The Old Settlers Reunion

The pioneer and old settlers of Wayne county closed a very successful session of the association last Thursday and elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, A. H. Carter; Vice President, Frank Weible; Secretary, H. E. Siman; Treasurer, Gilbert French; Historian, Charlotte M. White.

Mention was made last week of the forenoon session. The program for the day was carried out substantially as it appeared in the published program. There was no disappointment in any of the arrangements. H. E. Siman very appropriately chose for his subject "Then and Now" and he delighted the audience with his inimitable wit. Superintendent Robert E. Elliott spent the early part of his life in Wayne county, and it is very fitting that he should have place on the program. His theme was "Progress in Education," and conditions of the early day were contrasted with the advantages of the present time. A fund of humorous illustration added greatly to the interest of Mr. Elliott's talk.

Two hours were given for a picnic dinner on the court house lawn, and promptly at two o'clock the afternoon session was called to order by the president. The musical part of the program consisted of two selections by the male quartette and vocal solos by Inez Hughes and Mr. E. R. Rogers. Miss Rose Blakemore favored the audience with a reading.

At the opening of the business session, Mr. R. R. Smith presented a request from Winside that the next meeting of the association be held at that place. The constitution provides that the annual session shall be held at Wayne, and a motion was then made that the constitution be amended and that the invitation of Winside be accepted. This motion was unanimously adopted and the election of officers then followed with the result given above.

Short talks by members of the association proved a very enjoyable part of the program. President Ferguson announced that each speaker would be given five minutes and that it would be necessary for him to call time at the expiration of the five minute limit.

P. M. Corbit appeared first in the call for brief talks. He recalled the days when Judge Britton was known as the Marshall Field of LaPorte. Briefly mention was made of the wonderful development of inventions—inventions that defy midnight darkness. One of the commendable things of the early day was co-operation. The old settlers helped one another. The motto of these days was to pluck a thistle and plant a flower. He believed, however, that the greatest advancement has been made in the consideration that has come for the mother in the home and the boy in the alley—consideration given to the rights of mankind instead of property rights.

S. E. Auker recalled the days when he was a resident of southeast Nebraska, and drove across the country from Brownville to Beatrice. He paid an eloquent tribute to those who developed the country. They were men and women of purpose and unselfish devotion. The enterprise of Wayne citizens is shown in the erection of the magnificent high school structure and other public buildings.

T. W. Moran was well qualified to speak of pioneer day. He came to Wayne county in 1884. Thirty years ago he walked to the present court house site to take a look at the town. At that time the southern part of the county was almost a wilderness, but now as shown in the recent souvenir edition it contains some of the finest homes of the county. Twenty years ago when the hot winds swept over Nebraska we came the nearest to a failure of crops that was ever experienced by this county, and northeast Nebraska was the only part of the state that raised any grain that year. In closing Mr. Moran said the motto of the railroad companies is safety first, and advises the public to stop, look and listen. The people generally, he believes, are inclined to take chances, but if they will apply this motto and not get run over by an automobile all will be able to get back to the old settlers reunion of 1915.

Miss Mamie Wallace's opening statement was that speech-making was not in her line. Her talk entirely disapproved that claim. She related the occasion of her first impromptu speech, and believed when it was finished that it would prove to be her last call. The advent of the Wallace family into Wayne county was 1882. She spoke of rural life and rural conditions in the '80's and was glad with the progress in other lines that Wayne county schools have kept abreast of the times. She was proud of Nebraska's educational system.

In the midst of the felicitations of the hour there was a note of sadness, because of familiar faces that are gone, and we today are enjoying the fruits of their toil.

Miss Pearl Sewell spoke in a reminiscent mood. Regret was expressed that Miss Charlotte M. White was not present and an incident of an early day was recalled when the speaker in company with Miss White and Carter visited rural schools, stopping for dinner at the home of June Conger. Miss Sewell referred to Mrs. Dr. Wightman as her first teacher, and said she was still climbing the same old hill. The blizzard of 1888 was another early day experience described. She spoke of some of the pleasures of the early days and meetings of various kinds that she attended. In those days instead of the chautauqua there was the camp meeting.

Professor Bright was called upon but said he did not feel qualified to speak from the standpoint of an old settler. He told of meeting with Pat Coleman on his way to the court house grounds, that Mr. Coleman had told him an interesting story and regretted that he was not there to speak of early days in Wayne county. He regarded Mr. Coleman as a pioneer who knows his subject, and to give an interesting talk on an occasion of that kind one must speak from experience. Mr. Bright spoke briefly of social gatherings in early days and compared the amusements of young people at that time with those of the present day.

G. H. Hendrickson was the last speaker of the afternoon. After responding pleasantly to the introduction of the chairman, he said that he was proud of the fact that he was a settler of Wayne county and hoped that in years to come he could say that he was an old settler. But "pioneer" is a title that cannot be conferred upon everyone, neither can it be conferred by king, prince or potentate. It is only bestowed upon one who, through long years of struggle and toil on the frontier, has succeeded in graduating from the University of Hard Knocks.

One has frequently heard it said that this country is a good country and that that country is a poor country. However, a country is just what you make it. The sandhills of the desert of Sahara could be transformed into heaps of gold, and the icebergs of the arctics could be transformed into mountains of silver; but to bring this about it must have a suitable beginning and the proper foundation by the right kind of people. Wayne county has had such a beginning and such a foundation and by the right kind of people. The footprints of these pioneers will remain as land marks on the sands of time and for future generations. And let it not be said of us, the younger generation, that we, as sons and daughters of these pioneers, through automobiles, poodle dogs and extravagance whistle away the land marks that these pioneers, through years of toil and hardship with hammer and tongs, have so magnificently established."

Pony Contest Closes August 29

The printed matter sent out with the pony vote states that the contest is to close the 27th. The contract permits a close any time before the 31st of August. Those interested have voted to make the closing day and hour SATURDAY, AUGUST 29, at 9 o'clock in the evening. Remember the day and hour and that is the time limit. Get busy. The pony and cart are here. Get busy. No one knows who is ahead. Remember the special offer made last week by the Democrat.—adv.

Death of Wendel Baker

Saturday forenoon August 8, 1914, death claimed Wendel Baker who had been battling against typhoid fever for nearly a month, though the serious nature of his disease was not known until about ten days before his death, when his family thinking him more seriously ill than he admitted, called a physician. As soon as his true condition was known the best of nurses and physicians were called to aid in the battle for life, but they could not stay the ravages of the disease.

Wendel Baker was born at Lincoln, Illinois February 6, 1852, and was 62 years, 6 months and 2 days of age when he died. He grew to manhood in the place of his birth, and there was united in marriage to Miss Emma Nies, February 10, 1876, who with their nine children mourn his death today. One brother, Peter Baker of this place and a sister, Mrs. Hannah Lamb of Harlan, Iowa, also survive him and were here with him during his last sickness. The children are Mrs. Minnie Carson, Upton, Wyoming; Wendel at Norfolk; Carl of this place; Joseph L. of Plankinton, S. D.; Louise M. of Thompson, Dalton; Gertrude Ross of Winnebago; Wm. S. of Neligh and Margaret and Helena who are yet at home. All of the children save one were here during his sickness and to attend the funeral, which was held from the Catholic church in this city Wednesday morning, Rev. Father Kearns, his pastor, performing the last sad rites at the church of which he was a faithful member, and at the Catholic cemetery in this city.

About 1884 with wife and children he moved to Harlan, Iowa, where, they spent the next ten years of their life, and in 1894 moved to a farm near Wayne, where they lived until six years ago when they moved to Wayne, leaving the farm in the hands of their son Carl who is still on the home place.

Such in brief is the life history of Wendel Baker, but it does not tell of the excellent character of the man who has been called to his reward. During the years he lived at Wayne he was known as a good citizen, a man without an enemy, loved and respected by every acquaintance for his honesty and upright character. A kind and loving husband and father who will be missed by the family and a large circle of friends who sympathize with the bereaved family.

In infancy he was baptized in the Holy Catholic church, and all through life he was an earnest, devout and consistent member of that faith, as he lived in the church so he died and went to his reward.

Card of Thanks—To our neighbors and friends we wish to extend our most sincere thanks for the many acts of kindness and sympathy extended to us in our hours of sorrow and need, during the final sickness of husband and father, and for the beautiful floral offering at the last. Mrs. Wendel Baker and Family.

City Buys Pump and Lets Contract

At the meeting of the city council Tuesday evening the city let the contract for 4327 feet of four-inch water main extension, 10 hydrants, the "Ts" and valves necessary for the same and for a 15-foot extension to the top of the stand pipe for additional capacity and pressure, to the Almo Engine and Supply Co., of Omaha, for $3240.72. There were 19 bids in all received, this being the lowest. The local men who bid for the main laying were John Meister, Geo. Grunmeyer and O. S. Roberts.

The new pump and motor was sold to the city by Henry R. Worthington of Kanass City, Mo., the price being $1845 for the equipment placed on a foundation of the city's construction. The pump is a tripple Dean pump with a capacity of 500 gallons per minute. It is one of the latest and best makes, and its wearing parts are all interchangeable, so that the cost of keeping it perfect is very small. The motor is a Western Electric, 35-horse power and is guaranteed to pump 500 gallons per minute, working against a 135 foot head with a 16 foot suction lift. The pump and motor weigh almost seven tons.

When this is installed which will be in about six weeks Wayne will be one of the best equipped towns in this corner of the state for handling water for all purposes.

Latest War News

Beyond a doubt many interesting events are taking place in the great war drama now being enacted in Europe. The vicinity made famous a century ago by the battle of Waterloo is now near a stage center of what is likely to be one of the great events of modern warfare. The meeting of opposing armies of vast numbers, armed with the most deadly of destructive weapons. For 100 miles along the frontier of Belgium and Germany, and France and Germany, a great line of battle is being drawn, according to the most authentic reports, while before Liege a great battle has already been fought, both contending armies claiming a victory. The city of Liege is in the hands of the Germans, the forts are still held by the forces of Belgium. English and French troops are forming in support of the Belgian forces, and Germany is said to be amassing more soldiers to meet them.

On the east a great German army is kept busy preparing to repulse the Russian army if not invade the empire of the Czar.

On the high seas there is anticipation of an early battle, and daily reports that many ships have been sunk or captured, and that forts guarding St. Petersburg, the Russian capital have been bombarded. The news is all strained through a net as it were, and no item of importance relative to the anticipated move armies or navies is permitted to escape. It is even charged that the news of battles fought and won or lost is suppressed.

The North sea is being planted so full of mines that it is said to be unsafe for any shipping, and all vessels are warned to keep clear of those waters.

Russia announces that on August 21 they will complete the mobilization of troops.

A state of war is proclaimed in Holland.

Japan has an army of 4,000 embarked on transports awaiting orders.

It is reported that the Russians have captured 600 German prisoners, and are taking them to the interior of Russia.

England has half a million soldiers under arms.

The aviators are playing an important part in the affairs, and many of them are meeting death daily.

The dailies received this morning state that the battle is again on at Liege, but that the Belgians are still holding the forts. It is also reported that Germany is now trying to do by diplomacy what they had not succeeded in doing by force of arms, get permission to cross Belgium territory.

The mass of the German troop concentration appears to be between Liege and Luxemburg. There are twenty-six German army corps organized.

No important battles have yet been reported between French and the Germans, but it is said that the Germans are now bombarding Pont-a-Mousson, a town 26 miles from Nancy.

Jurors Drawn

Below is a list of names and addresses of those drawn for the September term of the district court. Jurymen called for September 14, 1914 at 11 o'clock.

Building County Bridges

A gang of seven or eight men are at work in this county building and rebuilding bridges. The first of the week they were southwest of Winside and are now working west of this place. Later in the fall the bridge over the Logan south of town will be moved a mile down stream and a new bridge built in its place here.

Miss Stocking Writes From Germany

Mrs. Littell has received a letter from Miss Stocking, dated at Cologne, Germany, July 27th, just before the declarations of war were made involving Germany in the great struggle. The letter tells of their travels in a hurried way, for it was hurriedly written. The party of which she is a member had visited many places of interest—the great art galleries of Berlin, Dresden and other places. Was at Lepsic on the 4th, and wore the flag of this country during the day. She had been fortunate in being able to see some of the world-noted plays and concerts as well as viewing some of the natural scenery so famous the world over, under favorable conditions.

Speaking of the war prospect, Miss Stocking said that she had seen a copy of the London Times of the 25th, and felt quite up to date in news matters, for it was hard to get any English papers, and the others she could not read very well, but wrote that "every prospect points to war, and there is a note of depression as the people know what it means." One feels keenly the lack of the current news when in a strange land and letters and papers are most welcome.

We are sorry not to be able to give more of this most excellent letter, but as it was not written for publication it would not be fair. Miss Stocking's many friends here will be glad to know that she was enjoying the trip, and hope that the war may not seriously inconvenience her, though it will undoubtedly cut their journeying short. People who have friends touring in Europe are very anxious for their safety and welfare, but it is not probable that harm will come to them, and the fact that the mails are delayed and uncertain causes an anxiety, though reason tells that all is well.

Ahern-Arnold

At the home of the bride's parents at Des Moines, Iowa, Tuesday evening, August 11, 1914, Mr. Arthur Ahern and Miss Jane Arnold, both of this place, were to be united in wedlock. Both bride and groom are most favorably known at Wayne, where the groom has for a number of years been in the employ of the Ahern store. The bride has for a number of years conducted a successful dressmaking school in this city, and has many friends who are glad to know that Mr. and Mrs. Ahern will be at home in this city after September 1st.

Monday Jens Pederson and his son Chris went to Rochester, Minnesota, where the boy will undergo an examination at the Mayo hospital to learn their opinion of an illness that is troubling him. He does not appear to be seriously ill, we are glad to say, and hope to report that he has no dangerous trouble.

Edgar Howard justly condemns the practice which he alleges in favor in some cities of the girl converts to suffrage standing upon the street corner and buying contributions for the cause by selling kisses. This is almost as bad, no doubt as buying the votes of young men with a drink of some intoxicant, and neither method should be tolerated.

A jolly party of young folks left here Monday morning for a week of sport at Crystal Lake, under the care of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Huntmer. In the party were Glenn and Ray Hickman, John Rockwell, Wm. VanCamp, Thos. Musleman and John Hash, and Misses Otis Relyea, Marjorie Kohl, Aradeth Conn, Gene Madsen, Winifred Gant and Miss Sloan.

J. L. Soules is home from Hastings, where he went last week to attend the meeting of the supreme lodge of the Loyal Mystic Legion, which was held in that city. He reports a good meeting with representatives from all parts of the country present. Returning he came by Lincoln and stopped to hob-nob with the governor and other state officials. We think he got into the penitentiary while there, but being able to get out again that won't count. He said that he found Morshead sentiment strong at Hastings. While at Lincoln they slipped into his pocket, a commission making him a deputy state fire commissioner for this place. All in all, he reports a pleasant trip.

Now that the primary campaign is about to close we may look for some political obituaries in our exchanges that have been carrying a page or so of political announcements. When we see the small crop of candidates in Wayne county this year we almost feel that the newspapers have not been doing their full duty.

Hog cholera was discovered in one of our famous herds. No sick hogs were within five miles of the herd. A horse had died on the premises and the carcass was hauled out into the hog yard for feed. The farmer remembered seeing buzzards around. Without doubt, it was the buzzards that brought the disease to this herd. Burn or bury the carcasses of all animals that die. If a hog dies of disease don't bury the carcass, but be sure to burn it.—Twentieth Century Farmer.

Chas. Sims and wife of Snowflake, Canada, were here last week visiting at the home of their nephew, Wm. Beckenhauer. They came here by automobile from West Point, accompanied by Mrs. Beckenhauer's father, Amandus Krause. Mr. Sims has been in the land business in Canada, and has been sent on several occasions by the Canadian government to his native land, England, to interest people in Canadian land. This was his first visit to this part of Nebraska, and he freely expressed the opinion that in all of his travels and study of farm lands he had never before seen a considerable tract of country that compared favorably with land in this corner of Nebraska.

Harry Tidrick from Winside was at Logan, Iowa, last week to attend a sale of thoroughbred Duroc Jersey hogs. He said it was a splendid sale, and the bidding showed plenty of confidence in the future of the red hog. A March pig sold as high as $265, and the average of the sale was above $80. Mr. Tidrick did not buy, as the kind he wanted sold out of his reach, and the kind he did not want he would not buy even if they sold cheap. The offering was of fancy breeding, and was practically all taken by breeders there from a distance. He said that little if any was sold at home. A breeder is not without honor save in his own home.

When a battle ship starts out to sea these days it is said that those who go with her if they have property make a will and file it with the consul at the port from which they sail, for they well know they may never come back—yet why should they go, for if perchance they do come back it will be but to go again at the command of the king who claims to have been born with the divine right to rule. We would not make good subjects for a king.

Chan Norton, who returned Saturday night from a trip to Malvern, Iowa, tells us that they had an excellent fair there and some good races, the marks running down below 2:11. Crop conditions are good there, but a little rain would not hurt, he thinks. In speaking of the fair, Mr. Norton said that it had been one of the annual events there for many years, and that it was an institution of benefit alike to the farmers and the business men of the town, and that the shows grow in popularity as the years go by. The need of some such an institution at Wayne was spoken of and its desirability agreed upon by the editor and Mr. Norton. There are others, too, who think that Wayne county should have some sort of an annual stock show, race meet or fair at Wayne once a year. Who else favors the idea?

GERMOZONE'S Big Value

Is not so much in its great efficiency as a remedy for rump, canker, chicken pox and other diseases of poultry, but it is the greatest bowel regulator in the world for either poultry or stock (including pig stock), counteracting, especially, bowel troubles due to musty, spoiled or improper food. With man, fowls or animals regular bowels means health. Continued irregularity means some sickness, difficult to cure if not fatal. Thousands give Germozone regularly twice a week to children, young and old, at the same time having it over handy as a ready remedy for other diseases. Sold by dealers or postpaid. One size only, 50 cents.

FLYO-CURO protects horses and cows from flies and mosquitoes. Applied with a hand sprayer, only a very thin spray over the hair of the animal—not soaked to the skin—it forms a protective coating that repels insects. The cost is trifling; time of applying less than one minute; lasts for six to eight hours—usually, there are times during hot, sultry weather when flies are a torment—when it may take a more frequent application. Three sizes, 35 cts., 60 cts., $1.00. Sprayer 50 cts.

Neighborhood News

Cleaned From Democrat's Exchanges.

The women of France are appealed to to gather the wheat and grape crops.

At last in Iowa there is likely to be a move to take the liquor question out of party politics—and when that is done the legalized liquor traffic will not last long. In other years it has managed to use one or both of the party machines defending it. When it must stand alone it will have little to stand on.

The Cedar County News of last week paid a fine tribute to the state normal school at this place and to the members of the faculty. It is the publicity of such facts that are of great value to the school. It is also a fine spirit that is shown in the article adding much to the cause of education in general while telling of this particular school.

Columbus is all swelled up. They have voted for a sewer and paved streets and tomorrow are to have two big shows at one and the same time. Yet there are those who will ask Columbus people to remain in the republican party because it is the only party of prosperity. It will be hard to make that claim go down in Columbus or elsewhere this year.

Columbus last week voted bonds for both paving and sewer. This place has been rather slow in such public improvement for its size and importance, and the Democrat is glad to see it coming out of the shell. A good town should have the best of public improvements. Wayne is a good place and has a good sewer system, and paving will be one of the public improvements that will not be much longer delayed.

There is a lot of talk these days regarding an oath said to be subscribed to by the Knights of Columbus but we have too much faith in the loyal citizenship of the few men we know to belong to that order to think that they would take upon themselves such an obligation, and we do not think that there would long be such an organization if members were required to take the oath claimed for it. If you know a member of the order or a dozen of them ask yourself if you think they are men who would double deal in that way.

The story was started at Inman of a cow swallowing a fork, which nearly killed poor old bossy, but finally it worked out through her side, and now she will soon be fat enough to butcher. When such a story is well written and gets started it is copied far and wide tending to show that truth, if stranger than fiction is not so generally passed out from paper to paper. We once read a story in a dozen or more exchanges that began with the statement that a boy was lost in the mountains, so far up, where the air was so rare, the cold so intense that no animals could live there—then the writer had the rats devour the boy, leaving nothing but his bones and the statement that such a boy had been lost as evidence as to how he met his fate. So cleverly was the story written that its impossibilities were overlooked and it passed as fact instead of fiction.

August Government Crop Report
The crop report from the government for Nebraska, showing conditions up to August 1st is at hand and it is a very flattering report. The condition is not quite as good as the prospect reported for July 1st, dry weather having put some prospects back a little, but the average is far ahead of the five year average condition.

Corn now promises a return of 186,000,000 bushels, which is 32,000,000 bushels above the five year average. Wheat is 65 million bushels, or 17 million bushels above average. Oats with 67 millions in sight is 13 million bushels above the average. Potatoes are one and one-half million bushels ahead of the average crop, and so on down the list. Apples are less, peaches the same, and other fruits about normal. Beets are above the five year average by a nice margin.

Foreign Trade Prospects

American farmers have grain for export and for the moment there are no ships available to take it to foreign markets, where its value is increasing hourly. That is bad for the American farmer. European consumers need American grain to convert into food; if they do not get it they must starve. Their plight is much worse than that of the American farmer, who is only asked to hold his grain in a rising market.

Let the other fellow do the worrying about the suspension of traffic on the high seas. Such in brief is Secretary Redfield's reminder to the American farmer who may feel inclined to pessimism as a result of the temporary absence of ocean carrying facilities for his product. That advice may sound a bit hard hearted as well as hard headed, but it is timely.

Even if the war shall be prolonged the Atlantic must soon be opened for transportation of food products and other necessities. Trans-Atlantic carrying will be resumed in a limited way just as soon as the question of control of the sea is settled. If, as is most likely Great Britain and France win mastery over the ocean lanes the Atlantic will soon be dotted with their merchant craft steaming to and from American ports. In the less probable event that Germany shall control, the vessels of that nation and such vessels as it may impound from Great Britain and France will be ready to do the carrying.

In this connection it should be understood that a period of deadlock and doubt on the ocean is not likely to continue long in these days of wireless communication. Once the principle fleet of either of the belligerents is destroyed the cruisers that prey on commerce will not long be allowed to continue their depredations.

While the greatest interest in trans-Atlantic transportation relates to our exports of foodstuffs, our manufacturers also will be in need of foreign markets. Although the European markets will be to a large extent closed to them, new markets will be opened immediately in South America and the orient. These markets have been supplied largely with manufactured goods from England, Germany and France. These sources of supply will now be seriously curtailed, even under the most favorable circumstances, while war continues. American manufacturers can supply the goods needed in these markets if they can be delivered. If an able bodied American merchant marine were available there need now be no worry about disposing of our surplus manufacturers. Even as it is, the ships of neutral nations which have been engaged in carrying between the countries now involved in hostilities may be expected quickly to turn their bows toward neutral waters, where they can be employed in carrying trade between neutral nations.

The probability is that many ships now sailing under foreign flags will come under American registry in one way or another to do business that can be done safely during war time. If the war should be long continued its close might find the American merchant marine re-established on the high seas to a degree that would have been utterly impossible in peace time. So re-established in the wake of the present lesson, it is exceedingly unlikely the American people would tolerate a policy that would again permit the extinction of the American merchant marine.—Sioux City Journal.

Probate Notice to Creditors

In the County Court of Wayne County, Nebraska.
In the matter of the Estate of Claus Kay, deceased.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That the creditors of the said deceased will meet the Executor of said estate, before me, County Judge of Wayne County, Nebraska, at the County Court Room in said county, on the 17th day of August, 1914, and on the 17th day of February 1915, at 10 o'clock a. m. each day, for the purpose of presenting their claims for examination, adjustment and allowance. Six months are allowed for creditors to present their claims and one year for the Executor to settle said estate, from the 17th day of August 1914. This notice will be published in the Nebraska Democrat for three weeks successively prior to the 17th day of August 1914.

Witness my hand and seal of said court, this 25th day of July 1914.

Freight Rate Reduction

The class freight rate reduction order of the railway commission is epochal. It marks, for the first time in the history of the state, a tireless and comprehensive investigation into freight rates. It concludes a search of many month's duration into all rate-making principles laid down in the United States since a regulation of common carriers became an actuality. It combines in its pages, a recital of established rate facts and their strict application to the varying conditions in this state. And as a final blow in behalf of state regulation of utilities, it assails the recent federal supreme court decision giving the interstate commerce commission state authority, and seeks to fortify its order so that legal attack on the new rates will be futile.

In addition the commission's opinion repeats considerable history that is familiar to those who have long been interested in railroad legislation. It points out the course of numerous other attempts to reduce class freight rates in this state. It shows the innumerable difficulties that have surrounded all these efforts. It suggests the cause of the failures.

There is a lesson for all shippers and citizens in this most recent document of the commission. It demonstrates that legislative reduction would have been a laborious process surfeited with many fundamental hardships. It shows that to have evolved such a work as this would have been utterly impossible from a legislative standpoint. No committee of experts working full time for a session could have made the study which the railway commission has just completed. And no person familiar with legislative procedure could have hoped to have seen such a schedule understandingly adopted by the two law-making houses.

In promulgation of this order the commission has complied with its promise of a year and a half ago. It has not registered that compliance as soon as had been hoped for by the persons to whom the promise was made. But the officials seek to justify themselves on the ground that new and puzzling phases of the problem were constantly confronting them and that it was impossible to solve these in a day or week.

The demonstration of the commission function leaves an impressive suggestion with those who study this order. It creates an instant conception of the responsibilities of all citizens in this body and illuminates their duties thereto as perhaps no other act had ever done. It shows that if the commission is to become a force for the correction of economic wrongs it must have the attention of the voters of the state. The men chosen to the body must be upright, sincere, fair-minded and able. A responsive citizenship cannot approve any other grade of material.—World Herald.

Governor Morehead's Candidacy

Gov. Morehead's personal ambition was to become a candidate for congress at the coming election, but a widespread and sincere demand that he again become a candidate for governor made it imperative, because it represented all classes of people, men of all parties, and could not be disregarded. He yielded because he felt that to carry on the work he had started in the interest of good government and the good feeling that now exists throughout our great commonwealth, with the encouragement of the same people who have been with him in the past would be as great an honor as he could wish.

The demand for the renomination and re-election of Gov. Morehead is not confined to members of his own party alone, but is voiced by the substantial farmers and business men of all parties. The man who can be elected must be neither a factionalist or a biased partisan. He must appeal to all classes and must stand on the record of good things achieved. This kind of a democrat can push ahead once more to victory, with a united party behind him and with a virile appeal to the best manhood and patriotism in all parties.

Gov. Morehead can be that man because he has stood for the principles that mean progress and stability in government.

In this respect it is not too much to say that Gov. Morehead's rugged honesty and courageous purposes are in line with the high motives of President Wilson, whose grand achievements in the interest of the people have endeared him to the nation and immortalized his fame as an executive of all the people, regardless of party affiliation.—Ex.

GENERAL L. C. BOYLE OF KANSAS CITY

Community Interest Day At Chautauqua

The third day of the Chautauqua is Community Interest day. You business men and farmers—if you are so busy you can get to the chautauqua just once during the whole week—come on the third day.

Every man of you is interested in the growth and development of this city and community. You men who own farms and control the interests of these stores and business houses have no greater interest in the world than the prosperity of this community.

The big cities are growing bigger. The small cities are becoming smaller—or at a stand still. That condition is prevalent the country over. Look at your last census report.

The small city has a fight on right now. It's got to fight to offset the tremendous lure of the big town.

What are you merchants doing in competition with the big mail order houses? That's the thing every business man must think about. He knows it as well as we.

But the point is that THE CHAUTAUQUA is bringing a man here to discuss these things with you. He is a man of a big reputation and a big record.

General L. C. Boyle has served as attorney for four national retail dealers associations: The lumbermen, hardwaremen, grocers and dry goods men. He knows the business of the small city merchant.

He served as states attorney for the state of Kansas and as attorney general for that state. He is one of the best known and most successful lawyers in the central west.

He comes on to the Chautauqua circuit to meet the insistent demands of these associations whom he has represented as attorney.

The Redpath-Horner Chautauquas are glad to send him to you. We want you to get every man and woman in the community out to hear him. Chautauqua, third day.

The prospect of congress adjourning is not as bright as it was. The war in Europe threatens to make necessary a continued performance by our law-making body. Emergencies may rise that demand the prompt attention of our representatives. The revenue expected from the tariff may almost cease on account of the lack of imports.

Next Tuesday is primary election and it is the duty as well as the privilege of every voter to go to the polls and express his preference between the men who are offering their services to the state and county. In Wayne county there are but few contests between the candidates of either party, but in the state there are many, from governor down, and it is wise to learn what these candidates stand for and vote for those who stand for your ideals in government. If every citizen will take honest and intelligent action at the primary and general election there will be a better conduct of the affairs of state and county. Do your duty on this day.

Some Late Happenings

Courts have ordered the dissolution of the Harvester trust. This concern with a capitalization of $140,000,000 is declared a violator of the law, according to a decision given at St. Paul.

Federal authorities are investigating the cause of the late advance in the prices of meat and other commodities for daily consumption. It is claimed that Foraker one of the republican candidates for senator from Ohio was defeated in the primary. It is to be hoped so. No man of the Foraker stripe should ever be elected to office by a free people.

A plan has been accepted to end the New Haven merger.

A peaceful revolution is going on in Mexico, and the powers that were are turning the machinery of government over to the powers that are to be—the people's representatives. Watchful waiting has helped to bring this about.

Richard P. Hobson at Wayne

The noted hero of the sinking of the ship some 15 years ago was through Wayne Wednesday and again this morning. He lectured at Carroll yesterday. He expressed the opinion that Roosevelt will be the next republican nominee for the presidency. Said his own defeat as a candidate for the senate was due to the wet vote being against him. There was little opportunity to talk to him, as he was listening to a lecture on Mexico, which chose who happened to be near got without paying any admission fee.

Teachers' County Institute

Beginning Monday, the teachers of this county will meet in their annual institute, under direction of County Superintendent Mrs. Littell. There will be sessions both morning and afternoons, and Rees Solomon, Harry E. Bradford and Carrie Neidermeyer are among the instructors. Prof. Howard Diggs will give lectures Monday and Tuesday on popular school subjects. A complete program has been issued to the teachers and others interested.

A SUCCESSFUL TENNIS MEET

The State Tennis Meet at Wayne Passes Into History as Greatest of All. Visitors Warm in Praise of Wayne.

The third annual meeting of the Nebraska State Tennis Association which closed here Saturday evening was without doubt the best ever held by the organization, and Wayne citizens and players won high praise for their reward. Following is an official record of the score, as furnished by the officers of the association for the Democrat:

Winners.
Championship in singles, Harry A. Koch, Omaha, singles trophy. Winner championship round in singles, Frank Garey, Fairmont, double racket case.
Runner-up championship round in singles, John Madden, Omaha, single racket case.
Championship in doubles, C. A. Davis and H. H. Ellis, Beaver City, doubles trophies.

Winner championship round in doubles, L. H. McKillip, Seward, and D. P. Rankin, Lexington, double racket cases.

Runner-up championship round in doubles, H. A. Oldham, Winner, S. D., and Neal Haskell, Gregory, S. D., single racket cases.

Winner consolation singles, H. H. Ellis, Beaver City, all-comers, tennis racket.

Runner-up consolation singles, C. A. Patterson, Arapahoe, Japanese wares.

Winners consolation doubles, John Madden and Ralph Powell, Omaha, drinking cup and thermos bottle.

Runners-up consolation doubles, F. M. Druliner and Ray Larson, Plattsmouth, pair of umbrellas.

When Frank Garey of Fairmont, failed to get the ball back over the net at about 7:25 p. m., last Saturday night, thereby giving Harry A. Koch of Omaha, the Nebraska state championship in singles for this year, the most successful tennis tournament ever held in Nebraska came to an end.

That it was the most successful, there is little or no doubt. Sixty tennis players actually took part in the meet although there were over seventy entries, the largest number ever. From the opening match which started off promptly before noon Tuesday, the contests were hard fought, and there was on one who could tell who would be the winners in the championship rounds in either singles or doubles.

Due to wonderful cooperation among the tennis players of Wayne and the people generally every little detail that would add to the comfort of the visitors was looked after with great care. The people of Wayne opened up their homes to the players and every one of them was housed free of charge during their stay, and there was room for nearly as many more. This hospitality on the part of many people who had no direct interest in the tournament, perhaps did more to please the visitors than any other one thing.

Perhaps the next most important thing that sent the players away from Wayne shouting for us was the wonderful way in which our courts stood up under five days of constant playing. They were perfect. Spectators and players without a single exception, pronounced our courts the best they had ever seen. Inasmuch as several of the players were from Omaha, and belong to clubs where they have unlimited resources to build courts, this was indeed a compliment. Mr. Clark Powell of Omaha, one of the most popular tennis players from the metropolis, gave out the following interview to a reporter of the Omaha Bee: "They have three of the fastest courts in Wayne I have ever played on. These courts in Omaha aren't in it with the courts at Wayne."

Large galleries were on hand the greater part of the week to watch the matches, and there is little doubt that there will be more tennis in Wayne during the next year than ever before.

All of the visiting players left Wayne with the word if it happened that we wanted the tournament again, there would be no trouble whatever in landing the meet for Wayne. All were pleased and said so in no uncertain words.

The results were as follows:

- Championship Singles.

Vote of Thanks.
The officers of the Wayne Tennis club desire to thank its members and the people of Wayne generally for their kind cooperation and hospitality during the progress of the state tennis tournament last week. Without this generous assistance a successful tournament would not have been possible.

Resolutions.

Adopted at the business meeting of the Nebraska State Tennis association: "We, the members of the Nebraska State Tennis association, wish to express our very great appreciation of the most excellent provision made by the city of Wayne for the entertainment of the state tennis tournament of 1914. We recognize the extraordinary excellence of the tennis courts provided, the many and varied courtesies shown by the local representatives among whom may be mentioned Messrs. Harry Fisher, Frank Morgan, Fred Pile, James Ahern, the members of the Wayne Commercial club, and the citizens of the city who so kindly opened their homes to the visiting players."

To the voters in general and the democrats in particular: The primary this month is more important than the election in November. The corporations and owners of large landed estates will vote against the constitutional amendment on taxation as it permits an income tax, graduated land tax and reasonable exemptions to the owner of modest homes and personal property of the landless. Every landless man regardless of political affiliations should not fail to vote for the amendment at the primary. This same bunch that opposes this amendment, are doing their utmost to defeat Geo. W. Berge for governor. They first induced Morehead to violate a solemn pledge and to insure his nomination they pushed Joe Bartley's friend Metcalfe into the race to divide the opposition to Morehead. Metcalfe will be low man in the race. His candidacy may defeat Berge but not with my assistance.

Holsum Bread

The Burns Holsum is fast gaining public favor. Three times during the season we have increased our daily shipments until now we are the largest sellers of bread in the city. Holsum makes good because it is good. Made upon honor and from the most sanitary bakery west of Chicago. When you go to Omaha an hour spent at the Jay Burns Baking Co. will prove very interesting and instructive. Visitors are always welcome. See why Burns' Holsum excels in quality.

Splendid Flour

still maintains its extraordinary quality—costs no more than common flour.

Omaha and Lincoln Power Company Changes Tactics.

WILL AVOID A FIGHT NOW.

Nonpartisan Judicial Ballot May Be Up by Secretary of State and Is Being Sent Out to County Clerks of State Exhibits For Women at Fair.

Lincoln, Aug. 10.—The Omaha and Lincoln Power and Light company, which is owned by the McKinley Interurban interests which operate the interurban road from Omaha to Papillion, has notified the state railway commission that it desires to withdraw its application, made a few weeks ago, for authority to issue bonds in the amount of $90,000 and stock for $25,000 for the purpose of extending its road to Louisville. In its letter the company says: "Owing to the fact that it seems to be the intention of parties for whom Benjamin Baker is acting to cause a good deal of trouble and obstruction to the authority to issue stocks and bonds, we have concluded to let the matter rest for the present, and we hereby withdraw the application made and will file an entirely new application sometime in the future."

It is supposed that the interests backing the Omaha, Lincoln and Beatrice road are behind the opposition to the issuance of stock to the McKinley company.

Woman Has Hysteria.

A woman said to be the wife of Oscar Lawson, a convict from Saunders county, sent up for a term of twelve years for assault, and who applied for a pardon at the session of the board, appeared at the governor's office in behalf of her husband. Governor Morehead was unable to give the woman any encouragement that her husband would receive executive clemency, because the board had not reported. Mrs. Lawson followed the governor out of the building as he was on his way to the mansion and being unable to get any satisfaction, began shrieking and yelling. She was soon calmed by a woman, who was passing through the grounds, but later had another spell of hysteria and another crowd gathered. She later disappeared.

Investment Company Barred.

The Empire Realty and Mortgage company is another of the several investment companies which have been trying to do business in Nebraska which has been held up by the state banking board. This company is located in Alabama and last week one of its representatives was trying to do business here. At Havelock he succeeded in selling a contract to a preacher, who gave him a check in payment for the contract. Later the clergyman took the matter up with the state banking board and was informed that the company had no authority to do business in this state and to cancel the check, which was done.

Exhibits For Women at Fair.

Four departments of the Nebraska state fair are practically given over to exhibits of particular interest to women. In fact the women of the state are to be congratulated on the rapid growth of the domestic products, textiles, fine arts and eugenics departments. All the artistic and useful products of the home are classified and premiums are offered by the state board of agriculture. In the educational department, pure food display and the traveling library exhibit the women are also keenly interested.

This Candidate Has Clinch

F. E. Stearns of Scottsbluff county, who served in the lower house of the state legislature at the last session, was at the state house. Mr. Stearns is again a candidate for renomination on the Republican ticket and is not worrying over the outcome of the primary as far as he is concerned, as there is no filing against him. His chances for election are not worrying him either as the Democrats have not filed against him.

State Fair Entries' Records Broken.

All records for entries to the Nebraska state fair were broken when 384 were received by Secretary W. R. Mellor. The rush incident to the 1914 state fair is now on in the office of the state board of agriculture. Entries for the Better Babies contest and the class races close Aug. 17. This is the final date for the entry of cattle, horses, sheep and swine, for publication in the official catalogue.

Prison Population.

The monthly report of Warden Pen-ton of the state penitentiary, filed with the governor, shows that the population of the prison has increased from 338 at the end of June to 353 at the end of July. Thirty were received by commitment and one returned from parole. Two were discharged, thirteen paroled and one furloughed. Of the number remaining, 349 are males and four females.

Suffragists at Luncheon.

Suffragists of Lincoln and vicinity held a luncheon at the Lindell hotel in honor of Omer Garwood of Denver, formerly assistant prosecuting attorney of the Denver district and now secretary of the men's association of the national organization favoring equal rights. Others at the luncheon were A. L. Bixby, Rev. F. L. Wharton and Jacob North.

BUFFUM TALKS ON NEW GRAIN

Wyoming Agricultural Expert Tells About Product Called "Ovem."

Omaha, Aug. 11.—Professor B. Buffum of Worland, Wyo., the man sometimes designated as the Burbank of grain breeding, spoke before the grain and agricultural committee of the Commercial club. Professor Buffum had a number of specimens of grain with him and gave an extensive talk on the value of breeding and crossing the various grains with a view to getting a grain that is rich in food value and at the same time adapted to the semi-arid climates of western Nebraska. Among the samples he carried were a half dozen long heads of a hybrid grain he calls "ovem." It is a hybrid crossed between the No. 17 winter wheat and the improved winter emer. It has the appearance of neither, but it resists drought, according to Professor Buffum, and has great food values, besides yielding heavily per acre. It is not threshed, but is simply headed and fed to the live stock from the stacks.

KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Edward Fitzgerald of McCook Crushed to Death When Car Overturns.

Holdrege, Neb., Aug. 11.—R. J. Fitzgerald of McCook was killed and his wife and daughter, Nora, seriously injured when his automobile turned turtle, just outside this city. Mr. Fitzgerald and his family were en route to Kearney. They had just passed through Holdrege and a half mile north of the city made a turn to the east, while running at a high rate of speed. The car turned completely over and Mr. Fitzgerald, who was driving, was pinioned under it, the steering wheel crushing his chest. The women were thrown clear of the machine. The man was dead when help reached them. The women are not fatally hurt, although Miss Fitzgerald received some serious internal injuries. Mr. Fitzgerald was night police of McCook.

Body of Kidnaped Girl Found.

Schuyler, Neb., Aug. 12.—Her head and face crushed almost beyond recognition and a piece of baling wire drawn tightly about her neck, the body of eighteen-year-old Louise Mick, whose sensational abduction Monday stirred the country side to a high pitch of excitement, was found buried in a cornfield at the edge of town. Frank Held, a laborer, aged fifty years, and who has lived here nearly all his life, was arrested by a posse an hour before the discovery of the body, and has since been taken to Columbus by Sheriff Kunkle, who fears mob law.

It was at 2 a. m. that Mrs. Mick was awakened by her daughter's cry. She arose quickly and found herself facing a masked man. She was bound to the bed with heavy wire, and then Miss Louisa Mick, aunt of the missing girl, was treated likewise. When Miss Mick was taken from her home she was garbed only in a thin night dress.

Four Young Men Accused of Robbery.

Tecumseh, Neb., Aug. 11.—Charles Churchill, Romain Tolles, Arthur Patch and Thomas Richardson, young men ranging in age from seventeen to nineteen years and all living near Crab Orchard, are in the county jail here, charged with highway robbery of Sherman Steele. As a result of a grudge the young men are accused of following Steele, giving him a severe beating, breaking a beer bottle over his face and breaking his nose. The complaint states that they then took $3 from Steele's pocket.

Crop Moving Fund Expected Soon.

Omaha, Aug. 11.—The $1,000,000 that Omaha banks are to receive from the federal treasury for crop moving purposes are expected to be available within a week or two. Nothing new has developed in the matter of the proposed issue of currency under the Vreeland-Aldrich bill, and the local bankers have practically stopped talking about it, as they do not believe they will need any, especially in view of the fact that the crop moving loan is to be available very soon.

Nonpartisan Ballot.

Secretary of State Wilt has begun the certifying of names for the nonpartisan judicial ballot to the county clerks, the time having expired in which filings can be received. The ballot shows five candidates for chief justice of the supreme court, as follows: Harrison C. Palmer, Manoah B. Reese, Francis A. Brogan, George J. Hunt and Conrad Holmbeck.

Lincoln Man Arrested For Old Crime.

Denver, Aug. 11.—Arrested seven years ago for killing John Allen, policeman who was waylaid in the jungles and beaten to death with a brick, released for want of evidence to fix the crime on his shoulders, Tom Harber of Lincoln, Neb., is again in jail for the crime, awaiting action by the district attorney.

Takes Own Life With Acid.

Omaha, Aug. 11.—Henry Couthers, aged twenty-five years, was found dead in a room at the City hotel from carbolic acid poisoning. He left a note saying that he was discouraged with his accomplishments in life and that he would rather be dead than to keep on making failures.

Sudden Death at Friend.

Friend, Neb., Aug. 11.—Joseph R. Curtis, janitor of the First National bank building, was found dead in the basement, presumably of heart failure. A friend had conversed with him only a short time before his body was found.

The following is from the Sioux City News of Monday evening: George Horton, of near Wayne, Nebr., while traveling toward Sioux City in a light rig Thursday afternoon was attacked by an angry bull along the highway a few miles this side of his home and was knocked from the seat into the box. Joseph Horton, a son who accompanied his father, managed to drive the animal off with the butt of the whip long enough to whip up the horses. The bull pursued for a short distance, but gave up the chase. Mr. Horton was bruised but was able to continue the trip.

There is quite a reunion at the home of W. Watson and wife north-west of Wayne. Last week O. E. Shinkle of Lebanon, Ohio, a brother to Mrs. Watson, and his wife came. They have a son, C. O. Mrs. E. S. Blair and daughter returned last week from a visit of several weeks in Illinois, and while away Mrs. Blair became an advocate of oiled streets, having had ample opportunity to see demonstrations of the abatement of dust by use of oil. She visited at towns where the streets were oiled and others where they were not treated. She also traveled over streets oiled and streets not oiled in the same place, and says that the difference was that in one case the street was smooth and dry, clean and solid—in the other the dust was ankle deep and rolled up with every passing vehicle, and whether windy or not it carried into houses and over furniture and floors in a way that was a great annoyance. She saw both kinds of streets under like conditions, and now hopes to see the oiled street at Wayne. The cost, she says is so much less than paving that much more of the streets can be treated for the same money.

Among the Churches of Wayne

Baptist Church
 Rev. E. P. Richardson, Pastor
 "The Glory of the Peacemaker," will be our theme Sunday morning, Text, Mk. 5:9. The story sermon for the children will be from the subject, "The Voyage of Life". We appreciate the continual co-operation of parents and teachers in this work for the boys and girls. It looks better to bring your child than to send it.

Considerable interest is being manifested in the meeting of the association at Tilden, August 28-30, at the close of our chautauqua. The programs are out and some splendid things are planned for. Several have expressed a purpose to go. We ought to send about ten delegates. Mr. Sprague has been selected to write our church letter, in the absence of the clerk. Last Sunday afternoon we had one of the best services we have ever had at the Stamm school house. The room was filled. An earnest group of people met at this point on Sunday afternoon. Plan to go out some time.

Miss Ellen Soules will be the young people's leader Sunday evening. The subject, "Our Social Life for Christ," is important for young people to consider.

We are glad to report good progress by the young people on this missionary pledge of forty dollars. They have just sent about half of that amount. This is splendid for four months.

To some of our people the Wednesday evening meeting is the best of the entire week. What does the prayer-meeting mean to you?

Methodist Church
 Rev. C. L. Myers, Pastor
 We are going to enjoy but two more meetings in the park. Mr. F. R. Dean and wife were received into the church last Sunday. They come to us by transfer from Ruthven, Iowa.

Sunday school Board will meet on Monday the 17th in regular session at 7:00.

Thursday evening regular choir rehearsal.

Missionary societies will meet at the parsonage on Friday 14th at 8 p. m. All the ladies of the congregation are invited.

Epworth league meeting in the league room at 8:00 as it gets dark before we can get through on the lawn.

If you have any receipts that should go to conference hand them to the pastor.

Junior church meets every Sunday afternoon at 4. We would be pleased to have all the children present.

Mrs. Catton Mather of Fort Collins, Colo., will speak in the Methodist church on conference Sunday. There will be a business meeting of the Epworth league on Thursday evening. Election of officers.

Presbyterian Church
 Rev. Alexander Corkey, Pastor.
 Rev. Clyde E. VanderMaaten of Pocateo, Idaho, will preach at 10:30. Sunday school at 12.

German Lutheran Church
 Rev. Moehring, Pastor
 Next Sunday, the usual services of the church, Sunday school and preaching will take place. All are invited.

Senator Reed and the Zinc Trust

In 1912 Missouri voted on a proposed constitutional amendment to gradually apply the Single Tax. Had it been adopted it would have relieved farmers and other wealth producers of all taxes on their industry and its products and increased the tax burden of holders of unused or partially used valuable land. Holders of valuable mining lands, among others, would no longer have been able to hold a large quantities out of use.

Missouri has large tracts of valuable zinc-bearing land, the owners of which would have been affected the same way as the owners of other valuable mining lands. Not only would all this zinc land have been forced into use, but resulting production would have broken up any existing zinc trust and made impossible any zinc monopoly of any kind.

But the monopolistic interests of the state succeeded in so deceiving the voters concerning this proposed amendment that it was overwhelmingly voted down. In this work these interests had the help of the democratic party machine. Many democratic politicians pretended to be ignorant enough to believe that the amendment would injure the farmers, and in the interest of trusts and monopolists helped in the game of deception.

"After having thus helped to defeat a measure that would have ended monopoly, James A. Reed, democratic United States senator from Missouri, with our Senator Hitchcock, leads in a fight against the democratic president by opposing the confirmation of Thomas D. Jones. And why? Reed actually states as his reason that Jones is interested in the Zinc Trust and that this trust "owns practically all the known zinc ore in the United States." This must, of course, include the very Missouri zinc ore deposits that Reed, when he voted against the Single Tax amendment, helped to keep in monopoly's control. Just at what period between 1912 and 1914, Reed turned anti-monopolist, he does not say.

Mrs. James Ash and son Ralph arrived here Tuesday to visit at the home of her brother-in-law, Chas. Ash, just south of Wayne. We understand that Mr. Ash is planning to join them here a little later.

What happens after it lights?

The fact that a match lights only on a box does not make it a safe match.

Does it "spark" or fly? Does the head drop off? Does the stick break?

A match that does any of these things is dangerous. You cannot afford to use it.

Safe Home Matches are absolutely safe.

They light not only on the box, but also on any ordinary abrasive surface. They burn evenly. They are non-poisonous. When you blow one out, it goes out and it stays out—there is no after-glow.

All grocers. Five cents a box.

Mrs. Carroll of Kansas City came Tuesday to visit at the home of O. E. Graves and wife near town. The lady was their neighbor when both were living in Holt county.

Miss Viola Will left Wednesday morning for Emerson, Iowa, near which place she will spend a week vacation with Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Davis and wife, who is better known here as Miss Frankie Conger.

E. H. Dorsett is home from a visit of five weeks at a Minnesota lake where the fishing was good, and he says that he managed to catch all he could consume at least and that he enjoyed the outing very much.

Frank Gamble left Tuesday afternoon for an outing of three weeks, which he plans to spend at the Glacial National park in northwestern Montana. This is the newest national park, and is said to contain scenery that is not surpassed in the Alps. It covers an area of 1,500 square miles, and has a fine climate at this season—as well as scenery.

Wilber Vanfossen from Hay Springs was here Wednesday on his way to visit old friends at Carroll from which place he went two years ago after a residence of 12 years there. He reports that crop prospects are not the best in his country. Plenty of rain for the season in the spring, but it was bunched too much—and now it is too dry. He timed his visit to attend chautauqua and thus see many friends in a group.

Mrs. G. K. Johnson and daughter, who have been here for the past three months with her parents, Wm. Fleetwood and wife, left Wednesday for their home at LaJanta, Colorado.

A. A. Payne came the last of last week from Bates county, Missouri, to visit his brother here, and look this land over with a view of renting a good farm. His brother, T. C. Payne, came out here last spring and has been working out by the month. He first worked for Frank Weber and is now with Emil Sydow, and is said to be a good hand. The brother likes it here and hopes to get a farm.

M. B. Lehr of Fremont was here Wednesday. He is one of the democratic candidates for the office of railway commissioner. He is a farmer, but has long been employed by a railroad of an other state, and has had years of experience as a shipper. He says that if an experienced railroad man is not to go on the commission the railroad cases might as well go to a regular jury. He asks you to consider his name when in the booth.

A Miss Mick of Schuyler was kidnapped one night this week and carried away by unknown persons and an ex-convict named Frank Heldt was arrested on the charge or suspicion of having been a party to the deed. Tuesday her body was found in a cornfield not far north of Schuyler. Her condition indicated that she had been beaten to death with a club. The parents are said to be wealthy, and it was thought that she was taken and would be held for a ransom, but the finding of the body spoils that theory.

Mrs. L. M. Owen and son, LeRoy, left for a visit at Chicago Wednesday afternoon. The young man plans to go from there to visit several points in Ohio in the interest of his poultry raising work. He has been raising some extra good pure bred stock. At Chicago they will meet Mrs. Owen's brother, Dr. Miner, who left here about three weeks ago planning to visit Europe, but the war question became too serious for one to consider going and he gave up the undertaking, and will return to his home at Independence, Kansas, soon.

R. N. Donahy, returned the first of the week from a visit at Kearney and the North Platte country, where he spent a week. He was surprised when he learned the price at which land is held in and about Kearney. Prices there are as great as here, almost, but its producing power is not nearly equal to land in this county. His conclusion was that land is selling below its value here or is greatly over-priced there. While in Omaha on his way home he purchased a new stock of optical goods such as reading glasses, automobile glasses, microscopes and the like, as well as cases and other sundries.

Prof. L. L. Alexander, who has for several years last past been teaching music at this place, has been elected to the position of director of the conservatory of the Hanover college, at Hanover, Ind. This is an old school, having been established in 1828, nearly one hundred years ago. It is a school of high standing, being one of the nine schools of the state of Indiana from which the grades and credits are recognized by the associated schools of the country. He will have to report for work there early in September, and his departure from Wayne will be greatly regretted by his many friends and all who are interested in the advance of musical education here.

Misses Katherine and Mary Strickland went to Malvern, Iowa, for a visit with relatives a few days ago.

Dr. J. T. House spent Sunday at Walthill visiting his friend, Rev. Payton who was there in chautauqua work.

Mrs. Thos. Sundahl of Sholes visited at the home of her parents, Chris Thompson and wife, Tuesday and Wednesday.

H. S. Welch, who has been staying at Wayne for several weeks has gone to his home at Columbus. He is still seeking a location.

Miss Alice Jenks, who has been attending college at Tabor, Iowa, came Wednesday evening to visit at the home of her sister, Mrs. Parker in this city.

Mrs. I. M. Dotson and her son Ivan came Sunday from their home at Pierre, South Dakota, to visit a week or more here with son and brother, E. H. Dotson of this place.

S. R. and Mrs. Theobald and their daughter, Miss Monte started for Chicago Wednesday morning to be absent a week or more, spending most of the time at the wholesale houses buying goods.

Mrs. Herman Mildner and son Teddy left yesterday to visit with her brothers, one at Jasper, Minnesota, and another at Plankinton, South Dakota. They plan to be absent several weeks.

Mrs. O. Hamer and two sons are here from Elizabeth, Wisconsin, visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Powers. Mr. Hamer is head miller of a large flouring mill at Elizabeth, where they moved about two years ago.

Geo. Roberts and wife left Wednesday for Colome, South Dakota, where they will make a short stop and then go to the home of Mrs. Roberts' parents about twenty miles beyond, in Tripp county and visit there for a time.

Mrs. E. B. Fanske from Pierce and her son returned home this morning, after a short visit at the home of L. A. Fanske and wife. Geo. Drebert and family, relatives of Mr. Fanske, came by automobile Sunday, returning that evening, and Mrs. Fanske came with them.

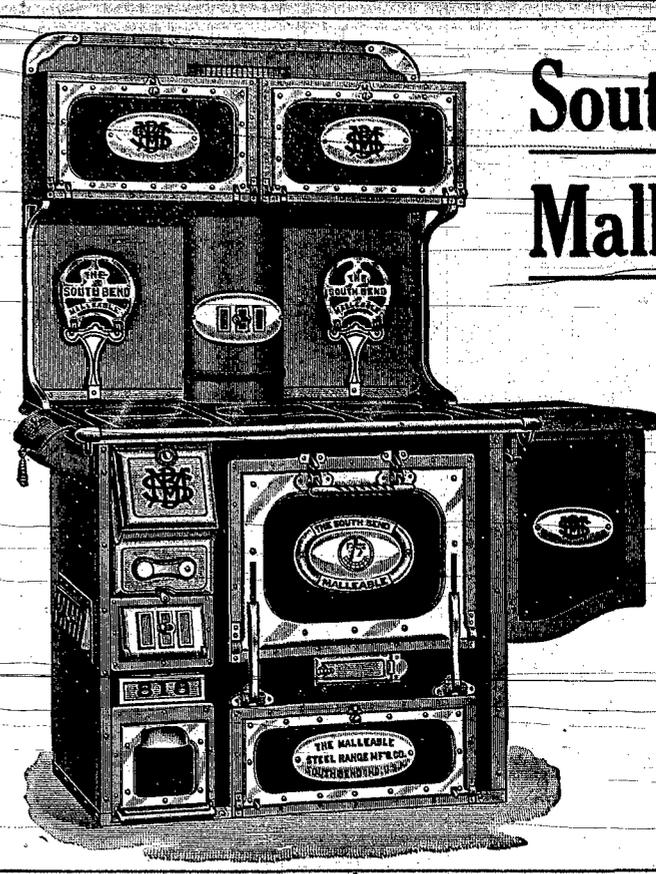

European porters will miss the tips of the American tourists, and will be very glad when this cruel war is over. The United States treasury will miss the tariff revenue too, and if they have to increase the income tax the fellows who have been in the habit of tipping the porters can dump the money into Uncle Sam's strong box.

Clause Ofte and wife visited friends at Pilger last week, and report a pleasant time. Mr. Ofte, who has been a farmer for years before moving to Wayne, says that the country several miles south of Wayne has a better corn prospect than right here, probably because of a timely shower that missed a strip here.

Mrs. Frank Gaertner, accompanied by Dr. Mabel Cleveland, went to Rochester, Minnesota, the first of the week taking the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gaertner there for examination. Dr. Cleveland returned home this morning and reports that the lad had successfully undergone the necessary operation and that he is doing nicely. Mrs. Gaertner remains with the boy for a time yet.

STATE SUPERINTENDENT

P. M. WHITEHEAD, Gothenburg, Neb. Democrat and People's Independent.

Fellow Citizens: Do you realize that today, 11,000 instructors, nearly 400,000 children and youth, and a yearly expenditure for education of over $8,000,000 summon you to choose a candidate for state superintendent?

I offer for the service of the state an educational training gained at Eureka College, Illinois, at the Peru Normal, and at the University of Nebraska. I offer twenty years experience as a teacher, including three years in rural schools, service in a Junior State Normal, and ten years as city superintendent, at Gothenburg. I am at present a member of the School Law Revision Commission.

My training in school, my experience as an educator, and the observations of twenty-three years, give me the following settled convictions:

That all the children of an equal people, are entitled to an equal amount of equally good training.

That this can be secured without any loss to those who now enjoy the best advantages.

That the humblest teacher in the most remote district is entitled to equal consideration with the highest salaried educator in the state.

That absolute merit is the only proper basis for the employment and promotion of teachers.

That the offices of state and county superintendent should be taken entirely out of politics.

That the constitution should be amended, forever prohibiting the sale of another acre of our public school land.

Never before in the history of Nebraska, was there greater opportunity for real constructive service, than is offered today in the administration of the department of education.

Our institutions of learning and the great profession of education in this state must cease to suffer at the hands of factional strife and jealous quarrel. I am absolutely opposed to riling rules of every kind and character in Nebraska school affairs, and am unqualifiedly committed to a fair and impartial consideration of the claims of every educational interest in the state, and upon this high plane, I shall administer the office, if nominated and elected.

Your most serious consideration is invited, and your support is solicited by the undersigned, who covets the honor of serving the people of Nebraska in this great office.

Very Respectfully Yours, P. M. WHITEHEAD.

Whitehead For Superintendent.

Mr. Whitehead secured his elementary education in a rural school, and his higher educational training at Eureka College, Illinois, at the State Normal School, Peru, Nebraska, and at the University of Nebraska. His teaching experience covers twenty-three years, first in the rural schools of Clay and Adams counties, Nebraska, then as principal at Croston in Platte county and at Elgin in Antelope county, and for the past ten years has had charge of the schools of this city.

Mr. Whitehead has an ambition to serve Nebraska as the head of her educational system, and his views on educational matters are rightly a matter of public interest. He believes that the three greatest factors in successful life are character, health, and the ability to earn a living. More boys are ruined by too much money than too little. The best guarantee that a boy will go to college is that he be prepared for college. Gothenburg had 27 of its Alumni in colleges and universities during the past year.

Born and reared and having taught in this country he knows the great problems of rural life. He believes that to stem the tide of the movement of our country youth to the city, we need the rural high school, and to this end he believes in state aid for rural high schools. He believes that a part of our inheritance tax should have been devoted to rural school betterment. He favors a law dedicating to education the immense revenue ultimately to be derived by the state from the control of its water power.

Mr. Whitehead wears no man's collar and if elected the people will have at the head of their schools a fearless champion of all that is best in education. In recognition of his experience and judgment, Governor Morehead has placed him on a commission for the revision of the school law.

Mr. Whitehead's nomination was place on the Democratic ticket a result from the west half of the vote. A strong candidate for this high office. —Gothenburg Times

J. A. OLLIS Ord, Neb.

J. A. Ollis, candidate for the democratic nomination for railway commissioner says in a letter:

"I believe the reader will agree with me when I say that the office of railway commissioner is second in importance to no other in the state and that there is no office in which the people should be more interested, for the welfare of every man who buys or sells a dollar's worth of material whether it be labor or some other commodity, is affected by the work of the commissioner. I have filed for that office because, through my work in the senate, I have become much interested and believe that the commissioners should fearlessly perform the duties of that office.

"Among the bills that I introduced and pushed through the legislature, against strong opposition, were 'The law for the physical valuation of common carriers', 'The stock yards law', and I was largely responsible for the enactment of the 'Stocks and Bond law.' These three measures with the constitutional power given the commissioner by the people give ample power to adjust transportation questions to the end that the companies shall not unjustly burden the people.

"High rates with poor service would be unjust, low rates with poor service would be unsatisfactory, but good service with reasonable rates is what is demanded and may be reasonably expected. The companies should receive a rate that would enable them to pay a living wage to their employees and a reasonable dividend on the money invested but watered stock is a menace to big business as well as a hardship on the patron and should not be considered for a moment.

"In conclusion I want to add that my heart is in the work and, if elected, the best that is in me will be given to the end that your interest and the interest of the state shall be advanced."

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NO. THREE

The following proposed amendment to the constitution of the State of Nebraska, as hereinafter set forth in full, is submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska, to be voted upon at the general election to be held Tuesday, November 3rd, A. D. 1914.

Be it Resolved and Enacted by the People of the State of Nebraska:

Section 1. That at the general election for state and legislative offices, to be held on the Tuesday succeeding the first Monday in November, 1914, the following be submitted as amendments to Sections 1 and 24, of Article V, of the Constitution of Nebraska:

Sec. 1. The executive department shall consist of a Governor, who shall hold his office for a term of two years from the first Thursday after the first Tuesday in January, next after his election, and until his successor is elected and qualified. In addition to the Governor, the executive department shall include the following officers: Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor of Public Accounts, Treasurer, Superintendent of Public Instruction, Attorney General and Commissioner of Public Lands and Buildings, each of whom shall hold his office for the term of two years from the first Thursday after the first Tuesday in January, next after his election, and until his successor is elected and qualified; Provided, however, that the first election of said officers shall be held on the Tuesday succeeding the first Monday in November, 1914, and each succeeding election shall be held at the same relative time in each even year thereafter. The Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor of Public Accounts, and Treasurer shall reside at the seat of government during their terms of office, and keep the public records, books and papers there, and shall perform such duties as may be required by law.

Sec. 24. The salary of the Governor shall be five thousand ($5,000.00) dollars per annum. The salary of the Auditor of Public Accounts and Secretary of State, Superintendent of Public Instruction and Commissioner of Public Lands and Buildings shall be two thousand five hundred ($2,500.00) dollars each per annum, and of the Attorney General, four thousand dollars ($4,000.00) per annum, the salary of the State Treasurer shall be three thousand ($3,000.00) dollars per annum, and the Lieutenant Governor shall receive one and one-half the compensation of a senator, after the adoption of this constitution they shall not receive their own use any fees, costs, interests upon public moneys in their hands, or under their control, perquisites of office or other compensation of any kind, that may hereafter be payable by law for services performed by an officer provided for in this article of the constitution shall be paid in advance by the state treasury. There shall be no allowance for clerk hire in the offices of the Superintendent of Public Instruction and Attorney General.

Sec. 2. That at the general election on the Tuesday succeeding the first Monday in November, 1914, on the ballot of each elector voting thereat, there shall be printed or written the words: "Proposed amendments to the constitution, fixing the term of office and salary for governor, and other executive officers."

Approved April 21, 1913. Addison Wait, Secretary of State, of the State of Nebraska, do hereby certify that the foregoing proposed amendment to the constitution of the State of Nebraska is a true and correct copy of the original enrolled and engrossed bill, as passed by the Thirty-third session of the Legislature of the State of Nebraska, and appears from said original bill on file in this office, and that said proposed amendment is submitted to the qualified voters of the State of Nebraska for their adoption or rejection at the general election to be held on Tuesday, the 3rd day of November, A. D. 1914.

In Testimony Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the Great Seal of the State of Nebraska.

Done at Lincoln, this 23rd day of March, in the year of our Lord, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Fourteen, and of the Independence of the United States the One Hundred and Thirty-seventh, and of this State the Forty-seventh.

ADDISON WAIT, Secretary of State.

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NO. ONE

The following proposed amendment to the constitution of the State of Nebraska, as hereinafter set forth in full, is submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska, to be voted upon at the general election to be held Tuesday, November 3rd, A. D. 1914.

Sec. 1. That Section 1 of Article 9 of the Constitution of the State of Nebraska be amended to read as follows: Sec. 1. The rules of taxation shall be uniform as to any given class and taxes shall be levied upon such property as the Legislature may prescribe. Taxes may also be imposed on incomes, privileges and occupations, which taxes may be graduated and progressive and reasonable exemptions may be provided, in addition to those hereinafter specifically mentioned in section 2 of this article.

Sec. 2. That at the general election in November, 1914, there shall be submitted to the electors of the state for their approval or rejection the foregoing proposed amendment to the Constitution in the following form: "For amendment to the Constitution providing for uniform and progressive taxation."

Approved, March 27, 1913.

EGG LAYING CONTEST.

Rich Prizes to Be Given at Panama-Pacific Exposition.
(By L. D. Graham, assistant chief, department of live stock.)

One of the chief features of the great poultry show to be held in connection with the Panama-Pacific International exposition, as planned by Mr. D. O. Lively, chief of the department of live stock, will be the international egg laying contest, which will begin the 1st of November, 1914, and continue for twelve full months. This contest will be conducted by the department of live stock and under the supervision of the poultry division of the College of Agriculture of the University of

I. D. GRAHAM.

California, thus giving it the most expert supervision as well as placing it under recognized authority.

The contesting pens will each be composed of ten females of the same variety in which the birds must be at least eight months old, and not more than eleven months old at the opening day of the contest. The competition will be open to the world, and all birds will be housed and fed alike. Diseased birds will not be received.

Prizes will be awarded on performance, and the total number of marketable eggs produced by each pen will be the basis of award. The owner of the pen making the highest annual egg record will receive a trophy and $75 in gold. The second prize will be a trophy and $50 in gold, the third a trophy and $25 in gold and the fourth prize $10 in gold. The leading pen in each variety will be awarded a gold medal and $10 in gold. The owner of the hen making the highest individual record will be awarded a trophy and $15 in gold, second prize $10 and third $5. The owner of each hen making a record of over 200 eggs will be awarded an exposition trophy. Trophies will be awarded each month to the pen making the highest record for that month. Not less than three pens must be shown in order that a variety may be represented in the contest in competition for special variety prizes. In case there are less than three entries in any one variety pens may compete in other classes where eligible.

All entries will be booked in the order in which they are received, and all entries will close on Oct. 14, 1914. All pens will be numbered and the records credited to those numbers.

RAISING PIGEONS.

Overcrowded Lofts a Danger to Be Guarded Against.

Every loft should have a double floor. Single floors are apt to be damp and, consequently, emit bad odors.

Although pigeons are supposed to represent purity and gentleness, it is the experience of the keepers of pigeons that they can be and are pugnacious in the extreme during the breeding months, says the Farm Journal.

Opportunity should be given them to bathe as often as they desire. This luxury they will avail themselves of daily.

With the increase of the dentizens of the loft, through the young birds that have been added to the stock during the breeding season, many lofts are overcrowded. This is especially the case where young fanciers commenced the season with more old birds than their accommodations warranted.

Barren results are generally experienced where too much is attempted. If too many birds are kept in one compartment, a greater number of infertile eggs may be anticipated, as when old birds have to fight for their quarters it is impossible for matters to go on comfortably.

Where practical, the young birds should have a loft to themselves, and great care and attention should be exercised in feeding and cleanliness, and a sharp lookout kept for vermin. In the case of young, the different sexes may be permitted to run together, as they will not attempt to mate up.

Feeding the Chicks.

Do not depend on too much mash food for your growing chicks. Give the growing and developing gizzards something to do, some grit to grind, or they will not develop as they should.

DAIRY WISDOM.

Mistreatment may spoil any good calf or good cow. It takes careful handling as well as the right kind of breeding and feeding to win out for the farm stock.

The idea that any sort of shelter will do for the dairy cow is fortunately passing into ancient history.

Just because the cows are on pasture it is not advisable to discontinue feed in the barn entirely.

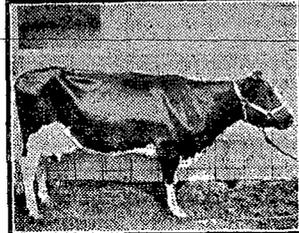

The dairy cow needs a good barn and will pay for a good barn better than any other farm animal.

Milk that has a bad flavor often acquires this after it is drawn from the cow. It is more often due to such influences than to the feed the cows have had.

The dairy cow must have a ration from which she can produce milk if you expect her to make a profitable return for the feed.

CAUSES OF STRONG FLAVORS IN BUTTER

There are several things which might cause butter to become strong or rancid, says the Rural New Yorker. In the first place, the milk must be kept as clean and free from bacteria as possible until it goes into the separator. There is considerable probability, especially in warm weather, that the milk pails may carry bacteria. Utensils containing milk need more than an ordinary amount of scrubbing in order to keep them clean. Milk will dry into the seams and rough places unless the greatest care is used to prevent it, and it is sure to cause trouble. Thorough scalding of all milk utensils is advisable, but a good scouring powder with plenty of elbow grease is most essential. The same is true of the separator. All separators have plenty of places for milk to collect, and in some separators there are lots of places hard to get at. The cream

Holstein cows are as famed for their strength and vitality as they are for their ability to produce enormous quantities of milk. Rarely does a Holstein cow fail to produce a calf each year. Recently was published the record of a seven-year-old cow that had produced seven calves. Although never rested to make a record, she has made over thirty pounds of butter in one week for the past four years in a week's butter test.

should be cooled immediately after separation and not mixed with older cream until cold.

After churning it is necessary to wash the buttermilk from the butter quite completely or the buttermilk will soon develop objectionable flavors. In warm weather the butter is apt to "come soft," and then it is difficult to remove the buttermilk completely. Churning should be at a sufficiently low temperature so that the butter will come in shottlike granules, and when in this condition should be thoroughly washed with cold water. Then of course the butter should be kept in a place where it cannot absorb strong odors from outside.

The Summer Silo.

For a summer silo for, say, twenty cows the diameter should not exceed ten feet. The surface silage spoils very quickly in hot weather, and so, if one gets down to sweet silage, one will have to take off about two inches a day, which will be the necessary amount for twenty cows. When the farmer has tried it out he will find that the silo is less expensive in every way and much handier than siling his cows in summer. Besides, he will find that cows prefer the silage to any green stuff he may cut and cart in before them.

Influence of the Dairy Sire.

A poultry breeder writing about laying hens says: "A hen is a good layer or a poor one, not because her mother or any of her (the mother's) ancestors were high or low producers, but because her father came from a superior laying hen."

"There you have" the importance of the sire in a word, and what is more, it is true. It applies to cows just as well as to hens, but thousands of farmers don't see it, and so they go stumbling along trying to get good cows from poor, cheap bulls.—Hoard's Dairyman.

The Cow and Her Feed.

The more a cow relishes her feed the more she will eat, and that means the more she will produce at the pail. That's the idea of palatability in the ration, increasing the cow's desire for food, stimulating her appetite and catering to her taste. Of course all this presupposes a good, profitable cow.

Besides Calamity—What?

The charge that democratic rule and legislation have caused dull business contains the cue for political workers of high degree and low, which has been passed along the line from the Washington headquarters of the republican party. The charge has been proven false, but, manifestly, many republicans still hope that by continuing the melancholic din they may yet convince the country of its desperate case. But, from the democratic standpoint, what is there to face aside from these lamentations?

The House of Representatives contains 435 members. Are any 100 of them united upon a program of opposition to democratic policies and measures that involves anything more concrete than this dismal chorus of dole?

Does one-fourth of the membership of either house propose to repeal the Underwood Competitive Tariff and substitute the Payne-Aldrich-Smoot tariff of privilege? Does any appreciable percentage of the democratic opposition intimate that the new Regional Reserve Bank Act ought to be discarded and replaced by the Aldrich Central Bank or the antiquated banking system which broke down so disastrously in 1907? How many republican or progressive politicians will sign their names to a declaration that President Wilson's courageous and determined fight for reform of the anti-trust laws, now being prosecuted at the risk of his health, ought to be abandoned? Should the president confronted with the evidence of the lobby's sinister activities, have remained silent and thus have permitted the agents of invisible government to continue to do business in the same old way? Do they want Mulhall back again, a secret agent of the Rockefeller banks in the Treasury Department, and Secretaries of the treasury taking the mid-night special for conferences with the chieftains of the money trust every week or so? Should the labor legislation of the present democratic congress be replaced and the anti-injunction and the contempt bill be withdrawn?

In every instance the answer must be a negative one. The evils which these acts and measures deal with have cried aloud many years for remedies. Other parties and other leaders have talked remedies; the democrats, entrusted with power for the first time in eighteen years, have provided remedies.

Blaugas

We are informed that the Nebraska Blaugas Co., of Omaha Nebraska, have appointed Charles H. Merritt distributing agent for Wayne and Dixon counties. Blaugas is liquefied gas manufactured from gas oil. The gas is compressed in steel containers to 1-400 of its volume for distribution. Blaugas represents perfection in modern gas production. The Blaugas system gives a perfect gas for cooking and lighting purposes, making it possible for every home, no matter where located to enjoy the comforts and advantages of gas at moderate expense. Mr. Merritt is equipping a display room in the W. B. Vail building, opposite Union hotel. Do not install any cooking and lighting system until you have investigated Blaugas.—32-2 adv

Use of the Telephone in U. S. and Europe

When telephone rates are low and service good, the use of the telephone is liberal; if rates are high and service poor, the use of the telephone is restricted.
Because telephone service in the U. S. is the best and the rates the lowest in the world, Americans use the telephone more than twice as much as the people of any other nation.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remediation. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, it swells and when it swells it clogs and when it clogs it prevents the escape of air from the ear. Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. W. F. Dawson and Ray Phillips autoed through from Bertrand, this state, arriving Sunday. They reside on farm sixteen miles southeast of that place. They are friends of Vaughn Williams.

An auto load of Carroll would-be horse shoe pitchers, including ye editor, went to Belden Friday of last week and came home carrying the short end of a 42 to 20 score. We won't mention the names of the rest of the boys for they might not be used to going through defeat as editors are. At any rate Belden is going to return the visit some time in the near future, and then look out.

Winside Notes

(From the Tribune)

Ike Brugger, rural carrier on route two, attempted to make his journey Monday with an automobile which he had acquired through a trade, but broke down a few miles from town and had to be pulled in by Wm. King.

The Camp-Fire Girls met in their monthly council last Thursday evening at the country home of Miss Ruth Tidrick. The hours passed telling Indian legends. The guardian awarded the honors earned. At the close of the evening lunch was served.

Dr. Vic Siman returned from Toledo, Ohio Saturday, where he served on a staff in a Toledo City Hospital the past year. The profession seems to agree with Vic as he had added a considerable amount of avoirdupois since his entry into that field. He is now looking for a location.

G. W. Moran, claiming to be a contest promoter for newspapers and other business houses, blew in town last Friday and after obtaining a few meals and lodging at the Commercial Hotel, succeeded in passing a worthless check on Miss Esther Tillson, a daughter of the landlady, for the sum of $3. He is now serving a ten days sentence in the county jail at Wayne.

Tom Pryor and Art Auker seemed a little tired Monday morning. But little wonder when we learned they, with their wives, had been to Creighton and entertained at the John Brugger and Frank Pryor homes. Such a round of picnics, lunches and auto rides as they crowded into two short days, was enough to make anyone lazy next day.

Home From Denmark

Last Thursday evening Neil Nelson, who left here about three months ago to visit his old home near Aalborg, Denmark, reached home, and was glad to be once more in America. He reports an enjoyable visit with relatives and friends.

In speaking of the war, he said that in Denmark they heard little or nothing of it, and were three days out before they knew that there was war, when they got word by wireless. As they were in the ship of a neutral nation they had but little to fear from the warships of the warring nations. They saw a number of German warships both going over and returning, sailing about in eastern waters. On July 27 the boat passed through a snow storm and passengers were able to gather snow enough from the deck to make small snowballs.

Conditions in Denmark have changed since he left there. The large farms have all been divided up, and now all are small farms—from 5 to 10 acres being the common size. On one place he knew when a boy where then lived but one family there are now 200 families, and making a living. Dairying is one of the great industries, and nearly all keep cows, and make butter in creameries owned by the people. Their cows are kept up the year round, usually being in the lot for exercise a short time in the morning, and in the barn the rest of the day. Green feed is cut for them daily in the growing season.

He said that the scene was beyond description as they approached the landing on this side. All of the people rushed to one side of the ship shouting and hurrahing—glad to be at home once more—and relieved of the certain dread and uncertainty that all felt after learning that war had been declared.

Mr. Nelson said that he gained 10 pounds in weight on the home voyage, and enjoyed every hour of the time. The great ship was the scene of all kinds of games and sports. He thinks base ball was about the only game not played while homeward bound. He said he got home just in time to be put into the hard work of threshing, but does not mind it much as they are glad to have something to thresh.

It Takes All Kinds of People

At least we are told that—to make the world. People look at things from different viewpoints. Last week the Democrat told of being criticised for not boosting harder for this community and county, and so in referring to crop conditions we qualified with the word "Bumper" when writing—and before we got home a farmer called us to account for using the qualifying word about the crop. He thinks we do not have a bumper crop prospect in corn. So we cannot please them all, try as we will.

Two weeks ago the editor displeased some by printing a bit of news in which many were interested, and after the next paper was out he was called a coward for not printing a statement which might have led to a libel suit for all we knew of the circumstances at the time. We offered to print the matter this week if the person who charged us with cowardice wanted it bad enough to write it up and sign his name to it. There are lots of people who are willing the newspaper man shall rake chestnuts out for them. When you think some evil should be remedied—some thing you think wrong, should be given publicity, and some one roasted, show your faith by your works—write it up, sign it and offer to pay the cost of putting it before the public. That is what you ask the newspaper man to do very frequently—and lots of times he does it—sees it as his duty.

Notice of Attachment

J. H. Lowdon will take notice that on the fourth (4) day of August, 1914, James Britton, County Judge, in and for Wayne County, Nebraska, issued an order of attachment for the sum of thirteen dollars and ninety cents ($13.90), and costs of suit, in an action pending before him where in Ralph Clark is plaintiff and J. H. Lowdon defendant, that property of the defendant consisting of tables, beds, chairs, stoves, rugs, dishes and all other household furniture and goods on the premises known as the Newton Creamery Building, has been attached under said order. Said cause was continued to the twenty-first day of September, 1914, at ten (10) o'clock a. m.

The Bumper Corn Crop

Monday morning Robert Baird brought to this office a report from the corn field of about 160 acres on the Perry ranch. The report was in the shape of two stalks cut from the field, each bearing two well-developed ears of corn and a half dozen ears of good size and almost out of the way of frost, picked at random along the edge of the field. Mr. Baird said that he was through the field, and found it very uniform in stand and quality. Two to three stalks in the hill and not a stalk that shows any sign of being fired, and it is his opinion that the harvest will show 60 bushels per acre, regardless of weather from now on, unless it should frost this month, something not at all apt to happen in this state. He said that the seed for this corn came from seed coming from Dakota. The stalk is not tall, but the ears are large and well-filled, and the stalk bears heavy foliage of leaves. Mr. Perry also has a field of Reed Yellow Dent that is good, the stalks being much taller, and it is also well eared.

Another farmer is reported as saying that in his opinion the corn crop will average ten bushels more to the acre than last season.

T. W. Moran was at Carroll the first of the week, and took special notice of corn prospects, both coming and going, and on different routes, and he says it all looked well, and he saw but little that appeared in any way damaged by dry weather. We are glad to say that there are indications of an excellent corn crop in Wayne county.

Ed Owen who has long been a resident of this county, and a farmer and farm owner, with Attorney Berry drove to the Elkhorn last week, and he reports that in the years he has lived here he has never seen brighter or better corn prospects early in August than now. Corn is well advanced for the time of the year.

Here is one on the other side: A retired farmer who has been out in the country some expresses the opinion that the corn crop of this season will not any more than equal that of a year ago.

The Jones-Wilson Show

The show given at Wayne Tuesday by Jones Brothers and Wilson was something different. Those who stayed at home because they had seen so many shows before now wish that they had gone and taken the children. These show people have gotten away from the old stereotyped circus idea, and present new features. The trick ponies were nice, the riding good, the tight-rope work above average. The elephants were well trained and did their difficult stunts to perfection, but the entirely new features were the work of the Mille Zira in the large steel cage of leopards, mountain lion and tigers. She made a cage full of these cat-like monsters do her bidding and skip about the cage like great kittens. They were trained by her. Prof. Pete Taylor however appeared to have greater mastery over more ferocious animals. He went into a cage filled with eight or nine lions that had been captured in the wilds of Africa, and were as near untamable as possible for a wild animal to be—yet he made them do his bidding though they often showed fight and struck back in vicious manner. This act was rather strenuous for any in the audience with weak nerves, and was more marveled at than enjoyed for it appeared at all times so near a tragedy. This show was indeed different, and an improvement.
