TEACHERS AND PATRONS MEET

Largely Attended, Deeply Interesting, Progressive in Spirit Was the Meeting of School Patrons and School Teachers Saturday.

One word, "successful" would suffice to tell of the meeting at the court room last Saturday of the teachers and patrons of the Wayne county schools, but that would not give those unable to attend much knowledge of the excellent program. The pupils of the third and fifth grades of the Wayne schools furnished the music, and demonstrated that in the lower grades is the time to teach music to excellent advantage, and that music properly taught is a help to the pupils.

The fact that the court room was taxed beyond its seating capacity shows that the patrons are taking much interest in school work, an improvement greatly to be desired. This growing interest on the part of parents will be most welcome to the teachers and pupils, who are too often placed together by contract and then left to fight out their difficulties as best they can, and often it was poor enough.

One element of interest in this meeting was the county reading contest, in which one pupil from each precinct gave a reading for the honor of being the best reader in the schools of the county. A precinct contest had been previously held in each precinct, and winners from these readings met here on this occasion. This contest has stimulated much interest in this branch of the work of school.

The Wayne County Teacher gives the following names of those competing and the winners:

Henry Warnemunde, Garfield.
Katie Scott, Plum Creek.
Emeline Stevenson, Sherman.
Florence Parker, Chapin.
Ethel Johnson, Logan.
Frances Schemel, Hoskins.
Edwin Grubb, Leslie.
Vivien Leighton, Hancock.
Myrtle Shurtleiff, Wilbur.
Freddie Klopping, Strahan.
Wilma Gildersleeve, Hunter.
Edna Jones, Deer Creek.

All read well and deserve much praise, for it is not a little honor to be recognized as the best reader in a precinct.

Dean H. H. Hahn, Professor C. H. Bright and Miss Rachel Fairchild were the judges.

Miss Katie Scott from Plum Creek precinct, won first place in the contest with the reading with "Which Loved Best." Miss Wilma Gildersleeve of Hunter precinct, won second place with the reading "The House by the Side of the Road." Miss Edna Jones of Carroll, won third place with the reading of "Daniel Webster's First Speech." All read so well that it was most difficult for the judges to decide on ranks.

No Circus Here. Last Saturday

Strangers passing through Wayne last Saturday on the afternoon train had the impression that there was some special celebration here because of the number of local passengers alighting and because of the great number of people, teams and automobiles to be seen as the train passed through the place. True, it was a big Saturday crowd—perhaps larger than usual, but there was no outside attraction to draw them.

Several factors aided however, among which we might mention good weather and good roads. The weather was good luck, the roads partially due to good weather and partly to good care. And money properly used to keep the roads good is wisely spent. Another feature was the pavilion sale. This drew many people, but it is a home attraction, and happens once in two weeks. The Saturday sale was the largest yet held, of the regular sales, and amounted to more than $6,000. A third local attraction was the meeting of teachers and patrons of the schools of the county and reading contest. This brought representatives from every precinct. Then there is yet another reason. Our merchants are a live bunch, and they have been constantly and consistently inviting the people to get the Wayne habit—and as inducement they carry very large and well selected stocks in all lines. Our mills, our creamery and cream buying station, our shops and the people who treat the visitors so well all helped to make last Saturday a big day, and are helping to increase the volume of business which naturally belongs to Wayne and which Wayne is getting.

All join in extending the invitation, "Come to Wayne, and come often."

Mishaps at Carroll

The first station up the line is trying to put on speed equal to a Wayne automobilist, and as a result of the streets being cumbered up with stock, and not wide enough several mishaps took place. The first accident reported was that of Mr. Bartels accidentally driving his car into a horse, and knocking the lamps from his car without injuring the animal any worse than it did the car.

In the second chapter Rodney Garwood, a young man, is said to have run his automobile into a large colt, knocked it down and run over it, the result being a colt so badly injured that it had to be killed.

Then came our jovial friend, August Loburg up the main street—up and across they say, and while on a cross trip bumping his car into the front of the King drug store, smashing out half of the front. At this stage of the game a warrant was gotten out for the last offender charging that he was not in proper condition to manage an automobile in the city, but Mr. Loburg is at home sick so has not yet answered the charge.

Nominate Postmaster at Carroll

At the meeting of democrats called to select or endorse a candidate for postmaster at Carroll yesterday afternoon, about seventy were present, and H. C. Grovjohn was the only candidate, and he was chosen by acclamation. A good time was enjoyed by all, says the report.

Later—we learn that Chairman Massie received word from Congressman Stephens to call the meeting off, as Carroll is among the offices which are under the civil service rules, according to President Taft's deathbed repentance order.

For 30 Days

The present price on White Rose Gasoline and Carbonless Motor Oil will be maintained for thirty days. These items are high grade products of petroleum and must go higher in price. The leaving of your order will insure a considerable saving. If the special fuel man, who is in this territory, fails to see you, register your order at the store. RALPH RUNDELL, Distributer.

LEWIS—Saturday, February 15, 1913, to J. G. W. Lewis and wife, a daughter.

Social Notes

A delightful afternoon was spent by the Woman's club last Thursday at the home of Mrs. A. C. Lantz. Roll call was responded to by things pertaining to the home and the housewife, after which "Home, Sweet Home" was sung by the entire company. The next on the program was a splendid paper by Mrs. George Lewis entitled "The Effect of Household Conveniences on Domestic Life." Sarah Louise Arnold and her work as an educator of women was given by Mrs. C. E. Needham in a very pleasing manner. Miss Hope Hornby next read a paper on "What Constitutes a Good Mother" which was greatly enjoyed by all. Then followed a general discussion of domestic questions, which was interrupted by the serving of a delicious lunch by the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Moran.

A large company of ladies gathered at the home of Mrs. William Gamble Wednesday afternoon to pursue their interesting studies in the Book of Beginnings. The separation of Abraham and Lot being the subject for consideration. The discussion brought forth a variety of helpful thoughts and showed much earnest preparation on the part of the students. Mrs. Durrin will entertain the ladies next week and all those interested are cordially invited to attend.

The Monday club enjoyed an interesting session with Mrs. Geo. Hess this week. Responses to roll call were answers to the question "How I Waste My Time?" Mrs. Zoll then read an excellent paper on the art and science of Cooking versus drudgery, which brought forth many helpful hints. The subject of the Pure Food agitation was also very ably discussed by Mrs. Hess. The next meeting will be with Mrs. J. H. Kate.

Mrs. Adam Grier entertained the Thursday club at a beautifully appointed course dinner today. The center piece consisted of cherries and miniature dressed dolls to which ribbons were attached which extended to the plate of each guest. Place cards and favors were also in harmony with the Washington Day season. About twenty-two ladies were present. After dinner the remainder of the afternoon was devoted to needlecraft.

Mrs. A. J. Biegler invited about fifteen merry little misses to help her daughter, Miss Elsie, celebrate her fifteenth birthday Saturday afternoon. Games, music and a jolly good time made the hours seem all too short. And last and best of all a delicious luncheon was served and Miss Elsie was the recipient of many handsome little gifts from her girl friends who left wishing her many more happy birthday anniversaries.

On Tuesday afternoon the members of the U. D. club and a few invited friends gathered at the home of Mrs. J. H. Kemp and tendered a farewell to Mrs. H. S. Welch who is soon to leave for Columbus. Mrs. D. W. Kinne spoke touchingly on "The Perfect Tribute" and the ladies presented Mrs. Welch with a handsome silver sandwich tray as a token of their esteem. Dainty refreshments were served.

The Tuesday club was delightfully entertained at the home of Mrs. W. A. Hiscox this week. Each member contributed to current events and Mrs. Naffziger read an interesting paper on "Is the Public School a Failure?" after which a general discussion followed. At six o'clock the hostess served a delicious three course dinner.

The Westminster Guild will meet next Monday evening at the home of Mrs. H. S. Kingland. The subject for discussion will be "How the Medical Profession has Benefitted China." Miss Killen will be leader. At this meeting will be the annual election of officers, and the entire membership is expected to be present.

About forty of the neighbors and friends of August Samuelson gathered at his home five miles northeast of town last Friday and gave that gentleman a complete surprise. Games, music and general sociability was indulged in until about twelve o'clock when a three course lunch was served. A jolly good time is reported.

The Acme club met with Mrs. Theo. Duerig Monday afternoon when a Longfellow program was carried out. Each member recited choice poems and Mrs. Williams gave a short biography on this well loved author. The next meeting will be omitted and the annual club dinner will be held at the home of Mrs. S. R. Theobald.

The P. E. O. Sisterhood met with Mrs. D. C. Main Monday evening and carried out an interesting program. Mrs. Wm. Orr was initiated as a member and after the business session a brief program of music and sociability was enjoyed in which the sisters of the chapter took part. The hostess served delicious refreshments.

The Misses Pearl and Ruby Hughes entertained a number of their friends at a Valentine party Saturday evening. Games appropriate to the occasion were played and a general good time was had, after which a delicious two course luncheon was served. All those present joined in voting the young ladies delightful entertainers.

On last Saturday evening Miss Emma Harder entertained a number of her lady friends in honor of her birthday anniversary. Music, games and informality marked the evening's entertainment. The girls remembered her with many little tokens of their esteem and departed wishing her many happy returns of the day.

Miss Edna Neligh was hostess to the Bridge Whist club last evening. Two extra tables were invited and the hostess served dainty refreshments. Guests of the club were Mesdames Forbes of Reinslander, Wisconsin, Frank Wilson, Winside, C. H. Fisher, C. H. Craven, Jas. Miller.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Presbyterian church met last week with Mrs. J. J. Williams and completed arrangements for their bazaar which will be held at the church parlors March 13th. A Food Exchange will also be held in connection with the bazaar.

The Minerva club met Tuesday with Mrs. C. H. Bright when the subject of the lesson was "The Problem of the City"; each member taking part in a general discussion of the lesson study. Mrs. Lambert Roe will be hostess at the next meeting.

The county court was the scene of an assault case Tuesday, when one Sherman precinct farmer was fined $1.00 and costs for striking his neighbor. The trouble started over stock straying from home.

The M. E. Ladies' Aid society will meet with Mrs. R. Craven next Thursday afternoon. The hostess will be assisted in the entertainment by Mesdames Fortner, Beckenhauer and Rennie.

Mrs. E. C. Tweed entertained the Ladies' Aid society of the English Lutheran church last Thursday.

The ladies of St. Mary's Guild will hold another Food Exchange at the C. A. Berry store Saturday.

The W. C. T. U. will meet at the home of Miss Charlotte White on Friday of this week.

Mrs. J. J. Williams will be hostess at the next meeting of the Early Hour club.

The Rural Home society meets with Miss Rose Linke Thursday, February 27th.

Miss Mable McIntosh will entertain the Prescilla club Saturday afternoon.

The Council Meetings

The city fathers held a double barreled meeting Monday evening. At a special meeting called for the purpose, they levied a special sidewalk and gutter tax on some property on West 2nd street and on Main street, then adjourned and went into the business left over from the regular meeting of the week before and passed on a few small bills, rejecting some and referring others.

They allowed and ordered paid $84 for a pump purchased some time ago, and made final settlement with the Havens-White Coal Co., of account of two years' standing, paying them $143.40 as sum due after all matters were adjusted.

Some Events of the Week

The last war in Mexico is said to have ended suddenly, when the revolutionists captured President Madero, and he signed a resignation as president. Victoriano Huerta has been proclaimed provisional president. But no one knows when a revolution may start against the revolutionists who have just won.

Governor Wilson of New Jersey, who is soon to be president, was happy last night, for the legislature of his state had passed the seven antitrust bills which he recommended, and they are to become laws of the state, thus answering Teddy's question of the last campaign of why the state of New Jersey did not legislate against the trusts. The republicans of the last legislature blocked the game.

Poor Taft; he will not be allowed to go from office a victor on all question by the use of the veto power. He vetoed the immigration bill, and the Senate has passed the bill over his veto, and there is no doubt but that the House will do likewise. He won out on wool, but not on immigration.

At Lincoln the senate recommended for passage the bill to prohibit newspapers from charging more for political advertising than for other advertising, except whisky, medical and theatrical advertising.

Heavy horses are not to be allowed to use the public drinking cup.

In the house the sentiment appears to be against the bill which would do away with the present law for publishing the constitutional amendments in the newspapers—guess they are afraid of us fellows.

The conduct of the railway commission is being investigated.

The stock yards want, this year, to be classed as common carriers. Two years ago they thought it wrong. They may have discovered a hole in the common carrier law.

Wanted—Horses and Mules

Will be at Winside Friday, February 21, Wayne Saturday, Feb. 22. Bring your horses and mules. I am in market for all sizes and ages from 4 years old up. I like them fat but can use a few thin feeding horses.

CHRIS SHINSTOCK, the horse buyer. —adv 81—

Many papers and magazines run, and have for years, continued stories. The Democrat is going 'em one better and starting a continued advertisement, and it promises to be not only interesting, but instructive and profitable to the readers—and that word profitable insures the reading of the series. Beaman, the "Grow-Sir" is the hero of the tale.

What Smith is Doing

Last week R. R. Smith returned home from a visit of two weeks in his old home neighborhood, Delaware county, Iowa. He left there for this part of Nebraska thirty-two years ago, and says that if he had known when he walked into this vicinity all that he would have to endure he would have walked all the way back probably. But now that it is past, and he has been back to see the fellows who stayed back in the hawkeye state he thinks he did well to come and stay. He noted one thing while there, that the boys, as a rule, were left with property are not now as well fixed as those who had to make their own way. He says that he has put up more improvement on his farm here in one year than some of the boys who were left with a farm there have added in the time he has been away. While there he went to Hopington and purchased a two-year-old Holstein bull from the herd of Dr. Reed, selecting one of the best bred animals in the herd. His sire is an animal which the owner refused to sell for $5,000, and his grandmother holds the world record as a milk and butter producer. The animal is expected here next week.

Mr. Smith says that he wanted to buy a heifer, but the calf which suited him was priced at $300, so he will wait for democratic times before buying. Speaking of his herd of cows, he says that he has been culling the poor ones out for the past twelve years and now thinks he has as profitable a bunch of milk cows as can be found outside of the thoroughbreds. He has a mixture of short horns and Jerseys, but is planning to grow into pure bred Holsteins.

Commissioners of Two Counties Met

Monday there was a meeting of the commissioners of this and Thurston counties at Pender, the members of this county board going to that place. The object of the meeting was to try to arrange for the opening of some road along the line between the two counties, there being considerable portion which has not yet been opened. The difficulty encountered is that there are yet large tracts of Indian land in Thurston county, and where that land comes to the county line the national government has to be figured with as well as the county, so nothing was really accomplished.

Tuesday, the members of the board went from Wakefield to view part of the road and the proposed road. One item of expense will be the building of a safe and suitable bridge over the Logan where it leaves this county. An old bridge is there now but it is not considered safe for heavy traffic. As we understand, this will be the largest single item of expense for the two counties to bear.

Kidney Troubles Can Be Avoided

You cannot afford to neglect the slightest kidney ailment—it's hazardous to do so.

The poisonous waste material must be separated from the blood and if the kidneys become weakened this is impossible.

That means a poisoned system.

That's why neglect means trouble—the ailment becomes chronic and results in Rheumatism or Bright's Disease.

NYAL'S

Kidney Pills

Assist the kidneys in their function, strengthen them and prevent the ailment from becoming chronic. They cleanse the blood and increase the circulation and supply the proper nourishment to body tissues.

They are a kidney medicine—intended for that and, nothing else. Speedy and positive relief at 50 cents the box.

Don't Wait Until Spring

We are now able to offer you a thoroughly efficient blood remedy for the ridiculously low price of 50 cents, and to be able to say at the same time, that we have implicit faith in its merits and guarantee it to relieve and satisfy—or money back.

You ought not to take any chance with your health. You should not wait until next spring before taking a blood remedy. Such delay is ridiculous, but it is a common mistake that many people make—often with serious consequences to themselves.

If your blood is out of order—if you are run down and out of sorts—if your complexion is not clear—if your appetite is impaired—if you have lost strength and energy—we advise you to at once begin treatment with REXALL BLOOD TABLETS. Only 50 cents and guaranteed at the Rexall Store—Phone 137

John Loughman has been on the farm, but owing to the death of Mrs. Henry Evans, his mother-in-law, he will go to the Evans farm, so Mr. Rubeck came back to lease his farm again, and has found in Mr. Wilson a tenant. Mr. Rubeck likes his Minnesota home very well.

Two properties are to be sold Tuesday, February 25 at Referee sale; one is the Hodson, hotel property on Main street, Wayne, near the depot, the other a 7-room house on Logan street between 5th and 6th streets. These properties go to the highest bidder, to settle the Hodson estate. There may be opportunity for some one to buy a home or business place at a money-saving price. The sale takes place at the Wayne county court house at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Look these properties over and make a bid.

Dr. Bass, G. M., I. O. O. F., was at Wayne last Friday, and stopped to view the sights of the city, visit the Odd Fellow hall and greet some of his numerous friends. He was on his way from Norfolk, where he had been holding a session of Grand Lodge, which was attended by members of the order from all northeastern Nebraska, and a few from Dakota strayed in. Quite a number of the Wayne members of the order being present. Instead of making the shortest and quickest route to Coleridge, where he was to take part that evening in the resurrection of the Odd Fellow lodge, he went to Sholes from Wayne, and after enjoying the hospitality of the Odd Fellows of that place, W. H. Root, who is a sort of an odd fellow, drove him across to Coleridge in time for the matinee there. The head official was well pleased with the result of his inspection of the condition of the order at this place, and with the place as a whole.

Wedding

On Saturday morning, February 15th, at the Presbyterian Manse Mr. Gustav Paulsen of Carroll and Miss Margaret Paulson of Laurel were united in marriage, Rev. Alexander Corkey officiating. The bride is one of Laurel's popular and estimable young ladies and the groom is the son of Henry Paulsen, who lives two miles north of Carroll.

After the wedding dinner at the Union Hotel the happy young couple left for a honeymoon trip to Chicago and southern Illinois. They will go to housekeeping on the farm of the groom's father, as Mr. and Mrs. Henry Paulsen expect to make an extended visit to Germany this summer. The many friends of the married pair wish them all joy and prosperity in their wedded life.—Contributed.

The soil of a great portion of Germany is little but sand, and it has been tilled for centuries, but on this poor land German farmers are today raising in some crops more than twice as many bushels per acre as the American farmer, and in all crops from 60 to 80 per cent more. Statistics just issued show an average acre yield of wheat of 31.5 bushels for Germany, against 12 5-6 for the United States. The German farmer takes 29 bushels of rye from the acre where the American gets but 16; 38 bushels of barley against 12; 51 bushels of oats against 25, and 158 bushels of potatoes against 83.

In the last 25 years the average acre yield of wheat has been increased 57 per cent, rye 735 per cent, barley 51.9 per cent, potatoes 614 per cent, and hay 52.8 per cent.

An interesting corollary to these figures are the statistics showing the use of artificial fertilizers in Germany. In 1911 2,653 pounds of potash salts were used the square kilometer of Germany.

Give Us A Look! Gamble & Senter "Pay Less and Dress Better"

The H. C. of L. Again

Here is a short but true story which helps to explain the high cost of living:

Forty-nine years ago a man whom we will call John Smith, though that wasn't his name, bought 6,800 square feet of real estate in the center of the retail trading district of Boston. He paid $160,000 for it. He leased it to a storekeeper for $9,000 a year rental, tenant to pay taxes and repairs.

That little piece of land is now owned by Smith's grandchildren, who are among the elect of Back Bay. It is tied up in an estate which they cannot sell and managed for them by two trustees.

That little piece of land, upon which Smith heirs have performed no work, to the improvement of which they have contributed no special service, is now assessed as worth $2767,000. Get that? From $160,000 to $2767,000 in a generation the owners doing nothing but sitting tight.

Perhaps you will ask how all this interests you.

Be patient and we will show that it does interest you intimately. This little piece of land, as we said, was leased to a storekeeper. The rental was readjusted every ten years. The last term it had been $27,000 a year. Then the trustees said in effect: "Pay us $60,000 a year the next 10 years or get out."

Getting out meant moving a great store at a sacrifice not to be thought of. So, after squirming, the tenant signed up at $60,000.

Now that $100 a day extra rental didn't really come, except in the first instance, out of the storekeeper's pocket. You may be sure he means to charge it back. His help doubtless will pay some of it in wage increases denied and in improvements of working conditions postponed. His patrons will take care of the rest. For, of course, rent figures in as a cost of doing business and profits add on, be the rent what it may.

In other words, the Smith heirs coolly took a higher toll of their own fixing upon life and industry in Boston, and gave nothing additional back. They did this under sanction of laws which we stand for. With equal opportunity we should have done the same. Because society both permits and applauds it.

That kind of toll is being taken every day in the year in every city in the nation and you, Mr. Hard Working Producer, are paying for it.

Can you think of one good reason why the land values which all the people create should be drained into the pockets of a privileged few?—Sioux City News.

The Savage Brothers of Ewing are planning to teach aviation at Omaha if they can secure a proper site for the school. They have invented a machine that has proven to be one of the most successful yet made, as evidenced by the fact that the brothers were in Omaha after a season of exhibitions. A great many bird men are not able to go to Omaha this year. They lit too hard, as the Irishman said when he flew from the peak of the barn. The Savage Brothers are also planning to make machines.

Good Roads and Bridges

Polk county has a highway engineer under the present law. His 1912 report shows some interesting and profitable figures. The county bought a 15 horse-power tractor to pull its grading outfit and from the first of July until freezing weather thirty-two miles of road were put in permanent condition so that the occasional use of the King drag will keep them up. This cost an average of $38 per mile, including interest on the cost of the outfit and all expense of operation. The detailed report by districts is an interesting example of efficiency in road administration and may be obtained by addressing the board of county commissioners at Osceola, Nebraska.

This county has also worked a reform in the building of bridges and culverts. The report says:

"The repair work on the Platte river bridges and also the building of smaller bridges has been done at a saving of from 10 to 15 per cent on the prices paid by other counties having their work done by contract." "These bridges" (smaller county structures) "were all built on plans adopted by the state engineer and are designed to carry a load of 20 tons and are the first bridges of this class to be built in Polk county." One of these bridges of 30 foot span was built under the direction of the highway engineer at a saving of over $300 below the best competitive bid obtained from the bridge companies, and the structure is a model one in every way. The county made a contract with local contractors under which 16,860 cubic feet of concrete was put in bridge construction during the year at a cost of 37 cents per cubic foot.

Commissioners' Proceedings.

Wayne, Nebr., Feb. 15, 1913. Board met as per adjournment. All members present.

This being the day for the filing and opening of bids for culverts for the year 1913, bids were opened and examined, and all bids were rejected.

This being the day for the filing and opening of bids for lumber for the year 1913, bids were accepted as follows: Edwards & Bradford Lumber Company at Hoskins, they being the lowest bidder for the territory adjacent to Hoskins.

Aspegren & Strand Lumber Company at Winside, they begin the lowest bidder for the territory adjacent to Winside.

Carhart Lumber Company at Carroll, they being the lowest bidder for the territory adjacent to Carroll.

Childs & Johnson at Wakefield, they being the lowest bidder for the territory adjacent to Wakefield. Philleo & VonSeggern Lumber Company at Wayne, they being the lowest bidder for the territory adjacent to Wayne.

Whereupon board adjourned to March 4, 1913.

CHAS. W. REYNOLDS, Clerk.

W. R. Morehouse returned to his home at Randolph Monday morning after a visit here with his sister, Mrs. Walter Weber. During his stay here Mr. Morehouse was confined to his bed owing to sickness which necessitated an extension of his visit.

Two burning questions: Who will be Wayne's next mayor and "who will get the postoffice?"

If the Iowa legislature finally passes that "daylight saloon law" there will be a lot of fellows who will realize as never before how long are the winter nights.

The newspapers have had no end of trouble selecting a cabinet for the new president, and at this writing they have no assurance that their work is appreciated, or their advice to be followed.

McCabe, who aided in keeping Dr. Wiley from doing more effective work in behalf of pure food, has at last been pried loose from his official hold in Washington, but let no one think that the power and influence which kept him in the place long after he should have been ousted are any the less anxious to rob the people than before. It is well to know what you buy and who makes it.

The Fremont Herald is booming Congressman Dan V. Stephens for the appointment as United States Senator from this state—in the event of W. J. Bryan accepting a place in the cabinet and G. M. Hitchcock resigning to go as representative of this country to some foreign court. Several "ifs" in the deal; but why do they want to take Stephens from his present place? Does some one else want it?

Uncle Sam will probably hand out a few parcels to Nebraska in the shape of appropriations for public buildings—and we may as well tell you now that Wayne is not on the list. Lincoln comes in for $175,000; Chadron $110,000; Aurora $50,000, and McCook $25,000. The bill calls for $25,643,800. This is a lot of money, and there has frequently been considerable graft in the public buildings and the purchase of sites for the same. If we may believe the common report, but the money invested in this manner, in our opinion, better invested than in the big battleships; unless these ships shall be put to work carrying freight when not needed in war. The annual expense of our present navy is six times the sum named in the above appropriation, and of what benefit has it been to us in the past 10 years? The coal they have burned would have moved a lot of freight.

The political bosses yet control Colorado to such an extent that the railroads issue passes within the state, and it is becoming a burden to the roads as it was to Nebraska and Iowa roads in other days. A number of years ago the editor had to make a trip to Denver, and was so fortunate as to secure a pass for the round trip from Omaha, to Omaha again and we noticed on the train which left Omaha there were a great many people—more than half on the car, we judge, who had just a pass. A recent investigation in conditions in Colorado shows that 1,487 people rode over the D. & R. G. on passes in a single day. On the C. & S. there were 36 passes in a single coach. Better cut out the passes and reduce the fare one-half and do business right.

Here are some of the things that our legislature has under consideration: A verdict by five-sixths of a jury except in felony cases.

An income tax on all incomes over $2,000.
Exemption of $200 personal property from taxation.

Recall of public officials, including the judiciary officers.

Abolish the necessity of publishing of proposed constitutional amendments in newspapers. Also to provide for non-partisan voting on same and the publication in pamphlet form.

For constitutional convention.

To increase pay of governor.

To grant to women the right to vote.

To exempt farm improvements from taxation.

To raise pay of state officers.

To amend law taxing peddlers so as to include automobile peddlers.

To create elective office of state insurance commissioner.

At a conference of democrats—fifteen in number at Pierce last week, before which there were three candidates for the recommendation for postmaster, the Leader says that J. B. McDonald had a majority of the votes after several ballots. The other two candidates were A. H. Backhaus, editor of the Leader, and W. E. Powers. On the last ballot Powers threw his one vote to McDonald, giving him 8 votes to Backhaus 7. Commenting on the result the Leader remarks:

"The Leader has little to say on this subject except that there are democrats in this community who do not seem to appreciate the services that a democratic paper has done for the party, but are inclined to honor one man. There is no denying the fact that it has always been the custom in all communities to award the postoffice to newspapers as long as those papers have worked faithfully, diligently and unceasingly for the cause. In Pierce J. B. Sharot, W. E. Powers, A. L. Brande, all newspaper men, had the postoffice. This is no more than right, since it is all they get for their services. But in Pierce some of the democrats think otherwise, but for what reason we are unable to understand. To the editor of the Leader, it looks like a case of base ingratitude.

We also believe like the majority of the new paper boys all over the third district, that Congressman Stephens has not done the right thing with them for the work they have done in his behalf. And a whole lot of other democrats are of the same opinion."

There is talk, and more than talk, there is action looking to the call of a constitutional convention in Nebraska. Sometimes great good comes of a constitutional convention, as was the case in Ohio for instance. But if the present legislature can and will so amend our initiative and referendum as to let the people vote their sentiments on the questions at the election and not at the primary it does not seem that we will need the constitutional convention. Under present laws, if the party at its primary vote—happen to favor or reject any law or amendment, then every vote that is not especially marked for or against the law of amendment is counted either for or against according to the verdict of the party at the primary. With this method applied, and the proposed constitutional amendment not published before the primary, as was the case last year, the amendment is practically adopted or rejected before the people have had opportunity to know what it is. The cart was before the horse. With a bit of intelligent legislation it seems as though this matter could be bettered—but any move to better it will evidently have to be pushed through the same as the last amendments were.

State Normal Notes

The Senior Class will entertain the Juniors this evening in the Normal gymnasium.

The game of basketball on Friday, February 14, between the Bancroft town team and the Normal first team resulted in a victory for the Normal of 36 to 8.

Superintendent A. L. Caviness of Fairbury was a visitor at the Normal this week. Mr. Caviness is a member of the State Board of Education.

President and Mrs. Conn leave Friday for Philadelphia where they will attend the Superintendents' National Educational Association.

The Y. M. C. A. will give an original play in the chapel Friday evening, February 21, at 7 o'clock. The public is cordially invited. Admission will be 15 and 25 cents.

Miss Kingsbury and the young ladies of her hall will entertain the students and faculty of the Normal at a George Washington entertainment, Saturday evening, February 22nd.

On Thursday morning at Chapel the students were surprised to see standing upon the platform a statue of Hebe, the cup-bearer to the Greek gods and winged statue of Victory, Nike of Samothrace. They were also interested and pleased to hear Miss Ruth E. Sterling, superintendent of the school at Hoskins, class of 1912, present these two pieces of statuary to the school on behalf of the class of 1912. The speech of presentation was made in graceful language with a touch of genuine feeling that moved the hearts of all. In a few appreciative words President Conn received the gift of the class of 1912.

The Sophomore class met with their adviser for a 6 o'clock dinner in the Domestic Science rooms on last Thursday. An excellent four course dinner was prepared and served by Miss Pettit and her class. The favors were booklets in gray covers with red lettering, all the beautiful penmanship of Professor Wiley. Red and gray are the class colors. A song had been arranged by Professor Coleman and the boys were prepared with several class yells. The talks led by Mr. Rogers, as toastmaster, were interesting and showed much careful preparation. Conrad Jacobson spoke on "Our School"; Charles Meeker, "Sophomores"; Angie Fish, "Umbrellas"; H. H. Boyce, "Our Future"; Eugenia Madsen, "Our Athletes"; and Bessie Banks wrote a poem. The class presented their adviser, Miss Killen, with an elegant and complete desk set.

Professor I. H. Britell, department of physical science, has been invited to deliver the dedicatory address for the new high school building at Royal, Nebraska, Tuesday, February 25.

Wrestling Match at Winside

It was nearly 11 o'clock Saturday night before Wolff, the wrestler, arrived from Dixon to fill an engagement with Cullivan, who was advertised to wrestle with Hoffman. On account of an injury to one of his ears, Hoffman was unable to carry out his part of the program. A moving picture entertainment the first part of the evening, continued their performance until the parties arrived from Dixon and most of the crowd remained. Mr. Cullivan threw Wolff very easily. Quite a number of Wolff's friends accompanied him from Dixon.

June Conger is reported quite ill at his home here with heart trouble.

LIVESTOCK PRICES AT SOUTH OMAHA

Fat Cattle in Active Demand and Steady to Strong.

HOGS BIG DIME HIGHER.

Fair Supply of Sheep and Lambs. Sheep Fully Steady—Lambs Slow, but About Steady—10@15c Lower Than Last Week.

Union Stock Yards, South Omaha, Feb. 13.—A very respectable run of cattle arrived today, about 6,200 head. To all intents and purposes the fat cattle market was a repetition of Monday's trade, active and strong all around, and everything was disposed of some time before noon. There was a broad demand for cows and heifers at prices about as high as any time recently. Veal calves were in active request and fully steady, and there was a very good outlet for bulls, stags, etc., at steady prices. There was no let up in the demand for stock cattle and feeding steers and prices were firmly held all along the line.

Cattle quotations: Choice to prime beefs, $8.20@8.40; good to choice beefs, $7.90@8.15; fair to good beefs, $7.60@7.85; fair to choice yearlings, $7.00@8.00; common to fair beefs, $7.00@7.50; good to choice heifers, $6.50@7.25; good to choice cows, $6.30@7.00; fair to good grades, $5.50@6.25; canners and cutters, $3.75@5.00; veal calves, $5.75@9.25; bulls, stags, etc., $5.25@6.50; choice to prime feeders, $7.40@7.75; good to choice feeders, $7.00@7.40; fair to good feeders, $6.75@7.00; common to fair feeders, $6.25@6.75; stock cows and heifers, $5.00@7.00.

A liberal run of hogs was received today, about 17,000 head. Prices were a big dime higher and some cases as much as 15c higher. The bulk of the offerings moved around $8.10@8.15. Some good hogs brought $8.25, 15c above Monday's best price.

Sheep and lamb receipts amounted to about 15,000 head. A large percentage of a rather liberal supply consisted of lambs, and the bulk of them were slow to move at prices generally steady with Monday's close. Some good lambs brought $8.60. The bulk of the lambs went at $8.40@8.55. Sheep were fully steady. Fed western ewes sold for $5.90, some wethers went at $5.80.

Mrs. Nettie Conover was called to Sioux City Sunday, a message saying that her daughter, Mrs. J. A. Farnsworth, but recently married, was suffering from an attack of appendicitis, and would have to undergo an operation. She was taken to a hospital and operated on Monday, and the latest reports are that while her condition was worse than anticipated she is rallying slowly.

School Notes

The school entertainment on March 6th.

Prof. Britell visited the schools on Tuesday forenoon.

Recent visitors were Mrs. Hansen, Mrs. Miner, Mrs. Corzine, Mrs. Moran and Miss Geary.

The Tenth Grade gave the following Lincoln Day program on Friday morning with Earl Lewis presiding: Piano solo by Mary Weber; Lincoln's Gettysburg Address by Gilman Weber; Biography of Lincoln by Iris Griggs; Current Events by Loretta Croghan.

The Seniors will give a Washington Day program on Friday morning.

Miss McBeth Gives Address

On Tuesday afternoon Miss Olive McBeth gave her illustrated lecture, The Passion Play, at the high school. In the audience were the high school and 7th and 8th grade students, all the teachers and a few visitors. The lecture was very entertaining and instructive and every one gave the closest attention. Miss McBeth has the lecture well in hand and preludes it with a brief but very interesting history of the people of Obre Ammergau. Mr. Hickman very ably operated the machine and the pictures were good considering the fact that it was impossible to shut out all the daylight. At the conclusion of the lecture Miss Marjorie Kohl sang "The Holy City" in her usual pleasing style which Mr. Hickman also illustrated with appropriate pictures. All who heard this lecture and song feel very much indebted to Miss McBeth, Mr. Hickman and Miss Kohl.

Kelly on Conservation

"About conservation. Conservation of our natural resources. There is an old saying and a very true one—we can't quote it exactly—but it is something to the effect that the water that has gone by will never turn the mill again, says Editor Kelly in the Cedar County News.

"And in our rivers and creeks the water is running by every day

SPRING SHOES

That we made no mistake in the selection of styles of shoes and oxfords for the coming spring is evidenced by our sales to date and the SATISFACTION shown in the line by customers. Another fact is appreciated—that of early shipment. We are now in position to show the latest styles in high button shoes, button oxfords or strap pumps for spring. The prices ranging from $2.50 to $4.00. Better be fitted while stocks are complete.

We are showing complete lines of the best domestic ginghams and 10 and 12½c per yard, and the very best French Zephyr at 25c per yard.

—running by the places where the wheels ought to be and are not.

"Letting that water run by is not conservation. It is waste. Sheer gratuitous, criminal waste. Every day that it runs by without turning a wheel or watering a parched acre—count that day lost. It is lost.

"Years ago we could have 'conserved' our land—but we threw it open—and today it bears a teeming population, fruitful farms, orchards, gardens and homes.

"We could have 'conserved' our railroads. We encouraged them. And they have turned wilderness into great empire. Now they need to be controlled—and we're controlling them.

"Now men in our state want to dig ditches and build dams and install turbines and dynamos. And we're talking about conserving our water power. Letting the water run by is not conserving it. These men want to dig. For heaven's sake, somebody hand them a spade."

"Our fathers built us railroads and we're managing them all right. If we have regard for our children we'll build them dams and dig them ditches. We'll get a lot of good out of them ourselves—and if the kids can't manage them it'll be their own fault.

NEBRASKA NEWS

Auditor Checks Motor Travelers for Insurance Work.

NO PERMIT GIVEN THEM.

Lincoln, Feb. 18.—A new corporation formed in January, known as the United Motor Travelers' association, has a pretty good chance to get into trouble with the state auditor if it does not get busy and fix things up.

The corporation was formed with ex-Governor C. H. Aldrich, H. H. Wilhite, E. H. Holmes, E. J. Faulkner and A. W. Bemis as the board of directors, the object of the corporation to be to promote better roads, create a better condition among all motorists and in general to help along the cause.

The state auditor received notice through an advertisement put out by the association that it was soliciting insurance as a fraternal organization, and inasmuch as it has never filed application for a license to do an insurance business in Nebraska it is liable to get into trouble.

Governor Aldrich was called up by phone and the proposition put up to him to explain. He said that he was unaware that such a condition existed and appeared to be much surprised. He said that his connection with the company was only in an advisory way and did not know very much about the matter otherwise, but would immediately go to the state house and have the matter attended to.

The advertising put out shows that the company proposes to do a fraternal insurance business among users of automobiles.

Fruit Growers' Institutes.

As a result of the great interest shown in the recent Nebraska apple show at Lincoln a series of special institutes for fruit growers will be held this week under the direction of the University of Nebraska and the State Horticultural society. Professor J. R. Cooper of the horticultural department of the university will speak to the fruit growers on the value of moisture and the problem of maintaining the proper balance of fertility in the orchard. C. G. Marshall, secretary of the horticultural society, will talk on spraying and pruning, and Charles Dickison will deal with the problem of co-operative marketing.

REPORTS GROSSMAN ELECTED

Majority of Senate Committee Files Its Finding.

Lincoln, Feb. 19.—The majority report in the Grossman-Pancoast contest from Douglas county was filed in the senate, but held until Hoagland of Lincoln can prepare a minority report.

The report sets out that seven meetings were held and the votes recounted in the second voting precinct of the Third ward and the second voting precinct of the First ward in Omaha. The returns gave Pancoast 13,272 votes in the county and Grossman 13,321, a majority of forty-nine votes for Grossman. A recount showed many changes for both candidates and resulted in Grossman still leading by fifteen votes. Evidence of fraud was shown in both precincts.

Woodmer Want Referendum.

Omaha, Feb. 19.—Representatives of the Nebraska Modern Woodmen insurgents gathered at the banquet given by the welfare committee of the Second congressional district and discussed plans and means to overthrow the rate legislation enacted at the national convention at Chicago last fall. A resolution to be introduced in the Nebraska legislature in the form of a referendum bill was unanimously endorsed by the meeting. The bill provides for a referendum vote on all rate increases in fraternal societies.

Fairbury Boy Shot.

Fairbury, Neb., Feb. 19.—Little ten-year-old George Moles is lying in a precarious condition at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Moles, six miles northeast of this city, with a bullet lodged in his left breast. In company with his brother, Willard, and several other companions, they were playing in the yard with a rifle and in some manner the weapon was accidentally discharged. His doctor entertains slight hopes for his recovery.

Girl Fatally Hurt in Auto Accident.

Tekamah, Neb., Feb. 19.—In an automobile wreck near here, Miss Ethel McKay of Tekamah had her head crushed and will die, and Gordon Bryant of Tekamah was seriously hurt. Clyde Tunberg, who drove the car, escaped with slight injuries. The automobile turned over when one wheel missed a culvert.

York Firebugs Are Making Threats.

York, Neb., Feb. 19.—Threats written on the windows of the Liggett Lumber company and the automobile and sporting goods store of Gus J. Koche added more coals to the fire situation in York. Local authorities are baffled.

W. M. Glass Called to Rest.

Omaha, Feb. 19.—William M. Glass, vice president of the Lee-Glass-Andersen Hardware company, died at his home, 3116 Dodge street, after suffering a week from acute indigestion and gallstones.

SEWARD BOY MISSING

Charles Frost Fears He Has Killed Fellow Student.

Seward, Neb., Feb. 19.—Charles Frost, a student at the Lutheran normal school here, which prepares teachers for the Lutheran schools, is missing and a search made by practically every member of the school and many citizens of Seward has failed to locate him.

While on the college campus with a number of his companions, one of them fell in an epileptic fit, and, as Frost had been wrestling with him just a moment before some of his companions told him he had killed the lad. It was Frost's first experience with epilepsy, and in terror he started running from the field and was soon lost to sight. In a few moments the young men spread the alarm and a country-wide search was begun.

Frost left without his hat and thin, clad. No trace of him was found and his friends began to fear that he will not be found alive.

The young man was sixteen years of age, clad in a plain gray suit. He is curly-headed, his hair being dark brown.

MISSING BOYS ARE FOUND

Harkness Kountze and Tom Kinsler Located in Council Bluffs.

Omaha, Feb. 19.—After a twenty-six-hour search by the police and sheriff's departments of Omaha, Council Bluffs and South Omaha, Harkness Kountze, the twelve-year-old son of Luther Kountze, and Tom Kinsler, thirteen-year-old son of Albert V. Kinsler, were found at the home of Ed McDermott in Council Bluffs. The boys were not kidnapped, but had only fallen victims to the wanderlust fever.

Not a single word was uttered when Mr. Kinsler walked into the McDermott home and motioned the boys to follow.

Both boys silently stepped into a waiting automobile and a few minutes later were at their homes, eating supper with their families as though nothing had happened. The lads ran away from home just "because."

SONS OF VETERANS MEET

Twenty-ninth Annual Encampment Opens at Columbus.

Columbus, Neb., Feb. 18.—The twenty-ninth annual encampment of the Nebraska division Sons of Veterans opened in this city today. Delegates from the various camps in the state are in attendance and the session will take up the better portion of two days. H. W. Rogers of Fremont is division commander. Division officers will be elected and location of the next encampment made.

Work on Power Canal Starts Soon.

Fremont, Neb., Feb. 18.—Preliminary work of excavating for the Fremont power canal will start within two weeks in order to comply with the condition of the grant that actual excavation be in progress by March 7. Isaac Congdon of Omaha, attorney for the Kountze interests, and Robert Lozier of New York city, a representative in the east of the same interests, were in Fremont for a conference with L. D. Richards and J. E. Clarke, an engineer who has been making a survey over the old route.

Merna Elects a Postmaster.

Merna, Neb., Feb. 18.—In the election for postmaster here Joseph Fenimore received a plurality of twenty votes over the next highest candidate out of a field of five candidates. All legal voters, patrons of the office, were allowed to vote. Out of a total of about 300 such patrons, 281 voted. Mr. Fenimore is one of the town's leading citizens. The people are enthusiastic for this method and are confident that their choice will command the approval of the incoming administration.

Boy Firebug Probably Insane.

Kearney, Neb., Feb. 18.—George Walter Nichols, a seventeen-year-old resident of Miller, is being held here on the charge of insanity, pending an examination of his case by the insanity board. Nichols was given into the hands of the sheriff after he had started a number of fires at Miller and had shown an inclination to become troublesome. Owing to the young man's age he will be recommended to the feeble minded institute at Beatrice.

McGiverin Citation Dismissed by Court.

Fremont, Neb., Feb. 18.—In the district court Judge Hollenbeck has entered a decree dismissing the citation of Mrs. Rose McGiverin and F. McGiverin for contempt of court and collusion, growing out of a statement published in an Omaha paper purporting to be an interview with Mr. McGiverin, in which he declared that he committed certain acts for the express purpose of giving his wife grounds for legal action.

R. H. Knapp Is Dead.

Cedar Bluffs, Neb., Feb. 18.—R. H. Knapp, for nearly sixty years a resident of Nebraska and former treasurer of Saunders county, died at his home in this city. Mr. Knapp was one of the best known citizens of the county and was prominent in politics some years ago.

Dentist Wounded in Mexico Identified.

Beatrice, Neb., Feb. 18.—Dr. H. R. McCrosson, the dentist who was wounded in the riots at Mexico City a few days ago, was located at Davenport, Neb., until a few months ago.

Crawford Man Killed.

Crawford, Neb., Feb. 17.—Clair Messenger, a drayman of this city, was kicked by a horse here and killed. He leaves a widow and three small children.

Among The Churches of Wayne

St. Paul's Lutheran Church (Rev. J. Kuhn, Pastor.)

Messrs. Ole Lyngen and Robert Starbough have cleaned the cistern and repaired the walks at the parsonage. This was most necessary and we are grateful.

Mrs. E. C. Tweed entertained the pastor and Mr. and Mrs. Hansen at dinner last Thursday in honor of the pastor's birthday.

The Ladies' Aid society had a splendid meeting with Mrs. Tweed last Thursday afternoon. At this time arrangements were completed for the bazaar. The next meeting of the society will be at the home of Miss Mary Swanson on Thursday afternoon.

The pastor desires the attendance of the children from the home and Sunday school at the preaching services. All who attend will be presented with a beautiful card. The services are for all the people.

We trust a large number will be present next Sunday. Further particulars will be given Sunday. We want to get both old and young into the church going habit. This is most profitable for the life that now is and the life to come.

The Ladies' Aid society has secured the "millinery store" of Mrs. Ball for the bazaar. The time has also been changed from March 13th to March 8th.

Although our audiences are quite good in attendance and interest, yet there are quite a number of the people bearing the Lutheran name who do not attend. We want to reach these. All Lutherans should prove faithful to the church, then they will prove worthy of the name they bear.

Our Catechism class meets at the pastor's study on next Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. This class is being rapidly prepared to be received by confirmation on Easter Sunday. Accordingly, at their own request, longer lessons are being studied that all the members may have a clear understanding of the subjects taught, that is, the fundamental doctrines of the Christian religion. Thus shall they be able to give a reason for their hope in Christ.

Our services for next Sunday will be appropriate to the third Sunday in Lent and will be at the usual time, Sunday school at 10 a. m., and preaching services at 11 a. m. These Lenten services are very interesting and helpful. "Strive not to miss a service. They are designed for the good of all the people. Come and enjoy these services with us, and we will do each other good."

Baptist Church

Rev. B. P. Richardson, Pastor

We had two large audiences last Sunday. In the evening the audience was the largest we have ever had, except at times of some special attraction. The interest was especially good at both services. One young woman was received for baptism, at the evening service. No theme has ever been found so popular as the gospel.

Next Sunday morning the pastor will preach from the theme: "Two Versions of an Old Text."

At the opening of the Sunday school session, one of the classes will give a short missionary program. The children will give a geography lesson about China. The National song of the new China will be sung.

At 6:30 p. m., the young people will study the life and work of the great Livingstone. The pastor will lead in this study.

At 7:30, we have arranged a meeting especially for men. Women are invited and will be cordially welcomed, but our desire is to get as many men present as possible. Some special musical numbers will be given. Prof. Coleman will sing. Miss Martha Woosly will give Van Dyke's story, "The Lost Word." The subject of the pastor's sermon will be "The Sheltering Manhood." Let every man of the church and congregation make an effort to be present.

The advisory board will meet in the study Tuesday at 7:30 p. m.

Wednesday evening will be our regular monthly covenant meeting. This is one of the best meetings the church has during the month.

We are always glad to welcome strangers and visitors to our different meetings.

Methodist Church

Rev. Wm. Gorat, Pastor

Nearly 400 people attended the Valentine picnic and program at the church last Friday. Everybody seemed delighted with the entire program and the vote for a similar doings a year hence was unanimous.

The Quarterly conference held in connection with the picnic by unanimous vote invited the district conference and Laymen's convention to hold their next sessions March 25-26 in Wayne. The meetings will bring such speakers as Bishop Bristol, President Craig of Morningstars college and possibly Dr. C. B. Spencer of Kansas City or Mr. Metcalf of Lincoln. We shall know in a few days whether our invitation is accepted.

To Farmers Raising Wheat

Whoever heard of a MILLING CONCERN GIVING AWAY ANYTHING? That is exactly what we are going to do. There has been more or less SMUT in the wheat for a year or more. It's not necessary to raise smut if the seed is properly treated before sowing. The seed wheat treated with BLUE VITROL (dissolved in water) will kill all of the smut spores and not injure the seed at all. We are willing to furnish the Blue Vitrol with instructions how to use it, providing you will furnish the water to dissolve it and use it. There is a little extra labor connected with it, but it will pay anyone who sows wheat to perform this extra labor. Come to the Wayne Roller Mill and let us know how many bushels of wheat you intend to sow and we will furnish you with the Blue Vitrol free of charge.

WEBER BROS.

Sunday, March 2nd will be quarterly communion service. Quite a large number of people attended the Love Feast service recently on a Wednesday evening and received so much help and were so well pleased with the hour that an unanimous request was made for a like service in connection with our next communion service. It may be arranged to merge the Epworth League service with a Love feast and hold both it and the communion in the evening.

Be sure to attend Sunday school next Sunday. Something of importance is coming.

Remember the concert tomorrow evening at 8:15 sharp. You will be sorry if you miss it.

Next Sunday morning the sermon will be an inquiry into the question "What is Real Liberty?" and in the evening the pastor will preach the annual temperance sermon, giving attention to some of the latest drifts of sentiment in this exceedingly important field of interest.

Presbyterian Church
Rev. Alexander Corkey, Pastor.

"Seed by the Wayside" will be the subject of the morning sermon next Sunday. In the evening the pastor will preach on "Lent and its Observance."

The morning service begins at 10:30 and the evening service at 7:30. Sunday school convenes at 12:00. The C. E. prayer meeting is held at 6:30 p. m. These services are open to all and strangers are cordially welcome at all times.

In the absence of the pastor last Wednesday evening the mid-week service was led by Mrs. J. G. Mines.

C. F. N. Clasen is giving a series of illustrated talks to the Sunday school during its closing exercises. The talks and the object illustrations have aroused great interest amongst the Sunday school children as well as the older ones. Continued on next page, fifth column

The Two Thousand Headed Tailor

Gamble & Senter Describe System Whereby One Organization is Able to Make Clothes to Measure for Clothes Buyers all Over the World

Somebody figured out the other day that since Father Dearborn staked out that exciting little hunk of Lake Michigan Beach called Chicago, there has been over one billion articles written entitled "What I Saw in the Big Beef Town."

And every time Uncle Hiram cuts loose from tall alfalfa long enough to spend all of the harvest money on State street, back he comes with a column or two in his town weekly to take out his grudge on his neighboring plough-pushers with an account headed "The Beauties of A Breezy Burg."

Therefore, I don't claim any originality in wedging myself into print with Chicago-copy. Every literary ink spot in the land has gushed out a few remarks on that town, and my pen isn't nimble enough to caper the word pranks that have already been written on the accepted marvels of this city.

I am going to write, not about the streets and buildings and restaurants and theatres, and all the other things you have to go to see, but about a unique Chicago Institution that comes right here to us the year around, that though situated in Packing town, is yet bringing its good work and its service right into our own very midst and our own home lives.

I am going to tell you about a business organization that must be of interest to every man in our town, because it is making a product that every man here must have, that every man in fact, lives in for the greater part of his life—his clothes.

Imagine if you can, a two thousand headed tailor. A tailor with a brain, the skill, the activity, of 2,000 merchant tailor cutters rolled into one. A tailor whose hand, arms and eyes equal those of 2,000 combined clothes makers, whose viewpoint encircles the globe, and whose trade is made up of nations instead of localities and neighborhoods.

That is the unique institution, the largest tailoring establishment in the world, in which I spent most of my Chicago time. And its name is "The Royal Tailors."

This famous 2,000 brain power tailoring industry occupies over a full city block of ground, and ground that is rated at a fortune a foot.

Say, did you ever dream of suddenly finding yourself all alone on a great big stage, in a great big theatre, with ten thousand people looking expectantly at you?

Well, that's about the surprise I felt, when after passing through a short marbled hall, I suddenly found myself unannounced in the heart of a mammoth humming hive of office industry.

Here was an office room that seemed as big as a three-acre pasture, block upon block it looked to me, as I strained my vision to encompass its full area, and peopled almost with a small city, full of workers; intent, absorbed, enthralled they all were on the day's work of this world's foremost tailoring concern.

For this was the administration, the brain machinery of the business. Into this colossal counting room pour every day a never stopping stream of suit and overcoat orders from everywhere, representing the fabric choices, the fashion selections, the body dimensions, the good-clothes hopes of men in all parts of America.

But tap goes the Magic Wand and the scene is changed! I now found myself indeed at the core of the National Tailor Shops and before me was America's greatest cutting room. The word "Cutter" is not very clear or complete in describing the craftsman who drafts your Royal Tailor Suit. In the Royal Shops, the cutter not merely cuts, he creates, he plans, he models. A Royal Cutter is an architect and a draftsman. Every order that goes into his hands is not alone a list of specifications, it is a virtual miniature tracing of the body he is to clothe. It is a photograph in figures and dimensions, of the man whose clothes ideals he is to make "come true."

There are 150 of these skilled clothes architects at work here in a room that seemed as big and airy and light as an open field, it is right to say that these men mold your suit to your "picture-on-paper" that the dealer sends in. You may have even so small a variation, say, in one shoulder over the other. But that tiny fluctuation is considered and provided for when the Royal craftsman chalks out your suit.

From the Cutter's Room I was transported into many clean and wholesome shops, floor upon floor of sunshine work rooms, passed tier after tier of contented and satisfied workers.

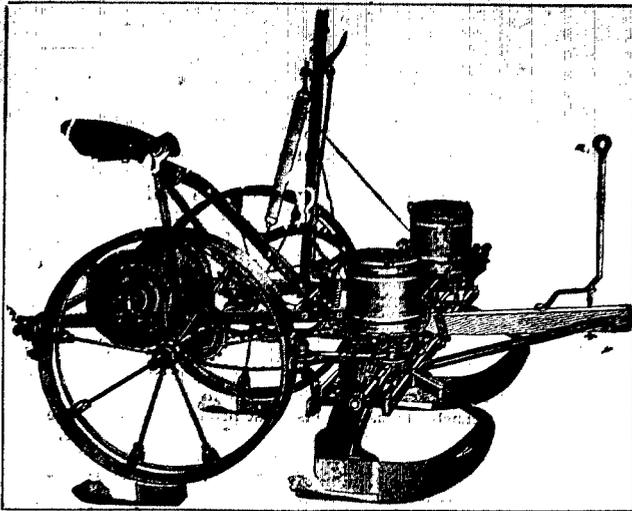

And so each section of your suit, each detail of it is handled by a deft expert, a specialist in that one detail, who knows all that there is to be known about that one part. In coat-shops, in pants-shops, in vest-shops I saw long rows of wonder workers who are masters of some one fine detail in finishing of your suit or overcoat. Even buttonhole making, stitching, basting and felling are each raised to an art in themselves in the Royal Shops, each in charge of operators who know that one thing better than they know anything else.

One big thing I noticed particularly as I journeyed from shop to shop, and that is the unceasing system of inspection and counter inspection that followed every order. Attached to every order, from the moment it is cut into cloth, to the finished garment, is a little inspection tag. Every operation as it is completed must be checked against the order blank, and the check of each department head is put upon the tag.

And there are other things I saw that made me appreciate why this guarantee is possible to The Royal Tailors. In the woolen warehouse, where, by the way, is the largest and finest stock of woolsens in the world, a million dollar collection, I was told that The Royal Tailors forfeit a dollar a thread for any thread of cotton found in a Royal fabric. Think what this means, in this day and age, when cotton adulterations are so flagrant and cunning that three suits out of every four you see on the street are cotton doctored and doped, when millions of dollars worth of clothes are piously palmed off as commercially accepted wool, though secretly secluding a liberal percentage of sleazy and adulteration.

All Pure Wool! Not commercially wool, but absolutely all pure wool, with not an atom of anything else in it!

And then there is the Secret Shrinking Process. I was not shown all of that, for only three men and two understudies in this business know it throughout. But I was shown enough to convince me that this process removes absolutely and completely the full 100 per cent of shrink tendency in every woolen used in Royal Tailoring.

No other process even claims to do that. And that is why Royal Clothes alone are guaranteed to hold their Style and Fit until worn out.

Other processes claim to take out 90 and 92 per cent of the shrink. But even 5 per cent left in can make a good fitting suit hang like a shrivelled prune skin when exposed to damp elements.

And the final triumph of the Royal organization I witnessed in working harness was the famous Six Day Schedule Delivery, with a $1.00 a day forfeit for each and every day a garment is delayed in the making.

The schedule, perhaps, more than any other one thing, is the living proof of the wonderful efficiency that has been attained in the Royal organization. It typifies the certainty that runs all through the organization. It represents the clock-like team work and precision. It speaks for the dependability of the whole Royal idea, the whole Royal service.

The service without a jumble or a fumble, the service without fog or cog, without fluctuation or variance, without jar or mar, the service of Certainties.

And some day I hope you will see with your own eyes as I did with mine, the Sunshine Family and the sunshine atmosphere that make it possible.—adv.

Obituary—Christine Ann Russman

Christine Anna Thomsen was born in the province of Schleswig-Holstein, Germany, January 6, 1853, and came to America in 1882, and the same year was married to Mr. Claus Russman. They first settled in Iowa, and the following year settled in Wayne county, Nebraska, where they made their home for nearly thirty years. They moved to Wayne in 1908.

Mrs. Russman passed away Thursday evening, February 13, 1913, at the age of 61 years, 1 month and 7 days, leaving a husband, Claus, and a son Johannes here to mourn her death, besides two brothers and a sister in Germany.

The funeral services were conducted from the German Lutheran church at 1:30 Sunday afternoon by the pastor and the burial was in Greenlawn cemetery. The sympathy of many friends go to the bereaved family over the loss of their loving wife and mother. A good woman has gone to her reward.

Thanks are extended to the many friends and neighbors for kindly aid and sympathy during the hours of affliction by the father and son who hope that they all be spared a like sorrow.

In his closing sermon on "Spiritual Fundamentals" Rev. Alexander spoke of the Kingdom of God on earth. After showing that the central subject of Christ's teaching was "the Kingdom of God," he defined the phrase as meaning a new society of men who have been redeemed from sin and who are in fellowship with God. He showed how neither birth nor social station admitted to this Kingdom but only Christian faith. In describing the methods used to extend the Kingdom he commended the personal example of Jesus in seeking out individuals and adding them one by one to his new society. The hope of the world depends on the growth and extension of this Kingdom of God and not on legislation or social panaceas. Christian men, when in the majority, create Christian institutions easily but the real difficulty is in converting men to holiness of life. This is done through religious progress and the power of Christ's Gospel.

J. M. Coleman's Grand Dispersion Sale

53 Head Poland China

BOARS AND BRED SOWS

Columbus, Neb., Monday, March 3

I am making this a dispersion sale because of having sold my farm at Belgrade, and it will be an opportune time to buy—and buy of my best stock. Many Wayne county people know the Poland China stock I have been breeding and are invited to attend this sale at Columbus.

Catalogues may be had by writing to me at Belgrade, Neb., or bids may be mailed O. H. Purdy of Stockman's Journal, South Omaha; H. C. McKelvie, in my care, at Columbus, or to the clerk.

Breeders from a distance will find accommodations at Clothier Hotel, Columbus.

The Use of Canned Goods

As every family uses more or less canned goods it has been decided by the National Canned Goods League to set aside one week (March 31 to April 6th), to conduct an interesting campaign to more thoroughly let the consumer know just what he is using.

Retail Grocers have been asked to co-operate and make a study of Canned Goods. Beaman does not claim to know all about the production of Canned Goods but does claim to be in position to know more than the average Grocer.

What I have found: I have found that a great many canners have devoted more time to cheapen the production rather than "Improve the Quality." Grocers work on the same lines to a great detriment of the Canned Goods industry. Millions of dollars are invested in the Canneries of the United States and employ many thousands of people. Among these Canners you will find a few that are devoting every possible effort to improve the "Table Quality." The World judges Fresh Fruit by the Canned Product.

This space will contain interesting articles on Canned Goods.

Powell Lessman has returned from Lincoln where he took the "short course" at the state farm, passing through a course which instructed in farming, dairying, stock-raising, stock-judging and many other phases of successful farming. He is reported as being highly pleased with the work and the knowledge obtained, and feels that what he learned in the short time he was there will be of great use to him, not only the coming season, but for years to come. That is one advantage in having knowledge—it may be used many times and on many occasions, and is better rather than the worse for wear.

A. R. Davis and F. S. Berry are at Norfolk on legal business today.

Mrs. Ed Ellis and daughter, Miss Josie, went to Randolph for a visit Tuesday.

House brooms made by a new process which makes them firmer and more lasting. Bought direct from Broom Factory, which cuts out profits of wholesale houses and expenses of traveling men and is the reason for the low price, 25c. at Variety Store.—adv.

It is said that the Wayne papers, or the Wayne preachers, are injuring their church attendance by publishing such complete reviews of their sermons each week—those who are not disposed to attend services wait for the papers and take the sermon boiled down in short form without the trouble of attending church. There are always two sides to every question.

Farm work promises to come early this season, and it is a wise farmer who prepares for it early by seeing that the repairs needed are obtained ahead of the rush, when those who neglect these things are all demanding the time of the blacksmith. A. A. Wallert, who runs a shop on south Main street wishes to be remembered early with your repair work.—adv 8-1.

One of the big times of the season is promised Friday evening, when the W. O. W. will hold a special meeting here, and entertain a number of invited guests in addition to their own membership and wives. The meeting will be at their hall, and a banquet will be served at Swanson's restaurant and ice cream parlors. It is not necessary to say that there is "a good time a-coming."

W. D. Redmond of the Normal, who formerly served as a member of the Nebraska legislature, could not resist the temptation to return to Lincoln a few days this week and mingle with the makers of law. A political convention has a fascination for those who once attend, and no doubt the attractions of a session of the legislature are greater to one who has once been a member. We are wishing him a pleasant week.

Ernest Longnecker and wife from Walnut, Iowa, have been here visiting their relatives and old friends. They formerly lived a mile south of Wayne, but moved to Iowa eleven years ago, where they have resided since. They have relatives near Carroll and Randolph and at Wakefield. While at Wayne they were guests of S. Taylor and wife and Mr. and Mrs. Ash just adjoining their old home. They will return the last of week.

Mrs. W. S. Elder went to Omaha this morning where she is taking treatment.

FOUND—Lady's bar pin. Owner give description and tell where lost and recover property.

J. B. Hinks and wife were visitors at Sioux City last week, going on Friday and returning the first of the week.

T. E. Wade arrived here Wednesday evening from Rock Valley, Iowa, to visit his mother and brother, Margaret and G. A. Wade.

Prof. Lackey went to Lincoln Wednesday, where he will attend the sessions of the state conservation congress now in session at that place. He goes as representative of the college.

In addition to list of licenses printed on another page, the judge has issued the needful paper to John Toy Barada and Margaret White, and to Fred Brueckner and Mary Raduenz.

John and Peter Russman and J. J. Sieh from Avoca, Iowa, came Sunday evening to attend the funeral of Mrs. Russman at this place, but were too late for the service. They returned Tuesday.

Miss Alger, who has been visiting here for some time, left Wednesday afternoon to visit at the home of her sister at Sioux City, and from there she plans to visit her former home near Muscatine and West Liberty, Iowa.

Will Mellor returned last evening from Chicago, where he went early in the week with two cars of fat cattle from his place. He struck a good market and unloaded at $8.75. The steers averaged 1331 lbs., which means almost $120 each.

The infant child of Lot Morris and wife a few miles northwest of Carroll was taken ill Wednesday, grew rapidly worse, and died during the night. The physician called, pronounced it black diphtheria. The body was buried this morning.

Wm. Wischhof and family left here Wednesday for their new home at Amiret, Minnesota, where he bought a farm last season. On Tuesday two of his sons started with the three cars of goods and stock which they are taking from here to their Minnesota home, which we are glad to say is not so far as it sounds, for they have located in the southwest corner of the state. Two of the daughters remained here for a time, as one of them is attending the Lutheran school northeast of here, and is to be confirmed at Easter time. Mr. and Mrs. Wischhof have been on the farm a few miles north of here for 21 years, and had planned to buy the place some time, but it was not for sale, so they moved to another state. There is no doubt but both the farm and the tenant are better off for having remained so long on one farm, and the short lease is one of the worst features of the land renting system. It is bad for the renter and worse for the man who owns the farm. These people will be missed from their old neighborhood.

A Great Methodist Picnic

There was great doings at the M. E. church in this city last Friday, when all of the members were invited to take part in a Valentine day festival. The features of the day were the meeting in the afternoon devoted to the mission work, and this was largely a women's meeting, for they are the missions strength of every church organization, though the pastor, Rev. Gorst, made a most excellent address on the subject, convincing his hearers that the organized mission work of the church was far more effective than any other. Mrs. Williamson and Mrs. Gorst had previously addressed the meeting. The entertainment features consisted of singing, reading and short talks.

Prof. I. H. Britell presided at the evening meeting where the district superintendent, Rev. E. E. Hosman spoke to the brotherhood men most ably, and the college male quartette and others contributed excellent music, and Miss McBeth never did better with a reading than on this occasion. Next to the supper at which fully 400 people were seated in congenial groups, the most pleasant feature of the entire day is said to have been the constitution and by-laws provided by W. D. Redmond for a ladies' aid society, and the report of Miss Estella Hardy on how to run the Methodist Brotherhood. Both made many excellent points, showing up the weaknesses of the brother and sister organizations. The day will long be remembered as the greatest social and fraternal event in the history of the church.

Local Author Writes of "Billy" Sunday

In his new story, "The Vision of Joy," which is now running as a serial in the Christian Work and Evangelist of New York, Rev. Alexander Corkey introduces as one of the characters in the story the baseball evangelist, Rev. William A. Sunday, better known as "Billy" Sunday. A characteristic sermon by the famous evangelist is sketched in Chapter Twelve of the story, which is as follows:

"You can do just as you please. If you don't care anything about God, and if you don't care anything about the results of your actions, you can lie if you want to, you can steal if you want to, you can fight booze, you can commit adultery if you want to; but listen to me: be not deceived; God is not mocked, and what you sow you'll reap. You can go your way and you can go to the limit, but as sure as there is a God above you will have to pay the price."

With these words, spoken with intense earnestness, "Billy" Sunday began an address to the men of Bronson and the surrounding country one Sunday afternoon.

It was a thrilling sight which met the evangelist when he stepped on the platform. The immense tabernacle was crowded to the rear doors, fully ten thousand men being massed together in the most wonderful religious service ever held in all Michigan. In the choir loft there were fully one thousand more men and boys. It was after three weeks of hard campaigning, during which Mr. Sunday had preached as no one had ever preached before in Bronson. He had denounced sin, hypocrisy, ungodliness and every form of evil in a terrific manner, using at times a vocabulary of his own. He pictured the results of infidelity with unsparring vividness.

But he had kept his great audiences night after night in good humor, and he carried public sentiment with him in a manner that amazed such men as Bud McCrea and Mr. Graham. In his pictures of heaven and in his description of hell the evangelist became a tragedian, and the people rejoiced and trembled in turn. After the first two weeks he began to plead with men to forsake their sins and to surrender themselves to Jesus Christ and take the Christian life. The response of his invitations were immediate. Hundreds pressed forward to confess their willingness to live henceforth for God. Among the penitents had been men of all classes, rich and poor, learned and ignorant. Some society women crowded to the front in company with operatives from the Gregory factory. Students from the normal school, and professors also, were among the throng which "hit the sawdust trail."

The "Courier" devoted more than half its space every day to reporting the meetings, and religion was the sole topic of interest in Bronson. Prayer meetings were held every day in every section of the city; shop meetings at noon were addressed by scores of ministers and prominent laymen. Business men who had never before mentioned religion to their associates now pleaded with them to accept the Christian faith.

Elaborate preparations had been made beforehand to insure the success of the great men's mass meeting that Sunday afternoon. It was a beautiful winter Sabbath, and Reginald Nelson, who had remained faithfully at the press table night after night, sat on the platform and watched the regiments of men throng into the tabernacle. When the multiplied thousands filled the broad arena he said to himself, "This is an army."

After the opening singing and prayer "Billy" Sunday began his address. At the opening sentence he caught the attention of all. "I am going to hit right out from the shoulder to-day, men," he continued. "God knows I feel kindly toward you, and that I have no other aim than a desire to help you. Before you leave the tabernacle I hope I shall have convinced you that I did not come here today to pump you full of hot air."

Here the speaker unloosened his collar and tie and laid them on a nearby chair, and also removed his coat. "I am trying myself to practise what I preach!" he exclaimed; "for I throw too many rocks at other people to live in a glass house. I am trying the best I know how to trot square."

There was a burst of applause from the audience, and Mr. Sunday continued with increasing animation: "I know what it is to work. I lived on a farm in early life, and from nine years of age I have been doing a man's work in the world. My father died in the war and my mother was left a widow with a family of small children. I tell you I have crawled up out of the sewers of poverty."

The great army of men were now listening intently, and the evangelist plunged into his theme. "I have been told a good many things about some of you fellows here in Bronson," he declared, walking up to the edge of the platform and glaring out over the throng. "I know that some of you go home at night, you old devils, from places you wouldn't think of taking your wife for all the world. And you young bucks, I know about you too. Some of you go down to the haunts of vice, and if someone asks you to go to the tabernacle and hear Bill you answer, 'O no; he is too d---d vulgar.' You miserable, little, low-down wretches; some of you are so low down that you would have to reach up to touch bottom, and you are so crooked you could hide behind a corkscrew."

These statements evoked roars of laughter and applause, but Reginald could see a number of young men flush as the speaker made these biting remarks, and among them was Roland Gregory, who had attended the meeting for the first time that afternoon.

"I know the fellows who will find fault with my talk today," continued "Billy" Sunday. "Every fellow that is not totting square, every fellow who is lecherous, false, dishonest and mean, will go away from here and cuss me; but you men who believe in what is right, and who want to see Bronson cleaned up, you men who are trying to live the right kind of a life, I know you are with me. I don't expect to please either fools or rascals, and I never try to."

"Christianity appeals to strong men!" he shouted. "It is the weak man who is the sinner. Sin is too much for him. The Gospel makes the weak strong."

Many of the older men in the audience could well remember when the speaker's name appeared daily in the papers as the fastest runner in one of the champion baseball teams in America over twenty years before, and their interest was intense as the former ball-player referred to his life on the diamond.

"When I was playing ball," he said in colloquial tones, "I could run one hundred yards in ten seconds. I made the circuit of the bases in fourteen seconds. After I became a Christian I was just as good a ball-player as before."

The audience was now completely under the power of the evangelist's personality, and he became more personal in his address.

"What are you living for?" he asked. "Some of you are living for money, and I have no objection to wealth if it is honestly acquired. But remember this, gentlemen, there will be no pockets in your shrouds, and if there were your arms would be too stiff to get your hands into them. When Commodore Vanderbilt, who was worth $200,000,000, died someone in Wall Street asked how much he left, and the answer was that he had left it all. These words are true of every one of us. We came into the world without a dollar and we go out without a dollar. If all the rich men in hades could pool their money they couldn't buy drop of water to cool their parched tongues. Remember that, you old reprobates!" roared the evangelist.

"You can't take your gold and silver with you when you leave this world, and it wouldn't do you any good, he added parenthetically, "if you did take it, for it would all melt. A smile rippled over the audience at this remark.

"Some of you are living for lust!" cried Mr. Sunday. Here the speaker launched into a discussion of the social evil and of its effects on society. He made a strong plea for a single standard of morals. "You cowardly, contemptible young hound!" he shouted, directing his attention to a crowd of younger men, "you betray the trust of an innocent young girl and society still recognizes you, while the umpire shouts, 'The girl is out.' I tell you it does not make any difference to God whether you wear a plug hat or a hairpin. It makes no difference to him whether you wear a coat or a petticoat. God does not recognize two standards, and any society that does is too low down for me."

Mr. Sunday then turned his attention to the liquor business and attacked the open saloon in vigorous words. "The saloons of Bronson!" he exclaimed, "are the vendors of poison; they are the breeding places of crime and pauperism; they are the nestling places of anarchy and the incubators of lawlessness. If no one ever preached before to these old bull-necked fellows, there is one here now who is not afraid to do it."

A number of saloon keepers and bartenders in the audience lowered their heads quickly. "Let us stop finding fault with the sins of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob," continued the speaker. "Let us speak plainly about the vileness and corruption of this infamous business right here in Bronson, and we'll see better times. When I get through preaching here you can throw me in the Bronson River if you want to, but I know you will have to say, 'There goes a man who stood up for our homes, our wives, our children and our community.' Don't you see it, men," he said pleadingly. "I am fighting for you and for your homes."

In bringing his address to a close Mr. Sunday again referred to his baseball experiences. "I used to play ball," he said simply. "I played center and left field on the old Chicago White Stockings. I don't believe their equal was ever known, and I am sure their superior never was. One season we played all year with eleven men. It is over twenty years ago now," he continued, while the audience bent forward to hear him speak; "the team was in Chicago. It was Sunday afternoon and I was with a company of ball-players who were then famous throughout the world. We went into a saloon. After coming out we walked to the corner of State and Madison streets and sat down on the curbing. Across the street a company of men and women were playing on horns, flutes and slide trombones, and some others were singing Gospel hymns. They were the very hymns I used to hear my mother sing back in the old log cabin in Iowa when I was a child. They were the songs I used to sing myself in the Sunday school back in the old church."

There were tears in the eyes of the evangelist and his voice was tender as he spoke. Thousands of men looked at the speaker through dimmed eyes and the silence in the tabernacle was profound.

"I listened," continued the evangelist, "and God painted on the canvas of my recollections and memory a vivid picture of the scenes of other days and other faces. I began to cry and sob, and my heart was, oh, so lonely. A young man stepped out and said, 'We are going down to the Pacific Garden Mission. Won't you come with us? I am sure you will all enjoy it.'

I arose to my feet and said to the other boys, 'Good-bye, I'm going down to the mission with this crowd.' They saw I was interested and some laughed, others mocked, but one of them encouraged me. Some of them looked at me in silence. I left them at the corner, went to the mission and got down on my knees and gave my heart to Jesus Christ. I went over to the west side of Chicago and joined the Jefferson Park Presbyterian church."

"Amen, praise God," said an old, gray-haired man near the front when the evangelist had finished the story of his conversion. "I have thanked God ever since for saving me that day," continued the speaker. Listen, men, the other boys who were with me that afternoon are now nearly all gone." The speaker then told of the sad fates of fellow-ball-players who were on the White Stocking team. One of them had died in an insane asylum in Michigan, a victim of cigarettes; another had crawled in to a drunkard's grave; another died in poverty and squalor as a consequence of his sins. Which of those boys won out that Sunday afternoon?" he asked. Did I or did they? Thank God, I won through Jesus Christ. I am what I am through Him."

The speaker paused and said abruptly, "How many of you men will say, Thank you, Bill; your sermon has helped me?"

The men began to rise in scores and hundreds and thousands, until it seemed that every man in the tabernacle was on his feet. They sang a hymn, and as they sang the evangelist pled with the men to come forward and do as he had done twenty years before and more in Chicago.

"Who will be the first to step out before this host of men and declare himself a Christian?" shouted the evangelist.

Advertising in Medical Profession
There are more doctors to the population in the United States than in any other country. The surgeons of our country lead the world in original research and technique. The physicians have done more for the prevention and cure of disease than those of any other country. The laws governing the practice of medicine are becoming stronger every year. Now one must have a thorough academic education before entering—must spend from four to six years in college, and must pass a state board examination before becoming licensed to practice. It is a business proposition that one become acquainted with the preparation his physician has made. His ability as a doctor should be your reason for employing him providing he is an honest man. Having made your choice give him a fair show—be loyal to him. One forgets the Doctor in the other city or state when the child is flushed with fever or one in the home is stricken at midnight. The up-to-date doctor works to alleviate conditions leading to these emergencies. Colds become pneumonia, catarrh leads to deafness, eye-strain to disorder of stomach and nerves, etc. My "story" so far has been merely a plea for a square deal to honest doctors everywhere but especially in your midst. I will tell my own story in my next, leaving others to tell theirs in their way. I make a study of general practice, also the special work on Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat.

Horace Greeley
By Geo. Fitch
Horace Greeley, the greatest and most explosive editor America ever had, was born 101 years ago today in New Hampshire. From his youth he had great faith in the West and early demonstrated it by removing to Vermont with his parents. Later he pushed on to New York, where he spent the rest of his life editing newspapers and exhorting the youth to chase the setting sun over the prairies towards the free government homestead. Greeley was hard on New York's census returns but was largely responsible for the growth of Wyoming and Kansas—for which fact he has only lately been regarded with gratitude by settlers in those states.

Greeley went to college in a country printing office and at the age of twenty started a weekly magazine in New York. By the age of thirty he had recovered from this and had started the New York Tribune. Thereafter he reigned supreme as its editor, attacking vice, dishonesty, democrats, rebels and later on everything with the utmost ferocity and ability. He was a stout man with a round, good natured face resting on a thick mat of whiskers and he stared at the world from behind large, round spectacles. Greeley looked like an old New England schoolmaster and always dressed at a respectful distance behind the styles. But he wrote like a prairie fire and when he picked up his pen and filled a few sheets full of marks by which a detective could have tracked a Plymouth Rock hen with the greatest ease, the world trembled and villains bought tickets for elsewhere. Greeley was a terrible and shocking writer, but our public schools still go blindly on teaching pupils how to make handsome capitols and discreet small letters and ignoring thought and composition.

Greeley was a stern patriot in the Civil War but got more and more hard to please, and in 1872 he resigned from the republican party and ran for president as a democrat. He entered into the campaign with tremendous vigor and as thousands of friends assured him that he would sweep both north and south he edited days and spoke nights in a way which no man of sixty should do. He only accumulated 48 electoral votes and died before they could be cast for him.

Horace Greeley owned and ran his own paper to suit himself, and whenever a crash of glass was heard and a large body was seen shooting out into space from his office, it was known that some advertiser or official had tried to influence the policy of The Tribune.

Washington Political News
By C. H. Tavenner
Washington, Feb 15.—Three million dollars is to be the saving to the people of the country as the result of the fact that Congressman Ben Johnson of Kentucky, is Chairman of the House committee on the District of Columbia. He discovered that the people in the states paying one-half of the taxes for those who reside in the District of Columbia and, until he began to make a fight in Congress they did not know it. Even some of the members of congress did not know it.

The practice of the government standing one-half of the taxes for residents of the District of Columbia is an old one. It has been going on for years. Custom is a hard thing to break down. But there is really no more reason why the people of the states should bear half of the expense of maintaining the District of Columbia than there is why they should pay half of the taxes of the residents of the capitols of states. The old policy of the government to stand one-half of the taxes makes Washington a fine place for tax dodging millionaires to build their palaces. It might only be expected that when Mr. Johnson began his fight pressure would be brought to bear on him to force him to abandon it. It was. The great newspapers of Washington flayed him and ridiculed him; the Senate set itself up against him, he was opposed on the floor of the House, and he had to fight, and fight hard, for every inch of headway he made.

But Mr. Johnson took the attitude that he was sent to Congress to serve the best interests of all the people and not for the purpose of perpetuating soft snaps for the wealthy of the District of Columbia. Mr. Johnson, after a hard fight, succeeded in striking more than three millions of dollars out of the last appropriation bill for the District of Columbia.

"The people back in the States are taxed to carry on their local city, county and state governments; and, in addition, are taxed to pay one-half of all the municipal expenses of the City of Washington," declared Mr. Johnson. "Congress quarrels and fights within itself over the question as to whether one or two battleships shall be built, and without batting an eye or asking a question votes the price of a dreadnaught to Washington each Congress. Widows of the old soldiers are compelled to fight and scramble for an eight dollar or a twelve dollar a month pension, but the widow of a Washington policeman is paid a pension of fifty dollars a month and no questions asked, while the eight dollar pensioned widow back in the states is taxed to help pay it. The same may be said of the old soldier himself.

"The county school teacher bears her part of a tax burden in order to pay the school teacher $1,800 for teaching 280 hours in the schools of Washington. The school child back in the states bears its proportion of tax at home for school books, and then pays a tax to buy school books for the child of the millionaire who lives in Washington. The farmer on the rural route in the states must carry a lantern on his road or travel in the dark while he pays his proportion of the cost to put electric lights on the rural routes which lead out of the city of Washington to the limits of the seventy square miles which constitute the District of Columbia.

"The school child back in the states is given desk room in its humble school at a cost of a dollar or two, while that child bears its proportion of tax which is imposed upon the American people to give desk room costing $1,210 for each child which has entered the school age during the last five years in the city of Washington."

means sound sleep, good digestion, cool judgment and independence.

It is good business to become identified with a good bank, to make it a habit to consult with its officers.

Cash in bank, with the credit it creates, is the key to opportunity and a reserve against adversity.

We invite you to open an account with us. We do not insist on a large beginning. The main thing is to make a start.

Harness and Collar Talk...

The only harness that will give absolute satisfaction is one sewed by hand, the old fashioned way and made of pure oak tanned leather, tanned by pure chestnut oak bark. Such harness wears longer than any two sets made by a machine.

Likewise Collars. My collars are manufactured from the best of pure oak tanned collar leather and sewed with pure oak tanned thongs. As a result the sewing does not give away and it does not become necessary for you to have them repaired after a few montes service.

The only place to purchase harness and leather goods of this high merit is

Telephoning Saves More Than Dollars and Cents

By telephone you waste no time, no energy, and avoid tiresome trips.

Telephoning is the pleasant, the convenient and the economical way to travel, whether for a short distance or for hundreds of miles.

Suppose you compare long distance telephone rates with the railroad fare to any town, and add the cost of lost time and wasted energy in making the trip.

Then, it's very likely you'll decide in favor of the telephone.

A Wonderful Remedy That Saves Your Stock

Your sheep, hogs, cattle, horses and mules are subject to deadly attacks of worms. These ravenous pests multiply by the millions, starve your stock, keep them poor, weak, and out of condition.

SAL-VET
The Great Worm Destroyer and Conditioner

is a medicated stock salt that will rid every animal on your place of worms quickly and keep them worm free and healthy. No pay if it fails. No dosing, no drenching. Just put it where all your stock can run to it freely. They will doctor themselves, thrive faster, and put on money-making flesh. Sal-Vet is not expensive. We carry it in six sizes from 75c up. Come in and get a package to try. You will be pleased with the results. We guarantee it.
