Sudden Death of John L. Harder

Friday morning the friends and neighbors of John Harder were much surprised and shocked to learn of his sudden death, which occurred the evening before of heart failure at the home of his son Willy Harder on the home farm six and one-half miles north of Wayne where he had gone but a short time before. Of his life history we learn the following:

John Ludwig Harder was born at Sugo, Mecklenburg, Germany, April 13, 1855, and at the time of his death, February 5, 1914, was 57 years, 9 months and 22 days of age. He came to America when a boy of sixteen years and in 1880 was united in marriage to Louise Horn and their married life was spent in Nebraska after a few years in Michigan. In this state they first lived near Omaha, but for the last 23 years Wayne county has been their home, the last five years being spent at Wayne.

A wife, two sons and two daughters, a brother and two sisters survive to mourn his sudden departure.

Mr. Harder was a faithful and consistent Christian, a member of the German Lutheran church at this place and at the time of his death and for several years before he had been president of the organization, meeting the duties of the office fairly and discharging them faithfully and enthusiastically. He will be sadly missed by the members of the congregation and his services will be long remembered and his good acts imitated by members of the organization.

Mr. Harder was long a member of the Modern Woodmen and a leading member of the Sons of Herman who were in charge of the burial at the cemetery. A good citizen has been lost.

The funeral services consisted of a short service at the late home Sunday afternoon followed by the funeral at the German Lutheran church, where many gathered to hear the pastor, Rev. R. Moehring, pay a tribute to the departed brother and offer consolation to the bereaved relatives and friends. This service was largely attended and the pastor and congregation paid a most sincere tribute to the memory of their dead brother. The burial was in Wayne cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our most sincere thanks for the many acts of thoughtful sympathy and deeds of kindness extended to us in our sudden bereavement in the death and burial of husband and father. Mrs. John Harder and Children.

Johnson-Kitterer

Announcements have been received here from Miller, South Dakota, by the friends of John W. Johnson, who was in business at this place a few years ago, telling of his marriage to Miss Arabelle M. Kitterer at Skakopee, Minnesota, Monday, February 9, 1914. They are to be at home at Miller after July 1st, but the cards do not say where the intervening months are to be spent.

Mr. Johnson was first in business at Carroll with Bert Brown, and later with Ed Johnson in the furniture business at Wayne, they selling to Orlando Adams. He is now in the general merchandise business at Miller, South Dakota. He has numerous friends in this county who will wish himself and bride a happy life.

Aevermann-Bartling

Wednesday, February 11, 1914, at the home of Fred Haberman and wife, a sister of the bride, occurred the marriage of Mr. Fred Aevermann and Miss Matilda Bartling, Rev. Gehrke officiating.

There were a number of relatives and friends present to witness the ceremony, congratulate the young married folks and partake of the liberal hospitality of the Haberman home.

A New Farm House

A. C. Dean begins this week hauling material for a new and modern farm house on his place six miles southwest of Wayne. The new home is to be 32x32, two stories high and contain eight rooms. Heat, light and water are to be installed all the same as a city home.

Death of James Dobbin

James Dobbin, who with his invalid wife went from their home at Carroll about two months ago to Grand Island where he died in St. Francis hospital, Monday, February 9th, 1914, of cancer of the stomach, and the body passed through here Tuesday on its way to Laurel where the burial was to be. Mrs. Chas. Robbins, a daughter from Twin Falls, Idaho, was with the body, and his son Charles and daughter, Mrs. Peyton from Colorado also came to attend the funeral, which was held at Laurel Wednesday by Rev. McClusky, and burial was beside his son.

He was 76 years of age and served in the rebellion with the 91st Illinois regiment. He came to Wayne in 1886 and was in the dry goods and implement business here for a number of years, but spent his declining years at Carroll. In addition to the children spoken of above he left a wife, a daughter, Mrs. Killin of Pueblo, a son Holly at Central City, Colo., and James at Carroll. He was of a kindly disposition and a friend of his fellow man. In lodge circles he was advanced in Masonry, and about a year ago was converted and became a member of the church.

"Pioneer Farm"

I. O. Richardson, who settled on the place he now lives about two and a half miles southeast of Wayne in 1870, and has since lived at that place believes that he is entitled to call his farm the "Pioneer Farm" of this county, and has so registered it with County Clerk Reynolds. This was a wild prairie country in those days and Mr. Richardson has indeed earned the right to so name his farm, we believe.

He was among the first officials when the county was organized, and held the office of county treasurer when the county seat was at LaPorte. He has seen a wonderful change in this country since he first settled in this fertile valley, and says that here he expects to remain until he is called to a better land, and while his place will sell for many times what it cost him it is not for sale.

Mrs. Henry Gardner Dead

Word comes from Emerson of the death of Mrs. Henry Gardner, which occurred at her home at Emerson last week, following an operation which was undergone as the last hope of prolonging her life. Mr. and Mrs. Gardner lived at Wayne for some time, owning a place in the west part of town, and moved to Emerson but a few months ago. She came from Wisconsin to Nebraska a number of years ago, and having a trace of Indian blood in her veins was entitled to an allotment of land for herself and children, of whom there were four, a son and three daughters, the former dying a number of years ago. She was past seventy years of age. Of the funeral and burial we did not learn any particulars.

Mother and Baby Taken Home

Last week we made mention of the arrival of a woman and baby here about whom it was almost impossible to learn anything for several days. It proved to be Mrs. Wm. Jeffries of Knox county. The county attorney of Knox county, accompanied by the woman's brother came Thursday evening and took the woman to her home. The husband, who was visiting in Kansas, heard that his wife was here while on his way home, and came here for her the evening after she had been taken home. It is quite evident that the woman's life is not a happy one, and she must have fancied that she was wronged to thus leave her home and children and wander away in the night.

Suffragists at Court House

On Monday evening there will be a lecture at the court house by Mrs. Magdalene Munson on the question that is now one of the great political questions of the day—equal suffrage. Mrs. Munson is a Kansas lady of much ability and her talk will beyond doubt be highly instructive and entertaining, as well as official for she comes as the representative of the Suffragette association of the state. All are invited to come and hear this question ably discussed.

A Damage Case

Robert Bailey of the Cozy appealed to the judge of the county court to assess damages against Billie Hayes and Jos Patton for alleged breach of contract. Hayes and Patton are playing a vaudeville company in this part of the state and had correspondence regarding appearing at the Cozy, and out of it grew a misunderstanding, and when they contracted to appear at the Crystal there was a call for damages. When Judge Britton had heard the evidence and examined the different exhibits he held that there was a breach of contract and found for plaintiff in the sum of one dollar, and defendant, paid the costs.

Strahan-Powers

Wednesday afternoon Mr. Percie Strahan and Miss Faye Powers, accompanied by Rev. Strahan and Miss Mary Meister started on their wedding tour, going by automobile to Pender, where Mr. Percie Strahan and Miss Powers were married and continued their journey to Omaha, while the other couple returned to Wayne. The new married couple will soon be at home on one of the Strahan farms west of Wayne. Miss Powers is daughter of Frank Powers and wife and a most estimable and popular young lady with a large circle of friends. The groom is son of Frank Strahan and wife and a popular young man.

Social Notes

The members of the Minerva club entertained their husbands at a meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Roe last Saturday evening, an important meeting twice postponed. The evening was pleasantly and profitably passed by the members and their husbands. A musical program was given, Professors Coleman and Lackey singing a duet, accompanied by Mrs. Huse at the piano and Mrs. Huse gave a piano solo. Much enjoyment was given by a sort of musical question box. The questions were pinned to the wall where all could read, and then answered by some familiar song. Then came the talk on "Education for Citizenship" by Professor Lewis in which he presented some most excellent ideas on a question he has given much time and thought. He is what one might call a "progressive" but the term is not used in the sense of connecting him with the political party which is known by that name. The gentlemen wrote original valentines which the ladies drew to ascertain who was their partner for supper, which was served by the hostess and a committee.

The families of the Missionary Aid Society of the Presbyterian church met at the church Wednesday and had a picnic dinner. After dinner the following officers were elected:

President—Mrs. Mines.
Vice-Pres.—Mrs. Kiplinger.
Secretary—Mrs. A. A. Welch.
Treasurer—Mrs. C. W. Hixon.
Secretary of Literature—Mrs. Corkey.

Mr. Corbit made a very interesting speech, and every one had a very enjoyable afternoon.

The Union Bible Circle met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. M. Fisher with a large attendance. Mrs. Laughlin resigned her office as president and Mrs. J. G. W. Lewis was elected in her place. The lesson was most ably led by Miss C. White. Next Tuesday it will meet at the home of Mrs. Earl Lewis, the lesson will be faith destroying fear, found in Luke 12:1-12.

Mr. and Mrs. Rollie Ley were hosts at a delightful valentine whist party Tuesday evening. Mr. James Miller won the gentleman's prize. Mrs. Harry Fisher won the ladies' prize. Decorations and score cards were hearts. Delicious refreshments were served, the ice cream being served in heart shape. Mr. and Mrs. George Stringer were out of town guests.

Monday being Miss Ethel Huff's birthday about twenty of her friends gathered at her home in the evening to help her celebrate the event. A most enjoyable evening was spent in games and social conversation after which light refreshments were served. The guests presented Miss Huff with a cut glass dish as a remembrance of the event.

The ladies of the Catholic church surprised Mrs. H. Bluechel last Thursday afternoon. Each lady took a well filled basket and all feasted on the good things. The afternoon was very pleasantly spent visiting. The ladies presented Mrs. Bluechel with a souvenir spoon with a picture of the church in the bowl.

The Monday club met with Mrs. T. B. Heckert and each member invited a guest. A dainty two-course luncheon was served. The guests were Mrs. Rev. Myers, Mrs. O. E. Graves, Mrs. Kiplinger, Mrs. Ed Johnson, Mrs. Fred Philleo, Mrs. Center, Mrs. Fisher, Mrs. Murfree, and Mrs. Keckley.

The Junior Bible Circle met at the home of E. B. Young and wife last Saturday evening, and the attendance was not large, owing to the real winter weather. This week they will meet with Miss Grace Nettleton at the home of George Crossland and wife.

The P. E. O. will meet with Mrs. W. Jones next Monday afternoon. There will be a Bobby Burns program and chafing dish refreshments.

The Guild of St. Mary's church will meet this afternoon with Mrs. A. L. Lautass. Light refreshments will be served.

The Bridge Whist club meets with Miss Dora Lewis Saturday night.

Wayne Normal 27—Dana College 26

In a whirlwind finish of a hard fought, closely contested basketball game, Wayne Normal added another victory to her string, when she defeated the fast Dana college aggregation from Blair. Dana got the first basket, but the Normal came right back with one. Both teams guarded very closely and invariably broke up their opponents' offense before the ball could be shot through the basket. The defense of both teams was superior to its offense. Just before the whistle blew, the visitors slipped one through the hoop which put them ahead thirteen to eleven.

The second half soon became a tight struggle similar to the first. At times the work was rough and a little ragged due to the fact that both teams were fighting every minute for the lead. With the period half over Dana commenced to slip away until she was six points to the good. It looked doubtful to the home boys, but the Normal rooters took part and then the tide began to turn. It was just simply a case of work, and the Normal five pulled together and got their last basket just a few seconds before the whistle blew. It was a grand rally and the boys certainly deserve credit for the way they pulled together in the closing minutes of what proved to be the most exciting game of the season so far. Hickman for Wayne and Elkhorn for Dana registered the most points.

On February 20, Bellevue College plays here. Bellevue defeated Dana on the floor of the latter team by a margin of six points, and will surely show the people of Wayne a clean, close game. The Normal lineup in the Dana game was: Van Norman, center; Hickman and Becker, forwards; Welch and Gildersleeve guards.

Editor Wins Postoffice

Harry E. Ruehlow, editor of the Headlight at Hoskins, has been named as postmaster at that place, which came under the civil service rules and was given as the result of a competitive examination. It was reported two or three weeks ago that Miss Margarite Parchen was the successful aspirant, and we do not know by what means the result was changed or the report of the lady's success got out if not true. Mr. Ruehlow says that the paper and postoffice will go together and that he can manage both. We congratulated the lady some weeks ago on her reported victory and we now congratulate the editor, and wish to remind the young lady that she made an excellent showing to be such a close second to a newspaper man as to have the result in doubt for so long a time.

The women are starting a vigorous campaign for the privilege of voting—that is some of the women are—others do not care. To the Democrat it appears that intelligent women are as well fitted to vote intelligently as a great many men who are allowed to vote. In fact, we believe that there should be an educational qualification for all voters—rather than whether they wear skirts or trousers.

Jennings Wilson returned to his home at Oakland, Iowa, Friday following a visit of two weeks with his brother, J. R. Wilson on a farm three miles southeast of Wayne. Mr. J. R. Wilson is planning soon to move to Oakland, Iowa, and his neighbor, James Evans expects to go at the same time to Harlan, Iowa.

Stephen C. Lynde will be the next postmaster at Hartington, according to the voters at the election there. The vote was large, the day being warm and pleasant. The total vote cast was 512, of which Mr. Lynde received 275, Claude Baird 119, J. H. Felber 69, Mrs. R. J. Millard 35 and A. F. Suing 14.

There was a large number of Wayne shoppers who came in Saturday on the branch train. It was not the most pleasant day to be out, being the coldest day of the winter up to that time at least. There was also a good many teams in during the afternoon and they all came to do business for it was not the day for pleasure riding.

J. C. Good and John McCoun of Cherokee, Iowa, are here visiting the son of the former, John Good on the Phil Sullivan farm southeast of Wayne, and building a hog house on the farm for Mr. Sullivan. J. L. Payne and Wm. Morgan each bought a Duroc Jersey sow from Robt. Leisy at Wisner last week, and they are fair looking animals. Mrs. C. D. Martin had the misfortune to fracture a hip bone Friday. She went to the barn on some errand, and as she opened the door a gust of wind caught it and blew it with such force as to cause her to fall, breaking a bone in the hip. At her age, past the three-score-and-ten allotted to the human race, the knitting of the fracture will be a tedious job if it is possible to unite the bone. Mr. Martin had been in bed with grip several days, and was just able to be about when the accident happened and had not Robert Skiles happened along just in time to carry her to the house she would soon have frozen.

L. A. Griffith and wife returned to their home at Council Bluffs, Iowa, Monday following a visit at the home of J. L. Kelley and wife north of Wayne, Mrs. K., being their daughter. They were here about a week and had planned to stay longer, but on account of the cold weather thought they had best go home and keep a fire so that their food supply for the rest of the season would not freeze.

There was a box social at the Fairview school house about six miles southwest of Wayne Saturday evening. A short program was given and listened to with pleasure. Then Eugene Gildersleeve auctioned the boxes off and proved a very good cryer, getting more than $38 for the suppers. Miss Wolfe is teacher and helped to make the entertainment a success. The proceeds are to be used in buying a book case for the school—a piece of furniture of much utility in a school building.

O. W. Holmes, who came from Hartington a short time ago to work at the Clark garage met a buzz saw while it was in motion Monday, and almost left a thumb here. They were sawing boards into strips when the accident happened. The thumb of the left hand was cut across the base on the inside of the hand from near the wrist to a point between the thumb and index finger, and the joint where the thumb hinges to the hand was cut half in two. It required seven stitches to close the wound, and it will take it several weeks to heal so that he can work again.

A local building contractor and carpenter informs us that there is prospect of unusual activity in the building business at Wayne the coming season. In addition to the college job which will make work for many he spoke of a number of dwelling houses that are being figured on this year, but he said not to count the chickens before the hatch. That is good advice but when the egg is almost pipped as he says is true in this matter it is fit subject to comment upon, especially in a place where they stand in line waiting for some one to die or move out so that they may have a house to live in.

Geo Stringer and wife came Friday from Wrenshall, Minnesota, where they went last spring to improve some land they own there. George appears to be happy to be once more among his Wayne relatives and friends, but is loyal in proclaiming the merits of his Minnesota home. They are planning to remain a couple of months here. When asked as to land values there he said from nothing to $150 per acre, and explained in answer to a question that there is lots of good land there which cannot be cleared and fitted for cultivation for much less than $150 per acre. Thus the price in a measure at least depends upon the stumps which must be cleared from the land.

Jake Rouse came from Burkett Sunday for a short stay at Wayne while looking after his property here. He reports that the soldier men and their wives who went from here to the home are all well and enjoying a mild winter. He says that a number of the inmates have answered the last roll call during the past month, but that the death rate is not large considering that there are nearly 600 inmates at the home, and the men in the bunch were old enough to serve in the army 50 years ago. Of course their wives may be younger—and most of them are—but we must not talk of the age of the ladies too much. He brought a couple of subscription renewals from Democrat readers there.

J. C. Elliott, editor of the West Point Republican, was in Madison Saturday to attend the Montgomery-Donovan trial. He made us a pleasant call while here. We quizzed him concerning running for congress next fall. He said that his friends all around were urging him to enter the race. He made a very commendable race last time, and we feel confident should he consent to run this time he will be an easy winner. He is a highly educated man and has but very few equals in appearance and manners. By those who know him personally we learn he has the finest kind of standing with the people at home. We will be pleased to see him make the race and lend our support to him for the position. We hope that he will make the race.—Madison Chronicle.

The farmers had a wolf hunt yesterday near Wisner. They took in one township, beginning at each corner and beating the brush toward the center.

Emerson is now looking for a new depot. Chief engineer Moun, who has sole charge of the building of the Northwestern system was in Emerson one day last week but nothing has been given out definitely.

Walter Hoffman of Winside, who is coming to the front as a wrestler, has but recently returned from a little trip where he won two victories and lost one match, that with Peter Froon of Harlan, Iowa, at Randolph.

Some of the Methodist ministers of the east are said to be considering the idea of introducing and using the "movies" in their churches, and not allowing the theatrical attractions to draw all of the crowd and the money.

The death of Ubaldo Tannenberger, a pioneer citizen, took place at West Point last week. He had been a resident in Cuming county since the year 1866, doing his full share in building up this portion of the state. He is survived by a widow.

Sixty-seven different makes of automobiles will be shown at the annual automobile show in Omaha, February 23 to 28. This number insures the largest representation of automobiles ever exhibited west of the Mississippi river and is but a few cars less than shown at the Chicago show.

Winside appears to have outgrown the one-man size so far as railway business is concerned, and J. F. Hartson, who was agent for the past eight months has resigned. He had several predecessors who did likewise, yet it appears that the company do not think that the place can afford a helper.

Henry Harstick, on a recent visit to town, called attention to the fact that he is the oldest resident in Cuming county, now living. He has resided here for fifty-four years, continuously. He has an enthusiastic and abiding faith in Nebraska. He pronounces the present winter up to this time as the mildest and the most free from violent storms of any that he has passed since his arrival in Cuming county.

There is to be a get-together meeting of those who were once republicans and those who still claim to be the real thoroughbred stand-pat strain of breed at Lincoln this evening and our fellow citizen, Leslie Welch, is on the program as one of the orators of

MAKES RHEUMATISM PROMPTLY DISAPPEAR

Chronic, Crippled-up Sufferers Find Relief After Few Doses of New Remedy are Taken

It is needless to suffer any longer with rheumatism, and be all crippled up and bent out of shape with its heart-wrenching pains, when you can surely avoid it.

Rheumatism comes from weak, inactive kidneys, that fail to filter from the blood, the poisonous waste matter and uric acid; and it is useless to take on liniments or take ordinary remedies to relieve the pain. This only prolongs the misery and can't possibly cure you.

The only way to cure rheumatism is to remove the cause. The new discovery, Croxone, does this because it neutralizes and dissolves all the poisonous substances and uric acid that lodge in the joints and muscles, to scratch and irritate and cause rheumatism, and cleans out and strengthens the stopped-up, inactive kidneys, so they can filter all the poisons from the blood and drive it on and out of the system.

Croxone is the most wonderful medicine ever made for curing chronic rheumatism, kidney troubles, and bladder disorders. You will find it different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth like it. It matters not how old you are, or how long you have suffered, it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. You will find relief from the first few doses, and you will be surprised how quickly all your misery and suffering will end.

An original package of Croxone costs but a trifle at any first-class drug store. All druggists are authorized to sell it on a positive money-back guarantee. Three doses a day for a few days is often all that is ever needed to cure the worst backache or overcome urinary disorders.

the occasion. They may get together at the feed, but when it comes to affiliating at the polls there does not appear to be much prospect of reconciliation.

At Ponca they have been awakened by the newspaper enough to begin to think of having a commercial club. An organization of the people interested in a town and the surrounding community can do much to better conditions if they but try to do so and work intelligently, and all pull together.

The state of Nebraska now has a laboratory for the free examination of milk, water and other food supplies. The laboratory will also examine pathological specimens for physicians testing for the various diseases they reveal. The examinations will be made for boards of health, public officers, and physicians according to rules which will be sent upon application.

S. R. Duncan, secretary of the state horticultural society says that the strawberry patch on the farm is worth much more than it cost one year with another. They are easily grown for a fruit crop, and bring quick returns, the plant bearing the year after planting. He says that 300 plants will furnish the ordinary family with all of the fruit of that kind they will need. From the price that berries bring on the market here, a patch for the market should pay well, unless like last season the drouth hurts them.

Wayland Willey was up from Lyons last Saturday shaking hands with old friends. He has sold his farm near Lyons to give possession March 1st. He has been at Wayne looking up a house and will move there for a year or two in order to send his children to school. He expects to buy another farm but will look around a while before investing. He sold his Lyons land at an advance of $40 per acre over what he paid for it four years ago, which means a nice profit, besides what he has earned on the land.—Pender Republic.

The death of William L. Wills at his residence in South Madison last week marks the passing of a person familiar to Madison county people for upwards of forty years. Wills was born at Hubbardton, Vt., August 5, 1846. He settled on a homestead ten miles southwest of Madison in Kalamazoo precinct in 1869 where he resided for ten years since which time he has made his home at Madison. For many years the deceased was engaged in the grain, live stock and implement business here and for ten years had been foreman of the Hume ranch.

Omaha broke all records in its grain receipts for the month of January taking second place among the markets of the world trailing only Chicago. The receipts in Omaha for the month were 7,716,700 bushels, as follows: Wheat, 1,364,400; corn, 5,142,000; oats, 1,135,000; barley, 58,800; and rye 16,500. The shipments out of Omaha were 8,073,200 bushels, which also put Omaha second in this respect. These receipts and shipments emphasize the possibilities of Nebraska, which furnishes seventy-five per cent of the Omaha shipments. In these figures goes ahead of St. Louis and Kansas City.

Some time ago we made mention of the stealing of seventeen head of cattle near Battle Creek, and of the finding of the cattle and the guilty person, but that no arrests were made. It was in part at least a family affair, but when the matter was about to be dropped entirely the Nebraska Live Stock Owners Association took the matter up and demanded the county attorney to act and will furnish evidence against the guilty man. He disfigured and mutilated the stolen stock—cutting off the horns, ears and tails—but two of the cattle got out and came home which trace soon led to the location of the thief. Leo Kurpewick is under arrest for the crime.

County Attorney P. F. O'Gara of Cedar county has received word that the decision of Judge Graves in the Forley case had been sustained by the supreme court. The court holds that the term of commissioners under the law at the time Mr. Furley was elected was three years, and that the statement of campaign expenses made by Mr. Carroll was sufficient. There was much interest in this case in this part of the state especially. Wayne county had a commissioner, James Stanton, whose term of office was the same as above, and he was in doubt as to his rights in the case, and possibly thought of attempting to hold over. But had Stanton decided so to do he could have consistently done so, for he was not a candidate for re-election. To us it seems that when Commissioner Furley entered the race for another term he practically conceded that his term closed with the year.

Why Not a Hired Man?

The County Farm Demonstrator is really the hired man of the farmers in the county farm management associations. He is working under the directions of the executive committee of the association and of the extension service of the State College of Agriculture. He works with those who are interested enough in the work of the demonstrator to join the Farm Management association and to agree to co-operate to determine the best agricultural practices for the community. In the county where the work is established his time is more than occupied. For example, the yearly report of Mr. Culver, the demonstrator in Merrick county, shows that in the last ten months he has traveled 9,040 miles by automobile answering calls from farmers in Merrick county. He has visited upon request 543 farms, had on Saturdays 478 office callers, has received practically 200 letters and written 800 and has had in the neighborhood of 2,000 telephone calls. Besides this he has been instrumental in holding more than 20 meetings with an attendance of over 2,000. He has held many field demonstrations to determine the best methods of cultivation and variety of crops. He has vaccinated over 2,000 head of hogs, estimated by the owners as being worth $17,000. The loss has been less than three per cent. He has weeded out 40 cows which were not paying their board. The Farm Demonstrator is certainly a hired man who has lots of work to do.

Why not a hired man for the farmers of Dixon county. Now is the time to get busy on this subject. Don't wait until next spring or the available competent men for this job may be all employed. Surely the farmers of Dixon county are as progressive as those of Merrick county. And from a financial standpoint the farmers of this county simply cannot afford to worry along without the County Farm Demonstrator. He is as indispensable as the state university down at Lincoln. The above is from the Nebraska Journal-Leader of Ponca, and would read as well with the name of the county changed to Wayne.

The Skin and Not the Blood

Until recently it has been a generally accepted theory that eczema was a disease of the blood. Scientific investigations have taught us that eczema is positively a skin disease and curable through the skin alone. Meritol Eczema Remedy is applied directly to the diseased skin. Do not delay trying Meritol Eczema Remedy.—Adams' Model Pharmacy, local agents.—adv.

What is wrong with this old earth of ours that she gives so grudgingly that it takes 90 per cent of the energy of the people who live there to make a bare existence? Not the earth, you say, but a wrong adjustment of things—false economics—fostering a system which takes from those who have not and gives to those that have. Well, lets change the system then.

In the interest of efficiency and economy the board of food and drug inspection has been abolished. This is the body that put Dr. Wiley out of a place he was filling in the interest of the people. They were the fellows who upheld the saccharine sweetening, use of a poison in curing meats and the bleaching of flour with a deadly poison. It was time for them to go and keep going.

A Memphis bank closed its doors this week as a result of being robbed by its president, C. Hunter Raine, who had stolen about a half million, and is now in prison. The defaulter lays his double dealing to Wall street where he speculated and now sees that the cards were stacked against him. Yet there are those who think the law should not be changed to curb the robbery by that gang of tricksters.

The story goes that a party of scholarly gentlemen were discussing the work of the congressmen and commenting thereon when one asked who knew anything of the merits of the Lev-er bill or what it was about when one of the group broke the silence which was becoming painful, with the suggestion that the name implied that it would relate to divorce or wife desertion, or something of that nature.

One of the important questions now before congress is the question of rural credits. Pass a just and proper law for extending the government credit to the land owners and those who wish to become land owners and this administration will have done another good job for the people. An honest, hardworking tiller of the soil is as much entitled to a loan from the government of which he is a part as a Wall Street banker.

President Wilson, in our opinion, is right in ignoring the party platform in regard to the canal tolls for coast shipping. His predecessors had bound their country by treaty to admit the ships of all nations on terms of equality to the canal—and the platform should not have declared against that feature expecting to violate a treaty obligation. If the treaty was wrong the republicans—not this administration is responsible, and time should be given for the state department to amend the agreement, not openly violate the spirit and the letter of it. American shipping interests have been coddled all but to death by laws which were passed to give them protection from competition—and this protection has exterminated it. A little fight for life gives stamina to business if it win—if it cannot win why should the public be taxed to support it?

Among The Churches of Wayne

German Evangelical Lutheran Church. (Rev. H. Moehring, Pastor.) Services next Sunday at 11 o'clock and Sunday school at 10.

St. Mary's Catholic Church. (Rev. Wm. Keams, Pastor.)

Mass in Wayne Sunday morning at 10:15 and eucharism after mass. Benediction in the evening at 7:30.

First Baptist Church. (Rev. B. E. Richardson, Pastor.)

It was a cold day last Sunday, but it was warm at church. Grandma Davies was at her accustomed place. It is inspiring to many to see the unflinching faithfulness of this saint in Israel. Sunday evening a splendid audience of young people was present. The young people's social on Saturday evening, in spite of the cold, was successful.

Tomorrow (Friday) afternoon from 4 to 7 the ladies of the society will hold a Missionary tea at the home of Mrs. S. W. Dayton.

Mrs. Ethel Norton will lead the young people's meeting Sunday evening. It will deal with the practical side of the temperance question.

Sunday morning the pastor will preach a sermon on the subject: "Our Denomination." Will tell something of its history, achievements and organization. Every intelligent church member ought to know the fact concerning his own denomination.

Sunday evening the sermon will deal with another of Christ's miracles—the loaves and the fishes.

During this month, special services will be held in the Baptist church in Carroll, Pilger, Norfolk, Plainview, and perhaps elsewhere in our association. Let us pray for these meetings.

Neglect not the small things. Use your talent. A word, rightly spoken, may be the turning point in some life. Be on the alert to do good.

The call of the prayer meeting should be heard by every christian. Have you responded to the call?

A cordial welcome to worship with us.

St Paul's Lutheran Church. (Rev. F. E. Blossing, Pastor.) Sunday school every Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

Regular services every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. The subject of the sermon for next Sunday morning will be: "A Consoling Declaration—'It is I'." John 6:20. A man enduring many trials and hardships, is continually expecting and anticipating more. He is always bowed down; and every touch, however gentle, seems a blow to smite and thrust him lower. When the apostles, in their little boat, were tossed by the stormy sea, it seemed as though deliverance was impossible. In the midst of their anguish they beheld one walking on the sea; this sight added to their fear. But as the voice of this one sounded out over the stormy sea, it soothed the terror which his presence roused. Today there is no voice which can rise above the storms of life, to soothe the spirit and to hush the turmoil, save the voice of Christ, as it says: 'It is I.'

Evening services every Sunday at half past seven. The subject of the sermon next Sunday evening will be: "Christ as a Priest" Heb. 9:11.

The Ladies' Aid society met at the home of Mrs. Silas Mellick on last Thursday. The day was very stormy, yet there was a very good attendance and a pleasant time was spent. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. E. C. Tweed, on February 19.

The newly elected members of the council will be installed next Sunday. The catechetical class will meet Saturday at half past two.

A cordial invitation is extended to all who wish to worship with us.

Methodist Church. (Rev. C. L. Myers, Pastor.)

Special music Sunday morning. Prudmen's Aid society day, February 15.

"The True Way." Special program Sunday morning. Emancipation proclamation signed January 1, 1863.

In 1866 the Methodist church began their work for the Freedmen with $500 borrowed money and one teacher. Sermon in the morning is to be a short one.

We have twenty institutions of learning valued at $1,457,476. One is a theological school, one medical college, two hospitals, eleven colleges, nine academies, three industrial schools.

If you are not in your place in the Sunday school class you are missed and you miss something also.

There are 25,000 black Methodists. We have graduated 13,200 as teachers; 3,100 as ministers; 1,200 as physicians, pharmacists and dentists; 6,500 students were enrolled last year.

The Epworth League will bring its Mission study next Sunday. If you want a book, the price is 35 or 60 cents.

The per capita giving of the black man for Freedman's Aid is 15 cents and the white man's is 4 cents.

The prayer meeting of last week was one of special interest.

In fifty years the black population has increased from four to ten millions. Fifty years more and there will be thirty millions.

The night was fierce, but there was quite a large gathering at the parsonage and a splendid time was had. The pastor and family enjoyed it.

In 1860 literacy among the colored people was ninety per cent; in 1910 it was thirty and five-tenths.

That "13" social will be great. The band, composed of thirteen instruments, will play. We are expecting representatives from thirteen different nations.

Presbyterian Church. (Rev. Alexander Corkey, Pastor.)

"The Black Man in America, or Reasons for our Freedmen's Work" will be the subject of the sermon in the Presbyterian church next Sunday morning. This will be a Jubilee service in the interest of education among the Afro-Americans. The Sunday school will assist in the service and will make an offering to the cause. The service begins at 10:30.

In the evening the third sermon in the series on "The Women and Girls of the Bible" will be preached. The subject, for next Sunday evening will be "The Queen of Sheba, and How She Condemns the Men of this Generation."

The C. E. prayer meeting is held at 6:30 each Sunday evening. The attendance and interest in this prayer meeting are growing, and the developing christian life of the society is apparent.

The Sunday school will meet next Sunday at 12 o'clock, immediately following the morning service.

On Friday evening of next week, February 20, the Southland Jubilee Quartet, a colored band of Jubilee singers, will give a concert at the Presbyterian church under the auspices of the young people. Tickets will be 50 cents, 35 cents and 25 cents. Student tickets are 35 cents and the children 25 cents. There will be dialect readings from Paul Lawrence Dunbar, and plantation melodies in addition to regular quartet work.

Abraham Lincoln's Religion.

Last Sunday morning the anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln was remembered at the Presbyterian church, and the subject of the sermon was "Abraham Lincoln's Religion." A picture of the war president hung in front of the pulpit, surrounded by the flags of America and the Christian church. The mid-week church service is being devoted to lectures on revelations, the prophetic book of the new testament. In its experience of nineteen centuries the prophecies of this book have been fulfilled, and its unfulfilled prophecies are as certain as the law of gravitation. Deeply spiritual, and written in symbolical language, the book only appeals to mature christians who delight in "the deep things of God." said the preacher, "the inward, invisible life of his spirit, from which inward life the outward always comes."

Continuing the speaker said that Abraham Lincoln's religion was biblical. He received his conception of God, and of his duty to God and men from the bible, believing that the good men of former centuries who wrote the bible wrote in the name and with the authority of God. That his ultimate faith both for himself and his country rested in God is shown in his farewell address to his neighbors in Springfield, Ill., when he left his home in 1861 to be in agrated as President of the United States. "I now leave," said Lincoln, "not knowing when, or whether ever, I may return, with a task before me greater than that which rested upon Washington. With the assistance of that Divine Being who ever attended him I cannot fail. Trusting in Him who will go with me and remain with you and be everywhere for good, let us confidently hope that all will yet be well. To His care commending you, as I hope in your prayers you will commend me, I bid you an affectionate farewell." These words show the depth of his religious faith when he entered the White House, and in 1865, in his second inaugural speech, his confidence is still more clearly expressed. Lincoln saw evidences of God's being and power in Nature. He acknowledged the hand of God in history, but nowhere did God speak to him more intimately than in his conscience. Conscience was the high priest of God within his soul, telling him to avoid what was wrong and to do what was right, and on one occasion he exclaimed, when urged to do what he believed to be wrong, "You may burn my body to ashes and scatter them to the four winds of heaven; you may drag my soul down to the regions of darkness and despair, to be tormented forever; but you will not get me to surrender." REFORMATORY NEAR LINCOLN

Owners of Nebraska Military Academy Submit Proposition.

Lincoln, Feb. 9.—A proposition to locate the new $150,000 reformatory in Lincoln has been made the state board of control by the owners of the Nebraska military academy, which is situated three miles west of Lincoln, on a hill a short distance north of the asylum for the insane.

The offer is made by T. S. Allen, representing the company owning the academy, who sets forth that the building is of modern type and cost at the time it was built five years ago $125,000. A section of land can be obtained to go with the building which is especially adapted for farming. The land also includes a string of clay banks.

TO FORM PHONE COMPANY

Johnson County Farmers Object to Recent Raise in Rates.

Tecumseh, Neb., Feb. 9.—More than 300 telephone users of Johnson county met at the court house in Tecumseh to take some action in the matter of the raise of rates recently made by the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph company. The outcome of the meeting was the taking of steps to organize a mutual telephone company and when an expression was called for as to those willing to take stock and patronize such a company every man stood up. Five men were named from each of the eight exchanges in the county to take up the matter of organization for the new company, and these men will meet in Tecumseh Saturday to take further action in the matter.

Great Majestic Range

Malleable and Charcoal Iron

A Perfect Baker

Fuel Saver

It Makes Good Every Day In The Year

The perfect range is the one which fully meets every requirement of the average housewife. In addition to all its other good points, it must be a perfect baker, week in, week out—month in, month out—year in, year out, and it must be economical in consumption of fuel. The wise housewife will not buy the range, from which she expects a lifetime of perfect service, from any mere printed description in a catalogue—but before deciding upon any range she will examine closely into all the superior points of merits of the Great Majestic—the range with a reputation—built upon honor of the best materials.

Won't Break Or Rust Like Steel—Outwears Three Ordinary Ranges
It is the only range made of malleable iron and charcoal iron. Charcoal iron won't rust like steel—malleable iron can't break, and while the first cost of a Great Majestic may be more than some other ranges, it outwears three ordinary ranges.

Saves Half Your Fuel
The Majestic is put together with rivets. The joints and seams will remain absolutely tight as another expansion and contraction can effect or open them. The oven is lined with pure asbestos board, covered with an iron grate—put there to stay—so you can see it. No heat escapes into the oven, thus half the fuel used in other ranges, assures absolutely even, always dependable heat for perfect baking. No springs anywhere to weaken, or get out of order. All doors drop down and form perfect rigid shelves. Malleable iron oven racks slide out automatically, holding everything they contain.

Greatest Improvement Ever Put In a Range

The reservoir is all copper and heats like a tea kettle through a copper pocket, stamped from one piece, setting against lining of fire box. By turning a lever inside the reservoir are moved away from fire. This feature patented and exclusive in the Majestic.

Open End Ash Pan—No Shoveling
The open end ash pan does away with the shoveling of ashes out of ash pit. The perforated ash pit prevents the floor from catching on fire and the ash can catch the ashes that would otherwise fall to the floor.

Increasing the strength and wear of a Great Majestic more than 50% at a point where all other ranges are weaker.

Injured by Stove Explosion

Last Friday morning the home of M. J. Hefferson and wife was the scene of an explosion, the water front of the range exploding soon after the morning fire had been started, the water pipes being so frozen that the steam created by boiling the water in the front could escape no other way. Mr. Hefferson was directly in the path taken by the front of the stove and a large piece struck him on the left arm breaking the bone above the elbow and bruising the flesh badly. He was also cut about the face and leg by flying pieces, one gash being nearly two inches in length just below the knee. The hot water also scalded numerous small places. Mr. H. is still confined to his bed and the cuts and bruises have given him considerable pain. The most fortunate thing about the affair was the escape of the little child in a chair near the stove. The stove was completely wrecked. One lid left its mark on the ceiling where it happened to strike flat against the plaster. Another piece cut through the plaster and lath of side wall.

Mrs. Hefferson was nearly prostrated from the shock and her mother, Mrs. Weidner came from Omaha to spend a week with her, assisting in the care of the injured man.

The business men showed the regard in which they hold the unfortunate man, who has been clerking at the German store several months, by subscribing a fund sufficient to purchase him a new range. It will be some days yet before he will be able to be about.

O. O. O.—Order of Owls

John H. Dorr, a national organizer for that order tells us that they will institute a lodge of the order at Wayne in the near future. A circular which he uses says that the order is for the protection of the members while living and of the widows and orphans of the departed. Any male above 21 years of age of sound mental and physical health of Causasian race and good moral character is eligible as a charter member. The membership is $5 for charter members. The dues are $1.00 per month and the benefits are listed at $10 per week for disability from sickness and accident, and doctor if in good standing when taken sick or hurt and $100 funeral expenses in case of death. The price of admission is doubled after the charter is closed and the age limit is 50 years. The monthly dues except 40 cents a year are used by the local order to pay the home sick and accident benefits—which implies that each lodge will look after its own. Forty cents per year per member is sent to the head office, which is a very modest sum, but for which as we understand they assume no responsibility.

The plans are to have a team from a neighboring place come and institute the order here and have a fine time with feed and talk.

LIVE STOCK PRICES AT SOUTH OMAHA

Fat Cattle Steady, but Not Very Active.

HOGS—LARGELY 5¢ HIGHER

Better Prices for Sheep and Lambs. Lambs and Ewes Strong to 10@15c Higher—Trade Active, With Good Clearance.

Union Stock Yards, South Omaha, Feb. 10.—A fair run of cattle showed up today, about 5,000 head. The fat cattle market was more or less slow and drabby today, although for the most part prices were in about the same notches as on Monday. Choice 1,500-pound beefs sold up to $8.60. It was a very uneven market for cows and heifers, but the average of prices was not so very much different from Monday. Good to choice grades, as well as the canners, found a tolerably free outlet at firm figures, but on the ordinary run of butcher and beef stock prices were generally shaded and the trade very drabby. Veal calves continue in keen request and firmly held at $7.25@10.25. Trade in stock cattle and feeding steers developed considerable activity and strength today and prices were strong to a shade higher all-around.

Cattle quotations: Choice to prime beefs, $8.30@8.60; good to choice beefs, $8.00@8.30; good to fair beefs, $7.75@8.00; common to fair beefs, $6.75@7.75; good to choice feeders, $6.75@7.75; good to choice cows, $6.50@7.25; fair to good cows, $5.50@6.50; canners and cutters, $4.25@5.25; veal calves, $8.00@10.25; bulls, stags, etc., $5.50@7.25; good to choice feeders, $7.00@8.15; fair to good feeders, $7.25@7.50; common to fair feeders, $6.75@7.15; stock cows and heifers, $6.00@7.25; stock calves, $6.50@8.25.

Hog receipts totaled nearly 17,000 head. Trade in hogs was rather active today and prices were largely a nickel higher than Monday. Bulk of the sales was made at $8.30@8.55, and tops reached $8.50. Values today are at the extreme high point for the year to date.

Sheep and lamb receipts amounted to about 11,000 head. There was a good demand for sheep and lambs today and the trade was active at prices generally strong to 10@15c higher than Monday. The range of lambs was made around $7.00@7.40. Ewes changed hands at $4.90@5.00.

Quotations on sheep and lambs: Lambs, good to choice, $7.25@7.50; lambs, fair to good, $6.90@7.25; lambs, culls, $5.50@6.50; yearlings, light, $6.15@6.40; yearlings, heavy, $5.75@6.15; wethers, good to choice, $5.50@5.85; wethers, fair to good, $5.25@5.50; ewes, good to choice, $5.15@5.30; ewes, fair to good, $4.50@5.15.

Sunday afternoon when Mr. and Mrs. H. L. DeLancey and little daughter were returning from the dedicatory services their team became frightened at a passing freight train and turning sharply to one side upset the buggy throwing them all to the ground. The little girl escaped injury, but Mr. DeLancey suffered a broken collar bone while his wife had a cheek bone broken. The conductor stopped his train and backed up to where the unfortunate parties were and finding them to be quite badly injured the crew assisted them on the train and thus they were brought to town and the injured parts received attention. We have since heard that Mr. DeLancey's condition is worse than was at first expected, but have been unable to gather the facts. The team was caught farther down the road by Alex Larrie. Neither the team or the rig was hurt in the melee. Carroll Index.

Commencing at One O'clock Sharp

25 Head of Good Draft Horses 25

Including 12 stallions from 1 to 6 years old. Balance are high grade geldings and mares. They are young sound, large and of best quality

These stallions have all been inspected under Nebraska Stallion law and have sound certificates. We are including several of our prize winners in this sale.

Wayne county has long been noted for its big draft horses. Why? Because the best stallions have been kept here, and Wayne county geldings have brought fancy prices in the principal big horse markets. Farmers should have a good draft stallion in every township. Two or more farmers should get together and purchase a good one. It will not only make them more money, but their entire community. It costs no more to raise a market topper than to produce a scrub to sell at a low figure. Send for catalogue.

L. M. Owen reports an excellent sale. The crowd was large as the excellent offering warranted, and the stock and machinery sold at a satisfactory price, and to leave a record for future reference we give a few figures. A last season colt sold for $90 and a cow brought the same price. All horses sold well, the top being $202.50. Machinery was in good shape and brought almost the price of new. Mr. Owen says that a well advertised sale is the best method of disposing of surplus stock on a farm or closing out as he did this time.

Phil H. Kohl left Wednesday to visit for a very short time at Cleveland, Ohio, the home of his boyhood. He has not been in that city for 23 years, and expects to find great changes in that time, as the place has practically doubled in population since then, and is now the first city of the state. He regrets that his visit this time, being of a business nature, must be short. He would like to have time to find some of his former friends and see some of the old landmarks.

I. E. Ellis, commonly known as Ed, has purchased from Berry & Hart the livery barn and business on 1st street, a block west of Main, and is now in charge. This was formerly run for about a year by J. Berry & Hart secured the property in a trade and owned it but two weeks. They returned to Vermillion, S. D. Mr. Loudon still resides at Wayne.

Mrs. Leavens and daughter, Dorothy from Cambridge, Vermont, came last week to visit a few days at the home of Clyde Oman and wife. They are good skirts, well made of excellent material but the fullness is at the bottom instead of the top. After all, that's the way about nine-tenths of the women really like them so we think these garments will sell quickly at this price. Don't decide on the impulse that you don't want one. CHICKEN LICE

All old chickens have lice unless regular preventive measures are used. With one application of Lee's Lice Killer, I have often taken 100 or more lice by actual count from a hen whose owner thought she had no lice. Chickens cannot do well if infested with vermin of any kind, and the easiest and best way to get rid of them is by the use of Lee's Lice Killer. A small amount applied under the feathers, on the neck, etc., never directly to their bodies. No dusting, dipping or spraying. 25c, 50c and $1.00 cans. Sold by leading dealers. Start for latest poultry book and new pamphlet.

THEY DECEIVE WITH PICTURES

Favorite Method of the Catalogue Houses.

THE FARMER AND THE COW

Would He Buy One From a Picture? Mail Order Houses Use Exaggerated Drawings and Paintings Instead of Photographic Reproductions—Stung and Nothing is Said About It.

[Copyrighted, 1914, by Thomas J. Sullivan.] A book with pictures and a book without pictures differ nearly as much as a room with windows and a room without windows, for pictures are loopholes of escape to the soul, leading it to other scenes and spheres where the fancy for the moment may revel, refreshed and delighted. They are windows of imprisoned thought.

A picture is invariably an exaggeration of the object reproduced, and, generally speaking, to please it must deceive.

Of Deceptive Values

The deceptive value of drawings or paintings over photography is recognized by no one more fully than by the great catalogue houses, hence their adoption of the most expensive method of displaying their goods to the public, well knowing that photographs tell the truth, so far as a correct pictorial reproduction is concerned, and would not be conducive to good business methods when the goods offered are faulty.

How many farmers would think of buying a cow from a picture in a newspaper or catalogue, with just a name and description under it? Of course the description would say that the cow was a fine black and white cow, weight 800 pounds and so many hands high, free from blemishes and offered at the reduced price of $39.97 because of a spot cash deal with a stock farm which failed.

There is as much sense in a purchase of that nature as there is for a farmer to buy a buggy, "our own brand," at $24.70 when he can get the real article from his home dealer for $25 and have the privilege of inspecting it before buying. And no freight to pay.

Did Farmer Consider Everything?

While talking to a farmer the following was gleaned: "Farmers, as a rule, do not like to send their money to Chicago or any other place for their goods. They would rather buy of their local merchants if their prices are not out of reason. Merchants generally buy their goods where they can get them the cheapest, whether in Chicago, New York or Asia, no matter how much of the same goods the farmer has to sell. The price is the first and last consideration. They fix the price of what he sells as well as what he buys. Can the farmer be blamed for buying where he can get the best bargains? He wants to enjoy the same privilege as the merchants do. Fair play is all he wants."

A Business Injustice.

But did the farmer who made the above remarks take everything into consideration? Did he remember that while the local business men are maintaining markets for the farmers, assisting in making roads to these markets and doing all they can to help the farmer, the mail order houses that have not a cent invested in his vicinity do not buy a dollar's worth of the farmer's crops nor contribute a cent to the welfare of the community? Yet they are getting a goodly portion of the local trade, and business men naturally feel that it is an injustice. It is, and the only way to overcome it is by ADVERTISING.

Visit to Country Town.

Merchants should publish a comparison of their prices with those of the retail catalogue houses—fight them with their own weapons. While visiting a country town recently the writer made some investigations and discoveries. For example, a Chicago mail order house was selling 100-pound grindstones mounted for $3.10. The local merchant sold the same article for $3.25; freight from Chicago, 55 cents, making the mail order article cost $3.65, seem roofing, $2.85 in Chicago and $2.00 from the local merchant, freight 15 cents per square to be added to the $2.85, making it $3 delivered; washing machines, $3.85 against $3.75, freight 25 cents to be added to the $3.85. These are facts which every merchant can prove and keep right on proving all the time.

Cash at Home Too.

Local merchants will quote prices on goods so low that catalogue and mail order houses cannot duplicate them. But you must pay cash. Mail order houses demand the cash in advance. Why not pay the local merchant in advance? Besides, when you buy from a catalogue you send your money away from your home town. You buy from a picture and wait a week or ten days for the goods to arrive; then you open up your "prize box" to see what you really have drawn in the lottery and what you have to show for your money. If you have drawn one of their "bats" you tell your neighbors and friends about it. In fact, you will tell every one about it. If you find, as is usually the case, that you were "stung" you say nothing about it; your lips are sealed as tight as death.

To Hire Farm Demonstrator

The Madison County Farm Management association has just been formed to enable the county to employ an agricultural demonstrator. When hired, he will be the sixth in the state. The Madison county association has a membership of 300 farmers, although the work of securing members has just started. The organization has also raised ample funds with which to carry on the work. Other counties in the state having agricultural demonstrators are Gage, Seward, Thurston and Merrick. Dawes county perfected its association a few weeks ago and expects to close a contract by Feb. 15. Farmers interested in the duties of an agricultural demonstrator and how to form a county farm management association may obtain this information free by applying for Extension bulletin No. 11, from the bulletin department, University Farm, Lincoln.

Substitutes For Meat

The various substitutes for meat in the home may be learned from an up-to-date free cook book containing 80 pages, upon application for Extension bulletin No. 17 of the bulletin department, University Farm, Lincoln. Among the substitutes mentioned are eggs, cheese, nuts, dried peas and beans. These are all classed as having the same value as meat in the building of bodily tissue. The cost of some of these foods is less than meat.

Postoffice Election at Norfolk

The postoffice primary election held at Norfolk Saturday upon the order of Congressman Stephens resulted in a tie vote for first place between Carl Wilde and Andrew G. Nelson, each of whom received 450 votes. The candidates in order were Fred W. Kroeber 284; Herman W. Winter 207; Herman R. Gerecke 139; Marie Weekes 135.; Arthur Phillips 66.

A later report gives the victory to Nelson by two votes, gained on a new count. Nelson also claims that two more votes were certainly intended for him, but not counted as they were not regular. One of them the voter had written his name on the ballot and placed the cross after the name instead of the proper place. In the other instance the voter had drawn a line through the names of all of the candidates except Nelson's. If the women had been allowed to vote they could have done no worse than these two did.

There has been a great many farm auction sales of stock, implements, etc., here during the sale season now drawing to a close, and prices have ruled from good to high. This has not only been true in the immediate vicinity of Wayne, but all through this corner of Nebraska. The selling of farm stock at auction is growing. Some farmers make it a regular business to raise and gather by purchase and fit up for sale a lot of stock each year—or perhaps twice a year. It is a legitimate business if conducted fair without by-bidding. In fact it is the fairest way now known for disposing of such goods. Gather it up and then ask all of those who want to buy to come and offer what they think it worth—the man placing the highest value thereon to get the goods. One thing that the Democrat has noticed is that those who make the greatest success of this business are the ones who most thoroughly advertise their offering. They think that $100 spent in advertising is well spent if it brings them the men who need the stock offered. Jones, for instance, would buy a valuable animal at his own price if Smith were not there to say that it is worth more than that to him. Publicity brings the people who want the goods and the auctioneer finds out who wants it the worst.

Believing that a good farm demonstrator would be of great benefit to the farms and the farmers of this county, as well as to all of the people who are living within the county, the Democrat would be glad to see the Commercial Club take up the matter with the aid of the farmers and see if it is not possible to obtain such service. So far as we know the farmers of the county are not organized to take united action on such questions, and we believe that they should have some sort of organization that they can work through for better conditions. By better conditions we mean first of all united and intelligently directed action toward securing more and better paying crops. There are lots of things which could be grown here with profit that is greater than that now obtained if there were an effort to secure enough people in one vicinity to grow the crop to make the marketing of it profitable. Suppose that twenty farmers should get together and say we will each grow ten acres of broom corn—that would make 200 acres of this crop—then machinery for caring for it could be had at less expense to each, and there would be enough of the broom straw here to induce some manufacturer to bid for it, or to supply a broom factory which could be established in the county. Suppose that an equal number of farmers should grow five acres each of onions. There would be enough to make it an object for some one to ship them. The same might apply to other crops as well. They could also organize so that silo filling machinery could be purchased by neighborhood groups and more than a third could be added to the feeding value of all of the corn that was cared for in this manner.

KEEPING SWINE HEALTHY IN WINTER

If convenient have your feed and hog nest in a small wood lot or blue grass pasture. Never ring hogs, but let them root to their hearts' desire, writes F. L. Rodehaven of Ohio in the National Stockman. Never put more than thirty-five or forty together, and construct a good board pen about 8 by 16 feet for sleeping quarters. Place the sleeping quarters on a raised piece of ground as far away from the feeding place as convenient. Board the pen up tight, but leave an air space at each end and a 2 by 2 feet entrance. Have a wide board hinged to one side to make it convenient to clean out. If you have it on a dry spot do not floor it, but let them sleep on the ground. Bed them once a week with the refuse and left over cornstalks from the stable or feed lot.
By having the sleeping quarters and feeding place separated the hogs will get the needed exercise in cold weather in going to their feed when they are disinclined to stir about. When the weather is not too cold they will forage for roots and nuts, and not being ringed are able to secure considerable food by rooting. About every four or five weeks, when the weather is warm.

The Berkshire breed of hogs have remarkable vitality and strong digestive organs, enabling them to assimilate less food into the greatest gain of flesh which is of the highest quality. They can be fattened at any age. They are prolific, careful mothers and good milkers. No breed excels them for grazing. Experiments show they will produce 100 pounds of meat from each acre of clover consumed and double that amount when fed one pound of corn daily for every hundred pounds of live weight. When in pasture they should have shade and plenty of pure water. The sow shown is a fine type of the Berkshire.

get them up and spray them with a good dip heated to a rather warm temperature. Never give them too much bedding, and when the nest gets a little dusty give it a good spraying too.
Be sure there is plenty of good running water or a self feeding tank for them to drink at. Keep slack coal and salt and wood ashes by them all the time. Feed a mixture of middlings, bran and a little tankage or oilmeal and use some feeding molasses. Make this mixture into a thin slop by putting it in the troughs and pouring the water on it. Let the hogs do the mixing themselves, which they will do to the complete satisfaction of all concerned.

SCAB ON CATTLE.

Simple Remedy For This Common Pest of the Farm Stable.
"Barnyard itch" is a white scabby growth around the eyes and in blotches on the neck and sometimes farther back on the body. It is a parasite and will spread from one animal to another and will live for years in a barn that has been infected by cattle that have it. It is transmissible to people handling cattle so affected if they should happen to rub the affected spots with bare wrist or hand, as one is apt to do in tying or stanchioning. On the human it comes as hundreds of small festers, which scab over and keep spreading and are very painful.
After trying everything I could think of, even the best carbolic acid, brushed on with a feather, and only aggravating the sore, in my desperation, one day I mixed some hog's lard and sulphur together, rubbed it on freely, and the sores disappeared like magic, says C. W. Cobb in the National Stockman. I used it on cattle with like results. I smeared the stanchions with the mixture and have never had a case of it since. I have told others of it, and they have used it and killed the scab on their cattle. The remedy is so simple and easily made that a child can make and use it. Just mix hog's lard full of sulphur and rub it in thoroughly.

Danger in Feeding Salt.

There is considerable danger in feeding salt to ewes just before lambing time. Many cases have been known where abortion has been traced directly to the use of salt during this period. Sheep must have salt and plenty of it, but this is one time during the life cycle when it should be withheld. Not only have bad results been noticed from the feeding of salt, but when sheep have been fed a liberal supply of beets or turnips abortion has been more prevalent than otherwise. This is attributed to the fact that there is more salt in these feeds than in others.

Wheat as a Cattle Feed.

In finishing cattle for market considerable grain is required. Steers can not consume enough of the ordinary roughage to lay on much fat. While corn is usually considered almost indispensable in finishing stock for market, wheat can be used very satisfactorily as a substitute. Owing to the fact that the grains of wheat are small and hard it is necessary to grind it in order to secure the best results.

HORSE BREVITIES.

Never back a mare that is heavy in foal—especially if the load is heavy or the ground muddy. Such a mare can do plenty of work in pulling ahead.
If there were fewer whips in the world there would be fewer ugly horses.
It costs a good deal of money to buy a satisfactory team. In most cases this can be avoided by the farmer raising his own.
Oat straw that is free from mold makes an excellent winter forage for idle horses.
All the growth and thrift that can be encouraged and maintained during the first year of the colt's life insure a stronger and a better horse.
If dusty hay is fed sprinkle with water, and it will save the horse much annoyance, but better not feed it at all.

SILAGE FOR SHEEP.

Judiciously Used Ensilage Is a Cheap and Valuable Feed.
Accurate data regarding the value of silage in a ration for fattening sheep and lambs are scarce, but what there are indicate that it is useful, says Ellis Roll of the University of Nebraska. As far back as the early nineties the Michigan experiment station fed some lambs on silage and other foodstuffs. The gist of their findings is to the effect that a mixture of fodders composed largely of a good quality of silage proved a cheap and successful ration for fattening lambs.
The Iowa station at Ames made some comparative tests of dry buys, roots and silage as roughage in 1906 and 1907. In lots fed the first winter the silage cheapened the ration considerably. During the second winter the various lots were fed for a long period 108 days, and the silage lot refused to eat much silage. They ate almost as much grain and hay as the other lot did and the gain on these silage lambs was more expensive than was that with some of the other food combinations. But the average of the two years was favorable to the use of silage as a means of cheapening the ration. The lambs from all lots finished into market toppers, but the dressed carcasses showed the silage lambs a little superior on the book. Taking these few experiments then into consideration and also the general results which various feeders have obtained in practical work, it seems that silage has an important place among desirable and economical feeds for fattening sheep.
It is my opinion that silage can be fed to sheep with satisfactory results. The use of moldy or frozen silage may cause trouble, but good, clean, bright silage can be used with excellent results, either as a succulent food for breeding ewes in winter or as a cheap but satisfactory and efficient roughage for fattening sheep and lambs. This opinion is based partially on observations of flocks which have been fed and partially on the experiments quoted above. The results to date point toward silage as a cheap and valuable feed for sheep.

RATION FOR EWES IN LAMB.

Alfalfa Hay With Corn Makes an Excellent Winter Feed.
Thousands of ewes carrying lambs are successfully fed in this country every winter with no other feed than good bright alfalfa hay, says the National Stockman. However, it will do no harm, and it may be well to give these ewes a light ration of corn in addition to the hay, especially as they approach lambing time. If the ewes are young they will do as well on the whole corn as if it is ground.
In a large flock, however, some ewes will not have the best of teeth, and it will be well to crack the corn, but it should be coarse. Sheep like corn in this condition much better than the meal. Start with a quarter of a pound of corn per ewe per day or even less and increase to a half pound as lambing time approaches. If the ewes are veterans that have not tasted corn start with but a few grains per ewe daily until they learn to eat it. Give all the alfalfa hay they will eat up clean. Supply plenty of fresh water that is so clean you yourself would drink it. Give salt regularly, and it would be advisable to use a good medicated salt.

Free Hogs From Lice.

Lice on hogs can be eradicated by applying along the back of each hog some crude oil. They can also be killed by washing or dipping the hog in coal tar dips, several of which are on the market. The beds and litters of pigs should always be clean and free from dust. A mangy, lousy hog is not a healthy hog, and the dust and filth accumulating in the shed which is left uncleaned supply ideal conditions for the development of vermin and disease of the skin. The eggs of various internal parasites and lice are found in large numbers in the dust and filth of the sleeping quarters which are left uncleaned and without being disinfected. As a result, these parasites increase rapidly and spread through the whole herd.

Horses Need Exercise.

Be sure to give each horse exercise every day in harness or yard, except, of course, during storms. Box stalls are the ideal ones, and every stable should have several, at all events one or two. On stormy days during winter horses can be changed to these boxes and given a chance to move around.

Presbyterian Church Notes

port a measure which I believe to be wrong.

This inflexible conscience of Lincoln was trained through his reading of the bible. The bible told him what it was right to do, and his conscience compelled him to do the right. His classic quotations are practically all from the bible, and on one occasion he wrote to his early friend, Joshua Speed, "I am profitably engaged reading the bible. Take all of this book upon reason that you can and the balance upon faith, and you will live and die a better man."

During his first presidential campaign, when he found that twenty out of the twenty-three ministers of religion in Springfield were opposed to him, and that the majority of the members in the chief churches were arrayed against him, he drew from his pocket a copy of the new testament, saying to some friends present: "I have carefully read the bible and I do not so understand this book. These men well know that I am for freedom and that my opponents are for slavery. They know this and yet, with this book in their hand, in the light of which human bondage cannot live for a moment, they are going to vote against me. I know that liberty is right, for Christ teaches it and Christ is God. I shall be vindicated and these men will find that they have not read their bible aright."

Lincoln was vindicated. He proved

Boys and Girls Much Pleased with Chance to Try For Cash Prizes—School Authorities Co-operate—Jury Announced.

The First National Bank of Wayne, has announced the following as the Jury of Award for the Panama canal-essay contest for $18 in cash prizes: W. D. Redmond, J. W. Ziegler, A. E. Davis.

The school children have evinced a deep interest in the announcement made last week that a prize of $10 would be paid for the best 200-word essay written by a schoolboy or schoolgirl under sixteen years of age; a second prize of $5, and a third prize of $3.

The Osborne Art Calendar, which shows the reproduction of Richard W. Rummell's painting in full color of the entire canal zone, has been the center of attraction in every schoolroom since it was placed on the walls and announcement made through these columns that prize contest was on.

Thus early, some of the essays have been mailed to the First National Bank.

Most of the boys and girls, however, are not sending along their first efforts, but are giving the Panama canal careful study, carefully scrutinizing the picture on the calendar, and the descriptive matter that appears on the sheet which is attached to it. There is a demand all over town for books on the Canal, and the "children of larger growth" are becoming as much interested as the smaller folks.

The Panama Canal picture and the prize contest have become the talk of the town, and, as we predicted a week ago, every one of us knows a lot more about the Canal, and the hundreds of millions of dollars and the thousands of lives that have been poured out in its building, than we knew a few weeks ago.

that these ministers of Christ were wrong and that the church of Jesus Christ was asleep in those fateful days before the war. Had there been more Christianity and less churchianity in the American church there never would have been any war, and the country would have escaped the awful carnage of 1861-1865.

In the year 1864 a company of negroes, representing the negro population of Baltimore, presented him with a beautifully bound copy of the bible. Lincoln received it graciously and in thanking them for the gift he said: "This great book is the best gift God has given to man; and all the good from the Savior of the world is communicated through this book." He knew his bible much better than the average minister, and its moral teachings guided him while its noble literary style made him a master of the English language.

Abraham Lincoln's religion was personal, as well as biblical. God was not only the God of the universe, and the God of the nation. He was also "his God," and his prayer-life was his constant source of spiritual strength. Not since his time have so many prayer-meetings been held in the White House. Often when Bishop Simpson visited him he would say on parting; "Bishop, don't leave without prayer." The two great men would drop to their knees and unite in earnest prayer to God.

The wonderful prayer of Lincoln at the time of the battle of Gettysburg is well-known, and his reverence for the Lord's prayer was one of many ways in which he showed his reverence for Christ. Again and again he would ask christian ministers to pray for him, and he often made the same request of Christian women who called on him.

His mother first taught him to pray as a boy and he often remembered her prayers, said he, "I remember her prayers," said he, "and they have followed me; they have clung to me all my life." He never intimated the time when he first dedicated himself to God, but he seems always to have had the Spirit of Truth in his heart, but two epochs in his soul-life were the death of his own mother in his early boyhood, and the loss of his beloved son, Willie, in February, 1862. On both these occasions he came into close touch with the unseen world, and his religious faith was greatly strengthened.

Above all else, Lincoln's religion was practical. He took his religion into his law office, his politics, and his home life. He was the same everywhere. Although he attended regularly the Presbyterian church he never formally united with it as in the dark days of hypocrisy, when the whole American church was under the heel of the slave interests, he felt he could not conscientiously become a member of a so-called Christian organization which so openly denied its Lord. "When any church inscribes on its altar, as a qualification for membership," he said sadly, "the Savior's statement of the substance of the Law and the Gospel—'Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul and with all thy mind—and thy neighbor as thyself—that church will I join with all my heart and soul." He could never see the sincerity of any Christian church which acknowledged the Golden Rule as the law of life and yet believed in human slavery. His views of the churches modified when the churches awoke during the war, and supported him nobly, especially after his emancipation proclamation. On May 14, 1864, he received a delegation bringing him a vote of confidence, from one of the largest American churches and he replied to them in earnest words of appreciation, concluding his remarks with the following benediction: "Bless all the churches, and blessed be God who in this our great trial giveth us the churches."

Had he lived he would undoubtedly as did President Jackson, have formally united with the revived church of post-bellum days. More than any other single man he drove churchianity, with its formalism, phariseism, and moral blight out of the American churches, and brought in Christianity, with its sincere piety, its moral force and its sublime faith. The churches of America owe him a debt similar to that which the nation owes him for he saved them from sterility, moral obtuseness and spiritual death. His call to leave the world came suddenly, but it found him ready. He was ready to meet his God at the opening or at the close of any day of his life during all the years of manhood.

A God-ordained man, Heaven's great gift to our nation and to the church of Jesus Christ, he did his work and did it well. The greeting he received in heaven still echoes round the world for to him God said, "Well done."
