STATE TENNIS MEET A SUCCESS

Attendance of Members Large and Visitors Numerous. Banquet Held at Vibber's Cafe Wednesday Evening

The third annual tennis tournament of the Nebraska state association now being held at this city, will pass into history as the best of the three thus far held, showing rapid growth in public favor of this popular pastime—and it will no doubt compare favorably with many of those in coming years, judging by the sentiment expressed by the guests of the local association from over the state.

The attendance of members is large, and visitors numerous. The matches are but nicely started, the singles having only reached the 3d sets, the rain of Tuesday evening rendering the courts unfit for playing most of the day. Doubles were drawn Wednesday, and the play begins this morning.

Wednesday evening the local association gave a banquet at the Vibber Cafe, nearly one hundred plates being laid, and the great social feature of the meeting was marked success. As the last course of the feast was disposed of, L. A. Kiplinger, in the absence of N. A. Huse of the Norfolk News, who was official toast master, gracefully performed the task of introducing himself to give the address of welcome as marked down on the program, and also cheerfully assumed the responsible position of toastmaster. We are glad to say that Kip met the situation fully and fairly, and with credit to himself and pleasure for the members. He is a man for any occasion whether it be in contest with ball or racket for the pleasure of the spectators who enjoy seeing a good game or at a talking match. He shines best in the latter place, for he has had more training for that line. His welcome was cordial and hearty, and the response from John Madden was eloquent and told of the appreciation of the visitors for the royal treatment they are receiving at this place, and the Wayne hospitality was the theme of part of the talk of each visitor who spoke, no matter what his subject.

One of the interesting talks of the evening was made by Harry Koch of Omaha who was last year champion of the state and Omaha. He had been in the east participating in different matches, and had witnessed the noted payers in the game—some of the big champions—and his description of their strong points was of much interest to all. One man was strong and active on his feet, and made that his winning work. With another it was the hard drive and yet another appeared to play with his head.

The members present decided to continue the association as a closed meet, barring the experts from outside states, but gave the directors authority to admit outside competition from territory that could not participate in the meet of their own state with convenience, like the Tripp and Gregory county territory northwest of Wayne, which was represented here this year.

At the business meeting following the banquet last evening the invitation of the Lincoln Country Club was accepted for the next meeting, and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Sam'l Collwell, Omaha, president. E. O. Stiehm, Lincoln, secretary. Harry Koch, Omaha, Treasurer. Frank S. Morgan, vice president. Directors: C. M. Mathewson, A. C. Patterson, John Madden, E. P. Rankin, R. E. Weaverling, E. O. Stiehm, F. S. Morgan, L. H. Pasewalk, L. H. McKillip.

This morning among the local players who are still in the singles we noted Gamble, Gildersleeve and Morgan. They all have had matches on for today, and none of them were sure of a place this afternoon.

The camping party consisting of Rev. B. P. Richardson and family, the Misses Pearle, Ruby and Ina Hughes and Shirley Sprague, who had been camping near Pilger, returned home the first of the week. Saturday Earl Rime, Chas. Foster, Curtis Foster, Irvin Saja, G. A. Wade, Nita Foster and Iva Sala joined the party, all returning home Monday morning and report a most enjoyable time.

Chiropractors Win Yankton Suit

Owing to the fact that a similar suit is pending here the following news item in the Sunday Sioux City Journal will be no unusual interest to our readers. This was considered a test case for South Dakota, and not knowing whether their law and the law in this state are similar it may not furnish much of a guide for a case in this state, but it shows that there was no doubt in the minds of the jury. The dispatch follows:

Yankton, S. D., Aug. 1.—Special: After being out only fifteen minutes the jury in the case of Brownell and Brownell, chiropractors of this city, charged with practicing medicine, without a license, brought in a verdict of not guilty. The trial of the defendants has caused much interest as a test case on the part of members of the chiropractic profession. Among the prominent chiropractors here to attend the trial was B. J. Palmer of the Davenport School of Chiropractic.

Wayne County Hogs Win Prizes

The report from the North Dakota state fair, where Roy Fisher sent an exhibit of a car of his choice Hampshire hogs show that he was in the winning to a great extent. Col. F. Jarvis and Mr. Fisher's brother were in charge of the stock, and state that they had plenty of competition. But in spite of that the Fisher herd came out with 27 prizes, of which eight were firsts. Below is a list of the awards of the judges:

Aged boar, 1st and 2nd; boar 1 year and under 18 months, 1st; boar 6 months and under 1 year, 1st, 3rd and 4th; boar under 6 months, 1st and 4th; sow 2 years old and over, 1st, 2nd and 4th; sow 18 months and under 2 years, 2nd, 3rd and 4th; sow 1 year and under 18 months, 2nd and 4th; sow 6 months and under 1 year, 1st and 2nd; sow under 6 months, 1st and 2nd; champion boar, any age, 1st; champion sow, any age, 1st; aged herd, 1st and 4th; young herd, 2nd and 3rd.

Good Crop Reports

Threshers have been busy in the neighborhood northeast of Wayne, and we get the following reports:

Ray Robinson sowed a Norway imported oat, and threshed close to 60 bushels per acre therefrom. His wheat was reported as yielding 19 bushels per acre.

Geo. Timson had oats return 35 bushel per acre and wheat 14.

Henry Linke reports his oats at 40 bushels and wheat at 20. His oats were grown from oats he raised last year from seed imported from Canada. His sack of seed the year before including duty and transportation cost him $7 for the sack. His ground was too rich for this crop this season, and they grew so rank that they went down in places before fully filling. Otherwise he thinks his crop would have been equal to the best yield reported above. The Democrat is always glad to secure farm news.

Adds Billion to Our Currency

Washington, Aug. 4.—More than $1,000,000,000 in currency is to be added to the circulating medium in the United States by the action of congress yesterday to meet the situation resulting from the European crisis. This new money, backed by the prime assets of the banks, may be issued under a modification of the bank law passed in both houses and senate then compromised in conference and approved by the administration of final action in both houses. All national banks and all state banks and trust companies, members of the new federal reserve system, and those which have agreed to join, may issue notes under the Aldrich-Freeland section of the bank law up to 125 per cent of their combined capital and surplus.

Lightning Kills Steers

The shower of Tuesday evening, while doing lots of good to all and the Ted Perry ranch as well, laid a special tribute on Mr. Perry, lightning killing three fat white face steers that were ready for market, and valued at about $350. Mr. Perry says that this is his first lightning loss in 20 years, and that he had no insurance—in fact thinks he is ahead by carrying his own insurance considering that to protect himself he would have to carry on from 200 to 300 head of cattle.

THE EUROPEAN WAR CRAZE

All Europe in Arms. Germany and Austria-Hungary Pitted Against Russia, France, England, Belgium and Servia

War clouds hang thick and dark over all Europe. Ten days ago Austria-Hungary issued an ultimatum to Servia. The demands were such that the little power could not comply as appeared evident was the purpose of the demand. Back of Servia stood Russia, and Germany was back of the demand and of Austria. France, allied to Russia as a member of the Triple Entente and with a jealous hatred of Germany and a desire to even up the score of 1870 was evidently glad of opportunity to back Russia, and it appeared to require little provocation to induce these two nations to war with each other. This made France think it necessary to invade Belgium, a province between France and Germany. Their relation with England caused that empire to back the little power in its demand for Germany to keep off their territory, and this resulted in England declaring war on Germany after a brief notice to that government to stay at home. Thus is the greater part of Europe fighting and preparing to fight either for self preservation or for more power, more territory or better and more advantageous coast possessions.

Italy, united by the Triple Alliance with Germany and Austria claims an excuse to withdraw expected support from the other two powers, and declare neutrality. Norway and Sweden have declared their intentions of being neutral. So has the United States. Japan, an aid of Great Britain's has given notice that they will aid that country in event of any demonstration against England's interest in India. So it is hard to tell what will be the result, when or where the end.

The latest report by wire says that a great naval battle is being fought in the North sea between British and German fleets.

State of war exists between England and Germany was the announcement following the British ultimatum protesting against the violation by Germany of Belgium's neutrality, which expired at midnight without answer.

Germans invaded Belgium, near Verviers, and began shelling Liege and Namur.

Belgium has fully manned her fortifications and the entire nation has responded to repel the advance of the German.

The French fleet, off the Algerian coast, sank the German cruiser Panther and captured the German cruisers Goeben and Breslau. The German Baltic fleet is massed in the North sea, and a Russian fleet is gathering to force a passage through the straits.

Austria, with Servia pressing on to her territory, has recalled a large part of her army to check the Russian advance.

German troops have penetrated French territory near Mars-La-Tour, scene of a bloody battle in 1870. General Joffre, French commander-in-chief, at once left for the front.

Austrian troops are reported to have been defeated, with heavy loss, by the Servians.

German army aviators dropped bombs last night on the French fortress of Luneville, causing a little damage and no loss of life.

Japan officially declares she may join the war if England be involved in the Far East.

King George proclaimed he mobilization of the British army, and the reading of the proclamation was cheered by huge crowds in London.

The United States embassy in Paris is to look after German interests in France and after French interests in Austria.

The North German Lloyd steamship Kronprinzess in Cecile returned to American waters at Bar Harbor, Me., allaying anxiety as to the fate of the large amount of gold on board.

President Wilson issued a proclamation of neutrality, instructing Americans to maintain an impartial attitude regarding the "state of war which unhappily exists" in Europe.

Senate committee unanimously approved the emergency merchant marine bill, and its immediate passage is considered certain.

Normal Closes Successful Year

The school year that closed at the normal on July 31st was the most successful in the history of the institution. The most pleasing feature of last year's attendance in comparison with that of previous years is found in the larger number who enrolled for advanced work. The number who completed the advanced course, receiving a diploma which leads to a professional life certificate, is just double the class of 1912. The junior class was the large class this year, showing an increasingly large number of high school students who come to the normal after completing a four-year high school course in their home district.

The year just ended is the first year in which the financial affairs of the school were met from revenue derived from the fractional mill levy under the provision of the legislative act of 1913. This has also proved highly satisfactory to the four normal schools of the state. Under this provision the Wayne institution was allowed for the biennium $110,000 for maintenance, and $85,000 for permanent improvements. At the close of the first year of the biennial period the Wayne Normal expended for maintenance $79,947.23, or $52.77 less than one-half of the amount granted by the board of education for the biennium. The institution at Wayne has never called upon the legislature for the payment of a deficiency claim, and the condition of the funds at the present time shows that unless something unforeseen occurs, the school will be able to meet all its claims for maintenance to March 1, 1915. Repair work on the grounds and buildings will receive attention during vacation and everything will be in readiness when the new school year opens September 14, 1914.

Candidate Kemp Here

Senator Kemp of Fullerton, who aspires to the republican nomination as governor visited Wayne Wednesday morning. He was to have been here Tuesday evening, but the automobile is not yet in failable, and he was stopped by rain. He spent the forenoon here and gave a talk on the street at 1 o'clock to a number of voters who gathered to listen. He appears to want to fight a state campaign on national issues, and talked tariff part of the time, but did not answer the question asked by one of the listeners as to whether or not if he had the power, he would do to the present price of farm products, including stock and grain. The senator is a pleasing speaker, and while talking economy in state affairs admitted that he had voted for the amendment which doubled his salary as a state senator—the increase of salary, however as but right, we believe, but we do not think the one who voted for it should say too much about increased expenses brought by a condition which made the increase of pay necessary.

Old Settlers Meeting

Today the old settlers and pioneers of the county are gathering at the court house lawn for their annual reunion. The attendance is not as large as some other years, as the big crowd was invited here for the 4th this year, and but little effort has been made to have this gathering more than what the name implies this year, a picnic of the old settlers. We cannot give particulars this week, as the hour of going to press and the time of the meeting are together.

Mrs. Alex Jeffrey Awarded Piano

The piano voting contest which Grocer Rundell has been running for the past several months closed last Saturday, and when the count was made it was found that Mrs. Alex Jeffrey had the most votes, being so far in the lead that no question was possible as to where it belonged. She is grateful to the friends who supported her so loyally, and desires to express her gratitude to them in this manner.

Council Proceedings

At the meeting of the city council last evening the necessary resolutions were passed to enable the council to proceed with the work contemplated when the bond issue of $7,000 was voted: The extension of water mains, the installation of a new pump and the addition to the top of the standpipe fifteen feet to give greater capacity and pressure.

The new sewer was accepted, and said to be well done. Warrants for the same might be issued except that the sum of $200 was advised to be withheld until the filling of the ditch was completed, and walks and crossing disturbed were replaced, a work that could not be completed until after inspection and acceptance.

Bids for the water extension bonds were read and are under consideration. The bids indicate that the bonds are considered good.

A petition was read signed by C. H. Bright and others asking that water meters be installed, which was referred to the water committee with instructions that they endeavor to secure meters that will not fail to measure the water from our wells, which contains enough of solids to make trouble with some meters, and report.

Warrants were ordered drawn on the judgment fund in favor of Maggie Warner for damages of $604.85, and to the clerk of the district court of $85.80. The following claims were allowed on the different funds:

General Fund:
Wayne Herald, printing, $16.75.
F. H. Jones, supplies, $2.70.
J. G. Mines, supplies, $3.50.
W. H. Hoguewood, dray, $1.00.

C. E. Conger, dray, $1.50.

A. G. Adams, supplies, 75c.
E. S. Blair, fumigating, $5.00.
Electric Light Fund:
T. W. Moran, demurrage, $9.00.
Victor Oil Co, oil, $21.80.

Mrs. Wilson Fatally Ill

The news this morning is that the wife of President Wilson is so seriously ill that her life is scarcely hoped for, and it is very probable that within a few days the end may come. She is conscious only at intervals, and vitality has been snapped by nervous ailment thought to have been aggravated last spring when she injured her spine by slipping on a rug. The sympathy of the people—all of the people—will be with their great chief if he is called to suffer the loss of his life companion. A nation will mourn with him.

How about your subscription. The Democrat for job printing.

Why Not Organize at Wayne?

You are invited to give a dollar—no, fifty cents, it is, but you can come in with a cart-wheel or even a five-spot if you wish. But fifty cents makes you a member of the playgrounds association of Hartington. The association was formed at the recent chautauqua and its object is organized play among the children. Now, Lord knows we have thousands of acres of land within walking distance whereupon the children may freely play. But really, there is a good deal to his organized play idea. In the first place it teaches manliness and womanliness as well as developing muscles, lungs and endurance. The football game, you know, teaches organization one for all, all for one. Mighty important principle. It makes the difference between a good citizen and a mean selfish cur dog that can't work with the rest of the fellow. Under a good instructor it teaches self-control, courtesy, kindness, also it teaches the youth to "make good." George L. Parker is president of the organization; Mrs. Stephen Griffith vice president and Mrs. W. H. Pohle secretary and treasurer. Any one of them will take your money and will see that it is applied to the purpose for which it is being solicited, that of furnishing the campus with facilities for gymnastic exercises. All children are included in the invitation to use these facilities. Protestant and Catholic, republican and democratic, rich and poor. It's a good thing; help it along.—Cedar County News.

Jones Bros. and Wilson's Shows

Wayne, August 11

The intense passion for original production and indefinite detail, at any cost of time, talent or money, are common place acknowledgments among all well informed amusement goers. Mr. J. Augustus Jones, Mr. E. H. Jones and Mr. H. G. Wilson, in offering to the public Jones Bros. and Wilson's Wild Animal Circus, will outstrip all other competitors in novelty in production and elaborate presentation thereby setting a pace all other amusement enterprises will find extremely difficult in equaling.

They have stopped at nothing which would add, be it ever so imperceptibly, to the verisimilitude of scenery, settings or the realistic effects of human activity in the vast Arena, or to the significant elaborateness of the consistently comprehensive equipment for a notable production of many new and novel ideas never before presented to the amusement going public.

Messrs. Jones Bros. and Wilson have labored for years to perfect the animal performances, they are presenting all over the world, placing the different acts with other circus proprietors in all parts of the globe, to give the public an insight into the hugeness of this undertaking. Let it be known that it has taken them more than two years to assemble their different acts to be ready for this years inauguration of an entirely new amusement enterprise.

This brilliant and remarkable succession of innumerable and hitherto unknown wonders, is found in two distinct departments, one representing domestic trained animals, consisting of high school saddle horses, trick horses, trained ponies, goats, dogs, monkeys, etc. The other trained wild animals of every description, consisting of lions, leopards, tigers, elephants, bears, wolves, hyenas, zebras, etc., comprising what is beyond question the most valuable collection of wild beasts in existence.

The most valuable wild animal in the world is embraced in this collection. A midget Hyppopotamus, the first one ever brought to this country. It was only a few years ago that these diminutive specimens of the Hyppopotamus family were discovered in the interior of Africa, and they created a sensation in scientific circles. There has been quite a rivalry among circus proprietors to secure one of these much prized specimens; but as they are found in the interior of an almost inaccessible country, but few have ever found their way to civilization. Jones Bros. and Wilson's shows are indeed fortunate in securing one of these much sought after attractions.

Tuesday Henry Klopping and wife, accompanied by their three sons, Fred, Albert and Glenn started for a visit at the home of their son at Twin Falls, Idaho. They plan to spend two days going at Denver, where Mrs. Klopping's sister lives—then get into Salt Lake City in time to attend church at the Temple and hear the great organ, one of the most noted in the world. They will then go on to visit at the home of their son.

The big corn mills at Beatrice were destroyed by fire last week, the loss being $100,000. Lightning did the work.

WILL STOP ALL ASSESSMENTS

Board of Control Intends to Push Matter to Utmost and End the Practice of Calling For Financial Aid From State Workers.

Lincoln, Aug. 5.—The order of the board of control soon to be made that no employee of a state institution should contribute to any campaign fund of any person running for office or to any campaign committee is carrying out simply what the law passed by the last legislature was intended to cover, the assessment of state employees for campaign purposes.

In previous years it has been the custom for the party which elected the governor to call for an assessment of about 2 per cent of the salary paid state employees to help out the campaign of the governor. The Hastings institution was the best picking of any institution in the state and usually about as much was received from that institution as from all the rest put together, in some instances reaching in the neighborhood of $800. In all probability the average amount received by the assessment from all the institutions would run around $1,200.

Now the employees may save their money and, according to the opinion of the board, cannot donate a dollar to any person even on their own free will. Recently it was understood that an employee at the penitentiary donated $2 to help out some friend who has a campaign before him and needed a little help. The board decides that the employee has violated the law and may dismiss him if it is discovered who the guilty man is.

The "Hold Your Money" order which the board is to issue soon will cover all the law in the matter.

Tax Board Postpones Meeting.

The state board of equalization again postponed its meeting because of the absence of the chairman of the board, Governor Morehead. Representatives of some of the railroads were on hand to take up the matter of assessments of railroad property, but the board did not desire to take up matters of importance without the full board being present. The board will attempt to convene again tomorrow.

More Money in Treasury.

According to the monthly report of State Treasurer George, there is $90,908.37 more in the state treasury at the present time than there was a month ago. The report shows that on June 30 there was $697,026.04 in the coffers of the state, while the present report, ending July 31, shows a balance of $787,934.41. The receipts for July amounted to $966,830.89, and the disbursements $875,922.52.

Application Denied.

The state railway commission has denied the application of the Nebraska Ice Cream Manufacturers' association for a reduced rate on ice cream containers for the return trip. The commission decides that the rates to ice cream shippers are reasonable and that the present rate of 10 cents for return of five-gallon and less cans and 15 cents for cans of larger amount is right.

Operation Upon Martin.

After an illness of over a week it was decided that it would be necessary to operate on Attorney General Grant Martin and the operation was performed successfully, several gall stones being removed and his appendix also being taken away. Though the operation was quite serious, he is getting along as well as could be expected.

Indians Will Camp at State Fair.

Uncle Sam has given his consent for an Indian village at the Nebraska state fair. Word has been received by Secretary Mellor to this effect. C. L. Eason of Chadron writes that the federal authorities will permit the braves to make the jaunt and they will, pitch their tepees at the fair grounds a couple of days before the fair.

Quit Foreign Business.

Omaha, Aug. 4.—Agents of the express companies here have received notice from their head offices in New York to discontinue quoting rates and drawing exchange on European countries, because of the war. Remittances by cable, express or mail have all been made inadvisable, because they are liable to be held up by the warring governments and converted to the use of the latter for the time being.

Thrasher Engine Explodes.

Beatrice, Neb., Aug. 4.—A threshing engine exploded at the farm of H. O. Williams, near Wynore, probably fatally scalding Leroy McKeever and one of the water haulers named Lytle. The fire was blown from the front of the engine, setting fire to the separator, which was consumed, together with 1,000 bushels of wheat. The loss is placed at $4,000, with $2,000 insurance.

Rosalie Jones Visits Nebraska.

Omaha, Aug. 3.—"General" Rosalie Jones, who led the suffrage hikers from New York to Washington last winter, arrived in Omaha, the guest of Mrs. Draper Smith, state president, and went to Lincoln today, where she made speeches.

VALUE OF STATE'S LANDS

Five Nebraska Counties Have Over Million Acres to Tax.

Lincoln, Aug. 3.—There are five counties in the state of Nebraska which, according to the reports sent in by the assessors of the different counties of the state, have taxable lands in excess of 1,000,000 acres. Cherry county has the largest number, the assessor's returns showing 2,247,810 acres. However, while having the largest acreage, it has almost the smallest value per acre of any county in the state.

Sarpy county has the smallest amount of assessable land of any county in the state, the amount being 141,579 acres, but it is assessed at $79.68 per acre.

Douglas county land is assessed the highest of any county in the state, its 177,975 acres being assessed on an average of $90.11 per acre.

Thomas county land is assessed the lowest of any county, the 188,195 acres having an assessed value on an average of $2.84 per acre.

York county land stands next to Douglas county as being the highest assessed valuation in the state, the 362,085 acres having a value of $81.53 per acre. Lancaster county lands are assessed at $73.05 per acre and there are 520,224 acres.

FATALLY STABS SWITCHMAN

P. W. Allison Dead and O. L. Henderson Badly Wounded at Omaha.

Omaha, Aug. 3.—P. W. Allison, a Burlington switchman, is dead, his throat cut, and O. L. Henderson, also a Burlington switchman, is in St. Catherine hospital, suffering from knife or razor wounds.

The police are seeking a negro, aged about thirty years, and described as "typical vagabond negro," dressed in blue overalls and white cotton shirt.

Allison and Henderson had just finished their work and were on their way home, when the encounter took place at Eighth and Farnam streets. No cause is known for the attack.

Allison died on the way to St. Joseph's hospital before he had made a statement, and Henderson lapsed into unconsciousness while detectives were getting the story of the murder from him.

MARRIED BY WOMAN JUDGE

Miss Myra Leeper Performs Wedding Ceremony at Aurora.

Aurora, Neb., Aug. 3.—Marriage by a woman county judge was the novel experience of James W. Grace and Mrs. Blanche Smith of Grand Island. Miss Myra Leeper officiated with dignity and grace during the absence of Judge Jeffers from the county. Miss Leeper is duly qualified to act as county judge during the absence of the regularly elected official. She has frequently issued licenses, but this is her first marriage ceremony. So far as known it is, with one exception, the only marriage ever performed by a woman magistrate in Hamilton county, and one of very few in the entire country. While acting county judge during Judge Washburn's term in July, 1910, Miss Claire Savage (now Mrs. Carl Spence) married Henry Bachman and Miss Myrtle Gellatly.

BACHMAN TO BECOME CITIZENS

Rush For First Papers Is On at Omaha Court House.

Omaha, Aug. 4.—A rush for first naturalization papers on the part of subjects of European countries involved in the threatened world war is in progress at the court house. Thirty-six men, natives of eleven European countries, renounced allegiance to their respective monarchs and declared their intention to become citizens of the United States. Eighteen of these are natives of Austria-Hungary, the nation which started the great conflict by declaring war upon Serbia. One is from Luxemburg, the little principality whose neutrality Germany is said already to have violated.

BANKERS WIN TAX CASE.

Schuyler, Neb., Aug. 3.—The suit of the Clarkson State bank and banking house of F. Poldia of Schuyler against Colfax county for the refund of taxes paid under protest, the ground of protest being that the taxes were unjust inasmuch as the county assessor failed to deduct the real estate mortgages from the capital and surplus of the bank, was decided by Judge Hobart in the district court against Colfax county.

PAROLED CONVICT RUNS AWAY.

King, Neb., Aug. 3.—Benjamin H. King, a paroled convict from the Nebraska penitentiary and aged about twenty-one years, made his getaway from the Johnson county poor farm and there is no clue as to his whereabouts. King was serving from one to ten years for burglary, and had put in ten months' time. He had been paroled to H. A. Lawrence, manager of the farm.

NEW HOSPITAL FOR YORK.

York, Neb., Aug. 3.—The Lutheran hospital is now an assured thing for York. The Lutherans of Polk, Hamilton, Seward, Clay, Butler, Fillmore and York counties and their friends throughout the state have pledged $45,000 and the city of York $15,000.

IRRIGATION EXPERT TO WEST NEBRASKA.

Washington, Aug. 4.—Secretary Land instructed by the Supervisory O'Donnell, who has charge of irrigation work east of Denver, to go immediately to Lincoln and Dawson counties of Nebraska and report conditions as he finds these drought stricken localities.

ANTIS HELP SUFFRAGE CAUSE

Manifesto Issued by Representatives of Special Interests Advocating Limited Suffrage For Men Acts as Boomerang and Makes Suffrage Converts.

Omaha, Aug. 4.—More people have joined the equal suffrage ranks in Omaha since the recent publication of an anti-suffrage "manifesto" than in any other similar period in the history of the movement in Nebraska.

The "manifesto" said, among other things, that the right to vote should be curtailed rather than extended, meaning that the privilege of voting should be taken from many who now have it. The document was signed by twenty-nine men representing the big special interests, public service corporations, banks, and railroads.

"These twenty-nine men are opposed to a republic; they are not democratic; they favor a monarchy," said Mrs. M. B. Munson, suffragist of Pittsburg, Kan., addressing the Central Labor union in Omaha.

John L. Kennedy, former congressman, said: "They issued what they call a 'manifesto' and said that women are emotional; I thank God they admit someone has human feelings."

"Let those twenty-nine men run the government and they would take the vote from those of us who have it," said C. L. Shamp of Omaha, international labor leader.

"If that's the kind of men who oppose equal suffrage, I am for it," Mr. Shamp said.

WOMEN GIVE JEWELS FOR SUFFRAGE.

Omaha women are giving valuable jewels and heirlooms to raise money for the suffrage cause. A "melting pot" has been placed at suffrage headquarters where these articles are placed. Mrs. James Duffy gave a costly teapot that was brought from England in 1600 by the Duffy family. Mrs. D. G. Craighead gave a silver brooch, a souvenir of Queen Victoria's jubilee. Mrs. A. C. Anderson gave the gold beauty pins that were a gift to her baby girl, the first "suffrage baby" in Omaha. Scores of other women are giving their valuable to the "melting pot." These articles will all be sold and the money used in the suffrage campaign.

NOTED MEN SPEAK FOR SUFFRAGE.

Omar Garwood, secretary of the Men's League for Woman Suffrage; Senator Miles Poindexter of Washington and George A. Nealey, congressman from Kansas, are three noted speakers who have spoken or will speak in Nebraska for suffrage. Mr. Garwood is booked to speak at North Platte, Kearney, Lincoln, Hastings, and Grand Island. Senator Poindexter spoke at Fairbury and Beatrice. Congressman Nealey's engagements will be announced later.

"General" Rosalie Jones, wealthy New York beauty, who led the suffrage hikers from New York to Washington last winter, was in the state Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, this week. She arrived in Omaha Sunday night, the guest of Mrs. Draper Smith, state president, and went to Lincoln Monday, where she made speeches. Tuesday, in Omaha, she made two street speeches at crowded corners, and at the Empress theater. She works for suffrage because she believes in it. Ida M. Kraft, her partner in the hiking trip, was with Miss Jones.

WOMEN PAY 20 PER CENT OF TAXES.

In Lancaster county women pay 20 per cent of the taxes. The property they own is estimated to be worth $16,000,000, on which they pay more than $300,000 in taxes yearly. More than 3,000 women pay taxes in Lincoln, and 1,500 in the county outside. Nearly 2,500 women pay personal taxes. Hundreds of men in Lancaster county pay no taxes whatever, yet they all vote, while the taxpaying women cannot.

Although adoption of a suffrage plank was not brought up in the republican state convention at Lincoln, the sentiment of two-thirds of the delegates was for suffrage. Only the feeling that initiative measures should not be indorsed kept suffrage out of the platform, according to progressive Republicans, among whom suffrage sentiment was just as strong as in 1912, when the progressive Republicans indorsed "votes for women."

Repeated denials are being issued by the anti-suffragists to the effect that the liquor interests have not contributed money to the fight against woman suffrage. None of the Nebraska suffragists has made such a charge and the denial is generally attributed to a desire to try and convince Nebraska people that the anti and the liquor interests are not working toward the same end—the defeat of woman suffrage.

By unanimous vote the Progressive and Populist state conventions indorsed woman suffrage. This means that the entire strength of both parties will be used to further the passage of the suffrage amendment this fall. All the Progressive leaders, including Theodore Roosevelt, who expects to campaign in Nebraska this fall, will urge support of the suffrage amendment.

Proposal to give women the right to vote at municipal elections in the new charter being drawn for Hastings was beaten by two or three votes in the charter convention.

Miss Lydia Johnson, the most noted woman lawyer of South Dakota, will give an entire week soon to a suffrage campaign in this state.

Listen to Me!

I WANT to tell you why the representative men of this community are Chautauqua Boosters.

It takes the united effort of all the men of a community to put on a big Chautauqua like this.

And, whatever the merits of the Chautauqua itself may be, important among these is its getting everybody to working together in a spirited, enthusiastic way.

We want to make a success of this Chautauqua.

For two prime reasons:

One is it is worth it. The programs are worth any man's money.

The other is, it would be a sad reflection on us in general if we should fail to put this thing over in a big way.

Other towns are watching to see what we do. If we are known to be alert and capable of doing big things always, more favorable attention will be turned toward us.

If we fall down on a thing of such general interest and splendid worth, it will hurt and hurt much.

So, everybody, let's get behind this Chautauqua and push it for all we're worth.

We need to keep up the habit of boosting worth-while things and we need these things for the value that is in them.

You can well afford to be a Chautauqua Booster, for the community's sake, and your own.

THE CHAUTAUQUA COMMITTEEMAN.

John O'Groat's House.
John O'Groat was the reputed builder of the John O'Groat house, the ruins of which are still pointed out at Duncan's Bay Head, on the northernmost point of the mainland of Scotland. Tradition is not entirely agreed as to the personality of John O'Groat. One legend states that he was a poor man who used to ferry passengers over to the island of Storma for a groat. But the most popular story makes him the descendant of a Hollander, De Groot, who in the reign of James IV, settled in the vicinity, and it goes on to tell how John and his seven cousins would yearly meet to celebrate the memory of their ancestor and have a yearly quarrel over the question of precedence until finally John invented a method of settling the difficulty. He built an eight sided house of one room, with eight windows and eight doors, and an octagonal table in the center of the room, so that all might enter simultaneously, each to his own door, and there might be no head of the table.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one effective cure, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous membrane of the Eustachian tube. This tube is inflamed, you have a running or aching ear, or a feeling of fullness, or a ringing sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is not cured, it becomes permanent. It is not cured unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition. Hearing will be destroyed forever. The cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give you $1000 Dollars for any case of deafness cured by catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. J. C. HARTLEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists. S. E. Auker and wife went to Sioux City last week with their son Ervin, who has been in poor health for a time. Wayne and Wayne business men are becoming more progressive each season. Last week Beaman's Ideal grocery installed an automobile delivery, which will enable them to give more prompt service, and extend the delivery service over a greater scope of territory. This week the Grand Leader finished fitting up a neat delivery car, and thus they plan to make themselves known in all parts of the city. There is nothing too rapid for Wayne.

S. E. Auker, who was at Sioux City last week with his son, reports that he met Thos. Steele at the St. Joseph hospital in that city where he had been taken two weeks before for an operation for appendicitis. Mr. Steele is well-known to many here, and all of his acquaintances will be glad to hear he is getting on in fine shape, and promises to be out in a week or two, making it lively for his republican competitor, for Mr. Steele is the democratic nominee for congress from the Big 11th Iowa district. This district is considered hopelessly republican, but Thos. says that he has enough republican votes pledged to carry the district if they will let him out to round them up on election day. If his Nebraska friends could help him they would gladly do so.

Some Things I Saw at Lincoln

I went to Lincoln last week as a delegate to the state convention, not so much as a politician but I wanted to learn something as to how such things are carried on.

Thirty-three years ago I was a delegate to the Cedar county convention and after riding something like twenty-five miles across the prairie to St. Helena—that being the county seat at that time—I learned shortly after the convention was called to order that at some previous time and place, there had been a slate prepared and it went through in one, two and three order, and at Lincoln things were very much the same way. I must say that it was not very interesting to me so I visited other things of more importance. First, I went to the University and got in touch with some of the men there that are very strong in favor of retaining the University where it is. After looking over the grounds and buildings carefully, I must say that the removal is a much bigger question than I had ever thought. I think that the Lincoln retainers have injured their cause by clamoring for things they do not need, and that they have let the impression get out that the University buildings are a lot of old, delapidated and unsafe buildings for the purpose of getting larger and more expensive ones, and for the expending of more state money among themselves. I told them they would have to do a Mark Hanna stunt and run a lot of excursion trains from out in the state and show the farmer how they had misrepresented things. It is sure a fine looking place and one must look into the future to see sufficient reason for the removal. I visited the state farm, went through the farm buildings and took a good look at most of the stock. I saw things that any good farmer might justly criticize, but as a whole things looked very good.

I next visited the penitentiary, and there I met with a big surprise: never having seen the inside of a penitentiary was not prepared for what I was to see. Never having seen any convicts, except in stripes and under heavy armed guard, I was astonished to see the men all in citizen's clothes, not one thing to distinguish them from the guards or visitors. I only saw one guard with a gun and he was on the wall. Warden Fenton has installed the reform system and every man is put on his honor, no striped clothes, cropped hair or anything of that kind. I witnessed forty or fifty of them let out of the pen, and go out some one-eighth of a mile to the base ball grounds, and play ball with not so much as good wire fence around them. They have a white nine and a colored nine. Teams from Lincoln come out and play against them. The men cheer and cheer their team the same as any other ball game anywhere else, a convict passing around through the crowd, selling pop, peanuts, chewing gum and cigars and not a guard or a gun that any one could see. There were guards there but no gun in sight, if they carried any, but being all dressed as citizens you could not tell them. After the game everybody walked leisurely back to the pen and when the door was opened the men walked in and were checked by the deputy warden and guards, and I must say that it was a relief to me when the warden called the last name, and the man stepped up, and in a clear voice said "here". I viewed the several factories there, saw them at their work, everybody seemed contented, things were clean and in good order, and Warden Fenton surely has the confidence of the men. In passing through the warden seems to know their names, for it is "Hello Bill," "Hello John"—and so on, and the men greet him with a smile and "Mr. Warden". I viewed the new dining hall and hospital that is nearing completion, and must say that when finished cannot be surpassed in Omaha and Lincoln for light and ventilation, and they surely needed it, for the old dining hall is not fit for a hog house. The hospital rooms are large and well lighted and ventilated and a large sun porch for the consumptives. No more dungeon or watercure, these unhuman ways of punishment is a thing of the past. Warden Fenton is very enthusiastic over the reform methods he is putting in, although being criticised by men who ought to co-operate with him, he is making a success of it to the great credit of himself and the state of Nebraska. I did not see the ladies department, but from the genial and kind appearance of Miss Murphy, matron of the women's ward, things are sure to be in good shape. There are only four women now in the ward. As this reform method is yet new and in its infancy, so to speak, some may criticize it, but from what I saw and learned by my visit there I must say that it looks good to me, and wish to thank Warden Fenton and his esteemed family for the kindness shown myself and Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Morrison, of University Place who accompanied me. R. R. SMITH.

Candidate Howell Here

Tuesday evening R. B. Howell of Omaha, candidate for republican nomination for governor was at Wayne and spoke to an interested group of voters on the street corner. He told what he had been largely instrumental in accomplishing at Omaha, giving the citizens of that place relief from the water company monopoly. Some make the claim that the company was paid too much for their plant, but he that as it may, the city now owns it and the people are getting better service at less cost, and the revenue is being applied to the purchase of and retirement of the bonds. If nominated and elected governor he promises to undertake the work of preserving the water power of the state and putting it to work for the people, and not for the corporations. His claim is that he is always and ever against monopoly. He wants the stock yards at South Omaha better controlled. He would insist that Omaha is properly subject to state control. His talk was well received by those who listened, and judging from it he might properly be classed a progressive republican. He is something of a politician as well for two years ago he wrested the place as Nebraska member of the National republican committee from Victor Rosewater, and Vic, sorry to say, has never forgiven him, and is giving him much free advertising. In fact the Rosewater opposition is quite apt to give him the nomination. In private conversation he told of some of the things peculiar to Omaha ward politics that would make interesting reading if his words had been taken down.

Mrs. Wm. Mears spent Tuesday at the home of her son in Sioux City.

D. S. McVicker returned Tuesday evening from a visit in South Dakota.

A half inch rain gladdened the earth again Tuesday night. It was very welcome to all.

Mrs. T. B. Hughes and Mrs. E. Q. Sala went to Craig Tuesday morning to visit relatives for a few days.

Mrs. Eli Laughlin and her sister and daughter went to Crystal Lake Wednesday for an outing. Mr. Laughlin will join them before they return home.

Mesdames Fred and Herman Eichenkamp went to Sioux City Wednesday to visit their niece, Mrs. W. C. Eichenkamp at a hospital there. They report the lady recovering nicely.

James Hancock of Carroll went to Omaha Tuesday to accompany his mother home from that place, where she recently underwent what appears to be a successful operation for some growth of the breast. She is said to be on the rapid road to recovery.

Mrs. Leo Menuey and daughter came from Stuart Tuesday to join Mr. Menuey here for a few days, and see how they like Wayne with a view of moving here if they continue to own the meat market. Of course they could not be otherwise than pleased with the place.

Noah Williamson has purchased from C. E. Sprague his interest in the Wayne Monument Works, and is planning to continue the business alone. Mr. Sprague is undecided as to how he will busy himself next, but assures the Democrat that he is not planning to leave this good town of Wayne, and thinks he will find an opening of his liking soon.

In denying a general increase in freight rates in all the territory east of the Mississippi river, the interstate commerce commission gives the railroads a pretty broad hint that returns must be based in the future on the real value of the properties. Before coming before the national commission to ask the power of taxing the public with higher rates the companies must be certain that the need of more money is not caused by excessive capitalization or some other internal unsoundness. This will help on the general corporation house cleaning that is now in progress. By allowing an advance in rates between Buffalo and the Mississippi river and north of the Ohio, where the schedules are lowest in the United States, the commission gives notice that when the railroads come before the government with clean hands they will be granted reasonable relief. The decision is on the whole helpful to the railroad, even if the amount of relief granted is small. It points the way to the establishment of sound and wholesome conditions throughout the entire railroad organization.—State Journal.

Cleaned From Democrat's Exchanges

Next week is chautauqua at Lyons.

Carroll has decided to indulge in the luxury of a base ball team for the month of August, and have a committee named to attend to the details.

According to the News, Norfolk has an old farmer near that place who knows when he gets hungry without looking at a watch. He can make it in time for dinner by the sun any old day.

A forty-five acre field of oats belonging to George McTaggart, southeast of Emerson was threshed out by William Zatrov last Thursday and averaged seventy bushels to the acre, say the Enterprise.

Lee Metcalfe who is out doing political work in the interest of his father's candidacy for the nomination for governor, visited here last week a moment while the train stopped. He was sizing up the sentiment in this corner of the state.

Farmers of Scott county, Iowa are making big money growing onions. There are 360 acres in onions, averaging 600 bushels per acre, and the price is $1.87. That means more than $1000 per acre for the crop. We call that strong farming.

Bert Shellington returned the middle of the week from New York, where he went with a car of chickens for the Wakefield Poultry Co. He spent a few days at home the of Geo. McKiltrick at Clay on his way home. They are well pleased with their new location.—Wakefield Republican.

Edgar Howard, who is a married man and loves his wife, is opposing women suffrage, not on economic grounds, for that is not sound argument, but on the ground that it is not for the good of the dear women, his wife included, of course. Perhaps he has the right grounds for his opposition.

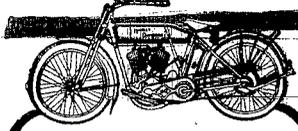

Talk about the slogan of early Christmas shopping—it is not in it. A Lyons merchant is putting on a mid-summer sale of woolen blankets, and is putting up a good talk as to why it is wise to buy them now. If his sale is a success it will be due to the advertising rather than a demand for blankets for immediate use.

James Pearson, who hails from Moorefield in the western part of the state puts up a claim for his nomination for Lt. Governor on the ground that he is a democrat and that the western part of the state should be represented on the democratic ticket, and we believe that he is right in both cases. Mr. Pearson made a good record in the last legislature and comes with clean hands asking your support.

Under a recent decision of the supreme court the Christian Science healer cannot collect for their work, the court taking the ground that it was a sort of religious matter. As salvation is said to be free it is perhaps unlawful to charge for any benefit that might be called religious. Now according to that rule and the shekles raked in by Billy Sunday there is mighty little religion in his performance.

Sister Weekes of the Norfolk Press reads the riot act to the men who would like to be democratic bosses in Madison county, and informs them that the Press is edited at home according to the light of the editress—and that she has no political boss. It was a blow straight from the shoulder, and makes plain that the Press, while democratic is not so party bound as to believe that the party bosses can do no wrong.

Farmers about Wynot are or have been complaining that prices paid for hogs at that place are lower than in other towns. To refute the charge that the dealers are not paying all that conditions will justify, the Tribune went to the dealers of the place and got their figures on hogs for the month of July and showed that the dealers had received but scant margin for handling the hogs for the farmers. That is just like a newspaper to butt in and fight for their home community whether any one appreciates it or not.

W. M. BROSCHEIT, Local Agent

The meridian road boosters have been making a trip across the state from south to north, along the line of the proposed great north and south road across the United States for automobiles. One of the best things about the proposed road is the good road education that goes with it. Automobiles come high, but they are creating a sentiment in favor of good roads which is worth all that they cost.

Some weeks ago the Democrat consigned to the waste basket the advertisement of John Keefe, Oregon City, because the proposition looked like fraud on the face of it; but we notice that it has been running in a lot of our exchanges. We do not know whether or not they got their pay, but now comes an Iowa exchange with a letter from an acquaintance which says that there is no such land in Oregon as he tells of that is open to settlement, and that the particular tract he has is about 1600 above sea level with no soil, and covered with scrub fir. We do not know how many suckers he has found outside of the newspaper profession, but a great many of them have been running the adv.

There is to be a national power farming demonstration at Fremont the 17th to the 23d of this month. If this is to be a commercial enterprise pure and simple it will be none the less a valuable gathering for the farmers. One who does not keep in close touch with the question of power farming and road building will be surprised at the extent to which power of tractor and stationary engines can be applied to help with farm work. This is an exhibit where those who attend will be the judges and the prize offered is simply the business that will come from making known the merits and use of the machines. It is an advertising enterprise, and advertising pays—pays the man who advertises and the man who heeds a good advertisement is also well paid, for he acquires knowledge of what is best for him.

Suffrage Department

(Under the auspices of the Suffrage League of Wayne.)

The Nebraska state suffrage board has drawn up the following creed and every member of the board has signed it:

The movement for equal suffrage in Nebraska is absolutely non-partisan and non-sectarian. It is asking the supports and votes of men of every political faith and every religious belief. It is based solely on the deep underlying principle of equal rights for all and special privilege to none.

Its cornerstone is justice, which makes for righteousness.

It advocates no new doctrine.

Its leaders believe in the sanctity of the home and the sacredness of marriage.

The family is the true center about which all governmental machinery should revolve, and women are asking for the ballot to help them protect and safe guard the family, signed state suffrage board, Mrs. Draper Smith, Mrs. Z. T. Lindsay, Mrs. H. H. Wheeler, Mrs. W. E. Hardy, Mrs. W. E. Barkley, Mrs. A. E. Sheldon, Mrs. A. M. Dorris, Miss Daisy Doane, Mrs. Viola Harrison.

On Election Day

The man who is not as religious at the ballot box as he is at the sacramental board is an arrant hypocrite, no matter what church he belongs to. The idea of being sanctified at church and at the same time a yoke fellow with the devil on election day! You had better play the devil 364 days in the year and then join the army of Christ on election day. Ah, my bretheran, this relation of man to man is a sacred matter. The question asked by Cain, the murdered, "Am I my brother's keeper?" must be answered and answered right, the world over. Please put your hands in your pockets and feel what is the matter. It is an empty pocket—that is all.—Yeoman Shield.

The Getting of Wisdom

"Whither away?" asked the Cynic.

"I journey for knowledge," quoth I.

"Come, then, with me and I will make thee learn and laugh together."

The Cynic took me to the village of Irony where men labored in the choking smoke a day for a pittance; then he carried me to the city of Mockery where women sell their bodies for bread; and last of all he showed me the town of Inconsistency where there was a mill and a sun in the valley and a hospital and a library on the hillside, and a saloon and an alms house.

Said the Cynic, "Hast learned?"
"Aye, that have I, but I have not laughed."—Yeoman Shield.

Railroad Men's Side of Trouble

A committee consisting of a local members of the railroad engineers and firemen, who are now in controversy with railroad managers over working conditions and salary demands, today made public their side of the case. Summed up, the engineers and firemen, of whom there are about 600 locally affected, believe that the railroads could meet their demands if it were not that they are burdened down with the necessity of paying dividends on "waterlogged stock and wildcat promotion schemes."

The men also insist that they are receiving less in proportion to the increased amount of work demanded than they were in the old days when labor saving machinery had not come into vogue. They say the increased length of the trains and the size of the locomotives has made their work onerous without a corresponding increase in salary.

They point to the reports of the Interstate Commerce commission, made after that body's investigation of the eastern railroad situation to back up their claims. They do not want to strike unless all other methods fail.

Mackey and Buck were the members of the committee who gave the following explanation of their positions, this morning to the Tribune:

"All we ask is that the public should know exactly where the men and what they are asking" they said. "We feel sure that the railroads would be able to meet our requests if they were not trying to make their stock earn twice as much as the physical valuation of the properties warrants. Take for example the condition of the Chicago & Alton railroad. They paid about $23,000,000 for that property and when they reorganized it purchased 57 miles of track for about $1,000,000. A fair valuation of that road now would be about $52,000,000 and yet it is capitalized at $114,600,000. This is one of the reasons they cannot, or say they cannot, meet us in our demands, they must pay dividends on that water.

"Another reason why the railroads are 'poor' is because they have paid out about $25,000,000 in stock bonuses. Since they have done this they have to pay dividends to the stockholders on this amount, outside of the real valuation of the property.

The Santa Fe, for example, paid dividends on watered stock that was almost double that paid in wages to the engineers and firemen. We know that the stock holders have paid their good money for this water and we do not want them to lose, but what we do insist is that the government should curb the railroads so that in the future there can be no capitalization over the actual physical valuation.

"The people who are paying increased freight rates are not helping pay the men's wages. They are paying dividends on watered stock. We have the same conditions in the western railroads, in a measure, that were disclosed in the New Haven scandal. We hope that the managers will meet us more than half way, but fear they will not do so.

"We also fear the results of arbitrating the difference, because we do not believe that the awards of the arbitration board can be enforced, even if they are in favor of the men. We fear the railroads will not abide by the results of the arbitration if the result should be against them.

"It costs the railroad less per mile to haul than it did 10 years ago and yet they are not willing to raise our wages. They have longer trains and bigger engines and yet our working hours and responsibilities are in many cases longer and harder. They are handling 64 per cent more traffic for each mile than formerly and yet the commerce commission report shows that the cost for engineers and firemen has decreased under the same ratio. We have facts and figures to back up our claim and we want the public to consider both ideas of the question before they make their judgement."

The engineers and firemen have issued printed statement embodying all of their arguments. This is entitled "The Strike Question." It was prepared by their leaders, whose judgment in the questions involved will determine all of the issues.—Sioux City Tribune.

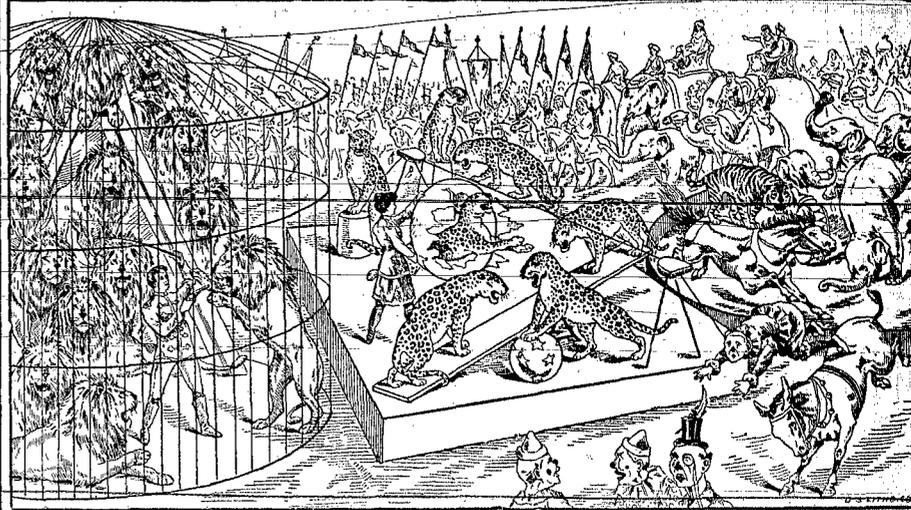

John Shannon and his cousin, Mary Shannon returned last week from a trip to Denver, where they went by automobile. Mr. Shannon says that they have the best of crop prospects all of the way. The irrigation districts have plenty of water, and the dry farming section have had plenty of moisture to insure a good crop. He said that until our rains last week Wayne and Madison counties appeared as dry as any of the places he visited.

If there be a panic it will not be for want of plenty of activity in business circles.

Teddy is trying to cross the moose with the republicans in New York and with the democrats in Pennsylvania. The two breeds won't mix very well in national politics two years hence.

Uncle Joe Cannon is going to try to be elected to Congress once more on the calamity howl platform. Never make it, Joe, when times are so good. It is said that he is the only man in Danville who is out of a job.

It costs the producer and consumer of farm products more than half of all that is produced to convey the product from the one who grows it to the one who consumes it, which is too much for the middlemen. There should be some method devised to give the producer more and let the consumer have it for less and force the speculator to work for a living. They are exacting too great a part for their share.

It will not do to let the foreign wars take the attention of the voters from some matters at home, for as sure as we do the interests stand ready to put one over on the common people. We have the best representative for the people at the White House now that they have had in a generation, and the people should not neglect home duties to gaze at the war scene in other lands, horribly fascinating though it may be.

In Mexico they are having a bit of trouble. The Carbajal rulers placed in command by Huerta, are wanting some one else to hold the lines and drive a little while so that they may escape alive, and when Carranza is about to assume command with the approval of this government when Villa begins to think that he should have something to say, and the government at Washington backs off and says that if there is to be a rumpus about this it will be best to wait until there is an election and the people of Mexico have a say in the matter.

The good offices of the President has been the means of averting a great railroad strike involving 55,000 engineers and firemen on about 98 western railroads. No big strike, bluff or bluster were used—just an earnest appeal to the sober good business sense of those directly interested in behalf of those indirectly interested—the common people of all this west land. It was a service the importance of which cannot be estimated, but so quietly was it done that thousands will never know what a calamity was averted. Hail to the chief who does things—and does 'em right.

The way the common people of the old world are said to be rushing eagerly into war at the instigation of the crowned heads and those who control the big interests, remind the writer of the truthful saying of a friend who passed to his reward a few years ago. Speaking of economic conditions he remarked that they were as good as could be expected, for "the average poor man is a b—k fool, and the average rich man is a b—k, b—k knave" was the terse way he had of telling much in few words. The knaves play the fools against each other while they pick the riches.

One of our business men one day last week suggested that the papers of Wayne should devote more space to boosting for Wayne. It is such a good idea that we really like it, and will join with this business man and all others in boosting the best town in this corner of the state. We tell of the merits of Wayne and Wayne county no less than 52 times a year, and are glad to do it because we believe we can truthfully do so. And every time we tell something good of Wayne we tell it to four or five thousand people. Now we want the business man to do as well. If not, will he help us tell the good things of this city by having us tell the good things he would like to have known about his business? We have the machine all oiled to send a good word about your business to many people. Why not send them word that you want to see them? Do it now.

What has become of the argument in favor of preserving peace by being prepared for war. If ever a theory was shot to pieces that has been in the past week. It has been a race over the pond to see who would be the best prepared first, and when the one first ready said go, the bunch of rival powers were off like a bunch of race horses.

One thing is sure, times, prices, opportunity to work and get good wages for it will compare favorably today with any time that we know of under republican rule. Hogs, cattle, poultry, eggs, grain and other farm products are commanding good prices. If the republicans hope to win by calling attention to prices from farm produce they will fail, for they cannot show a better average.

According to the morning papers a great battle has been fought in Belgium and thousands of the Germans slain and wounded. The place where the battle was fought is not given, and as news is hard to be obtained all reports that are not definite must be taken with due allowance. It is reported that Germany has sent an ultimatum to Italy, in an endeavor, no doubt to learn whether or not that country will keep its obligations as a member of the Triple alliance.

Villa is declaring his independence of Carranza and is organizing an army in northern Mexico, under supervision of Gen. Felipe Angeles, Carranza's deposed secretary of war. Villa is supposed to be at the head of a move for the immediate distribution of lands. They should not make the distribution until there is some certainty that they will be able to give a title that is recognized as good.

The Modern Fates
In three palaces sat three monarchs, each close to the telegraph. These three kings, just like men, like the rest of us, owing their place to the merest accident of birth, were interchanging messages in the endeavor to decide whether millions of human beings, as fond of life as themselves, should be sent as pawns in the world's great war, to suffer, to bleed, to die.
As the key of the telegraph clicked, fate hung heavy on each sound. The world waited. The world listened, with bated breath. But only the emperor of Germany, the emperor of Austria and the emperor of Russia knew what the wires were saying.
The millions whose very lifeblood was in the balance were not represented, were not consulted. Most of them were wholly unaware of what was going on. In a million homes they were singing, playing, sleeping, with never a thought that a few hours might see them hurled into frightful battle, to do a despot's will.
How grim the satire in 20th century democracy.
How awful the responsibility with which those three kings dealt.
The will of the people must become the law of every land.—Sioux City News.

STATE NORMAL NOTES.

The meeting of the Board of Education which was called for August 12, has been postponed to August 23.

At the close of the term, Prof. R. Bowen's class in algebra presented him with a fountain pen as an expression of appreciation. Professor Bowen is a popular man in the Normal.

Upon invitation from county superintendents, President Connell Monday morning for lecture engagements at teachers' institutes in several counties of northeast Nebraska. Among the places he will visit are O'Neill, Neligh, and Madison.

The music furnished at convocation during the summer session was unusually good. The school is under great obligation to Mrs. W. F. Morris, Mrs. A. R. Davis, Mrs. W. E. Watkins, Miss Reba Nangle, and Mrs. Anna Gamble-Johnson.

Two candidates whose names will appear on the primary ballot of county superintendents of Cedar county are members of the alumni of the Wayne institution. Supt. E. Miller is now completing a fourth term of continuous service in that office, and he is recognized as one of the most efficient superintendents of the state. Mrs. Emma Schwerin has just completed a course of work in the summer session of the Normal. If elected, her scholarship and years of successful experience in rural and graded school work eminently qualify her for the duties of the office.

Three members of the summer normal faculty were employed as special instructors and were here for the first time. Supt. E. S. Cowan is a man of scholarly attainment, a successful city superintendent, and proved the right man for the place in the department of mathematics. The good work of Miss Mayme Anthony who came to fill the vacancy caused by the leave of absence granted Miss Piper, was much appreciated. She will have the good wishes of a host of friends in Wayne as she returns to her work in the Urbana high school next year. In the absence of Miss Luers, we were exceedingly fortunate in having an experienced kindergarten teacher to take up the work with the children. Miss Ryan's training and experience made her a valuable addition to the training school during the summer.

Where Members of Normal School Faculty Will Spend Their Vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Coleman and son, Jessie Marlowe, left Wednesday for Sugar City, Colo., where they will spend the summer.

Miss Edith E. Beechel has been engaged for institute work in Sioux county. The remainder of the summer will be spent at Wayne, and with her sister, Mrs. H. R. Bessire, at Laurel.

Miss Rachel F. Fairchild will attend the Epworth assembly at Lincoln and then go to Schuyler, Neb., for a visit with her brother.

Miss Sara J. Killen is visiting with friends in Lincoln at present, and later will visit relatives at Adams, Neb.

Prof. C. U. Keckley will spend the summer at his old home in Alliance, O.

Miss Elizabeth Bettcher will visit friends in Lincoln for a few days, then go to her old home at North Liberty, Ind., for the remainder of the summer.

The Misses Mayme and Anna Anthony left Saturday morning for their home at Greenville, Ill., and later will go to Kittanning, Penn., for a visit. Miss Mayme Anthony will resume her work as teacher in the Urbana, Ill., high school next year.

Prof. I. H. Britell and family motored to St. Edward Tuesday for a visit with Mr. Britell's parents.

If there be a panic it will not be for want of plenty of activity in business circles.

Teddy is trying to cross the moose with the republicans in New York and with the democrats in Pennsylvania. The two breeds won't mix very well in national politics two years hence.

Uncle Joe Cannon is going to try to be elected to Congress once more on the calamity howl platform. Never make it, Joe, when times are so good. It is said that he is the only man in Danville who is out of a job.

It costs the producer and consumer of farm products more than half of all that is produced to convey the product from the one who grows it to the one who consumes it, which is too much for the middlemen. There should be some method devised to give the producer more and let the consumer have it for less and force the speculator to work for a living. They are exacting too great a part for their share.

It will not do to let the foreign wars take the attention of the voters from some matters at home, for as sure as we do the interests stand ready to put one over on the common people. We have the best representative for the people at the White House now that they have had in a generation, and the people should not neglect home duties to gaze at the war scene in other lands, horribly fascinating though it may be.

In Mexico they are having a bit of trouble. The Carbajal rulers placed in command by Huerta, are wanting some one else to hold the lines and drive a little while so that they may escape alive, and when Carranza is about to assume command with the approval of this government when Villa begins to think that he should have something to say, and the government at Washington backs off and says that if there is to be a rumpus about this it will be best to wait until there is an election and the people of Mexico have a say in the matter.

The good offices of the President has been the means of averting a great railroad strike involving 55,000 engineers and firemen on about 98 western railroads. No big stick, bluff or bluster were used—just an earnest appeal to the sober good-business sense of those directly interested in behalf of those indirectly interested—the common people of all this west land. It was a service the importance of which cannot be estimated, but so quietly was it done that thousands will never know what a calamity was averted. Hat to the chief who does things—and does 'em right.

The way the common people of the old world are said to be rushing eagerly into war at the instigation of the crowned heads and those who control the big interests, remind the writer of the truthful saying of a friend who passed to his reward a few years ago. Speaking of economic conditions he remarked that they were as good as could be expected, for "the average poor man is a b—k fool, and the average rich man is a b—k, b—k knave" was the terse way he had of telling much in few words. The knaves play the fools against each other while they pick the riches.

One of our business men one day last week suggested that the papers of Wayne should devote more space to boosting for Wayne. It is such a good idea that we really like it, and will join with this business man and all others in boosting the best town in this corner of the state. We tell of the merits of Wayne and Wayne county no less than 52 times a year, and are glad to do it because we believe we can truthfully do so. And every time we tell something good of Wayne we tell it to four or five thousand people. Now we want the business man to do as well. If not, will he help us tell the good things of this city by having us tell the good things he would like to have known about his business? We have the machine all oiled to send a good word about your business to many people. Why not send them word that you want to see them? Do it now.

What has become of the argument in favor of preserving peace by being prepared for war. If ever a theory was shot to pieces that has been in the past week. It has been a race over the pond to see who would be the best prepared first, and when the one first ready said go, the bunch of rival powers were off like a bunch of race horses.

One thing is sure, times, prices, opportunity to work and get good wages for it will compare favorably today with any time that we know of under republican rule. Hogs, cattle, poultry, eggs, grain and other farm products are commanding good prices. If the republicans hope to win by calling attention to prices from farm produce they will fail, for they cannot show a better average.

GERMOZONE'S Big Value

It is not so much in its great efficiency as a remedy for roup, canker, chicken pox and other diseases of poultry, but in its being the greatest bowel regulator in the world for either poultry or stock (including pet stock), constipation, especially bowel troubles due to mussy, spoiled or improper food. With many fowls or animals, regular bowels means health. Constipated irregularly means sickness, difficult to cure if not fast. Thousands give Germonozone regularly twice a week to chickens, young and old, at the same time having it over handy as a ready remedy for other diseases. Sold by dealers or post-paid. One size only, 50 cents.

Our Abused Feet.

There have been many railing accusations brought against civilization, but may they not all be summed and typified in the prevalent custom of abusing feet?

We enclose them in leather air tight coverings, and may this not be why our souls are so hidebound? When we wish to be particularly civil we paint this leather with an impervious polish that the ten poor prisoners in the two black holes of Calcutta may be exquisitely punished.

When I think of the abuse heaped upon our feet, how the toes are misshapen by irrational compression, how the arches are broken by high heels, and how corns, bunions and abrasions afflict alike the darling of fashion in her too narrow boots and the laborer in his hard brogans, and how humanity climbs on utterly without initiative to break the bonds of habit, I do not wonder at the other things they do.—Chicago News.

An Absentminded Amateur.

They were talking about their husbands over the tea things. Husbands and the weather supply the same vacuum between the gates of gossip.

"Theophilus, you know, is very absentminded and so wrapped up in his new study of photography that that's all he thinks of. You can't imagine the time I have with him."

She paused a moment to imagine it herself, while her listener found an idle interest in creasing the lace ends with her fingers.

"Oh, this is what I was going to tell you! Theophilus came out of the dark room the other evening just as dinner was set. I says to him, 'Theophilus, what are you standing up there rolling that plate of soup around like that for?' 'Just a minute,' he says to me, 'just a minute. It's developing nicely. See that high light coming up?' 'High light nothing!' I says. 'That's cracker. Sit down!'"—Kansas City Star.

Workers Without Wages.

Birds live to eat. It is lucky for men they do. Some years ago a French scientist told the world that if all the birds should suddenly die man would have only a year's life left to him and proved his point to the satisfaction of other scientists.

How much does a bird eat? Take a robin as an example. It eats at certain seasons of the year about double its weight in insects and worms every day.

The bird's dinner hour begins at sunrise and ends an hour after sunset. Any legislation looking to the shortening of its hours of labor, which are coincident with its hours of eating, would bring famine. All the song birds and all the silent birds give their service to man, and they ask no pay for it except to be let alone.—Our Dumb Animals.

Fishskin Dresses.

Among the most curious as well as wonderful of garments are the fishskin dresses worn by wealthy women of the gold tribe along the Amur river in east Siberia. These women produce some extraordinary ornaments, designs and embroidery. The dresses mentioned are composed of several layers of fishskin, the undermost representing the skin of the garment proper, the uppermost showing the ornaments in their cutout forms. Between these two layers there is another layer that serves to throw out distinctly the beautiful qualities of the ornaments. The pieces of fishskin that form the ornaments are usually blue. The front and back of the dresses are adorned with these cutout pieces of fishskin sewed with fishskin thread.

Only Jar of Its Kind.

Horace Walpole tells a lively story of an old porcelain vander who had an exceedingly rare and valuable jar on which he set an almost fabulous price. One hot summer a slight volcanic shock, such as the British isles occasionally experience, joggled his house about his ears and split the porcelain vase. To an ordinary mind the accident would have been calamitous, but the china seller rose superior to fortune. He doubled the price of the article immediately and advertised it as "the only jar in the world which had been cracked by an earthquake." Nothing very slow about that.

Cruelty to Animals.

The first legislation to be passed for the protection of dumb animals was the work of an Irishman, Richard Martin of the county of Galway. In 1822 Martin introduced a bill for the prevention of cruelty to animals in the British house of commons. Queen Victoria was one of the principal supporters of the Royal Society For the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and it was she who gave the society its name.

For Supreme Judge

The friends Hon. Conrad Hollenbeck finally prevailed upon him to permit the announcement of his candidacy of the office of chief justice of the supreme court of the state of Nebraska, and petitions were at once sent out for signatures. It will not be long now until the name of this splendid jurist will be officially credited a place on the non-partisan judiciary ballot.

Judge Hollenbeck has been importuned by his friends for several months to allow his name to be presented for the highest judicial honor that may be conferred by the voters of Nebraska, and he has only hesitated because of the condition of his health, which of late has so vastly improved as to practically nullify any excuse he might offer for declining the high honor to his friends.

The selection of a chief justice this year will be made by men of all political creeds. The candidates will be voted for on a non-partisan ballot, entirely separate from the ballot containing the names of party candidates for other offices, and so when primary day comes along the voters of the state regardless of their political affiliations will be privileged to choose a candidate for the judgeship not because of past political affiliation but because of the candidates purity of character and thorough knowledge of the law.

Judge Hollenbeck's record on the bench in the Sixth Judicial district has become so widely and favorably known among citizens and members of the bar of Nebraska that the announcement of his candidacy will at once present him before the people as the leading aspirant for the honors.

He has time-tried friends all over the state and he stands so high in the esteem of the legal profession generally that it shall not be surprising if his vote in the South Platte country shall fall but very little short of the splendid testimonial that is sure to be given him north of the river. Nebraska will honor itself when it shall select for the supreme bench men of the high legal ability and splendid character of such experienced jurists as Honorable Conrad Hollenbeck.—Fremont Herald.

Way back in the early eighties, when Wayne county was speckled here and there with a little shack, there came to this county the James family. Settling in the north part of the county, they shared the joys and hardships with many of the early settlers. When climate conditions made things look as though a crop would be impossible and when many sold out for a song, the James family joined those of the sturdy class and stuck. The reason, no doubt was to develop the country. Their mission has been accomplished and as a result Wayne county is the best in the state.

One of the little tots who often trailed after the elder James' heels, and later followed the profitable plow was no other than W. H. James, who now seeks the office of sheriff. He is sharp eyed, apt and successful and will make a fine man for the voters to consider at the coming primary and election.—Winside Tribune.

Telephone Wages in U. S. and Europe

American telephone employees get higher wages than are paid anywhere else in the world. Telephone operators in America get more than double the wage paid in France, Germany, Sweden, Norway, Austria or Denmark, and 45% more than English wages.

Here is a comparison, based on close investigations of average labor and material costs, in four leading European countries and the United States:

In England $1.00 will buy what requires $2.28 in the United States for the payment of wages and the purchase of material.
In Austria $1.00 will buy what requires $2.00 in the United States for the payment of wages and the purchase of material.
In Germany $1.00 will buy what requires $1.50 in the United States for the payment of wages and the purchase of material.
In France $1.00 will buy what requires $1.48 in the United States for the payment of wages and the purchase of material.

American telephone rates are the lowest and the service the most efficient in the world.

Charles C. Gorst, Boston Naturalist and Chautauqua Lecturer

MR. CHARLES C. GORST of Boston is a specialist on birds. In his Chautauqua lectures he imitates birds so accurately and tells about them so interestingly that his work has come to be a decided feature of Chautauquas.

The Redpath-Horner people are making every effort possible this summer to interest the boys and girls in birds; to teach their value through the Children's Chautauqua, and the work of Mr. Gorst very fittingly leads up to this. He was over the Chautauqua circuit last season and met with big success.

In many cities of the country great interest has been taken in the past year in birds. In some bird clubs have been organized, and lectures have been given by men familiar with bird life. It is known that if wild birds are properly cared for and encouraged they soon become less timid and more abundant in any particular community. Mr. Gorst believes that without birds agriculture in this country would have a slim chance and the agricultural interests suffer beyond all repair.

His study of birds has been wide, and he has the gift of making his subject decidedly interesting and entertaining. He will be the feature attraction of the Chautauqua's opening day.

Michelino Lenge, Director Lenge's Symphonic Orchestra

MICHELINO LENGE and his Orchestra will play here Chautauqua week, the fourth day.

He is one of the best known orchestra men in the country. His work is known in theatrical circles the country over, and known because Michelino Lenge has never allowed his orchestra, although playing for the most part in vaudeville, to present anything but music of a high class. He says the repertory of his orchestra is almost without limit. "They will play anything you ask them," is the way he puts it. However, this orchestra will come on to the Chautauqua platform this summer with a definitely outlined program to conform with the programs of the six musical companies that precede and follow it. Particularly careful has the management been with its Sabbath day programs. Manager Heller and Director Lenge have both insisted from the first that only music of the highest class be presented and that their Sunday programs be in keeping with the day.

He is a delightful man to meet and will make many friends in this twelve weeks' Chautauqua tour. His men are all artists. Many of them have played on many a notable occasion and played under some of the most noted orchestra directors in the world. You will find that their music lists the standard of music in this community.

LIVE STOCK PRICES AT SOUTH OMAHA

Cattle Market Slow and Values

Shade Lower.

ANOTHER DROP IN HOG PRICES.

Sheep and Lambs Active and Steady. Receipts Larger Than at All Other Markets—Feeder Trade Strong.

Union Stock Yards, South Omaha, Aug. 4.—Cattle receipts were small today, only 2,200 head arriving. While the fat cattle market was slow today, it was by no means as panicky as on Monday, and prices were weak to a dime lower. The decline for the two days amounts to 20@30c on an average. No very great change was noticeable in the market for cows and heifers, and prices were generally not far from steady, at Monday's sharp decline. Values are off 25@35c as compared with the latter part of last week. Veal calves were in very fair request and just about steady, but bulls, stags, etc. have received a considerable setback and sales are largely around $5@5.50. The stocker and feeder market was very slow again today, and the two days' decline has been all of 40@50c, so that prices are getting down where they are certain to look attractive to the country.

Cattle quotations: Good to choice heaves, $9@9.75; fair to good heaves, $8.25@8.75; common to fair heaves, $7.50@8; good to choice heifers, $6.25@7.25; good to choice cows, $4@4.50; fair to good cows, $5.25@6; canners and cutters, $3.50@5; veal calves, $7@10; bulls, stags, etc., $4.75@7.25; good to choice feeders, $7.50@8; fair to good feeders, $6.75@7.40; common to fair feeders, $6@6.60; stock cows and heifers, $5@6.75; stock calves, $6@8; good to choice range heaves, $8@8.50; fair to good range heaves, $7.25@7.90; common to fair rangers, $6.50@7.

Some 4,200 hogs showed up today. Packers started out again today bidding a quarter lower for hogs. As the day advanced the trade strengthened up and the bulk of the supply moved at prices 10@15c lower than Monday's killer trade. The big end of the sales was made at $7.65@7.70, and tops reached $7.75. Today's high prices paid by packers is a flat 70c lower than Monday's high shipper top.

Sheep and lamb receipts totaled 18,000 head. The general trade in both sheep and lambs was active and steady today. The bulk of the good lambs sold at $8, while the fair to good ones brought $7.75@7.90. Good ewes sold at $5. The feeder trade was active and strong.

Quotations on range sheep and lambs: Lambs, good to choice, $7.75@8.10; lambs, fair to good, $7.25@7.75; lambs, feeders, $6.50@7; yearlings, good to choice, $5.75@6.15; yearlings, fair to good, $5.50@5.75; yearlings, feeders, $5@5.50; wethers, good to choice, $5.50@5.75; wethers, fair to good, $5.25@5.50; wethers, feeders, $4@4.50; ewes, good to choice, $4.75@5; ewes, fair to good, $4.50@4.75; ewes, feeders, $3.25@3.75.

During a political campaign a candidate for the legislature was driving through the country seeking votes among the farmers when he met a young man in farmer's garb walking by the roadside.

Having in his mind a prospective vote, he stopped his horse and, saluting the farmer in a familiar manner, inquired:

"Are you paying any attention to politics nowadays?"

The young man stopped, looked at him suspiciously and drawled out: "No, stranger. That don't happen to be my gal's name, but if it was I wouldn't think it was any of your business."

This ended the interview as well as the process.—National Monthly.

Proved He Was Wrong.

In December, 1825, Relieff, the Russian nihilist litterateur, was condemned to death by hanging. The hangman's rope failed, and Relieff was thrown to the ground. In these circumstances a man's life is often spared even in Russia, and the emperor was inclined to mercy. But he asked a question: "Did the condemned say anything on regaining consciousness?" "Sire," was the reply, "he said that in Russia nothing could be done properly, not even the twisting of a rope." "Prove him to the contrary," answered the Muscovite ruler. And it was done.

Don't Say, "I Want a Box of Matches"

Would you go into a grocery store and say, "Give me a cake of soap?"

No! You would ask —by name—for the kind of soap that is best adapted to your needs.

So with breakfast foods. You would ask —by name—for the kind that has the pleasantest taste or is most nourishing.

Follow this rule with matches. Tell the grocer you want Safe Home Matches.

If you ask for "matches," goodness knows what you may get.

Ask for Safe Home Matches and you will get the very best matches that money will buy.

What Saved the Home.

In the American Magazine a man who has had twenty-five years' matrimonial experience says that he and his wife were growing farther apart and constantly quarrelling. The family would have been wrecked had it not been for two things, which he describes as follows: "First was the baby—a healthy, charming child—to whom we were intensely devoted. For months the baby was about the only subject we could agree upon. The other safeguard was our sense of humor. I have since thought that no two persons should marry unless one or the other has a sense of humor. With us the sense of humor usually came to the rescue at the most trying times. One or the other of us would be struck with the ludicrous feature of our quarrel and laugh, and pretty soon we made up."

A Mannish Lady.

An eccentric lady who was a source of great amusement to the then Prince of Wales in these earlier years was Lady Sophia Macnamara, who is described in "On the Track of the Great." She was the most independent woman I have ever met—robust and breezy, wont to wear a hat of the kind we christened the "hard-boiled egg"—an uncompromising-looking plait straw hat, such as men wear, without any decoration whatsoever. Of an evening she used to sit next the heir to the British throne, listening to the music, wearing her "hard-boiled egg" and smoking a big cigar, and when that was finished she would light and smoke a second. One couldn't help admiring a woman who was so absolutely indifferent to conventionalities.

WANDERING ISLANDS.

Those of the Rio Grande Made Trouble For Us With Mexico.

The wandering islands of the Rio Grande in their migrations from side to side of the water course have caused years of diplomatic correspondence and discussion between the United States and Mexico. The refusal of certain small bodies of land to remain permanently attached to one or the other of the river's banks deprived them of a fixed legal status as either Mexican or American territory and brought about their participation in many illegal adventures, which in turn led to misunderstandings between the two countries.

In no river is spirit more evident than in the Rio Grande. Along its sinuous route below Rio Grande City it pushes its way through miles of level sand in its final reach for the gulf, twisting and doubling upon itself like a sea serpent. In 1843 it was fixed upon as the boundary line between the United States and Mexico. The boundary was to be the "middle of the river, following the deepest channel."

But the river possessed characteristics that had not impressed themselves upon the framers of the convention as possible causes of friction between the people living along its banks. In addition to its eroding power, exercised through long months of low and mean water, it could during flood periods leap with torrential force across a narrow neck of land at the base of one of its long loops and cut for itself a new channel. Through such avulsive action of the river Texas soil would sometimes become Mexican, and on occasions a plantation occupied by Mexicans and Mexican citizens would overnight find itself a part of Texas.

An example will serve to show both the extraordinary actions of the river and the difficulties in the way of any satisfactory adjustment of conflicting interests. A certain Josiah Turner began to farm the Galveston ranch, on the Texas bank. Eight years later he was surprised when 221 acres of Mexican land came across the river and attached itself to his ranch. An arrangement was effected by which he became the owner of this land. Six years later the river cut off a piece of Mr. Turner's land and took it to Mexico. Twenty-one years later the river made up its mind to repay the farmer for what it had taken from him and so carried back into Texas a piece of land far larger than the tract originally lost. The Mexican owners claimed possession, and a new convention dealing with the questions under dispute became necessary.

Brigadier General Anson Mills, U. S. A., appointed to represent the United States, recommended that the "cutoffs" be forever eliminated from the boundary line, all those occurring on the right of the river to pass to the jurisdiction of Mexico, those on the left to that of Texas. The inhabitants, if any, should retain their citizenship in the country from which they had been so suddenly and violently detached, or they might acquire the nationality of the country to which they were now attached. Any cutoff exceeding 650 acres in area and having a population of over 200 souls was not to be considered a banco, and the old bed of the river should remain the boundary. A convention embodying his recommendations was finally ratified by both countries. Thus the great turbid, silt-bearing river is left to pursue its way untrammelled, but the terms so long synonymous with its name have through the operation of this equitable arrangement become a part of the storied, romantic past.

Corpuscles in Normal Blood. Normally there are approximately 5,000,000 red blood corpuscles in the cubic millimeter. The number is temporarily diminished during fatigue and after the ingestion of much fluid. Fast- ing and profuse sweating increase the number of red blood cells by concentrating the blood. In high altitudes the number is also increased. There are 5,000 to 10,000 white cells in the cubic millimeter, the ratio of white to red cells being about 1 to 500. In health the blood amounts to about one-thirteenth of the body weight.

New Zealand Oddities.

The crow in New Zealand strikes as sweet note as any heard in the wood- land. The robin has no song and no red breast. The native hen is the greatest of rat killers. There is a caterpillar which turns into a plant. These and some other productions of nature have done for New Zealand what the kangaroo and the ornithorhynchus have done for Australia—given it the suggestion of oddity and the marvelous.

Sighting the Sardines.

The shoals of sardines appear suddenly along the Breton coast in June. They come by millions, and the water takes on a slaty tint from their presence beneath the surface. This phenomenon is awaited intently by thousands of fishermen, and when the cry of "Here they are!" goes up there is as much excitement as is occasioned by the whaler's shout of "That she blows!" Each boat carries from three to a dozen nets. Cod roe is cast out as bait, and the average catch is about 4,000 each casting of the net. When first drawn from their element the sardines glitter like jewels, reflecting many colors, but they soon lose their brilliant tints. Every village along the coast has its cannery, and, as these are mostly individual enterprises, there is much competition. The sardine fisherman who does not own a boat of his own seldom makes over 1,000 francs, or about $200, from his labor of five or six months, and in bad seasons his earnings are much less than that.

Byron on Dentists.

The profession of dentist stood higher in Byron's esteem than the profession of arms. In September, 1820, on hearing that his favorite dentist had died, Byron wrote to John Murray: "The death of Waite is a shock to the teeth as well as to the feelings of all, who knew him. I left him in the most robust health and little thought of the national loss in so short a time. He was much superior to Wellington in national greatness, as he who preserves the teeth is preferable to the warrior who gains a name by breaking heads and knocking out grinders. Who succeeds him? Where is tooth powder, mild and yet efficacious; where is tincture, where are clearing roots and brushes now to be obtained? * * * I knew that Waite had married, but little thought that the other disease was so soon to overtake him."

Optimistic.

Among those who applauded the loudest and longest when the sweet girl graduated was a young man of twenty-two. He kept it up so long that an oldish man turned to him and said: "You must be in love with that girl?" "I am, sir."

"Going to marry her?" "I am."

"On a salary of about $15 per week, I suppose?" "No—only $12."

"And there will be times, young man?" "Yes, there will be times when the flour barrel is empty."

"And you?" "We will turn to that beautiful essay and have it served boiled, fried, roasted, hashed and warmed over and be filled up and content. Don't worry about us, Mr. Man!"—Providence Journal.

Question of Ownership.

Balle Peyton Waggener once loaned his grandson, Mark Waggener, enough money to purchase a motorcycle. The money was to be paid back by installment, the machine to remain the property of the grandfather until the last payment had been made. The other day while out riding Mark met Mr. Waggener and jumped off the motorcycle. "Say, grandfather," said the boy, "who does this machine belong to?" "It belongs to me until you have made the last payment. That was the agreement, you know. But why do you ask?" questioned Mr. Waggener. "Well, I just wanted to make sure," remarked Mark, with a grin. "Your motorcycle needs a new tire."—National Monthly.

Fooled Her.

Betty, a bright little five-year-old, was a born gossip. It was her custom as soon as she arrived at her grandmother's to say: "Come into the kitchen, g'ma. I've got a lot to tell you."

And she generally had, being blessed with three popular grownup sisters. One day, however, she came in looking despondent.

"Any news, Betty?" inquired grandmother.

"Not much," said Betty soberly. "William (Sister Mabel's fiance) was over last night, but he and Mabel spelled most everything."—Judge.

HARDNESS OF WATER.

Solid Streams at High Velocity Are as Rigid as Iron.

In the American Magazine a contributor gives a most interesting description of the resisting power of water. He says that a solid stream of water shot out of a hose at tremendous velocity is just as powerful and destructive as a rod of iron. An extract from the article giving an idea of the hardness and resisting power of water follows:

"Here is a fact which is probably novel to the average man who has not spent much of his life thinking about motor speed boats. This is what we may call the hardness of the water when a boat is running at speed. Water at fifty miles an hour is not the limpid liquid we are accustomed to bathe in. If you put your arm overboard from a hydroplane running at fifty miles an hour and strike a wave crest the probability is that you will break your arm or wrist, because at that speed the water has not time to give, not time even to change shape, and striking it is like striking so much metal.

"In the great hydraulic mining nozzles, where a stream of water under enormous heat is used to wash down hillsides, a swordsman, in attempting to cut into one of these streams, will shatter the sword without being able to penetrate the water. The stream is like a bar of iron. The fact that water at relative speed is so hard—or that its inertia is so great, to be a little more accurate—is the reason why a skipping stone travels over the surface and is the reason why a hydroplane boat slides over the surface instead of plowing its way through.

"The picture we must have in our minds, then, of a speed boat is that she is traveling not in water, as we ordinarily understand it, but over the surface of a semisolid, very much as a sled travels over snow."

FREAKS IN BASEBALL.

Apparently Clever Plays May Sometimes Be Pure Luck.

Freak plays make baseball humorous, if not interesting. Some of these plays are said to be the result of quick thinking, but, as a matter of fact, most of them are simply luck.

Curious things happen. A ball fell into a tin can, and, it being impossible to get it out in time, can and all were thrown to the baseman. Another ball hit the end of a nail driven through the opposite side of a fence and could not be got down until all the runners scored.

A swift hit glanced off the pitcher's hand, is snapped up by an infielder and thrown to first, putting the man out.

Red hot liners or grounders sometimes hit the first or third base bag and glance away for singles or even two baggers.

The shortest two bagger known was when the ball grazed the bat, shot up a few feet and fell in front of the plate. As the catcher reached for the twirling ball it glanced from his glove and bounded back to the stand, and the batter made second easily.

A center fielder saw a mit in the way of the shortstop and walked about sixty feet in to move it out of the way when he heard the crack of the bat and saw a hot ball coming straight at him. He could do nothing but try to catch it and did to his surprise. But he was given credit by the crowd for being a great student of batters.—Arthur Macdonald in American Physical Education Review.

Our First Cent.

The first American cent was struck off and put in circulation in 1783. Previous to that date pattern pieces had been made, but they were experiments only and were never put in circulation.

The so-called Washington cents, which existed previous to the date above given, were not issued by the government and were, therefore, only medals. The cent of 1793 was very similar to the large copper cents of later date, with the exception that the face of Liberty was turned to the right and the legend "One Cent" was inclosed in a chain of thirteen links.

Two Speeds in Same Wheel.

The top of a carriage wheel in passing along the road moves more quickly through the atmosphere than the bottom. This sounds absolutely foolish, but it is absolutely sound. It is due to the movable axis, or axle. The top of the wheel has forward motion plus forward revolution. The bottom of the wheel has the same forward motion minus backward revolution.—London Saturday Review.

Mastery.

A man must challenge the world at its own games and win before he can show the world that there are finer games to play. He cannot stand above the mists and call the crowd to him, but many will follow him up through the mists.—Wm Livingston Comfoot.

"Fifty-fifty."

"I think, William, I'll ask those new people next door to take dinner with us tonight."

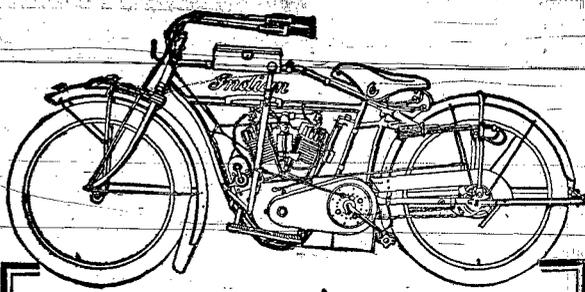

"What for?" "Well, the butcher by mistake left their meat order here, and it seems only fair."—Life.

The Rifle's Forbear.
It is difficult nowadays, with our modern serviceable rifle before us, to believe that as recently as 1572 the sling figured as a weapon of the battlefield. In 1792 a match was shot at Pacton Green between an archer and a musketeer, in which the archer succeeded in sending sixteen out of twenty shots into the target to the musketeer's dozen. The dragon was the name of the firearm with which the original dragon regiments were armed. It had a barrel only sixteen inches in length, and the muzzle was like "a gaping serpent's mouth." The carbineers derived their name from a short firearm originally used by the irregular cavalry of the Moors. The arquebus of Charles I.'s time had a barrel only sixteen inches long and weighed about fifteen pounds in all. In the trial of the first percussion muskets against the flintlock 6,000 rounds were fired from each. The official record was 922 misfires against the flintlock; percussion musket, thirty-two misfires.—London Answers.

Grotesque Fashions.
The futurist will find it hard to beat the masculine costumes of the later Renaissance, either in flare of color or in practical awkwardness. There were the peaked shoes, chained to the knees, and the enormous bag-pipe shaped sleeves, reaching even to the feet. One practical use was found for these, however. They were called the devil's receptacles, from their convenience to the light fingered. A writer of the time describes the commoners as "besotted in excess of apparel. Some in wide surcoats reaching to their loins, some in a garment reaching to their heels, closed before and sticking out at the sides, so that at the back they make men seem like women." The particolored suits of the period were sprinkled freely with birds, baboons, squirrels, trees and mottoes.—London Spectator.

Traps the Robbers.
In a Copenhagen bank is an ingenious contrivance for capturing robbers that was devised by one of the clerks. An electric contact is placed behind the bank counter, and if the clerks tread on it the main door from the street to the entrance hall is closed and locked. If the clerks again tread upon the contact the door between the entrance hall and the office is locked. Thus if the robbers should arrive and summon the clerks to hold up their hands the clerks obey, tread upon the contact and the main door is locked. The robbers are allowed to take the money, but when they desire to leave they find that the main door is shut and locked, and when they try to return they find the second door also locked, and they are trapped until the police arrive.

What She Expected.
"Look at her," said the ironmonger, indicating a departing customer. "She sent her wringer here to be repaired. I promised it her for this week, provided that I could get a certain new part in time from the makers. I couldn't get it. Now she wants me to pay a charwoman—who came unnecessarily—half a crown and twopenny tram fare. Then she wants me to pay the laundry bill for the clothes." The ironmonger paused to breathe heavily.

Indignant.
Sir Douglas Straight used to tell a story of a libel case in which he had defended a man successfully on the ground that he was not to be regarded as an ordinary individual because he was in the habit of using the most outrageous language on the most trifling provocation. The jury accepted Sir Douglas' view and found for the defendant. But on leaving the court Sir Douglas met his client waiting for him in a paroxysm of fury. "What in thunder do you mean, sir, by saying that I am not to be treated like an ordinary man?"—London Standard.

One Dream Realized.
"Strange," said the first tramp meditatively, "how few of our youthful dreams ever come true."
"Oh, I dunno," said his companion. "I remember I used to dream about wearing long pants, and now I guess I wear 'em longer than any one else in the country."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Yawning.
When a man is tired he stretches his arms and legs and yawns. Birds and animals, so far as possible, follow his example. Birds spread their feathers and yawn. They open their mouths slowly till they are round, the bones of the throat seem to loosen and the gills open.

Diplomacy.
"Why do you insist on underrating the kind of golf you play?"
"Because," answered the wise official, "there is no use of making a whole lot of people jealous and antagonistic over a little thing like golf."—Exchange.

Proverb Liquidized.
Some men are so accustomed to thinking in liquid measure that we suppose the way they would put it is that a glass of prevention is worth a quart of cure. Ohio State Journal.

Charity itself fulfills the law. And who can sever love from charity?—Shakespeare

Fisherman's Luck.
No one can have done much fishing without realizing that there is an insoluble mystery—in fact, there are several insoluble mysteries—connected with "fisherman's luck."
For example, if two men sit in opposite ends of a boat and use precisely the same tackle, bait, etc., and are fishing with equal skill, one of them will catch a dozen fish, while the other won't have a bite. They change places and perhaps change rods. The lucky man still catches, the unlucky one doesn't.

Some men will have abnormal luck some days, and at other times they can get "nary a bite." Why can some men step forward, jab any old kind of bait on a hook, fling it carelessly into the water and draw up a mess of big fish, while others, fishing scientifically, can't even catch a minnow? We are told that there is a reason for everything—a logical explanation that can be found.
Who will step modestly forward and explain that world-old mystery known as "fisherman's luck"? Will any of our readers?—Philadelphia Press.

Effective Bravado.
Lord Cromer's quick and daring methods in dealing with an Egyptian rising are illustrated by the following incident: There were rumors of a native rising. Cairo was almost openly disaffected, and the British garrison was small. His lordship, however, caused it to be known that a regiment was on the way from India, but he was careful not to explain that it consisted of sick leave and time expired men and bandmen. All the able-bodied soldiers in garrison were ordered to parade all over the town in small parties, and the natives did not take in the fact that they were a sort of stage army—the same men over and over again. The last straw was when Lord Cromer coolly put on flannels and publicly played game after game of tennis. This final piece of bravado nipped the threatened rising in the bud.—London Express.

The Meaning of "Piccadilly."
Piccadilly, in London, was so called from Piccadilly hall, the chief depot of a certain sort of lace much in vogue during the reign of Queen Elizabeth. The lace was called Piccadilly lace from its little spear points, a diminutive of "pica, a pike or spear." In the reign of James I. the high ruff was called a piccadilly, though divested of its lace edging.
"Glossographia," published in 1681, states that "Piccadilly was named from Higgins' famous ordinary near St. James', called Higgins' Piccadilly, because he made his money by selling piccadillies." Another authority, Isaac Taylor, writes, "Piccadilly so called from Piccadilla hall, a shop for the sale of piccadillas, the fashionable peaked or turnover collars."—Manchester Courier.

A Last Resort.
Some days ago a young woman called at the house of a prominent doctor and after discoursing on all the topics of interest of the day settled down to tell him her ailments. Among other things, she said that she was greatly troubled by a "stinking feeling."
The doctor prepared a little bottle of medicine and gave it to her with minute directions as to how it should be taken. The woman began to talk, but at length, after many vain efforts on his part to get rid of her, made for the door. She had just opened it when she turned and said:
"Oh, doctor, what shall I do if this medicine does not cure me?"
"Take the cork," he retorted. "They say that's good for a stinking feeling."

First Poor Laws.
Until well within the nineteenth century the poor men depended almost entirely upon private benevolence. By statute of Edward III., 1349, it was enacted that none should give alms to a beggar able to work. By the common law beggars were to be sustained by "parsons, rectors of churches and parishioners, so that none should die for default of sustenance," and by Richard III., proprietors were obliged to distribute a yearly sum to the poor. The origin of the present poor law in England is referred to the time of Elizabeth, 1601.

Force of Habit.
"What is the price of a ticket to Montebello?"
"Umphsty-seven dollars and umphsty-eight cents," said the agent, displaying several yards of yellow pasteboard.
"I am just shopping," said the lady absently. "Can you cut me off a sample?"—Chicago Tribune.

He Was Right.
Defeated Candidate—You encouraged me to run for the office. You know you did. You said you thought I wouldn't make a bad alderman. Trusty Henchman—Well, the returns seem to show that I was right.—Christian Register.

Great Britain and the Empire.
The British Isles—that is, England, Wales, Scotland and Ireland, with the adjacent islands—constitute but one sixtieth part of the British empire. Australia alone is more than twenty-five times larger than Great Britain.

Curious Sundial.
In a Welsh cemetery there is a stone cross marking a grave that also serves as a sundial, the hours being marked on the upright to receive the shadow of the crossbeam.
It is more necessary for the soul to be healed than the body, for it is better to die than to live till.—Epictetus.

THE NEBRASKA DEMOCRAT

Geo. E. Hall, Franklin

Democratic and People's Independent Candidate for State Treasurer.

Mr. Hall is forty-four years old; has lived in Nebraska all his life; was raised on the farm and educated in the country schools and State University; has been in the banking business since 1891, and is well qualified for this office.

He was nominated in 1910 for this office and came within 1,532 votes of being elected. In 1912 he was again nominated and was given 800 votes more than President Wilson in this state. This is a good endorsement. He is a hard worker and a free giver for the good of the party.

The Columbus convention wrote his platform, and he heartily endorsed every word of it. He and the party will appreciate your support.

Another Schoolmaster Needed

Those world-renowned diplomats of Europe who have been making sport of our Mexican policy may now reflect upon the stupidity that led to the Austro-Serbian clash. A few "schoolmasters" distributed through the chancelleries of Europe would work a decided improvement in international relations.—The Public.

Carroll Boosters Here

A dozen automobiles from Carroll, loaded to the rails were here Wednesday afternoon, advertising the chautauqua which meets there August 11 to 15 inclusive. They were accompanied by a band, and gave several selections while other members of the party distributed literature. From here they went out to the tennis courts where the state tennis tournament is in progress and gave the players and spectators there a little music.

Armies Do Not Preserve Peace

Once more is refuted the absurd claim that armies and navies guarantee peace. Austria's large army has incited it to attack a smaller neighborhood, while Serbia's large army has failed to save it from war. It does not seem creditable that the prospect of a general war involving all the great nations of Europe is more than the product of the fertile imagination of sensational newspaper correspondents. But not even these correspondents would have considered such a cataclysm possible but for the insane big-army-and-navy policies which have so long prevailed. Armies and navies are disturbers of peace.—The Public.

Poor Practice to Let Youngsters Suck Dairy Cows.

As a rule, it is not a good practice to permit calves to nurse. It is quite common to let calves nurse two or three times and then separate them from their mothers and feed whole milk three to four weeks and then gradually change to skim milk, says Hoard's Dairyman. It is too expensive to feed calves on whole milk, and, further, skim milk will develop a calf so that at the end of a year it will look and be fully as good as an animal raised on whole milk.

The main objection to calves sucking dairy cows is that they don't take all of the milk, therefore have a tendency to dry up the cow. If a sufficient number of calves were put upon a cow to take all of the milk that she produces and at stated intervals, the same as milking is done, the cow would not be injured by the nursing.

Choosing the Dairy Sire.

The selection of the herd bull is of the greatest importance because he is at least half the herd from the breeding standpoint. His influence on the characteristics of every calf born in the herd is as great as that of the dam of the calf, and if he is a pure bred animal used on grade cows his influence will be more than half because his transmitting powers in breed characteristics will be stronger. No bull whose dam and paternal granddam were not capable of producing 300 pounds of butter fat in 365 days should be used for breeding purposes.

Squaretown.

The name "Squaretown" has been heard in designation of Adelaide, the capital of the state of South Australia. When that colony was projected it was established to the utmost detail on paper before the colonists set sail from England. The capital was laid out upon a surveyor's drawing board, and all that remained to do on landing was to find a flat piece of ground on which to drive the stakes. Adelaide is composed of four areas, a mile in each dimension, these areas being parted by two streets of noble width. Quite around the city extends a park land a mile in width, and this is maintained as a perpetual reserve upon which the only encroachments are such wholly public establishments as government house, parliament house and botanic gardens on the north/terrace, the remainder being maintained as park and recreation grounds.—New York Sun.

To Prevent Milk Fever.

Dry the cow up six weeks before calving and feed light mashes of bran and flaxseed meal to keep the bowels active.—Make her run out daily, but do not have her on rich pasture at calving time. As calving approaches reduce the bran and increase the flaxseed meal, and if there is the slightest tendency to constipation dissolve a few ounces of glauber salts in the mash or drinking water once or twice daily as found necessary to open the bowels. Do not milk out clean for the first three or four days after calving.
