

The Nebraska Democrat

ESTABLISHED 1884

WAYNE, WAYNE COUNTY, NEBRASKA, OCTOBER 2, 1913

$1.50 PER YEAR

POSTMASTER ELECTION CALLED

Committee and Candidates Vote For Closed Primary. Four Filed for Place. Voters Eligible to Vote.

At the meeting of the committee and candidates last Saturday afternoon by a vote of 4 to 5 it was decided to let the democratic patrons of this office decide which of the candidates should have the plum, and that the republicans, who have had a representative for so many years, in the postoffice, without even hinting that a democrat had a right to office or a say, may see the procession go past. There is much that might be said on both sides of the question, and we are satisfied to see the reform in this matter get as far as it has in the few months that the democrats have been in power.

Of the four candidates who filed, A. C. Berry, J. M. Cherry, J. E. Marsteller and Chas. Reynolds, Mr. Cherry, after looking the field over, has withdrawn from the race—or at least said that he will do so, leaving a triangular fight to be waged.

The date for the election is fixed for Saturday afternoon, October 11, from 1 to 8 o'clock. W. D. Redmond and L. A. Kiplinger were named as clerks of the election and each candidate is to name a judge, and they are not yet announced. By motion it was decided that the laws governing the general elections in this state be observed as closely as applicable in the conduct of this election.

Of the qualifications required—the test of democracy—it is to be settled by the answer of the following questions where there is doubt of a man's right to vote at the primary.

Did you vote for a majority of the candidates of the Democratic party at the last election? Are you intending to affiliate with the Democratic party in the future? If the voter were so disposed he could perhaps vote contrary to the above qualifications, but there are few men who will ask to vote if placed upon their honor unless they are entitled to do so.

In the absence of the secretary of the meeting from Wayne the above qualifications are the substance of the ruling but are taken from the memory of those present at the meeting.

The three men in the race are too well known at Wayne to need any introduction from us except for the benefit of a few newcomers. Mr. Marsteller has been a resident of Wayne for ten years coming here from Harrison, where he was postmaster during the Cleveland administration—but it was a small office and not one that the people were all anxious to have, but some one must look after it, so the office sought the man, Mr. Marsteller engaged in hardware business here for a number of years when he first came to Wayne, but after his partner met with an accidental death the business was sold to Messrs. Barrett & Dally, who still conduct it. He then became interested with A. P. Gossard in establishing the creamery at this place, which has proved a good thing for the community. He sold his interest in this enterprise a year or more ago.

C. W. Reynolds has been long a resident of Wayne, coming to Nebraska when a small lad from northeastern Iowa. He served the county as clerk of court and then as county clerk for the past twelve years or longer and is at present county clerk, and owing to the extension which the new election law has given to some offices his term will not end until January, 1915.

C. A. Berry has long been a resident of this county and is acquainted with most of the patrons of the office.

Of the democracy of the candidates we can only add that the committee that passed upon that question were fully competent.

New Book Out in Two Weeks

The publication of Alexander Corkey's new book, "The Vision of Joy", has been somewhat delayed, but the date has finally been announced as October 15th in New York, and October 18th in Omaha. There has been a large advance sale of the book as it is a sequel to the popular novel, "The Victory of Allan Rutledge."

Synod Meeting in Omaha

The Synod of the Presbyterian church in Nebraska meets on October 15th in Omaha and will continue in session the greater part of the week. Delegates from all parts of Nebraska will be in attendance, and speakers of national prominence will attend the meeting. The prospects are that the meeting will be largely attended as some matters of importance will be discussed and legislated upon. Church federation and Home Mission work, as well as some other activities of the church, will be debated, and in some things new policies will be adopted.

It is expected that Rev. J. M. Caldwell, D. D., of Wakefield, will be chosen as Moderator of the Synod, as he received the nomination of Niobrara Presbytery. He is probably the oldest active minister in the denomination in Nebraska, and under his administration a beautiful new church was dedicated last year in our neighboring town. Although he has been preaching for over half a century, and is now in his seventy-fifth year there are few ministers who surpass him in extensive pastoral work and in vigorous preaching. As a preacher he is evangelistic and aggressive and he has added many to the membership of the Wakefield Presbyterian church.

Home From Journey

Saturday Fred Luth and William Eliason returned from a trip of six weeks by automobile. They took to the road with the little Metz which Mr. Eliason drives, and were followed by the prediction that the car would not bring them back if they went to the end of their contemplated journey in the Black Hills country of South Dakota, but here they are, car and all. They traveled 1,640 miles, and going, took the famous scenic route, which was more noted for the scenery than roads, and they said that most of the cars that had been deluded into trying this famous route were having trouble caused by almost impassable roads. In the bad lands it was bad roads as well. They also encountered some mountain road in the hills country, and came home over a route not so scenic but better for cars. On the home trip they came by Alliance and Columbus. During the entire trip they averaged 29 1/2 miles for each gallon of gas consumed. This country looks as good as any they saw for a farm country.

Minerva Club Honored

The fame of the Wayne ladies as advocates of equal suffrage seems to have gone out beyond the narrow confines of the home circle, as is evidenced by the following message which was presented to them at their initial meeting of the season Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Fred Berry by the messenger from the Wayne telegraph office. We are not informed as to what action, if any, was taken by the members of the club, for some women can keep a secret.

New York City, Sept. 30, 1913. Minerva Club, Wayne, Nebr.:—Will you join with 20,000 other down-trodden women who want the rights the men have and march to Washington?

Mrs. E. Pankhurst. The members of the club assert that the "lady" has evidently been misinformed as there are no active suffragettes in the club.

The Four Artists Entertain

On Monday evening, The Four Artists appeared at the opera house in an excellent Artist's recital. Owing to the inclemency of the weather, the crowd was not so large as the number merited, but a good sized and appreciative house greeted the Artists and enjoyed the recital.

The second number of the course will be the Military Girls. This number occurs on October 29th. Season tickets for the remaining five numbers may be had at reduced prices. The Senior class of the high school is managing the course and tickets can be obtained from any member of the class.

Shell-Jordan

Wednesday, October 1, 1913, at the county court house, by Judge James Britton, Mr. William H. Shell and Miss Myrtle Jordan, both of Dixon, were married.

FLEGE CASE TO BE TRIED AGAIN

Accused Slayer of Sister Is to Be Arranged For the Third Time.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 27.—The state's motion for rehearing in the William Flege case was overruled by the supreme court and the suit will again be tried in the lower court, making a third trial for the defendant, who was once sentenced to life imprisonment for the killing of his sister on a Dixon county farm. The supreme court reversed the life sentence and Flege was again, tried in Thurston county. His second trial—resulted in a verdict of manslaughter. This also was reversed by the supreme court, and then the state court asked for a rehearing on the ground that the court had erred in stating that the county attorney's assistant was not eligible to assist in the prosecution because of his connection with the legal interests of the young farm hand who was an alleged eye witness to the murder.—Ex.

Social Notes

On last Friday the Central Social circle entertained the Minerva club at the home of Mrs. R. R. Smith. The president, Mrs. John Grier gave an address of welcome and Miss Nellie Baker sang two solos. Mrs. Elder also gave two readings from Riley. After the literary program the remaining hours of the afternoon were spent in playing various games and rolling pumpkins. The hostess then served a delicious two course luncheon and before departing the ladies were each given a pumpkin to take home with them. It was a genuine treat to the town ladies, especially the luncheon which contained all the good things obtainable in the country.

The Rural Home society met September 25th with Mrs. E. M. Laughlin. After the two course dinner and a general social hour the meeting was called to order by Mrs. Frank Spahr, vice president. Roll call was responded to by current events, after which Mrs. J. C. Forbes read an excellent paper on "The Pleasures of Housekeeping." Adjourned to meet with Mrs. Verner Dayton in October.

Miss Alta Stewart was pleasantly surprised Tuesday evening when a number of her young friends responded to an invitation from her mother to come to the Stewart home and assist the young lady in celebrating her 17th birthday. The guests brought numerous tokens of remembrance, and spent a happy evening. A 3-course luncheon was served and a most happy evening came to a close, the young people all wishing Miss Alta many happy birthdays.

Sunday being the 70th birthday of Mrs. Henry Jans, a number of relatives and friends paid her a visit that day in honor of the event. Those from out of town were her son, P. F. Peterson and family of Belden. It was a social occasion that none of those present will soon forget.

Mrs. E. B. Young will entertain the Junior Bible Study Circle Friday night which will be led by Daisy Cooper, the little missionary from Santa Indian Reservation. All the young ladies are invited.

Mrs. Grothe will entertain the ladies Bible Study Circle next Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Wm. Fisher is the leader and a splendid attendance is looked for.

The W. C. T. U. will meet with Miss Charlotte M. White Friday at 3 p. m. A full attendance is desired for the election of officers.

Head of Nebraska Fair Dies

Minden, Nebr., Sept. 27.—I. W. Hawes, president of the Nebraska State Fair Association, died at his home here last evening of Bright's disease. He had been ill for several months, but had recovered sufficiently to take charge of the fair two weeks ago.

Preaching in Wilbur Precinct

On next Sunday afternoon there will be a preaching service at the Wilbur school house, four miles north and one mile west of town. Rev. Alexander Corkey will preach his sermon on "Yielding to God" and Mrs. A. R. Davis will sing.

James Harmon--72

Sunday was the 72nd birthday anniversary of James Harmon, who is one of the court house force where he has presided over the building and grounds for the past 14 years with faithful efficiency. In honor of the event there was a family reunion of those members of the family residing at Wayne and in this vicinity. The children of Mr. and Mrs. Pannabaker, Mrs. Blackmore and children, of Bloomfield, L. C. Walling and family and Jack Liveringhouse and wife of this place made up the happy party. The county officers added a $5 gold piece and a box of choice cigars as tokens of their regard for this old soldier.

It might not be out of place here to add that Jim was born early in life in Chautauqua county, New York, the home of the great chautauqua movement which has been extending over the country for the past 25 years, and near which place the first assembly was held on the shores of the little lake of that name. That part of the Empire state used to produce, in limited quantities, an 8-row corn of the variety commonly known as "squaw corn," but they never glutted the market, and a crop of "70 baskets" once grown by one farmer was the "neighborhood talk," to quote the words of one of the natives when she came west on a visit and saw cribs containing a thousand bushels of real corn, and she was going to tell the truth about it when she got home, but she "knew they would not believe it." But at last they found out that those stony hills would produce grapes better than most any other place, and certainly better and with more profit than any other crop, and there is where we get most of the basket grapes from that come west by train loads every fall.

In those early days buckwheat was a staple crop, and buckwheat cakes were the main winter staple for breakfast, dinner and supper in many families. They grew but little wheat and threshed most of it with a flail or tramped it out with cattle on the barn floor—for they had barns, being a land covered with big timber which had to be disposed of before there was any farming. The logs burned in Chautauqua county in those days would be worth a fortune if they could be had today. The logging bee was one of their amusements. Of maple sugar there was plenty, and groves of hard maple were preserved long after most of the timber had been cleared off and burned. But Mr. Harmon did not always remain amid such surroundings. He came west as did many of the people from that county. He went to serve his country in time of trouble, starting from Dixon county, Illinois, with the 46th Illinois infantry to "put down the rebellion" and he done it, and is still here. He came to Wayne county 43 years ago, and has since been a citizen of this county, and for the past 13 years has resided at Wayne. His friends are many, and of enemies he has none, and may he long live to cheer and advice his children and their children and their children's children.

Worth-Johnson

Wednesday, October 1st, 1913, at the court house, by Judge James Britton, Mr. Harry R. Worth and Miss Esther M. Johnson were united in marriage. Immediately following the ceremony the bride and groom were driven to the railway station and left on the morning train for a short wedding trip.

These two young people are most favorably known in Wayne and in their home neighborhood a few miles northeast of this city. The Democrat wishes them well.

The Cradle

GIESE—Tuesday, September 30, 1913, to George Giese and wife, a son.

JOHNSON—Wednesday, October 1, 1913, to Oscar Johnson and wife, a daughter.

Last Friday evening Sam Davies chaperoned a party of young men to Norfolk and led them in the lodge of Elks at that place—not a Bull Moose camp as has been asserted. The candidates for the degrees were Warren and Art Shulthies, B. F. Strahan and R. L. Will.

Two Bargain Days

A number of the Wayne merchants are planning for two bargain days next week similar to those of last fall, and Wednesday and Thursday, October 8 and 9 are the days set. The Democrat believes in bargain days for a town, and would like to see the event made monthly—believes it would enlarge the circle of trade territory for Wayne and improve business the year round. Our merchants should make Wayne the best place to trade in this corner of Nebraska, and they do that, and then let it be known far and near. Come to Wayne on the bargain days—and then come again.

WHEN MUSIC COMES INTO THE HOME

THE sunshine of happiness and restful comfort enters with it. The entire family feels its inspiring influence. The home becomes more attractive, not only to the children, but to their associates and your friends.

A piano lends refinement to your environments. Its music lifts you to higher ideals. There is gladness and song to supersede a more secluded and lonely existence. It means life—real living.

We would like to talk the piano proposition over with you—tell you about the pianos we sell, the prices and the attractive terms we are willing to make for payments.

The Stanton-Wayne Game

The high school foot ball team went to Stanton last Saturday and played a game with the boys from that high school, defeating them by 12-0.

The Stanton team outweighed the Wayne boys but were not fast and strong enough to stop the Wayne boys' aggressive and consistent playing. It was a hard game from start to finish and no scoring was done the first half, though the Wayne team gained the more ground and showed a little better form. The third quarter Wayne went in strong and soon had Stanton on their eight yard line when Miner, the right half, carried the ball over for a touch down. Goal was missed, score 6 to 0. In the final quarter, Lightfoot carried the ball over for another touchdown. Score 12 to 0.

The Wayne team showed up fine. Every man played his position like a veteran. Saturday the team plays at Norfolk and another victory is anticipated. W. H. Hoguewood, a very loyal supporter and enthusiast, accompanied the team to Stanton. Following was Wayne's lineup: Center, Main; R. G. Moran; R. T. Hoguewood; R. E. Mildner; L. G. Leurs; L. T. Martin; L. E. Powers; Quarter, Lightfoot; R. H. Miner; L. H. Sears, (Captain); F. B. Mun-singer.

Schaller-Moats

Last Thursday afternoon, September 25, 1913, at the Baptist parsonage, Mr. William Schaller and Miss Maggie Moats, both of Bloomfield, were joined in marriage by the pastor of the Baptist church, Rev. B. P. Richardson. The couple were accompanied by Charles Schaller and Miss Clara Pridemore. After a few days visit in other parts of the state the young couple will return to make their home near Bloomfield.

Twenty-Four Hour Light Service

Beginning Monday the light and power plant will commence a 24-hour service. This will be quite an accommodation to those of us who must of necessity get out in the morning these days before the day has made it light enough to see. Some people have been wishing for a morning light the past month.

Common Sense

When we suggested the question, "What is the matter with the world?" and asked for the remedy, we did not anticipate the flood of letters we have received. Many of the replies are from our ecclesiastical friends, some of whom find the cause and remedy in the lamentations and prophecies of the old prophets. It will be remembered that we left a world's convention in session, ready to legislate and make treaties and take such action as would end poverty and sin. We expected our contributors to tell us what action this convention should take. One says, "We suggest the induction of the Messianic Kingdom." But how should the convention induct it? By a simple resolution? We were not thinking of the "fall of Adam," "the Lamb's wife," "the blood of the Lamb," or the prophecies of old. That convention is not concerned about the lamentations of Jeremiah or the prophecies of Isaiah. It is composed of men and women of flesh and blood who are dealing with present-day affairs. They do not expect, nor will they experience miracles. This is not a convention that is concerned about heavenly, but earthly affairs. The delegates are not arranging to inhabit mansions in the sky, but to make better their habitation on earth. One brother declares the misery of earth is "the course of divine justice." Neither human nor divine justice is a curse. We should get away from the thought that an Almighty Being is continually cursing and damning somebody. Every pain suffered by humanity is the result of the violation of some natural law. Another brother says, "The entire work of the next or millennial age will consist in reordering and making glorious God's footstool." But how is man to do this? Not alone by prayer and worship and church-building. We must get down to real, every-day affairs—to the affairs of bread and meat, of clothing, of homes. People are hungry; all the prayers of all the saints will not bring them manna. People are homeless; they may praise God from morn till night, yet praise will not build them homes. People are sinful; a church built in every community will not eradicate sin. Man has three essential attributes—animal, intellectual, spiritual. He is first an animal, and his animal needs must first be met. Then his intellect must be cultivated—so both the animal and intellectual attributes must be attended to before he is in condition to even understand his spiritual nature. Take care of the pennies and the dollars will take care of themselves. Feed, clothe and house a man, then educate him, and his spiritual nature will take care of itself. Man's first duty to himself and his fellowmen, therefore, relates to the things that sustain life—food, shelter, clothing. His second duty relates to education. If all the preachers in all the world would but understand this! The preachers should teach that God glorifies man; that instead of spending our time in glorifying Him who needs no glorification, we should follow Jesus and feed, clothe and help the poor.

Nor must we depend on alms-giving for food for the hungry and clothing for the poor. We must make alms-giving unnecessary. Many who slich from the people try to square their conduct by giving back of their sliching. But we are told to "take heed that ye do not give your alms before men, to be seen by them," and not sound a trumpet when giving alms. Yet our country is dotted with granite piles in the shape of libraries, representing the "charity" of one individual, and as a condition precedent to the gift the name of the donor must be cut in the granite, to be seen of men. The more you give to some people the more they expect, and the less they help themselves. Much better than to give is to teach a man how to encourage him, to give him hope and courage and a better estimate of himself, and to make his environments such as will enable him to keep the values and profits he creates for his own use.

It is said, "as the twig is bent the tree inclines." Rather it is as the twig is planted, not bent. Every child has the right to be born right. The physical and mental characteristics of children are materially effected by the physical and mental characteristics of their parents. People who are diseased, physically, mentally or morally, should not be allowed to propagate. Given a child sound in mind and body, it must have decent and sanitary housing and wholesome food. Then follows its education. Decent and sanitary housing, wholesome food and education should all be compulsory. If the parents cannot provide all these, society should. The old university idea of education must be abolished. Of all the strongholds of conservatism and stand-patism the university is perhaps the most impregnable. Tradition here is as hard as iron. Of all aristocracies the aristocracy of the intellect is the toughest. The "scholar" class is secure and serene in its exclusiveness. The university is for the exceptional man, the kind that runs to Greek and Latin and mathematics. Our school instructors are university men and it will be difficult to get our schools into the broad, free, intelligent program of training for life and efficiency, in any calling or trade, and not for the narrow excellency of "scholarship." With the preachers teaching the children to prepare for a life to come, and the educators training them for "scholarship," there is little time to prepare them for this life of today.

The proper care and education of our children, of every child, is the only remedy for the wrongs that curse the world. An enthusiastic friend writes us that the land question is the greatest question with which we must deal. It is, indeed a grave question, and has perhaps afforded opportunity for more crimes against humanity than all other things save one—and that one thing is society's crime against the children—the crime of neglect. Children are born into the world utterly helpless, and many of them are like a barque at midnight, left alone to drift upon a moonless sea. We boast of vested rights, and yet if a child is born out of wedlock we deny it the vested right of a name and the vested right of an even chance in life with other children. He is damned at the outset, handicapped in the race for life, an out-cast, a bastard—this small, blinking, human mite, ready to love and be loved. Of all the words used by the inhabitants of earth by the wheels and cogs of law, by the grinding millstones of prejudice, the word "illegitimate," applied to a helpless babe, is most amazing in its sinister injustice.

The children of drunken, or poverty-stricken parents, must be cared for by society. Expensive? The expense of starting children right would be as nothing compared to the expense of maintaining our police courts, jails and penitentiaries through which a half million of our people pass every year. There are twenty-five million "children" of school age in the United States. Six million of them never see the inside of a school room. Ninety-three out of every hundred never get beyond the elementary grades. The average daily attendance is but fourteen million. But seven out of each hundred ever reach high school, and but five of each hundred reach college. There are five and one-half million people in the United States who cannot read or write. We are not only committing the crime of permitting these millions of children to arrive at maturity with little or no education, but we are responsible for the environments that surround them. Think of the effect on society of these millions of ignorant, inefficient men and women! They are unfit for useful, intelligent citizenship; they have no trade, no means with which to engage in business, and they drift to the slums. They constitute the great army that keeps the saloon factory going. The saloon must have its toll of 2,000,000 souls from each generation. One family out of every five must contribute a boy or girl in order to keep up the supply.

From this great army of illiterate, school-less children the saloons get their customers and the factories their wage-workers. One million of these children, between the ages of eight and eighteen are today working from ten to fourteen hours a day in our sweatshops for from two to six dollars a week. Centuries ago from Mount Sinai was thundered the prohibition, "Thou shalt not steal," and the things which a man was prohibited from stealing were not limited to property. We believe that the man who steals the time of a child, and the child's opportunity for an education, and his chance to grow to full stature physically, mentally and morally, is a worse criminal than the man who steals your purse. O, the responsibility of thwarting, or turning aside a human soul in its desires to reach its fairest goal! O, the sin of society in permitting conditions and environments wherein human beings lose themselves along the way of life without achievement, or distinction, and without the exultation of success! The soul of every individual must have an awakening if it is to expand. We not only deny these lost souls the opportunity of an awakening, but we surround them with environments from which there is no escape, and they become utterly lost. The greatest tragedy that can befall a human being, insanity—lack of power to think logically and coherently. The second greatest tragedy that can befall an individual is stupidity—lack of power to form a proper concept of the relations of man to man, of man to society and of the responsibilities and duties of life. It is not only our five and one-half million people who are unable to read and write who are stupid; there are millions of others whose minds are blank to everything save that which concerns their own narrow, poverty-stricken, sin-cursed circle. There are millions of others who through ignorance suffer disease of the flesh and who transmit it to their progeny. Ignorance is the sum of all sin, all poverty, all disease—ignorance of our economic and industrial systems. The Remedy? Education. "Know the truth and the truth shall make you free." But is it possible to educate the masses of adults? Certainly not. There are thousand, aye, millions of sin-cursed men and women who would refuse an education if offered them free; there are millions of others whose mental condition is such as to preclude an education. This being true the things that are the matter with the world will hardly be rectified during this generation. Nor will they be rectified during the next thousand generations if men and women and children are left to act in their individual capacities. The government, the state—in short, organized society, must reform and educate the world.

Education must be free and compulsory. Our entire educational system should be re-organized. Something besides the rule of three must be taught. The main object of education today is to make so-called "scholars," and to equip our boys to make money. The main object of education in the future will be to fit them for service—to serve others and the community rather than themselves. You may teach a boy everything there is to know in the high school and college curriculums of today, and you haven't hepled him to eradicate selfishness. In fact, his studies tend to foster selfishness, egotism and the desire to go into the world and beat his fellows. The youth must be taught that there is plenty of room for him to expand and reach his limits without crowding others; that the interests of the community are above the interests of the individual; that a life wholly spent in accumulating dollars is badly spent; that the best possible way to spend a life is in efforts to make conditions such that every man can earn and keep the comforts of life. Greed and graft must be eliminated from commercialism. Men should be educated to the belief that it is sinful to extort profits earned by others. If it is true that lack of education is the curse of the world, then we must revise our understanding of the meaning of the word "education." Does it simply mean knowledge of mathematics, language, science, etc.? Then some of the best educated are the most dangerous. The best educated man is the one who has the best knowledge of the things that relate to human happiness. It is the man who knows how to make conditions of life for the masses easier, rather than the man who thoroughly understands geometry and calculus. Our common schools should teach the vocations and trades and domestic science. The self-prompted creative activity of a child should not be destroyed by a regular stock curriculum. The initiative of every child should be considered. The children should be dealt with as individuals and not as a group. If a boy wants to become a carpenter, he should not be forced through a school curriculum alleged to be sufficient to equip anybody and everybody for life, and then forced to an apprenticeship to learn his trade. He should be taught his trade in school, along with mathematics, the languages and other branches. Knowledge of the character of the soil is of more importance to a boy in a farming community than ancient history, yet study of the soil has never been given a moment's time in any country school. Domestic science, the science of how to make and keep beautiful a home, ought to be of as much concern to our girls as Latin and Greek, but if a girl desires to study science she must take a special course at some college. She cannot have it in the common school. What is our duty as fraternalists? What is your Society doing for the children of your members? What are we doing, we men and women who represent organized fraternalism, embracing six million homes and at least twice that many children, what are we doing for our children, collectively? Absolutely nothing save to leave them a few dollars on the death of their parents. With our great power and influence, with our splendid equipment, we could, if we would, be able in a few years to say truthfully that there is not a child of a frater in all the land who does not have a good home and an opportunity for an education.

"Cheap" Tailoring (?) and "Havana" Cigars (?)

Whose name Tailor?

Did you ever notice the large box of cigars which sets on the case in the average cigar store—the one labelled "Havana Smokers" or some similar name?

You asked the salesman if they were "real, sure enough Havana" cigars. They looked so inviting that they actually resembled the 10-cent straight variety. But he, being an honest man, told you what?

Exactly This:

"Well, yes, in this respect. They are 'the cuttings' left over from the 10-cent goods. It is short-filler of course and is a fair 'nickel' cigar. No, it doesn't compare with our long leaf Havana pure tobacco cigars at 10 cents."

Don't Buy "Short-Filler" Tailoring

It is "pure wool" in this respect: It contains the "short-cuttings"—the "shoddy" and left-overs which the better grade of tailors like Ed. V. Price & Co. of Chicago refuse. You can't get long leaf Havana nor superior long wool fibre for "short-filler" prices. Tailoring of this class doesn't even represent "fairly good" clothes. Yes, certain over-anxious dealers offer you "$25 and $30 tailoring for $15." The cigar dealer tells you 5c won't buy a 10c value. See the difference? Come in and let me prove it—ANYTIME!!

Business men are writing far better advertisements now than they did a few years ago, and better than even a year ago. Advertising costs money, and the man who will say something about what he has to sell or wants to buy in his advertisements will get results. The advertiser who quotes prices tells something every purchaser wishes to know—even if the price appears to be high. It is no uncommon thing to have people say to us, "why don't they quote a price?"

Henry Linke returned home Saturday evening from a sojourn of about six weeks, most of which time was spent in California. He went out through Utah and stopped at Salt Lake City and other places of interest then to California, stopping at San Francisco and then going south he spent some time in southern California and returned home through Arizona and New Mexico. Some parts and some things about California he likes, Missouri and Iowa, and if the farmers here do not take advantage of the opportunity to save for seed all of the best of their crop they do themselves and those who will need seed an injustice.

On another page under the head of "Comments" we reproduce a timely article from the pen of H. C. Evans, editor of the Yoeman Shield. The October number of the Shield is "Children's Number," and Brother Evans in addition to making it a paper full of interest to the young folks puts up a plea for their benefit which should be read and heeded by every preacher, teacher and parent in the land. He always calls a spade a spade, and he does not mince words in dealing with this vital question of the care and education of the children. Read it and criticize it—that will suit the author.

When we suggested the question, "What is the matter with the world?" and asked for the remedy, we did not anticipate the flood of letters we have received. Many of the replies are from our ecclesiastical friends, some of whom find the cause and remedy in the lamentations and prophecies of the old prophets. It will be remembered that we left a world's convention in session, ready to legislate and make treaties and take such action as would end poverty and sin. We expected our contributors to tell us what action this convention should take. One says, "We suggest the induction of the Messianic Kingdom." But how should the convention induct it? By a simple resolution? We were not thinking of the "fall of Adam," "the Lamb's wife," "the blood of the Lamb," or the prophecies of old. That convention is not concerned about the lamentations of Jeremiah or the prophecies of Isaiah. It is composed of men and women of flesh and blood who are dealing with present-day affairs. They do not expect, nor will they experience miracles. This is not a convention that is concerned about heavenly, but earthly affairs. The delegates are not arranging to inhabit mansions in the sky, but to make better their habitation on earth. One brother declares the misery of earth is "the course of divine justice." Neither human nor divine justice is a curse. We should get away from the thought that an Almighty Being is continually cursing and damning somebody. Every pain suffered by humanity is the result of the violation of some natural law. Another brother says, "The entire work of the next or millennial age will consist in reordering and making glorious God's footstool." But how is man to do this? Not alone by prayer and worship and church-building. We must get down to real, every-day affairs—to the affairs of bread and meat, of clothing, of homes. People are hungry; all the prayers of all the saints will not bring them manna. People are homeless; they may praise God from morn till night, yet praise will not build them homes. People are sinful; a church built in every community will not eradicate sin. Man has three essential attributes—animal, intellectual, spiritual. He is first an animal, and his animal needs must first be met. Then his intellect must be cultivated—so both the animal and intellectual attributes must be attended to before he is in condition to even understand his spiritual nature. Take care of the pennies and the dollars will take care of themselves. Feed, clothe and house a man, then educate him, and his spiritual nature will take care of itself. Man's first duty to himself and his fellowmen, therefore, relates to the things that sustain life—food, shelter, clothing. His second duty relates to education. If all the preachers in all the world would but understand this! The preachers should teach that God glorifies man; that instead of spending our time in glorifying Him who needs no glorification, we should follow Jesus and feed, clothe and help the poor.

Education should all be compulsory. If the parents cannot provide all these, society should. The old university idea of education must be abolished. Of all the strongholds of conservatism and stand-patism the university is perhaps the most impregnable. Tradition here is as hard as iron. Of all aristocracies the aristocracy of the intellect is the toughest. The "scholar" class is secure and serene in its exclusiveness. The university is for the exceptional man, the kind that runs to Greek and Latin and mathematics. Our school instructors are university men and it will be difficult to get our schools into the broad, free, intelligent program of training for life and efficiency, in any calling or trade, and not for the narrow excellency of "scholarship." With the preachers teaching the children to prepare for a life to come, and the educators training them for "scholarship," there is little time to prepare them for this life of today.

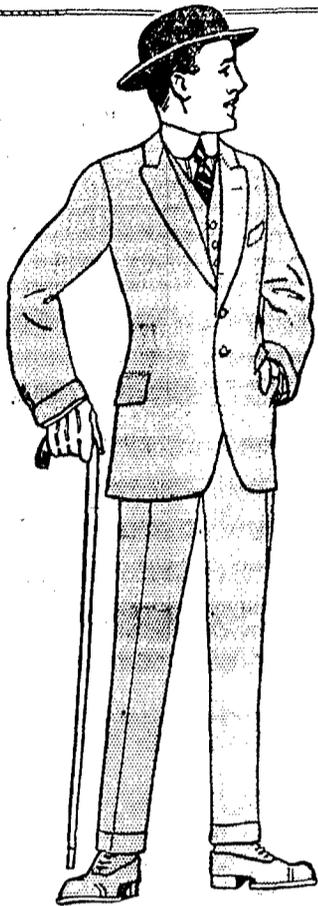

The proper care and education of our children, of every child, is the only remedy for the wrongs that curse the world. An enthusiastic friend writes us that the land question is the greatest question with which we must deal. It is, indeed a grave question, and has perhaps afforded opportunity for more crimes against humanity than all other things save one—and that one thing is society's crime against the children—the crime of neglect. Children are born into the world utterly helpless, and many of them are like a barque at midnight, left alone to drift upon a moonless sea. We boast of vested rights, and yet if a child is born out of wedlock we deny it the vested right of a name and the vested right of an even chance in life with other children. He is damned at the outset, handicapped in the race for life, an outcast, a bastard—this small, blinking, human mite, ready to love and be loved. Of all the words used by the inhabitants of earth by the wheels and cogs of law, by the grinding millstones of prejudice, the word "illegitimate," applied to a helpless babe, is most amazing in its sinister injustice.

The children of drunken, or poverty-stricken parents, must be cared for by society. Expensive? The expense of starting children right would be as nothing compared to the expense of maintaining our police courts, jails and penitentiaries through which a half million of our people pass every year. There are twenty-five million children of school age in the United States. Six million of them never see the inside of a school room. Ninety-three out of every hundred never get beyond the elementary grades. The average daily attendance is but fourteen million. But seven out of each hundred ever reach high school, and but five of each hundred reach college. There are five and one-half million people in the United States who cannot read or write. We are not only committing the crime of permitting these millions of children to arrive at maturity with little or no education but we are responsible for the environments that surround them. Think of the effect on society of these millions of ignorant, inefficient men and women! They are unfit for useful, intelligent citizenship; they have no trade, no means with which to engage in business, and they drift to the slums. They constitute the great army that keeps the saloon factory going. The saloon must have its toll of 2,000,000 souls from each generation. One family out of every five must contribute a boy or girl in order to keep up the supply.

From this great army of illiterate, school-less children the saloons get their customers and the factories their wage-workers. One million of these children, between the ages of eight and eighteen are today working from ten to fourteen hours a day in our sweatshops for from two to six dollars a week. Centuries ago from Mount Sinai was thundered the prohibition, "Thou shalt not steal," and the things which a man was prohibited from stealing were not limited to property. We believe that the man who steals the time of a child, and the child's opportunity for an education, and his chance to grow to full stature physically, mentally and morally, is a worse criminal than the man who steals your purse. O, the responsibility of thwarting, or turning aside a human soul in its desires to reach its fairest goal! O, the sin of society in permitting conditions and environments wherein human beings lose themselves along the way of life without achievement, or distinction, and without the exultation of success! The soul of every individual must have an awakening if it is to expand. We not only deny these lost souls the opportunity of an awakening, but we surround them with environments from which there is no escape, and they become utterly lost. The greatest tragedy that can befall a human being, insanity—lack of power to think logically and coherently. The second greatest tragedy that can befall an individual is stupidity—lack of power to form a proper concept of the relations of man to man, of man to society and of the responsibilities and duties of life. It is not only our five and one-half million people who are unable to read and write who are stupid; there are millions of others whose minds are blank to everything save that which concerns their own narrow, poverty-stricken, sin-cursed circle. There are millions of others who through ignorance suffer disease of the flesh and who transmit it to their progeny. Ignorance is the sum of all sin, all poverty, all disease—ignorance of our economic and industrial systems. The Remedy? Education. "Know the truth and the truth shall make you free." But is it possible to educate the masses of adults? Certainly not. There are thousand, aye, millions of sin-cursed men and women who would refuse an education if offered them free; there are millions of others whose mental condition is such as to preclude an education. This being true the things that are the matter with the world will hardly be rectified during this generation. Nor will they be rectified during the next thousand generations if men and women and children are left to act in their individual capacities. The government, the state—in short, organized society, must reform and educate the world.

Education must be free and compulsory. Our entire educational system should be re-organized. Something besides the rule of three must be taught. The main object of education today is to make so-called "scholars," and to equip our boys to make money. The main object of education in the future will be to fit them for service—to serve others and the community rather than themselves. You may teach a boy everything there is to know in the high school and college curriculums of today, and you haven't helped him to eradicate selfishness. In fact, his studies tend to foster selfishness, egotism and the desire to go into the world and beat his fellows. The youth must be taught that there is plenty of room for him to expand and reach his limits without crowding others; that the interests of the community are above the interests of the individual; that a life wholly spent in accumulating dollars is badly spent; that the best possible way to spend a life is in efforts to make conditions such that every man can earn and keep the comforts of life. Greed and graft must be eliminated from commercialism. Men should be educated to the belief that it is sinful to extort profits earned by others. If it is true that lack of education is the curse of the world, then we must revise our understanding of the meaning of the word "education." Does it simply mean knowledge of mathe-

tics, language, science, etc.? Then some of the best educated are the most dangerous. The best educated man is the one who has the best knowledge of the things that relate to human happiness. It is the man who knows how to make conditions of life for the masses easier, rather than the man who thoroughly understands geometry and calculus. Our common schools should teach the vocations and trades and domestic science. The self-prompted creative activity of a child should not be destroyed by a regular stock curriculum. The initiative of every child should be considered. The children should be dealt with as individuals and not as a group. If a boy wants to become a carpenter, he should not be forced through a school curriculum alleged to be sufficient to equip anybody and everybody for life, and then forced to an apprenticeship to learn his trade. He should be taught his trade in school, along with mathematics, the languages and other branches. Knowledge of the character of the soil is of more importance to a boy in a farming community than ancient history, yet study of the soil has never been given a moment's time in any country school. Domestic science, the science of how to make and keep beautiful a home, ought to be of as much concern to our girls as Latin and Greek, but if a girl desires to study science she must take a special course at some college. She cannot have it in the common school.

Among The Churches of Wayne

Methodist Church

Rev. C. L. Myers, Pastor

I am a friend of the public schools even if I did forget to announce the first number on the lecture course.

The usual mid-week prayer meeting will be held as in the past, but a half hour earlier.

The W. C. T. U. will meet with Miss White Friday afternoon.

Official Board meeting Monday evening at the usual time and place.

Each Sunday morning a class meeting will be conducted by the appointed leader and everybody is urged to attend and enroll as a member.

All evening services are to begin half hour earlier, beginning with October.

The latch string of the parsonage always hangs out. Try it.

If the pastor don't remember your name just remind him.

Installation of the steam plant in church has begun.

Presbyterian Church

Rev. Alexander Corkey, Pastor.

"The Greatest Thing in the World" will be the subject of the sermon at the Presbyterian church next Sabbath morning. The service begins at 10:30. In the evening the subject will be "Present Day Home Life." As a prelude to the evening sermon the pastor will elaborate somewhat on his remarks which he made last Sunday evening in regard to Present Day Idolatry, answering a criticism which was made on part of the sermon.

The Young People's meeting begins at 7 o'clock and the evening service at 7:30.

The Sunday school meets at 12 o'clock every Sunday, immediately following the morning service. A Westminister Guild class of young ladies has been organized which will take up the study of Representative Women in the Bible. The pastor is teaching the class.

The Young Men's Class, under the leadership of Mr. A. R. Davis, has been reorganized for its winter work. The course of study will be an adaption of the Uniform Lessons.

At the morning service last Sunday the Forward Movements in the national church of America were discussed. The Laymen's Movement was described and its effects eulogized and the Social Service Movement was explained and its philosophy also described. The leading movement was declared to be the Evangelistic movement which is sweeping over the land like a tidal wave. Its force at present is most felt in the east in the old-fashioned American communities, but it is even awakening new religious life amongst the foreigners, and promises to become the most important religious upheaval ever known in this country.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church

(Rev. Blessing, Pastor.)

The subject of the sermon next Sunday morning will be "A Perplexing Question Answered." Our time is taken up each day with many perplexing questions of business or trade. But to some the most perplexing question is salvation. This question caused Thomas to be somewhat of a doubter and it has caused many more since that time to entertain doubtful thoughts. But why should it? Jesus has given us inevitable proof, that man must and can be saved. But more than this He has pointed out to us the way.

Our evening services will begin this Sunday evening. It has been some time since we have had evening services, but we hope not to be disappointed in the attendance. The morning services have been well attended, so let us begin the evening services in the same way. Evening services will be at half past seven and the subject will be "The Rejected Pharisee".

Sunday school at 10 o'clock. We are more than pleased to note the increasing interest and attendance in Sunday school, yet there is much to accomplish. The importance of the Sunday school has not been impressed upon many people, still there are a great many who have come to realize what a great influence for good it has.

Catechetical classes will be organized the last of next month. We will be glad to welcome any who wish to join these classes.

Choir rehearsal next Friday night at 8 o'clock. All of the members are requested to be present.

The Ladies Aid society met at the home of Mrs. Lund last Thursday afternoon. A most enjoyable time was spent. At the meeting the ladies extended an invitation to the Ladies Aid society of St. Lukes Lutheran church at Emerson, Nebraska, to be present at their next meeting, October 16. The invitation was accepted. A most enjoyable time is expected.

Baptist Church

Rev. B. P. Richardson, Pastor

In spite of the inclement weather last week, our annual fellowship gathering on Wednesday evening, was a happy occasion. A great number of people were kept at home because of the rain. A delightful spirit prevailed throughout the evening. The various reports were most encouraging. Every department of the church has done good work during the past twelve months. We were very sorry that every member could not have heard these various reports. On Friday evening two of our faithful teachers in the Sunday school, Misses Rue Rickabaugh and Ethel Huff, gave a social for their classes in the church parlors. It was a happy hour for every one.

Next Sunday morning will be our communion service. We are always glad when this first Sunday service comes. It has become one of the most beneficial services of the church. The subject of the pastor's address will be "The Benefits of Worship."

At the missionary meeting last week Mrs. Sears was elected treasurer and Mrs. C. M. Christensen was elected secretary. Mrs. M. Norton is the splendid president of the society.

We are glad that some of our members have decided to go to Lincoln to attend the state convention. Think over the matter seriously, it will mean much to you.

Next Sunday evening the young people's session will be led by Miss Laura Conover. It will be our consecration meeting. The subject is "Christian Co-operation."

At the evening hour the pastor will preach a short sermon, following a good song service by the large choir.

Next Sunday we change our time of meeting. Young people's meeting will be held from 6:30 to 7:30 p. m., and preaching from 7:30 to 8:30 p. m.

Our mid-week prayer meetings will also be held at 7:30 p. m. Our subject next week will be "The Individual and the Denomination."

This is the time for getting your envelopes for the coming year. The only way to make this the best year is to start right. Ask for envelopes next Sunday. There is a package for you.

A SIGHT OF A LIFETIME and one that is worth coming miles to view. Every citizen of Wayne and vicinity should see this wonderful piece of workmanship. It's a marvel of ingenuity and artistic skill. It exhibits the front elevation of the Capitol—the mammoth Arch of Triumph with its ornamental columns of Liberty and Chariot of Progress. The great hall flanked with smaller halls running through the entire building is shown with marked exactness as to its distinctive features and adornment. This masterpiece is executed in one of our largest show windows and with one purpose in view, to make you acquainted with ROYAL CUTICLE SOAP.

For a 25c Cake of ROYAL CUTICLE SOAP, or 3 cakes for 25c. During this sale only.

The Greatest Soap Sale Ever Held in Wayne

Our everlasting efforts to further the interests of the people of Wayne and vicinity have won for our store much deserved popularity.

Instead of distributing small free samples to each family, the manufacturer allows us, during this event, to sell one 25c cake for 10c and three cakes for 25c, and not more than six cakes to one person. No Dealers Supplied.

In order to thoroughly introduce their Medicated Royal Cuticle Doctor Soap, the Royal Soap Company has selected, and appointed the HIGHEST CLASS AND MOST DEPENDABLE STORE in each city, through which to offer the greatest soap bargain ever offered in America, and incidentally make one of the most unique and picturesque displays ever shown.

In selecting their representatives for Wayne they naturally first thought of this reliable store and arranged for this display and appointed us sale agents for this city and vicinity.

This soap is famous elsewhere, but has never before been sold in Wayne under its present name, although a soap made from the same formula is sold everywhere under another trademark at 25c a cake.

The Royal Cuticle Soap is the cleanest, purest, softest and most soothing you could put on your hands and face. You should get a half dozen cakes at this introductory price which we will make for a short time while the exhibit is in our window. This price is positively the lowest ever named for such a high grade of toilet soap.

Bert Atkinson was down from Carroll Saturday, coming this far with his brother, J. G. Atkinson and family of Bertrand who had been visiting him. It was the first visit of the brother to this part of the "footstool" and he admits that it looks better to him than his home locality. Thinks it a bit hilly here, but the top of the hills here grow good crops as well as the valleys, so does not see much loss in being able to farm both sides of the land.

Preachers, teachers, parents and pupils should read the article headed "Comments" elsewhere in this paper. You may not agree with all of the findings, but you will find food for serious thought.

The Methodists at Randolph are seeking a business in a legitimate way. Last week they had a 25-inch advertisement of a social in the local papers. The social was a unique affair and they called it a "Soek Social".

John Frei formerly of Pierce, but later a business man at Foster, lost his life in an auto accident last week, while returning home from the Norfolk races. They ran into a buggy while close to Norfolk and both vehicles were wrecked.

A business man who called on the Democrat last week referred to the now almost defunct Payne-Aldrich tariff law as a "prohibitive tariff", because it prohibited the importation of so many things which the people must have to live.

A typhoid fever district has developed north of the Crystal Lake distillery at South Sioux City. The water has been sent in for examination and in the meantime all water used in that district is being boiled to prevent a further spread of the disease.

Jos. Beard has sold his farm of 80 acres just east of Wayne to a Mr. Ruth from near Wakefield, who is to take possession in the spring. The price was $165 per acre. We hope that Mr. Beard buys a larger farm near Wayne, for we understand that his reason for selling was that he wants more land.

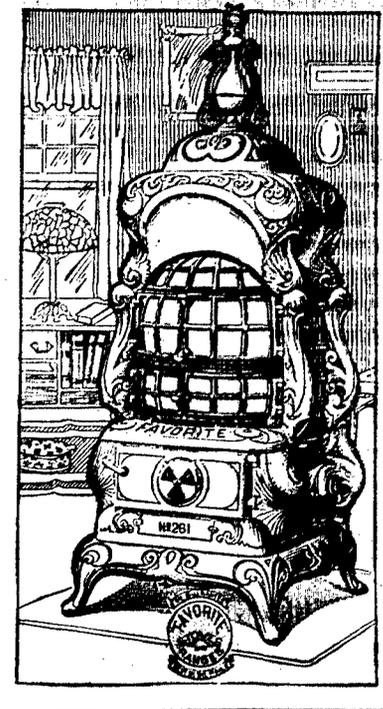

E. Weber and L. R. Lathrop returned Monday evening from Dunning, Nebr., where they had been visiting at the home of Mr. Weber's brother—who has a homestead there—and incidentally doing some hunting. San Francisco capitalists want to dam up the waters of Hetch Hetchey valley, and that would destroy one half of the Yosemite National park and many people say no. If ever this dam is made, it should be the people, for the people and not for any bunch of capitalists. Such leeches have appropriated too many of the people's dam sites already.

In this school they teach the pupils domestic science, having lessons in sewing, cooking and housekeeping for the girls. For the boys we suppose they have a system of manual training, although the lady did not say so.

Uncle Joe Cannon is going to "run" for congress again. Let's see—is Mulhall to help him win out this time?

Judge A. A. Welch is being named as the republican nominee for congress in this district—but it is possible that this mention was made more in the interest of some one who wants to try on the judicial shoes than one who really cares to have the judge able to write M. C. after his name.

Willis E. Reed is mentioned as a possible candidate for attorney general. It is possible that Mr. Reed is not really a candidate for all of the places which the republican papers pick out and name him for. Be that as it may, Mr. Reed has long been a democratic worker and has earned the right to be a candidate, and if nominated and elected the Democrat believes he would perform well his official duties.

The Emerson Enterprise is responsible for the statement that the Federal game law which would protect ducks from the hunter at this season of the year is not yet in force, having never received the approval of the president. This may be true—and it may not as to the law being effective. The Wilson tariff law, passed when Cleveland was president, never received his approval or signature, yet it became a law bad as it was and continued to be the law of the land until the republicans enacted a worse one. And that held the trusts secure in their power to rob the people until the present Payne-Aldrich law came to give them more power. But there is prospect of a tariff law which reduces coming this week. Let it come.

Citizens of Cedar county are to be congratulated upon the result of the court decision handed in by Judge Graves last week ousting C. F. Furley from the office of commissioner and seating Ed Carroll who was elected last fall by a safe majority. Mr. Furley refused to vacate his office when his term was up, and has continued to draw pay for his illegal service and it would be but right and proper for that sum to be returned to the county. The Furley attorneys gave notice of appeal but Judge Graves ruled that his decision must stand until reversed and that Carroll, not Furley, shall serve during the intervening time—and that ruling will doubtless end the appeal. The fact that Mr. Furley entered the contest for re-election last fall should be evidence that he conceded that a new term would begin, and when the people said they wanted another man there should have been no appeal. The will of the people legally expressed must rule.

Adolph Kieper and wife returned Saturday evening from a two month's sojourn in Europe where they visited the "Vateland."

A great many from this part of the state are visiting Omaha this week to participate in the Ak-Sar-Ben festivities. Today is German day, and a number of our citizens of that nationality are there enjoying the day with many other Germans from this and other states.

B. E. Dewey, the barber, left Wayne some time Tuesday night for parts unknown to Wayne people, so far as we can learn—and those who may know why he went are not talking. It is said that he left a note saying that he did not expect to return. He has been conducting a barber business here for several years, and has a wife and several children here.

Omaha Wednesday morning by word that their little son who went to the hospital there for treatment was not so well. It is hoped that the little fellow will be restored to health.

D. A. Jones left Wednesday evening for Hay Springs where he has waiting for him 12 cars of feeders which he recently bought to feed this winter on his Wayne county farms. He says he bought a bunch of good blacks and white-faces. He reports that he will have a very fair corn crop this year.

According to latest reports the typhoid patients in the Walker and Clasen families are doing very nicely, and prospects look far better than a week ago. There has been a generous response from the people to give them assistance in the way of supplies—for when an entire family is sick at one time and is needed by the best.

Last Friday Mrs. Yaryan of Carroll went to Omaha to accompany her daughter, Mrs. Smith, home and returned with her Saturday.
Mrs. Smith is regaining her strength, but she is paralyzed below the wound made by the bullet when she was shot about two months ago.

Mrs. Wendel Baker sent a barrel of apples from Neligh where they have a farm, and Mr. Baker brought in a half dozen of them to this office which are calculated to convince anyone that apples can be grown in northern Nebraska. Mr.
Baker did not know the variety,
but they are large, red and fine flavor and a good cooking apple, but not a keeper. Judge Britton says to name them Alfalfa Reds.

T. Y. Hayes and wife of Colome, S. D., are here visiting at the home of E. Q. Sala and wife, the lady's mother and with other relatives and friends, for this place was once their home. Mr. Hayes left here a sample of the corn grown by Elmer Sala on his Tripp county claim which shows that they will not starve there this winter.
Mr. Sala estimates his corn crop at 30 bushels per acre, and the specimen shown indicates good corn.

Mrs. Ed A. Johnson returned Wednesday morning from a visit of about six weeks in the west.
She spent a part of the time in Yellowstone park and visited many other places of interest. She visited the E. Cunningham home at Ashton, Idaho, and upon the return trip was accompanied as far as Omaha by Mrs. Cunningham, who went from that city to Des Moines to accompany her mother from that place to her home and they will soon be here.

Beginning today at the Hiscox hardware store and continuing for a week, there is being held daily an "Eternal Range" demonstration —the merits of the range being demonstrated and biscuits and coffee served to those who call.
The feed is but a part of the show,
for the man in charge will show stove points that have real merit—and the one who buys this week
gets a fine line of aluminum ware extra. There will be a social crowd there all of the time.

There is complaint to the council by some of the churches and the college people of the young men or big boys who have been loitering about the churches during the evening services and annoying the young ladies with too much attention as they come from the church after service. There should be an example made in such cases and the arrest and a stiff fine of a few with due publicity of their names will tend to let their parents know what they are up to quicker than any other way. If the ladies annoyed would resent it with a club right at the time and place, it might not be very ladylike, but quite effective.

A proclamation has been issued opening for settlers 300,000 acres of land in Grant and McPherson counties in this state. The government appears to be unable to get away from the lottery plan of disposing of these lands—perhaps no one would go and take them were it not that there is a chance of getting left in the drawing so that they will not have to take them. Registration will begin October 13, 1913, and continue 13 days, and if that does not hoodoo the game what will? These lands were once set apart as timber reserve, and are now open to entry.
They come under the Kinkaid act and it will be cut into section blocks, as we understand.

Bert McClary now has his new store about ready for the public—in fact he has been selling some goods while unpacking new goods, which work he began a week ago.
Mr. McClary came to Wayne with an experience of more than twenty years of successful merchandising to his credit, and expects to make this place his home because of the educational advantages for his children. He has leased the room formerly used as a restaurant opposite the Democrat office, and has been busy for a week unpacking, marking and placing a stock of general merchandise consisting of groceries, notions and staple dry goods. Mr. McClary comes with the reputation of being a fair business man and a good citizen.

State Normal Notes

Mr. E. R. Rogers favored the school with a vocal solo at convocation Friday morning.

Iowa, at which place he is registered as a student in the Iowa Agricultural college.

Miss Hancock is working up a good interest in domestic science.
There are now forty-seven students registered for work in that department.

You've a Right to Know Maker's Name

Congress was recently asked to pass a law providing for the manufacturer's name and address on every article sold in interstate commerce.

Such a law should be passed. The buyer has a right to know the maker's name. Next time he will know whether he wants an article from that maker or not. The name is also a protection on the first purchase, for the manufacturer is careful to put quality into goods that bear his name.

To make your protection doubly sure and give you recourse, buy only such hardware as bears not only a reliable maker's name, but our three-color Double Guarantee tag in addition. It is placed only on quality hardware bearing the factory brand. It authorizes the dealer to replace the article on which it appears if for any reason it proves unsatisfactory.

Ask your dealer for Double Guaranteed goods.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

FROZEN DESSERTS OF PEACHES.

LUNCHEON MENU
Cold Sliced Ham.
Spinach Salad With Slices of Egg.
Baking Powder Biscuits. Honey.
Peach Ice Cream.

PEACHES used in the composition of hot weather desserts are an unerring success. They are especially useful in the preparation of iced delicacies, some of which are suggested here.

Peach Parfait.—Chop one-quarter pound of blanched almonds. Cook one cupful of sugar in one-half cupful of water till it threads, pour slowly over four well beaten egg whites, beating all the time. Add two cupfuls of whipped cream and one cupful of peach pulp, freeze in ice and salt, and serve in glasses with sliced peaches.

Peach Ice Cream.—Take two quart ripe peaches, peel and press through a puree sieve. Add sugar to make very sweet. Crack several peach kernels, mash fine and add to the pulp, together with a quart of rich milk or thin cream. Freeze.

With Fruit Juice.

Peach Sherbet.—Take one quart of peach juice from fresh peaches, two cupfuls of sugar, one quart of water, whites of two eggs and the juice of one lemon. Boil the sugar and water together, add the juice of peaches and lemon and freeze. Serve in individual glasses.

Peach Water Ice.—Slice ten ripe peaches, but do not peel them. Boil till soft in one-half pint of water, then rub through a fine sieve. Mix the pulp with one pint of simple syrup, the strained juice of a lemon and three or four drops of oil of almonds. Put in a freezer and turn until frozen. Then fill a mold with it, put on the lid and pack in ice. When time to serve turn out on a fancy dish.

Easy to Freeze.

Peach Mousse.—Whip half pint thick cream, add whites of two eggs well whipped, a pinch of salt, four drops almond extract, one teaspoonful vanilla. If canned peaches are to be used add three-quarters cupful sugar. If preserved peaches are used take less sugar or the mousse will be too sweet. Press one pint of peaches with juice through a potato ricer or colander into the cream mixture. Pack and freeze for three or more hours.

Neglected Neighborhoods.

You can find in almost any town a "neglected neighborhood." The easiest thing to do with such a neighborhood is to keep on neglecting it.

It is so easy for us to study these topics as if they were about other places and people than ourselves and our homes. Is there a neglected corner in your town or in your county? If there is, what are you going to do about it? Not "What have you been doing about it?" or "What ought you to do about it?" but "What are you going to do about it?"

If you can't get the committees interested do something yourself. Do not be afraid.

The thing is to get started. You see, as soon as you have started something the neighborhood is no longer neglected. And then it will be an easier matter to get some one to come in and help.—Christian Herald.

The Passing of a Type.

The hard contemporary fact is that the gloriously manned authors are becoming sadly rare, even rarer than long haired actors. The long haired musician is still with us, though one of the most eminent masters of the pianoforte has yielded something to the modern spirit by submitting briefly to the shears. Individual age has here a potent influence—age, or the getting through with things. What a wonderfully picturesque person Dickens was at twenty-five! And how matter of fact at forty! Browning suffered a similarly sobering and averaging effect. The same thing is true of many other figures in that period, and it is not easy to guess whether the changing fashion set in during their middle years or whether advancing age would have effected the same change in any case.—Atlantic Monthly.

The Swiss Navy.

Centuries before Germany was to be reckoned with as a sea power Switzerland possessed a fleet equipped for warfare. Eight hundred years ago, on all the larger Swiss lakes, armed galleys were maintained by the rival cantons. Skilled shipwrights had to be imported from Genoa for the construction of these vessels, some of which carried crews of 500 men or more. The largest of these flotillas was maintained on the lake of Geneva, when the inhabitants of Geneva were at war with Savoy. Since the neutrality of Switzerland has been guaranteed by the powers there has been no need for war vessels on the lakes. The Swiss, however, possess a mercantile navy which carries a considerable amount of trade over the 342 miles of navigable waterways in the republic.

Will Power.

The power to acquire is worth more than the thing gained.—Old Saying.

Not a Complete Surprise.

When William H. Hearst bought the New York Journal one of his managing editors, Julius Chambers, invited Hearst to dinner with him.

They went to a downtown French restaurant. Chambers had ordered the dinner, which was a good one, and Hearst and he had a pleasant time. Along toward the close of the meal Chambers said: "Now, Mr. Hearst, I am going to give you a treat. I have ordered something you probably never have eaten or seen."

Chambers nodded to the waiter, who brought in some French artichokes.

"You see," explained Chambers, "these are a great delicacy. You pull off the leaves and dip the ends in the sauce and eat the ends only."

Hearst smiled a little and followed directions. As they progressed Chambers said complacently: "Pretty good, eh? I don't suppose you ever saw an artichoke before."

"Well," Hearst replied, "I can't go so far as that. You see, Chambers, we had 400 acres of them growing the last time I was out at our California ranch."—Saturday Evening Post.

Fans in the Eighteenth Century.

A letter in the London Spectator dated May, 1711, gives a most interesting description of an academy where ladies could be drilled in the proper use of their fans and intimated into the mysteries of "the angry flutter, the modest flutter, the timorous flutter, the confused flutter, the merry flutter and the amorous flutter." In the eighteenth century at dancing assemblies in London, Bath and other places of fashionable resort gentlemen chose their partners by "lottery of the fan." The fans of all the ladies present were placed in a hat, whence each gentleman had the privilege of selecting one, the lady to whom it belonged becoming his allotted partner for the evening. Of course such a custom entailed a great study of fans on the part of the gentlemen. Boswell, Steele and Pope found something to say about the fan, and Guy, enlarging upon the efforts of his predecessors, wrote a long poem in praise of the fan, attributing its invention to Venus.

How Brazilians Bag Wild Fowl.

From "The Log of a Rolling Stone," by Henry Arthur Broome, comes the following curious mode of bagging wild fowl in Brazil by way of economizing ammunition:

"The expedient is to get hold of a very large pumpkin and, after scooping out the meat and seeds inside, to cut two little eyeholes in it and then place it on the hunter's head. He then wades through the sedge and flugs into deeper water up to his neck, where the wild fowl are feeding, who gather that it is merely a pumpkin innocently floating on the surface. The hunter then soon gets into the midst of his quarry and, seizing them by the legs, pulls them quietly under water, where he tucks them under a belt fastened round his waist, and as their companions presume that one unfortunate bird after another is only diving for food the hunter gets a waistful in no time and returns well satisfied to the shore."

The ups and downs of the artist's calling are well illustrated by the fortunes and misfortunes of the late M. Sukhorovsky, a Russian artist. His celebrated painting, "Nana," was exhibited all over the world and made a fortune for himself and others. After personally receiving some $300,000 for its exhibition the artist, thinking its vogue over, sold "Nana" for $21,000, and the dealer resold it at double the price. An American bought it and showed it all through the United States, Canada and South America and is reported to have made $1,000,000 by the enterprise. On the other hand, the artist lost all his money by unfortunate investments and was reduced almost to beggary.

Gave Him a Hint.

Miss Carter had not been successful in bringing young Dodge to her feet and in consequence felt a little spiteful toward him. One evening they were having quite a serious talk in the library.

"Do you think," asked the young man, "that men progress after death?"

"Well," responded the girl, "if they don't it would almost seem useless for some of them to die."

Made the Most of It.

THE DAIRYMAN.

Whether the grass in the pasture is short or not, the calves will like a bit of hay to nibble on. It is one of the very best things you can give them to eat.

To make more profit in the dairy, try to feed one cow as much as, in the old way, you gave to two cows.

Plan now to make the cows most comfortable during the coming winter if you wish to make a profit from them.

Don't turn the calf to the feed trough with cows and steers and expect it to get a proper amount of food. It will be fought away, while the older stock devour the portion it should have.

Begin now to cull the herd. If any cow is below the standard in capacity after a fair trial feed her off.

DELAY IN CHURNING.

Causes That Prevent the Formation of Butter Globules.

There is always a reason for it when the butter fails to "come" after a reasonable amount of churning, writes W. H. Underwood in the Iowa Homestead. There are, in fact, a number of different conditions which may combine to cause the difficulty, or any one alone may do it. All milk is composed of water, casein, fat and other ingredients, the three named predominating. When the cow is fresh the proportion of water is greater than at any other time. The fat globules are then larger and consequently more easily separated in the process of churning than later on, when the cow becomes nearly dry. During the latter part of the period of lactation, too, the milk becomes viscous or sticky as the water content diminishes, and the minute globules of fat are more easily entangled in it, thereby retarding separation. This, then, is one cause of delay in churning.

The fresh cow never gives trouble on that score. The obvious remedy is to mix the milk of a fresh cow with the other, or if there is no fresh cow in the herd the milk may, as soon as drawn from the cow, be diluted with hot water to raise the temperature to at least 100 degrees before separation, which relieves the viscous condition.

Another cause of delay in churning is attempting to churn unripe cream or

K. P. Pontiac Lass, here pictured, is the latest world's champion in the production of milk and butter fat. She is a pure bred Holstein and holds records for butter production for all periods from seven to 100 days. Her record for seven days is 58.5 pounds of milk, 11.8 pounds of butter. In thirty days she produced 236.4 pounds of milk and 17.50 pounds of butter. She is by King of the Pontiacs, and her dam is Tweede De Kol Lass. She is owned by Stevens brothers, Liverpool, N. Y.

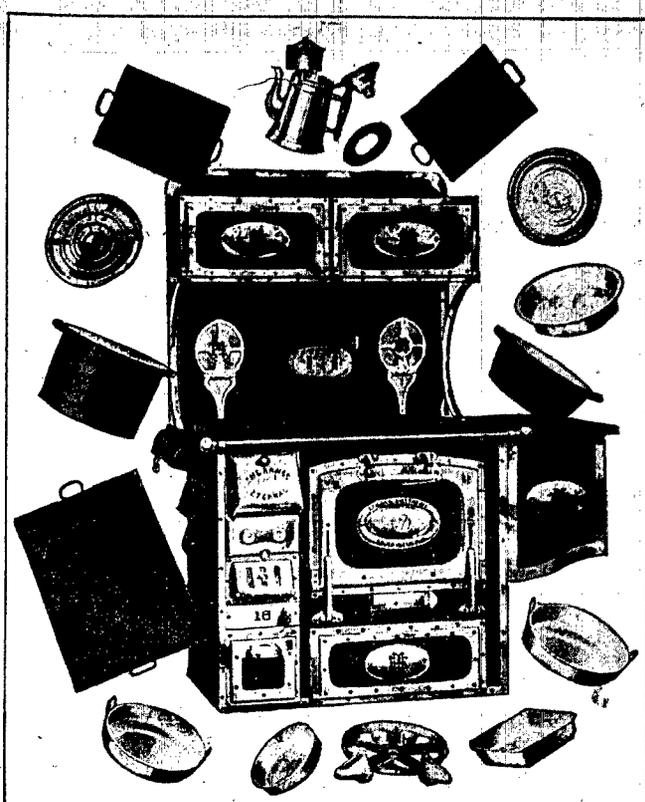

cream which is too thin. Properly ripened cream is about as thick as molasses. When a cup is dipped into it a thick coat of cream should adhere to it, and it should be pleasantly acid, free from lumps, either of cream or curd and without any whey in the bottom of the can. This cream if churned at a temperature of 60 to 62 degrees ought to be made into butter in twenty or thirty minutes unless the churn is too full. And right here another trouble is arrived at, one which accounts for much unnecessary time spent at the churn handle. For best results the churn should never be filled more than one-third full of cream. It swells upon being agitated, and the lessened opportunity for concussion results in a longer time being required to bring the butter than would have been the case with a smaller quantity.

The temperature of the cream at the time of churning should also be taken into consideration. Trouble is apt to result unless a reliable thermometer is depended upon, and especially is this true when the cream is cold.

To sum the matter up, these things should be kept in mind: It is the cream from the stripper or farrow cow in nine cases out of ten that makes the trouble when the butter does not come after a reasonable time in churning. Thin cream should be avoided and the amount of acidity quite pronounced. Let the amount in the churn be not more than one-third of its capacity and use the thermometer to make sure that the cream is at the proper temperature for churning.

Alfalfa and Corn For Hogs.
Hogs running on alfalfa should receive grain rich in carbohydrates, for alfalfa is rich in protein. It may be said that some skim milk or tankage may be fed to advantage, but good growth will be made by feeding at least two pounds of corn per day (per 100 pounds of live weight). In other words, hogs running on alfalfa ought to get all the corn they will eat up clean, with a little skim milk or tankage or a mixture of skim milk and shorts, if the best and highest yields are to be obtained.

Congressman Stephens has been requested by the Bureau of Navigation of the Navy Department to nominate a principal and three alternates for each two vacancies that will occur in the Naval Academy at the close of the present school year, which are to be filled by appointment from the Third District of Nebraska. Applications were on file for the principals and the nominations have been made, but the six alternate nominations are still to be made. The alternates are numbered from one to three for each principal appointment and the appointments are made in the same order, that is, if the principal passes he will be appointed; but if the principal should fail and the first alternate qualify, the first alternate will be appointed, and so on. The minimum age of admission to the Academy is sixteen and the maximum age twenty years. A candidate is eligible for examination on the day he becomes sixteen, and is ineligible on the day he becomes twenty. Under present regulations, the regular dates for exam-

Any young man who is interested in receiving one of these appointments should write Congressman Stephens, Washington, D. Union Pacific Gives Right to Ship Corn In Certain Localities.

DUE TO FAILURE IN CROPS.

Lower Rate on Buttermilk in Tank Car Lots From Omaha Also Put Into Effect by Same Road—Finds "Joker" in Stallion Registration Law.

Lincoln, Oct. 1.—The Union Pacific railroad has made application to the railway commission for permission to put into effect an emergency rate, whereby it will give the people along its line where the corn crop has been a failure the right to ship corn into their locality on a lower rate.

The rate will be in effect only until June 30, 1914, when it will be withdrawn. In making the rate, which is considerably lower than the regular rate on corn, the road acts out that the lower rate is not compensatory and is given only to enable those who have lost out on their corn this year to supply themselves until another crop can be grown.

The railway commission has granted a reduction on the buttermilk rate from Omaha to nearby towns. The rate applies only to tank car lots.

Small Company Fights.

Methods used by the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph company in dealing with small town independent companies in its territory are being brought to light in various sections of the state. A striking example has come to attention from Harvard. At that town the independent concern is master of the field insofar as the preponderance of the telephone business is concerned. Some time ago the Lincoln company made sales overtures to the Harvard company. Final offers made for the Harvard company's property reached something over the $11,000 mark. The offer was rejected, for the reason that the Harvard company's property valuation, according to railway commission figures, is set at $33,851.

Want 6 for 25 Fares.

Six-for-a-quarter street car fares for Omaha are asked for in a complaint which Representative J. A. Davis of that city called at the railway commission offices to file, following his discussion of the subject with Commissioner Taylor. The Douglas county lawmaker declared that he was taking the step merely as a patron of the Omaha and Council Bluffs Street Railway company.

"And I believe that the company will not fight the request for the lowering of its fares," declared Mr. Davis. "My complaint is based on the belief that the present fares are excessive and that the reduction would in no wise permit the argument on behalf of the company that the rate is non-compensatory."

Find "Joker" in Stallion Law.

Because a provision in the stallion registration law, passed at the last session, compels affidavits of two persons, attesting the purity of breed of either a sire or dam of all horses in service, members of the registration board believe that they have found a "joker" in the law. The barring of cross-breeds or mixtures and the fact that the grade clause referred to above is hard to comply with, leaves only pure bred stallions in the state. The provision is new to Dr. Bostrom, head of the department. The latter watched the bill closely in its legislative career, but does not remember when the provision was inserted.

Lucore Freed.

A man named Lucore, who was accused at Oxford of setting fire to the Oxford flouring mills and whom the state fire commissioner has been endeavoring to convict of the crime, was freed by the district court of Harlan county, Judge Duggan presiding, according to advice received by Fire Commissioner Kildell, there not being sufficient evidence to convict him of the offense.

Agricultural Board Makes Report.

According to a report prepared by Secretary Moller of the state board of agriculture, the total admissions to the state fair this year were 128,091. The total paid admissions was about 89,000, and possibly less, which would make the free admissions about 39,000.

Announcement is Made That Three Surveys Are Completed.

Omaha, Oct. 1.—That the Hill railroad propose to build a short line from this city to Sioux City, eliminating the roundabout way into St. Paul and Minneapolis by way of the Ashland cut-off, is now certain.

FARMERS' CONGRESS EARLY

May Be Advanced This Year So as to Meet in November.

Omaha, Oct. 1.—The Nebraska Farmers' congress, which usually meets the last week in December or the first of January, will undoubtedly be advanced this year to some week in November. This is being done in order to bring a larger crowd to Omaha, where the congress will be held, and also to prevent it from conflicting with the national congress. By holding the congress in November the program committee will be able to bring to Omaha more prominent speakers and men in this line of work.

Contrary to former custom, the Nebraska Co-operative Live Stock and Shipping association will not hold its convention immediately following the Nebraska Farmers' congress. Hereafter the live stock and shipping men would open their convention on Thursday, the day following the closing of the farmers' congress. This year there will be separate dates for each convention.

ADJUDGED BANKRUPT

Trustees Will Take Charge of Public Service Company.

Norfolk, Neb., Sept. 30.—The Iowa-Nebraska Public Service corporation was adjudged a bankrupt in the federal court. Judge W. H. Munger instructed the jury to return a verdict to that effect. Henry E. Maxwell, who had been appointed by the federal court as receiver, and George W. Johnson, who had been appointed to the same position in the district court, will now be superseded by a trustee. The company operates light and power plants at Norfolk, Beatrice and Missouri Valley.

TO HELP LINCOLN HIGHWAY

State of Nebraska Must Raise $25,000 for It.

Omaha, Sept. 30.—Omaha and the state of Nebraska will raise $25,000 for the improvement of the Lincoln highway and its upkeep. This was settled at a meeting held by automobile men from all parts of Nebraska. H. E. Fredericksen, who will act as the state counsel for Nebraska, wired the Lincoln Highway association for 5,000 certificates of membership, which will be sold to automobile owners and dealers all over the state at $5 each, thus realizing $25,000.

Gadski to Sing for Nebraska Teachers.

Omaha, Oct. 30.—A decided change in the outline of the program of the State Teachers' association, to be held in Omaha, Nov. 5, 6 and 7, has been decided upon by the executive committee. Instead of devoting two days to the sectional meetings, as had been done in the past, all sectional meetings will be held on Thursday morning and afternoon, while the general sessions will be held Wednesday night, Thursday night and Friday morning. A special feature of this year's program is the concert to be given in honor of the teachers of the state by Madame Johanna Gadski.

Best Cattle About Steady, While Others Rule Lower.

HOG VALUES MOSTLY 5c LOWER

Killing Lambs Steady to Strong—Fat Ewes Strong to 10c Higher—Uneven Trade in Feeders—Prices Generally Steady to Strong.

Union Stock Yards, South Omaha, Sept. 30.—Cattle receipts totaled about 9,800 head today, making over 23,000 head for the two days. Desirable corn fed heaves sold at steady to strong figures. Trade in western ranges was very slow. Strictly choice heaves, as the good to choice, fleshy steers, were not much, if any, lower than Monday, but on the general run of grass beef salesmen were compelled to shade prices more or less and the two days' decline on beef cattle has been about 10¢ to 25¢. Cows and heifers were also rather slow sale, at lower figures, while business in stockers and feeders was very dull, with prices from 10¢ to 25¢ lower than last week. Bad reports from outside markets and the liberal receipts are responsible for the weaker tone to the general market this week.

Cattle quotations: Choice to prime heaves, $9.00@9.25; good to choice heaves, $8.75@9.00; fair to good heaves, $8.50@8.60; common to fair heaves, $7.75@8.25; fair to choice yearlings, $8.50@9.35; good to choice heifers, $6.50@7.50; fair to good cows, $5.75@6.35; canners and cutters, $3.25@3.25; veal calves $6.50@9.50; bulls, stags, etc., $5.25@6.70; choice to prime feeders, $7.50@8.30; good to choice feeders, $7.25@7.60; fair to good feeders, $6.60@7.10; common to fair feeders, $6.00@6.50; stock cows and heifers, $5.00@7.00; choice to prime grass heaves, $7.90@8.25; good to choice grass heaves, $7.50@7.90; fair to good grass heaves, $6.25@7.00.

About 6,200 hogs arrived today. Trade in hogs was very slow today, and while some speculators bought a few hogs at steady prices, the killing droves averaged about 5c lower. The bulk of the supply went at $8.25@8.35 and tops sold as high as $8.45.

Sheep and lambs receipts amounted to about 43,000 head. The market for fat offerings was fairly active, with

GOLD AND SILVER MEDALS

Offered to Children For Best Essay On Repair and Maintenance of Earth Roads.

Washington, D. C., Oct 1.—The Director of the Office of Public Roads of this Department, Logan Waller Page, has announced that the time in which children may submit essays on the repair and maintenance of earth roads, in competition for the gold medal and the two silver medals, has been extended to March 2, 1914.

The conditions for the essays are as follows:

1. The subject of the essay will be the Repair and keeping Up of Earth Roads.

2. It is open only to children from ten to fifteen years, inclusive, who are actually living on farms and who are attending some school.

3. The essay should be not more than eight hundred words in length, in the handwriting of the child and should be written on only one side of the paper.

4. In the upper left hand corner of the first page should appear the following statement: Essay on Earth Roads by (name of child;
age of child; actual residence of child; school attended by child.)

5. Children wishing to enter this contest may ask the advice of their parents, teachers, neighbors, highway commissioners, and other people, and read books or magazines giving information about the subject. They must not give the information they gain in this way in the exact words of an adult or the author of a book. They must express the ideas in their own language. They will not be expected to use technical terms and any words that make the meaning clear will be acceptable.

6. The essays will be rated by an impartial committee according to the understanding of the subject shown by the child and according to the penmanship, English and spelling. The writer of the best essays will receive a gold medal;
the writer of the next best essay, a silver medal; and the writer of the third best essay a silver medal.

7. All essays should be plainly addressed, in an envelope stamped with a two-cent stamp, to: Committee on Children's Road Essay Contest, Office of Public Roads,
U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., and should be mailed to reach that Office not later than 9 a. m., on Monday, March 2, 1914.

8. Children who have already submitted essays in that contest which was originally announced to close October 15, may if they wish, submit a second essay. As a help to children, the suggestions given below are made. Children need not follow these suggestions absolutely. They must not submit essays in the form of direct answers to these questions. They must not quote any of the following material word for word.

To the Children: In getting facts to write your essays for the prize contest on the repair and maintenance of earth roads, use your eyes. Look at a bad piece of road and a good piece of road when both are dry. Study, particularly the ruts and holes and uneven places in the road to see whether they make it easier or harder for wheels of a loaded wagon to go along. Study the kind of footing that the two roads give to the horses.

Now, study the same stretches of road after a good rain storm. You will see that the one road holds small puddles, of pools, of water that keep the roads soft and so allow it to be cut up by the wheels of the wagons and the hoofs of the horses.
How do road builders keep water from gathering on the traveled way of a road? Should the road slope to the side ditches? How much higher should the center, or crown of the road be than the outside edges of the road? Why do good ditches at the side of the road help make the center of the road better for hauling? What happens when ditches get full of rubbish or weeds? When a ditch along a road holds water or collects it into pools how does this injure the roads?

Have you ever seen a home-made road drag? It is made by splitting in two a log six or eight inches in thickness and about six or eight feet long. The two halves of the log are set three feet apart with their smooth faces forward and upright. They are fastened together with braces. A pair of horses are hitched to a chain fastened to the front half of the log.
Should these logs be drawn straight down the road, or should it be dragged at a slant so that a little of the loose earth will slide toward the center of the road? Should you drag the whole road in one way, or drag each half of it in an opposite direction? Should the dragging be done when the road is dry, or after it has rained? A good strong pair of horses with a well built drag can drag about three or four miles of road in a day. What would it cost a farmer to drag four miles of road? How would he be repaid for the cost of his labor?

Remember, children you are not to answer these questions as if you were answering an examination paper. You are to think about the answers and ask people for information and watch people actually working on roads, and then write a composition that will be just the same as if you were writing a letter to a friend, telling him, or her, how they made the earth road near you better, and kept it from getting full of holes, ruts and puddles.

Comment

The Hague convention should enter into a treaty, signed and sealed by every nation on the earth, enforceable by law, that every child in every nation shall be properly reared and properly educated. Today we have eight-teen million children in the lower grades of our common schools, and six million who are not in school.
These twenty-four million children are our greatest asset, the most precious resource in America. They are entitled to our deepest concern.
Most of our legislation is made from the standpoint of adults. The class that ought always to be kept in view is the children. Every child, not every man and woman, is entitled to that absolute equality before the law of which our constitution speaks. When every child is properly fed and clothed and housed and educated, then will Cowper's Golden Age be ushered in. In that day rivers of gladness will water all the earth and clothe all climes with beauty. There will be none to covet. Error will have no place. In the heart no passion will touch a discordant string, but all will be harmony and love.

The dwellers in the vales
and on the rocks
Will shout to each other and the mountain tops
From distant mountains
will catch the flying joy
'Til nation after nation,
utaght the strain,
Earth rolls the rapturous
hosanna round.

Many children, millions of them, have been snatched from the cradle and stolen from play and school to be fed to forces that turn their lives into a capitalist's gold, and many million others have been crushed and perverted into filth for the slums and food for the potter's field. But these millions, crushed and slain, have not died in vain. Their little graves all over this fair land furnish silent, awful protest against the system that murdered them, and pronounce against that system, in the name of God and humanity, the condemnation of death. What would you want done with your child if you could not protect it? What would you want done with that little fellow who stands at your knee as you read this, begging your attention? What would you want done with the golden-haired fairy who plays at your feet if—yes, there is a lump in your throat, and tears in your eyes, and it seems a heartless question, but for the sake of thousands of little ones like yours—what would you do?
The slums, the asylums or the sweatshop await thousands of children.
Where would you want yours to go? When you have answered this question, and answered it with the will and the purpose to make your answer come true—then will be inaugurated in this country such a movement for the child without a home, and for the child without a good home, as will abolish slums and asylums and sweat-shops. The crime of the age is the neglect of children. It is equal to the sum of all other crimes.

Loss of Appetite

Is the first signal of disorder and decay. The usual loss of appetite is often caused by functional disturbances in the stomach. The stomach fails to do the work required, the appetite is gone, and the body suffers from lack of nourishment. Such a stomach needs to be cleaned and sweetened. Mer-itolic Tonic Digestive is made especially to assist the stomach to digest food, and promote a healthy appetite. This remedy is sold on our positive guarantee, and we ask you to give it a trial. It is a genuine tonic.—Adams Model Pharmacy, Wayne, Sole agents.—adv. o.

Popped in the Husk

Harry Doolittle left an ear of popcorn at this office Saturday with nearly one-fourth of the grains almost popped out, evidently caused by the heat during the fore part of September. Mr. Doolittle says he found quite a number of similar ears, says the Laurel Advocate.
That is sure a good story—or else
"poppin'" good popcorn.

LIVE STOCK NOTES.

A long whip never made a man a good driver.

A dirty milker is worse than a dirty cook. To wet the hands with the milk when milking is a dirty habit.

If we keep stock enough on our farms to consume our surplus hay, grain and straw, especially the straw, the fertility of our farms will not become exhausted as soon as it otherwise would.

The back yard goat is not likely to put the cow out of business.
Nevertheless there is a place for the milk goat.

Nowadays a farmer may sell a pair of mules for enough to buy an automobile, but nine times out of ten he would do better to keep the mules.

Ewes intended for breeders should be carefully looked after when the cool weather starts in.

SEALING THE FULL SILO.

Precautions to Observe to Prevent Spoiling of Silage.

There is only one way to avoid all losses of silage on top, and that is to begin feeding at once, says the Kansas Farmer. This oftentimes is not desirable, and it should be the aim to reduce the amount of spoiling on top to a minimum. If possible to so arrange it some thoroughly green, heavy material should be used in filling the top three or four feet of the silo. There is always a tendency for the top to dry out at once in a very dry time. The application of water over the surface for several days after the silo is filled will tend to keep the silage wet on top.
The formation of a thin layer of wet, slimy, moldy material forms the seal which effectually prevents the silage from spoiling underneath.

After the silo has been filled and tramped for the last time the surface should not be disturbed by further tramping. This would tend to disturb the layer of moldy material and thus let air get down into the good silage underneath. If the tramping has been properly done the silage will not draw away from the wall. In many cases

The Jersey has the finest bones of any of the dairy breeds. The udder of the best type of Jersey of today is an ideal one, long, extending well up in front, fully rounded, level as can be, with teats placed just right, and it leaves nothing to be desired except in some instances little longer teats. The Jersey is the very embodiment of dairy conformation, and she breeds true to type. The pure bred Jersey bull shown is a typical specimen of the breed.

The tendency has been to neglect tramping and to fill the middle. This results in the center settling much more than the sides, and the silage draws away from the wall, allowing air to pass down the side five or six feet. This always means a great deal of spoiled silage. Joseph E. Wing of Ohio reports the use of half a barrel of salt spread over the surface as giving good results in reducing the amount of waste on top.

When a silo has been practically filled with an early crop or one that must be harvested early in order to save it the same method of sealing the surface should be used. When ready to refill later with Kaffir or other late crops the spoiled material on the surface should be removed. Three or four different crops may be placed in the silo in this manner.

The Profitable Pig.

Pigs that are kept growing every day of their lives produce the weight at less cost than those that are allowed to grow along slowly and then finally fattened for market, says the Orange Judd Farmer. The rapid growing pig produces a better quality of meat that meets the requirements of the present day consumers. The slow growing pig after being fattened for market is simply a rim of lean meat overlaid with fat which has cost heavily to produce.
The rapid growing pig produces a large amount of lean meat intermingled with fat, which is produced cheaply in a short period of time. The rapid growing pig attains popular market weights in a shorter time and can be disposed of sooner so as to avoid many risks which may have to be met with the slow growing pig, both in the possibility of a decline in prices and meeting with diseases.

Horse Hints.

Carefully train the colt.
Perfect mares only should be bred.
If you cannot afford to buy a stallion get your neighbor to go into partnership with you.
Patronize only the best blacksmith.
Your horse's feet are of the greatest importance and should be carefully watched.

It seldom pays to buy horses from "gyps." They have so many ways of fixing up an old broken down horse that it takes an expert to see which is horse and which is fake.
