REVIEW OF THE FLEGE CASE

With Three Convictions by Three Juries Flege Again Appeals to Supreme Court—Stands Convicted of Manslaughter

Without parallel in the history of criminal prosecution in this state, if not in the nation, stands the history of the trial of Wm. Flege for the murder of his sister, Louise Flege, June 30, 1910. Three times has he been pronounced guilty by three different juries, and twice has the supreme court of the state granted him new trial for alleged errors—errors which to the laymen appear immaterial and of little or no weight—but the persistence of his attorneys—part of them lawyers with a reputation as criminal lawyers of never allowing a client to be convicted in past, have secured for him a new hearing, and following his third conviction efforts are again being made to gain the ear and favor of the supreme court. With what result remains to be seen.

Briefly stated the history of the case is as follows:

Louise Flege shot and killed June 30, 1910.

Wm. Flege arrested on charge of murder at Wayne, July 19, 1910, following nearly three weeks of careful search for clue to the murderer. The arrest was made after Albert Echtenkamp, a lad employed by Flege and his sister to work on the farm had said that he saw Flege shoot his sister, and had feared to tell it because of threats of Flege to kill him if he did so.

The preliminary hearing, July 26, resulted in his being held to answer for the crime, and the first trial began at Pender, December 1, 1910, and resulted in conviction of murder in 2nd degree. The supreme court granted a new trial and on change of venue the second trial was held at Pender, in April, 1912. This resulted in the second conviction—of manslaughter, for which the law provides a penalty of from one to ten years in the penitentiary. Again granted a new trial, he was again convicted of manslaughter at Pender, the trial beginning January 5, 1914, and ending on the 23d.

No stone was left unturned by the defense to disprove the story of young Eichtenkamp. The body was twice disinterred for examination of the contents of the stomach and expert testimony by both sides to try to determine how long after the noonday meal the murder had been committed. The evidence produced by the state at the three trials was practically the same, and the defense introduced the expert testimony as to condition of food in stomach at the second and third trials.

At the last trial the state introduced as new evidence the conversation between defendant and the sheriff relating to the purchase of his revolver when defendant told sheriff that he did not know why he bought it, and that but for the purchase of it this would not have happened.

Also the statement made to a friend with whom Flege was talking as to his opinion as to whether or not he was guilty, and when the friend said he could not think that young Eichtenkamp was not telling the truth, Flege replied that he had engaged the best of criminal attorneys and that he would eventually be acquitted, and the testimony of one who dressed the body for burial that Flege had insisted on remaining in the room while the body was being dressed and placed in the coffin and seemed much relieved when the task was completed, standing before a mirror combing his hair and smiling with apparent satisfaction when the casket was finally closed.

County Attorney Kingsbury of Dixon and his partner, C. H. Hendrickson, may well claim the approval of the public for their constant and persistent efforts to determine who was guilty of this crime and see that he was brought to justice. They have given constant attention to the case from the time of the murder until the curtain rang down on the last act successfully countering the efforts of such noted attorneys as J. J. McCarthy, Mike Harrington, the Berry Brothers of this place and others in the most untiring effort to secure the acquittal of their client known in the court records of this part of the state. They were ably assisted by A. R. Davis of this city in the first trials and by the attorney general in the last trial.

The expenses of this trial have been high for people of but moderate means to meet, and from the most conservative estimate we can secure the expense to Dixon county is placed at from $8,000 to $10,000, while that of the defense is placed at from $45,000 to $50,000.

Meantime the end may not have yet come, for a petition is now before the supreme court seeking a reversal or a new hearing—and there is no telling what these great grandfathers will do.

"Fainting Bertha" Visits Wayne

Tuesday Bertha was in our city selling her little red-covered history of some of her life. According to her story she has been bad—very bad, and is now converted and trying to live right and do right. We hope that she will. According to our understanding of her case she is out on parole from either a prison or an asylum or both. She has made her life and that of her keepers miserable while in prison or asylum. No venture was too great or bad for her to undertake. Rev. Savidge of Omaha is standing sponsor for her while she is at large, and a very pleasant lady, Mrs. Wheeler, accompanied her while in Wayne, keeping a friendly eye on her as she peddled her life history among the men. We cannot see that any good can come from such literature, and hope that no harm will come of it. Hers is a case that puzzles the best of minds as to what is best to be done. Perhaps they are now doing the best thing possible—keeping her busy and turning the proceeds of her work over to some charitable home institution is the way we understand the game.

Notoriety in Badger Game

Fred Miller formerly of this place, now living at Sioux City, entered into a conspiracy with L. B. Stone and Stone's wife whereby they were to fleece a farmer named Isaac Arvold, the lady inducing the farmer to go to Omaha where the men were to find them. Miller was to be an officer, and the matter was to be settled by the victim to avoid arrest and exposure of his attempt to steal a man's wife. The victim was caught and came across with a check for $50, but later stopped payment of the check and had the men arrested. They plead guilty and were sentenced to the penitentiary at Anamosa for a term of three years, but admitted to parole. Of the matter the Sioux City Journal says:

Both Stone and Miller are barbers. Stone is 24 years old. Miller is 20. Miller's father from Wayne, Nebraska, was in the court room when the pleas were made.

In accepting their paroles the two prisoners agreed to report every thirty days to Hugh McDougall, Woodbury county jailer. They must not drink, they must not enter pool halls or saloons, they must not consort with evil companions, and they must in every particular lead upright lives on penalty of commitment to the Anamosa reformatory.

Late News Notes

Col. Goethal has been named as the governor of the canal zone, beginning April 1st. That is, no April fool job either.

The president of Hiati has fled from his throne and an American battleship has been sent to that island of insurrections to afford protection to foreigners.

Congress has started a probe into the fester in the body politic known as strikers. It is dollars to doughnuts that they find the prime cause centered in the beneficiaries of some special privilege. Give one of those greedy things a good thing and they are not satisfied without stealing in addition to their legalized graft.

Wayne Postmaster Nominated

A message from Washington tells that the nomination of C. A. Berry as postmaster at Wayne was sent to the Senate Saturday. It is likely that after that great deliberative body has had a few weeks to argue the question the nomination will be confirmed and the people of Wayne will begin to fully realize that we have a democratic administration.

WAYNE COUNTY WINS FIRST

R. F. Roggenbach Won Grand Sweepstakes at State Contest for Best Ten Ears Corn Grown in State. To Enter National Exhibit.

To Wayne county corn growers comes the honor of producing the best ten ears of corn grown in Nebraska in 1913. R. F. Roggenbach, living on a good farm near the county line, and on a rural route north from Wisner entered the champion corn this year. That it paid him in several ways to give his corn careful and intelligent care is shown by the fact that as a first result they have good corn for use and for sale.

The corn exhibited by the boys won the following premiums: 1st prize on ten ears yellow corn, Honorary class. Another sample won 1st prize on ten ears yellow corn Ametuer class. The first prize in the honorary class was awarded the Griswold Trophy, a $250 silver cup, awarded for the best ten ears yellow corn of the show, this sample was also awarded the Grand Sweepstakes prize for the best ten ears of corn grown in the state, this prize was an $80 farm wagon donated by the International Harvester Co. They also won second prize on Junior sample ear, second and third on the single high yielding ear contest. Their cash premiums in the different classes total just $50.00. This prize winning corn will be shipped with the Nebraska state exhibit to the National Corn Exposition at Dallas, Texas, next month, where it will be exhibited as the best corn grown in Nebraska in 1913, and entered in competition for National and World sweepstakes.

By special arrangement a bushel of their choicest corn will be forwarded with the state exhibit to the National show, where it will be entered for the bushel sweepstakes.

He went with his parents to Cornell, Illinois, at the age of seven years, and there grew to manhood, and married to Alvina Hampton October 9, 1856, who passed away April 7, 1905. Twelve children were born to this union, two of whom died in infancy and one at the age of ten years. D.

For 27 years deceased made his home in Wayne county, and was a good citizen and kind neighbor.

Davis—Conger

At the home of June Conger and wife in this city on Thursday, January 22, 1914, occurred the marriage of their daughter, Miss Francis and Mr. John W. Davis, in the presence of the immediate families and a few intimate friends, Rev. B. P. Richardson of the Baptist church officiating. Miss Josie Ellis played the wedding march.

Following the ceremony an elegant 6 o'clock dinner was served. Mr. and Mrs. Davis remain here a few days, and then will go to their new home on the farm of the groom near Henderson, Iowa. The groom has made his home near Wayne for several years, and the bride grew to womanhood here, and a host of friends of both bride and groom join in extending the best of wishes for their future happiness.

Winter Weather Here

The winter weather man appeared on the job Wednesday afternoon with the announced cold wave. About the middle of the afternoon the wind changed to the northwest and struck about a 35 mile trot, and the mercury began to go down toward the bulb. The weather had been warm for several days, thawing during the day and scarcely freezing at night. This morning the temperature was near the zero mark with a brisk breeze from the northwest.

Fell Among Thieves

Omaha has some bad places yet that the police have not closed, and it is possible that they do not care to. On Webster street between 16th street and the Omaha depot is a little jewelry joint or pawn shop or a den of thieves, as H. C. Green of Hoskins can testify. Mr. Green was at Omaha Monday and Tuesday, and while strolling down to the station when it was near time for the afternoon train he was accosted by someone from this little shop asking him to step in and leave his name and address for a catalogue to be sent to him later. No sooner was he in than another man came in with a hard luck story to pawn a "solid gold" watch and the proprietor would offer him but $10 on the ticker. He wanted more, and it was suggested that Mr. Green offer him $15, which the fellow would not take and which Mr. Green would not offer, as he had but little money with him. But finally the man in charge wanted Mr. G. to get the watch for him for $20, if he could, and he would pay a dollar for the bargain and furnish Mr. Green the money. The deal was finally closed in that way, but Mr. Green felt above taking the dollar for the part he had in the deal, and was about to go on his way to the train, when the poor man wanted to get what he could on the solid gold chain for which he had no use, and here Mr. Green was urged to offer him $5 for it, after the shop owner had tested it with acid and pronounced it good stuff, and he would take it from Mr. Green at a better price—and here is where they caught him. Mr. Green had $5 and handed it out for the chain only to discover when he had let go of his money that the proprietor of the shop had changed his mind and did not care for the washed chain.

It was then near train time, and Mr. Green felt that he must go home, but did not have money enough to take him all the way. Luckily he found some acquaintances who were willing to stake him until he got where he could cash a check which he had. He got off cheap—but he paid enough. It might be well for the Omaha police to raid this place occasionally.

A Great Poultry Show

Henry Linke returned Saturday evening from the Nebraska State Poultry exhibition, which was at Grand Island, and was much pleased with the show. He had several birds of the White Rock variety and got 3rd place cockerel with 22 competing in the class, and a place on pen with 220 White Rocks in competition. His pullet scored 94 and did not get a place. Five places were awarded ahead of her, and not more than one full point difference between the six birds, the competition was so close in this class.

Mr. Linke says that it was the best show he ever attended—and that everything was fair and open so far as he could see. There were more than 4,000 birds exhibited, and some of them that were priced as high as $1,000 each, while there was one bird shown on which the owner would not name a price. He thinks the state is doing the right thing to aid this enterprise as it does, allowing $2,000 annually for this exhibit. This enables the managers to make a success instead of a failure as some of the neighboring states do. The poultry industry is one of the great industries of this state and it is but in its infancy, and should be cultivated.

Obituary—Marie Schallnus

Marie Nugies was born in Germany, March 18, 1822, near Tilsit, and spent the greater part of her life in that country, coming to America at the age of 63 years, living in Iowa and Nebraska. She was a member of the Lutheran church, confirmed in Germany, where she married and reared a family of five sons and one daughter. Two of the sons died before her. She died at the home of her son, John Schallnus, 7 miles southwest of Wayne, Tuesday, January 20, 1914, aged 91 years, 10 months and 2 days.

A short service was held at the home Friday morning and the body was then brought to the German Lutheran church at this place and a funeral sermon preached by the pastor and burial had in the Wayne cemetery.

WAYNE STATE NORMAL NOTES

Head of English Department Holds Oratorical Contest

Following his custom of the past four years, Dr. J. T. House of the department of English, closed the work of the semester in advanced writing and speaking with an oratorical contest, held in the chapel on Saturday evening, January 24. The general excellence of the program is heartily attested to by those present, but especially were the numbers of Misses Ina Hughes and Eugenia Madsen, winners of first and second places respectively, enjoyed. The orations were judged by faculty members, two-thirds credit being given for manuscript and one-third for delivery. Miss Hughes' oration entitled, "A Plea for the Japanese" showed depth of thought, careful preparation and an especially good delivery. "The Indeterminate Sentence" was well developed by Miss Madsen, and evidenced that the speaker was master of her subject. Winners in other departments of the contest are Miss Helen Reppert and Miss Gladys Kline who scored equally high in the essay contest. A beautiful story written by Miss Albina Mlady received the highest marking in that department.

The students find the course in advanced writing and speaking especially interesting and helpful, and greatly appreciate Dr. House's effort to make the work in English valuable to them.

Faculty Entertains Student Body

On Tuesday evening, January 27, the usual reception which is held at the beginning of every semester, was given by the members of the faculty to the students of the school. After passing down the receiving line composed of the members of the faculty, the students were seated in the chapel, where they enjoyed the following program:

Vocal Solo.... Miss Reba Nangle
Address of Welcome.... Pres. Conn
Response.... Miss Margaret Schemel
Piano Solo.... Mrs. J. T. House
Reading.... Miss Gladys Dennis
Duet.... Professors Coleman-Lackey

After the program a social time was enjoyed in the gymnasium where refreshments were served.

Pres. and Mrs. Conn Entertain Faculty

Following a gracious custom formerly inaugurated by them, President and Mrs. Conn entertained the members of the faculty and their wives last Monday evening. A sumptuous four-course dinner was served at 6:30. During the meal, Miss Marjorie Kohl and Ardath Conn sang delightfully. After dinner, the group went to the chapel where Miss Piper held the interested attention of all while she told of her trip last summer to Porto Rico. The earlier portion of the address was devoted to a discussion of the history and customs of the island. After that, pictures taken by the speaker while on the journey were cast upon the screen. A running comment added to the interest aroused by the pictures themselves, which showed many beautiful scenes of nature and curious products of the hand of man. All present received a vivid impression of life on this new portion of our country. The party then returned to the house of host and hostess, and after good-nights were said went homeward, conscious that they had enjoyed a unique entertainment.

The Endless Chain

The wheels keep going round. O. E. Grave has sold his residence on Main street to F. W. Summers who is soon to take possession. Mr. Graves has rented the Lush farm just south of town and will move there. Ed Auker, who occupies that place will move to the Will Gamble farm further south, and Will Gamble has purchased some if not all of the old Burr Cunningham farm north of where he now lives and will move to that place—and there we lose the thread of the changes, but can start on a new line as soon as some one else moves, for everything is so full here that some one has to move before anyone can find a place to move to. J. M. Cherry says that he has six good tenants standing in line waiting for some one to move. This reminds us that when looking for something for the benefit of Wayne that the organization of a building and loan which would enable some of the people now renting to build and some of the young fellows working on a salary to make a profitable investment of some of their wages. Nothing would be better for Wayne than that for the first time.

But to resume, Henry Stallsmith has purchased of Chas. Bright 40 acres just in the northwest part of the city, and W. F. Wright has purchased of the same man ten acres just east of the cemetery, the orchard tract. Carl Craik has moved to his farm near Concord, and Mrs. Steele who purchased the place from him will move to Wayne next week.

Postponed Concert

The entertainment to have been given Wednesday evening by the Choral Union, when Marion Green, bass, was to have appeared for the third number of the recital course was postponed until Friday, February 13, 1914. The reason is not known, a message simply stating that the singer could not be here was received Tuesday. Whether he had a frog in his throat or a better job for the night—or was prevented by some other good reason is not known.

Miss Ethel Kopp returned the first of the week from a visit with friends at Winside.

After the stock holders' meeting the directors organized by electing S. A. Merrill, president; F. M. Kimball, vice president; H. S. Collins, cashier; Victor E. Larson and Ruth McMaster assistant cashiers. The directors passed the resolution to join the Federal Bank and take stock therein. The bank hopes for a continuance of good business and a prosperous future. —Wakefield Republican.

This brainstormer has absolutely no use for this thing called style in dress. The only thing that ever concerns us when we buy clothes is to get something comfortable, and something big enough to get our old carcass in for the money we have. However we do not blame the women altogether for going "bughouse" over styles. The truth is, men are responsible for the styles more than women. It is the men who are in charge of the large establishments which dictate the styles. It is simply a money making scheme with them. The oftener they can change the styles the more money there is in it for them. And just as long as they get a bunch of sapheads, either men or women, to follow them just that long they will keep making the changes. —Pender Republican.

George W. Kelley, who edits one of the good papers of Hartington, and his foreman, W. D. Shepardson, drove down Saturday to take a look at the only town in this corner of the state which they are willing to concede has anything over their home place. They wanted to see a good town in action—a place where they had pavilion sales for the transfer to mutual advantage, of buyers and seller of from $5,000 to $10,000 worth of property each sale day; where the merchants are continually inviting the patronage of the people from miles round, where school interests are among the best—and all backed in substantial manner by the best farm land in a great state of good farms. The Democrat acknowledges a fraternal call. Mr. Kelley says there are two good towns in this corner of Nebraska, and predicted that within a few years Wayne would have done away with the last of the frame business houses of her pioneer days.

The Food Inspector

Not many days ago a representative of the Democrat saw one of our food inspectors in action—and watched and listened with much interest to learn what he might about their duties and how they perform them. The inspector is supposed to have a nose like a bloodhound to scent troubles and an eye like an owl to see into the dark places. But this representative of the power of the state to see that things pertaining to food are as they should be was at that time instructing and catechizing a cream man who had recently come to the state from another state, and finding out what he knew about testing cream for butterfat. The instructions were very plain and simple. It is one of the functions of the inspector to see that the men buying cream know how to give a correct test and also that they do so. According to instructions the tests for butter fat will be uniform throughout the state, and the man in charge of a station is supposed to not only have a correct test of each lot of cream purchased, but a composite test of all of the cans sent out at one shipment and this is supposed to correspond with the result of the separate tests or at least vary but little from it. There is less opportunity for a "skin game" with butterfat now than in previous years—and there is no knowing when an inspector may drop in.

NEBRASKA NEWS

Morehead Says Delay Due to Hunt for Good Men.

WOULD MAKE NO MISTAKE

Former Governor Aldrich Seeks Clemency for Convict—State Board Cuts Down Building Specifications—Antes Looking Up Fees.

Lincoln, Jan. 27.—Governor Morehead announced that he expected to name the members of the minimum wage commission some time this week. "The delay has been due to several causes," said the executive.

"I want to get just as good men on that commission as can be had, and for that reason I have delayed somewhat the appointments. Then, too, other matters have occupied my time and I have not put the time on to it that I would like to in hunting the men I want.

"However, there are plenty of good men in Nebraska who will make good appointees and I shall make the selections as soon as I am convinced of their reliability."

Building Specifications Cut Down.

When the bids came in for the erection of the new agricultural building it was discovered that all of them were much in excess of the amount appropriated for the building by the legislature and it became necessary for the state board of agriculture to cut out something in order to bring the expense down to the appropriation.

In speaking of the matter State Architect Miller said that the board decided, in order to bring the expense down, to cut out much of the "gingerbread" on the roof and the row of dormer windows around the front of the building on the roof. This lightened the roof and they were able to do away with the heavy steel girders and put in lighter steel.

Now some are asserting that in putting in lighter steel in the building somebody got a rakeoff. The above explanation of the case was made.

Maggi Returns From Iowa Trip.

E. G. Maggi, a member of the Nebraska state board of pardons, returned from Iowa, where he had accepted an invitation to meet with the Iowa board at several hearings before them last week. The Iowa law, according to Mr. Maggi, is somewhat different than that of Nebraska, in that all crimes are paroleable and any person sentenced to the reformatory of that state may make application for parole the next day. The indeterminate law is also somewhat different from that of this state in that it fixes no minimum and all the judge can do is to sentence the prisoner to the stated time fixed by statute. "The Iowa law seems to be giving satisfaction in that state," said Mr. Maggi. "The results being about the same as in Nebraska, about 75 per cent of the men paroled making good."

Aldrich Asks Clemency for Convict.

Ex-Governor Chester H. Aldrich visited the state house to call the attention of the governor to the fact that when Charles Pumphrey, Basil Mullen and Willis Ahmack, who were convicted of murdering Ham Pak, an Omaha Chinaman, had been given executive clemency and their sentences cut down, Pumphrey and Mullen had been given allowance for the eight months they had spent in the Douglas county jail, but that Ahmack had not been given the allowance through a mistake which the former governor had intended to correct before he went out of office, but forgot to do. He asked the present governor to make the correction, which will be done up on a written statement which the former governor will make this week and send to the executive office.

Work for State Chemist.

The new state laboratory is nearly ready for business and is already receiving applications for chemical analysis of water. The town of Seward has been getting water from a well that has been pronounced unsanitary and expects to make several attempts to locate good water and desires the state to analyze the water and judge of its purity. In connection with other letters the farmers around North Platte are complaining that the septic tank used there does not do the business excepted of it and that water in the river from which their cattle drink has become contaminated because of the defective service of the septic tank, and ask for some relief.

Suffragists Secure Many New Names.

Advocates of woman suffrage were busy last week, taking advantage of the presence of so many from out in the state to circulate petitions in the interest of the movement to give women votes. Wherever there was a meeting of any kind there the women could be found with their petitions, with the result that 1,480 new names were turned into suffragist headquarters to help the matter of getting the cause before the voters at the next election.

State Reformatory Bids.

Any town in Nebraska that wants the new $150,000 reformatory must get in its bid to the board of control before Feb. 10, or it will be too late, according to members of the board. So far, applications have been sent in by Plattsmouth, Red Cloud, Table Rock and Holdrege. A small town in Burr county would like to have the new institution. Nelson is also expected to get in a bid in a few days.

Clifton's Trial Put Off.

Plattsmouth, Neb., Jan. 27.—George E. Clifton, who pleaded guilty to the charge of having written a letter to John Knabe asking for $500, and later confessed to Chief of Police Briggs of South Omaha that he also wrote threatening letters to Hamilton, Gaville and Davis, all residing near Fort Crook, and that he received $50 from Davis, was to have been tried in the district court this week, but a message received by J. M. Robertson, clerk of the district court, from Judge Begley at Papillion stated that he had decided to not return here until next month.

Sidney Family Has Narrow Escape.

Sidney, Neb., Jan. 27.—The family of P. A. Connors, Union Pacific maintenance engineer at this place, was nearly cremated when their home was totally destroyed by fire, starting from a defective flue. One of the children, awakening and calling for help awoke the father, who, groping his way on hands and knees through the smoke from one room to the other, saved the family by getting them out through the windows.

Two Stores at Brainard Burned.

Brainard, Neb., Jan. 27.—Fire of unknown origin was discovered in Posvar Bros' general merchandise store. After a hard fight, lasting nearly four hours, the fire was checked, but not until it had destroyed the hardware store adjoining, owned by the same firm, and the residence of Frank Posvar, a member of the firm. The loss is estimated at from $25,000 to $40,000. It is partly covered by insurance.

Sutherland Attorney for Receiver.

Superior, Neb., Jan. 26.—Ex-Congressman R. D. Sutherland of Nelson has been appointed attorney for the receiver of the First National bank. Subpoenas for nine persons have been issued to appear before the grand jury at Lincoln on Jan. 28. Receiver Seybolt being among the number. The Citizens' bank is expected to open here by the first of the month.

Requiem Mass for John Stevens.

Hastings, Neb., Jan. 27.—High requiem mass was said at St. Cecilia's Roman Catholic church for John C. Stevens, distinguished member of the Adams county bar. Rev. Father William McDonald officiated. The funeral sermon was preached by Father F. McAuliff. Members of the local bar served as active and honorary pall bearers.

Suspended Sentence Given Forger.

Fremont, Neb., Jan. 26.—John Trueblood, an aged man who obtained $400 from the Fidelity Trust company by means of a note purporting to be signed by L. Rogers, pleaded guilty to forgery in the district court and was released on suspended sentence. It is understood that friends and relatives reimbursed the company.

BAUGHAN SHOE CO.

[Successor to Reppert & Son]

The Co-Operative Creamery

At Algona, Iowa, they have a co-operative creamery that is beginning to do some other practical things than simply extract the cream from the cow product of the vicinity. They are putting a premium on quality of cream. They first did a year or more of educational work—sent an expert among the farmers who patronized the creamery and had stocked therein. He also advised how to make a greater production of cream. What sort of cows to keep and how to keep them. When the educational work had had time to soak in and begin to bear fruit the creamery association placed a grade test on the cream, and paid 3 cents per pound more for the first grade than for the second, and rejected all that did not comply with requirements for the second grade. First grade cream must be good flavor, clean and sweet; the second grade was that otherwise the same except sour, and cream not clean and of good flavor was rejected. They had dairy picnics at which methods were discussed and improvements suggested.

Of the result of this work, J. B. Hofus gives the following in the Hoard Dairyman of recent date, at the request of the publishers of that paper:

"Through the influence of the dairy expert and the Algona buttermakers, a Kossuth County Buttermakers' Association was organized about a year ago; monthly meetings were held, at which there were discussions of the various phases of creamery work. Farmers and creamery officers were especially invited and addresses made by professional and business men. Up to the present time we have been working along educational lines, both at the factory and among the patrons.

The fact that we have increased the receipts to first grade cream from below 50 percent to above 90 percent is evidence that we have made progress with the patrons. And when we recall the fact that Algona gathered cream butter took first prize at our county fair, first prize at the Iowa state fair, first prize at the Iowa State Dairy Association meeting at Waterloo, and first at the Great National Dairy Show at Chicago this year—not with a sample of one churning, but a sample from a different churning for each meeting—then we feel that we have made a record, and that no further evidence is necessary to prove that we have made progress in factory management. We may also add, we are pleased to say, that the three highest scores on creamery butter at Waterloo came to Kossuth county buttermakers; possibly the organization of the Kossuth county buttermakers may have something to do with that.

MAKES BACKACHE QUICKLY DISAPPEAR

A Few Doses Relieves All Such Miseries. Bladder Weakness, Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism Promptly Vanish

It is no longer necessary for any one to suffer with backache, kidney trouble, with disagreeable bladder and urinary disorders to contend with, or be tortured with rheumatism, stiff joints, and its heart-wrenching pains, for the new discovery, Croxone, quickly and surely relieves all such troubles.

Croxone is the most wonderful remedy yet devised for ridding the system of uric acid and driving out all the poisonous impurities which cause such troubles. It is entirely different from all other remedies. It is not like anything else ever used for the purpose. It acts on the principle of cleaning out the poisons and removing the cause.

It soaks right in through the walls, membranes and linings, like water in a sponge, neutralizes, dissolves, and takes the kidneys out and filters away all the uric acid and poisons from the blood, and leaves the kidneys and urinary organs clean, strong, healthy and well.

It matters not how long you have suffered, how old you are, or what you have used, the very principle of Croxone is such that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. There is nothing else on earth like it. It starts to work the minute you take it and relieves you the first time you use it.

If you suffer with pains in your back and sides, or have any signs of kidney, bladder troubles, or rheumatism, such as puffing, swelling, under the eyes or in the feet and ankles, if you are nervous, tired, and run down, or bothered with urinary disorders, Croxone will quickly relieve you of your misery. You can secure an original package of Croxone at trifling cost from any first-class druggist. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if it fails in a single case.

Asking For Fair Rates

There was a meeting at Emerson last week at which a number of towns along the line of the Omaha road had delegates. The object of the meeting was to protest against paying a higher freight rate than the Burlington charges for like service over their line. There were about 25 delegates present, but we did not notice that Wayne was in the bunch, and wonder why it would not be to our advantage to help the matter along, and if a better freight rate can be had in justice to the railroad we are entitled to it. Temporary officers were elected and a committee named to take charge of the movement. On this committee are B. J. McDonald, Emerson; John L. Nebit, Tekamah, and S. C. Cogn of Craig. It is possible that they will employ a rate expert to assist them in presenting their case to the railway commission, and the towns represented are pledged to share the necessary expense. They propose to make careful investigation and then ask for a redress of their wrongs. Chas. Graff of Baneroff is among those who are asking for things for his town. Among the things wanted is the placing of connecting switches at junction points of the Omaha and Burlington, such as Walthill and Randolph. Some have asked for a special corn rate to the burnt districts in the southern part of the state. The regular rate is too high to encourage the volume of business the conditions demand at this time.

The move is in the right direction, and rates should be changed if conditions are as represented.

Features of President's Message

The chief points which President Wilson singled out as a basis for anti-trust legislation in his address to congress were:

1. Effectual prohibition of the interlocking of directorates of great corporations—banks, railroads, industrial, commercial and public service bodies.
2. A law to confer upon the interstate commerce commission the power to superintend and regulate the financial operations by which railroads are henceforth to be supplied with the money they need for their proper development and improved transportation facilities. The president made it clear that the "prosperity of the railroads and the prosperity of the country are inseparably connected" in this regard.
3. Definition of the "many hurtful restraints of trade" by explicit legislation supplementary to the Sherman law.
4. The creation of a commission to aid the courts and to act as a clearing house of information in helping business to conform with the law.
5. Provision of penalties and punishments to fall on individuals responsible for unlawful business practices.
6. Prohibition of holding companies and a suggestion that the voting power of individuals holding shares in numerous corporations might be restricted.
7. Giving to private individuals the right to found suits for redress on facts and judgments proven in government suits and providing that statute of limitations should run only from the date of conclusion of the government's action.

This New Medicine Saves You Money

We are druggists right here in your town and make a living out of the drug business, but it is because people have to have drugs and not because we like to see people suffer—we don't. Our duty is to render the best service we can, and when some one is ailing, we are interested in seeing them take the best medicine there is for their particular trouble. We don't recommend "cure-alls," as we don't believe there are such things. We don't want you to spend more than you have to. Some of you get small wages, and when you are sick, none at all, and you should get the most you can for your money.

We recently came across a new remedy for increasing strength and building up people who are run-down and emaciated. We know that a slight trouble sometimes grows into a serious one, and to stop it in the beginning, will save you money in the end. This new compound is called Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion. It is the best remedy, when you are run down tired out, nervous—no matter what the cause. It doesn't merely stimulate you and make you feel good for a few hours, but takes hold of the weakness and builds you up to a healthy, normal condition. It is a real nerve-food tonic and builder of good blood, strong muscle, good digestion. It contains Hypophosphites, which tone the nerves, and pure Olive Oil, which nourishes the nerves, the blood and the entire system. Pleasant to take. Contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs. We promise that if you are not perfectly satisfied with it, we'll give back your money as soon as you tell us. Sold only at the 7,000 Rexall Stores, and in this town only by us. $1.00—Shutheis Pharmacy, Wayne, Nebraska.

There is something wrong with some of the schools of this country when four hundred out of five hundred girls between the ages of 14 and 16 years will say they prefer to work at a factory rather than attend school—or else the girls have not been brought up right—it is not that factory life is so pleasant.

According to the 5th annual report of the state fire commission at hand last week there were 1265 fires reported in the state last year. Of this number there were 68 caused by children with matches—more from this cause than any other known cause. To this add 30 for carelessness with matches, and 26 others in which matches played an important part and it is easy to see that the match needs regulating, for there were 124, or one-tenth of all the fires in the state come from poor matches and carelessness in the care or handling of same. Oil stoves were responsible for 23 fires. Hot ashes, bonfires, chimney sparks, cigarettes, poor wiring, defective flues, incendiary, spontaneous combustion and a few others were numerous enough that it took two figures to tell the number of the kind.

Monday evening the Sioux City Tribune contained a notice of the marriage of a young lady who was well known at Wayne in her childhood days, a niece of Mrs. C. A. Chace. Beneath a picture of the lady the Tribune said:

Mrs. Constantine Braun will be remembered as Miss Ethel Wheeler. She was the daughter of Mrs. Margaret Wheeler. Mrs. Wheeler was Miss Goldie, a family that has been in Sioux City for 40 years or more, and is still represented by the Goldie brothers. Mrs. Wheeler sold her home about six years ago to G. Y. Skeels and has been in Europe since that time. Miss Wheeler and her brother Frank attended schools in Paris, and the latter was a student at Lusanne. The family is spending the winter in Davos Blatz, Switzerland. Miss Wheeler married Constantine Braun, a Bulgarian army officer, and has been in Bulgaria during much of the recent trouble there. Dr. Braun was kept in the Bulgarian country, drilling raw troops.

Social Notes

One of the pleasant social events of the week was the gathering of the members of the Knights of Pythias and their ladies at the Castle Hall Wednesday evening for the installation of officers. Dr. T. T. Jones was elected and installed as chancellor commander, W. D. Redmond who had been named for that place declining because of lack of time to give it proper attention. Other officers were published following election. After the installation ceremony and a short program which included a short talk on Pythianism by Prof. Bright and songs by Mrs. Watson and R. N. Donahey a social hour was passed at games, after which choice refreshments were served. The event was so conducted that those who attended hope to be invited again. About thirty Knights and their ladies were present.

The Rural Home Society met January 22 with Miss Linke who lives two miles northeast of town. After dinner the usual literary program was given, the main number of which was an interesting paper on Domestic Economy by Mrs. Perry. Plans for other lines of charitable work than those at present pursued were discussed and a committee appointed to bring the matter to a definite basis.

The Junior Bible Circle met with Miss Florence Gardner Saturday evening. The lesson was Acts xvi. After the lesson study was finished Miss Ethel Benschhoff gave a piano solo which was much appreciated by all. The hostess served light refreshments and they adjourned to meet with Mrs. J. Scofield next Saturday evening.

The Bible Study Circle met Tuesday afternoon at the pleasant home of Mrs. Ida Rennick with a good attendance. Mrs. Ward led the lesson with great inspiration, and many thoughts brought to each and every one. Next Tuesday afternoon they will meet at the home of Mrs. Noakes, Mrs. Steadman being the leader.

Wednesday was Miss Irene Carpenter's birthday and her mother surprised her with a party, inviting a few young friends in to make merry with her in honor of the day. A happy evening was passed.

The Monday club will meet with Mrs. Hahn February 2nd. A paper on Oriental Rugs by Mrs. Cunningham and one on How to Choose an Oriental Rug by Mrs. Beebe will be read.

The Wayne Choral Union met last evening with Mrs. Ed Johnson and arrangements were made for a new oratorio, "Creation." A large and enthusiastic chorus were present.

Miss Emma Hughes delightfully entertained the Bridge Whist club at her home Wednesday evening.

The Minerva club will meet with Mrs. J. G. W. Lewis next Monday. Mrs. Britton is leader.

The Acme club met with Mrs. Walter Weber last Monday. The usual lesson was studied.

The Early Hour club will meet with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fisher this evening.

OBITUARY

Julius Tower was born at Rochester, Vt., on June 16, 1839. Most of his boyhood years were spent at Saxton's River, Vt. At 16 years of age, he went to Monticello, Minn., to begin his independent career in the pine forests of those days. After a few years, he began working his way through Knox College, Galesburg, Ill., where he mastered the scientific course well into the second senior year, when he was prevented from graduating by a year's siege of sickness with typhoid fever. During the period of his college education, he engaged in teaching school, in which he gained marked efficiency.

On December 31, 1866, he was married to Elizabeth Ellen Gamble at her home in Woodhull, Ill., where they spent the first eleven years of their married life. In 1877, the family moved to Harrison county, Mo., in 1882 to Anamosa, Io., in 1886 to Wayne, Neb., and in 1912 to Collegeport, Tex., where ended the earthy career for him, on the night of January 21, 1913. Three sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Tower, Charles B., Fred J., and H. LaVerne, all of whom are left to mourn this first visitation of the death angel to the household. The earlier years of the deceased were devoted to business life, while the later years were divided between business pursuits and agriculture, which was the chosen field of action, where his inveterate industry found the most congenial environment. While Mr. Tower was a keen student of the times and kept himself continuously informed on political issues, yet, it was not for personal gain, but from unselfish interest. He was not a candidate for political profferment and his great modesty forbade the contention of the market place.

Mr. Tower was a loyal, usually active, and always a worthy Mason. In the year 1884, he was confirmed in the Scottish Rites degree—a Knight Templar. It was in 1886, a few months before his marriage that Mr. Tower surrendered his heart to his Lord and united with the Methodist Episcopal church of Woodhull, Ill., on the profession of his faith in Christ, a profession which he held over thereafter in inviolate sanctity. After a few months, he transferred his membership to the Presbyterian church, to be with his loyal and devoted wife. Later, he was ordained a ruling elder, and his service in that capacity is well known to the citizens of Anamosa, Io., and Wayne and Laurel, Neb., who have experienced his administration in that office.

School Notes

Georgia Sellers entered Kindergarten this week.

Two interclass games of basketball this evening after four o'clock.

Mrs. Laughlin is the substitute in the high school in Mrs. Scace's position.

The second semester's work is well started. New classes have been organized in Botany, Agriculture, Physiology, Plane and Solid Geometry and Cooking.

The Sophomore class gave the following program on Friday morning: Trombone solo by Ruselet Myers; Reading by Grace Nettleton; Violin solo by Elizabeth Mines; Recitation by Helena Baker.

The leading thought for January in the Kindergarten is "Winter". The subject of the first week was "The New Year," followed by the study of the life of the Eskimo. This week the subject of the morning talks is "Protection from Jack Frost and the Cold", then the work of the wood-chopper and the miner is taken up and the history of coal discussed. By this study is shown that fire is man's friend if controlled and respect for labor and the laborer is cultivated as well as practical information obtained.

W. H. Andresen and family arrived the first of the week from Chicago, and are getting settled in their Wayne home. Mr. Andresen is the man who purchased the McVicker ice plant and business here. No ice has yet been put up, but everything is in readiness as soon as the weather man does his part in building ice. The ice on the pond is now about 7 inches thick, but a week of steady cold will make it of desirable thickness for work. It will take about one week to fill the buildings if they can get ice from 10 to 12 inches thick.

Frank Soderstrom has purchased from Ed Ellis his pool hall business and took possession Monday. He is quite familiar with the business and is looking after the needs of the patrons in the best of style. We did not learn what line Mr. Ellis will take up.

Cunningham reports a splendid little sale for Farmer Wilson Tuesday. There seems to be a charm about the name of Wilson these days that pleases the people. Mr. Wilson's sale did not look large in the advertisement—but it was well advertised, and totaled more than $2300.

At the L. M. Owen sale the 10th of February at his farm just northwest of Wayne he will have an offering of 30 choice brood sows—and as hogs will be hogs from now on there is bound to be a big demand for the same. That is only one of his desirable offerings—all of which will be told next week.

Mrs. Earl Winton arrived Saturday afternoon from Cripple Creek, Colorado, where she took her daughter some time ago for the benefit of her health. She is now improving and expects to be able to return here in a month or so. After a few days visit with relatives east of town Mrs. Winton went to Bloomfield to visit her mother and sister.

Wrestling matches have been put on in some of the neighboring towns where the sports are sporty. We appear to have no local champion here, perhaps might develop one by encouraging the art. One old-time "square hold" wrestling champion from the backwoods of Wisconsin attended a match over in Iowa a few seasons ago and when asked for an expression of his appreciation of the art as it is known today, said: "Rasslin'—I call that nothin' but a 'huggin' match."

Wendel Baker received a message from Dalton Wednesday telling of the death of his little grandson, Joseph, son of Neal Thompson and wife of that place. The little fellow was about two and a half years of age, and had been ill several weeks with a bowel trouble, and Mrs. Baker and daughter Marguerite went to Dalton two weeks ago to assist in the care of the little fellow and visit their daughter and sister. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson will have the sympathy of their many friends here in their sad loss.

Carlisle Campbell and wife—yes we said wife, for the young man was united in marriage to Miss Sara J. Elkins of Fairview, Montana, at Loup City, Nebraska, August 30th, last, and simply was so busy and happy that he forgot to send word to his many Wayne friends, came the first of the week to visit here, and were guests at the home of V. A. Senter and wife while visiting their many friends. Mr. Campbell has decided to change his vocation and they were on their way to Ames, Iowa, where he will take a course in agriculture and do some review work in other studies, as well as do some teaching, for he is given the chance to assist in that work. He is undecided at this time whether or not he will use his knowledge when he completes the course in farming or teaching agriculture, as he can apply it either way. His many friends here will wish himself and wife much of joy and prosperity.

John F. Baker, who moved from near Bloomfield to a farm in the good country east of Wayne was in to market a hog—a sow that had weathered the cholera and grown fleshy at the age of two years. She brought the neat little sum of $41.85, and he is not kicking at the democratic year prices. He also has four other brood sows that went through the cholera and tip the scales at a ton for the four. A few days ago he returned from South Omaha where he took a car of 20 head of cattle that were good enough to sell at $7.90 and brought him almost $1900. He raised them all except four, and gave them a full feed of three months before sending them to market in this manner he feels that he has done better than the feeder who went onto the market and picked up a bunch of feeders at high price. His stock was largely grown on roughness from his farm, and he did not feel the expense like paying out money—even if they cost him as much.

Letters—Richard Chinn, Fred Geruriff, H. A. Kannew, J. F. Miller, Miss Eva Parker, R. C. Thompson, W. H. McNeal, P. M.

J. A. Farnsworth of Sioux City came over Saturday evening and is spending a time with his wife and relatives at this place.

Ernest Longnecker from Walnut, Iowa, passed through here Monday on his way to Randolph, where he was called by the death of his father, Jacob Longnecker. Both of these gentlemen formerly lived near Wayne, where they settled nearly thirty years ago. He was joined here by a cousin, Mrs. Chas. Long of Fairfax, S. D., who came on the afternoon train on her way to attend the funeral of her uncle. While in Wayne she was the guest of S. Taylor and wife who were neighbors to them in the pioneer days here. Mr. Jacob Longnecker was nearly 80 years of age when death came, which followed a sickness of several months of dropsy. The funeral and burial was to be at Winside, Wednesday. Mr. Longnecker was for many years a resident of this county, first living on a farm southwest of Wayne and then at Winside until a few years ago when he moved to Randolph.

Nuss Says:

"Next Saturday I will have another one of those big 25c Broom Sales"

These brooms were contracted for and bought months ago or this 25c price would be impossible. They are regular stock and a big bargain considering the regular broom prices of today.

I am firmly established in my own store building now and things are running smoothly again. I have not only enlarged my stock especially in the house furnishing and home goods lines, I have also lowered the prices wherever possible. My aim is to make my old and new customers get the habit of coming to the Variety Store first whenever they need anything in the lines I carry, and make them all understand that it is for their own benefit to do so.

The Variety Store will have a special bargain for each day of the week from now on. These Specials will not be advertised or telephoned, and they will be big enough to pay you for dropping in when in town. I want to make all feel sorry for skipping this store when out shopping.

The Enamelware, Tinware and Wall Paper Department is from now on upstairs.

Milady's Mirror

How to Cure Wrinkles.

There are other signs more subtle and potent, but wrinkles are the most pathetic because the most telltale indications of age. The lines and furrows they see disfiguring the faces of women of middle age ought to make girls do everything in their power to ward off wrinkles as long as possible. Most muscles of the face are voluntary, responding to every passing emotion, and if the muscles are constantly kept at work, as in grimacing and with odd tricks of expression habitual with so many women, that lines, then wrinkles, will be fostered.

Even children should learn that the face should be kept in repose. The little lines around the eyes and the long "parentheses" that inclose the lips and mouth and that are excused on the ground that they are necessary to expression, "laughing wrinkles," as they are called, in reality add years to one's appearance, so there is no need to fear massage will take away the expression of the face.

The little vertical lines that so quickly appear between the eyes as a result of squinting or that are often assumed in deep thought give one a fierce, rat-like expression, and only by the greatest care can the habit be overcome.

Another wrinkle maker is the habit of lifting the eyebrows. Tiny lines grow and deepen just above the eyes, and great furrows soon mar the beauty of the forehead.

There are some lotions that are said to prevent and others to erase wrinkles and which, if not entirely efficacious, are harmless.

One of the preventives is made as follows: Boil three ounces of pearl barley in a pint of water till the gluten is extracted. Strain, add thirty drops of tincture of benzoin and use as a face wash night and morning.

If the wrinkles have shown themselves, bathe the face in a solution made by dissolving sixty grains of alum in six ounces of rosewater and pour gently into one and one-half ounces of almond milk, stirring all the while.

Slit Skirt and Woollen Hose.

What a cruel alternative is put to the slit skirt wearers by Surgeon General Rupert Blue! He is quoted as saying that when the chilly winds of winter begin to blow the women will either have to sew up the slits in their skirts or wear heavy woollen stockings and sensible boots!

"Nearly all the women who affect slit skirts wear the thinnest kind of silk stockings and extremely low slippers," he is said to have observed. "If they wish to avoid catching their death of cold they ought to wear thick woollen stockings, as their grandmothers did, or sew up the vents."

When the dictum of Dr. Blue was repeated to a well known fashion authority she shrugged her shoulders and said: "I'm afraid they'll catch their death of cold then. But it isn't only the skirts that should cause the surgeon general to worry about women's health. If one wishes to be fashionable this winter she will have to freeze."

"Blouses expose the throat, skirts expose the ankles, and some of the new crownless hats expose the head. Women can be induced to wear fur about their throats, but I'm afraid fur anklets would not meet with much success, and woollen stockings—oh, never!"

"And," with a twinkle, "think what an advertising feature would be lost if women decided to take Dr. Blue's advice. There is a certain kind of small shopkeeper who attracts attention to his window displays by posting in a prominent place a photograph of a woman in a slit or diaphanous skirt. He is sure to draw a crowd of men."

"Of course," more seriously, "that practice is really deplorable, and the right kind of man is no more attracted to the shop by it than the right kind of woman is by the extremes of fashion. It's undoubtedly true, however, that there are a number of women who ought to pay heed to Dr. Blue's warning and sacrifice a little of their ambition to be ultra fashionable to the consideration of their health."

The Daily Bath.

A help in restoring the skin after a strenuous week or two or month of outing is the daily shower scrub. It is not necessary to get into a big tub filled with water and lie in it any length of time. Much better is it to take the thorough sponging and rubbing at night, then removing every particle of soap with a spray, first tepid, then cold. The morning bath may be only a five minute splash in water with the chill barely taken off and as cold as it comes from the faucet for the spraying.

A healthy thrill follows such a bath, with renewed vitality and a glow of skin that shows how beneficial it is. For some a very cold bath is best; for the majority the water should be tepid or blood heat, just so it feels pleasant to the body. Hot baths should only be taken by advice of a physician. They are essential in some instances, besides being conducive to a habit of taking cold in the slightest draft. By the bill of the march the girl who has almost despaired on viewing the ravages of her summer trip may find herself better in every way—healthier, prettier, fresher, and showing the benefits for which she thought she had paid too dearly.

Use Schoolhouses as Polling Places

By ROBERT ADAMSON, Manager, Fusion Campaign in New York City

POLITICS in the United States is still in its childhood. We still feel compelled to surround the voter with pictures, banners and general bedlam in order to induce him to vote a certain ticket. It may be to distract him so that he doesn't think how he votes. The button man will not even consider an order for LESS THAN A MILLION BUTTONS for a campaign. Yet no one but boys wear these buttons, and they influence no one.

One of the greatest needs for improvement in campaign practices is in the halls where public meetings and elections are held. The halls where meetings are held are not in keeping with the dignity and significance of the meetings, for surely NO BUSINESS IS MORE SACRED AND IMPORTANT than the election of city officials. These halls are apt to be smoky, dirty, crowded, filled with banners and the music of a band. It is hardly a place to consider a big question seriously.

I BELIEVE THERE COULDN'T BE A BETTER USE FOR SCHOOL BUILDINGS THAN THIS. A SCHOOL WOULD BE A MORE SUITABLE BUILDING FOR A POLLING PLACE THAN A BASEMENT, SOME DARK ROOM OR CORNER STORE. SUCH PLACES ARE VERY CONDUCTIVE TO FRAUD, THOUGH I BELIEVE FRAUD WAS REDUCED TO ITS LOWEST TERMS IN THIS LAST NEW YORK ELECTION.

Such a move as the use of schools for meetings would tend in the direction of progress. There has been MORE PROGRESS IN THE LAST TEN YEARS IN POLITICS THAN IN THE FIFTY YEARS BEFORE. In the era coming there will be less of politicians and more of the men who do the work because they are fitted for it.

Washington Fears To Admit That Business Is Honest

By DARWIN P. KINGSLEY, President New York Life Insurance Company

THERE will be some liquidation in 1914. Not even the turn in business, which I believe we have reached, will be able to stop that. The outlook generally is IMPROVING EVERY MINUTE. If only the federal administration comes to realize that business generally is honest, because it always has been honest and the men who control it are honest, the surprise now apparently felt by official Washington as it gradually realizes the honesty of business would diminish and the approach of brighter days would be more certain.

NOW, UNFORTUNATELY, WHEN OFFICIAL WASHINGTON ADMITS BUSINESS IS HONEST IT APPEARS TO FEAR THAT SUCH ADMISSION MAY COMPROMISE IT. THIS ATTITUDE IS ONE OF THE FACTORS OF UNCERTAINTY IN THE FORCES WHICH WILL CONTROL BUSINESS IN 1914.

The currency bill is generally accepted as a step forward. Business, however, will for some time continue to wonder how President Wilson did it. There is a RESIDUUM OF UNEASINESS over the curious political situation out of which this law was brought into being. The forces which have technically produced the law historically and actually do not believe in its doctrine. The forces nominally in opposition to the law believe both historically and actually in its doctrine and would have gone further.

FOR THE GREATER PART OF 1914 I BELIEVE THAT TRADE OUTSIDE OF WALL STREET WILL PROBABLY BE QUIET. IF A SOLUTION OF THE SUITS AGAINST THE STEEL CORPORATION AND THE HARVESTER COMPANY SHOULD BE ANNOUNCED AND THAT SOLUTION CARRIED THE CONVICTION TO THE GENERAL PUBLIC THAT WASHINGTON, WHILE READY TO PROSECUTE CRIMINALS, IS IN SYMPATHY WITH BUSINESS, EVEN THOUGH BIG AND EFFICIENT, A GREAT MOVEMENT FORWARD AND UPWARD WOULD FOLLOW IMMEDIATELY.

Bankers of World No Longer Will Allow Unnecessary Wars

By HENRY CLEWS, New York Banker

WAR today affects injuriously the whole world, frightens investors, drives capital into hiding or expends money into wasteful channels. The bankers of the world will NO LONGER ALLOW UNNECESSARY WARS to be waged. They held the purse strings in our time. Their decisions in grave emergencies are final. KINGS AND RULERS ARE MERE FIGUREHEADS. The real power rests with those who control the finances of a nation.

WAR IN THE BALKANS WAS ONE CAUSE FOR THE WORLD-WIDE STAGNATION OF BUSINESS TODAY. WE WILL NOT WANTONLY ENGAGE IN WAR WITH THE MEXICANS; LET NOT ONE AMERICAN SOLDIER'S LIFE BE SACRIFICED NOR ONE AMERICAN DOLLAR BE SPENT OR ONE ACRE OF MEXICAN TERRITORY BE ANNEXED. LET THE MEXICANS FIGHT IT OUT AMONG THEMSELVES.

We Shouldn't Worry About Monroe Doctrine

By HUNTINGTON WILSON, Assistant Secretary of State in Tact Administration

WE ought to be able to discriminate between the vastly different republics, and we ought not to overrate their solidarity and mutual affection. Granting the MONROE DOCTRINE TO BE OBSOLETE as a unilateral policy in the sphere of the "A B C countries," the opening of the Panama canal would be a curious occasion to consider the abandonment by the United States of its mandate in the Caribbean.

There is room indeed for mutually advantageous co-operation through commerce and otherwise. In spite of a great difference of temperament, international, like domestic, politics often makes strange bedfellows.

ONE MUST AGREE WITH PROFESSOR BINGHAM IN HIS DEPRECIATION OF CANT ABOUT SYMPATHY SO FAR AS RACIAL CHARACTERISTICS ARE CONCERNED AND ABOUT GEOGRAPHICAL PROXIMITY WITH THE DISTANT SOUTH. AS HE SAYS, KEY WEST IS NO NEARER RIO DE JANEIRO AND BUENOS AIRES THAN IS GIBRALTAR.

This suggests that Buenos Aires is not appreciably nearer the Caribbean than Key West is near to Buenos Aires and that by the same token it is quite as absurd for the Chilean, Brazilian and Argentinian to worry about American policy in the Caribbean as it would be for the UNITED STATES TO WORRY ABOUT THE MONROE DOCTRINE AT CAPE HORN.

Income Tax Law Crude and Obscure

By STUART H. PATTERSON, Income Tax Expert

THE income tax law has arrived, and I think it has come to stay in one form or another. BUT THE PRESENT LAW WILL HAVE TO BE CHANGED. I criticize the law, but in a general way defend the treasury department for the efforts it has made to make the law workable. IN OLDEN TIMES THE GREAT INJUSTICE WAS THAT THE FEW POWERFUL RICH UNJUSTLY TAXED THE MANY POOR. UNDER OUR MODERN AND ENLIGHTENED CIVILIZATION THE MANY IN POWER ARE ATTEMPTING UNJUSTLY TO TAX THE FEW RICH AND ONE CONDITION IS AS UNJUST AS THE OTHER.

 Board met as per adjournment. All members present.
 Contract is hereby entered into between Philleo & Harrington Lumber Co. party of the first part and the County of Wayne of the second part, relative to the furnishing of all lumber tributary to the town of Wayne, and used by the county for the year 1914. This being the day for the receiving of bids for the erection and repairing of all bridges for Wayne county, Nebraska, for the year 1914, and owing to the failure to have sufficient copies of the plans and specifications as required by law to meet the demand, it is resolved by the board that all bids be rejected unopened. And it is further resolved that the clerk break the seal of the bids and extract therefrom the certified checks, returning said checks to bidders; rescind the bids and deposit them as files of his office.

For the past two months the Democrat has been carrying a series of "None Such" mince meat ads and one of the dealers here who is selling it and no other mince meat says that the patrons are calling for it by name designating it in the order. From this it is but fair to assume that the advertising is doing an educational work.

Because of the short time before the sale, and because Henry Stuthman of Pilger has an excellent offering of Duroc bred sows we suggest that breeders interested read his advertisement on another page. His sale is announced for the 6th of February at his farm five miles north of Pilger, which is not so very far from Wayne.

There is to be an examination of applicants for a clerkship at the Wayne postoffice on February 14th, and all applications must be filed on or before February 10. The cause of the coming vacancy is not given for publication, but we are assured that it is through no inefficiency or charges of neglect by the department—that it is in fact voluntary.

Mrs. L. P. Walker and her brother, Clarence Gallaher came down from Maskell Saturday evening for a short visit with her husband here. Mrs. Walker has practically recovered from her sickness of last fall and they are planning to again begin housekeeping here in about a month. The children are also again well, and Master Johnnie came with his mother.

Misses Chyrl Ihde and Miss Louise McGraw from Pierson, Iowa, came the first of the week to take up kindergarten and primary teaching course at the Normal. They have been students at Morningside, but thought that Wayne offered a better course in the line of work they wanted. Miss Ihde is making her home with her grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Wade, while here.

Mrs. J. H. Watson underwent an operation at the Watson farm home about four miles north of Wayne Monday. She had been in ill health for some weeks, and a pus case of appendicitis suddenly developed and Dr. Sibley was called from Sioux City, and with the aid of Dr. Williams, the attending physician, removed the offending organ. Mrs. Watson is reported to be doing as well as possible under existing conditions.

If the money that Cedar county is spending in those "friendly suits" to prevent one lone widow woman with three little tots depending upon her from getting a pension which the best sense of a legislature of men with hearts saw fit to pass, was turned over to the woman and the lawyers who are seeking to toot their horns at public expense were permitted to pay their own footing to satisfy their curiosity as to the legality of the law, the average taxpayer would be much better satisfied.—Cole-ridge Blade.

One of the good things for Wayne that is coming with the new month is a gang of bridge men who will be permanently stationed here and have supervision of the bridges on the Bloomfield line and the main line between Wayne and Norfolk. This is the result of the policy of the Omaha line dividing the road into bridge divisions and placing each division in charge of a crew of workmen. It is probable that this will mean several more mechanics at Wayne—and perhaps extra work for carpenters already here at times.

One of the members of the Wayne co-operative creamery company was visiting in the south part of the state a few weeks ago—just after the price of cream dropped in a lot of the near-by towns to 26c and asked the friends with whom he was visiting if the price had just dropped there to 26c and was informed that it had not lately—that that had been the top for a long time—when farmers here had been getting up to 34c. That is what a few co-operative concerns did for this community and another one or two in this part of the state.

While autoing in the country west of town last Friday with J. A. Stahl, we called at the Henry Hartsick homestead and saw there the oldest farm house in the county. It was built forty-five years ago and all the children excepting the youngest daughter were born in this quaint old log structure. With some repairing it would still be habitable. Mr. Hartsick showed us an old corn sheller and a fanning mill that he bought forty odd years ago, also an old fashioned sleigh about the same age. The great trees near the old log house were planted by Mr. Hartsick himself. One of the largest trees on the farm was sawed into lumber. Fifteen hundred feet of good cottonwood lumber was sawed out of it. The old pioneer informed us that he helped John D. Neligh plant the big trees near the telephone office in the early days. He is still hale and hearty and bids fair to round out a century of years.—Cumings County Democrat.

Great Interest In Panama Essays

Boys and Girls Much Pleased with Chance to Try For Cash Prizes—School Authorities Co-operate—Jury Announced.

The First National Bank of Wayne, has announced the following as the Jury of Award for the Panama canal essay contest for $18 in cash prizes: W. D. Redmond, J. W. Ziegler, A. R. Davis.

The school children have evinced a deep interest in the announcement made last week that a prize of $10 would be paid for the best 200-word essay written by a schoolboy or schoolgirl under sixteen years of age; a second prize of $5, and a third prize of $3.

The Osborne Art Calendar, which shows the reproduction of Richard W. Rummell's painting in full color of the entire canal zone, has been the center of attraction in every schoolroom since it was placed on the walls and announcement made through these columns that prize contest was on.

Thus early, some of the essays have been mailed to the First National Bank.

Most of the boys and girls, however, are not sending along their first efforts, but are giving the Panama canal careful study, carefully scrutinizing the picture on the calendar, and the descriptive matter that appears on the sheet which is attached to it. There is a demand all over town for books on the Canal, and the "children of larger growth" are becoming as much interested as the smaller folks.

The Panama Canal picture and the prize contest have become the "talk" of the town, and, as we predicted a week ago, every one of us knows a lot more about the Canal, and the hundreds of millions of dollars and the thousands of lives that have been poured out in its building, than we knew a few weeks ago.

SHORTHORNS AS MILK PRODUCERS

From the very origin of the breed Short-horns have had two qualities to commend them to the favorable consideration of farmers and stockmen, and it is this dual capacity for beef and milk production that has made them so popular. writes B. G. Cowan in the National Stockman. As beef producers they are known over the civilized world, but their dairy qualities, though excellent when properly developed, are not so well recognized.

At the present day the large herds that supply the city of London with milk and butter are composed quite largely and in some cases exclusively of Short-horn cows, either pure bred or high grades. To some extent this is also true in New York and New England.

The best milk record of any Short-horn cow is that of Rose of Glenside, made under the auspices of the Pennsylvania Agricultural college. During a test of twelve months she produced 18,075 pounds of milk and 735 pounds of butter, an average of two pounds of butter per day and 49.5 pounds of milk.

During the year 1912 a new butter record was made, and it is the best ever scored by a Short-horn cow. It was made by a cow owned by Mr. Avery of New York, Rose III. In twelve months she produced 15,592 pounds of milk and 831 pounds of butter, showing her milk to be very rich in butter fat.

The Milking Short-horn bull here shown is Bransby's Coming Star, champion of England as a two-year-old. This bull was imported by Mr. J. J. Hill for his North Oaks farm, near St. Paul, Minn. Mr. Hill is a great admirer of the dual purpose cow and thinks the Milking Short-horn stands first in this class of cattle. Altogether Mr. Hill has imported twenty-eight head of Milking Short-horns.

The essential characteristic of Short-horns is beef, but a beef breed that can show a herd with more than forty cows with milk records ranging from 10,000 to 13,232 pounds is worthy of the careful consideration of men who want cows that will pay their way as dairy animals aside from their ability to produce profitable beef animals. Such cows are well suited to present day farm conditions, and the demand for such is rapidly increasing, and the men who are producing cows with good milking qualities and acceptable beef form will have a profitable market for their surplus.

SHEEPFOLD IN WINTER.

Parasites and Colds Common Cold Weather Ailments.

Sheep are not subject to maffy winter ailments that cannot be prevented if proper precaution is taken in arranging barns and yards and feeding suitable foods in the right proportions, writes L. J. Meredith in the Iowa Homestead. One of the best treatments for sheep that are suffering from common winter ailments is a purgative. Few flock owners appreciate the value of epsom salts or pure raw linseed oil in reducing fever and inflammation. If it is advisable to give sheep a stimulating medicine of any kind a purgative is the most beneficial. One of the most insidious winter ailments is a cold. A cold at the beginning does not produce any serious ailment, but as it gets a gradual foothold it develops into more serious ailments that use up the body tissues and weaken the whole system of the affected animal. Catarrh, that follows a severe cold, consists of inflammation of the mucous membrane of the throat, nostrils, windpipe and sinuses of the head. In case the disease gets thoroughly established good nursing, comfortable housing and nutritious food will help to give the animal the necessary vitality to regain its normal condition. This is the only successful method of treating colds and catarrh.

Few flock owners realize the tremendous losses incurred by parasites during the winter. As a rule, these external parasites are unusually active during the winter. The dense fleece of the sheep is an ideal place for them to live and reproduce in great numbers. As the parasites multiply the sheep become restless and begin to rub against the corners of the feed racks and partitions in the barns. There is but one method of treatment, and that is to eradicate the evil. If any of the animals show indications of being affected with the trouble in the fall they should be dipped before they are put into winter quarters. If the barn and feed racks become infested much trouble will be encountered in cleaning out the pests. There is no danger in dipping if a warm day is chosen and the sheep as soon as dipped are put into a barn and kept away from drafts until they are dry.

Using the Separator.

Separate the cream while the milk is still warm and in cold weather first run hot water through the separator to warm it. Strain the milk into the separator through a wire gauze.

HORSE LORE.

Try to turn your horse's back to the wind and blanket him when tying him up.
Give a bran-mash Saturday night or Sunday noon and on Wednesday night also if work is slack.
The actual cost to keep added to the service fee of the sire represents the amount at which horses you raise stand you.
Do not forget to salt the horse once a week, or better still, keep salt always before him. He knows best how much he needs.
Be so careful in the choice of a blacksmith that it is not necessary for your horse to wear an interfering boot.

DISEASES OF HOGS.

Worms and Lack of Mineral Matter Often Cause Serious Loss.

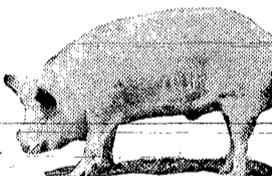

Whenever and wherever hog cholera is prevailing all other epidemics to which swine are subject are apt to be classified as hog cholera. Here is an incident that took place in Will county, Ill., which is a case in point. The same is related by the Farmer's Review as illustrating the value of a county adviser.

One day a hurry up call was received from a farmer whose hogs were dying from supposed cholera. Of 300 head but fifty were left, and the external appearance of these did not indicate cholera. The adviser had a sick one killed and immediately made a postmortem examination. The vital organs were found to be in a healthy condition, but the intestines were full of worms. Mr. Grinnis advised a vermifuge for expelling the worms and the feeding of a mixture of limestone screenings, rock phosphate and wood ashes. This advice was followed, and no further loss of pigs followed. This advice is invaluable to the hog raiser. Worms and lack of mineral matter are two great causes that contribute to a bad physical condition, which makes pigs susceptible to any disease that may come along, and if they die in any number it is called cholera.

WARDING OFF CHOLERA.

Prevention of Disease in the Hog Herd Better Than Treatment.

There is a farm in central Ohio which is noted for its fine hogs. There are always from 150 to 300 good porkers on it, says the Farm and Fireside. Cholera has raged all about it, but there has never been a case on the farm. It is a farm of over 1,000 acres. No water is used from any source outside the farm. So no infection can come in the water the hogs drink.
One day a neighbor came wandering through the place. The owner halted him and asked him whether the report was true that he came from a farm infected with cholera. The neighbor admitted that his hogs were dying of it. "Then get off my place," said the owner. The neighbor grew huffy. "Well," said the owner, "you wouldn't come into my house if you had small-pox, would you?" "No, of course not." "Well, then why come into my fields when you come from a farm that's infected with cholera?" We are always glad to be neighborly, but we can't afford to pay for rails with our herd of hogs." The neighbor admitted that this position was correct and went away feeling perfectly satisfied.

The Yorkshire breed of hogs had its origin in England, where it is very popular, as it also is in Canada, it being raised almost to the exclusion of other breeds. The Yorkshire came to the United States about twenty-five years ago and is recognized as one of the best of the bacon producers. The sows are prolific and are excellent mothers. Butchers who cater to the best trade pay a premium for well fitted bacon hogs. The Yorkshire boar here shown was champion of his breed at the last Iowa state fair.

These hogs run in pastures, but the pastures are exceptionally situated. The Minnesota sanitary board recommends that when cholera rages the hogs be kept in small, dry pens. "Keep your dog tied," they add, and they might say, "shoot every dog when he crosses your line fence." Disinfect the troughs daily with a 5 per cent solution of carbolic acid. No hog can legally be taken from any stockyard except for slaughter, and breeding hogs when shipped should, of course, be crated and kept out of the stock yards. And when one is brought on the farm from outside it should be kept by itself for at least two weeks. It will pay to put a boy out with a gun during daylight hours to shoot at and kill if possible every pigeon, crow, mourning dove and English sparrow in sight. They all carry germs from farm to farm. And don't let the hogs drink from running streams or surface water originating outside the farm.

A Dairy Improver.

The pure bred bull has done a great deal to improve the dairy herds of the middle west. All states, or at least the principal ones, are reporting an increased dairy production, and the results may be traced to better cows, not more of them.

GREEDY FOR GOLD

India a Glutton In Swallowing Up the Yellow Metal.

HOARDS IT LIKE A MISER TOO.

Millions on Millions in Bullion and Golden Coins Flow Into That Country Every Year, Hardly Any of Which Returns or Is Ever Seen Again.

A steady stream of gold has been flowing for centuries into India. One might say streams of gold flowing thence, for since India produces comparatively little gold herself she lays the whole world under tribute. Hardly any of this gold returns. It is as if the earth of India had opened and swallowed it up. The American tourist in India who parts from a sovereign or a five dollar gold piece may be pretty certain it will go straightway out of circulation and nevermore be seen in the country of its minting. In one year alone India has been known to import over $300,000,000 in bar gold and English sovereigns.

What has become of this vast accumulation of gleaming treasure? To what use is all this gold put, since India has not minted a gold coinage of her own for many generations? The puzzle becomes a bit curious when it is remembered that as a whole the three hundred odd millions of natives refuse absolutely to deposit their savings, gold or otherwise, in banks and will take no part financially in such productive enterprises as railroads, irrigation works or factories.

The sharpest and most astute get-rich-quick bucket shop artist that ever soaked a gullible occidental public could no more beguile the mild Hindu to buy a share of stock with the glittering promise of a thousand fold rise in value than the government has been able to induce him to invest in solid guaranteed bonds.

It has been estimated that "the visible hoarded wealth of India in temples, the treasure chests of princes and in the jewelry of the Indian men and women amounts to $1,800,000,000"—a simple portable treasure that would look like a pretty respectable pile even for our day and make the old time buccaners set sail for India in a hurry. Part of this any American tourist can see for himself in such toys as the two gold cannon of the gajewar of Baroda, each containing 280 pounds of pure gold, and from glimpses caught of temple images of solid or thickly plated gold and blazing with jewels. As a special favor he may be permitted to glance within the iron bound treasure chests of some highness and plunge his arm to the elbow in ancient gold molars.

But this would hardly account for the greater part of that golden current set toward India since the beginning of the record. It is into the earth that current sinks, year after year for hundreds of them, to be forgotten or lost trace of in the violent social upheavals, plagues and famines that have swept over the country. In India man has but to relinquish his fight against the jungle growth for a short space to result in the tearing down, overwhelming and utter obliteration of all his work. Therefore it is scarcely a flight of imagination to picture the black cobra nesting in some hole of ruined temple masonry stuffed with gold and jewels or the tiger seeking a lair in the dazzling throne-room of a long forgotten dynasty buried in the jungle.

For the reason of this curious gold problem of India apparently one has not far to seek. Until the English went to India the country was swept repeatedly by invasions and conquests. Each newcomer was bent chiefly on plunder, but if he decided to remain he set up a government in which all life and property were his sole and undisputed possession. The only rights the conquered Hindus possessed were those he chose to grant. These consisted principally in providing the conqueror with splendid palaces, jewels, gorgeously caparisoned elephants, dancing girls, a host of swashbuckling retainers and costly tombs. That is why the American tourist in India gets a surfeit of palaces, temples and tombs.

As to the people, they seem to have come to the conclusion pretty far back that it was advisable for them never to display signs of overmuch wealth. The plundering soldier or tax gatherer was always at the door, so apparent poverty was the best shield of defense. Besides, as hasty flight was recurrently necessary before the ravaging armies of Tartar, Afghan and Mogul, gold and jewels were the easiest forms of negotiable security to transport or hide in the earth. In this way Delhi was sacked and sacked again with John Ireland, the New York traveler, visiting that city in the middle of the eighteenth century, thought Nadir Shah must have swept it clean of treasures in his last $200,000,000 raid. Delhi looked to him a poverty stricken place. Yet a century or so afterward, when the British troops stormed it in the mutiny, the Thomas Atkins of those days was pretty soon seen bartering jewels for drinks and playing quaits with gold trinkets and trinkets. Since then Delhi has probably accumulated another hoard of treasure, for the people's yearning in that respect seems to be explained by their never having got over their scare of the invader plundering and squeezing them for ages or the dread terror of a plague taking its toll in millions. Something then unchanging in value to lay with or bury would appear to be their sole idea of security, and without doubt this is best represented in gold and jewels.—New York Tribune.

Among The Churches of Wayne

St. Mary's Catholic Church. (Rev. Wm. Kearns, Pastor.) Mass in Wayne Sunday morning at 8:30. Benediction in the evening at 7:30.

German Evangelical Lutheran Church (Rev. R. Moehring, Pastor.) There will be no services in Wayne next Sunday as the pastor will be at Winside to conduct services.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church. (Rev. F. E. Blessing, Pastor.) Sunday school every Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

Regular preaching services every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. The subject of the sermon Sunday morning will be "Invited Closer," John I 38-39. Shortly after the baptism of Jesus Christ, John was standing with several of his followers, as Christ passed, and pointing to Christ, said unto them: "Behold the lamb of God." Then we read that "two disciples heard him speak and they followed Jesus." When Christ heard them following him, he looked around, and saw them at a distance and invited them closer, saying "Come and see." Christ does not want us to follow at a distance, as Peter did when Christ was taken before Caiaphas, the high priest, but he invites us closer, that we may know him better and may be helped by him. Thus, does he say: "Come and see."

Evening services at half past seven every Sunday evening. The subject for next Sunday evening will be "Character and God's Plumb-Line." Amos vii, 7. The regular midwinter communion will be held next Sunday morning. There will be a congregational meeting next Sunday morning after church services. All members are requested to be present.

The envelopes for benevolence will be sent out the last of the week. Please return them next Sunday, with apportionment.

First Baptist Church. (Rev. B. P. Richardson, Pastor.) After some weeks of interruptions of our regular work, we are again to begin our regular order of services.

President Taft's visit gave many a revived interest in the work of our Baptist college at Grand Island. Many are coming to recognize the college as one of our valuable assets. We believe in President Taft, and his ideals for the college.

Sunday will be our communion service. This is one of the very best services of the month. It is the time when we especially like to see our members present. The subject of the pastor's address will be, "Into the Love of God and the patience of Christ."

Sunday evening at 6:30, the young people will hold their session. At 7:30, the pastor will preach. The subject of the sermon will be: "Healing the Nobleman's Son." It is the second sermon on Christ's early miracles.

Tomorrow (Friday) afternoon, the missionary society will hold its regular session at the parsonage. Mrs. Ethel Norton is the leader.

We are anxious to enlist as many as possible of our young people in our teachers' training class. The books to be studied have arrived.

The Ladies' Aid will meet Thursday at 3 p. m., at the home of Mrs. George Fortner.

All persons interested should remember that Thursday evening is the time for choir practice and nothing should interfere with this.

Wednesday evening at 7:30 the mid-week prayer service is held and all are urged to attend this meeting. Vital to you.

Morning preaching at 10:30. It is always helpful to the speaker to have a full house. The more people come, the more you get.

The W. C. T. U. will meet this week with Mrs. Wm. House, Friday at 2:30. Come and try a study of God's word in the Sunday school, which is called at 12:00 o'clock.

The League is planning for a Mission study, "Immigrant forebears." Will you not come and enjoy this study with us? Mr. Carson gave us a fine address in the morning. The cause of temperance is more hopeful than some people think.

The League is planning a "13" social for next month. Will you not try and be present?

You should be almost through the book of Matthew by this time if you have been reading a chapter a day. Each devotional meeting is a special one. You can't afford to miss any of them.

Evening preaching service begins at 7:30. All are invited.

Prof. Joy's lectures were of great value to the people of Wayne. We recommend him at all. No community that can secure his services can afford to be without the lectures.

Presbyterian Church. (Rev. Alexander Corkey, Pastor.)

There will be a memorial service at the Presbyterian church next Sunday morning, calling to memory those in recent and in former times who have helped to make the world as good as it is, and whose life-work has built up the church of God among men. The text will be: "Being dead, they yet speak."

In the evening the series of sermons on "The Women and Girls" of the Bible will be commenced, the first sermon being on "Mother Eve, Her Successes and Failures."

On Thursday evening of this week the annual Brotherhood banquet will be held, and all the men of the church and congregation are preparing for a "get-together" evening. The banquet will be served in the basement of the Baptist church at 6:45, and will be followed by a number of toasts as follows:

- Mr. L. A. Kiplinger, Toastmaster.
- "Words of Greeting" Mr. F. G. Philico
- "Men and the Community" Mr. W. D. Redmond

- "Marching to Victory" Rev. Alexander Corkey
- Music.

Closing remarks Dr. S. McComb, Sioux City

During the next few weeks the pastor will give a series of lectures on the book of Revelations at the Wednesday evening meeting. The lectures will be given with a view to explaining the symbolism of the book, so that its message may be better understood. At the first lecture on Wednesday evening of this week the meaning of the seals, trumpets, bowls, and other imagery was explained, and the general literary structure of this remarkable book set forth. As the last book written by an inspired writer the book has peculiar claims for the Christian, and its teachings are for the present dispensation which will end with the Second Advent. There will be a young people's rally next Sunday evening at 6:30 in the lecture room of the church. A special program will be given, and the work of the coming months explained.

Temperance Rally.

Last Sunday evening one of the largest and most enthusiastic temperance rallies ever held in Wayne took place at the Presbyterian church. The meeting was a union service conducted by the ministers of the Baptist, Methodist, Presbyterian and English Lutheran churches, and the congregation filled every nook and corner of the large edifice. The speaker for the occasion was Prof. H. D. Carson, superintendent of the anti-saloon league in Nebraska. He told of the remarkable growth of temperance sentiment in the past two years, of the rise of the question into national politics, and the prospects of a "dry" Nebraska within a very few years, and even spoke most hopefully of a constitutional amendment which would exterminate the liquor question in the nation within ten years just as slavery was exterminated. He pointed out that recent temperance legislation has been more drastic than ever and the saloon forces are being driven to the wall. They are already, according to their own confessions, reading "the handwriting on the wall." Already twenty-seven states are ready to pass favorably on a constitutional amendment outlawing the liquor traffic in the nation, and only nine more states are needed. He said the two sole friends of liquor in America today are ignorance and greed for money; that ignorance is being dispelled, and the men who are only seeking after the dollar are being driven from public life into well-deserved helplessness.

At the close of the address funds were contributed most liberally by the large congregation for the advancement of the cause represented by Prof. Carson, and interest and enthusiasm in temperance were manifest. "It is a war," exclaimed the leader, of the temperance hosts in Nebraska, "it is war to the knife. We ask no quarter from the liquor forces and we give none. We are determined to annihilate the traffic and we will do it with the help of God and of the loyal Christian people in America."
