THE LUSITANIA SUNK BY A GERMAN SUBMARINE

A New Crisis Confronts America and All the Neutral Nations.
American Hands.

No more critical situation is recorded in the foreign relations of this country than that caused by the sinking of the passenger ship Lusitania by a German submarine last Friday, causing the death of more than 100 American citizens. It was a British passenger liner, and under the former rules of warfare if captured or sunk provision for the safety of the passengers must have been provided. The German claim that the ship was so armed as to make it nearly a cruiser appears to be amply disproved. The further claim that the ship carried munitions of war may be true, but that hardly justifies the drowning of noncombatant passengers. That Germany expresses deep regret that a part of the passengers were American cannot make amends, nor can what has been done be undone. It is in the future that we must look for relief from further acts of like nature. The fact that the Allies and the Germans are each trying to enforce methods not previously considered fair, even in war, and seeking to lay the blame for their acts at the door of the other is a position which the neutral nations cannot hold to be justified. England, over the protest of neutral nations, inaugurates a food embargo on Germany and Austria, and in retaliation Germany and Austria proclaim a submarine warfare upon the commerce of the Allies. One would tend to starve noncombatants, the other method would blow them up or drown them. Both are wrong. In fact the whole war is wrong—a wrong upon mankind for which no just cause can be given. It is the result of a jealous thirst for power and wealth. The apparent or given reasons are but incidents which furnished the excuse for war. To-day Italy stands bargaining on the brink—will they gain more to enter the fray or to stay out. Germany is promising great concessions if Italy shall keep out—the Allies say that Germany will not be able to deliver the goods, and unless you come in and fight you cannot expect that the Allied powers will divide the spoils of war with you.

That this nation may not become involved in this unholy war is the wish of every truly loyal citizen. That the President and members of his cabinet may find a way to avoid war is the nearly unanimous wish, and it is with a most implicit confidence that the citizens of this country are saying—we leave it to the president and his aids, and what they say is best, we will do, believing that every honorable means will be used to avert war.

There should be a moral force greater than the physical forces of the Gods of War, and it is to be hoped that we as a nation have attained enough of that power to enable us to stand firm against the temptation to enter such an unrighteous war.

The victories of peace are far greater and better than those of war. Let us remain neutral and encourage all neutral nations to take a firm stand in favor of world-wide peace.

A Washington dispatch of May 12 regarding the action of this government is as follows:

President Wilson had practically decided tonight on the first step in the policy which the United States government will pursue as a result of the sinking of the British liner Lusitania, with the loss of more than a hundred American lives.

The president will act promptly—within another day or two. A draft of a communication to be sent to Germany was submitted to the cabinet today and approved unanimously. While no official announcement was made, it was learned that the United States would present and insist upon an explanation of the series of incidents which have occurred since the proclamation of a war zone around the British Isles—the sinking of the Falaba, causing the death of Leon C. Thresher, an American citizen; the attack by German airmen on the American steamer Cushing, the torpedoing of the American steamer Gulfight, and, finally, the destruction without warning of the Lusitania with a toll of more than a thousand lives.

Voices U. S. Indignation
In what are described by those familiar with the document as firm and unmistakable terms, the president voices the intense feeling of the United States over these happenings, and in the name of international law demands an adherence by Germany to the established rules of maritime warfare. The note asks that some assurance or guarantee be given hereafter that unarmed merchant vessels carrying noncombatants be visited and searched when encountered on the high seas by the German navy and passengers and crew transferred to a place of safety before any prize is destroyed.

The president points out, it is understood, that the United States in its note which said Germany would be held to a "strict accountability" for any attacks on American vessels or lives had not admitted any right on the part of Germany to carry on any such methods of warfare and declares moreover that the giving of official notice of an intention to commit an unjustifiable act did not justify the act or make it lawful.

What will follow in event of a refusal by Germany to comply with the wishes of the note about to be sent no one of the president's official family would discuss.

Word From Mr. Goldie

The editor received a letter from W. S. Goldie, formerly owner of the Democrat, last week, in which he turns aside from the business matter for which the letter was written, long enough to say that himself and family are getting along nicely. They have seen slow times since leaving Nebraska, but that Wilmington has a great future and that they have secured holdings that will make it well worth them as the "tide comes in", but that "better than that is the good the change has wrought in health of wife and children, saying nothing of himself. He says that it is the place for the real old and the real young, but looking over the Wayne papers, he gives Editor Huse credit for a true saying when he said that Wayne was the best little newspaper town on the map of the world.

He adds: "What you people should do is pave your main streets, cut out the poles and put in the ornamental lights. Every business lot would be worth more than the expense, even for the business men to do ordinary business.

"We attended the great parade in Los Angeles yesterday, said to be the finest thing of the kind ever seen in the world. This is a remarkable country; more excitement here in a month than you see in Nebraska in a life time. Yesterday we were just sitting down to dinner when a handsome little woman rushed up to us, formerly Ruth McKee. We meet someone on most every occasion from Nebraska or Iowa."

Death of Mrs. Sarah Dobbins

Sarah Raper was born at Evansville, Ind., February 25, 1842, and died at Kansas City, Missouri, May 9, 1915, at the age of 73 years, 2 months and 14 days. She was married in 1858 to James Dobbins. To them were born seven children, of whom all but one survive. They are: Mrs. Elva Killian and Mrs. Paley Paton of Kansas City, Mo.; Mrs. Chas. Robbins of Twin Falls, Idaho; Charles Dobbins and Holly Dobbins of Denver, Colo.; and James Dobbins of Carroll, Nebr. The deceased son was John Dobbins, formerly of Laurel, Nebr.

The husband and father died February 9, 1914, and was buried beside the son in the cemetery at Laurel, where now the wife and mother has also been laid to rest.

The funeral occurred at the Presbyterian church at Laurel, on the morning of May 11, the services being conducted by Rev. W. O. Harper. The deceased was a life-long member of the Presbyterian church and was an excellent Christian woman. The bereaved friends have the sympathy of all. They formerly lived at Wayne and were for many years residents of this county, and was held in high regard by those who knew her in those days.

Another Shippers Meeting

The Northeast Nebraska Shippers' Association held another meeting at the city hall in Wayne last Saturday afternoon and adopted by-laws and started in the work of enrolling members and met with a very hearty response, every shipper present stepping up and signing the roll and paying in his membership fee.

To one of the members it looks "as though this association was destined to be a very strong organization and that its aims are along the lines that cannot fail to meet a hearty response from every shipper. The men who are back of the move and who are pushing it are not the kind of men who balk at trifling obstacles, they are successful, energetic, aggressive fellows who have no such word in their vocabulary as 'fail' and who are not going to place it there now. They realize that in order to get fair treatment in their dealings, that it is under existing conditions, absolutely necessary to organize and pull together and they propose to get the shippers of the Third Congressional district organized for their mutual benefit and they believe they are on the right road. It is not an organization to make war on any interest or corporation, but one that expects to work in the interest of justice between parties and to see that fair treatment is accorded to its members. If you are a shipper this organization ought to appeal to you and ought to have your unqualified support. Look into it, see what it offers, ascertain what its expectations are and if it meets your approval become a member. Remember as an individual it is very tedious and 'mighty wearing as well as pretty expensive to get an equitable adjustment of your claims in most instances, but as an organization, with the sinews of war at its command and the combined sentiment of hundreds of persons back of it, there is an altogether different face put upon the matter and it is quite likely to command attention where you as an individual would fare very poorly."

The Walter Savidge Amusement Co.

The Walter Savidge Amusement Co., will open a four days engagement at Wayne on Wednesday, May 26th. This company needs no introduction here as it is looked upon as a home institution by the great majority of Wayne people, suffice to say that Mr. Savidge not only promises to maintain the high standard of excellence attained by his different attractions on previous appearances here but in many instances will he excel any previous effort. As is usual with this company the leading feature will be the Walter Savidge Players presenting the latest popular dramatic successes. Mr. Savidge has secured for this season what he considers the strongest company of dramatic artists that he has ever carried, to which will be added a number of high class vaudeville acts. The opening play on Wednesday night will be the beautiful four-act rural comedy drama, "A Parson's Romance" which tells a deeply interesting story of love and hate. Interspersed with a strong vein of comedy it teaches a highly moral lesson and is one of the class of plays that will be long remembered by the auditor. There will be free concerts both afternoon and evening by the Challenge Band of fifteen pieces in addition to a number of specially engaged Feature Free Acts. The children and the grown ups can amuse themselves on the ferris wheel, the merry-go-round, at the animal show and the many other numerous attractions.

Indications point to four big banner days and nights for Wayne. Don't forget the dates—May 26th, 27th, 28th, and 29th.

Death of Wendle M. Baker

After almost a year of patient suffering which he cheerfully and hopefully endured the silent messenger came for the mortal part of Wendle M. Baker at his home in this city Friday evening, May 7th, 1915. He was born at Lincoln, Illinois, August 28, 1878, and attained an age of 37 years, 8 months and 7 days before the end came.

With his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Baker, he came to Iowa when a mere child, and twenty-five years ago, came on to this county with the family. Here he grew to manhood and February 11, 1907, was united in marriage to Miss Dora Ulrich of this county, who with a son and two daughters, LeRoy, Edna and Pearl, mourn his early death. Besides wife and children he leaves his aged parents, five brothers and three sisters besides a large circle of relatives and friends.

During the past twelve months he was confined to his home most of the time, and all that medical and surgical skill could do to restore him to health was of no avail, and he was the last to give up hope of recovery, but when death was inevitable he bade his family and friends a brave, cheerful farewell and bravely met his great foe.

During his last sickness he was visited by all of his brothers and sisters, and his brothers John of Verdel and Nick of Lynch, and sisters Anna and Kate from Omaha, and cousins Wm. Nies and his sister, Mrs. Mollie Welch from Sioux City were here to attend his funeral. His brother Frank Baker lives near Wayne, and aided in his care during the last sickness. Mrs. Higgenbotham of Aberdeen and William and Charles from North Dakota, were unable to come for the funeral, which was conducted by Rev. Father Kearns Monday forenoon from the St. Mary's church. Burial was in the Wayne cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS:—We desire to extend our most sincere thanks to kind friends and neighbors who have so constantly and freely extended to us during the months of sickness of husband, father, son and brother such efficient and needed aid. We feel that we can never repay it, and hope and trust that you may all be spared the need of such aid. Also to Father Kearns for constant spiritual comfort and to the physician who stood by him in his dying hour, we feel deeply grateful.

Junior-Senior Banquet

By Harold Croghan
Friday evening, May 7, in the music room, the class of 1916 entertained the class of 1915 at the annual Junior-Senior banquet. The room was beautifully decorated in green and white. Green and white festoons were hung from the ceiling to the walls and green shades were devised for the candles. The tables were arranged in a square, the hollow of which was filled by a bank of house plants and ferns. With one exception, all the members of both classes were present.

Mrs. McVicker prepared and served the delicious four course banquet. During the banquet, the company was entertained by selections rendered on a Victrola. Following the repast, came the toasts and musical numbers. Toastmaster O. R. Bowen rose and announced the first number, "Nature's Lullaby" by the Junior Quartette. The song was rendered well, and encored. Following this came the first toast by Ralph Ingham, president of the Junior class who prophesied for the Seniors. The toast was replied to by Cecelia Meister. Senior president, who ended her talk by thanking the Juniors in verse for the welcome extended the class of '15, An instrumental duet by Elizabeth Mines and Fritz Milder followed. Next came LeRoy Owen who spoke on "High School Activities" and Cooper Ellis on "High School Athletics". After a solo by Edith White, Mary Lewis "looked backward" in a way to cause much laughter, and Elizabeth Mines "looked ahead" just as wittily. Finally "What Does It All Mean?" was answered in a fine talk by Mrs. M. A. Phillips. The program ended with "Summer Days", sung by the Junior Quartette.

The oldest horse that served the country in the war of the rebellion is still alive, at the age of 53 years, at Horseheads, N. Y. It is owned by P. A. McIntosh who is also a veteran of the same war. To prove his assertion Mr. McIntosh shows the government brand on the animal's hip, which reads "I. C., 1865". Horse and man served in the same regiment. Although bent with age, his hair turning gray and his teeth becoming worn, the old warhorse is still able to eat 12 quarts of oats and take his master to town several times a week. It is estimated the animal is at least 53 years old. Farmers say the average life of a horse is about 15 years.—Carroll Index.

Six lots of steers were started on the following rations December 11th:

Lot 1—Corn and alfalfa.
Lot 2—Corn, alfalfa and a heavy feed of silage during the first 10 weeks. At the end of this time the silage allowance was gradually cut down until it was entirely stopped 6 weeks before the experiment closed. After the silage was stopped, cottonseed meal was added to the ration.

Lot 3—Fed in like manner to 2 except it did not receive cottonseed meal. Lots 2 and 3 afford an opportunity for studying the efficiency of cottonseed meal in finishing fattening steers.

Lot 4—Corn, alfalfa, and a medium feed of silage.

Lot 5—Corn, alfalfa, a medium feed of silage and cold pressed cottonseed cake.

Lot 6—Corn, a heavy feed of silage and cottonseed cake.

The experimental results will be presented May 19.

To the Beef Producing Interests

You should be with us on Beef Producers' Day in order:

First—That you may get better acquainted with your College of Agriculture and Experiment Station.

Second—That you may have the opportunity of mingling with many of the representative live stock men of the State.

Third—That you may take part in the discussions and give others the benefit of your experience.

Fourth—That the Animal Husbandry Department may be made to co-operate more closely with the cattle men of Nebraska.

When a bridge over a gulch east of Stanton collapsed Thursday afternoon, Frank Ellis and Mr. Munsterman, both of the Nicholas Oil Co., of Norfolk, jumped from their heavy automobile truck and saved themselves from injury. The bridge sank to the bottom of the gulch with the truck, but very little damage was done to the car. A county bridge gang was busy Friday removing the automobile and making repairs to the bridge. The automobile was not heavily loaded.

Do Not Want Larger Crops

S. J. Gustafson, president of the State Farmers' Union, raised a rumpus at the state meeting of Commercial clubs yesterday by stating that the farmers did not want any suggestions or help from the people in town, did not want any assistance from farm demonstrators and that they were not in favor of doing anything to increase the production of crops, for, with more crops the prices would be lower. Officers elected were as follows: President, J. W. Steinhart, Nebraska City; vice president, by congressional districts: First, C. E. Eustis, Auburn; Second, J. L. McCague, Omaha; Third, S. D. Thornton, Neligh; Fourth, H. A. Hananahan, David City; Fifth, F. A. Blake, Hastings; Sixth, A. G. Fisher, Chadron; secretary, W. D. Fisher, Alliance. The next meeting will be held in Omaha.

The above was taken from the daily news reports, and voices a sentiment previously expressed by other members of the Farmers' Union. The Democrat hopes it is right in denying that this expresses the attitude of a great majority of the members of this organization. If the object of the organization is to discourage farming that will enable the farmers to produce more the organization should disband or change its name. The idea that the organization should exist to keep production down puts it on an equality with other trust organizations that have for their chief aim the absolute control of output. According to the ideal we had a farmer union was an organization to promote the output of the farm and to so diversify the product as to give the consumer better and more complete service and thus add to the wealth of the farmer and comfort of his patrons. By a proper co-operation in growing and marketing crops the profit in farming should be increased and at the same time reduce the cost of many things to the consumer.

To us it appears that in the past there has been too many farm organizations whose object appeared to be to prejudice the farmer against those who should be his best and most helpful friends, the men in business in his home town. Let us hope that Mr. Gustafson's sentiment is not sentiment of the Farmer Union—we will be glad to be shown if we are wrong in the judgment formed of some of the farm organizations of other days. Some have had much the appearance of an organization in the interests of certain selling concerns.

The Ad Killer

The man who stops his little "ad" is not so very wise, bedad!

Because his advertisements tell the public what he has to sell, and if his "ad" is not on deck the people pass him up, by heck!

And none of them will hesitate to trade with merchants up to date.

To stop your "ad", we would remark,

Is just like winking in the dark—You may know what it means, but gee!

Nobody else can ever see. So do not for a moment think,

That when you cut out printers' ink You're saving money on the side; 'Tis merely business suicide.

Comment From Exchanges

Coleridge Blade:

There is no promise more false than that everyone lives off of the farmers. The true premise is that everyone lives off of the land. From it comes all we have or desire for our physical being. Some in ore, some in timber, some in food or food foundations, etc. The truth is that we all co-operate right now whether we like it or not, and each helps the other to live. There is an endless chain and each helps the other to be a larger producer of something or other which is desired to make life more worth the living. But there is one basis which should be reached so that we may know that each one of the many classes who produce things is getting a fair return for his production, and that basis is the cost system. Farmers should get together and investigate and advise from experience to know what a bushel of any kind of grain or pound of any sort of live stock costs. The man on a farm should get 5 per cent on his land investment because money so invested is worth 5 per cent; he should get 10 per cent on his machinery and horse power to cover interest and depreciation; he should get wages of about 35 cents an hour for all time actually put in to produce crops. He should sell all products for such a price as will cover these costs, not forgetting that all stuff he consumes should be figured at market price. Then he would be on a basis of other paying business concerns. He would know just where he was at and would be in a fair way to demand proper adjustments. Town people are as much interested as farmer people through agricultural sections to see such a condition on the farms. Farmers cannot be losing money in an agricultural community without all losing money; and in the same way all lose money when legitimate business loses money. We are so interlinked that all prosper or all retard together, and in a broader way this is true with genuine industry the country over.

Nebraska State Journal:

Congressman Stephens made a striking argument before the Nebraska commercial clubs yesterday in favor of applying something like the regional bank system to the control of the railroads of the United States. He would have the government take over the roads by the comparatively simple expedient of exchanging new bonds for the stocks and bonds now issued against the properties, at their actual market value.

The roads once in the hands of the government, he would divide the country into railroad districts and put the entire management of each region into the hands of a board, with full power to make rates, operate the properties, make extensions and do everything else needed for the proper conduct of the country's transportation interests.

The plan is clearly worthy of study. If so vital a thing as the nation's banking business can be operated successfully under the regional federal system, why not the railroads? It is true that the regional banks have only just started in business. It may be that some fatal defect will develop in their organization. But just now their future looks promising, so much so indeed that Congressman Stephens' idea will be given a respectful hearing, even in quarters that have heretofore been wholly hostile to further control of the railroads by the government.

Norfolk News:

The Lusitania disaster affords another example of the extremity to which the horrors of war have developed—perhaps but a hint as to what may happen if Europe's conflict goes on for a protracted period. It is a sad incident at best, the torpedoing of an unarmed steamer carrying hundreds of innocent and defenseless human beings; an incident that must startle the world in view of the fact that no similar method of warfare has ever before been undertaken in the history of civilization.

The one factor which has brought about this new type of attack is, of course, the submarine, which never before has taken part in war. But amazing as is the submarine itself, its use in this new role is even more amazing and the world stands aghast at the thought of what grim tragedies such antics, continued throughout the war, may spell.

A dramatic phase of the catastrophe lies, of course, in the warning which was printed in American newspapers on the morning the ship was to sail, cautioning Americans not to take passage on the boat, and in the ultra-confident assurance given to prospective passengers by the Cunard line officials that no danger lurked in the Atlantic for the speedy Lusitania. And the pathos of the situation is intensified by the fact that the passengers apparently did not feel alarmed, as demonstrated by the fact that few if any canceled their reservations. The incident has brought a very delicate problem to the American government, as the torpedoing of a passenger vessel carrying American citizens can not lightly be passed. At the moment, therefore, it behooves all of us on this side of the Atlantic to loyally stand by President Wilson in his patriotic declaration that "first of all I love America." In the crisis which the world war seems to be approaching it is a time for all American citizens—a hundred million of them—to be calm. Deliver us from the man who at such a moment would like to "rock the boat."

Panics Now Impossible

While the new federal reserve system, now in almost full operation, will not prevent periods of business depression, it will make impossible financial panics such as featured the fall and winter of 1907. This is the mature judgment of Asa E. Ramsey, as expressed to the bankers of Group No. 1, southeastern Nebraska, Thursday morning at the annual convention of the organization at the Lindell. Mr. Ramsey is deputy federal reserve agent at the Kansas City federal bank, the one in which all national banks of Nebraska hold stock.

Mr. Ramsey is an enthusiastic friend of the system, and made the trip to Lincoln to praise it and to explain its practical workings for the benefit of those bankers, not fully conversant with the detail.

Nearly a hundred bankers from towns large and small were present at the annual meeting. Banks have plenty of funds, the demand for money is steady and legitimate, and profits could not be much better. Bankers from St. Joseph, Kansas City and Omaha, men with whom the country bankers do business, are on hand to renew acquaintance and to keep in close touch with the business which they all seek and for which there is much competition among the reserve city institutions.

The federal reserve system has now been in operation six months, but it is not yet developed to its utmost. Mr. Ramsey admitted that the Kansas City bank has not only earned any dividends for its banker stockholders, but it had not quite made expenses. But for the future he felt sure that it will be an easy thing to make expenses and 6 per cent. The management is conservative and economical, more so than generally in banks of that size. It is in its initial period when the cost of doing business is always high. It began business at a time when banks had drawn in and had liquidated very extensively and when demand for more credit and funds was at a minimum. It was just at the close of the period when this district had borrowed twenty millions for crop moving, and the bank did not get to loan it, for it was not yet in operation. The same demand this year for four months will enable the reserve bank to pay all expenses for a year and almost pay the regulation interest.

Mr. Ramsey discussed the ease of doing business with the federal bank and the absence of usual red tape. He declared that a hundred thousand dollars of paper can be bundled up by a member bank, its endorsement be placed thereon, and half an hour after it is received at Kansas City the credit can be given and the bank be notified that the loan can be drawn against. Or if the member bank wants currency the governor can call on the agent for new bills, which will be forthcoming at once if it is found that the 40 per cent gold reserves is at hand.

He defended the order, still in effect, that checks and drafts will be cleared free by the federal bank and declared that it is wrong for an issuing bank to hold the cash, encourage the use of checks, get the use of the money while the check is floating, and then penalize the receiver of that check for taking it, by taxing him an exchange percentage. The man who issues the check, or the bank which uses the money during the period of float, should bear the loss. It is not the intention of the federal government to deprive banks of this exchange source of revenue but rather to put that charge where it ought to be and where it would long ago have been had not the bankers been afraid they would lose accounts of profitable customers.

The last legislature revised the law relative to the practice of veterinary medicine, placing more restrictions upon those who practice and giving added power to the board under which they work. In fact the state is proposing to look after those who doctor the animals of the state more carefully than those who practice upon human beings—upon the assumption, we assume, that the human brute is able to tell what it wants and what not.

The Farmers' Union sends out a news bulletin in which they make the claim that the purchasing power of the farm products are less than they have been in other years; but they compare the 1909 crop with the 1913 season for their basis. They do not measure the crop by the bushel, ton or dozen, but by the acre. Was the yield so small in 1909 that it was worth more than in 1913. That is a point they leave us in the dark on, but according to Mr. Gustafson's way the yield must have been greater in 1913, therefore it purchased less.

Near Boston last month an animal hospital was formally opened to the public, and dedicated to the prevention of suffering among dumb animals. It is a $200,000 memorial to the late Mr. Angell who has long been identified with the work for the prevention of cruelty to animals and the care of sick and injured ones. Horses, cattle, dogs, cats, birds and other animals have each been provided with a department—but we read of none for children in connection with the place. But they are so common that people become indifferent in a measure to them.

The Nebraska Farmer

One of the really big things done by the Nebraska legislature this year was to pass the Torren's land title registration bill. This is not the first time a Torren's bill has been introduced in this state, but it was the first time the plan received respectful attention. Always before the professional abstractors were able to head it off. The measure as passed is optional. It must be put into operation in any county by the county board upon petition of 10 per cent of the freeholders. After the plan is in operation in any county is optional with the individual land owners whether he registers his land under it or uses the old system. The total cost of bringing a quarter section of land worth $100 an acre under the Torren's system will be about $40, plus an attorney's fee. Because that is more than the average transfer costs it will tend to discourage the use of the Torren's plan. But after a piece of land has been registered under the new system it can be transferred for $8 and the title is guaranteed. In the long run the Torren's system of land titles registration is very much cheaper and more secure than the present cumbersome method of transferring land ownership.

Among the Churches of Wayne

St. Paul's Lutheran Church
(Rev. Blessing, Pastor.)
Sunday school every Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. Were you present at Sunday school last Sunday? If you were not, will you come next Sunday? We are very anxious to increase the membership of the Sunday school, to do so we must have the help of every member.

Morning worship at 11 o'clock. The subject of the sermon will be "Life's Other Side"—Acts 20:35. We may well be thankful that these words of the Christ, unrecorded in the "fourfold biography" have been preserved to us. They may be said to be divine, indeed. They present to us the heavenly aspect of human life, the other side of life. The thought contained in these words, is opposite of that which commonly comes to our notice. It breathes the air of the upper kingdom. It puts into language the very spirit of Jesus Christ. It is the life of the Saviour in a sentence. To receive is quite on a low level. Anyone and anything can do that, and this is the common side of life. But in our text the writer emphasized the other side of life.

Luther League at seven o'clock. The subject for next Sunday night will be "The Means of Grace"—I Peter 1:22-25. All are invited to Luther League.

In the evening at eight o'clock the high school baccalaureate service will be held in the Methodist church. The sermon being delivered by the Rev. S. X. Cross.

The Ladies Aid society met at the home of Mrs. Victor Carlson on last Thursday. There was a very good attendance. New officers were elected as follows. Mrs. Ole Lyngren, President; Mrs. N. J. Juhlin, Vice President; Mrs. C. Lund, Secretary; Miss Adda Stambaugh, Treasurer. The next meeting will be held at the parsonage on May 20th.

All ladies interested in the organization of a Ladies Home and Foreign Missionary Society, are requested to meet at the pastors study on Thursday afternoon at three o'clock. Plans will be discussed and an organization formed if the ladies wish.

A cordial invitation is extended to all who wish to worship with us.

Methodist Church
(Rev. A. S. Buell, Pastor)

The pastor was called out of town Sunday and Monday to assist in the Nebraska Wesleyan University forward movement campaign. Dr. I. B. Schreckengast, vice president of our institution is on the Norfolk district during this month directing the campaign and personally visiting most of the charges. Things are looking very encouraging for the school. We are building a great university. The greatest interest of Nebraska Methodism is the maintenance and development of the institution as a training school for leaders in the church activities and community life of the state. The young people who are looking forward to a college training can do no better than to take that training in the Nebraska Wesleyan University. Miss Viola Troutman of Topeka, Kansas, will be with us next Sunday morning, speaking in the interest of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society. Miss Troutman is secretary of the national organization and is well qualified to present the work.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary society will meet Friday afternoon at four o'clock for a special business meeting, at the home of Mrs. John Scofield.

Sunday evening being Baccalaureate service the Rev. S. X. Cross, pastor of the Presbyterian church will preach in the Methodist church. The usual custom of taking the service in turn is being followed and is a most satisfactory manner for the selection of the place and speaker for this pleasant annual occasion.

The annual Memorial sermon for the honored dead of the Civil war and of the Spanish-American war will be preached in the Methodist church Sunday morning May twenty-third at ten-thirty. There will be special music. Seats will be reserved for the members of the G. A. R. and W. R. C. Rev. Buell will preach the sermon.

The Epworth League devotional service will be omitted Sunday evening on account of the Baccalaureate service.

Prayer meeting Wednesday evening at eight p. m.

Baptist Church
(Rev. B. P. Richardson, Pastor)

Mother's Day was appropriately observed by us last Sunday morning. A large crowd responded to the call of the day, and many expressed appreciation of the service. The beautiful flowers on the platform added to the occasion.

Sunday evening was also a good service, largely attended and full of interest. We were glad to see so many of our country people present. Prof. Davies had some good musical numbers at both services. The song by the little folks was enjoyed by all.

The pastor began his fifth year as pastor of the church last Sunday. During this time there has been 124 added to the membership of the church. On Sunday evening he used the same text he used the first Sunday. It is Mark 10:45. It contains the highest ideal and the highest motive in Christian service.

This is commencement season with many of our young people. We shall recognize their interests and work by having our Sunday morning service largely for young people. The subject of the sermon will be, "Stepping Stones to Success." A special invitation is extended to teachers and students of our two schools.

Tomorrow (Friday) afternoon, the prayer circle will meet at the home of Mrs. Gilbert. Acts first chapter will be the lesson, and Mrs. M. Norton will lead the meeting.

The young people's meeting will close a little early Sunday evening, so all can go to the M. E. church to join in the union baccalaureate services of the high school. Rev. Cross will be the preacher.

On the day observed as decoration day the ladies will serve dinner in the church basement.

The second Sunday of June will be an important day for our church. At the morning service we shall have "Family Day". At this we want every family of the church present. In the evening, Children's day exercises will be given. The committee is already at work on the program.

Prayer meeting every Wednesday evening. There is a place for us.

Presbyterian Church
(Rev. S. Xenophon Cross, Pastor)

The Junior Endeavor society had a good time last Saturday, picnicking in the park.

Mrs. Worcester, a missionary from Africa, spoke with acceptance at the Sunday school last Sunday.

The Missionary society will meet with Mrs. Hiscox Thursday at 3 o'clock. The "Around the World" studies are proving very interesting.

The United Service begins each Sunday morning at exactly 10:30. The sermon next Sunday morning will be "FORWARD!" You are cordially invited.

The Brotherhood is proving to be a very interesting and live class. Mr. A. R. Davis is the efficient teacher of this class. Come! The class meets every Sunday at 11:30 sharp.

A new member was received into the Christian Endeavor society on Sunday evening, Miss Daisy Elmira Fox. There is no greater opportunity in all our church organizations for service than in the C. E. society.

Remember the mid-week, social prayer meeting of the church each week on Wednesday at 8 o'clock. The meetings will last exactly one hour. The topics used are those given in the handbook of the church. You are welcome.

Children's Day will be observed on the second Sunday in June. There will be reception of new members and the baptism of children in addition the splendid program that is being prepared for the occasion. Speak to the pastor about these matters.

The new chapel song books now being used at the evening service and in the Sunday school are a delight to all who have taken part in these services. The committee appointed to select a new song book are to be complimented on the splendid choice of books.

German Lutheran Church
Rev. Moehring, Pastor

There will be regular services at this church next Sunday—Sunday school at 10 o'clock a. m., and preaching service by the pastor at 11 o'clock.

Carhart Makes Hit at the Normal

"Mercantile Business and Its Opportunities" was the subject of an address given by Mr. C. E. Carhart to the students of the Normal school. Among other things Mr. Carhart gave the following reasons why merchandising is different today from what it was twenty years ago:

The use of the telephone no longer brings the merchant and his customer into personal touch with each other; the automobile gives the buyer a choice of several towns where he may do his trading; magazine advertising informs buyers of the price for which goods may be bought elsewhere; and the catalogue houses give him an opportunity to buy anywhere in the country. For these reasons competition is keener and profits are smaller. Today profits are measured not by the amount of money an article is sold for but by the amount of goods sold. There is more business now than ever; if a local merchant cannot get it it is his own fault.

Mr. Carhart took occasion to show that the co-operative store does not make cheaper goods, but rather adds to the expense. Competition is no longer the life of trade; it is the death of trade. Competition means co-operation—not for the purpose of holding up the public, for that is no longer possible, but for the purpose of serving customers. As the local merchant becomes more expert he becomes more and more necessary to a community. Because of his experience he selects the best goods for the money and thus protects his customers against unscrupulous persons who would impose upon their inexperience in buying.

Mr. Carhart gave the students a course of reasoning that led him into the mercantile business. The period for preparation is shorter for merchandising than for professional work. The merchant has time to establish himself while the professional man is getting ready. The second consideration was the opportunity business gives a man to be away for a short time without stopping income. But the point that finally determined his choice was the possibility of sickness. Health is the essential capital of a professional man; without it he can do nothing. If he should be sick, his earnings would stop; but this is not the case in the mercantile business.

As to the opportunity merchandising offer young men, Mr. Carhart was inclined toward optimism. One cannot name the profit, for that depends upon the man. It is true that many business men fail, but that is because they are not trained. Schools in the past have trained for everything else, but not for merchandising. They are just beginning to offer mercantile courses. With natural ability and reasonable preparation, a young man has a splendid future in the mercantile business, if in addition he also has a little capital, absolute honesty, and considerable energy and push. Mr. Carhart gave a most excellent address, and made a big hit with the students.

Stock Shipments

There has been a steady outgo of stock since the report of a week ago, and while shipments have not been large, they make quite a total. John Geewe sent two cars of cattle to South Omaha, Conrad Broschheit went to the same market with a car of cattle. Strahan & Kingsbury have sold four or five cars of hogs at Sioux City, and W. A. Hunter sent a car from his place and L. C. Gildersleeve had two cars on the Sioux City market, and C. E. Gildersleeve one. John Lage and Will Peters each had a car of cattle at South Omaha. L. W. Roe sent a car of hogs to Sioux City and Ted Perry two cars this week. Prices have not been the best, and the profit to feeders the past season have not been what they should have been. They owned their feeders at a high price last fall, and corn has been a high price all season.

Speaking of the weather it is in order to say that Wayne had a splendid shower Monday evening—a scant half inch of water falling in about an hour. We can use several more like it. For several days last week the nights were quite cool, frost appearing in low places, and Sunday morning corn, beans, tomatoes and such garden stuff was frozen to the ground if not protected in the low lands. Some cherries appear to have frozen and others are still growing with no evidence of damage. The foliage on the trees does not appear to be even touched.

Adj. Gen. P. L. Hall has made another addition to the state militia by securing the services of Mr. C. W. Schaffer, the instructor in charge of the Pacific coast division school of aviation, to take supervision of his new branch of official activity in Nebraska, which is in keeping with the necessities of modern warfare. Mr. Schaffer is not foreign to our state, as he was born at Sutton, and is returning to us after being recognized as proficient by those competent to judge. We hope that the members of the Wayne squad will be given an airship. Thus equipped, they might easily make their flights to Stanton for drill, the remainder of the company being at home at that place. Wayne now has about 16 members of the company.

The announcement of the death of Attorney E. F. Gray of Fremont on April 25 is worthy of more than passing notice and interest. Mr. Gray was one of the first district attorneys elected in the state of Nebraska, being elected in October, 1868, and re-elected for two years in October, 1870. The other two were O. B. Hewitt in the First district and J. C. Gowin in the Second district. Mention is made that Mr. Gray served in the Third district, but nowadays few realize the size of said district. The Third judicial district embraced all that portion of the state north of the Platte river excepting the counties of Douglas and Sarpy. The area of the Third district in square miles was an area greater than is comprised in either of the states of Ohio, New York or Pennsylvania.

State Normal Notes

President Conn will attend a conference of normal school presidents at Lincoln Friday.

The lecture course committee announces Edward Walker, tenor, for Tuesday evening, May 18. This will be the last number of the entertainment course for this year.

Mr. Wm. Proebsting of Omaha spent Thursday of last week in Wayne, getting necessary information for installing steel vault fixtures in the new auditorium.

Two recent elections of members of the Senior class are: Miss Ethel Garwood, assistant principal at Coleridge, and Arthur E. Hughes principal of the Brock schools.

Dr. J. A. Beattie of Lincoln, one of the pioneer school men of the state and formerly president of the state normal at Peru, was a visitor Wednesday and addressed the students at convocation.

The special Junior edition of the Goldenrod has just come from the press. It is in every respect a very excellent number and reflects much credit on the class and upon Mr. J. E. Bliedernicht, editor-in-chief.

Programs announcing the fifth annual commencement of the school were received the first of the week. The events scheduled will open with an orchestra recital on Friday, May 21, and close with the graduating exercises on Friday, May 28. The complete program will appear next week.

Representatives of Fuchs, Son and Blind of Omaha are at work on the stage scenery and decorations of the new auditorium. This work will be done at a cost of $1675, and when complete Wayne will have one of the finest auditoriums in the state.

A very unique social event occurred in the gymnasium Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. The plan of the program committee was to have each class represented in some special stunt. The exercises opened with a short session of a "destrick school", President Conn holding the position of teacher and the different members of the faculty pupils; the Juniors followed with an appropriate last day in a typical rural school; the Seniors represented registration day at the Normal; two young men represented the Sophomores in several vaudeville performances; the Freshmen closed by staging a chariot race. The ladies also served refreshments and the proceeds of the evening were more than $40.00.

The A. O. U. W. grand lodge in session at Lincoln this week is confronted by a possible fight over the question of rate advance. There is little doubt but that the rates are inadequate under their plan of insurance, and any effort to raise rates is sure to meet with opposition. The present officers are charged with extravagance, especially in the printing of the official organ, the bill for which amounts to nearly $500 per month. As they claim a membership of more than 40,000 and each member of the order is supposed to receive a copy of the paper, if the full number is printed it does not seem that the bill is excessive. There is also a fight for the office of Grand Master Workman between A. M. Walling of David City, who has held the office for the past eight years and Frank Anderson of Holdrege who wants to try his hand at running things.

Crop and Weather Report

For Upper Mississippi Valley and Plains states: Generally fair weather is indicated during the week, except that local showers are indicated early in the week over the extreme Northwest. Temperatures will be moderate with a rise Wednesday over the extreme Northwest.

Tuesday evening about twenty of the Baptist people, most of them members of the bible class, and the pastor and family spent a pleasant time at the home of Chas. Martin. Charley had prepared for their coming and was able to take care of his guests. After some time in friendly chat and visiting together, those present were served with pleasing refreshments. Everybody was glad to meet with Charley and to get acquainted with Mrs. Ward, who is keeping house for him.

The Bible Study Circle met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. C. A. Grothe. After the lesson was discussed, Mrs. Worcester from South Africa gave an interesting talk of her work in that land. She is trying to tell the wonderful story of the Bible to the heathen and there is much good being done, but a great many more are needed there to help her. Next Tuesday the Circle will meet with Mrs. John Payne.

The Minerva club met Monday afternoon with Mrs. E. E. Lackey. The lesson on "Conflict" was ably led by Mrs. Fred S. Berry. The election of officers was in order and the following were elected: Mrs. E. W. Huse, president; Mrs. J. G. W. Lewis, vice-president; Mrs. C. A. Grothe, secretary; Mrs. W. E. Beaman, treasurer.

The W. C. T. U. met last Friday afternoon, May 7th, with Mrs. Wm. House. A very interesting paper on "Women as Police" was read by Mrs. Crawford. A report was given by Mrs. James Britton followed by a discussion led by Miss White. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Horace Theobald.

The Bible Circle met last Saturday evening, with Miss Francis Schoover. They will meet at 3 o'clock next Saturday afternoon with Mrs. E. B. Young.

School Notes

Keep Cool, Everybody

These are most exciting times when passenger ships are torpedoed, and thousands of people are in the heat of battle day and night. But at Wayne there is a way to keep cool. The Wayne Bakery will furnish your table with so much that is needful in the line of breads and pastry that the good wife need not be over-heated by baking them in the kitchen range. The people, young or old may here secure cool, healthful drinks, and the most palatable ice cream—all of which tend to keep you cool, happy and contented.—adv.

Dr. S. A. Lutgen is at Lincoln this week attending the sessions of the Nebraska medical association, where he has a place on the program with a paper on deafness, the ear being a subject to which Dr. Lutgen has given much study. He had prepared to illustrate his work a number of hand-painted charts showing the interior of the organ of hearing. These were the work of C. R. VanHorn, and are said to be excellent productions.

C. A. McMaster, D. D. S., came last week from Pawnee City to associate with Dr. G. J. Green in the practice of dentistry, and is now established at the office of Dr. Green. Dr. McMaster comes to Wayne after a number of years of successful practice at his profession and with his aid the growing dental business which has been coming to this office can be much more satisfactorily taken care of. Mrs. McMaster is expected to arrive at an early date, and they have secured a house on the corner of Pearl and 4th streets.

The third annual convention of the Elks of Nebraska was held at Fremont this week, and was the largest meeting in the history of the order in this state. The citizens and local Elks entertained the visitors in royal manner.

Dr. A. G. Adams and family, accompanied by Mrs. Adams' grandmother, Mrs. Agnes Golder, left Wayne this morning to spend the summer on their claim near Hyannis in Grant county. Mr. Adams is planning to return within a few days, but the family expect to remain until fall.

Today is the "official" sneak day for the Seniors of the Wayne Normal, and when school "took up" this morning not a member of the class appeared. Their destination was not known, but the editor can testify that a large number of the lady students passed the office about 6:30 this morning, headed south, but how far they continued in that direction he cannot say.

About two dozen of the Wayne Odd Fellows went from here Tuesday evening to attend the annual district meeting of the lodges of that order at Laurel. They report that the Laurel brothers have the best L. O. O. F. building in this part of the state, and all enjoyed the accommodations and facilities they have for handling the crowd in their new opera house and hall. A splendid banquet was served, and the degree work was put on by the degree teams from various near by towns, and was a competitive test. Owing to delay in giving the work the Wayne visitors, who were not competing, did not remain to see it all, and cannot say who won. Crofton was selected as the place for the next annual meeting, and the date of the meetings was changed from some March date to the 4th Tuesday of May each year.

A. O. U. W. IN SESSION
Examiners Explain Some Statements About Order.
Lincoln, May 11.—The largest delegation which ever attended a session of the Ancient Order of United Workmen is in Lincoln today. The session of the lodge convened this morning. The controversy which has arisen because of a report filed with the state insurance board, showing the expenditures of the head officers of the Ancient Order of United Workmen and which is pronounced false by A. M. Walling, master workman, as regards the amount paid by the organization for the publication of the official paper, is open to explanation. The report of the examiners, which is signed by John W. Jones and C. S. Clayton, recites that the cost of the printing the official paper was 14 cents per copy, in comparison to 14 to 4 cents paid by other organizations for printing their paper. Members of the finance committee of the Ancient Order of United Workmen state that the price mentioned is right, but is for a whole year's number instead of for each copy, while the comparison with other papers was probably made on the single copy and not for the year.

Kennard Dairymen Fined.
As a result of prosecutions of milkmen at Kennard by inspectors of the pure food department three violators were fined $10 and costs for having in their possession and for sale unsanitary milk. A test showed a large amount of dirt in each quart tested. The report of the food, dairy and oil department of the state shows total receipts the last month of $4,802.14.

Lincoln Dollar Gas Case in June.
According to information received in Lincoln, as announced by Federal Judge T. C. Munger, Judge James D. Elliott of Sioux Falls, S. D., has been assigned to hear the issues in the Lincoln dollar gas cases, which have been pending for many years. The hearing will be held in Omaha during the first week in June.

Supreme Court to Decide.
Judge Cornish, in the district court of Lancaster county, sustained a demurrer offered by the state in the injunction case brought by Omaha employment agencies to test the constitutionality of the new employment agency law, and on an agreement by attorneys the case will go to the supreme court for a hearing.

Not a Useless Expenditure

A publisher in a western state recently intimated that some of the merchants of his town had been busying themselves in an attempt to organize the business men of the town for the purpose of cutting out all advertising in the local papers by common consent on the ground that it was a useless and worthless expenditure. While we do not believe that there is the slightest danger of any such thing ever being done it is interesting to speculate on what would be the consequences if such a thing should come to pass.

The local paper is the index of the public spirit, financial and moral conditions and the general welfare of every community and the criterion by which it is judged by all outside people. If any difference this story is told more strongly in the advertising columns of the paper than in the news columns. A local paper well patronized by the local tradesmen whose advertisements are newsy, breezy, and in season and up to date, telling of their goods and wares—the newest things, the best things, and their prices, is an infallible indication of a good town, public-spirited people and progressiveness of the highest type and the best kind. On the other hand suppose the local merchants do not advertise in the local papers. They must have advertising to live. It follows as a necessity that they must take any kind of a cheap proposition they can get—patent medicines, whiskey ads, mail-order displays, gun and bicycle offers—the paper presents a sorry appearance, you read poverty in every line and between the lines, there is no evidence of prosperity (and there is none) and no public spirit, and the homeseeker who reads the paper will shun the town as sure as he would shun the bubonic plague.

On the other hand, suppose the local paper should begin whooping it up for the mail-order houses and tell the people how much they would save by patronizing them. How long would it be before grass would grow in the streets and half the merchants would go out of business. You can readily see there are two sides to this question.

No worthy newspaper publisher is willing to consider advertising patronage in the nature of an act of charity or even a donation. He knows, as also does the merchant, that space purchased at a reasonable price, rightly and intelligently used, is more than worth the cost. There are few publishers that do not strive earnestly to promote the best interest of every enterprise or industry in the community. They earn every cent they get and their service is worth much more to the community. The best advertisement any town can have is a real live newspaper well patronized by local people and don't make the mistake of expecting too much for a nickel.—Publishers' Auxiliary.

A Crop Report

The government sends out a crop report in tabulated form, from which we glean the following concerning conditions as they appeared May 1st.

The winter wheat production of this state promises a return of 74,900,000 bushels this year as against 64,000,000 bushels last year. May 1914 the price was 75 cents per bushel; May 1915 it was $1.37. The rye crop stands at 99 per cent of a crop with the 10-year average but 91 per cent. Meadows are 100, with the average 89 per cent. Pastures are 99 against an average for ten years of 85. Spring plowing is but 52 per cent with the ten year average on May 1, 62. Of the old hay crop there is now on hand 279,000 tons against 168,000 tons at that date last year. In Nebraska corn was as high last year as this season. Oats were 12 cents less last season than this; potatoes are 22 cents higher this season than last, hay and eggs average about the same $8.10 and $8.50 per ton. Eggs were 15 cents both years.

The Weather and the Editor

In other days the weather was a theme for the editor when other news was scarce, as the following would indicate:

From the Ponca Journal May 2, 1884: Yesterday was the first day of May, yet no one would have believed it from the weather. It would have made quite a comfortable New Year's day or St. Valentines' day, but was entirely too inclement to be passed off as a May day. Speaking of May day and the general celebration of it in former times, a writer says: "The out break into new life and beauty which marks nature at this time, instinctively excites feelings of gladness and delight, hence it is not wonderful that the event should have been celebrated." The above remarks will hardly apply to yesterday. The out break we saw was not of life and beauty, but of wind and an occasional sprinkle of snow, and feelings of gladness were only instinctively excited when a good, roaring, red hot fire was at hand.

To quote farther from the same author, "The first emotion on May day, is a desire to revel in the profusion of flowers and blossoms which spreads around us, to set it up in decorative passion, pay it a sort of homage and to let the pleasure it excites, find expression in dance and song." The flowers and blossoms which were spread around yesterday, one could have put into his vest pocket. The only dance and song racket on the occasion, was a dance to and from the wood pile, and a song of joy that one had a house to keep out the cold. Evidently the first of May, is not a lineal descendant of the joyful old fashioned May day, which was decorated and honored with flowers innumerable, and music and dancing. In those days, also, the fairest maid of the village was crowned with roses as the "Queen of May," and was placed in a bower or arbor where she sat in state, receiving the homage of her admirers who danced and sang around her. Thus it was 200 years ago. But yesterday, a youthful belle, if placed in an arbor would have shivered and shook until her back hair fell down, and she would have longed to abdicate her regal dignity and to have gone where she could have restored circulation by a cup of good hot coffee. However, bad as yesterday would have been for out door festivities, it was a good day for the growth of wheat. The cool weather is better than flowers. We will therefore be content with our lot.

Getting Ready for 1916

The editor of The News is in receipt of an article contributed by the publicity corporation of Washington, D. C., a professional press agency working in the employ of the shipping trust.

The story enclosed tells of the formation of the National Marine league, an organization of shipping interests. The stated object of the league is to establish an American merchant marine, and the avenue of approach of course is the government subsidy.

In the list of organizers appear the names of John D. Archbold, August Belmont, A. G. Vanderbilt, H. E. Huntington, Andrew Carnegie and others of the financial kings.

This ought to have a lot of significance to the average voter who remembers the fight made against the president's ship purchase bill at the last session of congress. All the money in the country was arrayed against the president because the president wanted to put the government into competition with the ship trust to prevent the exorbitant increase in freight rates which came as the result of the war. The republican party organization in the senate made the fight against the president, and with the aid of seven-standpat democrats, defeated the bill.

This marine league indicates that the ship interests are getting busy for the next campaign. Of course they are going to help the republicans nominate a fine old standpatter and, then they are going to open up their barrel to defeat Wilson.

It is a pity that republican newspapers in the middle west, merely for the sake of being regular, have permitted themselves to be arrayed against the president on this issue. The people are entitled to know just what interests are fighting the president.

The ship purchase bill, advocated by the president, would have created a merchant marine owned by the people. The ship-subsidy bill asked by the shipping interests, and to which the president is opposed, would force the people to donate money to the ship trust to establish a merchant marine which it would own. A duplicate of the high tariff system!—Sioux City News.

County Quits Business

The Commissioners met at Hartington Monday and on the advice of the County Attorney rejected all bids for bridge and construction work, and also no more claims will be audited until after the 1915 levy is made. The Board was advised by the County Treasurer that he would refuse to pay all warrants issued in excess of the 85 per cent of the 1914 levy, conforming to instructions of the County Attorney.—Coleridge Blade.

The above refers to Cedar county affairs, and they are perhaps wise in deciding to simply do without a few things not absolutely necessary until there is a cash balance in the treasury. In fact the wise thing would have been to have called a halt several years ago. There are certain interests that have been milking the tax-payers of many of the counties of northeastern Nebraska until the udder has gone dry, but they are still pulling away hoping to fill up when the money again begins to flow into the treasury. Wayne county, is perhaps, the best fixed financially of any county in this corner of the state. Dakota, Dixon and Thurston counties have all had their troubles, and are having them right now.

Heavy castor machine oil 35 cents per gallon at Carhart Hardware.—adv.

New Deal at the "Pen"

Nebraska is just entering on another experiment in connection with the handling of labor at the state penitentiary. Hereafter, the convicts will work for the state, instead of for contractors. The new law simply shifts control, and scarcely affects the condition of the prisoner. The governor recommended to the legislature that some provision be made for the employment of prisoners on the roads or other outside construction work, but this was ignored by the lawmakers, and the prisoners will be utilized in industrial operations carried on within the prison walls. The principal change is that the state will have to sell or itself use the output of its prison workshop. The Board of Control should carefully investigate the problem, and recommend some comprehensive plan for handling convict labor to the next legislature.—Omaha Bee.

An exchange says that an American exploring party that has just been through Bolivia describes it as a great country full of tremendous resources but so isolated that its products are of little value. We are realizing in this age as never before the necessity of being close neighbors to other nations if we are to prosper and grow. Human brotherhood is the greatest asset that the world has, and although it has been slow to realize it nevertheless it is beginning to dawn upon us, that it is the first requisite to even material success.

Now that there is a move in postal headquarters to extend the rural route service to include another million people, it is time for the Wayne people to move to secure another route from this office. The matter has been under consideration for a year past, and perhaps longer. Postmaster McNeal did not push the matter much as he was not likely to remain in office to carry it to a completion. But Postmaster Berry is supposed to have at least three years to serve if he continues to do well, and that should be ample time. It is said that it is the intention of the department to greatly increase the rural service. Let's all unite to get what we need.

The commercial club of Alliance has put three good ordinances up to the city dads for consideration, and urges their passage. One would compel each citizen to provide a safe and secure place for retaining ashes—a metallic can or vault and that ashes be wet down when moved. That would be an excellent ordinance for Wayne to have, for even the farmers who come to town criticize the unsightly ash piles, and object to the practice of burning papers on the streets. Another would compel all grocers, restaurants, meat markets, livery barns and other places that attract and breed flies to keep one or more fly traps in operation during the summer season. The other was to make it necessary to present plans and secure a permit for all new buildings and additions thereto, so that there might be city supervision of building. They are all good.

Elsewhere in the paper is an article which truthfully asserts that land is the basis of all wealth—not exactly in those words, but that is the meaning of the statement. And it is true. Our coal comes from land. All vegetable and mineral wealth is of the land. The most important necessities come from agricultural land, hence its importance to the welfare of mankind is the greatest. The fact that there is but a fixed amount of land, and that no one can make more is the reason for its increasing value. That is what makes it desirable—yes a necessity. Agricultural land values are increased by convenience to market as well as its fertility. The young man who wishes to become independent or as near independent as it is possible to become, should acquire land—secure title to it. Three things should be considered in selecting land. The initial price—the convenience to market and the fertility of the land. The climatic conditions of the country in which the land is should be considered—as to whether it is healthful or not. Last week there was an advertisement in this paper of land now on the market that considering all of the above points, is a proper field for consideration. The Geo. E. Wallace Land Co., of Bismarck, N. D., will tell you about this land if you will write to them and mention this article, or the Democrat will tell you of it.—adv.

Older Than His Father.

A curious tombstone has been discovered at the Hfracombe churchyard by a correspondent. The inscription reads as follows: "In memory of William Griffiths, died October, 25, 1835, aged 127 years. Also William, father of the above, who died October 2, 1815, aged 72 years." According to the dates given, the son was sixty-five years older than the father.—London Standard.

Genre.

The term "genre" is French and means "man, his customs, habits and ways of life." A painter of domestic, rural or village life, or the writer who deals with the strictly human rather than the more romantic and unreal human situations. For instance, in the drama Victor Hugo introduced the genre system in lieu of the stilted and unnatural style of the Louis XIV. era.

Leakless Inner Tubes

Goodyear Laminated Tubes Built Layer on Layer—Extra Thick.

Here is something every motorist should know.

Goodyear Laminated Tubes are built of many thin layers—each of pure rubber—vulcanized together. No flaw can be hidden as in a thick piece of rubber. It is seen and eliminated. Every layer is perfect.

Such a Tube can't leak. And our valve patch can't leak, because it is part of the Tube and not stuck on.

Remember that. Many a tire trouble is due to leaky Tubes.

Tube prices this year are reduced 20 per cent. So these layer Tubes, extra-thick, now cost about the same as others.

Always Gray

Goodyear Laminated Tubes are not colored. They are gray—the natural pure rubber color. Color requires a large percentage of mineral adulteration. And minerals hold heat, a Tube's worst enemy.

14% Heavier

Goodyear Laminated Tubes are extra heavy. They have always outworn any tire. But this year we have added 14 per cent to their average thickness—all pure rubber.

Whatever tires you use, get Goodyear Tubes. They will outlast your tires, save you leaks and trouble. They will also convert you to Goodyear Fortified Tires, built by the same high standards.

Any dealer will supply you. (276)

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Zutz returned home on Tuesday afternoon of this week from Los Angeles, California, where they have been since last fall staying at the home of their daughter and husband. Mr. and Mrs. Zutz enjoyed their visit to the coast very much and are telling their friends of all the things they saw on their trip.

George Kennedy up-set with his automobile Saturday night, two miles west of Winside near the railroad crossing. There were four people in the car who were on their way to attend a dance in Winside and when nearing the railroad crossing at a slow race of speed a team was coming from the opposite direction and by turning out of the road the cab went off of the bank and turned up-side-down. All of the occupants escaped without being injured in the least except George who was driving, received a cut from the broken wind shield.

While protecting her child from an infuriated cow, Mrs. Richard Winter, wife of a prominent farmer living near Hoskins, was terribly wounded by the hoofs and horns of the animal and the child was badly bruised. When help arrived Mrs. Winter was almost unconscious from exhaustion and pain, but it is believed that she will recover. The mother is in a more serious condition than the child. The cow had to be beaten with pitchforks before it ceased its attack on the mother and child. Help came just in time as Mrs. Winter was about giving up her struggle. The trouble started when Mrs. Winter went into the barn yard to take a calf away from the cow. While she was engaged in this work the child wandered to her side and suddenly the cow started an attack on the child. Mrs. Winter grasped the child and protected the little one.

Agent M. L. Halpin will soon be dispatching all trains out of Winside by telephone. The Company is installing a block system between Sioux City and Norfolk. Mrs. Margaret Myers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Long, was born near Crawfordville, Iowa, July 28, 1875, and died at her home near Winside April 28, 1915. She was married to George Myers July 3, 1899. Unto this union were born six children, all of whom survive her. She leaves to mourn her loss, besides her husband and children her father and mother, two brothers and one sister. The funeral services were held at the M. E. church at Winside, conducted by Rev. C. E. Connell, pastor of the church. The deceased had been a great sufferer from that dreadful disease, cancer, and which was the cause of her death. The floral offerings of her many friends were beautiful. A host of sympathizing friends followed her remains to the cemetery where the body was laid to rest.

Best price paid for yearlings was $8.50. As compared with last week, prices are fully a quarter higher. Improvement was also the order of the day in the market for cows and heifers, a good share of the she stock going at prices a dime higher than Monday. There was a lively inquiry for veal calves at strong prices. On the general run of stock cattle and feeding steers, as well as on stock cows and heifers, trade was a little slow and prices more or less shaded.

Sheep and lamb receipts totaled only 1,750 head. Only a very moderate run showed up and under the influence of moderate supplies and advancing prices at all points the local market continued on the up-grade, the big end of the offerings moving at figures that were quoted as anywhere from a dime to as much as 20c higher. Top lambs moved up to $10.75. A bunch of ewes brought $8.40.
