Death of Lars Erick Spike

Saturday morning Lars Spike, the 28 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lars Spike, went from their home, nine miles southeast of Wayne, to the field to cultivate corn with a disc cultivator. More than two hours later he had succeeded in dragging himself back to the grove near the house where by his call he attracted the attention of his little nephew who came to find him sorely wounded and nearly dead from loss of blood. His father was quickly called and the aid of a neighbor secured to move the young man to the house, and a physician called in all haste.

From all that can be learned, the accident happened before 8 o'clock, and was caused by the breaking of the neckyoke and the team becoming frightened and unmanageable and finally threw the young man beneath the discs of the cultivator, where he was seriously cut. The gash which caused his death was one in the hip starting near the lower end of the spinal column and cutting to the bone clear around to the front of the leg. Besides this there were several smaller cuts on face and arms. In this condition he managed to drag himself about 50 rods and call help, but the loss of blood and the shock was more than he could withstand, and he passed away Sunday night.

Lars was the youngest of the family of five children and is mourned by his aged parents and a sister and brother, Mrs. S. O. Anderson of Wayside and William Spike of Ameret, Minnesota, both of whom are here to attend the funeral. He also has a brother-in-law, J. B. Myers of Carroll. Lars was born in this county near the place on which he passed away, October 3, 1886, and was therefore 28 years, 9 months and 16 days of age.

The funeral from the English Lutheran church Wednesday was conducted by Rev. Blessing, and a large number of the neighbors and friends followed the body to its last resting place in the Wayne cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS—We wish to express our heart-felt thanks to kind neighbors and friends who so faithfully gave aid and sympathy in our time of trouble caused by the sudden death of son and brother. Also for the floral offering given. Mr. and Mrs. Lars Spike, Wm. Spike, Christina Anderson.

Phil. H. Kohl, wife and daughter, Miss Marjorie left Wednesday to visit at Omaha a few days during the meeting of the Sangerfest.

Senator Kohl for Governor

Lincoln papers and Lincoln correspondents to the Omaha papers last week brought to us the news that Senator Phil Kohl of this place will enter the primary for the democratic nomination for governor next April in event that Governor Morehead is not to become a candidate for a third term. Senator Kohl has often been favorably mentioned by the press as a strong candidate for the governorship, and in thus announcing that he will make the race for the nomination under above conditions he places his friends in a position to know that anything they may do for him will be considered acceptable. Senator Kohl has many qualifications needed to make a successful executive. He is widely known over the state—is a man of good business ability and has proven himself a strong champion of many good laws submitted to the legislature. As yet he has announced no platform, but his record shows that he favors economy in state affairs, but does not consider it economy to save money at the expense of service. It is yet too early to make predictions as to the primary result, but it is safe to say that Senator Kohl will not be last in the race.

A Souvenir of Wayne

Ralph Clark of the Clark Garage has just issued from the press of the Democrat a neat 10-page souvenir of his business which contains seven views of his plant as it was and as it is, showing the growth and advancement he has made. Many of them have been mailed to citizens of the town and county, and it is a souvenir worthy of a place in any home, and one which no one need be ashamed to send away as showing the growth of one line of Wayne enterprise. There are three pictures showing the place he started in—his second shop and business place and the one he now owns and operates. Then there are seven interior views of the place and a brief story of Wayne. If you have not seen one you should secure one.

Weather Report

Moderate temperatures and generally fair weather the first half of the week; the latter half will be warmer and generally fair, except that widely scattered thunder showers are probable.

See the Democrat for wedding invitations.

A Successful Chautauqua

The Wayne chautauqua which closed Sunday evening will be remembered by the great majority of those who attended any considerable number of its sessions as a successful meet. Perhaps not in the matter of having sufficient patronage to defray all of the expenses incurred—in fact it is doubtful if it quite paid out. That will not be known for a short time until all bills are in and paid and all tickets placed on sale have been reported on. But in the broader sense of having a program of merit it was a success. To be sure there were spots that some would point out as weak in the program—but what is criticized by one is praised by another, so that criticism is largely a matter of likes and dislikes. We believe that there was nothing really bad, and by comparison with the meetings of the last four years it was a good. It has done much to place a Wayne chautauqua in good repute.

We cannot give any extended reviews of the good talks, but wish to report that the address of Frank Stockdale last Thursday afternoon was of a good kind and one of the best of the kind. He showed in a happy manner the benefits to all of community co-operation—that farmer, business man and laborer are equally interested in the welfare of each other. One of his examples was illustrated by taking the retail merchandising as a specimen. It is known that it takes about 30 cents to market a dollar's worth of goods. On that basis he showed where this money went. Rents were so much, heat, light, help, interest, advertising and various items made up the list so that the firm conducting the business had five cents left for their share. These matters were all brought out. This cost is paid whether one buy at home or away, and the question then comes to each one as to whether or not he would rather spend it so as to give himself and neighbors the benefit or send it away to help support the merchant, the banker, the printer, the worker of some distant community or keep it at home where it might come back to you. The keep at home policy builds your community—the other starves it and adds to the wealth of one in which you have no interest. Wayne without banks, buildings, workers, merchants, newspapers, etc., would be Wayne without schools, colleges, churches, lodges, societies and perhaps a railroad—just farm land tilled to add more of produce without consumers at and near home. The merchant who is advertising a business for sale will tell how rich is the farm country about it—the farmer who has a farm to dispose of will tell how near it is to a good town. WHY? In both cases the surroundings make the offering more desirable. Then why not all work together to make this community very desirable? It takes co-operation in spirit and deed. We depend upon each other. Many other good points were made, but if this soaks in well in both town and country it will help like gentle rain in a dry time.

On Friday evening Nat. M. Brigham gave what was said by a great majority of those who heard it the best of its kind they ever witnessed and listened to, for it was a treat to both eye and ear, showing and telling of the wonders of this country in natural and artificial beauty.

Saturday and Sunday the Dixie Jubilee Concert company made splendid music, of the popular sort and won much praise and many hearty encores, to which they responded happily.

Saturday afternoon Miss Lamkin and the children of Wayne gave a most pleasant entertainment of which we told last week. Those who witnessed the play expressed wonder that one could take a lot of children and get such happy results in one short week of training. Besides the children had a happy week and were taught many ways of amusing themselves and others. The address which the lady gave at the college was especially helpful to the students who are planning to become teachers.

Rev. Wm. Spurgeon of London spoke Sunday afternoon and evening and told of the impressions received by an Englishman in America. His talk was one of humor and good sense—it showed to us some of our national weakness and

The Wayne Hospital Coming

While there has been but little visible work accomplished in the past three months on the proposed Wayne hospital, there has been a growing sentiment for such an enterprise. Our physicians recognize the need of it, and are practically unanimous in aiding the enterprise with both influence and money. A meeting was held Monday evening and a temporary organization formed under the proposed articles of incorporation to serve until the time for the permanent organization which is set in the articles for the first Monday in September. At that time there will be a meeting of those who subscribe to the stock to perfect the organization and elect directors and officers for the first year. The temporary directors are C. A. Chace, Wm. Beckenhauer, W. L. Fisher, A. G. Adams, F. R. Dean. Mr. Chace was named as president, W. L. Fisher vice-president, Wm. Beckenhauer secretary and treasurer. A. G. Adams and Wm. Beckenhauer were appointed as a committee to device methods for securing subscriptions for the stock, and they reported the next morning that a short canvass had resulted in the sale of about $1,500 worth of stock.

It is planned to incorporate under the laws of Nebraska for $25,000 one-fourth of which must be subscribed before any subscriptions are binding. When that amount is subscribed the directors may determine upon the building and its size and cost, but it is hoped that the entire amount will be subscribed and thus assure a building with a capacity of from 20 to 30 beds, and one that will be a credit to the place. The proposed plan is that the hospital shall be open to the patients of any of the physicians not only of Wayne but of any surrounding places. Or patients who need the help of a specialist may have one come to them at the hospital instead of having to be carried away at great risk and inconvenience for treatment at some city hospital.

The Democrat hopes to see the people respond to this investment, which may not pay much of a dividend in cold cash, but which will do so much to relieve suffering and save human life.

There is a very bright prospect that a valuable site for the building will be donated—in fact we hope that several sites may be offered.

Celebrated Golden Wedding

On Tuesday of this week Mr. and Mrs. William Southwick of this city celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home. They had as their guests their eight children, 42 grand-children and 16 great grand-children. Mr. Southwick was born August 28, 1830 and Mrs. Southwick January 30, 1840. They were married July 13, 1865 at Davenport, Iowa, and have long been residents of Cedar county, living on a farm southwest of town until a few years ago when they moved to this city where they now reside.

The out of town children present were Mrs. Geo. Heady of Wayne, Mrs. Ada Steele of Harlan, Iowa, Mrs. Ellen Southwick of Omaha, O. N. and G. D. Southwick and Mrs. Wilbur Jones of Crofton, Nebr. Other out of town relatives were three grand-daughters, Mrs. Ketchmark of Norfolk, Mrs. Cass Carter of Lane, South Dakota, and Mrs. George Palmer of Sioux City, Iowa.

The afternoon and evening were spent in visiting and games after which refreshments were served. A beautiful leather-upholstered Morris chair was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Southwick in honor of the occasion.—Hartington Herald.

An Interesting Trial Coming

Charges are about to be preferred against Comrade Archie Lindsay on charge of having violated his obligations as a member of the Ancient and Honorable order of "Never-Sweats". Archie was seen in town with his shirt wet with perspiration, and it is said confessed to having been hoeing in the garden. If the charge is proven we feel confident that a majority of the members of the club will feel that he should be severely dealt with, otherwise the wives of some of the other members will insist upon work in the garden or assistance at the washing machine, and thus wreck the society.

A Wayne Boy Making Good

Last week the Democrat told of the visit of Mrs. B. J. Gossard here, and now we want to say a word about Bert Gossard, her husband who is well known here, and the place in which they live. Bert went to the agricultural department of the University and practically earned his way through, working mostly in the stock and dairy department of the institution. He has never lacked a good position at a good salary, and is now holding a place where it takes four figures to tell the dollars he receives as pay annually and the first figure is larger than a 1.—Besides he has free house rent of a splendid home, with milk, butter and eggs furnished without cost. He is superintendent of the O. C. Barbor dairy farm, one of the largest in Ohio, where they are now milking more than 300 cows, and his duties are overseeing the place, with some 40 or 50 men under his supervision; has an automobile at his command, a stenographer to assist in the correspondence and accounts—he buys and sells for this great dairy farm as well as seeing that every department is kept up to a high standard. Some responsibility—some pay, but he makes good because he likes the work and because he schooled himself for the work, and we venture the assertion that his position is more secure from competition than one not half so good. No, the Democrat did not have this story thrust upon it, in praise of this young man, but by persistent questioning we learned the above points, and if it shall impress upon some of our young readers the opportunities that are offering in agriculture to those who prepare to embrace them, the object for which it was written will be accomplished. The owner of the farm is a multi-millionaire, lives in a million dollar residence and has numerous other interests besides his farm. Barberton, a suburb of Akron, has a population of more than 10,000; Akron has 70,000 and the county upwards of 110,000 people. Yet we believe that Wayne county is a better agricultural country than Summit county, Ohio. Why not all of us become a bit more progressive?

A. E. Laase Buys Garage

A deal was concluded Wednesday whereby Messrs. Philleo & Hartington traded their block building and the lot south of it to A. E. Laase for a farm near Winside, possession to be given August 1st. But the present occupants of the building will remain for some time to come. Messrs. Puffett & Reneker will simply pay their rent to another landlord. The lumber firm will continue to occupy the same office until spring. Mr. Laase plans to tear away the old iron building on the south side of the property and replace it with a building of blocks to match the garage proper, and he will use this building for headquarters for the Maxwell for which he holds an agency.

This will probably mean a new front on Main street in the spring, as the lumber firm expect to build an office and warehouse on the lot just south of the Democrat office.

Death of Mrs. Cora Mallock

Mrs. Cora Brown Mallock, daughter of W. S. Brown and wife of this place, died at a hospital at Sioux City Tuesday night. She had gone there for an operation and failed to receive a benefit that was hoped for. The body will be brought to Hartington Friday, and burial will be held from St. James her home having been near that place for the past ten or twelve years, and her parents and brother from this place have gone to be present on that sad occasion.

Cora Brown spent a part of her girlhood days here, coming with her parents from her native state, Illinois. Besides a husband she leaves three children, the oldest about 9 years of age to mourn her death.

A Small Gasoline Blaze

A few moments afternoon today the gasoline stove at the home of Perry Theobald went off, and the fire whistle blew. The chemical engine was there in short order and did good work until the hose arrived. The house belongs to Orlando Adams, and was damaged about $250, the back kitchen shed being destroyed and the siding on the back part of the house badly scorched. Most of the furniture except in the kitchen was removed with but little damage, and Mr. Theobald's loss will not probably exceed that on the building.

While at Wayne it was the pleasure of the editor to visit with Mr. Pridmore. He was not sparing in his praise of the country about Wayne. He said that on the entire trip from Chicago he saw no section of the country which appeared to have suffered less from the wet season than this vicinity—and he spoke particularly of the appearance of the corn here compared to most of the route. He admitted that he saw some weedy corn here, but that it was the exception. His report corresponds with the newspaper reports we read from other places. Wayne has had plenty of rain this season, but we have escaped many of the hard rain storms which have

She is now planning to spend the rest of the summer vacation in a sanitarium in Thermopolis, Wyoming where there are famous hot springs. This is not far from where her school work has been.

R. C. Peterson from Carroll was called to Lyons Tuesday to attend the funeral of his mother-in-law, Mrs. C. A. Phillips, who died at that place Sunday at the age of about 80 years. Mrs. Peterson had gone to be with her mother in her sickness, and aid her care. Besides Mrs. Peterson several children mourn her death, among them Rev. J. L. Phillips of Pilger and F. L. Phillips of Laurel, both of whom are known in this county. Grandma Phillips was known to many Carroll people whom she met when staying at the home of her daughter near there. Rev. Buell of the Methodist church of this place, who had formerly been her pastor, was called to preach the funeral sermon.

The funeral of Paul Chipperfield at Sioux City last Saturday was one most largely attended. The Grace M. E. church at Morningside was filled, many friends coming from away. The sermon was by the pastor, Rev. Herbert Keck, assisted by Dr. Craig of the Morningside academy, and a male quartette of his friends furnished the music. The burial was at Graceland cemetery. Those from Wayne who attended were Mrs. N. Williamson and her sister, Miss Bowe, Mrs. Clyde Oman and daughter Fern, Antone and Ed. Grangquist, Everett Hoguewood and Don Gildersleeve, the two young men acting with four of his Sioux City classmates as pall bearers. It was a sympathetic audience of the friends of the young man and his family.

At Venice, Ocean Park and Santa Monica, California, there are firms running grocery stores on the cafeteria plans, and it is proving quite a success. They have their stores arranged somewhat after the plan adapted by W. E. Beaman at this place about two years ago, so that all goods are easily accessible to the purchaser, who comes to the store, passes along the aisles and selects what he wants, and approaches the desk and wrapping tables where he settles for his purchase and has it wrapped. All goods have prices marked in plain figures, and under this plan much help is dispensed with. Of course the plan could not be worked here in every department of the local grocery, for there is eggs to count out and butter to weigh and some of the more bulky goods are bought in quantity that requires much handling by some one, but much of the trade could wait on itself under such an arrangement.

Two weeks ago the Democrat noted that Senator Norris from Ponca had been the orator of the day at Wayne, July 4, 1884, and asked who is now here who heard him. Frank Martin came in and pleaded guilty after he read the item, and said as he remembered it, his talk was historical, reviewing the growth of this country and the victories won for the cause of freedom. While talking of the celebration Harry Fisher came along, and was asked by Mr. Martin if he remembered the speech. Had not, but Harry could tell the score at the base ball game that day, and how they had lost the ball, and put him on a horse to come to the store and get another ball—how the stirrups were too long, and he could not get his feet in them and that they pounded the broncho so that it ran away with him and was finally stopped just before going into some residence through the bay window. Harry got the ball, had the stirrups adjusted and went back so that the game could be finished. The Ponca paper last week reproduced the following story of the celebration, and we would like to know who was the "Gentleman from Wayne" who could see 2,000 people in a crowd here in that early day. A gentleman from Wayne states that the Fourth of July celebration at that place was well attended and successful. About 2,000 people participated. The oration of Senator Norris was a magnificent production and due appreciation of its eloquence and logic was shown by the frequent and long continued applause.

MORE MONEY IN POULTRY

A Capon — or — a Rooster — Which Shall It Be?

From the numerous articles now published in the different farm papers and poultry journals, it would appear that all farmers and poultry raisers should know of the extra profit to be gotten from their poultry, by converting the surplus cockerels into CAPONS. A more extended practice of the operations of caponizing will mean a greater revenue from your surplus cockerels, as well as a better quality of poultry flesh for your own table.

What is a Capon?

A capon is an unsexed male bird, they are not hatched that way. To become a capon a young male bird must be operated on in much the same manner as any other male animal intended for eating purposes, the object being to increase the amount and quality of flesh. Some of you will no doubt think it a very difficult operation to make a capon; if you have that idea, I wish to assure you that you are wrong. It is much easier to make a capon than it is to perform a similar operation on any other animal. It is an operation that most any child of 12 to 15 years old can do, and with the proper tools there is scarcely any danger of killing a bird. The operation correctly performed, the capon will grow to about half again the size he would if left a rooster, his flesh is the juiciest, sweetest and most tender of any known meat, and sells for much more per pound than any other fowl. I have found it a safe rule to follow that the capon during January to March, will bring just about double the price on the market as hens, and they weigh about twice as much, therefore as an illustration take the Plymouth rock hen when sold on the market in January will average about 6 to 7 pounds, and usually bring about 10c per pound, a capon of the same breed from an early hatch will weigh from 10 to 12 pounds, and will bring about 20c per pound, the cost of feeding is about the same, except for the last two weeks before you market the capon, he is fed a special ration to fit him out properly for the capon market. With this illustration you can readily see where a great deal of extra profit can be made out of your chickens by making the surplus cockerels into capons. But even if you would not expect to sell your capons on the market, after you have once enjoyed this luxury of placing upon your table the greatest delicacy there is in the meat line, you would not be without a few capons each year.

Caponing can also be used as foster mothers. It certainly is an interesting sight to see a capon performing the mothers' duties, and when it comes to taking real good, attentive, loving care of a brood of newly hatched chicks, the capon has the old hen beaten at every turn, and he can mother a larger brood than any hen you ever seen.

It is profitable to use almost any breed for capons, but the larger breeds are more desired, and the larger the capon is the more per pound will he bring on the market. The proper time to caponize is when the cockerel weighs from 1½ to 2 pounds, and it will not pay to operate on them after they get larger than three pounds. It is also necessary to have the birds in prime condition for the operation, and to operate at the proper time. Space will not permit of a description of the operation in detail, but any one desirous of taking up this branch of the poultry raising, I will be willing and glad to explain to you in detail just what the operation is, and how to perform it, or, if you wish to bring in one or two cockerels of the proper size, I will show you by actual demonstration what the work is free of any charge.

Yours for more and better poultry and good poultry for profit,
J. E. HUFFORD.

The Columbus Telegram in a recent issue commented upon the loss to the farmers of his county by severe hail storms, and while commending the people for aiding those who were in need because of having lost their all by a visitation of providence, suggested a better remedy. He says that in Canada they have a small tax on land, known as the hail tax from which the losses from hail are paid. The tax is so small that no one who owns land could reasonably object to it yet, the protection is ample. One cent per acre annually has been found to be sufficient. The Telegram then states that arguments are raised against the plan that it is socialistic for the government to go into the insurance business. Perhaps it is, but it is time for the common people—the great majority of people to become intelligent enough not to shy from a good fair proposition because some one says "It is socialism". There may be good things in socialism—if so why reject them? There may be bad things in democracy or republicanism—as practiced by the parties of those names—if so why not reject the bad part and in its place accept the good things from whatever source? Another thing, such a tax might be said to tend toward the single tax—all right, if that is good, and it has proven not wholly bad in places where tried, let it be called single tax. Do the wise thing—the just thing to do and call it whatever you please.

We have in this land of ours a lot of money owned by men who are usually very conservative and very cautious about their investments—unless they can invest some other man's money and let him take the risk and they the profit. Now is a time when the American people should be extremely cautious about letting these big fellows loan all of our money, much of which is in their keeping, to the warring nations of Europe, some of which, if not all of them, are bound to see hard times in the not distant future. As gold is the money of the world today, the people of America should not permit their big banking institutions to allow it all to go to the people who are now wanting it to wage war with—for there may come a time when their securities will be far below par, and our gold through them has gone abroad to finance tottering thrones. This people should not be placed in a position to feel compelled to aid either side in the great struggle pending to save our financiers from a monetary loss. It is not business—it is not neutral.

John L. Kennedy delivered a 4th of July celebration speech at Minden and before he reached home decided to offer his services to his country as a senator from this state if the republicans will nominate him and the people elect him. He is said to be able, and good of his kind, but that he is not of the progressive brand is held against him. He should make his platform. The day is past when any man should ask the people to send him as a representative unless he tells where he stands. What do you believe in, John, or do you prefer to let the interests build the platform?

Governor Whitman of New York is considering the idea of becoming the republican nominee for president—if he can land in the place, but no one will want a man for president who never misses an opportunity to show how small he is as Whitman has done. It will take one who has the full measure of a man to stand for the place of president to the satisfaction of American people after knowing what Woodrow Wilson can and has done for those who placed upon him the responsibility of chief executive.

The Latest German Note

Dispatches from Washington indicate that the president and cabinet are agreed upon a note to Germany in reply to their latest evasive answer. The reply is not to be an ultimatum, we are told. Here is what is said:

Such information as was obtainable concerning the nature of the new note was chiefly of a negative character. Cabinet officers made it clear that it would not be an ultimatum or make any threats as to the future purposes of the United States. At the same time they pointed out that it would probably have an air of finality, curtailing the field of discussion and negotiations, and placing squarely on Germany the responsibility for any actions that might subsequently endanger the friendly relations of the two countries. The communications will be couched in friendly terms, although it will follow the spirit of firmness that has characterized previous notes.

Today's conference was devoted largely to a discussion of what the American people really wanted the Washington government to say and do in the present crisis. So far as the cabinet officers could judge by their examination of public expressions the nation had voiced an insistent desire that the honor and dignity of the United States be upheld in the correspondence with Germany, but that a course should be followed which would maintain peace.

The Democrat believes that the American people are not favorable to any act which will mean war, for that is a poor and costly way to right a wrong, and he believes that the President and cabinet are really and truly leaders in creating such a sentiment. If Germany and England will not be governed by what has long been established as international law and insist upon keeping without the circle of civilization it will be right and proper for this nation and other neutral nations to refrain from doing business with them and while that may entail a loss upon many interests in this country it certainly is better than to mix in such a broil as they have in Europe. We can afford to wait and press our claim for justice in an unprejudiced court and receive an award that is not paid for in the best blood of the land. We would not say "Peace at any price"—but we would oppose war unless attacked. The powers in the deadlock of war are in desperate straits and to join them in any event would be no more to our credit than it would for a sober man to have a set-to with two or more drunken men engaged in a brawl.

Some Late News Notes

Laborers in the employ of the Standard Oil Co., at Bayonne, New Jersey, were on a strike and in a riot the first of the week and one man was killed. But that is no new thing for some of the great interests to have their laboring men striking for living wages when they cannot spend the income as fast as it comes.

The fighting in Mexico is still a sort of a seesaw. One day the Carranza forces are in control then Villa makes a break in the line and then Zapata comes back. In the mean time the people are waiting a long time between meals and the end which appeared so near last week is not in sight yet.

Russian torpedo boat destroyers have destroyed a fleet of 59 Turkish vessels laden with war supplies, according to a late dispatch.

The Welch coal miner strike is to be settled according to an agreement reached and the work of mining coal will be resumed at once.

A circus snake scared a circus crowd nearly to death at Newman Grove this week by simply getting out of his cage.

The Germans are marching on toward Warsaw, and the Russian forces appear unable to stop them.

Harvest hands are coming to Nebraska, and many of them are or soon will be needed.

The Elkhorn doctors are to meet at Long Pine next fall.

The clothing trade is facing a prospective strike.

It is just as well to make it unanimous for Woodrow when the New York Tribune, which has not been in the least democratic since the time in 1872 when the democratic party endorsed the nomination of its editor, Horace Greely for president, urges the republicans of 1916 to endorse the present democratic president.

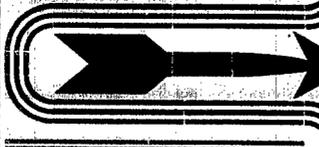

On another page is an article contributed by J. E. Hufford which tells of a way in which to increase your poultry profits without additional cost. It is a timely suggestion, and one we hope many will follow, for an opportunity to increase the market value of chicken from 75 to 100 per cent is well worth investigating.

many of our virtues. He wondered that the people had allowed so much of our inexhaustible natural resources to become the property of private monopoly. And it is one of our weak points. He pictured a union of American and English flags which we do not think will come in the present generation—unless England shall change her policy—but it was a pretty word picture. He spoke briefly of some of the horrors of the war in which his country is engaged, and deplored it much, but with true John Bull tenacity he stood for his country as one of those in the right. He made a plea for better morals for the world and was heartily applauded as he urged the need of great reforms—some of which are fast coming. He is a keen observer and draws quick and fair conclusions of what he sees. A very pleasant man to meet—very democratic and making one, whatever his calling or occupation, feel at ease in conversation with him, his personality helps greatly in giving one a better impression of the people of his native land.

Sunday evening he gave a talk for the chautauqua here not on the program, dividing the time with the concert company both afternoon and evening. His evening talk was more in the nature of a sermon upon the question of whether life is worth living and it is, according to his practical talk.

Monday evening he spoke to a crowded house at Carroll, where a date was made for him as he had that evening to spare before going to fit his next chautauqua date.

Commission Government for State

One of the treats of the chautauqua was the talk of George H. Hodges, former governor of Kansas. Mr. Hodges was a member of the legislature before he became governor, and it was his energetic fight on the abuses of the rights of the people by the legislature which attracted the public attention to him and placed him in the governor's chair. His talk showed the needlessness of our present system of legislature—its waste and worse than waste—its extravagance and folly. He showed that it frequently degenerates into a mere farce—that in many cases people celebrated the close of a session with a sigh of relief and a feeling that the rights of the people were much more safe when the legislature was not in session than when it was. He brought ample evidence to prove his claim that it is "bad business" something we all know to a greater or less extent. It is good picking for the lobbyist and for some special interests. Employees such as pages and clerks and hangers-on make more from the state than the members, frequently.

Having indicted the legislature he did not stop, but proposed as a remedy a state government on the pattern of the commission form of city government in other words on what appears to be a common-sense form. Here is what he would have the people do:

The commission form of city government has proved so highly satisfactory that some large cities are carrying it a step farther, and out of the commission has grown the successful city-manager plan.

An ideal state government and a model legislative plan articulating therewith can be had by electing the Governor, Auditor and Secretary of State as the only elective state officials, and for a period of four years.

Elect two members of the legislature from each of the congressional districts—which would make 12 members in this state—on a non-partisan ticket, with terms of office four years each, and with a provision for expiration of terms in rotation, in order to secure stability.

Pay these legislatures a good salary. Permit the Governor, without limitations, to choose his attorney-general, but have all other state officers chosen by the Executive from the members of the legislature elect—insurance commissioner, labor commissioner, state treasurer, superintendent of public instruction, and so on. These men, after familiarizing themselves with the duties of their offices, can far more intelligently legislate for the needs of their respective departments than the ordinary inexperienced legislator.

The Governor would be the presiding officer, without veto power, of this legislature. The office of lieutenant governor should be abolished. This would be simplified state government.

The modified commission form of government for the state and the legislative plan of a single house of few members, which I have outlined, are not departures from the principle of representative government, but a return to that simpler representative ideal from which our complex system had led us. Every elector in each congressional district will have a vote for a state representative, just as he has for his congressman.

We should have had fewer laws; but they would have been only such laws as there was a positive demand for, and they would have come from a commission composed of deliberate, experienced and careful men whose wisdom had been ripened by experience.

Along Came Ruth

"Hello Ruth," said a voice at the other end of the telephone, "I am calling you up because I know you know what I want to know, and it's just this: I am putting up my grape juice and I find that all of my corks are too large for the bottles. Is there any way to make them smaller without cutting them down? Now come to my aid like a good girl."

"Yes, there is," obliged Ruth, "the simplest possible way. You just put your corks in boiling water and let them stay for five minutes, and you will see that you will have no trouble whatever in getting them into the necks of your bottles. I don't know why it is so, but it is, for I had the same trouble last year with catsup brought them out beautifully. I think bottle corks, and this boiling business they would have gone into bottles of any smaller size. Can I do anything else for you?"

"No, thank you, but I just want to say that I don't know what this town would do without you, Ruth."

Sounds Old Slogan

As the threshing season advances, the College of Agriculture again sounds the old, but ever important slogan of having the straw stacks. The department of agronomy of this institution says that the crying need of Nebraska soils as a whole is for more organic matter. This can be supplied at home with the adoption of proper farm practices. A straw pile from a 20-acre field, for instance, is worth from $50 to $75, or $2.50 a ton, in nitrogen, phosphoric acid, and potash alone.

When the straw pile is, burned only 3 per cent of the former value is retained.

The means of disposing of straw varies. On a Nuckolls county farm during the seasons of 1911 and 1912 the wheat straw from a 40-acre field for two years was distributed by hand on a windy day on a 20-acre plot. The adjoining 20-acre plot was left without straw. The yield of wheat during 1913 on the plot to which the straw had been applied was 26 bushels, and on the other plot seven bushels.

Mrs. Conover, who has been at a Rochester hospital for the past ten weeks, and where she underwent two or more operations, returned home this morning feeling much improved in health. Her son, C. E. Conover was with her.

M. H. O'Brien from Fremont was a visitor at the home of his brother-in-law, J. W. McInerney, the first of the week. He farms near his home town and says that he escaped the big hail storm there Sunday, but that it certainly played havoc with things in Fremont. One of the big losses was the breaking of nearly all of the electrolier lights in the city. Much window glass was broken also and other damage inflicted. He returned Wednesday.

Misses Irene Mines and Edna Harder from Emerson were guests at the McCormick home over Sunday.

C. H. Hendrickson and wife will leave Friday to visit at the home of a friend at Montrose, South Dakota.

Homer Wheaton is again scraping chins at his basement barber-shop, and Erick Tillman is there to learn the trade.

At Sholes the citizens are planning a field day meet and carnival, and the date is set for the 31st of this month. An advertisement elsewhere will give you more particulars. A gala day is being prepared for.

Miss Nellie Parish of Sioux Falls, South Dakota, came this week to the home of Mr. and Mrs. McLaughlin. She has made her home with them at Emerson in the past for considerable time, and expects to remain here indefinitely.

Miss Florence Welch and Miss Morrison left Monday evening to join other young ladies from Lincoln for a vacation trip to a resort in the Blackhills country, where the climate is fine, the fishing good and life is full of joy. They spent a part of the heated term there last season.

Martin Muth and wife came from Bloomfield Saturday to visit relatives and former friends at Wayne and near here. Mr. Muth reports that in the matter of rainfall they have had rather the best of this vicinity in the past two weeks—that is they have not had quite as much water.

Chan Norton is home from a trip to Madella, Minnestoa, where he has a farm, which he had been looking after. He was also looking for a house with a view of moving there this fall and getting some fall plowing done—as they plan to work their own place next season.

It is said that there is a "window peeper" making trouble for himself in the northeast part of town—who has been plying the petty business for several weeks, and that the evidence against him now counts to almost enough to call him by name—and then won't he feel proud to be made to answer to the charge of playing peek-a-boo through the windows of his neighbors. Better ring off—for there are cases where a charge of shot have been used to mark such fellows for identification.

Mrs. F. S. Berry entertained the ladies of the Early Hour club last Wednesday afternoon, complimentary to Mrs. Edith Berry of Chicago. The afternoon was spent in playing cards and delicious refreshments were served. The house was profusely decorated with garden flowers.

Mesdames Jake Geiger and son, J. Isaacs, Anton and Claus Krutzbert, four ladies from Minden, Iowa, have been here visiting relatives. They were at the home of H. Puls at Altona, Mr. and Mrs. Kreptky at Winside and Mrs. F. Peterson at this place. They left Wednesday morning.

Fred Rippon of El Reno, Oklahoma, was here Wednesday to spend a day with his mother, brother, Ernest Rippon, and sister Mrs. W. O. Hansen and families. He says that the farmers everywhere have the same trouble—too much rain, and that it is very difficult to get into the grain fields with machinery to save a magnificent crop.

The Bible Study Circle met with Mrs. C. O. Fisher this week and discussed the advance Sunday school lesson. Reports from committee on summer camp were given and arrangements made for the next meeting with Mrs. Gilbert one block east of Prof. Huntemer's, Tuesday, next. All are welcome to the warm fellowship of this mid-week union Bible class.

Wm. VonSeggern, who has a fine field of winter wheat ready for the harvester, is having trouble to get onto the ground with a machine to harvest. He tried a tractor engine, but the ground was too soft for it. So too it was for harvester drawn by horses. The recent overflow of the Logan covered a portion of the field. Most of the grain is standing so that it can be cut if the mud will dry a bit.

The Crystal theatre is reopening this week after being closed for ten days for opening the new extension which doubles the seating capacity of the place. The new and enlarged room will be of convenience to the public and profit to the proprietor. With almost 400 chairs, two shows each evening will doubtless furnish ample room for those who wish to attend. Tonight is the last of the three big nights of opening, and if you have not been this is the opportunity—if you have been you will want to go again. The Democrat is glad that another improvement for the comfort of Wayne people has been completed.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Presbyterian church met at the home of Mrs. Walter McLaughlin, at Wayne, last Thursday afternoon. The afternoon was spent in the usual way followed by a dainty lunch, after which the ladies had a group picture of themselves taken and the ladies report a very delightful day. Those who attended were: Mesdames L. W. McLaughlin, Chas. Beiersdorf, Ed. Beiersdorf, Fred Spaulding, I. G. Vaughn, Roy Owen, Howard Wellwood, Geo. Hahn, M. McEntaffer, C. L. McEntaffer, L. W. Stallbaum, Tom Frost, Chas. Mines, F. J. Hoydar, Roy Demme, Axel Erickson, Chas. Flegg, J. W. Church, M. E. Tipton, Roe, Misses Floy Poole, Irene Mines and Edna Heydar.—Emerson Enterprise.

Gleaned From Democrat's Exchanges

A move is under way to organize a Rebekah lodge at Wausa.

At Pender they have an ordinance for parking automobiles in the middle of the street, leaving space next to the curbs for the traffic, and all keeping to the right in their travel, in the name of safety.

New Jersey is a small state and a corporation ridden one too, but they mine and reduce about $8,000,000 worth of zinc there annually. This is said to be the net value after cost of production has been deducted.

The old settlers of Antelope county will meet at Brunswick this year at a date to be named later, which reminds the Democrat that Wayne county has an old settler meeting due to be held sometime before frost is on the pumpkin.

Brunswick has a base ball team organized. For some reason the base ball enterprise seems to be lagging these years. Too much commercialism and gambling in recent years has been instrumental in putting it on the bum.

According to government report California leads in the quantity of petroleum, but Oklahoma produces more in value but not quite so much in gallons. Illinois is well up in the list and so is Colorado, Wyoming, Texas and Pennsylvania.

There is labor trouble in the Remington arms and ammunition factories, and if it should continue long enough and all other people in such work going on a strike it might in time end the war, unless the combatants fought it out by fist-cuffs.

When the county commissioners of Cedar county meet these days they are not allowing any bills for there is no money in the treasury, as we understand which has not already been spent. A bit of economy for a few years will bring things around right.

The United States has just completed and tried out a sub-sea boat which can make a trip across the Atlantic and back without putting up anywhere for supplies of fuel, which is a mighty fine thing, for should it go over there some day it could come home again.

It is reported that the Adams Express company has been acting as the agent of certain mail order houses in some places, and the Tradesman in its last issue claims to have been instrumental in causing the company to quit the business in that line and tote fair.

The Pender chautauqua went in the hole this season financially, on account of bad weather and poor roads, but the chautauqua spirit is growing there, for while but twelve men stood sponsor for the finances this season, fifty stepped out, and said they would sign up for another season.

Pender is agitating the question of organizing a band. A good thing to have, but rather expensive these days when so few want to do the necessary work for their love of music and the glory they may get out of it. The band proposition is becoming commercialized, and is a cold cash proposition in these days.

More than three hundred veterinarians, the largest attendance in the history of the organization, attended the annual convention of the Missouri Valley Veterinary association in Omaha last week. They have made Omaha the permanent meeting place by revising the constitution to that effect. Service and efficiency were the keynotes of the meeting.

To boost Nebraska, and Iowa trade territory, the manager of the Omaha bureau of publicity left for Frisco and other California points last week. Efforts will be made to induce visitors to the exposition to return by way of Nebraska with a stop off at Omaha. Booklets and other pamphlets, setting forth the beauties of Nebraska will be distributed through railroad ticket offices and other mediums. Manager Parrish will also attempt to induce national conventions to hold their next meetings in Omaha.

Hail did heavy damage Saturday night in various parts of Nebraska. Near Creighton a strip a quarter of a mile wide and about 20 miles long was visited and much of the crop destroyed in the strip. Windows were broken, and in some places in the path of the storm the rainfall was seven inches. Train service east of Norfolk was damaged, and passenger car windows were broken in cars standing at Fremont. In the vicinity of Omaha another severe hail storm swept the country for miles and did vast damage at that city. Small washouts in vicinity of Scribner and Hooper delayed train service.

At Pender where they have sa- loons they are now circulating a petition asking the city council to secure a surveyor who will help the city and citizens in getting rid of the water from the city's low lands—a most commendable move, for there is not need of as much water as Pender has at times in a place well supplied with places to quench thirst.

The Gazette says that the chautauqua at Wausa last week was a success—but that opinion of the people of the community is divided as to whether or not it is a desirable investment. Hartington, too, is claiming a successful meet with attendance larger than the year before. The ticket receipts were $1066, about two-thirds of which was from the sale of season tickets.

The Coleridge Blade holds the names of nineteen young men of that place from publication out of respect for their parents, during good behavior of the lads. Boys and girls should think of the disgrace they may bring to their best friend—mother—rather than leave it to the mercy of one who is in no manner obligated to stand between them and the result of their bad deeds.

An attempt was made by a fellow prisoner Saturday night on the life of Leo M. Frank at the state prison farm of Georgia at Milledgeville, Frank Green a life term prisoner having an inspiration that he should kill Frank.—He stabbed him in the neck and cut into the jugular vein, but as neither the spinal cord or the windpipe were cut there was reported hope of recovery.

The Pilger Herald last week did not attempt to estimate the damage by flood to that town Wednesday, beyond to state that every cellar was filled and many residence and business houses were flooded to a depth of from 2 to 4 feet. It is apparent that the damage from such a flood would be great. All basement contents would be practically lost—and the cost of cleaning the places and streets would be no small sum.

According to recent government reports there are now in Nebraska but 174,280 acres of land subject to homestead, and in Cherry county, where there is more than 73,000 acres of this land, there is not a whole quarter section in one body subject to entry. Fifteen years ago there was more than 10,000,000 acres of government land in the state, much of which was said to be almost worthless—but people have come to know its value.

Pilger is coming to the front and will soon have an electric light and power plant of latest pattern, the power for which is to be furnished by two 60 h. p. crude oil burning engines. The service is to be continuous and the estimated cost of the plant is $15,000. If they could but extract the power that might be generated from the water of the river which flows past they might furnish light and power to the farmers for miles around.

Lyons is to have a stock show this fall, and have $350 pledged for prizes. The grand prize that comes off a stock show is not the purses offered, but the improvement of the stock grown where such an institution is properly maintained. Better stock is worth more to the man who produces it than the prize money it will bring—but the incentive adds to the interest and centers the efforts as an attraction and an education to the public.

Walt Shane, a farmer near Fairbury, when wind and rain laid his wheat flat just as it was ready to cut proceeded to save the crop by a scheme of his own devising. He removed every alternate tooth on his hay-rake and raked the field in the opposite direction from which the wheat had fallen and then was able to cut and bind the wheat in the usual way. Many farmers in that locality followed his example with good results.—Butler County Press. It may be that Wayne county farmers can do likewise with profit.

A petition is being circulated to have an expert audit the books of Madison county, and some feel that the honesty of the officials is being questioned—and perhaps it is and maybe should be. But the Democrat would have it a part of the law that the state should have a competent official to annually audit the books of county officials—a simple and uniform system of keeping the accounts should be adopted, and thus there would be less temptation to take chances with the public funds.—Our postal authorities keep a pretty close check on the affairs of that department, and as a result but few go wrong, and when they do their official career is short.

They have a Methodist pastor at Coleridge who is onto his job in the matter of using publicity to the best advantage. In a recent issue of the Blade he includes a neat little half column of church notes, saying dunn to the congregation, in a that it is not his plan to talk of the benevolences from the pulpit, and that he had not found people at home when he went to call for the contribution, so he uses the paper to do his dunning, and as the item was not marked "adv" it is but fair to suppose that the dollar's worth of space used was the editor's contribution to the benevolences, along with other dollar's worth he is weekly giving to kindred causes. He even used the columns of the paper to thank the orchestra, which was thoughtful of him.

Ed Lang and a 12 year old son were drowned near Wausa last Wednesday evening in the high water of a creek through their place. The lad was going for the cows on horseback—and had to ford the stream. The horse was unable to keep its footing and was swept down stream and soon the lad fell off. The father hearing his cries went to his rescue, and after getting to his son was unable to reach shore with him, and both were drowned. The same evening a young man, George Robbins met a similar fate. He attempted to rescue a small boy who had fallen into the water of a swollen little stream while crossing on a plank. He succeeded in saving the little one but was not able to draw himself from the water and went to his death.

The county agricultural agent of Madison county says that the damage to wheat in that county this season varies from 5 to 25 percent in the different localities. He says: The present situation will not result in a very heavy loss in the wheat crop this year, except in some isolated fields, but if measures are not taken to prevent its spread there will be an increasing amount of damage each successive year. Several farmers were not aware that their wheat was infested until the matter was called to their attention. At this season of the year the fly will be found in the "flaxseed" stage, a brownish colored object about one-eighth of an inch long and rather pointed at either end. It is now in the resting stage and will emerge from this case during the latter part of August or the first of September. This "flaxseed" may be found slightly below the surface of the ground at the point where stem and root join, under the sheath which surrounds the lower portion of the wheat stem. The presence of the fly in the wheat fields is now indicated by many infested stems being broken over at the top of the ground where the insect has eaten through them. By careful examination of those bunches of wheat where these broken stems are found, it will usually not be difficult to find some of these "flaxseeds."

Hugo Lehmkuhl will take notice that on the 26th day of June, 1915, James Britton, Judge of the County Court of Wayne County, Nebraska, said Court having justice jurisdiction, issued an order of attachment for the sum of One hundred fourteen dollars ($114.42), Forty Two Cents, in an action pending in said Court, and before said County Judge, wherein M. D. Coleman is plaintiff and Hugo Lehmkuhl is defendant; that property consisting of one sorrel mule about ten or twelve years old, weight about 1100 pounds; one black mule about ten or twelve years old, weight about 1100 pounds; one Moline 32-inch wagon running gears, nearly new, has been attached under said order, said cause was continued to the 12th day of August, 1915, at 2:00 o'clock, p. m.

They Are Yours

These extras belong to you. They mean less rim-cuts, less blowouts, less loose treads. They mean more rubber, more fabric, more mileage, less trouble. Most tire users know that, so Goodyear tires far outsell any other.

If we omitted those extras, we could save on this year's probable output $1,635,000. We could add that to our profits, yet Goodyear tires would look as good as now.

Sunday school Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. The work of the Sunday school has been progressing very well, but still we are in need of the support of more parents. Come, we need you to help in the work. Morning worship every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. The subject of the sermon for next Sunday morning will be "The Man Whom God Called a Fool"—Luke 12:20. Christ was unfolding some of his great truths to His disciples and a vast multitude, when he was suddenly interrupted by a man, who had been wronged out of his share of an earthly inheritance.

He now appeals to Christ for redress. He wants Christ to play the part of a small attorney and get his inheritance restored to him. This Jesus deliberately declines to do, indicating that he has come into the world for higher work than worldly arbitration. But Jesus does far better for the poor man than if he had become arbitrator for him. He warns him against covetousness and indicates that "A man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth." To back-up the lesson, he relates a parable about a certain rich man whose whole concern was to multiply his possessions, but who is surprised by death while doing so. He leaves his wealth behind him, and enters the other world utterly poor. By His parable Christ impresses upon the mind of the man, that a spiritual inheritance is of much more value than a worldly inheritance.

Union services will be held on the Court house lawn Sunday evening at seven o'clock, if the weather will permit.

Luther league will be held in the Sunday school room of the church, after the union service.

The Ladies Aid society will meet at the home of Mrs. Christ Flohrs, on Thursday of this week.

The August meeting of the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary will be held on the eleventh at the home of Mrs. N. J. Jublin.

A cordial invitation is extended to all who wish to worship with us.

Methodist Church

(Rev. A. S. Buell Pastor).
The chautauqua with its splendid programs is over and we will now resume the vesper services in the court house lawn at seven o'clock Sunday evening. If the evening is warm and pleasant of course the service will be on the court house lawn but if the weather is unfavorable for the open air service it will be held in one of the churches, definite announcements being made at the morning services as to the place. Special music is being arranged for that service.

The subject for next Sunday morning's sermon will be "Justified by Faith we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ". We will hold the Communion service and administer the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper at the close of the sermon.

At the close of the Sunday school the membership of the church is called to meet in business session for the purpose of electing one delegate and one alternate to the Lay Electoral Conference which convenes in Omaha in September.

Dr. E. S. Blair will have charge and will act as judge of the election. It is hoped that a full attendance of members will be present at this important meeting.

Dr. E. E. Hosman, D. D., will be with us and hold our fourth Quarterly Conference Monday evening, August 2d at 8 o'clock p. m.

The Epworth League devotional meeting will be held in the league room at 8 o'clock Sunday evening immediately following the Union Vesper service. The Epworth Leaguers are planning to hold a pay social in the church on Friday evening, everybody invited.

The pastor was called to Lyons on Wednesday of this week to preach the funeral sermon of Grandma Phillips of that place.

Presbyterian Church

(Rev. S. Xenophon Cross, Pastor)
There will be the regular preaching service next Sunday morning at the usual hour. The subject of the morning sermon will be "Opportunity". Miss Mabel Dayton will meet the Junior Endeavor at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, provided as many as ten are desirous of keeping up the Junior work.

Baptist Church

(Rev. B. P. Richardson, Pastor)
Dr. Spurgeon gave two splendid addresses last Sunday. His interpretation of religion in terms of service, was vividly presented by some splendid illustrations. Altogether the chautauqua was of high order, bringing facts, ideas, inspirations as well as entertainment to those who attended. The chautauqua is an important institution for a community. It stands as a builder in the life of a people. It would be a backward step in the life of our little city to let a season pass without its strong chautauqua. It brings to a focus the best interests of our community and develops the spirit of co-operation among them. Let the people who believe in the home, the church and the school, be a chautauqua booster.

Sunday morning the pastor will preach on the subject, "The Dynamic of Discontent".

In the evening the union service will be held on the court house lawn at seven o'clock.

At 8 o'clock the young people will hold their service at the church. The missionary committee will have charge of the service. This meeting is for everybody. Wednesday evening will be our covenant meeting. At this meeting some plans will be made for the meeting of the association. The association will meet here with our church August 13-15.

Tomorrow (Friday) the prayer circle will meet at the home of Mrs. Henney.

On Thursday evening of next week, the young people will give a play at the opera house. It is a splendid comedy drama, of four acts, with a well chosen cast of characters. See the advertisement in another part of this paper.

Lincoln Letter

That Gust Ruttenbeck, Nebraska's chief game and fish commissioner, is a busy man is attested by the following facts: During the last biennium the commission has caused the arrest of 236 persons charged with violations of the Game and Fish laws; 176 of these were convicted and paid fines; 16 jail sentences inflicted. The total fines imposed and paid to the various county treasurers amounted to $1,488.70. The number of unlawful fishing nets and traps confiscated and destroyed during the past two years were 822. Twenty-one seines were destroyed during the year of 1913 by the different local and special game wardens. A great many lines, having more than the legal number of hooks thereon, have also been destroyed. In every case where fish were found in these traps they were released. During 1913 over 2,800 pounds of fish and three deer were confiscated and given to the poor. Fourteen grouse, twelve prairie chickens, five ducks and 60 other birds were confiscated and given to state institutions or poor people. During 1914 several kind of game and about 700 pounds of fish were distributed among the different state institutions.

The collections of occupation taxes of domestic and foreign corporations doing business in Nebraska, which are paid in to the office of secretary of state, Charles W. Pool, during the months of May and June, amounted to a total of $35,177. As the domestic taxes become due July 1st and the foreign, August 1st, the above amount was early in the coming. The collections for July promise to be larger than during any previous July since the law went into effect.

The issuing of motor licenses and number tags from the department of state during the past three months has made that department a very busy place indeed. Six to eight clerks have been actively engaged and although many thousand auto owners have already been supplied the end is not yet and the work goes merrily on.

E. A. Walrath of Osceola, the newly appointed deputy commissioner of printing, took charge of his office the first of this week, succeeding N. J. Ludi of Wahoo who has lately accepted the post-mastership at his home city. Mr. Walrath is most eminently fitted for this new position.

Fred C. Ayers of Holbrook, owner of the Holbrook Observer, has been named by State Auditor Wm. H. Smith to succeed Wm. B. Eastham as deputy auditor. Mr. Ayers is eminently qualified for the position and will make a most worthy successor to Mr. Eastham, the latter having shown rare proficiency in paring down claims. Mr. Eastham will soon be installed in his new position, being appointed the new insurance commissioner for the state of Nebraska, where he will shine with efficiency.

Phil F. Ackerman, the well known deputy hotel commissioner, who has been in poor health for some months has gone to Rochester, Minnesota, with the hope of securing relief through a surgical operation.

Double Service AUTOMOBILE TIRES

Guaranteed 7000 Miles Service
ABSOLUTELY PUNCTUREPROOF

Double Service Tires are double the thickness of the best standard make tires.

This 100 per cent greater wearing surface naturally gives that much more mileage and service. The average of 12 miles of tough fabric and one inch surface tread rubber make these tires absolutely puncture proof.

These tires excel all others for use in the country over rough and rugged roads as well as on hard pavements. They are as easy riding and resilient as any other pneumatic tire—the air space and pressure being the same.

They are the most economical and "care free" tires made and are used where tires must be depended on and tire troubles cannot be tolerated.

Many Double Service style tires are in use in the United States government and European War service.

Our output is limited to a certain amount, but for a short time we offer the following reduced special offer as an Introductory Offer:

Winside Notes

(From the Tribune)

A washout similar to that which occurred west of town was also in evidence between this point and Wayne and required several hours of impetuous labor to put the track in substantial condition.

A barn dance was held at the Geo. Meade farm Saturday evening. A very large number of young people attended and enjoyed themselves to the point of exhaustion. A surprisingly large number of the participants were from Wayne and Carroll. A lunch was served at midnight.

Herman Benck and Miss Lydia Hansen slipped quietly away to Wayne last Friday afternoon and were married by Judge James Britton. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. John Benck, Jr., who served as witnesses. The party returned to Winside on the tenth passenger train and repaired to the home of John Benck, Jr., where a reception was given them by relatives and close friends. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Benck, Sr., and the bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Hansen. They will make their present home on the John Benck farm three miles south and two miles east of Winside.

Winside and vicinity was visited by one of the heaviest rainfalls in years early Wednesday morning. Nearly two inches of water fell and scarcely had it abated when a deluge of water swept down Logan creek filling it beyond capacity and inundating the adjacent lowlands, transforming the fertile little valley into a veritable lake and jeopardizing the lives of thousands of dollars worth of live stock. The center of attraction was the morning passenger which was halted by the high water a mile west of town where the torrent tore huge holes in the roadbed leaving the track suspended in mid-air although the latter remained intact. The train was forced to remain in its precarious position for several hours while track laborers placed numerous tie supports under the rails to render them passable.

From W. L. Hurlbert and Family

The following extracts are taken from the letter sent to the Carroll Index by Mrs. W. L. Hurlbert, who are going overland to the coast. You will find it interesting:

"We left home June 1st and went southwest to Wolback and there visited two days; crops were looking fine, but oh, those canyons! From there we went to Grand Island and visited over Sunday with Mr. Mahloms and Dan Burreas. While here we visited the Baptist college which has the 3rd largest library in the U. S.; school just closed two days before, so we saw only the remnants of the banquet, such as empty ice cream freezers and torn decorations. As Mr. and Mrs. Maholm are in the old soldiers' home we enjoyed a walk through the home and over the grounds; also went to church Sunday p. m. These old people have their own choir and certainly do enjoy the services; the Episcopal minister was out from the city; they take turn about coming so that they always have preaching; there is about 500 enrolled now and over 400 in the cemetery.

"From here we went to Atlanta, Nebraska between rain and hail storms, but providentially we were a half a day behind the hail and have been all the way; we had plenty of wind, rain and mud and passed through lakes of water; here was where we could pass, the cars; we visited here one week, everyone was smiling and crops were looking fine, yet the hail cut down lots of fields completely.

"We crossed the Kansas line June 29. Now friends, as you read of the great wheat crop in Kansas don't think it exaggerated for it is wheat and barley every way you look; most everyone has from 200 to 500 acres and they sure need more help than they will get; at Rexford it is hard for a man to get through; men hale you on every corner; they want men and teams and even want the women for cooks; wages are $1.50 and $2 per day for women, $3 for single men and $5 and $6 for men and teams. If you folks did not know us so well, I might add here it was really a temptation to stop, but W. L. only said: 'Why I'm trying to run away from work,' they then told him not to come through Kansas in harvest time.

"We are now having a fine shower, the first one since July 3; we were then at Oberlin, had a heavy rain and hail this time; we were about two hours ahead of the hail but we have fully decided that it is well for us we are Baptists, or we would have to change our minds e're this, for we have surely had water enough to change the mind of anyone.

"The 4th of July we spent on the old homestead of Mr. Hurlbert's taken in 1881. It is still prairie, yet there is good wheat in that locality. We will go into Colorado tomorrow morning providing the water permits; we are on the Rock Island highway since we got to Rexford—beg pardon, but our road is better than our Carroll streets. Thomas and Sherman counties are rather desolate looking, hardly enough settlement to get feed and water. Goodland has no cemetery. They all leave before they die it is the only way we can figure it out.

"Another pleasant feature is we have not seen a saloon sign since we left Nebraska, but I never saw so many churches; if a town has only an elevator and one store it is sure to have at least one church. Up along the line they boast of going into Nebraska for their drink, and we must get busy and stop it shortly.

The Weather Better

An inch of rainfall the latter part of last week ended Sunday afternoon and since that time the weather has been clear, but quite cool, the temperature being not far above the frost line one or two mornings. This is the fourth consecutive day without rain, and the farm work of hay making and corn cultivation is progressing again. There is a feeling again among the farmers that life is worth living, and that things are better than they had feared they might be, and all feel better to think that the worst is over.

Put a nickel's worth of spirits of ammonia, another nickel's worth of prepared chalk and a half a pint of soft, preferably rain, water into a bottle and shake well. I. M. Morgan and wife from Harlan, Iowa, are here visiting at the home of his brother, John Morgan and wife. The men are trying to provide the home with meat—if fish is a meat—and were out trying their luck Wednesday, and walked home without fish enough to satisfy the appetite awakened by the exercise. But they have a little garden stuff to fall back on, so with the aid of the cooks may be able to go fishing again. The water was too dirty Wednesday for good fishing.
