Obituary—M. S. Merrill

Marcellus Samuel Merrill was born into the home of Thomas and Mercy Merrill at Turner, Maine, October 16, 1838, and died suddenly at the home of his son, George Merrill, at Steamboat Springs, Colorado, October 5, 1913, from a stroke of paralysis. He therefore lacked eleven days of being seventy-five years old.

In this Maine home there were also born a sister and a brother who still survive, Mrs. Abbie Kimball of Wakefield and A. M. Merrill of Steamboat Springs, Colo.

Mr. Merrill was married to Miss Emma Davis at Lewiston, Maine, April 9, 1862. To this union were born six children, Mrs. Kate Bingham of Adair, Oklahoma; R. D. Merrill of Ashton, Idaho, G. C. Merrill of Steamboat Springs, Colorado; Rev. J. W. Merrill of Chicago; Mertie Merrill, gone home to heaven at two years of age and Mrs. Abbie Dunlap of Vermillion, S. D.

Shortly after marriage he responded to the call of his country and volunteered for the army, serving for about a year in the army on the Potomac.

In 1866 he decided to come west with his family and settled in northeastern Iowa living for a few years at Castalia and then at Fort Atkinson. During these years he was a farmer. Here he also assisted in organizing Baptist churches in each place. In 1883 he came to Hartington, Nebraska, and erected the first building in that place. He also was a charter member of the Baptist church there. Here he was engaged in banking which he continued when he moved to Carroll in 1892.

In 1895 his life long companion was called to the other land and was buried at Carroll. Three years later he was married to Mrs. Almada Brown of Wayne who still survives him.

After a few years of residence at Vermillion he moved back to Wayne and later moved to Boulder, Colorado, where he resided at the time of his death.

Mr. Merrill was a life long Baptist and active and interested in the Master's cause. At various times he was prominent in denominational work in the state. He was converted at the age of nineteen and ever had a strong and aggressive faith in his Lord.

The funeral services are being held at Carroll Baptist church this afternoon, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Keller, assisted by Rev. J. C. Pope of Lincoln, an old-time friend of the family. There will be present if they can come as expected, the wife and his sons, J. W. Merrill of Chicago, George and Rodney and daughter Abbie, his sister and brother and A. S. Merrill of Des Moines, Iowa, and Mrs. Bingham, besides Mrs. Otho Cunningham and Ethel Brown, stepchildren.

Mr. Merrill was a man who stood high in the esteem of those who knew him and he had a wide circle of friends and acquaintances in this part of Nebraska where he was actively engaged in business for so many years. In lodge, church, business and social circles he stood high in the estimation of all. The Democrat extends condolences to those in bereavement.

Election Notes

Where two or three have their heads together the next postmaster is being discussed or "cussed."

Sam Davies is among the recent converts to the democratic ranks. There may be many democrats who never before have been known.

Vote early—and often.

It is up to the people—the democratic ones

You have three to select from. That is different from the 15 so frequently spoken of as candidates. If it had been a republican plum there might have been more after it.

Election Saturday at City Hall, open from 1 to 8 o'clock p. m.

If you began to vote the democratic ticket only at the last election and are yet a democrat you are eligible to vote.

Candidates—Berry, Marsteller, Reynolds.

Frank Morgan has installed shelving in the room he occupies in the State Bank building and is unpacking a neat new stock of gent's furnishings which will enable him to dress a man between his hat and his shoes.

The Gun Club Meet

Last Friday the Wayne Gun club held their annual meet and it was the best attended shoot of any they have ever had at this place but, as the day was windy the scores were not as good as on some previous occasions. Gun men were present from Sioux City, several other Iowa towns, and Bloomfield, Wakefield, Randolph, Pierce and other Nebraska points besides the home club and several experts who were sent out by the ammunition houses, and who were barred from taking part in the contest except as exhibition shooting, to demonstrate the merit of their shells, guns and their skill with the gun. Nearly 6,000 clay birds were thrown, but not all broken. Below is the score:

Depot Approaches Completion

Work on the new station for Wayne is now progressing much better than at some times, when material was slow in coming, and it now looks like a finish this month. The shingles are here, and are being placed. The platform is nearly completed and the platform light fixtures are installed. The furnace is here and being placed. The interior finish lumber has come and the plaster is now dry enough to permit of it being used. The windows are being put in, giving the exterior a more refined appearance. Sewer connections have been made and the new walk along the Main street end of the property is being laid, which will include a suitable crossing for vehicles to pass over in approaching the baggage entrance. Now that these finishing touches are being added one hears less about the building not being adequate in size and convenience for the needs of the public. It is hardly probable that the company would erect such a building if it did not meet the needs of the traffic. Certain it is that it will give the stranger who passes this way a much better opinion of the railway accommodations of the place than they have ever before had.

Death of Sadie Chaon

Carroll, October 9.—Death came to the home of Julius Chaon and wife Sunday evening and claimed their daughter, Sadie, aged eleven years, who had been ill with typhoid fever for two weeks. All that loving and willing hands could do did not save the child. The funeral was held from the Catholic church at Wayne Wednesday forenoon, by Father Kearns and after the last sad rites which were attended by many of the relatives and friends of the family the little body was tenderly laid to rest in the cemetery at Wayne. The sympathy of the entire neighborhood goes out to the afflicted family.

Fall Opening and Bargain Days

Today is the last of the Wayne Fall Opening Days when the merchants invited patronage from all parts to come and make their wants known and be entertained by them. Substantial lunch was served each afternoon and the patrons of the different business houses were furnished free entertainment at the Crystal theatre during the afternoon matinees. The crowd was not especially large yesterday, but the merchants enjoyed a much more than the usual volume of mid-week business.

Norfolk Wins From Wayne

Norfolk won the second victory of the football season Saturday afternoon by defeating the fast Wayne high school team by a score of 13 to 6. It was an exciting game and many sensational plays, including some brilliant end runs, kept the crowd on the sidelines interested. The teams seemed evenly divided in team work, but Norfolk outweighed Wayne about ten pounds to each man. The Wayne players are satisfied with the result and predicted that Norfolk would easily overcome the Stanton team in next Saturday's game.

The first quarter of Saturday's game was played fast. Both teams seemed to endeavor to rush the other from the field in a few minutes of playing. Norfolk won the toss and kicked to Wayne. By constant line plunging and some clever forward pass work, Norfolk took the pigskin within a yard of Wayne's goal. Wayne pushed it back twenty yards and the quarter ended with the ball one yard from the Wayne goal.

On a line plunge in the second quarter, Lucas took the ball over for Norfolk's first touchdown. The ball was only about a half a yard from Wayne's goal, because the Wayne players were penalized for coaching on the sidelines.

In the same quarter, Mildner, playing right half for Wayne, made one of the most sensational plays ever seen on the Driving Park gridiron. The ball was in the middle of the field and the Wayne player took it forty yards around Norfolk's left end for a touchdown.

The third quarter was evenly divided and there was no scoring on either side. Wayne kicked off to Norfolk and the ball remained in the field the major part of the quarter. In this quarter, Wayne threatened to score on clever forward passing.

In half a minute of playing in the last quarter, Lucas went through the Wayne line for the second touchdown. South kicked goal.

Scheelly and Lucas featured for Norfolk in all around playing. Lightfoot, Mildner and Powers featured for the Wayne team.

Lecture and Social Evening at the Wilbur School House

The school houses in Wayne county are being used as social centers for their neighborhoods with increasing profit to the different communities. Efforts are being made by the churches of Wayne to utilize these country school houses in promoting the social welfare, and they are cooperating with the farmers in establishing Sunday schools and preaching services of Sundays and in holding social gatherings in the school buildings in the evenings. In connection with this movement a social evening will be enjoyed at the Wilbur schoolhouse, four miles north and one mile west of Wayne next Monday evening, October 13th. During the evening Rev. Alexander Corkey will give his well known lecture on Ireland, and Irish refreshments will be served.

A Business Change

A deal has been completed whereby J. C. Swanson has disposed of his interest in the Wayne Bakery Co., to M. H. Rafferty of Creighton. W. E. Watkins, who has been a partner in the business since early in the summer, remains, and will be in charge. Mr. Rafferty, who is his father-in-law, will not move to Wayne at present at least. As Mr. Watkins is a practical baker, and has been practically in charge of the business for some time, we see no reason why the bakery business of Wayne will not continue to be a success. Mr. Swanson has not yet announced his plans for the future, but we hope they will not take him from Wayne, for he is a good citizen.

The Cradle

BASKERVILLE—Tuesday, October 7, 1913, at their home at Sioux City, Iowa, to W. E. Baskerville and wife, a son, Mrs. Baskerville will be remembered as Miss Kate Gamble by many Wayne people.

LUDERS—Wednesday, October 8, 1913, to Geo. Luders and wife, a daughter.

Water at Wayne

When typhoid fever appeared in two neighboring families at Wayne it was the proper thing to examine the city water, though both of these families were supplied with water from the same well and not using the city water except occasionally. Samples of the water from this well and also of the city water were at once sent into Lincoln for test, and the returns showed that the well water was very bad, and that there were some Bacillus coli in the city water, but in a very small degree compared to the other water.

At the request of Mayor Chace Prof. H. H. Hickman of the college was asked to test samples of the water from both places, and below is his report:

Wayne, Nebr., October 6, 1913. A careful examination of the city water reveals myriads of Bacillus coli communis (colon bacilli), but no Bacillus typhosus, the specific germ of typhoid fever. While microscopic tests with suitable reagents are not absolute criteria, I feel reasonably certain that, at present at least, there is no danger of infection in the use of the water supplied by the city of Wayne to its people. Of course boiling the water before using will make it safer, but such a precaution is, I think, scarcely necessary.

The water from the well used by the infected families in the southwest part of town has also been examined and, among the numerous colon bacilli, are found some germs which appear to be the typhoid bacilli. It is needless to say that, for the present, this water supply is unsafe for use.

(Signed) H. H. HICKMAN. From the above taken in connection with the fact that no typhoid or other sickness has developed among the 2,000 people who are daily using the city water it is safe to predict that the water is not bad. But it is wise to take every possible precaution, and if there is found any injurious germs by any one take immediate steps to have them properly killed. It is suggested that the standpipe be cleaned more frequently, and there are those who think the top should be screened.

Since the above report was in type another report has been received by the health physician which confirms the report made by Prof. Hickman—that there is a presence of colon bacilli in the city water, but no typhoid bacilli reported, and this is confirmed by the fact that there is no typhoid in the city except in the two families which have been using the well and not the city water. However, the authorities are moving promptly to have the city mains all flushed and the standpipe cleaned and every precaution possible will be taken to make it absolutely safe to use the city water. In the meantime those who feel timid should boil their water. At the college steps have already been taken to supply drinking water from another source and one that is and can be proven to be absolutely free from injurious germs. The health officials are vigilant and determined to stamp out every suspicion of danger.

Social and Reception at the Presbyterian Church

On Friday evening of this week a social will be given in the parlors of the Presbyterian church to the young people of the church and congregation, and in connection with a social a reception will be given to the students of the State Normal school who have been invited to attend. The program begins at 8 o'clock and will be as follows:

Introduction of guests to one another by the registered card system.

Music by the High School Orchestra.

Mind Reading by two local experts in mind divination.

Song by Dr. R. N. Donahey.

Music by the Orchestra.

Mum Program under the direction of Mr. E. H. Dotson, which will include a speech by Prosecuting Attorney Kiplinger on "The Triumph of Democracy" and a song "After the Sun Goes Down" by a young lady soloist.

Address of Welcome by Professor Pressly on "Lessons from Football."

Solo by Mrs. W. H. Morris.

Music by the Orchestra.

Refreshments will be served at the close of the program.

Coming to a Good County

That term this fall and every fall applies to thousands of cattle from the great grazing districts west of us, and it is true as ever this fall when lots of the counties of the state are not looking for cattle to fatten. But they feel sure that in bringing the cattle to Wayne they will find a place where there is corn to fatten them.

Sunday morning John Shannon and "Doc" Jones arrived here with a train load of sixteen cars—about 375 head of good feeder which Mr. Shannon had bought in the vicinity of Gordon. Of this shipment Mr. Jones took about three-fourths for his farms, and Ted Perry will feed part of the others. Most of the bunch were good white faces and black cattle—good sturdy animals in good flesh and with frame enough to carry a weight of 1400 to 1600 pounds when they have boarded in this county a few months.

Mr. Shannon sent one car to Carroll. He left again Sunday evening for the western part of the state where he has about 1,000 head awaiting shipment. He says that practically all he has bought will come to Wayne.

In the yards here at the same time were two cars of white faced cows and calves which Dean Hanson had come in with from Wyoming sometime during the night and which he took to his place north of town to feed. Mr. Hanson has also brought in a bunch of sheep to fatten.

Monday L. Gildersleeve was unloading a bunch of hogs which he bought in the west, the Wayne county young hogs having many of them died during the past year. The hogs brought were a lusty lunged lot, and hungry judging by the way they talked.

Watch for More Vegetables

S. E. Auker has just received a letter stating that his order for more cabbage and beans from the western part of the state has been received and will have attention, and that if possible onions will also be sent. Watch his place of business next week.—adv. 1.

S. E. Strom and wife of Randolph stopped here Wednesday to visit a son who is attending college here. They were returning from a trip to the Pacific coast.

Social Notes

Monday evening the P. E. O. met at the home of Mrs. C. A. Chace, the first meeting following the summer vacation. Hereafter they will meet twice a month and carry on their regular work.

The Monday club held their first meeting of the season at the home of Mrs. Main this week and listened to an excellent address by the president, Mrs. C. A. Chace, after which refreshments were served by the program committee.

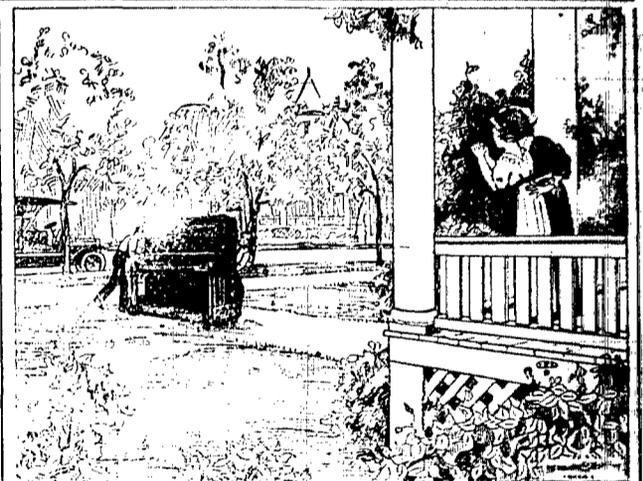

About thirty ladies attended the Bible Study at the home of Mrs. C. A. Grothe Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. W. L. Fisher led the lesson study which was very profitable. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Donner, one block east and a half block north of the Methodist church. All are invited.

The Acme club held their initial meeting on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Hamer Wilson. In connection with the business of the meeting, the new president, Mrs. Britell, gave a very pleasing address. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Williams when Mrs. Theobald will lead the discussion on Current Events.

Mrs. E. B. Young entertained the Junior Bible Circle Friday evening which was well attended and very inspiring. At the close of the lesson, election of officers resulted in the following being chosen: President, Miss Florence Gardner; first vice-president, Miss Tena Henderson; second vice-president, Miss Ella Benshoof; treasurer, Miss Dolan; secretary, Miss Bernice Roberts. At the close of the meeting light refreshments were served.

Next Wednesday evening the members of the order of Sons of Herman will celebrate German day at their hall in this city, the families of the members joining them in the festivities. It is not necessary to add that as these people meet with good speakers, good music and abundant refreshments there will be a good time, and it is well that we have all night light service. It will be one of the social events of the order.

WHEN MUSIC COMES INTO THE HOME

THE sunshine of happiness and restful comfort enters with it. The entire family feels its inspiring influence. The home becomes more attractive, not only to the children, but to their associates and your friends.

A piano lends refinement to your environments. Its music lifts you to higher ideals. There is gladness and song to supersede a more secluded and lonely existence. It means life—real living.

We would like to talk the piano proposition over with you—tell you about the pianos we sell, the prices and the attractive terms we are willing to make for payments.

Adolph Meyer is hauling the lumber out for a new barn on his farm seven miles northwest of Wayne. The new barn is to be about 36x40 and a good one, making a valuable improvement to the farm.

The enrollment of the Emerson high school is 46 and there are enough in the grades to bring the total to 351 pupils. They practice fire drill there in the school, and empty the building in less than two minutes.
Mrs. J. G. Mines left Tuesday morning for Kearney as a delegate to the Synodical meeting of the Women's Missionary society of the Presbyterian church which was in session at that place Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

A number of the people from the German neighborhood northeast of Wayne attend the Missionfest services of the German Lutheran church east of Concord Sunday. This is a new church building dedicated about a year ago. A good meeting was reported.
The Emerson Enterprise started a subscription contest and because of lack of interest called it off. The most votes for any one candidate was 16,000 which does not mean much sometimes when you read the lavish liberality with which votes are bestowed in the contests.

Emerson now has a new well 200 feet deep and no water and the supply from the old well is becoming less each day. Well, they have plenty of wet goods there, so they will only need water for bathing purposes, and one might well get along on half rations for that purpose in the winter.
Mrs. Elizabeth M. Gillett of Harlan, Iowa, spent Thursday night at Wayne the guest of her former neighbors, S. W. Dayton and wife. She went on to Randolph the next morning to visit a daughter near that place and plans to stop again at Wayne on her home journey, as she has several other friends here.

Editor Kelley of Cedar County News feels that the income tax section of the new tariff law discriminates against him in taxing bachelors on the income above $3,000, and allowing married men an exemption of $4,000. Well, there is the remedy—take your choice, Brother Kelley.

Wm. Benschoff and wife arrived here last week from Lindsay, California, to visit at the home of their son, Fred, in this city and with their many relatives and friends in this county. They have been in California a little more than two years, and are expecting to return there for the winter.

In the Niobrara or North Platte drawings for land this month one may select a part of a section only if it be a legal subdivision, but he cannot then make a jump and take a part of another section. His selection must all be together and conform far as it goes to land listed within one contract.

The county judge in Madison county broke all previous records in the history of the county so far as the number of marriage licenses are concerned, which shows that the democratic administration is not in the least discouraging business in this line. Our own county judge reports a pretty fair business in that line last month.

Mr. and Mrs. David Townsend returned Sunday evening from Chicago. Mrs. Townsend will be remembered as Miss Lillian Rennie who left for Chicago several weeks ago to enter a girl's seminary. They were married at that place Saturday, October 4th, and their marriage was a complete surprise to their many friends at Wayne.

H. F. Straight and son and Mr. Lindsay returned Monday from their trip to the Judith Basin, in Montana. They report a great country for crops, and that all appear to be thriving there, but Mr. Straight thought it would take too much capital to get established there so as to do farming on the scale which appears most profitable in that region.

The Stanton Picket's booster edition of forty pages, gotten out in magazine form came to our desk last week. It carries a very liberal advertising patronage but we believe that if those who have patronized this special had and would give the paper a liberal patronage each week it would have been more for their money and more profit to the editor.

Herman Kurgeweit near Battle Creek lost 17 head of fat cattle from his feed lot one night last week, and being unable to find them, and judging from the manner in which the fence was down the opinion prevails that the bunch was stolen. Such a bunch would be worth a pretty sum if thieves have managed to make way with them.

Some of the farmers near Walthill are figuring on the expense of installing electric lights at their farms, getting the juice from the Walthill city plant. It is nice if they get good service and while it may come higher than coal oil the farmers have got to spend their money in some manner. By the way, when the democrats get the law so changed that he who will may make denatured alcohol we may have light and heat much cheaper than now.

Henry Linke is hauling material out for some farm improvements, but when asked for particulars he was thinking of something else, said he wished that the automobilists who drive his way and take particular pains to speed up and kill his chickens would stop and pick up the dead birds and take them with them. He says that a goodly number of his chickens have been run down by the automobiles, and he thinks they should take of all they kill.

A recent court decision will tend to help the independent creamery to win its share of the cream business. It is to the effect that "If a buyer wishes to raise his price and outbid a rival for business he will in the future be compelled to openly announce that he will pay more than his competitors instead of trying to get business by over-testing cream and in this manner pay more than his rival and at the same time make producers believe his rival is making an unfair test. It is against the state law to over test or to under test cream bought for commercial purposes. This law is upheld by a decision given by the supreme court yesterday in the case of the state vs. Thorp, from Cuming county"

BEATING AVERAGE FARMING

Practical Suggestion as to Method of Seeding Wheat in Butler County Free Press

Himself an owner of several farms, really a farmer in that he thinks and plans and manages farming on a considerable scale, a student of up-to-date methods in scientific agriculture, a man who gives a great deal of time and study and thought to developing better farming, always on the alert for overcoming adverse conditions that unless overcome result in failure or shortage of crops, Thomas Wolfe, president of the First National Bank of David City, has done much in the cause of beating average farming in Butler county. "I was glad to see the story in last week's Press headed 'This Man Beat the Drouth' and telling how a farmer near Central City had raised 50 bushels of corn to the acre the past dry season while adjoining that field was one owned by another man and indifferently farmed that did not have enough corn on it to be worth cutting," said Mr. Wolfe to a Press man one day this week.

"We need more knowledge in the management of our farms and to increase the yield of our land.
"There is a suggestion as to seeding winter wheat that seems worth while," Mr. Wolfe continued. "Many good farmers this year in rotation of crops have come to the conclusion to use the one-horse disc drill to put their winter wheat in corn stalks, to hold the snow in the winter months, thus insuring more moisture for the subsoil of the fields.
"The best results have been attained by putting into the drill about half a bushel of HIGHLY GRADED seed to an acre and running it through the rows one way, and then putting in another half bushel and running the drill crossways. This is done in order to scatter the seed as much as possible, giving each individual plant free scope to develop roots and produce better stooling for more stalks.

"Chinese farmers plant one grain of wheat in a place, the grains being planted about 20 inches apart, in that way developing from one seed 300 to 400 stalks and multiplying the heads of wheat correspondingly by intense cultivation. An Englishman has developed this process so far as to produce 710,000 grains from one seed.
I am not advocating this way of farming here, but we can improve our methods along this line in a modified form to produce better results over present primitive ways.
"In seeding our stubble plowed ground this fall we can put half the seed in the drill and run it one way and then cross it with the other half to give the wheat plants more room to form roots unhindered by intertwining, thus avoiding stunting growth, and securing good stooling to gain more stalks.
The better the seed the more vigor is imparted for growth to the plant.

"When the crust forms in our fields in the spring, I believe from results achieved that we should drag or roll the fields to break this crust and form a mulch, to insure larger and better filled heads.

"Less seed is required by crossing with the drill, giving the plants more room to grow roots without stunting each other by intertwining and in crossing the lines prevents dropping too many seeds at the intersections. All small and imperfect seeds should be eliminated, as they are worse than useless incumbrance and injure the healthy growth of the more vigorous plants."

Permanent Farm Improvements

John Venneberg has just completed a lot of farm improvements which have furnished himself and others employment for some time past. He now has a good hog house 32x40, which in addition to making room for a lot of hogs when he gets them again, for most of his swine died, will hold corn, grain and other things, with room for about eight ton of hay in the lofts. He has made the hog department of good height, for while a hog never grows very tall, Mr. Venneberg believes the hog will thrive best in roomy, well ventilated quarters, as in a low room they become heated too much by the heat of their own bodies, and the air is made impure by their breath, so he has windows in each pen. A new concrete walled cellar and permanent walks of the same material add to the value of the place and comfort of the occupants.

An Old Time Mermaid.

An amusing and detailed account of a mermaid seen in the Atlantic, written apparently in good faith, ends with the following description of the monster, which may possibly have been a seal or a sea lion. "That monster is about eight feet long his skin is brown and tawny, without any scales, all his motions are like those of men, the eyes are a proportionable size, a little mouth, a large and fat nose, very white teeth, black hair and chin covered with a mossy beard, a sort of whiskers under the nose, the ears like those of men, fins between the fingers of his hands and feet like those of ducks. In a word he is a well shaped man. Which is certified to be true by Captain Oliver Morin and John Martin, pilot, and by the whole crew, consisting of two-and-thirty men." (An article from Breet in the "Memoirs of Travoux." The monster was mentioned in the Gazette of Amsterdam Oct.
12, 1725, where, it is said, it was seen in the ocean in August of the same year.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

How to Read the Moon.

Few people can tell at a glance whether the moon is waxing or waning. Here is a whimsical rule to remember by. It is very simple to those who know Latin and is not difficult for those who do not. The first thing is to notice whether the moon is like a D or a C—that is, whether the full semicircular curve is on the right or the left. If the moon shows a D that naturally stands for decrease. "It wanies."

But then comes in the great principle
"The moon is always deceitful," and one has to understand the opposite of what the moon says, so that a moon which shows a D is a waxing moon, while a waning moon is like a C.
"Those who have no Latin will no doubt look to see whether the moon says it is "decreasing," in which case they will understand that it is waxing, while a waning moon will deny that it is "decreasing."—New York Sun.

Cost of First Class Traveling.

While on the Pacific ocean I met a life insurance man who told me that he traveled constantly and that his expenses, afloat and ashore, averaged $11 a day. He kept no expense account, he said. At the end of the year he charged the company $11 a day for expenses, and that was almost exactly what he spent. I made a calculation and found that the present trip has cost us $11 a day each, almost to a penny.

If you want to know what traveling costs, here is an estimate you may depend upon. This means rapid traveling, by railroad and steamship, and sightseeing in the towns with the assistance of a guide. The estimate includes the purchases a traveler is compelled to make and cannot be reduced much unless you travel second class and deny yourself many things.—Ed
W. Howe in His Travel Notes.

His Morning Duty.

Ministerial duties and increasing dignity have not robbed a certain minister of his cherished boyhood accomplishment of making fritters. He frequen-ly exercises this skill at breakfast time, much to the delight of the younger members of the family. Edith, the four-year-old daughter, recently took tea with a member of the congregation. After the silent grace the little one, looking at her unmarried hostess, remarked with pity:

"You don't have any one to pray for you, do you?"

Said one of the ladies present, smiling:

"I suppose your papa prays for you three times a day."

"Oh, no, he doesn't," was the innocent and earnest answer. "He fries in the morning and prays in the afternoon!"—Philadelphia Ledger.

Common Weakness.

An interesting light is thrown on the purely human side of the late Edward VII. of England by a story told of his inability to resist the temptation to appropriate a particularly good anecdote.

Some one told a delightful story to one of his majesty's young nieces.
"That is capital," she said. "I must tell it to the king."

"No," she instantly added, "I won't, for if you tell uncle a good story he forgets in a day or two that it was told to him and goes about repeating it to every one as his own."

Information Wanted.

Simmons had returned from his vacation. "I certainly enjoyed the husking bees," he said to the young woman.
"Were you ever in the country during the season of husking bees?"
"Husking bees?" exclaimed the girl.
"How do you husk a bee, anyway, Mr.
Simmons?"

THE nutritive value of onions is generally admitted, but the unpleasant odor that accompanies their cooking has made them unpopular with housewives. However, they may be baked without these unpleasant effects and an onion properly baked is one of the most appetizing of foods.

Baked in Paper.

Baked Whole Onions.—The large Spanish or Bermuda onions are the best baked. Wash clean, but do not remove the skins. Boil an hour; the water should be boiling when they are put in, and slightly salted. Change it twice during this time, always adding more boiling water. Drain off the water, take the onions out and lay upon a cloth, that all the moisture may be absorbed or evaporate. Roll each onion in a round piece of oiled paper, twisting it at the top to keep it closed, and bake in a slow oven nearly an hour. When tender all through, peel them, put them into a deep dish, and brown slightly, basting with butter freely. This will take perhaps a quarter of an hour more. Serve in a vegetable dish, sprinkle with pepper and salt, and pour the melted butter over them.

Onions En Casserole.

Baked Onions With Cream Sauce.— Wash and peel one quart of onions, put on in boiling water enough to cover, and boil without a cover until tender.
Drain, place in a buttered casserole dish, pour cream sauce over them and bake until light brown.

To make the sauce, take a tablespoonful of butter and put it into a saucepan to melt. Then add a tablespoonful of flour and mix thoroughly.
Slowly stir in a cup of cold milk.
When smooth and creamy, add a teaspoonful of salt, a quarter of a teaspoonful of white pepper and boil for three minutes.

The shortage of this year's grain crop for the entire country is estimated at one and one quarter billion bushels. That would fill quite a freight train if all loaded at once.

If Sulzer is all that the prosecution says that he is, with all that is bad there is a streak of good or he would never have quit the corrupt gang that is behind his prosecution and made them enemies. We admire him for the enemies he has made no matter what he may have previously done.

The prediction is made that Teddy has his plans laid to come home in time to capture the republican nomination in 1916 and then lead back to the fold of protection, imperialism, graft, trusts and monopoly the four million men who escaped under his leadership last fall. He cannot do it, for all men cannot flop as often as Teddy.

At 8 o'clock Friday evening by our time the new tariff law became effective, and the daily papers came out the same the next morning, the railroads continued to do business and it even rained the next day a little—so it is possible that things will not change much except for a few protected infant industries that may lose their hold on their particular sweet sugar teat.

Another plank of the democratic platform, not only of the last campaign, but of many preceding campaigns which president Wilson is starting to make good is that of Philippine independence. The new representative of the administration has given to the people of those islands the assurance that this long cherished right of self government will be extended to them.

Senator Hitchcock is to be congratulated on coming out on the side of tariff revision and voting against the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill which he has frequently said was not a good bill. Perhaps the present tariff is not just to his liking—it may be that we should have continued to protect our sugar beet farmers—but really we think it was wise not to let that point cause him to get entirely out of the field.

It is possible that the people may be allowed by the trusts under the new tariff law to manufacture denatured alcohol without restraint. The law previously passed to take the tax off was made in the interest of the big fellows as all laws were made under republican rule, and so was of no benefit to poor people and places where the supply of raw material was not sufficient to supply a large plant. With this in general use and manufacture it will displace much gasoline—hence it was necessary to stop the manufacture thereof.

With the new tariff law in full force and effect the Bradstreet report issued last of the week says: "Fall distribution active. Wearing apparel leads. Fall and spring goods sell well. Cotton goods lead. Higher prices rule. East, north, west and south, except Texas, send good reports. Collections helped by crop movement. Steady to strong commodity prices. Rains benefit fall pasture and seeded grain but injure Texas cotton and rice. Iron and steel in quiet demand. Wheat export is large; corn small. Securities rally on covering."

Woman's World

Miss Benton... First Dining Car Conductor.

MISS CAROLYN MARIA BENTON.

Shuttling back and forth in a railroad train, keeping passengers in good humor and advising the traveler ignorant as to what to eat while a train is running sixty miles an hour, Miss Carolyn Maria Benton of Cincinnati, the first woman dining car conductor in America, happily earns her daily bread. She likes the work.

Miss Benton, who directs the buffet car which is operated by the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton railway between Cincinnati and Dayton, was put in the place as an experiment. Now she is a fixture, and the railroad is looking for more efficient young women who can run diners.

"It means application, attention, tact and diplomacy to run a dining car," said Miss Benton. "I do not believe there will be many women dining car conductors. They cannot stand the work. There is too much rush, and the constant traveling is hard on the nerves. Men stand the work better, but I don't think they can do the work better than a woman."

"Every morning I start at 11 o'clock for Dayton. In the evening I make the return trip. I serve luncheon on the morning train and supper at night. No, it's just supper. You see, this is a buffet car, not a regular diner, and we don't have the same facilities for cooking large quantities."

"I have all my evenings at home, and I do not believe I am nearly as tired, even with the shaking of the train, as I would be if I worked in an office or factory."

For Serving Ice Cream.

There are modes even in the serving of ice cream. At present macaroon baskets, wafer boxes and a disguising covering of lady cake are among the most popular ways of serving this always acceptable dessert.

To make macaroon baskets dip the outer edge of five almond macaroons in the sirup obtained from melted granulated sugar. The first macaroon is used for the bottom of the basket and the others are stuck together to form a ring about it, exactly like the bur baskets we used to make when we were children. Fill this receptacle with ice cream and sprinkle ground macaroons on top.

Wafer boxes are put together in exactly the same way. Square wafers are the most desirable, two being used for the bottom and one at each end, standing upright. The ice cream should be cut into blocks that fit into the frame. Pink and white ice cream, garnished with cherries, makes an attractive color combination.

A novel way to serve brick ice cream is to cover the sides and ends of the brick with thick slices of lady cake. Cut the cream as usual. Each slice will have a frame of cake, contrasting prettily with the colors of the cream.

Vogue of Fur Trimmings.

Fur trimmings are by no means a neglected item this year, for the vogue for touches of fur trimmings has extended to suits, wraps, hats, dresses, blouses and negligees, says the Dry Goods Economist. The styles call for the use of expensive furs, too, as the color effects of high priced pelts are a special feature. This means that the demand now is foritch, leopard, mole, skunk, red, white and taupe fox, ermine, chinchilla, squirrel and similar pelts.

Fancy muffs are another source of profit to the fur department that carries an attractive stock of loose furs. Women are purchasing from two to five muffs. One or two of these may be wholly of fur, but the others are made of suit or coat material and trimmed with wide fur bands. These muffs are large, and it is surprising how much fur is required in making an up to date muff.

Then, too, the sale of muff pillows is no small item. They are expensive in the extremely soft new shapes and are well worth keeping in stock.

First Woman Through Canal.

Mrs. George W. Goethals, wife of the chief engineer of the Panama canal, sailed recently for Cristobal, declaring that she would not return to her home in this country until she had been through the canal. She expects to be the first woman to make the trip and will accompany her husband.

Points for Mothers

Poisons and Antidotes.

The mother who knows just what to do when the terrible accident of a dose of poison must be treated at once may save a child's life. It is every one's duty to have in mind a list of antidotes for ordinary poisons. If your memory is not good make one on a piece of paper and paste it on the wall of the bathroom.

Of course the prevention of the possibility of a child's taking poison is the important thing, but accidents are always occurring in the most carefully watched homes.

Impress on a child's mind the importance of taking nothing without permission. "Candy pills" may sometimes be poison. Sometimes a mother gives poison by mistaking a bottle in the medicine chest. An excellent idea is to have all bottles not only labeled, but marked with a card, on which a little bell is tied. This easy warning is particularly good in the dark, when so many mistakes occur.

Carbolic acid is one of the ordinary poisons that are found in the home and frequently taken in mistake. It burns the mouth, and its odor is unmistakable. Give epsom salts in abundance or soap. If the acid has burned the skin only, apply alcohol.

A child may take a large quantity of alcohol, which is classed as a poison. Give any simple emetic, such as mustard water, soap and water, etc. Apply a cold douche on the head and warmth to the body. If respiration is at a low register raise and lower the arms regularly, as is done in cases of drowning.

Corrosive sublimate should be counteracted by an emetic, followed by whites of eggs or great quantities of milk. Give tannic acid freely and a dose of castor oil to open the bowels.

Opium, including laudanum, morphine, paregoric or soothing sirups, can be counteracted by permanganate of potash in doses of four to five grains if the mistake is detected right away. Strong coffee is another antidote; also atropine. Keep the patient awake at all costs by walking, artificial respiration and a cold douche on the head and spine.

Phosphorus poisons include matches and some roach and rat poisons. Give an emetic and follow it by doses of permanganate of potash, four or five grains well diluted. Epsom salts or magnesia should then be administered to open the bowels. Do not give milk or oil of any kind.

Silver nitrate (lunar caustic) has an antidote in table salt, followed by an emetic. Milk or whites of eggs are also effective.

Strychnine, especially in pills, is mistaken often for other medicine. Its antidote is tannic acid following an emetic. Bromide of potash given freely is good.

Alkalies, including ammonia, potash, caustic, should be treated by vinegar or lemon juice, followed by sweet oil.

A Baby's Party.

Mothers who wish to celebrate the first anniversary of the baby's birthday should give a party after the following suggestions:

All the guests should be mothers, who can also bring their babies, and the invitations should be sent out to the infants themselves with a note to the effect that "you can bring your mother with you if you like."

Other guests may be invited, but it is understood that all are to be baby worshippers, as the party is not to be spoiled by the presence of cynics.

The tea table should be decorated with little cradles of glided wicker-work filled with the appropriate bloom of the month and tied with a lover's knot of satin ribbon to harmonize. In the center should be an arch of flowers towering above the baby's birthday cake, decorated with its one white candle, or, as some say, two, one to be the "life candle" and to be kept for the second birthday cake.

A postcard photograph of the baby, with the date of its birth in silver letters beneath, should be given to each guest and a small knot of flowers presented to all the babies assembled. One of the features of the afternoon is the baby guessing competition, in which every mother takes part.

Across the doorway is hung a curtain with a hole large enough to contain a baby's hand. One at a time each baby thrusts its fingers through this hole, and the mothers are asked to identify the child.

A prize of a baby's bib or a dainty pillowcase may be given, and the mother who makes the most mistakes is awarded a foolscap.

For the Schoolgirl.

To make a dress wear longer and look neater while it lasts pretty collar and cuff sets in white or pale toned linens prettily trimmed with lace are a wise investment for the small girl, as they are easily laundered. They should be made in various shapes and sizes.

Sandpaper Baby's Shoes.

Always sandpaper the soles of baby's new shoes before they have been worn. This keeps her from slipping on the bare or polished floors and prevents many a bad fall, which could easily result in a sprain or broken bone.

Want to Save Half Your Coal Bill?

How much money did you spend for coal last year?

Let us say you spent $40. If there was a way in which you could buy that amount of coal this year for $20, you would want to know about it, wouldn't you?

We can't sell you coal for half price, but we can tell you how to heat your entire home perfectly this winter at half the expense of last year's fuel.

With a FAVORITE BASE BURNER you can heat every room in your house comfortably on the coldest days, and do it with less fuel than is possible with any other heating stove.

WHY?

Because the Favorite is the only base burner that pours heat into the room from every square inch of its surface.

It gets every atom of heat out of the coal and throws it all into the home. None goes up the chimney.

Your home is warm and comfortable on blustery, icy-cold days when with any other base burner your wife and children would be huddling in a frozen group around an apparently inactive stove.

In the triple exposed flues you will find one reason why the Favorite is such a wonderful heating stove. There are many other reasons. Come and see us and we will tell you all about them.

School Notes

Friday being Patriotic Day, it will be briefly observed in all the schools.

The Northeast Nebraska Teachers' Association meets at Emerson next Saturday.

The second grade in the Nature Study this week are collecting and studying seeds.

Recent visitors were Mesdames Corzine, Hurst, Oman, Philleo, Reynolds, Nichols, Thiel and Ellis.

The State Teachers' Association meets at Omaha on November 5, 6, 7. The Wayne schools will be closed the 6th and 7th.

Tomorrow afternoon the Pender team plays the Wayne team on the local grounds at 3:45. It being Friday everyone in Wayne ought to be able to see this game.

The football team met defeat at Norfolk last Saturday by a 13 to 6 score but it was a good close game and the Wayne team did very well considering that the Norfolk team outweighed them about ten pounds to the man.

The following pupils have entered school within the last week: Fred Wells and Johnny Rundell the kindergarten; Elmer Hays the third grade; Hubert Myers the seventh grade; Herbert Myers, Ralph Ingham and Ruth Ingham the high school.

The kindergarten has for its leading thought this month "Autumn." The special subject for this week's morning talks is "Leaves" when the children will learn to recognize the different kinds, discuss their value and where they get their beautiful new dresses.

It will soon be rubber and overshoe time. The teachers of the kindergarten and first grade request the parents to co-operate with them and see that the new overshoes bought are of such a size, that the children will be able to put them on alone or with little assistance until the new wear off.

The Senior class for their rhetorical program last Friday gave a mock trial. Irven Sala was the defendant, the charge being stealing watermelons from Ensign Young. Earl Schroer was prosecuting attorney and Irwin Sears was attorney for the defendant. Other members of the class were officers, witnesses and jury. The trial was well given.

Mrs. J. D. Harris returned to her home at Ponca today after a visit with her daughter, Mrs. J. A. Wendte.

For heavy sleep is heavy work's reaction and it's not always easy for the heavy sleeper to get up without help.

That's where Big Ben comes in. He makes it easy every morning.

Big Ben is a truth-telling and reliable alarm clock.

He gets you up, he never fails.

You're always up on the dot if he's in the sleeping room.

See him in my window next time you come to town. Hear him greet you Good Morning. He is well worth meeting, indeed.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

John Gustafson returned from Omaha Monday.

Phil H. Kohl was in South Dakota the first of the week.

A. E. Laase went to Sioux City Tuesday on a business mission.

Last week Dean Hanson brought in three car of shoats for feeding.

J. W. Mason and daughter, Miss Mary, went to Sioux City Monday.

June Conger and wife went to Omaha Tuesday for a visit of a few days.

Elvin Johnson, accompanied by his wife, visited at Sioux City Tuesday.

J. C. Swanson was a Norfolk visitor Monday, and Tuesday was at Wakefield.

Have R. N. Donahey fit you with glasses. I do nothing but fit glasses.—adv.

Ted Perry unloaded a car of South Dakota shoats that were good ones here this week.

Geo. Hofeldt went to Omaha Monday evening with a car of fat white face cattle from his feed lot.

Miss Lulu Ross went to Rochester, Minnesota, Tuesday to consult the Mayo Brothers there, regarding her health which is not the best.

Mrs. Neely and daughter, Miss Edna, and Miss Helen White, went to Sioux City Tuesday to attend the matinee performance of "Everywoman."

Mrs. John Morgan returned home Monday evening from a visit of two weeks with relatives and friends at her former home in Harlan, Iowa.

Henry Meyers, senior, George Meyers and Henry Meyers, junior went to Omaha Tuesday to buy feeders if they found the quality and price right.

Miss King of Bloomfield and formerly of this place was here Tuesday while on her way to visit at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Buffington at Clinton, Iowa.

Mrs. Naffziger returned the first of the week from a visit with her children and her parents at Marcus, Iowa. The doctor went to Sioux City Sunday and met her there.

Jay Bliss was here from Wakefield Tuesday on a business mission. He was accompanied by his friend, Harry Montague from Lewis, Iowa, where Mr. Bliss formerly resided.

E. A. Chichester went to South Omaha Monday taking in a load of cattle and expecting to pick up some younger cattle and investigate the matter of buying a corn shredder while away.

Mrs. Chas. Kate of Bloomington, Illinois, came down from Dakota City where she is visiting her parents, and remained with Wayne friends until Tuesday. She was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Theobald.

Mrs. M. L. LaCroix was called to St. Joseph, Missouri, Tuesday by a message telling of the death of her son's mother-in-law. She had no definite plans as to the length of her stay or where she will spend the winter.

Mrs. Steel arrived here Monday from Harlan, Iowa, to visit her sister, Mrs. Geo. Heady, and Tuesday she and Mrs. Heady went to Norfolk to visit relatives, after which they go to Hartington to visit others of the family.

G. S. Mears has purchased from J. T. Bressler the undivided half of a quarter section of land five miles west of Winside. E. A. Johnson owns the other half interest, and of course the deal was made by Mears, Fisher & Johnson.

A. M. Jacobs and wife went to Sioux City Tuesday to visit at the home of John Goss and wife, people well known to Wayne folks, where they lived for a number of years. We are sorry to report that Mrs. Goss is not in the best of health.

A. W. and B. F. Adolph of this place were called to Watertown, S. D., Tuesday by news of the death of their brother, Andrew Adolph, who passed away Monday from blood poisoning coming from a fractured leg. The deceased man formerly lived at this place.

Miss L. A. Ellison of Okaton, S. D., came Sunday for a short visit with her brother and sisters near here, Mesdames Hartman and Cozad. Miss Ellison is holding down a claim in South Dakota and at the same time filling acceptably the position of station agent for the Milwaukee road at Okaton, for she is an experienced telegraph operator. She comes to her duties at the station daily by the "bronco" route, and is literally killing two birds with one stone.

John Meister left Tuesday afternoon to visit at Omaha a few days.

R. A. McEachen and John Banister went to Central City Tuesday on a business mission.

When you buy or have your glasses changed, come to R. N. Donahey's exclusive optical store.—adv.

Henry Linke bought a car of young hogs at Milo, Missouri, and will feed them out at his place northeast of town.

Herman Henny and Chris Wischhof left Tuesday for southern Texas where they have land interests not far from Brownville and Corpus Christi. They plan to be absent several weeks, and may run over into Mexico and tell those fellows down there that they had better behave themselves and quit fighting and go to work for a change.

One of the items that slipped away from us last week after notes were made of was the return of A. M. Jacobs and wife from Maine and other eastern points where they spent several months of the summer, where the cooling breeze of the Arctic current of the Atlantic fanned their cheeks, and made cool the night air. They reported a pleasant trip.

Chris Wischhof complains that some generous soul has been dividing chickens with him—that is, they took a part of Mr. Wischhof's chickens, and that is the way he knows they are generous else they would have taken them all. He lost five out of about a dozen. The birds were beheaded and the heads left to be counted so that they might know how many were gone.

Rev. Blessing and wife went to West Point Wednesday where they are attending the general synod of the English Lutheran church which is in session there this week, and where the ministers and delegates of that denomination from all over the state are assembled. Rev. Ringer, formerly of this church is the presiding officer. Robert Stambaugh goes today to attend the sessions the remainder of the week, and if weather and road conditions are favorable a number from here plan to drive over Sunday for the day.

One wonders sometimes at the number of sewing machines sold in this country, and it is remarkable too, the number that are made and sold. Last week the Democrat man was "interviewing" a pile of scrap iron and discovered where a lot of them bring up, for scattered over this pile of junk was the heads and iron frame of no less than twenty machines. This lot had been taken in by an agent for new machines, and after disposing of the best of his second hand machines had dumped the bunch that remained in the scrap heap.

The forty-sixth anniversary of the Nebraska Baptist State Convention will be in session at Lincoln at the East Lincoln Baptist church from October 11th to 16th. The convention was held at Wayne last year and a number of the strong workers that were in attendance here at that time are on the program this year. Rev. B. P. Richardson is on the program and will preside over the meetings of the day on Monday, October 13th and will preach the annual sermon in the evening. About 500 delegates are expected to be in attendance, among whom will be a number from Wayne.

With the opening of the sale season those who are planning to hold sales this fall and winter are reminded that the Democrat is prepared to get out your printing on short notice, and do a good job. Nor should you fail to remember that an advertisement in the paper will carry the news of what you have to sell to all parts of the county without your going all over to post bills. The Democrat will take notice of your sale right into the house where it can be read at leisure and in comfort. It will go to hundreds of people you could not reach with a sale bill. The automobiles jog along so fast that those who ride cannot read a sale bill as they pass, and they are in too much of a hurry to stop.

Henry Stuthman from north of Pilger was a Wayne visitor Tuesday, distributing advertising for his sale of Duroc Jersey boars, which is to be held at his place eleven miles south of Wayne and a little west. He left a catalogue at this office, and from it we learn that Mr. Stuthman has a classy bunch of swine. Their breeding is of the best and their merit as individuals is shown by the prizes won by the parents of the offering. The Democrat is glad to know that such men as Mr. Stuthman is helping to improve the standard of stock grown in the vicinity of Wayne and we believe that no farmer who is raising the pork for the nation can do it with more profit by breeding the best that is to be had.

The Girl and the Tramp

Manager Britton of the Opera House has secured the laughing comedy success "The Girl and the Tramp" and this charming comedy will be presented at the Opera House October 11.

The company presenting "The Girl and the Tramp" here, is the original city production and cast, the same that played all the larger cities last season. Mr. Pat J. Kane will be seen as the tramp. Mr. Kane in seasons past has been the feature comedian with such attractions as "The Goddess of Liberty," "The District Leader," and others and also was the original tramp in that well known drama "Human Hearts". Miss Tiny Leone will enact the part of the Girl. Miss Leone will be remembered as "Flower" in "The Flower of the Ranch," and "Bab" in "The Land of Nod". The supporting cast is of the very best and includes, Mr. Lief A. Berger formerly of "The Wolf," Miss Katherine Fredericks, and Mr. Wm. Fredericks late of the "The Sweetest Girl in Paris," Miss May Warren, Mr. James A. Pease and others. Musical numbers and high class vaudeville are introduced during the action of the play. Popular prices will prevail, 25c, 35c and 50c.

Opening of the Sale Season

The time of the year is at hand when farm sales will begin, and the first sale which the Democrat has to call attention to is the sale of thoroughbred Poland China and Duroc Jersey boars by Harry Tidrick at his farm two miles south and two east of Winside. Mr. Tidrick held a successful sale of this good stock last year, and prior to that time he had made a reputation for the stock he grows, and had a constantly growing demand among his neighbors in an ever widening circle. But he inclines with favor to the idea of inviting all who want to come at one time and see the entire offering, make their own price on it and leave him free to look after other matters the rest of the season. The sale will be cried at the farm by Clyde Oman on Wednesday of next week—October 15th. Elsewhere he has an advertisement telling more fully of his offering.

Potato Crop is Above Five Million Bushels.

SPUDS ARE WORTH $4,031,855

Three Candidates for Vacancy Caused by Judge Travis' Death—Work on State Arsenal Started—New Companies Pay In.

Lincoln, Oct. 8.—For the year 1913 the Nebraska potato crop amounted to 5,375,000 bushels, according to tabulations made by the state board of agriculture. There were 107,801 acres and the average yield was 49.87 bushels per acre. The crop at present prices is worth $4,031,855.25.

Among some of the counties that are heavy potato growers are the following: Box Butte, 553,176 bushels; Brown, 295,875; Cherry, 101,540; Cheyenne, 127,224; Custer, 101,775; Dawes, 170,112; Holt, 180,000; Lancaster, 118,203; Morrill, 268,800; Scottsbluff, 196,500; Sheridan, 628,768; St. Louis, 115,644. Morrill county averaged 200 bushels to the acre and Scottsbluff 125. Sheridan county harvested the largest crop with an average of fifty six bushels to the acre.

Ludi Approves Voucher.
 An approved voucher calling for payment of all expenses incidental to the publication of the house journal was sent to the state auditor by Printing Commissioner Ludi. The total cost of the work is $2,532.58, including $291.10 for members' pictures which Chief Clerk Richmond had printed as a part of the book. The action closes the discussion relative to whether or not the pictures were a part of the book proper. The members themselves were enthusiastic in endorsing the picture idea and were willing to have the new step taken in the belief that it would make the journal a better history and reference work of the lower house's acts.

McKelvie Begins Campaign.
 Lieutenant Governor McKelvie, not content to rest until he has been given a chance to occupy the executive offices at the state house, has started his advertising for the campaign. Many country papers are now carrying his copyrighted "Community of Interest and Community Co-operation" talks, numbered in "targets." A constitutional provision prohibiting executive officials from running for other executive offices during the term for which they are elected has failed thus far to restrain the local man.

Jones Makes Two Trips to Coast.
 The arrest and return of Joseph Kopf from Vallejo, Cal., to Nemaha county cost the state $368.65, according to vouchers filed by Sheriff Jones with the state auditor. Kopf is the man who is alleged to have murdered Julian Bauhaud, a wealthy bachelor, in southeastern Nebraska fourteen years ago. His arrest was brought about through the confession of Fuller Shellenberger. Sheriff Jones was compelled to make two trips to the coast to get his man and this caused the high expense.

Timber in Nebraska.
 Although Nebraska is considered a prairie state, according to figures prepared by the state board of agriculture, there are 303,745 acres of timber in the state. Otoe county has the largest amount of timber, with 26,506 acres. Holt county stands second, with 18,808 acres; Cass county third, with 18,873; and Webster county fourth, with 17,611 acres. Of the counties reporting, Banner and Blaine have the least acreage of timber, each reporting but thirty-five acres.

New Companies Pay In.
 The Masonic Temple associations of Broken Bow and Long Pine and the Thurston County Fair association are the first three incorporated societies to report to the secretary of state under the new effective provisions of the Potts corporation tax law passed by the last session. Each paid $1 as a tax. Church societies and similar fraternal and other organizations are liable to this payment.

Abbott Looking for Pupils.
 Superintendent Abbott of the Nebraska City school for the blind is making an effort to secure enrollment of all blind children in the state entitled to the privileges of the courses at the institution, of which he is the head. The present attendance at the school is fifty-three and this, it is believed by Superintendent Abbott, will be much increased within a few weeks.

Wants Money on Note.
 J. L. Leary of Indianapolis has informed the state auditor that he has a bank note of the Bank of Tekamah, issued in the year of 1859. He asks redemption of the paper. The state official has replied in a letter to Mr. Leary that it is worth no more than its value as a curio and that the paper represents early days in Nebraska's wildcat banking experiences.

Three Men Want Place.
 Three candidates are said to be in the race for appointment to the Second district judgeship vacated through the death of Judge Travis of Plattsburgh. These are Dan Livingston and W. W. Wilson of Nebraska City and D. O. Dwyer of Plattsburgh.

Gives Candy Order.
 The board of control has given an order for 1,000 pounds of candy for the use of the insane asylum at Hastings in celebrating next Christmas. There will also be nuts and like things for trimmings.

JOIN FARMERS' CONGRESS

Three More Organizations to Take Part in Celebrations.

Omaha, Oct. 8.—With about 700 agricultural organizations in the state already members of the Nebraska Farmers' congress that is to meet in Omaha in December, three more organizations will take part in the deliberations this year. They are the state tax commission, the Nebraska rural school conference and the agricultural council.

Some 7,000 delegates are eligible to the farm congress this year. Of course, there will not be quite that many, but the organization has been growing rapidly during its short life. There are 202 farmers' institutes alone that are members of the congress. There are about twenty-five granger organizations in the state that are members. And there are thirty-eight farmers' unions. County agricultural societies are also eligible to membership in the congress.

W. S. Delano, secretary of the farm congress, is in Omaha, making arrangements for the convention.

RESERVATION LAND OPENING

Registration for Fort Niobrara Land Will Start Oct. 13.

Lincoln, Oct. 7.—Registration for the forest reserve land drawings will be at Valentine, Broken Bow and North Platte and will start Oct. 13, according to announcement made by the state labor commission. Scores of letters have come in to that department asking for this information and Commissioner Pool has given out the dates in order that other Nebraskans who want to know them may have an opportunity to be on hand when the registration opens. The disposal of the land will follow the lottery plan and the drawing will occur some time prior to March 1 next.

ALL TALKING GOOD ROADS

County Maps Prepared for Meeting at Central City.

Omaha, Oct. 7.—County maps of the sections of the transcontinental highway through Nebraska are to be presented at the meeting of the Platte Valley Highway association at Central City tomorrow, when the matter of building the Nebraska section of the Lincoln Memorial Highway will come up. This is to be one of the big meetings in connection with the building of the transcontinental highway. H. E. Frederickson, state consul for Nebraska for the Lincoln Memorial association, has appointed a county consul for every county through which the highway has been tentatively laid out.

FEDERAL GAME LAW CHANGE

New Act Prohibits December Hunting on Larger Streams.

Lincoln, Oct. 7.—Game Warden Gust Rutenbeck has received a copy of the new federal game law passed by the present congress.

One provision of the law which has heretofore allowed an open season on migratory birds of one month during December, now entirely cuts out the open season and makes it unlawful to hunt them at all in waters of main streams of the Mississippi river between Minneapolis and Memphis and also of the Missouri river between Bismarck, N. D., and Nebraska City.

Club Federation in Session.

York, Neb., Oct. 7.—The Nebraska Federation of Women's club met in their eighteenth annual session. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. T. J. Gist of Falls City. An address of welcome on behalf of the city was made by Mayor E. B. Nelson; on behalf of the club women, by Mrs. Lena Meade, ex president of the York club; response, Mrs. Carrie Peterson of Aurora; greetings by the president, Mrs. T. J. Gist, and Mrs. Percy Pennybacker of Austin, Tex., president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. The address on "Industries Humanized by Recreation" was given by Charles F. Weller of Chicago, associate secretary of the Playgrounds Association of America.

Work on Arsenal Started.

Work on the state arsenal to be erected near the state fair grounds is now under headway. The building will contain two stories and a basement and will cost $5,000. Location of all the state's military property in the new building will relieve the congestion in the state house basement and will likewise make officials rest easier because of the removal of case after case of bullets and explosives.

Hear a Complaint.

Members Clark and Taylor of the railway commission heard the complaint of G. P. Postle, a Chalco farmer, who is attempting to have the Burlington railroad construct a passageway under its tracks adjoining his land. Former Justice Root of the state supreme bench came from Omaha to present the railroad's side of the case.

No Immediate Choice.

With no intent of seriously impairing the work of the district court, Governor Morehead has announced that he would hold up the matter of appointment of a successor to Judge H. D. Travis of the Second judicial district until he had had abundant opportunity to look into the qualifications of eligible candidates for the position.

Judge Barnes Operated On.

Judge J. B. Barnes of the state supreme court was operated on for a severe case of hernia. He is resting easy and his physicians predict that his recovery will be reasonably rapid.

CONDENSED NEWS

Maxim Gorky, the Russian novelist, is ill with tuberculosis.

Absolutely no damage was done to the Panama canal by the recent earthquake.

George E. Stocking's private bank at Creston, Ill., failed, with $120,000 deposits.

Chinese brigands killed an American child in an attack on missionaries at Tsaoynang.

Judge Humphries of Seattle defied the ruling of the supreme court and fined Socialists.

Aviator Noel broke the record when he took nine passengers up 600 feet and remained aloft for twenty minutes.

A silent cartridge, having neither flash, smoke, recoil nor noise, has been invented by Sava Rogozza for use in aerial warfare.

The ship Genesline struck on the rocks at the foot of Necarney mountain, on the Oregon coast. The crew of fifteen were rescued.

The Citizens Savings and Trust company of Milwaukee was closed by the state bank examiner. The liabilities are placed at $1,000,000.

"Moving pictures of animals drove us to the wall," said proprietors of the Rice Brothers' circus, defendants in bankruptcy proceedings at Chicago.

Reports from several cities in Texas indicate that damage from floods resulting from almost unprecedented rainfall will probably exceed $1,000,000.

Fourteen passengers were killed and twenty-eight injured when the express from Kiev to St. Petersburg collided with a stalled locomotive near Dvinsk, Russia.

Fatalities in the coal mines of the United States during the first seven months of the year numbered 1,437, as compared with 1,419 in the same period last year.

Aeroplane carried the mail from the fair grounds at Helena, Mont., to the city postoffice every day during the exposition just closed. A carrier rode on the machine.

A hundred persons fell fifteen feet in a screaming mass in a New York hall through the collapse of a gallery. Several were injured. The hall was being used as a synagogue.

The Canadian cabinet is expected to take up the question of admitting grain from the United States free of duty at the session of parliament which opens early in January.

George McCrea, under indictment at New York for swindling Simeon Jones, a Pittsburgh coal operator, out of $20,000 by means of a wire tapping game, is under arrest at Los Angeles.

After a rifle battle with several citizens, a band of robbers, who had looted the vaults in the First State bank at Dardanelle, Ark., escaped. Their loot amounted to several thousand dollars.

Mrs. Hildur Stahre, wife of a lieutenant in the Seattle fire department, gave poison to her four-months-old baby, Anna Elizabeth, and then drank a quantity of the drug herself. Both are dead.

King Gustav of Sweden is suffering from the effects of an operation for appendicitis performed in 1910 and has been obliged to take to his bed at Skabersjoe castle to undergo special treatment.

The jury in the case of Mrs. Laura M. Reuter, charged with murdering her husband, a prominent attorney at Tulsa, Okla., last year, returned a verdict of guilty and recommended life imprisonment.

Mrs. Joseph H. Cooper, sixty-five years old, was found dead and her husband, seventy years old, was found dying in their home at Mount Vernon, Ark. Physicians say the aged couple starved to death.

James P. O'Connor real estate broker of Joliet, Ill., pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery and was sentenced to from one to fourteen years in the penitentiary. O'Connor's forgeries aggregated more than $35,000.

A sentence of twenty-one days at hard labor was pronounced at Southampton on Harry Kemp, the American verse writer, who was charged with stowing himself away on board the steamship Oceanic on its last voyage from New York.

None of Harry K. Thaw's treaty rights as an American citizen were violated when Canadian immigration authorities forcibly deported him a few weeks ago. That was the ruling of Solicitor Joseph W. Folk of the state department.

William J. Young and his wife of Brandon, Manitoba, appealed to the St. Louis police to aid them in recovering $5,000, which they said they had given to two confidence men who persuaded them to bet the money on a "sure thing" horse race.

The terms of office of the five circuit judges now serving on the United States commerce court, which would have ended at once under the provisions passed recently by the house, have been extended to Dec. 31 by the senate appropriations committee.

The so-called "Slingsby" boy case, involving $50,000 a year income from a Yorkshire (England) estate and a charge of baby substitution by Lieutenant and Mrs. Charles Raymond Slingsby, in order to get this income, is to be reopened at San Francisco.

The price of radium has been advanced $10,000 a gram because of an unexpected demand for the precious substance. Radium now is quoted at $115,000 a gram, which means a pound of it would be valued at over $32,000,000 if such a quantity of it could be amassed.

Mrs. Henry Lage, who was called to Omaha last week to visit their little son, Louie, who was taken ill while at a hospital there for an operation, returned this morning with the little fellow able to return home. We could not learn how much benefit may be expected from the treatment, but join their many friends in hoping that it may be great and lasting.

Mr. and Mrs. Abbott of Weaubleau, Missouri, who have been spending the summer here at the home of their daughter, Mrs. W. Hurlbut near Carroll, left today for their home in the south. Mr. Abbott has been in this part of Nebraska before, and helped to build some of the good buildings at Wayne and nearby places eleven or twelve years ago. Mrs. Hurlbut accompanied them as far Wayne.

Wm. M. Christensen has just completed a good hog residence on his place north of Wayne. The building is 20x32, and is so arranged as to give good ventilation and plenty of winter sunlight. This latter feature is a plan of Mr. Christensen's idea, and the windows are so arranged as to form a part of the building that is part roof and part side, but the angle is such as to let the sun shine in and purify and warm the air in winter.

S. N. Houghton, who does not feel just right unless he has a few days off, spring and fall at least, for fishing or hunting or some sport in the open, packed up his gun Wednesday and started for the Elkhorn river to see if there be any ducks moving about those waters yet this fall. He has hunted in the south and the west, and does not speak very favorably of the shooting in the south—there are too many insects for the amount of game.

The editor is in receipt of a letter from John Locke who was for a number of years a resident of this place. He is now proprietor of "The Homestead," a temperance hotel at Banff, Alberta, Canada, and he asks with evident concern after the welfare of several of his former friends, all of whom are now living here except one. Here are the ones he asks about, and says that he would like to correspond with some of them: William House, John Bressler, John Lewis, James Britton, Frank Berry (deceased) and Chace & Neely.

Rollie Ley has purchased the Dr. Wightman residence in the northwest part of town, and has been given possession. They are now making it ready to move into. This is an elegant home and all in that neighborhood will be glad to see it once more occupied. LeRoy Ley has purchased the residence soon to be vacated by his brother, but will not move there before spring, as himself and wife will continue to occupy the home place while Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ley spend the winter in California. F. S. Berry and family will occupy the Rollie Ley property until some time next summer when they plan to have a residence of their own completed, having purchased the north lot of the Bently property on Main street expecting to begin the erection of a house there in the spring.

Luttrell—Eberhard

Tuesday, October 7, 1913. Judge Britton said the words which made husband and wife of Johnson E. Luttrell and Miss Goldie Eberhard at the court house at Wayne. These young people evidently wished to start on life's voyage together from a good town and selected Wayne for the happy event, for the groom is an enterprising solicitor who came from Oklahoma, and the bride, accompanied by her mother came from Herrick, S. D., where she has been a successful teacher. Starting out together from this good town they are bound to succeed.

Among The Churches of Wayne

German Lutheran Church
Rev. Rudolph Moehring, Pastor.

Services at the usual hour in the morning, and the quarterly meeting will follow the morning sermon, when new officers will be elected.

Members and all others interested should remember that the Missionfest will be held on the third Sunday of the month—October 19, when there will be services both morning and afternoon. There will be present to address the people Rev. H. Wellhausen, D. D., of Norfolk, Fr. Rabe of Bloomfield and Rev. Holzberger of Pierce. The ladies society will prepare dinner for all who attend the services which will be served on the church lawn in a tent which will be erected for that purpose.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church
(Rev. Blessing, Pastor.)

There will be no services next Sunday morning or evening, as the pastor will be at West Point attending the 41st annual convention of the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Nebraska.

There will be Sunday school at 10 o'clock. As there will not be services let every one attend Sunday school.

We were very glad to see the good attendance at services last Sunday. We have not been having evening services for some time but will have from this time on.

There will be no choir rehearsal this week.

The Ladies' Aid society will entertain the Ladies society of Emerson Nebraska at the Parsonage October 16th. All of the ladies of the church and those who are interested in our work are urged to be present. The Emerson ladies will come down on the morning train and return on the afternoon train.

I will begin my catechetical classes soon after the meeting of Synod. Those who wish to attend these classes and have not spoken of it, do so soon.

Methodist Church
Rev. C. L. Myers, Pastor

By Monday the pastor and family will be settled in their new home and ready to receive callers.

The Sunday morning class is a means of grace. Will you not visit us at 10 o'clock?

Because some parents are not christians their children know not God.

We are taking up a study of our Lord's parables at the mid-week prayer service. Come and study with us.

The Mother's day program given by the Light Bearers was very pleasing. Many more mothers should have been present.

Next Sunday morning the pastor will preach on Christian work. In the evening on Consecration.

A splendid Epworth League service was conducted by Professor Redmond Sunday. We will meet again this coming Sunday at 7 o'clock under the leadership of Ensign Young.

The Woman's Missionary societies will meet in regular session with Mrs. H. J. Miner Friday at 2:30. All are invited.

The Sunday school is for you. Classes for all ages.

Next Sunday a graduation service will be held at the close of the lesson study in the Sunday school. A special invitation is extended to you.

Baptist Church
Rev. B. P. Richardson, Pastor

Both the ordinances of the church, baptism and the Lord's Supper, were observed last Sunday morning. It made the service an impressive one.

Next Sunday the pastor, together with others are to be away, attending the State Convention at Lincoln. But we are exceedingly fortunate in having some of our own people, two of our young men, who will preach at both services. The very presence of two such young men, leading a religious service is full of inspiration to an audience. Mr. Clarence Linton will preach in the morning, assisted by Mr. Rogers.

In the evening Mr. Elmer Rogers will preach assisted in the service by Mr. Linton. Subject, "A Noble Profession."

We are sure both services will be highly appreciated and helpful.

At 6:30 the young people meet Sunday evening, with Miss Rue Rickabaugh as leader. The subject being a review of favorite Scripture verses.

Last week the pastor was privileged to spend three days at Verdel, Nebr. Here he found a number of Christians, but no church. He also found great need of an organized church and regular work. After preaching two evenings, he baptized seven men and women and organized a Baptist church. Others were received into the church while still others are waiting to be baptized. Here is a great field, calling for help.

Now is the time for hearty cooperation in all departments of church work on the part of all our members. Our work is all one, and belongs, in all its parts, to all of us. Have you got your envelopes yet? There is a package for you.

Presbyterian Church
Rev. Alexander Corkey, Pastor.

Next Sunday evening will be a Business Men's Service, under the auspices of the Men's Brotherhood, and Mr. A. R. Davis, president of the Brotherhood, will assist in the services. The subject will be "Present Day Honesty," especially as far as Christian people, or professed Christians, are concerned. There will be a prelude by one of the men of the church on "Causes of Dishonesty". In the sermon the pastor will discuss the question of the standing of Christians who do not pay their debts and whose honesty is at a discount in the business world. The text of the evening service will be "Thou shalt not steal, either in large amounts or in small." In the morning the members of the Sunday school have been invited to be present at the 10:30 service of worship. In connection with this service there will be commencement exercises at which time two classes will be graduated from the primary department of the Sunday school into the junior department, and diplomas will be presented to the members of these classes by Mrs. H. S. Ringland, superintendent of the primary department. The subject of the sermon will be "Authority in Christian Teaching." The Sunday school meets at 12 o'clock each Sabbath, immediately following the morning service. There are classes for all ages, arranged to accommodate the child of three and all intervening ages up to the venerable great-grand father of ninety years. The young people's prayer meeting begins at 7 o'clock and lasts only half an hour. This enables all the young people to remain for the evening service which begins at 7:30.

Mrs. J. G. Mines is attending the Presbyterian convention at Kearney this week, representing the local Missionary society. The society met today with Miss C. White.

State Normal Notes

The regular quarterly bulletin of the school will be issued this month.

The first number of the Goldenrod under its new management will appear about October 11.

Last Saturday at Lincoln President Conn attended a conference of heads of institutions authorized by law to grant state certificates.

Special numbers for convocation the past week are: Plano solo by Mrs. House and talks by Miss Killen, Dr. House and Prof. Bright.

A card from Nettie L. Bruce states that she is starting nicely with her work in a rural school near Florence, Nebraska.

Miss Belle McGee enjoyed a visit the first of the week from her father, Mr. I. L. McGee of Farley, Iowa.

A good attendance and a good program are reported of the meeting of the Crescent literary society in the chapel last Friday evening.

New registrations in the normal this week are Della B. Abbott, Crawford; Theo. A. Anderson, Niobrara; Lottie M. Pischel, Niobrara.

Friends at the normal have received invitations to the marriage of Mr. John Thoene and Miss Kathryn Bonertz. These young people were students of the school two years ago.

Unusual interest is being shown in the chorus work under the direction of Professor Coleman. A cantata entitled "The Rose Maiden" by Cowen will be rendered in the near future.

Chaperoned by Dean and Mrs. H. H. Hahn the senior class took a tramp to Bressler's grove last Thursday evening, where wienies and marshmallows were roasted around the campfire.

A special meeting of the Y. M. C. A., is announced for the afternoon of October 19. The young men will be addressed at that time by a representative of the state organization.

Miss Della B. Abbott has recently enrolled and will be a member of the senior class. Miss Abbott is a graduate of the Crawford high school and completed the junior year of the Chadron normal.

"Aims in Manual Training" is the subject of a paper to be presented by Charles L. Culler before the teachers' meeting at Emerson next Saturday. Mr. Culler was graduated from the Wayne normal with the class of 1912, taking special work in manual training.

On the program of the Northeast Nebraska Teachers' Association to be held at Emerson Saturday, October 11, the following parts will be taken by members of the faculty

FROM SOUTH AMERICA

Hon. John Kuhl Writes Interesting Letter From Brazil in Randolph Enterprise

There is only one direct steamship line at present from New York to South America ports. It is an English company. Its rapidly increasing business compelled the company to put on two new modern steamers last year. One sailed on the Vasari August 9th and reached Bahia August 24th, and Rio de Janeiro August 28th. The weather was ideal. Nothing occurred to break the daily routine on the ocean except an occasional steamer and a number of whale off the coast of Brazil. Flying fish were so numerous that it was no longer a diversion to watch them. We anchored in the bay of Bahia August 24th.

Most passengers went ashore. Bahia is the oldest city in Brazil and is its second in size. It is the capital of the state of Bahia. It is a dirty place and had a few cases of yellow fever when we were there.

There is an upper and a lower town. The upper town is reached by elevators and an inclined plane. The wharves and warehouses are in the lower town, which is narrow level strip along the shore. There is evidence everywhere that the natural advantages for drainage have not been utilized. The streets run at every angle and are a succession of narrow alleys. However Bahia is following the example of Rio and has laid out a wide street through the principal part of the city, and is now at work wrecking the houses to make room for this street. It will take millions to modernize Bahia, but when once modernized it should be one of the healthiest and most important commercial cities of South America. It has a beautiful harbor.

The principal exports at Bahia is coffee, cocoa, sugar, tobacco and cigars. Bahia cigarets are favorites in Brazil. Nearly everyone smokes cigarets. The population of Bahia is stated to be about 350,000. It is a hybrid race. About ninety per cent a mixture of Indian, Negro and Portuguese. They are all undersize and evidently underfed. Fully one-half are pock marked and many have poor eyes. Physical degeneration is very much in evidence. It is hard to build a great nation with such material.

The bay city Rio de Janeiro surpasses in beauty anything I have seen. Naples does not compare with it. Its climate is said to be almost perfect. It is the capital of Brazil and the second largest city in South America and undoubtedly one of the loveliest and cleanest cities in the world. The view from Sugar Loaf Mountain at the entrance to the bay is magnificent. You reach the top of this mountain by an ariel cable car, which spans a gulch about one thousand feet deep. Corcorado mountain is still higher and is reached by a cog railway like Pike's Peak. Millions of dollars have been spent in the last ten years to make Rio sanitary and up-to-date. The Arinido Central was built through the heart of the city by tearing down all buildings in its way and replacing them with modern structures. The Arinido Beira Mar (main drive) is probably the finest of its kind in the world. There are streets lined with palm a hundred feet high and straight as an arrow. The botanical garden is said to contain a greater variety of palms than any similar place in the world. With better transportation facilities, Rio promises to become a very popular place for tourists.

Brazil has hard times at present. The coffee crop is poor this year and in addition to that, the quality is poor. Business men are unable to get money to meet their obligations and there are many failures. One can get from ten to twelve per cent interest on gilt edged real estate security. The Brazilian government has been unable to meet its financial obligations. Some of the government employers have not been able to get their pay for several months. The inability of the government to float its bonds, owing to the drain on European capital by the Balkan war, is blamed for the condition. Fortunately there is no democratic party to blame nor is there any trust busting being attempted. Neither the tariff nor currency question is driving timid capital into hiding. But money is scarce and hard to get in Brazil.

Brazil is the most friendly government in South America toward the United States. They feel highly elated and flattered at the reception given their cabinet minister, Dr. Lamo Muller, who was recently sent to the United States to return the visit of Secretary Root to Brazil a few years ago. Our authorities evidently made a hit with the Brazilians in the attentions given Dr. Muller. They have an ambition to become a great power and to be recognized as such. The attention given by our government to their representative evidently met their views and expectations along this line.

American trade in Brazil is sewing machines, cash registers, farm machinery, barb wire and automatic and several other lines have a numerous run. A great per cent of the business here is in the hands of the Germans and the English. With the Germans apparently in the lead. However, the foreign banking interests are mostly English.

How it Works at Medicine Hat

The Nebraska Farm Magazine for October tells a story in simple language that explains some of the workings of a method of taxation which is growing rapidly in popular favor, if any taxation can truthfully be said to meet with favor. Here it is:

H. E. Maycock is a Winnipeg fruit broker. Like the majority of Canadians he has strong leanings toward tax reform. Maycock owns an unimproved lot in a remote addition to Medicine Hat, bought for purposes of modest speculation. Medicine Hat adopted the single tax on land values, exempting all forms of personal property from taxation. The first year Mr. Maycock paid taxes on his lot on a valuation of $200. The second year it was $500 and the third year it was $2,500. Maycock says he is going to sell that Medicine Hat lot and stop speculating in unearned increment in that locality.

Mr. Maycock does not feel sore about this rapidly increasing assessment; he phrases it thus:

"Speculation in wildcat additions hinders legitimate city building. It scatters necessary public utilities over wide areas which will not be fully developed for many years. It is economically wasteful and breeds bad civic habits. The direct result of the single tax on land values in Canadian towns is to make speculators pay the same rate of tax as resident citizens who develop and improve the city. Speculators do not like this policy. It cuts the 'velvet' out of their speculation. Consequently they get rid of their outlying investments at a loss if necessary and put their money in inside property which will be immediately improved, and yield a revenue. Inasmuch as they are not taxed on buildings and other improvements, building is stimulated and Canadian cities are growing apace. This all tends to concentrate and develop a uniform plan of city building and stimulates both public and private improvement. We find in Canada that the land value tax helps every form of business and works injustice to none."

The quaint philosophy of David Harum, "Do unto others as they would do unto you—and do it first" applies forcefully in the Medicine Hat incident. That astute community simply did to Mr. Maycock what he was trying to do to the community of Medicine Hat, and "did it first." Being just an average good citizen with a sense of the equities which should subsist between men, Maycock takes his medicine and admits frankly the inherent righteousness of a community taking the values created by its resident citizens for community uses instead of handing these values over to nonresident speculators. It is an illuminating incident, though simple.

Canadian farmers largely favor the land value tax, but they have not as much reason to favor it as the American farmer. The Canadian law allows the town to fix its tax system to suit the citizens of the town. Inasmuch as they pay most of the taxes and do about all the work of the community this does not seem unreasonable. The county system of taxation in this country which is hedged about with constitutional restrictions works differently. Improvements and intangible personal property in the cities escape their just share of taxation under the defects of the present system and the wage worker and the farmer have to pay more than their just portion because evasions are so common as to be notorious. When the wage worker and the farmer understands that the land value tax exempts building, live stock, implements and the tools of industry they will see that it encourages industry and tends to distribute the burdens of government equally. Why should a man be fined because he tries to produce something which society needs?

It is improbable that assessment of farm lands will ever increase like the Medicine Hat lot. The limit of agricultural production in a given area will tend to equalize land values automatically under a rational system.

In the heart of the business section of Portland, Ore., is a half-block of ground surrounded with modern business blocks. It is occupied only by a few miserable frame tenant houses. Twenty years ago the present owner of this land bought it with the buildings now on it for $3,500; last year he refused two and a half millions for it; it is assessed at $165,000. He will not improve this land nor allow anyone else to improve it. He simply sits on it and counts in anticipation the unearned increment which the 200,000 citizens of Portland are heaving up for him or his heirs. He did not earn this prospective value for he has done nothing to earn it. Who created this wealth and to whom does it rightfully belong? If it was created by the community is it not community wealth? If it is community wealth should not the community get more of it? And while we are asking questions, just one more; why should a man be fined for having a home and raising citizens for the republic while unearned wealth piles up for the speculator?

Buy a Mechanical Drudge

ANY a winter day of back breaking labor has the average farmer spent stooping over the old buck saw, z-r-r-p, z-r-r-ping its way through tough wood for the kitchen stove supply. But the wise ones don't do it now. They have a handy engine to run the saw, while they rest and plan for next summer's work.

This engine is about the busiest and most convenient machine the wise man has on his farm. It pumps water for him, runs the separator, washing machine, feed grinder, corn sheller, and grindstone. Often it runs a hay press, ensilage cutter, small thresher, or a repair shop. The year round it drudges for him, saving the man's strength for more profitable things. And the wisest man has an because it does most for him at least cost. Its simplicity renders it almost trouble-proof. Its construction makes it easy to start and to operate, and it is most economical in fuel consumption. It is made of best material, and when necessary it will deliver 10 to 30 per cent above its rated horse power. I H C responsibility for the engine lasts all the years it is in service.

I H C engines are made in all styles—vertical and horizontal, portable, stationary and skidded, air and water cooled. There are pumping, sawing and spraying outfits. Sizes from 1 to 50-horse power, to operate on gas, gasoline, naphtha, distillate, kerosene, and alcohol. Oil tractors, 6-12 to 30-60-horse power for plowing, threshing, etc.

The I H C local dealer will show you the engines and tell you all about them. Get catalogues from him, or write the

Mr. and Mrs. George King of Westington Springs, S. D., arrived here last week for a two weeks' visit with the latter's brother, H. C. Lyons and family.

Marotz-Hille Nuptials

A pretty home wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gust Marotz, sr., at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The contracting parties were Miss Bertha Marotz and Mr. Phillip Hille. Rev. John Aron was the officiating clergyman who tied the nuptial knot pronouncing the ceremony which united the lives of these estimable young people. The wedding was a quiet one, witnessed only by the immediate relatives of the bride and groom. Promptly at three o'clock, to the music of the wedding march, played by Mrs. Ed Marotz, the young couple took their places in a pretty room where the minister with an impressive yet simple ceremony made them husband and wife. A five o'clock wedding supper was served.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gust Marotz, sr., and was one of our choicest young ladies. From a little girl she has grown up in our midst, honored by old and young. The groom is a stranger to us, but judging from what the bride is worthy of, he is a good and noble man.

Mr. and Mrs. Hille will make their home in Norfolk where the groom has a position with the railroad company at the Creighton depot. They left for the above named place Monday forenoon.—Hoskins Headlight.

Home From Germany

Carl Nurnburg returned home last Friday from a six weeks' visit at his old home, Burg auf Fehmarn, Germany. Carl left his native land when merely a boy and this was his first visit home. He came to make his fortune and he certainly fulfilled, for he now is owner of considerable good old Nebraska real estate. He found his father and mother enjoying good health, his father still working at the shoe-making trade as he did when Carl was a boy.

His trip he says was uneventful, arriving at New York he took the steamship "America." Nine days on the sea, which was as calm as a lamb, brought him to Hamburg, where relatives and friends were at the dock to meet him. The change, he states was far too great to conceive. When he left, farming was mostly done by hand, now they have the same machinery as we have. About the only difference in machinery that he could notice is the fact that they were unable to use a seven foot binder, owing to the thickness of the grain. Wheat and barley turned out very good this year and truck farming just as good. The trip across the water home was a little rough. Four thousand passengers were on board and most all were seasick.—Windsor Tribune.

What Columbian Powders Will Do

Columbian powders expell worms, prevent hog cholera, coughing, swine plague or worm fever, thumpings. These powders are anti-acid, anti-fermentative, and anti-febrile. They allay irritation of the stomach and bowels, cool and purify the blood, prevent sour stomach, gas and insure heavy feeding, good health and fast gains. It will kill all worms in hogs, sheep and horses. Try it, it will prove its value to you. See or telephone our local representative, W. E. Roggenback. Phone 1708.—adv. 40-3.

Miss Sybil Dixon, who has been conducting a sewing school and dressmaking parlor here for some months past, has established a similar business at Creighton and departed this morning for her new field.

FIGHTING A FIRE IN IRKUTSK.

A Comedy of Flaming Torches and Empty Water Wagons.

They fight fires in a peculiar way in Siberia. First you find the fire. The city is plotted into districts, each with its engine house and watchtower. On the watchtower by day and night stands a guard who scans the house-tops for a sign of smoke. When the fire has got enough headway for him to see the smoke he gives the alarm and the engines dash out. The spectator is amused, not so much at the dash as at the engines. They are primitive, and the use of them is more so.

We went to a fire one Sunday afternoon in Irkutsk, continues Mr. Richardson L. Wright in his book "Through Siberia." It was close to our hotel, so that we had an excellent view. First came a troupe team that dragged a hook and ladder carriage. On the carriage clung the firemen, howling Cossacks with brass helmets jammed down over their ears, who carried in one hand—how the symbolism would have stirred the heart of Maeterlinck!—flaming torches. Behind the hook and ladder was the hosecart, and then came a hand engine of the type our grandfathers used to drag to fires. After that, for two blocks, trailed a queue of water filled hogsheads on wheels. The cavalcade passed us in a cloud of dust, accompanied by the yells of the torch-bearing firemen. When the supply of water ran out the carts dashed down to the river and were replenished.

This crude high pressure service gave rise once to a rather humorous incident that the Irkutskians tell with great glee. During a fire several years ago a string of water wagons went down to the river, were filled and came rumbling back. When they reached the fire the water was gone. The enthusiastic captain of hogsheads had neglected to put back the plugs in the barrels and had spilled his supply for several blocks along the main street.

WHEN THE EARTH QUAKES.

Stresses and Strains to Which Our Globe is Subjected.

When the stairs creak and the furniture gives out mysterious cracking sounds at night we sometimes sit up in bed and wonder if there is a burglar about, but it doesn't occur to us that what we hear is really an earthquake on a small scale. The night air has caused the wood to contract with a snap, thus accounting for the alarming sounds. This is just exactly what the earth is doing periodically. To a microscope, resting on the polished surface of the table, this disturbance is probably as violent as an earthquake is to a human being.

An earthquake is a terrible thing. It comes without warning. It is over before one knows which way to fly, and its fury can be abated by no man. Yet to the geologist earthquakes are only symptoms. They are not causes so much as results—results of great stresses and strains within the earth that cause slippings and shiftings from time to time. If the rocks on the shell of the earth slip and grate against each other so much as an inch along a fissure ten miles in length a shiver is felt. A slip of fifteen feet along a course of 200 miles sufficed to bring about the terrible San Francisco earthquake and fire.

These strains and stresses accumulate steadily within the earth. The point at which they have once found relief is weaker to resist the next strain. It slips again presently. By successive movements its sides become more and more displaced. Rock layers, mineral veins, coal seams that cross the line of displacement, are joggled out of their course. So are roads, fence lines and brooks that run across it on the surface. In the San Francisco quake one man's front yard was moved twenty feet to one side of his house, and in another place the slip line came so close to a man's barn that some piles of straw, thrown out from the windows, were carried away. In Japan a cliff twelve feet high interrupted a roadway, and thousands of similar cases might be cited. These were primary movements along the line of the disturbance that caused the earthquakes.—Brooklyn Eagle.

BRITISH GROUSE HUNTERS.

No Business is Allowed to Interfere With Their Sport.

The grouse hunting season in Britain opens on Aug. 12. On that day every Englishman and every Scot who makes any pretension to a standing in society goes gunning for two weeks at least. Nothing is allowed to stand in the way of this annual diversion. For a week or two preceding this outing business is of little consequence. Everything to receive any attention at all must relate in some way to guns and dogs. A year or so ago a New York man had occasion to go to London to meet a British financier to put the finishing touches to a matured business proposition. He arrived a couple of days before the 12th of August. The financier was not in his place of business. "No," said his chief clerk; "he has gone for the grouse shoot. He will not talk business with any one. I do not think he will see you at all, sir."

"But," said the New Yorker, "I have crossed the Atlantic for no other purpose than to see him. This business will not take more than half an hour of his time, and then I'm off for home again."

"I should advise against your going to his home, sir. He would not receive anybody at this time. He will attend to no business."

But the New Yorker thought differently. He went to the country home of the financier. A burly butler met him at the door. To him the New Yorker gave his card. It was promptly returned to him.

"The master," said the butler, "will see no one. He sets out for the grouse shooting tomorrow. He says to call, please, in a fortnight."

And the New Yorker was compelled to remain two weeks longer until the Englishman returned from his hunt, when the business was finished in twenty minutes.—Indianapolis News.

The Seven Wise Men.

The names and characteristic aphorisms of the seven wise men of ancient Greece are as follows: Solon of Athens, "Nothing in excess;" Theles of Miletus, "Suretyship brings ruin;" Pittacus of Mitylene, "Know thine opportunity;" Bias of Priene in Caria, "Too many workers spoil the work;" Chilon of Sparta, "Know thyself;" Cleobulus of Rhodes, "Moderation is the chief good," and Periander of Corinth, "Forethought in all things."

Father's Inconsistency.

Father will splash around in two feet of water and ruin a good suit of clothes to save articles in a stranger's house during a thirty cent fire. But if the pan under the ketchup bows over he will go upstairs and wake mother so she can come down and mop it up.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

In the Marghes.

"What makes you stand on one foot and move your shoulders in that way?" asked the snipe.

"Well," replied the crane, "there's no chance of my learning to sing, so I'm practicing to see if I can't become a classic dancer."—Washington Star

Desirable Beef Steers and Cows

Stuff Steady to Strong.

HOGS SELL 10 TO 15c LOWER

Receipts of Sheep and Lambs Second Largest of the Season—Both Fat Stock and Feeder Grades in Active Demand at About Steady Prices.

On Stock Yards, South Omaha Oct. 7.—Cattle receipts were about 7,500 head, or some 3,000 short of last Tuesday and a decrease for the two days as compared with last week of 5,000 head. Desirable native beefs were in good demand and steady, choice yearlings selling at $9.35. Best rangers were also steady, selling up to $8.00. Medium and common grades, both steers and cows, were slow to a little lower. The feeder trade was active, best grades firm, others a shade off.

Quotations on cattle: Choice to prime beefs, $9.00@9.25; good to choice beefs, $8.75@9.00; fair to good beefs, $8.30@8.60; common to fair beefs, $7.75@8.25; fair to choice yearlings, $8.50@9.35; good to choice heifers, $6.50@7.50; fair to good cows, $5.75@6.25; canners and cutters, $3.25@5.25; veal calves, $6.50@9.50; bulls, stags, etc., $5.25@6.50 choice to prime feeders, $7.00@8.30; good to choice feeders, $7.25@7.60; fair to good feeders, $6.60@7.10; common to fair feeders, $6.00@6.50; stock cows and heifers, $5.00@7.00; choice to prime grass beefs, $7.90@8.25; good to choice grass beefs, $7.50@7.90; fair to good grass beefs, $7.00@7.50; poor to fair grass beefs, $6.25@7.00.

The run of hogs was fairly liberal, about 6,200 head, but eastern markets were sharply lower and the local trade was slow to open. When dealers got down to business it was at prices 10@15c lower than Monday, and practically everything changed hands on this basis. Tops brought $8.25, as against $8.45 last Tuesday, and the bulk of the trading was at $7.95@8.10, as against $8.25@8.35 a week ago. Pigs were also in liberal supply and lower, at $6.00@7.25.

Receipts of sheep and lambs were the second largest of the season, or in the neighborhood of 53,000 head. Trade started out slow, with packers bidding about steady figures for fat stock and feeder buyers bidding a little lower. Trade later became quite active and about steady all around, with a very good clearance of all kinds. Best lambs brought $7.15.

Quotations on sheep and lambs: Lambs, good to choice, $7.00@7.25; lambs, fair to good, $6.65@7.00; lambs, culls, $5.00@6.00; lambs, feeders, $5.00@6.00; yearlings, good to choice, $5.50@5.65; yearlings, fair to good, $5.25@5.50; yearlings, feeders, $4.50@5.00; wethers, good to choice, $4.25@4.60; wethers, fair to good, $4.00@4.25; ewes, feeders, $4.00@4.35; ewes, good to choice, $4.00@4.30; ewes, fair to good, $3.75@4.00; ewes, feeders, $3.25@3.60; cull sheep, $2.00@3.00.

MEAT is one of the most important nourishments for the body. The hard working men, especially can not do without it. One may cut his other bodily requirements short but it never pays to save on meats. Always get the best and be sure you get enough. The question as to where the best meat is gotten at Wayne has already been decided. All meats stamped with the B. C. (Becker & Co.) approval bears the supremacy. It is a known fact. Doesn't our astounding success at Wayne in itself acknowledge it? Isn't there a reason why our trade is increasing day by day? The most of the people can tell a good piece of meat when they taste it. It is actually a treat to eat some of Becker's Best. You found it so when you tasted some during this fall festival. Our quality of meats are so highly spoken of that the most important influential merchants of the town requested us to furnish the meats for the free lunches served by them. It was served free of charge. Every business man had a treat for you. Don't forget to ask for Becker's Best. Get the habit, take nothing else but BECKER'S BEST. It costs no more and you are sure to get the best grade of meats.
