WAYNE STOCK AT CHICAGO

Wayne County Well Represented at International Stock Show. Polled Angus Cattle and Hampshire Hogs in Competition

When the International Live Stock Exposition at the Union Stock Yards opens its doors to the public Saturday morning, among the hundreds of car loads of competing stock from all parts of America will be two cars of Wayne county stock. One a car of Polled Angus cattle bred in this state and fattened by M. T. Munsinger of this place. The other a car of Hampshire hogs bred and raised by Roy Fisher of near Winside.

In August, 1912, M. T. Munsinger brought to Wayne two or three cars of purebred Polled Angus cattle that were exceptionally fine and put them into his feed lot with other cattle. That lot has been their home for nearly sixteen months. They had nothing to do but eat, drink and grow in statute and wax fat. This they did until they were thought by the owner and others fit to compete for honors in a great stock show, open to the world, where thousands of the best cattle grown in this broad land will be compared with them, and expert judges decide as to comparative merits. If they shall win a place in such a contest it will mean much credit to the man who fed them. That they are eligible to entry means that they are a credit to the county and state in which they were raised.

These cattle were loaded here Monday, Mr. Munsinger taking 36 head of black cattle to Chicago, occupying three cars. Included in the bunch are 15 head which are to be entered at the show. What was considered the best steer in the lot, and which had been selected to compete for grand championship, could not be taken, the animal becoming lame, from a nail in the foot, it is thought. It is probable that another of the bunch will be selected to compete for that honor.

There were many visitors at the stockyards here all Monday forenoon, and many people had been to the Munsinger place the last ten days to take a look at the fat cattle. The Commercial Club had banners on the car in which they were loaded announcing that they were "Nebraska bred and Wayne county fed," and other banners of like import were taken to be placed on their pens at Chicago, thus placing Wayne on the map in the eyes of thousands of feeders.

The same train that took the cattle also carried a car of Hampshire hogs from Winside, which Roy Fisher will exhibit there. Mr. Fisher has some good animals of this popular breed, and has won a number of championship ribbons at state fairs the past fall. Among them was Dr. Scott, his oldest herd boar that tips the beam at almost 800 pounds at the age of two years. He has a sow but 11 months old that weighs 375 and a number of other specimens of this breed that have won a place in the show ring. Hampshire hogs are not very common in Nebraska, but Mr. Fisher says they are fast winning recognition by their hardy qualities, being free from disease, rapid of growth, early maturity and the capacity to attain large size. They are called a great bacon hog. Alfred Sydow accompanied Mr. Fisher on the trip.

The Democrat hopes to report a winning for the Wayne county exhibits.

A Business Change

A deal was concluded Saturday whereby Messrs. C. A. Grothe and J. E. Marsteller become owners of the A. E. Laase garage stock and business and Mr. Laase buys the 80-acre farm just east of town known as the Scaee farm. The farm sold at $200 per acre and the business at $3,500. The new firm have taken possession of the business and announce their intention to put a competent repair man in charge of the shop and do all kinds of automobile work at the old stand. Mr. Laase is planning to go onto the farm in the spring, and elsewhere announces that his Wayne residence and 16 acres of ground are for sale.

Band-Orchestra Club Dance

The Wayne band and orchestra have organized a dancing club and will hold their first dance on Friday evening, November 28th, a Thanksgiving ball and it will be held at the city hall. It is their intention to give six dances—one each month, or about a month apart, closing with a May ball. The committee on arrangements are: F. C. Gamble, Paul Mines, LeRoy Ley, F. L. Blair. The floor committee are: Geo. Lamberson, J. G. Miller and J. F. Lane. Committee of programs and invitations: L. A. Kiplinger, F. E. Gamble, Paul Mines. They have issued 100 invitations for Friday night and expect to have one of the swellest dances ever held here in Wayne. The orchestra will give a short program commencing at 8:30 and the Grand March starts promptly at 8:45. Refreshments will be served in the Cozy Corner.

Following is the order of dancing, starting at 8:45. The music being furnished by Nance's Orchestra:

- Grand March—Boy Scouts.
- Two-Step—Keep Movin'.
- Waltz—Mystic Dreams.
- Two-Step—What do you mean, yer lost your dog.
- Waltz—I Loved You, the First Time I Met You.
- Three-Step—Down Chesapeake Bay.
- Waltz—Bridal Roses.
- Two-Step—Movie Rag.
- Waltz—Sing Me the Rosary.
- Two-Step—Apple Blossom Time in Normandy.
- Waltz—Sweet Memories.
- Two-Step—Everybody Two-Step.
- Waltz—Flight of Fancy.
- Two-Step—Bag of Rags.
- Waltz—Arbor of Dreams.
- Three-Step—Hello, Wintertime.
- Waltz—Temptation.
- Two-Step—Flow Along River Tennessee.
- 19 and 20—Extra.

A New Enterprise at Wayne

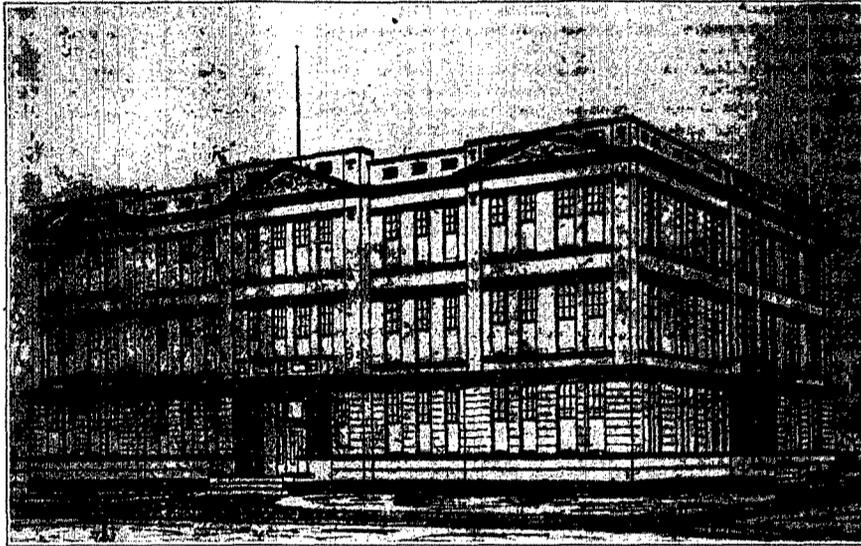

The first of the week C. E. and A. Anderson came here from Sioux City and liking the appearance of Wayne decided to locate here if they could secure a location. They are practical shoe repair men, thoroughly conversant with the needs of crippled footwear, and have purchased the business of Nelse Swanson, who has a good repair business here and leased his building. They come to take possession next week and as soon as it can be gotten here will equip with a thoroughly modern set of machinery for the repair of footwear. It will then be possible to nearly double the life of some shoes at slight cost. The machinery will enable them to do the work with slight delay, and you can literally get your work done while you wait—and not wait long. The new men are relatives to Mrs. Grandquist southwest of Wayne and visited there while here. This will mean the addition of two more families to our city, for they plan to move here as soon as they can secure a house.

A Change in Time Card

A new time card has been issued to take effect Sunday. The only changes noted are in the afternoon trains east. No. 10 will leave for Sioux City at 2:42 under the new card, instead of 2:10. The afternoon branch will not arrive here until 2:20 p. m. and will leave at 2:50 for Emerson and will carry passengers. This train returning will be due here at 6:30, and will bring the passengers from the Omaha train. But it will not leave for Bloomfield until the arrival of the Sioux City-Norfolk train, the same as on the old card.

Death of Mrs. P. G. Nelson

Saturday, Mrs. Phebe Elming of this place received word from Shooner, Wisconsin, of the death of her mother at that place on the 21st, which was her 72nd birthday. The body was brought to Oakland, Nebraska, for burial, and Mrs. Elming and her daughter Ima, left here Monday morning to meet the body and relatives who came with it from that place and attended the funeral. Mrs. Nelson had a few acquaintances here formed when here for visits, and they with the friends of her daughter unite in sympathy with them.

Proposed New Administration Building for the Wayne State Normal

The above cut is from a drawing made by Professor E. J. Huntemer of the new administration building, to be erected at the Wayne State Normal during the present school year. It will be 130x85 feet and three full stories high. The estimated cost is $85,000. The exterior will be of gray granite and bluish-red brick with a tile or slate roof. The interior finish of the building will be oak with marble steps and base. The floors will be tile and cement. Large cloak and locker rooms are provided on every floor. Besides an auditorium with a seating capacity of eight hundred fifty, the new building will contain the administrative offices and also provide suitable quarters for various departments of the school. The structure will be the finest in every detail of construction, and when completed it will be one of the most modern and substantial school buildings owned by the state.

Social Notes

The Minerva club met with Mrs. Lackey Monday afternoon with a very good attendance. Instead of the regular lesson, the question, "Resolved, That the Women of the United States Should Vote," was debated. The affirmatives were Mesdames Bright, Britton, House and Lewis, while Mesdames Lutgen, Coleman, Conn and Berry were on the negative side. Mrs. Lutgen gave the rebuttal on the negative and Mrs. Lewis on the affirmative. Because of the limited time all the arguments could not be given. There was some disappointment in not having the judges they had expected. The negatives won by a few points. After the meeting the hostess served dainty refreshments and the ladies expressed their appreciation of a well spent afternoon.

One of the interesting events of the week was the masked party given by the Juniors of the high school to the Seniors and the football boys. When the doors of the high school were thrown open last Friday evening, varied costumes, were in evidence—negresses, gypsies, clowns, and cow-boys. After the grand march came the awarding of prizes. Ferne Oman taking the ladies—a bouquet of carnations. John Massie the gentleman's—a knife. The remainder of the evening was spent in playing games and participating in music. Light refreshments were served at a late hour. Those present voted the Juniors royal entertainers, says one who was there.

There was a pleasant gathering Saturday evening at the home of D. C. Martin and wife in the north part of the city much to the surprise of that worthy gentleman, it being his 78th birthday. The party was largely made of members of the Baptist church who wished to honor their senior deacon on his birthday. The evening was happily spent, and Mr. and Mrs. Martin were remembered with some seasonable presents. Refreshments were served and it was at a late hour when the guests departed wishing the worthy couple much of the joy of living.

The P. E. O. had a special meeting this week at which Mrs. A. A. Welch, Mrs. H. S. Ringland and Miss Mellor were initiated. At the close of the exercises light refreshments were served. The regular meeting will be held next Monday night at the home of Mrs. Harry Fisher when following roll call, Mrs. Wood Jones will give a book review on T. Tembarom by Mrs. Burnett.

At the meeting of the U. D. club this week, which was held at the home of Mrs. Felber, the regular program was omitted and a Kensington enjoyed instead. The afternoon was spent in needlework and sociability at the close of which dainty refreshments were served. Mrs. Gibson, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. Ringland, was a guest. Mrs. Kemp will be the hostess next Monday.

Miss Rue Rickabaugh entertained about a dozen of her young lady friends at a Kensington last Thursday evening. A very enjoyable evening was spent. The matter of organizing a club was brought before the guests during the evening and all being heartily in favor of same it was decided to organize and to meet every two weeks. The first meeting will be held with Miss Grace Adams on Friday evening of next week.

The Junior Circle had a most delightful time at Mrs. E. L. Rennie's home Friday evening when they studied the eleventh of Acts. A shower of dressed dolls was given to brighten some poor little Japanese girls Christmas in the far east. All the girls are invited to meet with Mrs. Dwight Hogue Saturday evening at Mrs. Well's home.

The Bible Study Circle had a very interesting discussion on the advance Sunday school lesson Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. Griggs. There was a good number present and all are invited to Mrs. E. Farrell's next Tuesday to enjoy further study under Mrs. Wendte's leadership.

Miss Elsie Ford Piper entertained at dinner last Saturday evening complimentary to Miss Lou Chace of Stanton. Following are the names of those present: Miss Lou Chace, Stanton; Freda, Ellis, Claire Heckert, Jessie Strickland, Marguerite Chace and Elsie Piper.

The Acme club held a Kensington at the home of Mrs. Crawford on Monday afternoon. After a pleasant social time a delicious two course luncheon was served. The hostess was assisted by Mesdames Ellis, Theobald and Mines. Miss Flint was guest of the club.

Those eating turkey at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rollie Ley today are Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Reynolds of Fullerton, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Ley and Henry Ley, and Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Gilder-sleeve and family.

The Pioneer Bridge club have resumed their meetings for the season and held their initial meeting at the home of Mrs. Ellis last Thursday evening. Mrs. Craven will be hostess this week.

Mr. and Mrs. James Britton have as their dinner guests today Mr. and Mrs. Ray Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. James Miller and P. L. Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Welch and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Philleo will entertain at Thanksgiving dinner today, Mr. and Mrs. Chace and family and Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Davies.

The Monday club enjoyed a Thanksgiving dinner at the home of Mrs. G. J. Hess this week. After the feast of good things the regular program was carried out.

Mrs. D. C. Main has as her dinner guests today, Mr. and Mrs. Blair and family.

The Bridge Whist Club met with Miss Helen McNeal last evening.

Mears-Rattenne

Wednesday, November 26th, 1913, at the home of the bride's parents at 1500 West Seventh St., Sioux City, Iowa, occurred the marriage of Mr. Archie E. Mears to Miss Bessie Rattenne, Miss Ruth Knott of Sioux City acting as Bride's Maid and Harold G. Mears as Best Man. Rev. Stevens of the First Baptist church of Sioux City officiating. The bride wore a lustrous white satin gown, trimmed in lace and seed pearls. The room was decorated with white Chrysanthemums and other cut flowers. Only the immediate relatives of the two contracting parties were present. An elegant three course dinner was served immediately after the ceremony. Miss Rattenne was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Rattenne, of Sioux City, who has been in business at that place for the past twenty years. Mr. Mears has a position with the S. C. Office Supply Co., and will make their home in the new house at 1512 West Second Street, Sioux City.

Wayne Choral Union

The Wayne Choral Union has completed arrangements for a series of five musical numbers to be given during the season 1913-14. The course consists of three artist's recitals, and two concerts by the Choral Union. The first of these occurs on Wednesday night, December 3, when Barbara Wait, contralto, will give a program of songs at the Presbyterian church.

On January 28 Marion Greene, basso, will appear and on March 19th Silvia Sejanti, pianist. The Choral Union will present "The Prodigal Son" an oratorio, in the near future and later in the season will sing "The Creation." Mrs. E. Cunningham, Mrs. Main and Dr. Donahay have charge of the tickets sale. Single admission 50. Season tickets $1.50.

Mrs. Ann Conley and her son, Frank, who have been visiting at the John Good home for a time left this morning for their home at Weeping Water.

A Little War at Norfolk

Art Graham of Ponia, Colorado, who was here last week with a car of apples of his own growing went to Norfolk to meet a car of apples consigned to him at that place. Here the powers that be were going to tax him a license fee of $10 per day to sell from the track, yet at the same time there was a man in a car there selling potatoes purchased in Wisconsin without paying any license for the privilege. Naturally Mr. Graham rebelled, but finally after going the rounds of the city officials who did not agree as to the law, he paid $5 for a half day permit. The city voluntarily changed and made a rate of $2 per day. Meantime the apples were being advertised in several ways, and Mr. Graham opened up his car and began to sell under threat of arrest unless he paid the $10 fee. No arrests were made, however, although the apple man invited it.

But in the controversy over the matter, it is alleged that the mayor insinuated that Mr. Graham was crazy and threatened to send him to the asylum, and for this suit for $2,500 damages has been started against the mayor, who now asserts that he did not mean what he said, but meant that if he answered all of the questions that are asked him it would drive him crazy.

Meantime Graham is getting so much free advertising from the deal that he has ordered two more cars of the fruit sent to him at Norfolk where he had planned to sell but one car. From this distance it looks like an effort of a gang of "commission" men who are trying in this country to stand between the producer and consumer and rob both in passing the product of one to the other. A sort of a holdup game.

Vogel-Weber

Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock at St. Mary's church in this city, by Rev. Father Kearns, Mr. Frederick Vogel of Marion, South Dakota, and Miss Francis Barbara Weber, daughter of Frank Weber and wife of this place, were united in marriage in the presence of a few relatives and intimate friends. The bride was gowned in white serge, and the groom wore a suit of dark blue serge. Miss Martha Weber was bridesmaid and wore a dress of light blue messaline and the best man, Frank Vogel was clad in a suit like that worn by the groom.

After the ceremony the wedding party returned to the Weber home just south of town where all partook of an elegant three-course breakfast. The day was spent at the Weber home, and the bride and groom departed on a late train to spend the honeymoon visiting in different parts of Iowa. They will make their home at Marion, South Dakota, where the groom is a prosperous farmer. The bride has long been a resident of Wayne and many are the friends who join in extending to her their best wishes.

County Sunday School Convention

There was a successful convention of those interested in Sunday school work in this county at Wayne Monday. In addition to the local people who had a part in the meetings, Miss Brown gave a "Round the World Sunday School Tour" speaking both afternoon and evening. W. H. Kimberly, of Lincoln, an officer of the state association was present and aided in the meetings. Rev. Blessing opened the meeting with devotional exercises in the first session and other pastors assisted at each of the three sessions. Miss Blair and the Normal quartet sang and Rev. C. L. Meyer preached the sermon. Nearly every School in the county was represented, about 16 in all, representing the 1,600 Sunday school pupils that make up the schools.

Clarence Linton, of Wayne, was named as president when the election of officers was held. Dan Burres of Carroll was named as vice-president and Miss Lizzie Williams, of Carroll secretary and treasurer. The next meeting will be held at Carroll in about one year from now.

Edward B. Homer, accompanied by his father, was here last week from Morris Bluffs, to see the show cattle fed by Mr. Munsinger here for the stock show this week. Mr. Homer had more than a passing interest in these cattle for he bred them. He has been raising Angus feeders for a number of years and supplying feeders with good stuff, but this was the first bunch of them he had seen fed out to a complete finish. He well might be proud of the development they are capable of, and it is safe to say that he would not have known them had he met them with no one to introduce him, unless it would be by his private mark, and then he would think that someone else had adopted that.

Just a Few Facts

The following, which is going the rounds of the press, is full of solid facts, in spite of the humorous way in which it is written: "Take a walk in the cemetery. That new grave is the auto speeder whose car turned turtle when he tried to go round his neighbor on the grade. The body of his brother lies next to him; he was silly enough to try to beat the train to the crossing. It was a tie race and his brains were knocked out against the sign-board, 'Look Out for the Cars.' There is the grave of the enthusiastic idiot who tried to go ten miles in eight minutes on a motorcycle. Over there is the resting place of a woman who kept bichloride of mercury tablets so handy and so near the headache tablets. The tall shaft over the man who blew out the gas casts a shadow over the pretty creature who always had her corsets laced to the last hole, and the hired man who stood in front of the mowing machine when he oiled the cycle. Over to the south you see the grave of the young fellow who never slept with a window open for fear of the night air. There with the top of a shoe box jammed over his head, is the rich old fool who married his nineteen-year-old stenographer. And just over the grassy knoll are the graves of the boys who looked into the gun barrel to see if it was loaded, and of the daring strong man who tried to lick the editor."

Russian Fruits and Grasses

The following report sent out from Pierre, South Dakota, tells of an excellent move now under way by our sister state to improve their fruits and grasses, and introduce something which will add to the wealth of the state from land which is comparatively nonproductive so far as producing native grasses are concerned. It is probable that Nebraska has land and conditions where it would be wise to experiment along the same line. The dispatch says:

After a journey of several months in the wildest part of southern Siberia, Prof. N. E. Hansen of the state agricultural college has returned bringing with him over a ton of yellow flowered alfalfa seed, to secure which was one of the principal motives of his trip, and this seed will be scattered over the western part of the state in the hands of farmers who will devote the required time and attention to its propagation. Besides this seed he discovered new species which he believes will thrive in the northwestern part of this state, and among these, Siberian red clover; white seed millet, Mongolian wheat and a species known as Gee grass, which thrives and grows luxuriantly on alkali soils. Besides the grains he also secured specimens of new fruits which he will try out in this part of the country. His trip took him over hundreds of miles of the wildest portion of central Asia, where an escort of armed Cossacks were required to assure his safety. The trip was by wagon drawn by wild horse, who many times ran things to suit themselves, and he subsisted on the foods which the natives of that section make their principal diet. The specimens were secured in southern Siberia, where there are extremes of heat and cold to be withstood by vegetation, and the average rainfall is from eight to nine inches per year.

President Wilson's Achievement

The London Nation (Lib.), October 25.—President Wilson came to White House with a record which rather puzzled the prophets. It seemed doubtful whether this cultivated academic personality could in the ear of a democracy which likes its rhetoric crude. It was harder still to predict that a man who had spent the greater part of his career as a professor would display either the firm will which will act, or the adroitness which can achieve its end amid the maneuvers of "bosses," the intrigues of the lobbies and the machinations of powerful interests. The event has splendidly answered these doubts. Mr. Roosevelt had talked, but in two terms of office he had done little else. With all his pugnacity, and his genius for suggesting that he was fighting "the battle of the Lord" and grappling with all the enemies of mankind in a continual Armageddon, he never came to close grips with the interests. The explanation is simple. In the first place, he was fighting for his own hand; in the second place, he totally lacked the constructive mind in politics. His boldness exhausted itself in phrases, and deserted him in legislation. It is the quiet academic President who has achieved in a few months, with little talking and less posing, the first really considerable measure in the long and hitherto futile struggle between the consumer and the trusts. It required some boldness to draft the general lines of the revised tariff. But to enact it almost without modification and with no surrender of any of its considerable reductions was a feat of leadership and diplomacy without a parallel or a precedent. If President Wilson should do nothing else, this achievement alone would suffice to make his Presidency memorable.

NEBRASKA NEWS

Structure at Pleasantdale Is Said to Be a Model.

ACKERMAN'S IRE IS AROUSED.

Commissioner Will Go After Hotel Men Who Fail to Take Out Certificates—Food Commissioner Will Prosecute South Omaha Dealer.

Lincoln, Nov. 25.—Governor Morehead, accompanied by Professor Piggley and others of the state agricultural school, went to Pleasantdale, where they inspected a new barn just finished on the farm of D. M. Hildebrand of Seward. The barn is built of round vitrified tile and is said to be the perfection in dairy barn building. The building is circular in shape and the second story will hold eighty tons of hay.

Mr. Hildebrand says that the barn costs no more than if built of lumber and is much better adapted to sanitary conditions. The roof is cement, while the mangers and floor are made of the same material. A large number of stockmen from over the state visited the barn. Governor Morehead made one of the addresses.

Harman Will Prosecute Dealer.

A game of football under the microscope was pulled off by the food commissioner for the benefit of reporters at the state house. It came about from the fact that he had received a box of condemned canned salmon and sweet potatoes which had been bought from a South Omaha grocery store, and when an examination of a portion of the sweet potatoes was made the contents had all the exciting parts of a football game. The minute animals which infested the sweet potatoes rushed hither and thither. One little insect would grab a piece of potato and run while a bunch of others would take after him until they downed him, giving the inspection all the marks of a game of football.

Two weeks ago a South Omaha inspector from the food department visited the South Omaha Provision company's store and ordered a lot of canned goods withdrawn from the market. Last week the examiner visited the place again and found the goods ordered off the market exposed in front of the store for sale at a reduced price.

Food Commissioner Harman says that the firm will be prosecuted.

Ackerman to Go After Hotel Men.

The ire of Colonel Phillip F. Ackerman, hotel commissioner of Nebraska, is aroused because many hotel and restaurant keepers refuse to answer letters calling upon them to comply with the law as regards taking out certificates.

"Unless these hotels and other places come across mighty soon I will have every blessed one of them prosecuted just as far as my inspector discovers that they have not complied with the law," said the commissioner.

Commissioner Ackerman will give them until Jan. 1 to be good, and then if they have not complied with the law, prosecutions will follow immediately.

Governor Would Cut Out Boards.

Abolishment of a dozen or more of the useless state boards and commissions that contribute to the present hydra-headed government of the state is suggested as one means of cutting state expenses down, in a letter written by Governor Morehead for an Iowa magazine which asked for his opinion in the matter. Other than making this suggestion the executive declares that junketing trips, unless absolutely required for the conduct of state business, should be eliminated.

Lincoln Police Chief Held.

Chief of Police James Malone was bound over to the district court of Lancaster county by County Judge Risser on a charge of false imprisonment made by a second hand dealer, A. Bloom, whom Malone had placed in jail a short time because he had failed to return the price of a coat which had been taken out of his store on approval. Bloom claims that he was kept in jail until he promised to refund the money.

Requarante Withdraws Suit.

The $10,000 suit for damages brought against Inspector H. M. Requarante of the fire commissioner's force by Mr. Van Arsdale, who was accused of setting fire to the flouring mill at Oxford, has been withdrawn. It was discovered soon after the arrest of Van Arsdale that he was not the man wanted and the case against him was dismissed. He then brought suit against the fire inspector.

Get Shares of Sales.

A draft for $477,000, which is 5 per cent of the net sales of government land made in Nebraska for the fiscal year ending June 1, 1913, was received by Governor Morehead from Washington, and Chief Clerk Hinkle promptly deposited it with the state treasurer to the credit of Nebraska as its share of the sales.

Call for Warrants.

A call for registered warrants under date of Nov. 28 has been made by State Treasurer George. This will include all numbers up to 205,187 and is in amount $14,000. This will leave still outstanding about $800,000.

Melroy Found Guilty of Manslaughter.

Beaver City, Neb., Nov. 25.—The jury in the case of Gluver Melroy, who shot and killed his father last July, brought in a verdict of manslaughter.

ALASKA GOLD OUTCLASSED

Nebraska's Wheat Worth More Than All Its Mines.

Lincoln, Nov. 24.—Many a Nebraskan has plunged into the frozen wastes of Alaska after the elusive placer mine. To all those who have rushed, shivered and lost the following comparison, compiled from figures on file in the office of the state board of agriculture, may prove interesting.

Since gold mining began in Alaska the gold placers of Alaska have yielded 7,488,491 ounces of fine gold. The value of the output is fixed at $152,800,875. This has been the total output of the mines from 1880 until the present time.

The Nebraska wheat crop of 1910, 1911, 1912 and 1913 sold for $175,676,318. In other words the wheat crop for a four-year period would pay for the entire output of the Alaska gold mines and there would be a balance of $20,875,343 in favor of Nebraska.

In Nebraska competency, ability and industry count in the wheat raising industry. In Alaska finding the gold is a matter of chance.

The wheat crop offers a comparatively sure thing, with odds in favor of the hustler. The gold miner chases the rainbow and the moonbeams.

LICENSE TO FRANK H. DAVIS

Governor Passes Veterinarian Whom Board Had Turned Down.

Lincoln, Nov. 25.—Frank H. Davis of Lincoln, formerly associated with State Veterinarian Kigin in practice in Indiana, was given a certificate by Governor Morehead, authorizing him to practice as a veterinarian until the board meets in April for the regular examination.

The state board of veterinarians refused to give Dr. Davis a certificate on an examination taken at its last meeting and the question arises of the rights of the governor to override the action of the examiners.

Davis, with eleven other applicants, took the examination and Davis failed to pass. He does not charge undue favoritism, but intimates that the fact that he was a former partner of Dr. Kigin might have something to do with it.

The question arises whether the governor as a member of the state board can issue a certificate after the examining board has refused to do so after an examination.

BIDDLECOMB ARRESTED

Alleged Assailant of Miss Sweem Captured in Omaha.

Omaha, Nov. 24.—In the arrest of James Biddlecomb, formerly a foreman at the smelter here, but more recently an employee of the Nebraska Lighting company, police detectives say they have the man who brutally assaulted Miss Irene Sweem in a hotel at Cedar Creek, Neb. Biddlecomb makes no attempt to deny his identity, but insists he did not attack Miss Sweem.

Sheriff Quinton of Cass county came to Omaha and took charge of Biddlecomb. The sheriff says feeling in Cedar Creek runs high against the young man, but that he believes no effort will be made to harm him. Biddlecomb is to be taken to Plattsmouth and held in jail pending a hearing.

SHELLENBERGER ON TRIAL

Jury Selected in Bahaud Murder Case at Auburn.

Auburn, Neb., Nov. 25.—The case against Joe Fuller Shellenberger for the murder of Julian Bahaud fifteen years ago is on in the district court here and has created more than the usual amount of interest for a murder case in view of the peculiar incidents connected with it. Especially is this true since it has been found that Shellenberger is the same man who confessed in the murder case many years ago in Douglas county and whose confession was not believed and was not allowed to stand against him by the authorities. A jury was selected.

Ord Church Is Given Judgment.

Ord, Neb., Nov. 25.—The Methodist Episcopal church of Ord sued William W. Haskell for a $1,000 contribution promised to the building fund of the church and which he later refused to pay. The jury held that on the strength of the contribution work was begun on the church and bills were contracted, and that he had no right to arbitrarily annul his obligation. The jury allowed interest since the beginning of the suit.

Omaha Man Found Murdered.

Omaha, Nov. 24.—Face downward in a pool of blood the body of James Short, a teamster, was found lying in the lot known as the "circus grounds" at Twenty-second and Seward streets. Beside the corpse a heavy piece of wagon iron, on which blood and hair were stuck, indicated that the man had been struck down by this weapon.

Jewett Found Not Guilty.

Blair, Neb., Nov. 24.—George S. Jewett, charged with having caused the death of his infant baby and of then having tossed the body from a moving Northwestern train, was found not guilty by a jury. The charge of first degree murder against Jewett for the killing of his two-day-old baby had occupied the court for five days.

Escapes From Nebraska City Jail.

Nebraska City, Neb., Nov. 25.—A prisoner named Winton, held for trial in the county jail on a charge of highway robbery, escaped by some one opening the lock to the fire escape with a wire. The man had been in jail for eighty days and was to have his trial at the coming term of court.

Among The Churches of Wayne

Presbyterian Church

Rev. Alexander Corkey, Pastor.

"Church Loyalty Versus Church Bigotry," will be the subject of the morning service at the Presbyterian church next Sunday morning. The service will inaugurate the observance of the two church weeks in Wayne. In the evening an evangelistic service will be conducted. The evening theme will be "Who are the Slayers?"

The morning service begins at 10:30 and the evening service at 7:30.

The Sunday school meets at 12:00, at the close of the morning service. The C. E. prayer meeting is held at 6:30 p. m.

The Ladies Aid Society will meet with Mrs. J. T. Bressler on Wednesday afternoon of next week to complete arrangements for the Bazaar to be held on Saturday, December 6th, at the old Postoffice building. This Bazaar will be more fully announced in next week's paper.

At the mid-week service this week plans were made to interest the entire membership of the church in the observance of the two Church weeks. Committees were appointed to invite the members to the special meetings to be held, and to arrange for music and other attractive features. The aim of the Presbyterian church during these two weeks will be to develop the acquaintance of the membership not only with the duties and doctrines of Christianity, but also with one another.

Last Sunday morning the pastor spoke "The Enjoyment of God," and proved from the Scriptures that God desires to be enjoyed by His people. Ignorance of God's true character kept Christians at a distance from Him, so that religion was not the joy and pleasure it is meant to be. The essentials of this joy, which was the best man could know, were an appreciation of the Cross of Christ, and a right conception of God's ultimate aim in regard to men. Cheerful confidence in God's methods in life is also necessary. God wants us to have a good time on earth and in the future world.

Program at the Presbyterian Church During Church Weeks.

The Church Weeks will be appropriately observed at the Presbyterian church by special services every evening, except Saturday evening. These special meetings will be in the nature of "drills" for the members of the church, including the young and old. The Presbyterian "regiment" of the Army of the Lord has always been noted for its strict observance of its "Book of Rules and Regulations," and the "drill-master" will see that some good drill work is carried on during these two weeks.

The drills will be as follows: First week: Monday evening, "How to tell our Allies." Tuesday evening, "Our Enemies and How to Treat Them." Wednesday evening, "Burnishing Our Armor." Thursday evening, "Sharpening our Swords and How to Fence." Friday evening, "Making a Charge."

On the second week, beginning Monday evening, December 8th, the drills will be as follows: Monday evening, "The Sick List and the Ambulance Corps." Tuesday evening, "Pay Day for the Soldiers." Wednesday evening, "Sentinel Duty and Hand Encounters." Thursday evening, "How to Enlist new Volunteers." Friday evening, "Inspection of the Regiment by the Commander-in-Chief."

Baptist Church

Rev. B. P. Richardson, Pastor

"What we Believe About Salvation," will be our subject Sunday morning. This will continue our discussion of the great beliefs of our faith. Many have spoken with appreciation of these series of sermons.

"The King who Lost His Crown," will be the subject Sunday evening. There is no better way to study the power of sin or the work of grace in a human life, than by studying individual characters. No man ever loses his crown except through sin.

Sunday is the beginning of our evangelistic campaign. This effort of the church will mean work, prayer, and perhaps sacrifice on the part of our members, but we believe they are ready to be a help in the Lord's work. Our accomplishment will depend entirely on our loyalty. There is a great need forcing us. There are enough of us to meet this now. Let each of us respond.

Tomorrow (Friday) afternoon, the Missionary Society will meet at the home of Mrs. Ethel Norton.

This evening, at the Baptist church at 7:30 the Thanksgiving service will be held.

The Missionary committee will have charge of the young peoples' meeting Sunday evening. The topic will be, "A consideration of our work for the Immigrant."

Last Sunday morning and evening Clarence Linten preached for the Baptist church at Norfolk. In the afternoon, the pastor preached at the Miller school house.

Old papers for sale at this office.

Methodist Church

Rev. C. L. Myers, Pastor

Col. Bain at the Methodist church Sunday night. We want a full house. This will be a splendid treat.

The Ladies Aid Society desire to express their appreciation of the box of apples from Mr. Graham. We wish he could be with us and see the decorations of our Christmas tree.

We need every member of the Sunday school board at the meeting Friday night. Election of officers and Christmas program preparation.

The County Sunday School Convention of last Monday was a success and many helpful suggestions were made by the workers. Miss Brown's report of her trip around the globe was of special interest.

Special services open with Col. Bain Monday. The pastors will conduct services in the several churches. Help to make a great success.

Sunday the 7th and 14th are to be church Sundays, and we are counting on the membership to urge every one to attend services some where on those two days. The Epworth League will have a special part as will also the Sunday school.

Ask your pastor for some special work for the coming week and see if it will bother him to find you a job.

Just two copies of the Annual Conference Minutes left. Do you want them?

Help your pastor in the coming special effort and see if you don't have a good meeting. "Go Work in my vineyard."

Union services Sunday evening at the Methodist church. Col. Bain will be the speaker. Everybody come.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church (Rev. Blessing, Pastor.)

Sunday school at 10 o'clock. There is a great need of Bible instruction among the young people of our land. As the public school does not do a great deal of this work, the Sunday school must do it. Let us all work that the Sunday school accomplishes a great work.

Sunday morning we will have our regular quarterly Communion service. It is very important that every member be present at this time. The evening service will be held at half past seven. The sermon will be on the message to the Church at Philadelphia, Rev. 3:8.

The Ladies Aid Society will meet at the home of Mrs. Lundburg on Tuesday, December 2nd. There will be some important business to look after. On the 6th of December the Society will hold their annual Bazaar.

The Bible study class which has just been organized will meet every Wednesday evening at the parsonage. We welcome any who wish to attend, to meet with us.

The churches of the city have set aside two Sundays in next month, the 7th and 14th, as church-going Sundays. The object is to give every person in the city and country about Wayne, an invitation to attend church on the days named. In order to accomplish this it will require the co-operation of every church member in Wayne. Give us your help.

The Catechetical class will meet Saturday afternoon at 2:30. New members are invited.

German Lutheran Church

Rev. Rudolph Moehring, Pastor.

Sunday school at 10 o'clock a. m., services at 11 a. m. Confirmation class will begin next Monday, December 1st.

He organized the first lodge of Masons in Fremont in 1867, and also organized the first lodge at Norfolk in 1872.

The suffrage petition work is still going on. Petitions from more than 100 towns in five counties have already been received. In Order that they need not interfere with a big Thanksgiving dinner the people of Randolph have decided to hold their Thanksgiving services at the church the evening before. This is to give the women a chance to return thanks and not interfere with the dinner next day. It is a great scheme for those who look upon Thanksgiving day simply as an occasion to feed their faces a lot of good tasting foods. Honestly, we supposed the day was intended as one of giving thanks and praise for the good things which had been yours—but that appears to be an old-fashioned notion.

The Coleridge Blade tells the following of one of their most successful hog growers, and it might be well for those who have been having trouble around here to make a trial: Instead of buying oil meal and using it as a tonic, John C. Broemann sows a couple of acres of flax each year and has this ground into meal at the mill. This he mixes into his slop for his hogs and especially if the hogs are coughing. He finds that it is stronger than the oil meal and but a trifle more expensive even when he has to buy the flax seed instead of raising it. He has good success with his hogs as a rule and has lost none this year with the cholera or lung fever which is devastating so many herds.

I jes' don't know if de cohn'll grow,
But I plants hit jes' de same;
I jes' don't know ef de wind'll blow,
But I watch an' pray, an' I reap an' I sow,
An' de sun he rise an' de ribber flow,
An' de good Lawd know my name.
I jes' can't tell ef de cotton sell,
But I toits jes' de same
De birds they build where de spring sap swell,
An' dey know enough for a rainy spell,
An' dat's lot more dan dey guin ter tell—
An' de good Lawd know my name,
So I watch an' pray as I goes my way,
An' I toits on jes' de same;
De rose is sweet, but de rose can't stay,
But I'm mighty glad when it blooms my way;
De night fall dark, but de Lawd send day,
An' de good Lawd know my name.

Christmas Cards and Booklets

A Christmas card or booklet, sent to a friend, will serve the purpose in many cases where an expensive gift is unnecessary or out of place. They are appropriately worded with pretty sentiments. The prices are extremely modest—from 1c up.

Mechanical Toys

The mechanical toys this year are more interesting and amusing than ever. Every child and especially a boy greatly appreciates a toy that runs by clock work. A little money spent for an automobile, an engine or a railroad train will make any little child happy. It would take a lot of space to tell you in detail about this line. We have "plunged" this year and have an extra large assortment. This includes also a big line of American made iron toys like Fire Departments, Horses and Wagons. The prices are lower than ever.

Doll Cabs

Collapsible all-steel doll cabs, in any size, from 65c up.

Games

There is nothing else that helps to pass a pleasant evening like a good game. Lots of fun for the children as well as the grownups. We have a big variety from 10c up.

Toy Animals

are always in demand. All children like them. We have a well assorted line up from 5c. They comprise cloth, felt and fur covered animals such as dogs, rabbits, horses, cats, bears, sheep, elephants, etc. Some of them are on platforms, others are hitched to wagons while others walk on their own feet.

Toilet Sets, Manicure Sets, Etc.

The selection this year is specially desirable. New and attractive finishes in wood, metal and composition give a variety to choose from.

We are prepared to help you with suggestions and the goods to select an appropriate present from a particular need.

Our assortment comprises Toilet Sets, Manicure Sets, Traveling Sets, Hair Brushes, Toilet Mirrors, Shaving Sets, Infant's Sets and other articles pertaining to toilet use.

Candies for the Holidays

Candies are necessarily a part of the Christmas spirit, equally enjoyed by young and old. Father will eat his share of candy at Christmas even if he shuns it during the balance of the year. We have candies at all prices from the hard mixed varieties at 10c a pound to the fine bon bons and chocolates. They are all of the best quality and if they are the lowest priced in town, it's only because we buy them in very large quantities. We are prepared to serve you with pure fresh candies.

Don't Dope a Puny Child

Parents—don't give that puny, ailing, under-weight child any of those so-called "tonics" containing alcohol or dangerous drugs; such stuff won't give relief and health to grown people, let alone children. Its purpose is to stimulate for a short time after each dose, just as whiskey or morphine does, thus making you believe it is doing real good.
Give that child something that will really build it up—replenish the wasted tissues—feed the stunted, dwarfed, puny muscles—make it lively, strong, well—full of the animal spirits children are ment by nature to have. Give it Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion.
Rexall Olive Emulsion is wholesome, nourishing, free from alcohol and dangerous drugs. It's the ideal nerve, blood and body builder. It does the work it is planned to do better than any other medicine we know of, and our faith in it is so great that we not only urge you to use it and give it to your children—but we guarantee that it will do all we say it will, or cost you nothing.
Rexall Olive Emulsion should be given to children who catch cold easily. Begin right now, and use it to build up the child's system to such strong health that it can resist colds, cough, grippe, bronchitis, catarrh, pneumonia, and other cold weather diseases. You who are weak and run-down, and you who are well now, but are liable to suffer from various cold weather ailments, use Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion to get and keep well and strong. For the tired-out, run-down, nervous, emaciated or debilitated—the convalescing—growing children—aged people—it is sensible aid to renewed strength, better spirits, glowing health.

Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion—king of the celebrated Rexall Remedies—is for freedom from sickness of your family. You'll be as enthusiastic about it, as we are when you have noted its pleasant taste, its strengthening, invigorating, building-up, disease-preventing effects. If it does not help you, your money will be given back to you without argument. Sold in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store—one of more than 7,000 leading drug stores in the United States and Great Britain.

The chief forest ranger of the big Government reserve along the Grand Canon, in Arizona, had occasion lately, in the course of an extended trip, to travel as far east as Kansas City. When he returned to his post of duty he brought along an Irishman who had expressed a desire to go west and grow up with the country.
When they struck the desert the Irishman looked for a spell at the dry and arid prospect. Then he said:
"Mister, I dont want to say anything unpleasent about this country, but it looks to me like it would take nine acres of it to rust wan' na!"—Ex.

Holiday Opening

Bought Direct

Most of our Christmas goods this year are bought direct from eastern manufacturers and importers. This enabled us to reduce the price on many articles and you will find our prices lower than elsewhere.

SATURDAY, NOV. 29th

is the date that our complete line of Holiday Goods will first be on display for your inspection and approval. We have spared neither time nor money to select an assortment that in our estimation is strong and desirable from every viewpoint—Quantity, Quality, Variety, Selection and especially Price. We are sure that a visit to our store and an inspection of our entire assortment will solve the problem of what to buy and where to buy it. Please consider this announcement a special invitation. Make your visit as early as possible as long as our assortment is complete in every detail.

Christmas Gifts at 10c-15c-25c

It is really surprising how far 10c, 15c or 25c will go in securing useful and acceptable Christmas gifts. We have countless articles in this price range that will fully serve the purpose of making someone happy at Christmas time. These articles not only cover toys for children, but novelties, fancy goods, china, books, dolls, games, etc. If you are seeking suggestions in inexpensive, yet appropriate presents, let us show you our offerings in 10c, 15c and 25c goods.

WAYNE Variety Store

Headquarters for Holiday Goods

Books

A good book is like a good friend—much to be desired of. If in doubt about a present—give a book. We have books for all needs—for the little tots, growing boys and girls and for grown-ups. Prices are very small—5c, 10c, 15c and 25c.

Dolls! Dolls! Dolls!

Every little girl expects a doll at Christmas time. It doesn't make any difference how many dolls she has she is always ready to mother and love another one. In addition to the usual line of staple dolls, there are a great many novelty dolls this year. You can spend a small amount or a large one, but before you select one be sure to see our line as we feel satisfied that we can save you money on dolls.

Art and Embroidered Goods

A very nice gift for mother or sister or girl friend and always a welcome one is a nice embroidered Dollie or Centerpiece or Dresser-scarf. Or a Fancy Towel, a Pillow Cover, Pillowcase, etc. We offer you a big selection in these goods at very reasonable prices.

Handkerchiefs

Equally acceptable to a man or woman is a gift of handkerchiefs. We are showing a splendid variety for the holidays. Some of them are put up in attractive boxes, making them especially desirable for gift making. A very good grade Handkerchief for 5c already.

Pretty Neckties

For an inexpensive gift for a man or boy nothing excels a pretty necktie. We have a big line of silk ties, imported direct from an eastern necktie factory which we sell for 10c—no fake about it neither. Another put in an attractive Christmas box and of better material for 25c. There is no question that you can save money by buying your ties from us.

Knit Mufflers

A warm knit muffler makes a most desirable present for either man or woman. We have them in several colors and weaves. Prices 25c, 35c and 50c. A good many people are turning away from the habit of giving fancy things which are nicely packed away and of no use after Christmas and return to more practical gifts. A knit muffler is one of them.

Fine Imported China

If undecided about a present for the wife, sister, sweetheart or friend, send her a gift of imported China. Every woman likes China and never has enough of it. There are many useful gifts, such as Cups and Saucers, Sugar and Cream Sets, Plates, Bowls, Celery Tray, Spoon Trays, Nut bowls, Hair Receivers, etc. A little money will go a long way in our China department in securing a most desirable Christmas gift.

Hogs	7.00
Fat Cattle	$6.80 @ $9.00

Evidently the trusts are not running the present administration at Washington. Armour of the meat trust was not given audience by the President. Several money kings from Wall Street have met like reception from the White House.

This is a splendid time of the year to order the Democrat for the three or four years. By the way, suppose you make a list of all of the papers and magazines you want for the year and let us save you some money on the lot. We have many good clubbing offers, too many in fact to list for publication.

This country and all economic reforms owe to President Wilson a debt of gratitude for the masterly manner in which he has handled the Mexican situation. He has patiently striven to do that people no harm, and this government is in position at any time to appear as the friend and champion of the rights of all in that unfortunate republic. War at this time even if it were victorious and of that there is no doubt, would mean the undoing or stopping for a number of years at least of the great economic reforms so well started.

The Iowa democrats are having plenty of candidates for the senatorial berth soon to be vacated by Senator Cummins. It is to be hoped that the democrats will name a democrat and elect him and not let certain interests foist upon the party ticket any two-faced fellow who will have the support of the interests. That is the point to guard now that there is prospect of that democratic nominee becoming senator, and not let any but tried and true men use the party name. The interests own too many senators now that the people thought they owned.

Wonder if the newspapers of Nebraska ever stop to figure what they are paying for their ready print sheets. In the first place they must pay for the paper and the printing at a rate fixed by the monopoly that prints them, a sum which will more than pay for the white paper, then the firm which prints this paper, keeps all of the advertising money, which if they get the rate that they should, will average $10.00 per week on a paper like the average county seat weekly—and the worst feature of the whole thing is the fact that the rate charged is so low as to discourage advertising at legitimate rates. It is bad enough when two papers in the same town compete to an extent of taking advertising below cost, but for a newspaper man to remain indefinitely in direct competition with himself is worse.

School Notes

See the last football game of the season today.

Two days Thanksgiving vacation.

Recent visitors were Mesdames Hilscox, Hanssen, Kroger, McNeal, Kingsbury, Richardson and Ellis and Miss Killen.

The Juniors gave the following program on Friday morning: Vocal trio by Anna Giese, Ida Kingsbury and Hester McNeal; Select reading by Lucile Corkey; Current events by August Madsen.

The new International Year Books for 1911 and 1912 have just been received and added to the reference library.

The following table shows the percent of attendance and punctuality for the month ending November 21:

	Attend.	Punct.
Kindergarten	97	100
First Grade	99.3	100
Second Grade	98.3	100
Third Grade	99	99
Fourth Grade	98	99.9
Fifth Grade	98.8	99.9
Sixth Grade	99	99.9
Seventh Grade	99.9	100
Eighth Grade	95.9	99.2
High School	98.8	99.7

Last Friday evening the Juniors entertained the Seniors, football boys and high school teachers at a mask party in the high school gymnasium, which was prettily decorated in the colors of the classes and football emblems. Many of the costumes worn showed originality and taste. Ferne Oman was awarded the ladies prize and John Massie the gentleman's. The evening was spent in games and informality and light refreshments were served.

Wayne Normal Defeats Atkinson

The Wayne Normal football team journeyed to Atkinson last Friday, November 21st, and defeated the strong team of that place by a score of 7 to 0. A very large crowd was in attendance and the day was an ideal one for football. The Atkinson team, like Bellevue, rather thought the Wayne team would be "easy." They soon discovered their mistake.

The score does not well represent the comparative strength of the two teams. Four times during the game, other than the time that they scored, the Normal team was within striking distance of Atkinson's goal. Once the ball was on Atkinson's yard line. Another the Normal attempted a place kick, but the ball went wide. At no time during the game was Atkinson within striking distance of the Wayne goal. The score came in the first period when Capt. Gildersleeve carried the ball over the goal line, after a wide end run.

Every member of the Normal team played a good game but owing to the long, hard trip, they seemed to lack the necessary "punch" to score when the opportunity presented itself.

On Saturday afternoon, November 22, on the fair ground field, the Wayne Normal reserve team held the local high school team to a tie score, 0 to 0. The teams were evenly matched, but the game was a little stow.

Around Snake Corner

A Stagecoach Story

By CLARISSA MACKIE

The stage climbed the steep mountain road, the black horses straining against the heavy load of passengers.

"Whoop!" shouted Ike Williams as he jolted the team around a sharp corner where jutted a great split rock.

"Are there any snakes around here?" asked a timid passenger.

Ike Williams turned a ruddy face toward the passengers, and as his light brown eyes met those of a plump little woman in the corner he winked significantly.

The plump little woman looked very severe and turned her eyes away.

"Yes, sir; this is called snake corner, and it's a funny thing that every time I reach this particular rock every stranger aboard wants to know if there are snakes hereabouts."

"Well, are there any snakes?" demanded the thin woman sharply.

"There are snakes sometimes, ma'am. Once I was coming up from Cherry Brook with a load of folks, and just as we reached snake corner one of the wimmen screamed and fainted, and the others all hollered to bent the band. Of course I stopped and looked to see what was the matter."

"What was it?" demanded the passengers breathlessly.

"Trash!" snuffed Debby Bowne.

"It was a whole passel of black-snakes a-sunning themselves on the big rock."

"I was some flustered, because I knew, all my passengers being wimmen, I'd have trouble between the wimmen and the snakes and the hosses here, who ain't got no use for reptiles."

"I'm a quick thinker, and"—Mr. Williams paused and cast a suspicious glance among his passengers. "I thought somebody laffed," he said aggressively.

No one made reply. Debby Bowne was staring through the open doorway, and the little dark man appeared to be asleep.

The other six passengers were hanging breathlessly on the words of the stage driver.

"Go on!" they cried impatiently.

"What did you do then?"

"I got down from my seat and, taking my whip, I went up to the rock and laid it on to them snakes till there wasn't one to be seen. Then I clumb back to the stage and drove on."

"The wimmen all cried with joy over getting rid of the snakes, and when we reached the top of the hill—this one we're climbing now—I happened to look back, and what do you suppose I see?" Ike paused dramatically.

"What did you see?" they asked in chorus.

"Snakes!" said Ike, frowning at the recollection. "About fifty blacksnakes, assorted sizes, all humping themselves along the road, trying to catch up with me. I reckon they would have clumb up over the wheels and right into the stage if I hadn't done some quick thinking."

"I'm something of a reader," pursued Ike modestly, "and, being interested in the critters, I'd read considerable about snakes. So I took my harmonica out of my pocket and, getting out of the stage, I went back and played 'Yankee Doodle' to them pursuing reptiles, and I'll be blamed if the hull lot didn't stand still like they was charmed, and then I played a march called 'The Retreat.' And you'll hardly believe me when I say that the hull regiment of blacksnakes turned tail and humped themselves back down the road."

"Whoa! Here you are! Willow House!"

With the words Ike halted his horses with a flourish before the door of the little mountain inn.

With the single exception of Debby Bowne the occupants of the stage dismounted at the inn. While some of them were paying the driver, the foreigner leaned toward Debby Bowne.

"Does he speak of a truth?" he inquired, nodding toward Ike Williams.

Two red spots glowed in Debby's cheeks.

"The truth is not in him!" she said emphatically.

"You know him of a certainty, that he lies?" asked the man sharply.

"I was engaged to marry him," said Debby with dry bitterness.

"Was?" repeated the man doubtfully.

"Was," emphasized Debby, "until fifteen minutes ago."

"Ah, with many thanks for the confidence," smiled the stranger, bowing himself away with his heavy basket.

Just as the stage was about to resume its journey with Miss Bowne as its sole inmate that small person skipped nertly down the steps and slammed the door upon the empty vehicle.

"Ain't you going to ride up to the lane with me, Debby?" demanded Ike in dismay.

"Not today," returned Debby crisply.

"I'd rather walk than ride with such a story-teller as you are. You remember what I said the last time you told that snake story!" Debby Bowne gathered her black skirts neatly from the dust and tipped away, leaving Ike Williams to stare after her until she had quite disappeared into the opening of Willow House, where she lived.

BARRETT & DALLY

The next afternoon Ike Williams drove his stage up the mountain road. There was only one passenger inside, and she was strangely silent and unresponsive. So quiet was Debby Bowne that Ike began to believe that there was some truth in what the foreigner had hinted to him.

Was his engagement to Debby a thing of the past? He did not dare ask her for fear of the answer.

Debby Bowne worked in the postoffice and rode home in the stage every afternoon. It is not surprising that she grew tired and annoyed at hearing Ike's oft repeated snake stories, which calculated to inspire strangers

The Charm of Music in The Home

LONGFELLOW once said, "show me a home wherein music dwells and I will show you a happy, contented, peaceful family."

The poet knew the charm of music and its inspiring influence in the home. He realized the great part music has played in advancing civilization. He might have added:

Show me a musical community and I will show you a people worth knowing and worth having as your friends

The subduing of many a recreant youth and the development of his finer nature, can be directly traced to the study of music and harmony in the home.

Mrs. H. Schroer and son went to Norfolk Wednesday evening where her husband joined her and they went to Tilden for Thanksgiving.

Willis Fleetwood is home from Sioux City to get some of mother's cooking for Thanksgiving.

Wm. Benson and Wm. Jenkins were visitors at Norfolk Sunday, going over by automobile.

Mrs. Kingston came from Stanton Wednesday to visit at the home of her daughter, Mrs. L. L. Way.

Mrs. Margaret Wade returned Monday evening from a week's visit with her daughter at Sloan, Iowa.

J. E. Rasmussen came last evening from Naponee to visit at the home of J. M. Wiley and wife, his sister.

Miss Dorothy Ellis went to Dakota City Wednesday afternoon to spend a few days with relatives near that city.

J. H. Foster and family are spending Thanksgiving with relatives in Iowa, going Wednesday by automobile.

Tim, Collins and family were here from Carroll Tuesday visiting at the home of Patrick Coleman, Mrs. Collins' father.

Miss Jessie Wachoba of Stanton returned home Wednesday after a short visit at Wayne. She was a guest at the home of C. A. Chace and wife.

A. M. Hyatt from Onawa, Iowa, came last week to visit his parents, A. J. Hyatt and wife and other relatives and friends here and at Winside.

Misses Lola and Hazel Brittan came from Iowa last evening to join their father, John Brittan in a visit here. Miss Lola is teaching at Dayton and Hazel comes from Sanborn.

Miss Charlotte White went to Sioux City Wednesday, and this morning her neices, Ruth and Edith went to join her there in a visit with their sister, Mrs. A. T. Neely.

Rollie Ley says that the fellows who stole his goose before Thanksgiving doubtless belong to the same bunch that took the beef roast from Frank Weber's buggy a few nights before.

Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Alter and wife went to Harlan, Iowa, to visit her father, who is now 86 years of age--hence the feeling that they should not miss a Thanksgiving with him while he is here.

Printing that pleases--Democrat.

Henry Evans is home from a trip to southern Texas. He also went over the line into Mexico while there, and escaped alive. He says one hears but little more about the Mexican rebellion there than here.

Holiday advertising is commencing this week, a number of our business men believing in the old adage that the "Early bird gets the worm." The early shopper gets the pick of the stock--of that there is no mistake.

Peter B. Snowdert from Elgin has purchased the T. E. Junk restaurant here and taken possession. Mr. Junk and family are at present visiting at Wakefield with his folks. He has not yet decided as to his future work.

Peter Bowdwin and family, a brother-in-law to Gus Newman, and Mrs. John Meller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Newman, came from Hooper Tuesday to visit a few days during the turkey season at the Newman home here.

Mrs. Dunn came Wednesday from near Bismark in North Dakota, to visit her parents Wm. Bowels and wife at their home near Sholes. Her father went to Sioux City to meet her Tuesday. She plans to spend a month with home folks.

Mrs. Fred Sebald is confined to her bed most of the time for the past two weeks from injuries received by a fall. She was on a ladder when the wind blew it over taking her with it and she was quite seriously hurt and bruised about the head and face.

Mrs. Fred Hefti left Wednesday afternoon for her home at Russell, Minnesota, after a week visit with her parents and relatives here. She reports that they like their Minnesota home well--and that good crops his year rewarded their efforts on the farm.

A palace horse car containing eight horses from Randolph, consigned Manchester, New Hampshire, passed through here Wednesday. They were traveling by express. The shipment exceeded the parcel post size, but Uncle Sam will be carrying such things before many years, especially if the railroads continue to insist that they must have more money for freight than they now get.

Pete Lewis is home from Lincoln.

Harvey Mason and wife came this morning for a day at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Mears and son Harold went over to Sioux City yesterday to attend the marriage of their son, Archie, who with his wife will return home with them the same evening for a few days visit with friends in Wayne.

The Cozy picture show opens this afternoon in their neat, new room in the Boyd annex. Walter Savidge has fitted this room up in the latest and best, and is now ready to show the public the interior. A good program is promised both afternoon and evening.

In this issue another desirable Wayne property is advertised for sale at auction--not because the owner wants to, or expects to leave Wayne, but because he has secured a home in another part of town to which he will move soon--and the place he is offering to sell is too good to be profitable to rent.

June Conger and wife are home from their trip in the south, where they have been for several weeks. They were at Hot Springs, Arkansas, for a time, then visited Salisbury, North Carolina, where Dr. Thomas is now located, and were at Atlanta, Georgia, and other points of interest in the south.

Beyond a doubt there will be a record-breaking attendance at the opera house this evening, as shown by the advance ticket sale. A popular play at popular prices is as popular as ever, and "A Mad Love" is one of the most popular productions ever staged, and the Walter Savidge troupe is one known at Wayne to be among the best.

Knights of Pythias Officers

Wayne Lodge, No. 53, K. of P. elected the following officers for 1914, at their meeting last evening:

- Chancellor Commander--W. D. Redmond.

A Comfortable Church

The coming winter season the Methodist church promises to be more comfortable for those who worship there than for several years past. The reason is found in the fact that they have installed a new (steam heating system calculated to enable them to warm each and every part of the building just to suit. The Democrat reporter was shown over the plant this week by Geo. Grunnemeyer of Wayne, of course, who had the contract for the job, thus assuring careful work in every detail and good material. The American Radiator Co. are the manufacturers, and a 36-inch, 7-section Ideal furnace makes the steam, which is carried to the 17 radiators in all parts of the church by the one-pipe gravity system. A five inch pipe leads out from the furnace which reduces to a four-inch pipe when about half of the circuit is completed, and returns to the boiler carrying the condensed steam back to the fire again. Of the radiators fourteen are in the church proper while three horizontal radiators and the pipes which conduct the steam will warm the basement. The furnace is regulated by an automatic syphon damper which will keep the heat down to the desired point. Then in addition to that there is the safety valve which will not allow a high pressure of steam. The cost of the plant was $1163. There is approximately 1,500 square feet of radiation.

This is a decided improvement, and adds to the safety from fire as well as to the comfort of those in attendance. When the writer saw how the old heating plant had fried the pitch out of the floor joist above it, he wondered how the authorities would tolerate the assembling of a crowd of people over such a fire trap. The wonder is that there is now a church there to warm. Luckily that danger is past, and it is probable that the majority of the people never knew conditions in the furnace room.

THANKSGIVING POEM BY JOHN GREENLEAF WHITTIER

On the banks of the Xeull the dark Spanish maiden
Comes up with the fruit of the tangled vine laden,
And the creole of Cuba laughs out to behold
Through orange leaves shining the broad spheres of gold,
Yet with dearer delight from his home in the north
On the fields of his harvest the Yankee looks forth,
Where crooknecks are colling and yellow fruit shines
And the sun of September melts down on his vines.

Ah, on Thanksgiving day, when from east and from west,
From north and from south, comes the pilgrim and guest;
When the gray haired New Englander sees round his board
The old broken links of affection restored;
When the care wearied man seeks his mother once more
And the worn matron smiles where the girl smiled before,
What moistens the lip and what brightens the eye,
What calls back the past, like the rich pumpkin pie?

Oh, fruit loved of boyhood, the old days recalling,
When wood grapes were purpling and brown nuts were falling;
When wild, ugly faces we carved in its skin,
Glaring out through the dark, with a candle within;
When we laughed round the corn heap, with hearts all in tune,
Our chair a broad pumpkin, our lantern the moon,
Telling tales of the fairy who traveled like steam
In a pumpkin shell coach, with two rats for her team!

Then thanks for thy present. None sweeter nor better
E'er smoked from an oven nor circled a platter.
Fainter hands never wrought at a pastry more fine;
Brighter eyes never watched o'er its baking than thine.
And the prayer which my mouth is too full to express
Swells my heart that thy shadow may never be less,
That the days of thy lot may be lengthened below,
And the fame of thy worth like a pumpkin vine grow,
And thy life be as sweet, and thy last sunset sky
Golden tinted and fair as thy own pumpkin pie

THANKSGIVING THE YEAR ROUND

A WOMAN who has an almost old fashioned faith in Providence keeps what she calls her "thank offering box." Into this goes through the year, from one Thanksgiving to the middle of the following November, a sum of money for every accident escaped, calamity averted or special joy.

These offerings are not confined to her own escapes, but each time some member of her family bobs up from some threatened woe into the box goes the money offering of thanks.

Not the same amount is given each time, and rarely large sums, for the woman is not rich, but a nice little sum is realized.

This is devoted to giving some one a happy Thanksgiving day. It does not always go into the regular channels. As the woman says, the poor and hospitals are usually well cared for in holiday seasons.

Sometimes a homeless girl in a strange city is given car fare home for the Thanksgiving gathering she would otherwise miss. Once a music lover was given a season ticket to the symphony concert. Again a doctor's bill that had worried a young stenographer who had her mother to support was quietly paid.

In speaking of her pretty custom the owner of the thank offering box said, "Never have I known what thankfulness really meant until I started my box and saw the joy my thankfulness brings to others."

Thanksgiving in the Country

By JOE CONE.

BRING on the turkey, mother, an' the fixin's one an' all.
File 'em high upon the table for the big an' fur the small.
It is time to set the dinner, it is time to set us down,
An' my appetite, I reckon, is the biggest thing in town.
Bring on the sass an' dressin'. Don't leave anything behind,
Cuz today we want to sample, mother, each an' ev'ry kind.
So don't fergit the puddin', an' please don't fergit the pie.
Today's Thanksgiving, mother, an' we're goin' to travel high.

Ain't that turkey jest a daisy? Ain't he juicy, plump an' brown?
Don't he make you hungry, mother? Ain't he fit fur any critter?
See! His glossy skin, it's beautifol, an' the stuff's runnin' but Oh, I tell you, mother, children, this is heaven, jest about!
Draw your chairs around the table; loosen buttons where you kin;
You don't want your highest collars interferin' with your chin.
Now I'm goin' to carve the turkey. Pass your plates, you youngsters! Awe, today's Thanksgiving, mother. Ain't it good to be alive?
—Chattanooga Herald

Some Eventful Thanksgivings.

Among the days set apart for thanksgiving which in reality have been days of national sorrow may be numbered that of 1875, when the entire country was mourning over the death of Vice President Henry Wilson, whose remains on the Thanksgiving day of that year were lying in state at Washington; that of 1878, when the German steamer Pomoranin, from New York, crowded with passengers, sank off Folkestone, England, carrying to a watery grave fifty souls; that of 1881, the morning of which found the country grieving over the death of President Garfield; that of 1882, when another terrible loss at sea set the country mourning, the steamer Ocean Grove striking on the rocks of Cape Canoe and proving a coffin ship to many on board; that of 1885, when the country mourned over the death of Vice President Thomas Hendricks, sleeping his last sleep at his Indianapolis home.

A Thanksgiving Monologue.

PA. I want that drumstick there
An' some robin stuffin' too.
Uncle Jim, I like a pear
Fixed with pickles. Say, don't you?
Aunt Marie, I wish you'd pass
Me th' jam—that ain't enough!
What's that in that big green glass?
Aw, I mean that frothy stuff!
Kin I have some white meat, pa?
Yessir, I'm a-goin' to be Keerful. Sis, I want some slaw,
Gee, you're always stintin' me!
Whoop—whoop—ouch! I never meant
To upset that gravy boat.
Guess that stuffin' must 'a' went Down my Sunday mornin' throat!
Pa, ain't there one more drumstick?
Huh! Eat three if I'd jest try!
Um-yum! Naw, I won't be sick!
Gimme 'nother piece o' pie!
—Charles C. Jones in Puck.

In a Gastronomic Way.

"Do you think Thanksgiving turkeys will go down?"
"I am sure of it."
"That's good. Do you think they will fall much?"
"I didn't say anything about their falling; I said they would go down."
—Baltimore American.

A Dinner Jingle.

EF no turkey dish you view
Possum's good enough for you!
EF no possum's on the plate
Rabbits overrun the state.
Anbits, in light we're livin',
An' we're willin' for Thanksgiving!

DODGED A LEGACY

Romance of a Soldier of the French Foreign Legion.

CAST ASIDE MANY MILLIONS.

This Singular Titled Austrian Refused to Disclose His Identity When His Good Fortune Became Known, and His Fate is an Unsolved Mystery.

The French Foreign Legion is the most picturesque military organization in the world. It is the refuge of men of all nations gone wrong through impulse or misfortune who wish to bury themselves in oblivion while fighting to regain an honorable place in the world of life and activity.

The rank and file of the corps is composed of princes, dukes, marquises, counts and viscounts, generals and officers of all grades, all arms, of the armies of all countries, magistrates, financiers, diplomats, lawyers and professional functionaries of all sorts; honest adventurers who simply want to "see the world," the neurasthenic, the disheartened, the unemployed; those who, having lost everything but honor or having lost honor itself, would make a new start.

All this diverse human metal, thrown into the melting pot together, is eventually molded into that brave, stoic, loyal, devoted, patient and tenacious prototype of the man of arms, the Legionary.

Of the Foreign Legion a thousand romantic tales are told, of which the following true story may be taken as an example:

One day General Bruneau, commander of the legion, received a registered letter, postmarked Vienna and signed by the representative of a well known Austrian detective agency, to the following effect:

Monsieur le General—Will you kindly inform me if a young man of Austro-Hungarian nationality, supposed to have enlisted in the Foreign Legion under the name of Justus Perth, is now at Sadia? You will understand the interest we have in finding him when I inform you confidentially that in consequence of unforeseen happenings he has become, without his knowledge or expectation, sole heir to a fortune of 12,000,000 crowns. Inclosed is a photograph taken when he was a student at the University of Prague.

The photograph showed a stocky youth of perhaps twenty to twenty-two years of age and whose somewhat beefy face was fringed with precocious whiskers. He wore eyeglasses, which made it difficult to judge of the form and shade of his eyes.

General Bruneau's first step was to have his secretary adjutant search the enlistment rolls for the name of Justus Perth. No such name appeared. Then he had all the Austrians of the detachment line up and scanned their faces in the hope of identifying the original of the photograph. Only two, both of whom were recent arrivals, showed possible traits of resemblance, and these in a very imperfect degree.

These two Austrians were closely examined by Dhuerner, the secretary, who spoke the German language fluently. Both denied stubbornly that they had ever used or heard of the name of Justus Perth.

"Possibly it may loosen your tongue," pursued the secretary. "If I tell you why the general is looking for this Perth. The fellow has just inherited 12,000,000 crowns. Now, is either one of you Justus Perth?"

"Neh."
"Neh."
"Send them back to their companies. It is of no use," said General Bruneau. Time passed and the incident had been forgotten when in 1902 there came to Bruneau a formidable looking envelope bearing the government seal of the minister of foreign affairs. It inclosed a letter which drew from the officer an exclamation of surprise.

This letter was a diplomatic paraphrase of the former inquiry by the Vienna secret service agency regarding Justus Perth. It insisted upon further investigation, to be conducted with more care and discretion than in the previous instance. Furthermore, the commandant was confidentially advised that "Justus Perth" was only a fictitious name and that the real title of the person to be found at any price was Count Otto von X.

Another photograph, more recent than the one which had accompanied the first inquiry, was appended.

"No sooner did I set eyes on this photograph," continued Bruneau, "than I made the astounding discovery that the Count Otto von X., the pseudo Justus Perth, was none other than the secretary adjutant, Dhuerner, who had so energetically questioned the two bewildered Austrians called-up before me on the former occasion!"

"My course was now simple enough. Shortly after that first interrogatory our secretary-interpreter, Dhuerner, had been transferred to Tonkin, in regular course of the annual relief of the battalions serving there. This information I wired to headquarters.

"Next day the response came:

"Legionary Dhuerner sent home account of health, route Singapore.
"Another cipher telegram to the French consul at Singapore brought the following:

"Legionary Dhuerner, alias Count Otto von X., disappeared from transport steamer, roadstead of Singapore; cannot be found.

"And the mystery remains unsolved to this day."
Around their campfires in the Sahara, what tales might not be told if ever these silent, impassive Trappists of action should but speak their stories!—Los Angeles Tribune.

Sampling Mother's Doughnuts

HUNGRY kids are sampling them today just as they did in your doughnut days.

Our artist has taken the old familiar story and brought it up to date. He has given Mother a modern up to date Acetylene cooking range.

It may surprise you to learn that such ranges are actually being used by the women folks in over two hundred thousand country homes.

As you will note from the picture, they are duplicates of city gas ranges used throughout the world. They furnish heat on tap—and have the high ovens with glass doors and all other modern features.

If you feel that your folks would appreciate the convenience of gas for lighting and cooking—if you feel that they have battled long enough with kindling, oil, coal, ashes and soot, you should without delay look into my home made Acetylene proposition.

I am the representative for this district, of the largest manufacturers of country home Acetylene plants in the world—namely, the Orweld Acetylene Co.—manufacturers of the famous Pilot Acetylene Light Plants.

Pilot plants are different from any of the other hundreds of American Acetylene machines. They work on a different principle. They are not storage systems—they are automatic—they make gas—a little at a time, while the stove or the lights are in use. At other times the plant stands idle.

Pilot lighting plants are built upon honor to last a lifetime. They are permanent features of the homes in which they are installed.

In fifteen years only two accidents have been charged to the misuse and abuse of Pilot plants. While during the same period over one hundred thousand fires and accidents have been charged to other illuminants.

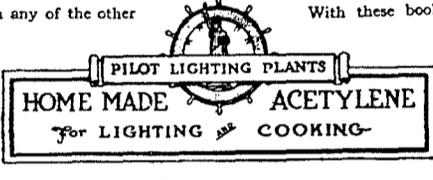

For these reasons you should not judge Acetylene until you have seen it made by a Pilot plant. The Pilot is the one plant that is mechanically perfect. This is proven by the fact that there are over sixty thousand of them in actual use today.

At your convenience I can call at your home with a portable demonstrating plant and show you how the Pilot works—how it generates home made Acetylene—how it automatically mixes the Union Carbide and water to make this gas.

I can show you also how this home made Acetylene is used to produce the most brilliant and beautiful light known—how it is used in cooking ranges which do away with the work and bother of handling fuel and ashes.

If you wish, I can send you also the Orweld Acetylene Company's advertising books. These books tell how Acetylene is used for over a hundred different purposes—how the government uses Acetylene machines, on account of their reliability, to light the coast of Alaska and the whole Panama canal.

With these books I will gladly furnish you free estimate of the cost of a Pilot lighting plant with capacity to fit your requirements. Just write me how many rooms you have and also how many barns and outbuildings you would light. Just address—

Henry Ley, President

State Normal Notes

The date of the next meeting of the board of education has been changed from December 9 to January 13.

All departments of the Normal dismissed Wednesday evening for the Thanksgiving recess. Work will be resumed at 7:45 Monday morning.

Miss Lou B. Chase returned to her home at Stanton Sunday afternoon after spending a few days at Wayne, the guest of Miss Elsie Ford Piper.

Dr. House gave an excellent talk to the students at convocation Monday morning, and on Tuesday Professor Lewis briefly reviewed the Mexican situation.

After a hard fought battle at the fair grounds last Saturday afternoon between the Wayne high school and the second team of the normal the game ended without either side scoring.

Special musical numbers at convocation during the past week consisted of a violin solo by Professor Johnson and piano solos by Mr. Ensign Young and the Misses Monahan and Gladys Kline.

Mr. Clarence Linton, a member of the sophomore class, was recently elected president of the Wayne county Sunday School Association. Mr. Linton has made a record of faithful work in whatever he undertakes.

The holding of a county fair is a method used by the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. each year for the raising of funds. Measured from the standpoint of attendance, interest and enthusiasm the session held in the gymnasium last Saturday evening was a great success.

Every attraction advertised by the committee was featured and a few specialties added. The performance netted the societies about $35 and will be used to defray the expenses of delegates to the student volunteer convention which meets at Kansas City early in January.

The game with Atkinson last Friday afternoon closed the football season of 1913. Four games were played upon the home grounds and one event occurred away from Wayne. Only once did our boys meet defeat, and then in a contest with an exceptionally strong team from Sioux City, Iowa, scheduled before the home team was in readiness for a game.

Barring this opening game our first team closes the season with a clean slate, Bellevue College being the only team even to cross the Normal goal line. Not only have the boys played the game creditably, but what is more to be desired than athletic victories, the members of the team have been manly men, for which the management has had no reason to apologize when our boys represented the school in competition with other institutions of the state.

Among the interested spectators at the Nebraska-Iowa game last Saturday afternoon was Coach C. U. Keckley of the Wayne state normal. When asked for a brief statement in regard to the game at Lincoln Mr. Keckley said:

"It was a hard fought and a very exciting game. Fumbles were frequent, it is true, but this did not mar the game from the spectator's standpoint. It was rather a thrill, for a touchdown might be the result.

"Nebraska's line was a little heavier. Fierce tackle around line smashes by Nebraska carried the ball over for a touchdown in the first period. In the third period Iowa came back and carried the ball down the field for seventy-five yards, only to lose it on Nebraska's one-foot line.

"The game was not safe for Nebraska until Captain Purdy carried the ball over the line for a second touchdown about four minutes before the final whistle blew. It was a great game."

Jewett not Found Guilty

A report to the Norfolk News from Blair says:

George S. Jewett, who Saturday night was declared not guilty of killing his 2-year-old baby by throwing it from a train at Arlington will return to his old home in Creighton and to his old job, within a few weeks. After the verdict was returned he said he would go to Lodge Pole, Neb., and then to Denver, where he will remain until after the first of the year. Then he will go back to Creighton to resume his work as traveling man for the Gillinsky Fruit Co.

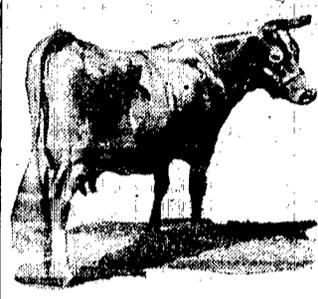

The scene when the verdict was returned was a touching one. Jewett stood facing the clerk and when he heard the words, "not guilty," he threw his arms around his wife and mother, who were standing beside him.

CARE OF HEIFERS AT FRESHENING TIME

As the heifer approaches freshening she should be given the most excellent care for the purpose of developing her maternal tendency and also for developing the unborn calf, says Kimball's Dairy Farmer. She should be exceptionally well fed during the last month of this period. Feeding shelled corn and oats without grinding is wasteful, for a large portion of these foods go through the digestive tract unused. It would be much more advisable to grind the oats and corn.

A very desirable ration for heifers to be fed two months prior to freshening consists of equal parts of ground oats, bran, oilmeal and ground corn. If the heifer is poor in flesh she should be well fed, but if she is rather fleshy it would be better to decrease the proportion of corn, feeding a larger percentage of the other foodstuffs suggested. Succulent foods are always advisable. For this reason the silo is Admirers of the Guernsey breed of dairy cattle maintain that it has no pronounced weak points; that the addition of Guernsey blood in crossing with cows of mixed breeding will result in a higher milk flow and in a richer milk. The deep and prolonged milking qualities of the pure bred Guernsey, together with the adaptability to the conditions of the average farm, make this type of dairy cow a formidable competitor to the breeds which have a wider and greater distribution. The production of milk that tests 4 per cent and over 5 per cent and sometimes 6 per cent means much when taken in connection with the fact that the Guernsey is an economical producer. A fine type of the breed is herewith illustrated. She is an economical butter producer.

exceptionally advantageous on dairy farms. If corn silage is not accessible it is advisable to feed beet pulp or other such foods in conjunction with good clover or alfalfa hay.

As the heifer approaches freshening the ration should be reduced until about two days prior to freshening, when all solid foods should be taken from her and bran mashes substituted.

Feeding by the quart is not advisable, because the amount of food varies so greatly from day to day. A much better method would be to weigh the feed and give a definite number of pounds of each foodstuff daily or provide a mixture and feed a certain number of pounds of this, according to the condition and production of the different individuals in the herd. It may seem to the feeder that this will require a considerable amount of time, but by following this plan there will be less waste of foodstuffs, and the production of milk and butter fat will be greater in response to the extra pains taken.

FEEDING DRY COWS.

Roughage Should Be Supplemented by Grain, Roots or Silage.

Cows that go dry should be fed chiefly roughage. This period lasts from eight to ten weeks, and it pays to give them the right feed and the proper care. Don't neglect the dry cow.

With the roughage should be given daily about two pounds of bran or oats or a mixture of two parts each of bran and oats and one part of linseed meal or corn oilmeal. This makes a very good feed for a cow near calving and is highly recommended by Dr. Haacker of the Minnesota university farm.

Roots, cabbage, pumpkins or squashes are also very good. Silage is always excellent.

Highly carbonaceous roughage, such as straw and cornstalks, should not be fed at this time.

Caked udder or garget is often caused by overfeeding of carbonaceous roughage, cold water, cold drafts or lying at night on damp or frozen ground.

Castrating Pigs.

Pigs should be castrated before they are three weeks old, for the wound is small at that age; they bleed but little and don't seem to suffer much pain. Farmers are apt to neglect this operation or put it off until the pigs are big and hard to hold, suffer more pain and sometimes die.

Raise Live Stock.

It is unfortunate that there are not more cattle in the southwest, says Texas Farm and Ranch. Pastures are now green with the best grazing that we have had for years. With a few heaves to market the income this year would be increased materially. Get a few calves and begin to raise animals.

Raise Live Stock.

The best sale you can possibly make of your farm crops is to sell them to your stock in the way of food. And then, too, the fertility of the soil is kept where it will bring the biggest returns.

Live Stock Prices at South Omaha

Union Stock Yards, South Omaha, Nov. 25.—A very small fun of cattle arrived today, about 2,400 head. The very limited supply of corn fed cattle afforded dealers but little opportunity to test out the market, but judging by the way the dressed beef men bought up the few cattle that were offered prices are 35¢-50¢ better than they were at the low time last week. The range beef market was strong to fully 10¢-15¢ higher than Monday for anything good enough to attract competition. Cows and heifers were in active request and all of 25¢-35¢ higher than at the close of last week and there was a broader demand and a stronger market for stock cattle and feeding steers.

Cattle quotations: Choice to prime beefs, $8.50@8.75; fair to choice yearlings, $8.25@8.25; good to choice beefs, $8.10@8.50; fair to good beefs, $7.50@8.00; common to fair beefs, $6.25@7.40; good to choice fed heifers, $6.75@7.50; good to choice grass heifers, $6.25@7.00; good to choice cows, $6.00@6.60; fair to good cows, $5.25@6.00; canners and cutters, $4.00@5.00; veal calves, $5.50@10.00; bulls, stags, etc., $4.50@6.00; choice to prime feeders, $7.30@7.65; good to choice feeders, $6.75@7.25; fair to good feeders, $6.00@6.50; common to fair feeders, $5.65@6.00; stock cows and heifers, $4.50@6.30; choice to prime grass beefs, $7.50@7.80; good to choice grass beefs, $7.00@7.40; fair to good grass beefs, $6.50@7.00; poor to fair grass beefs, $5.75@6.50.

About 11,500 hogs were received today. The market opened slow, with heavies selling at a decline of 10¢-15¢. Trade was necessarily drabgy all the morning. Bulk of the heavies and butchers landed at $7.45@7.65, and tops reached $7.70. Light hogs also declined about as much as the heavies and most of the sales were made around $7.00@7.50.

Sheep and lamb receipts amounted to about 16,000 head. The opening trade was active and strong to 10¢-15¢ higher on everything in the killing line. The late trade was not as good and most of the advance was lost. Prevailing values are still on a very high level as compared with other points, being on a par with those at Chicago. There was a good demand for feeders and prices were fully steady. About 1,000 head of feeder wethers brought $4.35.

The Bird.
You may talk about the eagle as the only bird of fame.
You may hold it up to notice and enlarge upon its name.
You may drape the flag around it, that the heart of man be stirred,
But tomorrow, let me tell you, Thomas Turkey is the bird.

With the ladies 'tis the ostrich for the lovely plumes he sheds.
How they easily pace the pavement with them waving o'er their heads!
And, indeed, they make a bulleaze, but the old ostrich can't fit it.—Thomas Turkey is the bird.

With the earnest aviator 'tis the bird of ooth and steel,
With the whirring motors near him and a wild, exultant "feel,"
But the only bird existing which has e'er my pulpit stirred
Is the turkey bird of the Baltimore Herald.
—Joe Cone in Baltimore Herald.

The bard, we fear,
Feels no great cheer,
His odes are rough and jerky,
He has a rhyme
To harmonize with turkey.
—Washington Herald.

Choosing Ye Bird.
Now laudeth forth ye busy dame
And seeketh for ye bird of game;
I want a turkey plump and true,
No tough nor stringy owl,
Eke doth ye traderman bow and amble,
And from ye cruel hooks
But laudeth loud its looks
She lists ye greaser's frame,
Then picks another style of bird
Because she knows ye game.
—Washington Star.

Culinary.
De turkey walkin' round do place
His feathers fine to see.
Dat dandys you an' me.
An' yet, wit all his strut an' fuss,
He ain't no real good to us
Till he's been roasted some.
Dar's lots of humans proud an' high
Until dey's had de plumage by
An' heard de hard juck call,
No matter what may be de else
A quality you want,
Bero' folks takes you as a prize
You've got to git a roast.
—Washington Star.

A Change of Front.
The man who raised the carving knife
Now glares upon the turkey when
It comes to him in soup,
He scorns it and gibos at it,
When in the presence of the bird
His courage oozed away.

Grinnell (Ia.) Register—Miss Wait's first number, "Amour! Viens Aider," from St. Saens' "Samson and Delilah," proved her no ordinary singer. In her other two appearances she sang groups of songs by modern writers. Mrs. Will Weber and son Gilman, who have been spending the summer and fall on the Weber ranch near Dunning in Blaine county, returned home last Thursday evening. They appear to have enjoyed the summer very much and while their corn crop was not equal to that of the year before, it was very satisfactory. They are improving the place each year and making the place pay its way and furnish them a healthful summer outing. According to present plans they will return next spring earlier than usual and farm more extensively. The young man will attend college here this winter.

It is reported that the weather is spoiling some of the holiday meats at Chicago, and people are cautioned about looking well to what they buy. But here in Wayne it is evidently different. Frank Weber left a package containing a dollar roast on his buggy seat one evening last week and was gone from the vehicle but a short time, but when he returned the meat was gone, and he thinks that meat moves too fast here to be allowed to spoil. No, there was no difficulty about a small man or even a common sort of a boy being able to carry all of the meat sold for a dollar these days, even at Wayne. Mr. Weber promises never to do so again. Is afraid that someone got that bone who is not used to eating meat and may be made sick. He should be more careful.

Secretary of Agriculture Houston, on the Rights of the Child.
(From Carlsons Rural Review.)

Never before have truer words been spoken concerning rural life than those of Hon. David F. Houston, Secretary of Agriculture, in his address before the National Grange of Patrons of Husbandry, at Manchester, N. H., the 14th of this month.

While almost every farm problem of the day was touched upon, his reference to the country child versus the city child should be read by every farmer in America. The following is a part of his address:

"Consider the position of a child in any of the more remote sections of the rural districts in America today, and ask yourself what his opportunities are for training and development and efficiency as compared with those of a similarly endowed boy in an urban community. The latter lives in a house supplied with running water, the purity of which is protected by ample means; walks on sidewalks free from dust and mud; drives along adequate roads; has access to many of the things that minister to the legitimate pleasures of living; has at hand the best trained physicians and surgeons; publicly maintained hospitals; well planned schools of every grade from the kindergarten to the professional school or college. And most of these things he secures at a minimum expense through a relatively low rate of taxation. The other picture is easily drawn. If we confine our thought for the most to the schools alone we will find that outside of New England, which has solved the rural school problem largely by eliminating the rural population, all that the average country boy has access to is an ungraded school, usually taught in one room by a girl with less training than the high school graduate, receiving $40 or $50 a month for seven or eight months in the year, teaching all ages in thirty or more classes a day. If by any chance a boy survives this and desires to go further it is necessary for his father to put him on a train, buy his transportation, send him to a town, pay his board, his tuition, and lose his service during the session, and probably lose him permanently from the country. I have said it before and I am not afraid to repeat it that I do not quite see how a father and mother who are ambitious for their children can gain their own consent to continue to live in remote rural districts under existing conditions.

"The greatest undeveloped resource of any community, as our great Ambassador to Great Britain has so emphatically said, is the people. And if we devote more enlightened attention to the conservation and development of the people we shall be relieved of the concern about the conservation and development of our natural resources.

"Now this problem of the development of agriculture and of rural life is one which requires the most serious thought of the best agencies in the nation. It is one primarily for the farmers themselves, and I clearly recognize that they have done most and will continue to do the most to solve it. But they need, deserve, and demand assistance and will have it. The nation has created certain responsible instruments for their assistance. Among these are the state departments of agriculture, and the state colleges of agriculture. That all of them have done good work no one can question; that some of them have not lived up to their opportunities admits of no manner of doubt.

"Those colleges that are doing their duty to their states are not wholly to blame, but in my judgment they are largely to blame. The trouble in too many of our states has arisen from a dispersion of agencies undertaking to aid in the advancement of agriculture and to consequent jealousy and antagonism.

Just as there is individual selfishness so there is institutional selfishness, and some institutions like some individuals get to thinking so much about themselves that they forget the people whom they serve and who make them possible. I could point to state after state where the state department of agriculture is jealous of the state college of agriculture and busier watching the advances of the state college than it is with its job of helping the people. I could point to state after state where the state college of agriculture and the state university, created by the same people and maintained for the service of the same people, are busier preventing extensions of one another's activities than they are with extensions of their own activities for the service of the people. Neither is content to find out the job it can do best and do it. It is trying to prevent the other from doing a job that it might do. "Where so much is to be done, waste that comes from antagonism and duplication is criminal. The average state college of agriculture can render its best service through research and inquiry into the needs of its community, through the successful operation of short courses, and above all, through aggressive and active service to the adult farming population. It is of the greatest urgency that all of the agricultural agencies of the nation shall put their heads together and co-ordinate their activities. Unquestionably in the past there has been much useless duplication of effort, no little waste of money and energy, and no inconsiderable amount of hostility and friction.

"One of the most gratifying developments of recent years has been the clear recognition of the evils growing out of lack of systematic planning and co-ordination of effort and the state colleges of agriculture, the federal department, and congress, are determined to eliminate them."

Oh! You Have Such Beautiful Hair!

What a pleasant thing to have said to you! And why shouldn't it be? You who envy others their lovely hair, and are ashamed of the dull, lifeless, stringy appearance of your own—use Harmony Hair Beautifier, and let others envy you.

This delightful liquid seems to polish and brighten the hair, giving it that burnished, lustrous look you have so often wished it might have, adding to its softness, making it easier to put up and "stay put"—making it more attractive and beautiful in every way. It overcomes the unpleasant, oily smell of your hair, leaving a dainty, rich rose perfume that will delight you and those around you. Very easy to apply—simply sprinkle a little on your hair each time before brushing. Contains no oil; will not change the color of hair, nor darken gray hair.

To keep hair and scalp dandruff-free and clean, use Harmony Shampoo. This pure mixture—liquid shampoo gives an instantaneous rich lather that immediately penetrates to every part of hair and scalp, insuring a quick, thorough cleansing. Washed off just as quickly, the entire operation takes only a few moments. Can't harm the hair; leaves no harshness or stickiness—just sweet cleanliness.

Both preparations come in odd-shaped, very ornamental bottles, with sprinkler tops. Harmony Hair Beautifier, $1.00. Harmony Shampoo, 50c. Both guaranteed to satisfy you in every way, or your money back. Sold in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store—one of the more than 7,000 leading drug stores of the United States, Canada and Great Britain, which own the big Harmony laboratories in Boston, where the many celebrated Harmony Perfumes and Toilet Preparations are made. D. V. Visits the Press

The Press office acknowledges a very pleasant call from Congressman Dan Stephens Monday morning. Mr. Stephens is looking very well, having entirely recovered from a serious attack of ptomaine poisoning. He is enthusiastic about the work in congress and declares the currency measure to be of greater benefit to the country than any one law passed in years.

Mr. Stephens is likewise well pleased with the working out of his primary plan for postoffices and says the future will show it to be the very thing the people want. He has no sympathy with democrats who argue that what's wrong in republicans may be right in democrats and says the getting away from the spoils system is necessary if the democrats are to improve on the republicans that preceded them in office.

Speaking of the local primary Mr. Stephens seemed to favor an early election. He consulted the various candidates for the postoffice as to their wishes in the matter and will later choose a date. He, as well as all the Norfolk candidates, favors the open primary plan.

One of the interesting features of the postoffice election that we failed to learn until it was explained to us by Mr. Stephens, seems to offer the necessary relief from possible dishonest voting. Every voter will be obliged before voting to register his name and place of residence with the clerk. If he lives in the city he must give the number of his house or some other description that will identify him later if his right to vote should be questioned. If he lives on a rural route he will be expected to give the number of the mail box in which he receives his mail. Mr. Stephens suggests that the ballots be arranged in such a way that voters may record their first and second choice for the office, which considering the number of candidates and the possibility of getting a plurality would seem a wise provision. Mr. Stephens will urge a strict observance of the laws governing a general election and while the statutes don't give him power to enforce the laws, as he is the maker of the primary plan he will also have full power of execution. "We believe Mr. Stephens is anxious to make Norfolk a real try-out of the primary plan with everybody on an equal footing and the Press urges that every candidate do all he can to make Mr. Stephens' plan a success. The Press' candidate wants only a square deal and if defeated honestly will have no word of complaint. How about the rest of you?—Norfolk Press.

THINGS TO BE THANKFUL FOR.

Now Thanksgiving day we see, And we all should thankful be. If you do not know just what Are the blessings you have got Let us mention just a few Which maybe pertain to you:

- That your girls are not boys and are not therefore filled with a consuming ambition to play football.
- That your boys are not girls and will not therefore tax your digestion later with the nice little things they have learned to make at cooking school.
- That up to date none of the aviators have fallen down through your chimney flue, filling your drawing room with yell and soot.
- That, thanks to the butcher having refused you a further extension of credit, that particular bill won't grow any bigger.
- That, having during the last year lost the last remnant of your hair, your capillary attractions have at last ceased to fall out.
- That, your joy riding chauffeur having reduced your $2,000 car to scrap iron, you are relieved of a $3,000 annual expense in maintaining him and it.
- That, whatever else happens in the way of draining your pocketbook, you won't have to draw a check for the payment of your own funeral expenses.
- That your well beloved wife considers her new winter hat a dream—only tread softly lest you both wake up when the first of the month brings the whistling postman to your door with sundry requests from the little milliner.
- That, having remained a poor, obscure nonentity all your days, there is no temptation for any mean spirited, envious person to try to pull you down off your pedestal and prove to posterity that you didn't know a bean when you met one.
- That, not being a woman, you don't have to wear a hobble skirt to trip you up when you go walking in public or carry your car fare in a small portemonnaie inside a pocketbook, inside a wallet, wrapped up in a handkerchief, inside a chain bag, inside your muff.
- That, not being a man, you don't have to smoke cheap cigars, pretending that you like them better than those made of real tobacco, or think up foolishly transparent explanations for having stayed at the club until 4 o'clock in the morning.—Harner's Weekly.

Around Snake Corner

with dreadful fear.

Only a short week ago she had told Ike that if he ever repeated the black-snake story in her hearing their engagement would cease at once.

Now he shot a glance from his merry brown eyes at the third finger of her left hand.

The garnet engagement ring was gone.

Their engagement was at an end. Now they were turning around snake corner.

Ike was lost in gloomy meditation on the front seat when the off horse shied violently.

"Whoa!" shouted Ike, and with a glance at snake rock he pulled the trembling horses to a standstill and turned his head to stare at the great fissured rock about which he had woven so many tales to scare the unwary traveler.

Coiled on the rock was an immense serpent, scaly and glistening, with horrid head lifted and swaying gently to and fro.

"Good heavens!" breathed Ike through his set teeth.

Debby leaned from a window and stared, terrified.

Then, stepping jauntily out of the mountain path, came the foreign passenger of the day before.

He bowed politely to Ike, laid his hat against his breast when he saw Debby and at the same instant glimpsed the snake on the rock.

"Mon Dieu!" he squealed shrilly. "Kill it, monsieur!"

"Kill it yourself!" roared Ike testily, his muscled arm straining at the reins as his horses plunged madly.

"But has not monsieur a happy thought in this great emergency? It is true these are not blacksnakes, but—" he shrugged his shoulders suggestively.

"Get out of the way!" shouted Ike angrily.

"Perhaps monsieur would play 'Yankee Doodle' on his harmonicon!" grinned the amused foreigner. "Thus could he soothe the frightened serpent, even as he did in the good story he related. Ah!"

At that moment the black horses broke away and dragged the careening stage after them.

Debby bowne, white lipped and trembling, saw Ike Williams regain mastery of his team, turn them about and drive back to snake rock just in time to see the foreign conjurer stuffing the great serpent into an odd looking basket.

"Ha! Monsieur is the brave runaway," chided the joke loving Frenchman as he securely fastened the cover of the basket that contained the ancient, half stupid and entirely harmless reptile, which was one of the properties of his performance.

Ike Williams grew redder and redder as the Frenchman disappeared, and Debby bowne sat silently within, witness of his humiliation.

Glancing out of the corner of his eye, he discerned Debby in the act of slipping the garnet ring back on its accustomed finger.

"You coming over this evening, Ike?" asked Debby softly.

"Yes, if you want me," he said hoarsely.

"Of course I want you," said Debby bowne gently.

And Debby had part of her reward when the very next time she rode in the stage a timid passenger asked:

"Why do they call this snake corner?"

"Because there ain't any snakes here," replied Ike, with a twinkle in his eye.

Hilkemann-Koll

A very pretty church wedding occurred at St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church at Winnside at 2 o'clock Thursday, November 20, 1913, when Mr. and Mrs. Fred Koll gave their daughter Augusta Anna to Mr. Herman L. Hilkemann, a prosperous young farmer of Hoskins. The marriage vows were read in the presence of a very large number of relatives and friends of the contracting parties. Rev. G. H. Press officiated.

The bride was attended by Miss Minnie Koll and Miss Laura Stiemers and the groom was attended by Mr. August Koll and Mr. Henry Stiemers, says the Tribune.

Immediately after the ceremony the young couple and guests went to the country home of the bride where a sumptuous wedding dinner awaited them. About 150 invited guests were present to enjoy the hospitalities of the Koll family.

They will start housekeeping immediately on a farm made in readiness by the groom north of Hoskins.

Mount the Cannon

Some years ago a cannon was secured by the members of Casey Post, No. 5, G. A. R., and it has remained unmounted until now. It is now resting on a dark granite stone on which is engraved on one side the inscription, "In memory of the old soldiers of the Civil war, 1861-1865." On the opposite side is the names of the county commissioners, George Farran, Eph Anderson, Henry Rethwisch. On one end is the word "Loyalty," on the other "Casey Post No. 5, G. A. R." It is a very pretty ornament to the court house grounds and a fitting tribute to the loyal men who faced the cannon when the union of the nation was in peril.

Modern Woodmen Meeting

At a meeting of the Modern Woodmen here Tuesday evening arrangements were completed for the district meeting of that order to be held here next week Thursday evening, when Head Counsel Talbot will be here to address the neighbors. The speaking is to be at the city hall, as the hall for the regular meeting will be occupied early in the evening by another order. After the speaking refreshments will be served at the I. O. O. F. hall where the Woodmen regularly meet. Committees have been named to look after all details, and visiting neighbors will find a hearty welcome.

Good Substitute.

"Why have you not come to my bidge party as you promised?" telephoned the irate hostess. "You are breaking up one table."

"I am sick," was the reply.

"That's an old excuse."

"Really, I'm sick. I have a trained nurse."

"Well, you should have sent a substitute. Ask the nurse if she plays."—Kansas City Journal.

An Inducement.

Wife—I wish, Harry, dear, you'd get me a nice clock for my room. Hub—But I am really very short and can't afford—Wife (interrupting)—If you will I'll set it back two hours the evening you go to the club.—Boston Transcript.

THANKSGIVING.

By MARIAN DOUGLAS. I counted up my little store. Why was to others given more? Why were their lips with honey fed while mine had labor's hard earned bread?

A weary, hopeless task seemed living. I could not bring to God thanksgiving.

There came a poor man to my door. I shared with him my scanty store. When, lo, my sense of want had flown.

And rarest riches were my own! So sweet is love's divided bread I seemed with heaven's own manna fed.

What blessed joy there was in living! I brought to God my glad thanksgiving.
