FLEGE TRIAL NEARING END

Examination of Witnesses Finished—Plea of Attorney's Open To-Day and Case Expected to Go to Jury Before Week End

The defense pin much of their hope of acquittal on the expert testimony which was introduced Monday. The state is said to have introduced new evidence tending to show the guilt of Wm. Flege, and the expert testimony appears quite positive, as given below in a dispatch from Pender.

When court convened this morning in the William Flege murder trial the defendant was recalled for a few moments' cross examination. He was questioned as to some of his testimony in the previous trials of the case.

The defense then began the introduction of expert testimony, Dr. E. W. Meis, of Sioux City, being the first to testify. He told of his being employed in the case and of the disinterment of the body of Louise Flege, the removal of the stomach and the examination of same. Witness stated that he was positive that Louise Flege was not killed until two and one-half or three hours after she ate her dinner, as the contents of the stomach were practically all digested. He also testified that there was no evidence of rape, and that the dead girl had never been in a delicate condition. Dr. Meis then stated that he turned the contents of the stomach and part of the stomach over to Drs. Haines and Heckstone, of Chicago, for their examination. He was severely grilled in cross examination by Attorney Hendrickson for the state.

The testimony of Dr. Meis was concluded shortly after court convened this afternoon. Dr. Haines, of Chicago, who is recognized as one of the world's greatest chemists, was then called to the stand by the defense. The witness testified that the person whose stomach he examined was not killed until two or three hours after she had eaten her dinner. Dr. Heckstone, another Chicago expert, testified the same in this respect. Witness said that he had examined several thousand dead bodies during his lifetime. Both of these experts testified at the former trial of the case here in Pender.

Dr. J. M. O'Connell, of Ponca, was the next witness called by the defense. He was present at the time the body of Louise Flege was disinterred last November, and told about the results of the investigations at that time. The defense probably will get through with its witnesses some time tomorrow, when the state will begin with the rebuttal testimony.

Death of Mrs. John W. Miller

Eleanor Scott was born in Canada West June 18, 1841, and died at her late home in this city Sunday evening, January 18, 1914, at the age of 72 years and 7 months. Of her life history we learned but little—she came west and to the United States, and in 1862, was united in marriage to John W. Miller, who with one son, Samuel Miller, mourn her death, which came after two years of ill health of Bright's disease.

They first came to Wayne about fourteen years ago, and after living here about two years moved to Oklahoma where they remained for about four years and returned to this place about eight years ago. The funeral was from the home Tuesday by Rev. Meyers, and the burial was in Wayne cemetery.

Library Notes

Following is a list of books presented to the library by Mrs. H. H. Hahn:

Commercial Geography, Garnett; Columbus and Magellan, Lawler; A Hundred Years of Warfare, Dickson; Builders of our Country, Southworth; Little Journeys to South Africa, J. R. White and Smith; The Tree-Dwellers, Katherine Dopp; First Book in Hygiene, Krohn; The National Method in Reading, Mary Ward; Fables and Rhymes, book one; Language Through Nature, Life and Art, Perdue-Griswold; Children's Classics in Dramatic Form, book one, A. Severson; Mace's Primary History, Emergent, C. V. Gulick; New Educational Readers, book one and four, Demarest; All Aboard for Europe, Rev. D. C. Eddy.

A Musical Entertainment of Merit

The Wayne Choral Society was greeted by large and appreciative audience Tuesday evening at the M. E. church, where the members of that organization under the direction of Professor Austin I. Abernathy of Sioux City, presented with marked success the oratorio, "The Prodigal Son."

The soloists, Mrs. A. E. Davis, soprano, Mrs. W. H. Morris and Miss Reba Nangle, Contralto, Prof. Abernathy tenor, and Herbert A. Welch, baritone, were supported by a chorus of fifty voices. This chorus, in their accuracy of enunciation, their modulation of tone, in which all voices were smoothly and evenly blended, their perfect accent and rhythm, evidenced the skillful and painstaking training they had received. While all their numbers were decidedly pleasing those apparently most enjoyed by the audience were "Let us eat and let us drink," and "There is joy in the presence of the angels."

Mrs. Davis, always a favorite with Wayne audiences, fully met the expectations of her friends on this occasion by her interpretations especially of "Love not the world." The recitative, "and when he had spent all," by Miss Nangle, sung in accurate but swinging rhythm, was deeply impressive, while Mrs. Morris delighted everyone present with her faultless rendition of "And the younger son gathered all together." Perhaps the most attractive numbers on the program was the duet by Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Morris.

The tenor, a difficult part, was ably handled by Professor Abernathy; while Mr. Welch surpassed any previous effort before a Wayne audience. His rich, resonant baritone was especially pleasing in the aria "Trust in the Lord." The duets by these two gentlemen were faultlessly rendered and highly effective, particularly, "My son is yet alive."

Mrs. Ed A. Johnson and Mrs. James Miller at organ and piano made perfect accompaniment adding much to the success of the entertainment.

The Choral Society merits the continued support of the community in its efforts to develop the musical talent which Wayne possesses, and to cultivate a taste for music truly artistic and hence elevating in its character.

May Prosecute

Our county representative, Henry Korff, has been spending his time and his own money traveling about looking into the grain situation in Coleridge and has gathered sufficient evidence to feel warranted in bringing it to the attention of the state's attorney, which he has done, and he has promised that the underground method with its zone of competition, adopted by the old line elevator companies must cease or they will be prosecuted. The State's Attorney has notified the Anchor Grain Co., to this effect.

The management of the Coleridge Farmers' Elevator knew last spring through private sources what the plan of the old liners was but had to wait until the plan had sufficiently worked itself out before starting a back fire. Instead of driving the Farmers Company out of business the old liners will have to step lively or they will find themselves ousted out of Nebraska. —Coleridge Blade.

Births and Deaths

County Clerk Reynolds has just completed the county records for 1913 of the births and deaths within the county. He finds that there were nearly four births to one death, the total number being 196 births and 58 deaths. Divided into quarters he finds in the first three months of 1913 25 deaths and 54 births; second quarter, 8 and 40; third quarter, 17 and 54; fourth quarter, 8 and 48. So it is easy to see that we are growing in number from this source as well as by the arrival of whole families from other places.

The Cradle

HENDERSON—At Ames, Iowa, Monday, December 29, 1913, to I. D. Henderson, Jr., and wife, a daughter. Mr. and Mrs. Henderson moved from here to Ames last summer.

LUEERS—Tuesday, January 20, 1914, to John Lueers and wife, a daughter.

Social Notes

The Ladies Bible Circle held an anniversary meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wendte Tuesday afternoon, it being the 13th anniversary of their organization here. Mrs. Young gave a brief review of the work of the society in the past, showing what had been accomplished in the years that it has lived. Mrs. Lutgen spoke of the future of the organization and the opportunity for it to continue its good work. Representatives were present from the two junior circles—one of boys, the other of girls and made report of their work which has but recently been started. Refreshments were provided for this meeting and were served by four members of the Junior circle, Misses Iva Laase, Louise and Elsie Biegler and Florence Gardner. It was a most interesting meeting.

Dr. and Mrs. S. A. Lutgen gave a six o'clock dinner Friday evening to the old members of her Sunday school class, which was a happy occasion for those present. Place cards of unique design were found on four small tables. They were hand painted, representing daisies and pansies. Turning back the petals revealed the menu and short verses appropriate to the occasion. After the dinner which was most excellent and nicely served by Misses Elsie Mildner and Pearl Madden, the company sang for a time, and then played progressive Somerset. The guests were Dewight Haag and wife, Lloyd Alexander and wife, Claud Farrell and wife, Burret Wright and wife, Miss Teich, Miss Opal Douglas from Carroll and Forrest L. Hughes and Linn M. McClure.

John Stallsmith and wife, Henry Stallsmith and wife, Wm. Mears and wife and Mrs. Chas. Riese went to Wakefield Tuesday morning to invade the home of James Hammer and wife in honor of that gentleman's birthday and much to his surprise. The day was happily spent, and an excellent birthday dinner was served. The Wayne visitors returned on the evening train declaring that they had had a most happy day.

A happy surprise was given to Miss Frankie Conger Tuesday evening when a party of fifteen or more of her young lady friends appeared at the Conger home laden with linen offerings—a shower in honor of her approaching marriage. The hours of the evening were happily spent, dainty refreshments served and all wished their young lady friend much of joy ere they departed for their homes.

One of the coming social events is the installation of the officers of the K. P. lodge next Wednesday evening when there is to be in addition to the installation a short program and a supper to which the wives or ladies of the Knights are invited.

The Monday club will meet with Mrs. Cunningham on next Monday afternoon. Mrs. Welch will read a paper on Books Children Should Own. Mrs. Moran will also read one on Recent Books for Children.

The St. Mary's Guild met with Mrs. F. S. Berry and elected the following officers: President, Mrs. M. T. McInerney; Vice-President, Mrs. A. L. Lautoff; Secretary and Treasurer, Mrs. Ernest Poulsen.

The Minerva club met with Mrs. J. T. House last Monday afternoon. The lesson was legislation, led by Mrs. L. M. Owen. A delicious two-course luncheon was served.

The Rural Home society meets today with Miss Linke at her home two miles northeast of Wayne.

The Early Hour club will meet with Mrs. Woodward Jones on Friday evening.

The Bridge Whist club met with Miss Freda Ellis Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Mary Schalus Dead

Tuesday, January 20, 1914, at the home of her son, John Schalus, occurred the death of Mrs. Mary Schalus aged 91 years, 9 months and 28 days. The funeral is to be held at the German Lutheran church in this city at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon.

State Normal Notes

The next issue of the Goldenrod will be made a special training school number.

President Conn went to Wausa Friday to assist in the dedication of a new high school building.

The first semester closes January 23. Examinations will be held on Thursday and Friday of this week.

A game of basket ball is scheduled for Friday evening of this week, at which time the Normal team will meet the Genoa Indians.

Correspondence received at the office indicates that a number of new students will register at the opening of the new semester on January 26.

Miss Ruby M. Hughes, class of 1912, was recently elected to a position in the high school department of the Wakefield public schools and began work there the first of the year.

Mr. Conrad Jacobson, a member of the present senior class, has charge of the work in science at the Wayne high school this week, taking the place of Mrs. Alice E. Seace who is ill.

At the regular session of the debating club Monday evening the question for discussion was: Resolved, that the World is Growing Better Morally. Mr. Hering led the discussion on the affirmative and Mr. Jacobson on the negative.

The school was the guest of the department of expression last Tuesday afternoon, at which time a recital was given by the students of the elocution classes.

The following item appeared in the Saturday issue of the Omaha Bee:

"Professor Leland Lewis has recently taken charge of the chemistry department at the University of Omaha. He succeeds Professor Joseph Tabisco, who left to take up a fellowship in the University of Minnesota. Professor Lewis comes from the Lutheran Normal College of Sioux Falls, South Dakota, at which place he was head of the chemistry department. He is a former student of Grand Island College and a graduate of the University of Nebraska, where he received the degree of Master of Arts."

Leland Lewis is a brother of Professor J. G. W. Lewis of the state normal faculty and is well known at this place.

The W. C. T. U. Entertains

The pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Dayton was the scene of a very happy occasion last Friday evening when the W. C. T. U. entertained in a delightfully informal manner their husbands and close friends, in all about fifty being present.

After the guests had arrived and the formality of introduction was over the guests listened to the following program, the keynote of which was the need of temperance in all things.

Scripture reading... Rev. Myers
Invocation... Rev. Blessing
Inst. Solo... Mrs. Miller
Vocal Solo... Mrs. Blair
Reading... Ina Hughes
Discourse... Mrs. Phillips
Paper... Mrs. Laughlin
Inst. Solo... Mrs. House

After the program the evening was spent in games. The hostess served delicious refreshments and the guests departed feeling they had spent an evening in a very pleasant and profitable manner.

Another Business Change

A deal has been completed whereby C. E. Sprague becomes the partner of Noah Williamson in the Wayne Monument Works, E. Johnson disposing of his interest in the business and retiring. Mr. Sprague is too well known here to need any introduction to Wayne people where he has lived for a number of years. Mr. Johnson has sold his residence to Mr. Williamson and will leave Wayne, but is not yet decided upon a new location. A practical man at the stone cutting business he will doubtless embark in the same line of work elsewhere. Mr. Williamson, who remains here is also a practical workman and an experienced salesman, and there is no doubt as to the success of the new firm being as great as that of the old, and they did a good business.

Clyde Oman is rusticiating at Winside today.

Business Announcement

The Baughan Shoe Co., successors to S. Reppert & Son, extend greetings to the people of Wayne and vicinity, declaring their intention of staying in this good town and establishing themselves in the shoe business. Just now they are arranging the stock and learning it and ordering to make it very complete for the spring trade. They will continue to handle footwear of known quality of the latest and best styles, and hope to meet you face to face at their shoe store and show you their excellent line of shoes. A share of your patronage is solicited.—adv.

In The District Court

Siemon Goemann has filed an appeal with the clerk of the district court in his name and in behalf of the taxpayers from the action of the board of county commissioners against their action in allowing the law firm of Berry & Berry a bill of $213.50 for legal services in the inheritance tax cases. It seems that Mr. Goemann thinks the county commissioners should not have allowed this claim and will seek to stop the payment of same.

Hoskins to Have Postmistress

Hoskins, Neb., Jan. 21—Special: As a result of the civil service examination Miss Marguerite Parchen wins the postoffice at Hoskins, to succeed the vacancy caused by the resignation of F. S. Benser, who moves to Florida. Miss Parchen was a student of the Harms business college at Norfolk, and is beyond doubt the best qualified for the place of any of the applicants. Her many friends wish her success in the transaction of Uncle Sam's business.

Gus Hanssen went to Fremont on a business mission today.

News of a Local Nature

Prof. Joy's lectures on sex psychology to the general public in the evenings are full of valuable information for parents, teacher, pastor and friend of the infant, child and youth. He is a master in his profession, presenting his subject in a way that cannot help but bring good results wherever he goes. Large audiences hear Prof. Joy each evening and manifest their interest and sanction in the great and noble work he is doing.

Mr. Joy's instructions to the high school boys in the afternoons are most judiciously given and well received. Nothing is given to which any intelligent person can object and he is accomplishing great results with the boys. No one can doubt that the community will be greatly benefitted by Prof. Joy's work here.

Sheriff and Mrs. Porter returned from Geneva this morning where they went with Lillie Courtwright who was sent to the state school at that place at the request of her parents that she might have the best of training. The parents have the sympathy of all citizens who believe that it was the best thing to do. Mr. Porter says they have a nice place there, a matron who appears to take a deep interest in the welfare of those committed to her care—and reports that most of them there safely pass an age when they are most apt to yield to bad influences and become useful members of society.

John Rippon, who has been suffering for a year or more from paralysis is now confined at the home of his son-in-law, W. O. Hanssen, gradually falling. His was a familiar figure here last summer, always making his trips down town, hating to give way to the weakness that was overcoming him.

Assessor A. H. Carter of Winside returned today from Lincoln where he had been attending a meeting of the county assessors of the state. He says that they are trying to establish an equitable and uniform basis for assessment.

Miss Ethel Patterson came from Dakota City this morning to spend a day with Wayne friends. She is chief telephone operator at Dakota City, and formerly plugged the board at this place.

Mrs. W. J. Miller from Norfolk visited relatives here over Sunday while on her way to Des Moines, Iowa, where she will visit for a time at the home of a son.

C. H. Wade and wife from nine miles southeast of Wayne went to Sioux City Saturday with their little son Edward, but six years of age, to be operated on for appendicitis.

Miss Elsie Brusins came last week from Wall, South Dakota, and stopped to visit at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. G. Hess while on her way to visit relatives at Crofton. She left for Crofton Saturday morning.

Mrs. A. T. Neely of Sioux City stopped here for a short visit while returning to her home from Ne-igh, where she went last week to visit her brother, whose wife died two weeks before.

A two-inch snowfall Saturday night laid the dust and left the streets a little muddy, for it was a heavy snow, and will help the stock water and cisterns, for it mostly melted Sunday and the day following.

Saturday was another busy day at Wayne, and such days will doubtless continue to come to this place as long as the business men make it as it is the attractive place of northeast Nebraska for buyers and sellers.

Moving pictures of the construction of the Panama-Pacific building will be shown all week during the Mid-West Cement Show in Omaha, January 30 to February 5. Mrs. Bockman came Friday evening to visit a week with her sister, Mrs. I. D. Henderson. The last of this week the two ladies plan to start to Shawnee, Oklahoma, to visit their parents for a short time.

Mrs. S. Temple was here last week visiting her husband and daughter for a short time, and left Sunday for San Francisco, where she has a sister living with whom she plans to spend the remainder of the winter.

Carl Froding and wife from Newman's Grove came Friday to visit the home of their daughter, Mrs. C. Ruggie. Monday they went on to Sioux City, and will visit there and at Holdrege before returning.

Mrs. Wendel Baker and her daughter, Miss Margaret left Friday to visit at Dalton, Nebraska, at the home of Neal Thompson and wife. Mrs. Thompson is a daughter to Mrs. Baker, and they plan to make a visit of several weeks.

Joseph Baker of Plankinton, S. D., returned home Friday following a short visit at the home of his parents here, Wendel Baker and wife. He is barbering at his home town, and reports everything in good prosperous condition.

It might be a good thing for Wayne to organize as they have in Platte county to publish a list of the tax payers and their assessment as given to the assessor, with a view of letting the public judge just who is shirking taxes. We suggest that Wayne might profit by the measure judging by the amount of free advertising Platte county is getting from the idea.

R. C. Abraham and family who came from Valley just before Christmas to visit at the home of her parents, R. P. Hollenback and wife on College hill departed for their home Monday. Mr. Abraham was taken sick while here and developed a mild form of diptheria which made quarantine necessary. No other cases developed and he fully recovered, and terminated their prolonged visit.

There are 35,000 miles of sand clay roads in the United States, mainly in the southern states, according to the office of Public Roads, U. S. Department of Agriculture. The time to work the roads is in the spring when the soil is damp. If the working of the roads is deferred until late in summer when they are dry they are not only much more difficult to put in proper shape but the cost of repair is greater than if they were worked early in the spring.

Carlisle Campbell, who served at the creamery here for two years or more, and went to Loup City about ten months ago to take charge of the creamery at that place writes us that he has quit butter-making for a time at least on account of his health. His letter does not imply that he is ill but that the work was too confining and that he had the desire to quit before ill results followed. He went to Florence from Loup City and will probably visit at Wayne before locating permanently. He was a good butter man and they are needed in that work.

Sam'l Chinn, who is attending college at Fremont, came home last week to attend his father's sale at the home near Concord. He reports a great sale. That things sold well, and that a crowd of 500 people attended the sale are the reports of the young man. Steers averaging 900 pounds sold for more than $70 each. Farm machinery brought the price of new machinery—and it was the same as new, having been cared for as it should have been. Following the sale Mr. and Mrs. Chinn moved at once to their new home at Wakefield. Sam'l visited here and with home folks until Monday when he returned to his school work.

Our Policy

Norfolk is entitled to government that is as businesslike as the management of any of the successful banks, stores or other institutions of our city. The Press has made this statement before and it will make it again. And that in face of the antagonism and hatred of some of the city officials.

We were asked the other day why we should throw the Press into every fight for better things for Norfolk when so far as we are concerned personally, we could fare better by keeping still. Why should we worry about the city government? Why shouldn't we take the easy side of the road and get what we can by cajolery or blackmail? Stand in with the ring—advise our friend—boost 'em and they'll be for you!

The Press editor has a higher mission mapped out. We want the Press to be useful according to its size and opportunity. We don't have a price. There are things better than dollars in our eye. The men who hate the Press and The Press' editor most are those who wish it wouldn't stick its nose into city and county government, who wish to be left alone in their glory (and graft). A paper like the Press is a condemned nuisance of course. That's why the politicians hate us, why they refuse us any of their business. The Press takes part of the joy out of living, it makes life hard for the city politician, the lazy, dishonest office holder. It annoys the taxpayer, too, yes, and the business man for it is always yelling at them about the duty they owe their city. This is why a Norfolk man said the other day "I'll leave the democratic party if she's elected," and why another Norfolk man swore under his breath about "peticoat government and trying to run this town." And all that The Press is trying to do is to get the citizens of Norfolk to wake up and run Norfolk themselves.—Norfolk Press.

Suit Brought by the Officials of Furnas County

EX-GOVERNOR HAS THE CASE

Expert From Washington State Is In Lincoln to Confer With State Board of Control Over Reformatory—Legal Sale of Apples.

Lincoln, Jan. 21.—Officials of Furnas county have made application through the district court, of that county, to enjoin the state from collecting from the treasurer of that county fees collected for hunting and fishing licenses issued by the clerk of that county.

On account of the session of the supreme court and the work of the attorney general's office, Attorney General Martin has retained Aldrich & Fuller to look after the interest of the state when the case comes up this week in the district court of that county. The firm is composed of ex-Governor Aldrich and his former private secretary, Mr. Fuller.

Should the courts decide that the state is not entitled to the fees collected for hunting and fishing licenses in each county it will mean that the state treasury will be out about $40,000 each year basing the business of 1913 as the average amount annually collected.

Exchanges Consolidated.

The Lincoln Telegraph and Telephone company completed its consolidation of the two exchanges, which has been under way for over a year, and the new switchboard, costing $50,000, was connected up. The new board is designed largely for the toll line service and will probably have the effect of correcting much of the dissatisfaction which has been expressed. The new board is known as a forty-two-position board, giving room for that number of operators. It will require a force of 125 girls to operate it. Thirty girls will take care of the toll business, six "information," four rural lines and two on the private exchange, working in shifts of seven and one-half hours per day.

Agricultural Meet. On in Lincoln.

This week will be a busy one in Lincoln, when organized agriculture holds its conventions, with meetings covering Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. During the time the Auditorium will be a busy place, exhibits of all kinds connected with the different meetings being shown. Among the most interesting of the exhibits is the apple show, while the home-cured ham and bacon show is very interesting. Each evening Professor Condra will give a motion picture show, in which will be pictures used in advertising Nebraska. Twenty-one organizations connected in some way with agriculture will hold their meetings.

Files Complaint Against Estate.

The Omaha, Lincoln and Beatrice Interurban Railway company has filed a claim against the estate of Frank C. Phillips for $50,000 in the county court of Lancaster county for breach of contract. The contract set forth that Phillips was to sell a large portion of the $2,250,000 stock of the company, furnish the material for the road, secure right-of-way and franchises and receive in return $50,000 worth of the common stock of the company and a profit of 18 1/2 per cent net on their expenditures. They were to furnish a bond of $100,000 for the performance of the work, but it is not shown that the bond was given.

Forestry Board Meets.

The state forestry commission met at the offices of the Historical society at the state university. The commissioners are of the opinion that the state should trade off some school land for a compact of government land sufficiently large to give the commission a good chance to experiment in the way of growing trees. Members of the commission are: Carl Rhoads of Columbus, Woodruff Ball of Valentine and A. H. Metzger of Cass county. Fred W. Morrell of Denver, an officer of the government forestry work, also met with the commission.

Still in the Air.

The much-talked-of switch from the Minneapolis and Omaha railroad at Norfolk to the insane asylum is still in the air. A representative of the road called on the board of control to talk over the matter, but as the cost of putting in the switch is greater than the amount appropriated by the legislature, the board will have to think it over a while in an effort to discover some means to get the money. It has been shown that the building of a switch will save the state a good sum of money each year for hauling.

Rural School Commission Meets.

The rural school commission appointed by the Farmers' congress, which convened in Omaha recently, met in Lincoln. The members are H. W. Campbell, secretary; Clerks, H. E. Wood of Bethany; Representative T. B. Scott of Aurora; Senator H. P. Shumway of Wakefield; E. Von Forell of Scottsbluff and H. A. Collins of Papillion.

Gives Clemency to Heegle.

Only one pardon was recommended to the governor by the state board of pardons at its session last week and that, a conditional one, to John C. Heegle, who was sent to the penitentiary for five years on a charge of statutory assault on a thirteen-year-old girl of University place.

FINDS WIFE HANGED SELF

Farmer Returning From Church Discovers Body Swinging From Beam.

Madison, Neb., Jan. 19.—John Wieland, a farmer, returning from church at Madison to his home, four miles east of here, found the body of his wife, Mrs. John Wieland, hanging from a beam in the barn. She had hanged herself.

Wieland found the house cold; the fire was out in the kitchen stove. His twin babies, two months old, were shivering and crying on the floor. The breakfast dishes lay untouched on the table.

As he opened the door of the barn he saw the form of his wife swinging from a rope attached to a beam. She was dead.

It was decided that an inquest was unnecessary, as it was evident, so the sheriff, physician and coroner believed, that the woman had hanged herself in a moment of insanity.

Mrs. Wieland was reared in Madison and lived there until her marriage to Wieland a year and a half ago.

"SALTED" MINE CASE

Fremont Attorneys File Answer to Suit of Stockholders.

Fremont, Neb., Jan. 20.—W. S. Cook and J. C. Cook, attorneys who promoted the sale of the True Fissure gold mine stock, filed an answer to a suit brought by Chris Mathis and other stockholders, who alleged fraud and "salted" mine, seeking recovery of the money invested.

The two Cooks say they were duped as badly as the rest and lost their own money and shift the blame to George Ziegler, a wealthy Washington county farmer, and Dr. J. S. Devries of Fremont.

The Cooks claim Ziegler bought stock in the mine before they did and personally investigated it, reporting favorably. Dr. Devries, charged with similarly visiting the mine, reported it better than all previous reports. They say Dr. Devries headed off their effort to send John May, a mine engineer, to investigate, and allege a counter conspiracy to damage defendants.

COURT ORDERS BRIEFS

No Oral Arguments Will Be Heard in Big Bank Case.

Lincoln, Jan. 20.—On the application for a rehearing made by attorneys for D. E. Thompson in the Capital National bank matter, which has recently come into the limelight because of the action of Chief Justice Reese in casting the vote which settled the tie on the supreme bench in favor of the rehearing of the case, the court refused to hear oral arguments by the attorneys and issued instructions that briefs be submitted in the matter.

Adams Resigns From State Bank.

Superior, Neb., Jan. 20.—C. E. Adams and daughter, Ila, have handed in their resignations from the board of directors of the State Savings bank, which is in the same building as the closed First National bank. Examiner Seybolt has notified all holders of the bank's notes to notify him of the same. So far nothing of a serious nature has developed. He hopes to have a report by the end of this week so the committee may be able to act on a reorganization of the bank. A receiver is needed badly to cope with local business conditions.

Doctors Testify in Flege Trial.

Ponder, Neb., Jan. 20.—William Flege concluded his testimony in his own behalf in the case in which he is charged with the murder of his sister, Louise, and taking of expert testimony in the case began. Three doctors testified that they had received a part of the contents of Miss Flege's stomach and that an examination of the contents indicated that she lived from two and one-half to three hours after eating dinner.

Kugel to Succeed Ryder.

Omaha, Jan. 20.—As a result of the acute situation brought about by the murder of Henry Nickel in a resort last week, the city commissioners voted to transfer Police Commissioner Ryder to the street cleaning department and place Street Commissioner Kugel in charge of the police department.

Chiropractor Test Case.

Beatrice, Neb., Jan. 19.—A complaint was filed in the county court against Andrew J. Nielson, a chiropractor of this city, by County Attorney Cobbley, charging him with unlawfully practicing medicine without a state certificate, as required by law.

Begin Bankruptcy Proceedings.

York, Neb., Jan. 19.—F. E. Valentine and wife have begun voluntary bankruptcy proceedings. His liabilities are $19,154.66 and his assets, $6,744. Mrs. Valentine's liabilities are $14,463.67 and her assets $150.

McKissick Wants to Be State Auditor.

Beatrice, Neb., Jan. 26.—J. W. McKissick, who represented Gage county in the last session of the legislature, has announced that he will make the race for state auditor on the Democratic ticket.

Towle Case to Conference.

The Nebraska athletic board put the question of eligibility of Captain elect Max Towle of the Cornhusker football team up to the Missouri valley conference to decide at a meeting of the board.

Big Store Burned at Farnam.

Farnam, Neb., Jan. 20.—The Best Place department store burned. The damage to the building and stock is about $50,000. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

DREAM GREAT DREAMS.

And Then Strive Your Utmost to Make Your Dreams Come True.

To turn the face in the right direction and then to travel on its unquestionably the essential secret of all achievement. There are, however, certain facts as well as certain inner forces common to us all that can be used as helps along the way.

In a recent little poem by Edwin Markham we find these lines: Great it is to believe the dream. When we stand in youth by the starry stream.

But a greater thing is to fight life through. And say at the end, "The dream is true."

Whether the dream, which may be used as another term for one's ideals, does come true depends primarily upon the self. The intrepid and the brave hearted, moreover, actualize more of their ambitions or ideals than do the faint hearted or the vacillating. It was Goethe who said:

Are you in earnest? Seize this very minute: What you can do or dream you can, begin it. Boldness has genius, power and magic in it.

Only begin and then the mind grows heated; Begin and then the work will be completed.

Life, or rather life in a continually expanding and achieving form, is, after all, a business, and they who are the most in earnest get from it the most and in turn give the most back to the world again.—Ralph Waldo Trine in Woman's Home Companion.

Beginnings in Authorship.

The first appearance in print of that successful author, Arthur Pendennis, was a poem written to match an engraving which the proprietor of a magazine found unexpectedly thrown on his hands. M. Jules Claretie's first novel was composed under somewhat similar circumstances. Edmund Dentu, a prominent publisher under the second empire, had widely advertised a novel entitled "Une Drolese," by a writer who signed herself Comtesse Dash. On the eve of publication the lady wanted the title altered. The publisher refused to make any change and in order not to waste money hunted around for an author capable of furnishing within four weeks a novel which the title would fit. M. Claretie undertook the task and finished it well within the stipulated time.—London Standard.

A Sermon on Conscience.

"I know why you wakes in de night-time an' stares at de dark, an' pulls de liver over yo' head," said Brother Williams, "an' you orter know widout me tellin' of you. It's on account er dat conscience you kicked into de corner in de airly mawnin', wen you wuz fixin' ter leave fer de day. You didn't think ter ax it ter warm its han's by de fire wen you wuz gwine ter bed, an' so it riz up an' stambled 'round de room in de dark, ontel it strick a light in w'ch you seen yo' own soul! Dat's how come an' why—git 'roun' it ef you kin!"—Atlanta Constitution.

A Game of Chance.

"I suppose," said the stranger within the gates, "the lid is on all games of chance in this town."

"Don't you believe it, stranger," rejoined the native. "The marriage license office is still wide open."—Exchange.

The Resemblance.

"I was always interested in airships and flying machines, so I bought a theater."

Do Not Check Child When He Smashes His Christmas Toys

By Dr. MARIA MONTESSORI, Expert on Child Education

BE gentle with the child who smashes his Christmas Toys. The fault is not his, but yours, who provided him with toys too complicated for his immature little mind to understand. LITTLE CHILDREN ARE NOT NATURALLY DESTRUCTIVE, as most parents have reason to suppose, but the instinct to pull the object to pieces is the only natural thing for a child to do with something it does not understand. Most toys given to children are too complicated.

INSTEAD OF EXPECTING CHILDREN TO AMUSE THEMSELVES WITH TOYS THEY DO NOT UNDERSTAND MOTHERS SHOULD ASSUME MORE RESPONSIBILITY FOR THEIR CHILDREN'S ENTERTAINMENT. THE MOTHER WHO DRIVES HER CHILD AWAY FROM HER SIDE WHEN SHE IS WORKING MAKES A PITIFUL MISTAKE. IT IS IMPOSSIBLE TO ESTIMATE THE EFFECT UPON THE CHILD'S MIND IF HE WERE NEVER TURNED AWAY—IF HE COULD ALWAYS BE SURE OF SYMPATHY AND UNDERSTANDING FROM THE PERSON HE LOVES MOST OF ALL.

Confidences would come more easily in the years when they are longed for if they were invited in the years when living was exciting and every act a great adventure. The child should be ALLOWED TO WORK WITH THE MOTHER. Imitation is the first instinct of the awakening mind.

The child wants to do something sensible. Useless play without a meaning does not appeal to him; neither do so many of the tasks set for children in the ordinary schools. That is why children are rebellious and naughty.

China Hopes to Attract American Investors

By General LI YUAN HUNG, Vice President of China

IT may be stated emphatically that China as a government or through individuals does not possess the proper means for the development of the country.

Our principal hope, therefore, is in the foreigner. I wish that I might be justified in saying that it was in the American. The president and myself have discussed this important subject several times, and we have agreed that an appeal or invitation to the moneyed men of the United States should have serious consideration. President Yuan Shih Kai at one time expressed himself as FAVORING A LETTER DIRECT TO PRESIDENT WILSON, setting forth the earnest desire of the Chinese government that Americans become heavy investors in our country. I believe he actually made a start on such a letter.

THE JAPANESE ARE WILLING INVESTORS—TOO WILLING. WERE THEY GIVEN THE LEAST ENCOURAGEMENT OFFICIALLY MILLIONS OF YEN WOULD BE SENT TO CHINA. THIS MONEY WOULD OSTENSIBLY COME FROM PRIVATE INTERESTS, BUT WE KNOW THAT THE GREATER SHARE OF IT WOULD BE FUNDS OF THE IMPERIAL GOVERNMENT ITSELF. ALREADY JAPAN HAS MADE SEVERAL LARGE LOANS TO TWO OF THE PROVINCES, THE AMOUNTS AGGREGATING $12,300,000. BUT THERE WILL BE NO MORE OF THESE, FOR THE REPUBLIC IS AGAINST FURTHER LOANS FOR ANY PURPOSE FROM JAPAN.

We have more trust by far when dealing with Europeans, the English, French, Germans or Belgians, and many large enterprises conducted by Europeans have lately been inaugurated. BUT WE ARE ALL HOPING THAT CHINA AS A SUPERIOR FIELD FOR INVESTMENT WILL ATTRACT THE ATTENTION OF THE CAPITALISTS OF THE UNITED STATES.

Can't Play Game Fair In Congress

By Representative J. J. WHITACRE of Eighteenth Ohio District

ALL I've done since I've been down in Washington has been to SIT AROUND AND TRY TO LOOK WISE, and that's what any man has to do who isn't willing to BARTER HIS CONVICTIONS FOR POLITICAL EXPEDIENCY.

I GOT A LETTER FROM A FRATERNAL ORGANIZATION ASKING ME TO VOTE FOR THE IMMIGRATION BILL NOW PENDING. I VOTED AGAINST THE BILL ONCE, BUT IF I PLAYED THE GAME AS IT IS PLAYED IN WASHINGTON I WOULD WRITE TO MY CORRESPONDENT THAT I WOULD CAREFULLY CONSIDER THE MATTER, THEN I WOULD KEEP ON BLUFFING UNTIL IT CAME TO A SHOW-DOWN.

After I had voted against the bill I would hurry around and explain that matters arising at the last minute had made my act necessary and hand out a lot of stuff like that.

I CAN'T STAND THAT SORT OF BUSINESS. I THOUGHT THERE MIGHT BE A CHANCE FOR AN HONEST, WIDE AWAKE, FRANK AND OPEN BUSINESS MAN IN CONGRESS, BUT I WAS QUICKLY DISILLUSIONED.

English Occupation of Egypt Proves Beneficial

By Dr. BENJAMIN IDE WHEELER, President of University of California

I WENT to Egypt, believing that the English were not just masters there, but after seeing the results of English rule and talking with many people in Egypt, both natives and Englishmen, I have been convinced that ENGLISH OCCUPATION OF EGYPT IS MOST BENEFICIAL TO THE EGYPTIANS. The United States can learn a valuable lesson from England for the government of the Philippines.

What we need in the Philippines is a policy that does not wobble. EGYPT IS IN A STATE OF DEVELOPMENT THAT IT HAS NEVER KNOWN BEFORE. THE ENGLISH AND THE ENGLISH EXAMPLE HAVE MEANT GOOD ROADS, WATER DISTRIBUTION FROM THE NILE, RAILROAD EXTENSION AND MANY OTHER THINGS TO THE COUNTRY. THE PEOPLE ARE GOING AHEAD.

Should Be Partnership Between Industries to Help Farmer

By PETER RADFORD, National Lecturer of Farmers' Union of America

Should Be Partnership Between Industries to Help Farmer

FARMING is the BIGGEST BUSINESS IN THE WORLD, and constructive work that will permanently benefit agriculture must be arranged on a BIG, BROAD, COMPREHENSIVE BASIS. Co-operating with the farmer as an individual is not sufficient and will not reach the heart of the problem. The heavy and more important work can only be done through organization.

THERE MUST BE A PARTNERSHIP BETWEEN INDUSTRIES AND EACH LINE OF ORGANIZED INDUSTRY WORK WITHIN ITS OWN ORBIT. THE BANKERS CAN RENDER A SERVICE IN WORKING OUT A SYSTEM OF CREDITS BETTER ADAPTED TO THE BUSINESS OF FARMING. THE TRANSPORTATION LINES CAN HELP US BY LOCATING MARKETS AND REACHING THEM IN BEST CONDITION AT THE LOWEST EXPENSE.

LIVE STOCK PRICES AT SOUTH OMAHA

Beef Steers Generally Ten Cents Higher.

HOG MARKET BIG NICKEL HIGHER

Sheep and Lambs Strong to 10@15c Higher—Everything Moves Freely. Best Killers Sell First—Best Lambs Bring $7.90.

Union Stock Yards, South Omaha, Jan. 20.—A very fair run of cattle showed up today, about 5,500 head. There was a very good demand for beef steers today and values were fully a dime higher than Monday. The best cattle here sold at $8.70, the highest price thus far this week. The demand for cows and heifers was very good and the better grades were a dime higher than Monday. The less desirable grades moved quite freely, at fully steady figures. Bulls and stags were a little stronger and veal calves were fully steady, the best kinds selling up to $10.00. Good stocker cattle and feeding steers were steady, but the trade was not as snappy as Monday. Inferior grades were rather slow and weak.

Cattle quotations: Choice to prime beefs, $8.50@8.90; good to choice beefs, $8.30@8.50; fair to good beefs, $7.80@8.30; common to fair beefs, $6.75@7.80; good to choice fed heifers, $8.25@7.75; good to choice cows, $6.25@7.00; fair to good cows, $5.50@6.25; canners and cutters, $4.25@5.25; veal calves, $7.00@10.00; bulls, stags, etc., $5.00@7.00; good to choice feeders, $7.50@8.00; fair to good feeders, $6.00@7.40; common to fair feeders, $6.00@6.75; stock cows and heifers, $5.40@6.80; stock calves, $6.75@5.90.

About 13,000 hogs arrived today. The early trade was fairly active today, but closed draggy and weak. Prices were a big nickel higher than Monday. The bulk of the supply moved at a range of $8.15 to $8.35, and the best kinds reached $8.45, the highest price that has been paid this year, and 7 1/2c above Monday's top.

Sheep and lamb receipts totaled 8,000 head. Anything in the line of killers sold freely at prices strong to 10@15c higher today. Lambs ranged all the way from $7.25 to $7.90. Ewes moved largely at $5.00@5.25. A bunch of yearlings brought $6.50 and one of wethers $5.75.

Quotations on sheep and lambs: Lambs, good to choice, $7.85@8.10; lambs, fair to good, $7.25@7.85; lambs, culls, $5.50@6.00; yearlings, light, $6.40@6.90; yearlings, heavy, $5.75@6.40; wethers, good to choice, $5.50@5.90; wethers, fair to good, $5.25@5.50; ewes, good to choice, $5.00@5.50; ewes, fair to good, $4.40@5.00.

Now that W. H. Taft is out of the White House he is meeting some of the difficulties of the ordinary common citizen. That is a tax he is sure he cannot pass on for the foreigner to pay.

There are more than 5000 volunteers offering their services to Major Frank Pooley, a British officer who is at San Francisco asking for 100 men to enlist as husbands of 100 dusky ladies of Easter Island, where they will have nothing to do but be taken care of as the ladies are all rich. It is the kind of a life that will appeal to a class of men whom we can well spare, and we suggest that the Major take all who apply.

Women can now vote in Illinois and perhaps that was the reason that Mrs. Ella Flagg Young was not permitted to stay fired from the $10,000 position at the head of the Chicago schools—and perhaps it was not, for the lady had made good—or at least as good as possible in that town where there is more politics than ability to intelligently deal with educational matters represented on the school board, taking it one year with another.

The Stanton Picket has raised the subscription price of the paper from $1.00 to $1.50 per year. Probably that is none too much. A friend who was at Wayne last month told the Democrat editor that the Wayne papers are giving too much for the money, but he did not suggest whether or not it would be best to diminish the supply or increase the price. The Picket man having raised the price now promises to produce a better paper.

E. Shumway, aged 51, president and general manager of the Rocky Mountain Fuel Company, who died on January 11 from the effects of poisonous gases inhaled in rescue work which resulted from the explosion in the Vulcan mine at Newcastle, Colo., December 17 last was a brother of Senator H. P. Shumway of Wakefield. He went from a Nebraska farm to Colorado about twenty years ago, and built up a great business in coal, starting as a small retail dealer.

The annual statement of the treasurer of Pierce county shows that county to have a cash balance on hand December 31st of $53,397.67, an increase in the visible cash supply over the previous year of about $8,000. Schools took more of their money than any other one item, with roads and bridge combines second, while the general fund warrants were next. But against their cash on hand is $24,390.66 of registered unpaid warrants.

A "Society man" of Omaha was shot and killed at a house of illfame at Omaha last week, and no doubt "society" is proud of him. His companion, probably another "society man" escaped unidentified, but with a bullet hole in his shoulder. If he has money enough and does not die of the wound his identity may never be known outside of his "social circle." What is "society?"—something as rotten as that escapade indicates?

The Hartington library is established. They have about 1,000 volumes donated and will open up in the basement of the First National Bank until they can secure a site and the money for a library building. They are planning to go by the Carnegie route which will require two or three years probably to complete the task. Everything must be just according to rule if you get Andrew to come across.

The building and loan society at Hartington last week declared a dividend of 10 1/2 per cent on stock. That is not a bad investment for idle money, or rather money that otherwise might be idle. Besides it helps to build up the town and aids you or your neighbor to get more than a rent receipt for the regular monthly payment of a sum not much greater than rent would be. They have $135,000 of stock in force.

They are planning some new rural mail routes out of Hartington. We are told that routes could and should be re-adjusted from this place and one more route added to properly serve the people. We hope that the new administration will take this matter up when it comes into power. The retiring postmaster will scarcely be in long enough to complete such a work unless retained beyond his appointed term.

More than 300 pounds of honey and seven swarms of bees have been secured in the last few days from the second story of the old high school building at Neligh that is now being rapidly dismantled on the inside. The workmen report that several more swarms are in the south cornice of the structure and anticipate that an abundance of honey will be found there this week, as it is a known fact that bees have been making their home in this portion of the building for more than fifteen years.

The biggest cash real estate deal ever made in Knox county, was pulled off last Saturday afternoon. The Martin Peters's farm of 480 acres, two and one-half miles south of town was sold to Frank Fisher, of Clarkson, the consideration being $122,500 per acre—$58,800 in all—and every cent of it was paid spot cash. Mr. Fisher will not get possession till March 1, 1915, but in the meantime, will spend something like $15,000 for improvements on the place, his intentions being to make it the best improved and the most modern farm in the old Knox.—Bloomfield Journal.

The right of way along the Burlington lines—the strips of land on each side of the track, is to be put into alfalfa, and the company is offering it to the adjoining farms for that purpose at a very low rental. Thus the railroad seeks to convert an outgo for the care of this strip into a small income. If they would look after some of the large matters as carefully as they do some of the small ones, and with as much of an eye to public good, conditions would be made far better. This matter of getting this land into alfalfa will be of benefit to the adjoining land owner as well as the company. It will eradicate a weed seed bed and make far greater safety from fire.

"Charity begins at home" is an old and true statement. According to the most dependable statistics obtainable $169,000,000 were given and bequeathed to charity in the United States last year. A big sum for sure; but how does it compare with the sum which monopolies took from the people? The inhabitants of Manhattan Island, which is but a little tract of land taken from the Indians for $24, paid $156,000,000 during the same length of time for "ground rentals." Get that! Pollock told of the charity of the rich in two lines of one of his poems where he says that with one hand he put a penny in, with the other, took a stalling out. It might have been true then but the proportions have changed since that day and the order of giving and taking are more like a hundred to one.

This is to certify that I have been a great sufferer from rheumatism since 1894. Contracted the disease while working with a snow plow on the railroad. For several years I have been obliged to use crutches a great part of the time. Having used three boxes of the Meritol Rheumatism Powders, I have thrown away the crutches and am now almost fully recovered. It certainly has done wonders for me and I heartily recommend it. M. D. Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion

It Is the Best Remedy

When you are run-down, no matter what the cause.

It doesn't merely stimulate you and make you feel good for a few hours, but takes hold of the weakness, and builds you up to a healthy, normal condition.

It is a real nerve-food tonic, a real builder of healthy nerves, rich blood, strong muscles, good digestion.

It contains the Hypophosphites, to tone the nerves and give energy, and pure Olive Oil, to nourish the nerves, the blood, the entire system, and give vitality, strength and health.

It is pleasant to take, the greasy flavor of the Olive Oil having been removed.

For you who are tired out, nervous, run-down, debilitated, weak, emaciated—for convalescents—for old people—for puny children—we recommend Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion as the best medicine we know of to make and keep you well and strong.

Rexall Means KING OF ALL — Ours is the Best Store in this town

Mexico by One Who Knows

Miss Hazel Gantt, of Morning-side, who has been teaching in Mexico for a number of years and is now at the home of her parents has been interviewed by the Sioux City Journal and gives the following views of Mexican conditions. Miss Gantt is a niece of Mrs. M. S. Davies of this city and has numerous acquaintances here who will be interested in her review of the situation:

According to Miss Gantt, more than 50 per cent of the Mexican people are illiterate.

"The mass of the people," she declared, "have no ideals of good government. They are like so many sheep, ready to follow the first leader that appears. I should hate to see intervention on the part of the United States. Our soldier boys are worth more than to be sacrificed to save a government for which its own people don't care to fight. Thousands of idle men can be seen any day on the streets of Mexico City or attending the bull fights, utterly indifferent to the conditions of their government.

Miss Gantt believes that Huerta is nearing the end of his power. She declares that he is the most hated man in Mexico, and the only reason he has not been assassinated is because the Mexican is too cowardly to do it as long as Huerta is in power. In her opinion, the cultured classes are all hoping for victory for the constitutionalists.

"If the rebels should win," she declared, "I think that the United States will have to recognize them and perhaps extend them loans until they are organized on a business foundation. The moneyed Americans living in Mexico are hoping for intervention, and in case we do intervene, I have no doubt but that they will all unite against us. Huerta has already declared war against the United States on two different occasions, but has retracted before they were made public. Mexicans in Mexico City have declared that in the event of American intervention they will massacre every American in Mexico. This is regarded by most Americans as a bluff, however."

Miss Gantt expects to return to Mexico when conditions are more settled.

The cattle men in session at Denver assert that the tariff reduction will not lower the price of beef—if not let us hope it keeps it from going higher.

Nebraska has a cow which gave 22 times her weight in milk in one year, and they still have the cow left. If she keeps on a few years she will have produced several times her weight in butter unless she gives a poor quality of milk.

The men who figure things out have discovered that but 60 per cent of the land of this country is cultivated. They perhaps mean partially cultivated. We venture the assertion that more than 75 per cent is not so cultivated as to produce one-half what it should.

More than half of the national banks of the land have made formal application for membership in the new reserve banks. The bankers are not such bad fellows—they generally hold out for the best lay they can get, and when it comes to a showdown come across as they should.

Some of our assistants at the postoffice have been worrying for fear that congress would attach an amendment to the appropriation bill removing that class of employee from the civil service class. That these assistants claim is not according to party platform pledges. So it is not, and no less a person than the president is credited with saying that if the bill comes to him with such a rider it will be promptly vetoed.

Henry Vollmer of Davenport was nominated by the democrats of the second Iowa congressional district to make the race for the successor to Congressman Pepper, deceased. Unless Vollmer has reformed since the days of 1896 his nomination does not mean much to real democracy. He has always been a sort of "Belle wether buckler" whenever the plutocratic faction of the democratic party of Iowa could not have its own way, if we have his record right in our mind.

Bradstreet heads his summary of business conditions with the word "Improvement." Then in summing up he says that it is both sentiment and demand. Industrial resurrections are numerous following the holiday shutdowns. Broader demand for iron, steel, cottons, woolen goods and raw wool. Retail trade lags except where weather conditions have made a demand. Collections slightly better. Banks seek commercial paper. Wheat export large. Corn comes in from Argentine. There has been more than 5,000,000 bushel imported, nearly all to New York.

The President's message on trusts was given before Congress Tuesday and to packed galleries. The people who were actually afraid that a democratic administration would ruin legitimate business are beginning to see that it will help that class of business and restrain the grafter and bluffer who has been usurping the place of fair business for these many years. It is not to tear down but to build up business on a live and let live basis that the president and the great masses of the people are trying to do. Eliminate monopoly and business will be fairly profitable to all who diligently and intelligently follow it.

The Herald did a nice thing for Wayne in offering a prize for the best article telling the needs of Wayne and how to supply them. Six entered the contest, and the first prize was given to Miss Marguerite Forbes, entitled a "A City Beautiful." Her idea was to first clean up thoroughly, then begin adding improvements, such as paving, installing electroliers, secure new and better semi-public buildings, such as hotel, auditorium, a Y. M. C. A. and gymnasium and a like work. The articles were all good—contained much good advice and told it well. The others who entered the contest were I. H. Britell, J. G. W. Lewis, Mrs. M. A. Phillips, Dwight McVicker, aged 12, and Mrs. V. A. Senter. Plenty of remedies were prescribed, there is just one thing lacking—the application of them. Wayne has accomplished many good things within the past three years and should realize that the good work has but just begun.

Among The Churches of Wayne

Baptist Church

Rev. B. P. Richardson, Pastor

We had a busy time during the visit of Bro. Collins last week. He held several different services, besides addressing the Sunday school and the young people's sessions. But he left some splendid things for all of us. He enlarged our conceptions of the possibilities of the Sunday school work. All who heard him felt the inspiration of his addresses. We feel confident that practical good will result from his work among us. One thing, arrangements are being made for a teachers' meeting, with a definite course of study. Several books on various aspects of Sunday school work were bought by our workers. Our Sunday school has been doing good work, but we hope it will now undertake some advances. With officers, teachers, leaders, all working together we shall accomplish a splendid work.

We were glad to welcome a number of workers from Carroll at the institute. About ten were down on Saturday. They are wide awake and very hopeful about their work.

Next Sunday, Rev. Geo. W. Taft of Grand Island, president of the college there, will be with us, and preach at the morning hour.

Brother Taft is a splendid man for the place and it will do all our people good to hear him and know him. He goes to Carroll for the evening service. On Monday afternoon from 3 to 5 there will be a conference by the leading men of this association, on behalf of the college. The meeting will be held in the pastor's study. The young people's society will hold its regular session Sunday evening at 6:30.

At 7:30 there will be a union meeting at the Presbyterian church, in charge of Mr. Carson, superintendent of the anti saloon league of Nebraska. The temperance forces are planning some splendid legislation in this state, and are now organizing on that behalf. The victory is coming, slowly, but surely. Let all join this effort, whose hearts are with the movement.

Wednesday evening at 7:30 we shall meet for prayer. More definite announcements about this meeting will be made Sunday.

The people of our churches are giving splendid hearing to Prof. Joy's lectures. He touches a neglected but a deeply important aspect of training. We believe our people have ears to hear, and a will to do. Brother Joy is a man with a message, and if you can do so, hear him tonight and Friday night.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church

(Rev. Blessing, Pastor.)

Sunday school every Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. Again I want to call parents attention to the importance of the Sunday school, it can not be over estimated. Horace Russell says in speaking of the Sunday school, "It is the greatest work in the world, sometimes I think it is the only work."

Services every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. The subject of the sermon for next Sunday morning will be "The Despised Birthright" Gen. 25:30-34. God has given to each person born into this world a birthright. This birthright is the dearest thing any man can possess and because of its great value there are many forces trying to get it away from man. Hovering beneath the beautiful robe of society, crouching in the way of business, at most every turn, do we find these forces seeking to get possession of the dearest treasure of man, his birthright. Often there comes the words "Sell me this day, thy birthright". Thus it is for man to be constantly on the guard, that he despise not his birthright.

There will be a union meeting Sunday evening at the Presbyterian church.

The ladies aid society will meet at the parsonage on Thursday of this week.

The mid-winter Communion services will be held one week from next Sunday.

One week from next Sunday there will be a Congregational meeting, all members should be present at that time.

The choir will hold its rehearsal on Friday evening of this week.

Catechetical class will meet Saturday afternoon at half past two. If there are any who have not entered the class who would like to do so, we would be glad to welcome you.

A cordial invitation is extended to all who wish to worship with us.

Presbyterian Church

(Rev. Alexander Corkey, Pastor.)

"The Sure Signs of Divine Life in the Soul of the Converted Man" will be the subject of the morning sermon at the Presbyterian church next Sabbath. As a prelude to the sermon, C. Jacobson will give a brief account of the Kansas City Student Volunteer convention. This convention of christian students who are interested in the world-wide propagation of christianity met a short time ago in Kansas City, Mo., and was addressed by leaders in the church and state. The Wayne State Normal school was represented by C. Jacobson who was present at the entire convention, and who will bring a stirring report of this remarkable gathering of representative students from the principal educational institutions of America.

The annual banquet of the men of the Presbyterian church and their friends will be served on Thursday evening, January 29, at 6:30, in the basement of the Baptist church. Tickets are 50 cents. L. A. Kiplinger, president of the Brotherhood, will act as toastmaster, and a number of toasts will be given by the men of the local church, including one by W. D. Redmond. The chief address will be given by an out-of-town speaker.

Next Sunday evening, a union meeting will be held in the Presbyterian church and will be addressed by Professor Carson of Lincoln, who will speak on "The National Fight for a Sober America." Professor Carson is the state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, and has recently returned from the east, where he has been in conference with a number of the prominent statesmen of all parties who are uniting in a nation-wide campaign for national prohibition. The meeting will begin at 7:30.

A Sunday school rally for the officers and members of the Sunday schools of Wayne, Wakefield, and Emerson, will be held at Wakefield on February 2, in the afternoon and evening at the Presbyterian church.

Methodist Church

(Rev. C. L. Myers, Pastor)

Joy! Joy! Joy! Great crowds, enthusiastic listeners.

The moulding that fell down in the church Tuesday was a narrow escape for someone. There is no danger of it happening again, as it is to be replaced by galvanized iron.

The state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league will speak for us Sunday morning, and in the evening, we will all hear him in the Presbyterian church.

Let all Epworth leaguers attend the Endeavor society at the Presbyterian church Sunday evening at 7:30.

The Ladies' Aid society will meet the 29th instead of the 22nd, as was announced last Sunday morning.

Accept the thanks of the beneficiaries for the clothing you gave last week.

Midweek prayer meeting on Wednesday of next week is to be a special number.

Members of the brotherhood are preparing something to spring soon. Don't fail to have a part in it.

How would you like a study of the missionary work at league time, in place of the regular lesson?

How many people are there in Wayne who should be in some Sunday school, and are not? About 2,000. Astonishing!

The oratorio Tuesday evening met with splendid success in its rendition. People of Wayne are not very demonstrative.

Have you joined the Epworth league? or found your place in the Sunday school? Better do so at once.

The usual services will be held Sunday at the German Lutheran church in this city. Preaching and Sunday school.

Hear Marion Green, bass, under auspices of Choral Union, at M. E. church—Wednesday evening, January 28.—adv.

A fire at Waterbury Tuesday night destroyed Kavanaugh's general store, O'Conner's drug store, Pierce harness shop and implement house and a pool hall, the loss being estimated at $40,000. A bucket brigade was all they had with which to fight the flames.

J. Tower, formerly a resident of this place but now of College Court, Texas, died at his home Wednesday evening, the 21st, and his body will be brought to Wayne for burial, leaving there Saturday and arriving at this place about three days later. The time of the funeral here cannot now be told. He was an uncle of Frank Gamble. A man of many friends here this will be sad news to all.

J. M. Barrett came the first of the week from Dunlap, Iowa, to assist with the invoice of the Barrett & Dally hardware stock. The work is now under way, and will not be finished before some time next week. A member of the new firm is also here, and informs us that it is their plan to make Wayne headquarters from which to conduct their other branch houses, and that there will be two or three families here as soon as houses can be obtained.

With the very best grade of northern grown wheat and the most modern milling machinery that's why Splendid Flour is superior. That's the reason it makes a good wholesome loaf and more of them than any flour on this market. Ralph Rundell.—adv.

Now that a Hoskins lady has won the fight in a competitive examination for postmaster at that place, perhaps the woman candidate at Norfolk will have her cause strengthened. The result of this examination shows that in some respects at least the women are able to compete with the sterner sex.

A number from this place went to Pender this morning, part as witnesses in the Flege case and part as spectators and interested friends. Among the latter were Mesdames Henry Meyer, Jr., and Fred and Herman Eichtenkamp. It is reported that the attorneys will begin their pleadings this forenoon.

Walter Savidge and his company of star actors closed a three-night engagement here last evening, and tonight begin a like engagement at Pender. His audiences were not large here, there being other entertainments each evening of his stay, dividing the attendance, but the plays were high class drama well presented and no criticisms are heard.

The home of Wm. Hoguewood and family entertained Susan and Dinah, ladies of "Color" at their home for a short time Monday evening. The ladies were evidently fortune tellers, and as Mr. H. was raised where black people were plentiful as flies around a molasses barrel he was much pleased to meet in his northern home such genial specimens of the race he knew so well when a child.

Announcements have been received here from Lakeside, Washington, telling of the marriage of Miss Iva Merner and Mr. Crawford Earl Russell, who was formerly a citizen of Wayne—son of Steve Russell. When a young man here he was known as "Doc" Russell. The young folks will be at home after February 1st at Springwater ranch. The many friends of Doc Russell at Wayne will wish him well.

Among a number of finishing touches being applied to our new depot the addition of the words, Men and Women, designating the toilet rooms, will be much appreciated and save future embarrassing situations for modest people. The signs are also being transferred from the old building or new ones put up where the old ones are not suitable. It is probable too that a bit of platform will be added where the platform between the tracks joins the brick platform about the depot so that a truck load of baggage or express will not have to turn a square corner to be rolled in at the west end of the building.

In this issue of the Democrat a number of farm sales are advertised and it will pay those who are wanting anything in the line of goods and stock usually offered at farm sales to study these advertisements. The man who is going to put up from $2,000 to $5,000 worth of property to the highest bidder realizes as never before that it is the correct thing to do to see that every possible buyer in the county is invited to attend, and in no way can he do this so economically as by using the newspapers that go regularly to the homes of the farmers and stock buyers.

HUMAN BROTHERHOOD.

When Disaster Came All Were Kin and Equality Reigned.

Friends who went through the horrors of the San Francisco earthquake in 1906 and kept their spiritual senses alert tell me that its most poignant experience was not one of horror or of pity, but of the almost miraculous attainment of human brotherhood.

"Just after the disaster, when rich and poor waited in line, together for their allowance of bread and milk, I saw," says a friend, "a rich woman from the St. Francis hotel lying asleep on a doorstep with her head on a muff. A long sable coat was thrown over her, and under one corner of it a young Japanese boy, a perfect stranger to her, was curled up asleep."

"Everybody was everybody's friend, and, though we were all dog tired, there was not a word of complaint or ill nature. To bivouac together in the park and care for each other's babies around fires of driftwood gathered on the beach transformed men and women into defenseless children of the earth, revealed each to each by their innate loveliness."

"Common danger and mutual helpfulness, common misfortune, common work, common confrontation with the elemental, brought a swift achievement of almost ideal brotherhood. A crushing blow made all the world for a time kin."—Atlantic Monthly.

TAKING A PHOTOGRAPH.

So Easy Nowadays That It Positively Peaved the Old Timer.

"I'm in an organization where the members are expected to furnish the secretary with photographs of themselves."

"Yes?" "Well, I hadn't been to a photographer's for twenty years. I hated to go. I remembered the old head clamp, and the twisted spine, and the awkward hands, and the depressed chin, and the silly smile. It seemed to me worse than the dentist's. But I had to go. I walked into the photographer's big room like a Christian martyr, and the operator pointed out a chair, and I sat down, and he said, 'That's all.' I asked him to repeat it. He did. Then I got out of the chair and went back to my office."

"Well?" "Well, I don't feel right about it. It didn't seem to me worth while. I don't think the photographer treated me right. It looked to me as if he had a disagreeable job on his hands and wanted to shirk it. He should have fussed over me more. What do I know about posing? Besides, there wasn't time. 'That's all,' he said, and flipped me out of the chair. They didn't snub me that way twenty years ago, no sir!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Made the Most of His Hats.

When Lord Milner held his first reception at Pretoria the officers and legislators were given to understand that frock coats and tall hats were expected of them. There was only one shop in the place in which silk hats were sold, and this had but four of them. The Transvaal legislators rushed off to a body to buy these four, but the hatter, not being mad, saw his opportunity in their extremity. He knew there was no time to get hats from anywhere else, so he resolved not to sell. He offered to let them out on hire at the rate of 10 shillings for ten minutes. His shop was close at hand. Four gentlemen could present themselves before his excellency. After ten minutes they must silently steal away and hand over their hired finery to another panting quartet. It was done, and the hatter still repeats dreamily as he recalls the moment of his life, "It would not have been fair to have sold them, not fair to my customers and not fair to myself."—London Globe.

"The Corsican Bandit."

Only those who have traveled a good deal in Italy can realize the depth of the resentment that is still felt there at the losses the country suffered through the "Corsican Bandit," as Napoleon has been dubbed. The Italians have a saying about the French, "Are the French thieves?" "No, but bona parte a good part of them are." And when a visitor goes to one city after another, sees one building after another that was robbed of its chief treasures by Napoleon, he begins to understand this savage sentiment. It is even stronger in Malta, which island was virtually swept clean of its splendors of medieval and renaissance art by the conqueror. The Maltese loot is all somewhere at the bottom of Alexandria bay, the ship on which Napoleon loaded it having foundered there.

Wat Tyler's Rebellion.

Attempts to fix by statute the wages of agricultural laborers in England were largely responsible for the great revolt of 1381, or "Wat Tyler's rebellion." It represented the despairing effort of landowners to get back to the level of wages before the black death came to make labor dear. But the lord of the manor overshot the mark. He wanted the day wage kept down to 4 cents to 6 cents a day. Had he put 6 cents to 8 cents in the schedule there might have been no rebellion.

Badly Expressed.

Great Interest In Panama Essays

Boys and Girls Much Pleased with Chance to Try For Cash Prizes—School Authorities Co-operate—Jury Announced.

The First National Bank of Wayne, has announced the following as the Jury of Award for the Panama canal essay contest for $18 in cash prizes: W. D. Redmond, J. W. Ziegler, A. E. Davis.

The school children have evinced a deep interest in the announcement made last week that a prize of $10 would be paid for the best 200-word essay written by a schoolboy or schoolgirl under sixteen years of age; a second prize of $5, and a third prize of $3.

The Osborne Art Calendar, which shows the reproduction of Richard W. Rummell's painting in full color of the entire canal zone, has been the center of attraction in every schoolroom since it was placed on the walls and announcement made through these columns that prize contest was on.

Thus early, some of the essays have been mailed to the First National Bank.

Most of the boys and girls, however, are not sending along their first efforts, but are giving the Panama canal careful study, carefully scrutinizing the picture on the calendar, and the descriptive matter that appears on the sheet which is attached to it. There is a demand all over town for books on the Canal, and the "children of larger growth" are becoming as much interested as the smaller folks.

The Panama Canal picture and the prize contest have become the talk of the town, and, as we predicted a week ago, every one of us knows a lot more about the Canal, and the hundreds of millions of dollars and the thousands of lives that have been poured out in its building, than we knew a few weeks ago.

SNAPPING THE CRANBERRY.

Dinner Game Suggested, but Not Recommended.

This is a game to be played at the Christmas table. When the cranberry sauce is brought on each guest must place a cranberry on the end of a knife, holding the knife in the left hand with the right hand close behind the cranberry. At the word "snap," given by the hostess, the cranberry should be snapped with the first finger of the right hand at the target. The game shall be continued until each player has shot away all of his cranberries. The score is counted thus: Hitting the hostess with a cranberry counts one.

Hitting grandma counts two; grandma, three; Uncle Will, four; Uncle Tom, five, and so on, depending on whom the guests and those around the table are. A cranberry that goes on the floor is out of play, but one that falls in any person's lap or sticks in the hair or on a coat or dress can be picked up and played again. Anybody that hits anybody else squarely on the nose counts fifty to the lucky player's score. This is a highly diverting game and one that all will enjoy, especially the hostess.—New York World.

OUR SUPREME COURT.

There Was a "Leak" There Once, but It Was Quickly Stopped.

"Yes; it is true that supreme court decisions leaked in the old days," remarked an old time broker. "I remember a certain important suit about twenty years ago. It was the great case of those days—a big one in its way as the Standard Oil and Tobacco suits of the present. A week before the decision came down the son of one of the judges came into my office, and I told him that of the nine judges one would decide 'so and so,' one would refrain from any opinion, and the remaining seven would make a decision 'so and so.'"

He smiled and went away. Shortly after the decision was rendered and the matter had turned out as I had foretold this young man came back to the office. He said his father was greatly worried over the leak in the court and asked me if I could help them trace the source of my information. I told him what I knew—that one of the official supreme court stenographers had been selling advance copies of the decisions to a very prominent broker of that time. What this broker paid for his information I, of course, do not know, but it was established that I was correct as to where the weak spot was in the court.

"Since then every decision by the supreme court has been written in long hand (one copy), thus making it absolutely impossible for any outsider to get the news in advance. This explains in part why it now takes so long for the court to announce its decisions."—Wall Street Journal.

Tells of The Southland

R. R. Smith and wife are home from their southern trip. They went there before Christmas to attend a family reunion of the Smith family—that particular branch or twig of that numerous tribe, we mean. They went to Siloam Springs, where the eight members of the family spent Christmas and a few following days together. Once in three years they all gather at some one of the homes. Mr. Smith tells us that the combined miles of railroad traveled by the seven members who went to the one at Siloam Springs was over 9,000 miles, for the one way trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith then went to visit relatives at Denton in the northern part of Texas where they spent New Year's day. They found the weather in both places damp and cloudy—and in Texas they had had a very wet fall damaging the cotton crop considerably. Here Mr. Smith met the first intruder into the domain of Uncle Sam from the south that came in competition with the farmer. It was corn from Argentine Republic of South America. It was being ground at a mill at Denton, and they were working on their second car load. They did not tell him the price but said it was cheaper than the home product, which was selling at 90 cents per bushel. Mr. Smith brought a sample of the corn home with him and left a little at this office. It is not what would pass for very good—corn here, and is badly mixed. Most of it resembles the flint corn grown in North Dakota and northern Minnesota. We do not think that it will cut much in competition with Nebraska corn—it is not of as good quality, and if it does not force the price of corn lower than 90 cents per bushel the Nebraska farmer will manage to live, we think.

It was 36 years since Mr. Smith had last been in the south before, and he noted great development—says that the larger southern towns are booming but he could not really see why. When he was at Dallas last it was little better than a marsh or frogpond—this time he viewed the country from the top of a 20 story hotel that had its foundation in what had been a swamp on his previous visit.

At Denton is a state school—the school of industrial arts—or what we would call domestic science for girls only. They have plenty of fine buildings, one a new one costing $150,000. The students are of the best in the state—and regulations are very strict. All students wear uniform and learn by actual experience how to do all manner of work. At the school they have a fine herd of Jersey cows and dairying is part of the course, which includes butter making and cheese making.

Socially the people are hospital—politically they are democratic and very loyal to the present administration and ardent admirers of our fellow citizen, W. J. Bryan except a few who hate him as cordially as the friends admire him. He found much hatred of the north among some—the old war spirit as strong as at the close of the war. The young he said are as bitter as the old among those who are not of a forgiving disposition.

When they left the farmers were busy with spring work plowing for oats and corn. Some farm work was going on in southern Oklahoma, but before they reached Kansas they were out of the spring zone, and in northern Kansas they encountered plenty of snow. Mr. Smith came north so fast that he caught a bad cold, which kept him within doors for nearly a week after he reached good old Nebraska. It was a great trip. He thinks people there do not keep as closely in touch with current events as here—seem rather indifferent as to Mexican news, but uphold the president's policy of dealing with the situation. They figure that Texas boys are worth more to them than the Standard Oil Company's interest. If the oil people are not willing to defend their title in Mexico they should not expect the people of this country to do so for them.

W. J. Bryan Writes to Billy Sunday

The following letter, written a few days ago by Secretary of State, William J. Bryan to Billy Sunday, the well-known baseball evangelist, has created much interest in the east. In this letter the famous Nebraskan states clearly his opinion of revivals and of evangelistic work. The letter is as follows:

Washington, Jan. 12, 1914.
My Dear Sunday—Having about four hours in Pittsburg last night, my wife and I attended your meetings and so we heard and felt the powerful sermon which you delivered. We noted the attention of that vast audience, and watched the people, men and women, old and young, who thronged about you in response to your appeal.

Mrs. Bryan had never heard you and I had only heard a short afternoon address. Last night you were at your best. I cannot conceive of your surpassing that effort in effectiveness.

Do not allow yourself to be disturbed by criticism. God is giving you 'souls for your hire,' and that is a sufficient answer. Christ called attention to the fact that both he and John the Baptist had to meet criticism because they were so much unlike in manner. No man can do good without making enemies, but yours as a rule will be among those who do not hear you.

Go on, and may the Heavenly Father use you for many years to come, as He has for many years past and bring multitudes to know Christ as He presented Himself when He said, 'I am the way, the truth and the life.'

Am sorry we could not see you personally, but we left because we found that we were discovered. Some insisted upon shaking hands and I was afraid I might become a cause of disturbance. Mrs. Bryan joins me in regards to Mrs. S. and yourself.
Yours truly,
W. J. BRYAN.

The Real Estate Auction

The sale of two houses and three lots at Wayne last Saturday afternoon demonstrates that Wayne has the confidence of the people in its future prosperity. These properties were nicely located and fair small houses thereon. The house and lot—belonging to Burl Craig was sold to Mrs. Steele, her son James bidding for her, at $1,700. The smaller house belonging to T. A. Craig and one lot sold to Link Welbaum from east of Wayne for $1,150. The vacant lot between the two places was then in demand, and sold at $575 to Mrs. Steele. This made a total of $3,425 for the property, and while it was well bought, so far as the new owners are concerned, it sold at a price which satisfied the former owners—for it cleaned the matter up in a day, and the two Craigs are now ready to give their attention to other matters. The Democrat believes that a fair, square auction sale is a good method for disposing of property, once one decides that he will sell. It does away with a lot of jockeying and bartering and delay. Those who want the property are there to see that it does not sell for less than they think it worth. Mr. Craig said that his property paid back to him all that it cost him besides the use of it while he owned it so that it owes him nothing.

Pioneer Dead

This community was shocked last Wednesday morning when the people learned that Edward Fleury had died at his home six miles north of this city at 11:20 o'clock Tuesday, January 13. About two weeks ago Mr. Fleury was kicked on the head by a mule and several bones fractured but he was supposed to be getting along nicely. Several days before his death he took a backset and gradually grew worse until he passed across the brink into the great beyond. The cause of death was given as concussion of the brain.

Mr. Fleury was one of our highly respected farmers and was among the early settlers in this vicinity. He was sixty-three years of age last December, but had retained his activity and physical decline had not taken hold of him.

Mr. Fleury was formerly a resident of this county and has many friends among the pioneers who knew him well and sincerely mourn his sudden death.

New York Banker Urges Omaha for Regional Bank

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 20.—Omaha is a logical place for establishing a regional bank, according to Henry Clews of the well known banking firm bearing his name. Chicago and St. Louis are also favored by the New York financier for the same reason that the moving of crops of the United States devolves upon these three cities.

Omaha business men with the co-operation of Nebraska men are formulating a strong argument for the selection of Omaha. Its geographical location, supplemented by the fact that twenty separate and distinct lines of railroad are operated out of Omaha, are factors that must be taken into consideration in Omaha's favor. Omaha can be reached from more financial centers within twelve hours than any other city west of the Mississippi river.

State Normal Notes

Several new members have joined the orchestra during the past week.

Mrs. Henry Muetting of Bloomfield brought her daughter to Wayne recently and had her registered for a teachers' course. Mr. and Mrs. Muetting were students of the Nebraska normal college fourteen years ago.

Miss Nellie V. Bright has accepted a position as teacher of the grammar department of the Grand Island school and began work there on Monday of last week. She will return to Wayne and complete the work of the advanced course in the summer session.

The class in civics recently held a primary election and later a regular election, using sample ballots from the state elections of the summer and fall of 1912. Judges and clerks were selected from the class and were given experience with all features of actual elections, including challenges and the problems of counting irregularly marked ballots.

In order to promote a greater interest among the students of the State Normal School two business men of Wayne have offered prizes to be awarded at the close of the year to the student who ranks first in scholarship, or in other school activities. The first prize is a gold medal offered by J. G. Mines to the student who makes the most improvement during the school year. This will be known as the "Mines Gold Medal", and will be offered annually by Mr. Mines and awarded at the close of the year, the winner being chosen by a committee of three. The second prize is offered by Frank Morgan, and consists of a silver cup to be awarded to the student of the Normal who proves himself or herself of the greatest value to the institution during any regular school year. The winner of the cup offered by Mr. Morgan will be judged not on scholarship alone, but athletics, debating, literary work and other school activities will be considered. At the last meeting of the faculty a committee was appointed to confer with Mr. Morgan and Mr. Mines, to express to them the appreciation of the faculty for their kindly interest in the welfare of the school and to make definite arrangements for awarding these prizes at the close of the present year.

Hampshires—the Coming Hog

Roy Fisher of Winside was returning Friday morning from a Hampshire hog sale at Galva, Iowa, and tells us that he is to have a sale of Hampshire bred sows at the Wayne pavilion March 14th. Mr. Fisher has some of the best of that famous breed of swine in his herd as has been demonstrated by the premiums he has won at inter-national, inter-state and state fairs in the past six months. He will also put some of his show sows in the sale. The Peterson sale at Galva was a good one—50 head averaging $62.50 each. Mr. Fisher has engaged two noted auctioneers, one from Indiana, the other from Iowa, who know the Hampshire hog and are specialists in the sale ring. He says it is well worth ones time to attend a sale to be entertained by such auctioneers. This is to be Mr. Fishers first sale and he is going to leave no stone unturned to make it a success. He has the best of stock and he has faith that the Hampshire is the coming hog and that any farmer who will investigate the merits of the animal and buy will be the winner. His offering at Wayne will be of as good breeding as the best and bred to such sires as Tatro Messenger and Doc Scott.

The Democrat One Year Free

For the first one who will tell us what republican paper the following was taken from we will send the Democrat one year free to any address in this country they may wish it. Tell us the name of the paper that has come out and acknowledged what all knew to be true all of the years of traff fighting.

"Has anybody been complaining of the damage done by free wheat? The reason for the failure of the prophets of evil on that score can be seen in a statement of the cargo of one steamship that cleared at New York a day or two ago for Marseilles. The vessel carried 401,000 bushels of wheat, of which 93,000 bushels were Canadian wheat and the rest American wheat. With Canadian and American wheat crossing to the markets of the world in the same boat a wheat tariff is worth just a little less than the paper it is written on."

The Invalid

He Was Very Hard to Nurse

By F. A. MITCHEL

Barton Hough was educated abroad, and, after having attended schools till he was eighteen, universities till he was twenty-six and taken post graduate courses till he was twenty-nine, his mother thought it time that he returned to America.

It is not to be inferred that Mr. Hough came out with great knowledge from all this training. He had become accustomed to European life and remained in the universities for the purpose of prolonging it. The only thing in which he had become proficient was the use of the small sword, which he learned at a German university.

However, when he had finished his last postgraduate course he concluded to take a rest in Paris, where he remained a year. Then his father died, and he felt it incumbent upon him to go home. He found his mother very lonely, and she begged him to stay with her. He promised to do so, but before long it became apparent that he was sighing for those places where people work a few hours a day or not at all and enjoy themselves the rest of the time.

In order to get her son chained down she desired that he should marry. Unfortunately for this plan Barton's feminine associates abroad had not been such as to inspire confidence in women. He had been much pleased at one time with a Russian countess. But she turned out to be an adventuress and the sweet intercourse between them had turned to bitterness. An English girl, Lady Angela Courtney, had been his next flame, but she had married a nobleman of her own country, leaving the American in the lurch.

Mr. Hough, forgetting that "one swallow does not make a summer"—or two in his case—came to consider all women bereft of any sense of honor, and he would have nothing to do with them, or, rather, he would trust none of them. As to marrying, that was out of the question.

One day Barton fell ill. His mother was not strong enough to nurse him, but he would have no one else. Finally when worn out she suggested a trained nurse. The young man was so enraged at the suggestion that his mother desisted. Finally in order to relieve her he consented that she might bring in a man to help her.

Mrs. Hough knew a young woman who had become a trained nurse. This girl, Adele Trevor, the good lady sent for, and on her arrival said to her: "Philippa, my son is ill and I must have some one to take care of him. What salary do you usually get?" "Twenty-five dollars a week."

"I will pay you double that sum, but I have a requirement to make of you. You must personate a man."

The girl hesitated, but she needed money, and $50 a week was a temptation to her. Besides it was understood that her duties would be rather to entertain the patient than to nurse him. She accepted the position and Mrs. Hough sent her to a tailor to be outfitted. It became necessary to cut off a wealth of hair, but her employer gave her a substantial check to cover the loss. When all was ready the nurse was introduced to the patient by Mrs. Hough.

"Why, mother," he said, "I thought you were to get a man, not a boy?" "You don't need a person of strength. The butler will do everything for you. Philip is simply to be with you when you are lonely, to give you your medicine, and read to you."

"Very well, let him begin at once." "What kind of reading do you like, sir?" asked the nurse, very meekly.

Barton smiled. "You must be pretty young. Your voice hasn't changed yet," he said; then added in contrasting tones, "I want a blood and thunder story."

Philippa went out of the room with Mrs. Hough for a book and returned with a history of the buccaneers of the Spanish main. Drawing a chair beside the invalid's couch she seated herself and began to read. She had not read long before Barton stopped her.

"That's no voice with which to read about pirates. No pirate would ever tell anybody to walk the plank like that. Put it this way—and in a stentorian voice as he could command in his weak condition he repeated:

"Out there—every one of you!" "My voice isn't very strong yet. I suppose it will be stronger when I am older," said the nurse.

"You need developing. Look in the closet and you'll find a couple of foils. Never mind the pirates; I'm tired of them."

Philippa closed the book, laid it aside and, going to the closet, found the foils standing in a corner. She brought them to the invalid, who took one, leaving the other with her.

"Now stand off there," he said, "and I'll give you a lesson in fencing."

"But, sir, are you strong enough to—"

"I'm going to do my part in bed. Put the pillows behind me."

She propped him up as he desired, and he bent his foil above his head after the fashion of fencers beginning to fight and told Philippa to do the same. Then he told her to see if she could touch him with the button of her foil.

"Don't you think, sir," she protested, "that it would be better for me to read to you?"

"No; it's your business to amuse me, and you must amuse me; not bore me."

"But the doctor, he wouldn't allow it."

"The doctor be hanged; he's not here to stop it."

Philippa made several inoffensive thrusts, rather endeavoring not to touch the patient than to do so.

"See here, young man," cried Barton: "do you call that fencing? I wait you to do your best to put the button there," and he tapped his left breast with his finger.

Philippa, seeing that nothing would satisfy him except her doing her best, set to work to touch the spot indicated, but found it impossible. Although reduced by illness, he was too quick for her.

"Now, I'll try you," he said, "but my hand is not as steady as it should be, and I'm afraid I'll hurt you. You'll find a mask in the closet. Bring it out."

Philippa brought the mask, and he told her to put it on. She did so and, again taking up her foil, placed herself on the defensive. Barton had no difficulty in getting behind her guard and placing the button of his foil wherever he liked. They were in the midst of lunges and parries when the door opened and Mrs. Hough ushered in the doctor. Philippa turned quickly, lowered the point of her foil to the floor, bent her head and stood like a culprit ready to receive a reprimand.

"So this is the nurse you have provided for your son?" said the doctor to Mrs. Hough.

"He's a dandy!" said the patient. "I don't believe he ever took a lesson in his life, and yet he came very near pinching me several times."

But the doctor refused to be placated.

"Madam," he said to the mother, "is this young man a professional nurse?" "He is."

"Discharge him at once."

"Not on your life!" cried the patient.

"Any educated nurse," continued the doctor, "knows better than to risk a patient's life by permitting him to take such violent exercise."

"Permitting?" sneered Barton. "Do you think that stripling could lord it over me? Not much."

"Either discharge the nurse," said the doctor resolutely, "or I shall withdraw from the case."

"The nurse won't be discharged," replied Barton. Whereupon the doctor left the room, followed by the fond mother, who was quite beside herself at the trouble she had made in giving her son a man nurse. She made no attempt at an explanation to the doctor, being too agitated and not knowing what to do. She went back to the sickroom, to find the nurse had vacated it, while her son was evidently no worse for his exercise.

"Mother," he said, "let old sawbones go. I like this little chap you've given me, and before he goes away I'll make a man of him."

"Oh, dear!" cried the mother, which under the circumstances was as appropriate as anything she could say.

"Send Philip back to me," Barton went on. "He's a bit cut up at being blamed."

Mrs. Hough was ready to do anything in her power and, going out, came back dragging Philippa with her.

"Come here," said Barton to his nurse.

Philippa went to him and, taking her hand, the patient said kindly:

"Don't mind what the old curmudgeon said. You're a nice little fellow, only a bit too delicate for a boy, but I'll take that out of you. Mother, I want him to stay with me till I get well. I feel better already."

So Philippa continued her attendance, and the patient continued to improve. As much cannot be said for Philippa. As the patient grew stronger he increased his efforts to take the effluvia out of her, and she was forced to suffer some pretty hard knocks. A crisis came when Barton was able to get out of bed and stand on his feet. Then one day Mrs. Barton heard sounds above, followed by a third running upstairs, she found her son lifting Philippa, unconscious, from the floor. Both had boxing gloves on their hands.

"For heaven's sake, Barton," cried the mother, "have you killed her?" "Killed her? You mean him?"

"Oh, my dear boy, she is a girl!" Barton said Philippa on a lounge and begged his mother to go for restoratives. While the old lady was gone Philippa opened her eyes, meeting another pair of frightened eyes that showed a relief, but still anxiety.

"Thank heaven I haven't killed you!" he said.

"No, no. It is nothing. The violence of the exercise overcame me. I am all right now."

"Forgive me, sweetheart. I mean fit the girl. I didn't know."

"I should not have entered upon such a deception," the girl moaned. "I didn't want to do so, but was over-persuaded. Your mother's offer was tempting, and I yielded despite my better judgment. But I didn't know I would be expected to play a man's part except as a man nurse."

When Mrs. Hough returned to the room armed with smelling salts her son was bending over his nurse so intently that he was not aware of his mother's presence. But Philippa's color had suddenly returned in a measure. Indeed, there was something like a blush on her cheeks as she listened to the pleadings of the young man for forgiveness. The good lady withdrew, and it was not many weeks before she was rewarded by her son announcing that he would remain in America and become a benedict.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

J. H. Loudan spent Tuesday at Sioux City.

Harry Armstrong was here from Sioux City Sunday.

Dr. Cleveland was at Norfolk between trains Tuesday.

Mrs. E. W. Johnson went to visit home folks at Oakland last week and Mr. Johnson spent Sunday there. Mrs. Johnson returned Tuesday.

There is a three-legged calf at Ponca—but that is nothing to brag of for around Wayne are hundreds of them with four legs—and a few that walk about on only two legs.

Mrs. E. J. Hunter arrived home from Sioux City Saturday evening, where she spent several weeks at a hospital, and is now rapidly regaining her usual health.

Mrs. J. H. Vibber went to visit at Fremont the first of the week and from there went to Omaha to visit a sister and on Wednesday morning J. H. went to Omaha to meet her.

J. L. Payne and wife from Clearfield, Iowa, came last week to visit for a month or two at the home of his son, J. L. Payne, jr., of this place. They plan to spend the winter here.

Clarence and Ora Bradley from Enterprise, Oregon, have been here visiting at the home of their uncle and aunt, J. L. Payne and wife, and they left last Friday to visit at Bedford, Iowa.

E. W. Closson of Sholes returned Tuesday from a visit at Verdigris, where he has land interests. He reports that conditions are prosperous out there. Crops were good and the native pasture better than usual.

Perry Benschopf is in this vicinity, coming from VanTassel, Wyoming, to visit relatives and friends here. The fact, we think, is that he saw so many sales advertised here that he could not resist the temptation to come back and attend them—for he never missed a sale when on earth the first time.

The Watt Williams sale was a good one Tuesday. Everything sold well and one Jersey cow brought $98, which was good money to pay for a cow, but it is a fact that a real good cow at that price is cheaper than two or three for the same money that won't produce enough to pay their keep.

Quite a number of relatives gathered at the home of Watt Williams and wife this week, coming to his sale and to visit before they quit the farm. Wm. Cooper and wife from Merville, Ia., a nephew, and Wm. Jones and wife from Elliott, Iowa, Mrs. Jones is his sister. Then Thomas Williams, a brother, his wife and son were here from Gretna in this state, making quite a family reunion.

Fred Frevett and family returned to their home at Wausa Tuesday, following a visit of ten days with relatives and friends here and near here. They spent part of the time with his brothers, Herman and Carl, and Monday all were at the home of his father ten miles southeast of Wayne. The father is nearly 80 years of age, and while not as young as he used to be, he is doing pretty well for one of his years.

The Niemann-Severs Reception

Following the marriage of their daughter Miss Clara M. and Mr. Otto Niemann at the German church seven miles southeast of Wayne last Thursday afternoon a reception was given at the home of the bride's parents, Peter Severs and wife in honor of the event which was attended by more than one hundred of the relatives and friends of the contracting parties.

At 6:30 a magnificent supper was served to all—no money or trouble being spared to satisfy the wants of all. In the evening about 100 of the younger guests repaired to the well-lighted barn where the hours quickly passed, keeping time to music of the orchestra until near midnight when another feast was spread, following a concert by the band which amused and pleased all. John Good's 4-piece orchestra furnished most excellent music, and after the late supper the dancing was resumed until the small hours of the new day. Wishing the bride and groom the best of all that there is in life the assembled guests depart to their homes voting the reception a perfect success.

A Few Words on the Hogs

In offering the Columbian Stock Powders to stock raisers it is my object to offer something that will stand on its own merits, and after the most thorough and exhaustive test, I feel justified in saying that it is all and more than I claim for it. This remedy will destroy worms and expel them. My opinion is that if hogs can be kept free from worms there will be very little trouble from so-called hog cholera. Worms are the prevailing cause of nearly all the diseases the hog is troubled with. I am proud to say that Columbian Stock Powders stand second to none, and to prove its merits I only ask the doubting ones to get a sample and give it a fair and impartial trial. I also handle the Columbian Dip for all kinds of stock. Write or telephone 1708 Wisner line. Local agent W. E. Roggenbach, one mile southwest of Alona, Nebraska.—adv. 4-2.

SLEEP-DISTURBING BLADDER WEAKNESS BACKACHE-RHEUMATISM, QUICKLY VANISH

Even Most Chronic Sufferers Find Relief After A Few Doses Are Taken

Backache, urinary disorders, and rheumatism, are caused from weak, inactive kidneys, which fail to filter out the impurities and keep the blood pure, and the only way on earth to permanently and positively cure such troubles, is to remove the cause. The new discovery, Croxone, cures such conditions because it reaches the very roots of the disease. It soaks right into the stopped up, inactive kidneys, through the walls and linings; cleans out the little filtering cells and glands; neutralizes and dissolves the poisonous uric acid substances that lodge in the joints and muscles to scratch and irritate and cause rheumatism; it neutralizes the urine so it no longer irritates the tender membranes of the bladder, and cleans out and strengthens the stopped up, lifeless kidneys so they filter and sift all the poisons from the blood, and drive it out of the system. So sure, so positive, so quick and lasting, are the results obtained from the use of Croxone, that three doses a day for a few days are often all that is required to cure the worst case of backache, regulate the most annoying bladder disorders, and overcome the numerous other similar conditions. It is the most wonderful preparation ever made for the purpose. It is entirely different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth to compare with it. It is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. You can obtain an original package of Croxone at trifling cost from any first-class drug store. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if Croxone fails to give desired results, regardless of how old you are, how long you have suffered, or what else has failed to cure you.

A New Party Platform

After months of discussion Congress has made a law intended to relieve the bankers and business men of the country of their burdens and embarrassments and incidentally to provide one hundred or more $12,000 jobs for jobless statesmen.

Now comes Senator Norris with a bill that will enable the owner and occupant of a section or less of land to borrow from the treasury on long time and at 3 1/2 per cent interest up to 50 per cent of the value of the land. Only a few years ago when the bankers were charging 2 per cent a month for the use of money the populists were denounced as lunatics for asking Uncle Sam to loan on land security at the rate now deemed sane and wise by Senator Norris.

But where does the renter and the man too poor to rent come in on this deal of government bounty? Is he beneath consideration except on election day? Since the commission has reported in detail how the landlords were driven out of Ireland and through government aid nearly a half million robbed and degraded tenants have become prosperous and happy proprietors of the soil, Wilson and Bryan have been studying the subject of landlordism in the United States.

During the prosperous years of 1900 to 1910 home owners increased less than 8 per cent while renters increased over 16 per cent and those too poor to either own or rent exceeded both.

The papers say that Wilson and Bryan are studying the problem of doing something for the landless man but they will find the question a monumental one in this country, to do as England did, buy out the landlords, parcel the land to the tenants on 75 years time and loan them money to build, purchase stock and farm machinery. The Irish renter forced his liberation from feudal slavery by electing the proper men to parliament. Has the landless man in Nebraska as much sense as the Irishman?

If the majority in the legislature of any state should favor the following platform the landless man would soon become the proprietor of a farm.

First:—Exempt the home to the head of a family (except for school and municipal needs) to a maximum of $2,500.00.

Second:—A graduated land tax for the use of rendering large ownership by one person impossible.

Third:—A state income and inheritance tax.

A landless man who once owned a Wayne county farm exclaimed that platform is anarchistic. Let us refer to the second. In 1863 congress by law exempted government bonds, United States notes and national bank notes from taxation. It taxed national banks one per cent on their circulation and state banks ten per cent. The latter not for revenue but to destroy a legal existing evil.

Precedent No. 1 and No. 2. In the late tariff bill—the right of exemption to the person of ordinary wealth is affirmed and the principle of graduated taxation recognized and established.

I will vote for and support the candidate for the legislature from this county who endorses the above platform and not otherwise.

C. J. RUNDELL.

The Nebraska Suffrage association has secured Mrs. Madalen Munson, a prominent club woman, and now a voter, from Pittsburg, Kansas, to assist in organizing the counties in the northeast part of the state for the suffrage campaign. She has during January held meetings at several points in Burt, Thurston, Dakota, Dixon, Cedar and Knox counties, and left in each a good working county committee ready to push the initiative petition and other lines of campaign work vigorously. Wayne county is to receive attention during the week of January 19, beginning at Carroll on that date. Mrs. Munson will be in Wayne several days before going on to Winside and Hoskins.

The above from the Carroll Index indicates that the suffrage is now among us, but we have not at this writing noted any marked change in our city. The women are probably as good or better citizens than us men, and no one can blame them for trying to be placed in a position where they can make their citizenship effective. To do this to best advantage after they have been admitted to the voting booth they should assist in forming the best system of law and law enforcement regardless of sex.

Insanity For Us to Guarantee Peace In Philippines

By Former President of the United States WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT.

THE Moros have notified us that they will not stand Filipino government, and the Filipinos say they cannot take over the islands unless they take over all of them. The minute that a strong background of a powerful government is withdrawn the difference between the Filipinos and Moros, who are mutinous and have no sympathy with the Filipinos and have a racial hatred for them, will at once develop.

FOR US TO LEAVE THE ISLANDS AND TO GUARANTEE TO THE NATIONS OF THE WORLD, IN EXCHANGE FOR THE TREATIES OF NEUTRALITY WITH RESPECT TO

THE ISLANDS, THAT LAW AND ORDER WILL BE PRESERVED AND THAT THERE WILL BE NO CIVIL COMMOTION IN WHICH LAW AND ORDER CANNOT BE MAINTAINED, WOULD BE AN EVIDENCE OF LACK OF SANITY THAT I CANNOT THINK THE AMERICAN PEOPLE WOULD EVER DISPLAY.

If they should it would not be a year before we would have to go back into the islands in order to maintain the peace that we had guaranteed to the world. As one prominent Filipino expressed it to me, "YOUR VESSELS CARRYING AWAY YOUR GOVERNMENT WOULD HARDLY GET THROUGH THE PASSAGE BETWEEN MARIVALES AND CORREGIDOR, IN SIGHT OF MANILA, BUT THE THROAT-CUTTING WOULD BEGIN."

United States Should Conserve Radium

By FRANKLIN K. LANE, Secretary of the Interior

THERE appear to be in the United States less than two grams of radium—that is, less than one-fourth of an ounce. This is valued at one hundred and twenty thousand dollars a gram, and all of it has been procured from Europe, where there are in France, Austria, Germany and England laboratories for its discovery.

THREE-FOURTHS OF THE RADIUM PRODUCED IN THE WORLD DURING THE YEAR 1912 CAME FROM AMERICAN ORES, YET WE HAVE UP TO THE PRESENT TIME TAKEN NO STEPS WHATSOEVER TO PRESERVE FOR OUR OWN PEOPLE THIS INVALUABLE METAL.

Under all these circumstances it seems to me that the only prudent course that the United States can follow is to WITHDRAW SUCH OF ITS LANDS AS ARE SUSCEPTIBLE TO CONTAIN RADIUM FROM PUBLIC ENTRY. This will guard against these lands being taken up by those who would not put them to their highest and most beneficial use.

Lawyers Who Ask Big Fees Hold-up Men

IN FACT, MANY LAWYERS ARE LEGALIZED "HOLDUP MEN."

COMMISSIONERS' PROCEEDINGS

Wayne, Neb., Jan. 13, 1914. Board met in regular session. All members present.

Upon motion, it is hereby resolved that each member of the board be and is hereby appointed a committee of one to investigate claims of demand upon the county for pauper maintenance at the poorhouse, and for temporary relief and also to investigate claims and demands of any party on county road and bridge funds to be expended in the several road districts of the county. Eph Anderson is hereby directed to act as such committee in the first district. Henry Rethwisch is hereby directed to act as such committee in the second district, and George S. Faran is hereby directed to act as such committee in the third district.

Provided, however, that in case of emergency anywhere in the county, coming to the knowledge of any of the commissioners where it is necessary to give immediate relief to a pauper, and no other commissioner being present, the commissioner present shall see that the necessary relief is provided.

Each member shall report to the full board at its next session any and all acts performed by him as such committee with his recommendation for action by the board. All justices of the peace and the county clerk are hereby forbidden to give any aid whatsoever, except as stated below, and all persons requiring county aid, such as medical attendance, admittance to the poorhouse, and other necessities, shall make application direct to the commissioner of the district for which he acts.

Under this resolution, the county clerk and superintendent of the poorhouse are given authority to call the county physician for medical attendance when they deem it necessary. On motion, the following resolutions were adopted: Resolved—

1. That the Board of Health for the county be appointed by the county board, the same to consist of three members, one of whom shall be a practicing physician.

2. That said Board of Health be, and they hereby are empowered to enforce such regulations as may be adopted by this board to prevent the introduction of contagious, infectious, or malignant diseases into the unincorporated territory of the county, and to enforce quarantine rules made for that purpose by it or the Board of Commissioners.

3. That in case, in their judgment, it shall become necessary to establish a pesthouse, and if the pesthouse be established by the county board, the same shall be under the supervision of the Board of Health, and the said board of Health shall have power to cause such persons to be removed thereto as they may deem necessary in order to enforce the quarantine rules and prevent the introduction and spread of such contagious diseases.

4. The said board of Health or any member thereof may enter any premises in the county not within the corporate limits of any city or village for the purpose of determining whether or not any contagious diseases exist therein, and shall adopt such rules and regulations for their own control and for the carrying out and enforcement of the quarantine rules and regulations adopted by this board as in their judgment they may deem necessary. They shall elect such officers from their own body as they deem necessary and shall keep a record of all their proceedings and persons quarantined.

5. The expense of said Board of Health which are not properly chargeable to the persons affected with such contagious diseases, or persons occupying the premises where the same exists shall be paid from the county treasury, upon bills duly allowed by the Board of County Commissioners, in the same manner as the other indebtedness against the county.

The compensation of the members of this Board of Health shall be 25 cents a mile one way, and for examination and quarantine of each family, $2.

They shall be allowed by the county board and paid from the county treasury in the same manner as other bills against the county.

6. The county board may at any time remove any member of said Board of Health, and appoint another in his place.

7. All persons who have been quarantined, and the premises quarantined, shall be thoroughly fumigated in the manner provided by the rules of quarantine adopted by this board, at the expense of such persons, and the occupant of the quarantined premises, and no quarantine shall be raised until such persons and premises have been thus fumigated.

Provided that paupers and premises occupied by paupers may be fumigated at the expense of the county.

All fumigation shall be under the personal supervision of one member of the Board of Health, under the personal supervision of a practicing physician. On motion, the following regulations and rules for quarantine of contagious, infectious, or malignant diseases were adopted.

Implement Dealers Asked to Advertise in Newspapers

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 21.—The largest attendance in the history of the Midwest Implement Dealers' Association featured the annual convention held in Omaha last week. The feature of the program was the advice of speakers to use weekly newspapers in the home towns of dealers as mediums to advertise their goods.

"Let your customers know what you have and tell them the truth about your goods" was the advice of E. V. Parrish. "Advertise when business is good, advertise more when business is bad, and advertise all the time" was another suggestion. "You can judge a town and the activity of its business men through the ads they carry in their home papers," stated the speaker.

Probate Notice to Creditors

In the county court of Wayne county, Nebraska.

In the matter of the estate of Christen Matsen Sundall, deceased. Notice is hereby given, that the creditors of the said deceased will meet the administrator of said estate, before me, county judge of Wayne county, Nebraska, at the County Court Room in said county, on the 29th day of January, 1914, and on the 29th day of July, 1914, at 10 o'clock a. m., each day, for the purpose of presenting their claims for examination, adjustment and allowance. Six months are allowed for creditors to present their claims and one year for the administrator to settle said estate, from the 29th day of January, 1914. This notice will be published in the Nebraska Democrat for three weeks successively prior to the 29th day of January, 1914.

Witness my hand and seal of said court, this 7th day of January, 1914.

Legal Notice

In the District Court of Wayne county, Nebraska.

In the matter of the application of Fred Volpp guardian of the estate of Magdalena Danielson, insane, for leave to sell real estate.

To Magdalena Danielson, her next of kin, and all persons interested in the above estate:

On the 29th day of December, 1913, Fred Volpp, guardian of the estate of Magdalena Danielson, insane, filed a petition in the district court of Wayne County, Nebraska, praying that he may obtain a license to sell a life estate in one-third interest in the North half of the Northwest quarter of section 32, township 27, range 4, Dixon county, Nebraska, to pay debts and as being beneficial to the estate.

Now therefore, it is ordered that the said Magdalena Danielson, her next of kin, and all persons interested in said estate, appear before me in open court in Wayne, Nebraska, at the Court House on the 14th day of February, 1914, at the hour of 11 o'clock a. m., to show cause, if any, why a license should not be granted to the said Fred Volpp, guardian of the estate of Magdalena Danielson, insane, to sell the above described real estate of the said Magdalena Danielson, insane, for such purpose, and place the balance, if any, out at interest.

It is further ordered that a copy of this order be served upon the said Magdalena Danielson, her next of kin, and upon all persons interested in said estate, by causing the same to be published once each week for four consecutive weeks prior to the hearing thereof, in the Nebraska Democrat, a newspaper printed and published in said county.

Dated this 3rd day of January, 1914.

ANSON A. WELCH,
Judge of the District Court.

Hampshire Boars For Sale

HANDLING THE DAIRY BRED BULL

The news press has contained several notices recently relative to loss of human life by attacks of dairy bred bulls, says the Kansas Farmer. This brings up the question as to whether or not bulls of dairy breeding are more inclined to viciousness than are those of beef breeding.

It is our judgment that males of dairy breeding are much more so inclined than males of beef breeding. It must be remembered that the dairy bred male is of nervous temperament. Beef bred males are of what is known in humans as the lymphatic temperament, being symbolical of sluggishness. This difference in temperament does not necessarily imply that all dairy bred males are vicious and unsafe.

It is said of the pure bred Guernsey sire that he is able to stamp his breed characteristics on other cattle. The Guernsey is a producer of milk of high quality and of a rich yellow color. In many respects they resemble the Jersey, being noted for the high per cent of butter fat in milk produced. As a butter making cow there are few that surpass the Guernsey. Pilot of the Glen, whose photo is here reproduced, was champion bull of his breed at the Illinois state fair.

However, it does account for a much larger percentage of them being so than in the case of males of beef breeds. However, the male of dairy breeds should be carefully handled to avoid the development of viciousness. The herdsman should make a friend of the male. The male should be taught to know that the herdsman is his friend. He should be more frequently handled with a friendly stroke than with the pitchfork. The herdsman should, of course, be firm with him at all times, giving the male to understand that his herdsman is boss. It is our observation that the male cannot be ruled by fear. He can fight and he knows it and he will fight if necessary.

His horns should be removed, and while taking them off in calfhood will result in leaving a head of more shapely form and of greater beauty, we do believe that deborning at the age of twelve to eighteen months has a good effect on him. It has a tendency to take the fight out of him and show him that there are other controlling powers besides himself. Nevertheless the male should be handled cautiously. Persons about him should at all times be on their guard. Every such animal should have a ring in his nose. If he is inclined to be unruly and has the freedom of the pasture a chain or rope dragging in the ring will have a taming effect and will often prevent injury in case he should give chase. The practice, however, of allowing the dairy bred male the freedom of the pasture and feed lot is not a wise one for reasons other than that of danger to human life.

Hog Paralysis.

Paralysis in hogs, commonly but erroneously attributed to kidney worms, is induced by overfeeding and lack of exercise, and especially by stuffing growing hogs on corn, which is an incomplete feed that does not go to make bones. Rickets is present in most cases of swine paralysis, and this may be seen either in young pigs, fattening hogs or nursing sows. Prevent by feeding mixed rations to breeding, pregnant and nursing swine, and let them have abundant exercise at all times of the year. Feed roots and alfalfa hay as part of the rations in winter.

Pig Shelter.

No matter how much nourishing feed is given to them in winter, pigs will not do well if they are not properly housed. Their house should be warm and free from drafts; also well ventilated, and their bedding dry and not too dusty. The pens where the hogs run around in the day time should be well drained. A pen which has poor drainage is a menace to the health of the hogs. This is especially true during the winter.

Rusty Farm Implements.

Rusty moldboards and cultivator shovels are a nuisance, and it requires hours of hard horse and man work to clean them. A little hot paraffin brushed over them when put away keeps the iron as bright as you wish, and the minute you start all goes well.

It Pays to Groom Cows.

A little grooming or brushing will have a great influence on the appearance of the cow. A few minutes spent in this way will pay large dividends in better looks and also in a greater price of farm stock and better returns.

IN THE DAIRY BARN.

Do not ask the cow to make milk and keep herself warm with the same feed. At least give her a fair chance to be protected from the storms and then let her use the feed for milk making alone.

The cow is a machine that must convert food into milk. This is one reason why she should have such a large middle, for there is the place where the food must be worked over.

Milk that is kept clean and properly cooled needs no preservative.

Comfort is essential to profitable milk production, and a cow cannot be comfortable without good bedding. Don't forget the straw.

It pleases the cow to be milked quickly and gets her in the habit of giving down promptly. It is often the slow milkers that make the strippers.

THE DRAFT WEANLING.

Colts Need Feed That Will Develop Bone and Muscle.

Oats, preferably crushed or ground, is the best single grain to feed a weanling colt. Here at the station our weanlings have developed well when the grain ration was two-thirds by weight of ground oats and one-third ground corn, the hay being alfalfa. When the roughage is anything but a good quality of legume hay it is best to make the grain ration one-fourth to one-fifth bran, says Professor J. L. Edmonds of the Illinois experiment station. It is not possible to state in pounds just the amount of feed that will be required, but good, sound draft weanlings will pay handsomely if fed all the grain that they will clean up three times per day. Good quality of alfalfa and clover are the best roughages. They are growers of bone and muscle.

Weanlings ought not to be exposed to the elements at night or on the stormiest days. Access to a roomy, closed shed or run in fours in a roomy box will be found right. The run of a good blue grass field will afford exercise and some feed. Plenty of exercise in the open with the chance to grow a good coat is as essential as feed in making a good frame. Weanlings handled in this manner may look a bit shaggy, but they will be much better than the pampered kind. It is hard to feed too much if the feeding is done regularly and the opportunity for exercise is right. Puffy joints and cocked ankles, unless the tendency is strongly inherited, come from heavy feed and not enough play in the open. Weanlings do better when by themselves than when running and feeding with older horses.

Grooming when the bedding is plentiful is not much in need under this system. The feet should be regularly looked after at least once a month. A good hoof rasp is the proper tool with which to level up the foot. Don't let the toes get too long and keep the hoof wall slightly beveled on the outside to prevent splitting. Much can be done to remedy faulty conformation of legs by skillful and regular attention to the growing colt's feet. If the stable is clean and free from mites at the setting in of winter there is likely to be no trouble from lice. Free the colts from worms at the beginning of winter rather than wait for the foals to get out of shape generally.

IMPROVING THE FLOCK.

Crossbreeding Effective in Producing General Purpose Sheep.

Considering facilities for handling—such as lay of land, feed, shelter, size of flock to run together, etc.—each of the modern breeds of sheep has its qualities, peculiarities, adaptability and some require more feed and care than others, but all can be used for a special purpose in crossbreeding or breeding up common stock.

The Delaine Merino excels in longevity, also in weight and fineness of fleece; but the lambs are not as good sellers on the fall market as the Down breeds. Yet the Merino blood is the cornerstone of the sheep industry.

The long wool sheep, such as Cotswolds and Lincolns, raise a large marketable lamb, their wool is weighty and coarse and is often discounted. A cross between these fine and coarse wool breeds makes one of the best general purpose sheep for this country we have.

These half blood sheep shear a heavy fleece of medium wool, which brings the highest market price, and the lambs are better for market under the care of the average farmer than either of their full blood ancestors.

High class sheep are as beautiful in lines of form and style as are fine horses. So, after throwing out ill shaped sheep, the basic principle in studying your flock of ewes is the weight and quality of their wool and the value of the lambs they produce. If the flock is of two or more distinct types it may be necessary to divide it and use different rams until you can cull down and develop a uniform flock, which is most desirable. If your ewes are of good form and size, but shear light fleeces, or if their wool is coarse like the Lincoln or Cotswold, a Delaine ram will increase the constitution and shearing qualities of the lambs. If your flock shears well, but ewes are small, get an Oxford or a Hampshire ram. If your dark faced ewes, which you perhaps call Shropshires, are short-wooled and light boned use dark faced Oxford or white faced Rambouillet rams.

Farmers Talk Like This:—

"I Want 100 lbs. More SalTone—I Never Had Stock do so Well Before"

Another farmer said: "I just killed my hogs for my meat and there was no worms to be found, and their livers were clear and fine." Still another said: "My hogs did fine and I also tried SalTone on an old heavy mare and she got slick and fat."

COMMISSIONERS' PROCEEDINGS

1. Whenever within the limits of this county and without the corporate limits of any city or village, a person is suspected of having smallpox, scarlet fever, diphtheria or other contagious disease, he shall be immediately isolated within his own household as carefully as possible and as soon as a contagious disease is recognized it will be the duty of the attending physician and householder to give written notice of the same to the clerk of the county, giving the name of the disease and of the family where it exists, with the number exposed and all other particulars that may be of any value.

2. The premises where the above contagious disease exists shall be duly quarantined by the county Board of Health through its proper officer or any appointee (a) by placing upon the house or some conspicuous point upon the premises, a placard giving the name of disease in letters not less than three (3) inches in height, (b) by a verbal or written notice to the householder to remain on the premises and in no way mingle with other persons or allow others (except the physician) to approach nearer than thirty (30) feet to any house or person thus quarantined. This rule to apply also in case of exposure.

3. Such quarantine to continue until in the opinion of the medical advisor of the Board of Health, the last case of the disease likely to occur therein has completely recovered and is ready for disinfection, provided, however, that in case of extreme necessity, one free from disease may be released earlier after thorough disinfection of person and clothing, and with a certificate from the above medical advisor.

4. The necessities of life, as often as occasion demands, may be carried within thirty (30) feet of the quarantined house by a neighbor or other duly appointed messenger, but no nearer, nor shall any effects whatever be brought away from the household until thoroughly disinfected.

5. In case of death from contagious disease, there shall be no public funeral and the body of deceased shall be closely wrapped in sheets well saturated with disinfectants and closed in a tight casket. This is to be again wrapped with a disinfected cloth, and in such cases the corpse shall not be carried to or near any body of people while on its way to the cemetery.

6. When in any school district or community several families, say five to eight, are infected with contagious disease, or very many exposures have occurred, the Board of Health may prohibit all gatherings of people in that community, including sessions of school, until, in their opinion, the emergency is past.

7. All physicians should use due precaution in their visits to quarantined households, to avoid the danger of contagion to the well.

8. When, in the opinion of the medical advisor of the Board of Health, quarantine can safely be raised, it shall be done with fumigation, with a 40 per cent solution of formaldehyde, using at least five ounces to each 1,000 cubic feet of air space, solution to be applied by an approved evaporation or by the sheet method. The room to be sealed at least six hours, all persons to receive a disinfecting bath and their clothing to be fumigated and the house thoroughly cleansed. This is to be done in accordance with the "Suggestions of the State Board of Health to Physicians."

9. When, in the opinion of the Board or County Commissioners, a hospital is needed to which individual cases of contagious disease may be removed, or when such method will accommodate those without homes at much less public expense, or for any other reason it is deemed best, a building suited to their needs shall be provided.

10. Whoever in any way wilfully or negligently disobeys these rules of quarantine and disinfection, shall by such disobedience render himself subject to prosecution and a fine of $25 for each and every offense, and shall meanwhile be held at the quarantine house or hospital until time for disinfection.

On motion, the following persons are hereby appointed as members of the County Board of Health: Geo. T. Porter, Dr. B. M. McIntyre, and W. H. Phillips.

On motion, J. E. Harmon is hereby appointed janitor of the courthouse and yards for the year 1914, and salary fixed at $50 per month.

It is hereby resolved that the board allow for the year 1914, the following wages for road work:

$3.50 per day for man and team, and $5 per day for man and two teams, and $2 per day for single man, and further, that all overseers shall show the dates that the work is done, on the receipts, also show just where all lumber purchased by them is used, also to account for all old lumber. All overseers are hereby notified to purchase lumber from the party with whom the county has the contract, also to sign for all lumber before leaving the yards.

On motion, the board hereby makes the following estimate of expenses for the year 1914:

County general fund	$35,000
County Bridge Fund A M Phil. app. pte	30,000
County bridge fund	30,000
County road fund	15,000
