THE HIGH SCHOOL CLASS PLAY

The Class of 1913 Closes a Most Successful Year this Week With the Class Play and Commencement Exercises.

Baccalaureate Services

This interesting service was held at the Methodist church Sunday evening, all of the churches and congregations joining in a union service in honor of the class about to complete their high school education.

First, in order of service, was a hymn by the choir and congregation, followed by prayer by Rev. Richardson, then the Methodist choir sang an anthem and Dr. Alexander Corkey read an impressive scripture lesson and following a song by the audience, Rev. Floyd Blessing delivered the baccalaureate sermon, a very helpful discourse. "Purpose" was his theme, which he first showed was something necessary in every successful life. All should have a purpose—a good purpose, and make it manifest in life. In fact life should be devoted to the accomplishment of some noble purpose. Following this able address the men's chorus gave a song and Rev. Glatfely pronounced the benediction.

The Class Play

It was an inspiring audience which filled the opera house to the utmost and greeted the Senior class of the Wayne high school last evening as following the excellent music of the high school orchestra the curtain rang up for their presentation of the charming comedy drama "At the End of the Rainbow." The play was given in such excellent manner as to disbar criticism and reflect credit upon the class and Miss Estella Hardy, under whose direction the class was drilled and the play was staged.

The play was well adapted to the large class and as a school play has few superiors; it appealed to the audience, so truly did it represent the characteristics of the college student; it was clean and classic. In the cast of characters each seemed fitted to the part assigned, and while all were not star parts each acted their part as a star actor should.

Last week we gave a brief synopsis of the play and cast of characters, and it is not now necessary to repeat the outlines, but the story of the play as given last week will have a new interest if those who listened to its production will turn back and read it again.

The music furnished by the orchestra seemed to shorten the wait between acts, and was most heartily applauded. The whistling solo by Miss Fern Oman between scenes in the last act was most excellent and the young lady was called back repeatedly. Good whistlers are seldom heard, and therefore greatly appreciated, as was demonstrated last night.

Commencement

Tomorrow, Friday evening, occurs the commencement at the M. E. church when twenty-one will be graduated, fourteen girls and seven boys. Dr. G. W. Gallagher will give the class address, his subject being "An American Education."

Social Event at Hoskins

One of the most elaborate dinners ever given in Hoskins was given at the home of Aug. Deck and wife last Sunday in honor of their youngest daughter's birthday.

The home was tastefully decorated with carnations and ferns. At 3:30 the guests were invited to the dining room, where they partook of an elegant five course dinner. After dinner the time was spent in sociability and joy riding.

The out-of-town guests present were Mrs. Harry Robinson of Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Aug. Keason and daughter; Mr. and Mrs. J. Baum and son, Dave Baum; Mr. and Mrs. Davis; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Haase, W. J. Stafford; Hubert Hauptli, Mr. Smith, Fred Moldenhaur, Chas. Rice and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Koengstein, Mr. and Mrs. Cristoph and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Pilger, Misses Mary and Hattie Shafer, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Wichert all of Norfolk, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sourke and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Schultz, Mrs. G. R. Meyer and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Flake of Stanton.

All departed in the evening, wishing Miss Martha many happy returns of the day and voted Mr. and Mrs. Deck royal entertainers.

Farewell Reception to Students

In the Baptist church parlors last Friday evening occurred a very enjoyable social event. The local Young People's society gave a farewell reception to those students who have become a part of any of the numerous organizations of the church, or who regularly worship there.

A Baptist Shakedown started the evening off in a very happy manner, other interesting games following. One game which was much enjoyed was a hunt for photographs. Each person being represented by a picture cut from a magazine to represent them in a favorite attitude; and beneath it their most distinguished characteristic being written, two letters of which were the initials of the person represented and these initials were in red ink.

Each guest made a May basket and Miss Andrews was crowned Queen of May in recognition of her unique artistic ability. A short program had been arranged which consisted of the following:

Hymn.

Prayer.

Farewell Address—Miss Vallie Armacost, vice-president.

Response—Miss Angie Fish.

Original Dialogue, Twenty Years Hence.

The last number was written and acted by the social committee.

Refreshments were served under the direction of Miss Pearle Hughes and Miss Laura Conover.

It is the desire of the local society that these excellent young people shall go forth to fill well, the responsible positions in life for which they have fitted themselves.

Obituary

Mrs. Eliza Hannah Scott was born in Pennsylvania September 11, 1819 and died at Carroll, Nebraska, May 19, 1913. Had she lived until the coming September, she would have been 94 years old. Mrs. Scott had been a widow most of her life, as her husband died shortly after their marriage. Only one child was born in the home, Mr. Winfield Scott, who has lived with his mother continuously during all the years. Two brothers also survive her, one living in Erie, Pennsylvania the other in Oklahoma.

About eighteen years ago Mrs. Scott and her son came to Nebraska and some twelve years ago they moved to Carroll.

In spite of her many years and frailty, she was able to be up and attend to the household duties until but recently. Last winter she began failing in health and recovered more or less at different times until a few days ago she fell and never rallied from the shock.

For about forty years Mrs. Scott was a consistent and faithful member of the Methodist church. But on coming west, living at times out of reach of a church, she let her relationship with the church lapse. Yet wherever she lived, in her heart, her faith in her Savior continued to be real and vital. In her home she was a true woman and mother.

Rev. 13:14 And I heard a voice from heaven, saying unto me, Write, Blessed are the dead, which die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors and their works do follow them. The funeral was at Carroll Wednesday by Rev. Richardson.

Corn and Grain Condition

Corn planting is progressing quite rapidly between showers this week, but the weather is rather discouraging—cold and damp. But thanks to the education of last year, seed corn in this county is reported strong, and starting nicely as fast as planted in spite of the discouraging weather. Judging from the best reports obtainable it is estimated that nearly half of the corn land is planted, although some farmers yet have considerable plowing to do. The weather condition for growing corn was best told by the man who said that his garden stuff had been up a month, but was only a week big. Small grain crops are reported in excellent condition, not only in this vicinity but the state over.

Dr. J. T. House has gone to Butte, where he delivers an address before the high school class at their graduation, and Dean H. H. Hahn went to Spencer on a similar mission.

Social Notes

The Builders class of the Baptist Sunday school are spending the afternoon today at the church parlors. The meeting is intended to strengthen attendance and membership. The following program has been arranged:

Singing.

Prayer.

Talk—Why we organized and what we hope to do—Mrs. E. M. Laughlin.

Sketches of the lives of the following bible characters leading up to next Sunday's lesson will be given:

Abraham—Mrs. Wintersteen.

Isaac—Mrs. Munsinger.

Jacob—Mrs. Dragon.

Joseph—Mrs. Linton.

Solo—Mrs. Arthur Norton.

Light refreshments will be served.

Under the excellent teaching of Mrs. Coleman this class promises great things.

Mrs. J. G. W. Lewis led the lesson study in a most helpful way at the Bible Study Circle Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Oliver Graves. Among the messages received for this meeting was a touching letter from Mrs. E. C. Horn, Columbus, Ohio, depicting the horrors of the recent flood. One of the victims was her mother, who was imprisoned for three days in an upper chamber and now lies at the point of death. Mrs. C. P. Gregg sends greeting from Peru, Nebr., and Mr. Frank Lindgren writes that he is now in special meetings at Battle Creek and will call upon Wayne friends on his return to Chicago. Mrs. Burt Surber, in the west part of town, will entertain the Circle at its next meeting and all are cordially invited.

The Minerva club met for its closing session at the Domestic Science room of the state normal Tuesday when Miss Pettit who has charge of this department gave a demonstration. At the close of the meeting Miss Pettit served the recipes she had prepared which proved to be delicious. The program also decided upon the subject for next year's study, which will be "Political Science." The club then adjourned for the season.

A happy surprise was perpetrated on S. C. Kopp at his home last Thursday evening when in response to invitations extended by his wife a number of the neighbors and members of the men's class of the Baptist Sunday school gathered at the home to celebrate his 50th birthday. The evening was passed in a social way and elegant refreshments were served before the guests departed wishing Mr. Kopp many returns of the day.

The U. D. club met with a good attendance at the home of Mrs. James Miller Monday. Candidates were nominated for new officers. Mrs. Harry Fisher gave a select reading and Medames Morris and Miller rendered vocal duets. The last meeting of the season will be held with Mrs. H. S. Ringland next Monday when the election of officers will take place.

On Friday evening the Wayne Rebekahs are planning an excellent time. It is the meeting for election of officers, and in addition to that, there will be a candidate to be initiated into the mysteries of the order, and then a social and refreshments will follow. The members should all endeavor to be present.

The A. O. U. W. of Nebraska in session at Norfolk last week decided not to attempt to raise rates this year, as all obligations were promptly met. They re-elected A. M. Walling of David City Grand Master.

Herman Henny and wife entertained a small party of friends at six o'clock dinner Friday evening in honor of Mrs. Buffington and daughter.

Gun Club News

Wednesday was the first shoot of the Wayne Gun Club, and but four were present, and they made the following record which indicates that they will need a bit of practice. Out of a possible 25, Fisher broke 14 and Gilman Weber, Walter Weber and Miner each tied at 16 blue rocks.

Automobile Flops

Sunday afternoon while W. E. Blakeley and O. P. DePew were riding just east of town they met a car as they ran over the crest of a hill, and were at very close range before the drivers could see each other. As the car coming up the hill could not turn to the right quick enough to avoid a collision at the slow speed they were running and Mr. Blakeley could not turn to his right because of a bank he turned quickly to the left, and gave the entire road to the other car. This threw his car onto soft earth, it skidded and went into a ditch and over, catching Mr. Blakeley underneath. He was held by the steering wheel and the back of the seat in anything but a comfortable position for more than half an hour before the car could be raised to release him. He is somewhat bruised and skinned up, and felt slightly twisted, but was able to be out the next day. Mr. DePew escaped injury and the car was but slightly damaged, and was able to come back to town on its own power. It was fortunate that the occupants escaped with as little injury.

Elynn—Rawhauser

In the rectory of the Sacred Heart church at 5:30 Tuesday morning, May 20, 1913, says the Norfolk News, Father J. C. Buckley united in marriage Frank T. Flynn and Miss Myrtle Rawhauser. A. C. Smith attended Mr. Flynn and the bride was attended by Miss Florence Bell. Mrs. A. C. Smith was a spectator in the rectory. The young couple left the city at an early hour for Omaha and other points where they will visit with friends and relatives. Their future home will be at 700 Koeingstein avenue.

Mr. Flynn is a popular young Norfolk business man. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Flynn. Miss Rawhauser has been chief operator of the Nebraska Telephone Co., in this city for the past four years. Previous to coming to Norfolk, she was chief operator at Wayne. The bride is a sister of Mrs. W. W. Kingsbury of this city and is well and most favorably known here to many.

German Lutheran Church

Rev. Rudolph Mosching, Pastor.

Sunday there will be the usual services at the German Lutheran church. First will come the Sunday school, followed an hour later by the church service at 1 o'clock. The young people's meeting will be at 7 p. m.

Services at Winside in the German Lutheran Trinity church at three o'clock in the afternoon, when the holy communion will be administered. The pastor invites all to the service at both Wayne and Winside.

The Democrat for job printing.

State Normal Notes

Upon invitation of Hon. J. J. Tooley, President Conn gave the commencement address to the graduating class of the Anselmo high school.

The summer session of the State Normal school will open on June 2 and continue eight weeks. A bulletin with complete information will be mailed on application.

All persons who will take students for board or room during the summer session are asked to notify President Conn, or call telephone number 267.

Last Monday morning E. V. Catkosky received notice from the board of education at Stromsburg, Nebraska, that he had been elected director of manual training in the high school at that place at a salary of $90 per month. Mr. Catkosky is a graduate of the higher course of this institution, spent one year at the University of Nebraska, and is well prepared to manage successfully the work he has been called upon to direct at Stromsburg.

"Cupid at Vassar," a delightful comedy-drama, presented by the Y. W. C. A., under the direction of Miss Jewell, was given in the chapel on Wednesday evening of last week. The play was free from all objectionable features and all of the actors seemed admirably adapted to play the part assigned. The characters consisted of Ethel Garwood, as Mrs. Carroll; Wanda Carroll and Kate Newton, her daughters were represented by Martha J. Woosley and Ardath Conn respectively; John Willert, an architect, by Thomas Musselman; Amos North by Boyd Carroll; Shiny, Mrs. Carroll's colored servant; George Wilcox; Hank, Mrs. Carroll's help by Elmer Rogers; Sallie Webb, by Lillian Brachman; Miss Conway, a Freshman, by Athol Stevenson and Miss Page, the preceptress, by Eugenia Madsen. Miss Jewell and those who had a part in the play are to be congratulated upon the success of the entertainment.

On the evening of May 20 the Juniors tendered an elaborate and delightful reception to the graduating class of this year. The guests assembled at eight o'clock. The color scheme was lavender and white, the senior class colors. The tables were decorated with pink and white carnations. A four course menu was served in excellent taste by the young ladies of the Sophomore class. Mr. Tracy Kohl, president of the Junior class, presided with grace and an abundance of wit. The following responses to toasts were made: The Margin of Life, Dean H. H. Hahn; Anchor, Professor C. H. Bright; School Days, President U. S. Conn; Strike: One, Two, Three, Out, Alfred Henry Lewis.

What Women Need to Know

There is no need of so much misery and the worry associated with female weakness.

When in a weakened condition, anemic, with a sluggish circulation, blood impoverished and the nerves shattered, there is but one remedy to think of—

NYAL'S VEGETABLE PRESCRIPTION

Don't be continually suffering and worrying year in and year out—strengthen and fortify the system—build up the delicate organs—prepare yourself to withstand the strain accompanying the irregularities peculiar to your sex.

Nyal's Vegetable Prescription will bridge over all difficulties—supply you with good, rich, red blood, nourish and invigorate the entire system and furnish health and strength in abundance.

To insure regularity to the functions peculiar to womanhood—to correct and cure any irregularities Nyal's Vegetable Prescription will accomplish the desired results.

Investigate this remedy thoroughly, see from results that it will do just as we say

Our personal recommendation goes with every sale. The best prescription we know of, $1.00 the bottle. A very fine line of rubber goods, such as hot water bottles, fountain syringes, etc., now in stock.

Edison's Masterpiece

The Edison Disk Phonograph shown for the first time at Jones' Bookstore

A successful culmination of thirty-five years spent by Mr. Edison in his endeavor to perfectly reproduce sound.

In 1878 Mr. Edison invented and patented the first disk phonograph, but not until this 1913 has the great master permitted a disk phonograph to be offered to the public in his name.

Mr. Edison has discovered the secret of recording and reproducing tone and tone color, a new and superior method of recording only known in the Edison Recording Laboratory.

Until now the delicate beauties of music have baffled reproduction as were either lost in recording or so weakly reproduced as to be entirely lost in noises common to disk records.

This wonderful musical instrument can be heard at JONES BOOKSTORE. Come in and listen. You cannot help but marvel and applaud.

Mr. Edison said: "Let the public hear and decide."

John L. Pahl, who got an average of 45 bushels an acre last year off of a farm which he says is one of the poorest in Knox county, writes the Nebraska Farm Journal that the main thing is good seed. He urges the farmers to test every ear.

Mrs. L. C. Walling, who with her children has been visiting her father, James Harmon, and her sister, Mrs. Pannobaker, left Monday to visit a sister at Gordon, after which she will go on to Montana, where they are moving from Bloomfield.

Homer Wheaton left Monday for Corona, California, where his father and mother have been for several years, and who sent word that they are both in poor health, the mother having been a victim of rheumatism and the father worn with the constant care of her. Andrew Wheaton and wife formerly lived here and are known to many who hope that they may be restored to health. Mr. Wheaton is planning to remain with his parents as long as they need his help in their care.

We did not notice any particular clean-up spasm here last Saturday, which was official clean-up day in Nebraska. The facts are that practically all who ever indulge in such exercises in this place, and that embraces nearly the entire population or their wives at least, had the place looking pretty slick before that official day, and the majority of those who had not cleaned up could not be induced to do so by a mere proclamation. Wayne is a well kept place, barring dandelions this season.

Dr. W. B. Vail, who moved from here to Rock Rapids, Iowa, last winter, returned to Wayne last week, accompanied by his mother-in-law, Mrs. Overocker, who visited several days at the Henry Bush home, and Monday went to Norfolk to visit relatives. Mr. Vail recently sold the business which he purchased in Iowa, but has not yet determined upon a location. He does not plan to remain at Rock Rapids, as he has not felt well there and thinks Nebraska agrees better with him.

Lower Court Reversed in Flege Case

Attorney F. S. Berry on Saturday received a message from Lincoln stating that the conviction and sentence of William Flege had been reversed, because of irregularities in picking the jury, it being shown that several of the jury had said on the stand that they had read accounts of the murder in the papers and had expressed opinions. One of these was the foreman of the jury, says a Lincoln dispatch. It is also asserted that A. R. Davis, who assisted in the prosecution of the case at the time of the hearing in justice court, was attorney for Albert Eichencamp, a hired man on the Flege farm, who was suspected of the murder and therefore had no right to appear in the case as prosecutor. Eichencamp was the principal witness against Flege, claiming that he had seen him shoot his sister about 1 o'clock in the afternoon. The testimony showed that Miss Flege had partaken of a hearty dinner and in the second trial the testimony of a physician from Chicago who had taken up the body and examined the stomach, showed that the food was in a state of digestion, which showed that the girl could not have been shot until late in the afternoon.

William Flege arrived in Norfolk last night, says the News of Monday. He had a long conference with Attorney J. C. Engleman. Later he left the city for Stanton where he will visit with his brother. Flege repeated to Mr. Engleman the declaration that he was innocent. Mr. Engleman will not say that he has been secured to assist in Flege's defense.

Twice has William Flege been convicted of the murder of his sister, and as often has the supreme court set aside the verdict because of irregularities. We believe that every person accused of crime should have a fair trial, but it hardly seems right to set aside a verdict twice rendered for any small technicality. The attorneys for the defense are bound to do what they can for their client, and the defendant is naturally expected to turn every possible thing to establish his innocence—but what are the judges doing to permit irregularities which invalidate the work of their court—or is it the supreme court that has established precedents which they feel that they must follow to be consistent? They appear to have done much work along the same line in other cases from this part of the state. In speaking of this case an attorney recently said that he did not see how the supreme court could help but return the case for new trial if they were consistent—that their previous record showed that they would do what has now been done.

E. A. Surber and wife left Monday evening to visit at Elgin.

Mr. Morris' new house on the farm west of Carroll is ready for the plasterers, and will soon be completed and ready for occupancy.

Is Wayne to celebrate the national birthday this year? If not, why not? We had a picnic last year and a nice quiet time, but no big crowd.

At Osmond the Modern Woodmen are arranging for a big picnic Wednesday, June 4th. All members of the order in this neck of the woods are asked to attend. A. R. Talbot, head consul, is to be present.

Grant S. Mears, who recently purchased the Boyd annex building, has been fixing the place up so that it is a credit to the appearance of the street, and that he will not be ashamed when the new depot is built, and he now quite properly thinks that all property in the block should be improved in appearance if some of the old shacks cannot be replaced by better buildings. We heartily agree with him in this regard, and the Democrat will not stand in the way of the slicking up if we cannot now build a new brick building. Let the good work go on, no place ever looked too nice. The Annex room is improved inside and out.

Mrs. Henry Klopping was called to Council Bluffs, Iowa, Monday to attend the funeral of her little nephew, Frank Stumpf. The little fellow, about 12 years of age, with a companion by the name of Ralph Hatch was playing along the tracks of the Great Western Railroad, when a passenger train engine struck and killed both, Sunday afternoon. The engineer sounded extra alarms, though he had given the regular warning for the crossing near which they were playing, but all went unheeded, and the distance was too short to stop the train. The boys lived but a short time after the accident. Only last week Mrs. Stumpf, grandmother of the little fellow, went to visit the home of her son, and is yet there.

The Banner Lawn

We doubt if in the state of Nebraska is there a lawn better kept than the block in which stands the Wayne county courthouse. To be sure there are lawns with greater variety of trees and shrubs—with more flowers and vases, statuary and ornaments, but where will you find one as free from dandelions on such a year as this, when the earth is fairly yellow with the plants? The courthouse yard is a model—the grass is kept sheared just right in summer and the snow is off the walks in winter. James Harmon is the care taker, and despite his seventy odd years, and the fact that he served his country as a soldier in the days from '61 to '65, he has the dandelion heat. When asked how he did it he looked wise and said nothing—but one who has watched him at work says that he uses military tactics—that he fixes a bayonet in the shape of a gouge chisel on a stout stick, gives the command to form a hollow square and surrounds a section of the yard and bayonets to death every dandelion that is to be found. These tactics are repeated as often as necessary. This is the mode of warfare advocated by ex-mayor Kate as the only cure for the dandelion evil.

The Price of Beef

Last summer when A. M. Jacobs and wife returned from a trip in the eastern part of this country he told the Democrat of the price and scarcity of beef in the places they visited, and kept right on feeding cattle in an effort to supply the demand. Saturday he sold two car loads of fat steers to John Shannon, and when they get onto the block with every fellow's percent of profit added they will taste like at least 30 cents a pound to the consumer. This was a nice bunch of 30 head which averaged 1,505 pounds each, and brought a little more than $124 each. Mr. Shannon later sold the bunch to Chas. B. Thompson who shipped them to Chicago Saturday afternoon, and had them on the Monday market. Wm. Brocheit went in with them.

Fore Word

I want to have a frank face to face talk with you about my chick feed.

I do not claim to have any patent right on honesty, nor do I claim that I am the only one that can manufacture good chick feed. But here are a few points that are worthy of your consideration. I do not run a mill to manufacture oatmeal, nor kindred products. We do not handle wheat, kaffir corn, cracked rice, ground peas for any other purpose than for our chick feed. Consequently, we do not have any screenings, dust or dirt to get rid of by working them into chick feed, like the big mills do. When I began this department of my business the handling of it was put in the hands of the writer, with this strict injunction to make only the best. This we have steadily adhered to.

QUANTITY Will Follow QUALITY

Always, and that is just what it has done for us. Our sales in 1912 were double those of 1911, and that has been about the ratio of increase ever since we began. It is also very pleasant to state that those who have used it, will have no other. You can get it from me or any of the wideawake grocers and general stores in Wayne, Win-side and Carroll.

Cleaned From Democrat's Exchange

The Y. M. C. A. at Columbus is in a prosperous condition.

There are thirteen graduates from the Gordon high school this year.

Emerson Council K. of C. No. 1309 will hold an initiation on May 26th next, with a class of about forty candidates.

The crop prospect in the counties in western Nebraska is said to be the best in years. The ground has plenty of moisture now to assure a hay, rye and winter wheat crop.

At Wynot they have a cemetery association for the St. James cemetery, and on Decoration day the ladies of the association will serve a dinner, the proceeds to go to a fund for cemetery improvement.

Mrs. Anna Rieckert, whose husband was killed in a collision between his automobile and a Union Pacific passenger train some months ago was given judgment for $10,000 damages at Columbus last week.

A correspondent to the Hartington Herald says: "As a guard against mice and wire worms on corn, try using this: A small can of pine tar to a quart of coal oil, mix well and sprinkle over corn in planter and when planting. Try it."

The class of '13 of the Pender High School is as follows says the Times: Blanche Seance, Raymond Fetzer, Vergil Lehr, Chas. McHiron. The members of the class have passed with high markings. The graduating exercises occur the latter part of the week after next—the 29th. Rev. Alexander Corkey of Wayne will deliver the address."

Bernard Morfeld of Platte county has been awarded $3,000 damages from A. M. Weidner for whom he worked, on the claim that the latter kicked him in the abdomen. The young man had been working for Weidner, and they had trouble in settlement and was seriously injured by the kick administered. It does not always pay to kick just because things don't go to suit you.

Asmus Thomsen left Emerson Saturday for a trip to Germany to visit the old home and a sister whom he has not seen for 42 years. From New York he takes passage on the steamer the 22nd inst. Mr. Thomsen will doubtless find many changes in the fatherland, says the Enterprise, but it will be a great trip for him. He expects to spend the summer in the old country. Here's wishing him a pleasant voyage, a happy reunion with old time friends and relatives and a safe return.

Bloomfield citizens had some real flood experiences last week when the Tuesday morning flood washed out all of the bridges in the city and filled nearly every cellar. The prohibitionists claim that it was made so wet because of the very great majority of the wet vote at the late election. But this was a different kind of a wet, and the saloon men say that if the water crowd had carried the day all would have been drowned as in old Father Noah's time.

The Northeast Nebraska annual encampment of the G. A. R., will be held at Bloomfield this year, July 15 to 19 inclusive. That much was definitely settled by the commercial club of that place last week and the proper officers of the organization. It is thought that about 150 old soldiers will be in attendance. The details of the program will have to be worked out later, but prominent speakers will be invited to attend and address the gatherings, and a jolly time is promised all old soldiers who attend.

The last legislature enacted a law which if put in operation should help the road condition greatly in this county. The new road law permits county boards to create road dragging districts and appoint superintendents of dragging at a salary not to exceed $2.50 per day and expenses, and they must furnish road drags for each district. The superintendent may hire draggers at not to exceed 75 cents for four horses, or 60 cents for three horses per mile, roads to be dragged at times specified by the superintendents. The Board may levy a 1 mill tax for funds not to apply if roads are not suitable for dragging improvement. A system of records is also provided for. Superintendents are to notify the draggers when to get busy and to contract before the first of April for the summer, with power to cancel the contract. This law takes effect July 16th.

Honesty of the Wilson Family

By C. H. Tavener, M. C.

Washington, May 16.—In these days of shifting politics we hear much of the "great personal sacrifices" men are making in behalf of their part and the country by accepting federal positions. It is much rarer to hear of men declining positions at great personal sacrifice in the same behalf. This observation is excited by the case of Joseph K. Wilson, of Nashville, Tenn., only brother of President Woodrow Wilson.

Years ago, before Woodrow Wilson was ever thought of for President, Joe Wilson worked as general reporter for the local paper in Clarksville, Tenn., where his father was president of the Southwestern Presbyterian University. Joe, in his humble occupation of collecting items for the local and personal columns of the paper, had a great journalistic ambition. It was to be sent to Washington as political correspondent for some city newspaper, and to sway national affairs by his writings. He worked hard. With Scotch thrift characteristic of his family, he saved his money until he bought the Clarksville paper. His father died. And then, as a step toward realizing his ultimate ambition, he sold his newspaper plant and took a position on the Nashville Banner.

There was drudgery in his new work, but he toiled faithfully until he was made state political reporter. His spirits bounded. This would be the apprenticeship that would earn him the position of Washington correspondent of the Banner. Painstakingly, he compiled a card index of Tennessee politicians, and "covered" that state's politics as they had never been "covered" before.

This work won him advancement, but advancement which seemed to him off the beaten trail between the Banner office and the Press Gallery in Washington. He was made city editor of the Banner. Still he did not complain, since the new job brought an increase in salary to $25 per week. He resolved to work faithfully so as to be the most available man in case there should be a vacancy in the Banner's Washington office.

Then, in two or three years, things happened. Woodrow Wilson became President, and Joe Wilson's salary had grown to $35 per week. Nashville suddenly realized that she had the President's only brother. The rest of the country realized it, too. Joe Wilson's mail grew heavy.

Out of an envelope tumbled an offer from a New York insurance company at a salary of $12,000 per year. This offer was cast into deep shade a little later by a letter from a New York trust company offering $24,000 for his services. Realizing that to accept either would simply amount to selling his distinguished brother's name, Joe Wilson resolutely put both aside.

Then followed an amazing succession of offers from great newspapers, holding forth dazzling salaries to the Banner's city editor to represent them at Washington. At last he could realize the ambition towards which he had struggled all his life. It was within his grasp. He could accept all the newspaper offers, syndicate his writings, and thus with a bound attain affluence and power. But a second thought. If he accepted, it would mean that every word of his writings would be taken by the public as inspired and as coming from the President. It might, nay, it would, become a continual embarrassment to the sincere older brother, who is trying with such devout singleness of purpose to be a great President of the United States.

One recent day Joe Wilson indulged himself in the luxury of adding up the composite salary of his newspaper offers. They totaled $15,000 a year. For a few moments he sat in abstraction, dreaming for the last time his life dream. Then he dictated a few letters of refusal, and with a sigh turned back to his desk and his $35 per.

Stopping the Paper

"I've stopped my paper, yes I have; I didn't like to do it. But the editor got too smart. And I allow he'll rue it. I am a man as pays my debts. An' I wont be insulted. So when an editor gits smart I want to be consulted. I took his paper 'leven years, An' helped him all I could, sir, An' when it comes to dunnin' me, I don't think he would, sir; But that he did, an' you can bet It made me hot as thunder. Says I, 'I'll stop that sheet, I will, If the cussed thing goes under!' I hunted up the measly whelp, An' for his cunnin' caper I paid them 'leven years an' quit! Yes sir, I've stopped his paper!"
—Western Teacher.

"WAYNE'S NEW DEPOT"

We are going to have a new depot. It is to be built at once of brick or stone and is to be up-to-date in every respect—steam heated, electric lighted, comfortable and convenient and above all sanitary.

Our New Library is a model and we are proud of it.

Our City Hall is built right, located right and in a few years will be the beauty spot of the city.

While we are acquiring all these things of value and expect to get more new ones, we still have the

which is operating every day, rain or shine. It's producing better flour than ever, if that is possible. One of our customers phoned us this morning, "please send me another sack of flour—it's just fine." This is why we are grinding every day in the week. We are making the best and people want it.

When buying Bran or Shorts be sure you are getting the product made by the Wayne Roller Mill and you will be satisfied—it's good enough to eat, absolutely pure and clean. BUY IT.

Farmers Schedule

A copy of the Underwood tariff bill as it passed the house has come to hand and the reading of it shows that it has been greatly misrepresented in the protection papers. The agricultural schedule is not the thing at all that it has been represented to be. The duties that it imposes are nearly all ad valorem and show exactly what the "protection" is. In the Payne-Aldrich bill they were so mixed between ad valorem and specific that it took an expert to tell what they were. The Underwood tariff levies ten per cent on cattle, ten per cent on sheep, and ten per cent on horses, with an additional tax of $15 on all horses valued at over $200.

When it comes to grain, there is a tariff of 10 cents a bushel on wheat, 10 cents on barley and 10 cents on oats. If the Canadian farmers can ruin those on this side of the line by raising wheat and paying 10 cents a bushel to get it into the United States, they must be a pretty smart set of fellows. They will have still greater trouble if they undertake to "ruin the Yankee farmers" by flooding them with beans, for Underwood put a tariff of 25 cents a bushel on them. There does not seem to be anything that farmers raise from cattle and horses to straw, dandelion roots and acorns, that is not a tariff levied upon it from ten percent ad valorem upwards. If the American farmers can not compete with the Canadians with such a handicap in their favor, they must be a very inefficient set of men. There does not seem to be anything to the claim that the American farmers are to be "ruined" by the Underwood tariff bill. It is more likely that the whole uproar has been made by those who have no interest in the American farmer for the purpose of getting him to back up high tariffs on manufactured goods.

The above is taken from a recent issue of the Omaha World-Herald, and to us it appears like a tariff law which is very considerate of the farmer. In fact we believe that the farmers in the United States would have nothing to lose if we had absolute free trade in farm products. Take for instance our own section of the country, with the heavy duty on wool and light duty on hogs and cattle we do not see many sheep grown, but hogs and cattle without number. It is not the protection, but natural adaptability of the country and the crops grown which determine what will be raised. A high tariff on wool will not make Wayne county a sheep country—we can grow something that suits better; nor would a 500 per cent tariff on pineapples make it profitable to grow them here. If the freight rate is not protection enough against outside competition, grow something so adapted to conditions that it will be.

Dog Tax Due

Owners of dogs will pay the dog tax to the city clerk and receive a tag. The Chief of Police is required to destroy all dogs on which the tax has not been paid.

To the honest it appears to be only the dishonest who fear a law compelling the true weight and measure to be placed upon a package.

Six thousand Chinamen are soon to start for China from California—not as the result of the new land law, which Governor Johnson has just signed but because they are all dead, and their friends feel that they can never rest well in their grave until in the grave in China. It is hard to tell what would happen should the ship with its cargo of dead fail to reach port.

Twenty years ago, says the Norfolk News, the Norfolk Beet Sugar Co., had contracts to cover 2,517 acres of beets. It looked like a nice thing for farmers in this vicinity. Where is the company now? And did the prospect of free sugar in 1916 destroy that industry at Norfolk, or was it the will of the sugar trust that work ceased there? Protection has enabled the sugar trust to rob both the consumer and the beet producer.

As an example of what may be saved to the people by peace agreements, it might be noted that the chain of lakes known as "the great lakes" through the center of which runs the boundary line between the United States and Canada, an English country, are not fortified from one end to the other, nor are there any war ships thereon, and it is all dispensed with by a single agreement between the two powers most vitally interested.

It was once the proud boast of Iowa people that their magnificent state capitol building was built without a hint of graft or steal, but we know not how true that may be; but certain it is there was prospect enough for graft when the last legislature mortgaged the income of the state for $2,000,000 to needlessly add to the size and grandeur of the present state house. $2,000,000 would have made a lot of good road in Iowa, and that would have been appreciated.

The consistency of the gang of pirates who control the sugar industry of this part of the world and Hawaii is shown by the fact that about twenty years ago they succeeded in having the islands annexed to the United States to avoid the payment of duty on the sugar they had under control on the island. Now they are threatening to secede if the rest of the sugar producing world is not kept out of their melon patch, for the stock holders in the sugar combine fear they will not get to cut such a big melon with free sugar as now, and they have no patriotism or love of country. Come in and get under the wing of protection and try to sneak out if they cannot dictate to the government.

Cummins, senator from Iowa, was a pretty smooth politician, and made several political tricks take with the people to the advantage of Albert. His last effort is to assist in putting the republican party together again—and from what we know of Albert his efforts will be to so reconstruct the machine that while the people think they are driving, the interests will be the real guiding power. When a small boy the writer always wanted to drive when riding with his father, and getting hold of the lines really thought he was driving, but the boy was there all the time. If Albert can make the people think they are driving this time while the interests guide the car of state he is smarter than we think or else the dear people are not yet as enlightened as they should be.

Our Supreme Court

On another page of this paper is given a news report of the reversal of the Flege case by the supreme court with a few lines of comment. Below we give the record of the court in similar cases, because we believe that a condition exists to which public attention should be directed. If the power to recall judges were now in the hands of the people there is little doubt but that an attempt would be made to act thereon in this state.

Precedent is given too much weight—progress to little. The court holds that an attorney is an officer of the court, and is liable to be disbarred for criticizing that august body, the weaknesses of which they so fully appreciate. With the safeguards which law throws about one accused it is difficult to convict an innocent man and it does not appear in the interest of justice to interfere with the work of the lower courts on merely technical grounds, especially if they do not deprive defendant of any substantial right. It is not alone in Nebraska that similar conditions exist; other states are contending with the same great question, and it is a question for the people to meet fairly and settle honestly. There is a nation-wide sentiment for more of justice with less official red tape and judicial delay.

The Court's Record

Beginning with the latest decision and going back but three years read the record we find, twenty cases of conviction and all reversed save five:

Flege vs. State, May 1913, Thurston County, Nebraska. Defendant was convicted of manslaughter. Reversed by the Supreme Court. 141 n. w.

Reed vs. State, February 11, 1911, Nemaha County, Nebraska. Defendant convicted of assault with the intent to do great bodily injury. Reversed by the Supreme Court. 139 n. w. 1015.

Larson vs. State, September 28, 1912, Tekamah, Burt county, Nebraska. Defendant was found guilty of murder. Reversed by the Supreme Court. 137 n. w. 894.

Davis vs. State, November 28, 1911, Hartington, Cedar County, Nebraska. Defendant was convicted of murder in the first degree. Reversed by the Supreme Court. 133 n. w. 406.

Flege vs. State, November 28, 1911, Ponca, Dixon County, Nebraska. Defendant was convicted of murder in the second degree. Reversed by Supreme Court. 133 n. w. 431.

Keiser vs. State, November 14, 1911. Defendant was convicted of murder, Cass County, Nebraska. Affirmed by Supreme Court. 133 n. w. 204.

Erdman vs. State, January 24, 1912, Douglas County, Nebraska. Defendant was convicted of assault with intent of murder. 134 n. w. 258. Reversed by Supreme Court.

Clarence vs. State, September 25, 1911, Cass County, Nebraska. Defendant was convicted of murder. Reversed by the Supreme Court. 132 n. w. 395.

McKay vs. State, Antelope County, October 6, 1911. Defendant was convicted of murder in the first degree. Reversed by the Supreme Court. 132 n. w. 741.

Johnson vs. State, February 28, 1911, Douglas County, Nebraska. Defendant convicted of murder. Affirmed by the Supreme Court. 130 n. w. 282.

Wilson vs. State, October 22, 1910, Brown County, Nebraska. Defendant was convicted of murder in the first degree. Reversed by the Supreme Court. 128 n. w. 88.

Critser vs. State, October 22, 1910, Franklin County, Nebraska. Defendant was convicted of murder. Reversed by the Supreme Court. 127 n. w. 1072.

Schultz vs. State, April 8, 1911, Douglas County, Nebraska. Defendant as convicted of manslaughter. Affirmed by the Supreme Court. 130 n. w. 927.

Jones vs. State, June 29, 1910, Chase County, Nebraska. Defendant was convicted of murder. Reversed by the Supreme Court. 127 n. w. 58.

Clarence vs. State, Case County, November 10, 1910. Defendant was convicted of murder. Reversed by the Supreme court. 125 n. w. 150.

Ossenkop vs. State, April 9, 1910, Cass County, Nebraska. Defendant was convicted of manslaughter. Affirmed by the Supreme Court. 126 n. w. 72.

Kinnen vs. State, March 10, 1910, Antelope county, Nebr. Defendant was convicted of the infamous crime against nature. Reversed by Supreme Court. 125 n. w. 594.

Masourides vs. State, February 6, 1910, Douglas County, Nebraska. Defendant was convicted of murder. Reversed by the Supreme Court. 152 n. w. 132.

Taylor vs. State, May 20, 1910, Kearney County, Nebraska. Convicted of murder in first degree. Affirmed by Supreme Court. 126 n. w. 752.

Heddendorf vs. State, January 5, 1910, Harlan County, Nebraska. Defendant was convicted of murder. Reversed by the Supreme Court. 124 n. w. 150.

The court of Oklahoma is evidently more progressive and gives the following in a decision given by the Criminal Court of Appeals, which is more in keeping with the times and justice. In the case of Turner v. State, the court says:

"While this court respects the wisdom of the past, and can see much in it to admire and to follow, yet we also believe that the world should be ruled by the living, and not by the dead; that the law should keep even step with the march of civilization and the necessities of society in the relation of its members to each other. This court does not propose to grope its way through the accumulated dust, cobwebs, shadows, and darkness of the evening of the common law rules of procedure, but it will be guided by the increasing light and inspiration of the rising sun of reason, justice, common sense, and progress."

College Hill Notes

Some one attempted to create a little enjoyment in chapel Wednesday morning by winding up an alarm clock and placing it just beneath the platform. As a result nothing occurred only a few smiles played over the faces of the faculty.

The geography class were out examining soil at close range Thursday.

Professors Lackey and Coleman sang a duet in chapel Wednesday morning.

A table has been set aside for the accommodation of the U. S. history students.

The play "Cupid at Vassar" given under the direction of Miss Lillian Jewel Wednesday evening was an absolute success. The players all acted their parts well and a great deal of credit is due them.

A committee from the Sioux City commercial club arrived at Wayne this morning, and were met at the train by J. H. Kate, and the supposition is that they came with a proposal that the X-Ray incubator plant be moved to their city. It is an open secret that inducements have been offered to this company to induce them to move to some place that claims to have advantages over Wayne as a shipping point. There is no denying that under the present system of distributing freight that any town where there is but one line of railroad is at a disadvantage and more of a disadvantage than it should be.

Legal Head Holds Stallion and Jack Company Cannot Operate.

MUST COMPLY WITH THE LAW

Despite Fact That Does Not Do Business as a Company Still is Liable Under Insurance Statute—Board of Control Talks Business.

Lincoln, May 21.—In an opinion handed down in compliance with a request from the state insurance department Attorney General Martin holds that an insurance company, no matter how far remote from the intention of the organizers to transact a regular insurance business, cannot operate in the state without first obtaining a license from the state auditor.

The opinion was directed at the Stallion and Jack Owners' Inter-Insurance Alliance of America. The company's headquarters are at Kansas City and under the business methods which it pursued stockmen banded together promising to defray each other's losses on stallions and jacks. The business was transacted through the main office and for the work of exchanging the "promises to pay" and keeping all accounts straight, the manager of the company was allowed 25 per cent of the amount of each initial premium paid.

In his opinion the attorney general sets out that any association or persons banding together for the purposes of conducting any kind of an insurance business must first obtain the permission of the state insurance commissioner, that is the auditor, to do business. After that there are financial requirements that must be met. The company in question has not complied with the law in these respects, despite the fact that its operations have been extensive over the state during the past several months. The auditor will compel the officials to comply with the law or will begin prosecutions to bring them to time.

Wants Transfer Switch.

Requests that the Rock Island and Burlington roads install a transfer switch at Nelson and that the Rock Island and Northwestern roads do likewise at Nora have been filed with the state railway commission by H. J. Struve, manager of the Deshler broom factory, said in the petition to be the largest independent broom manufacturer in the world. Mr. Struve says that the installation of these switches would aid him in putting his goods on the market and would enable him to compete with prices which he can not meet under present transportation facilities.

Board Talks Business.

Members of the state board of control held a short meeting, at which buildings matters were taken up with State Architect Bird Miller. Particular attention was paid to the operations soon to be started at the penitentiary and at the orthopedic hospital. At the latter place the discovery of an acid cess pool under what was intended for ground for a new building caused the suspension of activities for a short time, but the members decided that the work could go on after concrete sub-foundations had been put in. All the members of the board were present at the gathering. Judge Holcomb, as provided in the law defining the board's duties, presided as chairman, he being the member whose term first expires.

Demand for Game Laws.

A strong demand for the game laws of the state is being made just now on Game Commissioner Rutenbeck, and members of his office staff are busy complying with the requests for the pamphlets. No potent changes were made by the late session, although many were suggested in bills introduced during the twenty-day period.

Final Discharges Given.

The board of pardons has issued final discharge papers to Carl Staashlem of Gage county, Charles Morgan of Washington county, Frank Griffin of Douglas county, A. B. Carter of Douglas county, Thomas Sheldon of Richardson county, Carl Sorenson of Box Butte county, Everett Dye of Adams county and Ray Griffith of Richardson county. All the men were serving terms in the prison under the provisions of the indeterminate sentence act. All of them were paroled during the latter part of 1912.

Fair Board Meets.

Allowance of bills and discussion of building improvements at the state fair took up the time of attendants at a meeting of the board of managers of the state fair held here. Among those present were: Joseph Roberts of Fremont, first vice president; J. A. Ollis, Jr. of Ord, second vice president; C. H. Judge of this city, chairman of the board; Peter Youngers of Geneva and John P. McArdle of Omaha. The appointment of judges for the coming fall exhibition was also taken up at the gathering.

Grand Army Men and Women Meet.

Fremont, Neb., May 21.—With about 300 present, including all of the state officers, the annual encampment of the Department of Nebraska, Grand Army of the Republic, and the Women's Relief corps and Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic opened in Fremont. The welcome addresses and a reception were the features last evening. Mrs. Mary Morgan, past department president, and Governor John Morehead were speakers.

WOMAN ATTACKED BY NEGRO

Hounds Put Upon Trail of Assailant at Falls City.

Falls City, Neb., May 20.—Mrs. Anna Keller was assaulted by a negro here. He followed her in the darkness and dragged her into a small building in the residence part of town. He terrorized the neighborhood and no alarm was given until morning. Bloodhounds were placed upon the trail, which led to the Missouri Pacific railroad tracks, Hiawatha, Kan., May 20.—Walter Ballew, a negro, was arrested here as he stepped from a Grand Island train and was charged with an assault on Mrs. Anna Keller in Falls City. Ballew, on the way to jail, broke from Marshal Brooks' grasp and darted away. He was overhauled at Hanville in a creek, where he had gone to rest and hide.

In a battle, which preceded the capture of Ballew, the negro was shot three times, once in the mouth, once in the leg and once in the left arm.

GRAIN MEN ARE OPTIMISTIC

See Bright Harvest Ahead for the Wheat Crop in Nebraska.

Omaha, May 20.—The weekly crop report issued by the Nye-Sehneider-Powder Elevator company is out, and so far as wheat is concerned is optimistic. However, Mr. Fowler takes a somewhat different view when discussing the outlook for corn and oats. Speaking of the wheat in Nebraska, Mr. Fowler says that the reports coming from elevator men and farmers in all parts of the state indicate that conditions are the best. Everywhere the cereal is growing rapidly and promises an enormous yield.

With oats it is quite different. For them there has been too much rain and too little sunshine. Already the straw is beginning to rust and turn yellow.

For corn, the great need is dry weather and sunshine.

FLEGE GETS THIRD TRIAL

Man Accused of Sister's Murder Secures Another Chance.

Lincoln, Neb., May 19.—The case of Wilhelm Flege, twice tried for the murder of his sister, Louise, was reversed and remanded back to the Dixon county court in the supreme court.

Flege was first tried and convicted of murder in the second degree and given a life sentence. He received a new trial and was convicted the second time of manslaughter and given a sentence of from one to ten years. The court reverses the case because of irregularities in picking the jury, it being shown that several of the jury had said on the stand that they had read accounts of the murder in the papers and had expressed opinions. One of these was the foreman of the jury.

MALONE FOR CHIEF

Will Step Up to Place Now Held by Ernest Hunger.

Lincoln, May 19.—James Malone, formerly chief of police of this city and for the past several years head of the Burlington's special detective service, has been chosen to head the police department under the newly organized city commission.

Malone is well known over the west. He has built up the Burlington's force from a force of only two or three men to fifteen men and has made the capture of some of the most notorious criminals that have preyed upon that road for years past. He will likely run the department in co-operation with the Burlington's detective service.

EMERY SUCCEEDS OSTROM

Land Commissioner Beckmann Fills Vacancy in His Office.

Lincoln, May 20.—Land Commissioner Fred Beckmann announced the appointment of George Emery, who has been serving as chief clerk in the office, as deputy, to fill the position made vacant by the retirement of Henry Ostrom, who accepts the position of deputy election commissioner of Douglas county.

Responsibility for the actions of the deputy election commissioner of Douglas county has been placed in Commissioner H. G. Moorhead's hands, according to a statement made by Governor Morehead.

MOVE PROVES ECONOMICAL

Report Shows Smaller Expenses for Food Department.

Lincoln, May 20.—Proof that Governor Morehead made an economical move when he consolidated the pure food, drug, dairy and oil inspection departments is given in the reports just submitted by Commissioner Harman. The total receipts of all these departments under their previous division for the months of February, March and April, 1912, was $12,277.09. For the same three months of the present year under the changed condition the receipts reached $12,395.50.

Columbus to Have Sunday Ball.

Columbus, Neb., May 21.—A light vote was cast at the special election held here, at which four propositions were voted on. The results are: Sunday baseball, 488 for, 130 against; majority, 358. Ten thousand-dollar waterworks bonds, 465 for, 147 against. Site of Carnegie library in the city park, 152 for, 466 against.

Horace G. Burt Is Dead.

Omaha, May 20.—Horace Greeley Burt, a resident of Omaha for many years, president of the Union Pacific from 1898 to 1904 and a prominent railroad man nearly all his life, died at his home in Oak Park, a Chicago suburb, from complications following an operation, aged sixty-four years.

LIVE STOCK PRICES AT SOUTH OMAHA

Cattle Slow and Lower—20 to 25 Cents Off Two Days.

HOG MARKET BIG DIME HIGHER

Sheep and Lambs in Moderate Supply. Good Lambs Strong and Active Sellers—Undesirable Kinds Steady. Muttons Steady With Monday.

Union Stock Yards, South Omaha, May 20.—A very fair run of cattle showed up today, about 3,800 head. Monday's market for fat cattle closed in very bad shape. Late bids and some sales were 15@20c lower than last week. Today bids were all of a dime lower than at the finish Monday and the general trade was slow. Cows and heifers showed fully as much decline as beef steers and the trade was slow from start to finish at prices right around 20@25c lower than last Thursday. Veal calves were in vigorous demand and commanded about steady figures. Outlet for bulls, stags, etc. was not as broad as it has been recently, but prices were in pretty much the same notches, around $6.00@7.00. The stocker and feeder trade is very dull, but values are about steady, at recent big decline.

Cattle quotations: Choice to prime beefs, $8.10@8.25; good to choice beefs, $7.30@8.10; fair to good beefs, $7.65@7.85; fair to choice yearlings, $7.00@8.35; common to fair beefs, $7.00@7.50; good to choice heifers, $7.00@7.75; good to choice cows, $6.60@7.25; fair to good grades, $6.00@6.50; canners and cutters, $4.00@5.75; veal calves, $7.00@10.00; bulls, stags, etc., $6.00@7.00; good to choice feeders, $7.40@7.75; fair to good feeders, $7.00@7.35; common to fair feeders, $6.25@6.75; stock cows and heifers, $6.00@7.00.

About 6,300 hogs arrived today. There was a lively demand from all quarters and the market was fully 10c higher than Monday's average. The bulk of the supply went at $8.35@8.45, the latter price being the top for the day.

Sheep and lambs were in very moderate supply today, only 6,000 head reported in. It was a strong active market today for both shorn and wool lambs that were at all desirable. The undesirable kinds were mostly steady. There were not enough muttons in the receipts to make a market, but what trade took place indicated prices steady with Monday. Some Mexican wool lambs brought $8.45, and clipped lambs sold up to $7.40. Clipped wethers sold at $5.65 and some clipped ewes brought $5.50.

Quotations on sheep and lambs: Lambs—Good to choice Mexicans, $8.30@8.45; fair to good Mexicans, $8.15@8.30; good to choice westerns, $7.50@8.00; fair to good westerns, $7.50@7.75; shorn, good to choice, $7.00@7.40. Sheep—Yearlings, light, $7.00@7.25; yearlings, heavy, $6.75@7.00; westerns, good to choice, $6.50@6.65; wethers, fair to good, $6.25@6.50; ewes, good to choice, $6.00@6.25; ewes, fair to good, $5.75@6.00; culls and bucks, $6.00@6.25.

Annotated Music.

The unmusical man if he takes a curious interest in music very often favors "program" music. And the reason is not far to seek. If the music says nothing to him the "program" does. He thinks of the "program," therefore, as making music more human, connecting it with life, giving it a definite message to men. As a matter of fact, however, the "program" is never the essential thing (I mean by "program," of course, the official literary explanation). The "program" does not interpret the music. It is the music that lends something of itself to color and emotionalize the "program." Music is the universal native. It is never the foreigner with the literary person for interpreter.—Glasgow Herald.

Couldn't Fool Him.

A witness from the country had been sworn and had taken the witness stand, and the prosecuting attorney, settling down for the examination, asked as a starter:

"What is your name, sir?"
The old man instantly became angry. Leaning far forward, he exclaimed:
"Now, see here; you can't run any of this monkey business in on me! I heard you tell the clerk to call my name, and so I know you know it all right, blame you anyhow!" —Chicago

Preventing Udder Troubles.

"Dairymen would have themselves an immense amount of worry, work and loss if they instantly isolated a cow when anything is seen to be wrong with her udder," says Dr. A. S. Alexander of the College of Agriculture of the University of Wisconsin. "Infection from germs is present in nearly all cases of mammitis (garget) of the udder. The infection is often carried from the diseased cow to other cows by the milkers' hands, or the infection spreads from stall floors and gutters contaminated by milk or pus from a caked udder. The contents of a diseased udder should never be milked on to the stall floor. The affected cow should be milked last or by some one who does not milk the other cows. A milkers should be careful to wash their hands frequently and to keep their finger nails short and clean."

Among The Churches of Wayne

Presbyterian Church
Rev. Alexander Corkey, Pastor.

"The Church and the State" will be the subject of the sermon at the Presbyterian church next Sabbath morning. Memorial Day Sunday will be observed and the church will be appropriately decorated.

In the evening the Union Baccalaureate service will be held for the graduating class of the Wayne State Normal. The subject of the special sermon will be "Principles of Life. Music will be furnished by a large union chorus under the direction of Prof. Coleman.

The morning service begins at 10:30 a. m., and the evening service at 8 o'clock. The Sunday school meets at 12 o'clock, noon, and the C. E. prayer meeting at 7 o'clock.

Children's Day will be observed on the second Sabbath in June, and preparations are being made in the Sunday school for the proper observance of this day. During the services on Children's Day the ordinance of infant baptism will be administered.

In his sermon last Sunday morning on the Church and its History the pastor gave a brief history of the Christian church from the time of its foundation in June A. D., 30 until the present time. He traced the growth of the society of believers, comparing it to a great tree of life. The tree divided into two immense branches in 1054 A. D., when the Greek Catholic church and the Roman Catholic church divided. Another fruitful branch sprang out of the tree in 1517 when Martin Luther led in the great Reformation, resulting in the Protestant church.

The Presbyterian church is one of the strong limbs of the Protestant branch, and has had much to do with the development of the spirit of liberty in America. In the Presbyterian church, as in the United States government, people rule through their representatives, every believer being looked upon as possessing the Holy Spirit. On account of its loyalty to God and the Bible and its recognition of the claims of Christ in every department of life the Presbyterian church has been one of the powerful agents in recent centuries for the Christianization of society.

Methodist Church
Rev. P. R. Giotfalch, Pastor

Another week has gone with its round of services, a little out of the ordinary, but enjoyable just the same.

Next Sunday our services will consist of the morning service, Sunday school and Epworth League. The day being for a memorial to our departed heroes, the thought for the sermon will be in keeping with the day. Remember, Sunday school is at 12 o'clock and a place for all ages of bible students is to be found and if you are a non-attendant on Sunday school you will find a welcome here, with older people than you present to give you the welcome.

The Epworth League service was led by the Junior Bible Circle last meeting and all enjoyed the spirit of labor as seen in these young people. Next Sunday the service will be led by Mrs. M. A. Phillips, subject, "The Cross of Jesus." Let every one be on time for the meeting so that all may attend the Baccalaureate services at the Presbyterian church.

The Ladies Aid report a profitable and interesting conference with Miss Meter at Mrs. Blair's last Thursday afternoon. Much of interest to the Foreign Missionary society's work was discussed and helpful suggestions received.

Mrs. A. P. Gossard represented the Woman's Home Missions at the district meeting at Randolph over Sunday. A well attended meeting is reported. Mrs. Gossard read a paper on "Mormonism" Sunday afternoon. We trust that much inspiration will be brought to our own workers from the meeting.

Dr. E. E. Hosman of Norfolk, district superintendent, made the parsonage people a call Saturday between trains. He will visit us officially Monday, June 2nd.

Let us all be faithful to the hours of prayer in these busy spring days. The Master's business should be planned.

Baptist Church
Rev. E. P. Richardson, Pastor

The memorial services on behalf of the G. A. R., and the Auxiliary Circle will be held in the Baptist church Sunday morning. The veterans will meet at their rooms and march to the church in a body. The pastor will preach on the subject, "The Nation and the Soldier." The choir, under Prof. Davies' leadership, will furnish appropriate music. We cordially invite friends of the comrades to meet with us. Services will begin promptly at 10:45.

Preparations are under headway for Children's day to be observed on the evening of the second Sunday in June. This service is paying our respects to the Sunday school. We want to make it mean something.

Next Sunday the young people's study will be led by Mr. Eli Laughlin. It will have to do with the Sunday school work of our denomination. The meeting will close twenty minutes earlier, so all can go to the Presbyterian church, where the baccalaureate service of the State Normal will be held. Rev. Corkey will preach the sermon.

Tuesday evening, in the study, the regular monthly meeting of the advisory board will be held.

Wednesday evening, at eight o'clock, our monthly covenant meeting will be held. We shall study some part of the covenant. You ought to be present.

Tomorrow afternoon the missionary society will meet at the home of Mrs. Sprague.

On last Saturday evening the young people of the church gave a farewell reception to the Normal students, who have been with us during the year. We appreciate their presence and work among us and hope next year to make our church even more useful among the student body.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church
(Rev. Blessing, Pastor.)

There will be services next Sunday morning at the usual hours. Sunday school at 10 o'clock. We are getting along nicely with the Sunday school work, but we would like to have every member of the church in the Sunday school. The Sunday school is the preparatory school to the Church, so let us make the best of the Sunday school.

Regular preaching services at 11 o'clock. The morning theme will be "Life's Reward." The services have been well attended since the Pastor's return from Atchison, Kansas, but we are looking for better attendance. We are always glad to have strangers and visitors and we invite you to worship with us.

The Ladies Aid society will meet on Thursday of this week at the home of Mrs. John Gustafson.

The Choir will have their rehearsal on Thursday evening.

On Wednesday evening of last week a reception was given for the pastor and wife. Although the evening was very stormy there was a good attendance. Brief talks were given by the pastors of the city churches, all of which were greatly enjoyed. In connection with the reception the members gave the pastor and wife a pleasant surprise, in the form of a liberal donation.

Out for Cash, but Lost It

The C. O. S., girls formed a carryall party on Saturday and drove to Carroll, where Mrs. Lute Carter entertained in honor of Miss Edith Prescott, a bride of Wednesday. The day was spent in games and social visiting, closing with a delicious luncheon. On the road home, the bunch being of the economical nature, began scheming and planning some way in which to earn a little money to help defray expenses. Finally one suggested to pick up all the "Dead Soldiers" they could spy; and they did, arriving in Winside with a pretty good number. But! where are they now? It was decided to lay them on one of the bunch's lawn until later, when they would dispose of them to the highest bidder. In the meantime some culprit happened along and seeing the valuables, "gobbled" onto them and made a clean get-away. At present no clue has been found as to the identity of the above named villain, but woe be unto him if he is found.—Winside Tribune.

A Double Wedding

Invitations are out inviting friends and neighbors to the Altona church Wednesday, May 28, to witness the marriage of Miss Anna Roggenbach and William Peters, and Miss Emma Roggenbach and Fred Armbrust, all of the good Altona neighborhood. Following the wedding a reception is to be held at the home of the brides' parents just north of Altona in honor of the double marriage which promises to be one of the largest attended and royal events ever planned in the county. It is said that nearly 150 families are invited. The young folks are well and favorably known as industrious people of excellent repute, and all predict for them a happy, prosperous married life. May it prove so.

Off to War

A quartette of the Wayne old soldiers left Monday for Fremont to attend the state meet of the G. A. R., which is in session there this week. James Harmon, John Stallsmith, I. D. Henderson and S. Fox were those who went. Mr. Harmon, by appointment of the Commander, will serve as aide de camp during the encampment. They all hope for a good time.

Bound For Germany

Theodore Mildner and wife, who moved from this place to Winside several months ago, started Monday for their old home in Germany, with the idea of remaining if they like as well when they reach their native land as it seems to them that they will when thinking of the place from a distance. But judging them by many who have come to America and returned after a few years here, after they have seen their friends, and the old familiar scenes, they will again turn their thoughts to their western home, and eventually return here satisfied to remain—that this is their home from that time. They were accompanied by little Johana Boenstedt, a niece of Mrs. Mildner. It will be a great trip for the little girl who is but eight years old.

Cure For Vicious Kicker

If you have a horse that has the habit of kicking, don't whip him. Take a cement sack and fill with straw. Braid the horse's tail, fasten a hame strap to the sack of straw and buckle it into his tail so it will clear the ground 6 or 8 inches. Then let him kick as fast as he likes; when he quits see if you can coax him to kick again. By the time he has had a lesson in kicking every day for a week you can't persuade him to kick again. This is perfectly harmless and I believe that in time it would subdue even the most vicious kicker.—Nebraska Farm Journal.

Miss Elizabeth Davis, who has been all spring at Lyons, returned Tuesday evening to Wayne and will spend the summer at the home of her sister, Mrs. Frank Morgan.

A. E. Bressler went to Omaha this morning to accompany his sister home, she having been there several weeks taking treatment which has improved her health greatly.

Miss Edith LaRue who has been teaching at Carroll during the past year, stopped here to visit a few days at the home of C. A. Grothe and wife, her uncle and aunt, and this morning left for her home at Spencer, Iowa.

The new Nebraska law governing advertising makes it an offense punishable by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment not exceeding one year or both for misrepresentation of fact in any manner of advertising. You may say what you have, but it must be what it is claimed to be, is the idea of the law.

The Crystal theatre has a series of popular pictures this week and has added to the regular program for four nights a pleasing vaudeville feature, which will continue tonight and Friday evening. Tuesday evening Leslie & Evesson who perform, won hearty applause with their work. Miss Evesson is an accomplished piano player.

Mrs. M. M. Buffington and her daughter, Miss Effie, came last week from Clinton, Iowa, to visit among their many Wayne friends, where they made their home for twenty years, and where they yet have interests, though they now call Clinton their place of residence. Tuesday they went to Bloomfield to visit relatives there.

Perry Benshoof and Emil Splitgerber arrived this morning from VanTasel, Wyoming, where they moved early last spring. Both report things fine out there, but if we understood them, their corn is not yet up. Perry appeared to be in such a hurry to get his feet under some one's breakfast table back in this good old country that the Democrat man could not really learn whether he came back for recruits or just to get a square meal.

Sunday was an unlucky day for Wayne people, as our record of accidents shows. Two young men are reported to be nursing mild injuries as a result of accidents while riding. With one the horse fell and caught him beneath—the other was not able to break a donkey to ride and keep his face off the ground. Then Frank Gamble started his car through the barn door before it was opened, but the damage was slight in all of these.

Ellis Gerton and wife arrived here Wednesday evening from Grundy Center, Iowa, and having sold their interests in that place, plan to make Wayne their home for a time at least. Mr. Gerton states that the part of Iowa he came from is in bad shape so far as corn planting is concerned. Excessive rains and a comparatively level country has stopped all farm work for nearly two weeks, so Wayne county looks good and dry to him.

J. F. Lane, for more than a year past manager of the Wayne Telephone Exchange, has been asked by the management to accept a higher position, that of Assistant Commercial Manager for Northeast Nebraska, to begin June 1st. His acceptance will not necessitate his removal from Wayne, as this point is central to the twenty or more exchanges over which he will preside. It is his plan to also continue the management of this exchange with the aid of an assistant to keep the books and attend to collections.

An Entire Change of Vaudeville Act and Motion Pictures Each Night!

LESLIE & EVESSON

Presenting a clean Singing and Comedy Act, Introducing the Best of Piano Specialties

To Managers of Vaudeville Houses:

Wish to say that we played Leslie and Evesson in our house December 16, 17, and 18 and can cheerfully recommend them to any manager wishing a GOOD act. Their work is clean and far superior to any act we have ever played in our house. Too much cannot be said of Miss Evesson's piano specialty. Any manager playing to the better class of people will make no mistake in booking this act.

B. O. AUTEN,
Proprietor Wonderland Theatre, Clyde, Kansas.

To Whom It May Concern:

Leslie & Evesson played my house the week of November 29, 1909, and they have an A No. 1 act in every respect.

The piano playing of Miss Evesson is the best ever heard in Sioux Falls and was the feature of a five-act show. The act was encored nightly.

Sincerely yours,
A. C. HOGANNSSON,
Mgr. Majestic Theatre, Sioux Falls, S. D.

To Whom It May Concern:

Leslie & Evesson played my house for three days and I cannot praise them too highly. Their act is one of the highest class, including music and comedy, and without any exception the best we have ever had on the stage. I can truthfully say they will entertain and please an audience.

Respectfully,
R. H. BILLINGSLEY,
Mgr. Wonderland Theatre, Mankato, Minn.

J. C. Hard, who has been seeing service in Uncle Sam's navy for the past eighteen months passed through here Tuesday on his way to his home at Wausa. He said he had been given a discharge because of ill health, and was evidently glad to get his papers, for in his opinion it is a hard life and one that he will not volunteer to enter again. The atmosphere of the navy was too damp for him.

An almost accident happened the other evening when Fred Benshoof asked John Short to take a lift toward home in his faithful automobile, which he calls "Nancy". When headed straight up Main street the passenger accepted the responsibility of trying to steer the craft—and was able to hold the helm steady until he got headed directly toward a ditch and two sturdy poles near the Baptist church, then a sort of "buck fever" seized him and he went true toward the double danger. Seeing trouble ahead Fred threw the clutch off, releasing the power and went out over one side while John was hunting a soft place to light on the other side of the car, which stopped just short of the poles. Fred then backed out of the ditch, asked John what he got out for, and did his own steering for the remainder of the trip. Short says he would rather walk than steer and Fred would prefer to have him if he is to furnish machine and be a passenger.

Washington Political News

By Clyde G. Taveaner, M. C.

Washington, May 19.—The Senate is having a hard time trying to prevent the passage of Senator Kern's resolution for an investigation of the West Virginia coal fields. Some of the Senators, who dance when the special interests pull the strings, are giving a surprising exhibition of political agility in their opposition to the bill.

When the West Virginia Republican Legislature broke the deadlock by electing Federal Judge Nathan Goff to the United States Senate last winter, the election was acclaimed by the standpat press of America as an example worthy to be followed by other states.

But what does Senator Goff do in his first speech, a speech in opposition to Senator Kern's resolution?

His speech, a masterpiece of logic and a gem of rhetoric, is every word a legal quibble. It was just the sort of speech and the sort of legal logic that is creating among the people a mighty wrath against the courts and lawyers.

For years tales of horrors have drifted out of the West Virginia coal fields, stories of peonage, of outraged women, of murdered men, terrorism, suppression and free speech, and a population held in bondage to the local barons. The concrete result can be read in any wage report. West Virginia coal wages are lower than in any other eastern mining district. The people want to know, and they have a right to know, what has been going on in West Virginia. And in opposing this demand, Senator Goff quibbles that the new government has not investigated in other states where martial law has been declared, why create a precedent in West Virginia?

The people are not interested in the legal technicalities of the case. They want the facts. I hope the new Senate is responsive enough to public opinion to vote for this resolution and let the light in on West Virginia.

The Mexican Situation

The Huerta regime, which rose on treachery and murder to dictatorship in Mexico, is acting saucily toward Uncle Sam because the Wilson administration refuses to recognize that government. Huerta is threatening to send back the credentials of Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson.

This seems surprising, since Henry Lane was always a pretty good friend of Huerta. Almost before the body of the assassinated Madero was cold, Henry Lane Wilson was solemnly assuring the Taft state department that the deposed president was shot while trying to escape. There is, however, as usual, a colored person in the wood pile. As long as President Wilson refuses to recognize the red handed Huerta, the latter worthy will be unable to market his government bonds in New York, and thus cannot raise money to put down the growing rebellion in the north of Mexico.

If Henry Lane Wilson were recalled, however, it would necessitate the appointment of a new ambassador, and a new ambassador has to be accredited to the government of the country to which he is sent. This would compel the United States to recognize Huerta.

It's a pretty little plan, and has a good deal of support in Wall street. Unfortunately for its success, President Wilson seems disposed to allow Henry Lane to remain dangling between the devil and the deep sea.

The world moves toward a higher conception of right and justice and the following will show that it has invaded the realm of politics. When we have more men like Olin Young in the game it will cease to be so dirty that decent men will refuse to enter politics and better laws will result.

Representative Olin Young of Michigan, a Republican, resigned his seat. "I was elected technically, under the laws of Michigan, but I do not care to hold a seat in this house to which I believe I was not honestly elected," he said in his farewell speech to the house. His competitor at the election last fall was William J. McDonald, a Progressive. In one county in the district McDonald's name appeared on the ballot as Sheldon William McDonald and 458 of these ballots were cast. The canvassing board threw these ballots out. With them counted for him McDonald was elected. With them thrown out Young had majority."

Pennsylvania and the Bible in the Public Schools

As a prelude to his sermon on "The Church and the State" next Sunday morning Rev. Alexander Corkey will speak on the recent law passed in Pennsylvania by the legislature and signed by Governor Tener which marks an era in the progress of moral training in the public schools of our nation. This new law provides that the Bible shall be read every school day in the presence of the scholars in every public school within the bounds of the state. Any teacher refusing to read at least ten verses out of the Bible every day in this way is subject to dismissal. The stand which is thus taken by the great state of Pennsylvania is in harmony with the spirit of American institutions which are built on the teachings of the Bible and cannot be maintained if the majority of our people ever become ignorant of the book of Christian faith and practice. People who are opposed to the Bible never have been welcome in America any more than the Chinese or Japanese, and if all the citizens of Pennsylvania who object to the Bible leave the state as the result of this recent law the people of the state will feel just the same as California would if every Japanese and Chinaman migrated from their state.

It is a question if unbelievers in the Bible are really welcome in any country in Christendom. In addition to Pennsylvania's recent law introducing the Bible into every public school in the state, North Dakota has also recently made an innovation in the same direction. Under the leadership of Prof. Vernon P. Squires, professor of English in the University of North Dakota, the Bible has been introduced into every high school in the state as an elective study, the state board prescribing the syllabus of study, and the examinations being set up by the state board and given under the oversight of the local school authorities, just as the examinations in geography or arithmetic, and credits being given the same as in other studies. Ninety recitations are required for this Bible course, these recitations being under the supervision of either pastors or teachers and being held outside the regular school hours. The plan is heartily welcomed by the citizens of North Dakota and is working out a big success.

Boy Causes Trouble

Considerable local interest has been taken the past few days in a case which came before Justice Cave Friday and was continued to Saturday.

Last Friday Ralph Masten refused to obey his teacher, Miss Laura Bladen, whom he had given trouble at various times, and she sent him up to Principal Borg for correction. He gave him a whipping with a switch and as the boy was not easily conquered and used abusive language, the switch was laid on until the boy promised to behave and mind his teacher.

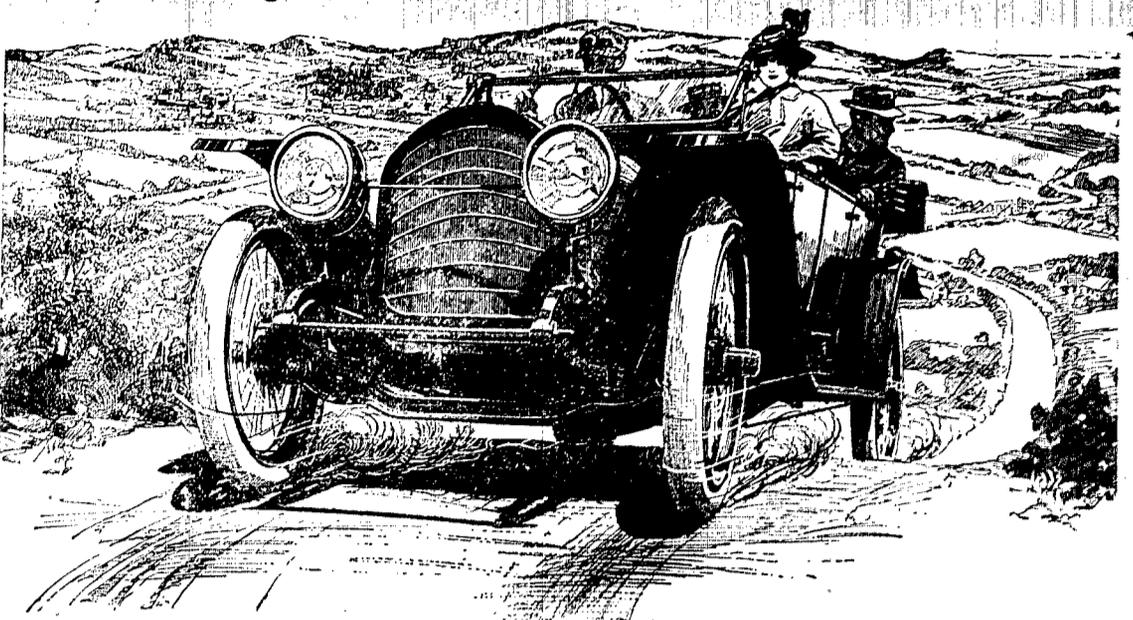

When the boy went home and the father saw the marks of the whipping he took exception to it, claiming it had been too severe, and he and an older son abused Borg on the street and later had him arrested and haled before Justice Cave who continued the hearing until Saturday when he assessed a fine of $1 to Borg and charged the costs of $3 to Mr. Masten.

The school board met Saturday night and conferred with Principal Borg, wishing to carry the case higher on the grounds that permitting the school principal to be fined for enforcing order at school would prove a disorganizing element but Mr. Borg urged against it and finally the board decided to pay the fine themselves and to suspend the boy from school for the balance of the school year. Also took action to confer with the town board and request that the marshal be forbidden to again serve warrants against any teacher on a similar complaint during school hours. The justice was criticized both ways—for fining at all and for fining so light and assessing the costs to Masten. Mr. Masten was at Hartington Monday to seek counsel regarding further action.—Coleridge Blade.

A Car of Character-Beauty that is Rare

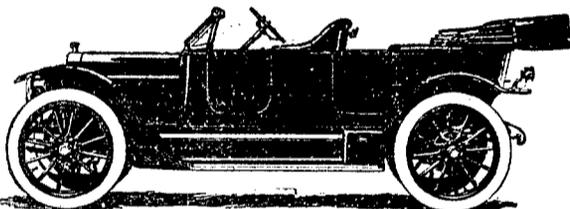

IN the Cross Country the public finds an expression of your own good taste. There is in this car a certain something which gives it character beyond outward grace.

To the eye it presents a pleasing picture of straight flowing lines and graceful curves. Rarely does it pass without remark. Long, low and balanced perfectly, its silent dignity of movement, so much admired on the boulevard, may be attributed to those same qualities which make possible its sturdy performance on the road.

Like a fine horse, it inspires the owner's pride and gives him rank in his neighborhood as a man whose taste is to be admired.

The radiator is high and distinctive in design. The large electric front and flush electric dash lamps make it a car easily distinguished among many. Trimmed in nickel, with body, fenders and fillers of black enamel, its appearance is striking.

The Cross Country, $1,875

The fenders are broad, strong and sturdy. The doors are wide and the compartments large enough to accommodate the family. Long and low hung, you can whip this car around the corner in a jiffy and the rear wheels hug the road.

It's a car to delight a woman's eye. To her rare good taste will appeal its perfect proportions and its superb finish. To this we may attribute the greatest pleasure in its ownership.

A beautiful four-color reproduction of the Cross Country, from an oil painting by R. Philip Brainard, is ready for mailing. See the Cross Country by all means, at any Jeffery branch or dealer's display room, but send for the picture anyway.

About Seed Potatoes

Matters that the planter must consider if the industry is to continue. The potatoe industry of the entire country is confronted by a very grave situation. It is menaced by disease, not one disease alone, but by several. If the industry is to be profitably continued methods must be adopted for freeing it absolutely from this menace. The question for every potatoe planter at the present time is, not how large a crop of potatoes he may grow—and this is a very important question—but how may he grow potatoes free from disease, so that his future crops and his future production will no longer be threatened by extinction? Let this be repeated: For the next few years the supreme question will not be how many potatoes, but what kind of potatoes are to be grown? Until this question of disease is removed quality will be of prime importance, quantity merely of secondary importance. Unless the potatoe growers are made to realize the gravity of the situation, and are persuaded to take the necessary steps to protect themselves and their industry, potatoe growing in this country will cease to be profitable.

Whoever speaks or writes upon this subject should do so only with a vision broad enough to take in all conditions. One writer, a professor in an experiment station, by the way, with regard merely to the amount of production, and totally ignoring the matter of disease, which it is his supreme duty to consider of first importance, recommends potato planters to plant only northern grown seed, and asserts, what is undoubtedly true under the methods of seed selection and cultivation employed, that the production from native-grown seed has deteriorated to 50 per cent of the normal production within seven years. To which it may be replied that a healthy half crop is better for the potatoe industry than a diseased whole crop. To this same assertion it may be further replied that proper care in the growing and the selecting of native-grown seed will prevent, in a large measure, if not entirely, this deterioration in production.

It may be safely asserted that most of the potatoe diseases throughout the country are due to the fact that growers purchased their seed at a distance, and brought in disease with the seed so purchased. The chief objection against buying potatoe seed is that the purchaser is never certain as to how much disease he buys with his seed potatoes. Throughout this territory it is customary to advise growers to buy seed from Minnesota, from the Red River Valley of the North. With reference to these northern potatoes the following is quoted from Dr. E. M. Freeman, plant pathologist of the Minnesota university farm:

"Potato diseases were especially serious last year, and the attention of every potato grower in the state is earnestly called to this question. The Minnesota potato crop is large, and especially valuable on account of the sale of seed potatoes. The diseases, particularly those of the soil, are commencing to gain a foothold in this state, as is bound to happen when potatoes are raised as extensively as they are here. Now is the time to combat these diseases, before the state gets a bad reputation for diseased potatoes."

According to this excellent authority, the wise planter will shun seed potatoes that come from infected localities, and one cannot tell what localities are not infected. Disease seems to be universally prevalent. Now the only way in which a planter can be sure that he is free from disease is to grow his own seed. The only way in which he can be certain to maintain the vigor of his crop is to grow his own seed in a seed plot entirely separate from the general crop, giving to this seed plot extra care, both in the selection of seed and in the cultivation and tending of the seed crop. In order to be sure that the vitality and vigor of the seed so grown is maintained to the highest point, the seed from the time that it is taken from the ground until it is again planted should receive special care. In what follows advice will be given as to the very best method for securing these results, a method, that is sure to give better returns than any other at present practiced.

The seed plot should be planted not earlier than the first of July. This will give the plants opportunity for vegetable growth, and will allow them to set their tubers during the period of the September rains, so that the best results may be obtained. The seed should be planted whole—that is, uncut. To cut a potatoe impairs its vitality. This point should need no argument. Nature is wiser even than professors. Nature, mutilated, is always weaker than nature in its original condition. These seed pieces should be planted not more than twelve inches apart, and deeply planted at that, so as to force the development of as large a number as possible of middle-sized tubers. The plot should be carefully watched during the period of growth, and all vines that show indications of weakness, or of disease, should promptly be eradicated. At digging time the seed should be carefully selected. Those that are truest to type, show the best form and the most vigor should be reserved for planting the seed plot for another year. The balance of the seed plot crop should be used for planting the main crop the following season.

Both varieties of seed potatoes, both for the seed plot and those for the next year's main crop, should immediately, upon digging, be placed in cold storage at a temperature of not less than 34 degrees nor more than 36 degrees. They should remain in storage until planting time the next season. Such placing in storage preserves the vigor of the tuber; it prevents sprouting, which more than anything else, unless it be cutting the potatoe, lowers, the vitality of the seed piece and weakens its subsequent growth and its capacity for production. These potatoes, with very little care and at comparatively very little expense, may be shipped to the nearest cold storage plant until such time as they may be needed. The potatoe planter will find upon trial that the expense involved in this method of caring for his seed potatoes is many times repaid by the greater production they are sure to give him. Seed potatoes should never be selected from the main potatoe crop, if the best results are to be secured.

All that will be necessary in the way of the first seed selection for the seed plot will be for the planter to be sure, and when sure is said, it means sure, certain, that he plants only uninfected seed on uninfected ground. The same reason that urges the planting only of whole tubers in the seed plot urges with equal force the use of only whole tubers for the main crop. If in the seed plot the tubers are planted reasonably close together, two results follow. Such planting will force the setting of a large number of tubers, and these will be set and developed under conditions to the fullest development of the crop. These tubers, grown under such adverse conditions, when planted under more favorable conditions, as to distance in the row and as to the method of cultivation, and as to seasonable advantages, will show an increased vigor and a larger production in the general crop.

What is stated here is nothing new, but has been carefully worked out and proved by some of the most successful potatoe growers in this territory. It has been done in the field, not with a rolltop desk and a typewriter. Any farmer will find it to his advantage to act strictly in accordance with the suggestions here set forth. Something must be done if the potatoe industry is to thrive. In this method it will pay to take pains, pay to be to some little expense. Those that doubt the wisdom of these suggestions, doubt whether what is here set forth is really a solution of potatoe difficulties, may amply prove it to their own satisfaction by trying the plan here recommended.—Twentieth Century Farmer.

Notice is hereby given that sealed bids will be received at the county judge's office in Wayne, Wayne county, Nebraska, for the construction of three re-inforced concrete culverts, described as follows:

One of said culverts of the following dimensions: Length 24 feet roadway; arch 9 feet long 7 feet high; wing 15 feet 1 inch, and to be located 1 mile west and 1 1/2 miles south of Winside.

One of said culverts of the following dimensions: Length 20 feet roadway; arch 10 feet long 6 feet high; wings 10 feet 7 inches, and to be located 1 mile west of Winside.

One of said culverts of the following dimensions: Length 16 feet roadway; arch 10 feet long 6 feet high; wings 10 feet 7 inches to be located 2 miles north and 3 miles east of Wayne on county line.

Bidder to furnish all material therefor and construct said culverts in the proportion of five parts sand to one part cement, of the thickness and conformity with the plans and specifications on file in the office of the county clerk of Wayne county, Nebraska. Separate bids to be made upon each of the above described culverts, said culverts to be completed and ready for travel on or before August 1, 1913; said bids to be deposited with the county judge of Wayne county, Nebraska, on or before 12 o'clock noon of the 6th day of June, 1913, and said bids to be opened by the county judge in the presence of the county commissioners and county clerk of Wayne county, Nebraska, at one o'clock p. m., of June 6, 1913, and thereupon filed in the office of the county clerk of Wayne county, Nebraska.

No bid will be considered unless accompanied by cash or duly certified check, to the amount of ten per cent of the bid, made payable to Chas. W. Reynolds, county clerk of said county, to be forfeited to said county in case bidder refuses to enter into contract with said county, if same is awarded him. The contractor to tear down or remove old bridges or culverts, and remove or pile all old lumber in such bridges or culverts and to deposit the same safely near the site thereof, such lumber or other old material of which said bridges or culverts may have been constructed, to remain the property of the county. The successful bidder will be required to give bond to the county with good and sufficient sureties, in the amount of $500.00; conditioned for the faithful performance of the contract awarded him. It being further understood that the party to whom the contract is let, are to build a temporary bridge, so that the construction of the above mentioned culverts will not in any manner hamper or impede travel.

A deposit of $10.00 will be required for a copy of the plans and specifications now on file in the county clerk's office, to be refunded to the party in case they are returned within 3 days of the receipt of the same, otherwise to revert to the county.

The Board of county commissioners reserve the right to reject any and all bids.

Dated at Wayne, Nebraska, this 6th day of May, 1913.

George S. Farran,
Eph Anderson,
Henry Rethwisch,
County Commissioners.
Attest: Chas. W. Reynolds,
(Seal) 19-4 County Clerk.

STRENUOUS LOVEMAKING.

Duke William Tamed Matilda, and She Got Square on Brittric.

A modern lover who resorted to brute force to win his lady would soon find himself in the street. If not in the police station. But fashions in proposals have changed in a thousand years, and when William the Conqueror set out to make Matilda, daughter of the Count of Flanders, the happiest of maidens he adopted measures that were forcible, to say the least. The New York Sun tells the story of his tempestuous wooing:

The suitor Matilda had she did not want, and the man she wished to woo she could not get. The man she did not want happened to be William, duke of Normandy, and he decided to go to Bruges and conquer Matilda.

There were no national roads through France in those days, and William doubtless had a hard trip. Perhaps Matilda noticed the mud on his clothes when she came out of church and found him waiting for her.

At any rate, William descended from his horse, and taking Matilda firmly by the back of the neck, rolled her over and over in the mire of Bruges, planting well directed blows upon her royal face and body with his other hand. Life was elemental a thousand years ago.

This strenuous lovemaking somehow appealed to Matilda. Perhaps it was what she would have liked to do to Brittric, the gentleman she could not get, who was only the English ambassador at her father's court and not at all a proper person to be smubbing a princess. So Matilda sent word to her father that "stuck in health and dolorous in body," she had firmly resolved to marry no man but Duke William.

Later, after William had conquered England, he offered his queen the estates of any English nobleman she might name. Matilda did not have to think twice. She not only chose Brittric's estates, but she put him in prison and kept him there all the rest of his life—an excellent argument for the wise custom of restricting woman's choice to one year in four.

DESOLATE MONGOLIA.

A Bleak Country, the Very Spirit of Which is Restlessness.

Beyond the forests of Siberia lies the barren center of the Asiatic continent—that inhospitable, desolate land of nakedness, the haunt of roaming nomads, a region of bitter winds and hostile climate. In the very heart of the greatest continent, in that part of the earth's surface which is farthest removed from the sea, lies the lone, bleak land of Mongolia.

In all its immense area there are but few towns where men live settled lives, and it possesses but a scanty population, while because by its very position it is cut off from the softening influence of the sea it presents a dreary aspect of windy wastes, endless steppes and barren mountains.

Wild and wide is Mongolia, stretching as it does for 2,000 miles in the savage splendor of limitless expanse. Man cannot rest in such a country nor live a sedentary life. It has been the birthplace of the greatest migrations the world has ever seen. Restless movement, in fact, is the very spirit of Mongolia.

What history this land could tell if only its deserts could speak and its mountains bear witness! Here rode Genghis, the Mongol Alexander, the most ruthless and inhuman destroyer the world has experienced. On these wide plateaus wandered those Mongol hordes who fed their flocks and moved their camps with complete content and splendid isolation until at last the wanderlust came over them and they burst out from their fastness to overrun the world.—Wide World Magazine.
