Old Settlers Picnic

Beyond a doubt it has remained for Winside to put more real life into the annual picnic of the pioneers and old settlers of this county and this corner of Nebraska than has been shown before since the writer first knew that an organization of the kind was maintained in the county. They began to show evidence of a new life at Wayne last year when the picnic ground was changed from the country to town, and a large attendance enjoyed a splendid program. Had the weather remained fair yesterday all records would have been broken, and it is very possible that they were in spite of the weather. The morning attendance was large in number and enthusiastic. Winside business men put on a parade that required much labor and expense, and it was appreciated fully.

Ex-Lt.-Gov. McKelvie made a fine address in which he mixed some good farming talk of which we cannot get too much in any agricultural community. To be sure he spoke against conflicting noises—the merry-go-round of the carnival people, the street vendor cries of those who had "icecold lemonade, icecreamandpeanutscent aglass—walkrightup,ladiesandgentlemen", but he was heard by many for all that.

Winside people vied with each other in hospitality and the homes and beautiful lawns of the place were all open to their guests without money and without price.

The ball game between Winside and Wayne was pulled off in the rain, and was fought out on the merits of the players—but without many spectators, but there was ball playing from first to last. Eight innings were played, and at the end of the 7th the score was 4 each. In the 8th Wayne made a number of scores and the ten dollar prize. One who saw it said that the errors were few indeed, and some of the players made a grade of 1,000 at the bat. The fellows who carried their horseshoe over couldn't play else we wager that Wayne would have scored another victory, for with Johnnie Morgan, Hank Kellogg, Charlie Sellers, Johnnie Stall-smith and a few more of the boys to keep score they would have been invincible.

The rain spoiled the afternoon sports and also kept people home and started them home so that what would otherwise would have been the biggest crowd at Winside this year dwindled away visibly. The morning train brought people in numbers down the branch, Wayne sold 200 tickets and a string of automobiles from all over the country rolled into Winside and then rolled out again, for the auto driver fears a rain this season.

The Winnebago Indians gave their war dance in the early evening when the rain ceased for an hour or two, and in spite of rain those who remained or returned for the event saw the fireworks.

Boys—Don't Do It

Do what? Jump on and off from moving freight trains. A few days ago the editor was down toward the west end of the freight yard and saw, as a train started to go out, two or three boys run along by the cars and jump on and ride a block, perhaps, and then drop off. Some time something will go wrong, and a surgeon will be called, and a boy will go through life with an empty sleeve or a wooden leg—if he be lucky enough to escape alive.

In Iowa, the place we came from here, to break up the practice the railroad had every body caught at such illegal act arrested and on conviction a fine was imposed. Some boys felt bad—some parents felt wronged, but the railway officials thought it better for the boys and their parents to cry over a little hurt in the pocketbook than to be hurt much worse in the pocket-book, for doctor bills and nurse hire comes high as well as funeral expenses, than over the loss of an arm, leg or life. It is not smart—it is not safe and it is not lawful. Boys had better not get the habit.

Weather Report

Cool and fair weather for two or three days will be followed by rising temperatures that will not be usually high, and probably by showers toward the end of the week. Frost is probable Wednesday morning in lowlands and exposed places in the tobacco region of Wisconsin and in northeast Minnesota.

Obituary—Casper A. Fox

Casper A. Fox was born in Marshall county, Indiana, August 25, 1855, and died near Wayne, Nebraska, after a lingering illness of Bright's disease on August 20th, 1915, aged 59 years, 11 months and 25 days. He was a patient sufferer and was prepared to meet his God. In the year of 1862 he moved with his father, mother and brothers to Paw Paw, Illinois, where his father died. In the spring of 1875 with his mother and five brothers he moved to Wayne county, Nebraska, where he has since resided with the exception of about 15 years spent in Knox and Cedar counties, Nebraska. On March 23rd, 1881, he was united in marriage to Viola L. Agler at LaPorte and to this union were born seven children: Wm. C. of Laurel, Mrs. John S. Woodward of Pleavna, Missouri; John Irvin who died in 1888 aged 2 years, Nellie E., Daisy E., Clifton C., and Earl E., all of whom lived at their home four miles south of Wayne. He leaves besides his widow and six children, his aged mother and two brothers, F. W. and S. C. Fox all of Randolph.

In the passing of C. A. Fox one of the pioneer settlers of this county has gone never to return. For forty years he was one of the sturdy citizens of the county, and in those earlier days was well known by every citizen of the county. His funeral was conducted from the Presbyterian church in this place Tuesday, Rev. S. X. Cross preaching the sermon, and attended by a large number of relatives and friends.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to express to friends and neighbors our most sincere thanks for the many acts of sympathy and aid extended to us during the sickness, death and burial of husband and father.

Mrs. C. S. Fox and Children.

Electroliers Not Yet Ordered

At the meeting of the city council Tuesday evening it was discovered, when all phases of the proposed new lighting system were discussed and bids were submitted, that to secure such equipment as is wanted here would take more money than had been thought necessary from the first information given, and as the committee to solicit funds had not had time to complete their canvass of the city, it would be unwise to purchase such equipment as the money now provided would pay for and leave the job but partially completed or skimped in a manner that would not be satisfactory to any. The bids were, therefore all withdrawn and the matter will be given further consideration at a later meeting after the finance committee have had time to complete their work. According to the best bids submitted the cost will about $1,000 or $1,200 above the first estimate. Time should be taken to be sure that Wayne gets the best for the money, and gets the best prices to be had. The matter should not be allowed to drop, for there is a very general demand for this improvement of the lighting system of the city. That is shown from the liberal sums subscribed by property owners.

The following subscriptions have been reported by the committee since last reports.

Robt. Mellor.....$ 45.00
J. T. Bressler..... 105.00
J. E. Hostettler..... 10.00

Wayne Loses Monument Works

Noah Williamson informs the Democrat that he has purchased a shop at Sioux City and plans to move there, and will take his stock and equipment from here about October 1st. We have known that Mr. Williamson has long felt that the regulations enforced on him by the cemetery board and sexton were a hardship and a handicap in the matter of selling his work here, and this is assigned as one of the reasons he has sought another location.

In Favor of Paving

R. E. K. Mellor, who was absent from Wayne when property owners were interviewed for their views of the question of paving, says that he is in favor of paving the business section of Main street and a half block at least each way on the cross streets.

Successful Institute in Session

This week the teachers of Wayne county are gathered here in one of the most successful institute meetings in the history of the county. The enrollment is beyond the 700 mark and a daily program is being given that is of interest and profit to all. The report of the sessions comes too late for justice in today's paper, and will be given more fully next week. We are glad to note that agriculture is coming in for an increasing share of the time of the teachers and in the schools. The daily lectures of Prof. Pellet of Iowa are of great value. They tell of the insect and rodent enemies of the farmer and their natural and artificial enemies. He tells what animals are destructive of crops and what are not—of the mission of the birds.

The other instructors are also following the program and splendid work is reported all along the line of school work, giving the teaching force of the county new ideas and new inspirations for the work of the coming year.

Collector Loomis Names Deputies

At Omaha Monday, Geo. F. Loomis, who had been appointed collector of internal revenue, was inducted into office, and his first official act was to name his deputies. They are Cecil E. Matthews of Riverton, and editor of the Review of that place, was selected as field deputy at Hastings, and immediately began his duties. R. P. Scott of Bridgeport was selected for the Alliance district; Thomas E. Matthews is named for the Grand Island district, and J. G. P. Hildebrand of Lincoln for that district. The last named served for two years in this district as deputy food and oil inspector under Governor Morehead, and has many acquaintances in this part of the state where he worked much of the time.

Sewing School Opens Monday

Miss Sybil Dixon will open sewing school at the Dixon home next week and solicits patronage. She is also prepared to do piece sewing. —adv.—34-3.

Social Notes

The Bible Study Circle had an interesting meeting Tuesday afternoon at Mrs. J. L. Coon's home led by Mrs. Goldsmith. The interesting lesson was enjoyed by everyone. Much interest was taken in the plans to secure a day meeting for Wayne when the world's greatest evangelist comes to Omaha. Over a thousand people signed the petition asking for a noon meeting at Wayne, and many more lists of names from adjoining towns have come in since the long list of names was sent in Friday. Should Billy Sunday come to our town no doubt it will be the greatest day Wayne has ever known. The next meeting of the circle will be with Mrs. Ed. Ellis. Come and help us!

Mrs. O. E. Graves entertained the Pleasant Valley Club last Thursday afternoon. One of the features of the afternoon's entertainment was an original game of Mrs. Graves in which Mrs. H. J. Miner won as prize a bouquet. Mrs. Lloyd Cunningham of Atkinson, Mrs. Lee Young of Percival, Iowa, Miss Manning of Omaha, Miss Wallace and Mrs. Crossland were guests of the club. A delicious two-course luncheon was served by the hostess. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Eric Thompson.

Last Friday evening the local telephone girls entertained a number of the young men in the employ of the Nebraska Telephone Co., who had been engaged here for a few days. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Meiers was the scene of the festivities, where the hours were spent in music, singing, dancing and games. Delicious refreshments were served, and the event was pronounced a decided success by the 16 who made up this little "hello" party.

Mrs. A. B. Carhart, Mrs. C. E. Carhart Mrs. E. Carhart and Mrs. Bowen will entertain about sixty of their friends at 3 o'clock this afternoon at Kensington. The rooms will be decorated in yellow and white. A delicious luncheon is to be served at the close of the afternoon.

The U. N. S. Club met at the home of Miss Madge Rippon Wednesday. After the business session original stories were read. They will meet at the home of Miss Effie Rohwer next Wednesday. Miss Hazel Clark became a member at the last meeting.

The Girl's Bible Circle met last Saturday evening with Miss Emma Abbott. The lesson study was led by Miss Ella Benshoof. The Circle will meet next Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Gilbert.

Noah Williamson, who with his wife went to Denver about two weeks ago to attend the national meeting of the monument manufacturers and dealers, returned the first of the week. Mrs. Williamson remained a few days longer to visit. Those who attended the convention were treated to a fine trip through the mountains of Colorado by the owners of the Colorado quirries, that the visitors might see the quality and know what a wealth of marble, granite and other stones are to be found in that state. They saw some of the world's most beautiful scenery.

Dan Burress of Carroll, who has been preaching for several weeks at Hampton, and doing farm work during the week as a part of his vacation stunt from the Baptist school at Grand Island, went to his Carroll home Tuesday for a little real vacation. He reports that in the section of the state he was in the wheat crop is a little disappointing, the threshers failing to find as much wheat in the straw as was expected by about eight to ten bushels per acre.

The renter who wants to own a home should not overlook the offering of land in North Dakota, full particulars of which may be had at the office of the Democrat. The money asked for rent here in four years will pay for a farm where the soil is splendid, the water good, market close, and where diversified farming is making men rich. It is a great cattle land—just east of the Missouri and on the railroad. Let us tell you—The Democrat.—adv.

Remodeling and Enlarging Bank

The State Bank of Wayne is this week letting a contract for new fixtures and at the same time is planning for more floor space, and are preparing the entire first floor of their building for their own use. They will also construct additional vault room for the convenience of the patrons and install a complete system of safety deposit boxes. The entire building is to be heated by a vapor system which is now here to be installed.

The new vault and work of remodeling the building goes to Foster & Son of this city, and the brick work of the vault is now in waiting for the inside equipment and doors which are now under construction by the Mosler Safe Co., of Hamilton, Ohio. The new fixtures will be of taken malleable, with bronze grill work. The new furniture and wood work are all to be of antique oak, and of latest and most convenient design.

The plans call for an open lobby at the front, additional counter space, a private office with all conveniences and a separate room, with the outside entrance formerly used by Mears & Johnson, for the convenience of the patrons of the safety deposit boxes. This room is to be largely dedicated to the public, and here may be held committee meetings, a meeting place for friends of either business or a social nature. The aim is to add to the conveniences and comfort of owners, employees and the public.

The growth and success of the State Bank in a business way warrants and demands this improvement, their deposits having grown from $200,000 ten years ago to almost a half million, reflecting the marked confidence of the public and the increased prosperity of this community, and they are to be commended for their progressiveness in planing a business place of artistic beauty where all necessary features for safety and service are combined.

Mrs. O. P. DePue was here last week from Columbus Junction, Iowa, on a business and social mission. She informs us that they have purchased a bakery and restaurant at the above place and are again located. Columbus Junction is a live town in southeastern Iowa, not as large as Wayne, but surrounding country is more thickly settled and the rural population are a larger factor in the support of such establishments than here. In "Dep" the people of Columbus Junction will find one who thoroughly understands his business and well knows how to serye the public in his line.

Annual Tournament Well Attended

The annual meeting of the Wayne Gun Club Tuesday in which the best shots in this corner of Nebraska were invited to come and compete for the money hung up for the best men with a gun was a decided success. The day was perfect for the sport—no wind, not a bright sun and no rain. There were 38 contestants, and some very good scores were made. Bloomfield, Wausa, Meadow Grove, Randolph, Hartington, Coleridge, Wisner, Laurel, Stanton and Florence and Wayne were represented.

Severson of Wisner made the best score, breaking 163 rocks out of a possible 180. Nagel, Sasse and Thompson were close followers. Prof. Wiley of this place earned more money than any other, making his best scores at a time when the division of the purse was better. He drew down $25.70.

Below we give the official score:

H. Henney and wife and son spent Tuesday at Sioux City.

It is estimated that there are 12,000,000 farmers in this country.

Wm. Weber went to Crofton Saturday to visit a few days with his son at that place.

J. H. Foster was at Sioux City Saturday ordering mill work for the Frank Strahan house.

Just look our ad over on page 3. Wayne Meat Market, next to city hall, Phone No. 9.—adv.

Mrs. Madden went to Crystal lake Saturday and was a guest at the camp of Mrs. Rennick a few days.

Mrs. S. W. Elder and daughter, Grace, went to Kearney Monday morning to spend a week there visiting friends.

Mrs. Taylor of Plainview returned home Saturday, following a visit at the home of her parents, John T. Lewis and family.

Mrs. Anna Springer from Fremont has been here visiting her sister, Mrs. James Hiscox. She returned home Saturday.

Mrs. E. Leonard from Sioux City returned home Tuesday following a visit of a few days at the home of her brother, Chas. O'Connell.

Misses Mae and Halene and Master Armond Hiscox went to Madison last week to visit their grandparents and other relatives and friends.

Mrs. M. Trester from Lincoln came Monday for a fortnight visit at the home of V. L. Dayton and wife, her daughter, just east of Wayne.

Mrs. Mary E. Smith from Malvern, Iowa, who has been visiting here with her sister, Mrs. Donner, returned home Saturday, and Mrs. Donner accompanied her as far as Emerson on the home trip.

Thos. Healy, who has been visiting here and at Carroll for the past month, left Saturday for Chicago, and from there will shortly return to his studies at Grand Rapids, where he is attending a theological school.

Hans Madsen and wife from near Wakefield returned last week from a visit at the home of Ed. Thompson and wife (their daughter) near Sturgis, South Dakota. Sturgis is in the western part of the state in the Black Hills district, and Mr. Madsen says that they are this year harvesting a wonderful crop—he pronounces it better than that grown about Wayne. They report that the Thompson family is well satisfied with crop prospects there, and that they like the country well.

Mr. and Mrs. Lars Barleton from Butte stopped here last Thursday to visit at the home of C. W. Duncan and wife as they were on their way home from a visit with relatives and friends in several of the counties of western Iowa. He is a farmer, and naturally noted crop conditions, and he says that Nebraska is this season ahead of Iowa so far as he saw it. He appreciated the beauty of Wayne, and says that college hill has improved greatly since his son attended school here the first year of the normal under state management.

The annual session of the grand lodges of United Brothers of Friendship and its sister order, Sisters of the Mysterious Ten, both Negro organizations, held a successful meeting in Omaha with an estimated attendance of 1,200 prominent representatives of that race. Blind Boone, the famous blind musician, reputed to have gathered an estate of a quarter-million from his piano playing, was one of the leading attractions. These organizations have an insurance feature and it is said that thousands of their people are adopting the safeguard of life insurance through fraternal societies.

HOW TO SAVE THE TEETH

There is no doubt that the teeth may be kept in a state of efficiency to a good old age; but the price of good teeth for most people is eternal watchfulness and care.

Even when filled and placed in a healthy condition by the dentist, it is necessary that we present ourselves for frequent examination, that we may be assured no new cavities are forming, or decay is not taking place around margins of fillings.

Mrs. Pryor visited her son's home at Winside Sunday.

E. A. Johnson was looking after business matters at Sioux City Friday.

Paul Crossland returned last week from a visit with his brother at St. Joe, Missouri.

Miss Kayton of Lyons came Monday for a visit with her friend, Miss Emma Abbott.

Don't forget that Mrs. J. C. Harmer is still making those rag rugs. Phone 265.—adv.—34f.

Miss Ethel Wilson of McLean was here greeting friends Monday while on her way to Hartington.

President Conn was at Creighton Monday and gave a lecture to the teachers who were there attending institute.

Miss Della Abbott went to Crawford last week for a visit with her sister there before taking up her school work at Alliance.

Mrs. Anderson of Sioux City returned home Saturday after a visit of two weeks at the home of Mrs. E. Granquist, southwest of Wayne.

The chautauqua at West Point paid out on the money end, and as the talent was very good, the satisfaction end also struck a pretty fair balance.

Master Leon Bruno, who has been spending the summer vacation at Wayne with Stanley Woodworth and wife, left Monday for his home at Omaha, so as to be in at the opening of school.

H. H. MacEachen made a business trip to Omaha Tuesday, and naturally while there went to the stock yards in the south part of the city to see what the feeders look like that are beginning to come in now.

H. C. Bartells and wife returned to their Carroll home Monday, after a visit with relatives at West Side, Iowa. Mr. Bartells admits that crop conditions are better here than in Iowa, and especially is the corn prospect here better.

H. M. Moler from Sioux City came Saturday evening to spend Sunday here at the home of his father and visit his daughter, Miss Henrietta. His father, David Moler, has long been in poor health, but is now said to be somewhat better.

Mr. and Mrs. Swan Johnson of Newman's Grove were here last week visiting at the home of Cid Swanson and family. They had been at Concord to attend the funeral of a relative, and visited here and at Wausa before returning home.

At Creighton they have just issued an itemized account of their subscriptions and expenses for their celebration, July 4, 1915. The report shows that $1,070.50 was subscribed, and that $104.83 was repaid to those who signed and the game came out just even—that is they spent $965.67 for the celebration. They spent $50 for advertising.

Rev. and Mrs. Lloyd Cunningham, who are visiting here, were entertained at tea Tuesday by Miss White.

Mr. and Mrs. Hans Mumm from Winside have been here visiting at the home of their friends, H. Krimke and wife.

Mrs. Frank Gaertner went to Norfolk Tuesday to meet her daughter Florence who was returning from a trip to Creighton.

John Alger returned Saturday evening from several days spent with relatives at Sioux City where he visited at the Dickerson home.

Mrs. J. A. Flegley (nee Scace) from Gregory, South Dakota, came this week to visit relatives and friends here, and is a guest of Miss Ethel Miller.

Mrs. Marie Wolfe, who has been spending the summer in California, taking in the expositions and visiting her father, Albert Tidrick, returned last week to attend institute and begin her school work in the J. H. Beard district where she is to teach.

John Gettman from Carroll was a Wayne visitor Monday, and was putting in a bit of time with the hardware men here getting estimates on the hardware for a new house he is planning to build on his farm southeast of Carroll. He was at Sioux City the week before selling two cars of fat cattle.

G. A. Berg left Tuesday for Lexington where Mrs. Berg and sons will follow in a few days. They have been living at Wayne for more than a year past, while Mrs. Berg has been taking work at the normal, and having graduated has accepted the principality of one of the ward schools at Lexington.

C. E. Nevin, editor and publisher of the Laurel Advocate, and wife and daughter are home from a seven week trip in the west, where they attended the National Editorial association meetings and visited the two expositions. Mr. Nevin reports that people were talking hard times in most of the places of the west, but when they were in this great grain growing middle west he heard less of that talk, and that all the great grain belt is harvesting the largest grain crop ever. Too much water was the universal complaint. In one or two instances he saw the harvester drawn on a stoneboat with the reaper run by installing a gasoline engine. Nebraska looks better than ever to them upon their return.

When you buy Wayne Superlative flour, you are purchasing OLD WHEAT FLOUR. Weber Brothers, Wayne.—adv.

Mrs. W. I. James and children of Colorado Springs left Tuesday morning after a visit with relatives in this vicinity.

Miss Mira Bell from Winnebago is here attending the institute and visiting friends. She is to teach in the west part of the county.

W. A. Clark and daughter Hazel spent Monday at Sioux City. Mr. Clark is with the Savidge carnival this season, and the wife and daughter live here.

Miss Nell Porter from Carroll went to Lincoln Tuesday for a few day's visit. Miss Porter is head nurse at the Samaritan hospital at Sioux City and has been spending a vacation with home folks at Carroll and with her aunt, Mrs. George Porter here.

Harry Manamier and wife from West Point were through here Monday on their way to Wausa and Hartington. On their return Tuesday they stopped to visit at the country home of their friends and former neighbors, H. Hollman and family northeast of Wayne.

Some of the large land owners are beginning to sell of their holdings in this part of Nebraska. Within the past few months W. H. Pingrey, who has been a large land owner in this and Stanton counties has sold three of his farms near the line between the two counties, resident people buying them. The prices paid ranged from $110 to $125 per acre.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. L. Gibson celebrated their golden wedding at Dixon the 13th. They were married at Manchester, Iowa, in 1865, and came to Dixon county in 1878, where they have since resided. They have been actively identified with much of the good work of making Dixon and the community better.

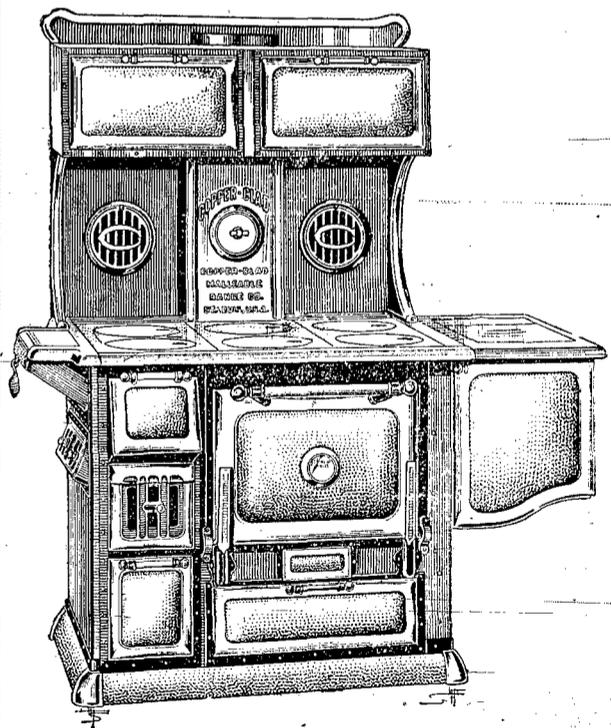

O. C. Lewis and wife returned Sunday morning from a visit of three weeks at the home of their daughter near Gettysburg, S. D. When asked about the crop condition in South Dakota, O. C. straightened up full height and said that they were the best he had ever seen. Oats are going from 60 to 100 bushels per acre near where he was, and in that neighborhood he saw oats as tall as he is—about six feet, and Mrs. Lewis was lost in a field of oats—that is when she was two or three rods out in the field she could not be seen from the edge of the field, so she was lost from view. He brought back with him samples of last year's corn crop that were good, and of the coming crop he said it is coming to maturity fast. Corn that was not laid by when they went there three weeks before is now furnishing roasting ears—almost. At any rate he says that the corn is equal to corn here, and we all know that is good—if it can have a month or six weeks of the right kind of weather. Really the prospects are fine in all that part of the state.

See the Democrat for wedding invitations.

Mrs. Luckey, who has been making an extended visit at the home of her parents, Robert Perrin and wife, left last week to join Mr. Luckey at Oakdale, where he has accepted the position of station agent. He was for a number of years in the railroad work, and is now returning to it after following other lines of work for a few seasons. Their son went to join them Saturday evening.

The Voget Concert Co., of Norfolk, of which Erma Voget is manager, and which is made up of pupils from the Otto Voget music conservatory at Norfolk, passed through here Tuesday to Hartington where they gave a concert. The other members of the company are Misses Beatrice and Ruth Miller and Miss Jean Preece, and their instruments consist of piano, 1st and 2nd violin and cello.

COPPER-CLAD MALLEABLE

As storm windows and storm doors serve to retain heat in a house, so the insulating air space between the double panels in all doors of the Copper-Clad Range serve to retain heat, save fuel and to maintain a uniform temperature in the oven, such as cannot be accomplished with single panel construction. The Copper-Clad is the only range in the world having double panels in all doors. And that's taking in lots of territory too, but it's the truth.

Carhart Hardware

Waynes Visit Carroll Chautauqua

Sunday, according to previous arrangement, from 50 to 60 automobiles from Wayne loaded full of people and visited the chautauqua in our neighboring city. The day was pleasant and the roads fairly good, though part of the way they had not been dragged since the last rain, a fact that was not much to the discredit of the people, for the time had been short since the last rain, and the season is so busy that one might be almost excused from dragging the road, with grain to stack, hay to make and the neighbors threshing. But in spite of the fact that the season has been one in which the farmer has been handicapped to get on with his work we did not see any one at work in the fields either coming or going, which shows that the Sabbath is quite universally respected—at least so far as violating the commandment which says "thou shalt not work on this first day of the week", whether or not they observe the day as strictly as the good people of a generation or two before us.

The chautauqua program consisted of a sacred concert of 30 minutes preceding the lecture. Home talent sang for the prelude, and their rendering of the old time church songs proved that Carroll is not lacking in musical talent, and that part of the entertainment was enjoyed by the home people as well as the 200 visitors from Wayne.

Following the concert A. F. Blair, who has for many years been on the inside of the ring in newspaper work, told of the "Whir of the Newspaper Press." He briefly gave a review of the business from the time of Franklin with his little press on which the printing of 200 copies of a paper per hour, and a small paper at that, was a task, to the monster presses of today, with a capacity of 360,000 complete papers per hour, each one much larger, better printed and in every way superior to the other paper except in literary attainment. He said that the use of electricity in gathering news was the cause of improvement in the speed of the press. The telegraph, the telephone and the wireles. He predicted that within ten years the great newspapers will be distributed over large territory by flying machines. He also stated that a new process is being developed for the use of electricity in the mechanical part of printing by means of which there will be no limit to the capacity for turning out printed sheets, and when this improvement is perfected people will have to get up in the morning earlier than they now do to do things before the newspaper tells that they are done. We read recently where Abe Martin told of the many duties of the country editor, and the last, though not the least, was after all other things were done and the paper ready to print, he had to rush things pretty fast to have the paper beat his wife out.

Turning from the mechanical view of the press he took a shot at the editorial and news features of the paper, and admitting that there had been improvement in quantity of news spread he appeared to doubt the betterment in quality. The newspaper men of 100 years ago confined their work more closely to the truth and did not cater to the sensational. There is now much more fiction in the press than in other years, but the quality is inferior—then, in that other day, fiction was so classed—now much that is claimed as a news product is the purest fiction—no, just plain lies. He ridiculed the English used in many of the papers, both of the city and country, and while he was telling how the fire "broke out" invariably and made a great "conflagration" he forgot that the mortal part of a person after death is no longer spoken of as the "remains", but the body, unless it be the scraps picked up after a railroad or automobile has scattered in small pieces along the way what was once the body of a person—but then the best of us make mistakes—made one myself once.

Bro. Blair closed by giving the yellow press a scathing arraignment. He told of the good of the legitimate newspaper and the bad of the worse than useless sheet which tries to make money from exaggerating the bad which men do—and really make a bad matter worse. He would have the editor tell the truth and all of the truth except on very rare occasions when some truths might be omitted without harm to the community, and perhaps spare pain to some innocent person who might feel deeply humiliated at the publication of some things for which they were in no manner responsible. He believes that the bad deeds of men and women should be made public as well as the good. Not in the spirit of punishment for the bad, but as a wholesome check on the tendency to go wrong in things little and great because it could be hidden from the public gaze. Publicity is, he thinks, a check on much petty crime.

The talk was pleasing and contained much of truth, and not a little of humor, and enough good common sense to make it beneficial to all.

Wayne County, A Garden

It has been the privilege of the editor to make several short trips into the farming communities near Wayne, but it is impossible to make a word picture of what he saw. Great fields of grain in shock awaiting the threshing machine or the stacker. Many fields of alfalfa in which stacks of the first and second crops show how bounteous has been the yield. Thousands of acres of waving corn hurrying to get under the wire matured before the king of winter, Jack Frost, touches it with icy hand. Hundreds of cattle and young horses grazing and fattening in pastures where they wallow knee deep in the most choice of grasses. Farm homes with every convenience and comfort, surrounded by orchards laden with the fruit for which they tell us Adam lost Paradise for himself and all the race—it almost makes the man confined in town feel envious. But there is another side to the picture and too many of our friends it seems look at that side. On that side is too much rain—this year—to suit. The alfalfa and hay was partially spoiled before it could be put in the stack; the grain is growing in the shock; this field of grain grew too rank and went down, that field was too wet to get the reaper on at harvest time, the calves have been in the alfalfa and a loss was suffered in the stock, not the alfalfa, and other things went wrong. This we admit, but it will not obliterate the picture plenty which spreads everywhere. This is one of the earth's garden spots.

Successful Business

Several weeks ago the Democrat told something of O. C. Barber of Akron, Ohio, in telling of the place which Bert Gossard holds on this man's farm. The Akron Times is running a series of articles giving a brief life history of some of the live wires of the community, and the other day one appeared of Mr. Barber from which we gather the following which is of interest and we believe value to the farming community in which we live.

The article tells of the various enterprises in which he has been and is engaged, and that he is now 74 years of age, but hale, hearty and active. He says that he does not expect to retire from business for 20 years yet. He is a native of the place he yet calls home, and has a $15,000,000 railroad proposition which includes a subway through the city of Cleveland and a freight line from the coal fields of Guernsey county to the lake at Cleveland for the purpose of reducing freight rates.

He has been interested in big timber land deals, and the making of lumber, using the short bits for his great match factory. He is at the head of a big straw board manufacturing business, but the part of interest to us particularly is his farming enterprise, and it is said that he proposes to convert his 2,000 acre farm at Barberton, where Mr. Gossard is now a superintendent into a sort of agricultural school and experiment farm. Here is what is told of his farming activities:

It was in 1909 that Mr. Barber began preparations to prove to the country that farming could be made profitable. He had retired, in a way, from active direction of the numerous enterprises in which he was interested. So he turned his attention to his farm and bought farms near Barberton until he had an estate of over 2,200 acres. Then he began spending a thousand dollars a day to improve the land to show, he said, that earth is man's most obedient friend if given the right kind of care.

Mr. Barber for more than a quarter of a century has been making annual business trips to Europe. He toured the principal countries many times in automobiles. Everywhere he went he questioned the people and investigated their manner of working and living. He found that the average farmer in Europe was getting about double the return from his old land than was the rule in this country, where the land is comparatively new.

"My object in starting the farm was to show that large corporations can buy land, put it to the plow, and make as much money on their investment as ought to be made in any business," said Mr. Barber.

"I also wanted to show the little man what can be done with vegetables, fruits, berries, flowers, poultry, pigs, sheep and milk cows, with pigeons and honey bees."

The small farmer was invited to visit the farm and see what scientific farming meant and what its results were.

As the work of improving the farm progressed and huge barns were built, Mr. Barber gathered the finest herd of Guernsey cattle in the country, if not in the world. One milk cow, Murne Cowan, now holds the world's championship for milk production.

"This farm shall eventually become a college for young men who have gone through agricultural schools," said Mr. Barber. "It shall be a place where they may see the practical and therefore profitable application of scientific farming and stock raising methods. Thus they will be prepared to work their own land or to superintend the farms of others."

"Women too, shall come and learn domestic science and how to make the best use of a surplus of fruits and vegetables."

Straight Business Talk

Not more than three weeks ago the Democrat reporter parted from a traveling man friend who had been remarking upon business conditions. He said that he had never found business better in all his experience on the road than it is right now in his line, that he was receiving more orders and larger ones now than a year ago—sometimes twice as large—but he says, "What is the matter with Wayne?" He then went on to tell that in his line of goods he sold more at Windsor, Wakefield or Carroll than at Wayne and that the dealers at those places are annually selling more goods than the Wayne people. If this be true, and figures don't lie, it is time for the Wayne bunch to get busy and let the people of the county know that they are really in business here. The neighboring dealers in that particular line spend more money for newspaper advertising than the Wayne men—can that account for the difference?

The Tariff Bogy

Saturday Evening Post: In this last fiscal year our purchases of foreign goods were smaller by two hundred million dollars than in the year before, and at the end of the period commodity prices in the United States, as reflected by Bradstreet's index number, were the highest ever known. But in spite of that the country, our protectionist friends tell us, is being mysteriously ruined by the pauper labor of Europe.

The aforesaid labor is getting killed and maimed to an extent that appalls the world, the factories in which it was employed are increasingly disorganized by war. The capital behind it is being shot away at the rate of tens of millions of dollars a day. But those things are mere broken reeds to lean upon, unless we are further fortified against European competition by a high tariff.

You might sink Europe in the sea tomorrow, and your true high protectionist would still go about pale and trembling unless he had in his pocket the rabbit's foot of high duties to fend off the specter of pauper labor. A European with both arms in a sling and not a leg to stand on would still fright him into gooseflesh unless he had the tariff horseshoe over his door.

So the tariff will no doubt be one of the issues of the next presidential election, and if the republicans win we shall have another revision of it. The loudest champions of high protection do not want an intelligent tariff, they want a political one, with the usual logrolling. This is painful to contemplate, but as neither democrats nor republicans seem at all minded to take the tariff out of politics there is probably no help for it.

A Series of Accidents

A serious accident befell Emil Gutzman last Sunday morning. The young lad was on his way to town and was driving a mare whose colt was in a nearby pasture. While driving by the pasture the mare insisted upon seeing her colt and became unmanageable—lunging toward the barb wire fence, and unseating the lad—she dashed along the fence for several rods dragging the young man after her, who could not extricate himself from the outfit. His shouts were heard by his parents who rushed to his assistance. He was horribly mutilated, the flesh on his right arm being torn to shreds. Dr. B. M. McIntyre was summoned for the case and he found the lad in such a condition that he brought him to the office. Over forty stitches were made on the arm, and several hours of heart-rendering surgery to administer to the young man the proper treatment. He was taken to his home that evening and at the time of going to press is getting along as well as could be expected.

On the following morning another son of Mr. and Mrs. Gutzman was severely cut about the face when a load of hay upset with him. A few hours later Mr. Gutzman was severely bruised about the body when the tongue of a mower broke and frightened the team, throwing him under the wheels.—Winside Tribune.

Later another of the boys had to call the doctor to sew up a gash in his arm, but the other four members of the family are free from injury up to date.

When some one comes to your door begging for an orphan home that you never heard of, just show the orphan the door and let him go empty handed. If, perchance some stranger comes along to inspect your poultry as a government agent—make him produce his credentials or set the dog on him or call the sheriff—he intends to rob the roost.

The Pierce County Call comes out last week an all-home print paper. We are always glad to see a brother publisher break away from the patent monopoly. Every paper in Nebraska that is published in a field worthy of a newspaper should get in position to control the advertising they send out and get the pay for it—rather than circulate it for some one else, and in direct competition with their own business.

We notice that an increasing number of our exchanges are largely getting their editorials from the agricultural extension department of the government which is a good thing in a way and perhaps beats a political editorial of many kinds—but as those items are written for general distribution, it might be well to read them first and select such as apply best to your own farming conditions. It is a good thing, but should not be over looked that the editor may rest.

Wayne is soon to pave, is the comment of some of our exchanges upon reading last weeks papers from this city. For sure. And Wayne is going to light the streets in a modern manner and some day we will have a building and loan association here and then there will be an easier way for some better business buildings in the business district. Some day, too, there will be more hearty co-operation between the citizens of the town and the citizens outside of town, to their mutual advantage. It is bound to come, and the sooner the better.

When Should a Child Wear Glasses?

In the first place, any child old enough to study and who does have to study, should wear glasses if his or her eyes are not normal.

This will be shown in several ways—difficulty in seeing either near or far; pains in the eyes; headaches.

The American Magazine for September starts a series of articles which should be an inspiration to the young farmer lads of this county, if they will but read and heed them. The first article appears in the September number now on the market and tells of the successful "Corn Club Boys." October will tell of the "Canning Girls" and their success. November will be the story of the "Baby Beef Boys," and if it compares with the first number it will well be worth the cost of this periodical to study it. We cannot at this time at least, give any review of the article which will do it justice, but—hope that it will be widely read in this county, and believe it would be interesting and profitable if the teachers of the rural schools would read it aloud to the pupils.

LOCAL NEWS

If the farmers will stack their wheat and let it go through a sweat in the stack, it will add much to its value and to its milling qualities, says the man who makes the flour of the family in this community.

Rev. D. W. McGregor of Tekamah, stopped here the first of the week to visit at the home of Wm. Rennick and wife a few days while returning from a trip to the west coast. Mrs. Rennick is his daughter.

A. V. Teed, state inspector of rural schools, was a Wayne visitor this morning and visited the institute and spoke to the teachers there on the "Standardizing of Rural Schools." His talk was good and well received.

The department of agriculture reports up to August 1st tell us that the crop conditions are almost 4 per cent above the normal at that season of the year, and they certainly have not decreased any since that date. But one thing if any is in the way of an almost 100 per cent condition all along the line. That is the time of the first killing frost.

John Morgan this week received a postal card written by his sister in Iowa which is quite remarkable. The message to her brother contained 517 words, and is plainly written and easily read. The writer is 72 years of age, which makes the card something of a prized souvenir which Mr. Morgan plans to keep among his prized possessions.

Morgan is now showing a wonderful line of hats and caps for fall.—adv.

W. C. Martin returned last week from a visit with relatives in southern Kansas, and it is evident from his talk that he is not in love with that part of Uncle Sam's domain. He says that the soil is so thin over the rock that in a wet season it is all mud above the stone, and in a dry season it dries down through to the rock beneath the soil, but when it is just right as to the precipitation of moisture they are assured a big crop—but they have no authentic record of such a season since the country was settled.

Rev. F. O. Hultman, who for the past twelve years has been pastor of the Swedish Mission church of Wausa, left this week to accept the pastorate of a similar church at Albert City, Iowa. He was accompanied by his wife, and they stop at Sioux City a day or two where they will be joined this evening by their four children who tarried a day longer at their old home. Rev. Albert Johnson from Moline, Illinois, is to be the new pastor at Wausa, coming to take charge in November. Under the direction of the retiring pastor a fine church building was maintained, and there is no doubt but that much good work was the result of his long service there.

Mr. Frank Pellett, the well known naturalist of Atlantic, Iowa, and an instructor in the institute which is being held here this week, will give an illustrated lecture at the Crystal Thursday evening. The lecture deals particularly with economic importance of wild life including birds, animals, and insects. Many years of time have been spent in its preparation, single species being under observation for months at a time. Many of the slides made from photographs taken from life by the author in the field, were secured with great difficulty. There is no lecturer on the American platform embracing the results of direct personal observation for such long periods of time. Inasmuch as injurious insects and rodents levy an annual tax equal to nearly fifteen per cent of the total agricultural output of the nation, the subject is one of great importance.

Mrs. Berlemeyer went to Sioux City Wednesday morning to visit at the home of A. Biegler and family a few days.

Mrs. Alice McManigal from Herrick, South Dakota, was here the first of the week, visiting her sister, Mrs. Patrick Dixon. She was on her way home from a visit at Council Bluffs, Iowa.

The Shame of It

Last week an eastern jury found a section boss guilty on charge of putting a phony man on the payroll and collecting $6.00 from the railroad company to pay for work never performed. The judge sent the section boss to prison for a year.

Now comes the high interstate commerce commission and boldly charges that the officers of the Rock Island have been stealing millions of dollars from the company by the same plan adopted by the poor section boss.

Has any criminal complaint been filed against the official Rock Island thieves?

No. It is just such evidence of impartiality that leads so many people to have contempt for the American system of law. And it is only natural that the many citizens should doubt the fairness and the honor of our system of law when they see poor men sent to prison for minor offenses while wealthy offenders are allowed to go free and flaunt their crime in the public face.

There are good laws in America, but our system of enforcing the penalty of our laws is the shame of shames.—Columbus Telegram.

The Japs Work All the Time.

Literally the Japanese work all the time. It is not at all uncommon to find Japanese men and women at work in their shops at 2, 3 and 4 o'clock in the morning. They must work like this or starve. They live directly in the rear of their places of business. Their entire household equipment comprises a few mats, a few cushions and a little tableware. They go at their job—whether it consists of making clogs or inlaid-cuff buttons, and work and work until they are exhausted. Then they sleep a little and go back to work. It does not take a Japanese ten minutes to eat his meal of rice and fish. He has his festivals, of course, and a good many of them, but he works the rest of the time, and in many households it must be a special and personal festival, connected with some individual or family gods, to lure him from his occupation. He needs the money.—Samuel G. Blythe in Saturday Evening Post.

Mars and the Hand.

There is a mount in the hands of persons who are said to be impressed more in music by marches of warlike character than anything else. It is a soft, cushion-like mount within the center of the hand proper, but is generally developed toward the outer edge of the palm.

These persons are said to be under the influence of Mars and to have inherited warlike tendencies, but it more than usually shows an ordinary amount of courage that is possessed by most persons. These are the ones who would be thrilled by the "Marsellaise," the Russian national hymn, the "Watch on the Rhine" or the "Star Spangled Banner." Subjects of Mars seldom become proficient musicians or successful singers unless the other indications in their hands show other musical fancies.—Buffalo News.

Regular divine worship every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. The subject of the sermon for next Sunday morning will be "A Bartered Birthright"—Gen. 25:32.

"What profit shall the birthright do to me?" There was very much in Esau which could be greatly admired. He was of good humor, off-handed, manly, and fond of field sports. He and not Jacob, would in society have carried off the prize. He was a fair sample of a worldly man. He knew nothing of consecration of heart to God, or of spiritual aspirations. In the account given we see how he shows indifference to the birthright, which carried with it a certain spiritual advantage. He comes in faint from the field, smells the pottage of Jacob and says "Feed me, I pray thee", and Jacob said "sell me first thy birthright". So Esau sold his birthright, he bartered with his brother.

There will be Union services on the court house lawn next Sunday evening. This will close the union services for this summer.

A cordial invitation is extended to all who wish to worship with us.

Baptist Church

(Rev. B. P. Richardson, Pastor)
The attendance at all our services has been uniformly good during the summer months. Some shifting and readjusting must be done in the Sunday school, because of the leaving of some of our workers, but soon we hope to have all places filled by regular officers and teachers. We deeply appreciate the spirit of co-operation manifested by our Sunday school people, during these times of change. Willing workers and not weary Willies is the need of every church.

"Burden-Bearing" will be the subject of the Sunday morning sermon.

The lawn union service at seven o'clock will be the last of these services in the open air. As a whole they have been well attended and helpful.

The young people will meet at eight o'clock for their service. An interesting program is being prepared by the missionary committee. It will be worth your while to be present.

Wednesday evening will be our covenant prayer meeting. The attendance and helpfulness of these mid-week meetings were never better than they have been this summer. The members who could attend these meetings and do not, miss a rich means of Christian growth.

The first of the week the pastor goes to Omaha to give an address to the association, which meets with the Emmanuel church this year.

Billy Sunday begins his work in Omaha—the first Sunday in September. There is a strong probability that he will be able to visit Wayne for one Monday service during September.

Bigger Tires At Lower Prices

Sizes 30 x 3 1/2 and 30 x 3

This year we have added to Goodyear Small-size tires these three vast improvements:

We have added 20% to the air capacity, which means much added size. The larger a tire the more it will carry, as you know. Or the longer it will carry any certain load.

We have added 30% to the side wall strength. That's where constant bending breaks a thin-walled tire—just above the rim.

And we've improved the tire's design in new ways found to give it added strength.

Cost $317,000

These improvements, on this year's output, will cost us $317,000.

Yet this year we made another big price reduction—our third in two years, totaling 45 per cent.

Super Tires

These are Goodyear tires which we have bettered—the leading tires. They have for years, on sheer merit, outsold any other.

Now we have added vast extra capacity. We have added much extra strength. No other tires in the world in these sizes give such value for the money.

Be sure that you get them.

the church come to the Sunday evening meetings? They would!

Come to the meeting at 7 o'clock on the court house lawn. Come in a real "union" spirit. Why cannot we have some more "union" meetings without waiting till next summer? It would help the cause in Wayne.

Remember the prayer meetings on Wednesday evenings at 8 o'clock. You may be able to do more for the church by attending her regular and mid week meetings than in any other way.

Methodist Church

(Rev. A. S. Buell Pastor).
All of the church services were well attended last Sunday considering the fact that many of the members and regular attendants were out of town. The pastor spoke on the benevolent interests of the church as the dynamic of Christian Brotherhood. A subscription was taken to apply on the benevolences of the church for this conference year. The Sunday school and Epworth League each held interesting and profitable sessions.

You are most cordially invited to worship with us next Sunday.

Preaching at 10 a. m.; Sunday school at 11:45; Epworth League at 8 p. m., and the union open air service on the court house lawn at 7 p. m.

Prayer meeting every Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. Everybody invited to attend.

The fourth quarterly Communion service will be held the first Sunday in September.

German Lutheran Church

Rev. Moehring, Pastor
There will be Sunday school at 10 o'clock and preaching at 11 o'clock next Sunday.

Save Your Corn From Frost

It is possible that a frost might come early to greatly injure corn. Why cannot the farmers, if the danger threatens, plan to save much of their corn from injury? Fruit farmers frequently save a valuable crop from late spring frosts. Sure the acreage of corn in this county is great compared to the land planted in fruit trees of any kind. But here nearly every farm has lots of straw and litter, and if a frost night comes a little smudge to drift over the field will be of great benefit. A winrow of damp straw along by a field of corn, fired just as the temperature was reaching the frost point in the early hours of the morning would tend to protect many acres of a crop. It will be well worth a trial if conditions make it necessary. One or two frosty nights safely passed may mean a month of safety.

Order of Hearing and Notice on Petition for Settlement of Account

In the County Court of Wayne county, Nebraska.

State of Nebraska, Wayne county, ss.

To all persons interested in the estate of John G. Gustafson, deceased:

On reading the petition of John M. Gustafson, administrator, praying a final settlement and allowance of his account filed in this Court on the 23rd day of August, 1915, and for distribution of the residue of said estate in his hands.

It is hereby ordered that you and all persons interested in said matter may, and do, appear at the County Court to be held in and for said county, on the 13th day of September, A. D., 1915, at 9 o'clock a. m., to show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted, and that notice of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof be given to all persons interested in said matter by publishing a copy of this order in the Nebraska Democrat, a weekly newspaper printed in said county, for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing.

Mrs. A. P. Gossard and son and daughter Ted and Mabel went to Winnebago Tuesday to visit at the home of her son there, and perhaps take in the Indian powwow—but Wednesday it looked so much like rain that they thought it wise to get home while the going was good, and came in about noon.

C. A. Bowen from O'Neill, a watchmaker and registered optician with a number of years of experience, came the first of the week to accept the place made vacant at the Fanske jewelry store by the resignation of E. Dotson. Mr. and Mrs. Bowen have not yet permanently located in a home at Wayne, but like most people who move here are waiting for their turn for a house. It will come in good time.

Loren O. Matthews, who has been with the Democrat for the past 15 months, has resigned to take the management of the Riverton Review, now edited by his brother, Cecil E. Matthews, who has accepted the appointment of deputy collector of internal revenue for the Hastings district. Mr. Matthews has been a faithful and competent man, and we predict that he will make good in his new field. This will make a place on the Democrat for some printer who is familiar with the Unitype.

E. Dotson, who has been employed by L. A. Fanske as jeweler and optician for the past two years or more, has resigned to accept the management of the jewelry department of a store at Neligh, and is this week moving to his new home. During his residence here Mr. Dotson has won many friends who will wish him success, and who feel confident that he will succeed there as he did here. As a workman in his lines he was considered good, and he was ever faithful at his bench, and courteous to the public. Himself and wife will be missed by their many friends.

The Democrat is in receipt of a wedding announcement telling of the marriage of a former Wayne boy, Mr. Clyde H. Gaffin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Gaffin and Miss Ida Kupferschmid, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kupferschmid of Redfield, South Dakota, Saturday, August 14, 1915. They are now at home to their friends at Chalk Butte, South Dakota, where the Gaffin family moved several years ago and are improving a homestead claim. Clyde spent most of his school days at Wayne and has a host of young friends here who will join the Democrat family in extending congratulations.

L. Evans of Hoskins, who used to be section foreman at that place until very recently, was through here Tuesday on his way to Omaha to take a case right up to headquarters. He is interested in the case as it relates to his having to prefix the "ex" to his former title as foreman. It seems that he or the agent made a mistake and he came out of Hoskins on the gas wagon which the section men now ride on when on official duty and met 22, a freight about a mile from town, both claiming to have the right of track. The meeting was where there was time enough to stop the train, and the crew thinking Evans was in the wrong in claiming the right to track over them sent in a report, and it was to explain his view of the case that Mr. Evans was riding on the yellow cars to Omaha.

I. C. Trumbauer of the Democrat force left Tuesday to visit his father at St. Charles, Iowa, where they plan to have a reunion of the family for a day or two. Mrs. Trumbauer left the day following to visit her sister at Grand Island, and Mr. T. and the boy will join her there next week and accompany her home.

J. E. Hufford of the Radio Round Incubator company left Wednesday for Omaha where he will be engaged for a time in getting a line on advertising for the next year business and also to make a purchase or two of stock with which to build the next season incubators and brooders. Mr. H. tells us that the last season business was very satisfactory for the opening season.

Last Friday Mrs. Duncan and her daughter and three children, who have been here, from Rock Island, Illinois, for a visit with the elder lady's brother, E. B. Chichester, and other relatives left for their home. They were accompanied as far as Sioux City by E. B. Chichester and John Chichester and their children, who spent the day with them at that place, taking a picnic dinner, which was much enjoyed.

"Some potatoes" hardly expresses it when one tries to tell of two specimens deposited on the office table from the garden of S. C. Kopp. They are Carmen No. 3, and they are large, smooth and white. One weighed 1½ pounds, and the other 1½ pounds, or less than 40 potatoes to the bushel. They grew in the Kopp garden in the south part of the city, and it is doubtful if better or larger spuds are grown in the state. Sure it is, they are large enough for the average family.

H. I. Lauver and wife from Pennsylvania are here visiting at the home of their old neighbor, David Cunningham. Mr. and Mrs. L. have been visiting in Illinois and Iowa before coming here, and before returning home plan to visit relatives in the northwest part of Colorado. The lady had never before been as far west of her Pennsylvania home, and our boundless prairies free from hills, rocks and natural timber make quite a change. She will feel more at home again, no doubt, when she gets into the mountains to the west.

The school board last Friday signed a contract for the placing of a fire escape on the high school building. The device is a Potter Safety First galvanized iron tube and will be placed on the east side of the building. An opening will be made beneath one of the large windows in the assembly room to receive the opening of the escape. To prevent the upper hallway from filling with smoke, thereby cutting off the escape of pupils in the west rooms, a light partition of glass and lumber will be placed at the head of the stairs on the third floor. This will be made ornamental and will in no way spoil the appearance of the interior. It will also be less expensive than cutting doorways through three partitions to provide a passageway around the hall.—Oakdale Sentinel.

These New Fall Goods

Are Ready For You

Coats and Suits

Our first shipment of 300 new Fall Coats and Suits is now on display. If you are one of those who like first choice of the new goods, come in and look over this splendid assortment of fall and winter garments.

The styles are those which met with the most approval at the Great Style Show held in Chicago last week and similar garments are now being shown in State Street store windows. You will be correctly dressed if you buy a coat or suit here.

100 New Fall Dress Skirts

Just now separate skirts and shirtwaists are the most useful outerwear garments you have. You will be pleased with the nice selection of skirts that have just come in, and you will be especially pleased with the neat, simple styles that are so becoming to all figures. The prices are as usual very reasonable, $5 to $7.50. A few made of exceptionally fine material are $8.75 to $10.00. If you come early, you'll find a large number of every size to select from.

New Queen Quality Shoes

Now is a good time to get your fall shoes. While the stock is new and we have almost every size and width you are almost sure to get just the proper fitting footwear. The shoe styles for fall are very neat, dressy and sensible, and in "Queen Quality" make you get the world's best shoes for women and at a reasonable price.

New Silks, Dress Goods and Trimmings

We have the invoices for many of these goods—they are on the way and will probably be opened up by Saturday. A thorough study of the fall dress fashions shown in Chicago wholesale and retail stores helped us to select the dress materials and trimmings that will be most favored this fall and when you are ready to plan your new dresses, waists and skirts we will be glad to give you many helpful suggestions for making up the stylish materials shown in our dress goods department.

The Catholic Position Stated

In a signed article in the Commoner, W. J. Bryan gives the following report of the position of Catholics as a church organization on a question on which there has been much misunderstanding and consequent enmity and ill feeling engendered. Read carefully the report and Mr. Bryan's comment and conclusion. We reproduce it because it conforms to the view we have long held on the question, and have wondered why people would be so prejudiced as to not look at the question in an impartial manner:

The Knights of Columbus acted wisely in giving a formal answer to the misrepresentations which have been circulated in regard to the attitude of American Catholics on two important questions, namely, on political questions and the public schools. The Knights, at their recent annual meeting at Seattle, say:

"We should lose no proper occasion to declare the position of Catholics and the teachings of the church on this matter, namely, that while Catholics acknowledge the pope to be supreme in spiritual matters, they do not hold that he has any authority in civil matters. If any spiritual authority were to direct us, to do any act contrary to the rights of free citizens, or the welfare of society, we would be bound to disobey."

Other points touched upon in the report to the meeting as published, are as follows:

"The report declares that Catholics uphold and support the public school system, but feel that religious instruction is necessary, and, therefore, bear an extra burden for private schools. An opinion was expressed that in time all general forms of religion will be taught in free schools.

"The report condemns the action of politicians in raising religious issues in campaigns, as well as the activities of quasi-political societies in discriminating against persons of any faith."

Those who have come into intimate acquaintance with representative Catholics did not need to be informed that they do not concede to the church authorities the right to direct their course in political matters, but many Protestants, lacking this knowledge which comes with personal acquaintance, have been misled, and the statement above quoted is both wise and timely.

So, in the matter of public schools. A parent may send his child to a private school—as many Protestants as well as Catholics do—without indicating hostility to the public school system. The American public school is an established fact; it is a permanent institution, and it is idle to talk of any class or creed interfering with it.

The Knights are to be commended also for protesting against the introduction of religious issues into politics whether to aid the members of a church or to oppose them. The right to worship God according to the dictates of one's conscience is one of the inalienable rights—it must not be jeopardized by the dragging of religion into politics.

The Country Editor

Representative Harold C. Kissinger of the Illinois general assembly, is the champion of the country newspaper editor. In a recent debate in the legislature, he had this to say: "There is no one nearer the people of the rural communities of our state and in our smaller cities and towns than the country editors. They protect the interests of their citizens. They boost the town they live in. They contribute time and energy and money to the upbuilding of their home communities. This nation needs our small towns and cities. They are the foundation of our prosperity and our civilization. They are what the few great cities we have live off of. They are the strong fundamental structure upon which we must build our business prosperity and stable government. Former Ambassador Bryce, the great English economist, said that the menace of America was her great cities, and that the stability of the American government and the future of American civilization rested upon her small cities and towns and rural communities. If we want to protect and upbuild the country community let us vote in favor of the country editor, for they are among the staunchest, truest, hardest working friends of all of the splendid institutions we have throughout the state."

Yes, the editor will be back in a moment, he has just gone out back of the office to blush over such praise.

Mrs. W. W. Kingsbury from Wakefield was here over Sunday visiting Wayne friends, and a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Trumbauer.

News From The Capitol

Insurance Commissioner Eathan, although a new man in his department, is showing himself no small collector, having in one day in the past week taken in $2,880 from the foreign insurance companies doing business in Nebraska. This is a 2 per cent license tax on the business transacted in the state.

That the prices paid by different counties for bridge work vary vastly is shown by statistics being compiled by State Engineer Johnson. For instance, in Hall county the lowest bid on a bridge of a certain size was $17.50 per lineal foot, while in Dixon county the lowest bid on the same kind of a bridge was $37.09. Prior to the passage of the Smith uniform bridge plans by the legislature of 1913, there was no way of making a comparison of the cost of bridges. Under the provisions of this law the cost must be reported to the state engineer, where the figures are available for inspection by any citizen of the state. That the law has improved conditions there is no question, but why there should be so great a difference in prices is not apparent on the surface. If more of the county commissioners of the state would avail themselves of the information that may now be obtained from the engineer's office it would doubtless result to the decided advantage of their counties in the matter of bridge contract letting.

That the State of Nebraska has not been securing what it should from leases on its common school lands, has been an open question for some time, and a few days since an expert made an examination of the matter and his report gives the following figures: There was 1,635,561 acres of Nebraska school land under lease November 30, 1914, according to the land commissioner's report and the rental on these lands for the biennium closing on the same date amounted to $343,373. These lands are located in eighty-four counties and with a fair average value as returned by the various county assessors would show a valuation of more than $13,000,000. At a 6 per cent rental this valuation would produce an income for the common school fund of more than $1,500,000 each biennium, this being more than four times the amount brought into the state treasury in the last biennium. As a sample of the rental on these leases we give the following figures gathered at random:

Adams county, 80 acres, $72; Cherry county, 640 acres, $9.60; Gage county, 160 acres, $104.40; Hitchcock county, 320 acres, $48; Jefferson county, 120 acres, $50; Lancaster county, 160 acres, $115.20; Sheridan county, three sections, $144; Webster county, 80 acres, $50; Wheeler county, 160 acres, $23.40; York county, 80 acres, $67.86.

The present Board of Educational Lands and Funds, which is composed of Governor Morehead, Secretary of State Pool, Attorney General Reed, Treasurer Hall and Land Commissioner Beckman, propose that in the future a much larger rental will be derived from these lands and have begun the work of revaluing them. As a sample in the line of revaluation, Secretary Pool and Commissioner Beckman, during a four day trip, made a short time ago, raised the valuation in two counties more than $7,000.00. It is the intention of the present administration to see to it that the common school fund get all that is coming to it out of school land rentals.

The new economic and trade conditions growing out of the European war is prominent in the program of the Farmers' National Congress which meets in Omaha September 28 for its thirty-fifth annual session. Congressman Dan V. Stephens will talk on an American merchant marine in its relation to agriculture and Senator Hitchcock will discuss our foreign relations. The Farmers' Congress is pronounced in its neutrality, but has always taken strong ground on national issues affecting the American farmer. Dean A. F. Woods of the Minnesota Agriculture College will speak on Rural Community Organization and Senator Cummings and "Uncle Henry" Wallace of Iowa are scheduled for addresses. The entire day on September 29 will be given to rural schools and the International Congress of Farm women. Mrs. Belle van Dorn Harbert of Colorado, the president of the women's organization will speak. Farm women are especially invited to attend the Congress. This is a gathering which many of our farmers should attend. It should be of greater value than the state fair, good as that is.

Ellis Kendrick from the west part of the county was on the live stock market last week looking for feeders, but the signs of the times were not quite to his liking, for he had bearish tendencies, wishing to purchase.

Extract From Congressional Record

(By Congressman Clyde H. Tavenner) I sat recently in the House of Representatives and heard the Hon. Augustus Gardner, of Massachusetts, make the statement upon his responsibility as a Member of the American Congress that, "If war were to break out today, it would be found that our coast defenses have not sufficient ammunition for an hour's fight!"

Whether or not Mr. Gardner's statement is correct I can not say, because I do not know; but this I do know, that we do not have the ammunition and armament that we have paid for and should have in return for the countless millions of dollars of the American people's money that have been expended from the Public Treasury.

I mean to say that those Army and Navy officers who do the purchasing of war munitions and who are paid a salary by the people and are trusted by the people to see that the Government receives a dollar's worth of material for every dollar expended, have permitted a ring of ammunition manufacturers to outrageously overcharge Uncle Sam for armor, guns, powder, and munitions in general.

For instance, the War Department in 1913 purchased seven thousand and 4.7-inch shrapnel from the ammunition ring, paying $25.26 each therefore. At the same time precisely the same shrapnel was being manufactured in the Government-owned Frankford Arsenal for $15.45, all overhead charges included.

Mr. Average Citizen, are you willing that the public officials in the War department who are spending your money, should pay $25.26 for an article that they could have manufactured in Government plants for $15.45?

This instance is not the exception, it is the rule. The Army and Navy officers in 20 years have purchased $175,000,000 worth of armor, armament, and munitions from four firms, which have a monopoly in this country on the manufacture of such supplies and have paid this grasping war trust from 20 to 60 per cent more than the same articles could have been manufactured for in Government plants.

As the result of frequently repeated statements similar to that made by Mr. Gardner, the average citizen is at last beginning to ask: "What becomes of the $250,000,000 that is being spent annually on our Army and Navy? Who, pray, is getting the money?"

And it is time the people are beginning to show anxiety, because their money has been squandered like water, and unless Mr. Average Citizen wakes up and removes the wool from his eyes it is going to continue to be squandered.

The American people have never been let into the secret of who the profit makers are in the traffic of war and preparation for war in this country, and the methods by which they help themselves at the public trough. I will go further and venture the assertion that not 30 members of congress know the identity of the select ring of patriots for profit into whose pockets the millions of the masses are pouring, which gentlemen have a water-tight monopoly in this country on the traffic of war trading, and who have drawn down every penny of $50,000,000 in excessive and extortionate profits from the Government by direct virtue of their influential friends in the army, the navy and in Congress. Let any gentlemen in high places should resent the implication of being friends of the war trust; I hasten at the outset to concede their contentions that they are patriots; yes, all of them.

The secretary of the navy can try as he will to get some one to underbid the armor ring, either in this country or abroad, and he will not be able to escape the net, he has tried and has not been able to escape it.

Armor, armament, and ammunition contractors are not big enough fools to cut each other's throats. Their business is to supply for a gigantic profit the wherewithal for the peoples of the earth to enjoy a monopoly of throat cutting and the pulling of limb from limb. As for themselves, they do not indulge in price-cutting warfare. Their game is purely profit making. They start the ball rolling by making nations distrustful of one another, and then inducing them to over-prepare for war. Does anyone doubt that if the European nations had not been so overprepared for war they would have been so willing to have entered into it?

Creighton Liberal:

The selection of C. H. Gustafson president of the Farmers' Union of Nebraska by the officials of the national organization to represent that organization in an effort to form a federation with the National Garage and the Society of Equity and also to represent the national union at peace congress at Washington was not only a worthy recognition of the Saunders county farm-if your faucet acted like this when you wanted water in a hurry? You would send for a plumber quick and have him fix it.

Wouldn't You Complain

When that stomach of yours complains and makes you take a day off, why not let a chiropractor take a look at your spine and see if something isn't interfering with the flow of nerve power to that particular organ? There may be enough nerve power reaching your stomach for ordinary needs, but not enough for an emergency. Better prepare for that emergency.

Examination free — something a plumber won't do.

Nor will President Barrett err if he sends a blunt spoken northerner like Mr. Gustafson down to Washington this winter to inform those tory democratic senators from the Southland that the day of family name, senatorial courtesy, the nigger question, precedent and pre-justice must give way to the new order, the destruction of special privileges.

Some delegations calling on this body of representatives have thought it policy to use sweet oil and a camels hair brush, had they used carbolic acid and a meat axe their mission would have been a hundred fold more successful.

Rats Don't Eat Safe Home Matches

Rats don't eat Safe Home Matches. They can't be made to eat them. That's been proved. Safe Home Matches are made of ingredients which, although non-poisonous, are obnoxious to rodents. Safe Home Matches light easily, but not too easily. They are safe—safe and sure. Sticks are extra long—extra strong. They cost no more than other brands of matches.

COUNTY BOARD.
Wayne, Neb., August 17, 1915.
Board met as per adjournment.
All members present.
Board hereby orders that no further aid be given the family of Mrs. Wendel Baker, jr., by the county, in the way of groceries, meat and clothing.
In compliance with an order of court it is hereby ordered that Mrs. Irene Snell be and she hereby is allowed for the support of Opal, George and Jack Snell, minor children, the sum of $20 per month for the months of August, September and October and $30 per month for the months of November, December and January, payable on the first of each month.
Comes now Henry Schroer and says that for the year 1914 he was assessed with a poll tax of $2.50 which was certified up for collection by the city of Wayne, that he paid said tax under protest for the reason that he served five years as an active member of the North Bend fire department as shown by certificate hereto presented. The board after due consideration orders the county treasurer to refund to the said Henry Schroer the sum of $2.50 so paid under protest.
Comes now Fannie Lound and says that for the year 1914 she was assessed $30.94 on lots 1 and 2, block 10, of the original town of Winside, which was paid under protest for the reason that said tax was too high and asks a refund of $15.94. The board after due consideration admits that the assessment was wrong and as a board of equalization reduced the valuation $600 actual value of $120 assessed value and they now order a refund of $10.02 figured on a basis of $120 reduction, and treasurer is ordered to refund to the said Fannie Lound the sum of $10.02.

The following claims were on motion audited and allowed and warrants ordered drawn on the respective funds as follows:

The Yeoman is Different
"Yeomen" was once the name of a class of people. Now it is the name of an institution—an institution powerful, wonderfully beneficent. The Yeoman is a business institution plus. It's also a business institution minus—it is minus that selfish, that greed, that desire for false profit, which are of the sum and substance of many business concerns. The animating impulse that keeps this great business concern of ours is helpfulness, or service; or, to put it in another way, to furnish strength or means to promote an object, or provide deliverance from difficulty or distress.
The Yeomen has certain qualities that distinguish it as peculiar, individual and distinctive. It practices fair play, in that it charges every member the same price for the same benefit. We have heard much about "class legislation," and we know that this means some business arrangement whereby some one gets the best of a deal; where in somebody has the advantage; where one class can buy cheaper than another class. To illustrate: Two men join a fraternal society. After the payment of an assessment of one dollar, one of them dies and his family is paid one thousand dollars. The other one lives forty years and pays his dollar every month of every year, and when he dies his family receives the same amount the other family received for the payment of one dollar.
That's giving one family something for nothing, and there's but one way under the sun in which it can be done, and that's to require the other family to pay for the insurance of both families. We don't sell flour that way, or clothing, or farming implements, and we ought not to sell insurance that way.
Then we have heard much about "equal rights". Every man ought to have the same rights that every other man has. Every man ought to be able to buy an article, be it food, clothing or insurance, at the same price other men in the same locality pay for it.
And that's precisely the Yeoman plan—every man, no matter what his age, or when he dies, pays the same price for a thousand dollars of Yeoman insurance that every other man pays.
The above is from the Yeoman Shield, the official paper of the order, and very good paper it is. At Wayne there is a Homestead or local branch of the order, and its fair and favorable plan of insurance is adding to its roll of members. The official statement for the membership August 1st shows more than 206,000 members, and the financial statement tells that their assets are greater than $3,250,000. In other words each member of this order is protected by a very substantial reserve fund to guard against any increase in assessment.

War Preparation vs. Good Roads
In his Commoner for August, W. J. Bryan puts the following proposition up for consideration—which is best for you and your neighbors?
"The jingoes are now talking about spending three hundred million dollars on the navy and one hundred and fifty million dollars on the army, or four hundred and fifty million dollars per year getting ready for wars that ought never to come. Four hundred and fifty millions a year would amount to about five billions in eleven years! That sum would gridiron the United States with hard roads twelve miles apart, so that no citizen would live more than six miles from a good road which would enable him to go everywhere. It is estimated that a farmer can haul four times as much on a hard road as on a dirt road. What a boon it would be to a farmer to be relieved of the mud embargo! The sum above mentioned would in ten years revolutionize the road travel and traffic of the country, but half that sum would probably supply present needs." If we keep our army and navy appropriations as they are now and simply use for good roads the sum which the jingoes desire to add to these appropriations, the benefits to business will be enormous. Good roads or frenzied preparedness, which?"

Rain Just Sufficient to Keep Crops Growing Rapidly.

WHEAT CROP AVERAGES GOOD

Burlington's Crop Report Shows Corn at McCook and Wymore In Exceptional Condition—Crop as a Whole Fully Up to Average.

While rains were general over Nebraska last week, they were not unusually heavy except in the eastern part of the state. Elsewhere it is asserted that they were just about sufficient to keep crops growing rapidly. In the eastern portion of the state they were torrential in some localities.

As a result of the heavy rains, according to the report, in the eastern portion of the state, corn conditions went back, while elsewhere there was an improvement. The condition of corn over all the several divisions of the road average a 100 per cent crop.

Fully Up to the Average.

The opinion is expressed that unless there should be an unusually early frost, the corn crop as a whole will be fully up to the average and that if there should not be a killing frost before the middle to the last of September, it will be unprecedented in the history of the state.

Dealing with wheat, the report shows that this year farmers are stacking more than ever before and that threshing out of the shock is not the rule. As a result, less threshing has been done than during former years, but whatever farmers have threshed the wheat has turned out well. Twelve of the Burlington agents, reporting from that number of stations scattered over the state, report that in the localities where they reside wheat has yielded better than twenty-one bushels to the acre.

What maintains with wheat holds true in the matter of oats. Where threshing has been done, agents assert that the average yield is around forty bushels per acre.

Examine Horses For Dourine.

Sixteen hundred examinations have been made by special veterinarians, who, with the state veterinarian of Nebraska, have been looking after the horses quarantined in the counties of Cherry, Blaine, Grant, Thomas and Hooker. Dourine, the disease which has caused the quarantine, has shown itself in twenty-eight cases where there is no question as to appearance, while three more cases examined are suspicious. There are yet about 400 more horses to be examined. A question which involves the damages will be due the owner of the horses which will be killed is whether the money will go to the owner of the horse or the holder of the mortgage on the horse.

Lincoln Gets Farmers' Meet.

Between 2,000 and 3,000 delegates are expected to attend the convention of the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union of America at Lincoln, Sept. 7, 8 and 9. Twenty-three states, from Oregon to Florida, and from Indiana to Texas, are represented in the delegates that are to attend. The convention is to be held in the city auditorium at Lincoln. This is the convention that was scheduled for Omaha this year, but could not be accommodated there to the best advantage at that particular time as the National Letter Carriers' association is to have thousands of delegates at Omaha at that time.

Memorial Fund For Late Dr. Bessey.

A campaign has been started to establish a memorial to the late Dr. C. E. Bessey, who was for a quarter of a century professor of botany at the University of Nebraska. "A contribution from every living graduate" is the slogan upon which the committee is working. The money collected is to be placed in a permanent endowment fund, the income of which is to be paid to Mrs. Bessey as long as she lives and after that to go toward the support of scholarships in the botany department of the University of Nebraska.

Fined For Selling Near Beer.

Golden Rod near-beer comes in for another bit of free advertising, this time from St. Paul, Howard county, where L. G. Knothe was arrested and pleaded guilty to selling the same. The fine was $10 and costs, which amounted to $15.55. The beer tested 2.10 per cent alcohol and did not show the amount on the bottle, hence the pure food department had the offender arrested.

Wilson Day at State Fair.

The special Democratic committee, consisting of State Auditor Smith, Colonel Maher, Earl Gaddis, W. B. Eastham and Clarence Harman, appointed by the "get-together" meeting of Democrats to arrange for a day to be known as "Woodrow Wilson" day at the state fair, met in the private office of the state auditor and agreed on Wednesday, Sept. 8, as the day.

Democrats Banquet at Lincoln.

About 100 Democrats, many of them from out in the state, gathered at a get-together banquet at the Lindell hotel. L. R. Willis presided and introduced Governor Morehead as toastmaster. Dr. P. L. Hall, who is being pushed as a Democratic candidate for governor, merely said he never had and never would ask for an office in Nebraska.

RULING HITS STATE OFFICERS

Opinion of Attorney General May Also Apply to Governor Morehead.

The ruling last week by Attorney General Reed regarding the state railway commission, declaring that body is doing business without authority of law, has been found also to apply to the governor, secretary of state and state treasurer, because of insufficiency of bond, the constitution reading. "The officers mentioned in this section (naming state officers) should give bond in not less than double the amount of money that may come into their hands, and in no case less than $50,000."

The governor and secretary of state give a bond of $50,000 each. As head of the pure food department, hotel commission, and other departments, there comes into the hands of the governor over $250,000. The secretary of state during the last biennium collected in fees $205,978. The state treasurer, who gives a bond of $1,000,000, handles approximately $10,000,000 during the biennium.

If the constitution is to be followed, according to the ruling of the attorney general, these officers have been holding office without authority of law.

More Rock Island Trouble.

The Rock Island railroad, with all its troubles, is up against another proposition. Secretary of State Pool is insisting that it pay its corporation tax to the state on the full valuation of the road, while the road claims it only has to pay on that part operated in Nebraska. The road has finally put it up to its local attorney, E. P. Holmes, and Mr. Pool has notified him that unless the tax is paid the state will ship no more automobile plates over that road. Several carloads of plates have already been received, coming over the Rock Island road and several carloads more will be received, but the secretary of state will not patronize any road which will not come across with what he considers is owing the state.

Lincoln Has Mystery In Auto Accident

A collision between two automobiles a short distance west of Lincoln is enveloped in a great deal of mystery. About 10 p. m. a man, who refused to give his name, entered the Lincoln hotel, covered with blood, and went direct to his room. An examination of the register showed that the room was occupied by William Wilson of Philadelphia. He would only say that an automobile in which himself and three companions were riding was run into by another car, occupied by four men, and both cars were overturned in the ditch. All of the occupants were hurt, some of them quite severely, but no one appears to be able to locate any of the injured persons.

Beet Sugar Industry on Boom.

S. C. Clark of Gering, Neb., asserts that the sugar beet crop of the western part of the state gives promise of being the best ever raised. This year in the territory around Gering there are 32,000 acres in sugar beets, an excess of 8,000 acres over last year. It is estimated that the beets will yield about twelve tons to the acre, or a total of 384,000 tons. The entire output of the district will be worked up at the sugar factory at Scottsbluff.

Widespread smuggling of Chinese into Panama is said to have been discovered. It is reported that at least two high government officials and several police officers are involved.

Enter 179 Babies in Contest.

Nearly 200 of Nebraska's most perfect babies will compete for the prizes offered by the Nebraska state fair management upon a basis of scientific scoring. The list of entries in the better babies show at the fair was made public by Secretary Mellor, containing 179 names. Most of the entries come from Lincoln and Lancaster counties, although out in the state towns are represented more liberally than any year since the better babies show became a feature of the fair.

Benson Bond Deal Slightly Expensive

Secretary of State Pool has refused to sign an affidavit that the $25,000 bonds voted by the village of Benson have been registered in his office.

The Benson bonds bear 6 per cent interest and were sold to outside parties without the state being given a chance to bid on them. The state would have been glad to have taken the bonds so that the people of Benson would have had to pay but 5 per cent.

Changed Bookings From Arabic.

Rev. Downing, pastor of the Methodist church of Nickerson, who returned from a summer's visit to his old home in England, accompanied by his bride had booked passage on the Arabic, a victim of a German torpedo, but changed to an American line steamer when his relatives insisted. The dangers of making the trip on an English liner were pointed out and he decided to pay the higher price for passage on the American steamer.

Dunne Will Not Come West.

Governor Dunne of Illinois will not be able to be present and address the people on Woodrow Wilson day at the state fair, according to a message received by Governor Morehead. Governor Dunne gives as his reason that he is expecting to attend the meeting of governors in Boston and will not return in time.

Express Co. Must Pay Local Tax.

Express companies must pay local taxes as well as the regulation occupation tax of 2 per cent to the state. The state tax does not grant them immunity from the payment of local taxes. Attorney General Reed has so ruled.

WAR NEWS SUMMARIZED

Italy has declared war on Turkey. Plans for joint military action by Italy, England, France and Russia against Turkey were arranged in July and can immediately be put into execution, advices from Italy declare.

The naval battle in which the German and Russian battleships have been engaged for several days in the Gulf of Riga resulted in the German fleet withdrawing after losing the battle cruisers Moltke, a ship of the dreadnought type, three other cruisers and seven torpedo boats, according to a statement accredited to the president of the Russian duma.

This is the latest information concerning the German naval attack, which was undertaken as a measure of co-operation with the Teutonic land operations in Courland, and especially against the important port of Riga. A German report announced that the Russians had lost three small warships—two gunboats and a torpedo boat.

A German torpedo boat destroyer was sunk off Ostend by two French torpedo boats, which escaped undamaged, Paris announces.

Great Britain has proclaimed cotton absolute contraband.

Washington waits full information concerning sinking of the Arabic before deciding on the course to be taken.

British government issued a denial of the report that the steamer Dunsley, which was torpedoed shortly before the sinking of the Arabic, was an armed patrol. It was an unarmed and peaceful trader, it is declared.

Developments came rapidly on the eastern front during the last week, leaving the Russian armies in the most critical situation they have faced since the great Teuton drive through Poland and Galicia began early in May.

The fall of Kovno and the advance on Riga and Vilna leaves the right flank of Russia's second line of defense in a precarious position.

The fall of Novogorjevsk marked the passing of the last of the Russian Vistula line of fortresses. All Poland has been cleared of the czar's forces, except those fighting before Brest-Litovsk, before Osowetz and along the Niemen.

With Kovno lost and Riga in imminent danger of capture the Russian second line is becoming untenable and another of the great Teuton flanking movement promises to be a success. The Russian commander in chief is still confronted with the serious task of extricating his armies.

While the Russians are battling for existence of their armies before the victorious Teuton armies a definite calm seems to have settled on the western battle front. Only artillery engagements with isolated trench warfare of only local significance is reported by London and Paris. The French have claimed some advantage in this fighting, but the long expected general offensive shows no signs of developing.

What little news of the fighting in the Gallipoli peninsula filtered through during the week indicated that the effort to relieve Russia would be made in that war zone instead of in France and Belgium. A new force was landed on the peninsula north of the present positions at Cape Suva. It was reported also that a general offensive was under way and that the allies had determined to batter their way to the defenses of the narrows at any cost.

Slight progress on all fronts was reported by the Italian staff during the last week, which were generally denied by Vienna.

No vital change is recorded in the fighting in the Baltic provinces. A desperate battle is being fought along the Kovno-Vilna railway and the Niemen river.

Berlin reports that the army of General von Eichhorn has made further progress east and south of Kovno, while the forces of General von Gallwitz have penetrated further south of the Narew and have crossed the Bialystok-Brest-Litovsk railway.

Liveliness has prevailed at some points along the western front, but the engagements have been of minor importance. The French claim to have repulsed German attacks in Artois and in the Vosges, while both sides are expending ammunition in artillery engagements, bomb throwing and other artifices in many places to annoy their opponents.

The Italians report slight progress on all their fronts.

The landing of British troops at Suval bay, Gallipoli peninsula, is regarded in London as a partial disappointment. The Turks had concentrated their forces in the Anzac zone, a little to the south, but were able to send troops north in time to prevent any important advance by the landing forces. It is believed that no forward movement of consequence is likely unless the British are reinforced considerably.

On the western front the French now hold the cross roads between Lens and Arras, which was in possession of the Germans, and formed a wedge in the allied line.

Arabic Not Being Conveyed.

The British government officially declared that the White Star line steamer Arabic, sunk by a German submarine, was not being conveyed when she was torpedoed. Facts regarding the sinking of the Arabic with the loss of two American lives are being gathered by the Washington government, which has not as yet officially commented upon the disaster.
