COME TO WAYNE TO CELEBRATE THE FOURTH

Wayne's "4th" Celebration

Everything is working out in fine shape for the big celebration to be held here July 4th.

Both the automobile parade in the forenoon and the big parade of business men's floats in the afternoon promise to be unusually good. The farmers and out of town people are urged to decorate their cars and enter the automobile parade.

Prizes will be given for the best decorated out of town cars. Prizes will also be given for the best lodge floats furnished for the afternoon parade and it seems certain that all the leading lodges will participate in this parade.

Two bands will dispense music throughout the day, and committees have selected a big and carefully ascertained order of fireworks for the display in the evening.

The Old Soldiers Reunion of Northeast Nebraska, which will be held here on the 2d, 3rd and 4th of July will be a big additional attraction and the old soldiers will lead the big afternoon parade July 4th.

There will be a free ball game and all sorts of minor sports; foot races, tug of war, etc., with suitable prizes provided for the winners in these events.

Concessions have been granted for a merry-go-round and several other amusements of this character.

The Commercial Club feels that when Wayne celebrates she ought to do it right, and they propose to leave nothing undone to make this the biggest celebration and the best entertainment ever given in Wayne.

Des Moines Women Capture Burglar

One of the Des Moines papers tells of an exciting incident at that place in which Mrs. Jack Liveringhouse, formerly of this place, played a part. She was at the home of a near neighbor when an agent called soliciting subscription to periodicals, and went to the door in response to his knock, carrying the baby in her arms. Mrs. Fickett, the lady of the house retired from sight as she learned the man's mission. Almost forcing his way into the house he kept increasing the value of his 35 cent offering until Mrs. Liveringhouse accepted and asked him to wait until she crossed the street for the money. The lady who owned the house was frightened at being alone with the man and retreated under the bed, and from there she soon learned that the supposed agent was also a burglar, his movements being reflected in a mirror. When Mrs. Liveringhouse returned the lady under the bed regained her courage, and quietly left the house by a rear door and soon appeared at the front armed with a revolver and broomstick, and demanded of the intruder a surrender of her pocketbook and silverware. The burglar surrendered, and when he began to cry the women felt sorry and let him escape. Those were exciting moments for the two ladies.

Rainfall Question Settled

"How much did it rain, last night?" is a question that will be easily answered from now on by simply looking at the rain gauge installed by the State Bank at this place. The instrument tells the precipitation to the 10th of an inch, and the gauge is so placed that it may be read from outside of the bank as well as the inside. Should the fall at one time exceed three inches the amount in excess of that would have to be guessed at as we have been doing with all of the rainfall here in the past. It is a neat and simple device and will answer correctly the question asked above.

S. E. Aufer Files for Commissioner

S. E. Aufer, a well known farmer living near Wayne has filed for the republican nomination for the office of county commissioner from the 1st district. There appears to be a hesitancy this year on the part of candidates in this county to make their wants known.

Pioneer Memorial Service

In accordance with an act of the last session of the Nebraska legislature, the second Sunday of June has been designated as Pioneer Memorial Day. The act became effective for the first time this year, and the day set apart by statutory provisions will be generally observed throughout the state.

Under the auspices of the Pioneer and Old Settler's Association of Wayne county a meeting has been arranged on the court house lawn for the afternoon of Sunday, June 21. The music for the occasion is under the direction of Professor M. S. Davies, and will consist of the singing of old-time songs. Steps will be taken to effect an organization to plan for the proper observance of the day in the future.

PROGRAM—4 p. m.
A. J. Ferguson, presiding.

Doxology.
Solo and Chorus, "Guide, Boo k Divine"—Solo by Axel Vennerberg.
Scripture Reading—Rev. B. P. Richardson.

Invocation—Rev. Rudolph Moehring.
Hymn, "Onward Christian Soldiers"—Congregation.

Sermon—Dr. H. H. Millard.
Solo and Chorus, "In the Sweet By and By"—Solo by Mrs. Blair.
Song, "America"—Congregation.

Benediction—Rev. C. L. Myers.
It is the wish of the committee that a large attendance may be present at this first memorial service, held in compliance with the recent legislative act. It is especially desired that as many of the pioneers and old settlers of Wayne county as find it possible to do so be present.

Wayne 10, Hartington 1

In the first Sunday game of base ball on the local field, Wayne defeated Hartington by the score of 10 to 1. For four innings the two teams put up a pretty fight but commencing the fifth inning, the Hartington pitcher began to weaken and his support also wobbled so that from then on there was no question as to the outcome except the size of the score.

Wayne had one of the best teams on the field that the local fans have ever had the opportunity of seeing. The famous old outfield consisting of Hunter, Knight and Shellington was right on the job and it looked to us like one of the best outfields in this part of the state.

The makeup of the infield is not permanent yet. Grammer at third base gives promise of showing strong but the first and second base positions will probably show new faces in the next game.

Anderson at short proved to be the bright star of the game. He accepted thirteen chances in brilliant fashion and showed himself a good, steady fielder.

Madden pitched a cool, steady game, and after the first two innings he took things easy, depending on his support to hold the visitors in check.

The game was devoid of wrangling, the crowd was good-natured and all in all there certainly could be no criticism of the contest by even the most rabid anti-Sunday fan.

For this coming Sunday, June 21, the management has secured the fast Battle Creek team for a game on the local fair grounds. This promises to be a rattling good game. The Battle Creek team won one and lost one to Pierce, both by close scores, and Pierce is conceded to have a better team than the state league teams. Members of the team request you to come out and see a good game and make it possible to bring the best teams here. You can't have good ball teams unless the games are well patronized.

Storm Strikes Wayne County

A severe rain storm visited Wayne county Wednesday afternoon, passing from the northwest to the southeast corner, the storm belt center carrying a small strip of damaging hail in places. The territory covered was not wide, as the rain was slight at both Winside and Wakefield, while from Sholes to Wayne, following the length of Dog creek the precipitation was heavy, varying from one to two inches or more. At Wayne the gauge showed a fall of 1.4 inches. Five miles northwest the fall was fully two inches.

Commissioner H. Rethwish was here this morning and knows that nine of the wooden bridges over Dog creek are clear out, and because of tangled telephone lines he cannot learn of others that are probably out or damaged. Dog creek is said by those who have long lived here to have never before been as high as last night.

It is out over bottom lands on either side. Hay sweeps have been washed away, corn plows left in the field are said to be under water except the tip of the handles. Fences have been taken out and some stock had narrow escape.

Hail visited a district north of Carroll damaging corn and spoiling the crop of small grain. The territory, however, is said to be small where hail was heavy.

On the Morris farm west of Carroll the storm center seemed to come to earth, and a wrecked barn and two silos are left to show the fury of the wind there. A boy was slightly injured at this place.

Large hail fell at the McEachen place west of Wayne, but not thick enough to cause serious crop damage. Jule Landanger, who lives there, is said to have been hit by one and had his cheek cut open. Had it struck some of the town fellows on the cheek it would have broken the hail stone, Jule says.

At Wayne the damage was slight a few cellars taking in of the overflow, but all of the gutters and storm sewers were taxed to their full capacity, and in many instances the water took a short cut across corners, streets and alleys.

Among the losses was a horse, the property of Mr. Anderson, which was drowned. John Saha lost a large water tank, one of 25 or 30 barrel capacity, but found it next day a mile from home in a neighbors hog pasture, full of water.

A later report says that the barn on the Thos. Sundahl place was twisted about on its foundation, and that small buildings suffered in that neighborhood.

Write Them, Kip.

Speaking of Alliance and their commercial club the Butler County Press says:

"In a three days campaign for new members recently the Alliance Commercial Club increased its membership 255, from 74 to 329. During the same time the snug sum of $4371 was raised for commercial club work for the year. This added to the sum of $1681 raised this year previous to the campaign for new members makes a total of $6051 for the year. Alliance now has the distinction of having the largest commercial club in Nebraska in proportion to population. The town claims 5000 population. In 1910 it had 3105. The Alliance commercial club has a secretary on salary sufficient for him to devote all his time to commercial club affairs and interests. He is W. D. Fisher, formerly with the Norfolk commercial club."

Rural Life

One section of the address given by Dr. Albert Shaw at the state university commencement is of special interest to the rural communities of the state. After pointing out that Nebraska is essentially an agricultural state, having no very large cities, he continues:

I admonish you not to let this great agricultural state drift into the condition of more than half of the states of the union, where country life has relatively decayed, and where the brilliant allurements and the rich opportunities of town life absorb the human energy and the material resources that ought to make the farms ever more productive, and country life more wholesome, intelligent and desirable.

But the thing will not work out unaided. These marvelous transformations in the towns are the result of definite public policies. The future prosperity of your state as a whole also must be secured through a fore-seeing statesmanship. Send a commission of your best men to study the best that has been done here and there, in parts of this country and in parts of Europe, and then do not fear to act and to lead the way for all American states.

Much Wealth in Wayne County

Assessor Carter has practically finished his work of compiling the 1914 assessment, and sums up the wealth of the county as turned in by the different precinct assessors. Below we give some of the figures: Hoskins returned $23,000 notes and money; 20 automobiles worth $10,485; 526 horses, $43,015; 2,061 cattle, $58,665; 1612 hogs, $20,745.

Logan—Notes and money, $67,425; 10 automobiles, $5,695; 514 horses, $51,705; 1,838 cattle, $69,755; 2,007 hogs, $23,375.

The personal assessment is $117,230 less than 1913. This is said to be due to the loss of hogs during the year with disease which the assessors report killed over half of the hogs in the county.

Personal value of the county.....$ 4,481,090
Real estate value..... 22,019,166

Total value..... 26,400,256

The assessors found a total of 403 automobiles, valued at $159,480, averaging $395.73; 777 mules valued at $75,405 or $97.04 apiece; 34,910 cattle, valued at $913,970 or $36.73 apiece; 9,064 horses valued at $800,165 or $88.28 apiece.

Wayne county has no bonded indebtedness, and does not owe any corporation or individual a dollar. Something that the tax payers of the county may well be proud of, presenting a record which it is doubtful if any other county in the state can equal.

Geo. Guenther and wife from their farm near Winside were visitors at Wayne Saturday. He reports that crop prospects are good with him, although he had to repudiate some corn on account of the wash of some heavy rain in his home neighborhood.

Frank Nangle of Des Moines was with his mother and sister here over Sunday. He is getting in the limelight as a politician as well as in real estate, and is the progressive nominee for auditor of Polk county, in which Des Moines is located, and as there is a triangular fight on he feels that he has at least an equal chance with the other two candidates. His Wayne friends regardless of party would be glad to see him win.

Why Should We Carry Accident and Health Insurance?

Because no one is immune from accident or sickness. They are no respecters of person. Accidents of the most serious character oftentimes arise from the most trivial causes, causes that cannot be averted. They lurk in every foot-step. Our 20th century improvements have made accidents more numerous and naturally accident and health insurance is becoming popular and a necessity. Sometimes it is inevitable and the only time to provide against sickness is when we are in good health.

Niobrara Tribune: Any good republican ought to defeat Morehead, but Metcalfe will make a great race if he can win the first heat.

FLOGGED OUT OF THE ARMY.

Among the many pen-names of the past "The Whistler at the Plow" was the happiest. It was chosen by Alexander Somerville, long since dead, who wrote the sweetest prose ever penned about the fields and woods and hamlets and the beasts, birds, reptiles and people of Canada.

I glimpsed him once—a stupendous Scot, with long white hair hanging over his shoulders and an expression of supreme sadness on the noble face. But he had the clear blue eye of the Scot—an eye that had an amber glint in it when he was roused.

Alexander Somerville was a private in one of the crack cavalry regiments of Great Britain and Ireland—I think it was the famous Scots Greys, but I am not sure.

The Scots Greys were ordered to rough what their sabers in preparation to resist the mob. A sabre so treated breaks bones and tears and bruises the flesh, but it doesn't sink deep.

A corporal's guard seized Private Alexander Somerville. He was tried for insubordination by a court martial and was sentenced to be flogged and then dismissed from the army.

Enlist Aid From State Association Against Wrapping Rule.

HARMAN WILL NOT BE MOVED

Holds It Is Sanitary Precaution to Protect Output of Shops and Resists Attempt to Change His Ruling—Student Given Examination.

Lincoln, June 17.—Members of the Master Bakers' association of Omaha are sending out letters to bakers over the state in an effort to get support to fight the order of Food Commissioner Harman, requiring that all bread should be wrapped for delivery.

This action is taken because of the prosecution of B. F. Peterson of Omaha for failure to obey the order of the commissioner and a committee has been appointed by Omaha bakers, of which J. J. Markey is the chairman, and $50 subscribed to fight the case on an appeal.

In his letter to the bakers of the state Mr. Markey says, in part:

"The issue seems to resolve itself finally into a proposition of whether we can run our own business in the best way possible and suit ourselves or whether we have to submit to the fads and fancies of politicians, who know absolutely nothing about the conditions surrounding our trade, with the alternative of being put out of business."

Speaking of the matter Commissioner Harman said: "As long as I am food commissioner I propose to use every effort to have the food supply of the producers handled in a sanitary manner and no baker who has the best interests of his customers at heart will send out bread unwrapped to be handled by hands that are not always clean."

NEBRASKA WHEAT NOW SAFE

No More Rain Needed by This Crop in Nineteen Fourteen.

Omaha, June 16.—Heavy rains fell over the greater portion of Nebraska, the precipitation ranging from one quarter to one and one-half inches and it is said that the wheat crop in every part of the state is assured.

A continuance of the wet weather in the eastern portion of the state may cause some damage to wheat from rust and it is also possible that excessive rains would knock some of the wheat down and cause further damage.

According to the Burlington estimate, the Nebraska wheat crop will total between 70,000,000 and 90,000,000 bushels.

MAKES BACKACHE QUICKLY DISAPPEAR

A Few Doses Relieves All Such Miseries. Bladder Weakness, Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism Promptly Vanish

It is no longer necessary for any one to suffer with backache, kidney trouble, have disagreeable bladder and urinary disorders to contend with, or be tortured with rheumatism, stiff joints, and its heart-wrenching pains, for the new discovery, Croxone, quickly and surely relieves all such troubles.

Croxone is the most wonderful remedy yet devised for ridding the system of uric acid and driving out all the poisonous impurities which cause such troubles. It is entirely different from all other remedies. It is not like anything else ever used for the purpose. It acts on the principle of cleaning out the poisons and removing the cause.

It soaks right in through the walls, membranes and linings, like water in a sponge, neutralizes, dissolves, and makes the kidneys sit out and filter away, all the uric acid and poisons from the blood, and leaves the kidneys and urinary organs clean, strong, healthy and well.

It matters not how long you have suffered, how old you are, or what you have used, the very principle of Croxone is such, that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. There is nothing else on earth like it. It starts to work the minute you take it and relieves you the first time you use it.

If you suffer with pains in your back and sides, or have any signs of kidney, bladder troubles, or rheumatism, such as puffy swellings under the eyes or in the feet and ankles, if you are nervous, tired, and run down, or bothered with urinary disorders, Croxone will quickly relieve you of your misery. You can secure an original package of Croxone at trifling cost from any first-class druggist. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if it fails in a single case.

Among the Churches of Wayne

Baptist Church

Rev. B. P. Richardson, Pastor

Last Sunday was a day of unusual interest for many of our people. It was a day when the interest was centered in the children. A good number of boys and girls were present with their parents Sunday morning. They listened attentively to the story-sermon by the pastor. We believe they will remember the truth behind the story. We are going to have a brief story for them every Sunday morning. Let us try to get the children familiar with the regular worship of the church. Let us not miss our opportunity here, nor shun our responsibility. We appeal to parents to help us in this new endeavor on behalf of the children.

"The Boy Who Made Soap" will be the subject of a fine minute story-sermon Sunday morning. Bring the little folks with you.

"The Lord and His Servants" will be the subject of the sermon for the older folks.

"The Call of the Light", will be our subject Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. We are going to put forth some special effort to enlist the young people in this evening service.

Mrs. Linton will be the young people's leader Sunday. A splendid topic. Music lead by orchestra. It will do you good to come.

The young people had their annual election of officers last week. Bro. Rogers was chosen president. The young people decided not to abandon their meetings during the month of July and August as has been the custom, but to hold these meetings at the church following the union meeting on the lawn. We heartily approve of this. Let us make it worth while.

Next Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock there will be a union service at the court house lawn, in honor of the Old Settlers and Pioneers. Dr. Mallard of Norfolk will be the preacher. See program elsewhere.

Our Children's Day program went off splendidly. The committee worked hard, but we know they felt repaid. The boy's drill, the emblematic piece and the little folks and all the special songs were all highly appreciated. The offering was good, the house full, and the occasion one of interest and helpfulness. Hurrah for Children's Day.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church

(Rev. Blessing, Pastor.)

Sunday school every Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. The subject of the lesson will be "The Great Refusal", Mark 10:17-31. The officers of the Sunday school are planning to get new Sunday school hymnals.

Divine worship every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock and in the evening at 8 o'clock. The subject of the morning sermon will be "The Greatest Tragedy in Life", Gen. 19:26; Heb. 10:26-27. Scarcely had the curtain of time lifted, revealing the scenes of this old world, until man found himself involved in a tragedy, when he sold himself into the bondage of sin. This was the first tragedy of life, but by no means the last. The first generation had not passed away until the eyes of man looked upon a dark scene, when Cain killed his brother Abel; from that day to this, life has been full of tragedies. Writers have written of them. Shakespeare has recorded many. In his "Hamlet" he pictures the King of Denmark, as sleeping in his orchard, as his brother Claudius came silently into the garden and poured the juice of hebenon into his ears, bringing about his untimely death. Then in the last of this play he changes the scene to a hall in the Castle, where the murderer was pretending King, and there he paints a gruesome scene. But the tragedies of Shakespeare only deprive man of the full pleasures of this life, and bring on physical death while the greatest tragedy of the life, is the loss of the soul, which deprives man of the blessings of eternity.

In the evening the subject will be "Joseph, Jesus and I", Heb. 6:11, 12.

The ladies of the aid society met at the home of Mrs. Victor Carlson last Thursday. Though the weather was somewhat unpleasant a good many were present and spent an enjoyable afternoon.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. C. J. Johnson, Thursday, June 25th.

A cordial invitation is extended to all who wish to worship with us.

Methodist Church

Rev. C. L. Myers, Pastor

Children's Day will be observed on June 28 at the morning hour. Baptism will be administered at that time.

Owing to the failure of the pastor to announce the league meeting there was a light attendance. Devotional meeting every Sunday evening.

We are now past the middle of the year, therefore bible readers are more than half way through the New Testament. Some have finished.

A large number of people took communion Sunday morning.

Annual W. C. T. U. picnic June 19. Bring a well filled basket and have a good time.

Parents would do well to ask their children about their four o'clock meeting. If you get an invitation please don't turn it down.

The study of the Word continues each Wednesday evening and you are welcome.

The young ladies of the normal who attend the Methodist Sunday school will find their class indicated by the normal colors.

Presbyterian Church

Rev. Alexander Corkey, Pastor.

Rev. H. W. Seibert, Ph. D., pastor of the first German Presbyterian church of Newark, N. J., will preach next Sunday morning and evening at the Presbyterian church. Dr. Seibert will be with us four Sundays and as he is a preacher and editor or note it is expected his visit will be of exceptional interest to the church.

The morning service begins at 10:30 and the evening service at 8 o'clock. The Sunday school follows the morning service, beginning at 12, and the C. E. prayer service at 7.

The Wednesday evening prayer meeting will be held at 8 o'clock and conducted by Dr. Seibert.

German Lutheran Church

Rev. Moehring, Pastor

There will be services at 11 o'clock a. m., and Sunday school at 10 o'clock a. m.

Harvester Company Guilty

Washington, June 8.—Ouster of the International Harvester company of America—the "harvester trust"—from doing business in Missouri, was sustained today by the supreme court of the United States. It also affirmed the Missouri courts imposition of a fine of $25,000 against the "trust" for violating the Missouri anti-trust laws by crushing competition.

Both the anti-trust laws of Missouri and the right of the "Harvester Trust" to do business in Missouri were at stake in the decision today. It was the culmination of a long fight by Missouri to oust the "trust" from doing business there by revoking its charter. The Missouri supreme court found the "trust" guilty of violating the state anti-trust laws revoked its charter and, originally fined it $50,000. This fine was afterwards reduced to $25,000. The trust was given a chance to modify its sales methods, but appealed in stead to the high court, declining to compromise with state. The case decided today was originally begun against the Milwaukee Harvester company, the selling agent in Missouri of the International company. The Wisconsin corporation took out a Missouri license, which was cancelled by the Missouri courts. The "trust" contended that its selling plan was not a monopoly, but was planned to furnish implements to consumers at the lowest possible prices. The state admitted that price increases were not the principal cause of complaint, but found the corporation guilty of stifling competition and crushing competitors.

Dan V. is Optimistic

Hon. Dan V. Stephens leaves for Washington today, being called back by his secretary because of the probable taking of votes on anti-trust measures Monday, and for which the democratic "whip" is rounding up members. Mr. Stephens has been here about ten days, during which time he met a considerable number of democrats from over the district. It is likely the congressman will return to Fremont about July 15th, which will give him a month's time in which to get over the district before the August primaries. Mr. Stephens regards his position as a candidate for re-nomination as very flattering, and does not anticipate any difficulty in winning at the primary; nor is he disposed to believe the opposition will bring out a candidate who will cause him trouble in securing a majority at the November election. In fact, Congressman Stephens is so optimistic as to count at this time on the biggest democratic majority ever given a congressional candidate in the Third district. Mrs. Stephens did not accompany him home on this trip, but will return with him in July.—Fremont Herald.

"Grandma" Davies Celebrates at 90

Monday was the 90th birthday of Mrs. Ann Davies, and the event was observed by many of her friends calling at the home of Judge and Mrs. Welch (her daughter) where she lives in peace and comfort, to extend congratulations, bestow a greeting and leave some little token of the kindly feeling which all have for this delightful old lady. During the afternoon Mrs. Welch served ice cream and cake to those who called. A delegation of about twenty ladies from the Baptist church came in a body, bringing flowers and other tokens of love and esteem. They were all most gladly welcomed, and after a short social time departed to make room for the neighbors and friends who began to arrive early in the day and continued to drop in at intervals until evening. In the forenoon she went out and made a call or two in the neighborhood, remembering those who are sick—having a sympathy for them as they had had for her a few weeks before when she was fighting against a threatened attack of pneumonia.

Ann Davies was born June 15, 1824, at Ystradyfodwg, Glamorgan-shire, South Wales, and here she grew to womanhood, amid the scenes of this great mining town. March 1, 1845, she was united in marriage to Samuel J. Davies, the man of her choice bearing the same name she held before marriage. Nine children were born to this union, five sons and four daughters, five of whom are still living. Three, M. S. Davies, Sam Davies and Mrs. Welch live at Wayne and were with their mother on this birthday occasion.

In 1864 they came to America, just at the close of the civil war and settled at Carbondale, Pennsylvania, where they lived for six years, Mr. Davies working at the mines there. But the great prairies of the west invited them and they came to Iowa, and settled on a farm near LeMars. Here they lived until 1885, enduring many of the hardships that fell to the lot of the pioneers of those early days. In 1885 they came to Wayne where she has since made her home.

For the past 67 years she has been a member of a Baptist church, and few are the Sundays when she is not at the place of worship at that church in this city. She is blessed with children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren, and a few months ago a great-great grandchild was born to her, making four generations of descendants.

All join the Democrat in wishing Mrs. Davies many happy years of life before she is called to the reward which awaits her when she is done with earth and its scenes.

Free News Service

There are hundreds of agencies which will supply the news already for you to put into the forms and send it prepaid.

One day its the Panama-Pacific exposition, the next its some anti-revolution program about the state university and then its probably some land scheme and while it is some temptation yet it speaks well for the papers of the state that most of them prefer to do their own editing and refuse to sell their birthright for a mess a postage.—Creighton Liberal.

We can O. K. the above and add that we hope soon to see the day when the editors can edit and collect for the foreign advertising they carry, and not have to have that part of the business which should be a profitable end of the work turned over to a patent monopoly which derives its riches from the use of newspaper advertising space taken at low rates and placing the papers which use such sheets in a position of competing with themselves. We believe in competition, but that is carrying it too far. In these days of rural mail delivery and when nearly every farmer takes a daily there is little if any demand for the patent inside for the country newspaper, and it is strange that more of the editors cannot see that they are simply supplying stale news and antiquated miscellany at a big cost in thus competing with themselves. We venture the assertion that comparatively few readers care for the patent side of a newspaper if the home side is live and up-to-date.

It makes better grain to go through the sweat in the stack, it takes less help at threshing time and has many advantages. The straw is in better shape—the ground can be cleared earlier for fall plowing.

The pony contest is moving along nicely, and one beauty of it is the fact that no one can know where the votes are until the final count is made. A contestant may keep track of the votes which he himself places in the ballot box, but here comes a friend and chucks in a thousand or two and says nothing about it and the count is lost. The way to do is to keep soliciting votes and turning them into the boxes.

Rev. Gerriet Janssen, who has been doing evangelistic work in this corner of Nebraska, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Esther, who will assist her father in this work during vacation, were here Saturday evening on their way to Magnet, where they will conduct a series of meetings. Jense Christensen, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Christensen, of Carroll, while stretching a fence Monday morning the stretcher let loose of the wire in some way and struck the young man on the lower jaw breaking it in three places. Dr. A. Texley of Carroll was summoned at once and it was found that it would be necessary to take Mr. Christensen to a hospital at Sioux City for treatment and have the jaw set. Mr. Christensen's mother and Dr. Texley accompanied him to Sioux City.

One of the features of the old soldiers reunion here the week of July 4th will be a squad drill by a squad of the soldiers of 50 years ago, and that it may be given as it should be the commander of the post requests those who have the old army muskets belonging to the post to bring them to the hall at as early a date as possible.

Comrade Hyatt is to be drill master on that occasion, and if there are any who know the tactics of today they will observe quite a difference in the commands and the manner of handling the arms as well.

Several new cases have been filed for the district court, September term, during the past week. In one of them James Blair institutes foreclosure proceedings against C. N. and Jane Anderson on northeast quarter of section 18, 26, 1. J. T. Bressler has started action for a division of real estate against W. C. Wightman, et al, several pieces of land being involved. The saloon matter of Hoskins, in which demonstrators appeal from the decision of the village board in granting saloon license to Richard Winter has been filed.

Chris F. Kroth of Lewisville, Minnesota, where he recently went, writes that the Democrat is a welcome visitor every week, bringing lots of local news. He adds that they like their new home very much, and has splendid neighbors. C. M. Christensen of this place, he says, owns an adjoining farm. Rain has been plenty, and last week Wednesday they had enough to flood some low places for a short time. Small grain is doing well, and he thinks grows faster than in Nebraska, if possible. His Wayne county friends will be glad to know that he is well and contented and prospering.

A real live volcano has broken out in northern California, and it has already claimed one victim that is known of in the sparsely settled region of northeastern California. Mount Lassen appears on the maps as a peak at the foot of the Cascade range, and is about fifty miles from Red Bluff, and from this city the light of the fire may be seen at night. The first disturbance was noticed about May 30 and the vapor or smoke was thought to be a geyser action. These are the most serious eruptions noted from this mountain for 250 years. There were minor eruptions 70 years ago. It is in the midst of the largest tract of lava deposit known in the world, and the lava formation connects this mountain with Mt. Shasta.

It was a happy party of ladies that was rain stayed at the pleasant country home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. K. Neely Wednesday afternoon where the ladies of the Rural Home Society were gathered to entertain the ladies of the Minerva Club of this place. The house was decorated with roses, and in spite of the downpour of rain without all were merry within. The afternoon was passed in games, conversation and listening to the selections of choice music from the new player piano. Punch was served to all, first, last and all of the time, and at the proper hour the ladies served an elegant two-course luncheon. The problem of home coming was solved after the rain subsided and the waters receded by means of the old dependable lumber wagon, and the Wayne men who were waiting for the head of the house to appear on the scene and get supper were all served ere the evening was far gone.

THE MISSING BANK TELLER

Part a Dog Played in Clearing Up a Mystery.

The country homes of the Rudds and our family adjoined, and Walter Rudd and I grew up together, bosom friends. Walter was fond of animals, — I of books. Among his pets was a yellow collie, the most intelligent being of the brute creation I ever knew.

I remember especially an instance in evidence of this. One rainy day, needing exercise, I concluded to walk around the house. Dick, the dog, was with me and, seeing me getting on my hat and coat, inferred that I was going for a stroll and was rejoiced at the prospect of going with me. There were two gates to the place, and when I came to the path leading to the nearest Dick was there. I kept on. Dick looked up, surprised; but, inferring that I was intending to go off of the other gate, immediately went to it. When I passed the path leading to that gate, too, Dick's astonishment was beyond bounds. "What does the fellow mean?" he said plainly with his attitude and expression. Then, seeing that I was not leaving the grounds, he went away disappointed.

One morning I was awakened by a scratching mingled with a dog's moans at our front door. I went downstairs and found Dick. He ran down toward the gate, indicating that I was to follow him. I was not long in understanding him and after getting on some clothes went with him to a wood several miles away. He led me to a point near a brook, but when he got there looked about him surprised and disappointed, moaning piteously. Then, putting his nose to the ground, he followed a scent to the brook, where he lost it.

All this was unintelligible to me. After waiting developments and getting none I went home.

I found there a messenger from the Rudds to ask if Walter had spent the night with us, since he had not come home. At once I began to suspect that something was wrong with him, and the dog's action might be an explanation. Possibly there had been foul play at the spot where Dick had led me, and some person or persons to conceal their tracks from the dog had gone away, walking in the brook. I took Dick back to the spot and led him both up and down the stream in the hope that he would pick up the scent; but, notwithstanding a patient effort on the part of both of us, he failed.

The case of Walter Rudd was one of those mysterious disappearances that occur every day, the bulk of them never being explained. Dick, being deprived of his master, adopted me as such, I being that master's most intimate friend. I became very fond of him and never went anywhere I could take him without doing so. The first winter that I went to the city I left him behind, but the caretaker of the house wrote me that he was pining away, and I sent for him.

Walter Rudd had been teller in a bank. The cashier was Edward Griffin, a young man who a couple of years later became rich as a promoter. I knew Griffin, but had only a speaking acquaintance with him. One day while in the city, walking with Dick on the street I saw Griffin approaching. Suddenly Dick gave a growl, darted forward, jumped upon Griffin, and only great effort on my part kept the dog from taking the man by the throat. I caught Dick by the collar and dragged him away, striking him with my cane at the same time. Griffin seemed very much affected by the encounter, paling and trembling like a leaf, but I was not surprised at this, as it is no light matter to have a dog suddenly spring at one's throat. I did not have an opportunity to apologize to the man, for Dick was so eager to get at him again that I was obliged to drag him away by main force, and Griffin hurried on.

Had Griffin been some rough unknown man I might have suspected that the dog's action had something to do with the mystery attending Walter Rudd's disappearance. As it was, I put it down to one of those unaccountable dislikes a dog will take to some especial person. But some months after this, when Griffin's schemes turned out burst bubbles and he no better than a common swindler, the thought came upon me that while he and Walter were in the bank together the cashier might have had some reason for getting rid of the teller.

I asked the president of the bank for information bearing on the case and was confidentially informed that during the time referred to Griffin had been carrying a large defalcation, which was discovered only after it was made good.

After consultation with the Rudd family I was authorized to employ a detective to get evidence, with a view of conducting an investigation.

It turned out that Rudd knew of Griffin's defalcation and had told Griffin that his duty required him to inform the officers of the bank. Griffin made an appointment to meet Rudd in the wood to talk the matter over. Griffin murdered the only man who knew his secret and left the body where it lay. He came back and found the dog with it. But the dog went away, and Griffin carried the body far down the stream and buried it.

Dick is still my companion, though he is very old.

The Democrat has just received a letter from an advertiser which speaks well for the paper and also for the business men of Wayne. He says: "Copy of the paper containing my land advertisement at hand, and I want to say that you certainly put an ad up in good shape. You surely put out a good paper, and the thing that attracted my attention especially is the large amount of large ads. you carry, and this proves that you are doing good service to the patrons and is a recommendation for the merits of the paper."

MOCK BIRDS.

Slice the mutton evenly; trim each piece; make a highly seasoned bread crumb stuffing; put a spoonful of this on each slice and fold into oblong rolls, or "birds," fasten securely with little wooden skewers; put them all into a hot frying pan; add a little gravy; cover; simmer very slowly till they are steamed through, but do not let them boil. Have ready some squares of buttered toast; lay them on this on a hot dish; pour the gravy over and garnish with sprigs of parsley.

300 LICE Or More on One Hen

Is by no means uncommon. No one would expect to fatten a steer with that number of "ticks" sucking his blood, but many expect the old hen to go ahead shelling out eggs while lice and mites are sapping her very life. We have counted over 2000 dead lice under a square of ten hen's on a roost board painted the night before with Lee's Lice Killer. This great killer does double duty—contact kills mites, lice, bedbugs, etc. about the rooster, the vapor kills lice on the chickens sitting over it. Put up only in airtight cans. The town of Hoskins has more troubles per square inch than any town in northeast Nebraska. The local editor was sued on a breach of promise, the ex-marshal was thumped on the nose and went to court, a man was recently on the carpet charged with carrying concealed weapons, and the saloon contest goes merrily on and a number have withdrawn their names from the petition, and a remonstrance has been filed containing 84 names, and it is thought that Hoskins will join the dry ranks.—Coleridge Blade.

Over at Norfolk they placed one of the pioneers of the place under arrest for spitting on the sidewalk, contrary to the city ordinance. He feels that he is being persecuted by the police. Mark W. Murray of the Pender Times has the distinction of being the only newspaper man in this congressional district who has been given an endorsement by the home people for the position of postmaster. Some editors did not enter the race, others did not win. Murray had 136 votes out of 343 cast, the majority being divided among four other candidates. In telling of the election the Times says that although it was a closed primary, there were from 50 to 60 who were counted as republicans who voted, many of them swearing their votes in. That being true it certainly shows good democratic gain from republican ranks—but there was about an equal number of supposed democrats who did not register and vote.

The Pierce County Leader has the following to say of the sickness of I. Fry of that place, who is father of Mrs. Frank Powers of this place, and who went to his bedside Friday:

One of the old-timers of Pierce, I. Fry, is lying dangerously ill at his home in the north part of town. Last Saturday Mr. Fry was taken sick. Yesterday afternoon he suffered a stroke of apoplexy, and last night he was very sick and it was thought that he would not survive until morning. However, he rallied, and it is reported that he is feeling much better this morning. Mr. Fry is one of the oldest of Pierce residents, and his many friends will be grieved to learn that he is ill, and hope for his early recovery.

Open Letter No. 11.

To the Landless Men of Nebraska: The tax reform is being discussed in many states, including Nebraska. This subject should interest you as the landlord passes the taxes on the renter in the form of rent. Large landed estates in Nebraska are not as degrading as in Mexico, but there is a growing belief that our boast of a superior civilization demands a dissolution of large land holdings, either through confiscation or a system of taxation that will render such estates so unprofitable that the present industrious renter would soon become a proprietor of the soil.

The first step to this desirable condition is the adoption of the constitutional amendment at the polls next November. If the several state conventions adopt it as a party measure, it will be placed in the party column and an X in the circle will vote for the amendment. As the legislature submitting this amendment was democratic we presume that the democratic state convention will adopt it. But as every public service corporation and all persons owning large estates will bitterly oppose, it will be well to see that the right kind of delegates are sent to the state convention.

If the republican state convention fails to adopt it—the renter, unless he has less sense than the Mexican peon will know what to do to one of their candidates on election day.

The rebel Villa advocates confiscating large estates as a basis for lasting peace and prosperity in Mexico. The rebel Carranza, as governor of the state of Sonora, established a graduated land tax, increasing the assessment on large estates 500 percent. The result is the peons are buying small farms from the overlords on long time and very low rate of interest, and the small home is exempt from taxes except for educational purposes.

Forty years ago wealthy brewers from other states were permitted to buy Nebraska land by townships at $1.25 per acre and the army contractor who had made a fortune through furnishing shoddy clothing and shoes and wormy hardware to the nation's defenders were permitted to help themselves at the same price. You were then in your mother's arms, or perhaps existed only in contemplation by fond parents. In other words you arrived on a slow train. No fault of yours, and should your tardy arrival prove a perpetual bar to your inalienable right to cultivate a small spot of mother earth without paying some sooner his price for the privilege? The time is not far distant when a deed to more land than the owner can use will not be the best title.

I was deeply impressed in my boyhood over the decision of a New Hampshire federal judge. An escaped slave with his hands and feet manacled was brought from jail by a U. S. marshal into court. The owner with his bill of sale describing his property and showing a purchase price of $1,000 demanded possession of the black man. The judge, returning the bill of sale to the slave holder said, "you get that countersigned by God Almighty and you can have your nigger," thereby confiscating $1,000 worth by a stroke of the pen. Poor Pierpont

John Pierpont Morgan jr., is due to leave northwestern Nebraska very shortly or he will stop at once his sales of stock in what he says are some of the "choicest Morgan holdings." If he does neither of these things then he will be brought to account by the state railway commission under the jurisdiction conveyed by the blue sky law.

Recent complaints have come in with regard to John jr.'s operations. It is said that the sales are based on fiction—that his name is of fictional derivation—and that in short, the entire affair is scaly from a business standpoint. The "holdings" which John jr., touchingly refers to are supposed to include coal and timber land and other valuable property when the real John P. obtained some of his wealth.

The first report regarding John came in from a banker. Chief Engineer Forbes of the commission valuers who has temporary charge of the blue sky department, says that if such business would be instantly reported to him from over the state, it would be easy to save "suckers" money. His motto is: "If no man would be a sucker let him spend a moment's time and 2 cents and let the railway commission know what kind of securities are being peddled over the state."—World Herald.

MONEY AND A MAID

And a Financial Deal That Had a Curious Climax.

AN EXPERIMENT IN SAVING.

It Looked as Though the Plan Proposed by Papa Was Doomed to Failure, but the Little Lassie Had a Big Surprise For Her Fond Parent.

It is not necessary to mention her name, but it is of interest to note that she is the daughter of one of "the first families of Virginia," and one characteristic of these same first families is apt to be an utter carelessness of that which pays for your daily bread and mine and which keeps us all out of the poorhouse—money.

She was just rising eleven, this little maid, two years ago when her father first noted her lack of interest in things financial. Starting as a barefoot boy because of the prodigality of his progenitors, he had drifted north, worked for a scant living at whatever he could get to do, developed an ability, studied, worked and climbed until at last he found himself a success and was able to spend about $10,000 a year for the maintenance of himself and the wife and child he had accumulated. Then said the wise papa to himself, remembering his days of poverty and stress, "I must teach her to save."

He tried several plans, all of which failed to have any good effect. Just a year ago he hit upon a scheme which seemed to have merit.

"Here, Boots," he said, "I want to make a proposition to you. This is what I propose: I will give you a brand new dollar bill every Saturday night, and I will write the date upon each one. At the end of the year I want you to show me how many of those actual dollar bills you have, and for every one you can show me I will give you two. Do you think you can make money that way?"

The child thought she could and repeated the conditions as well as her mind grasped them, but her father thought she did not get them accurately.

"Wait," he said; "I'll write it out so that there cannot be any error." So he wrote: "I will give you a new one dollar bill every Saturday night. I will write the date on each one as I give it to you. For every such bill that you can show me at the end of the year I will give you two others." Then he signed it.

There was a dearth of childish funds for awhile in that household and not a few efforts on the part of the daughter to extort money from her mother, who was wise and refused accommodation. But some way, it did not then transpire how the little girl dug herself out of penury and into comparative affluence and that without meaning to exercise guile. She succeeded to have money in her purse and was quite able to hold up her end at the soda fountain or wherever else her little friends gathered, and her parents, who said nothing at all about it to her, wondered and speculated, finally agreeing that Boots was spending at least a large part of her allowance.

The dollar bill came every week, duly inscribed with the date of the gift, and was accepted by the little maiden with appropriate thanks. Then came the Christmas holidays, and the parents wondered if she would save her money or remember them. She remembered them, but not with much expenditure. Then came the last of the fiscal year, and the father inscribed another note and turned it over to her.

"Now, Boots," he said, "I have given you fifty two of these, and I promised you two for every one you could show me at the end of the year. How many have you?"

"I'll get them for you," said the innocent child and ran away. The old folks had a laugh between themselves while she was gone, thinking that she would exhibit two or three bills and truly believing that the experiment had failed. Then in came the daughter. She hid a sheaf of bills down before her father.

He counted them—fifty-two! All unused and bearing his indorsement of the date of gift. Among them was the agreement written by her father.

"Now, how much do you owe me?" she asked.

"I reckon I owe you $104," he said, "but I cannot see how you managed to save every one of these bills and yet had all the money you have spent."

"Well, pop," she answered, "it's this way. I told Joe one time that I couldn't spend any money, although I had it, and he asked me why. I told him and showed him what you had written. Then he made me what you call a proposition.

"He has an allowance of $2 a week. He said he would give me 70 cents a week if I would keep all the bills and give them to him at the end of the year after showing them to you. It's a perfectly fair agreement. I have had my 70 cents a week, I show the bills, you give me $104 and I turn over to him the $2. He makes $15.00, and I make $104. And I don't have to be poor or broke."

Now, what would you do with a child like that? Detroit Free Press.

Let those who would affect singularity with success first determine to be very virtuous, and they will be sure to be very singular. — Walter Colton.

BROOD SOW CARE AT FARROWING TIME

Corn, the great fattening feed, which has made possible the great development of the pork industry, is so handy that we feed entirely too much of it to the breeding animal. Corn is too deficient in protein to make a good feed for the brood sow. The sow developing a litter must have an abundant supply of protein in the feed, says the Kansas Farmer.

The brood sow should never be kept in the same pens with fattening hogs. It is not necessary nor desirable that the sow should be kept in a poor or unacclimated condition. The supplying of feeds containing larger amounts of protein, such as oats, bran, oilmeal and last, but not least, all the alfalfa hay she will consume, will keep the sow in a strong, thrifty condition. Where an abundance of alfalfa hay is kept constantly before breeding sows there is probably little necessity for the use of the grains or concentrates suggested. Our most successful hog men have long made a practice of keeping alfalfa hay constantly before the brood sows. This practice invariably results in strong, lusty pigs.

As farrowing time approaches the sow should be placed in the pen by herself three or four days before the pigs are due to arrive. The bed or nest should consist of a small amount of straw or chaff, and if the litter is coming early in the season the house should be good and warm. No changes should be made in the feed immediately preceding farrowing. The mistake most commonly made is to feed the sow too heavily immediately after the pigs are farrowed. The danger to avoid is too heavy feeding at this time. The first twenty-four hours the sow should receive no grain whatever, but should be supplied with all the warm water she can drink. The feeding for the first three or four days should be very light, gradually working up to heavier feeds as the pigs get older and make heavier demands on the sow for milk.

As producers of bacon of first quality the Yorkshire hog is hard to beat. The packers prefer it to any other breed for bacon purposes, and the demand always exceeds the supply. Yorkshires are white in color, naturally gentle and of quiet disposition, though excellent foragers. Their ears stand erect. Their bodies are long and deep, indicating maximum bacon possibilities as well as capacity for carrying, easily farrowing and properly nourishing the large litters of pigs for which they are noted. The illustration shows a Yorkshire sow of excellent form.

It is a detriment to feed the sow too heavily at first. Heavy feeding tends to stimulate too large a secretion of milk, which invariably produces indigestion and kindred troubles in the pigs and at times may even produce a feverish condition in the sow. After the first week or ten days the brood sow with a good sized litter will require about all the feed she will consume.

KEEP THE SKIMMILK.

No Economy In Shipping Light Instead of Heavy Cream.

The man who ships cream often asks whether he shall make it thick or thin, says the Farm Journal. All the logic is in favor of a cream that is at least 40 per cent fat. The milk mixed with butter fat is what makes it sour and spoil. Other things being right, a heavy cream will keep better and longer than a thin one. Cream of 40 per cent or higher not only stands transportation better, but is cheaper to ship. A gallon of 20 per cent cream contains one and two-thirds pounds of fat; the same quantity of 40 per cent holds three and one-third pounds, and the expense of shipping the light cream is just as great as for the heavy.

Twenty per cent cream contains 80 per cent of skimmilk, which the dairyman not only throws away, but pays expressage on besides. In other words, a pound of skimmilk shipped costs as much as a pound of fat and brings nothing, besides being given away, where if it were fed to calves a certain profit would result. The rule should be to keep at home every pint of skimmilk possible. The creamery doesn't pay for it, but the pigs do.

Frequency of Farrowing.

Experience shows that a sow that grows eight pigs to maturity twice a year is more profitable than one that produces more pigs and fails to develop them. Usually the sow has sufficient milk for eight, and when they are allowed to suckle six to eight weeks the pigs are in prime condition to wean without having any setback. The sow can generally be bred successfully on the third day after weaning, and it is no trouble to have her produce two good litters a year if you give her proper attention.

Profitable Cows.

The half ton of butter per year cow is now represented in nearly all the breeds, but such performances are by no means common yet. The 500 pound of butter cow is still a good proposition.

Something About Government Ownership

No. 7

America has private ownership and operation of telephones; one province in Canada has tried government ownership.

Here is the record: January, 1908 — Gov-ernment purchased Bell Telephone property in Manitoba.

March, 1908 — Rates for certain classes of service increased 25 per cent.

March, 1910 — Chair-man of telephone commis-sion declared rural rates were too low and would be raised.

March, 1911 — Time lim- it on long distance calls reduced from three to two minutes.

Nov., 1911 — Chairman of Telephone Commission reported $150,000 loss for year, with no provision for depreciation.

June, 1912 — Public distrust in government management forced Telephone Commission to resign.

July, 1912 — An increase of 20 per cent in rates put in effect.
