COMMERCIAL CLUB MEETING

Executive Committee Held Harmonious Meeting and Organized for Real Work for the Coming Year.

At a meeting of the officers and members of the executive committee Tuesday evening, it was decided to cut the membership dues from $9.00 to $6.00 a year and to collect the $6.00 in two biennial installments instead of four as has been previously practiced.

Each of the thirteen members of the executive committee have undertaken to see from five to seven men who are not now members of the club and solicit them for membership. The committee feels sure that the membership can and should be doubled. They want not only the money but the assistance and enthusiastic co-operation of every citizen of Wayne who is interested in good roads or any of the other things that a commercial club can and ought to do. The committee has planned an active campaign for good in every matter in which the commercial club can act.

C. W. Hiscox and H. Bluechel have been appointed as a permanent good roads committee and have been empowered to hire work done on the roads and to direct and oversee this work. If the citizens or farmers about Wayne will notify either of them when roads need working the information will be appreciated.

Dr. T. T. Jones, Mr. W. D. Redmond and Horace Theobald were appointed as a committee to investigate and report on any matters that the commercial club should take up or things which the commercial club should undertake to do. If any citizen of Wayne can offer any suggestion to this committee they are invited to do so. This committee will report next Tuesday night, June 24, 1913.

It has also been planned to hold a number of public meetings throughout the year for the discussion of public enterprises to the end that enthusiasm may be aroused for the accomplishment of those things which need to be done.

Auto Rolls Over

Last Saturday evening near Laurel, Otto Krei and family and his hired man had an experience they will not care to repeat. In attempting to turn a corner without reducing the speed sufficient the car tilted over and is said to have rolled once and a half over, stopping upside down. By miracle, almost, all escaped death and with but slight injury, except that the hired man was so injured that he was confined to his bed several days, but is now said to be recovering nicely. It was more due to inexperience than carelessness that the accident happened.

Jensen—Jensen

Wednesday noon at the courthouse, Judge James Britton officiating, occurred the marriage of Mr. Chris Jensen and Miss Anna Jensen both from the south part of the county, where the groom is an industrious farmer. The Democrat extends congratulations.

Winside to Celebrate

The citizens of Winside are making all preparations to celebrate the 4th of July this year with one of the real old-fashioned kind of celebrations to which everyone and his best girl are invited and will be sure to attend. We have not yet seen a program.

McVey Breaks Jail

Last Sunday afternoon our county jail lost its last and only prisoner. Ward B. McVey, held for want of $2,000 bonds under charge of statutory rape is no longer the one lonesome prisoner. When Mr. McVey first went into waiting he had company—some from Wayne and others from Hoskins—but they served their time and were given their liberty. So far as we can learn the prisoner was quite contented. But when the sheriff and wife went away Sunday for the afternoon, leaving him the liberty of the corridor, the longing for liberty was too great for him to resist, and he removed a few bricks and the iron over the hole made as a cold air duct and ducked into the hole coming out in the furnace room with nothing but a short flight of stairs between him and all out of doors. Then he disappeared. A few think they saw him going along about 4:30 to 5:30 in the afternoon, for he went in the broad light of day—but they did not think of it being an escaped prisoner until they heard one had escaped, later in the evening, and then it was too late. Every effort thus far to apprehend the man has been of no avail. Telegraph and telephone were at once put into operation but no one seems to have seen the man. Perhaps he fell in an old well somewhere—possibly some one was waiting with an automobile at some nearby corner—but he has gone, and some say they are glad of it. That it will be the end of a lot of trouble if he never comes back is true. But back of that remains the fact that he is charged with an offense for which many a man has been hung, and perhaps justly hung, and if such crime is to go untried in a court of proper jurisdiction, the day will soon come when the people will take such cases into their own hands and deal out punishment without delay.

The county and the sheriff have offered a reward of $65 for his capture which is not nearly so much as is frequently offered for the arrest of one charged with horse stealing. It may cost something to give trial to this case, but the charge has been made and it is but right that all effort be made to capture the prisoner and make him stand trial. If he be innocent he is entitled to acquittal, if guilty let him be punished.

Froyd—Herrington

A very beautiful wedding was solemnized at high noon today at the spacious home of Hon. and Mrs. Thos. Rawlings of Wakefield, when their niece, Sarah Martha Herrington, was united in marriage to Erwin Algot Froyd of Galva, Illinois. To the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by Mrs. Ed W. Johnson of Wayne, a bridal chorus composed of twelve lady friends of the bride, marched down the broad winding stairway, followed by twelve little flower girls, members of the bride's Sunday school class. After these came the three bridesmaids with the three best men, classmates of the bride and groom. The impressive ring ceremony was performed by a cousin of the bride, a Methodist minister of Kansas. The couple will be at home after July 15 at Galva, Illinois.

Stray Calves Taken

WAYNE TO GET NEW BUILDING

State Normal Board Decide to Use Appropriation of $180,000 for the Wayne and Chadron Schools.

At the meeting of the state normal board at Lincoln Monday it was decided to use the appropriation of the last legislature which it is estimated will amount to about $180,000 for new normal buildings of the two new schools at Wayne and Chadron. The Chadron school is to have $50,000 with which to build a new wing to their present building, and $25,000 for new dormitory building. It is agreed between the members of the board that a new building shall be built at Wayne, and the next meeting of the board is to be held at this place to intelligently consider the needs here.

President U. S. Conn, who returned home from the meeting Tuesday evening, has the following to say of the action at Lincoln:

"At the last meeting of the State Board held at Lincoln on the 16th and 17th of this month a program was started which practically assures the new administration building for the Wayne Normal during this biennium. A resolution passed the Board setting aside $75,000 for a wing to the Chadron building and a dormitory at that place. The need of a building at Wayne was discussed at some length but no formal action was taken. There was some doubt in the minds of some members of the Board as to whether the present building should be removed and the new administration building placed on the site of the old building or just to the north of it. In view of this lack of information on the part of the board at my request formal action was deferred until the next meeting which will be at Wayne about July 15th. The disposal of the old building may have some effect upon the amount set aside for our new building and for this reason it seemed better to defer action. It is my opinion and also the opinion of Mr. Viele, president of the Board, that at the next meeting specifications will be ordered made for the plans which we now have sketched and that we will be able to let a contract for the new building about the first of September."

There were times last winter, when the legislature was acting as though the members thought it would be economy to reduce the appropriations for state schools to the lowest possible amount, that prospect for a needed new building was not very flattering, but the persistent work of the members who believed otherwise at last prevailed and enough money was provided to insure the most needed improvements. Senator Kohl and representatives Bartels were at no time idle, and to their untiring work for this end the present prospect is in no small degree indebted.

It Is Reported

That June brides may come and go, but the Wayne bachelor goes on single forever.

That some people feel so mean these hot days and wonder why it is, when they have probably not taken a good clean bath in six months. A peculiar feature of this is the fragrance emitted.

That none will wonder longer how McVey managed to escape through so small an opening if they will but stop and consider how small a man must feel when facing the charge that is filed against him.

That the water in the city stand-pipe lowered 30 feet one night recently between midnight and six o'clock the next morning, which indicates that the city would be justified in shutting off the water supply of several for violation of rules.

That the wife of one of our Wayne citizens thinks it might have been well and cheaper to trade at home. Saying nothing of the bargains one does not get in the city stores at times. When they leave a purse containing three or four saw-buck greenbacks they think they know how the farmer feels who has to go out daily and burry half a ton of his hog crop, and good hogs selling at a good stiff price.

State Normal Notes

There were ten new registrations the first of the week.

The Holt county teachers in the summer session met Wednesday and formed an organization by the election of officers.

Mr. John Rockwell is at Estes Park, Colorado, representing the local organization at the national convention of the Y. M. C. A.

Tennis and volley ball are receiving their full share of attention this summer. Squads for both of these games have been assigned, practice in volley ball being under the direction of Clifford Penn.

The Normal Catholic Club expect to hold regular meetings during the summer. This organization is doing good work under the wise management of a new set of officers. Bernice Patten is president, Thomas J. Musselman, secretary and Gerhard Kuehn, treasurer.

Hon. A. H. Viele, who, since the resignation of Dr. Roach, has been serving as president of the board, was elected president for the ensuing year. Dr. Gettys is the new vice president and J. J. Tooley of Anselmo will continue as secretary.

At the meeting of the Board recently held at Lincoln Miss Rachel F. Fairchild was granted a leave of absence for the year 1913-14. Miss Fairchild will spend the year in New York City taking special work in Columbia university.

Miss Anna V. Day, assistant state superintendent, spent Wednesday at the Normal. A visit from Miss Day is always enjoyed by students and members of the faculty. Her wide experience in all phases of school work renders her unusually efficient in representing the interests of the state department, and her genial disposition and attractive personality endear her to the people of the state wherever she goes.

Among the Burt county teachers enrolled this summer is Mrs. D. B. Fletcher, who was a student of the Nebraska Normal College during its first year. The school at that time was held in a small building down town, and in entering at this time Mrs. Fletcher can appreciate fully the great changes that have come about in twenty years.

The last issue of the Goldenrod contains a very complimentary mention of Professor J. T. Saunty, who was graduated from the Nebraska Normal College and later was an instructor in that institution. Professor Saunty is now at the head of a commercial school in Kalispell, Montana, and is meeting with great success in his work.

Last Friday evening the members of the class of 1913 had a rally at the Samuelson home northeast of town. They met at Professor Bright's and went thither from the city in a hay rack. It is needless to say that Friday, June 13, will be added to an already long list of delightful events enjoyed by the Senior class of 1913.

WHAT ABOUT WAYNE'S FUTURE

City and Country Should Unite to Secure Greatest Good From the Natural Resources.

The growth of a place depends almost entirely upon the intelligence and enterprise of its citizens. True there are exceptions enough to the above statement to prove the rule, but we see no exception that will apply to Wayne. We have here a most fertile farm country—and few if any other natural advantages such as water power, cheap fuel or a natural railroad center. We have a class of citizens the equal of any community in energy, ability and learning, and the practical application of this talent would seem to be along some agricultural or horticultural line. The secret of greatest commercial success lies in cultivating or developing the natural resources along the line of least resistance and the greatest market value of the product—or along the line of the least competition in the market.

Wayne county farmers can produce stock—hogs and cattle and horses, the equal of any—yet the great bulk that is raised here, in these lines simply goes to the market for slaughter where in price it competes with all other stock offered in that market, and our horses go to the sales stables and sell in competition with the horses—the common horses of the world. True, we have a few breeders of thoroughbred stock in all of these lines, but the market demand for the best is increasing and the prices are growing higher. Why not give more attention to the growing of the best of thoroughbreds?

Possibly no climate and soil in the state are better adapted to the growing of certain varieties of hardy fruit and ornamental trees and shrubs, bulbs and garden seeds. There is an increasing demand for these products—why not produce our own and supply the other fellow. A nursery business can be established in a small way without much capital and can be easily enlarged to meet growing demands. We know of enterprises started along these lines but a few years ago that now employ no small number of workmen and are thriving, growing, paying ventures, doing a business that runs into the hundreds of thousands annually. For such a work an experienced man is wanted to attend to the growing, a conservative business management backed by plenty of energy, and the proper distribution of printer's ink.

Our incubator industry here, handicapped as it is by having to ship all of its product both in and out, demonstrates what can be done with a good product properly advertised. Certain products of the soil which can be produced here without the cost of a long freight haul will sell as well as incubators and brooders if the people who produce them will let the world know that they are produced here. Why should Wayne citizens have to send to Germany for bulbs that will thrive here? Because the Germans produce them and advertise the fact. What will be the value of an acre of bulbs that sell at one dollar per dozen?

Not many places can produce all manner of dairy products to better advantage than the farmers of this county, yet there is a milk famine in Wayne the year round, and many are the times when the purchase of good butter is a shopping stunt of no small size, and we never eat cheese that the railroad has not collected a freight charge on to be added to the price we pay. True we have a creamery here, and if the farmers will stay with it and maintain it independent until we get legislation which will not permit the central plants to discriminate against it, it will be a better thing for Wayne than it now is.

So the Democrat would modestly suggest that our efforts be expended in economically developing the fields that are all about us—produce that which gives the most profitable employment to the most people and acquire wealth by intensely cultivating the undeveloped soil beneath our feet.

Ley-Lane

LeRoy Ley and Miss Mattie Lane autoed to Ponca on Tuesday morning where they were married. They managed to give their friends a surprise although their most intimate associates knew that the marriage would take place within a few days.

They went by auto to Crystal Lake where they will spend a few days. From there they will go to Lake Okoboji and Spirit Lake, then to Lake Minnetonka. From there they will go to Pryor Lake spending the remainder of their vacation in a cottage belonging to Mrs. Henry Ley's sister. They will be at home in Wayne after August first.

LeRoy Ley is the well known son of Henry Ley and wife of this city, and many are the friends who will join in extending most hearty congratulations to himself and the worthy young lady he has chosen for a life companion. Miss Lane has not long made her home at Wayne, but spent the past year here, graduating from our high school with the class of 1912. She is a sister to J. F. Lane, local manager of the telephone exchange at this place and has made her home with him since her arrival here.

Leslie Welch has a congenial position at Lincoln, where his work is in line with his law study, being engaged as one of the clerks of the committee named to classify the laws of the last legislature.

Chas. A. Schrader and wife of Denver have been visiting at Randolph, and were at Wayne Friday on their way to California, where they were going to visit at the home of Frank Skeen and wife, the lady being a sister of Mrs. Skeen. Mrs. Schrader reports that the little child of Mr. and Mrs. Skeen has been seriously ill, but improving in health which will be good news to the Wayne friends of Mr. and Mrs. Skeen.

A device is now being built into automobiles which will enable the power to be nearly all furnished by kerosene oil, which is cheaper than the gasoline—but as soon as John D. finds it out he will equalize by putting the price of oil higher to make his revenue from each mile traveled as much as it now is. In fact, it would surprise no one who knows the old fellow to discover that he is back of the new device. If Uncle Sam would take the revenue tax from denatured alcohol the power question for automobiles might be solved more economically than at present, for it is reported that this product can be made so as to compete with gasoline as a power producer at a much less price than gasoline now costs.

Mrs. Alice Seace of Wayne is spending the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Everett.—Later, Mrs. Seace was called home home Tuesday, her sister, Mrs. Earl Bills and daughter, Mary, returned with her. Mr. Bills intends to go up Saturday to spend Sunday—Lyons Mirror.

A copy of the Gainesville, (Florida), Sun received last week conveys the information in a legal notice that Pingree C. Hughes, who went south from here last fall, associated with others are organizing and incorporating a mutual life insurance association. We glean from the reading of the application for a charter that it is the purpose to insure for death and sickness. Mr. Hughes is vice-president of the concern and one of the board of directors. We hope that Pingree won't kick on paying an income tax when the receipts of the concern are such as to make them taxable, as some of the wealthy companies are now doing. If he will agree to pay the tax without a murmur we will join his many friends here in wishing that the success of the enterprise will be such that the income tax will reach the highest percent that has to be paid. Gainesville, where they are located, is a city of about 6,500 people, in the northern part of the state, a health resort and quite a railroad center.

Strawberries Profitable

Home-grown strawberries are now on the market—or would be if there were many of them, but the crop is reported very light. To be sure not many berries are grown here—none for shipment, but there are a few who have had considerable number for sale when crop conditions were right. The dry weather of the past week came at just the time to cut the supply of berries short. It seems as though it would pay those who have a berry patch to arrange to irrigate the same when needed. S. Taylor, who has a berry patch covering several lots, had a part of it which he could water and from this part will get good results, but the greater part of his crop is a failure. He is planning a system to water the entire patch next year. On the M. Johnson place northeast of here there is a field of berries which supplied many people last season—this year between the slugs and the dry weather the patch will not return many berries. With the proper precaution to secure a crop they bring big return.

Not many years ago Neosha, Missouri, began to cultivate strawberries and we just noted that in the season now closing there they had shipped 138 car loads from the one town, and a factory for that purpose had more than 300 barrels of preserves from the berries that were not prime for shipping.

Would Have Better Roads

J. M. Coleman, who formerly lived here, but is now at Hooper, writes stating that they see to it down there that they have good roads in every direction from Hooper. He then adds: "If the good roads people of Wayne would go over the good roads around Wayne and then take a drive from Hoskins to Norfolk, to Madison, to Humphrey, I think your Wayne club would set up and take notice." He also sends the following clipping which tells of the method used at Albion to improve the highways: "The commercial club has re-elected Mayor H. F. Lehr, president; C. E. Jones, secretary-treasurer; M. V. Ruddy as vice president. The secretary reported twenty-two entries in the good roads contest, for which the club has offered prizes. The contest in these mile and half mile stretches cover all roads around Albion. Those who have traveled considerable say that Boone county has the best roads in the state."

Commercial Club Officers

At the meeting of the executive committee Thursday evening L. A. Kiplinger was elected president, H. Bluechel, vice-president, Fred Blair secretary and H. B. Jones treasurer. Plans for a busy year are being laid, and the result of the year's work gives promise of being good.

Gleaned From Democrat's Exchanges

At Hartington they hope to again soon have electric lights. The plant is now in the hands of a Sioux City man who is putting it in shape for business.

J. F. Leedom who came to Nebraska in 1875 and settled at Dakota City died last week at the age of 83 years. He came to Nebraska as a missionary.

An expert accountant is checking up the books of the county clerk of Dakota county. It is a good plan, and wont hurt an honest competent man and the other-kind should be shown up.

The Altemus farm near Dakota City has been nearly all washed away by the Missouri river, and the barn has been torn down and sold to save it and the house will suffer a like fate if not bought soon.

I. Iverson, father of Peter Iverson near Winside, died last week at his home in Herman when in his 85th year. The funeral was held last week Friday, Peter Iverson going over early in the week to attend.

The Allen News is twenty-three years old, has had six different editors, but never missed an issue in these years. It is now under the editorial hand of Henry L. Balsler, who is making it a very good paper.

Allen is talking of having a short course at that place in the near future. The paper does not say along what lines, but a short course is supposed to cover farming, stock and grain judging and some domestic science.

The Winside Cream Association met in the town hall Saturday and elected the following officers for the ensuing year: C. W. Reed, president; Henry Rellman, secretary; W. Darnell, treasurer; Wm. Witte, manager.—Winside Tribune.

Dixon county commissioners have invested nearly $3,000 in a tractor oil engine and a road grader for it to haul. Now if they will keep the machines at work the season through they may be able to accomplish something worth while in the way of road improvement. It is too much money to allow to remain idle.

Bridgeport, Illinois, lost $125,000 by fire last week, and they deserved to lose, if, as appears from the news account, this place of more than 2,500 people provided no other protection against fire than a bucket brigade. One-fourth of the amount reported to have been lost would have provided good protection.

The editor of the Winner, S. D., Journal shot twice at a man in that city and missed him both times, but it seems that he had made a shot at him in the paper that had struck home, and the offended citizen said he would do the editor. Thus we see that the pen is mightier than the little pop revolver in the hands of a poor marksman.

At the district meeting of the Royal Neighbors, held at Lyons, West Point was chosen for the next meeting and the following officers elected: Oracle, Lizzie Koch of West Point; vice oracle, Etta Perrin, of Winside; chancellor, Rosa McHale, Lyons; recorder and receiver, Nora R. Kidder, Fremont; marshal, May Kelley, Baneroft; inner-sentinel, Anna Kule, Leigh.

At Spencer, Iowa, they are just discovering that alfalfa will grow nicely in Clay county, and are organizing an automobile excursion of those interested to drive out and visit the ten or a dozen fields now growing in the county. The citizens of that place are also having a road dragging this week, the business men offering prizes to those who come to town on road drags.

Under the new road law of Iowa the county board must designate 10 per cent of the road of the county as county road each year and proceed to work it with a fund provided for that purpose by a mill levy. In the average county this will create a fund of several thousand dollars and the work can be carried on with an intelligent view of making permanent improvements.

J. L. O'Brien, who is gaining notoriety as a failure in the matter of establishing a lecture bureau, makes a statement that himself and family will devote their lives to clearing up the debt, which is noble sentiment but a big undertaking. He has let $10,000 or more get away from him with no returns and so far as we can learn has not in the past been able to lay up a dollar though holding good positions. If himself and family can live on air it will take ten years at the salary he is now drawing to get him out of the hole.

Dairymen of central Nebraska held a great rally at Central City yesterday, making it a profitable time for men who own and milk cows. Sixteen counties were represented at the meeting.

Editor Kelley of the Cedar County News is giving the county more advertising this year for nothing than he has in some years past when the county commissioners paid for the same. He certainly will make it interesting for the commissioners and he is doing the county a service in so doing.

According to the Wynot Tribune the Farmer's Grain & Live Stock organization of that place has been of much benefit to the farmers. No large dividends have been paid, but the returns to members in higher prices received has amounted to practically the same thing. The annual report is not yet public.

A farmer writing to the Cedar County News suggests a market day for Hartington. He argues that both seller and buyer would profit thereby in time saved in looking for what is needed, all of which is good 'dope, but much of the benefit which he thinks would come from the market day could be realized by most farmers who have things to buy or sell by spending a few cents advertising in the local newspapers. Not long since, a farmer paid 30 cents for a little "for sale" ad in this paper, and people came to his place for the goods of whom he had never before heard and who otherwise never would have heard of him. He sold his supply of fruit right at the door. Try it.

The Richardson road drag law, passed at the late session of the legislature, fixes the responsibility for the dragging of roads specifically on the county board of supervisors, because they are provided with instructions to do the work and authority to raise the money to pay for it. The board divides the county into districts and names a superintendent of each district at a wage of $2.50 a day. The dragging is to be paid for at the rate of not to exceed 75 cents a mile for an eight-foot drag with four horses, or 60 cents a mile for a seven-foot drag with two or three horses. The money is raised by a tax levied on the entire county and it is spent among the farmers who do the dragging. All graded roads are to be dragged when they need it and all at one time. The law goes into effect on July 16th.

Very Commendable

The most of the vacant property in the village of Wynot is put to good use in the growing of "garden sass" or the lots are seeded down to grass or alfalfa. This is as it should be and shows commendable thrift on the part of our citizens. We noticed three big loads of alfalfa being taken from vacant lots in this village Monday morning, this being the first crop of the season, and shows that there is profit in improving even this small plot of ground. Besides this method keeps down the unsightly weeds and adds greatly to the good appearance of the town. The village authorities have already had the weeds and grass mowed from the streets and alleys, which also makes a good improvement. Some method should be devised for the sowing of more blue grass on the residence streets so that in a short time we would not be troubled with the usual rank growth of weeds. —Wynot Tribune.

K. P. Memorial at Winside

The Pythian Knights at Winside observed memorial Sunday at that place with appropriate services. Members of the lodge and their wives met at the Methodist church where the regular preaching service hour was generously given over to the order. The ladies had the church beautifully decorated with the colors of the order and a profusion of flowers. A larger audience would have been present, no doubt, had it been better understood that the public in general were welcome and wanted at the service. The chancellor commander of the lodge presided and the prelate invoked divine blessings. A Quartette furnished music appropriate for the occasion. The address was by Past Grand Chancellor, H. E. Simon, and was a most eloquent tribute to those who had crossed to the unknown realm. He told briefly of the fundamental principles of the order, friendship, charity, benevolence, and cited individuals who had given their lives for others in the practice of these principles. He told of the annual expenditures in the interest of society in the education and care of the unfortunate families of departed members. No one could listen to his talk without a broader view of the responsibilities of man to man—without feeling that in a great measure we are our brother's keeper. Rev. Connett of the Methodist church offered the closing prayer.

"Pittsburgh Perfect" Fence

CONSIDER SIZE OF WIRE When Buying Fence DON'T BE FOOLED by Weight per Rod or Roll

There's no "bunkum" about weight per rod when you buy "Pittsburgh Perfect" because it is constructed without using extra wire to make the fence joints. The extra weight of the joints in all wrapped, clamped, twisted or tied fences supplies no extra strength, but actually weakens these fences by persistently dragging down the panels, wearing them out before their time and making you buy more before you should. "Pittsburgh Perfect," the only fence with Electrically Welded Joints, is a one-piece fabric of unequalled strength, durability and economy, because we eliminate the expense of extra wire, and put this money into extra quality.

Made in Different Styles for FIELD, FARM, RANCH, LAWN, CHICKEN, POULTRY and RABBIT YARD and GARDEN

Every Rod Guaranteed

Ask your dealer for "Pittsburgh Perfect" and insist on his furnishing it. Do not allow him to persuade you that some other fence is just as good. If he doesn't sell it, write us direct.

To Study New Zealand

More than passing interest attaches to the announcement that President John Kirby and D. M. Parry, former president of the National Manufacturers' association, will depart from San Francisco, July 1, for the purpose of spending several months in the study of labor and taxation problems in New Zealand and the Australian colonies.

It is to be hoped that the observations of these "captains of industry" will be binocular; that they will look at both sides of every problem and of every condition. The world is tired of biased opinions, for one-sided views are the base of much of its troubles. The world hears frequently of New Zealand and of Australia, much that is good and no little that is bad. For every Roland of good report there is an Oliver of discouraging comment. It is known, however, that these countries are the hotbeds of modern radicalism in politics and economics. England is but a short distance behind them and our own country is rapidly moving in the same direction. For this reason facts concerning their development and the working out of their altruistic schemes should be of great interest.

Mr. Parry closely approximates fact when he says that the public debt of New Zealand is from $400 to $500 per capita as against about $14 in the United States. Its debt is near $500,000,000. He does not mention, however, that the annual profits of the state owned railroads are $6,000,000, while its post and telegraph systems yield about as much.

Large debts and high taxes not always are discouraging, as exemplified in some of the city governments in Germany. Duseeldorf, for example, perhaps the best governed and most ideal city in the world from an altruistic standpoint, expends a budget that averages $100 per capita, five times as much the largest per capita budget of any American city. Similar conditions obtain in other German cities. But there is no complaint of taxes. The individual benefits accruing to the citizenship from their form of government are 100-fold greater than American citizens. Only the rich in America can enjoy the operas, music, theatres, art galleries, museums and other entertainments the German city resident enjoys at a nominal cost. The German cities have no dependent poor as we know them. As German cities are not to be judged by their taxes, so these insular colonies to be visited by Parry and Kirby should not be subjected to monocular review.

Misrepresentation and deception have about served their time. Mankind is demanding facts, whether they please or pain. The truth enables progress. These are capable observers and their opinions will be valuable if not exparte statements.—Sioux City Tribune.

A recent statement issued by the Department of Commerce says that the increase in population of the United States between 1907-1913 was 11 per cent. The decrease in cattle of the United States was 30 per cent for the same period.

The exports of fresh beef for 9 months ending March 3, 1907, was 200,000,000 lbs.; for the same period, 1913, it was 5,500,000 lbs. For the same period, 1907, cattle exported amounted to 308,000 head; in 1913 it was only 14,000 head. In 1907, there were 12,500 head of cattle imported; in 1913, 222,000 head.

What do these figures indicate in regard to future prices of meat in the United States? Undoubtedly many farmers, who have been doing other things will, in the future, turn their attention to beef raising.

WAYNE MARKET REPORT

Following are the market prices quoted us up to the time of going to press, Thursday:

Table with market prices for Oats, Corn, Barley, Spring wheat, Wheat, Eggs, Butter, Hogs, and Fat Cattle.

To be a congressman these days is no joke. The members of the two houses seemed to be figuring on adjourning after the tariff bill is passed...

We, the United States of America, believing that all men are entitled to self government have again subdued rebellion in the Philippines and taken the last stronghold of the rebellious Moros...

In the eyes of the interests, it is scandalous that the people should elect a president who will look to the interest of all of the people as President Wilson is doing...

Way to Get Fair Play

Judge Gary, head of the steel trust, is in arms against the income tax. Fears it means a class war. Says it arrays 97 per cent of the people against 3 per cent of the people...

But as a fomenting factor of class feeling, is the income tax a marker to the steel trust's policy of getting out of its own use of the right to organize every benefit it can squeeze and then denying the same right to its workers?

Opera—"Sweet Alice Ben Bolt" Among others taking part in the opera, "Sweet Alice Ben Bolt" are the following:

Woodmen Rate Put to Vote Rock Island, Ill., June 18.—The question of readjustment of the rates of the Modern Woodmen of America is to be left to a referendum vote of the entire membership of the society, according to an order of the board of directors today. The referendum is the result of the protest of some of the members against an increase in rates voted at the last head camp held in Chicago. All the votes must be in by August 1, 1913.

NEBRASKA NEWS

Officials Look Into the Provisions of Statute. WILL ENFORCE IT AUGUST 1.

Plan to Make Indians Respect Marriage Laws in Future—State Board of Health Settles Laboratory Question—Postmaster Indorse Wilson.

Lincoln, June 18.—Investigation of the provisions of the recently enacted Indian marriage law was made here by County Judge Frank Flynn of Thurston county and Superintendent J. S. Spear of the Omaha and Winnebago reservation in northeastern Nebraska. Under the provisions of the bill the records of present matrimonial relations of the Indians of the state must be outlined and recorded by county judges not later than Aug. 1 of this year.

Court Sets Out Law. The fact that a petition for collection of a debt against a city does not allege the existence of facts necessary to the validity required by law for city-made contracts, does not make an opposing pleading vulnerable to a general demurrer, according to a decision just handed down by the state supreme court.

Settle Big Question. Definite settlement of the state laboratory question has been effected by the members of the state board of health in the location of the new department at the state capitol building. The decision ends a disagreement between local doctors, who favored the location at the state university, and others who believed that it could be more efficiently operated in close proximity to the board of secretaries of the state board of health.

Will Spend $75,000. Decision to spend $75,000 of the $180,000 available for new normal school buildings at the Chadron school has been made by members of the state normal board. Disposition of the other amount has not yet been made, but it is not improbable that the main building at Wayne, the oldest structure at that institution, will later be torn down to make room for a properly constructed and safe building.

Indorse Wilson. President Wilson and Postmaster General Burleson, were commended in resolutions passed here by thirty assistant postmasters of the state in convention assembled. The commendation was showered upon the high officials on account of their attitude in civil service matters in which the first, second and third class postmasters are vitally interested as far as perpetuity of their positions bear on the matter.

Session Laws Appear. The 1913 session laws have made their appearance at the state house. The book is similar to that of previous years and was prepared under the direction of State Printing Commissioner Ludl. Compliance with the latter's ultimatum that the work must be done within a certain time after copy was sent in brought about the quicker delivery of the books.

Insurance Agents on Trial. The insurance department of the auditor's office will be the scene of another hearing in a case of "twisting." Joseph Walt, agent for the Union Fire Insurance company of Lincoln, has made complaint against A. C. Hull and D. D. Swigert of the Mutual Farm Central company, accusing them of "twisting."

Funeral of Mrs. Mellor. The funeral of Mrs. W. R. Mellor, wife of Secretary Mellor of the state board of agriculture, was held at St. Paul's church. The offices of the state house were closed from 2 to 3 o'clock out of respect for the deceased. Burial was at Wyuka.

Debating Telephone Rates. The Johnson county telephone hearing is on before the railway commission and a large delegation is present protesting against the raise of rates proposed by the company.

CROP REPORTS OPTIMISTIC

Experts Still Predicting Bumper Yields of All Kinds of Grain. Omaha, June 17.—Railroad freight men are watching the growing crops of Nebraska's small grain closely, noting changes in conditions as rapidly as they occur. They look upon the next ten days as the most of the period for the wheat, predicting that this period will tell the story.

Relative to the crop at this time, Frank Fowler has this to say in his weekly report: "Conditions are ideal. The hot weather of the last few days removes the only complaint on corn and oats, for which it previously had been too cool. The dry weather has given the farmers an opportunity to cultivate their corn, which is now perfect. There is a promise for the largest total crop that Nebraska has ever harvested. The promise is for a wheat crop of from 50,000,000 to 55,000,000 bushels, which with perfect condition for the next few days can be swelled to 50,000,000 to 65,000,000 bushels, or just as easily, by imperfect condition, be reduced to 35,000,000 to 45,000,000 bushels."

The Burlington's weekly crop report of this date is fully as optimistic as any previously issued.

MANY CATTLE COMING NORTH

Brought From Dry Pastures Down South to Nebraska Ranges. Omaha, June 17.—Cattle from the dry sections of Texas continue to move toward the western Nebraska and South Dakota ranges in large numbers, with indications that still more are coming and within the next week they will commence to come from old Mexico, where it is reported the drought is the most severe in many years.

The Rock Island brought 1,500 head of cattle into Nebraska from Texas, and the Burlington about the same number. The animals coming now are all spring poor, but it is said they will take on flesh rapidly as soon as they get onto the Nebraska grass.

The Rock Island officers estimate that during the next month fully 50,000 cattle will be shipped north from Mexico and that most of them will come to Nebraska, Wyoming and South Dakota.

LUTHER LEAGUE MEETS

Sixty-five Delegates Attend State Convention at Grand Island. Grand Island, Neb., June 17.—Sixty-five delegates from local leagues in all parts of the state have been gathered in convention at St. Paul's German Lutheran church. The reports of the officers of this comparatively new organization showed encouraging progress to its organizers and leaders.

Papers were read and discussed on such topics as: "Religion in Every Day Life," "Making Our Work Count" and "How Best to Interest Boys in Church Work." Rev. F. S. Shuld of Fremont was re-elected president, and Miss Bertha Elgasser of Omaha secretary. The convention for next year was fixed at Hooper.

Sets Time for Wire Hearing

Lincoln, June 17.—The railway commission has set Sept. 8 as the time for hearing the application of the Western Union Telegraph company for a suspension of the operation of the Stebbens' telegraph rate bill. The company claims that the lower rate of 25 cents to any point in the state for a ten-word message is below the cost of transmission and expense of the company necessary to keep up the business.

Chase County First to Report

Lincoln, June 17.—Chase county is the first to report to the state board of assessment on its assessment for the year 1913. The personal property is listed this year at $407,000, against $342,884 reported in 1912. This is a loss or reduction of $64,116. Real estate is given on lands at 517,255 acres, valued at $3,128,000 and assessed at $625,000. Last year the report showed 501,445 acres, valued at $3,056,250 and assessed at $611,250.

To Mark Site of Merrell Mission. Springfield, Neb., June 17.—The committee on marking historic sites, appointed by the State Historical society, met on the site of the Merrell mission to make some arrangements with the owner of the property about securing the right to have this old mission preserved as a historic site. The main building is still standing, but is fast falling into decay.

Leo Matthews Control Board Secretary. Lincoln, June 17.—Leo Matthews of Albion, former secretary of the Democratic state committee, was chosen secretary of the state board of control. George Weidenfeld of Omaha was elected bookkeeper and Mrs. Jessie L. Alley, now employed in the state food commissioner's office, was elected stenographer.

Twister Damages Farm Buildings. Norfolk, Neb., June 17.—A twister of about thirty seconds' duration visited the country about half a mile east of Norfolk, damaging farm buildings. The path of the twister was about one mile long and it came from the south-east. There were no fatalities.

Funeral of Judge Adams. Minden, Neb., June 17.—The body of Edward L. Adams, ex-district judge of this district, arrived from Long Beach, Cal. The funeral will take place in the First Presbyterian church in Minden tomorrow afternoon.

Marsland Postoffice Robbed. Crawford, Neb., June 17.—The postoffice at Marsland was robbed and about $20 taken.

LIVE STOCK PRICES AT SOUTH OMAHA

Heavy Beeves Lower—Handy Grades Firm.

HOG VALUES FULLY 10c LOWER

Prices for Lambs Steady to Easier. Trade Not Very Active—Not Many Aged Sheep Here—Small Bunch of Clipped Ewes at $5.50.

Union Stock Yards, South Omaha, June 17.—A very good run of cattle arrived today, about 4,300 head. Good light beef steers sold readily at fully steady prices, but the heavy beeves were slow and bids were from steady to a time lower, although there was one choice drove of heavy horned steers that were cashed in at $8.75, as high as heavy cattle have sold this year. Demand for cows and heifers is holding up well as far as desirable corn fed stock is concerned and prices held fully steady for anything of this kind. Anything grassy found a slow and unevenly lower market. The market for good to choice stockers and feeders is notably steady, but it was a slow and decidedly lower trade for the ordinary run of light and medium weight stock.

Cattle quotations: Choice to prime beeves, $8.50@8.75; good to choice beeves, $8.25@8.50; fair to good beeves, $8.10@8.25; fair to choice yearlings, $7.40@8.80; common to fair beeves, $7.50@8.00; good to choice heifers, $7.25@8.25; good to choice cows, $6.75@7.50; fair to good grades, $6.25@6.75; canners and cutters, $4.00@6.00; veal calves, $8.00@10.50; bulls, stags, etc., $6.10@7.50; good to choice feeders, $7.75@8.15; fair to good feeders, $7.30@7.65; common to fair feeders, $6.50@7.25; stock cows and heifers, $6.25@7.25.

About 14,200 hogs showed up today. Advices from other markets were of a bearish nature and local buyers made their first bids at a 10@15c decline. Later on, however, the market improved slightly and the sales were made on a 10c lower basis. The bulk of the supply went at $8.35@8.45, with the best ones bringing $8.55.

Sheep and lamb receipts amounted to about 3,000 head. Trade was a little slow all day. While a good many of the sales looked steady, others were weak and uneven trade was an outstanding feature of the market. A bunch of native spring lambs brought $8.40, and clipped lambs went at $7.00. Some clipped ewes sold up to $5.50.

The farmer actually pays a premium for bad roads. He pays in time expended in getting to market; in value of drafting animals and the food they eat, and in extra hand for their care and handling; in increased number of vehicles and wear and tear on them, and in the decreased product of land that had less attention and care. If the country had a system of smooth and hard highways it would blossom like a rose, and prosperity would follow in the wake.—Carroll Index.

Bert Brown and family departed Tuesday for their new home at Portersville, California. Many are the friends who regret the departure of Mr. Brown and his family, for they have long been residents of Wayne, and have many church and social ties that bind. Mr. Brown has made Wayne his home for the past 29 years, but he thinks that greater opportunity offers in the west.—Portersville is a place about the size of Wayne in population, is the county seat of Tulare county, a little south of the central part of the of the state and nearer the east line than the coast line of the state. His father, C. C. Brown, came over from Winside this morning to bid the family farewell and accompany them as far as Emerson on their journey.

Order of Hearing on Original Probate of Will

The State of Nebraska, Wayne county, ss.

At a County Court, held at the County Court Room, in and for said county of Wayne, on the 17th day of June, 1913.

Present, James Britton, County Judge.

In the matter of the estate of Jacob M. Ross, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Mrs. Delilah Ross, praying that the instrument filed on the 2nd day of June, 1913, and purporting to be the last Will and Testament of said deceased, may be proved approved, probated, allowed and recorded as the last Will and Testament of said Jacob M. Ross, deceased, and that the execution of said instrument may be committed and that the administration of said Estate may be granted to Delilah Ross and Wilber L. Ross as executors; Ordered, That July 9, A. D., 1913, at 10 o'clock a. m., is assigned for hearing said petition, when all persons interested in said matter may appear at a County Court, to be held in and for said County, and show cause why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted; and that notice of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, be given to all persons interested in said matter by publishing a copy of this order in the Nebraska Democrat, a weekly newspaper printed in said County, for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing.

JAMES BRITTON,
(Seal) County Judge.

True Love.

An official of the State Charities Aid association of New York, said of eugenics the other day:

"The love match is a good thing for eugenics. By this I mean that it is better for a pretty girl to marry a brave, handsome youth for love—true love—than it is for her to marry an elderly millionaire for his money."

"Mercenary people like to sneer at love in a cottage, and bread and cheese and kisses, and all that sort of thing. But these sneers are false, for when poverty comes in at the door love flies out and gets a good job."—Exchange.

The Beggar's Baby.

In the Rue St. Lazare, says the London Mail's Paris correspondent, stood a poor and meanly clad woman who stopped passersby, crying, "Give me a penny for food for my baby," as she pointed to a wailing infant in her arms.

But an observant policeman interfered. It was only when the woman made a particular movement that the infant squealed, and investigation showed that a string which the woman worked with her foot was tied to it. The apparent cruelty resulted in the woman's arrest. Great was the astonishment at the police headquarters when the injured "baby" was found to be a large doll, whose vocabulary consisted of "mamma" and "papa." Further, in the "baby's" clothes were linen articles pilfered from the stalls in the street.

Methodist Church

Rev. P. R. Clotfelty, Pastor
Next Sunday is Children's Day with us. Sunday school exercises observing the day will be held at 10:30 a. m. A collection will be taken for the aid of worthy young people striving to obtain an education. This money is loaned through the schools by the Board of Education for a period of time without interest. This period reaching to two years after completing the school course. When repaid it is again loaned and so continues to help in the same work. A Baptismal service for children will be held in connection with this service.

Sunday school at 12 o'clock noon. Temperance lesson, Amos, 6:1-8. What about the germ-carrier—is he not a worse enemy than the patient confined to the sick room? A splendid attendance is desired. Epworth League service will be led by Ensign Young next Sunday when the subject will be, "The Social basis of the Last Judgment." Installation service for the new Epworth League cabinet will be held at the opening of the preaching service. Let every Leaguer be in attendance next Sunday.

The evening service will be in the interest of Education. A special invitation is extended to young and old for this service.

Good crowds attended the Bible readings led by Evangelist Lindgren last week. At the service Sunday evening, when he spoke, one young lady gave her heart to Christ. Mr. Lindgren's many friends were glad to have him in their midst once more. He returns home to Chicago this week.

The Epworth League Social

The Epworth League social held at the church Friday evening was a decided success. A splendid crowd listened to the following program:

Organ solo—Mrs. Johnson.
Address of Welcome—Rev. Clotfelty.
Response for students—Miss Beechel.

Address on "Life's Chief Work"—Evangelist Lindgren.
Violin solo—Alice Blair.

Carlyle Campbell presided at this part of the evening's pleasure and at the close of the program invited all to join in partaking of the refreshments, consisting of ice cream and cake, which was served on the church lawn. Everyone enjoyed themselves and the League expresses its thanks for all the aid given in their work.

The Brotherhood meeting at Laurel Sunday evening was attended by Profs. Britell, Hickman and Bowen with the pastor. Prof. Britell, district president of the Laymen's association, was the principal speaker. Thirty-six men of Laurel were present and a good evening was spent together.

Baptist Church

Rev. B. P. Richardson, Pastor
"The Life of the Master" will be the subject of the sermon next Sunday morning. It will be a study of how he used his time and expended his energies.

We appreciated the large attendance last Sunday morning, for, in spite of the oppressive heat, the church was filled. We believe the church is cooler than our homes.

Last Friday afternoon, the young people of the church, together with a good number from the college, about forty altogether, went on a picnic a mile and a half north of town. A delightful time was spent and a picnic supper eaten and about nine o'clock the crowd returned home.

Last week, on Tuesday evening, a business meeting of the young people was held at the parsonage, for the annual election of officers and the transaction of other business. The following were chosen as officers of the society for the coming year: President, Shirley Sprague; vice-president, Glea Wade; secretary and treasurer Miss Laura Conover; organists Miss Hazel Norton and Ina Hughes.
It was also decided to pledge, on behalf of the society, forty dollars for foreign missions. It was also planned to make the last Sunday evening of this month, a joint service with the preaching service, beginning at eight o'clock. A full program will be announced next week.

Sunday evening at 7 o'clock, the young people's meeting will be led by Miss Pearl Hughes. The topic will be: "Enemies of the church."

At 8 p. m. the pastor will preach on the subject, "What if it be in Vain?" This will be the last Sunday evening preaching service we will have in the church till fall. On June 29 we shall have a young people's service and after that there will be union meetings on the court house lawn.
Our prayer meetings are refreshing and strengthening. On Wednesday at 8 p. m.

Last Sunday afternoon the pastor and some of the officers and teachers of the Sunday school, conducted services at the school house four miles north of Wayne. A good interest was shown. Services will be held again next Sunday afternoon. They hope to organize a Sunday school.

Presbyterian Church

Rev. Alexander Corkey, Pastor.
"Getting our Full Reward" will be the subject of the pastor's sermon at the Presbyterian church next Sunday morning. This will be the pastor's last Sabbath until August as he and his family leave next week for Michigan where they will spend the month of July with Mrs. Corkey's parents at Long Lake, near Kalamazoo. The regular services will be held as usual during vacation time, the pulpit being supplied by visiting ministers, except during the last two Sundays in July when the morning preaching service will be omitted. The Sunday school will meet regularly during July and August at 12 o'clock.

The morning service begins at 10:30 and the evening service at 8 o'clock. The C. E. prayer meeting begins at 7 p. m.

"The Greatest School in the World" will be the subject of the evening sermon by the pastor next Sunday.

The Ladies Aid society will hold a social meeting at the home of Mrs. Clara Ellis next Wednesday afternoon, and all the ladies of the congregation are invited to be present. This will be the last social meeting of the society for the summer.

Evangelist Lindgren had charge of the mid-week service this week on Wednesday evening. Mr. Lindgren's clear exposition of the scriptures have been greatly enjoyed during his visit to Wayne, and his bible readings have been exceedingly helpful. He makes the bible a practical, everyday book, and shows that the ordinary Christian, as well as the theologian, can give a reason for the hopes that is within him if only he uses ordinary diligence in the study of the sacred oracles.

The missionary lawn social at the home of Mrs. Ash last week was largely attended and a very pleasant and profitable afternoon was spent by the ladies. Automobiles conveyed the party to the Ash home and a generous supper was enjoyed before the return journey was begun.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church

(Rev. Blessing, Pastor.)

The theme to be discussed next Sunday morning will be "The Changeless Christ", Hebrews 13:8. We may put our trust and confidence in the things of this world if we so wish, but we will meet with disappointment, for the things of this earth are transitory. Today we may be living in great prosperity, but a year from today our homes may be among the poor. Today we may have many friends, but we can not tell how soon they will be taken from us. So earthly things are not abiding, but are subject to many changes. But there is one in whom we can put our trust. One who is always the same. A friend who sticketh closer than a brother, Jesus, the Changeless Christ.

Do not forget the Sunday school at 10 o'clock. The attendance was very good last Sunday and we were glad to see so many new scholars. Let us make a special effort to get out to Sunday school, it will be worth your time.

Choir rehearsal has been changed from Thursday to Friday evening. Every member of the choir is requested to be present as we will have a leader to help us.

The Ladies Aid society will meet this week at the home of Mrs. J. W. Ziegler.

Burglary at Presbyterian Church

Some time within the last few days some miscreants entered the Presbyterian church and stole the contents of the Primary Department missionary box, consisting of several dollars in pennies. It has been customary to leave the box at the church in the upstairs primary room, but robbery even in a church seems possible in Wayne. The thieves have not yet been discovered but efforts are being made to locate them. Hereafter the money will be locked up in the bank's strong box.

Presbyterians at Belden Plan to Organize a Church

Rev. Joel Warner, a veteran Presbyterian minister of Nebraska, has been invited to Belden by a number of the people there who are anxious to organize a Presbyterian church. Mr. Warner will visit the field this week, remaining for a month or two in order to complete arrangements for the organization of a church.

Miss Iris Griggs left Thursday morning to spend several weeks with her grandparents and other relatives at Mapleton, Minnesota.

Mrs. E. W. Johnson went to Oakland Wednesday to visit her parents and meet a sister who is there from York visiting home folks.

Mrs. Wm. Mears has the thanks of the entire Democrat force for a bouquet of white, pink and red roses and peonies. True, our race was not the most elegant, but the flowers almost made it attractive.

O. P. DePue was at Bloomfield Tuesday, catching a game for Laurel with whom he has contracted to play this season. The score was 12 to 14 in favor of Laurel when the players were all run down.

Those interested in securing a modern home at Wayne will not overlook the advertisement of the one which is to be sold at auction. This will go to the one who values it most and at a price he is willing to pay.

Why not try a Sunday dinner at the Union hotel, where are served the best meals—chicken, beef and veal will be on Sunday bill of fare, and plenty of other home-cooked side dishes. Give the wife a Sunday off.—adv. 1.

Mrs. Rennick and the small children leave this afternoon to visit relatives and friends at her old home in northeastern Ohio. Mrs. Rennick moved from there 14 years ago, and it has been eight years since she last visited there.

All those taking part in the operetta, "Sweet Alice Ben Bolt" must be at the opera house at 10 a. m., Saturday, June 21, for final rehearsal and to get tickets for admission. Respectfully,—adv. Mrs. J. W. Evans.

Claus Kay and daughter, Mrs. Frank Peterson, were called to Council Bluffs, Iowa, Monday by a message telling of the death of his brother-in-law, Mr. John Lieb. They plan to stop at Missouri Valley and visit other relatives before they return.

It is worth the price of admission these hot evenings to visit the Crystal theatre just to cool off, but the management always adds a good picture program. By a scientific system of ventilation the room is converted into a very breezy place in which to spend an evening hour.

Mrs. S. J. Weber, who makes her home with her son, J. C. Harmer, went to Stanton last week to celebrate her 73rd birthday there at the home of her sister, who is two years her senior. She reports that there was a severe wind and rain storm there Sunday evening, and during the few minutes that it lasted trees were broken and small buildings moved, and a regular downpour of rain came with the wind.

Mrs. C. C. Hurley of Glendive, Montana, who has been visiting relatives in this part of Nebraska for several weeks, returned Wednesday from a visit with her brother at Crofton, to complete her visit with her parents, Robt. Skiles and wife, and Wayne friends before leaving for her Montana home.

T. W. Moran was at Omaha the first of the week attending the monthly meeting of the railway safety committee of which he is a member. He says that no new business was brought before this committee, but the time was fully taken closing the unfinished business and trying to keep cool.

W. E. Winterringer of Norfolk has purchased from C. W. Martin his pool room fixtures and business, taking possession Monday. Mr. Winterringer is planning to move here the first of the month. Mr. Martin has not yet determined what he will do, but hopes to re-embark in some business here.

The operetta, "Sweet Alice Ben Bolt" will be given by one hundred local people at the opera house, Monday, June 21st, under the auspices of the Wayne Commercial Club, for the benefit of the Base Ball fund. Tickets including reserved seats are 50c. Two children go in on one ticket not reserved. Buy tickets of children and help them win cash prizes given by Mrs. J. W. Evans.—adv.

J. F. Barrett and family left Wayne by automobile the first of the week for their new home at Dunlap, Iowa, where Mr. Barrett formerly lived and where he has again taken up banking, in which he was engaged before coming to Wayne. Mr. Barrett still retains his home at this place and his interest in the hardware business, which will now be under the management of Mr. Dally. Mr. Barrett and family will be missed in business and social circles.

H. Griggs has a few stands of bees and to them he gives considerable attention, realizing that the bees must have care if they are to do their best. Today he was speaking of the fact that his best or strongest stand already has 50 pound of honey in the super. The honey made from the spring flowers always seems to be the nicest honey of the season, light in color and of excellent flavor, though perhaps not rich and heavy as that which comes from the later flowers.

For two weeks past Ted Perry has been having trouble caused by an eye tooth which he had pulled and after suffering several days and nights with the swelling and the feeling getting worse, he went to a hospital at Sioux City Sunday morning, where Dr. Rouse opened a way into the affected parts and inserted a drain which afforded relief in a few days. He returned home Tuesday evening and is now able to be about and superintend his work. It was a narrow escape from blood poisoning.

Last Sunday was Grandma Davies' 89th birthday and in honor of that event and to pay a tribute of respect to a most charming lady a number of the neighbors and relatives gathered in an informal manner at the home of Judge and Mrs. A. A. Welch, for a social hour. Numerous tokens of remembrance were taken. Mrs. Davies retains the use of all of her faculties to a remarkable degree and is blessed with good health. Mrs. Welch served light refreshments before the guests departed each wishing Mrs. Davies continued good health and happiness.

The licensed optometrists of Nebraska are after the peddler who sells glasses without a license. "The legislature of 1907 passed a law known as House Roll No. 127, Chapter 85 to regulate the practice of optometry. It is defined to be the employment of any means other than the use of drugs for measuring the powers of vision and the adoption of lenses for the aid thereof." Regular practicing physicians are exempt under this law. There is a fine of $100 or 30 days in jail or both for violation of this law. The Nebraska State Board of Examiners are co-operating with the licensed optometrists of the state to rid the state of violators of this law and they expect within a short time to bring some of them to justice.

Fred Blair "Get to Know Us" John Mulloy

F. M. Griffith is at Hoskins today.

For some time we have known that inducements were being freely offered in numerous industrial centers to induce the X-Ray incubator factory to move from Wayne. To the offer from Des Moines they have yielded, and are planning to do the next season's business at that place. This factory has built up a nice business in Wayne and the Democrat is sorry to see the public spirited men and their families leave. There is but little doubt that they will get better shipping facilities than Wayne can offer at present and if there are no other drawbacks they may find better opportunity in their Iowa location.

John Gaertner, who was for a time lost to his many Wayne friends in the wilds of Montana, returned home Friday with a severe case of western fever racking his brain. Mrs. Gaertner at once contracted the disease and left the first of the week for Glasgow, a thriving place in the northeastern part of Montana where she hopes the fever will abate. Mr. Gaertner says it is a fine country, producing great crops of wheat and that the opportunity to secure a homestead was what gave him the fever. He is arranging to return at once to his home in Montana, of which state he now claims to be a citizen. Mr. and Mrs. Gaertner have long been residents of Wayne, and are known to all of the early settlers, coming here in 1882, and many regretting their departure will wish them well in their new home on the great Montana prairie. They will be about 40 miles from a railroad until a new road is built, but they are near the line of survey and near the center of a wide strip between two roads. Mr. Gaertner just called in and was questioned about the climate, and admits that it gets down to 111 there in the winter, and that they have extensions built for the winter thermometer so as to make them long enough to measure the cold.

Extends Food Law to Meat

Washington, June 18.—Probably the most radical and far reaching extension of the food and drugs act since its enactment was made yesterday when Secretaries Houston, McAdoo and Redfield, ruled that meat and meat products in interstate or foreign commerce which hitherto have been exempted from the provision of the pure food law, may be seized if misbranded or adulterated.

Strahan Case Reversed

Attorney C. H. Hendrickson received word from the supreme court that the court had reversed the lower court in the Strahan inheritance tax case. The supreme court held that a widow is not liable for any inheritance tax upon the estate of her deceased husband. Attorney Hendrickson appeared for the Strahan heirs and the widow.

OPPRESSION OF PLANTERS

Story of Sugar Workmen is One of Misery. Still Planters Ask Bounty. Injustice of Tariff Shown

By Clyde H. Taveener

Washington, D. C., June 16.—A land of oppression, misery and sorrow—that is the picture drawn of the Hawaiian sugar plantations by testimony brought out by the senate lobby investigation.

The very large crowd of men whose legislative activities in Washington brought forth the recent accusation from President Wilson, are the representatives of rich planters whose cruel exploitation of their wage slaves has no counterpart under the stars and stripes.

Planters Get Big Profits

These sugar growers, earning profits of 50 to 90 per cent, and asking for the continuance of a tax of over $100,000,000 annually on the American people that they may continue to reap their golden rewards, are coming before congress in the name of "protection against the pauper labor of Europe," all the while they maintain a labor standard that is a blot on American civilization.

So terrible are working conditions in Hawaii that European and Asiatic laborers, deceived into coming to the island, literally starve themselves in order to save passage money for San Francisco and escape the trap into which they have been inveigled. A horde of these pauper laborers are beginning to arrive in California, in their extremity willing to work for any price, thus depressing wages of Americans on the Pacific coast.

Reed Calls Their Bluff

Incidentally, Senator Reed, of Missouri, a member of the lobby committee, showed that a report exposing this condition was written by Daniel F. Keefe, commissioner of immigration, who went to Hawaii at the request of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, to study the industrial conditions. The report, however, was never published. It was suppressed by the Taft administration. The bureau of labor sent a man to Hawaii to get out another report on labor conditions. This report flattered the planters and was published.

The government investigator who wrote the white washing report was shortly thereafter given a good job with the Hawaiian territorial government, while Secretary Nagel later busied himself preparing charges looking to the removal of Keefe.

Senator Reed, however, resurrected the suppressed report and brought it before the lobby committee. The planters have been proudly proclaiming the fact that no peonage exists in Hawaii. After reading the report I am convinced it would be better for the wretched plantations and sugar mill laborers if they were peons or actual slaves. They would be better treated by their owners.

Low Wages Paid

Wages run from $8 per month (for children) up to $28 (for white adult men.) Hours are 10 and 12 a day. The employees live in miserable shacks provided by the companies. The men buy food from company stores where prices range from 10 to 70 per cent higher than average food prices. In New York, Washington, Chicago and San Francisco, the food is sold to the plantation stores by Honolulu wholesale houses, owned for the most part, by the plantation owners.

Doctors employed by the companies have gone to visit sick laborers 24 to 48 hours after being called, sometimes only to find corpses instead of patients. Laborers are called insulting names and treated like dogs by field bosses. "In a desperate effort to keep down the wage rate of all employees," the planters are spending huge sums importing Filipinos for laborers. These workmen are the dregs of the Philippine population, gathered from jails and almshouses, the very young and the very old, weak and racked with disease.

The imported laborer, arriving penniless, is held in actual subjection, unable to escape from the island, except harder individuals, who can endure starvation while saving passage money. But the rich owners have devised a crafty "homestead" system, whereby in exchange for an acre of land received after six years' occupancy, the homesteader virtually binds himself to labor for life on the plantation.

What About Selling the Philippines?

"Hand our 'white man's burden' to Japan."

"Sell the distant Philippine island to the growing empire of the east, which, owing to its geographical location, is far more able to colonize and civilize the Igorote, the Malay and the subjects of Sulu's sultan."

The argument of California's alien land law brought it all about.

Student of the situation said that Japan must have an outlet for her excess population. Jingoists, seeing war in every move, shrieked, "the Japanese will grab the Philippines."

They looked it up and this is what they found:

"That the Philippines, an almost entirely undeveloped group of islands lying so near Japan as to be almost a part of the same string of islands, would be of greater value to Nippon than any other country in the world."

"That the possession of these islands by Japan would at once solve her greatest problem, by giving her a vast territory to people with her excess population."

An interview with one of the most influential Japanese in the Northwest resulted in the discovery that the Japanese already knew that this was one key to the situation, but owing to the red tape of international courtesy the little brown men can't even mention the value of the Philippines.

This Japanese, whose name must be withheld because of the rumors that it would cause if printed, said that if his country should offer to buy Philippines, it would be taken as a threat in spite of all the explanations that could be made. Japan must sit and wait.

Every inch of her soil is under cultivation and yet there is not enough food to go round.

So it was pointed out to the commercial club of Seattle that they would be doing a splendid thing if they fathered a proposition to encourage this government to live up to "The Golden Rule."

But the sale of the Philippines is a stupendous undertaking. It is a juggle in world politics, something to handle with care, and the Seattle commercial club is making haste slowly, looking at it from all sides, and listening to what the people have to say.—Sioux City News.

Not Alone a Dreamer

One of the most-used weapons against Mr. Bryan has been the declaration that he is "only a dreamer."

It is not true. Bryan is both a dreamer and a doer.

The republic has had some mighty minds in the past which Bryan now occupies, but none with more ability to challenge and hold the attention of the master minds connected with the affairs of the nations of the world.

American paragraphs smiled, and some of them snickered, when this truly American secretary of state put one of his dreams in form and submitted it to other great nations, but today Bryan's dream and Bryan's plan for assuring the peace of the world has been favorably received by a majority of the premier nations of the globe.

Bryan a dreamer, only! Why, as a doer in the cause of universal peace, and as the proposer of a plan to insure that peace, he has accomplished more within the span of days than all other advocates of peace had been able to accomplish in the span of years.

If the peoples of all the nations shall ever see that glad day in which the burden of militarism shall be lifted from their backs, and when national disputes shall be settled by national arbitration, and not by engines of war—in that day a thankful world will give the glory to this Nebraska dreamer who is demonstrating his ability to do the good deed he has dreamed of.—Columbus Telegram.

Railroads and State Rights

(From the Norfolk News)

No recent decision of the supreme court has caused more widespread or varied discussion than that in the Minnesota rate cases. The feature of the opinion most talked about, very naturally, is that which relates to the border line between national and state regulation of rates. Press discussions indicate there is considerable difference of opinion as to whether the decision on this point is clarifying or muddling in its effects. It is pretty generally conceded that the court has not departed far from established rules in this case, but has merely checked, to an extent, the growing tendency toward federal regulation which, apparently, was favored by the railroads.

The New York World holds that the decision was a victory neither for the railroads nor the state. It summarizes the position of the court as follows:

The court declined to admit that there is a twilight zone in the regulation of commerce. The power of congress to regulate interstate commerce is absolute, and this power extends to every instrumentality and agency by which such commerce is carried on. There remains to the state the power to deal with local commerce. If this local commerce is incidentally interstate, the power still resides in the states until such time as congress sees fit to exercise it. "Until congress acts, the states may act."

The Kansas City Star declares "state's rights with the new nationalism in the background" epitomizes the situation. But it finds an important string to the assertion of state's rights in the power of congress to assume, when it so desires the whole business or rate regulation. "A Muddling Decision" is the heading of the editorial in the Sioux City Journal which finds "grave doubts" as to the "practical justification of the ruling." It says:

The actual effect is that for the present, and perhaps for years to come, the all important function of rate regulation may be exercised in the least economical way by the power least capable of exercising it fairly and intelligently. Congress is democratic just now. The doctrine of federal supremacy in railway regulation will be construed by many to interfere with the time honored democratic doctrine of state rights. It is not likely the present congress will give the interstate commerce commission the new authority it must have if we are to have consistent and economical railway rate regulation. It may be that no congress will pass such a law until we have learned from bitter experience the undesirable consequences of maintaining forty-eight regulating machines instead of one.

The Omaha World-Herald expresses alarm because the decision seems to mean that "congress has in its power, at any time, to wipe out all state regulation and all state regulation machinery." It continues:

In theory this is perhaps a victory for the advocates of the doctrine of exclusive federal control. But in effect it is a sweeping victory for the states. Hardly in this generation is there any probability of a congress being elected that will make the sweeping change suggested. The need for it, the justification, would have to be far more firmly established than it is at present to induce the states, through their representatives in the house and senate, to surrender this vast and valuable power to the federal government.

The Omaha Bee, taking up another but probably no less important feature of the opinion, that laying down the rule for fixing the value of railroads for rate-making purposes says:

One thing indisputably has been settled by this decision, and that is the indispensability of actual valuations as a basis for rate-making. For years railroads resisted the demand for actual valuations of its property as an element in the determining of tariffs, but in the light of this decision it seems almost inconceivable that they should ever again resist it.

Motor Cars

A Simple Idea Behind a Simple Starter

IT is not strange that the ideal self starter grew out of a simple thing. For many years a great corporation had been making motor generators to attach to the axles of railroad cars for lighting purposes. The application was direct and the light generating capacity positive.

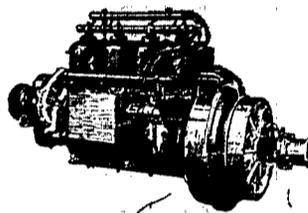

One day a man attached a similar motor generator to a gasoline engine and by a simple arrangement made it serve as a fly wheel.

The great Corliss and Allis power generators are directly connected in much the same way.

This is not a new untried experiment, but an old principle simply applied to a new use.

You have already ridden thousands of miles in Pullman cars and each mile demonstrated that the fundamental principle of the U. S. L. starting and lighting system is right.

Little weight is added. There are no bearings, chains or gears. Think what that means. Silence and efficiency—of course—are the results.

The Cross Country Gasoline Engine is built integrally with the U. S. L. Electric Motor Generator.

A Bachelor Tells Why He is Afraid to Marry

In the July Woman's Home Companion appears a letter written by a bachelor of thirty to a newly engaged girl who abandoned a promising literary career. Some efficient wives will resent the writer's attitude; many will admit the truth of what he says. A part of the letter follows:

"You have probably chosen as difficult a career as the one you made a start in, only the world doesn't put it that way. For in the wife's job the standards of success are low, while in the literary job they are high.

"Wifehood is a profession and a science. This is an age of efficiency. We Americans are sacrificing our lives on the altar of efficiency. My work makes me an efficient engineer, and when I am asked why I don't marry, I never like to give the true reason. The girls for whom you have the right feeling do not come up to your standard of efficiency as wives, home-makers, stimulators, companions, advisors. How can I be wrapped up in the efficiency craze all day, and come home to find less practical efficiency than in any plant or mine I am connected with?

"And the women themselves are to blame for this, for they have not looked on wifehood as a profession ever progressing, but have looked upon it as a privilege. A man's work today is harder than it was in the past. A woman's work has been made easier. She has not progressed with the times. Fifty per cent of her energy is misdirected.

"Your advice that I go and do likewise is characteristic of newly engaged folks. Seriously, no man is more keenly alive to the possibilities of the right wife than I am. Nobody wants one or needs one more than I do, for being alone much of the time and having a tendency to cut out social nonsense, I can readily see what a wife would do for me. But I am afraid I have reached the stage of the game where the conventional sweet little thing that all my friends introduce me to interests me about as much as a doll or a toy. A fellow who is traveling all the time and mingles with all classes of people must inevitably develop a tendency to discriminate, and if he doesn't happen to hit the right combination, it is only natural that he should become the variety of outlaw known as the bachelor. Men are not bachelors through choice, but from necessity and hard luck, and they really should be given sympathy."

Dave Surber went to Sioux City Saturday to visit over Sunday in that city.

Our Query and Reply Department

What is the sleeping sickness? Does it prevail anywhere in this country?

It is confined to Africa and is believed to be due to an animal parasite which is transmitted to its victims by a native insect, the tsetse fly. Thus implanted, the disease causes mental and physical derangement, with an increasing desire for sleep, ending invariably in death. Although white men are not immune, it occurs mainly among the negroes.

What was the Tichborne trial, and when did it occur?

It was a very celebrated case, growing out of the fraudulent claim of an Australian adventurer named Orton to be Roger Tichborne and heir to the Tichborne estate, worth $120,000 a year. After much preliminary sparring the trial began in May, 1871, and lasted 103 days, when the jury found against the claimant. In 1874, after another trial lasting six months, Orton, or, as he still claimed to be, Tichborne, was found guilty of perjury and sentenced to fourteen years' penal servitude. After the expiration of his term he publicly confessed his fraud.

Has the name California any particular significance, or what is its origin?

It is Spanish and was first applied to a fictitious island in an old Spanish romance. Some authorities have derived it from the Spanish words "caliente," hot, and "fornalla," furnace, but that may be purely conjectural.

What has the city of Galveston, Tex., done to prevent a repetition of the tidal flood disaster of a few years ago? What was the date of that disaster and the estimated losses?

The disaster, consisting of tornado and flood, occurred Sept. 8, 1900. About 8,000 lives were lost, 3,000 buildings destroyed and many millions of property. Since the disaster the grade of the city has been changed at a cost of $1,500,000, and a sea wall has been constructed, 17,593 feet long, sixteen feet wide at the base and five feet wide at the top, standing seventeen feet above low tide and extending twenty-seven feet out on the gulf side, at a cost of $1,108,118.

Who is the richest man in the world?

John D. Rockefeller has been said to be the richest man; the czar of Russia has also been said to be the richest; the same has been claimed for the gaekwar of Baroda, who has one carpet that is valued at $5,000,000. So there is some doubt about who really has the distinction.

Who was the first mayor of New York city?

New York's first mayor was Thomas Willett, appointed in 1665 by the English governor of the province. The first mayor after the Americans had won the war of independence and driven the English from the city was James Duane, who occupied the post from 1784 to 1789.

Just what is the Vatican? What is its size?

The Vatican is the residence of the pope of Rome. The palace covers thirteen and one-half acres and contains about 1,100 rooms, among which are a magnificent library, museums, the famous Sistine chapel, the beautiful Pauline chapel and the chapel of San Lorenzo and galleries and halls decorated by Raphael and other famous artists.

When did Jack the Ripper commit his first murder, and how long did his operations continue?

The original Jack the Ripper perpetrated a series of ten brutal murders in the east end of London between April and September, 1888. The name is now applied to authors of similar attempts.

Will you please give some facts regarding the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, in New York city?

The cornerstone of this great Protestant Episcopal cathedral, the largest church edifice in America, was laid in 1892, actual excavation for the foundations beginning the year following. Since then its rate of progress toward completion has been irregular, and the date when the edifice will be finished depends entirely on the condition of the building funds. When completed the cathedral will seat more than 6,000 persons.

The details of construction of the huge hundred foot temporary dome are interesting. The dome is built of overlapping tiles of baked clay, an invention of Roman builders, each tile being imbedded in cement, so that the whole structure is really monolithic. Gunastano, a Spaniard skilled in the construction of this particular kind of tile, had charge of that end of the work. The tiles were made porous, so that sound waves from the interior of the cathedral are absorbed rather than reflected, thereby making the acoustics exceptionally good. The dome was completed within a few months after the first tiles were laid.

Did Henry D. Thoreau, the author, ever marry? Had he a profession? If not, how did he live?

He never married. He had no regular occupation, though he was a good land surveyor and fished some fish that time, and he also worked at cedar penicil making by hand, an art which he had learned from his father. His means were very limited, but his wants were so few and simple that his small earnings sufficed.

When, where and by whom was the expression the "Ananias club" originated?

The term was first used in 1906 by Samuel G. Blythe, Washington correspondent of a New York newspaper. After President Roosevelt had expressed doubts as to the veracity of several prominent men in rapid succession Blythe sent to his paper an editorial paragraph to the effect that these men had been elected to the Ananias club. The phrase immediately caught the public fancy.

Who was called the "Great Commoner"?

William Pitt, first Earl of Chatham, a famous parliamentary orator of the eighteenth century, was called the "Great Commoner." The title has also been applied to Henry Clay and to Thaddeus Stevens.

Has Boston always been the capital of Massachusetts?

Boston has always been the capital of Massachusetts except for a short period in colonial times, when the seat of government was at Charlestown, now part of Boston. But Boston did not originally have its present name, being first called Trimontaine, from three prominent hills within it, and the name changed to Boston in 1630. The exact date when Boston became the capital, following Charlestown, is not known. The original name of Trimontaine survives in Tremont street, Boston.

What is the normal weight of a Buff Cochon hen?

The standard weights for Buff Cochins are: Cock, 11 pounds; cockerel, 9 pounds; hen, 9 1/2 pounds; pullet, 7 pounds.

What are the materials from which chewing gum is made?

Vegetable resin gums furnish the principal constituent of most of the chewing gum now sold. Historically the resin gum of the black spruce tree is the first that man chewed on. A chicle gum, taken from the naseberry tree of South America, is the substance most used now. The tree is similar to the rubber tree and its gum similar to rubber. Paraffin and beeswax were formerly used in the manufacture of chewing gum.

What is the meaning of the term "cubist" as lately applied to art?

The "cubists" are so called because they seek to express in art the third of cubic dimension.

When did General Weyler first take command in Cuba, and how long did he remain there?

General Weyler landed at Havana as governor general of Cuba Feb. 10, 1896, succeeding General Campos in that capacity. Weyler was succeeded by General Blanco in November, 1897.

When did the last signer of the Declaration of Independence die?

The last surviving signer of the Declaration of Independence, Charles Carroll of Maryland, was born Sept. 29, 1737, and died Nov. 14, 1832. On July 4, 1826, two signers died, John Adams of Massachusetts and Thomas Jefferson of Virginia. Of the fifty-six signers twenty-one lived till past the year 1800.

Has the old frigate Constitution always sailed under the American flag?

Yes.

Which are the four leading zoological gardens in the United States?

Those at Philadelphia, New York, Cincinnati and Washington. The Philadelphia zoo, founded in 1871, got a long start on other similar institutions in America. The Bronx zoo, in New York, is by far the largest in extent in the world. Cincinnati's zoological garden is a great credit to a city which, like Cincinnati, is not of metropolitan size. The national zoological park at Washington, founded in 1891, has been somewhat retarded in its development by lack of a comprehensive plan, but good progress has been made notwithstanding, and it now possesses excellent collections of animals, including many rare specimens.

What nations have the five strongest navies?

Great Britain, Germany, the United States, France and Japan.

What use is made of ginseng in medicine?

It is not used at all in occidental medicine, but the Chinese regard it as a sovereign specific for the restoration of flagging powers of mind and body. This therapeutic value, as the Chinese name Jintsung, "likeness of a man," shows, resides solely in the shape of the root. The same idea put the man-trunk into the civilized pharmacopeia.

What are the nationality and birthplace of Dr. Franz Friedmann, the tuberculosis specialist?

Dr. Friedmann is a German and was born in Berlin.

What is the sixteenth constitutional amendment?

The sixteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States, which has been adopted, is as follows: "Article 16. The congress shall have power to levy and collect taxes on incomes, from whatever source derived, without apportionment among the several states and without regard to any census or enumeration." This simply gives congress power to pass an income tax law.

In what cities are the United States mints now located?

Philadelphia, New Orleans, San Francisco and Denver.

How I Saw A Real Play
By MARGARET BARR

During the winter of 1911-12 I visited the isthmus of Panama to see the big ditch. Having satisfied my curiosity by going over it from one end to the other, I boarded the steamer at Colon for my return. I was standing on deck, leaning on the rail, looking down at the passengers hurrying about on the wharf or thronging up the gangway, where a party of tourists, consisting principally of young girls, came trooping along together, carrying the usual hand baggage and evidently intending to sail for home. That they were Americans was plain from their speech. A young girl of this party and a young man stopped on the dock directly below where I was standing and, unmindful of my presence, engaged in a hurried conversation.

She—You are coming with us, are you not?

He—Impossible. How can I leave here with work unfinished, without leave?

She—There are other engineers, are there not, who can do such work? Do you consider yourself the only capable one in the canal zone?

He—Would you have me do all this for you?

She—Is it as much as what you said you would do when we stood on the side of the canal—that you would jump down a hundred feet for my glove if I would throw it over?

He—That was gallantry. This is the real thing.

She—The real thing is the test.

At this moment I caught sight of a dark face above a pile of fruit boxes on the dock watching the couple—the face of a girl with a devil in her eyes. She was doubtless of mixed Spanish and Aztec blood, with all the virulence this mixture of races contains. The young engineer and the girl, who were evidently the objects of her interest, were unaware of her presence. He stood irresolute. Since I was looking down from above I could not see much of their faces, but I believed her eyes were holding him in thrall. My position, akin to that of eavesdropper, was hardly an excusable one, and I was about to turn away when I caught sight of the dusky creature, who was even more of an eavesdropper than I was myself. Indeed, in her fierce looks I saw danger for the lovers. I remained, thinking it possible that I might need to warn them of that danger.

Besides, in this scene enacted on life's real stage I saw a play—a play that might readily be turned into a tragedy. I saw the young engineer at his daily work on the canal, the half breed girl viewing him as some superior creature doing what to her was miraculous. He smiles at her, thoughtlessly chats with her, possibly after working hours meets her. Quite likely he is innocent of any wrong intention. It does not require a courtship under such circumstances to set a girl wild about a young man so far above her.

Then come the party of Americans to visit the canal. Possibly the young engineer is directed by his superior to show them the section on which he is engaged, to explain to them the processes involved. They may be persons, or some among them may be persons, having influence at Washington. The hearts of this girl of the party and this young man, who are thrown together by fate on the great waterway forming to girdle the world, spring for each other like the positive and negative poles of a magnet. Or it may be she has a passion for bringing a man to her feet, like the huntsman-for sport. Let us hope the first supposition is correct.

She draws him with her to Colon—to see her depart. Once there, she wishes to try her power over him still further. It may be that she has wealth and that his work as engineer on the canal is less to her than her desire to have him with her. But this is all supposition. The only feature evident is that she is trying to make him gratify her wish.

In some way the dark girl—the "heavy woman" of the play, as the atrial persons would call her—has got wind of his infatuation. She follows at a distance. What for? Who knows? Does she know herself? Perhaps not. Nevertheless I can see danger to her fair rival in that fierce black eye. The dialogue below me continued:

"Are you going?" she asked.

"There was no reply. I knew she was drawing him with her eyes, and I believed she would win."

"Once more, are you going?" she asked again.

"Yes. I'll go with you if you take"—I heard no more, for they passed out of hearing toward the gangway. They were the last passengers to come aboard. The gangway was hauled in, and the engine was slowly started.

The girl in whom I was interested came up and stood on deck near me. She was waving to some one on the pier. I saw the dark girl run to the edge of the dock and draw a knife from her bosom. Taking a deliberate aim at her rival, she threw it. Before the knife had time to reach the girl on deck I caught her by the arm and whirled her away. The knife passed within a few feet of her breast.

She looked at me, indignant. She did not know that I had probably saved her life—had certainly saved her from a wound I did not calculate her.

"Pardon me," I said, "I made a mistake."

But I told the engineer the true story.

At high noon today at the home of the bride's uncle, Mr. Thomas Rawlins, Miss Sarah M. Herrington and Mr. Erwin A. Floyd were married by Rev. H. H. Bowen of Daytona Beach, Fla., the impressive Episcopal ring ceremony being used. The bride wore a beautiful gown of white crepe-de-meteor made en traine and carried a bouquet of bride's roses with a shower of lilies of-the-valley. She was attended by Miss Edna Floyd, sister of the groom, Miss Stella Butler of Arion, Iowa, and Miss Hazel Williams of Ponca, all of whom wore gowns of pink silk. The groom was attended by his uncle, Mr. E. E. Collins of Hartington. Immediately preceding the bridal march Miss Hazel Adair of Sioux City sang "I Know a Lovely Garden" by Hartlett and the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin was sung by a chorus of fourteen young ladies. The house was made beautiful with palms, ferns and cut flowers and a soft pink light was shed throughout the rooms by means of dainty pink lanterns. Following congratulations an elaborate two course luncheon as served to a large number of relatives and friends. Many beautiful and costly gifts were on display in an upstairs room. The bride and groom have grown up in Wakefield and are highly esteemed by all. Both are graduates of our high school and also of the state university. They will live in Galva, Ill., where the groom is resident engineer in charge of a grade reduction on the main line of the Burlington.

All that willing hands and medical skill could do was of no avail and she died as one going to sleep. The funeral was held from the home at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon and interment made in the LaPlant cemetery. Mr. and Mrs. LaPlant have the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community in this their sad hour of bereavement.

Hoskins News

(From the Headlight)

Miss Mabel Longnecker of Albion came Friday for an extended visit at the E. G. Evans home north of town.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Wichert and son and Thomas Evans and wife of Norfolk were guests at the Podall home east of town Sunday afternoon.

Word was received here last week that a baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Leslie of Iowa. Mrs. Leslie was formerly Miss Emma Wegner and was principal of our public school here two years ago.

Miss Ruth Rohrk entertained fourteen guests about the age of fourteen in honor of her fourteenth birthday Tuesday afternoon from 2 till five o'clock. The time was spent in social games and music and at 3:30 refreshments were served. All the guests reported a most enjoyable afternoon before leaving.

The sad news of Miss Lillian Leslie formerly of this place but now living near Olewain, Iowa, was received here the first of the week. She was going out to the barn with a revolver to kill a cat which was catching chickens, and in some manner she fell and the gun was discharged. The bullet went just below the stomach and came out at the tenth rib. She is still living and the attending doctor stated that chances are for her recovery. Her many friends are wishing for the above statement to be true.

New City Boiler Here

This morning's freight train set out the car containing the new boiler ordered for the city light and pump station, and the work of installing is to begin forthwith, and it is probable that within a month there will be boiler power plenty for all needs here. The work of rebuilding the smaller of the old boilers is nearing completion.

Wm. House was at Foster and Pierce on business this week.

Mrs. Mary Bannister left here Wednesday evening for Gordon to visit a daughter at that place for a time.

The operetta at the opera house Monday evening is said to be one of much merit. Home talent, too, for the base ball fund.

Simon Goeman has purchased of other heirs their equity in the livery barn on 1st street, subject to the approval of the court.

T. T. Williams of Lincoln has been visiting his brother, Dr. Williams here, and a brother at Randolph before moving to Little Rock, Ark., where he will make his home soon.

Wm. Moratz and family have moved to Norfolk where he has purchased a pool hall of which he took possession last week. They have been residents of Wayne a little more than a year.

A rain is asked for most earnestly by one and all. Corn is making most satisfactory progress—and the weed killing is easy. Pastures, meadows and small grain will be benefited by rain, is the general verdict. Of the numerous showers Sunday evening none reached Wayne and immediate vicinity, but showers were not far away in every direction.

Where a Rainbow Touches the Earth.

In every country in the world rainbow folklore declares that some object of value may be found where the ends of the beautiful arch touch the earth. In Suabia the ends are said to rest on bowls of gold; in Hungary, that cups of silver will be found at the spot where they come in contact with the earth. In Switzerland it is said that a shoe cast over the rainbow will come to the ground on the other side filled to overflowing with gold. In Bosnia it is said that if iron or other base metal happens to be at the spot where the bow touches the ground it will be instantly transformed to pure gold. In many parts of Germany, Poland, Russia, Belgium and Holland it is said to be a golden key that may be found at "the end of the bow." In Portugal and Spain they speak of the "silver hen" having her nest where the bow rests, and in Norway it comes to the ground at a spot where a golden bowl and a silver spoon are hidden. In many of the chief European countries it is said that water touched by the rainbow will cure fits and insanity.

He Paid For the Boots.

According to an old French tale, a number of shoemakers argue the question, Which one of them is the most meekly submissive to his wife? To the one who is least so the host offers to give the best pair of boots in his shop. If any one claims the boots and fails to prove his claim he must pay double price for them. The boots are claimed by a man who declares that he is not afraid of his wife. The man who offered the prize is somewhat taken aback by the man's confident manner, but he determines not to let his boots go without an attempt to save them. "The boots are stiff, I think," he said. "Take this grease with you to soften them, but put it inside your waistcoat, so that my wife may not see it." "Oh, no," was the reply, and the grease was hastily pushed away. "No; my wife would be frightful mad if I should grease my waistcoat." Then the other promptly decided that he must pay double price for the boots.

Her Eight Daily Meals.

Somerset, in England, is rich in names for the intercalated meal. In "Red Letter Days" Mrs. Andrew Crosse gives a delectable sketch of her old nurse, a Somersetshire woman, "who lived to be nearly a hundred. She used to say that folks should take their meals regular. All her life she had eaten a dew bit and breakfast, a stay-bit and dinner, a mommet and crummet and a bit after supper—eight meals in all."

Moisture of the Eye.

The moisture of the eye is genuine solvent. Many persons have gone to bed troubled with a foreign substance in the eye and have waxed in the morning to find it gone. In many cases of this kind the foreign matter has been dissolved by the moisture of the eye.

Not What She Meant.

"I think the baby has your hair, ma'am," said the nurse girl, looking pleasantly at her mistress. "Gracious!" exclaimed the lady, glancing up from her novel. "Run into the nursery and take it away from him. What will that child do next?"
