WAYNE, WAYNE COUNTY, NEBRASKA, MARCH 25, 1915

$1.50 PER YEAR

The Town Caucus—A Dinger

None need complain of lack of attendance at the caucus called for last Friday evening for the "Citizens" to name candidates for the various offices within their gift this year. The fact that about 75 or 100 voters had a quiet meeting the evening before unknown to any except those known to be kindred spirits at which a ticket was suggested was not known generally enough to have any opposition move inaugurated against it if it were desired.

The caucus was called to order by W. D. Redmond, who was chairman of the caucus a year before, and by virtue of that fact was to open the ball this time. J. H. Kemp was named as temporary secretary, and the convention unanimously willed to retain these officers for the evening. City Attorney Berry was asked to make a statement of the financial condition of the city, and in doing so he paid a tribute to the present officials, both mayor and councilmen. He stated that they had taken the city in hand at a time when there was about $5,000 of outstanding warrants and on top of that been called upon to meet several emergencies such as providing a storm sewer made necessary because of the building of the new depot over the open ditch which has been conveying water from Main street along the line of the railway right of way. This called for $1000 or a little more. The boilers were in bad shape at the light and power plant and a new boiler had to be added to the plant. These expenses had been met and the old debts paid, and the city would be ready to begin the next year with practically a clean slate, except for the bonded indebtedness.

The city voted to issue $7,000 in bonds to be used in extending water mains, purchasing and installing a new pump and adding to the standpipe enough to secure better water pressure at the higher points of the city. This last improvement was made by erecting an entirely new standpipe, which both increases the pressure and the capacity of the water supply. Two new sewer districts were also created and the sewer laid, a mile or more. But the bulk of this improvement is charged to the abutting property, however.

Following this the nomination of officers came, and the name of D. H. Cunningham was presented for the office of mayor. In opposition to this name several were placed in nomination, only to withdraw or be withdrawn by their near friends when not present to do that act themselves. Finally H. Henney and Max Miller were placed in nomination, neither being present or having a friend there to drag them from in under if there should be a stampede. The ballots were prepared and voted, and the result was as follows: Total vote cast 230 of which Cunningham received 119, Henney 105 and Miller 6, and D. H. Cunningham was declared the nominee.

J. M. Cherry and H. S. Ringland, present incumbents, were named by acclamation by the caucus for city clerk and city treasurer.

For city engineer Guy Strickland and E. J. Hunter were placed before the caucus, and a ballot resulted in the nomination of Strickland by a vote of 146 to 59.

For members of the board of education A. R. Davis, H. Henney, F. S. Berry and I. H. Britell were nominated to fill the two places to be vacant on the board. The vote was for Davis 158, Henney 131, Berry 87, Britell 17.

The motion to empower the officers of the caucus to certify to the names of the two candidates receiving highest number of votes as nominees and have their names placed on the ballot at election was lost by a close vote. Some voted against it because they did not want it so, and others, because they feared that it could not be legally done. This called out much spirited debate and good points were made on both sides. We tell elsewhere how it was done at Wynot, and the State Journal tells that at Havelock the plan was adopted and no objections were reported. At Auburn, we are told this has been their method for several years.

Of course it is not absolutely necessary here in Wayne where every candidate is a good one, that we have more than one candidate for each office on the ballot, but yet there are those who feel that they would like to have some choice between men and measures when they go to the polls.

In the different ward caucuses, held immediately following the adjournment of the first gathering, E. J. Poulson was named for councilman in the 1st ward, W. A. Hixcox in the 2d and John Harrington in the 3d ward. No candidates have been filed by petition and it is now too late for that nor has there been any one who has filed papers declining the honor.

At an rate it is now the same as settled for the coming year, and if the nomination is to equal an election those interested must look to the nominating convention as the last chance to secure what they may wish in city government, and every voter should interest himself in the caucus or primary, and to force them to do so is a good thing.

Married

A simple home wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Griffith, on Sunday, March 21st, 1915, at 1:30 p. m., when they gave in marriage their daughter, Mabel, to Robert K. Parkinson, of Grand Island, Nebraska.

Rev. Cross, pastor of the Presbyterian church of this place, as officiating clergyman, pronounced the solemn words that united them for life.

The bride is a young woman of culture and fine accomplishments, coming from Des Moines, Iowa, where she has held a highly responsible position as stenographer for several years.

The groom is connected with the Nichols-Shepherd Machine Co., of Minneapolis, being at present sales manager for western Nebraska, with headquarters at Grand Island.

While only immediate friends and relatives were present a host of their friends and acquaintances extend to them congratulations and best wishes for a future abounding in happiness and success.

They departed on the afternoon train for their home at Grand Island.

Death of Elizabeth Crogan

Mrs. Elizabeth Crogan passed from earth at the family home in this city Sunday afternoon, March 27, 1915, at the age of 44 years, 10 months and 25 days, after a short illness, of heart trouble. She came to Wayne in the spring of 1902. She was born in Iowa county, Iowa, April 26, 1869, and leaves a husband, two children, two sisters and four brothers to mourn her death. The children, Loretta and Harold are students in the Wayne high school, one sister, Mrs. M. J. Fitzgerald, of Cripple Creek, Colo., could not be present at the funeral. The other, Miss May Kerwin lives near Wayne, also her brothers, Ed and Guss; Richard lives at Kansas City, and Martin at Coleridge.

The funeral was conducted by Rev. Father Kearns from St. Mary's church, and was attended by many relatives and friends, and the members of the junior and senior classes of the high school were present to sympathize with their classmates in their sad loss. The burial was in Wayne cemetery.

A Little Fire

The timely discovery of a fire started at the home of Bert McClary in the northwest part of town Tuesday afternoon prevented the loss of the house and contents. The fire had its origin from the light wires, according to all evidence and the appearance of the place, and from the report of those who have previously lived in the house such a result was not unexpected. The damage to the house will not probably exceed $50, and was protected by insurance. Mr. McClary's loss is perhaps twice as great, and is covered by insurance. The chemical engine was the only equipment needed to subdue the flame.

A Surprise Party

A group of young folks met at the home of Anna Garndquist, Saturday evening, March 20, 1915, to help her celebrate her seventeenth birthday. The evening was spent in playing games and afterwards a lunch was served. All departed wishing their friend many happy returns of the day.

School Notes

The social evening provided by the Girls' Council Thursday was one of the most pleasant and enjoyable of the year. The program consisted of music and talks on the general subject, "General Welfare of High School Girls" by representatives of the Women's clubs. Mrs. W. H. Morris of the U. D. club talked of athletics in the course of her discourse suggesting the organization of a club to further girls' athletics and emphasizing the pleasure and benefits to be derived from participating in tennis, volleyball, basketball, or "hikes". Mrs. H. H. Hahn of the Monday club followed with a most excellent paper on "Vocation for Women Originating in the Work of the Home". Fields of opportunity open to women were shown to be numerous, varied, attractive, and lucrative. The paper was inspiring, indeed, and made the girls feel that women are coming to fill a large proportion of the desirable positions in the industrial world. The girls' quartet, consisting of Misses Fern and Frances Oman, Izetta Johnson and Helen Main then sang "Water Lilies" and responded to an encore with "I Want to Live". Mrs. C. H. Bright of the Minerva club then gave an inspiring and instructive talk on "What to Read." It was replete with valuable suggestions. Mrs. Bright made an interesting division of books. Those read by everyone for a short time and those read by a few always. Mrs. Albert Jacobs of the Aeme club talked on "Social Life for Girls," suggesting dramatics, and a story telling circle. Miss Fairchild of the Shakespeare club chose for her subject "Co-operation", and emphasized the necessity of each girl doing her share of yielding in any circumstances where co-operation is necessary. At the conclusion of the program light refreshments were served. The affair was much enjoyed and the girls anticipate action in accordance with many of the suggestions offered, and hope to enjoy many more such functions.

The last basket ball game of the season was played Friday evening by the high school team and the State Normal Midgets, the result being 18 to 23 in favor of the Midgets. The game scheduled for that night against Randolph was called off by the Randolph team. School will be dismissed this evening so the city teachers may attend the Teachers' association at Norfolk Friday and Saturday.

Warda Randol, who will represent the Wayne high school in the declamatory contest at Norfolk this evening, gave his selection before the State Normal student body in chapel Tuesday morning.

Fred Woolston Dead

Fred Woolston, who formerly lived at Wayne and also at Winfield, died last week at Lincoln after a few months of ill health, and the body was taken to Magnet, where his mother and two sisters live, for burial. He was about 35 years of age, and a bright young man, who was making a success in the postal service at Omaha, when his health failed, following the exertion and excitement at a railroad wreck he happened to be in when returning from a visit at Magnet less than a year ago. A number of his friends were at the station to greet those who went through with the body.

Card of Thanks

We desire to extend our heartfelt thanks to the neighbors and friends who so kindly aided and sympathized with us during the long sickness of husband and friend. Especially do we appreciate the tribute of flowers and the faithful neighborly services of the women of the neighborhood during the months of sickness and the last sad days.

Mrs. J. G. Schuster.

The Normal Senior-Junior Banquet

The annual Senior-Junior banquet, given Saturday evening, was one of the most delightful events of the year. The company gathered in the chapel at 7:30. Here the Seniors produced a dramatization of Hiawatha's wooing, beautifully worked out.

The stage, resembling a forest; the Indians, in real Indian costume; the beautiful reading by Miss Ina Hughes, with low, musical accompaniment; the soft lights cast over all by means of the stereopticon were most enchanting. With each new scene murmurs of awe and delight floated over the audience.

At the close of this exercise the company repaired to the gymnasium where the banquet was served. The ugliness of the room had disappeared as if by magic. They were in a beautiful banquet hall.

The color scheme was worked out in the Normal and the Senior class colors. The Junior boys added much to the scheme by wearing ties of Senior class colors. The courses were served by nine young ladies who moved with precision and despatch. Greetings by Gitche Manito, the mighty, (President Conn) made all feel that they had reached the Happy Hunting Ground. Miss Louise McGraw, the toastmistress, must have had previous experience from the charming manner in which she presented each speaker. The toasts were as follows:

Hiawatha's Childhood, Neoma Hoogner; Hiawatha's Friends, Frank Roe; Hiawatha's Canoe, Mr. Bright; The Ghosts, Mary Monahan; The Peace Pipe, Earl Schroer; The White Man, Miss Killen; The wedding Feast, Eugenia Madsen; Hiawatha's Departure, Ray Hickman.

Several speakers very cleverly wove together appropriate sentiments by using the meter in Hiawatha. Miss Killen, the Senior class adviser, declares the class alone did it all.

A New Insurance Map

H. L. Meyer, representing the inspection bureau of the companies writing fire insurance in Nebraska, is here re-rating the place and making a new insurance map of the town, something which has not been done before for about ten or twelve years, we are told. It is to be hoped that he finds conditions here such that he will be warranted in commending a less rate for carrying the average risk in Wayne. In fact, we hope that of the officers of the commercial club, city officials, or some competent authority take a little time to learn what this representative of the companies is doing, and see that Wayne is shown to him in a proper light—that we may obtain the best possible rate.

New Train Service Sundays

Instead of simply running a Sunday train on the Bloomfield and Crofton branches occasionally as stock business demanded, train No. 56 has been scheduled as a regular Sunday train, coming down in the afternoon, and returning in the evening after the west bound passenger has arrived from the east. It is a convenience to the stock men and also to quite a number of passengers who desire to go up the branch Sunday evening.

The Russians have captured Przemysl, a strongly fortified place in their way when attempting to invade Austria. It was a case of hunger rather than bullets. With the capture came 120,000 prisoners, all that were left of 170,000 who started to defend the place. 15,000 people were found to be suffering from typhus or cholera, and the place had been without food for a week when taken.

J. H. Bartlett has let the contract for an addition to be built to his house in the east part of town now occupied by D. C. Lewis, chiropractor. Two good sized rooms will be added besides a bath and toilet room and the house will be made modern throughout. Work on the cellar is now under way and the foundation and carpenter work will be pushed as fast as possible.

Mrs. W. C. Hammond from Blair, has been here visiting her parents, A. T. Witter and wife, and her brother, Chas. Witter. She returned home Wednesday.

Social Notes

Mrs. Kiplinger and her sister, Mrs. Cook, entertained the Monday club Monday afternoon at Kensington. Each member invited a guest. Mrs. Cook had prepared a story leaving blanks to be filled in with titles of books, and the guests drew lots for the prize, a copy of "The House of Seven Gables." Miss Piper being the lucky one. Each member of the club brought a covered dish containing some kind of food and a delicious luncheon was served. Mrs. Will Nangle was an out of town guest. The club meets next week with Mrs. Heckert.

The Arme club met with Mrs. Ellis Monday afternoon. Roll call, "Children of the Abbey". Mrs. Ellis read a paper on "History of Westminster Hall and Abbey." Mrs. Jacobs read a paper on "History and Architecture of St. Paul's." The hostess served light refreshments. The next meeting will be a social afternoon at Mrs. Mines.

The U. D. club met with Mrs. J. H. Kemp last Monday afternoon. After roll call the lesson on "South America" was reviewed. Mrs. Harry Craven read a magazine article entitled, "Story of the Republic." Mrs. Harry Jones read a magazine article on "Mexican Note Book." The next meeting will be with Mrs. Morris.

Miss Marguerite and Richard Forbes who are attending the Columbian university were invited to a St. Patrick's party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Lucky of Lincoln, who are spending the winter in New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Craven, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fisher and Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Ahern will entertain the Early Hour club at the home of the former this evening at a 6:30 dinner. The evening will be spent in playing "500".

The Westminster Guild held its regular meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Wendte. The next meeting will be held with Miss Mamie Wallace at the F. H. Jones home, Miss Bessie Durrie will be leader.

The young Ladies Bible circle met with Miss Ella Benschoff last Saturday afternoon. They had a very interesting meeting. They will meet next Saturday evening with Miss Emma Abbott.

Mrs. Lane and Mrs. Donahey entertained the N. M. N. S. at the home of the former Wednesday evening. The usual game of "500" was played. Dainty refreshments were served.

Miss Florence Welsh will entertain a party of young folks at cards this evening.

Presbyterian Church

(Rev. S. Xenophon Cross, Pastor)
Word comes to us of the wonderfully successful meetings being held by Mr. Shalleross in Wahoo. We expect Mr. Shalleross with us to begin a three weeks' series of meetings next Sunday, March 28th.

Professor Buma, Tenor Singer from Chicago, will be here to assist in the singing. Prof. Buma is highly spoken of and seems to have more than pleased where he has assisted Mr. Shalleross in union meetings.

We invite everybody to come to these meetings and to invite everybody else to come. These are not "our" meetings; they are for everyone. Come to the first meeting and to every other meeting.

All Christians, in all the churches, are asked and urged to be at the meetings and co-operate in them. They may be, and should be, a grand climax to evangelistic effort in Wayne this winter. All can safely unite under Mr. Shalleross.

Mr. Shalleross is a man of unique personality, a speaker of more than ordinary power, and a gentleman of perfect courtesy. He is a man with a message, a burning message, and his words are like arrows tipped with fire. To hear him once means that you will want to hear him again.

This (Thursday) evening, the Rev. Barzillai M. Long, D. D., of Lincoln, will speak at the Presbyterian church at about 8 o'clock. There will be a song service beginning at 7:30. The address is free and all are invited to come. There will be a conference of church workers after the address.

Are Your Eyes Weak?

How you may know when spectacles should first be used: If you are obliged to move your reading further from the eye in order to see it.

If you find it necessary to place the light between the eyes and the object.

If the letters of your paper run together and seem blurred or double.

If you feel sleepy after reading. If you observe any of the above signs or signals of distress, it indicates that the "accommodating muscles" of the eyes are no longer able to alter the shape of the lens so as to "accommodate" or "focus" rays of light coming from different distances and should claim your immediate attention.

If you have eye trouble come and see me. I do nothing but test eyes and make my own glasses.

Chas. Martin went to Omaha and Council Bluffs Tuesday to visit for a time with relatives and renew old acquaintances. Charles played and hunted on the ground that is now the central portion of the place when he was a boy, never expecting to return and walk paved streets and ride the trolley car or jitney bus. But things change and things happen that were not dreamed of a generation ago.

At the Grayfield farm in New York, a dairy farm where they raise and milk Holsteins exclusively, the proprietor says that he makes most of his cream into butter, selling no milk. He does this because he finds that it pays to feed the skim milk to the calves, and they are given a ration of skim milk until a year old. This gives him a fine lot of strong, healthy calves, and they sell readily as yearlings at from $50 to $200 for the females and equally as good prices for the males that are good enough for sires. They keep 80 cows and the young stock which naturally belongs with such a herd and the necessary horses on 250 acres of York State land, growing practically all of the roughage and grain used for the feeding. The cows yield an average of 11,000 pounds of milk annually, and pay a handsome profit on land worth on the market much more than the land here, but no better in any way if as good.

M. T. Munsinger shipped a car of alfalfa this week to some near by point. When farmers can cut three or four good crops of alfalfa a season and find ready market for it at $10 to $15 per ton on track it seems strange that they do not get into the silo game and put up enough silage to release more of the alfalfa for shipment. The cost of silage here should not exceed $2 per ton, and it is an excellent feed for all kinds of stock, and a feed that stock will thrive on, but it is not a feed that may be shipped unless there could be some device in which to can it as they do kroust. Only a few weeks ago we heard a farmer say that his cattle ate a stack of alfalfa that would have sold for $125 on the farm before he opened his silo, and that the stock was doing quite as well on the silage as they had on the alfalfa. It may be a little more work to feed the silage, but a man can afford to work some for a saving of $125 in a few weeks.

If wheat and bread go on and up out of reach the potato will make a good substitute for a large part of the bread used—and is a healthful diet. It might be well for the farmers of this county to plan to grow more potatoes than is customary. With the proper care a crop of spuds will return more in cash on the market than wheat. If the market should prove overstocked so that the price is low, hogs, cattle and sheep will find them an excellent food. Under normal conditions, the potato ranks next to bread as a carbohydrate food. If prices change sufficiently to make it desirable from a financial point of view, there is no scientific reason why potatoes should not be substituted to a great

Sales Pavilion Annual Meet
At the annual meeting of the Wayne Live Stock and Sales Pavilion Co., Monday the directors whose term of office was due to expire were re-elected, and the board of directors remains the same. F. H. Strahan, who was also elected president of the board, L. M. Owen, vice president; Henry Ley, treasurer. Eph. Cunningham and W. H. Gildersleeve. L. C. Gildersleeve was elected secretary and sales manager, the double place he has filled since the resignation of C. H. Fisher as secretary some months ago.

The treasurer's report showed a cash balance on hand of $305.26, and the secretary's report showed that $300 in addition to that has been paid for permanent improvement, a large amount of new stall room having been added to the building. A dividend of 8 per cent was declared, and the share holders will soon be banking their cash, for no one is permitted to hold more than four shares of stock, the par value of which is $25 per share.

That the pavilion has been a good thing for Wayne and the share holders is now well known, for in addition to paying all expense and improvement as needed it has paid no less than 8 per cent interest on the money invested, and has been the means of bringing many good stock sales to Wayne, and an incentive to those breeding thoroughbred stock, as well as bringing the farmer people here from a distance greater than they would come on some occasions but for the sales held twice a month.

Legal Notice
L. R. Winegar, Plaintiff, vs. Willie Gutzman, Defendant.
Willie Gutzman, the defendant, will take notice that on the 11th day of February, 1914, James Britton, county judge, in and for Wayne County, Nebraska, issued an order of attachment for the sum of $184.25 in an action pending before him wherein L. R. Winegar is plaintiff and Willie Gutzman is defendant; that property of the defendant, consisting of a threshing outfit, consisting of a steam engine, separator, water wagon and other articles, has been attached under said order. Said cause was continued to the 12 day of April, 1915, at 10 o'clock.

Law and Its Opportunities
Attorney A. R. Davis addressed the students of the Normal, Friday morning, upon the subject "Law and Its opportunities". Speaking of the evolution of law, he said that in the thirteenth century there were only a few crimes, but severe punishments. In the eighteenth century the number of crimes had reached the total of two hundred. At first it was easy to convict one charged with crime, but this has been changed so that now everything is in favor of the accused. Mr. Davis thinks that, perhaps, the pendulum has swung too far in favor of the accused. The state should busy itself as much in protecting society as in protecting criminals.

As to the qualifications for a lawyer the speaker named those possessed by Abraham Lincoln. It is important that one be a student because laws are multiplying rapidly. Moreover, in the practice of law it is necessary to know what different courts say; one's own opinion does not count. The lawyer must be a student of the technicalities of law and court proceedings.

In this country there is one lawyer to 850 population. In Nebraska the ratio is 1 to 806; while in North Carolina it is 1 to 1600. The profession of law seems to be overcrowded. Yet Mr. Davis declared that there is an increasing demand for the honest lawyer whose purpose is to keep people out of courts. He also believes that there is an increasing demand for women in the profession. There are now as many practicing law in the United States as there are lawyers in Nebraska. The woman lawyer is a twentieth-century product.

Mr. Davis declared that there is no aristocracy among lawyers except that determined by learning and character. One need not hesitate to enter the profession if one purposes to win by fair dealing and integrity. Honest lawyers are in demand. Admission to the practice of law does not make a lawyer, but merely a student of a great profession. Mr. Davis is an interesting speaker, and his address was entertaining as well as helpful and instructive.

Mrs. E. W. Johnson and her sister, Miss Gertrude Anderson went to Oakland Tuesday to visit home folks a few days while Mr. Johnson is at Randolph, where he went to act as railway station agent for a short time at least. The Randolph agent transferred to Oakland to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of the agent there, and it is possible that Mr. Johnson will elect to remain at Randolph.

Mrs. J. A. Kern of Crawford returned home Monday evening following a visit here at the home of her mother, Mrs. J. A. Abbott.

Walter Savidge left Sunday to visit several points in the western part of the state in the vicinity of Crawford.

Two inches of new snow and a wind blocked trains northwest of Norfolk Friday night.

Nebraska has more than one million horses, and has more horses according to the number of people than any other state in the Union.

In the Fred Gilbert shoot at Pender last week, Claude Schmidt won the cup with a score of 91 out of a possible 100 birds. There were ten competing for the cup.

The ladies of Wisner banqueted the members of the gun club at that place one evening last week—that is, the wives of the members of the club arranged a happy blowout.

Henry John Sebade, who has resided near Pender since 1891, died at the home of his daughter there last week at the age of 82 years. He was a native of Germany.

E. R. Rogers of Wayne was over Tuesday feeling of the public pulse and interviewing the school board in regard to getting the school here for the coming year.—Pilger Herald.

At Blair the company of state militia is to be converted into a cavalry troop—and it will be the only troop in the state, which is quite a distinction for the soldier boys of that place.

At Ainsworth last week a fire was started in a kitchen at a restaurant which swept up $6,000 worth of property before it was checked. A barber shop and a doctor's office were destroyed.

Frank J. Dunn succeeds editor Garwood in charge of the Dixon Journal. Mr. Garwood has returned to his agricultural work at South Sioux City after pushing the quill on the Journal during the winter.

It is reported that there is to be a democratic paper started at Tekamah by D. L. Crellen formerly of West Point. We are told that there is now no democratic paper in Burt county at all—except the Lyons Mirror.

The Hartington commercial club has rented a rest room and will have it open for the weary on Saturdays or other busy days, and a lady attendant will be in charge. The Wayne club also rented a room or some rooms, but have not yet obtained possession.

Omaha is boasting of a building boom right now when a lot of places are complaining of dull times. Permits have been granted for nine buildings in that city which will total $3,000,000 in cost, besides the smaller buildings of which there are many.

Wm. Page's father who is 89 years old and who makes his home with him is critically ill and three of his children, John Page of Osceola, Iowa, James Page of Chillicothe, Mo., and Mrs. J. W. Barrett of Wayne, have visited him during the past week.—Pilger Herald.

The Wakefield Republican wants the candidates for office in that place pledged to or instructed to make a speed ordinance of 12 miles an hour and enforce it; enforce the anti-cigarette law and add a large chemical engine to the fire fighting equipment. Will they do it, is the question?

Because of an error in the petition asking that the question of saloon or no saloon at Pender be submitted to the people this year the voters of that city will not be allowed to express an opinion on the question directly, but they might do so indirectly by putting up a dry ticket—if they can find any there dry enough to take that stand.

Ernest Schafer, a fellow who was touring the country pretending to be in search of a job on a farm for the season, was taken out to his place by R. E. Leisy last week. On Friday night he disappeared sometime between midnight and time for waking up the chickens and counting the little pigs born during the night, and with him were missing Mr. Leisy's fine fur cap, three watches, one of which was August Leisy's and highly prized because it had been the property of his father, some finger rings, a rifle and ammunition. He was tracked to the river and railroad, and probably walked to Pilger or Wisner and boarded a night freight train for greener pastures.—Wisner Chronicle.

Representatives of women's clubs comprising the third congressional district will hold their annual meeting at Randolph this year, March 30 and 31 and April 1. Mrs. O. A. Williams, of Neligh, district vice president, and Mrs. W. P. Hill, of Randolph, president of the local club, are making arrangements for complete entertainment and interesting program for visitors and it is expected that there will be from 150 to 200 in attendance.

At Wynot they held a village caucus last week, and were rather smarter than the Wayne people. There, as here, there was a sentiment in favor of having two candidates for each office that the voters might go to the polls with a choice between two at least. They did it in this way. Held the caucus and secured the sentiment of those present, then nominated the choice of each faction by petition. That was dead-end and legal, and also satisfactory. We may live and learn here if we listen well.

Commercial club at Homer want several things accomplished at that place the coming summer. Minors under 18 must be kept out of pool halls. A move was started to have business houses close at 8 o'clock in the evening, it is proposed to establish a drinking fountain for those who drink water. An effort will also be made to secure a bridge where they now have nothing but a foot bridge. About the same time the town council met and warned an undesirable citizen to leave town. That does not look quite right to send that class of people out to pester other people.

The citizens of Coleridge met in mass meeting at that place last week and perfected the organization of a "Community Club of Coleridge Vicinity." Officers were elected as was also a board of directors. It was decided to immediately enter into a membership campaign, which promises to increase the signature list to 500. The present membership will be divided into two lists, which will be captained by Editor Harris and Father Bosheck and under their leadership will continue until April 26, when a banquet will be served and paid for by the side showing the smallest list of signers.—Randolph Times.

Bailey of Britt announces a remnant sale. A few weeks ago he notified about fifty subscribers of the Tribune that they were in arrears, but the majority of them paid no attention to the notice. He is going to give them until April 1, and then hold a public auction for the disposal of the accounts of all who have not come to the scratch. He explains: "A few years ago we held a sale of this kind and got settlements from all except a few confirmed deadbeats. These were mostly residents of other states, and we are happy to state that most of them are either dead or in state's prison," says the Sioux City Journal.

At a recent meeting of the Hartington school board, Supt. C. L. Culler was re-elected and a majority of the other members of the present teaching force. Some of the teachers had other plans for next year and did not desire reelection. Mr. Hale, the popular instructor and athlete, will not be back next year and his place will be filled by Miss Donaldson, Mrs. Culler will not teach next year and the Misses Conn and Aten will not return. Otherwise, the faculty next year will be the same as this. At this meeting, also, the school board took another important step and decided to add a normal training course next year to the high school curriculum. The department will start out with a class of 13 and the school will receive an additional appropriation of $380 from the state on account of the new course.—Hartington Herald.

Will Maupin has moved his Midwest Magazine to Omaha. The March issue contains many articles of interest and educational value. The wonderful Scottsbluff country is given deserved attention and the article is handsomely illustrated. An ex-employee of the Omaha World-Herald furnishes a cleverly written article about Senator Hitchcock, and tells some inside facts about Nebraska newspaper history. An old reporter writes of a famous investigation in an old-time legislative session, and it is full of laughs. Will Maupin contributes another of his inimitable "Memory Excursion" stories, and this one will bring smiles to the faces of the older citizens who read it. When he talks about the "water witch" of the old days he is talking about something the old folks will remember. The March issue is a magazine entitled to rank with the very best of them. The business men of Nebraska ought to be solidly supporting Maupin in his efforts to advertise Nebraska, and Midwest Magazine should be in every Nebraska home.

Legislative Notes

The best guessers at the east end of the capital building suggest that the legislature will adjourn sine-die about April 6th. The grave and reverend senators will not so much as venture a guess. Possibly they like Lincoln better than the representatives who are now ready to adjourn. The big appropriation bills have scarcely had any serious consideration and they must be agreed upon by both branches before the session comes to a close or it would be necessary for an extra session to be called to take care of the state's finances.

The chiropractors have made a long and hard fight for official recognition at this session and with apparent success. There are a few medical doctors in the legislature but they have been unable to stem the tide for the mechanical practitioners. The lawyers of the House grasped the opportunity to punish the physicians for their activity in helping to pass a bill that would permit a litigant to try his own case before the county court. The latter bill, however, failed by one vote to pass in the senate.

Almost every legislative session sprouts booms for governors and congressmen and U. S. Senators, but this year little of the sort has been heard. Peterson of Lancaster, a republican member of the lower house, is developing into a real statesman and it is believable that he may cross swords with Reavis for congressional honors at the next primary. Nichols of Madison is being joshed about running against Dan Stephens but he hasn't admitted the ambition yet. Senator Beal is deporting himself in a manner that warrants his friends in urging him to try conclusions with Moses P. Kinkaid in 1916. It would be impossible to pick a probable candidate for governor out of either party.

State officers are giving diligent attention to the legislature and particularly Attorney General Reed, Auditor Smith and Secretary of State Pool are always ready to lend their assistance in settling some knotty point for the solons.

Representative Thad Scott of Hamilton county offered a motion Saturday that the House cease giving so much attention to matters concerning Omaha and Lincoln and devote a little more time to legislating for the "unorganized territory." Mr. Scott is a democrat but he has all of the fighting qualities of the untrifled populist of twenty years ago.

There has been a little railroad legislation. The roads have had representatives on the job watching things all of the time but nothing of importance has been attempted. The most interesting measure was the proposed Osterman bill to cut the U. P. right of way down to 200 feet instead of 400 feet along the main line.

Consolidation of departments and bureaus has had its full share of attention and the finance committee of the House has labored diligently to cut down the high salaried heads of departments without crippling the efficiency of the administration of the laws. Salaries are being held down or, in some instances, cut a little but nowhere has there been a raise. It is currently reported that the sentiment in the Senate and the House is quite different in the matter of consolidations.

Taylor of Custer started something when he demanded a stricter accounting at the state university. He lost his fight but he has not lost his courage and, although he resigned from the committee in charge of school finances, he is working as diligently as any of the members to get at the facts in the case. He hopes to awaken the public to the necessity for a more discriminating interest in the agricultural activities of the university.

Cities that want to do so may provide by levy for band concerts on the streets and in the public parks.

The state constitution provides that the biennial meeting of the legislature must be in session for not less than sixty days or more than ninety days. By the time this has been printed in the weekly papers the House will have been in session the minimum number of days but the Senate is four days behind and consequently the session can not close before next Tuesday with the strong probability that joint adjournment can not occur before April 5 or 6. The House worked Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday nights of last week to keep up with the sifting committee and on Friday night it was nearly midnight when the fight on the chiropractic bills was settled. Altogether the past week has been by far the busiest of the session and has been full of spectacular events. The House has passed the bill that extends the city limits of Omaha to include South Omaha, Benson, Florence and Dundee, now suburban towns. It has also placed the stamp of its approval upon another Omaha bill, one that permits the city water plant to generate and sell electric current in competition with the present privately owned electric company. A bill authorizing the publication of the personal tax rolls of every precinct has been passed and a bill of special interest to newspaper publishers, making libel laws less stringent, barely secured enough votes to pass it. Both of the above measures are now in the hands of the Senate.

Our legalized monopolies testify to the fact that while we claim that this government has for its aim the greatest good to the greatest number, we have fallen short of the mark. When but one percent of the people own 90 percent of the wealth the other 99 percent of the people with less than 10 percent of the wealth at their command can certify to the fact that some mistakes have been made in the government of this country.

Cost of Neutrality

The cost of neutrality in the loss of commerce and in other ways is a stupendous sum, and the amount that is deemed necessary to secure this nation from invasion by another, is another stupendous sum. The new fourteen-inch naval gun, of which the Oklahoma and Nevada each have ten, and the new dreadnoughts Pennsylvania and Arizona will have twelve, have an effective range of nearly thirteen miles. Each discharge costs about $600, and the gun itself costs $110,000. Twenty of these guns have so far been turned out at the Washington navy yard.

A New York broker remarked to another after reading that announcement that we could stand that expense without any suffering. Whereupon it was replied: "But those guns are of no use and will have to be thrown overboard in a year or two. The English have fifteen-inch guns that will shoot five miles further. They can stand off out of range and sink our whole fleet." A naval officer who was dining at the same club interposed to say: "We are not going to let them stand off. We will run into close quarters and our ships can each throw tons more metal at each round than these ships with a few fifteen-inch guns.

But whether there are six fifteen-inch guns or twelve, twelve-inch, they will cost a lot of money and the people will have to furnish the money from their earnings to foot the bill. No government has a cent of money of its own. It must get it all from the people and the people cannot furnish it until they have earned it. If they did not have to turn it over to the government they would have a lot more for themselves. Neutrality costs money, but war would cost many times more.—World Herald.

State Normal Notes

A meeting of the Normal Board of Education has been called for April 6 at Lincoln.

Seventy-five applicants were enrolled in the teachers' examination held at the Normal on Friday and Saturday of last week.

President Harms of the Norfolk Business College spent Friday at the Normal, visiting the various departments of the school.

This week members of the graduating classes filled application blanks to be passed upon by the board of examiners for state certificates.

Mr. C. Penn writes from Straw, Montana, where he is at present engaged in school work.

Friends of J. A. Christenson, a student of the school in 1910-11 are pleased to learn that he has been promoted to the superintendency of the schools at Tilden.

On Monday morning at convocation the students had the pleasure of listening to a reading by Warda Randol. Mr. Randol will represent the Wayne high school in the declamatory contest at Norfolk Thursday evening, and those who heard him Monday have selected him as the winner.

Mr. E. R. Rogers is the first young man in the class of 1915 to secure election in school work for the ensuing year. Mr. Rogers was recently notified by the board of education at Pilger that he was elected to the superintendency of the schools at that place at a salary of $1,000.00 per year.

The March number of the Goldenrod is put out this year by the Sophomore class, and will be ready for mailing the last of the week. The cartoon features of the paper and nearly all the illustrations are from the pen of Mr. George M. Lewis, Seattle, Washington, a brother of Professor Lewis of the Normal faculty.

The names of the following members of the Normal School faculty appear upon the official program of the North Nebraska Teachers' Association, which will meet at Norfolk, March 26 and 27, 1915; Professor Keckley will act as judge in the declamatory contest Thursday evening; President Conn will address the general session Saturday afternoon on "The Rural School"; in the sectional meeting of superintendents and principals; Dean Hahn will lead in the discussion of a paper, "The Measure of a High School Teachers' Efficiency"; on Friday afternoon Professor Lewis will read a paper before the department of History and English, his subject being "Essentials in History"; in the consideration of the subject "Of What Should a High School Manual Training Course Consist," the discussion will be led by Professor Huntmer; "Psychology of Discipline in the Primary Grades" will be presented by Miss Beechel Friday afternoon in a paper read before the primary section; "Vocational Guidance" is the subject of an address by Dr. J. UNPROFITABLE ACRES.

Idle Lands Can Be Improved Until They Become Profit Bearing.

We hear many uncomplimentary things said about the unprofitable dairy cow—the boarder cow that is supported from the profits of the remainder of the herd. Says J. C. McDowell in the Farm Management Monthly. On many farms the unprofitable dairy cow is not by any means the only boarder. Low yielding acres, the boarder cows, are often fatal to successful farming. Our farm survey records show that areas of poorly drained, compact, sour soils, or soils low in humus greatly reduce net profits and are a frequent cause of minus labor income. Sometimes these records show that as much as 30 per cent of the entire farm acreage does not produce enough to pay its way.

One farm on which we recently took records has forty acres of poorly drained land that in its present condition is practically worthless. Twenty-five dollars per acre spent in drainage will make this forty acre tract the equal of any in that district, and good land is selling there at $150 per acre.

The successful business man tries to weed out all unprofitable enterprises and to expand those that pay a profit. Unprofitable acres cannot always be disposed of as readily as boarder cows, but usually they can be improved until they become profit bearing. If the income from such land cannot be increased it is quite possible that the labor spent upon it can be reduced until the income at least pays the cost of labor.

Early Spinach.

The New Jersey experiment station declares that spinach should be sown broadcast on frozen ground in February and immediately covered to the depth of one inch with well rotted stable manure. Sow about one pound of seed to 1,000 square feet of ground. Thick Leaf is the best variety for this purpose. Spinach sown in this way will grow larger and heavier than spring sown spinach.

Spinach likes a rich, well drained soil. The ground should be sweet and quite hard for best results. Top dress every ten days with nitrate of soda, five pounds to every 1,000 square feet, being careful not to let the nitrate lodge on the large spinach leaves or they will have white spots burned in them.

HOUSES FOR POULTRY.

In order to get plenty of sunlight choose a southern or southeastern exposure.

If possible, make use of natural shelter against cold winds. Select the southern side of a hill, an orchard or buildings.

The house must be dry. A site that provides natural drainage is desirable. Locate the house in as convenient a place as possible.

Fresh air houses should always be used. Cold air, if dry and without drafts, is conducive to hen health.

Floors may be earthen, board or cement. Earthen floors may be damp and are hard to clean. Board floors are best for portable houses. Cement floors are best for permanent houses and may easily be kept sanitary.

Walls should be cheap and durable, providing warmth. They should be about five feet high in the rear and from six to eight feet high at the front.

The best types of roofs are the A roof, shed or gable roof.

Prepared roofing material is better than shingles or tar paper.

All fixtures should be portable to permit of easy cleaning.—Farm Progress.

POULTRY WISDOM.

Fowls that are broody very much are not as good layers as those that are not broody so much.

The light breeds are usually considered more economical egg producers than heavier breeds.

Various forms of green food, especially alfalfa and clover, have a tendency to add color to the yolk.

It is the early hatched pullets that produce eggs in the fall and early winter, when prices are high.

Pullets must be well matured before they will lay many eggs.

FEED AND CARE OF THE TURKEY POULTS

My system of feeding young poults is very simple and is based on the plan of feeding all the sour milk that can be spared and all the lettuce they can eat during the first six weeks or two months of their lives. I plant a field of lettuce for this purpose, writes a correspondent of the Farm and Fireside.

The first food is given forty to forty-eight hours after hatching and consists of one part of hard boiled eggs, three parts dandelion cut fine and a shake of red pepper. The poults should have all the lettuce or other green food they will eat from the first; also powdered charcoal and fine grit.

My way of supplying the grit is to take some quicklime, slake it, put half sand with it and make a sort of soft mush out of it. Place this on a board to dry; then crumble it up and leave it around where the young turkeys can get it.

After poults are three or four days old I feed bread and milk squeezed dry.

The coops and runs should be kept dry, warm, clean and sanitary in all respects at all times. Let them out in the runs for two or three hours late in the forenoon, and in the afternoon up

Those who breed turkeys and who wish to improve their flocks should begin at once to select for breeders only the best, the largest and the strongest of their two and three year old turkey hens and mate them with the strongest young toms obtainable. The results that follow will be gratifying. The illustration shows a model turkey hen.

til 3 or 4 o'clock, but do not let them out in damp weather before they are nine or ten weeks old.

One of my secrets of success in raising turkeys is keeping the droppings a bright green color by feeding plenty of lettuce and other green stuff, which keep their livers in good working condition.

After the poults get old enough to let out of the run I give them their liberty for three or four hours at a time. They are then tired and want to be yarded.

I find it better not to feed heavily at night, so as to give plenty of time to have everything digested by morning. They then come to their morning meal with a good appetite.

A large proportion of the young turkeys that die are overfed with too much concentrated food and do not get enough green food and milk to take the place of insects and unlimited green food that are found when they are running wild.

We should remember that the turkey is a very delicate bird. Its ailments seem to lodge in the bowels and liver, but even these, if taken in time, can be prevented. A little precaution is worth a pound of cure, and a few drops of this and that, as I have prescribed, are better than much medicine late in the sickness.

An Egg Laying Ration.

A good egg laying ration may be made of a dry mash of equal parts of cornmeal, bran, middlings and beef scrap, which is kept before the birds in a hopper all the time, and a scratch ration of equal parts of corn, wheat and oats fed in a litter four to five inches deep twice daily. Regulate this feed so that the birds eat about one-half mash and one-half scratch grain, which will mean feeding about a quart of mixed grains daily to twelve Plymouth Rock hens or to fourteen Leg horns.

Mrs. E. Wendell of Wakefield returned home Tuesday after a visit at the home of Wm. Malmberg near town.

Mrs. Fred Vlopp of Scribner returned home Tuesday morning after a visit here at the homes of her sisters, Mrs. M. Kruger and Mrs. Bert Johnson.

Chas. Brown of Winside was greeting his Wayne friends Tuesday. He is among the pioneers of the county, coming here more than 30 years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Kingston of Stanton were here the first of the week visiting at the home of L. L. Way and wife, their daughter. They returned home Tuesday.

A community social will be held at the Methodist church Friday evening and it need not be said that you will have a good time if you attend—you know that if you ever attended one held there.

NOTICE—My adopted son, Alfred Linke, having left my place, this is due notice that I will not be responsible for his acts or debts contracted by him after this date. Henry Linke, Wayne, Nebr., March 23, 1915.—adv.—12-3.

Mr. J. C. Alexander started for his home at Orchard last Friday evening but upon reaching Randolph found that the Burlington road out of Randolph was tied up and consequently he returned to Wayne. He says he is determined to try it again Friday.

Mexico can claim no advantage over Haiti in the matter of ex-presidents. Haiti has the fourth president in as many months. The name of the present executive officer of that hot tempered little republic is Vilbrun Guillaume. But it is hardly worth while to learn to spell it for he is likely to be superseded before the task could be accomplished.—Norfolk News.

Many farmers in this section would be willing to sell their land if they could get the price that was recently paid for the lot in New York city occupied by the Hoffman House, one of the famous hotels of the city. It was sold for $3,500,000. As the building is to be torn down, this sum was really paid for the land alone. There is about half an acre of land. This would make the cost per square foot about $160.—Ex.

O. S. Gamble left Wednesday morning for Rochester, Minnesota, where Mrs. Gamble went more than a week before for consultation. Her trouble was found to be with the gall and an operation was thought advisable, and Mr. Gamble went to be present at the time of operating. E. B. Chichester, who accompanied Mrs. Gamble, returned home Tuesday, and is expecting to return later for an operation, but the physicians wanted him to take a little time for preparatory treatment to be in better condition for the ordeal if it is then deemed necessary. His is stomach trouble.

Mrs. M. T. McInerney and son Everett left Wednesday morning to visit with her folks at Leigh a few days.

Mrs. Chas. Shultheis, Miss Hattie and Warren Shultheis and wife were visitors at Sioux City Wednesday.

Wm. Libengood and wife and three children arrived here Saturday from Blainsville, Pennsylvania, planning to make their home in Wayne county. He is a brother of Mrs. Mary Myers, and they visit at her home a short time before settling in their own home.

Next Wednesday evening the Wayne homestead of Yeoman will hold a special meeting for the initiation of new members, and all members are requested to be present. It was planned to have State Manager Tilly here, but word has come that he cannot come until later.

Rev. H. H. Mallard, pastor of the Norfolk Methodist church, was here Wednesday between trains, returning from Magnet, where he was called to preach a funeral sermon. He was formerly pastor of the Methodist church of this place, and finds numerous friends here when passing through.

David Moler and wife, who have been spending the winter at the home of their daughter at LaMoille, Iowa, returned home Wednesday. They visited at Sioux City a short time on the way home. Mr. Moler reports that they had comparatively little snow where he was, and a nice winter.

O. C. Lewis and wife went to Carroll Wednesday to get a square meal, and attend the pavilion sale at that place. We do not think they planned to buy much, but the ladies of the M. E. church were going to serve a dinner and they wanted to take advantage of the opportunity to go and visit among their former neighbors and friends.

Many of our German friends and some others enjoyed a treat at the opera house Tuesday evening when a company put on a benefit picture show for a soldier orphan home in Germany. They threw upon the scene pictures of the German and Austrian rulers, military leaders and others besides many scenes of rural and city life in Germany, and also pictures taken in France and England and views of the troops of several of the nations now engaged in an unfriendly contest. A local committee was named to look after the portion of the proceeds which was to be sent to Germany, and the sum amounting to over $11 has been forwarded.

Prof. Coleman, Methodist choir leader, has organized a men's chorus to be called the Brotherhood chorus. Up to date sixteen voices have been picked out and prospects are good for more. Tuesday evening they met at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Johnson to practice and plan for the coming organization that will help put life and vim in the church singing and attendance. The hostess served the chorus with refreshments and the chorus voted that they would at any time be glad to return to that home to practice. The first appearance in public will be Sunday at the Sunday school service at which time they will sing one or two selections.

The Tramp Nuisance
The Beemer Times suggests a method of dealing with the tramp nuisance that might work well in practical application and is timely now that the open season for tramps is approaching. The Times says:

"This town like a good many other towns at times has been overrun with tramps and they prey upon the people more frequently than they should. This thing, I believe could be regulated and could be done by the village board at little expense. A bunch of tickets could be provided, each ticket good for a meal at some local restaurant. A half dozen tickets could be placed in every home, the head of the home placing his name on a line provided on the ticket. When a tramp called and asked for something to eat, he is offered one of these tickets which reads on its face: 'Good for one meal when endorsed by street commissioner.' If the tramp is really hungry, he will present the ticket to the commissioner, who will give him a job at public work sufficient to earn a meal. Then the ticket is redeemable at the restaurant. The owner of the restaurant then presents his ticket to the city council once a month and collects his money."

Among the Churches of Wayne

German Lutheran Church
Rev. Moehring, Pastor.

Next Sunday confirmation services will be held at this church, beginning at 10:30, when a class of five will have completed their school work and come into full membership. They are Emma Kugler, Mathilda Grone, Sophia Grone, Hans Hohldorf and Fred Vollers.

There will be no Sunday school service on this day.

On Good Friday, April 2d there will be appropriate services at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. All are welcome to any of these services.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church
(Rev. Blessing, Pastor.)

Sunday School at 10:00 a. m.
Morning Worship at 11:00 a. m.
Subject, "The Triumphant Christ"—Matt. 21:1-11.

Luther League 6:45 p. m. Subject, "The Testimony of the Multitude"—Matt. 21:11. The leader will be Miss Viola Willis.

Evening worship at 7:45 p. m. Subject, "Coming to Christ"—Phil. 2:10-11.

Next Sunday being Palm Sunday, our thoughts are turned to the closing days of the Christ upon earth. We follow Him in thought as He spends His last Sabbath in the quiet rural village of Bethany. After sun set—and the sabbath is over a family feast is made in the house of Simon, once a leper. Lazarus, the man raised from the dead, one of the party; Martha for the time resuming her old ways, and Mary filling her heart with His love, until swayed by an irresistible impulse, she pours on Him, the contents of an alabaster box of ointment. It is a striking scene but it soon changes and we see the Christ making for Jerusalem. At first he is only a pilgrim, but as he goes the multitude gathered about Him, as He rides in the dignity of a King. Amid glad shouts of "Hosanna—blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord; Hosanna in the highest", he is ushered into the city in triumph.

There will be good music at both services. Mr. Axel Vennerberg will sing a solo in the morning.

We wish to close the Lenten season with a week of services which begin next Sunday evening. We welcome all to these services. The services will be as follows: Monday evening at 7:45, "The Aloneness of Christ"—Luke 9:36. Tuesday evening at 7:45, "The All-Sufficient Christ"—Cor. 12:9. Wednesday evening at 7:45, "The Divine Voice"—Gen. 3:9. Thursday evening at 7:45, "The Magnetism of the Cross"—John 12:32.

The Ladies Aid society will meet this week on Thursday at the home of Mrs. E. C. Tweed. Miss Floht will entertain.

Catechetical class Saturday afternoon at half past two.

A special invitation is extended to all, come, you are welcome.

Baptist Church
(Rev. B. P. Richardson, Pastor)

The special meetings which continued for two weeks, closed last Sunday night. In many ways they were most successful. The attendance was uniformly good, and a splendid spirit characterized every service. Rev. Waldo's sermons were all of a very high class. They were strong, clear and forceful. He was loyal to truth as he saw it and was favorless in its presentation. As some have said perhaps a stronger series of sermons have never been preached in Wayne. The morning addresses down town were especially appealing to men. They were gripping. Many a man has a stronger grip of truth and a firmer faith in God, because he heard Mr. Waldo.

Prof. Deal's work was no less commendable. He filled his place most excellently. Only words of praise were spoken of him. He knows how to sing and how to get others to sing. The choir enjoyed his leadership and the friendliness of his spirit. The church is to be congratulated on having two such men help with the work.

We want to express our thanks for the faithful, untiring work of our organist and singers. They were always at their post of duty and worked hard. But we also want to thank those outside of our own people, who helped us so gladly and regularly. Only by reason of this help, and hearty cooperation of the other churches, were we able to have such splendid meetings. We appreciate very much the part the other pastors had in the meetings. One night every one was present. Nearly every night one or more came out.

"Our Great Deficiency", will be the subject of the pastor's Sunday morning sermon.

Sunday morning we shall baptize all those who are ready to receive the ordinance. Seven were baptized last week.

The young people's lesson will be in charge of the missionary committee.

The evening sermon will be on the subject, "The Saving of a Man." Tomorrow (Friday) afternoon, the missionary circle will meet at the home of Mrs. Ed. Owen.

Prayer meeting at 7:30 next Wednesday.

The Sunday school bought the books that were used in the special meetings.

Special meetings are to begin next week at the Presbyterian church. We hope many of our people will be able to attend.

Methodist Church

(Rev. A. S. Buell, Pastor)

The subject for next Sunday morning's sermon will be "Friday of Passion Week: A day of suffering and sacrifice". This is one of the passion week series leading up to Easter Sunday. The evening message will be on "The Cup of Fire, or The Holy Grail."

Dr. E. E. Hosman, district superintendent was with us and preached for us last Sunday evening. The sermon last Sunday morning was a helpful study of the events in the life of our Savior on Friday of passion week. Anyone following the last week of the Savior's life and ministry must be wonderfully impressed with the manly beauty and charm of that life, and as we see Him we love Him more than all besides. Did you get one of the little booklets "His Last Week?" If not you had better get one next Sunday morning.

The Sunday school is making some new adjustments in classes this week. A young people's class has been organized with Professor O. R. Bowen as teacher and Mrs. A. S. Buell assistant teacher. Miss Jennie Bovee is president of the young ladies department, and Mr. Elmer Reppert is president of the young men's department. Young people in the town and Normal who are not in Sunday school are invited to become members of this class. Professor Bowen's talk on "Decisions" in the Sunday school last Sunday morning was a splendid presentation of that important theme.

The Epworth League will hold a community social in the church Friday evening. The Ladies Aid Society are holding a bazaar and supper in the church this Thursday.

At the official board meeting Monday evening arrangements were made for a home coming for our church and Sunday school on Sunday, May 2d, with Dr. J. O. Randall of Philadelphia, secretary of general conference commission on evangelism, in charge of the services. Dr. Randall is a man of wide experience and a pleasing and powerful preacher of the Gospel.

We trust that all of the membership and friends of the Methodist church who have been kept away from the services for so long on account of the bad roads and other good reasons, will be back to the regular services with the coming of the spring time.

The Federal District convention of the Norfolk district Methodist Episcopal church will be held in Plainview, Nebraska, April 23, 29 and 30th. The convention includes the district Epworth League convention and the Brotherhood convention. Dr. J. O. Randall of Philadelphia and expert Sunday school workers from Chicago with other efficient workers will be present. This is to be one of the greatest district conventions ever planned for the Norfolk district. We expect that each department of the church will have a full delegation at the convention.

Would you live in a community where there is no church? Do you attend the church? Do you support the church? Do you belong where you go? Do you go where you belong? "Come with us and we will do Thee good."

The Brotherhood chorus will sing for us at the Sunday school service and we hope there will be a large crowd to hear them.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Rawlings came from Wakefield Wednesday to visit friends here, and were guests at the home of Wm. Fleetwood and wife.

National Vacuum Washer

ADVANTAGES

It runs so easy that any child can operate it. It will not tear the most delicate fabric. It will wash heavy fabric as well as light. It will wash one piece as well as the regular amount. It can be run by hand, water, gasoline and electric power. It costs much less than two cents per hour to run the electric machine. It will wash so clean that there is no more use for a washboard, no rubbing. It will pay for itself in a very short time by the saving in clothes. It will last longer, because the tub and dasher is made of galvanized metal or copper sheets. No hoops to fall off. Can be left anywhere without fear of falling to pieces. It is made with a round metal, making a very large capacity. It is absolutely guaranteed against defects for five years.

Why You Should Use a National Vacuum Washer
BECAUSE; it washes much quicker, does it much cleaner and with a great deal less work to the operator.

Why Does It Wash Quicker
BECAUSE; the rapid action of the dasher driving the hot water and suds through the soiled clothes forces the dirt out. The agitation of the hot water makes the dirt respond immediately. Two to six minutes will remove the dirt from any fabric that can be cleaned with soap and water.

Why Does It Wash Cleaner
BECAUSE; by the vacuum principle the dirt is all forced OUT instead of rubbing part of it into the fabric.

Why with Less Work to the Operator
BECAUSE; by the vacuum principle it requires only power to handle the water, not the clothes. This eliminates the wear on the fabric and makes the machine run much easier.

In order to fully appreciate the real value of THE NATIONAL VACUUM WASHER, YOU MUST GIVE IT A TRIAL.

Plan to Give New Head to State Farm School Discussed

AGRICULTURAL BILL HEARING

Automobile Registration Law Is Sent on Its Way by Senate—Governor Reappoints Forest Commission—Plumbers Object to Movie Ridicule.

Lincoln, March 23.—The joint agricultural committee of the house and senate held a hearing on the agricultural activities bill, known as senate file No. 286, by Beal of Custer.

The bill calls for a board of nine managers, one of whom shall be the governor. The board is to select three commissioners who shall have charge of agricultural activities in connection with the state university.

Dr. Hall of the board of regents was opposed to the bill. He thought it was not backed by farmers, but by men who were trying to farm the farmers.

Chancellor Avery spoke along lines showing the connection the agricultural school had with the university.

Plumbers Object to Movie Ridicule

At a meeting of the Nebraska Association of Master Plumbers being held here a resolution was passed asking the national association to take steps to keep the motion picture people from putting the plumber on the screen in a ridiculous manner. They object to anything in the pictures which in any way makes sport of the man of the tongs, and the Nebraska delegation to the national convention will try to secure some sort of legislation which will make the public believe that the plumbing business is no joke.

Hoagland Heads Legislative League

At the business meeting of the Nebraska Legislative league President Potts and Secretary Richmond reported briefly on the affairs of the organization during the last year. A new constitution was read and adopted, the following new officers were elected: President, W. V. Hoagland of North Platte; vice president, George Jackson of Nelson; secretary-treasurer, Henry C. Richmond of Omaha; assistant, E. A. Walrath of Osceola.

Auto Law Is Sent on Its Way

The new and comprehensive automobile registration law, sent back from the committee of the whole in the senate for specific amendment, was reported out again with several changes. The secretary of state's fee is reduced from 50 to 25 cents. This is to take care of the number, the law requiring a new one each year. The bill has passed the house and will probably pass the senate without opposition in its new form.

Reappoints Forest Commission

Governor Morehead has reappointed the commission of three provided for by the 1913 legislature to investigate the feasibility of the reforestation of the school lands in the east hill region. The commission is as follows: Carl Rohde of Columbus, chairman; A. H. Metzger of Rolf and Woodruff Ball of Valentine. The commission recently returned a report, which is being printed now by State Printing Commissioner Ludl.

Fatal Illness Takes Fogarty

John L. Fogarty, whose vote passed the daylight-saloon bill at the 1909 legislative session, died in Arkansas. Mr. Fogarty's home was at Greeley Center. He had been suffering from stomach trouble for over a year. A few weeks ago he went to visit a sister on a cotton plantation in Arkansas, and while there was taken with his fatal illness. The body will be returned to Greeley Center for burial.

Darr Is Indicted

The federal grand jury has brought in two indictments against George B. Darr, formerly of Lexington, but now of Omaha, on a charge of aiding and abetting President Luebben of a Sutton bank in the issuance of certificates of deposit. The first covers a transaction of Jan. 9, 1913, amounting to $34,000, and the second jointly with Luebben and Matters, Sept. 24, 1913 for $25,000.

Johnson New State Engineer

The state board of irrigation recommended the following for appointment in connection with the state engineer's office: State engineer, George E. Johnson of Falls City; William Steck leberg of Lincoln, assistant; George Leonard of Lincoln, draftsman; Mr. Cochran of North Platte and Mr. Albers of Columbus, bridge inspectors.

Three Glandered Horses Killed

Dr. Kigin, acting state veterinarian has returned from Polk county, where he destroyed several glandered horses. He condemned a similarly afflicted animal in Lincoln. In the latter case about eighty of the students at the state farm were called in while the veterinarian lectured on the disease.

Vice Report Read to Omaha Council
Omaha, March 23.—The submission of a "vice report" by a committee representing the Omaha Ministerial union to the city commissioners brought forth a spirited and interesting discussion on the subject of morals in a metropolitan city. The report contained the names and addresses of about thirty places where it was alleged investigators found violations of laws on recent dates.

TORNADO RELIEF REPORT

Special State Commission Has a Balance of $6,756 on Hand.

Lincoln, March 23.—The report of the special tornado relief commission created by the last legislature, following the Omaha tornado, was filed with Governor Morehead today, the second anniversary of the big storm.

The report shows an unexpended balance of $6,756.30 out of a total appropriation of $100,000. The commission kept well within the 2½ per cent limit placed upon the expense of administering the fund, expending but $620.86. The chief item of this expense was a salary of $491 paid the assistant to the secretary. Members and officers of the commission paid their own expenses.

The expenditures were distributed among the various districts, as follows: Berlin, Otoe county, $4,682; Yutan district and Saunders county, $5,586; Douglas county, outside of Omaha and Ralston, $2,700; Omaha, $59,079; Ralston, $13,264; expense of militia, $13,264.

The largest item of expenditures was clothing and bedding, for which the commission paid a total of $24,818; the next largest item was furniture, $22,043; labor and restoration, $4,785.

FAVOR WATER STORAGE BILL

Four Southwestern Counties Win Out in Fight Made Over Bill.

Lincoln, March 23.—Phelps, Kearney, Gosper and Frontier counties won out against other counties north of the Platte river in the fight over senate file 166, the Grace-Bushee irrigation bill, providing for the storage of flood or unused waters from the Platte river, to be utilized in the spring of the year for wetting the subsoil in the four counties named.

When the measure came before the house committee of the whole, Stebbins moved that the storage rights be confined to flood waters alone.

Tibbets, Labounty and Hoffmeister insisted that unused water as well as flood waters should be available for storage to meet the needs of the South Platte counties.

The Stebbins amendment was defeated and the bill was recommended for passage as it comes from the senate.

Opponents of the bill say that it will annul the rights of the irrigation districts in western Nebraska which have not heretofore been using all the water that they are allowed to take under their respective appropriations.

SOLON FOELS ELOPERS

Representative Hynek Prevents His Daughter's Marriage to DeWitt Youth.

DeWitt, Neb., March 23.—The marriage of fifteen-year-old Abble Hynek, daughter of State Representative C. F. Hynek of Wilber, and Walter Clark, aged nineteen, son of Benjamin Clark, Burlington coal agent of DeWitt, was stopped by a long distance telephone message to Beatrice by Representative Hynek while the latter was in Lincoln.

Mr. Hynek was informed that his daughter had eloped with young Clark and, surmising they would go to Beatrice for the license, called up the county judge there just as the two were applying for it. He forbade the marriage and had the couple held. It is said that prosecution of Clark will follow, possibly on a charge of perjury.

FACTORIES TO BE EXEMPT

Bill to Relieve Them From Paying Corporation Tax Pushed Along.

Lincoln, March 23.—There seems to be little doubt that senate file 214, the Mattes bill to relieve manufacturing enterprises in Nebraska from payment of the annual state occupation tax, will pass the legislature and become a law. The bill is already through the senate and has been favorably acted upon by the house committee on manufacturing, retail and commerce. So far it has had practically no opposition. It was expected that the sitting committee in the house will soon advance it and that the house will pass it.

Poultry Association Elects

Hastings, Neb., March 23.—The executive committee of the Nebraska State Poultry association elected officers as follows: President, C. W. Brehm of Harvard; vice president, Alex. Hickins of Hastings, re-elected; secretary and treasurer, E. E. Bowers of Hastings. E. A. Kent and George Bivens of Juniata were elected to the board of managers. The officials will meet next June to determine upon the next place to hold the state show.

Posters to Tell of Fair

Lincoln, March 23.—The state fair will be advertised this year a la circus. Secretary Mellor has secured large sixteen-sheet posters. The largest bills hitherto used were three-sheet size. They will be posted in the larger towns and county seats throughout the state. The feature most heavily advertised will, of course, be the races between Oldfield in his auto and Thompson in his plane.

Bloodhounds Point Out Robber

Leigh, Neb., March 23.—Bloodhounds of Beatrice took the trail of the robber of the Aaron Henry saloon and came to Lloyd Deo, who was placed under arrest, and ten hours later confessed to having entered the place. Deo was running a lunch counter in the saloon at the time. He told officers that the money, $219, was hidden in the stove in his room.

WAR NEWS SUMMARIZED

The Austrian war office admits Przemysl, which so long had held out against the Russia besiegers, at last has been forced, through a shortage of food, to capitulate.

With only three days' rations left, the Austrians endeavored to break through the besieging lines of Russians, but after a seven hours' battle they were compelled, under the withering gunfire of their numerically stronger foe, to retreat behind the line of forts. Three days later, having destroyed the fortifications, blown up the guns and burned up the ammunition, the Austrians brought out the white flag of surrender.

Simultaneous offensive movements against the German, Austrian and Turkish armies from the Baltic to the Black sea have been undertaken by the Russians and in some sections definite progress is reported in Poland there is activity all along the front.

The Russian army in the Caucasus has announced a victory over the Turks in the fighting along the Black sea coast in Turkish Armenia. The German war office announced that the city of Memel, on the Baltic sea in the northern tip of Prussia, had been retaken from the Russian force which captured it last week, following a battle near the city.

The operations in France and Belgium were of much the same character as recently. Fighting continues in northern France near Arras, in Champagne and in the Argonne.

The Berlin Tageblatt declares that $2,250,000,000 have been subscribed for the second German loan. This means that money to finance the war until late in the autumn has been secured.

The Italian government has stopped all railway freight traffic with Germany by way of Switzerland.

Owing to the action of the Austrian government in reducing by one-fourth the production of bakeries, many districts in Vienna are reported to have been virtually without bread for a week.

An aviator appeared above Mulheim, Baden, and dropped three bombs on the city and the artillery barracks. Three soldiers were wounded.

Driven insane by British artillery fire which mowed down their comrades 300 German infantrymen were moved to an asylum near Aix-la-Chapelle after the battle of Neuve Chapelle. A German officer is quoted as saying that the casualties equaled those of Waterloo.

It was stated at the White House that a note to Great Britain, making representations on some features of the order in council, is being framed and will be dispatched to London in a few days.

What is believed as the last steps in Italy's war preparations were taken by the Italian senate when it passed the anti-espionage and anti-contra-band laws.

A dispatch from Cetinje says the Austrians conducted a heavy artillery fire on all the Montenegrin fronts. Several Austrian infantry attacks directed at points near Grahovo, are said to have been repulsed by the Montenegrins, who suffered only slight losses.

A Zeppelin air raid on Paris brought Parisians to their windows and balconies and in the boulevards and squares. Two dirigibles reached Paris, although four started, and it is believed all of them returned to their base in safety. They dropped bombs on the city of Paris and outlying towns and villages, injuring seven or eight persons, but doing no material damage.

Shots from Morro brought to a stop the German steamer Odenwald, which, after taking refuge in the harbor of San Juan, Porto Rico, last August, was attempting to leave port without obtaining the necessary clearance papers.

Fighting in the western zone has been confined to Champagne and the Vosges.

Austria reports the capture of more than 1,000 Russians near Uzsof pass in the Carpathians, where an other heavy engagement has been taking place.

The Russians claim to have forced the Germans back into their own territory after the Taurigen engagement, and they announce also the capture of Memel. Elsewhere in the Carpathians and Eastern Galicia the Russians report successes. The Germans gained over the British in the region of St. Eloi and report also that they have repulsed French attacks in Champagne, the Argonne forest and in the Vosges.

The French war office describes briefly the capture of a German position in the Argonne after a two days struggle.

Three battleships—two British and one French—have been sent to the bottom of the straits of the Dardanelles by Turkish mines, while at least two other warships have been raked by the cannon fire of the Turks and damaged. Both Great Britain and France admit these losses. Berlin asserts that an allied torpedo boat destroyer also has been sunk.

Two more British steamers have been destroyed by Germany's submarines. They were torpedoed in the English channel.

Petrograd believes that Field Marshal von Hindenburg has decided to launch a new attack on Warsaw from the west.

The Russian army which is invading Turkish Armenia is said to have won another victory, capturing a Turkish base on the Black sea, near the Russian border.

Bert McClary is getting ready to move from Wayne and is advertising a sale of furniture and some other things to take place at the place he lives, a block north and a block west of the court house, Saturday afternoon. He heads the list with a fine piano, and then follows a lot of good furniture.

When one sees the benefit of early road dragging he feels like urging the work done at the earliest possible time. The opinion is given the editor to pass out that the streets of Wayne should be dragged as soon and as fast as they begin to dry—but at this writing they would bump a drag about some, for they were frozen hard last night.

Prof. Keeley of the Normal faculty, who is to act as one of the judges at the oratorical contest this evening. Superintendent Bowen of the city schools, J. H. Kemp and students, Warla Randol, Don Gildersleeve, LeRoy Owen, and Ralph Ingham were passengers to Norfolk this forenoon, all to attend the oratorical contest there this evening.

Evangelist Waldo and Prof. Ira Deal, evangelist singer, who have had charge of the special meetings at the Baptist church the past two weeks, left Monday for their homes, Rev. Waldo to Lincoln, and Mr. Deal to Waterloo, Iowa, where he will remain for a couple of weeks before going to Lincoln to assist with special meetings at the East Lincoln Baptist church, beginning April 4th. Rev. Richardson of this place will also go to Lincoln at that time and will have charge of the preaching services.

PRISONERS OF WAR.

Code of Honor by Which Their Treatment is Governed.

In ancient times prisoners of war were killed—unless, of course, the belligerents found it more profitable to exchange or liberate them for ransom. But today nations are bound to one another by a code of honor which forbids inhuman treatment of prisoners.

Prisoners are subjected to no punishment in any form. Neither must they be placed in a convict prison, although they may be detained in a fortress, camp or town. A reasonable supply of nourishment must be provided them by their captors, and they are regarded as being in the power of the government of the captor and not under the control of those who actually capture them.

All personal belongings remain in the custody of the prisoner, but arms, horses and military papers can be confiscated, these constituting booty.

Governments can put their prisoners of war to work, but only such work as accords with the prisoner's rank and capacity; also the work must not be excessive or relate to military matters, and in all cases must the labor be paid for.

A prisoner always lives in hope of being exchanged for a prisoner of his own government. The exchange is effected in accordance with agreements, in which time, place and method of exchange are fully detailed. This is generally that of strict equivalents, man for man, rank for rank, disability for disability.

An officer can obtain a greater freedom of movement or certain privileges while being a prisoner of war if he makes out a parole, a written or verbal promise. An officer giving his parole pledges his honor to refrain from a particular course of conduct, and if he makes a breach of this guarantee he is liable to the extreme penalty.—Pearson's Weekly.

Plan to Give New Head to State Farm School Discussed.

AGRICULTURAL BILL HEARING

Automobile Registration Law Is Sent on Its Way by Senate—Governor Reappoints Forest Commission—Plumbers Object to Movie Ridicule.

Lincoln, March 23.—The joint agricultural committee of the house and senate held a hearing on the agricultural activities bill, known as senate file No. 286, by Beal of Custer.

The bill calls for a board of nine managers, one of whom shall be the governor. The board is to select three commissioners who shall have charge of agricultural activities in connection with the state university.

Dr. Hall of the board of regents was opposed to the bill. He thought it was not backed by farmers, but by men who were trying to farm the farmers.

Chancellor Avery spoke along lines showing the connection the agricultural school had with the university.

Plumbers Object to Movie Ridicule
At a meeting of the Nebraska Association of Master Plumbers being held here a resolution was passed asking the national association to take steps to keep the motion picture people from putting the plumber on the screen in a ridiculous manner. They object to anything in the pictures which in any way makes sport of the man of the tongs, and the Nebraska delegation to the national convention will try to secure some sort of legislation which will make the public believe that the plumbing business is no joke.

Hoagland Heads Legislative League.
At the business meeting of the Nebraska Legislative League President Potts and Secretary Richmond reported briefly on the affairs of the organization during the last year. A new constitution was read and adopted, the following new officers were elected: President, W. V. Hoagland of North Platte; vice president, George Jackson of Nelson; secretary-treasurer, Henry C. Richmond of Omaha; assistant, E. A. Walrath of Osceola.

Auto Law Is Sent on Its Way.
The new and comprehensive automobile registration law, sent back from the committee of the whole in the senate for specific amendment, was reported out again with several changes. The secretary of state's fee is reduced from 50 to 25 cents. This is to take care of the number, the law requiring a new one each year. The bill has passed the house and will probably pass the senate without opposition in its new form.

Reappoints Forest Commission.
Governor Morehead has reappointed the commission of three provided for by the 1913 legislature to investigate the feasibility of the forestation of the school lands in the sand hill region. The commission is as follows: Carl Rohde of Columbus, chairman; A. H. Metzger of Rolf and Woodruff Ball of Valentine. The commission recently returned a report, which is being printed now by State Printing Commissioner Ludt.

Fatal Illness Takes Fogarty.
John L. Fogarty, whose vote passed the daylight saloon bill at the 1908 legislative session, died in Arkansas. Mr. Fogarty's home was at Greeley Center. He had been suffering from stomach trouble for over a year. A few weeks ago he went to visit a sister on a cotton plantation in Arkansas, and while there was taken with his fatal illness. The body will be returned to Greeley Center for burial.

Darr Is Indicted.
The federal grand jury has brought in two indictments against George B. Darr, formerly of Lexington, but now of Omaha, on a charge of aiding and abetting President Luebben of a Sutton bank in the issuance of certificates of deposit. The first covers a transaction of Jan. 9, 1913, amounting to $34,000, and the second jointly with Luebben and Matters, Sept. 24, 1913 for $25,000.

Johnson New State Engineer.
The state board of irrigation recommended the following for appointment in connection with the state engineer's office: State engineer, George E. Johnson of Falls City; William Steckleberg of Lincoln, assistant; George Leonard of Lincoln, draftsman; Mr. Cochran of North Platte and Mr. Albers of Columbus, bridge inspectors.

Three Glandered Horses Killed.
Dr. Kigin, acting state veterinarian has returned from Polk county, where he destroyed several glandered horses. He condemned a similarly afflicted animal in Lincoln. In the latter case about eighty of the students at the state farm were called in while the veterinarian lectured on the disease.

Vice Report Read to Omaha Council.
Omaha, March 23.—The submission of a "vice report" by a committee representing the Omaha Municipal union to the city commissioners brought forth a spirited and interesting discussion on the subject of morals in a metropolitan city. The report contained the names and addresses of about thirty places where it was alleged investigators found violations of laws on recent dates.

TORNADO RELIEF REPORT

Special State Commission Has a Balance of $6,756 on Hand.

Lincoln, March 23.—The report of the special tornado relief commission created by the last legislature, following the Omaha tornado, was filed with Governor Morehead today, the second anniversary of the big storm.

The report shows an unexpended balance of $6,756.30 out of a total appropriation of $100,000. The commission kept well within the 2 1/2 per cent limit placed upon the expense of administering the fund, expending but $620.86. The chief item of this expense was a salary of $491 paid the assistant to the secretary. Members and officers of the commission paid their own expenses.

The expenditures were distributed among the various districts, as follows: Berlin, Otoe county, $4,682; Yutan district and Saunders county, $5,586; Douglas county, outside of Omaha and Ralston, $2,700; Omaha, $59,079; Ralston, $13,264; expense of militia, $13,264.

The largest item of expenditures was clothing and bedding, for which the commission paid a total of $24,813; the next largest item was furniture, $22,043; labor and restoration, $4,785.

FAVOR WATER STORAGE BILL

Four Southwestern Counties Win Out in Fight Made Over Bill.

Lincoln, March 23.—Phelps, Kearney, Gosper and Frontier counties won out against other counties north of the Platte river in the fight over senate file 166, the Grace-Bushee irrigation bill, providing for the storage of flood or unused waters from the Platte river, to be utilized in the spring of the year for wetting the subsoil in the four counties named.

When the measure came before the house committee of the whole, Stebbins moved that the storage rights be confined to flood waters alone.

Tibbets, Labounty and Hoffmeister insisted that unused water as well as flood waters should be available for storage to meet the needs of the South Platte counties.

The Stebbins amendment was defeated and the bill was recommended for passage as it comes from the senate.

Opponents of the bill say that it will annul the rights of the irrigation districts in western Nebraska which have not heretofore been using all the water that they are allowed to take under their respective appropriations.

SOLON FOILS ELOPERS

Representative Hynek Prevents His Daughter's Marriage to DeWitt Youth.

DeWitt, Neb., March 23.—The marriage of fifteen-year-old Abbie Hynek, daughter of State Representative C. F. Hynek of Wilber, and Walter Clark, aged nineteen, son of Benjamin Clark, Burlington coal agent of DeWitt, was stopped by a long distance telephone message to Beatrice by Representative Hynek while the latter was in Lincoln.

Mr. Hynek was informed that his daughter had eloped with young Clark and, surmising they would go to Beatrice for the license, called up the county judge there just as the two were applying for it. He forbade the marriage and had the couple held. It is said that prosecution of Clark will follow, possibly on a charge of perjury.

FACTORIES TO BE EXEMPT

Bill to Relieve Them From Paying Corporation Tax Pushed Along.

Lincoln, March 23.—There seems to be little doubt that senate file 214, the Mattes bill to relieve manufacturing enterprises in Nebraska from payment of the annual state occupation tax, will pass the legislature and become a law. The bill is already through the senate and has been favorably acted upon by the house committee on manufacturing, retail and commerce. So far it has had practically no opposition. It was expected that the sifting committee in the house will soon advance it and that the house will pass it.

Poultry Association Elects.

Hastings, Neb., March 23.—The executive committee of the Nebraska State Poultry association elected officers as follows: President, C. W. Brehm of Harvard; vice president, Alex. Hicks of Hastings, re-elected; secretary and treasurer, E. E. Bowers of Hastings. E. A. Kent and George Bivens of Juniata were elected to the board of managers. The officials will meet next June to determine upon the next place to hold the state show.

Posters to Tell of Fair.

Lincoln, March 23.—The state fair will be advertised this year a la circus. Secretary Mellor has secured large sixteen-sheet posters. The largest bills hitherto used were three-sheet size. They will be posted in the larger towns and county seats throughout the state. The feature most heavily advertised will, of course, be the races between Oldfield in his auto and Thompson in his plane.

Bloodhounds Point Out Robber.

Leigh, Neb., March 23.—Bloodhounds of Beatrice took the trail of the robber of the Aaron Henry saloon and came to Lloyd Deo, who was placed under arrest, and ten hours later confessed to having entered the place. Deo was running a lunch counter in the saloon at the time. He told officers that the money $219, was hidden in the stove in his room.

WAR NEWS SUMMARIZED

The Austrian war office admits Przemysl, which so long had held out against the Russia besiegers, at last has been forced, through a shortage of food, to capitulate.

With only three days' rations left, the Austrians endeavored to break through the besieging lines of Russians, but after a seven hours' battle they were compelled, under the withering gunfire of their numerically stronger foe, to retreat behind the line of forts. Three days later, having destroyed the fortifications, blown up the guns and burned up the ammunition, the Austrians brought out the white flag of surrender.

Simultaneous offensive movements against the German, Austrian and Turkish armies from the Baltic to the Black sea have been undertaken by the Russians and in some sections definite progress is reported in Poland there is activity all along the front.

The Russian army in the Caucasus has announced a victory over the Turks in the fighting along the Black sea coast in Turkish Armenia. The German war office announced that the city of Memel, on the Baltic sea in the northern tip of Prussia, had been retaken from the Russian force which captured it last week, following a battle near the city.

The operations in France and Belgium were of much the same character as recently. Fighting continues in northern France near Arras, in Champagne and in the Argonne. The Berlin Tageblatt declares that $2,250,000,000 have been subscribed for the second German loan. This means that money to finance the war until late in the autumn has been secured.

The Italian government has stopped all railway freight traffic with Germany by way of Switzerland.

Owing to the action of the Austrian government in reducing by one fourth the production of bakeries, many districts in Vienna are reported to have been virtually without bread for a week.

An aviator appeared above Mulheim, Baden, and dropped three bombs on the city and the artillery barracks. Three soldiers were wounded.

Driven insane by British artillery fire which mowed down their comrades 300 German infantrymen were moved to an asylum near Aix-la-Chapelle after the battle of Neuve Chapelle. A German officer is quoted as saying that the casualties equaled those of Waterloo.

It was stated at the White House that a note to Great Britain, making representations on some features of the order in council, is being framed and will be dispatched to London in a few days.

What is believed as the last steps in Italy's war preparations were taken by the Italian senate when it passed the anti-espionage and anti-contra-band laws.

A dispatch from Cetinje says the Austrians conducted a heavy artillery fire on all the Montenegrin fronts. Several Austrian infantry attacks directed at points near Grahovo, are said to have been repulsed by the Montenegrins, who suffered only slight losses.

A Zeppelin air raid on Paris brought Parisians to their windows and balconies and in the boulevards and squares. Two dirigibles reached Paris, although four started, and it is believed all of them returned to their base in safety. They dropped bombs on the city of Paris and outlying towns and villages, injuring seven or eight persons, but doing no material damage.

Shots from Morro brought to a stop the German steamer Odenwald, which, after taking refuge in the harbor of San Juan, Porto Rico, last August, was attempting to leave port without obtaining the necessary clearance papers.

Fighting in the western zone has been confined to Champagne and the Vosges.

Austria reports the capture of more than 1,000 Russians near Uzsok pass in the Carpathians, where an other heavy engagement has been taking place.

The Russians claim to have forced the Germans back into their own territory after the Tauronng engagement, and they announce also the capture of Memel. Elsewhere in the Carpathians and Eastern Galicia the Russians report successes. The Germans gained over the British in the region of St. Eloi and report also that they have repulsed French attacks in Champagne, the Argonne forest and in the Vosges.

The French war office describes briefly the capture of a German position in the Argonne after a two days struggle.

Three battleships—two British and one French—have been sent to the bottom of the straits of the Dardanelles by Turkish mines, while at least two other warships have been raked by the cannon fire of the Turks and damaged. Both Great Britain and France admit these losses. Berlin asserts that an allied torpedo boat destroyer also has been sunk.

Two more British steamers have been destroyed by Germany's submarines. They were torpedoed in the English channel.

Petrograd believes that Field Marshal von Hindenburg has decided to launch a new attack on Warsaw from the west.

The Russian army which is invading Turkish Armenia is said to have won another victory, capturing Turkish base on the Black sea, near the Russian border.

Plan Wisely Your Coast Tour

The San Francisco Exposition is only one of the attractions of the "See America" Coast Tour. Others are Denver, Scenic Colorado, Salt Lake, Southern California, the ocean voyage, Puget Sound, Glacier and Yellowstone National Parks. You can include these in a 5,000-mile circuit tour, composed largely of Burlington through service routes.

- SALT LAKE ROUTE Through service direct to Los Angeles.
- WESTERN PACIFIC Through Service to San Francisco, via Feather River Canon.
- SOUTHERN PACIFIC Through Service to San Francisco and to Los Angeles, via the Coast Line and Santa Barbara.
- NORTHERN PACIFIC "Puget Sound Limited"—complete through train to Seattle—Yellowstone Park Line.
- GREAT NORTHERN "The Great Northern Express"—Complete through train to Seattle—Glacier National Park Line.

Plan to include the ocean coast trip between San Francisco and Portland. You can best combine these west and northwest routes, if your ticket reads "Burlington". Send for publications, folders, and observe how effectively this can be done.

PRISONERS OF WAR.

Code of Honor by Which Their Treatment is Governed.
In ancient times prisoners of war were killed unless, of course, the belligerents found it more profitable to exchange or liberate them for ransom. But today nations are bound to one another by a code of honor which forbids inhuman treatment of prisoners. Prisoners are subjected to no punishment in any form. Neither must they be placed in a convict prison, although they may be detained in a fortress, camp or town. A reasonable supply of nourishment must be provided them by their captors, and they are regarded as being in the power of the government of the captor and not under the control of those who actually capture them. All personal belongings remain in the custody of the prisoner, but arms, horses and military papers can be confiscated, these constituting booty. Governments can put their prisoners of war to work, but only such work as accords with the prisoner's rank and capacity; also the work must not be excessive or relate to military matters, and in all cases must the labor be paid for. A prisoner always lives in hope of being exchanged for a prisoner of his own government. The exchange is effected in accordance with agreements, in which time, place and method of exchange are fully detailed. This is generally that of strict equivalents, man for man, rank for rank, disability for disability. An officer can obtain a greater freedom of movement or certain privileges while being a prisoner of war if he makes out a parole, a written or verbal promise. An officer giving his parole pledges his honor to refrain from a particular course of conduct, and if he makes a breach of this guarantee he is liable to the extreme penalty.—Pearson's Weekly.

THE BOY FARMER

Or a Member of the Corn Club
By ASA PATRICK

Copyright, 1915, by American Press Association.

SYNOPSIS.
Sam Powell, inspired by a government agent, plans to make a scientific farmer of himself and to compete for prizes awarded to the Boys' Corn club.

Sam works hard cleaning up and fertilizing the worn-out farm. Miles Fagan ridicules scientific farming, but lets his boys join the corn club.

While blowing out stumps Sam saves Joe Watson's life. Sam plans his contest acre of corn and other crops and the stocking of his farm with cattle.

He prunes and sprays the old trees of the orchard, improving them greatly, and his successful farming astonishes Miles Fagan and other slow-going neighbors.

Sam's careful study of scientific agriculture and his up-to-date methods of seed selection are rewarded by splendid crops.

Sam explains to Bill George how certain birds destroy injurious insects that prey upon farm products. Sam raises 129 bushels of corn on his contest acre at a cost of 31 cents per bushel.

At the meeting of the Boys' Corn club Sam wins first prize $100 for the best acre of corn in the state at the least cost.

He also wins a Jersey cow and a certificate of honor signed by the governor and, with other wide-awake corn club boys from various states, enjoys a trip to Washington.

CHAPTER VIII.

EVERY member of the Boys' Corn club in the county was present at the meeting. There were many others also, including farmers, merchants and bankers. It was a jolly crowd that gathered together that morning. Every one had his joke and his laugh. The noise never ceased for a moment until the club was called to order and Mr. Burns stepped up on the rostrum to make a few remarks before the awarding of the prizes began.

"I want to say," he began, smiling, "that I am very proud that this county is in my district. When I tell you why, boys, you'll be proud also."

A stillness settled over the crowd, and the boys listened eagerly for the next words.

"What I refer to," continued Mr. Burns, "is the fact that some boy of this county, some boy sitting here in this room, has won the state prize—a trip to Washington. Think of that, boys. One of your club has not only won the first prize for the county, but he has beat every other boy in the state. I wonder if any of you know who the winner is?"

As he asked the question the agent allowed his eyes to wander about over the crowd of boys, as if he himself was trying to locate the lucky youth. The boys looked at each other and tried to guess the winner. But the agent left it to the committee to reveal the name.

They didn't have long to wait, however. Presently Mr. Burns sat down, and the chairman of the committee stood up to award the prizes.

"Sam Powell will please come forward," he said.

Sam could hardly realize that it was his name that had been called, but he rose and went forward. The chairman had him step up on the rostrum beside him, facing the assembly. The next words of the man caused the young farmer almost to faint.

"Sam Powell," he said, "I wish to inform you that as a competitor in the Boys' Corn club you have won the first prize offered to the boy in this state who produced on one acre the largest amount of corn at the least cost. This prize consists of $100 in cash, to be used in paying the expenses of a trip to Washington."

"Furthermore, I wish to inform you that you have won the first prize offered to the boy in this county who produced on one acre the best all round crop of corn, quality, quantity and cost considered. This prize consists of one registered Jersey cow."

"For your achievement in farming the state also presents you with this certificate of honor. It is signed by the governor and stamped with the great seal of the commonwealth. To win this certificate is alone a distinction to be proud of."

Holding the certificate in his hand, Sam went back to his seat. It seemed almost too good to be true that he had won those first prizes. He was anxious to get out and go home to tell the news. How proud his mother and sister would be!

The awarding of the other prizes went on, but Sam—to tell the truth, was so busy thinking about the Jersey cow and the trip to Washington that he didn't pay much attention to anything else. There was hardly a member of the club, however, who did not win some prize besides the certificate of honor which was given to every boy who raised over fifty bushels of corn to the acre.

After the prizes had been awarded and the agent had made two or three visitors had made short speeches, encouraging the boys and urging them to begin that very day to prepare for the contest next year, Mr. Burns rose and smiling, asked if any member of the club would like to say anything.

No one responded, but suddenly some one called out "Sam Powell!" Then from different parts of the house came the call:

"Sam Powell!"

"Sam Powell!"

"Sam Powell!"

Sam flushed with the excitement and embarrassment of it. He couldn't make a speech, he knew, but he had won first prize, and they wanted him to say something. He had thought of one or two things that he really did want to say to the boys, so when some one called his name again he rose from his seat.

"Members of the club and visitors," he said, "you flatter me by calling on me for a speech. Speechmaking isn't much in the line of the Boys' Corn club, but I do really wish that I could make a speech today. I'd like to talk a long time on farming and what we can do for ourselves by following it as a business. That's what I think we ought to consider—ourselves. We want to improve our farms, but we want to improve ourselves more than the farms. By going to school we learn some things, and the most important thing we learn is how to study. When we learn how to study we can keep on going to school without a teacher. And there's so much to learn in books and outdoors that we ought to keep on learning and studying as long as we live."

"We've all done pretty well this year, but we can do better next and still better the next. We are just beginning to see how much land will produce. Better seed and better stock must be our watchword. Double the crop to the acre and half the cost must be our class yell. I'm going to grow more and better corn to the acre next year and try to do it at less cost. We have raised some fine corn already, though, and we must send some of it to the county and state fairs. You men-farmers had better look out; we boys are after you. Next year I'm going to try for the automobile in the national corn show. That's all I have to say, and I'd like to hear from some of the other boys."

Sam sat down while every one in the house cheered loudly. Mr. Burns remarked that the speech was a good one. It wasn't long, he said, but it was to the point and said a great deal in a very few words. He then called for others to say something, and two or three responded. After they had finished the meeting adjourned, and Sam rushed from the room to find out about his prizes.

It happened that the banker who had offered the trip to Washington prize lived in the town, and Sam was informed that the money was waiting for him whenever he was ready to start on the trip.

The Jersey cow had been shipped from a distance and was also waiting in a nearby stable for him to take possession of her. Sam was delighted when he saw the cow. She was a perfect beauty—soft eyed and fawn colored. She wore a halter, and the young farmer bought a short rope with which to lead her home.

They were a much surprised and pleased mother and sister who came out when he drew up at the front gate with the cow following contentedly behind. Sam sat on the front seat, holding the lines, and answered a rapid fire of questions.

"Yes, I won this Jersey cow and the trip to Washington."

"My, but you can't go clear to Washington by yourself," said Mrs. Powell doubtfully.

"Pshaw! Of course I can! Lots of boys travel farther than that. Anyway, I don't expect I'll have to take the trip myself. I'll find out in a day or two."

"What are those papers you have?" asked Florence.

"Oh, that's my Jersey's pedigree and some other papers. This cow's registered, and she's worth over $100."

"What are the other papers?" insisted Florence.

"Well, one is a certificate of honor from the state. It's signed by the governor and stamped with the state seal."

"A certificate of honor!" exclaimed Mrs. Powell. "My goodness! Did you get that for the acre of corn too?"

"Yes'm," replied Sam, "the whole lot—You see, mother, I was ahead of every boy in the state."

When at last his sister and mother had exhausted the supply of questions the boy climbed from his seat and led the cow away to the pasture.

Mrs. Powell didn't like the idea of her son going on a journey to Washington, and Sam wanted to buy a pony for Florence more than to take the trip, so he decided to see the banker and find out if he might not use the money to buy a horse instead of going on a journey.

"Why, for you want to take the trip?" asked the banker when he heard Sam's proposal.

"Yes, sir, I'd like to go mighty well, but I'd like to buy a horse with the money, and then mother doesn't like me to go unless some one else is going along."

"Have you ever traveled any?"

"No, sir, not much."

Sam told the truth. He had never been fifty miles from home, and after the banker had asked him some more questions he decided that the boy need not the trip more than he did a horse.

"No, I can't let you use the money to buy a horse," he told Sam, "but I'll tell you what you may do. It won't take all the money for the trip, and after you return, if you have saved enough out of the $100, you may use it for whatever you like. As for your going alone, we can arrange that. Mr. Burns tells me that another boy is going from another state out this way, and you can join him."

"Yes, I won this Jersey cow and the trip to Washington."

So it was arranged, and a week later Sam and the other boy who had won a state prize set out on their visit to the capital of the United States.

They were both wanting to save as much money as possible, so they didn't ride in the Pullman or take their meals on the train. When they got sleepy they slept leaning back in their seats, and when they got hungry they bought sandwiches for 15 cents each. When they arrived in Washington they had not spent more than $1 each above railroad fare.

It would take a long time to tell all about Sam's visit to the capital. But it was by far the most delightful and instructive visit he had ever made. He and his comrade were met by a professor from the agricultural department, and soon afterward they were introduced to nine other boys who had just arrived. These boys were winners of state prizes also, each one being the best corn raiser in his state.

First they were taken to see the secretary of agriculture; then in a body they visited the president and afterward were shown all the wonderful sights of the capital. They visited congress and Mount Vernon, the home of Washington and all the vast buildings of the departments and the Congressional library and the zoo, where they saw all kinds of animals, and the botanical gardens, where Sam was bewildered and fascinated with the thousands of beautiful and strange plants.

When Sam returned home he had $40 left out of the $100. With this he could buy a pony for Florence's Christmas and not have to use the money that he had made from the crops. As for his mother, he had already decided to give her his Jersey cow.

One day some time after he had returned from his trip Sam sat on the doorstep with his account book and pencil. The year's business was about over and he was figuring up how much had been made on the little farm.

"Mother," he said at last, "I paid the remainder of our debts today and I've just run up the accounts to see how we stand. Our expenses were pretty heavy this year, having to buy all the feed for stock, besides groceries and fertilizer and other expenses. They amounted to over $300. But everything's paid, and I figure that we've made $1,200 clear."

"Surely you have made a mistake, Sam," exclaimed Mrs. Powell. "We haven't made that much."

"Well, you can figure it out for yourself. We've got $600 of it in cash in the bank. The other $600 is in stock and feed and supplies. Of course I am counting in the prizes I won, for they are really a part of it. I think we've really got over $600 worth of stuff that we didn't have when we moved."

"I just counted the most important things—the chickens, the hogs, the cow, the corn, the hay and the potatoes. You see, we've got over 400 bushels of corn, and then the Jersey and the Plymouth Rocks and the Berkshires count up, for they are more valuable than common stock."

"That's doing just fine," said his mother. "I'm so glad we came back here. We could just barely live in town."

"Yes, it's a tolerably good beginning, mother. We can do much better. I think I'll raise two acres of cotton to the acre next year. It has been done, and I know I can do anything that anybody else does."

Suddenly he jumped to his feet and gave a big whoop. His mother, startled by the yell, came running to the door.

"Look! Look!" shouted Sam as he danced about. Mrs. Powell did look, and what she saw was big flakes of snow falling thick and fast.

THE END.

Manure the Best Fertilizer

Data from the Nebraska Experiment Station which were obtained in co-operation with Nebraska farmers in several counties show that the average annual yields of corn from manured fields during a period of three years were 10 bushels greater than from adjoining fields which were not manured. The average annual yields from the unmanured fields were 26.81 bushels an acre and the yields from the manured fields were 36.76 bushels an acre. According to data from other experiment stations the lasting effect of farm manure is at least 20 years; that is to say, a farm may continue to obtain increased annual yields for several years after a good application of farm manure or the turning under of organic matter in some other form.

The increases in crop yields for a period of years at several of the best experiment stations were sufficient to give to the manure applied an agricultural value of from $1 to $7 a ton, depending upon the climatic conditions, rate of applications, kind of manure, crops manured, etc.

Reed's Voting Bill

Willis E. Reed as attorney general had more luck with his compulsory voting bill than he had as private citizen and former candidate for United States senator. Two years ago he drafted a bill which he believed would force voters to exercise their prerogative. He did not get far then. The bill has just been recommended for passage in about the form it was presented before. The potent name of the attorney general was used in the explanation of the bill to the house committee of the whole.

The bill provides that an extra biennial poll tax, additional to that now levied upon each citizen between 21 and 50, shall be made, in the sum of $6. If the voter attends primary election he shall receive credit for $3 and if the general election another $3. He pays nothing extra if he attends both elections per biennium and pays $6 if he attends neither. Provision is made for proper affidavits and credit where the voter is away from home and cannot vote, or if he is ill, in the latter case the affidavit being from a physician.

How a Small Boy Makes Love

In the April American Magazine Ellis Parker Butler writes another small boy story in his new series. This month's story is entitled, "Teacher's Pet," and in the following extract the small boy talks about his girl:

"Her name is Milly. I haven't said anything about marrying her yet—not to her or anybody—but I've carried her books three or four times and I hit her in the back of the head with a soft snowball, and I guess she likes me too. She threw a snowball back at me when I hit her and then, when I washed her face for her with snow, she just said, 'Oh, George! You mean thing' as if she might be willing to marry me sometime if I got nerve enough to ask her when we're grown up. I wonder how a fellow gets nerve to ask her. I don't think I'll ever have."

Probate Notice to Creditors

In the County Court of Wayne County, Nebraska.

In the matter of the Estate of William Woehler, deceased.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That the creditors of the said deceased will meet the Administrators of said estate, before me, County Judge of Wayne County, Nebraska, at the County Court Room in said county, on the 12th day of April, 1915, and on the 12th day of October, 1915, at 10 o'clock a. m., each day for the purpose of presenting their claims for examination, adjustment and allowance. Illinois County Advisers Organize

The farm advisers of Illinois have filled a missing link between the agricultural knowledge at hand and the farmer who can use it, says E. L. Bill of that state in Hoard's Dairyman. The knowledge has been put in bulletins and talked on the platform for years with success, but all agree that the farm adviser is the best means yet found for getting the knowledge at work in the farmers' fields, live stock, and homes. January added another farm adviser to Illinois making a total of sixteen in the state. D. O. Thompson of Purdue University, Indiana, has been hired for McLean county for a term of three years at $4,000 a year.

The farm advisers of Illinois have formed an association called the State Association of County Agriculturists. They meet twice a year and discuss their problems together. Each one of these men come in touch with a county of farms and when all advisers get together they put their practical experience together and draw conclusions. Some advisers have a farmer in each township of the county to look for results in soil treatment, animal breeding, or feeding, and the like, and those men meet with the adviser once a month. Adviser R. C. Bishop of Livingston county has township vice-presidents and he says it is wonderful what is brought out at their meetings. He says it is hard to get through with the discussions in a day's time.

The state association has agreed upon some principles, as the result of their university knowledge and practical work in the fields, which they have found the thing for Illinois, as follows:

For nitrogen and humus, at least one-fourth of the cultivated land of the farm should be devoted to legumes. For limestone, after an initial application sufficient to neutralize the acidity, 1,000 pounds of ground limestone per acre is recommended to provide for the loss through leaching and crops. An application of 1,000 pounds of ground raw rock phosphate per acre once every four years is recommended as sufficient to maintain the phosphorus supply. For alfalfa, early spring seeding with a light nurse crop on land prepared the previous fall is preferred for northern and central Illinois. Summer seeding should be made on fallowed land in June or July without a nurse crop. For hog cholera, serum is recognized as the best known preventive. It is agreed that the remedy should be administered by a licensed veterinarian rather than by the county adviser. The adviser should act only in a co-operative way to control the disease.

January 28 and 29 the state association of county advisers met with the officers of the county organizations at Champaign and talked, planned, and banqueted together. Seventy-five of the farm people and advisers were present and it was the first meeting of its kind in Illinois. It was said that three years ago when the farm adviser movement was first being talked of here, a man would not have dared to predict what the movement has come to, with 16 advisers in the state doing one of the greatest works ever done for better farming and living.

No mention was made of the future but when the time comes that most of the counties in the state have farm advisers, the state association will be a farmers' organization of the best and most thoughtful farmers of the state and what they ask for or set their minds to do will most likely occur. Such a state organization could do a great thing at the present time with the foot and mouth disease. Adviser E. T. Robbins of Tazewell county says that the co-operation in the work is one of the greatest things. He has formed a Percheron horse breeders' association in his county and has attracted buyers there from all over the United States, while some neighboring counties that have more horses but do not co-operate can not do that. He says that most every problem of the farm has been solved by some farmer of that county and the getting together will spread the good work.

Illinois has a state leader in the home economic work also. Miss Marie Bunch of the University is the lady and it is not her plan to have women advisers to visit the private homes and advise but rather to talk to organizations and make women begin to work and think for themselves. Miss Bunch says the housekeepers of Illinois are behind the farmers in taking up new methods that are the best for their business. She has charge of the Extension Department which sends out women to the counties who ask for them to talk and give demonstrations.

Already there have been many one-week schools for housekeepers held over the state.

Comment From Exchanges

Cedar County News:
Running a newspaper is just like running a hotel, only different. When a man goes into a hotel and finds something on the table which does not suit him, he does not raise hades with the landlord and tell him to stop his old hotel. Well hardly. He sets that dish to one side and wades into the many dishes that suit him. It is different with some newspaper readers. They find an article occasionally that does not suit them exactly and without stopping to think it may please hundreds of other readers, make a grandstand play and tell the editor how the paper should be run and what should be put into it.

Creighton Liberal:
There is a nasty smell connected with the price packers are paying for beef and the record of exports. Government reports show that exports of canned beef amounted to 7,763,100 pounds, compared to 374,594 pounds in January, 1914; exports of fresh beef amounted to 15,426,313 pounds, against 676,271 pounds in January last year, and exports of pickled beef amounted to 2,412,247 pounds, compared to 1,796,610 pounds in January a year ago. These figures indicate that the packers had a good outlet for beef, and that there was no good reason to pound price of cattle. The slump in the price of cattle seems the more inexcusable because the price of beef did not decline in proportion to the price of cattle.

Pender Times:
The office of coroner has been abolished to take effect at the end of the term of office of the present incumbent. There are two or three other county offices that should be merged with other offices. The principal one is county assessor, which is an extravagant proposition. The county clerk with an extra deputy for a couple of months could do the work. We believe that if three county officers, say the treasurer, clerk and judge were elected, it would be enough and let them act as a county board, appointing an extra deputy or two to do the duties of the other officers.

The Commoner:
The sudden and considerable drops in the price of wheat that followed upon the bombardment of the Dardenelles, a movement which is successful, will release a large Russian supply for use abroad, indicated very clearly that it was not the farmers of this country who were holding their crops for speculation, as the grain gamblers made very plain when they heard the news. It was one of the pretty fictions of the market and the newspapers that the producers were reaping the benefit of the high prices, but it exploded with a bang when the speculators became excited.

So far as observation goes, every effort made by the hack politicians to hamstring the direct primary, has met with defeat in the state legislatures this winter. Some wanted to insert a nominating convention that should winnow the candidates down to a small number and others wanted to limit it to the smaller groups of voters on the plea that opportunity is lacking for intelligent selection. Citing the fact that there is not a single argument urged against the direct primary that is not equally applicable to the general election is the easiest way of closing this debate.

Columbus Telegram:
Appearances indicate that the present legislative session is incubating a whole flock of candidates for the big offices in the 1916 campaign. From one certain source comes the announcement that Senator Phil Kohl will surely be a democratic candidate for governor; Representative Nichols, of Madison county, a republican candidate for congress, and our own Representative Regan a possible candidate for the big chair now occupied by Lieutenant-Governor Pearson and his son. I don't know much about Nichols, but he appears to be very strong with his home people. I do not enjoy the closest friendships with Kohl and Regan, and yet I am ready to express opinion that either would better grace the two first chairs of state in Nebraska than the present occupants.

Plant Potatoes in the Moon
A great many people want the moon just right when they start a crop of Irish lemons, and it may be important, but we believe that they can find other important steps to take in connection with growing a crop of potatoes. As important as any is to treat the seed before planting, and thus prevent scab. The editor has seen the result of this treatment, and knows it to be good. Here is the approval method:

Very few potatoes are free from scab unless they have been properly treated the year before. It is a very simple method to treat against this. In the first place, if you notice that your potatoes are scabby when you dig them, it is time to change the ground. Furthermore, never plant for more than two (2) years in the same plot, since the soil becomes infected. All seed stock should be disinfected before planting by soaking two (2) hours in a solution of formaldehyde, mixed at the rate of one (1) pint of formaldehyde to 30 gallons of water. This treatment should be given whether any scab is detected or not, and all seed after being treated should not be put into containers which have not been thoroughly washed out and disinfected with this above solution. If you really wish fine, clean potatoes just try this simple method of treating them.

Formaldehyde is really and truly becoming the "farmers friend". Try it on seed oats and seed potatoes. Then be sure to test your seed corn, and there is hope for a crop yet.

Turn On the Light
"And now comes Louis Gathmann, consulting naval engineer and inventor, who charges before a senate committee that officials of the ordinance bureaus are in collusion with the armor trust, and in conspiracy with that trust, have helped gouge tens of millions of dollars out of the government.

Similar charges were made by Congressman C. H. Tavenner during the last session. Mr. Tavenner was partly squelched by the pork-hungry house when he presented his charges on the floor. Gathmann says that he presented his charges to President Wilson, who said the matter had been referred to the department of justice. This matter bears all the earmarks of a scandal that this administration cannot afford to pass by or permit to be covered up. Charges are wide-spread that we have a comparatively impotent navy and rotten fortifications because of graft and inefficiency in the ordinance department.

The country is entitled to the truth at a very early date.—Omaha Daily News.

Inasmuch as the editor of this paper spent hours, days and weeks going over Mr. Gathmann's data with that renowned engineer, we are quite sure that "this administration" is not in any way responsible. Secretary Daniels and assistant Secretary Franklin Roosevelt have shown the only friendly interest ever exhibited in those departments.

When, however, you try to pry the United States Steel corporations, Bethlehem Steel corporations, the Dupont Powder Co., and allied conspirators loose from this government you have a case of unscrambling the eggs—they are the government.

By making this question a national Dreyfus affair and bringing pressure to bear from all sides we will unearth a national scandal that will shake this country from center to circumference.—Creighton Liberal.

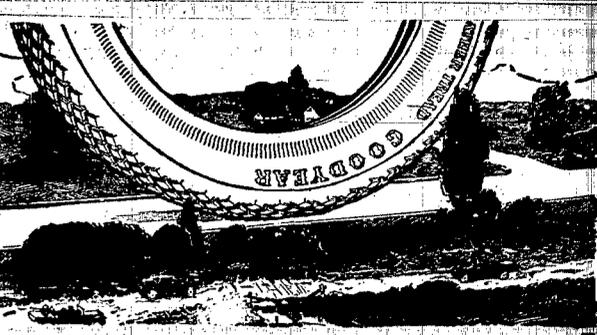

Now is Time to Treat

Last year it was demonstrated that by treatment for smut the oat crop might be increased about ten or twelve bushels per acre. We have not yet a county demonstrator but we can borrow the rule given by the demonstrator of Dakota county, who gives the following rule for oat seed treatment:

Pile the seed to be treated on a large canvas or clean floor or in a wagon bed. Mix one pint (1 pint) of formaldehyde to 40 or 50 gallons of water and sprinkle on the seed oats until they are all damp. Cover with a canvas or blanket for at least four hours to hold in the gas which forms, as this gas is what kills the smut spores. The seed can then be dried and is ready for sowing, or will keep any length of time if thoroughly dry. After the oats have been treated they should not be put back in a bin or in sacks that were used before the oats were treated as they will become reinfected with the smut, unless the sacks and bin are disinfected with the solution of formaldehyde. Formaldehyde can be obtained at any drug store. One pint will treat about 50 bushels of oats.

I would suggest that persons treating their seed oats plant at least two or three acres of untreated seed as a check field so that the value of the treatment can be seen. Anyone wishing further help in treating their seed oats either write or phone to the office at Hubbard and I will come out to your place as soon as the roads will permit. I am in hopes that a large number of farmers will take up this work as it means a great saving to the county.

Miss Freda E. Lundahl and Mr. Emel W. Elsberg were united in marriage Wednesday evening at seven o'clock at the Lutheran church. The church was decorated with potted plants and pink and white decorations. Miss Florence Ekerot played the wedding march. The bridal party was composed of Misses Julia Lundahl and Edna Dahlgren, Messrs. Victor Ekberg and Carl Lundahl, Florence and Vida Anderberg, Lester Lundahl, Miss Freda Lundahl and Mr. Emel Ekberg. The bride's dress was white crepe de chine with oriental and bead lace trimmings. She wore a veil and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. The bridesmaids wore white with pink satin girdles and sweet-peas. The ring bearer, Carl Lundahl, wore a white suit and carried the ring in a lily. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Kraft. A five-course luncheon was served in the church parlors to one hundred guests. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Swan Lundahl; the groom the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Ekberg. They will make their home on the Seagren farm northeast of town.

Winside Notes

(From the Tribune)

Mrs. Lyman Miller entertained the Home Department Tuesday afternoon at a very pleasant meeting. About twenty members were present and they reviewed the work of the past three months.

Hiram Wilson was stricken with appendicitis last Thursday and on Friday afternoon he was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, Sioux City, where soon after he underwent an operation. The latest report is that he is doing as well as could be expected.

Word was received here some time ago by relatives of Miss Bertha Schrupf of her marriage to Earl Ramsey on February 28, at the former's home in Lyons. The groom is a young farmer living near Clear Lake, S. D., and where the happy couple will make their home.

Miss Abba Lound entertained a dozen of her young lady friends at a St. Patrick's 6 o'clock dinner last evening. The house was prettily decorated in green trimmings and lights. The table was unique in every way, in green and white. At each place was a potato with a green candle in it. The center piece was a basket of potatoes representing a rockery, with an image of Mr. and Mrs. Murphy on either side made from potatoes. To say that Miss Lound is unsurpassed when it comes to designing is far from us. After enjoying the dainty repast the ladies wended their way to the Jewel theatre, where they enjoyed the moving picture show. After this they proceeded to the opera house where a dance was given. The evening was greatly enjoyed by all.

The Winside Light and Power company, composed of Messrs. H. G. Smith, Herbert Lound and John Leuck, will erect a fine new building just east of the opera house building. About six weeks ago they purchased, in Omaha, a twenty-five h. p. Fairbanks-Morse latest type oil engine, a 15 k. w. generator, and an automatic switch board. The engine weighs 6,500 lbs., the fly wheels are 60 inches in diameter with a 7-inch face, extreme height over all is only 63 inches, and requires only 88x61 inch floor space. The new building will be 25x54x8 and undoubtedly constructed of cement blocks, and cement floor throughout. The new equipment will arrive sometime during May, and it is expected to have the new building well under way by that time. Both equipments will be installed. The old generator is a 20 k. w. and the new 15 k. w. and the two combined will produce 280 amperes, the present plant only giving 160 amperes. The engines will be equipped with an air starter. Both systems can be operated at the same time, or when the load is light one engine and generator can be operated and the other left idle.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Kane of Sioux City, came yesterday and will operate a farm the coming year for John Leobach.

Mrs. C. E. Palmer and daughter, Pauline from Jerome, Idaho, were guests at the R. G. Rohrk, home from Saturday until Monday forenoon.

Paul and Bertha Krause were passengers for Round Lake, Minn. Miss Krause has received employment in a big department store at that place.

Frank Taylor and family left yesterday for their new home in Foster. May they prosper in their new home is the wish of their many friends.

Theodor Bernhardt and family from Norfolk came Tuesday morning and attended the funeral of little Bernice Bernhardt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Will Bernhardt.

Twenty pupils from our village and vicinity took the eighth grade examination last week Thursday and Friday in our public school. Miss Lula Porter of the grammar room gave the examinations.

Miss Nannie Schrupf came Friday from her home in Lyons for a visit with relatives and friends here. She left Monday for Omaha where she will take up her duties as nurse in a deaf institute at that place, in which capacity she has served for some time.

John Foster left Saturday afternoon for Omaha where he will visit with relatives a few days before leaving for his home at Arvada, Colorado. Mr. Foster spent two weeks in our village visiting with old friends and attending to his farms which he rented while here.

The wolf hunt which was pulled off last week Friday was not a success, as we learned that the main fault was that there wasn't enough men on the west line and most of the wolves made their escape in that direction. It was reported that 9 wolves were seen before the roundup.

On Sunday forenoon at the German Lutheran church occurred the marriage of Miss Anna Raduenz, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Raduenz, well known citizen of our county, to Mr. Paul Brueckner, one of our young farmers residing east of Hoskins. Rev. John Aron spoke the words which united the two hearts for the remainder of life's journey. Miss Lena Albert was bride's maid and Mr. Emil Raduenz, brother of the bride attended the groom. After the ceremony the newly weds went to the home of the bride's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wollschlaeger where a delicious dinner awaited them. Mr. and Mrs. Brueckner will make their home on a farm east of Hoskins. This paper joins their many friends in wishing them many happy years of married life.

Harvey's Joke on the President.

You know, of course, that Colonel Harvey recently visited President Wilson at the White House and that these two keen wits had a session together. Well, official etiquette forbids divulgence of presidential conversations, but a friend of a friend of a prominent inmate of the White House says that a little bird told him that Mark Twain's name came up in some connection and Colonel Harvey remarked casually that there still live persons who had never heard of the great humorist. The president found this almost incredible. "Oh, yes," the colonel continued. "Only yesterday, here in Washington, I met such a one. He was an office seeker. He declared positively he had never heard of Mark Twain. I asked him about Tom Sawyer. No, he had never heard of him, either. Nor Huck Finn? No, never. Nor Pudd'nhead Wilson? 'Oh, dear, yes,' he ejaculated. 'I voted for him.'"

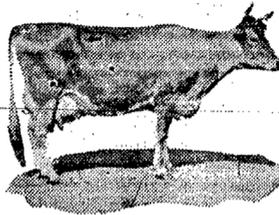

And the president's roar of delight did not diminish in the least when Colonel Harvey continued softly, "And, the office seeker added wistfully, 'that's all the good it done me.'"—New York Mail.

DAIRY and CREAMERY

FEEDING DAIRY COWS.

High Milk Production Depends on Properly Balanced Rations.

Many a cow that would be a fairly good producer is held back because of insufficient or inappropriate feeding. Says American Agriculturist. Probably the first general improvement most needed in many herds after taking out the poorest individuals is an increase in the amount fed. A ration can be balanced fairly well for a common cow with simply corn and alfalfa, clover or cowpea hay. If these two feeds are the only ones available the cow should receive all the hay she will eat, which usually will be from fifteen to twenty pounds a day. The amount of shelled corn necessary then would be probably from eight to ten pounds.

In the Jersey breed there are what might be termed two distinct types of animals. One is known as the American type and the other the island type, says Hoard's Dairyman. The American type resembles more nearly the conformation and character of the Guernsey, being more rugged and larger and stronger than the island type. In the last few years the island type has been more favored by the fancier of the Jerseys and is sold in the auction rings at fabulous prices, but the cow that has won laurels for the Jersey breed at the fair has been stronger and more robust than the attenuated island type.

A ration of corn and clover alone, however, is only designed for the cow of very ordinary production. For a cow that seems to have possibilities for better work it is well worth while to try adding some wheat bran or oats or cottonseed meal as a substitute for part of the corn. In such a case, supposing that the cow would eat about eighteen to twenty pounds of hay, she should receive from four to five pounds of corn, preferably ground, and from two to four pounds of bran or oats; or if cottonseed meal is used, about two pounds of it may be used with five or six pounds of corn. It does not seem to be advisable to feed more than this amount of cottonseed under ordinary conditions, as it occasionally gives some udder troubles on account of its very concentrated composition.

All of these rations have been designed without reference to the use of silage. Now, silage has a very high value for dairy cows, not only on account of its food material, but because they like it and because it has the succulent nature which keeps them in perfect health and encourages strong secretion. For the man who has not yet been able to build a silo the use of rutabagas, mangels or sugar beets offers a fairly satisfactory substitute. A cow will eat from eighteen to twenty-five pounds of roots, and they ought to be cut up into rather small chunks before they are fed. Some corn stover goes well in such a ration and helps to furnish the dry roughage and bulk which the cow needs. She ought to have some clover or alfalfa hay also to furnish part of her food material. Besides these, her feed of grain may be a mixture of cornmeal and wheat bran or cornmeal and oats, about four to six pounds a day.

Some very good dairymen feed as high as forty pounds of silage a day to their cows and are very successful. Probably this is about the outside limit, and most cows will do better if they receive only about thirty pounds a day. Some difference should be made in this amount, according to the quality of the silage. If it is very sour they cannot handle as much as they can if it is sweet and palatable. Along with thirty pounds of silage a cow will be able to use about ten pounds of clover or alfalfa hay and about eight pounds of grain, preferably in some such mixtures as mentioned above.

Summer and Winter Silo.

I think the silo is all right and that it has come to stay, writes J. P. Mast in the Kansas Farmer. My milk cows are doing better this year than ever before, and I attribute this good showing to the feeding of good silage. The use of silage results in a great saving in both grain and hay. I am sure that the time will soon come when all farmers in my neighborhood who keep one for winter and one for summer feeding. My cattle are in better condition in the spring following winter feeding with silage than they are in the fall, when they come off grass. With silage I can make good growth on young cattle without any grain.

Potatoes as a Cow Feed.

Potatoes are not considered a very good cow feed. If fed they should be sliced and only a small portion fed daily. Twenty pounds are about enough to use. The Vermont station reports that the heavy feeding of potatoes caused a very poor quality of butter.

LIVE STOCK PRICES AT SOUTH OMAHA

Cattle More Active and Steady to 10c Higher.

SHARP REACTION IN HOGS.

Sheep and Lambs Fully Steady—Good Run From Colorado and Scottbluff. Market Late In Opening and Trade Quite Active.

Union Stock Yards, South Omaha, March 24—Another very moderate run of cattle arrived yesterday, about 5,000 head. The fat cattle market was more active than Monday and prices ranged from steady to a dime higher, the good to choice weight and shipping heaves showing the advance. Veal calves ruled about steady, but bulls, stags, etc. were a little slow and lower. Country buyers were very much in evidence yesterday for stockers and feeders, and desirable stock of all weights met with a ready sale at steady to stronger prices. Stock cows and heifers were in vigorous demand and quite a little stronger than last week.

Cattle quotations: Good to choice heaves, $7.40@8.00; fair to good heaves, $7.10@7.40; common to fair heaves, $6.50@7.00; good to choice heifers, $6.25@7.00; good to choice cows, $5.85@6.50; fair to good cows, $5.00@5.85; canners and cutters, $3.75@5.00; veal calves, $7.00@9.50; bulls, stags, etc., $4.75@5.75; good to choice feeders, $7.20@7.60; fair to good feeders, $6.75@7.15; common to fair feeders, $5.75@6.75; stock heifers, $5.50@6.25; stock cows, $4.75@6.00; stock calves, $6.00@7.50.

Nearly 17,000 hogs showed up yesterday. The shipping demand was brisk, but prices were about a nickel lower than Monday. Packing trade was dull, with prices nearly 10c lower. Bulk of the shipping purchases was made at $6.65@6.70, and tops reached $6.75. Most of the killers went at $6.55.

Sheep and lamb receipts totaled 11,500 head. Fully steady prices were paid for both sheep and lambs yesterday notwithstanding the fact that bad advices from outside points were heard. Some Scottbluff ewes brought $7.35, a new high top for the year. Most of the lambs moved at $9.65@9.75, quality and weight fixing the price. There were no feeders to speak of.

Quotations on sheep and lambs: Lambs, Mexican, $9.50@9.90; lambs, fed westerns, $9.00@9.70; lambs, shearing, $8.35@9.00; yearlings, light $8.75@9.00; yearlings, heavy, $8.50@8.75; wethers, good to choice, $7.75@8.00; wethers, fair to good, $7.50@7.75; ewes, good to choice, $7.60@7.75; ewes, fair to good, $7.30@7.60.

BORROWING MONEY.

Be Sure Deferred Charges Can Be Met Before Incurring Them.

One reason why corporations have not been looked upon with friendly eyes is the fact that they have adopted financing methods of which we don't approve.

You and I have been taught to believe that we'd better do without a thing unless we have the money to pay for it. To us that seems to be safe and sane thrift doctrine.

But when corporations became numerous they adopted another plan. They decided not to wait until they could pay for what they wanted if they could borrow money with which to make the purchase. They began to load upon themselves "deferred charges."

Certain charges of this kind, of course, are justified; when it can be proved without the shadow of a doubt that what will be earned by borrowed money is more than the cost of the loan, borrowing is justified. But not otherwise.

So intelligent thrift practice in the home and the family can be measured by the same test. If you're going into debt to buy a home you should be able to demonstrate mathematically by borrowing money to buy a home you will in the end save more in rent than the cost of the land and house, repairs and taxes and insurance.

You have no business to place any "deferred charge" upon your individual resources or those of your family that those who come after you will not cheerfully pay because they recognize that it is a just charge. The test ought to be:

"If I should die tomorrow would my heirs prefer to go on meeting these charges rather than allow them to be defaulted?" It is when the answer of either the individual or a new board of corporation directors is in the negative that we see the unwisdom of much borrowing in anticipation of benefits or earnings.

If you're honest, "deferred charges" have to be met, and if you have had much experience you will know that it isn't often that the future develops as well as you think it will.—John M. Oskison in Chicago News.
