Rev. Wm Gorst, Pastor)

Howard P. Young, a member of the Nebraska Conference, pastor of the M. E. church at Table Rock and brother to our own E. B. Young, Sunday school missionary, will preach at the M. E. church next Sunday morning at 10:30. Mr. Young is one of the two ministers recently threatened with death, through the use of anonymous letters because of his aggressiveness against saloons and their methods and devastation in Table Rock. As yet he is very much alive and the traffic has some one to fear when he is at hand.

In the evening at 6:30 the congregation will join in the union services when Mrs. Edith Smith Davis will speak. She is a great woman thoroughly equipped for her work and the people may expect a great treat. Beginning as a lecturer on literary subjects, Mrs. Davis now finds it impossible to respond to the calls for temperance lectures alone. Her platform ability is happily described described in the following tribute: "Mrs. Davis is eloquent, logical and convincing. These strong qualities combined with personal magnetism, intensity, charming womanliness, and a spirit of self-sacrificing devotion, make her a great speaker. Her power in the educational world is marvelous.

The large teachers' conventions she addressed as well as the smaller groups of teachers in the rural communities, give immediate, active response to the warm, intelligent sympathy with which she greets them. She has won the lasting, cordial co-operation of hundreds of educators who have been enlightened by her scientific utterances. Public school teachers, school boards, principals of normal schools, and college presidents have all declared her addresses to be 'most sane, scientific and inspiring.' "

Presbyterian Church
(Rev. Alexander Corkey, Pastor)

The Communion will be observed at the Presbyterian church next Sabbath morning. The subject of the address by the pastor will be "Our Passover." In connection with the service, Mr. Willis Fleetwood will sing Mrs. Alexander's hymn, "There is a Green Hill Far Away."

The Session of the church have arranged for services during July and August as follows:

July 21st, Communion service conducted by the pastor.

July 28th, a combined service of the Sunday school and church in the interest of the Sunday school. This service will begin at 10:00 a. m.

On August 4th the pulpit will be supplied by a visiting minister. The pastor will resume his pulpit duties on Sunday, August 18th.

Baptist Church
(Rev. E. P. Richardson, Pastor)

We have not yet felt the effect of the hot weather upon our church attendance to any great extent. During these summer months we shall always be considerate of the people's comfort and make all of our services somewhat shorter.

Sunday morning at 10:45 o'clock, the pastor will preach on the subject, "Individual Faithfulness."

In the evening we shall again join in the union service at the court house.

Our Wednesday evening prayer meetings are well attended and full of helpfulness. "Come and See."

WOMEN HOLD A BUDGET EXHIBIT

Suffragists' Good Work in a New York State Town.

HELPED BY THE AUTHORITIES.

A Set of Questions Pertaining to Municipal Betterment Was Also Sent to Candidates For Public Office—Other Towns Could Make Use of the Plan.

While women in England are smashing windows and breaking heads women in America with the same ultimate aim are engaged not in destructive militancy, but in active constructive participation in government. The first step in this direction was taken recently by members of the Hudson River Equal Franchise society when they started a campaign for the social and economic rehabilitation of a New York state town.

As a starting point the society held a budget exhibit. At this exhibit was shown how much the village has expended for various kinds of services during the past several years and what has been obtained for the amounts so spent. Unusual increases in appropriations were analyzed with a view to ascertaining whether such increases have been due to need for increased services or whether they have been due to wrong methods.

The significance of this method lies not in its application to this particular town, but to the fact that it applies almost without exception to almost all American communities. With the cooperation of the New York bureau of municipal research and the Westchester county research bureau the members of the Equal Franchise society have begun a movement which may well become nation wide. The members, however, did not stop at holding this budget exhibit. They wanted to be sure that the village trustees would fall in with their plans. Accordingly just before the recent election each of the candidates was asked whether if elected he would do his part to bring about such progressive steps as these:

First.—To formulate an annual budget showing all incomes and outgoes for the coming year, each budget to be based on a clearly defined community program.

Second.—To hold public hearings on the program and on the budget.

Third.—To provide in advance for all annual expenses in order that unpaid bills might not run into succeeding years.

Fourth.—To revise and equalize the assessment rolls.

Fifth.—To install an effective system of accounts and records.

Sixth.—To draw up definite specifications and award contracts to the lowest responsible bidder.

Seventh.—To require prompt and full publication of village reports.

Eighth.—To maintain a bureau of information for inquiries, complaints and suggestions of citizens.

Ninth.—To call a conference at least once a year with officials of neighboring communities which affect or are affected by the town's policies.

Tenth.—To accept the advice of informed citizens and experts in all village matters.

Eleventh.—To adopt vigorous measures to eradicate preventable causes of disease.

To these eleven questions all the candidates answered in the affirmative, some of the replies showing unlooked for enthusiasm. As a result, the members of the society are in the unique position of having a public administrative body waiting for their suggestions.

For the little town the carrying out of the plan will mean rehabilitation for the cause of those espousing it. The results will reach even farther. Through the idea municipalities will see their potentialities.

BEAUTIFY THE SCHOOL YARD.

Just at present is a good time for all interested to look over the local school yard and consider if it meets their ideas regarding beauty, shade, protection, educational value, etc. If it does not, the time is ripe to "get busy" with others who are interested is equal to yours and try to ameliorate present conditions so that this piece of public property will no longer be a reproach to those in control.

PLANT CHERRY TREES TO ADD TO TOWN'S REVENUE.

An Interesting Experiment Tried at Burlington, Wash.

An interesting experiment in civic advancement has been inaugurated in the town of Burlington, Wash. At a recent election this town went "dry," and, in order to secure a revenue to offset the loss of saloon license money, the council decided to make use of public grounds and highways by planting thousands of cherry trees, the cherry having been established as the most practical tree crop for that section. The town will care for and harvest the crop, and it is estimated that at the end of ten years a large part of Burlington's civic expenses will be paid for out of the revenue from the cherry crop.

The interesting side of this experiment, however, is that it supplements in a practical way the movement now growing in the east—the ideal planning or rearrangement of town centers and highways. Country folk are coming to the realization that their roads, though actually belonging to the state, virtually belong to the people of the community. The pride in community matters is an estimable one, for so far as the individual is concerned it is unselfish. Farmers are now caring for the highways in front of their homes because they consider it a duty to the township and an asset to their places. In many parts of Europe roadside fruit trees are a source of regular income, yielding in some instances over $500 an acre. Granges have recommended the planting of such trees along the highways for the beauty that they lend to surroundings. If the idea of beauty can be supplemented by the idea of Burlington's harvest of funds it will give the plan double significance to the community.

State Normal Notes

The fall term will open September 16.

Professor Bright addressed a joint meeting of the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. Sunday afternoon.

A number of students in attendance at the summer session have decided to return to school next year.

The large attendance from the city at the concert last Monday evening was a nice compliment to the quartette and to Miss McBeth.

On Thursday morning the general exercises will be in charge of the Stanton county students. County Superintendent A. L. Burnham will be present and deliver an address.

Among the visitors of the past week were Superintendent F. E. Morrow of Central City, Superintendent Steinbach of Bancroft and former State Superintendent W. K. Fowler of Lincoln.

The chapel exercises Friday morning will consist of a special musical program. A chorus of thirty voices under the direction of Professor Coleman will furnish the music. The public is invited.

The Dixon county students are to be congratulated upon the success of their program last Friday morning. The exercises were well planned and the address by Superintendent Teed was helpful and inspiring.

The Philomathean Literary society extends a cordial invitation to the public to attend a program in the chapel next Friday evening. "The Silent Detective" will be presented under the direction of Miss McBeth.

The school was fortunate in securing the services of Miss Charlotte White to act as librarian during the absence of Mrs. Bright. Miss White is familiar with every phase of school work, and under her supervision the work in the library has continued without a break.

A teachers' examination for county and state certificates will be held at the Normal on July 25 and 26. Any applicant for a certificate expecting to teach in some county other than Wayne may take this examination. Wayne county teachers should report to Superintendent Littell at the court-house.

Last spring Mr. French Penn taught a two-months term of school in district number 28 of Wayne county. At the close of the year he decided to return to the Normal and was not an applicant for reelection. Recently the board offered to increase his salary $7.50 per month and Mr. Penn accepted the position. We congratulate him upon the success of his first term.

A department of the school which was not a part of the regular curriculum until this summer is the kindergarten. Miss Alwine W. Luers, the teacher in charge, began the work at the opening of the term with only four little tots enrolled. The number has gradually increased until the enrollment has reached seventeen, the ages ranging from four to six years. Miss Luers' aim is to teach the children to express themselves freely, to be orderly, to obey, and to recognize the rights of others.

The work with the children is from 9:45 to 11:15 every school day. Friends of the school are cordially invited to visit this department before the close of the term.

A very large audience greeted the Normal Quartette and Miss McBeth last Monday evening. It is occasion for congratulation that the Normal, with the help of Mrs. Johnson, has the talent to present a program so elaborate and so classical. All the music was of the best and the rendition of each number was worthy of the production. Perhaps the song "Hard Times Come Again No More" was the most appreciated of any of the quartette numbers, though the "Good Night Song" was a close second. Miss McBeth appeared four times and each number was a distinct success; but the thrilling story of the Man in the Shadow made, perhaps, the most profound impression. Special appreciation is due to Mrs. Johnson, who is an accompanist of rare taste, and to Willis I. Fleetwood, who has sung with the quartette the entire year. He sang his solos in splendid style, has a voice of unusual promise and he will be known some day, we believe, as a great singer. The duet by Messrs. Coleman and Lackey and the solos by these same singers were also much appreciated. Professor Coleman, the director of the quartette, is an enthusiastic and tireless worker, an excellent musician and is receiving golden opinions because of his success in the management of the music of the Normal.

THE PANTORIUM,
Wayne, Nebraska.
Madison Brown, Prop.
Opposite the Union Hotel.

The Columbus Telegram hands the following package to the M. W. A. giving his opinion of the attempt to ruin a great fraternal order by foisting old-line rates upon its members:

"On my desk lies a bulletin, issued by the arrogant head camp officials of the Modern Woodmen society. God forbid that any editor should publish anything to harm that great fraternal organization, which has carried so much of helpful cheer to so many desolate homes! But also I pray that every editor to whom that insulting bulletin has been addressed may gain courage to expose to public gaze the almost criminal conduct of the officers of that great society. Not content with stealthily stealing through the head camp a new system of rates which must necessarily rob the older members of the society of the protection which they carried for their families, the head officers now add shame to shame by appealing to the press to help them cover their dastardly doings with the slime of a shameful silence. And the meanest thing in connection with the infamy is the fact that these head officials are using the money which was contributed by their victims, and spending it with a lavish hand in an effort to prove that they did not commit a crime when they were seduced by the hypnotic influence of the old-line life companies. Talk about your steam rollers at political conventions—why, the world has not produced a steam roller of greater magnitude, nor one guided by bloodier hands than that same steam roller employed by the agents of the wealthy old-line life companies to crush to its death the greatest fraternal and beneficial society which any age has known."

Geo. Geise, now living south of Wakefield, has rented the Henry Hansen farm about 11 miles southeast of Wayne for next year at a rental of $4.25 per acre. There are 160 acres in the farm. This farm is in the best part of Wayne county, we are told, and but that there is no town nearer than Wayne would bring a higher rental. Eleven miles make a long road to market these days; but time was when roads in Nebraska were not nearly so good as now that twice that distance from railroad was considered right in town.

The Wayne-Meadow Grove Shoot

Mr. Holbrook broke his gun and it was necessary to finish the match with five men. Mr. Rudd shot out his hundred but the number he broke out of the first twenty-five was all that was counted. Mr. Rudd, however, broke 24 out of 25 during the shoot, his score was 67. Dr. Kindred was the only one that got 25 straight. J. M. Wiley was the high man for the entire shoot. The boys feel good over their success and expect to visit Meadow Grove within a week or so and feel that their success may be a greater victory especially if Miner gets his eye back and Fisher gets his shoulder in condition.

Our boys can shoot much better than they showed yesterday and unless the visitors do much better on their home grounds, we will give them a good clean-up.

A Small Blaze

Friday morning the fire alarm sounded, the cause being a little fire which started at the Reetz-Jones garage. They were working on a car that seemed to have some trouble in the internal regions and had previously turned a little gasoline into the engine's works to carry out some of the accumulated dirt and grease, and a little later lit a match to look into one of the dark pockets, thinking that the gasoline had drained out of the machine, and then they saw a great light. The blaze did not damage the car in which it started, however, and was soon smothered out, but they will use an electric light the next time they want to see how the interior workings of an automobile appear.

The bride and groom came from their home at Magnet, accompanied by Mr. Cecil Coep and Miss Lillian Bauders best man and bridesmaid. The latter couple returned to Magnet on the morning train, but the bride and groom remained at Wayne until the afternoon train, when they continued their journey to Sioux City, where they will remain a few days before returning to home duties. Mr. Tittet is an industrious young farmer who tired of keeping bachelor hall, and the bride is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Peters. May happiness attend them.

A Tale of The Baltimore Fight

We have read no better account of the Baltimore convention than that furnished to the Cincinnati Enquirer by James W. Faulkner, the greater part of which is given below:

"If any person pretending to the possession of knowledge gives it out oracularly that in the late fracas at Baltimore, Md., William Jennings Bryan was run over by a steam roller, had his tail feathers pulled out or lost his hold on the party, bet him one million dollars in pennies that he is full brother to the monkey of the jungles. It is true possibly, that William lost the consideration and respect of certain politicians whose little game he blocked most beautifully, but it is not true that he lost anything else. And do not let any one, however high his brow may be, get away with the story that the bosses ran the convention. That is one of Hon. Theodore Roosevelt's hallucinations.

The gentleman from Lincoln outmaneuvered the whole crowd of them. Like a first class checker player, every time he lost a "man" he jumped two of theirs and landed in the king row. When they started they had a majority of the convention, they had the machinery, the money, the crowds and the claque. When they finished he had everything they began with except the money. So deftly did he work his plays that all the money outside the United States Treasury couldn't have bought the nomination for one of the Twelve Apostles. The convention was clean in that respect, and he made it so. The gathering may have been noisy and rough at times, but it was on the level. His opponents fought hard, but he fought harder, and while they may be sore over his triumph, they certainly were impressed with his prowess. His winning was simple enough in its methods. He appealed to the great mass of the democratic voters outside the convention, while the leaders of the opposition were operating upon the thousand delegates within the hall. Reduced to ordinary arithmetic, he offset the thousand with the six million and a half voters. His tactics were bound to win in the end if he could get sufficient time. Enmeshed in their own foolish devices, they gave him more time than he needed. They seemed to forget that there was such a thing as the magnetic telegraph or the daily newspaper in existence. The limit of their field of operation was the city of Baltimore. His extended from ocean to ocean and from Canada to Mexico. Like the muscular party at Donnybrook Fair, with the black-thorn shillalagh, his work was "beeyoutiful." It showed what one plucky man with sense could do with a clutch of fat-headed politicians who were playing the game under the rules of 1860. It wasn't until the avalanche of indignant telegrams descended upon them, propelled by aroused sentiment at home, that they began to discern how skillfully he had trapped them.

To begin with, he knew every card they held in their hands when the game began, and they weren't aware of what he was holding. They thought he was a candidate for President—and he let them think so! To smoke him out they put up Judge Alton B. Parker for chairman and chuckled. The Nebraskan sought out a private room and did a Highland fling in exceeding great joy. He had them. Reappearing with a face that resembled that of an undertaker at a $500 funeral, he appeared to be very much concerned for the safety of the Republic. In the language of the sporting world, they fell for it, and fell hard.

"Here's where we hang the binger on Bill," they chortled as they proceeded to push Parker over the line. Right then and there he won the game.

Inside of an hour the country was ringing with his declaration that the predatory interests were endeavoring to seize the high parliament of the Democracy and sell it into bondage to Wall street. Daringly enough, he singled out those two shocked persons, Thomas Fortune Ryan and August Belmont and used them as Exhibits A and B, respectively, to prove that the money devil and hisimps were there in their proper persons. They were merely modest exhibitors, but William had them on exhibition in an entirely different guise. Inside of 12 hours the telegraph companies began to reap a golden harvest from the frightened Democrats "back home," who sent messages to their chosen representatives to resist with all their power this fiendish attempt to throttle liberty. If they couldn't see their way clear to do this, the messages said, they were requested to remain in Baltimore the rest of their days or run the risk of being tarred and feathered and carried on a rail if they dared to show their faces in Cohosh or wheresoever they hailed from.

Just as they were breathing easier after the first batch of telegraphed indignation and peremptory orders, William delivered the second installment by offering his now memorable resolution, inviting Messrs. Ryan and Belmont to go away from there and pledging the party not to nominate any one who owed them money, marbles or chalk or who believed that they were otherwise than direct descendants of the Accuser of the Brethren. That finished them for all offensive purposes—and then he landed the knockout or bacon-producing punch by leaving Hon. Champ Clark for having accepted the support of New York. They couldn't get away from his blows. Like the more or less punk pugilist who was receiver general for a fine fusillade of wallops, "their feet stuttered." Hon. Champ fell exactly 1,000 feet and 9 inches straight down into oblivion, emitting loud cries as he whizzed bottomward. Now, Bryan was on to Clark's game for months and months. He was aware that there was a deal on right here in Ohio with the Harmon outfit which kept the speaker's name off the preference primary ballot. The proof came when Clark came rushing over from Washington and in his rage demanded to know "why Ohio had not kept that agreement." What agreement? For an answer please address postal card to the now closed Harmon headquarters here. Clark's action was water on his wheel. So was the blistering attack of John B. Stanchfield, of New York, referring to him as a lot of things that were extremely "un-nice." William simply smiled inscrutably. Inside the convention hall John B. was hailed as a hero. Outside of it he was regarded by the now raging rank and file as demon with prolonged horns, a cloven hoof and a long and prehensile tail. General result: More telegrams in bunches, basket and bales.

After that it was a cakewalk. The bosses whose heads were not completely swathed in adipose tissue began to take counsel with themselves. They were hearing the thunder and seeing the lightning. If there is anything the politician despises and fears it is getting caught out in a shower of popular indignation. Up went the umbrellas one by one, and one by one the bosses began scooting for shelter.

Like the penitent thief on the cross they sent word to Bryan to remember them when he came "in to his kingdom." On the exterior they pretended to be brave, but on the interior their cowardly natures were at work. "Bryan or Wilson" was the ultimatum that the people were sending, and their teeth were chattering lest the chances to act would get away. They saw to it that it did not. There was a fine "bunk" play over "releasing delegates from their obligations." That was the slapstick number on the program. The fact was that the delegates were releasing themselves, and doing it, doing it, doing it. Each boss, bosslet and bossikin was watching the other so that there shouldn't be any advantage gained by hopping across the line. So all at once, on the forty-sixth ballot, Mr. Bryan, calmly fanning himself with an evening newspaper, watched with twinkling eyes the whole herd bolting through the gap in the fence he had opened. All the power of the bosses, all their tricks and all of their money had resulted in naught. One man with gumption and sand had whipped the entire gang. And that man laughed at them.

Two Platforms Outlined

Washington, July 16.—There is a vast difference between the platforms adopted by the Republicans at Chicago and the Democrats at Baltimore. The Republican platform is thoroughly reactionary and standpat. It prates about "protecting American workmen," and "maintaining the American standard of wages," when every citizen knows that both of these are shame and hypocracies. The Republican platform also is evasive, so that in the remote event of Republican success, it could be interpreted in any way the high tariff bosses might want it interpreted.

The Democratic platform, on the other hand, is specific and definite. It promises, not to "revise the tariff, but to "revise it downward."

Here, briefly, are some of the important promises in the Democratic document:

1—A tariff for revenue only. Immediate revision downward. Trust controlled products to go on the free list.

2—Civil and criminal prosecution of trusts. Laws to stop monopoly and stock watering. Amendment to make the Sherman law effective.

LIME AS A FACTOR IN STOCK FEEDING

We hear much about a deficiency of lime in the soil and of the benefits to be derived from thorough applications
of ground limestone upon acid soils,
but we hear much less about the status
of lime in a common feeding ration.
writes W. A. Freshoff in the Farm Homestead. Stockmen will talk all day of balanced rations, the necessity of having the proteins, the carbohydrates and the fats in just the right proportions, but there is never a word about calcium, the base of lime. It may be due to the fact that a balanced ration may, whether we realize it or not, have enough of all mineral elements required by the animal. Yet it is true that a balanced ration may easily have a deficiency of minerals,
the resulting detriment of the animal fed.

Stockmen are familiar with the experiments now being carried out at the Wisconsin station to determine the phosphorus requirements of different animals. These experiments are being conducted not so much from the standpoint of the practical feeder in compiling rations as with the object to determine the role of different elements as they may be found in different grains.

One of the experiments by the Wisconsin investigators is particularly interesting. A cow giving normally

Polander, the grade Jersey cow herewith shown, is owned by the Montana Agricultural college. In May, 1911, she was started on a year's test under Montana conditions with Montana grown feeds.
Her feed during the year consisted of pasture, clover silage and clover and alfalfa hay for roughage and bran, oats, shorts and barley for concentrates. Her record for the year was 23,336 pounds of milk, containing 845 pounds of butter fat, which would make 1,650 pounds of 80 per cent butter.

from twenty-five to thirty pounds of milk was selected. She was fed a balanced ration deficient in lime. Her feed consisted of grains and oat straw combined in such a manner that the proteins and carbohydrates were in proper proportions for milk production. In fact, the cow was fed a ration common to many farms. Many men rather than feed hay to their cows fill them up on the cheaper straws and stovers and balance the ration up as best they can with milk stuffs and grains grown on the farm.

This particular cow was kept at the same ration for fifteen days. During this time she continued to produce her usual amount of milk and seemed to be in perfect health. But when she was examined at the end of the experiment it was discovered that one-fourth of her skeleton had gone into the production of milk—that is, one-fourth of the lime in the skeleton.
Had the experiment continued further the cow would certainly have kept on producing normal milk, but she would also have weakened her constitution as to have caused a final collapse. This marvelous trait of the cow—or of any animal, for that matter—of drawing upon her own body and frame to supply deficiencies in the ration in order to build up the skeleton of the young normally and to feed that young with normal milk has been observed so often as to make it a law.

Now, if, instead of the oats straw, clover or alfalfa had been included in the ration, the lime lost daily in the manure and the milk would have been made up. All the legumes and most of the grasses contain much lime or calcium. The grains and mill feeds, no matter how excellent, are low, very low, in lime. Thus this experiment will teach the careful dairyman that it is not enough to balance a ration,
but that he must also take into consideration the minerals, especially lime.

Sows and Their Litters.
Twelve Berkshire sows owned by the Kansas Agricultural college farrowed 103 pigs this spring. They raised eighty-two, making an average of about seven pigs from every sow. Thirteen Duroc sows farrowed 132 pigs. The Duroc sows raised 101, or almost eight pigs from every sow. Six Poland China sows farrowed forty-three and raised twenty-nine, averaging slightly less than five pigs raised from every sow. The total number of pigs farrowed was 278; the number reared 212. The highest number farrowed by any sow was thirteen. The sow, a Duroc, raised ten of the thirteen,
but two of the other Durocs and one Berkshire raised ten also. One Berkshire and one Poland China sow raised only two of the three pigs that each farrowed.—Kansas Farmer

The Rusty Milk Can.
Pay particular attention to washing and scalding the cans, a brush being used for washing. Milk cannot be free from taint and in proper condition for making a fine product if stored in a can not properly cleaned. Discard the old rusty can. No person can wash it properly. It has served its time and since buying rusty has lost enough dollars through tainted milk to buy many new cans.

DAIRY WISDOM

Keep up the brushing after the cows go out to pasture.
There will always be some little stuff clinging to the cow's side where she has lain down on the ground.

Use only a thoroughbred butter bred sire for next year's crop of calves. The aim should be to make each heifer better than her dam.

The young calf's stomach is sensitive, and good results can only be had when the milk is fed at blood heat or temperature
that it comes from the cow.

It pleases the cow to be milked quickly and gets her in the habit of giving down promptly.
It is often the slow milkers that make the strippers.

Gentleness and patience are always important in the dairy barn, but doubly so when handling the young heifer.

ANIMAL ODORS IN MILK.

Simple Test Demonstrates the Value of Dairy Cleanliness.

To find out how animal and stable odors get into milk one may take two one pint glass fruit jars, wash them perfectly clean, adjust the rubber rings, screw the covers down and take them to the stable at milking time.
While the air in the stable may seem to be moderately pure, it is probably not better than the average in such buildings. As soon as a cow has been milked the jars may be filled two-thirds full of the warm milk, the cover of one screwed on tightly and the jar
at once submerged in very cold running water until thoroughly chilled,
when it should be placed upon a shelf until morning. The other jar should be allowed to remain open on a shelf
back of the cows until after supper, when it should be closed up for the night, writes S. Van Allen in the Farm Journal.

In the morning shake both jars, open and test for odor. No mistake in determining which one was left open need usually be made. In fact, you may call in an outsider who can detect the odor in the one without knowing the previous history. The sample which was chilled may also have an odor, but not an objectionable one. Each sample may then be poured into a glass flask and slowly heated. As they warm up the opened one will give off a noticeably offensive odor, which entirely disappears a little later. The other, or the chilled jar, may show
nothing offensive during the heating.
In fact, it may give off a rather clean, pleasing odor, such as emanates from pure milk while being heated.

The deductions from this simple test
are that the odor imparted by the cow to the milk while yet in the udder was not, at least, of such a nature or of sufficient quantity to demand aeration,
but how about the milk which stands
open about the barn for some time and draws odors from without as well as from the cow? This simple test will tend to show any person how carefully milk should be handled at all times in order to exclude the impurities to which it is so sensitive.

A Portable Hog House.

The hog house here described was designed by W. E. McCoy, College of Agriculture, Ohio State university.

The portable hog house provides a natural and sanitary system of housing swine, as it can be moved from place to place whenever desired. Furthermore, it is easily and economically constructed. The house illustrated herewith need not cost more than

PORTABLE HOG HOUSE.

$10 or $12 where all the material is purchased, and where odd lumber is utilized the cost can be made much less. A suggested bill of material is as follows:

Runners, 2 pieces, 2 by 6 inches by 10
feet.
Frame, 9 pieces, 2 by 4 inches by 8 feet,
2 pieces, 2 by 4 inches by 6 feet.
Sliding, 15 pieces, 1 by 12 inches by 16 feet;
12 pieces, 1 by 2 inches by 18 feet.
Hinges, 4.
Nails, 1 pound twenty penny, 2 pounds
eight penny, 2 pounds five penny.

Treatment For Caked Udder.
When a cow has a badly caked udder
she should be fed a cooling ration of roots, bran-mash and good hay. A tablespoonful of saltpeter will also be beneficial. She should be watered at least twice a day, and if the "cake"
feels warm bathe it in rather cold salt water, afterward rubbing dry. In persistent cases, however, the "cake" will feel cold. It should then be bathed in very warm salt water. While bathing and at other times milk vigorously, pushing upward with the hand in imitation of the calf. This last is of great importance. If the teats are filled with milk and a portion of the bag caked
before the cow freshens the affected part should always be milked out at once. Delay in this is what causes so many cases of badly caked udder.—
American Cultivator.

HANDLING BEEF CATTLE IN SUMMER

In summering a herd of beef cattle
the most important thing is preparation, writes a North Carolina farmer in the American Agriculturist. I begin this always the fall before by sowing plenty of rye and clover to give green feed during the spring and early summer. During the winter I feed all cattle grain twice daily and all of the rough feed they will clean up. About March 15 I have rye large enough to feed, and then I begin getting away from the grain ration by substituting a feed of green rye cut and fed in racks, for one feed of grain. I continue this feeding until the latter part of April.
By this time I have pasture and cut

The matter of quality in beef is very simple. Most cattle of the beef breeds have very much natural fleshing ability. They may become emaciated to a skeleton, but this natural ability remains. The cattle that have not been specially developed for beef growing have but little natural fleshing ability.
What is the result? When put on feed the good Shorthorn, Angus or Hereford steer distributes the fat in the multitude of cells found in his abundance of natural flesh and for a king. The scrub steer, with scarcely any natural flesh, can store
but little of the fat in this manner and when slaughtered yields up a chunk of dry lean and a chunk of tallow, either one a poor article of diet. The one had a place to put meat; the other did not.

out grain entirely to all cattle over one year old. Young cattle I feed a little grain the year round. I continue feeding once a day, feeding about all the cattle will clean up in the afternoon after clover is large enough to cut and feed. I follow the same feeding plan with clover as with rye.

By the time clover is gone I try to have green corn. My plan is as follows: I have six small hog pastures on the farm, containing one and a half acres each. Three of these I plant in corn every year, alternating the fields.
I plant the first one just as soon as possible with early corn. Two weeks following I plant the second lot and two weeks after this the third and sow each of these in peas at the last working of the corn. The peas are left for the hogs. By the time my clover is all gone I have corn about in roasting ear stage in my first lot. This is cut and fed green to the cattle. The two remaining lots follow in succession, leaving the peas to mature for the hogs. When the corn is fed up I begin on pea vines, cut and fed green, and continue feeding these once a day until frost.

In this section pastures are not very abundant, and I have found that I could get far better results and more feed off a given amount of land by only allowing the cattle to run on pasture
a half day at the time and supplementing this with the crops named. In the manner stated, from the time cattle come out of winter quarters until they are put back on a grain ration in the fall. This is my general plan, and, of course, sometimes when the pastures are plentiful I pasture entirely, but this is rare. I think the extra amount of manure gained by keeping the cattle in a well littered feed lot half of the day, and especially the hot afternoons when they would not be feeding much if on pasture, easily pay a profit on the cost of handling the feed hauled to the cattle, and I also figure that I can keep more cattle by doing this.

Good Sows For Improvement.

A lot has been said about the boar having an immense influence on the herd. It is true that his influence affects more animals than the influence of any individual sow does. You can't expect one boar, however, to improve a poor herd all alone. He must have the help of some good sturdy sows that have been selected because of their type.

The boar will stamp his characteristics upon the offspring of almost any sow; but he will not produce pigs exactly like himself. The sow has a big influence on the pigs, and if she is exceptionally poor the pigs will certainly not be so good as their sire. They will be better than their dam, of course, but a herd can be built up faster if at least a few of the sows are selected from the herd of some man who has been successful in breeding a profitable type.

The Horse's Hoofs.

If the horse's hoofs are hard and inclined to be "shelly" do not let anybody put oil or grease on them. For this only clogs the hoof material, which should absorb water instead of repelling it. Such hoofs are best treated by soaking them several hours together in warm water slightly salted or by turning out the horse at night in a pasture where he will get the hoofs wet in the dew.

Notice is hereby given that sealed bids will be received at the County Judge's office in Wayne county, Nebraska, for the construction of concrete bridges and

LIVE STOCK PRICES AT SOUTH OMAHA

Best Corn Fed and Grass Weeves

Strong, Others Weaker.

HOG MARKET UNEVENLY LOWER

Good Many Western Grass Sheep and Lambs Coming—Desirable Muttons Steady—Common Stuff of AH Kinds Slow and Lower—Good Fat Lambs Fully Steady.

Union Stock Yards, South Omaha, July 16.—Receipts of cattle were about 2,600 head, several hundred larger than on last Tuesday, and the two days' supply was nearly 2,000 heavier than for Monday and Tuesday of last week. Demand for corn-fed beefs was active and prices steady to strong. The same was true of the best grass beefs, good sandhill cattle bringing $7.50. Cows and heifers were fully a dime off and 20 to 25c lower than last week. Calves, bulls, stags, etc., were fully steady and there was a quiet but quotable firm market for stock cattle and feeding steers.

Quotations on cattle: Choice to prime beefs, $9.00@9.50; good to choice beefs, $8.50@9.00; fair to good beefs, $8.00@8.50; common to fair beefs, $6.50@7.75; good to choice heifers, $6.25@7.50; good to choice cows, $5.50@6.25; fair to good grades, $4.50@5.50; canners, and cutters, $2.50@4.25; veal calves, $4.00@8.00; bulls, stags etc., $3.00@6.00; choice to prime feeders, $6.00@6.60; good to choice feeders, $5.00@5.75; fair to good feeders, $4.50@5.00; common to fair feeders, $3.50@4.50; stock cows and heifers, $3.25@4.75.

Only a moderate run of hogs was reported in, about 15,000 head, but the quality was very uneven and so was the market prices, ranging from steady to as much as 10c lower. Quality rather than weight determined the price, although the lighter grades are now commanding a considerable premium. Choice lights brought $7.40 and the bulk of trading was at $6.90@7.30. Prices averaged only a little lower than Monday or last Tuesday.

Sheep receipts are fairly liberal for this time of the year, and made up almost entirely of Oregon and Idaho grass steers. Demand for lambs was fair and prices quotably steady, while mutton grades were slow sale, at 15c to 25c off. Trade was slow and very uneven throughout.

Quotations on sheep and lambs: Good to choice lambs, $7.00@7.25; fat range yearlings, $5.00@5.50; fat range wethers, $4.25@4.85; fat range ewes, $3.75@4.10.

NEBRASKA NEWS

Railway Commission Gives Instructions to Burlington.

BETTER STATION AT CRAWFORD

Commissioner Hall Rode for Long Distance on Burlington Train That Later Was Wrecked and Talks of Speed Problem.

A complaint was filed with the railway commission against the Burlington railway by the citizens of Crawford, setting forth that the depot at that place was unsanitary and inadequate to meet the demands of business given the company by the public.

At a session of the commission an order was issued requiring the company to rebuild the depot and construct larger and more modern waiting rooms for the public. The company was also ordered to construct the new depot so that danger from the present location of tracks would be secured. Jan. 1, 1913, is the time given for the completion of the depot and other improvements.

Railway Commissioner T. L. Hall returned from a trip west in the interests of the railway commission. Mr. Hall was a passenger on the rear platform of the coach that later was telescoped in the wreck near Chicago, and left the train at Lincoln. He became acquainted with several of the passengers who were injured in the wreck, and he says that he is more than ever convinced that there should be some way to stop the fast running of trains, especially in the more thickly settled communities. "We are so crazy over the speed problem," said Mr. Hall, "that we are forgetting the duty we owe to the public to protect the lives of people who ride on the trains. It comes home to me especially strong when, having alighted from a train in which for several hours he has conversed with people in the same car he reads the next morning that those same people were killed or injured a little farther on in their journey because of the speed mania, which has seemed to gain such a hold on the officials of the road that people entrusted to their care are sacrificed that the train might make just a little quicker time in its trip across the country."

State Bridge Contract.

State Engineer Price and H. W. Roberts left for Fullerton, where they will confer with the county commissioners of Nance county on the letting of a contract for a state aid bridge at Genoa. On their return they will investigate the new bridges being put in at Monroe, North Bend and Fremont.

Norris Coming West.

J. R. McCar, private secretary to Congressman Norris, was a caller at the office of the governor. He said Mr. Norris had received several calls to speak both in Nebraska and other states, and that he would probably spend all of his time in Nebraska.

CROPS OF STATE ARE GREAT

So Report R. Road Men Who Have Made Special Trips.

Omaha, July 17.—Local railroad men are all optimists concerning the crop outlook. They have been optimistic all the time over the situation in Nebraska, but more so after having returned from a trip out through the grain raising area of the state.

Last week George W. Holdrege, agent of the Burlington, John E. Utt, general agent of the Rock Island, and E. H. Butler, assistant general freight agent of the Northwestern, closed their respective offices and scurried out into the state, covering as much territory as possible. They came back well satisfied with what they found. Small grain is sure to have big crops and corn is doing exceptionally well in most localities.

Alleged Blackmatters Placed in Jail.

Samuel O. Jennings was arrested and put in jail at North Platte, and Arthur W. Bolahy is in jail at Lexington, both charged with blackmail. They are accused of jointly writing three anonymous "blackhand" letters to R. L. Temple president of the First National bank of Lexington, and warning him that failure to comply would mean, first, the killing of his child and then himself.

Farmers Need Harvest Hands.

Alma, Neb., July 16.—The wheat harvest here is on with a rush and as high as $4 per day is being offered for harvest hands. On account of the grain ripening so fast it is necessary to harvest at once, and many business men are allowing their clerks time off to work in the fields to help save the crop.

Priest Will Fight Penalty Imposed.

Rev. Father Moriarty, a Catholic priest of North Bend, was fined $5 (or violating the town ordinance forbidding the use of city water before 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Father Moriarty says he was only washing windows, and served notice of appeal to the district court, declaring he will never pay the fine.

Bridgeport Boy Killed by Kick of Horse

Bridgeport, Neb., July 16.—The twelve-year-old son of Rev. W. H. Davis, pastor of the Baptist church, was almost instantly killed in a fall from a horse. It is supposed the boy was kicked in the abdomen or the horse stepped upon him when he fell.

RANGHMEN AGAIN STOCK UP

Are Now Buying Female Steer Instead of Relying on Steers.

Many ranchmen have had to stock up their ranches with the females again within the last year or two because they could not buy young steers to supply their needs, according to Peter Becker, a ranchman from Hyannis, who is in Omaha. Mr. Becker says a few years ago the large ranchers discovered that they could buy young steers to run their ranges more cheaply than they could be bothered with cows to raise the stock. Accordingly they sold out much of their female stock and depended almost entirely on buying large heads of steers and fattening them on the grass. Within the last year or two, he says, these same men have found it almost impossible to buy steers. They have found that their own idea of raising money in the cattle business has been taken up by so many other ranchmen that when they started out to buy young steers most of the other ranchmen were looking for the same thing and very few were in the steer raising business.

The fact that so many quit the cattle-raising industry for the cattle fattening industry Mr. Becker believes is at least in a measure responsible for the extremely high cost of beef-catt at the present time.

ASSESSMENT BOARD MEETS

Two Assessors Try to Get Raise in Sixteen Counties of Nebraska.

When the state board of assessment met to equalize the assessment of the various counties it found itself face to face with the charge of undervaluation of property in sixteen counties.

County Assessors O. F. Bernecker of Seward county and C. E. Blessing of Nemaha county started the trouble by asking the board to increase the land valuations made in sixteen counties. Blessing made the request that the board either order an increase of 30 per cent on Richardson county lands and 22½ per cent on property in Pawnee and Richardson, or, if these increases were not made, then a decrease of 25 per cent on Nemaha county lands. It was plainly a case of assessors who alleged that they had made a fair valuation asking that the other county assessors be required to do the same.

Mr. Bernecker was authority for the statement that the valuations of land made four years ago and used as a basis for the increase showed that the increases in many counties were unequal and not in proportion to the real increase in land values.

NEBRASKA FRUIT CROP

Reports to State Horticultural Society Coming in Predict Result.

Letters of inquiry were sent to representative fruit growers of Nebraska, and from replies received by the State Horticultural society has tabulated the following:

The average apple crop for all parts of the state is 60 per cent of full crop; 100 per cent, compared with the 1911 crop; 110 per cent, compared with the average of the past five years.

It is estimated that the actual production of the state will be about as in 1911, but more apples will probably be shipped, owing to the heavy crop in the commercial sections. The home orchards out in the state are producing much lighter crops than in 1911.

PETER FRENZER IS DEAD

Pioneer Omaha Business Man Passes Away at Age of Eighty-one.

Omaha, July 16.—Peter Frenzer, aged eighty-one years, a pioneer of Omaha and Nebraska, died at his home, 114 North Twenty-fifth street, from old age. He had lived in Omaha fifty-six years.

Mr. Frenzer was born in Rhemish Prussia, April 24, 1831.

Convict Appeals Case.

Lincoln, July 16.—Albert Prince, condemned to be hanged Aug. 30, next, for the murder of Deputy State Prison Warden Davis, appealed his case to the supreme court, thereby securing a stay of execution. The supreme court had adjourned until September and the appeal may cause a delay of several months. The crime of Prince, which occurred last February, was the beginning of a series of tragedies at the state penitentiary in which four officials and three convicts met death.

Work of Parole Board.

Lincoln, July 16.—During the year ending July 1, 116 applications for parole were made to the pardon board of the state, and 143 for pardon or commutation of sentence, according to a report just issued by Secretary Piper. During the year the board paroled fifty-six men and one woman, who have earned in all $6,199.10, besides their board as verified by the employers of the paroled prisoners. As far as known only five have violated the agreements of the parole.

Guards to Get Property.

Lincoln, July 16.—Adjutant General Phelps went to Omaha to secure a place for storing the $18,000 worth of military property sent by the government to take the place of that burned some time ago in the fire which destroyed the armory of the Omaha companies.

Herd of Cattle Poisoned.

Deshler, Neb., July 16.—A herd of cattle belonging to Henry Hasebring, living in the northeastern part of Thayer county, broke out and got into a patch of cane, and although they were in the cane only ten minutes, eighteen milk cows and two heifers, valued at $300, died of poison.
