

WAYNE'S NEW DEPOT OPENING

A Happy Crowd Attended the Opening of the New Passenger Station Friday Evening. Boosting Spirit Dominant.

When the doors of Wayne's new passenger station were thrown open to the public last Friday evening there was an eager crowd ready to enter and participate in the dedication exercises. But not all who had planned to attend were there when the doors opened, and for an hour after they continued to come until every available bit of seating and standing room within was taken and many stood outside on the ample platform and looked in and listened to such part of the entertainment as was carried over the heads of the audience to those without.

After several selections by the Wayne band, W. D. Redmond took charge of the program and the Normal Male Quartet gave a selection which proved that the acoustic properties of the main waiting room were excellent. L. A. Kiplinger told of "The new depot and our appreciation," in an excellent little speech, and urged that having this good thing we should reach out for others. The response to this by Henry Truelson, on behalf of the company was brief but sincere.

C. H. Bright told of the relation of railroad to the people in a manner which interested and instructed all. He showed plainly that there are two sides to the question—that the people should not expect too much for too little, and that the railroads also owed to the people fair and just treatment. He showed that the railroads are sometimes taken advantage of and also that they are not slow to take an advantage when the opportunity offers.

A. R. Davis spoke on the street paving proposition and gave figures to show the cost per lot in the different districts—business or residence. He stated that Wayne could not stand still—it must go forward or back. We have now reached a time when the traffic is too great to be economically carried on over mud streets. No place starts to pave and then stops—but new districts keep asking for the benefits. So it would be with Wayne. He estimated the cost of the best quality at $2.25 the square yard, which is no doubt more than it would cost when let by bid.

T. W. Moran, the popular agent of the company who has been here practically ever since the first rail was laid, won the audience with his reminiscences. He told of the early day trials of both people and train men—how the conditions were in those days. There was supposed to be a train a day each way—and sometimes there was if all went well—but sometimes the train would start out and a day or two later some member of the crew would make his way back on foot to tell that they were blocked in between here and Wakefield and had been there for a day or two unable to get either way and no help to reach them for several days perhaps. He spoke of the many improvements made in the service and equipment, and did not fail to mention the new station at Wayne as among the very best. Mr. Moran is a good speaker and tells a story well, and when he quit every one present wished that he would go on and read to the bottom of his paper. There was more than an idle curiosity to know what else he had in store—it was genuine interest.

E. J. Huntmer told of the enterprise of Wayne in always having the best that was to be had in days that are past, in speaking of "Electroliers for the business section," and in proof of his statement pointed to the arc lights on Main street, which when the city installed the plant here, were the very best thing to be had then. But now the electrolier has come—something more beautiful, more efficient and economical after they are once installed. He suggested a plan whereby the property owners could install about five lights to the block at a very moderate expense per lot—and he thought the property owners could be induced to make this improvement if the matter was presented right to them.

The quartet again sang and then as the program closed the guests partook of refreshments—those who could find room in the space set apart for that purpose.

The crowd was too great for all to be served, for the building was not made for entertaining purposes, but is beyond doubt the best and most convenient depot building that the "Omaha" has in Nebraska. We hope that it will soon be occupied by the company and the public, but the telegraph instruments are not yet here, nor are the rockers for the ladies waiting room—though all else is in readiness.

Death of Henry Mau

Henry Mau, a resident of this county since 1892, died at the county farm southeast of Wayne Tuesday, November 18, 1913, by his own hand, at the age of 86 years, 9 months and 7 days.

Mr. Mau had been in failing health for some time and despondent and dissatisfied, and Tuesday about noon his body was discovered hanging in one of the sheds at the farm by W. P. Alger who has charge of the place. Coroner Williams was notified, and upon viewing the body decided that an inquest was unnecessary. The body was prepared for burial and brought to the home of his son Charles Mau, at this place and the burial was from there this afternoon, a short service being conducted by Rev. Rudolph Moehring, and the body laid away in the Wayen cemetery.

Henry Mau was born on Island Rugen, Germany, February 11, 1827. Here he lived and grew to manhood and reared his family, leaving there with his daughter to join a son in America after the death of his wife in 1886. They went first to Douglas county in this state, and in 1892 he moved to Wayne county where he has since resided. He was an industrious man, and began farming here and continued the work as long as able to do so. He never succeeded in accumulating money and when too infirm to farm longer made his home for a time with his son here and his daughter, Mrs. Kopping in Sarpy county, but was not satisfied so to do, and after rejecting an opportunity provided by his son for a place in the Lutheran church home for aged people at Lincoln decided to make his home at the county farm about nine or ten months ago.

Mr. Kopping, a son-in-law living in Sarpy county came to attend the funeral.

"Let Us Show You"

That is the sentiment of two advertisements in this issue by the firm of Orr & Morris Company. It may sound a bit like Missouri, but it is a sentiment which appeals to the purchaser. Inspection is invited. This week they are offering bargains especially intended to make the buyers thankful, and are putting on for a week and a day a liberal discount sale on a large line of goods. One tenth off the regular price on reasonable staples is something which appeals to every purchaser. But is useless for us to do more than call to your attention these advertisements, for they "Show you" in plain language where your interest lies, and no one could hire you not to read them now.

Modern Woodmen Meeting

There is to be a district meeting of the Modern Woodmen at Wayne the evening of December 4th, at which Head Consul A. R. Talbot is to be present and address the neighbors assembled on matters pertaining to the order, and there will be views of the great woodman sanitorium at Colorado Springs. Camps from all of this part of Nebraska are invited to be present with as large a representation as possible, for it is not every part of the great jurisdiction that can have the honor of hearing the head man of an organization that numbers a million men.

Please Come Early

A week from today is Thanksgiving, and we ask our country correspondents, our advertisers and all who have news or notices for publication to appear on the scene with copy as early as possible. Even the devil might have some thing to be thankful for if no more than that the paper was out of the way early. Will you help us?

BEN DOLPH COMMITS SUICIDE

Returns From a Ten-Day Absence and Fires Bullet Into Brain at Phil Sullivan House in Wayne. Leaves no Word

Saturday evening Ben Dolph, a man about 35 years of age, who has spent most of his life in this community, and who had been working for Phil Sullivan for a number of months returned to Wayne on the evening train and went to the room he had occupied when working for Mr. Sullivan and sometime during the evening shot himself through the head.

He and Mr. Sullivan were the only occupants of the house when the tragedy occurred. About an hour after the shooting Mr. Sullivan gave the alarm and the sheriff, city marshal and county attorney were called, also the coroner.

The next morning a coroner's jury was called and a hearing held. Mr. Sullivan was the principal witness, and he stated that Mr. Dolph had returned that evening shortly after the evening train came in from the east and gone to a room on the second floor of the house. A little later he came and asked for pen, ink and paper, which Mr. Sullivan said he did not have, but told Dolph that he had some up stairs. Dolph returned to the upper floor and was heard walking about the room for a time, then a shot was heard jby Mr. Sullivan. Mr. Sullivan was of the opinion that Dolph had been drinking, and the shot frightened him and he did not go up stairs for some time afterwards. When he went he saw Dolph in the bed, and he made no response when called to, so he went to the bed and saw the blood and that the man was dead. He then gave the alarm.

The body was found upon the bed with a revolver with an empty chamber across his breast and his hand hanging over the edge of the bed.

The bullet had entered the head just back of and at the base of the ear. While the position in which the revolver was found did not seem a natural one for a man shooting himself, the fact that there was no evidence to show anything to the contrary and the further fact that his brothers testified that Ben had at times threatened to kill himself the following verdict was rendered.

"The cause of death in the Ben Dolph case was suicide by the pistol shot in the hands of deceased."

The members of the jury under Coroner Williams were H. Wilson, Ted Perry, Clyde Oman, S. R. Theobald, Andy Chance and Frank Gaertner.

Ben Dolph was born in Iowa June 5th, 1877, and was 36 years and 5 months of age. His parents, Daniel Dolph and wife, came to this county about 30 years ago, and the father died about two years ago. Two brothers and four sisters and his aged mother survive him. The brothers and one sister live in this county, the other sisters live in Iowa, California and west in this state.

The body was taken Tuesday morning to the home place about twelve miles southeast of Wayne, where a funeral service was held, and the body was then taken to Wisner and buried in the family lot.

Ben Dolph was said to be a young man of some ability, but rather peculiar and reserved. He wrote and copyrighted some songs. He never married and will be mourned and missed by his family and friends.

Mary Skiles Entertains Faculty and Students at The Normal

Wednesday morning the students of the normal enjoyed the privilege of observing the results of some of the work that is being done in the trainingschool. Mary Skiles, a second grade pupil, appeared upon the chapel platform and told most charmingly the story of Epaminandes. Her voice was strong and carried to every part of the room. The story was told with great ease and naturalness and with such zest that faculty and students were delighted with their little entertainer, and her efforts were rewarded with long, continued applause at the close of the story.

The Democrat for job printing.

Social Notes

The pleasant new home of Dr. and Mrs. J. T. House witnessed a scene of unusual life and activity last Saturday evening, and the tables looked inviting to a squad of thirty football players who sat down to a six o'clock dinner. The house was prettily decorated with chrysanthemums and carnations, and festoons of orange and black bunting were stretched across the dining room. The stunts and decorations were all suggestive of the great athletic game. A football, tied with orange and black ribbon was suspended from the chandelier. The centerpiece for the table was a miniature football field, with goal posts entwined with the normal colors. China images, clad in orange and black sweaters, represented the players who were lined up for a scrimmage, while interested spectators stood upon the side lines.

The menu cards were very attractive, combining the neatness of a typewritten production by Miss Woosley with the artistic skill of members of the art department.

A three-course dinner was served by the hostess with the assistance of the Misses Marjorie Kohl, Ardath Conn, Carrie Weinandt and Eulalia Carroll.

Mr. Tracy Kohl acted as toastmaster, and with grace and an abundance of wit, introduced the speakers of the evening. Paul Becker on "Dry Toast" made his subject apply to the Sioux City game, when the Normal was defeated by a decisive score; Conrad Jacobson under the subject "Milk Toast" saw its application to the game with the Walthill Indians, the outcome of which was very gratifying to the normal team; Harold Weber was assigned "Buttered Toast" and responded in neat verse in which he paid his respects in characteristic style to the Norfolk Business College; under "Post Toasties" Professor Keckley had a broad field and took occasion to discuss the Bellevue Game, to review the work of the season, and to express confidence in the success of the athletic interest of the school in the future. Many whose names did not appear upon the menu cards were called upon for short talks. While seated at the table a flashlight picture of the group was taken.

An instrumental selection was contributed by Mrs. House, who played with her usual charm and skill. The boys presented Dr. and Mrs. House with a large bouquet of chrysanthemums and for a half hour or more after taking leave of the host and hostess the air resounded with school and college yells, manifesting an excellent school spirit and showing unmistakably that Dr. and Mrs. House had furnished a most pleasant evening for the football squad of 1913.

About twenty-five of the young friends of Miss Frances Weber surprised her with a miscellaneous shower at the home of her parents, Frank Weber and wife, Monday evening, in honor of her approaching marriage, which happens to correspond in date with the wedding at the White House. On Tuesday the 25th, according to invitations issued, Miss Weber and Mr. Fred Vogel of Marion, South Dakota, are to be married, and will make their home at Marion. At the shower all had a merry time and bestowed many presents both dainty and useful. Delicious refreshments were served and all departed wishing the bride to be all manner of happiness.

Wm. Fehrs and wife were in Wayne Thursday from their farm home southeast of Wayne. They had recently returned from a visit to the home of his sisters at Omaha, where there had been a family reunion early in November in honor of his father's 80th birthday. All of his children went to pay him a visit on that occasion, much to his surprise, for they came unannounced. It was a happy family reunion. The father, Matthias Fehrs, was one of the pioneer farmers of this county, and has many friends here among the early settlers who wish him a happy old age. He makes his home now at Omaha with one of his children.

Mrs. S. A. Lütgen very ably led the Sunday school lesson Tuesday afternoon at her home where the Bible Study Circle convened to discuss next Sunday's work. A large company were present and all were greatly helped. The spirit of fellowship and cordiality that characterizes these union meetings proves how near the churches are coming to the great ideal of the Master teacher, unity. Mrs. Grigga entertains the Circle next Tuesday. A hearty welcome to all.

On Friday evening Mrs. A. M. Jacobs entertained a party of young ladies in honor of her guests, Miss Flint at a Travalgue party when the visitor entertained the party with Radio views of her trip to Scandinavia and also lectured on the same. At the close of the evening's entertainment Mrs. Jacobs served light refreshments. A very delightful time was spent by a large number in attendance.

Mrs. H. B. Craven was hostess to the U. D. club Monday when the discussion on Oriental Rugs was continued. Mrs. Wood Jones gave an excellent paper on the weaving and ware of Oriental Rugs which was followed by a general discussion. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. H. Felber next Monday afternoon and will be a Kensington with Mesdames Morris and Felber as hostess.

On last Saturday an informal reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Philleo in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Philleo, who left this week for their home in Idaho. A large number of friends and members of the Presbyterian church called during the evening and paid their respects to this estimable couple. Light refreshments were served.

Mrs. C. M. Christensen entertained the Junior Circle girls Friday night in a royal way. After the fine lesson dainty refreshments and special music were provided by the hostess. Mrs. E. T. Rennick's home will be the next meeting place and the lesson will be in Acts II. All the girls are invited.

The Rebekahs entertained the Assembly President, Mrs. Susan F. Kierstead, at their regular meeting last Friday evening. She expressed great pleasure at the harmony and good will now prevailing. After intiation a delicious luncheon was served.

On last Friday evening Mrs. Ed. Johnson held a recital at her home for a number of the pupils of Prof. Abernathy. After the program light refreshments were served and the members of the class repaired to the Presbyterian church for the weekly rehearsal.

The Monday club met with Mrs.

Kiplinger this week and carried out the program published last week. Mrs. Hess will be hostess next week when a Thanksgiving program will be carried out.

The Minerva club will meet with Mrs. Lackey next Tuesday when the question "Resolved, that the Women of the United States Should vote will be debated by the club. It promises to be interesting.

The W. C. T. U. will meet at 2:30 Friday afternoon at the M. E. parsonage this week. It is to be an evangelistic meeting, and Mrs. Crossland is the leader.

The Acme club met with Mrs. A. H. Ellis this week and had for its lesson a discussion on Oriental Rugs. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Crawford.

The Bridge club met with Miss Mary Mellor Wednesday evening. The usual Bridge was played. Miss Flint was a guest.

The P. E. O. Sisterhood will hold a special meeting at the home of Mrs. Wood Jones next Monday night.

A Successful Sale

The sale of the O. P. DePew place in the east part of Wayne Saturday at nearly $800 per acre for the 5 1/2 acre tract shows that Nebraska real estate is not sagging any. The price paid for the place was $3,990, and it was bought by a Wayne county man, John Bannister who recently sold a farm just east of town for a good price. It is possible that the owner might have sold at private sale for a little more money after the place had been advertised at auction, but he refused to call the sale off, and thus added another successful real estate auction to the credit of this community. When one comes to the point of selling—really intend to sell it is the sure way.

Mr. DePew and family will probably remain here until the first of the year, and Mr. Bannister does not expect to take possession until after that date.

An Artist's Recital Course

The Choral Union members are planning a five number musical course. It is planned to have Barbara Waite, contralto, Marlon Green, baritone and Schönte, pianist for the artist numbers, to which will be added two concerts by the Union, making five numbers in all. They are not yet ready to announce dates and order of the entertainments. This organization is doing much to advance the art of music in our city, and should meet the hearty co-operation of all who love the best in music.

New Book by Dr. Corkey

NOW IN STOCK.

"The Vision of Joy"

WHEN BILLY SUNDAY CAME TO TOWN

Mr. Corkey has gone back to the old scenes of his successful novel, "The Victory of Allan Rutledge," and in addition we are introduced for the first time in fiction to "Billy Sunday, the great evangelist.

Mr. Corkey's books are being widely discussed on account of their genuineness, and "The Vision of Joy" will add to his popularity.

We have Dr. Corkey's other books—
"The Truth About Ireland."
"The Victory of Allan Rutledge."
"The Testing Fire."
"The Vision of Joy."

Note our large line of Late Fiction, Classics, Books of Poems, Reference Books, Etc.

JONES' Bookstore

Thanksgiving Night (ONE NIGHT ONLY) Thursday, Nov. 27th

The Walter Savidge Company

Another Show of the SAVIDGE QUALITY. All Special Scenery. Our Own Orchestra. All Star Cast

PRESENTING "A MAD LOVE"

SEATS NOW ON SALE AT THE SHULTHEIS PHARMACY POPULAR PRICES

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Try a Hot Bouillon at Felber's. Adv. tf.

Mrs. Laura Ball spent Monday at Sioux City.

Mrs. Herman Sand visited Sioux City friends Monday.

All kinds of gent's furnishings cheap at Thiel's. Adv.

Take your prescription to the Model Pharmacy. Adv.

A. J. Ferguson and wife were visitors at Sioux City Monday.

Call on Gaertner & Beckenhauer to move or tune your piano. Adv.

Chan Norton went to Council Bluffs, Iowa, Monday for a day or two.

Walter Weber was transacting business at Sioux City the first of the week.

J. M. Roberts and wife, from the Clark ranch, spent Monday at Sioux City.

Crude Oil for Dipping purposes for sale by Hylo Oil Co., Wayne, Nebraska. Adv. 46-2.

Wynot business men are agitating the question of a commercial club at that city.

Beaman calls your attention in these columns, to a number of Delicacies for Holiday use. Adv.

Saws, razors, knives and shears sharpened as they should be at the Wayne Novelty Works. Adv. 2tf.

A new icing called ZATEK has been introduced by Beaman. In 15c packages. 14 different uses. Adv.

M. S. Davies and wife went to visit in Minnesota the first of the week. Worthington was one of the places visited.

Art Dempsey is reported to have made a record of a daily average for several days of more than 100 bushels of snapped corn.

Now is the time to dress well, while Paul Thiel is closing out his line of hats, caps, shirts, pants, etc., at less than cost. Adv.

Kelly Gossard returned from Sioux City hospital Friday evening, and is now on the road to recovery from his tooth trouble.

Wm. Buetow and F. M. Griffith went to Sioux City Saturday to purchase cattle and hogs, if they found quality and price to suit.

John Schulle of Bow Valley, Cedar county, had his right hand so badly torn by a corn shredder last week that amputation was necessary.

Rev. Janssen of Omaha closed a series of revival meetings at Hartington last week. The results were not large in new members, but good in quality.

Honesty
Quality Care
Righ Prices

The Perfect Prescription

Everything put in, just as the doctor ordered

- Absolute purity and freshness of every ingredient
- The most exquisite care in every minute detail
- The skill of long training and experience
- A price which, the above essentials considered, is the lowest you can possibly obtain; these
- The Perfect Prescription the kind you always get at

Phone 137

See Felber's Nyal window. Adv.

Miss Pauline Biegler visited at Pender Sunday.

Buy your stationery at the Model Pharmacy. Adv.

A. R. Davis went to Omaha Monday morning.

Hot drinks and lunches at the Model Pharmacy. Adv.

Felber's for The Best Hot Drinks and Sandwiches. Adv. tf.

Don't freeze—warm underwear at less than cost at Thiel's. Adv.

H. B. Hutchins left Monday for a short stay at Marshall, Minnesota.

Robert Baird went to South Omaha Monday on a business mission.

Dr. Lutgen, Physician and Surgeon. Calls answered day or night. Adv.

Mrs. Ray Reynolds was at Sioux City last week, returning Friday evening.

Misses Eva and Mary Mellor returned Friday from a visit with their sister, at Elgin.

New Santa Clara and Big Silver Prunes, also fresh shipment of all dried fruits at Beaman's. Adv.

Beaman has given special attention to providing high-class supplies for Thanksgiving trade. Adv.

Say, boys, spruce up a bit and do it now—Paul Thiel is selling a nice line of ties—below cost—see 'em and you'll buy. Adv.

Nick Hansen and daughter, Miss Camilla, returned last week from a visit of two or three months at Correctionville, Iowa.

In the best growing country they are finding out that the home grown seed is the best—to be sure nothing better than Nebraska grown seed.

Hollister's R. M. Tea makes you eat like a lion, sleep like a babe, grow strong; a marvelous reconstructer; a thorough tonic.—Felber's Pharmacy. Adv. n

Alex. Scott and wife were at Sioux City again Saturday to visit their daughter, who remained at the hospital there for the physician to study her case.

Cedar county Sunday school convention is now in session at Cole-ridge. It is the 20th annual, and a good program is on. The meeting will close Friday evening.

Place your order for cream as early as possible. We wish to take care of all and we can if we are allowed a little time. Special cream for whipping. Beaman. Adv.

W. O. Hanssen and wife were Sioux City visitors the first of the week. Mr. Hanssen going in with stock and the wife meeting him there when the passenger arrived.

The quail season is at an end—in fact there are so few quail that there should have been no open season for these birds, for they are such industrious insect destroyers.

John Shannon went to Chadron Friday evening to bring back seven car loads of cattle, the last run of 1,500 head he has sold this fall, and Wayne county has taken a big share of them.

At Hartington the democrats are planning for an election of postmasters to take places to be made vacant April, 20, 1914. A meeting has been called to say when and how the election is to be held.

J. A. Page will be at Wayne about November 24th tuning pianos and cleaning and repairing organs. Persons wanting work done of the kind may leave orders with Mrs. Ed A. Johnson or at the Union hotel. Adv. 45-2.

Hartington has a new creamery nearly completed. It is to be modern and sanitary. We are not told whether or not it belongs to the trust. One thing is sure if independent every farmer should support it, for it will mean much money to the community.

Wynot has a lecture course this winter

Clothing bargains still on at Paul Thiel's. Adv.

Hot Chocolate, Hot Coffee, Hot Bouillions at Felber's. Adv. tf.

Rooms and board. House modern. Call phone Black 365. Adv. 45-2.

Mrs. J. B. Stallsmith went to Wakefield Friday to visit her daughter at that place.

Bunte's candies at Beaman's. The fanciest candy line in Wayne. You will admit it. Adv.

I have a number of young Barred Plymouth Rock roosters for sale at $1.00 a piece. Mrs. Everett Lindsay. Adv. 45-2.

Miss Meda Cromwell, who has been here for the past two months visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. F. Lane, departed for her home at Kansas City Monday morning.

Joseph Baird was in Sapey county last week looking at land. According to reports, that is not as good looking a country in his eyes as this. No doubt he can see right.

Miss Ethel Myers from Rochester, Indiana, returned home last week after a visit of ten days or two weeks at the home of G. H. Wallace and family southeast of Wayne.

The next number of the lecture course is December 5, when Wallace B. Amsbury, the bearer of a story, will speak. His entertainment is very pleasing to all as well as instructive.

Mrs. George Crossland went to Columbus Saturday to join her husband in a Sunday visit with a sister at that place. Mr. C. is on the road and they planned to meet there for this visit.

Thos. Huffer, who has been working near Wayne for two or three seasons, went to Pinksneyville, Illinois the first of the week to spend the winter with home folks, planning to return again in the spring.

Chas. Thompson has been in Dakota and purchased and brought to Wayne and vicinity several hundred head of feeders. This is the community that appears to be able to feed the hungry cattle from all parts.

Miss Elizabeth Stewart, has resigned as cashier at the Central market and will this week visit at Omaha an other parts of the state before taking up other work. Miss Delia Swartz takes her place at the Central market.

Mrs. Hefti and son came Saturday from Russell, Wisconsin, and are visiting with her parents, John Banning and wife. The son, Clarence, will remain and make his home with his grandparents this winter and attend the normal.

At Ponca they have automobile drivers who are cutting a crop of telephone poles with their cars, showing another use to which an auto may be put. It is a little hard on the car, and dangerous for the driver, for he may not be able to get from under the pole when it falls.

The postoffice primary has been a success in the third district. No one can gainsay that capable men have been elected wherever a primary has been held. In Wayne a most capable man was found and in other places the voters have been wise in the choice of the men who are to handle their mails.

In a few years, the postmasters will all be selected by some such a popular way.—Stanton Register.

A wave of crime or hard times is sweeping over Omaha, many small burglaries being committed, and last week Sunday night the home of D. C. Nelson and wife, formerly of this place, was entered in the evening while the folks were at church and ransacked. A few dollars in money and the best of eatables were taken, and possibly some other small articles. Mr. Nelson thinks that had his shoes a fit the thieves they would have been taken as they had evidently been tried.

Printing that pleases—Democrat.

Fresh citron, orange and lemon peel, also candied cherries and candied pineapple, at Beaman's. Adv.

Miss Grace Rafferty, who has been here for a month with her sister, Mrs. Watkins, left Saturday morning to spend the winter with friends at Corpus Christi, Texas.

Ernest Wallachlager knew it was loaded as soon as he shot himself through the hand at Hoskins a short time ago. He had just taken the shells from a revolver and left it with a brother who put them back again.

Meritol White Liniment is a splendid application for Sore Throat, Cold on the Lungs, Croup and Pains in the Chest. Saturate a piece of flannel cloth with the Liniment and use as a piaster. It is very penetrating, and effective.—Model Pharmacy. Exclusive Agents. Adv. n

The Norfolk Press comes to our desk a 32-page booster edition telling of the past, present and future (hopes) of Norfolk. The entire edition is filled with interesting matter relative to Norfolk and Nebraska. It is well edited and nicely printed, showing good work in every department.

O. C. Lewis of Carroll has purchased for $3,850 the John Kay property west of the city stand-pipe, and is planning to become a citizen of Wayne in the spring. There is room at Wayne for more of the class of citizens that Mr. and Mrs. Lewis belong in. We hope that Mr. Kay finds another home here.

A friend writing from Alice, Texas, to Herman Henney tells of the nice things they are getting from their gardens down there now. Among other things mentioned are sweet corn in the roasting ear—the second corn crop for the year. Ripe tomatoes, peas, beans, radishes, and other garden truck. And this is grown on land that the like of can be had at only $16 to $20 per acre.

Grain and stock half section farm to rent in Wayne county, Nebraska. Five miles to railroad station, good soil, half under cultivation, half in hay and pasture, plenty of water, excellent fences, fair buildings—will improve the buildings for a good, permanent, reliable farmer and stockman able to crop and stock half section. Terms, two fifths of grain and five hundred and sixty dollars cash for hay, pasture and alfalfa ground. Address, Wayne Farm, care of Democrat. Adv. 45-2.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Cullen and Mr. Cullen's father of Ponca, while driving to Sioux City in an auto met with a mishap west of town on the Jackson road near the Knowlton farm this afternoon. Mrs. Cullen was learning to drive the car and when it struck the grade, was unable to hold it in the road and the car overturned, pinning Mr. and Mrs. Cullen beneath. The old gentleman managed to raise the car and let the young folks out. They were taken to a doctor where they are being treated, and it is feared Mr. Cullen suffered internal injuries. The car was unhurt.—Dakota County Record.

Special Christmas Offer

It is just six weeks more until Christmas.

Now is the time to have those photos made, not next week or next month, but today!

Photos are becoming more popular each year for Christmas presents, and we are making nicer photos than ever before.

Come in and see samples of our new work, and get prices, and do it right away as we are sure to be very busy later.

With every order amounting to $5.00 or more, we will give a beautiful calender worth $1.00, free. A sample of this calender can be seen in our show case Saturday.—Adv. 45 tf.

C. M. Craven, Photographer.

Nothing Secret

About Penlar Remedies

The Formula is on the Label. They are purely scientific—each remedy is intended for a certain purpose, and not for a cure-all. They are of the Highest Quality. Compounded Accurately and Carefully by Expert Pharmacists and Chemists.

LOOK FOR THE PENSLAR SIGN

Model Pharmacy

R. S. Adams, Proprietor.

Plumbing By A Plumber

Who carries a full and complete line of Pipe of all sizes, all sorts of parts and fittings, as well as Brass Goods, Sinks, Lavatories, Tubs, Etc., Etc. Pumps, for well or cistern, in all sizes are correctly installed. For anything in this class of work

SEE

A. G. GRUNEMEYER

Agent for Indian Motorcycles Opp. Union Hotel, Wayne

Save Half Your Fuel Bills and Get a Warmer Home

The home comfortably heated day and night—upstairs and down—that is the greatest luxury of winter life. The FAVORITE BASE BURNER will bring this coziness and comfort into your home, and at the same time will save one-half your fuel bills.

Moreover, the fire in a Favorite is steady at all times and keeps the temperature throughout your entire house even from morning till night. Call and see us now, and let us tell you more of this wonderful heating stove.

BARRETT & DALLY

Let The DEMOCRAT Print Your SALE BILLS

NEBRASKA NEWS

Holder of Chance No. 5 Picks First North Platte Farm.

NO. 6 AND 10 FOLLOW SUIT.

First Three Properties Chosen Estimated to Be Worth $7,000 Each. First Three Numbers Will Make Selection Near Valentine.

Hyannis, Neb., Nov. 18.—The selections of land in the United States forest reserve under numbers drawn at North Platte on Oct. 28 commenced, with Judge James W. Witten superintendent in charge.

None of the first three numbers was represented by their holders and after a lapse of twenty minutes the next three numbers were called and two responded. Hans Dubbs of Columbus, Neb., No. 5, was allowed the first selection and took section 9, township 22, range 40. Odell Crouse of Napoleon, holder of No. 6, got second choice and selected section 15 in the same township and range. These two selections are considered the best land in the reserve and the estimated value as they stand today is $7,000 each.

W. H. March, No. 10, got third choice and secured a section valued at about the same price. There are 512 tracts open for selection in the forest reserve. Fifty names and numbers were called, to which twenty-three responded.

This means that forty-seven number holders will make selections in the Fort Niobrara abandoned military reservation near Valentine next April, where 130 tracts of land may be taken under the numbers drawn at North Platte if the holders so desire. There are fully 200 strangers here.

LYNCHING IS FEARED

Slayer of Walter Whitworth Is Captured at Morrill.

Morrill, Neb., Nov. 18.—John Thompson, the colored man who shot and killed Walter Whitworth at Mitchell in a quarrel over a game of cards, was captured by T. Kelley about four miles north of here. Upon being taken by Kelley, Thompson admitted his identity.

He was at once brought to Morrill and is being held until the sheriff can get here. Large crowds are gathering from Mitchell and excitement is running high, and it is feared that summary action may be taken and a lynching may follow. Morrill people are doing all they can to keep the crowd quiet and have the prisoner turned over to the proper authorities.

FISH PLANTED IN RIVERS

Two Carloads Distributed Along the Northwestern Line.

Lincoln, Nov. 17.—Two cars of fish were distributed among the lakes and streams of Nebraska along the line of the Northwestern railway in the Elkhorn valley.

In charge of Fish Commissioner O'Brien and Game Warden Rutenbeck, a car was taken from the South Bend hatchery and the fish planted along the line of road as far west as Valentine. At that place the car was again filled from the Valentine hatcheries and the fish distributed in streams along the Albion branch of the Northwestern from Oakdale to Scribner. The fish were mostly bass, crappie and yellow cat.

Nebraska Raises Much Broom Corn.

Nebraska farmers devoted 1,076 acres to the cultivation of broom corn in 1913 according to reports in the office of the state board of agriculture. In Hitchcock county 207 acres were planted, while 108 acres were planted in Pierre county. Morrill county is credited with fifty-one acres and Adams county with fifty acres. Kaffir corn planting has steadily increased. There were 23,175 acres in 1913, as against 22,014 in 1912.

Regulations for Disease.

State Veterinarian Kigin returned from South Omaha, where he had met with the state sanitary board for the purpose of taking up the proposition of methods to be used in the stamping out of diseases of cattle and hogs. The board decided to adopt the intra-state regulations, but just what they cover, the doctor said, would not be given out until he had had time to prepare them in shape.

Eight Paroles Given.

The pardon board granted recommendations for eight paroles and denied all applications for pardon. Names of those paroled were not given out, as it is the custom of the board not to make public paroles as it has a tendency to prejudice a man in the minds of the community where he is sent if it is known that he is a paroled convict.

Creamery Incorporates.

The Farmers' Cooperative Creamery company of Wolbach has filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state. The capital stock is given as $10,000, of which $6,000 is paid up. Its officers are: R. W. Davis, president; James Christensen, vice president; John T. Kernodle, treasurer, and Arthur Larson, secretary.

Plattsmouth Man Robbed of Cash.

St. Louis, Nov. 18.—Adolph Smehana of Plattsmouth, Neb., was robbed of his money, some $150, by a "smooth confidence man, who, pretending friendship, substituted a roll of paper for money in his pocket.

GOOD ROADS FOR NEBRASKA

Boosters Will Have Inning at Mid-winter Meetings.

Lincoln, Nov. 18.—Good roads for Nebraska will receive careful consideration at the midwinter meeting of organized agriculturists.

The Nebraska Good Roads' association has outlined a program for one of the days of the session. W. B. Banning of Union is president of this organization and A. W. Richardson of Lincoln is secretary.

Particular attention will be paid to the road dragging operations in the state. Another subject that will be discussed is the Lincoln Memorial highway.

H. E. Fredrickson of Omaha is on the program for an address on this subject. A number of other speakers will be present.

The Platte Valley Good Roads' association has recently come out with an energetic boost for the Lincoln Memorial highway. Several other associations are also interested and they will be represented at the midwinter meetings.

UNION PACIFIC REPORT

Nebraska Helps Much in Earnings of Overland System.

Lincoln, Nov. 18.—Thirty-eight per cent of the gross earnings of the Union Pacific railroad on its entire system was made in Nebraska, according to a report filed with the state railway commission.

The total earnings of the company were $51,585,230, of which $19,391,754 was derived from Nebraska. Thirty-one general officers receive on an average of $19,311 a day; telegraph operators and dispatchers average $2.70; general office clerks, $2.46; station agents, $2.22; trackmen, $1.61.

The Grand Island road did not pay operating expenses in Nebraska last year, earning $455,973 and spent $500,023.

The United States Express company earned $289,000 in this state, and paid out $54,087 as expenses.

W.S. POPPLETON FOUND DEAD

Omaha Man Believed to Have Come to His Death by Accident.

Omaha, Nov. 17.—William S. Poppleton was found dead in his chair in his office on the third floor of the First National bank building by Myron L. Learned, his brother-in-law. He had been shot through the head. On the floor was a revolver.

That the revolver was discharged accidentally while Mr. Poppleton was examining it is the belief of persons who were first on the scene and was the opinion of Coroner Crosby.

Mr. Poppleton was one of the trustees of the great estate of his father, the late A. J. Poppleton, and controlled enormous property holdings here. He was forty-seven years old and was born in Omaha.

CAR RUNS OVER INJURED MAN

Hurt in Runaway and Lies Unconscious on Omaha Street Railway Track.

Omaha, Nov. 17.—A man, who may be John McNeil of Fremont, was killed by a Benson street car near Krug park.

He was driving a team hitched to a farm wagon toward Omaha when the horses became frightened and ran away. The man was thrown from his seat to the street car rails and he laid there in the darkness of the quiet road, unconscious. The horses stopped several blocks distant.

A heavy car, town-ward bound, neared the spot. Motorman Walter Lawerson did not see him until it was too late and the heavy wheels passed over him.

GERMAN ALLIANCE ELECTS

Major Birkner Heads the Organization in Lincoln.

Lincoln, Nov. 18.—The German Alliance of Lincoln has elected officers for the coming year as follows: Major J. M. Birkner, president; Colonel Phil Ackerman, vice president; Judge Joseph Witzig, corresponding secretary; Gus Dauer, recording secretary; Henry Pfieff, treasurer; Dan Helwig, Nicholas Ross and R. C. Schneider, trustees.

Melroy Murder Trial on Docket.

Beaver City, Neb., Nov. 18.—The November term of the district court convened here. The one important case on the docket is that of Gluyver Melroy, charged with murder. The crime for which Gluyver Melroy will face a jury was committed on July 14, when his father, John Melroy, was shot and subsequently died. There had been a family feud and the senior Melroy acknowledged before his death that he had been "acting mean." Considerable sympathy has been shown for Gluyver, who has been confined for the last six months in the county jail.

Smallpox in Polk.

Lincoln, Nov. 18.—Dr. A. H. Wilson of the state board of health has returned from Polk, where he went to investigate reports of smallpox near that village. He discovered five cases in one family and took precautions to prevent its spread.

Michigan Man After O'Connor Estate

Hastings, Neb., Nov. 18.—Convicted that he is the son of the late John O'Connor, who died here on Aug. 17 last without known heirs, Edward O'Connor of Lapeer, Mich., is preparing to make claim to the $100,000 O'Connor estate.

Shellenberger and Kopf Indicted.

Auburn, Neb., Nov. 18.—Fuller Shellenberger and Joseph Kopf were indicted for the murder of Julian Bahaud on June 16, 1899. The trial of Shellenberger has been set for Nov. 24.

Special Thanksgiving Offerings

Sale Begins FRIDAY MORNING NOV. 21

These special prices will be good for eight days and will make you thankful by SAVING YOU MONEY.

This is a "clean up" sale before getting our store ready for the holiday trade and we are sure that every item is a money saving value. LET US SHOW YOU

Sale Ends SAT'DAY EVENING NOV. 29

Fleeced Dress Goods

Your choice of any of the 12½c fleeced dress goods.....10c

Outing Flannel

Your choice of any of the 12½c colored outing flannel....10c

Blankets

During this sale all wool, cotton and wool finished blankets will be sold at a discount of 10%.

Underwear

During this sale all underwear, wovens, Misses, Men's, Boys' and children's will be sold at a discount of.....10%

Sweaters

All sizes and for any member of the family, will be sold during this special sale at a discount of.....10%

Bed Spreads

A complete stock from which to choose. During this sale you can get your choice at a discount of.....10%

Comforters

Splendidly made comforters of good material, representing extra good values at regular prices will be sold during this sale at a discount of.....10%

Thanksgiving Table Linen!

This timely special sale of linens should induce you to anticipate your linen needs for some time to come.

Union linen worth 60c—special.....49c
Pure linen worth 75c—special.....59c
Pure linen worth $1.00—special.....79c
Pure linen, fine $1.25 value—special.....89c
Pure linen, fine $1.50 value—special.....$1.19
Extra heavy, excellent $1.75 value—special $1.39
Extra quality napkins, worth $5.00 per dozen.....$3.89
Very heavy napkins worth $6.00.....$4.89

All Women's, Misses' and Children's COATS

We have still in stock a coat that will suit. If you are going to buy a coat you'll miss a money saving chance if you do not make a selection during this sale.

$12.50 coats during this sale.....$9.85
$15.00 coats during this sale.....$11.35
$16.50 coats during this sale.....$12.75
$17.50 coats during this sale.....$14.50
$19.50 coats during this sale.....$15.75
$25.00 coats during this sale.....$20.95
Juniors and children's coats special discount of 20 per cent.

A representative of an Eastern Fur House will be in our store Friday, Nov. 28th with a complete line of Furs. Come and see them

Worsted Dress Goods

The change in the tariff will make some difference in the price of wool goods, but not so much difference as we will make during this sale. Special discount on all wool dress goods.....10%

Kabo Corsets

This special is offered as an inducement to those who have not tried these corsets but, of course, nobody is barred.

$1.00 corsets for.....89c
$1.50 corsets for.....1.25
$2.00 corsets for.....$1.75
$2.50 corsets for.....$2.25
$3.00 corsets for.....$2.50

SILKS for Dresses or Waists

This is an exceptional chance to make a selection at a great saving from our regular prices, which are always as low as the lowest.

Choice of any $1.00 fancy silk.....79c
Choice of any $1.25 fancy silk.....89c
Charmense worth $2.00...$1.39

Short Lengths of Silks

These are fine for trimmings and for fancy work—plain and fancy silk remnants that will be marked at attractive prices.

If you've not made this store your regular shopping place this would be a good time to start. Nothing but dependable merchandise is offered and You will like the prices

Orr & Morris Company

PHONE 247 WAYNE

CONDENSED NEWS

Three men were killed in a train wreck at Wooster, O.

The suspension of H. B. Hollins & Co., banking and brokerage firm, was announced on the New York Stock exchange.

The body of Gustave Hamburger, a prominent lawyer of Mount Vernon, N. Y., was washed up on the beach at Fishers' Island.

A young illness on exhibition before the boys of a school at Koeslin, Germany, escaped and seriously injured a seven-year-old boy.

The Japanese government decided to send the armored cruiser Izumo to Mexican waters for the protection of Japanese subjects in Mexico.

One thousand of the leading surgeons of the continent received fellowships at the opening at Chicago of the American College of Surgeons.

A great typhoon swept the island of Guam and threw the collier Ajax ashore. One American was drowned, Hospital Steward G. M. Nicholson.

Seven men were drowned when fifteen construction laborers were thrown into the water from a boat which capsized in the Lachine canal at Montreal.

William G. Blair, a former member of the Illinois legislature, was acquitted in the federal district court at East St. Louis of a charge of bootlegging.

Henry Peterson, city marshal of Mesa, Ariz., was shot from ambush and killed while attempting to arrest two men suspected of having stolen bicycles.

Theodore Roosevelt was the guest of honor at a great banquet at the Colon theater at Buenos Aires, at which covers were laid for more than a thousand.

Action was taken by union labor looking to a demand for a general increase in wages for the 22,000 operatives in the 100 cotton mills of Fall River, Mass.

Lectures on sex hygiene delivered to the pupils of the Chicago public schools may not be sent through the mails, according to a ruling of the postoffice department.

The already large number of arrests for alleged violation of the injunction prohibiting intimidation of workmen in the Michigan copper strike district was increased by 150.

Except for two passenger trains, one arriving and one leaving New Orleans, traffic on the Southern Pacific railway in Louisiana is tied up by the strike of engineers and trainmen.

Thomas E. Wilson, who entered the employ of Morris & Co., Chicago packers, at a salary of $4 a week, was elected president of that company, succeeding the late Edward Morris.

By her will Mrs. Helen D. Winans, who died in Holland last September, has left practically all of her estate, valued at more than $50,000, to the Bide-A-Wee home for dogs and cats in New York city.

William F. McCombs, chairman of the Democratic national committee, came home from Europe on the Mauretania with his bride, formerly Miss Dorothy Williams of Washington, whom he married in London.

Indianapolis, Columbus and Southern Traction company signed a labor contract with its employees, which is to hold for twelve years. All of the employees of the company and Governor Ralston signed the agreement.

John McDonald of Bessemer, Mich., was killed by a train at Beechwood, Mich., after being shot in the leg by a deer hunter. He was lying on the track when the train approached, but could not get off the rails owing to the bullet wound.

More than 200,000 acres of public land that had been withdrawn from entry were restored during October, according to an announcement made by Secretary Lane of the interior department. The largest restoration of such lands was in Montana.

The "city manager plan" of municipal government was endorsed at the nineteenth annual meeting of the National Municipal league by the special committee appointed two and a half years ago to study commission government and its developments.

Condemnation of segregation of white and negro employees in government departments in Washington as a "violation of the just principle of equality" was voiced by the forty-seventh annual meeting of Congregationalists at Waterbury, Conn.

The recent strike of chauffeurs employed on mail trucks in New York and the ensuing brief tieup of service resulted in the arrest of the president of the chauffeurs' union and six other members. All were charged with conspiracy to obstruct the mails.

The American Federation of Labor refused to accede to the recommendation of the executive council to change the annual meeting day of the convention to the second Monday of June. The conventions will continue to meet on the second Monday of November.

A total of at least eleven vessels and 167 lives were lost in the great blizzard which enveloped the great lakes. In addition twenty-one other vessels were partially destroyed, their crews escaping. Vessel owners' financial losses will approximate $3,000,000.

A miniature naval battle was fought under the shadow of Brooklyn bridge when detectives, concealed aboard barges, and policemen in launches exchanged shots with armed river pirates. Four detectives were injured, but three pirates were captured and three motorboats loaded with stolen coffee were recovered.

The Middlemen

The middlemen play no inconsiderable part in the high cost of living. By the term "middlemen" we do not have any reference to or reflection on the local merchant in what follows, but we refer to a class commonly known as "commission men", who solicit a consignment of goods—fruit, grain, hay, potatoes, or anything which is usually sent to the cities as a distributing point, or because of the local demand for products which cannot be grown there to equal the demand. One of the kind of commission firms that sends in a kick as soon as they have a consignment in their clutches as a basis for a rakeoff from the producer in settlement. The record of disapproval having been duly made they next send out a glowing story of the fine quality of the goods consigned to them for a prospective purchaser to read.

If one be found the proper thing to do is to make a fake sale to a broker at a price to correspond with the bad order report already registered and let him supply the man in need and divide the stealings. They stand ready at any time, if the market becomes over-stocked to have dishonest inspectors condemn a car or two of good stuff and have it dumped, in order to keep the supply down and command a good price. If one undertakes to sell independent they make life a burden to him with all manner of false reports or even taking a car or two of like products consigned by a neighbor, perhaps, and cutting prices with it, thus making competition until the independent man is out of the way, for it costs them nothing to break the market with some other man's goods.

That there is an organized gang of such people standing between the producer and consumer, demanding excessive toll from both, no one well informed on the situation will doubt. Last summer and fall people in this part of Nebraska paid around a dollar a box for peaches, and it is said that the growers are now getting returns from the commission men for their part of the price of from 10 to 20 cents per box. There should be a new cry started of "swat the needless middleman."

No dinner is complete without a cup of Chase & Sanborn's coffee. The best drink by the best coffee specialists. Beaman has exclusive sale.—adv.

I. P. Low

Factory repair and maintenance, at the G. & B. 82.—Adv.

Wants, For Sale, Etc.

Butter makers and poultry raisers listen! We will need an extra amount of No. 1 Fancy table butter and fresh gathered eggs for Thanksgiving trade. We pay top price for top quality. Beaman—adv.

FOR RENT—Two houses, apply to Dr. W. B. Vail.—adv 38tf.

FOR RENT—Half section farm northeast of Laurel. A. B. Clark.—adv 1f.

FOR RENT—Good farm of 160 acres in section 18-26-5. For particulars enquire of Phil Sullivan, Wayne, Nebr.—adv.

FOR RENT—A good 160 acres of land near Wayne. Inquire of Phil Sullivan.—adv. 42tf.

FOR RENT—Good dwelling house, well located in Wayne. Possession October 1st. For further particulars address W. A. McKee, Sioux City, Iowa. 3510 7th ave.—adv.

Young Calves Wanted—Three calves, 1 to 3 days old. Call 22-421. Fred H. Martin.—adv. pd.

Day board for men. Apply home of C. S. Kopp, west of college.—adv. 42-tf.

FOR SALE—Some Barred Plymouth Rock roosters at 75c a piece if taken within the next two weeks. Mrs. Bert Hyatt.—adv. 46-2.

MULES—For sale or trade for calves, a 2-year-old and a 3-year-old mule. See J. C. Andersen, 6 miles west of Wayne, phone 13 on 4 Carroll line.—adv. 46-2pd.

FOR SALE—A large oak sideboard, at a bargain. Phone Red 116.—adv.

FOR SALE—A number of Poland China and Duroc Jersey fall and spring boars, immune from cholera. Harry Tidrick, 2 miles south and 2 miles east of Winside, Nebr.—adv. 45-3.

FOR SALE—Duroc Jersey Boars. Immune from cholera. V. S. Dayton, Phone 112-400, Wayne.—adv. 40tf.

V. L. Dayton is offering for sale a bunch of cholera immunized Duroc Jersey boars which he will be glad to tell of if you call 112-400.—adv.

FOR SALE—Several choice Duroc Jersey boars sired by Tolstoy Chief 118847, Valley King, 87311. Advance 2nd 100957, Golden Model IV, 87109. Also several short horn bulls. George Buskirk, Pender, 10 miles west.—adv 41-8-pd.

FOR SALE—Poland China Male Pigs. By Big Victor and Big Tom 2nd by Big Tom; First prize and Grand Champion of 1911 at State Fair. Our hogs are immunized. Henry and Gustav Paulsen, adv.—43tf Carroll, Nebr.

Some Good Thoroughbreds. I have a few choice pure-bred Duroc boars and Shorthorn bulls for sale. See me at the harness shop. JOHN S. LEWIS JR.—Adv.

Now On Sale. Some excellent young Duroc male pigs and Rhode Island cockerels. Call at farm one mile south of Wayne.—Adv. Will Morgan.

Short Horns For Sale. I have a number of good Short Horn Bulls for sale, from seven months to two years old. Come and see them if you are wanting a thoroughbred animal.—Adv. C. B. THOMPSON.

Public Sales. I am ready to cry any kind of sales anywhere. Conscientious up-to-date service guaranteed. Phone or call on Clyde Oman, Wayne, Nebr.—adv. tf.

Buff Orpington Cockerels. I have for sale a nice lot of choice Buff Orpingtons, pure bred and individually good. Also six of the flock that took prize at Fremont poultry show. John Scofield, Phone Black 298.—adv 43tf.

Duroc Jersey Boars For Sale. I have for sale three choice young Duroc Jersey Boars, immunized from cholera. Ray Perdue, Wayne, Phone 244.—adv. 46-4pd.

Livestock Men. If you want results that will satisfy, ship your stock to John T. Frederick & Co., South Omaha, Neb. They "know values," are reliable and will keep you posted on the market if you will write them.—adv-47 tf.

Hampshire Boars For Sale. I have for sale a number of young Hampshire hogs, at my place near Winnebago—good individuals and of the best breeding. While this breed of hogs is comparatively new in this county, their history shows they are good. Come and see them—study them—buy them. Roy Fisher, Winside, Neb.—adv.

THE AERONAUTS

How a Girl Went Up In the Air and How She Came Down

By MARION ATWATER

"By the bye, Mrs. Grosvenor," said Mrs. Edgingham, "your nephew, Jack Kenworthy, comes of age soon, does he not?"

"In a week from today." "How nice to be coming of age and into a splendid property at the same time!"

"Jack will not enjoy his inheritance long."

"Not enjoy it long? Why, what do you mean?"

"Jack, like other wealthy young men, has been inoculated with the aviation fever. For the past year he has been thinking of nothing else. He has made a number of trips and learned all about aeroplanes and how to fly them. He has ordered one finer than any that has been produced to be made for him. It is finished, and he is only waiting for his estate to be turned over to him to pay for it. These aviators do not live on an average more than two or three years and are liable to get killed at any time while they are flying. It's too bad about Jack. He will have a splendid fortune. He is very bright and has a fine future before him."

"Has no one any influence over him to show him that death is the inevitable end to his flights if he persists in them?" "I am his only living near relative. I have pleaded with him to desist from aviation, to study a profession, to fit himself to live rather than to take measures for death. I have not produced any impression on him."

"Don't you think that if you could get him married his wife might accomplish that in which you have failed?" "I've thought of that, but Jack is not a 'ladies' man at all. He won't consent to my introducing him to girls. Indeed, he won't have anything to do with them. Several women who have got the aviation craze have begged me to intercede with Jack to take them for a ride in the air. He scouts the idea. 'Do you suppose,' he says to me, 'that I'm going to take up a woman to lose her head at the slightest jar in the machinery, grab me like a drowning person and land me a mass of pulp on the earth hundreds of feet below? Not much!'"

"Does he take men up with him?" "Only such as he is sure will not get rattled."

Edith Edgingham, aged nineteen, was sitting on a window seat concealed by curtains, with a novel on her lap, listening to this dialogue. She had caught the aviation fever and was much interested in this Mr. Kenworthy, who skinned about in the air at the risk of his life, who disliked girls and who was about to step into a fortune. Could there be any combination better calculated to impress a girl in her teens? But when we consider that Miss Edgingham was desirous of flying among the clouds herself we have conditions that are likely to produce results.

"Mamma," she said after Mrs. Grosvenor's departure, "I have a curiosity to see this man who has no more sense than to risk his neck by trying to make a bird of himself and who prefers to get smashed against the earth instead of living to enjoy his fortune."

"Good gracious, Edith, what do you know about Mr. Kenworthy?" "I was sitting in the window seat when you and his aunt were talking about him and heard all that was said. Please ask Mrs. Grosvenor to bring him here to dinner. But don't say anything about me, or he won't come."

"I'll do no such thing. I don't wish you to have anything to do with such a man; you'll be going up with him in his machine."

"How can I do that when he won't take a girl up with him?" "Why do you wish to see him?" "For curiosity's sake."

When a girl of nineteen wishes to get her clutches on a young man, her mother is not the best person to stand in her way. Mrs. Grosvenor was invited to dinner and asked to bring her nephew with her. Since she had brought him up from a boy of twelve, she had sufficient influence to induce him to accept the invitation. At Mrs. Edgingham's suggestion, prompted by Edith, Mrs. Grosvenor told Jack that there were only children in the Edgingham family, and for that evening the young lady appeared with her hair hanging uncombed down her back and robed in a becoming snow white dress, the skirt of which reached only midway between her knees and her ankles.

Upon her entrance into the dining room, where Mr. Kenworthy, much bored in his efforts to please his aunt, sat waiting for dinner to be announced, his attention was immediately fixed on this fairy-like child who made him a courtesy and began immediately to chat with him in a very animated fashion. Kenworthy, judging from her appearance, thought her to be about thirteen, but he had never known a child of that age to talk so much like a woman.

Miss Edgingham refrained from any mention of Mr. Kenworthy's especial bent until she had succeeded in impressing him with the fact that she was a very attractive child. After the dinner had been finished and the two elderly ladies were chatting over a cup of tea, with childlike simplicity she inveigled the aeronaut into the window seat, where she had heard all about him, and turning on the switch set him going on the "object of flying, listening while he sat. I am fast, as he was accustomed to skim through the air. Her interruptions were few, but struck him as being made to the point."

Shortly before the guests departed Miss Edgingham, putting her finger on her lip as a sign of caution, whispered to her companion that she was dying to fly. Would he take her with him?

The temptation was great, but the resistance was sufficient to overcome it. "I never take women up with me. I am aware of the danger I incur, but have no inclination to take the responsibility of hurling others from a height of a thousand feet to the earth. I have on one or two occasions taken a man friend with me, but I draw the line at women."

"And children?" asked Edith, fixing her blue eyes on him appealingly.

"I would rather take a child than an adult," was the reply. "The younger person the greater the insensibility to danger. If anything should happen with you beside me I should not expect you to wreck the machine by interfering with me."

"Indeed, I would not." "In your case I must refuse solely on the ground that I would have no right to permit you to risk your life."

"Will you take up my brother?"

"I didn't know that you have a brother."

"Will you grant me for him what you have denied me for myself?" Edith threw all the pleading of which she was capable into her expressive eyes.

"I will."

"When?"

"After I have got my new machine that has been building for me and have tested it in trial trips."

"Very well; when you are ready notify me, but say nothing about the matter to any one. If mother should hear of it she would prevent it."

She took his hand and pressed it fervently. The pressure went straight to his heart.

Mr. Kenworthy carried away with him a very attractive picture, a young girl in short dresses, with her hair down her back and withal sufficiently developed both physically and intellectually to please one who had come to manhood. Moreover, the picture did not fade. The fancy once caught is very tenacious. Kenworthy did not go to see Edith again, for he could find no valid excuse to visit a child, but not a day passed without his seeing her in his mind's eye.

One day she received a note from him saying that he had thoroughly tested his new aeroplane and was ready to keep his promise to give her brother an airing. He would start from a field in which stood the shed covering his machine the next afternoon at 3 o'clock. When that hour arrived a boy jumped the fence and strode toward the aeronaut. On reaching Kenworthy he said that his sister, Edith Edgingham, had sent him, saying that he would be taken up in an aeroplane.

"You're the image of your sister, only you are dark and she is light. Are you twins?"

"Yes," faltered the boy, quailing under the inquisitive gaze.

Kenworthy's mind being intent on his preparations for his flight, he turned away and when they were completed invited the boy to a seat beside him. They rose slowly, the latter holding to the machine with a grip which if strong enough would have crushed it. The aeronaut cast a glance aside and noticed that the hand was white and shapely. But one guiding a machine rising higher and higher has no time for other observations than those connected with his flight, and Jack having a neck at risk besides his own felt an extra amount of responsibility resting upon his shoulders. His companion sat still, displaying no fear, but feeling a great terror. The hills and the houses grew smaller and smaller below them and they seemed hung upon nothing. The air which had been quiet below was blustering above, and suddenly the machine tilted like a bird changing its course. A suppressed cry escaped the boy.

"I've kept my promise to your sister," said Jack, "and I think we had better descend."

No objection being raised, the aeronaut began the descent. All went well till they were within 100 feet of the ground from which they started, when something snapped and the speed of the propellers was visibly reduced. It was evident from the aeronaut's sudden pulling upon levers that something had happened. Indeed, he found it necessary to glide on an incline down upon the earth. He succeeded in doing so, and when the machine stopped running on its wheels the arms of his boy passenger were clasped tightly around his neck.

He unclasped them, and then found that the boy had fainted. Kenworthy took him in his arms and laid him on the grass. Thinking to rouse him, he ripped open his jacket and unloosed his collar.

The secret was out, or rather, it began to come out, for though Jack knew the boy was a girl he did not know a great many other things that he learned afterward. That was his last trip in an aeroplane. Edith Edgingham in her own appropriate costume as a young woman, after a courtship, consented to be his wife, but only on condition that he would never sit in an aeroplane again.

$1.00

Wayne Snow Flake Flour

$1.00

Wayne Snow Flake Flour

$1.00

Wayne Snow Flake Flour

Can be Bought at any store in Wayne county for

$1.00 PER SACK

BY BUYING IN 500 POUND LOTS

This practically solves the high cost of living. You have been buying potatoes and apples in five and ten bushel lots, why not buy "Snow Flake" Flour the same way? Wayne Snow Flake Flour makes a nice loaf of bread—light, sweet to the taste and palatable. Those who are using it say so and those who are not should give it a trial. Ask For It and Save Money!

WEBER BROTHERS

Wayne Snow Flake Flour

$1.00

LIVE STOCK PRICES AT SOUTH OMAHA

Beef Trade Is Flat, Owing to Bad Markets East.

HOGS OPEN OFF, CLOSE STEADY

Fat Lambs Slow at Steady Prices—Demand Not as Broad—No Change in Aged Sheep—Feeders Steady to Easier.

Union Stock Yards, South Omaha, Nov. 18.—About 6,000 cattle arrived today. It was a badly demoralized market for corn fed cattle. Bids were all of 25@30c lower than last week and most of the plain cattle had to sell on this basis. There was nothing at all choice or fancy here, but fair to pretty good 1,050 to 1,350 pounds beefs sold around $7.50@8.25. Bad beef and cattle markets east, on account of excessive supplies, account for the present demoralization in the trade. Western beef was also slow and unevenly lower all around. Beef cows were slow sale at 25@30c lower than last week, while culling grades were about steady. The trade in stock cattle and feeding steers was badly demoralized and unevenly lower.

Cattle quotations: Choice to prime beefs, $8.50@8.75; fair to choice yearlings, $8.25@9.25; good to choice beefs, $8.00@8.40; fair to good beefs, $7.50@8.00; common to fair beefs, $6.00@7.25; good to choice grass heifers, $6.65@7.25; good to choice cows, $6.30@6.00; fair to good cows, $5.25@6.25; canners and cutters, $4.00@5.00; veal calves, $6.50@9.75; bulls, stags, etc., $4.75@6.25; choice to prime feeders, $7.25@7.60; good to choice feeders, $6.00@6.50; common to fair feeders, $5.65@6.00; stock cows and heifers, $4.50@6.30; choice to prime grass beefs, $7.50@7.90; good to choice grass beefs, $7.00@7.40; fair to good grass beefs, $6.50@7.00; poor to fair grass beefs, $5.75@6.50.

Hog receipts amounted to about 11,500 head. The market opened out a little weaker today and first sales were made at a decline of 5c. The market improved, however, and closed active and fully steady. The bulk of the offerings went at $7.50@7.70, and tops sold up to $7.75.

Sheep and lamb receipts totaled 14,000 head. The market was slow today for fat sheep and lambs, but prices were just about steady with Monday. A bunch of fed western lambs brought $7.00, and some natives reached $6.85. What few wethers were here sold around $4.25, and most of the ewes went at $4.00. Trade in feeders had not the life it had Monday and prices were steady to easier on most all grades.

Quotations on lambs and sheep: Lambs, good to choice, $6.75@7.10; lambs, fair to good, $6.50@6.75; lambs, culls, $5.50@6.00; lambs, feeders, $5.50@6.50; yearlings, light, $5.50@5.75; yearlings, heavy, $5.25@5.50; yearlings, feeders, $4.50@5.40; wethers, good to choice, $4.25@4.50; wethers, fair to good, $4.00@4.25; wethers, feeders, $4.00@4.50; ewes, good to choice, $4.10@4.25; ewes, fair to good, $3.75@4.10; ewes, feeders, $3.25@3.75.

Hope.

"There is no sweeter suffering than hope." So runs an old German proverb, melancholy text for hearts that bitter disappointment has cured and to whom all hope is but memory.

An Alarming Tale.

Mr. Staylate—The other night I heard a story that gave me such a start. Miss Muchbored—I wish I knew it—Woman's Home Companion.

The Attraction.

Ells—Did the bride smile as she walked down the aisle? Mal—I don't know; I was watching her hat.—Kansas City Star.

If You Are Going to Have Company and A Turkey to Roast, Order It Here and You'll be a Thankful Host.

For the Day After—Turkey Loaf

Take a quart of cold turkey, chopped coarsely, and mix with a cup of soft, white bread crumbs, two beaten eggs, a teaspoonful of salt, a little pepper, and, if you like, a small cup of chopped celery; press into a buttered bread-tin, cover with strips of pork, and bake for an hour; serve hot with giblet gravy and cranberry sauce.

The Central Market

Morris Thompson & Co. Phone 67

Now is the Time

A Good, Hand-Made, Oak Tanned LEATHER HARNESS

The Place is the Old Reliable

Established 1884
Wayne, Nebraska

John S. Lewis, Jr.

The Season For Auction Sales

Is now at hand and we wish to announce that E. and D. H. Cunningham are now in Wayne ready to do your work at any time.

Our terms are reasonable and our long experience in the business justifies the belief that we can get you MORE money than the other fellow.

E. & D. H. Cunningham

Real Estate and Live Stock Auctioneers
Wayne, Nebraska

Old Papers for Sale at the Democrat office

Laumann and Jones will Discuss Rural Credit Questions

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 20.—The banker's viewpoint of rural credits will be explained by Gordon Jones of Denver, at the Nebraska Farmers' Congress, which meets in Omaha December 9 to 12. Mr. Jones was a member of the commission which investigated rural credits in Europe and his observations will be interesting.

Prof. C. W. Laumann of Cornell University, will speak on the same subject, taking the farmer's view of credits. This discussion, along opposite lines, coming from men who have made the subject a study, will result in lively debates among the many delegates who will attend the meeting.

Secretary W. S. Delano of Lincoln has the program all but completed for this meeting, which promises to be one of the liveliest ever held. The subjects on the program are vital. They include discussions on University consolidation, Taxation, Reorganization of the State Board of Agriculture, and Centralized and Co-operative Creameries. Both sides of the questions will be presented by men who are familiar with the subject.

Dairymen Meet

Members of the Nebraska Dairymen's Association held an important meeting at the Lindell hotel November 13. An interesting program was outlined for the three days session during the week of Organized Agriculture in Lincoln January 19-23. The program is so planned that producers will learn of the latest methods in dairying. Among other things will be a clinic during which a test will be made of a cow afflicted with tuberculosis and the infected organs will be displayed after the tests have been made. Prominent dairy experts from a number of states will attend, according to the announcement of President R. W. McGinnis.

The Longest Way Around

Washington, D. C., Nov. 20.—The average life of horses and automobiles may be increased and the cost of hauling reduced, according to the Office of Roads, of the Department of Agriculture, by relocating many old roads and the more scientific laying out of new ones. The natural tendency in road building is to build a straight road, whether it goes over steep grades or hills, or not, and the pulling over these grades naturally adds to the wear and tear on horses and vehicles.

The doctrine of the Office of Roads is the longest way around may often be the shortest and most economical way home, and that frequently by building a highway around a hill or grade, but little appreciable distance is added and this is more than offset by the reduced strain of hauling.

The chief drawback from the farm owner's point of view is the laying out of roads on this principle of avoiding grades necessitates, in some cases, running the road through good farm land or orchards or pastures, instead of going around the farm line and building the road through old worn-out fields and over rocky knolls. This, of course, must raise a question in the mind of the individual land owner as to whether the cutting up of his property by a road yields him individual advantages and so benefits his community as to offset the use of such land for a road, or to overcome the inconvenience of having his land divided. In this connection the Office of Roads points out that the resulting traffic through a good farm, where there are good sheep, cattle, horses, grain, fruit, or vegetables, has a certain advertising value and in many instances makes the land more valuable. In other cases, the importance of a level road to the community is so great that it might well repay those using the road to give the farmer the equivalent in land equally good in place of what he has sacrificed to the common welfare.

At any rate, the Office of Roads is now taking special pains to make clear the economic advantage of avoiding steep grades in their roads, even at some sacrifice of better land. Investigation shows that the laying of such roads over hills has resulted more from attention to the preservation of farm lines than from scientific attention to the problem of road building.

According to the testimony of farmers consulted, where a horse might be able to pull 3,000 pounds on a level road, it would have difficulty in pulling 3000 lbs. up a steep hill. The size of load, therefore tends to be measured by the grade of the largest hill on the road to market. In a number of cases actual experiment shows that the relocating of roads around hills has been accomplished, either with no addition in road length in some instances, and with the adding of only a few feet to the highway in others. The Office knows of no case where a properly relocated road which has cut out grades has led to any question as to its material reduction of hauling costs.

Railroad Automobile

Chas. Mines, supervisor of bridges and buildings for this division of the Omaha has recently converted his automobile into a railroad automobile. This required changing of speed gears and took considerable head work to get his calculations right.

The diagrams and plans were sent to St. Paul to be made and arrived in Sioux City the first of the week. Fred Mines, G. R. Hahn and Chas. Mines went up after the car Tuesday and drove it home.

Regular car wheels are now used—of light weight, however, and Mr. Mines can make inspections in comfort and without having to pump a tricycle.—Emerson Enterprise

Yes the thing went through Wayne last week. Two fellows saw it. One said "here it comes," and the other corrected the statement, saying, "there it goes." for it was sure enough gone.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 1, 1913.

M. D. Reynolds says:— This is to certify that I have been a great sufferer from Rheumatism since 1894. Contracted the disease while working with a snow plow on the railroad. For several years I have been obliged to use crutches a great part of the time. Having used three boxes of the Meritol Rheumatism Powders, I have thrown away the crutches and am now almost fully recovered. It certainly has done wonders for me and I heartily recommend it. M. D. Reynolds.—Adams Model Pharmacy.—adv.

Work and dress gloves at Thiels at wholesale price.—adv.

Keep the Drag on the Job

During the late fall and winter months there is often a disposition to consider the season for road dragging over. We urge every road official and every farmer to get the road drag on the job just as soon as possible after the rains and thaws that are sure to come this fall. Some of the most effective dragging that we have ever seen was done in January and February a few years ago, where the road had frozen up very rough and after the freeze the sunshine and wind had softened the sharp points of the mud and dried out a little of the top.

Notwithstanding the fact that the weather had been very cold and the road frozen to a considerable depth, the drags smooth the surface and made travel a pleasure instead of a thing to be dreaded. Then the roads dried gradually in the spring and there was practically no time when a heavy load could not be brought to town.

We believe that the drag is more effective and more valuable during the fall and winter than any other time of the year unless possibly in March and April when the spring rains are soaking things. Everyone appreciates the value of keeping the roads in such shape that the melting snows will not settle in the depressions and thus make impassable mud holes. There is no way in which this can be done so cheaply and effectively as by the dragging of the road, whenever the ground is clear of snow and the sun and wind have dried out the top of the traveled surface.

By all means do not permit the drags to be put away for the winter but keep them always ready to go on the job.—The Roadmaker.

Get's "Everybody doin' it," even Grandpa; fills you with vim, vigor, vitality; overloads you with energy.—Hollister's R. M. tea. 35c.—Felber's Pharmacy.—adv. n

Library Notes

The Librarian reports the following new books added to the library list last week:

- The Inner Flame—C. L. Burnham.
- V-V's Eyes—H. S. Harrison.
- T. Tembaram—F. H. Burnett.
- Dawn O. Hara—Edna Ferber.
- Pilgrim's Progress—J. Bunyan.
- Fairy Tales—Ginnis.
- Book of Stories for Story telling, Vol. 1 and 2—F. Coe.
- Aesop's Fables—Aesop.
- Scotland's Story—H. E. Marshall.

Smallpox and Diphtheria

There is less dread of these diseases now than formerly, because everybody knows they can be prevented, one by vaccination, the other with antitoxin. You can keep from having colds, gripe, bronchitis, pneumonia, catarrh, typhoid fever, rheumatism, and other dangerous cold-weather ailments, if you put your system into a proper healthy condition to resist disease.

Rexall Olive Emulsion helps the body produce substances which prevent the growth of disease germs in the blood, thus putting the system in a healthy condition to resist disease. It will help you get well and keep well and strong if you have any of the above diseases or other ailments. It is good for children just at this season of the year—to make them healthy and strong; to successfully resist cold weather ailments.

There's direct benefit to you in every ingredient in Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion. The four Hypophosphites it contains are used by leading physicians everywhere in debility, weakness and liability to disease, to strengthen the nerves. Purest Olive Oil, one of the most nutritious, most-easy-digested foods known, being taken with the hypophosphites, gives rich tissue nourishment through the blood to the entire system.

You who are weak and run-down, and you who are apparently well now, but are liable to suffer from various cold weather ailments, use Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion to get and keep well and strong. For the tired-out, run-down, nervous, emaciated or debilitated—the convalescing—growing children—aged people—it is a sensible aid to renewed strength, better spirits, glowing health.

Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion—king of the celebrated Rexall Remedies—is for freedom from sickness of you and your family. Pleasant-tasting, containing no alcohol or dangerous drugs, you'll be as enthusiastic about it as we are when you have noted its strengthening, invigorating, building-up, disease-preventing effects. If it does not help you, your money will be given back to you without argument. Sold in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store—one of the more than 7,000 leading drug stores in the United States, Canada and Great Britain.

Shultheis Pharmacy, Wayne, Nebraska. adv.

Pianos
Sewing Machines

Rugs
Pictures
Furniture

The Great Furniture and Music House of Gaertner & Beckenhauer

Wayne, Nebraska

Is just in receipt of a complete new line of goods, purchased in Chicago.

This complete line of Furniture is

New in Style, Pattern and Finish

Every Department Has A Larger and Better Stock Than Ever Before

ELECTRIC LAMPS

We have the electric lamps in Mahogany, Fumed Oak and Reed, something entirely new in design and finish, and a really artistic piece of home ornamentation. We ask you to inspect our furniture stock knowing that we can serve you best for all you need in this line.

GAERTNER & BECKENHAUER

Every Visitor at Our Store This Month will be given a Coupon, Valued at $2.00, FREE!

Pavilion Sale!

SATURDAY

Nov. 29, '13

We are going to hold our First Pavilion Sale on above date.

We Want Good Stock and Lots of It

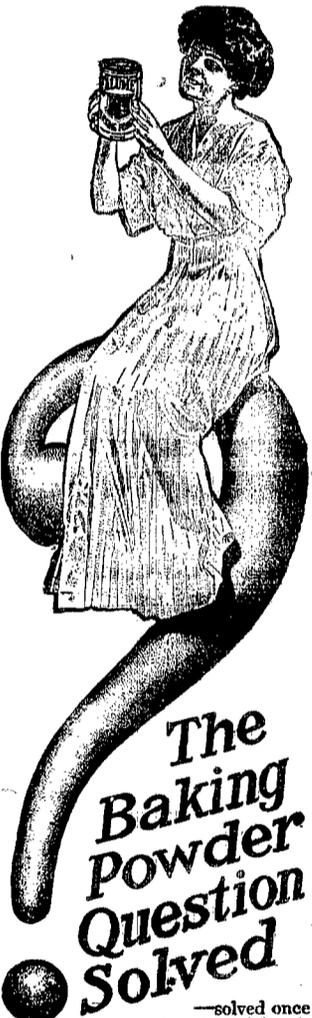

List Everything Early with L. C. Gildersleeve

E. & D. H. CUNNINGHAM
AUCTIONEERS

Wayne Live Stock Pavilion Co.

White Rock Cockerels
I have a number of pure bred cockerels of above breed for quick sale. Phone No. 2111-419. Fred H. Wolter.—adv. 45-2pd.

The Big Two-Color Kind
AT THE RIGHT PRICE.
Printed by The Democrat

—solved once for all by Calumet. For daily use in millions of kitchens has proved that Calumet is highest not only in quality but in leavening power as well—unfailing in results—pure to the extreme—and wonderfully economical in use. Ask your grocer. And try Calumet next bake day.

Received Highest Awards

You don't save money when you buy cheap or big-size baking powder. Don't be misled. Buy Calumet. It's more economical—more wholesome—gives best results. Calumet is the superior to most other brands.

GARDNER & WADE, Publishers

Entered at the postoffice at Wayne, Nebraska, as second-class mail matter.

Subscription Rates: One Year... $1.50. Six Months... 75c. Three Months... 40c. Single Copies... 10c

WAYNE MARKET REPORT

Following are the market prices quoted us up to the time of going to press, Thursday:

Table with market prices for various commodities: Oats, Corn, Barley, Spring wheat, Wheat, Eggs, Butter, Hogs, Fat Cattle.

Edwin S. Johnson of Yankton is mentioned as the democratic candidate for the U. S. Senate from South Dakota next year.

Most of the Wayne county democrats who mention our supposed-to-be democratic senator say that they would be willing to accept his resignation...

One of the benefits of a closer relation between the merchant and the man in the country might be for the merchant to learn where and how so much money is saved by buying goods away from home...

A recent registration at Gregory, South Dakota, shows that the democrats of that place have increased in number more than 50 per cent.

Rev. Father Nugent of Des Moines, Iowa, has been tendered the appointment as United States Consul to Jerusalem by the President.

The parcel post is more of a success than any expected it to be the first ten months of its life.

It is amusing to read the various comments upon the proposed $500,000 educational fund to be put up by the meat packers...

Let the dairyman learn his lesson well, keep that local creamery or cheese factory open. No matter what the temptation may be to give up the local enterprise...

Political Predictions

"Doc" Tanner of the Nebraska Daily Democrat of South Omaha, in his column of "Hot Stuff" gives the following diagnosis of the political situation in this state...

Labor Commissioner Charley Pool drew No. 65 at the recent land opening. He expects to locate in the sand hills and run for governor.

Speaking about a democratic candidate for governor, however, I got some dope from a "leader" yesterday who sized up the situation like this: "Morehead will be a candidate if a petition is circulated in every county in the state asking him to run again."

New Books at Library

- The Standard Operas by George P. Upton. Laddie—Gene Stratton Porter. The Arrival of Jimson—Ralph H. Barbour. Christmas Tree House—Mary F. Leonard. Every Day Susan—Mary F. Leonard. Otherwise Phyllis—Merideth Nicholson. Hagar—Mary Johnston. Burns Complete Poetical Works. The Art Literature Reader, Book 1—Eulalie Grover. The Art Literature Reader, book 4—Francis Chutter. The girl of the Limberlost—Gene Stratton Porter. Joan Thursday—Louis Joseph Vance. Happy-Go-Lucky—Jan Hay. Peg O' My Heart—J. Hartley Manners. Tales of Two Bunnies—Katherine Pyle. Riley Roses—James Whitcomb Riley. Riley Child Rhymes—James Whitcomb Riley. The Boy Scouts of Dismal Swamp—Walter P. Eaton. The Boy Scouts of Berkshire—Walter P. Eaton. The Wilderness Casaway—Dillon Wallace. African Camp Fires—Stewart Edward White. Camp Brave Pine—Harriet T. Comstock. The Maid of the Forest—Ralph Paniah.

Constable Soules Spots Prisoner

John L. Soules completed a little piece of detective work here last week, which may account for the disappearance of his mustache, thus adding to his good looks.

New Postal Ruling

Postmasters at rural delivery offices and rural carriers are directed to bring to the attention of patrons that it is the desire of the Department that all first class mail matter deposited in rural mail boxes shall be stamped before being deposited.

When this is not practicable, coins left in such boxes for the purchase of stamps should be deposited in coin holding receptacles and not enclosed in envelopes, wrapped in paper, or left loose in boxes.

Fresh Cut Flowers

Leave your order for Thanksgiving flowers at Jones' Bookstore.—adv.

LETTER FROM THE MOUNTAINS

A Friend Writes Interesting Letter from Paonia, Colorado, About Fruit Growing There, and Co-Operative Ownership of Public Utilities.

Paonia is the second largest town in Delta county, has a population of 1500 and it lays claim to being the best town of its size in Colorado.

The chief industry is fruit raising in that part of the state, which goes to eastern markets and are said to be the finest apples produced in the world.

Paonia is and always has been a co-operative place, owning her own water plant and brings from the mountains the purest of drinking water by the gravity process and supplies the surrounding country with domestic water.

LARGEST KNOWN ICE CAVE.

Wonders of the Frozen Grotto in the Dachstein Mountains.

A few years ago some members of the Austrian Speleological society discovered in the Dachstein mountains some caverns which are among the largest in Europe.

Though a scorching sun may be burning outside on the bare mountain rock, there is always an icy wind blowing through this underworld, freezing everything within its reach.

The Dachstein ice cave comprises several domes filled with ice, which communicate with one another through a number of frozen galleries.

It is the intention of many growers to establish a market of their own, supplying the trade year after year. To aid them along this line, the government has sent some of its best experts into the Colorado fruit sections to teach the grower how and what to market, also to keep them posted as to crop and market conditions.

Mrs. J. Heffron, returned the first of the week from a visit with relatives in Iowa.

Herman Mildner and M. J. Heffron were at Emerson Tuesday.

Badly Disappointed.

Little Mattie flew into the house one evening very late for nursery tea and hurried to her mother's chair.

"Dear Sir—Herewith the Right Hon. C. J. Rhodes' coat, uncleaned and un-mended. We regret that all we can do with the garment is to make a new coat to match the buttons."

Wanted the Solids.

Tommy went out to dine at a friend's house one evening. When the soup was brought Tommy did not touch his and the hostess, looking over, said: "Why, Tommy, dear, what's the matter? Aren't you hungry tonight?"

Subtle Scheme.

First Jeweler—Aren't you afraid to leave those diamonds in a front window at night? Second Jeweler—Not with my scheme. Just before I go home I put in a little sign on them reading, "Anything In This Window 10 Cents."—Chicago News.

Verbal Brand.

"How do you manage to keep such a clean record with so many of your cranky relations?" "Just use soft soap."—Baltimore American.

Be Slow to Throw.

After a man has thrown a rock he nine times out of ten, wishes he had it back in his hand.—Philadelphia Ledger.

CRAFT ON THE GRIDIRON.

When the Carlisle Indians Outwitted Harvard's Highbrows.

In football a full field run from kick-off to touchdown is a rare play. Once it was made by a Carlisle Indian, who covered the long distance in a game against Harvard, Oct. 31, 1903.

The first half had closed with the Indians in the lead five points to none. Harvard opened the battle by sending a long kick to Johnson on Carlisle's five yard line.

The crimson players, now upon them, looked in vain for the ball, dumfounded, running from one opponent to another.

Obeying instructions, Dillon ran straight at Marshall. The latter, assuming that the Indian intended to block him, agilely sidestepped the Carlisle player.

People who go for their summer vacation should make it a point to go to Paonia in the fruit season at which time the low railroad rates are on.

People who go for their summer vacation should make it a point to go to Paonia in the fruit season at which time the low railroad rates are on.

People who go for their summer vacation should make it a point to go to Paonia in the fruit season at which time the low railroad rates are on.

People who go for their summer vacation should make it a point to go to Paonia in the fruit season at which time the low railroad rates are on.

People who go for their summer vacation should make it a point to go to Paonia in the fruit season at which time the low railroad rates are on.

People who go for their summer vacation should make it a point to go to Paonia in the fruit season at which time the low railroad rates are on.

People who go for their summer vacation should make it a point to go to Paonia in the fruit season at which time the low railroad rates are on.

People who go for their summer vacation should make it a point to go to Paonia in the fruit season at which time the low railroad rates are on.

People who go for their summer vacation should make it a point to go to Paonia in the fruit season at which time the low railroad rates are on.

People who go for their summer vacation should make it a point to go to Paonia in the fruit season at which time the low railroad rates are on.

People who go for their summer vacation should make it a point to go to Paonia in the fruit season at which time the low railroad rates are on.

People who go for their summer vacation should make it a point to go to Paonia in the fruit season at which time the low railroad rates are on.

People who go for their summer vacation should make it a point to go to Paonia in the fruit season at which time the low railroad rates are on.

People who go for their summer vacation should make it a point to go to Paonia in the fruit season at which time the low railroad rates are on.

People who go for their summer vacation should make it a point to go to Paonia in the fruit season at which time the low railroad rates are on.

People who go for their summer vacation should make it a point to go to Paonia in the fruit season at which time the low railroad rates are on.

A Scientific Experiment

With a View to Demonstrating the Nature of Love

By F. A. MITCHEL

Notwithstanding that every effort has been made recently to prevent a certain scientific discovery, or, rather, its application, from being known to the public, it has leaked out and is producing a great deal of talk.

One bright morning Mr. Higginbotham entered the reception room at the Institute For Original Research and sent in a card to Dr. Carrelton.

"Doctor, I am not a scientific man, but I have been thinking on some of the results obtained by your experiments, and I have come to believe that a certain something I wished produced is possible."

"The two sat down, and Dr. Carrelton gave his visitor his attention.

"As you are aware," Mr. Higginbotham proceeded, "this is an age of interest in human beings physically and scientifically considered.

"The two sat down, and Dr. Carrelton gave his visitor his attention.

"The two sat down, and Dr. Carrelton gave his visitor his attention.

"The two sat down, and Dr. Carrelton gave his visitor his attention.

"The two sat down, and Dr. Carrelton gave his visitor his attention.

"The two sat down, and Dr. Carrelton gave his visitor his attention.

"The two sat down, and Dr. Carrelton gave his visitor his attention.

"The two sat down, and Dr. Carrelton gave his visitor his attention.

"The two sat down, and Dr. Carrelton gave his visitor his attention.

"The two sat down, and Dr. Carrelton gave his visitor his attention.

"The two sat down, and Dr. Carrelton gave his visitor his attention.

"The two sat down, and Dr. Carrelton gave his visitor his attention.

"The two sat down, and Dr. Carrelton gave his visitor his attention.

"The two sat down, and Dr. Carrelton gave his visitor his attention.

my mind the problem you offered me. Various plans have suggested themselves for accomplishing your object. To change the impressions on your son's mind from one who is dead to one who lives must be effected, if at all, in one of two ways—first, a new woman may be introduced to make him forget his dead love for her."

"Impossible," said Mr. Higginbotham. "He will have nothing to do with any woman."

"The other alternative is to find a woman—not unlike his dead love—give an artist a likeness of both the dead and the living, have him paint a number of portraits showing a gradual transition of the features of the dead to those of the living and substitute these pictures, one after another, in place of the one through which your son nourishes his love."

"Solved!" exclaimed Mr. Higginbotham, grasping the scientist's hand enthusiastically.

"Not so fast. You must remember that it is not a face or figure that alone produces love; there are many idiosyncrasies that combine to that end.

"Yes, we may do that, and there is a reasonable expectation that if we are successful in effecting the substitution of physical features in your son's brain he may fall in with the other differences under the influence of another mental faculty."

"That is?" "The imagination?" "The imagination?" "Yes, let your son once be introduced to the living woman whose features through the portraits have replaced on his brain those of the dead, and he will be so pleased that he will imagine the living possesses the charms which he admired in the dead."

"Professor," exclaimed Mr. Higginbotham, "I have read of your scientific victories published to the world, but I never thought that I should be the humble instrument of drawing forth one of the most remarkable of them all."

"You are showing the importance of one of the faculties I have mentioned," remarked the doctor coolly.

"What one?" "The imagination. No sooner do I suggest a method of procedure than you imagine the work to be accomplished. You may overcome the obstacles that are to be expected, but I fear you will not."

"Leave that to me. I shall leave no stone unturned to accomplish my purpose. I shall proceed with all the care, exactness and delicacy that you scientists practice in your own experiments."

Grasping Dr. Carrelton's hand and squeezing it so that the scientist cried out with pain, the enthusiastic Higginbotham took his departure.

It was not long after this that Albert Higginbotham, standing before the picture of his dead love, noticed a slight change, it being fresher looking than before.

Mr. Higginbotham paused and then added sentimentally, "In other words, photo plays are enacted on the same principle as those of human life."

Dr. Carrelton's attention changed from indifference to interest. "I don't know," he said, "that the matter ever occurred to me in exactly that light."

"My object in seeking this interview," resumed Mr. Higginbotham, "is not to enunciate a thought, but to consult with you on the application of a principle. I have accumulated a large fortune, sir, and desire to transmit it to my descendants. I have one child, a son, but he has met with a misfortune in the loss of a girl he loved and has vowed that he will never marry.

"My son's love I do not consider in the nature of romance, but a material condition. Indeed, today since the death of the object it is reduced to a matter of memory. No more mental photographic pictures of her are imprinted on his brain; instead of photographic action, so to speak, there is photographic sameness, just as before the moving we had but a single immovable picture."

"I think I begin to get your drift," said Dr. Carrelton. "What you propose is to start again the life pictures on your son's brain, producing impressions which may tend in another direction."

"Exactly!" exclaimed the visitor, evidently much pleased at being understood.

"And you would like me to invent a process by which this may be done?" "That was my object in calling upon you, sir."

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

C. M. Christensen is at Ewing today.

J. Langdager is spending the day at Sioux City.

Sam'l Reppert went to Norfolk Wednesday evening.

A car load Lump Rock Salt soon to arrive. Rundell.—adv.

Wm. Christensen is home from a weeks trip in Minnesota.

Miss Myrtle Kopp went from Winside to Sioux City today.

Chan Norton and Mr. Hutchins are home from a trip to Minnesota.

Thanksgiving Flowers—Leave your order at Jones' Bookstore.—adv.

Mrs. John Gustafson was at Hartington visiting her son and family Tuesday.

For bargains on fancy dishes and novelties attend the Berry closing sale.—adv.

R. Lauman was called to Primar, Iowa, today to attend the funeral of an aunt.

White Roe gasoline and National Light Kerosene always on hand in barrel lots. Ralph Rundell.—adv.

L. L. Way and Vern Fisher went to Sioux City this morning to ride home in a couple of new automobiles.

A new shipment of cheese received at Beaman's. Varieties include Swiss Club, Nippy, Canadian and Pimento.—adv.

Mrs. Williams of Atkinson returned home Tuesday following a visit at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Williams at this place.

Just arrived—A large cask of Silver Thread Sauer Kraut, also a 50 gallon cask of Pure Sweet Apple Cider. Ralph Rundell.—adv.

Miss Lillie Heesch returned to her home at Bloomfield Wednesday evening after a two weeks' visit at the home of Ed Merrill and wife, her sister.

Boyd Dewey is home after an absence of several weeks spent hunting and fishing in the western part of the state. He reports some good shooting.

The Walter Savidge Company will present "A Mad Love" at the opera house next Thursday evening, the 27th. No one misses Savidge when he comes.—adv.

Swans Down Pastry flour always in stock at Beaman's, always a necessity in the pastry department of every kitchen. Buy a package for Thanksgiving baking.—adv.

If your eyes tire after you read a while have them looked after by an expert eye man at R. N. Donahy's exclusive optical store, one door north of the Union hotel.—adv.

Henry Linke is going to take a few prize-winning birds from his flock to the poultry show at Sioux City next week. LeRoy Owen is also expecting to have an exhibit there.

Miss Nellie Soules returned Wednesday from a visit with relatives at West Point. She was accompanied on her return trip by her uncle, Othel Cadwell, who came for a visit here.

Those desiring Rock Salt in 1000 pound lots or more may be secured directly off car at $10.00 per ton. Leave your order and I will notify when car arrives. Ralph Rundell.—adv.

Have your eyes tested by an exclusive optician. Do not wear your glasses two or three years without having them looked after. Business is good—there is a reason. R. N. Donahy, expert optician.—adv.

Paul Harrington left this week for Tulsa, Oklahoma, where he will attend the wedding next week of his friend, Cyrus Sweet, in the capacity of groomsman. Mr. Sweet formerly lived at Wayne and has many friends here who will congratulate him on this happy event.

Messrs. Meister & Bluechel are about to retire from the implement business at Wayne having bargained their stock to Messrs. Evers & Bichel, a couple of well-known young men from the country a few miles southeast of Wayne. The invoice is now being taken and the new firm expect to take charge when his task is completed.

E. C. Brimmer, who was station agent at Winside when they first had a railroad station there, was a passenger through here Tuesday, and got off the train and visited as long as he could with those he knew in those days who happened to be at the station. He now lives at St. Paul, and his invitation for the boys of '86 who happened in his town to call was hearty.

Mrs. L. M. Owen is visiting at Omaha today.

Herman Ehtencamp and wife are visiting at Sioux City today.

Mrs. James Britton was a visitor at Sioux City the first of the week.

F. S. Berry left Wednesday on a business trip to St. Louis and Chicago.

Nobody misses Savidge when he puts on a play—the 27th is the date.—adv.

For that good flour—Cinderella—call on W. C. Martin at the feed mill or phone Black 289.—adv. 46tf.

Ed White of Walthil returned home Wednesday following a visit at the home of John Krei and family.

Ripe olives, plain olive, stuffed and Pimento stuffed green olives. Sweet, sour and dill pickles. Beaman's.—adv.

Mrs. C. A. Chace went to Fairbault, Minnesota, today to visit her daughter who is attending college there.

Auctioneer Jarvis announces a sale of 90 head of stock by Rudolph Buinister four miles north of Carroll on the 16th.

It is reported that there are those who cannot see the speed limit sign or forget them. $10 and trimmings are good reminders.

Wafers, Perfettos, Hydrox, a nice variety of Loose-Wiles English Style products, received often and always fresh in stock at Beaman's.—adv.

Mrs. I. C. Trumbauer was quite seriously ill Saturday and Sunday threatened with appendicitis, but the attack passed and she is now much better.

Apricot Ice. Why not get a can of those extra fine Grand Canon Peeled Apricots at Beaman's and make your own Ice for Thanksgiving dinner.—adv.

H. J. Miner has a shorthorn calf that is doing well. Born April 27, he tips the scale at 600 now. Then he has others that are good in size and breeding.

After your Thanksgiving dinner and a foot ball game the proper thing to do to round out the day is to secure tickets to the Savidge play at the opera house.—adv.

County Superintendent, Mrs. Littell and I. H. Britell, from this place were at Hoskins Friday evening attending a patrons and teachers' meeting, and taking a part in the program.

C. A. Berry is closing out his line of dishes and novelties at a cost price and less, and it is indeed a good time to do early Christmas buying before all are gone. The early buyer picks the choice.—adv.

D. C. Hogue, who purchased the Boyd hotel barber shop outfit some twelve months ago, and moved out of there last spring has sold the outfit to O. S. McKay, a barber from Detroit, Minnesota, who has purchased a shop at Randolph and is refitting it.

Misses Chyrl Ihde and Gladys Baker of Pierson, Iowa, who are attending college at Morningside, spent Sunday and Monday at the home of Mrs. Margaret Wade, and when they returned Mrs. Wade accompanied them to Sioux City on her way to visit a daughter at Sloan, Iowa, where she is spending the week.

M. S. Englert has just received another trio of game birds. This time they are Darby Greys, from Lisle, New York. This makes him four pens of different breed game chickens. If the bunch of roosters happen to get together some time there will be a sporty half hour while they fight for championship.

G. G. Haller of Blair has been here for several days looking after his farm west of this place and visiting among his many friends. He was a guest at the home of Jake Ziegler and wife. Wayne county was his home for many years, living part of the time in town and part on his farm. He is planning to return in the spring and will again become a resident here, moving to his farm which he will once more take charge of.

The Democrat man has discovered a new way to curl feathers. Take one of these new kind that are driven into the lady's head gear at an angle of about twenty-three and one-half degrees from horizontal on a cool morning and stand the lady just back of the depot stove and close to the hot pipe; then let some one engage the lady in conversation and move about just enough to cause the lady to revolve slowly back and forth about one-third around while the plumage passes slowly over the hot pipe. Two turns are sufficient to curl most of the plumes, and the lady never knows it if deeply interested in conversation.

J. E. Marsteller returned last week from a business trip to the western part of the state where he has land interests. They believe that they have oil underneath, being near and in the same formation as the oil fields of eastern Wyoming, and they are planning to find out.

Ben Dunn, who has been husking corn this fall for Mr. Donner and others left Friday for his home near Watson, Missouri. He is some husker, and furnishes a good record that has been scarce this season. While husking with Albert Donner for Wm. VonSeggern they each made a daily record of 103 bushels—which is as good as has been reported this season. This speaks well for the yield of the VonSeggern corn as well as the ability of the huskers. There has not been many corn fields this year where a husker could reach the 100 bushel mark—had too much ground to cover. Too much like a steer in the dry country—if a good traveler he could get over enough ground in a day for his feed.

It is said that "Beauty is only skin deep," and that is true of some kinds of beauty, but there is another kind of beauty which is deep and lasting. So might be said of popularity. Some attractions are popular but for the moment. Others have a popularity that is due from merit and which endures. In this latter sense one may speak of the popularity of the Walter Savidge attractions. They have the lasting kind, for with each returning season the productions staged by this company grow in public favor and their annual return to Wayne is an event among the theatre going people. This season in a "Mad Love" which is to be put on at the opera house Thanksgiving night, is perhaps the favorite attraction of the season. Mr. Savidge is noted for the care with which he selects a troupe and the play-loving people of all parts of Nebraska have learned that when he is back of a theatrical company it is good.

School Notes

Did you examine your child's report card.

Prof. I. H. Britell was a visitor on Monday.

The Thanksgiving season will be observed with brief appropriate exercises in the schools.

The football team will play the Normal second team Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and Stanton on Thanksgiving day at 3 o'clock.

The sixth grade received a request from the same grade at Camanche, Texas, for some important Nebraska products. A few ears of corn will be sent and a request made for some staple Texas product.

The Senior class gave the following "Fire Day" program last Friday: Instrumental music by Ensign Young; Greek Myth accounting for the origin of fire by Gladys Wood; Origin of the match by Irven Sala; Safety and the safety match by Wm. McEachen; Piano Solo by Olive Griffith; Blackboard suggestions on fire prevention by Carl Schroer.

Miss Flint of Wakefield, Mass., gave a short talk about the Lappers to the Second grade Wednesday morning. She told about their tents of skin for the summer; their huts of sod for the winter; their dress and how well dressed they felt in a new suit of fur, as the old fur becomes worn in a short time. She spoke of the Laps measuring their wealth not in gold, but by the number of reindeer they own, and number of silver spoons they possess. Her talk was illustrated with postals, specimens of reindeer huts and silver, also of eggs on the board. Very few present thought they would like to live in a Lapland manner and in the future will perhaps appreciate more the use of warm water, soap and towels.

Public Sale

On Saturday, December 6th, at 2:30 o'clock, I will offer for sale at public auction, my residence property one block west of the First National Bank. The lot is 75x150 feet with five foot cement walks on east and south sides, the house of eight rooms consisting of three bed rooms, dining room, living room, parlor kitchen and room for toilet and bath, good cellar, electric lights, city water, telephone, sewerage connections, new porches and other improvements will be sold to the highest bidder. It is an opportunity to secure at a bargain a good property in one of the best locations in Wayne.

Terms will be made known on day of the sale.

W. H. McNEAL,
Clyde Oman Auctioneer,
H. S. Ringland, Clerk.

Old papers for sale at this office.

Prof. Britell Addresses School

On Wednesday morning Prof. I. H. Britell of the state normal school made a most interesting and helpful address to the high school on the theme, "The Relation of the Physical Sciences to the Industries." Mr. Britell was for many years engaged in high school work and expressed himself as feeling at home and being delighted to get back into high school. The speaker then launched into his subject with an enthusiasm that at once commanded great interest and attention. In part he said: "I take exception to the old saying 'Necessity is the Mother of Invention.' If the civilization of Egypt and the governments of Greece and Rome had had the inventions we have and for which they had necessity they would probably have survived. We live in an age of inventions and industry. An age different from any other in the remarkable progress made in the knowledge and application of the Physical Sciences. Some of the great industries which have grown out of a knowledge of physics and chemistry are (1) the reclamation of thousands of acres of barren land by irrigation and dry farming. (2) The meat packing industry made possible by a knowledge of refrigeration and the use of by-products which were formerly wasted. One packing company with an investment of $800,000 killed 3,200,000 animals in one year. If they made 1c on each animal their gain was 4 per cent on the investment. (3) The shoe-making industry. (4) Modern printing methods. (5) The Westinghouse airbarke are only a few of the important inventions resulting from a knowledge of the sciences. The flourishing Standard Oil industry is largely what it is because of the application of scientific knowledge." Mr. Britell's talk ought to excite in every student a desire to master the science thoroughly.

Teachers of County Will Meet

There is to be a meeting of the Wayne county teachers at the court house Saturday afternoon, December 6th, to which all teachers are invited. The program will be furnished by the men teachers of the county, which will certainly assure an excellent program.

How about your subscription?

A Turkey
A Goose
Or a Good Fat Hen!

Well, whatever it is, it is the Thanksgiving dinner that counts.

Let us show you what a help our Grocery Department can be to you in preparing this year's dinner in the best and easiest way.

- None-Such Mince Meat, for fruit cakes and mince pies. Package..... 10c
- Extra Good Cranberries per quart..... 10c
- Sweet Potatoes per pound..... 4c
- Ovives, in quart jars at..... 35c
- Extra Fancy Box Apples up to..... 2.60

Everything in Raisins, Currants, Citron, Etc., at lowest prices. We will have a full line of FRESH FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

We pay the highest price for all kinds of produce

Orr & Morris Co.
Phone 247 WAYNE Phone 247

J. E. Eddie and wife from north of Carroll left Wednesday for a visit at his old home at Glenco, in the province of Ontario, Canada. It is fifteen years since he last visited his old home. He was a neighbor to Wm. House when a lad, and Mr. and Mrs. House were at the station too chat with them while they waited here for the train.

Paul Deck of Hoskins was before His Honor at the County Court the first of the week and fined one dollar and trimmings for letting his foot come too violently in contact with his brother's anatomy while settling some little disagreement. He paid up and is no doubt now wondering whether he kicked hard enough to get the worth of his money.

Pavilion Sale!

Saturday, November 29

30 Pure Bred Poland China and Duroc Jersey Boars 30

From the herds of

Harry Tidrick V. Dayton Wm. Morgan

These hogs have been vaccinated and are now immune, and a Lot of Excellent Individuals.

A good bunch of cattle consisting of Cows, Heifers, Calves, Stock Cattle.

A lot of Good Horses already listed.

List now if you have anything. Sale starts promptly at 1 P. M. D. H. CUNNINGHAM, Auctioneer

Wayne Livestock Pavilion Co.
The Great the Blood, Invig. Herbs and Guarantees P. O. Box 315

A Higher Gear by Telephone

Business now-a-days is speeded up by Bell Telephone, because it is the quick, right-to-the-point way of reaching the man you want.

The big business men in every community are making the long distance telephone work for them.

Trips by telephone mean saved energy, saved nerve forces and saved dollars.

Ask "Long Distance" for rates anywhere.

NEBRASKA TELEPHONE COMPANY

HIGH COST REDUCED

The high cost of horse and cow living can be greatly diminished by feeding

GROUND FEED

and the W. C. Martin Feed Mill at Wayne can furnish you with any mixture you need of corn and oats, or will grind the grain you bring. The price is reasonable for both feed and grinding. Try a sack of

Cinderella Flour—it is good

CASH for POULTRY and top of the market. We want a car load of now.

Wayne Feed Mill

W. C. Martin, Proprietor

C. CLASEN

GENERAL CONTRACTOR
CARPENTER, BUILDER

Contracts taken for the complete construction of buildings of all kinds. Estimates cheerfully submitted.

Phone: Red 42 Wayne, Nebraska

OVER 65 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. HANDBOOK on Patents sent free. Office: 361 Broadway, New York. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $5 a year, four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 1117 F St., Washington, D. C.

CANCER

IN WOMAN'S BREAST
ALWAYS BEGINS A SMALL LUMP AND THIS AND ALWAYS POISONS BEEF GLANDS IN THE ARMPIT AND KILLS QUICKLY

I WILL GIVE $1000

IF I FAIL TO CURE ANY CANCER TUMOR I Treat Before It Poisons Bone or Bone Glands

SURE PAINLESS PLASTER CURE

Many work every day lose no sleep nights

Pay When Cured

WRITTEN GUARANTEE
Cancer never gains until it poisons deep
100-Page Booklet free, testimonials of thousands cured.

WRITE TO SOME

CANCER OF BREAST, LIP, FACE

or body always begins a small tumor, lump or sore full of poison and certain death, unless you have cured 10,000 cancers and reduce thousands dying—asked too little. Write to

DR. & MRS. DR. CHAWLSEY & CO., 3005
DR. HURFORD—Ray, Michigan
AD 38 WEST MADISON ST., CHICAGO, ILL.
This may SAVE A LIFE! Good to know

Thanksgiving at Lonesome Hollow

By FRANCIS A. MILLER

SEEMS awfully forlorn to eat a Thanksgiving dinner all alone," said Milly soberly, looking over at the young fellow who sat mending a harness strap beside the blazing hearth. "I haven't the heart to get up a big dinner for just one two."

"I don't see what else we can do. No neighbors to invite except old Pete Sprat, and he wouldn't come. We might send him something by way of being neighborly."

"And be turned away for our pains," the woman laughed.

"You can't even go out on the 'highways and hedges' and gather in stragglers like the ancient host of B'ble fame. Maybe it is just as well not to have all the work of getting up a Thanksgiving dinner, for it seems to me that you look tired, Milly. What's the matter?"

"Nothing, Jim; I guess I need a little outing. I'll take a run across the hollow and be back before supper."

Milly put on her cloak and went out into the crisp autumn afternoon. The woods were bare except for a few torchlike flames of red which marked the presence of an occasional gum tree. The sky was clear, cold and pallid, tinged with a greenish glow where the dark forests rimmed the far horizon. Not a sign of human habitation was visible, and not a sound broke the vast stillness save the steady tap-tap of a woodpecker. The loneliness oppressed Milly strangely. For two years she had endured it in cheerful silence, working patiently at whatever her hand found to do in the rough little shack, which had gradually assumed a cozy, homelike appearance. They had left the busy, grinding east in quest of health for her young husband, who was slowly regaining his lost strength and vigor in the bracing climate of Colorado, which alone kept Milly's heart light and hopeful, but in spite of that joyful fact she could not dispel a shiver of loneliness when she thought of the long, dreary winter before them.

"I'D LIKE TO HAVE YOU ALL TAKE DINNER WITH US TOMORROW."

"I'm getting morbid simply for the want of a little company," she said as she walked down the untraveled road in the face of the crisp north wind. "That will never do for you, Milly Bennett. For Jim's sake, you mustn't give way to such foolishness."

Suddenly Milly's ear caught the sound of chopping, which seemed to come from the hollow beyond the divide. She turned and made her way easily through the leafless thicket, walking briskly over the hill and down the opposite descent until she distinctly heard voices. Farther on, at the edge of a natural clearing, she came upon a party of travelers camped beside a newly kindled fire, where a lean, gaunt appearing fellow bustled himself with preparations for the evening meal. They were eight in all—a rough, unkempt lot, in leathern jackets and rusty boots. Beside the cook lay a bag of flour, a side of bacon and two jugs stoppered with corn-cobs.

Milly stopped abruptly when she found herself observed by the curious eyes of the eight strangers, then changed her mind and crossed the icy little brook and made her way toward the fire.

A big, black whiskered man dropped his armful of horse feed and looked at her piercingly. "Lost?" he asked brusquely.

"No, I live two miles up the divide. I happened to hear you chopping and stopped out of curiosity."

The man's insistent gaze annoyed her, but the forlorn, gaunt appearance of the little group incited a little throbbing pity and made her think gratefully of her own cozy, cheerful little shack, with Jim waiting for her beside the glowing hearth.

"I suppose you are simply camped here for the night," she ventured, looking about at the meager camp.

"We came down to prospect a bit. There's talk of gold in this claim, and if it's worth our while we may set up for a week or two."

"Oh, then, you'll be here over Thanksgiving, won't you? I'd like to have you all take dinner with us tomorrow."

The man looked at his fellows with a curious smile, half questioning, half incredulous. "It's rather unexpected," he remarked humorously.

"Oh, we're all neighbors out here, you know," Milly explained cordially. "My husband would be very glad to have you with us. We are from the east, and we're used to having company for Thanksgiving."

"Your husband is a prospector, too, I take it?"

"Oh, no. He came out here for his health two years ago, when he was all run down with overwork. We expect to stay here until he's quite well."

"We didn't notice any houses as we passed along. Where do you live?"

"Two miles below here on the Sunrise road, not on the trail. Will you come over tomorrow?"

"Well, being as you're so kind as to take the trouble to invite us, we'll be glad to accept your hospitality and thank you."

"Very well, I shall expect you promptly at 12. There are eight of you, aren't there? I want you all, remember. Now I'll go, for the walk is rather long. You cross the hill and go straight south till you reach the Sunrise wagon road, which will take you directly to our shack, going west. Good night."

Milly returned in great good spirits. Jim looked dubious at first, but he was loath to dampen the ardor of his good little helpmeet by voicing his doubts as to the wisdom of inviting eight strangers to their home.

"I hope we have enough stuff on hand," said cautious Jim. "It will take heaps to satisfy eight hungry men, you know."

"Of course we have plenty. We'll kill both turkeys, and I'll make four pies instead of one and two boiled puddings besides. We'll have potatoes and turnips and the canned corn I put up myself and as much elder as they can drink. For dessert we'll have real good coffee and feed cake. Oh, we'll have enough, you may be sure. Jim, you must rig up a table big enough to seat them all."

They worked till bedtime that night, peeling apples, seedling raisins and picking the turkeys. The next morning Milly rose long before dawn and set about her baking and brewing, while Jim put up a big deal table that stretched almost the length of the room, and by noon it was set with all the luscious viands of an eastern Thanksgiving dinner, set with homely platters and dishes, to be sure, but not rougher in appearance than the men who finally seated themselves about the steaming board. Jim beamed hospitably from his place at the head of the table and tried dutifully to "act as if the company belonged there," as Milly had said. The big, black whiskered fellow whom the others addressed as Blaisedale watched Milly with a curious intentness which made her uncomfortable.

"You're mighty comfortably fixed for these diggings," said he presently, looking about the walls with their homely prints and ornaments.

"Yes, we are rather comfortable, thanks to Milly's ingenuity," Jim answered, with a glow of affectionate pride.

"You're lucky to be able to afford such luxuries, for all those fancy fixings are luxuries in Colorado," Blaisedale remarked significantly.

"Yes, I count myself one of the luckiest men in the world. I owe everything to Milly, even my life. I was a poor law student when we were married, and when my health broke down she simply took all responsibility into her own hands. It was her money that enabled me to come here. It's her bit of money that we're living on now. All that she has in the world is in the little bank at Sunrise, where she goes once a month to draw the necessary sum for our provisions. But now that I've got to work we're making our way along without much help from the bank. I tell you I hated to use that money but enough, but if it hadn't been for that the Lord only knows what would have become of me."

"Milly blushed deeply and becomingly. 'Why, it doesn't amount to that,' said she, with a snap of her brown fingers. 'All the money in the world would be worthless to me if I didn't have Jim.'"

"I've heard a saying about 'a good wife being a treasure,'" Blaisedale remarked. "Your wife proves the truth of it."

The dinner was a great success. Blaisedale, who seemed to exert a mysterious influence over his fellows, grew very talkative and entertaining. He told stories of queer places and queerer people, which savored of familiarity with lawlessness and lawbreakers, but which kept Jim breathlessly interested until the eight straggly guests made their adieus. Blaisedale, who was last to go, turned to the threshold and held out his hand to Milly.

"You remind me of some one I once knew," he said simply, "and for her sake I'd like to shake hands with you. Thank you for your hospitality. You won't regret your kindness."

That night when Jim and Milly sat talking beside their cheerful hearth a scrap of white paper crept mysteriously under the door coping. Jim rose hurriedly and threw back the door, but no one was in sight and not a sound broke the deep stillness of the icy night. Milly read the note over his shoulder, and this is what it said:

"Some curious whim prompts me to tell you that it was our intention to break into and ride the little eggshell bank at Sunrise before quitting these diggings, but we were so glad to see you that we shall go unharmed. Thanking you for a pleasant hour, BLAISDALE."

Public Sale

As I have sold my farm, I will sell at public auction at the place, one mile north and four miles east of Wayne, one mile south and four miles west of Wakefield, on

Tuesday, December 2nd

Commencing at 12 o'clock, noon, sharp, the following property:

Nine Head of Horses and Mules

Span of mules, 9 and 10 years old, weigh 2600; horse coming 6 years old, weight 1500; black mare, coming 6 years old, weight 1400; bay gelding, 4 years old, weight 1000 pounds; bay gelding, 2 years old, weight 900 pounds; sorrel gelding, 2 years old, weight 1200; span of black mares, gentle, driving single or double, each weighing 1000 pounds.

12 Head of Cattle. 10 of them Purebred Shorthorns

Five head of good milch cows, one fresh and others coming fresh; two yearling heifers; pure bred Short-horn bull 2½ years old; yearling Short-horn bull, and three calves.

5 Spring Pigs, 5 Doz. Plymouth Rock Chickens 5 hives of Bees

Farm Implements

Great Western manure spreader, two binders one Deering and the other Buckeye, Janesville disc, Milwaukee mower, 14-inch gang plow, two riding cultivators, and one surface cultivator, walking cultivator, Avery corn planter with ninety rods of wire, three wagons, low-truck running gear, and tank wagon, hay rack, broadcast seeder, three harrows, three sets of harness, three sets of flynet, single harness, buggy harness, saddle, double carriage, two single buggies, fanning mill, Stickney gasoline engine 1½ h. p., with trucks and pump jack, feed grinder, De-Laval cream separator. Household goods and other articles too numerous to mention.

Hay and Grain

Ten tons of timothy hay in barn, eight tons of alfalfa hay, four tons of clover hay, and one stack of oats straw from sixty acres of ground; 200 bushels of early oats.

- - Free Lunch at Noon - -

TERMS: All sums of $10 and under, cash. Sums over $10, ten months' time on approved notes bearing 8 per cent interest.

August Samuelson.

E. and D. H. CUNNINGHAM, Auctioneers. H. S. RINGLAND, Clerk.

Good News for the Girl With Ugly Hair.

Don't mourn over it! Don't envy others because they have beautiful hair. Begin right now to give proper, intelligent care and attention to your hair—and then let others envy you. Use Harmony Hair Beautifier, a delightful liquid hair dressing that is just what it is named—a hair beautifier.

To make the hair glossy, soft and silky—to make it easier to put up in smooth, wavy folds, and "stay put"—to restore to your hair the well-groomed appearance you want it to have—to overcome the unpleasant, oily odor of the hair and leave instead a delightfully dainty, fresh rose fragrance—Harmony Hair Beautifier will please you, or your money back. Very easy to apply—simply sprinkle a little on your hair each time before brushing it. Contains no oil; will not change the color, nor darken gray hair.

To keep hair and scalp dandruff-free and clean, use Harmony Shampoo. This pure liquid shampoo gives a rich lather that immediately penetrates to every part of hair and scalp, insuring a quick, thorough cleaning. Washed off as quickly, the entire operation takes only a few moments. Can't harm the hair; leaves no harshness or stickiness—just a sweet cleanliness.

Both preparations come in odd-shaped, very ornamental bottles, with sprinkler tops. Harmony Hair Beautifier, $1.00. Harmony Shampoo, 50c. Both guaranteed to satisfy you in every way, or your money back. Sold in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store—one of the more than 7,000 leading drug stores of the United States, Canada and Great Britain, which own the big Harmony laboratories in Boston, where the celebrated Harmony Perfumes and Toilet Preparations are made.

Shultheis Pharmacy, adv. Wayne, Nebr.

80 Acre Farm For Sale

Modern house, good barn, double crib and hog house. This farm is adjoining Wayne city limits, near State Normal, lays well and in good state of cultivation. I have help for larger farm. For price and terms see J. H. Rimel, Wayne, Nebr. Phone 429.—adv. 45tf.

Public Sale!

I will hold a public sale at my place, one-half mile south and one-half mile east of Wayne, on

Monday, Nov. 24

.....Commencing at 12 O'clock Sharp.....

Everything will be sold as I am going west.....

Henry Stumpf

NO CHARGE

Although the service this bank performs for its checking depositors is of great value to them, it makes no charge whatever for this convenience.

A checking account here will provide security for your funds, conserve your income, systematize your business, give a written record of your receipts and expenditures, and acquaint you with the officers of a strong bank, who will be glad to serve you in matters pertaining to your finances.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Oldest bank in Wayne county
Capital.....$75,000.00
Surplus.....$20,000.00
Frank E. Strahan President. John T. Bressler, Vice-President.
H. F. Wilson, Vice Pres. H. S. Ringland, Cashier.

REXALL
Cherry Bark Cough Syrup
will relieve your cold—or money back. For children and grown-ups. Tastes good.
25c, 50c and $1.00

If You Smoke
Ask for WAYNE MADE CIGARS
WM. DAMMEYER
Builds good cigars at his factory.
—TRY 'EM—

Piano Tuner Expert Repairing
I. P. LOWPEU
At the G. & B. Store Phone 26

Now is the Time
To Get Your Work
— IN WELLS —
I can take your orders now and put you down wells whenever you get ready for the job . . .

Cisterns, Wells, Caves
Dug in a good workman like manner.
Take the old Well Digger for the job
Fred Eickhoff
Phone 106 Wayne, Neb.

Carpenter Work, Plumbing and pump repair work done, windmills and pumps erected, supply tanks, troughs and stock tanks, sold by
Fred H. Ahlvers, Altona, Neb;
Postoffice Box No. 3.

Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company
Milwaukee, Wis.

C. M. CHRISTENSEN,
District Manager
Wayne, Neb.

John S. Lewis, Jr.
Wayne, Nebraska
Breeder of

Short Horn CATTLE
Britton Goods head my herd—the youngest son of FAMOUS OLD CHOICE GOODS.
Young Bulls For Sale

—CALL ON—
E. R. Perdue
For All Kinds of Cement Work
SIDEWALKS A Specialty..
Phone 244 Wayne, Nebr.

Emily Bronte's Looks.
A discussion as to the personal appearance of Emily Bronte reveals the remarkable fact that no one knows anything about it since there is no authentic portrait in existence. When Charlotte Bronte first saw George Henry Lewes she said that he was wonderfully like her sister Emily, but this is unfortunate for Emily since Lewes was very much like a baboon. Possibly the comparison was due to a sisterly candor that so seldom errs on the side of mercy. Thanks to photography, the historian of the future will not be in doubt as to the appearance of celebrities of the present generation, but he is likely to have his own opinion as to those worth knowing about.—Argonaut.

"Suburb."
When did the word "suburb" first find its way into the language? It is used in a recently discovered fourteenth ordinance of the city guild of carpenters providing that the members should attend the funeral of any one of the fraternity resident within the city "or in the suburbs." The natural inference is that even then it was part of the everyday talk of the citizens.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Among The Churches of Wayne
Baptist Church
Rev. B. P. Richardson, Pastor
The two special series of sermons, now being given, morning and evening, are attracting a splendid audience. The response of the people is highly gratifying. We believe the interest will continue to deepen as the series go on.
"What We Believe about Christ" will be the subject of the morning sermon. "The Giant who Lost his Strength" for the evening will continue the biographical sermon given of evenings.
Last Sunday afternoon the pastor addressed a meeting of the young men and women of the college at their annual day of prayer. The subject brought before them was "The Mold of a Great Life," after which a large number expressed a desire for a deeper religious life.
Last week the pastor spent three busy days at Verdell, preaching each evening. Two young men decided to live for Christ. The young Baptist church there is hopeful in outlook, and earnest in spirit.
Next Sunday will be "Bulletin" day with us. We hope every family of the church can see their way to take this little paper which gives so much news about our own state work.
In view of our coming meetings, let us make much of our mid-week meeting for prayer. In every successful revival prayer is the one thing absolutely necessary.
Mr. Rogers will lead the Young Peoples' meeting Sunday evening. The subject being, "Praise or Discontent."
On Thanksgiving day the union services will be held at the Baptist church at 7:30 p. m. Rev. F. E. Blessing will be the preacher.
Let none of us despise the opportunities of Christian worship we have, by neglecting the public services of the church.

Methodist Church
Rev. C. L. Myers, Pastor
Wednesday the mid-week prayer meeting as usual. Subject for consideration: "The Prodigal Son." We will close early so that all may attend the lecture at the Presbyterian church.
Miss Daisy Cooper united with the church Sunday as did Mr. and Mrs. Duncan several weeks ago.
One more lift such as you gave last Sunday and that little account with the publishers will be wiped from the Sunday school records.
The W. C. T. U. will meet at the parsonage Friday afternoon at 2:30.
We have a few copies of the conference minutes left.
Will you not come and help in the choir? You get one lesson a week in singing, which costs you only the time required. It is well worth the effort.
The pastor was well pleased to see so many bible students present Sunday morning.
The heating plant did splendid service Sunday.
There should be about twice as many Leaguers at the devotional meeting as were present last time.
Choir practice every week regular. Come and get instruction free.
The usual services next Sunday.

German Lutheran Church
Rev. Rudolph Moehring, Pastor.
At this church next Sunday there will be the regular services. Sunday school in the morning and preaching by the pastor following. The invitation is for all to attend.
We will have every known fruit of the best quality on the market. Malaga and Red Empress Grapes, Sunkist Navel Oranges, Bananas, Figs, Dates, Lemons, and all kinds of eating and cooking apples.—adv.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church
(Rev. Blessing, Pastor.)
Sunday school at 10 o'clock. Parents do not forget the importance of the Sunday school. Remember what Christ said, "Suffer little children, and forbid them not to come unto me, for such is the kingdom of heaven." The Sunday school is a good means to bring them to Christ.
Services at 11 o'clock. The subject of the sermon will be, "The True Dignity of Man," Psalms 8:3-4. By the meditation of David upon the starry worlds, their harmony of movement, as though controlled by some ponderous engine, the immeasurable space in which they perform their evolutions, their influence one upon another, as the work of the finger of God, caused him to wonder as to the true dignity of man, and thus the question, "what is man?" As David, many today ask the same question, as they consider the true dignity of man.
Evening services at 7:30. The sermon will be based upon the epistle to the Church at Sardis or the "Dead Church", Rev. 3:1-6.
Choir rehearsal Friday evening, at the parsonage. The teachers, Bible study class will meet at the parsonage at 7:30 Wednesday evening. We do not only invite the teachers of the Sunday school, but all those who wish to attend.
The Ladies Aid Society will meet at the home of Mrs. Lundberg on Tuesday December 2nd. The ladies will hold their annual Bazaar on the 6th of December.
The Wayne county Sunday school convention will convene in St. Paul's Lutheran church Nov. 24th.
The regular quarterly Communion will be observed Nov. 30th. Catechetical class Saturday afternoon at 2:30.

Presbyterian Church
Rev. Alexander Corkey, Pastor.
"The Enjoyment of God" will be the subject of the morning sermon at the Presbyterian church next Sunday. In the evening a Thanksgiving service will be held. There will be a program under the auspices of the Woman's Missionary Society, and an address by the pastor. The offering will be a Thanksgiving offering for women's work.
Dr. W. W. Tait is giving a series of lectures on Solomon's Temple at the Presbyterian church this week. The lectures began on Wednesday evening and continue on Thursday and Friday evenings. Dr. Tait illustrates his addresses with an actual model of the original Temple, and explains the various uses of the different parts. The Masonic fraternity as well as all students of the Bible have a perpetual interest in the Temple which was built at Jerusalem three thousand years ago, and the lectures are interesting and profitable. There is no admittance charge, nor will any offering be

Preaching Service
Rev. B. P. Richardson will preach at the Wilbur school house Sunday afternoon, at 3 o'clock.
Thanksgiving Service
The regular union Thanksgiving service will be held at the Baptist church on Thanksgiving day at 7:30 p. m. Rev. F. E. Blessing will be the preacher.

Real Estate Transfers
Real estate transfers for two weeks ending Nov. 17, 1913, reported by I. W. Alter, bonded Abstractor, Wayne, Neb.
Lucian W. Carter to Nels P. Christensen, S½ lot 5, Jones addition to Carroll, $100.
George M. Hart to Emma Hart, Und. ½ int. in Lots 22, 23, 24, Blk. 26, College Hill addition to Wayne $1.
C. E. Benschhoff, to Harry Long, Lot 5 and north 25 ft. lot 6, Blk. 4, Winside, $3000
Harry Long to C. E. Benschhoff, S½, NE¼, 4-25-2., $12200.
Martin Peters et al to Geo. Hølekamp Lot 3, Robinsons addition to Carroll, $125.
Byron E. Young to Geo. Hølekamp, Lot 4 Blk. 1, Robinsons addition to Carroll $150.
Annie Lound to Dorathea Nichigall, Lot 16, Blk. 2 Winside $107.
Fred Williamson to Hanna Williamson, W. 61 ft., lots 16, 17, 18 Blk. 2, 1st addition to Carroll, $2000.
Hedwig Gehrke, et al, to Amanda Herscheid, NW¼, 1-25-2, $1.
A. Woodward, to Aspergren & Strand Lumber Co., Lot 2, Blk. 6, Winside, $3600.
Louis M. Owens to James F. Jeffries, Lot 3, Skeens addition to Wayne, $1.
James F. Jeffries, to Charlotta F. Wollert, Lot 3, Skeens addition to Wayne, $1.

The Cradle
SLAUGHTER:—At Herrick, South Dakota, Sunday, November 16, 1913, to W. S. Slaughter and wife, a daughter. Mrs. Slaughter is the daughter of Henry Hansen and wife of this place, and was well known to many people in this county, where she grew to womanhood.
ROBERTS—Saturday, November 15, 1913, to Wm. J. Roberts and wife, a son.

THEFTS IN HOTELS
Traps to Catch Guests That Have the Souvenir Fad.
DETECTIVES AND DIPLOMACY.
The Two Combine In a Very Effective Way to Foil the Efforts of Those Who Feel it a Duty to Help Themselves to Fine Linen and Silverware.
The concerted action of the house detectives of all the large hotels in America has carefully extracted the points from two erstwhile excellent stories, the first, ascribed to Adele Witche, who, when asked once if she had ever been in Kansas City, replied, "I can't just remember, but I will look among my towels and see," and the second the more pathetic narrative of the young man who was obliged to break off his engagement because as he left the dining room of a large hotel with his fiancée a number of forks and spoons fell from the sleeves of her gown, for the house detectives have devised a "system" whereby the man or woman who wants to take a souvenir from a big hotel finds her path beset with almost insurmountable difficulties.
The matter is carried on with the greatest artfulness. There are no "hurt feelings," no bones broken, no arrests made.
The house detectives simply extract the unrightfully attached articles as painlessly as they extract the points from old stories, and in the great majority of cases the frustrated "borrower" never knows at all what happened to him.
First the detective is provided with a complete list of everything which is owned by the hotel—every particle of linen, silver, soap, etc. Then he delegates the responsibility for the care of them to various head waiters, waiters, housekeepers and chambermaids.
Then he gets a list each day of new arrivals and of those who having remained a few days are preparing to leave. From these lists of occupied rooms the detective calculates the areas where trouble might possibly brew and into these he goes with his subdivided lists and a checking up book.
The chambermaid is required to give an exact accounting of every piece of linen she has supplied to the man or woman who is about to leave. This is in turn taken to the laundries, where a balance is made of those sheets, towels, etc. which have come out of each room. If there is a precise balance the matter ends there, but woe to the woman who believes that the towels she placed carefully in her locked trunk will not be "missed."
Her trunks and bags on their way downstairs are simply carried to the basement floor as if by chance, and there the house detective, with the aid of a skeleton key, goes through them in search of lost hotel linen.
It is very gently removed and checked up on the housemaid's list, and the trunk is carefully repacked and relocked. Nothing is left to give warning that the search has been made, and nothing is ever by any remotest chance said to the departing guest.
She is sent cheerily on her way rejoicing and is usually perplexed out of all reason to account for the fact that the towels and pillow cases that she knows well she put into her trunk have mysteriously disappeared.
Do you suppose for a moment that this is an extreme case nor even a rare one? It happens on an average once a day in every large hotel in New York and with almost as astounding frequency in Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago.
And in the case of silverware the matter is almost as simple, though remedying these thefts requires taking into your confidence at least the man who pays the bill, for every waiter has had his eye trained to count up the silverware while he is placing the finger bowls, and if so much as one small spoon is not where it should be it is unostentatiously placed upon the bill. The hotel graciously leaves it to the discretion of the escort as to whether or not the culprit shall be told. But at least it does not permit him to be enlightened only by the belated method of a leaky sieve.
Again, the head waiter will assure you that this happens, not once or twice, but ceaselessly.
"Many a woman that thinks she's got away with it would be surprised to know that it is down in black and white on her escort's check and that both he and the hotel know just how many spoons and forks she is taking home with her," said one genial head waiter, who viewed the business with considerable indulgence. — New York Times.

French Fairy Tales.
French nursery literature if poor in rhymes is singularly rich in fairy tales. Three of the world's greatest fairy tale writers were French—La Fontaine, Charles Perrault, the Countess D'Aulnoy. Of these three the greatest in this particular line was undoubtedly Charles Perrault, to whom we owe "Cinderella," "Puss in Boots" and "Bluebeard." But the Countess D'Aulnoy gave us the "Yellow Dwarf" and "Beauty and the Beast." To Antoine Galland, another Frenchman, we have to render thanks for the first European translation of the "Arabian Nights."—London Chronicle.

Every right action and true thought sets the seal of its beauty on the person and the face.—John Ruskin.

THEFTS IN HOTELS
Traps to Catch Guests That Have the Souvenir Fad.
DETECTIVES AND DIPLOMACY.
The Two Combine In a Very Effective Way to Foil the Efforts of Those Who Feel it a Duty to Help Themselves to Fine Linen and Silverware.
The concerted action of the house detectives of all the large hotels in America has carefully extracted the points from two erstwhile excellent stories, the first, ascribed to Adele Witche, who, when asked once if she had ever been in Kansas City, replied, "I can't just remember, but I will look among my towels and see," and the second the more pathetic narrative of the young man who was obliged to break off his engagement because as he left the dining room of a large hotel with his fiancée a number of forks and spoons fell from the sleeves of her gown, for the house detectives have devised a "system" whereby the man or woman who wants to take a souvenir from a big hotel finds her path beset with almost insurmountable difficulties.
The matter is carried on with the greatest artfulness. There are no "hurt feelings," no bones broken, no arrests made.
The house detectives simply extract the unrightfully attached articles as painlessly as they extract the points from old stories, and in the great majority of cases the frustrated "borrower" never knows at all what happened to him.
First the detective is provided with a complete list of everything which is owned by the hotel—every particle of linen, silver, soap, etc. Then he delegates the responsibility for the care of them to various head waiters, waiters, housekeepers and chambermaids.
Then he gets a list each day of new arrivals and of those who having remained a few days are preparing to leave. From these lists of occupied rooms the detective calculates the areas where trouble might possibly brew and into these he goes with his subdivided lists and a checking up book.
The chambermaid is required to give an exact accounting of every piece of linen she has supplied to the man or woman who is about to leave. This is in turn taken to the laundries, where a balance is made of those sheets, towels, etc. which have come out of each room. If there is a precise balance the matter ends there, but woe to the woman who believes that the towels she placed carefully in her locked trunk will not be "missed."
Her trunks and bags on their way downstairs are simply carried to the basement floor as if by chance, and there the house detective, with the aid of a skeleton key, goes through them in search of lost hotel linen.
It is very gently removed and checked up on the housemaid's list, and the trunk is carefully repacked and relocked. Nothing is left to give warning that the search has been made, and nothing is ever by any remotest chance said to the departing guest.
She is sent cheerily on her way rejoicing and is usually perplexed out of all reason to account for the fact that the towels and pillow cases that she knows well she put into her trunk have mysteriously disappeared.
Do you suppose for a moment that this is an extreme case nor even a rare one? It happens on an average once a day in every large hotel in New York and with almost as astounding frequency in Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago.
And in the case of silverware the matter is almost as simple, though remedying these thefts requires taking into your confidence at least the man who pays the bill, for every waiter has had his eye trained to count up the silverware while he is placing the finger bowls, and if so much as one small spoon is not where it should be it is unostentatiously placed upon the bill. The hotel graciously leaves it to the discretion of the escort as to whether or not the culprit shall be told. But at least it does not permit him to be enlightened only by the belated method of a leaky sieve.
Again, the head waiter will assure you that this happens, not once or twice, but ceaselessly.
"Many a woman that thinks she's got away with it would be surprised to know that it is down in black and white on her escort's check and that both he and the hotel know just how many spoons and forks she is taking home with her," said one genial head waiter, who viewed the business with considerable indulgence. — New York Times.

French Fairy Tales.
French nursery literature if poor in rhymes is singularly rich in fairy tales. Three of the world's greatest fairy tale writers were French—La Fontaine, Charles Perrault, the Countess D'Aulnoy. Of these three the greatest in this particular line was undoubtedly Charles Perrault, to whom we owe "Cinderella," "Puss in Boots" and "Bluebeard." But the Countess D'Aulnoy gave us the "Yellow Dwarf" and "Beauty and the Beast." To Antoine Galland, another Frenchman, we have to render thanks for the first European translation of the "Arabian Nights."—London Chronicle.

Every right action and true thought sets the seal of its beauty on the person and the face.—John Ruskin.

PUBLIC SALE
As I am going to move away I will sell at auction on the MELLOR FARM 5 miles west and 3 miles north of Wayne, four miles east and one-half south of Carroll, on Thursday, Dec. 4th
Commencing at 12 o'clock. Free lunch at 11:30.

10 Head of Horses and Mules
Team of gray mares 10 years old, wt. 2600; black driving team, wt. 2200; gray gelding, 11 years old, wt. 1300; one mule 12 years old, wt. 1200; two yearling mules, good ones; one good suckling mule; one suckling colt.

14 Head of Cattle
6 extra good milch cows, two fresh soon, others in spring; one 2-year-old heifer; seven head spring calves, five steers and two heifers.

5 Head of Hogs
Three extra good Chester White sows, two shoats.

Farm Machinery, Etc.
Maxwell automobile, 30-h. p., in good shape, 2 wagons with boxes, new hay rack, buggy, manure spreader, McCormick mower, new hay rake, two-row cultivator, good as new, riding cultivator, walking cultivator, two disc cultivators, Stag gang plow, Good Enough riding plow, two grain discs, endgate seeder, four section harrow, harrow cart, John Deere corn planter, 160 rod of wire, bob sled, two-row listed corn cultivator, two listers, weeder, two feed grinders, hand corn sheller, set work harness, set driving harness, two sets fly nets,
Six dozen chickens, new base burner.
25 tons of alfalfa hay, good white seed corn, 30 bushels of potatoes, two gas barrels, one 110 gallon and one 50 gallon, cream separator, and household goods and other articles too numerous to mention.

TERMS OF SALE—Sums of $10 and under cash, on all sums over that amount ten months time will be given at 8 per cent interest.

S. B. MILLER
Dan Davis, Clerk. E. & D. H. Cunningham, Aucts.

Texas Land
15,000 Acres
Choice Gulf Coast Land
As good as being sold at $200 per acre; Price
$16.00 Per Acre
In tracts to suit. Terms 1 to 10 Years

Scholars Land Co.
LICE, TEXAS

Renovator 50c or $1.00 PACKAGES
For Rheumatism, Aids Digestion, Purifies the Blood, Invigorates Liver, Kidneys and Stomach. Composed of herbs and guaranteed under pyre drug act. For sale by
P. O. Box 315 John Nichols, Winside, Nebr.

A Higher Gear by Telephone

Business now-a-days is speeded up by Bell Telephone, because it is the quick, right-to-the-point way of reaching the man you want.

The big business men in every community are making the long distance telephone work for them.

Trips by telephone mean saved energy, saved nerve forces and saved dollars.

Ask "Long Distance" for rates anywhere.

HIGH COST REDUCED

The high cost of horse and cow living can be greatly diminished by feeding GROUND FEED and the W. C. Martin Feed Mill at Wayne can furnish you with any mixture you need of corn and oats, or will grind the grain you bring. The price is reasonable for both feed and grinding. Try a sack of Cinderella Flour—it is good CASH for POULTRY and top of the market. We want a car load of now.

Wayne Feed Mill
W. C. Martin, Proprietor

C. CLASEN
GENERAL CONTRACTOR
CARPENTER, BUILDER
Contracts taken for the complete construction of buildings of all kinds. Estimates Cheerfully Submitted.
Phone: Red 42 Wayne, Nebraska

OVER 65 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS, ETC.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is patentable. We advise you without charge, but our services are not rendered until you receive our opinion. Patent taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly, largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms: $3 a year, $4 for months. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 351 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

CANCER

IN WOMAN'S BREAST
ALWAYS BEGINS A SMALL LUMP AS THIS AND ALWAYS POISONS DEEP GLANDS IN THE AMPIT AND KILLS QUICKLY
I WILL GIVE $1000
IF I FAIL TO CURE ANY CANCER OF TUMOR I Treat Before It Poisons Bone or Deep Tissues

SURE PAINLESS PLASTER CURE
Many work everyday lose no sleep nights
Pay When Cured
Written guarantee
Cancer never pains until it poisons deep.
100-Page Booklet free. Testimonials of thousands cured.

WRITE TO SOME CANCER OF THE BREAST, LIP, FACE
or body always begins a small tumor, lump or sore full of poison and certain death. I have cured 10,000 cancers and tumors, thousands dying—aged, feeble, with no hope.

DR. & MRS. DR. CHAMBLEE & CO., INC.
100-Page Booklet Free
31-33 WEST RANDOLPH ST., CHICAGO, ILL.
This may SAVE A LIFE! Send it Now!

Thanksgiving at Lonesome Hollow

By FRANCIS A. MILLER

SIDEMS awfully forlorn to eat a Thanksgiving dinner all alone," said Milly soberly, looking over at the young fellow who sat mending a harness strap beside the blazing hearth. "I haven't the heart to get up a big dinner for just us two."

"I don't see what else we can do. No neighbors to invite except old Pete Sprat, and he wouldn't come. We might send him something by way of being neighborly."

"And be turned away for our pains," the woman laughed.

"You can't even go out on the highways and hedges" and gather in stragglers like the ancient host of Bible fame. Maybe it is just as well not to have all the work of getting up a Thanksgiving dinner, for it seems to me that you look tired, Milly. What's the matter?"

"Nothing, Jim; I guess I need a little outing. I'll take a run across the hollow and be back before supper."

Milly put on her cloak and went out into the crisp autumn afternoon. The woods were bare except for a few torchlike flames of red which marked the presence of an occasional gum tree. The sky was clear, cold and pallid, tinged with a greenish glow where the dark forests rimmed the far horizon. Not a sign of human habitation was visible and not a sound broke the vast stillness save the steady tap-tap of a woodpecker. The loneliness oppressed Milly strangely. For two years she had endured it in cheerful silence, working patiently at whatever her hand found to do in the rough little shack, which had gradually assumed a cozy, homelike appearance. They had left the busy, grinding east in quest of health for her young husband, who was slowly regaining his lost strength and vigor in the bracing climate of Colorado, which alone kept Milly's heart light and hopeful, but in spite of that joyful fact she could not dispel a shiver of loneliness when she thought of the long, dreary winter before them.

"I'D LIKE TO HAVE YOU ALL TAKE DINNER WITH US TOMORROW."

"I'm getting morbid simply for the want of a little company," she said as she walked down the untraveled road in the face of the crisp north wind. "That will never do for you, Milly Bennett. For Jim's sake, you mustn't give way to such foolishness."

Suddenly Milly's ear caught the sound of chopping, which seemed to come from the hollow beyond the divide. She turned and made her way easily through the leafless thicket, walking briskly over the hill and down the opposite descent until she distinctly heard voices. Farther on, at the edge of a natural clearing, she came upon a party of travelers camped beside a newly kindled fire, where a lean, gaunt appearing fellow busied himself with preparations for the evening meal. They were eight in all—a rough, unkempt lot, in leathern jackets and rusty boots. Beside the cook lay a bag of flour, a side of bacon and two jugs stoppered with corn-cobs.

Milly stopped abruptly when she found herself observed by the curious eyes of the eight strangers, then changed her mind and crossed the icy little brook and made her way toward the fire.

A big, black whiskered man dropped his armful of horse feed and looked at her piercingly. "Lost?" he asked brusquely.

"No. I live two miles up the divide. I happened to hear you chopping and stopped out of curiosity."

The man's insistent gaze annoyed her, but the forlorn, gaunt appearance of the little group incited a little throb of pity and made her think gratefully of her own cozy, cheerful little shack, with Jim waiting for her beside the glowing hearth.

"I suppose you are simply camping here for the night," she ventured, looking about at the meager camp.

"Well, no," answered the black-browed man, who Jones' Book once as being so

We came down to prospect a bit. There's talk of gold in this claim, and if it's worth our while we may set up for a week or two."

"Oh, then, you'll be here over Thanksgiving, won't you? I'd like to have you all take dinner with us tomorrow."

The man looked at his fellows with a curious smile, half questioning, half incredulous. "It's rather unexpected," he remarked humorously.

"Oh, we're all neighbors out here, you know," Milly explained cordially. "My husband would be very glad to have you with us. We are from the east, and we're used to having company for Thanksgiving."

"Your husband is a prospector, too, I take it?"

"Oh, no. He came out here for his health two years ago, when he was all run down with overwork. We expect to stay here until he's quite well."

"We didn't notice any houses as we passed along. Where do you live?"

"Two miles below here on the Sunrise road, not on the trail. Will you come over tomorrow?"

"Well, being as you're so kind as to take the trouble to invite us, we'll be glad to accept your hospitality and thank you."

"Very well. I shall expect you promptly at 12. There are eight of you, aren't there? I want you all, remember. Now I'll go, for the walk is rather long. You cross the hill and go straight south till you reach the Sunrise wagon road, which will take you directly to our shack, going west. Good night."

Milly returned in great good spirits. Jim looked dubious at first, but he was loath to dampen the ardor of his good little helpmeet by voicing his doubts as to the wisdom of inviting eight strangers to their home.

"I hope we have enough stuff on hand," said cautious Jim. "It will take heaps to satisfy eight hungry men, you know."

"Of course we have plenty. We'll kill both turkeys, and I'll make four pies instead of one and two boiled puddings besides. We'll have potatoes and turnips and the canned corn I put up myself and as much cider as they can drink. For dessert we'll have real good coffee andiced cake. Oh, we'll have enough, you may be sure. Jim, you must rig up a table big enough to seat them all."

They worked till bedtime that night, peeling apples, seeding raisins and picking the turkeys. The next morning Milly rose long before dawn and set about her baking and brewing, while Jim put up a big deal table that stretched almost the length of the room, and by noon it was set with all the luscious viands of an eastern Thanksgiving dinner, set with homely platters and dishes, to be sure, but not rougher in appearance than the men who finally seated themselves about the steaming board. Jim beamed hospitably from his place at the head of the table and tried dutifully to "act as if the company belonged there," as Milly had said. The big, black whiskered fellow whom the others addressed as Blaisedale watched Milly with a curious intentness which made her uncomfortable.

"You're mighty comfortably fixed for these diggings," said he presently, looking about the walls with their homely prints and ornaments.

"Yes, we are rather comfortable, thanks to Milly's ingenuity," Jim answered, with a glow of affectionate pride.

"You're lucky to be able to afford such luxuries, for all those fancy fixings are luxuries in Colorado," Blaisedale remarked significantly.

"Yes, I count myself one of the luckiest men in the world. I owe everything to Milly, even my life. I was a poor law student when we were married, and when my health broke down she simply took all responsibility into her own hands. It was her money that enabled me to come here. It's her bit of money that we're living on now. All that she has in the world is in the little bank at Sunrise, where she goes once a month to draw the necessary sum for our provisions. But now that I've got to work we're making our way along without much help from the bank. I tell you I hated to use that money bad enough, but if it hadn't been for that the Lord only knows what would have become of me."

Milly blushed deeply and becomingly. "Why, it doesn't amount to that," said she, with a snap of her brown fingers. "All the money in the world would be worthless to me if I didn't have Jim."

"I've heard a saying about a good wife being a treasure," Blaisedale remarked. "Your wife proves the truth of it."

The dinner was a great success. Blaisedale, who seemed to exert a mysterious influence over his fellows, grew very talkative and entertaining. He told stories of queer places and queerer people, which savored of familiarity with lawlessness and lawbreakers, but which kept Jim breathlessly interested until the eight strange guests made their adieus. Blaisedale, who was last to go, turned to the threshold and held out his hand to Milly.

"You remind me of some one I once knew," he said simply, "and for her sake I'd like to shake hands with you. Thank you for your hospitality. You won't regret your kindness."

That night when Jim and Milly sat talking beside their cheerful hearth a scrap of white paper crept mysteriously under the door coping. Jim rose hurriedly and threw back the door, but no one was in sight and not a sound broke the deep stillness of the icy night. Milly read the note over his shoulder, and this is what it said:

Some curious whim prompts me to tell you that it was our intention to break into and rife the little eggshell bank at Sunrise before quitting these diggings, but for the sake of Milly's "bit of money" it shall go unharmed. Thanking you for a pleasant hour,
BLAISDALE.

Public Sale

As I have sold my farm, I will sell at public auction at the place, one mile north and four miles east of Wayne, one mile south and four miles west of Wakefield, on

Tuesday, December 2nd

Commencing at 12 o'clock, noon, sharp, the following property:

Nine Head of Horses and Mules

Span of mules, 9 and 10 years old, weigh 2600; horse coming 6 years old, weight 1500; black mare, coming 6 years old, weight 1400; bay gelding, 4 years old, weight 1000 pounds; bay gelding, 2 years old, weight 900 pounds; sorrel gelding, 2 years old, weight 1200; span of black mares, gentle, driving single or double, each weighing 1000 pounds.

12 Head of Cattle. 10 of them Purebred Shorthorns

Five head of good milch cows, one fresh and others coming fresh; two yearling heifers; pure bred Short-horn bull 2½ years old; yearling Short-horn bull, and three calves.

5 Spring Pigs, 5 Doz. Plymouth Rock Chickens 5 hives of Bees

Farm Implements

Great Western manure spreader, two binders one Deering and the other Buckeye, Janeville disc, Milwaukee mower, 14-inch gang plow, two riding cultivators, and one surface cultivator, walking cultivator, Avery corn planter with ninety rods of wire, three wagons, low-truck running gear, and tank wagon, hay rack, broadcast seeder, three harrows, three sets of harness, three sets of flynet, single harness, buggy harness, saddle, double carriage, two single buggies, fanning mill, Stickney gasoline engine 1½ h. p., with trucks and pump jack, feed grinder, De-Laval cream separator. Household goods and other articles too numerous to mention.

Hay and Grain

Ten tons of timothy hay in barn, eight tons of alfalfa hay, four tons of clover hay, and one stack of oats straw from sixty acres of ground; 200 bushels of early oats.

- Free Lunch at Noon -

TERMS: All sums of $10 and under, cash. Sums over $10, ten months' time on approved notes bearing 8 per cent interest.

August Samuelson.

E. and D. H. CUNNINGHAM, Auctioneers. H. S. RINGLAND, Clerk.

Good News for the Girl With Ugly Hair.

Don't mourn over it! Don't envy others because they have beautiful hair. Begin right now to give proper, intelligent care and attention to your hair—and then let others envy you. Use Harmony Hair Beautifier, a delightful liquid hair dressing that is just what it is named—a hair beautifier.

To make the hair glossy, soft and silky—to make it easier to put up in smooth, wavy folds, and "stay put"—to restore to your hair the well-groomed appearance you want it to have—to overcome the unpleasant, oily odor of the hair and leave instead a delightfully dainty, fresh rose fragrance—Harmony Hair Beautifier will please you, or your money back. Very easy to apply—simply sprinkle a little on your hair each time before brushing it. Contains no oil; will not change the color, nor darken gray hair.

To keep hair and scalp dandruff-free and clean, use Harmony Shampoo. This pure liquid shampoo gives a rich lather that immediately penetrates to every part of hair and scalp, insuring a quick, thorough cleaning. Washed off as quickly, the entire operation takes only a few moments. Can't harm the hair; leaves no harshness or stickiness—just a sweet cleanliness.

Both preparations come in odd-shaped, very ornamental bottles, with sprinkler tops. Harmony Hair Beautifier, $1.00. Harmony Shampoo, 50c. Both guaranteed to satisfy you in every way, or your money back. Sold in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store—one of the more than 7,000 leading drug stores of the United States, Canada and Great Britain, which own the big Harmony laboratories in Boston, where the celebrated Harmony Perfumes and Toilet Preparations are made.

Shultheis Pharmacy, Wayne, Neb. adv.

Public Sale!

I will hold a public sale at my place, one-half mile south and one-half mile east of Wayne, on

Monday, Nov. 24

.....Commencing at 12 O'clock Sharp.....

Everything will be sold as I am going west.....

Henry Stumpf

NO CHARGE

Although the service this bank performs for its checking depositors is of great value to them, it makes no charge whatever for this convenience.

A checking account here will provide security for your funds, conserve your income, systematize your business, give a written record of your receipts and expenditures, and acquaint you with the officers of a strong bank, who will be glad to serve you in matters pertaining to your finances.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Oldest bank in Wayne county

Capital.....$75,000.00
Surplus.....$20,000.00

Frank E. Strahan President. John T. Bressler, Vice-President.
H. F. Wilson, Vice Pres. H. S. Ringland, Cashier.

REXALL
Cherry Bark Cough Syrup

will relieve your cold—or money back. For children and grown-ups. Tastes good.

25c, 50c and $1.00

If You Smoke

Ask for WAYNE MADE CIGARS
WM. DAMMEYER
Builds good cigars at his factory.
—TRY 'EM—

Piano Tuner Expert Repairing

I. P. LOWPEU
At the G. & B. Store Phone 26

Now is the Time
To Get Your Work
— IN WELLS —

I can take your orders now and put you down wells whenever you get ready for the job . . .

Cisterns, Wells, Caves
Dug in a good workman like manner.
Take the old Well Digger for the job

Fred Eickhoff
Phone 106 Wayne, Neb.

Carpenter Work, Plumbing and pump repair work done, windmills and pumps erected, supply tanks, troughs and stock tanks, sold by

Fred H. Ahlvers, Altona, Neb.
Postoffice Box No. 3.

Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company

Milwaukee, Wis.

C. M. CHRISTENSEN,
District Manager
Wayne, Neb.

John S. Lewis, Jr.
Wayne, Nebraska
Breeder of
Short Horn CATTLE
Britton Goods head my herd—the youngest son of FAMOUS OLD CHOICE GOODS.
Young Bulls For Sale

—CALL ON—
E. R. Perdue
For All Kinds of Cement Work
SIDEWALKS A Specialty..
Phone 244 Wayne, Nebr.

Emily Bronte's Looks.
A discussion as to the personal appearance of Emily Bronte reveals the remarkable fact that no one knows anything about it since there is no authentic portrait in existence. When Charlotte Bronte first saw George Henry Lewes she said that he was wonderfully like her sister Emily, but this is unfortunate for Emily since Lewes was very much like a baboon. Possibly the comparison was due to a sisterly candor that so seldom errs on the side of mercy. Thanks to photography, the historian of the future will not be in doubt as to the appearance of celebrities of the present generation, but he is likely to have his own opinion as to those worth knowing about.—Argonaut.

"Suburb"
When did the word "suburb" first find its way into the language? It is used in a recently discovered fourteenth ordinance of the city guild of carpenters providing that the members should attend the funeral of any one of the fraternity resident within the city "or in the suburbs." The natural inference is that even then it was part of the everyday talk of the citizens.—Pall Mall Gazette.

The Democrat for job printing.

Among The Churches of Wayne

Baptist Church
Rev. B. P. Richardson, Pastor

The two special series of sermons, now being given, morning and evening, are attracting a splendid audience. The response of the people is highly gratifying. We believe the interest will continue to deepen as the series go on.

"What We Believe about Christ" will be the subject of the morning sermon. "The Giant who Lost his Strength," for the evening will continue the biographical sermon given of evenings.

Last Sunday afternoon the pastor addressed a meeting of the young men and women of the college at their annual day of prayer. The subject brought before them was "The Mold of a Great Life," after which a large number expressed a desire for a deeper religious life.

Last week the pastor spent three busy days at Verdel, preaching each evening. Two young men decided to live for Christ. The young Baptist church there is hopeful in outlook, and earnest in spirit.

Next Sunday will be "Bulletin" day with us. We hope every family of the church can see their way to take this little paper which gives so much news about our own state work.

In view of our coming meetings, let us make much of our mid-week meeting for prayer. In every successful revival prayer is the one thing absolutely necessary.

Mr. Rogers will lead the Young Peoples' meeting Sunday evening. The subject being, "Praise or Discontent."

On Thanksgiving day the union services will be held at the Baptist church at 7:30 p. m. Rev. F. E. Blessing will be the preacher.

Let none of us despise the opportunities of Christian worship we have, by neglecting the public services of the church.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church
(Rev. Blessing, Pastor.)

Sunday school at 10 o'clock. Parents do not forget the importance of the Sunday school. Remember what Christ said, "Suffer little children, and forbid them not to come unto me, for such is the kingdom of heaven." The Sunday school is a good means to bring them to Christ.

Services at 11 o'clock. The subject of the sermon will be, "The True Dignity of Man," Psalms 8:3-4. By the meditation of David upon the starry worlds, their harmony of movement, as though controlled by some ponderous engine, the immeasurable space in which they perform their evolutions, their influence one upon another, as the work of the finger of God, caused him to wonder as to the true dignity of man, and thus the question, "what is man?" As David, many today ask the same question, as they consider the true dignity of man.

Evening services at 7:30. The sermon will be based upon the epistle to the Church at Sardis or the "Dead Church", Rev. 3:1-6.

Choir rehearsal Friday evening, at the parsonage. The teachers' Bible study class will meet at the parsonage at 7:30 Wednesday evening. We do not only invite the teachers of the Sunday school, but all those who wish to attend.

The Ladies Aid Society will meet at the home of Mrs. Lundberg on Tuesday December 2nd. The ladies will hold their annual Bazaar on the 6th of December.

The Wayne county Sunday school convention will convene in St. Paul's Lutheran church Nov. 24th.

The regular quarterly Communion will be observed Nov. 30th. Cathechetical class Saturday afternoon at 2:30.

Presbyterian Church
Rev. Alexander Corkey, Pastor.

"The Enjoyment of God" will be the subject of the morning sermon at the Presbyterian church next Sunday. In the evening a Thanksgiving service will be held. There will be a program under the auspices of the Woman's Missionary Society, and an address by the pastor. The offering will be a Thanksgiving offering for women's work.

Dr. W. W. Tait is giving a series of lectures on Solomon's Temple at the Presbyterian church this week. The lectures began on Wednesday evening and continue on Thursday and Friday evenings. Dr. Tait illustrates his addresses with an actual model of the original Temple, and explains the various uses of the different parts. The Masonic fraternity as well as all students of the Bible have a perpetual interest in the Temple which was built at Jerusalem three thousand years ago, and the lectures are interesting and profitable. There is no admittance charge, nor will any offering be taken up tonight but on Friday evening an offering is taken for the lecturer. Everyone is cordially invited.

Temperance Day was appropriately celebrated at the Presbyterian church all day last Sunday. In the morning there was a special program in which the pastor was assisted by Elders F. G. Philleo and F. H. Jones. At the close of the services a large number joined the Presbyterian Temperance Union which is pledged to total abstinence and to prohibition of the liquor traffic, these being the principles accepted by the Presbyterian church in regard to intoxicating liquors.

Methodist Church
Rev. C. L. Myers, Pastor

Wednesday the mid-week prayer meeting as usual. Subject for consideration: "The Prodigal Son." We will close early so that all may attend the lecture at the Presbyterian church.

Miss Daisy Cooper united with the church Sunday as did Mr. and Mrs. Duncan several weeks ago.

One more list such as you gave last Sunday and that little account with the publishers will be wiped from the Sunday school records.

The W. C. T. U. will meet at the parsonage Friday afternoon at 2:30.

We have a few copies of the conference minutes left. Will you not come and help in the choir? You get one lesson a week in singing, which costs you only the time required. It is well worth the effort.

The pastor was well pleased to see so many bible students present Sunday morning.

The heating plant did splendid service Sunday.

There should be about twice as many Leaguers at the devotional meeting as were present last time. Choir practice every week regular. Come and get instruction free.

German Lutheran Church
Rev. Rudolph Moebring, Pastor.

At this church next Sunday there will be the regular services. Sunday school in the morning and preaching by the pastor following. The invitation is for all to attend.

We will have every known fruit of the best quality on the market. Malaga and Red Empress Grapes, Sunkist Navel Oranges, Bananas, Figs, Dates, Lemons, and all kinds of eating and cooking apples.—adv.

Preaching Service
Rev. B. P. Richardson will preach at the Wilbur school house Sunday afternoon, at 3 o'clock.

Thanksgiving Service
The regular union Thanksgiving service will be held at the Baptist church on Thanksgiving day at 7:30 p. m. Rev. F. E. Blessing will be the preacher.

Real Estate Transfers
Real estate transfers for two weeks ending Nov. 17, 1913, reported by I. W. Alter, bonded Abstracter, Wayne, Neb.

Lucian W. Carter to Nels P. Christensen, S½ lot 5, Jones addition to Carroll, $100.

George M. Hart to Emma Hart, Und. ½ int. in Lots 22, 23, 24, Blk. 26, College Hill addition to Wayne $1.

C. E. Benschhof, to Harry Long, Lot 5 and north 25 ft. lot 6, Blk. 4, Winside, $3000

Harry Long to C. E. Benschhof, S½, NE¼, 4-25-2., $12200.

Martin Peters et al to Geo. Holekamp Lot 3, Robinsons addition to Carroll, $125.

Ryron E. Young to Geo. Holekamp, Lot 4 Blk. 1, Robinsons addition to Carroll $150.

Annie Lound to Doratheia Nichigall, Lot 16, Blk. 2 Winside $107.

Fred Williamson to Hanna Williamson, W. 61 ft., lots 16, 17, 18 Blk. 2, 1st addition to Carroll, $2000.

Hedwig Gehrke, et al, to Amanda Herscheid, NW¼, 1-25-2, $1.

A. Woodward, to Aspergren & Strand Lumber Co., Lot 2, Blk. 6, Winside, $3600.

Louis M. Owens to James F. Jeffries, Lot 3, Skeens addition to Wayne, $1.

James F. Jeffries, to Charlotta F. Wollert, Lot 3, Skeens addition to Wayne, $1.

The Cradle
SLAUGHTER:—At Herrick, South Dakota, Sunday, November 16, 1913, to W. S. Slaughter and wife, a daughter. Mrs. Slaughter is the daughter of Henry Hansen and wife of this place, and was well known to many people in this county, where she grew to womanhood.

ROBERTS—Saturday, November 15, 1913, to Wm. J. Roberts and wife, a son.

THEFTS IN HOTELS
Traps to Catch Guests That Have the Souvenir Fad.

DETECTIVES AND DIPLOMACY.

The Two Combine in a Very Effective Way to Foil the Efforts of Those Who Feel it a Duty to Help Themselves to Fine Linen and Silverware.

The concerted action of the house detectives of all the large hotels in America has carefully extracted the points from two erstwhile excellent stories, the first, ascribed to Adele Ritchie, who, when asked once if she had ever been in Kansas City, replied, "I can't just remember, but I will look among my towels and see," and the second, the more pathetic narrative of the young man who was obliged to break off his engagement because as he left the dining room of a large hotel with his fiancée a number of forks and spoons fell from the sleeves of her gown, for the house detectives have devised a "system" whereby the man or woman who wants to take a souvenir from a big hotel finds her path beset with almost insurmountable difficulties.

The matter is carried on with the greatest artfulness. There are no "hurt feelings," no bones broken, no arrests made.

The house detectives simply extract the unrightfully attached articles as painlessly as they extract the points from old stories, and in the great majority of cases the frustrated "borrower" never knows at all what happened to him.

First the detective is provided with a complete list of everything which is owned by the hotel—every particle of linen, silver, soap, etc. Then he delegates the responsibility for the care of them to various head waiters, waiters, housekeepers and chambermaids.

Then he gets a list each day of new arrivals and of those who having remained a few days are preparing to leave. From these lists of occupied rooms the detective calculates the areas where trouble might possibly brew and into these he goes with his subdivided lists and a checking up book.

The chambermaid is required to give an exact accounting of every piece of linen she has supplied to the man or woman who is about to leave. This is in turn taken to the laundries, where a balance is made of those sheets, towels, etc., which have come out of each room. If there is a precise balance the matter ends there, but woe to the woman who believes that the towels she placed carefully in her locked trunk will not be "missed."

Her trunks and bags on their way downstairs are simply carried to the basement floor as if by chance, and there the house detective, with the aid of a skeleton key, goes through them in search of lost hotel linen.

It is very gently removed and checked up on the housemaid's list, and the trunk is carefully repacked and relocked. Nothing is left to give warning that the search has been made, and nothing is ever by any remotest chance said to the departing guest.

She is sent cheerily on her way rejoicing and is usually perplexed out of all reason to account for the fact that the towels and pillow cases that she knows well she put into her trunk have mysteriously disappeared.

Do you suppose for a moment that this is an extreme case nor even a rare one? It happens on an average once a day in every large hotel in New York and with almost an astounding frequency in Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago.

And in the case of silverware the matter is almost as simple, though remedying these thefts requires taking into your confidence at least the man who pays the bill, for every waiter has had his eye trained to count up the silverware while he is placing the finger bowls, and if so much as one small spoon is not where it should be it is unostentatiously placed upon the bill. The hotel graciously leaves it to the discretion of the escort as to whether or not the culprit shall be told. But at least it does not permit him to be enlightened only by the belated method of a leaky sieve.

Again, the head waiter will assure you that this happens, not once or twice, but ceaselessly.

"Many a woman that thinks she's got away with it would be surprised to know that it is down in black and white on her escort's check and that both he and the hotel know just how many spoons and forks she is taking home with her," said one genial head waiter, who viewed the business with considerable indulgence.—New York Times.

French Fairy Tales.
French nursery literature if poor in rhymes is singularly rich in fairy tales. Three of the world's greatest fairy tale writers were French—La Fontaine, Charles Perrault, the Countess D'Aulnoy. Of these three the greatest in this particular line was undoubtedly Charles Perrault to whom we owe "Cinderella," "Puss In Boots" and "Bluebeard." But the Countess D'Aulnoy gave us the "Yellow Dwarf" and "Beauty and the Beast." To Antoine Galland, another Frenchman, we have to render thanks for the first European translation of the "Arabian Nights"—London Chronicle.

Every right action and true thought sets the seal of its beauty on the person and the face.—John Ruskin.

PUBLIC SALE

As I am going to move away I will sell at auction on the MELLOR FARM 5 miles west and 3 miles north of Wayne, four miles east and one-half south of Carroll, on

Thursday, Dec. 4th
Commencing at 12 o'clock. Free lunch at 11:30.

10 Head of Horses and Mules
Team of gray mares 10 years old, wt. 2500; black driving team, wt. 2200; gray gelding, 11 years old, wt. 1300; one mule 12 years old, wt. 1200; two yearling mules, good ones; one good suckling mule; one suckling colt.

14 Head of Cattle
6 extra good milch cows, two fresh soon, others in spring; one 2-year-old heifer; seven head spring calves, five steers and two heifers.

5 Head of Hogs
Three extra good Chester White sows, two shoats.

Farm Machinery, Etc.
Maxwell automobile, 30-h. p., in good shape, 2 wagons with boxes, new hay rack, buggy, manure spreader, McCormick mower, new hay rake, two-row cultivator, good as new, riding cultivator, walking cultivator, two disc cultivators, Stag gang plow, Good Enough riding plow, two grain discs, endgate seeder, four-section harrow, harrow cart, John Deere corn planter, 160 rod of wire, bob sled, two-row listed corn cultivator, two listers, weeder, two feed grinders, hand corn sheller, set work harness, set driving harness, two sets fly nets,
Six dozen chickens, new base burner.
25 tons of alfalfa hay, good white seed corn, 30 bushels of potatoes, two gas barrels, one 110 gallon and one 50 gallon, cream separator, and household goods and other articles too numerous to mention.

TERMS OF SALE—Sums of $10 and under cash, on all sums over that amount ten months time will be given at 8 per cent interest.

S. B. MILLER
Dan Davis, Clerk. E. & D. H. Cunningham, Aucts.

Texas Land

15,000 Acres
Choice Gulf Coast Land

As good as being sold at $200 per acre; Price

$16.00 Per Acre

In tracts to Suit. Terms 1 to 10 Years

Sholars Land Co.
ALICE, TEXAS

Callings' Herbal Renovator 50c or $1.00 PACKAGES
The Great System Tonic. For Rheumatism, Aids Digestion, Purifies the Blood, Invigorates action of Liver, Kidneys and Stomach. Composed of herbs and guaranteed under pure drug act. For sale by
P. O. Box 315 John Nichols, Winside, Nebr.

Friday, November 21

Crystal Theatre

"House of Features"

"THE LINE UP"

Vitagraph Football Story

"TOBIAS TURNS THE TABLES"

A Great Comedy

CRYSTAL ORCHESTRA

Overture at 7:30

"Poet and Peasant"

First Show at 7:45

10c - ADMISSION - 10c

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

J. W. Mason visited at Wakefield Tuesday.

Beaman sells "Simon Pure Leaf Lard."—adv.

Mrs. Wendel Baker was at Sioux City Tuesday, for the day.

John Nichols was here from Winside Tuesday morning for a brief visit.

Mrs. Spears came from Emerson Tuesday for a short visit with Wayne friends.

Mrs. Pryor went to Winside Tuesday to visit relatives and friends a day or two.

E. W. Johnson and wife went to their former home at Oakland to visit Sunday and Monday.

Beaman has Mushrooms in two grades; Standards and Sur Extra Fine—the finest grade grown.—adv.

Mrs. Geo. Heady went to Sioux City Tuesday to visit for a week or so at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Geo. Palmer.

Extra fancy Smyrna Figs in layers; 2 1/2 in. spread, the fanciest 7 crown obtainable. See them in the window at Beaman's.—adv.

Miss Goldie Templeman from Laurel came this week to enter the Normal. She will make her home with the Bert McClary family.

W.R. Morehouse, of Randolph spent Monday at Sioux City, and his children spent the day here with their aunt, Mrs. W. R. Weber.

Mrs. Baskerville, who came here from Sioux City to visit her mother, Mrs. Gamble, and her many Wayne friends, left Tuesday for her new home at Elk, Washington, where they are moving.

John Kay was unloading a new traction engine at the depot Tuesday. He purchased a Powell, trading his old one in the deal. This will make him a sure power for threshing the coming season.

Beaman has the Cream of meat sauces.—Among them the Brand A1,—a favorite of all who have used it. Lea Perrin's old reliable Worcestershire; also the best known chows and relishes.—adv.

Is the time your Silverware should be attractive.

An exquisite example of the only brand of plated ware that is covered by an unrestricted guarantee. We shall be pleased to show you our select stock of Sterling Silver and Silver Plated wares. The finest Silver Plated Knives and Forks at $3.50 per set.

L. A. FANSKE JEWELER and OPTICIAN

Private Test Room for Optical Department

Beaman's is the place to buy None Such mince meat.—adv.

S. Taylor went to Carroll Wednesday morning where he is plastering.

Mesdames H. Kellogg and J. Ross were visitors at Sioux City Wednesday.

W. L. Willbaum left Wednesday to spend a week with his sister at Lynch and a brother at Butte.

Dr. Texley of Carroll was through here Tuesday on his way to Waterbury on a business mission.

Miss Alta Christie from Scribner came Tuesday evening to visit at the home of A. G. Adams and wife.

New crop of nuts. English walnuts, Pecans, Almonds, also fresh clean meats in halves. Buy them of Beaman.—adv.

George Spaulding has a small residence for his occupancy nearly completed in the Roosevelt park addition to Wayne. It is so nearly done that he will move in this week.

Mrs. Frank Hurlbert from Winner, South Dakota, is visiting her sister, Mrs. C. Hurlbert and at the home of W. L. Hurlbert and wife, near Carroll. She was at Wayne Tuesday in company with W. L. Hurlbert and family.

Merritt Weeks and family were here the first of the week visiting at the home of Chas. Riese at this place while on their way from Persh, South Dakota, to a new home in the Sacramento valley in California. Mrs. Weeks is a sister to Mr. Riese.

Cole Coser, one of the well-to-do land owners from near Allen, has moved to Wayne, occupying a residence on 4th street near Main street. They came in to be with their children while they are attending school in the best school town in the state.

Dr. A. G. Adams went to Hyannis the first part of the week to locate the farm he drew from Uncle Sam a few weeks ago. He went by automobile and will thus be prepared to look the country over. F. A. Nance went part way with him and he expects his brother Orlando to accompany him the last part of the trip.

Mrs. B. Jurhs from Three Rivers, Michigan, who came here two weeks ago to visit at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Chas. Shultheis, left Tuesday for her home. She was accompanied by Mrs. Heyden of the same place, who has been spending a fortnight at the home of John Harder and wife, her daughter.

Art Graham, the apple man who has just been selling a car load of Colorado apples here, said that he would return again next summer with a car load of Alberta peaches, and that he has instructed agent Moran to not let the car get past Wayne, for it is the best town in the state of Nebraska. He was at the depot opening, and likes the boasting spirit exhibited there.

Long Pine has just closed a big potato shipping season. This was the year when there was an outlet for surplus potatoes where they were grown. This is not a potato country in the sense of growing them for market, but this season we have not near raised our own supply, and already some 18 or 20 big carloads have been sold and distributed here, probably 12,000 bushels.

Wm. VonSeggern shipped in two cars of fine feeders this week. One car load is said to be as good as any that have been brought to Wayne this season, and that means that they are good ones. We believe that the best are the cheapest as a rule when you buy feeders. That is, it is cheaper to buy a good foundation and finish it into a high class beef animal, than to get a frame with a hide over it and fill it all with corn.

S. B. Miller, who has been on one of the Mellor farms five miles northwest of Wayne, is going to go south, having bought land in Arkansas, and is advertising a closing sale for Thursday, December 4th. Mr. Miller has been on the farm for the past ten years and is going to sell some good stock and machinery. We may hate to see a good farmer leave this county, but all will wish them well in their new home.

At the regular services of the Emanuel church northeast of Wayne last Sunday and the Sunday before the ordinance of baptism was administered by the pastor to four persons. On the first date the infant sons of Paul and Otto Meyers and August Roerber were baptised, and the following Sunday a daughter of Henry Roerber and wife was the candidate. The membership of this church is increasing, each year bringing a class for confirmation.

You know you can depend on Beaman for fresh lettuce, celery and all vegetables. Will have in new radishes.—adv.

The executive board of the Nebraska association of commercial clubs has been sending letters to the secretaries of the various clubs urging a closer union between clubs and the farmers of the community. That is a move in the right direction. The business men of the towns and the farmers should be in closer touch with each other—should co-operate more. Each needs the help of the other. We hope to see the Wayne club among the first to endorse the plan.

At a meeting of the Norfolk merchants last week, warning was sent to the merchants who were trusting men who had been listed as no good so far as paying was concerned, that they would be fined for the first offense and for the second their rating book would be taken from them. That is hard luck for the man who would beat his bills—then just think of trusting that class of patrons and then be fined for doing it. The club also hope to secure better train service over the Union Pacific between Norfolk and Columbus.

According to a banker's statement, a 120 acre farm near Broken Bow, yielded 600 tons of alfalfa this season, and it sold at $6 per ton, or $3,600 which is a pretty good return per acre for a piece of the "Great American Desert," as it was on the map when the writer read his geography. That geography is the cause of many a poor man today. The impression made then kept many a young man from Nebraska in the days when land here was to be had for the taking. The chance is good yet, but not as good as then.

T. E. Clark, who played ball with the Wayne team the past season, was taken quite seriously ill last week, obstruction of the bowels being the diagnosis. Tuesday his mother and sister, Mrs. T. E. Clark and Mrs. H. Miller of Clarinda, Iowa, came and they accompanied him to Omaha on the afternoon train, where they will seek medical aid as the case may require. His wife went to Superior about two weeks ago to visit for a time with her parents. Mr. Clark has numerous friends here who hope his sickness will not prove serious.

W. R. Gillett, wife and their daughter, Mrs. E. A. Sickler, started Friday morning to visit relatives in Iowa. They will stop first at Malvern, then go on to Ellston, where Mr. Gillett's father, now past 80 years of age is living—and where Mr. Gillett knows everybody and they all know him; for he was there at the founding and making of the town. Mr. Gillett, we are sorry to say, is planning to leave Wayne county in the spring, having recently purchased a farm in the northwestern part of Wisconsin. They plan to be in Iowa about two weeks.

At Neligh they have been installing additional waterworks, and there has been a big leak left somewhere and the pumps are throwing 200,000 gallons of water every 12 hours, and Neligh is not the kind of a town that takes water in that quantity. Water not being their only drink they dislike to see it wasted, nevertheless. If they don't drink it 200,000 gallons in 12 hours is more than is needed for bathing purposes in the winter. We are glad if that is the only leak here. At Norfolk they found a money leak in the office of the city clerk.

O. C. Lewis, of Carroll, returned last week from a trip to VanTassel, Wyoming, and no sooner had he crossed the state line than Perry Benschhof hailed him and invited him to come over and see what he had done in that new country. Perry convinced Mr. Lewis that it is a good land, and grows cracking good stuff. Mr. Lewis came home with samples of grain and vegetables grown on sod land this season. There were corn and oats, potatoes, carrots and turnips. The corn was good, and made a yield around the 20 bushel mark. Oats, which is a good crop to grow there, were fine, having no stain or bleach or must—for they were not harvested and threshed between frequent showers, and they overran in weight. The turnip is about as large as a soup bowl, just a nice size—and its grandfather grew here in Wayne county. For Mr. Benschhof took the turnips with him, planted them there in the spring, raised and harvested the seed, planted the seed and grew the turnip crop—which shows that they do have some length of season there, even if the altitude is a little high. This good news item was all laid out for last week, but slipped out of sight in the grand rush, but is a good keeper, and is fresh and true now the same as though it had been delivered on time.

Free!

Pure Aluminum Cooking Ware

Free!

...At The...

German Store

WE have made arrangements to furnish your kitchen with high grade aluminum ware free. When your purchases amount to $40 we will give you a $5 baking set. We have different pieces of aluminum ware to be given away. Get a card if you do not already have one, to show the amount of goods bought, and bring it to the store when paying for purchases.

Aluminum is the best kind of kitchen ware. It is cleanly, healthful, durable and economical, and every one should use it. This opportunity to supply every kitchen with aluminum has already been taken advantage of by thoughtful and careful buyers, and many more will do so.

Furchner, Wendt & Company

Wayne & Company Nebr...

WAYNE 20—BELLEVUE 7

Game Witnessed by Enthusiastic Crowd on the College Field Friday. Home Team Played their Best Game.

In the best football game of the season the Wayne Normal team put itself on the college "football map" last Friday by defeating Bellevue college by a decisive score. The students band made the music and the students turned down town and stirred up some real enthusiasm.

The stores closed their doors from 3:00 to 5:00, and all enjoyed the game in spite of the slight snowfall which began early in the afternoon.

Captain Gildersleeve of Wayne won the toss from Captain Jones of Bellevue and the game opened with the Normal defending the north goal.

First Quarter.

The Normal received a kick and the boys fought their way steadily down the field for nine minutes, when Leahy carried it over for a touchdown. Gildersleeve kicked goal. Wayne received the second kick, and returned it ten yards, where they lost when Zehkle intercepted a forward pass and returned it thirty-five yards for a touch down, making a sensational run. Wayne kicked to Bellevue and the two teams fought desperately for the rest of the quarter, which ended with the ball in the middle of the field and in Wayne's possession. Score: Wayne 7, Bellevue 7.

Second Quarter.

Wayne took the ball down the field for the second touch down within four minutes after the whistle blew, then kicked to Bellevue and carried it within fifteen yards of the goal of the visiting team, losing the ball on an intercepted forward pass. The local team kept the ball in Bellevue's territory during the remainder of the quarter. Score: Wayne 13, Bellevue 7.

Third Quarter.

The second half opened with the Normal kicking to Bellevue. The Omaha team returned it for twenty-five yards and then lost the ball. Wayne took it down the field for eighty-five yards on steady line smashes. Marsteller carried it over for a touch down Leahy kicked goal. The third quarter ended with the ball on Bellevue's 20-yard line. Score: Wayne 20, Bellevue 7.

Fourth Quarter.

Wayne carried the ball within twenty yards of the goal and on a fumble, Bellevue punted to the 40-yard line. Wayne carried it within eight yards of the goal and again lost by a fumble. Bellevue punted to the forty-five yard line. Wayne carried the ball back within twenty yards of the goal when the whistle blew. Score: Wayne 20, Belle-

WAYNE 20—BELLEVUE 7

Bellevue featured with end runs. Wayne featured on line smashes. Every man on the Normal team played a star game, showing excellent team work and the results of careful training. The work of the "backs" was, of course, very noticeable, Welch starring in line smashes and Marsteller in open-field tackling. Zehkle, Halderman and Quackenbush starred for Bellevue. Referee and umpire: Racely of Pender and Pressley of Wayne alternating. Time keepers: Morgan and Kenner. Head linesman, Hosman. Length of Periods 12 1/2 minutes.

LINE-UP:

Wayne	Position	Bellevue
Mears	L. E.	Campbell
Jacobson	L. T.	Ohman
Van Norman	L. G.	Dale
Mines	C.	Webb
Johnson-Muhn	R. G.	Gustafson
Weber	R. T.	Brandt
Jones	R. E.	Racely
Marsteller	Q. B.	Stokey
Welch	R. H.	Halderman
Gildersleeve	Capt.
	L. H.	Quackenbush
Leahy	F. B.	Jones, Capt.

SUBSTITUTES:

Lamberson	Zehkle
Van Camp	Gealy
Becker	Kenner
McKeegan

Hitchcock of Nebraska

New York World: This is the senator who tried to lumber up the tariff bill with unrelated matter, and who darkened his party's council and delayed its action on that issue as far as was within his power.

He is now the senator on the Democratic side of the banking committee who is performing even more distinguished services along the same line on the currency issue by joining obstructive Republicans in deadlocking the committee and defeating action wanted by the rest of his party and by the country.

Mr. O'Gorman of New York has done some work along this line, and it is of no credit to him. Mr. Reed of Missouri has done more work of the kind, and it is of less credit to him. But it remains for Mr. Hitchcock, of Nebraska at the last to balk a single vote against his party in congress, against the administration and against the financial interests of the country, which are demanding early action. If it is necessary to call a Democratic senatorial caucus or conference in order to iron out this obstructive wrinkle in the situation, then it cannot be held too quickly. If the bill must thus be made a party measure, it is the misfortune of necessity. But in either case so much worse for balky Nebraska and the bedeviling Republicans he is playing with.

Dr. Lutgen, Physician and Surgeon. Calls answered day or night.—Adv.

BEAMAN the BEST Grocery in N.E. Nebraska, and will have the best in the state.

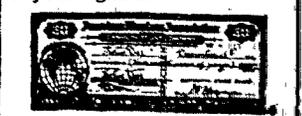

Advertised Letter List. United States Postoffice, Wayne, Neb. Advertised list: Letter, Mr. Burhnell " Mark Encell " Mrs. Alvena Jurgensen " Mrs. Mary Killinger " (S. D.) Wm. B. Small " C. O. Wilson W. J. McNeal, Postmaster. Nov. 12, 1913.

C. C. Bastian and wife returned Saturday evening from an extended visit in central Illinois. They enjoyed their visit very much except that they missed the good Nebraska fall weather, and encountered numerous snows and rains there. Mr. Bastian says that crop conditions there are as here, below normal except in a few favored spots, and that some places are much less than others. When they arrived they found their son, Martin, from Colome, South Dakota, waiting to greet them, he having come a few days earlier to visit them upon their return, and beat them in a few days.

AMERICAN BANKERS ASSOCIATION TRAVELERS' CHEQUES

WHEN arranging for your steamship tickets, call for a booklet about "A. B. A." Cheques, the safest and most convenient travel funds. Handy as a personal check book; safe as your own unsigned check. The only identification needed is your signature.

ISSUED BY State Bank of Wayne Henry Ley, President

DRS. ZOLL & HESS
PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS
Office 3 doors west of P. O.
Dr. Hess' Res. Phone 123.
Office Phone No. 6 Wayne, Nebr.

Dr. A. Naffziger
Office in Mellor Block

Lady in attendance. Hospital accommodations.
Deutcher Arzt. Phone No. 65.

Dr. M. L. Cleveland
Osteopathic Physician
2nd floor Wayne Nat'l Bank Bldg.
Office Hours: 8:00 to 11:30 a. m.
2:00 to 5:30 p. m.
Hours by appointment
Phone—Office 119, Residence 37

Dr. G. J. Green
DENTIST
Office Over State Bank. Phone 51

DR. A. G. ADAMS,
= DENTIST =
Phone 29. First National Bank Bldg

L. A. Kiplinger
LAWYER
Attorney for Wayne County

Over Central Market. Wayne, Neb.
Frank A. Berry Frederick S. Berry
BERRY & BERRY
Lawyers
Wayne, Nebraska

C. H. Hendrickson C. A. Kingsbury
WAYNE PONCA
Kingsbury & Hendrickson
...LAWYERS...
Will practice in all State and Federal Courts
Collections and Examining Abstracts a Specialty
Wayne and Ponca, Nebraska

Dr. T. T. Jones
OSTEOPATH
Located over the Racket
Store in the Dr. Wightman building.
Phone 44
Calls Answered Day or Night
Wayne, Nebraska

Office Phone 59 Residence Phone 264
David D. Tobias, M. D. G.
Assistant State
Veterinarian
Office at Brick Barn. Wayne, Nebr.

CAPITAL, $60,000 No. 9244
CITIZENS NATIONAL BANK
WAYNE, NEB.
E. C. Henney, Pres. H. B. Jones, Cash.
A. L. Tucker, V. Pres.
P. H. Meyer, Asst Cashier.

We do all kinds of good banking
—CALL ON—
Wm. Piepenstock
—FOR—

Harness, Saddles
and everything in the Horse Furnishing Line
We also carry a large stock of Fur and Plush Robes and Horse Blankets
Prices Reasonable

CARL NOELLE
Contractor
- and Builder -
Estimates cheerfully furnished on All Classes of Work
Phone 191 Wayne, Nebr.

Herman Bodensdett
CITY DRAY
Telephone No. 87 Prompt Service
Rubbish Hauled

"STAR BOARDERS"
BANE OF DAIRYMEN

It is the profitless cow that keeps the price of milk 50 per cent or more below the price it should be compared with any other standard food product, writes L. V. Lighty in the National Stockman. Pure and unadulterated ignorance and stubbornness compel many dairymen to work hard 365 days per year for nothing.

The first step for betterment is to find the poor producers, the star boarders, and get them off the place, prejudices, contracts and hay stacks to the contrary notwithstanding. Stop keeping cows and make the cows keep you. Those poor, unprofitable cows will forever keep you between the shafts like a cart horse, they on the cart and you pulling them along. Get balky. The second step is to get rid of that scrub bull. He may have the color of a pure bred, and some one told you he was as good as a pure bred, but unless he is registered and can show good ancestry he is a scrub for the purpose you want him. In this day when good pure bred registered bulls can be bought for $100 or less about old enough for service a scrub bull is a sort of walking advertisement of a scrub farmer. Those same farmers allow some advertising agent to drub their buildings with tobacco or whisky advertisements, and their own products are unadvertised and go begging for a market. Wake up! Study your business and push it!

B. C. Buxton, a Vermont farmer, gives the following reasons for considering Holsteins the best breed of dairy cattle: First, the Holsteins hold all records for production of milk and butter; second, they stand the cold weather better than most of the breeds; third, they are large and strong and seem to throw off disease and keep healthier than most breeds. Some people will claim that the milk is too poor in butter fat, and it is a fact that the average of the breed is only 3.9 per cent. However, they are being bred up to a greater per cent of fat. The Holstein bull pictured was grand champion at the Iowa state fair last year.

The man with nearly unlimited capital can buy a good herd, but all others must build up the herd from a few carefully selected foundation animals. Good cows are very scarce now and sell at almost fabulous prices when compared with prices ten years ago. Buy a few registered heifer calves, and while you learn how to build up with grades you get ready to handle pure bred stock, and by the time you have learned the business of breeding cattle you will have some pure bred stock ready to work with. To care for a pure bred herd requires only a little more muscular labor than for scrubs, but if you would get the best out of a pure bred herd you can bring into play all the intellect you happen to be possessed of.

Pure Bred Versus Scrub Rams.
The University of Missouri has published a circular giving results of a test in which pure bred rams were compared with scrub rams as producers of lambs. The average gain of lambs sired by a pure bred ram was over two and one-half pounds more at three months of age than the gain of lambs sired by a scrub ram at four months of age. And the scrub lambs ate 50 per cent more grain than the lambs from a pure bred sire. On the market the better bred lambs brought $7.35 per hundredweight, while the scrubs brought $4.50 per hundredweight. The use of pure bred sties has been advocated for so long and the economy of using such rams has been so repeatedly demonstrated that it would seem that such tests were no longer necessary. But still many sheep raisers deliberately curtail possible incomes from their flocks by using cheap rams—anything that can get lambs.

Care of Brood Sows.
On many farms the matrons of the hog herd are the most profitable. They must have good care and a variety of food to supply their wants. They should be fed liberally and never let go hungry. They are twice as valuable when producing two litters of good pigs each year as when they produce only one. This can be accomplished by giving them care and attention at the right time. Three days after weaning their litters they will mate if the feed has been increased, and they are in a thriving condition. From this time on to farrowing they should be fed nitrogenous food, which will nourish the unborn successfully.

The Milking Machine.
The results of machine milking compared with hand milking are at all times interesting. The milking machine from a mechanical standpoint has been made thoroughly practical. It will do the work and do it well. There is now no apparent reason why milking should not be done by the machine if the dairy is sufficiently large to justify the outlay.—Kansas Farmer.

THE MILKMAKER.

Milk the leaking cow three times a day.
Is your barn prepared for the cold wintry weather?
Put a little bran in the bottom of the pail when the calf has drunk his milk and he will readily learn to eat it.
You cannot expect a cow to give large quantities of milk unless she has plenty of feed and quantities of water.
An account should be kept with every cow. The way to determine her value is by using the scales and the Babcock test.
Other things being equal, the largest yields of milk usually represent the largest profits.
Not one cow barn in a hundred has windows enough.

RAISING FALL COLTS.

Pays to Breed Mares That Have Failed to Get in Foal in the Spring.
Every season the farmer is called on to solve the fall colt problem. One or two, perhaps all, of his mares miss the horse in the spring, and unless he breeds them in the fall he must lose a whole year in his horse breeding department, says J. V. Abington in the National Stockman. At the best, he must lose six or eight months. Shall he let that go as so much lost anyway and six months more on top of it, waiting till spring to breed the mares once more, or shall he breed them in the fall and so save half the year? That is the question to be settled.

It is not a matter on which there is absolute unanimity. Some say they have no luck with fall colts and so never try to raise them. Others always breed the mares that miss in the spring, while still a third school maintains that fall colts pay and do better than spring colts and that mares should be mated in the spring only to fill in the time lost by their failure to breed to the fall service. With this last school I have no patience. I do believe, however, that a farmer is wise to breed in the fall one or two valuable producers that failed to settle in the spring.

The illustration shows a two-year-old grade Percheron filly which was dropped in the fall. She was fed sweet whole milk from a cow to make up for the grass denied her. She got a couple of quarts twice a day. But if whole milk is not available four or five quarts of sweet warm separator milk will do very well. A point to remember in the case of a fall colt is that it must have plenty of exercise, a clean bed and all the grain it will clean up in addition to the milk. Fresh water should always be within its reach.

There is not much to be gained by having the mare but half gone in her pregnancy during spring work, for nowadays fall work, such as gang plowing, hauling the corn binder, hauling the manure spreader and the like, is a task about the same, no matter what season of the year undertaken, and the need for caution is just as great in the fall as it is in the spring. It is six of one and half a dozen of the other, so the matter simmers down to the choice between losing six months or a whole year.

Fall colts can be raised as profitably as spring colts for the reason that what they eat during the first six months is seldom missed. When six months old or thereabouts they go out on the grass and if well fed make a continuous growth, but never quite so good as a spring colt does when given exactly the same treatment. There is something about the action of the grass in the young stomach that nature requires and which is denied to the fall born youngster.

Age to Breed Sows.
Breeders are not agreed as to the proper age at which sows should be first bred. Some declare it more profitable to breed immature or young sows. Professor Coburn says, "Eight months old is as young as it is judicious or proper to breed them, and we would much prefer to have them a year old before letting them to the boar. The pigs from large, old sows will be more in number and frequently double in size of the others at a month old, and with the same care they will frequently weigh 50 per cent more at nine or twelve months old."

The Horse Grower.
Breed horses to some definite purpose—that is, go in for drafters, coaches or saddlers. A finished animal of any one of these breeds will always bring more than a mixture of all.

Watch For Sheep Ticks.
When you see the sheep nibbling at their sides take a good look at them. There is something wrong. See if you can't find something wrong. See if you can't find some ticks.

The Printing Office Towel
By Robt. J. Bardette

Not many moons ago a reader suggested that it would be right and proper for this great family journal to devote a small space each week to poetry, and the suggestion seemed good, so we start the feature with a poem which every old-time printer knows contains as much truth as poetry. Will someone hand or mail a short poem in for our next issue?

When I think of the towel, the old fashioned towel,
That used to hang up by the printing house door,
I think that nobody is in these days of shoddy
Can hammer out iron to wear as it wore.
The tramp who abused it, the devil who used it,
The makeup and foreman, the editor (poor man),
Each rubbed some grime off while they put a heap on.
In, over and under, 'twas blacker than thunder,
'Twas harder than poverty, rougher than sin;
From roller suspended, it never was bended,
And it flapped on the wall like a banner of tin.
It grew thicker and rougher, and harder and tougher,
And daily put on a far inkier hue,
Until one windy morning without any warning,
It fell to the floor and was broken in two.

A Big Apple Orchard

Nebraska has 2,632,816 apple trees, according to tabulations made by the state board of agriculture. Planted forty feet apart this means 41,454 acres planted to apples or an orchard a mile wide and sixty-five miles long. The grape industry is making remarkable stride in the state and growing grape vines number 952,167. This fruit can be grown in Nebraska for less than the freight on it from the grape belt of New York, and grapes always sell for good price.

Farm Improvements For Sale

I have for sale a set of small improvements on leased land, consisting of buildings, fencing, etc. Can give possession in 30 days if desired. For particulars address James Stephens, Carroll, Nebr. Phone 9 on 11.—adv. 45-2pd.

Notice

To James Britton, Margaret Bush, Kate M. Gaertner, Nels J. Juhlin, D. M. Connable, H. M. Crawford, Simon Goeman, Mary Norton, Mary J. Gaertner, S. A. Lutgen, James G. Miller, Joseph H. Atkins, A. M. Jacobs, You and each of you are hereby notified, that on the 16th day of December, 1913, at 7:30 p. m., at the council room in the city of Wayne, Nebraska, the Mayor and Council of the city of Wayne, Nebraska will sit as an Equalization Board to determine the valuation of Lots 1, 2 and 3 in Block 12 of North Addition to Wayne, Nebraska.

Lot 12 in block 9 of original town of Wayne, Nebraska.
Lot 1 in block 3 of original town of Wayne, Nebraska.
Lot w 1/2 1, 2 and 3 in block 7 of original town of Wayne, Nebraska.
Lot w 1/2 1 in block 10 of original town of Wayne, Nebraska.
Lot 12 in block 26 of original town of Wayne, Nebraska.
Lot 12 in block 24 of original town of Wayne, Nebraska.
Lot 7 in block 22 of original town of Wayne, Nebraska.
Lot 13 in block 12 of North add. to Wayne, Nebraska.
Lot 7 in block 6 of North add. to Wayne, Nebraska.
Lot 11 in block 4 of North add. to Wayne, Nebraska.
Lot w 1/2 4, 5 and 6 in block 10 of North add. to Wayne, Nebraska.
Lot 6 in block 11 of North add. to Wayne, Nebraska.
and ascertain the benefits derived or injury sustained by reason of the construction of said side walk along or abutting said lots and make special assessment accordingly.
C. A. CHACE, Mayor.
45-4 J. M. CHERRY, Clerk

Our Best Seller

We are selling more of Meritol Eczema Remedy than all the others put together. This large sale is due to the fact that it is a preparation of unusual merit, made expressly for one purpose, eczema in its various forms. If you are afflicted with this loathsome disease, do not delay using Meritol Eczema Remedy. Adams Model Pharmacy, Exclusive Agency.—adv.—adv. n

Paul Thiel did not steal clothing, but he is selling pants so cheap that you cannot afford to steal 'em.—adv.

The Flame of Acetylene Light Is Small and the Burner Peculiar

You have probably noticed that a Pilot Country Home Acetylene burner is shaped like the letter "Y."

And, that the little gas openings in the arms of the burner are only pin hole size.
So small they let out only half of a cubic foot of Acetylene in an hour.
You might leave one of these Acetylene burners open by accident all day—and even then there wouldn't be gas enough in the air of the room to enable you to set fire to it if you tried.
As a matter of fact, you would have to leave the burner open fully three days and nights in a room twelve by fourteen, with windows and doors closed tight, before there would be any fire or explosion danger whatever.
And the chance of your leaving a burner open that long is not worth considering. The pungent odor of the escaping gas would be certain to attract attention in a few seconds.

Insurance Reports Say

That in a list of 10,000 recent fires and accidents caused by illuminants, 9990 were charged to the misuse and abuse of electricity, kerosene, gasoline and city gas and only ten to the misuse and abuse of Acetylene.

That's why the engineers of the National Insurance Board have endorsed Acetylene. They say it's safer than oil illuminants it is rapidly displacing.

Comparing Country Home Acetylene to its first cousin, city gas, we find:
That a standard city gas burner actually passes over ten times more gas in given time than a standard Acetylene burner.

That one hundred feet of Acetylene actually gives more light than a thousand feet of city gas.
That you could sleep under an open, unlighted Acetylene burner without harm—whereas escaping city gas would put you out in short order.
This does not mean that the twenty million people who use city gas with safety and comfort are not enjoying the greatest of all city conveniences.

The farmer's pure white Acetylene light shining from handsome brass and bronze chandeliers makes the most beautiful home illuminant in the world. It makes, too, an equally effective light in the special fixtures fastened rigidly to the timbers and ceiling of his porches, barns and outbuildings.
He can and usually does equip all these lights with ignition attachments to light with the pull of a slender chain or rod—without matches.

For the Woman Folks

There is also the Acetylene cooking range.
These ranges are very similar to those used in city homes throughout the world. They have the four top burners, high ovens, glass panel doors, the heat indicator and all the modern labor saving features.

No less than two hundred and fifty thousand country families will tonight gather around Acetylene lighted tables and eat food cooked on Acetylene ranges.

Most of these families make their own gas. Those who make it to best advantage use

Pilot Lighting Plants

These Pilot plants are strictly automatic. They simply require filling—with Union Carbide and water—once a month—they do all the rest.

We have been making and perfecting them since Acetylene was introduced fifteen years ago. Today we are the largest manufacturers of light plants in the world. We sell them through representatives in a thousand towns and cities and ship plants complete—Pilot machines, lighting fixtures and stove, from our three big factories.

An eastern factory in Newark—a central factory in Chicago and a western factory in Los Angeles.
You will find all the facts and figures in our illustrated catalogue. In writing for it, state how many rooms and buildings you wish to light and how many people in your family. Address:

R. G. ROHRKE
HOSKINS
—Dealer in—
PILOT LIGHTING PLANTS
Made by
OXWELD ACETYLENE CO., Chicago

Col. F. Jarvis, Auctioneer

Still doing business at the same old stand. I solicit your patronage and will render you honorable service. Get your sales in this list:

Dates Claimed for Sales
December 6—Pavilion Sale, Carroll.
December 1—Ashmore Bros., 130 head of stock.
December 10—G. C. Clark, 90 head of stock.

I furnish you with stock numbers and publish your date. Also have tin cups that I will loan you.

Make dates at THE DEMOCRAT office, Wayne, or call me over Phone 14, Carroll, Nebraska.

Protect Your Baby
Keep out cold draughts—save baby many a cold and sickness.

All during the cold fall and winter months the New Perfection keeps the house warm. The Perfection Heater burns nine hours on a single gallon of oil. Easy to clean and rewick. Can be carried from room to room—wherever you go. Heats the average room in a few minutes.
At all dealers.

For best results use PERFECTION OIL
STANDARD OIL COMPANY
(NEBRASKA) OMAHA

County Correspondence

Wakefield News.

Fred Steckleberg of Lyons spent Monday at the home of his son, William.

A. A. Carnes of Castana, Iowa, was a business visitor the last of the week.

A. D. Collins returned Wednesday to Essex, after a short visit with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Cook visited his brother near Concord the latter part of the week.

Misses Vida Leoner and Hazel Ebersole attended the Sunday school convention at Ponca Tuesday and Wednesday.

J. W. Murphy and E. Telander went to Gordon Tuesday. Mr. Murphy expects to locate there if the country suits him.

Miss Annie Davis, who teaches near Wausa, is visiting this week with her grandmother, Mrs. Mary Harrison, and other relatives.

J. D. Haskell's first shipment of cattle from his Sully county ranch topped the market at Sioux City last week. They sold for $6.75.

Mrs. John Gustafson of Wayne spent Monday afternoon with her sister, Mrs. N. N. Sackerson, en route to Hartington to visit her son.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller and children autoed from Stanton and spent the first of the week with Mrs. Miller's sister, Mrs. Levi Acton.

Harry Wendell and C. A. Samuelson will run the new garage in the building north of L. C. Nurnberger's store recently purchased by Olaf Wendell.

H. C. Willets of South Milford, Ind., who has been visiting his great aunt, Mrs. C. J. Childs, left Sunday for Omaha where he has secured a position.

Rev. Charles E. Baskerville of Bellevue college occupied the pulpit of the Presbyterian church Sunday evening. He gave an excellent address on "Patriotism."

The bazaar at the auditorium Saturday afternoon given by the ladies of the Christian church was successful, both socially and financially. The net receipts were $100.

The football game played at Hartington Friday by the Hartington and Wakefield team resulted in another victory for the home boys. The score was 19-0. The boys were entertained Friday evening at the Hayden home three miles from Hartington by the O. M. C. C., a girls club.

Mrs. Dave Green and daughter, Miss Vida, arrived from Ortonville, Minnesota, Sunday to visit at the home of G. W. Green. Mrs. Green left for Grand Island today to see her son, Ansel, who is attending school. She will probably locate there, having sold her farm near Ortonville.

The Luther League had an enjoyable time at the experience social held at the home of Rev. Kraft Friday evening. Thirty-eight members told of their experience in earning a dollar for the society. Some were earned by the sweat of the brow, beating rugs, washing windows, sewing, ironing, running around houses, etc.

The meeting held at the Presbyterian church Wednesday afternoon in observance of Mission week was very interesting and profitable. The problem of what to do with the millions coming into our country annually was discussed. The future America depends on how we treat these immigrants. Rev. McCarthy gave a helpful illustrated talk on "Immigration" at the Methodist church in the evening.

Mrs. George Aistrone entertained the Sophomore class at her spacious home south of town Saturday evening in honor of the eighteenth birthday of her daughter Olive. The evening was spent in playing games after which a delicious two course luncheon was served. Miss Olive was presented with a Wakefield souvenir spoon. Out of town guests were Misses Lettie Heikess and Marie Ross of Wayne, Carrie Wisler of Omaha and Ruth Berry of Sioux City.

Hunter Precinct.

Chas Sackerson visited Sunday with Henry Rubeck.

Orval Erickson spent Sunday with his friend, Paul Soderberg.

Mrs. Louis Johnson spent Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Chas. Soderberg.

Blanche, Lillie and Harold Worth spent Sunday at the home of Henry Rubeck.

Helen Robertson, Cecil Ott and Nora Furst spent Saturday and Sunday at H. J. Worth's.

Mrs. Wm. Brummond and sister, Mrs. George Elfine were shopping in Sioux City Friday.

Jake Johnson was a passenger to Sioux City Wednesday morning, returning Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Nelson spent Monday at the home of their daughter, Mrs. P. A. Peterson.

Mary Williams, teacher in Dist. No. 6 was a passenger to Carroll Friday evening to visit friends.

Marie Nelson, of Wakefield, and Vera Peterson visited Thursday and Friday at the home of Frank Larson.

Mrs. H. J. Worth and son, Ray, were passengers to Gordon Thursday evening to look at the country. They returned Sunday morning.

Florence Rubeck, who teaches in Dixon county, was unable to take up school work the first of this week on account of sickness.

Mrs. Oscar Anderson entertained the ladies of the Swedish Mission Aid Society last Wednesday and Thursday afternoon. The time was spent in quilting.

Wilbur Precinct.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Smith spent Sunday at Ira Reed's.

Ladies Aid meets with Mrs. C. O. Freeman Wednesday.

Miss Sylvia Kelly spent a part of last week with Grace Lyons.

Miss Rosa Cross is working for Mrs. S. Wedding north of Laurel.

Elmer Phillips and family visited Sunday at his father's, F. L. Phillips.

L. D. Bruggeman now has the telephone from Laurel installing it Tuesday.

S. Hollinger of Laurel finished painting H. C. Lyon's house and barn Wednesday.

Cleve Bolling came Tuesday evening from Reliance, S. D., for a visit at the A. A. and E. C. Smith homes.

Pure Buckwheat flour. Wedding Breakfast Maple Syrup. Rundell's Grocery.—adv.

The Southeast Neighborhood

Corn picking throughout the vicinity of Wayne is mostly finished, farmers reporting about a half crop.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bose and family of Concord and Mr. O'Flarety of Dixon visited at the home of John Newman, five miles east of town the first of last week.

Mrs. W. L. Lewis, who has been seriously ill at the home of her sister is much improved. Miss Irene James, the trained nurse who has been caring for her left for her home at Omaha Sunday.

Miss Lula Lauder went to Bloomfield Thursday evening to visit her mother before leaving for Cripple Creek, Colorado, where she will accompany her sister and niece, the latter who is seriously ill of nervous prostration and heart trouble. She returned Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. John Newman of east of town received the sad news of the tragic death of her brother, who was instantly killed at Chariton, Iowa, last week by a switch engine. He was a prominent business man of that place, having been engaged in buying stock and also as weighmaster for the railroad company for the past fifteen years and it was while loading and billing stock that he lost his life.

Farmers east and southeast of Wayne are complaining of being more or less troubled by thieves entering their homes while they are away, getting away with money, jewelry, wearing apparel, tools and even carrying away canned fruit and meat from their cellars. It seems that persons doing this work are always aware of their absence as they never come to a place where there is any one at home.

Mrs. E. A. Winton and sister, Miss Lula Lauder, who have been visiting relatives east of town the past three months, departed Sunday afternoon for Cripple Creek, Colorado, accompanying the former's daughter, Jennie, to that place where it is hoped that the change of climate will benefit the young lady's health. She has been in a serious condition for three weeks and under the advice of a physician a trained nurse was called from Sioux City Saturday morning to accompany them and will also remain and care for her for a time.

Coon Creek News

Word just comes of the death of Henry Mau, an inmate at the poor farm, who hanged himself. No other particulars are obtainable at this writing.

There was a meeting of the Coon Creek Valley Telephone Company Monday evening. This is an independent company, and has 37 patrons on its three lines. Wakefield is their central station, where the Bell people do their switching.

This being the regular annual meeting the following officers were elected: President, Wm. Harrison; vice president, Wm. Gorman; secretary, Harvey E. Frey; treasurer, Richard Ulecht; directors, Frank Long and Fred Kay. In addition to the above officers linemen were named for each of the three lines and other business transacted.

This independent company was formed about four years ago and purchased some privately owned lines and added to them to meet their needs. A few years ago they refused to sell to the Bell people when they were taking over all the independent or mutual lines they could get in this county, and they have not been sorry, for they like to be independent.

Winside Notes

(From the Tribune)

A. H. Carpenter has decided to quit farming.

Mrs. Hyles and Mrs. Sapp returned to their home at Wymore Neb., Sunday afternoon, after a few days visit with Mrs. Fitzgerald. Mrs. Fitzgerald accompanied them as far as Sioux City.

There is talk about having a gala day shortly to commemorate the opening day of the school. Prof. Cress is very much in favor of it and if possible will arrange a program for that day. The exact day has not been set although Thanksgiving has been suggested.

A deal pending for some time between the Aspegren & Strand Lumber Co., and the Minneapolis Lumber & Coal Co., was finally closed last week and the new management took full charge the latter part of the week. J. V. Coleman, auditor, was in town getting everything in readiness for opening under the new management and A. C. Anall, the manager, arrived from Sioux City and is acquainting himself with the business. The new firm is to go on just where the other left off and will assure the many customers of royal treatment. A. W. Stockham, the resident manager of the retiring firm will be here for a time, but expects to locate elsewhere shortly.

Hoskins News

(From the Headlight)

R. G. Rohrke, F. S. Benser and Benedict autoed to Randolph Friday morning where they attended a meeting of the Sunset Coal Company.

John Wilson celebrated his birthday Sunday afternoon. A number of friends and relatives were present who wished John many more happy birthdays.

A number of the friends and relatives gathered at the Ernest Pfeil home Saturday evening to celebrate Mrs. Pfeil's birthday. The evening was spent in dancing and social visits.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Green invited a number of friends and relatives to their home last Saturday night, in honor of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. A delicious supper was served at six o'clock after which the evening was spent in various ways.

TWO OLD SAILORS.

Why One of Them Ignored Executive Officer Dewey's Commands.

In his autobiography George Dewey, the hero of Manila bay, records that Farragut's methods were always simple. There was a saying that his principal place for filling papers was his coat pocket. Generally he wrote his orders himself, perhaps with his knee or the ship's rail as a rest. The author recalls that one day when he was writing he looked up and said: "Now, how in the devil do you spell Appalichicola? Some of these educated young fellows from Annapolis must know." The author continues:

"A man who had such an important command could hardly have been more democratic. One night I had given orders for a thorough cleaning of the ship the next morning. I was awake very early, for it was stiflingly hot. Five o'clock came, and I heard no sound of the holystones on the deck, so I went above to find out why my orders were not obeyed, and my frame of mind for the moment was entirely that of the disciplinarian. There was no activity at all on deck. I looked around for the officer of the deck. He was an old New England whaler, brown as a buccaneer, who had enlisted for the war from the merchant service. I recollect that he wore small gold rings in his ears, a custom with some of the old fashioned merchant sailors who had traveled the world over. I found him seated up in the hammock netting, where it was cool, with Farragut at his side.

"Why aren't you cleaning ship? I asked.

"I think I am to blame," said Farragut, with his pleasant smile. "We two veterans have been swapping yarns about sailing ship days."

"The old whaler did not see how he could leave Farragut when Farragut wanted to talk, and inwardly perhaps he did not fall to enjoy his position as superior to the young executive officer's reprimands."

EARLY QUAKERESSES.

Mary Fisher the First to Be Publicly Flogged in England.

No feature of the early Quaker movement was so surprising to contemporary historians as the prominent part taken by women of all classes and positions in spreading its message. "They were not a whit behind the men," remarks one seventeenth century chronicler, "in courage or in contempt to material obstacles, imitating them not out of a womanly precipitancy and boldness, but upon a deliberate advice * * * changing, as it were, their sex and being transmuted from women to men."

A staid matron named Elizabeth Hooton was the first to be "convincenced" by Fox's teaching and became in the year 1649 the first woman preacher among the Quakers. Ann Downer, the young daughter of a clergyman, carried the message to London, gathering round her the nucleus of that Society of City Friends which grew to be the model and rallying ground for other towns and nations. Margaret, the wife of Judge Fell, was the "nursing mother" of the infant church—the center of all its activities, the helper and the ultimate appeal in all its distresses.

Mary Fisher, a servant girl from Yorkshire, heads the long list of heroic sufferers in England who were publicly flogged for their religion. She, too, with an older woman, was the pioneer who brought the Friends' doctrine to New England in 1636 and tasted the first fruits of the persecution which was meted out to her fellow believers, even to the extremes of mutilation and death, by those who were themselves the survivors of the Mayflower.—Mabel R. Brallford in Englishwoman.

Gotham's Potter's Field.

In New York's potter's field more than 5,000 bodies are buried in the course of a year. New York's pauper dead make it necessary that as many as eighty workmen and half a dozen keepers be maintained at potter's field all the time. The "field" is on Hart's Island, at the entrance to the sound, eighteen miles up the East river, and the gravediggers, drivers and general caretakers are prisoners from the workhouse force on Blackwell's Island, with a head keeper and several assistants, not prisoners, to supervise them.

BREEDING MILK GOATS PROFITABLE

That the goat as a milk producer is growing in popularity was proved at the recent exposition at Rochester, N. Y. More than 150 entries had to be refused for lack of accommodations in the goat buildings, writes a correspondent of Rural New Yorker. Prices ranged from $75 to $100 on an average, but a few were held at $500 each. Only pure bred animals were shown. Texts have shown that goat's milk is superior to cow's milk because of its infinitesimally small globules of fat, which remain in union with casein and

Photo by American Press Association.

The value of the goat as a producer of milk is being more and more recognized, although of course it can never be seriously considered as a rival of the cow. That the popularity of milk goats is growing was shown at the recent meeting of goat breeders at Rochester, N. Y., where raisers of this variety of live stock gathered from all over the country. The pedigree buck here shown was bred in England, where the milk producing goat has lately come into high favor. The milk of goats is highly valued for invalids and children.

are easily digested with it. It does not tend to separate as does cow's milk and hence is more valuable as a food. The tendency of cow's milk is to form into curd, which is very hard for patients to digest and also for delicate infants. Another fact is true, and that is that our native doe or in other words, the better class of common stock found throughout the country—when crossed with pure bred sires of any high grade milking type will produce an offspring bettering her mother by at least one-third.

The cost of rearing a goat to milk form is far below that of rearing a cow. A kid should be kept until two years of age before breeding, as this insures a better kid, as well as a greater milk flow. Based on the statements of several breeders, I find a kid can be reared to breeding age for $25. From that time on it will cost about $14 a year to keep a milk goat.

Native goats will produce 400 quarts of milk during their milking period, and this will give you about two quarts of fresh pure milk a day, at a cost of 3½ cents per quart, while now you give at least 6 cents for milk shipped from a distance of unknown quality and age. A pure bred Saanen goat has been known to produce 1,845 pounds of milk in ten months.

While goat milk sells in Boston at 25 cents per quart and in New York at 50 cents, many of the breeders at the Rochester exposition were selling their milk direct to invalids and physicians at the remarkable price of 80 cents per quart and even at that price could not fill the demand. This is caused by the fact that children and delicate people thrive much faster on goat's milk than on cow's and develop no later troubles.

Here are a few statistics worthy of consideration: Of 283,106 goats that passed the federal meat inspection service not one had tuberculosis. In Belgium not one goat of her 300,000 tested had tuberculosis, while 50 per cent of her 900,000 cows were affected with this dreaded disease. This statement was made by the authority of Dr. P. DeMadae. Experiments in our country have found the Toggenburg and Saanen goats hardy enough for our northern states, but the Nubian is too delicate for use here, except in the extreme south. Breeders should bear this fact in mind when choosing a sire to mate with their does.

Poor Economy.

Don't try to save a few dollars by feeding second class or musty hay and grain to your horses. If you ill treat or underfeed your stock you rob yourself.

IN THE SHEEPFOLD.

Storms are bad for sheep. Never grab a sheep by the wool. Separate the ram from the ewes at night.

Oats are good for the breeding stock, and corn is best to produce heat and fat.

Four to five pounds of roots daily to each sheep will improve the health and make meat tender.

The best roots for sheep are sugar beets with rutabaga next.

Sheep do not require warm barns, but they must be protected from drafts and sleety storms.

THE SWINEHERD.

Your boar should be strongly built and compact.

Pigs thrive best when they are in small herds.

Cement, covered with wooden slats, then well bedded with straw, makes an ideal floor in a hog house.

Don't feed the brood sow heavy rations of corn when with in a month of farrowing.

If a hog misses a feed water him. If he misses a second feed remove him from the herd and thoroughly disinfect where he has been.

The farmer who is raising hogs even for market purposes can well afford to pay the price of a registered sire in the improved ment which it will bring to the later litters.

HOGS AFTER STEERS.

Swine Utilize Much Grain That Would Otherwise Be Lost.

In an experiment the Michigan station found that of whole corn fed to dairy cows 20 per cent showed up in the manure in no way changed by the digestive juices of the cow's stomach, writes C. J. Griffing in the Iowa Homestead. Some of the kernels were so little affected by the digestive juices as to actually sprout. In another test 12 per cent of the oats fed to another bunch of cows reappeared in the manure. An analysis was taken and it showed that the cows took no nutriment from these grains in either case. Now, if a dairy cow on moderate rations would waste that much grain, steers that are being fed a forcing ration will probably waste more.

We always allow a few hogs to work over the manure from the steers, and when these hogs are ready for market they have been maintained on the waste as a byproduct of the steer industry, as it were, since at no time do they receive any other grain.

For our brood sows we would not think of such a method, since they like to lie down so much and usually select the fermenting manure heaps as a bed. There is danger, too, of their being stepped on by other stock. When they lie upon the manure it beats them, and when they get up they are chilled through and through. This is not the best way of promoting good health and strong litters. Besides, the ration is not the right kind for a brood sow.

Pigs are usually worked around and do not lie on the manure like the brood sows do. There is such a little margin in feeding steers that at times profit would be absolutely missing if it were not for these hogs converting an otherwise waste material into a salable product.

THE HORSE'S HOOF.

It Pays to Watch For Evidence of Lameness From Shoeing.

You may groom your horse until his coat shines like a mirror, but if his feet are neglected the animal will soon become worthless, says Rural Farmer. Draft horses are especially liable to have poor feet if proper care is not given. They do almost all of their hard work at the walking gait.

The feet should always be set down squarely and firmly and lifted quickly and evenly.

Stand back of your horse and see if when walking the soles of the feet turn up and you see the shoes plainly.

The fore feet of draft horses are often poor. Watch them closely. The ideal foot has beauty, and it shows strength.

The hoof should be large, sound, smooth and symmetrical. The color counts for little. The horn should be smooth, waxy looking and free from ridges or cracks. The coronets should be open, prominent and wide at the heels. The sole must never be flat or bulging, but slightly cupped. The frog—and this is very important—must be large, elastic, healthy and without a deep cleft.

Go to a blacksmith that understands his business. Make him fit the shoes to the feet. Almost every horse must be treated in a different way.

Watch the feet. If you observe the horse trying to save them in any way or limping have them attended to at once.

Sheep and Shelter.

Provide clean and well ventilated shelter for sheep. Don't expect your lambs or sheep to make rapid gains if they are exposed to cold, wet rains or are compelled to stand on wet ground with soggy fleeces. There is no animal that will respond to a greater extent to good treatment and care than sheep. See that they get that care and attention. It is acknowledged that one man can feed 400 lambs and get them in a fine condition between fall and spring more easily than he can feed, milk and attend to ten dairy cows.

Building Up a Herd.

Calves may be cheaply raised where one has a good pasture, skim milk, grain and such concentrates as cottonseed meal. The cheapest way to get a herd of dairy cows or beef cattle is to raise the calves. With a few good cows and the services of a desirable bull one can soon build up a herd.

When Buying a Ram.

In buying a ram for mutton lambs his size alone is not the only thing to be considered. He must have all the other good qualities, and even if he is a little under size it will do no harm.

...Meats...

For Thanksgiving Dinner

We have supplied this markets with plenty of Turkeys, Ducks, Geese and Chickens for Thanksgiving day feasts, and will make prices as low as possible. Therefore, every family can afford to have delicacies in meats as the central attraction of the Thanksgiving dinner.

We will also be able to furnish your table with Oysters and Celery of best quality.

Place Your Order Early and We Guarantee SATISFACTORY SERVICE.....

Wayne Market

Former Stand of Roe & Fortner