EDITORS TO MEET AT WAYNE

Northeastern Nebraska Newspaper Men Hold Successful Meet and Organize Royally Entertained at Norfolk

Last Friday and Saturday the editors of this corner of the state met at Norfolk and formed a permanent organization, the January meeting of which is to be held at Wayne. A temporary organization was formed Friday, Mell A. Schmeid of Dakota City being named as president and E. O. Gardner of Wayne secretary-treasurer. The following morning the temporary organization was made permanent and Mrs. Marie Weeks was elected vice-president. The president appointed A. H. Backhaus of Pierce and C. S. Harris of Cole-ridge members of the executive committee, the officers above named being made members of the same committee by motion.

Many subjects of interest were informally discussed at the "Round Table" Saturday morning, continuing a talk started the afternoon before on "Why We Came." G. T. Sprecher of Norfolk made a short talk on "Newspaper Pioneering" and mixed it with a bit of telephone pioneering and a talk warning the press against the danger of public ownership of telephone, telegraph and railway. "Newspaper's Responsibility" was ably told of by W. H. Green of Creighton, who was called to fill the place assigned to G. L. Carlson, who was unable to be present.

At the morning session N. A. Huse of the News gave an excellent talk on "Reaching the Foreign Advertiser" that was very practical. Mr. Huse has given this subject much attention and was in position to tell the publishers of the country papers something of the thousands of dollars the ready print houses are annually taking from the editors and publishers of the country weeklies, to all of which our friend Kelley of the Western Newspaper Union duly objected, although he was not a member of the organization and had no place on the program. The country editors have built a number of fortunes which it takes no less than seven figures to write by their loyalty to the patent house. The informal sessions of this first meeting were both interesting and instructive, but might not interest the general reader.

Norfolk, through its commercial club and citizens, entertained royally. An afternoon ride gave all a glimpse of this growing city with aspirations to become the third city of the state in importance. We visited the schools, the tractor factory, the canning plant, where they were running full force with the last lot of corn, and each visitor was presented with a can of the best as a souvenir of the visit. All were taken to the asylum for the care of those unfortunate wards of the state who have lost their mental balance to a somewhat greater extent than the average editor. So far as we can learn the guards of the institution, of which we hope to tell more later, permitted all to get out, for we missed none of the boys at the splendid banquet which the Norfolk Commercial club tendered the visitors that evening. N. A. Huse ably presided as toastmaster, John R. Hayes welcomed us boys in a royal way. Mell A. Schmeid told that "We're glad We're Here." G. S. Weaver spoke of "Community Spirit" and Mr. C. E. Burnham of "Norfolk's Possibilities." Mrs. John Friday told of the "Scientific Study of Mankind" in a happy way that was most entertaining. Fred Marshall of Niobrara spoke of "Norfolk Territory," and gave them a wide field if they but advertise and get it. Edgar Howard talked most interestingly of "Newspaper Ideals" and other things, but closed with the sentiment that his ideal for an editor was one who gave honest, fearless expression to his convictions without hope of reward or fear of punishment. No veiled advertising, the opinions he writes are not to be bought.

The musical entertainment provided was of high class. Otto Voget gave an original violin selection and responded to an encore. Miss Ruth Miller rendered a pleasing piano solo and Miss Hunter sang "Land of Dreams" in a faultless manner.

The hours spent at Norfolk will long be remembered with pleasure by the following who attended this meeting.

Among the editors who attended the meeting were: Mell A. Schmeid, Dakota City; N. A. Huse, Norfolk; E. O. Gardner, Wayne; W. H. Needham, Bloomfield; J. P. O'Furey, Hartington; M. J. Romi, Neligh; Fred C. Marshall, Niobrara; D. H. Cronin, O'Neill; W. H. Green, Creighton; S. E. Mills, Wakefield; C. E. Nevin, Laurel; W. G. Squires, Plainview; V. E. Schoenauer, Plainview; Charles Pearce, Winnetoon; H. H. Pease, Wayne; Jeff Taylor, Emerson; A. H. Backhaus, Pierce; Edgar Howard, Columbus; E. W. Huse, Wayne; H. Ruhlow, Hoskins; G. A. Mayfield and A. Pont, Stanton; O. O. Buck, Newman Grove; A. K. Donovan, Madison; Anna Hunt, Ponca; Mrs. Kate M. Robinson, Verdel; Felix Hale, Tilden; Mrs. Phillips, Wayne; Miss Elizabeth O'Brien, Wayne; W. H. and Marie Weeks and Mr. Brown of Norfolk.

Lecture at the Normal School

On Tuesday evening, before a large and appreciative audience in the auditorium of the State normal school, Mr. Henry Clark opened the entertainment course of the season with a lecture on the subject, "Play Ball!"

The speaker began his address by picturing a game of ball in a large city referring briefly to the spectators, the individual players, the umpire and the score.

He then applied the philosophy of the ball game to the great game of life. As the ball players each have a certain place on the team, so must individuals know their places in the greater game. Preparation and practice were necessary to make efficient ball players, in like manner the duties of life demand preparedness. Another application made was that of team work. In our relations with our fellow man, what is needed is not a spirit of independence but interdependence. Human relationships involve responsibility. In a game of ball, much interest is shown in the score; so also in life each person should look well to the score, or the record he is making.

Mr. Clark is a pleasing, forceful speaker, his address throughout was filled with wit and humor, and the message was one of inspiration and helpfulness.

Loaded Wagon Passes Over Lad

Monday afternoon Sam Miller, who was driving with a wagon load of dirt, was attracted by the shouts of the people and looking back saw his little six-year-old son Fay in the track behind the wagon, helpless. So far as can be learned the little fellow seeing his father with the team as he was coming from school ran to catch a ride, and slipped and fell, the wheel of the loaded wagon passing over the right thigh, breaking the bone. His finger marks were seen in the dirt where he had reached up to pull himself on, showing from their position that he must have slipped from a break beam. The father was not aware that he was about until called to by those who saw the accident. The little one is said to be doing nicely and it is thought that he will be about again in a few weeks.

Kimball-Payne

At Sioux City, Thursday, October 14, 1915, Miss Goldie Kimball and Mr. Gene Payne, both of this place, were united in marriage. The announcement of their marriage comes as a surprise to their Wayne friends. They have been taking a short wedding trip, going to Omaha and other places, and will return this week and be at home in the W. E. Vail house in the east part of the city which is ready furnished for their occupancy.

The groom is the youngest son of J. L. Payne, and one of the assistants at the Wayne feed mill; the bride, a daughter of Mrs. P. S. Valentine, has won many friends among the young people of Wayne during a residence here of several years.

Box Social and Program

UNION FAREWELL SERVICES

A Large Audience Gathered at Baptist Church Sunday Evening in a Union Farewell Service for Rev. Richardson

The union farewell meeting for Rev. B. P. Richardson at the Baptist church on Sunday evening partook largely of the nature of a general mass meeting of the citizens of Wayne. Many were present from each church in the town, and many not connected with any church, to say "Goodbye" to a man who has fairly won a high place of esteem in the collective heart of the community.

This union meeting was one to be remembered long by all who were present. Mr. S. R. Theobald presided and struck the keynote of the meeting which was "Unity." A union choir sang some beautiful selections under the direction of Prof. M. S. Davies. A stranger would have been unable to point out any line of division, from beginning to close of the service.

After a responsive reading and a prayer offered by the retiring pastor, Rev. A. S. Buell was introduced and responded in an eloquent and very fitting tribute to the departing brother pastor. He said that while we are sorry to lose Rev. Richardson from our midst, we should be proud to be able to send out so good a product.

S. Xenophon Cross read a greeting from the Rev. Rudolph Moehring, who was unable to be present, and followed the reading of this letter by some remarks on the cooperation that had always been encouraged in church work and the still larger unity of effort that should characterize our church life in the future. There really seems to be a "Get together" spirit growing among the folks who are doing the real work in the churches.

Prof. J. G. W. Lewis represented the Baptist church, the college and the whole community in a very fitting response. The professor paid splendid tribute to Mr. Richardson's efficient service of the entire community and heartily endorsed the plea for "Union Effort" that was evident in almost every thing that was said throughout the evening.

Pastor Richardson said the last "Goodbye" and all responded "God speed you." A community's blessing follows him to his new home.

At the close of the prayer meeting Wednesday evening the ladies of the Aid society and a large number of the congregation invited the pastor and family to remain a short time, and an hour was socially passed, at the close of which Mr. and Mrs. Richardson and children were presented with a set of silver spoons by the ladies, much to their surprise.

County Attorney Kiplinger Arrested

Our county attorney, L. A. Kiplinger, is to have a hearing Monday before Justice Alter to plead to a charge of poker playing, the complaining witness being Simon Goemann. The editor really dislikes to say much of a case where a criminal charge has been made before the hearing, but in this case it might be well to state that the complaining witness is now under bond to appear before the judge of the district court at the next term, with several other complaints now on file with the county attorney, and they will undoubtedly be brought to court as fast as the defendant can meet the charges. A move for rigid law enforcement may come from most unexpected sources, and many motives.

Reeder-Garrett

At Sioux City Thursday, October 14, 1915, occurred the marriage of Miss Carrie Garrett of this place and Mr. Thomas V. Reeder of that place. Thursday evening the bride and groom came to Wayne and visited at the home of her parents here, James Garrett and wife. They are both employed by the same firm in Sioux City, and plan to remain there at present. The Democrat joins with the bride's Wayne friends in extending congratulations.

The Variety store offers this season a very strong line of gloves and mittens for fall and winter use. Prices from 10c up. Inspect that line before you buy elsewhere.—adv.

Hughes-Holtz

Wednesday morning at 6:15 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hughes occurred the marriage of their daughter, Miss Pearle to Mr. Kenneth Holtz. At the appointed time Miss Ina Hughes, the bride's youngest sister, sang "Constancy" accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Bradford Newcombe after which the bridal couple descended the stairway and entered the parlor from the east entrance and stood just in front of the bay window.

The simple, yet beautiful ring ceremony was performed by Rev. B. P. Richardson of the Baptist church and after receiving the hearty congratulations of those present, Mr. and Mrs. Holtz were escorted to the dining room, in company with only the relatives, where a three-course breakfast was served. The table was prettily adorned with cut flowers.

The bride carried a bouquet of bride's roses and wore a dainty dress of white silk poplin trimmed in white fur and Georgette crepe. The groom was attired in the conventional black.

They went to Pender by auto and from there left for Omaha at which place they expect to remain for a few days, visiting among his relatives, and from Omaha they go to Montana to visit a cousin of the bride's and then to their future home at Renton, Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Holtz are both very well known here, having grown to manhood and womanhood in this place.

Mrs. Holtz is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hughes. She graduated from the State Normal of Wayne in 1914 and since that time has been devoting her time to music. She is a lady of many accomplishments and will be greatly missed by all her friends.

Mr. Holtz left this place about three and one-half years ago after graduating from a medical college in Philadelphia, and went to Seattle, Washington, where he entered a hospital to follow out his line of work and afterwards went to Renton, Washington, where he is now located and is considered one of the very successful physicians of that vicinity.

Our hearty congratulations follow them and we trust our loss will be deeply appreciated by those who have gained it.

Woodsley-Chinn

On Tuesday, October twelfth, at Los Angeles, California, occurred the marriage of Miss Violet C. Woodsley to Mr. Samuel Chinn.

These young people are well known in Wayne. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. C. A. Woodsley, formerly of Wayne, but now residing at Los Angeles. For five years she was secretary to the president of the Wayne State Normal school and has been popular in the social life of the city. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Chinn of Concord, Nebraska. He has a wide acquaintance here and is recognized as a young man of ability and integrity. The Democrat joins a large circle of friends in Nebraska in offering sincere congratulations and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Chinn. They will make their home at Los Angeles, where Mr. Chinn is engaged in business.

Riebe-Barnett

Leonard L. Riebe and Miss Laura E. Barnett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Barnett of Wayne, Neb., were united in marriage at 8:30 o'clock last night by the Rev. M. G. Ingram at the parsonage of the First Congregational church. Besides the minister, only the witnesses, Mrs. Mary A. Brimmer and Erwin L. Miles, were present when the ceremony was performed.

Mr. Riebe is one of the proprietors of the Pollard garage. His bride has been living in the city for nearly a year and has many friends here.

The couple have rented the residence of Mrs. James Hogan in north Word avenue, and will be at home to their friends after next Sunday.—Red Lodge (Montana) Picket.

Roberts-Landis

Wednesday, October 13, 1915, by County Judge James Britton, Mr. Frank Roberts and Miss Lottie Landis, both of Niobrara, were wed. These young folks certainly should succeed in life, coming to this good old town to make their start upon the untrodden sea of matrimony, there can be no such way as fail.

Farewell Gathering at Stamm Home

A large number of people gathered at the home of Andrew Stamm, north of town last Friday evening to say goodby to Rev. B. P. Richardson who has done a great work in that community. For four and a half years, Mr. Richardson has been emphasizing the church and Sunday school as the center of the community life. That he has been splendidly successful is evident in the fine spirit of unity that pervades the whole community.

The center of the community life has come to be the union Sunday school with headquarters in the Stamm schoolhouse. Sectarian lines are forgotten and several denominations, Baptists, Presbyterians, Methodists, Lutherans and others, come together as one group interested in the uplift and general welfare of the whole community. Men with a message, without regard to any denominational preference, speak frequently on Sunday afternoons.

That Mr. Richardson's work is appreciated by the people was shown in the enthusiasm of the folks gathered to wish him God speed, in the excellent program prepared for the occasion, in the sincere regret expressed by every one that such times of separation and parting have to come at all. After the serving of delightful refreshments, a beautiful, engraved piece of table silver was presented to Rev. Richardson on behalf of the Sunday school.

After a prolonged evening of mingled regret at separation and joy because of the good work already done, the company separated feeling that the benediction of unselfish service rests upon the community. May the good work so effectively begun be carried on to full fruition! The blessing of a place in the heart of a splendid Christian community follows the pastor, whatever his labors and rewards may be on other fields.

Mrs. Kate Jones Dead

Mrs. Kate Jones passed away at her home at Carroll last Thursday night at the age of 71 years. Her self and daughter, Miss Lizzie Williams had lived together at the home several years since the death of her husband, Rev. Samuel Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Jones moved to Wayne about 24 years ago, and have since resided in the county, making their home at Carroll for a dozen or more years past.

The funeral was held Sunday, and was attended by many friends and relatives. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hughes of Red Oak, Iowa, also Mrs. Thomas and two sons, David and John from the same Iowa county, and her daughters, Mrs. Ella Holmes of Norfolk and Mrs. Marie Norris from Chicago.

Mrs. Jones was held in high esteem by a large circle of friends.

Carnival Week at Wayne

During the day time one would hardly know we have a carnival here the first three days, but there's a reason. Busy, the farmers are just too busy to come to town for tobacco during these nice days, but it is different in the evening when a goodly number drive in and take in the theatrical performances. If the weather keeps good the other days will be better. Walter Savidge's theatrical performances rank high among the traveling troupes, and so do all his acts. The artists who perform daily on the street for the entertainment of all are masters in their line of work.

Tomorrow evening one of the most popular of his plays will be presented, "The White Slave Traffic." Saturday closes the season, so this is a last chance.

A Bit of Railroad Trouble

Spreading rails let the cream and baggage car trucks off the track Wednesday afternoon between Wausa and Bloomfield, and practically annulled the afternoon service. No one was hurt by the jolt, and the cars were placed back that night, and traffic resumed today. But this morning there was trouble the other way. The train from Omaha was caught behind a freight which was crippled by a broken truck and passengers had to transfer around the broken car before they could come to or from Omaha. The Bloomfield train went to Emerson to bring things this way when the delayed train arrives there. This makes three and according to the rule that is enough, and things are supposed to run normal again.

Last Gun Club Shoot

At the close of the season the members of the Wayne Gun club show a marked degree of efficiency, and this talk of lack of efficiency is or will be dispelled by reading the following report of the official score of the shoot yesterday afternoon:

Prof. Hahn	00
Prof. Wiley (bushels potatoes)	6
Prof. McIntyre	1
Prof. U. S. Conn	5
Carhart	15
Fisher	19
Weber	22
Miner	25

The Democrat did not receive the score of the previous week, which was almost as good.

Miss Ruby Hughes arrived home from Grand Island Saturday, where she is attending school, to visit home folks and attend the wedding of her sister, Miss Pearle to Dr. K. J. Holtz, which occurred Wednesday morning.

The Creston Statesman, thankful for the public improvements of the past year at that place, is not satisfied, and is calling for electric lights. If the newspapers of a place should or could be satisfied and keep quiet the place would soon cease to be progressive.

Work on the electric light plant is being pushed with all might these days; the power house is about completed, the poles have been set and the electric light wires strung. When the engine arrives and is set upon its foundation, and the dynamo and storage battery installed, it will be ready for operation.—Belden Progress.

The supreme court of Nebraska has refused to give Wm. Flegé a rehearing, which will probably settle the matter. Flegé is now serving an indeterminate sentence of from one to ten years for the murder of his sister. His only chance of freedom now is a pardon by the governor. If this is not granted he may have to serve the full time, except that good behavior will result in a deduction of two months from each year.

The dance given Friday evening by the members of Co. G. is reported by those who attended as one of the most enjoyable dances ever held at Wayne. One who was there said it was the classiest he had attended in this city. Another marked feature that it was a truly social event and that no click or clan spirit was shown, all had a good time with everybody who was present. They are asking for another right away, but the boys say they do not care to crowd the matter so fast as to make any tired.

J. Jessen from Bloomfield was through here Monday, going to visit friends and look at land in the western part of the state. He thinks it will pay better to own a farm than to pay high rents and move every time the owner of the land changes his mind about the place and the price of rent demanded. Mr. Jessen came to this country from Germany eight years ago, and since this war broke out thinks this is a good place to remain. He has a brother in the trenches on the Russian front, and is thinking it will be a cool place to spend the winter.

D. M. Davis has sold to L. B. Cobb an 80 acre tract adjoining the Cobb quarter section near Carroll, the consideration being $125 per acre. $10,000 is a pretty fair price for an 80 acre farm with only fence for improvement, but of this good Wayne county land it is thought to be a bargain, and but for the fact that Mr. Davis' other land only cornered on this 80, he would not have sold at this price. He bought the land quite a number of years ago and paid for it but $37 per acre. So it has increased in value more than twice what it cost him. It will continue to go higher, we predict.

The United States District court at Detroit, has handed down a decision that is far reaching in its effect. In substance it says that no manufacturer of food products can fix the price these products shall sell at retail. All you have to do in case anyone refuses to sell you his goods, unless you agree to sell them at a certain fixed price, is to report him to the federal authorities who will take care of him. This decision should have been made twenty years ago, but it was not safe for a court to bump against the powers that were running the majority party then. It is different now.—The Creé Democrat.

Married at Wayne on Monday, October 11, at the Methodist parsonage by Rev. Buell, Miss Urseba Kelley, formerly of Carroll, Iowa, and Mr. Carl Smith. The bride has been employed in the Central office of the Carroll Telephone Exchange for over a year and has proved herself an efficient operator. She is in every way worthy of her large circle of friends and will be a real helpmate to the one she has chosen to honor with her hand. Mr. Smith has lived among us for a number of years and has a large host of friends who know him as an honest, upright young man. Many there are who will join with the index in extending congratulations and best wishes. They will reside in Carroll.—Index.

We saw a caterpillar trying to climb up a piece of smooth paper which was held at an angle of about 30 degrees, but he could not make—could not get any where, just as some of the fellows who are renting farms and moving every few years claim they are doing. The worm got just as much or more exercise than he did when walking on the ground, so the renter is getting the exercise whether or not he gets any where. Renters should come and see us at this office about the land listed here to sell, and get a place of their own. $30 per acre or less will pay for some splendid land in North Dakota where small grain, corn and potatoes as well as alfalfa and other hay crops do well. Why not get in shape to get something for this exercise?—adv.

Robert Skiles went to Murdock and Alvo, in the southern part of the state last week to visit his two brothers who live there. Mr. Skiles was anticipating a great visit when telling the editor of the trip a few days before he started. He says that his brothers as well as himself were soldiers in the little skirmish which lasted from '61 to '65 and while they did not all serve together they all saw some service worth while. His brothers were both in the 13th U.S. Infantry, Co. A., and he thinks the sole survivors of the company—and but few of the regiment are not now answering roll call on the other side of the divide. They were in the battle of Fort Pemberton, and left many of the company on that field, and then all through the Vicksburg campaign was bloody work. Mr. Robert Skiles was in the 4th Iowa cavalry, if we remember rightly.

The meeting of the stockholders of the F. G. & L. S. association was held last Saturday afternoon at the Amussen hall and the usual good attendance at these meetings was repeated. The report of the secretary and the treasurer's financial statement with a statement made out by the expert accountant were all read and approved and the report was accepted. The business shows to be in a healthy condition and another nice dividend has accumulated. The total volume of business from October 17, 1914 to September 27, 1915 was $195,367.75. The profits were over $2,000 net and on the capital stock paid up of $8,600 make a net per cent of 25.3. Undivided profits previously on hand were $5,893.43 or 68.5 per cent which makes the stock worth about $84 a share, a nice net earning of $34 on the original investment of $50 in a period of four years.—Coleridge Blade

E. B. Hirschman, who, on January 1, 1915, bought the Cedar County News, of Hartington, Neb., from George W. Kelly, last week sold the paper to J. P. O'Furey, of Sioux City. Mr. Hirschman was county treasurer of Cedar county before entering the newspaper business. He disposed of the paper on account of trouble with his eyes. Mr. O'Furey has had considerable newspaper experience, both weekly and daily, in Ohio and Iowa. For some years he has been manager of the Davidson Bros. Co. mail order department in Sioux City. He is well stocked with both energy and enterprise and no doubt will give the people of Cedar county a lively paper. He is a brother of Frank M. O'Furey, publisher of the Press, at Mapleton, Iowa.

The above is from the newspaper men's column in the Monday Journal of Sioux City, and the Democrat wishes to welcome Bro. O'Furey to the circle of northeast Nebraska scribes. His first issue of the News makes a good impression. He was present at the Norfolk meeting of newspaper men last week, and from a brief acquaintance we feel that the News has come into the keeping of a competent newspaper man. He promises a clean-cut paper for the people of Cedar county, and the people of that county are used to that kind of a paper, we can assure him.

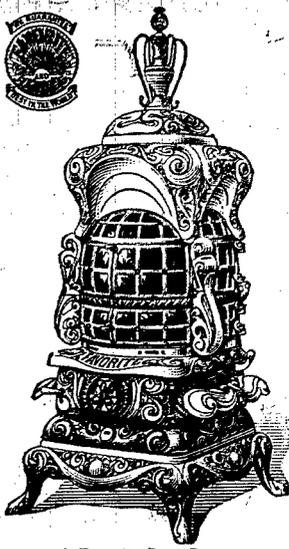

Raising the Dairy Calf

The best practice in the care and management of the young dairy stock are discussed in Bulletin 149, just issued by the Nebraska agricultural college experiment station. The author has endeavored to give explicit directions for the successful feeding of the skim milk calf in the hope that more dairy calves will be raised in Nebraska. He also discusses the need of more dairy calves and the kind of calves it pays to raise, the feed required to raise the calf, the best methods of feeding skim milk, grain, hay, and silage, and the prevention or treatment of calf scours. Practical rationations are given for calves of different ages.

Perfection in Little Things Have Made the Favorite

A Favorite Base Burner

Some manufacturers throw their stoves and ranges together.

They don't care how they make them—want a showy outside appearance, in order to attract attention and sell the goods.

The makers of the Favorite could build their stoves that way—but they don't.

They have spent over sixty years climbing towards perfection in stove and range making, and we think they have now reached pretty close to the mark—That's why we handle the Favorite Line.

The law protects you in the food you eat, but your own common sense is your only safeguard in buying stoves and ranges, and the confidence you have in the dealer from whom you buy.

Come and see our Favorites. You'll be pleased with the beauty of design and thorough workmanship. After you have looked them over carefully and compared them with other makes they'll be your Favorites too.

You will know what we mean when we say: Favorite means Perfection when applied to stoves and ranges. It means over sixty years of the very best endeavor in stove and range making.

How to Make a Successful Farmer

We asked a widely experienced farmer the following question, says Hoard's Dairyman: "What will make a prosperous money-making farmer?" To this he said: "You are sound in considering 'money-making' the basis of your question. For, while money is not all there is to good farming, still it is the foundation. Farming must first of all be a profit-making business in order that the other things so much desired in it may follow. I would say this: The first essential in the farmer is a sufficient amount of intelligence to well comprehend his business and what must be done to make it profitable.

"Look over all other kinds of business. You will find there that no man succeeds financially unless he is a thoroughgoing student or, as men say, 'he understands his business.' Such men put in use sound business methods. They keep accurate records as they can of what their business costs them. Then they figure as best they can to get a return that will cover the cost and leave them some profit besides. This sort of training develops in such men not only a producing ability but a selling ability as well. How many farmers do you know who follow such methods? How many of them know what it costs to raise a cow to milk production? How many of them know what their cows, individually, are earning per year?

"Your 'cow census' work in Hoard's Dairyman was the first effort to get down to actual facts in cow keeping, and what a loose, unprofitable state of knowledge among cow farmers it discloses. Take the cow testing association work as an example. One would think that, given such a chance to know the inside facts of their business, the dairy farmers would take hold of it with earnest zeal. But do they? How slow the movement spreads. How difficult it is to get farmers to join and keep up such an agency in their midst. It seems as though most cow owners dread to know the real truth about their business.

"I can not see how a dairy farmer is going to be made prosperous when he is constantly dodging a knowledge of real facts and is unwilling to spend a little money to know what he is about. So I would say that the first thing necessary to make a prosperous money-making farmer is to make a good business man of him. Do that and all other needful things will follow in quick order.

"The best farmers are good business men. They are not shutting their minds away from the things they ought to know and trusting to luck. They obey business principles just the same as do successful merchants or manufacturers. Farming is a business, —a peculiar kind of business. It has its own risks and pitfalls. These must be faced, looked at, studied, and understood. Right there and at that point is where farming commences to fail. Some day I hope we will have a set of good, sound business men running our farms. When we do, you will see vastly different results than you see now on the majority of farms."

This was not a complete answer, but it was a statement of what is fundamentally needed to start with. The farmer who is trying to make of himself a well trained, intelligent business man has made a mighty good start toward success.

Politics and Morals

After clearing himself in one trial for bribery, Arthur J. Koenigstein of Norfolk has been proven guilty in another trial, upon several counts, of accepting bribes from resort owners for immunity against prosecution while he acted as county attorney of Madison county. A legal fight is never through until it is finished. There are many curves a case at law may take. In all probability this one will be appealed and higher courts may not sustain the action of the jury. Nevertheless it looks bad for Koenigstein, for the presumption is now against him. Whether he finally escapes the penalty of the present verdict is not material to the drawing of the moral. Koenigstein may or may not be a representative of a class. There are many citizens, however, who believe it is legitimate to accept bribes "because others do it." They fall into the error of thinking that money obtained in that fashion is a proper addition to their income, providing they can "get away with it." They have moral strabismus. The ideas of fidelity to the public service are deformed. They get notions that the hail fellow with sufficient money can maintain his social and business standing without moral backing. Mr. Koenigstein stood as a democratic candidate for congress at the primaries. He even thought, in the face of what a jury has now pronounced against him, that he might get into the larger field of national politics and influence. If he was guilty, as the jury insists, of the things charged, it was decidedly presumptuous in him to think of congressional honors. It is always a sad spectacle to witness a young man of talents and possibilities prostituting himself to base acts. It is the shame of American politics that there are so many instances of corruption. That the total is so small a part of the whole is the one redeeming feature of the situation. It is not as bad and deplorable as it might be.—Fremont Tribune.

Ruth is Home Again

"Oh dear, these pies!" cried Ruth's mother, as she was baking for company, shortly after Ruth returned from her vacation trip. "The juice has run out all over the crust and made them soggy. And I was so anxious to have them look nice as well as taste nice."

"Well, I'm sorry mother, that I cannot help you with these particular pies," sympathized Ruth, who had fallen into her old helpful ways, "but I can tell you how Aunt Mary prevents just this sort of thing. She takes two small pieces of macaroni, and puts them through the top crust and lets them run down through the filling. This allows the air to escape and keeps the juice in the pie, and also keeps the crust dry and flaky."

"Oh Ruth, why didn't you come down here an hour earlier?" almost wailed her mother as she gazed ruefully at her pies.

A Model Fan

He goes out to the ball park just because he loves the game. And if the home team loses he enjoys it just the same. He never goes "plum nutty" and raves and tears his hair. He's always for the umpire and declares that it was fair. He never comes home tired and hoarse with murder in his eye, because the home team had a chance and somehow passed it by. And all the boneheads that they make he's willing to forget. Who is he? Well we must confess we've never seen him yet.

Lincoln Letter

State auditor Smith has received $2600 from Boone county as part payment on what it owes for the insane fund tax levied prior to 1901. Originally Boone county owed $5772. The sum of $500 was paid some time ago, leaving a balance of $2612, which will be taken up as rapidly as the county can get to it.

Victor Seymour, deputy clerk of the Supreme court for the past eleven years, resigned his position, the resignation taking effect October 16th. Philip H. Green, formerly of the law firm of Berge, Green & Green, of Lincoln, has been appointed to fill the vacancy. Mr. Seymour will go to Omaha, where he expects to manage R. L. Kennedy's senatorial campaign next year.

Food commissioner C. E. Harmon, on advice of Governor Morehead, has finally decided to retain sufficient of the funds of the department to pay running expenses, turning the balance over to the treasurer and filing his report with the auditor each month. From now on he will have eleven men in the field and the general work of the office and field will swing along in the accustomed way.

State auditor Smith will issue his third quarterly statement of state disbursements in a day or two. These quarterly statements are a new departure in the auditor's office, and in conformity with a law which auditor Smith formulated and had presented to the last legislature. It is in keeping with his up-to-date business methods of conducting the office since he took charge last January. It gives the public an opportunity at all times to know just how, where and for what purposes the tax payer's money is being spent.

The state board of equalization, through its secretary, O. E. Bernecker, is arranging for a series of meetings to be held throughout the state at which assessment matters are to be considered. The state has been divided into eight districts, and the county assessors in the various districts will meet at one of the following points: Lincoln, Fremont, Norfolk, Grand Island, Hastings, McCook, North Platte or Alliance. The meetings will be held the latter part of the present month, or in November. The real estate of the state will be assessed again in 1916, and its assessment will be principal subject to be considered. Secretary Bernecker has prepared blanks upon which the assessors of the various counties will be requested to report the sales value of farm lands during a given period, and these reports will be used in adjusting assessments next year. It is the contention of the various railroads operating in Nebraska that farm lands are assessed too low in proportion to other property, and they have already compiled a list of land sales in counties through which they operate. Without the compilation now under way by Mr. Bernecker the board would have to accept for consideration the figures offered by the railroads, but it prefers to have its own figures compiled by the persons elected for that purpose. The board of equalization is composed of Gov. Morehead, secretary of state Pool, state auditor Smith, state treasurer Hall and commissioner Beckman.

Secretary of state Pool has instituted suit in the district court at Lincoln, against the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway for occupation tax and penalties for years 1914-15; this suit being brought by attorney general Reed. This corporation should have paid $2500 per year but has only paid $550 per year. The suit is brought for $1950 for the tax of 1914 with a 15 per cent penalty, together with 7 per cent interest from September 1, 1914 and for a like sum, tax and penalty for 1915.

Does it Pay to Grind Feed

Experiments conducted at the Nebraska experiment station during the past winter indicate that the grinding of grain and alfalfa hay for lambs is not profitable under present conditions. While lambs fed a mixture of ground corn and ground alfalfa went to full feed quickly, cleaned up their feed each meal, and remained thrifty and vigorous throughout the entire feeding experiment, their increased weight was put on at a cost considerably higher than that of lambs fed shelled corn and whole alfalfa hay. The difference amounted to practically $1.00 on each 100 pounds gain. The same striking difference was noticeable in comparing lambs fed on ground corn, ground alfalfa, and corn silage and those fed shelled corn, whole alfalfa, and corn silage.

Chicago was not quite as dry last Sunday as it was the Sunday before, about twice as many saloons defying the closing orders as on the previous Sunday.

Woman suffrage failed to carry in New Jersey Tuesday, the opponents having a majority of about 50,000. The vote of the larger towns and cities was against women voting.

When nations begin borrowing money from other nations to finance the war it is much like a farmer or business man borrowing money to finance a lawsuit, only worse. If he win the lawyer gets it—if he lose the lender is apt to stand the loss.

The Commoner divides the people into two classes. The tax payers and the tax eaters. It then implies that the tax payers should be very careful not to allow the tax eaters to make gluttons of themselves. Eternal vigilance will be the price of keeping those fellows on a diet that is not burdensome to the payers.

The late news from England indicates that the cabinet and the people are not united in regard to war measures. The premier, Asquith, is ill, Attorney General Carson has resigned and may go before the people and urge the election of a new cabinet. Meantime the slaughter goes on, and it is small wonder that the people are growing weary of the war burden, not only the English, but the people of all the warring nations.

The reports from over the state indicate that the corn crop will be the largest ever grown in the state, says a note from agricultural headquarters, but all the same if we had 10,000 bushels of sound corn this year we would not be in a hurry to market it on the strength of this report. It is yet too early, our farmer friends tell us, to say what the crop will be in sound corn. We are always glad to get a good report, of which a few are coming.

The jingo press appears to be trying to commit the administration to an extravagant policy of preparedness for something that is not at all likely to happen if we mind our own business—but as we read it, we fail to see that President Wilson is committing himself to any great war plan policy. We have been spending plenty for the army and navy—too much for what we have been getting in return, and do not see why it should be increased. We have kept out of war in these troublous times, and can continue to do so.

Those pioneers who changed the musket for the breaking plowshare after Appomatax and came some hundreds of miles ahead of the railroads and civilization and made these western states what they are have little fear of Germany, Japan, England, Russia or any other foreign country, says the Creighton Liberal. Their greatest alarm is the ease of which our Schwabs, Garys, DuPonts and others of the same kidney get the leading middlemen and capitalists to fall for the farmers' graft. Born within a few miles of Mr. Schwab's Bethlehem plant we noted two years ago that many of the chimneys were cold and the Wall Street rating of the property was 5 millions of dollars, without building any new factories, will go a long way towards corrupting the publicity agencies in this country. The fact that it costs forty-six per cent of the price received to distribute the farmers' product is a graver issue for the men who produce Nebraska's wealth than any fear for bankrupt foreign nations, and the Nebraska congressman who expects to see Pennsylvania Avenue every day had better get that conviction into his system.

Now is none too early for the farmers to select their seed corn, in fact, it was none too early two weeks ago, and the editor thought of saying so. Then he took another thought that perhaps our farmer friends had thought it all out during the rainy days and had gone out and gathered in the ears. In fact some of them did do so, and have told of it, and we are glad we do not have to lay awake nights and tell the Wayne county farmers when to harvest their pumpkins and corn. But we are glad of a chance to pass the good word of one farmer on to the next if we can, and we believe that it frequently helps to have a hint of some of the good things your neighbor has done. That neighbor may be in another state, and we may get the hint from something he has told his newspaper man. A lot of such things now travel much faster than they did 40 years ago, when the telephone was not known in the country, and the newspaper was not aided by a lot of city fellows who run farm papers and investigate in state experiment stations and send the printed story to the country editor. But if you have not done so, go out and get in the best corn you can find and care for it for seed.

To illustrate—the ink on the proof of this story was not dry before the editor was told that Mr. Nels Orent, who is a careful observer of crop conditions and who owns a farm or two and always looks to the seed which his tenants plant, is now storing seed for his farms for next spring. He had learned that the cob on such a year as this carries a vast amount of water, enough to kill the germ should it freeze hard with the water there. So he is taking the precaution to bore the pith out of each cob. He finds that in most of the ears so treated the water will follow the bit out when the hole is completed. It is but a small job to arrange a device to hold the ear and make the hole, and it might pay others to try the plan, for it is predicted by some that seed corn (that will grow) will be both scarce and high next planting time.

State Normal Notes

Miss Elizabeth Brown, a graduate of the Nebraska Normal in 1910, is now a teacher in the Lincoln public schools.

Our football team will meet Trinity college next Saturday afternoon on the home field. A good game is expected.

Mrs. Fred Shultz and Mrs. Henry Shultz of Stanton were visitors the first of the week, and while here they were the guests of Miss Elsie Ford Piper.

On Thursday, November 4, at 12 o'clock, the annual reunion and luncheon of the Wayne state normal school will be held at the Rome hotel, Omaha.

Friends at the Normal have received announcements of the marriage of Miss Violet C. Woosley to Mr. Samuel Chinn, which occurred at Los Angeles, California, October twelfth.

At a meeting of the faculty held Monday afternoon, President Conn announced that school would be dismissed on Thursday and Friday, November 4 and 5, during the session of the State Teachers' Association.

The football game played against Buena Vista college last Friday afternoon at Storm Lake, Iowa, resulted in a victory for the latter team by a score of 26 to 6. As the result of an injury, Captain R. A. Dawson went out of the game in the second quarter, thus placing the home team at a great disadvantage. Coach Gross and the squad speak very highly of the excellent treatment received from the boys at Storm Lake.

At the present time much interest is being shown in the extension work of the school. A number of teachers are enrolled for courses offered in absentia, the persons enrolled in such work expecting to enter later for resident study and secure a professional life certificate.

Tuesday evening in the auditorium the lecture course for the season was opened by Henry Clark, who gave his popular lecture, "Play Ball." Mr. Clark's inspiring address was well received by a large number of students and a goodly representation of the citizens of the town. At the opening of his lecture he took the occasion to congratulate the committee on having secured Miss Sarah Mildred Willmer, who will appear on the next number of the course. Mr. Clark regards Miss Willmer as one of the best readers of the day, and says that the selection to be given at the Normal, "The Sign of the Cross" is her masterpiece.

President Conn returned Friday from Kearney, where he attended a meeting of the Board of Education. This time was made the occasion for the laying of the corner stone of the new auditorium of the Kearney normal school. Aside from the ceremonies of the corner stone laying, only the regular routine of business received the attention of the board. The question of additional buildings to be erected in the present biennium was passed over for action at a subsequent meeting. The following resolution was adopted:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of the Nebraska State Board of Education, that the normal schools should participate in a federal fund for extension work in vocational and industrial education. We respectfully request that our congressmen support any bill that will have this end in view."

The board adjourned to meet at Chadron on December 7.

Among the Churches of Wayne

Methodist Church

(Rev. A. S. Buell Pastor)

Next Sunday morning the sermon subject will be "The Tree of Life," being the first in a series of sermons on Christian experience. In the evening the subject will be "Jesus the Evangelist" the first in a series on Jesus the Christ. The morning sermons dealing with man's side of redemption and the evening sermons dealing with God's side.

Both series are to be evangelistic with the hope that they will brighten the Christian experience of believers and win souls for our Christ in the regular services. Let us make this the matter of prayer and consecrated effort.

We are glad to report a splendid attendance at Sunday school last Sunday. The Sunday school rally day program, "The Patriotism of Peace" will be given October 31st. The full program will appear next week. The Epworth Leaguers had a pleasant time at their oyster supper last Friday evening. They will soon have another social. Remember the devotional meeting at 6:30 Sunday evening.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary society will meet with Mrs. Dayton at 2:30 Friday afternoon, all ladies are cordially invited to attend. Remember the prayer meeting Wednesday evening at 7:30 each week.

A large class of applicants were received into the church last Sunday morning. Others are to come in next Sunday. That certainly was a splendid audience at the church last Sunday morning. Come again friends. Bring your church letter with you. Others are also invited to come and worship with us. Help us grow.

A splendid gathering of Wayne people from the various churches met to worship with the Baptist people Sunday evening at a farewell service for Bro. B. P. Richardson and family, who goes this week to Hastings to become pastor of the First Baptist church in that city. The well wishes and prayers of a host of friends go with them.

Presbyterian Church

(Rev. S. Xenophon Cross, Pastor)

The Every Member committee, or United committee of the church, met on Monday evening and effected a permanent organization. A great deal of service is hoped for from this committee. Every organization of the church is represented on the committee. Its expressed mission or function is to arouse the interest and enlist the service of every member of the church. A canvass of the church is already planned for the near future and an attempt will be made to adopt a "Church Year" of activities that will help to direct the energies of the church in the right channels at the right times. The committee will meet again next Monday evening and the church roll will be read and indexed and visiting teams appointed.

At the morning services next Sunday, the sermon theme will be: "Is the Church Losing Ground?" Come to church and stay for Sunday school. Rally day spirit must continue. Plan to send the little folks to the Junior meeting at three o'clock. All are invited to the Y. P. S. E. meeting at 6:30. Mr. A. R. Davis has kindly consented to lead this meeting. It will be worth while. The C. E. topic is: "Capturing Politics for God." At 7:30, the evening choir will give a program of special music. You who read this are invited to come and bring a friend. Look on page 91 of the handbook and find the prayer meeting topic for next Wednesday and come and take part in the meeting. Let a reasonable part of your time and powers be given to the church work.

The Ladies Aid society of the Presbyterian church announces another of the social afternoons like those that everybody participating in them enjoyed when they were given every month last winter and spring. This social and tea will be given at the home of Mrs. Wm. H. Morris next Wednesday afternoon. All members and friends of the congregation are invited. Twenty-five cents will be charged for supper. Come, and you will want to come again.—adv.

Baptist Church

Tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Nichols, the prayer circle will hold its regular meeting. The meeting will begin at 2:30, so as not to interfere with the work at the church. Beginning at 5:30 Friday afternoon the ladies will serve a chicken-pie supper and conduct an apron sale.

Sunday morning Prof. Bright of the Normal will speak at the regular service.

The young people will hold their regular service.

There will be no evening preaching service.

On the following Sunday, Rev. Gaston of Broken Bow, will preach. It is desired that all the members attend this meeting.

L. S. Winsor came over from his farm between Tilden and Plainview Wednesday and spent the day with Wayne friends, returning this morning. Of the corn condition there he says it is much the same as here, and that they will have lots of soft corn. He compares it to the 1896 season.

NEWS OF NEBRASKA

GOVERNOR REFUSES TO ISSUE PROCLAMATION

There is what the governor has to say about fathers' day, for which he was asked to issue a proclamation.

"I have some petitions asking me to designate a day to be known as fathers' day. I have a high regard for men who stand for good things morally, intellectually and patriotically, and I do not believe that I underestimate the value of good citizenship, yet I feel that there is such a thing as having too many holidays or special days. I like the citizen who is endeavoring every day in the year to be of benefit to society by helping to raise the standard of citizenship. And I feel that if we try to do some good each day to better the condition of the people, it would be better than to go to the extreme and have days designated for certain purposes. I cannot see wherein any good would come of designating a day called fathers' day and at the present time I shall issue no proclamation for that purpose."

BOARD BUYS PIPE ORGAN

Votes Money to Equip Kearney School With Musical Feature.

The State Normal board has voted a pipe organ for the chapel at Kearney, to cost from $7,000 to $10,000. The board has made an appeal to Andrew Carnegie to see if he will make a donation toward the instrument. The board took W. F. Crossley of Kearney, contractor, at his word, and refused to allow him $700 extra for odds and ends in plumbing and heating of a new building at the Kearney normal, erected by him for $57,700, under the verbal agreement that "everything would be included."

Miss Edith A. Lathrop, employed at the state superintendent's office, was elected to the faculty of the Chadron normal school at a salary of $1,485. Miss Finnegan of Waverly, a teacher in the Lincoln schools, was made domestic science assistant at Wayne, at $100 a month. Mr. Brown, temporary instructor at Peru, was made permanent. Mr. Shreeve of Greeley, Colo., was made head of the department of education at Kearney normal.

TWO WOMEN MURDERED

Mrs. John Heelan and Mrs. Layport of Arabia Victims of Attack.

Mrs. Nell Heelan, wife of a rancher at Arabia, Neb., was one of the victims in a horrible double murder at the Heelan ranch house near Arabia. The other victim was Mrs. Anna Layport, a neighbor.

Twelve hours after the crime, the murderer, known as "W. C." and believed to be William Criderman, a 17-year-old employe, was caught near Wood Lake by Sheriff Rossiter of Cherry county, and a complete confession obtained.

The young fiend after murdering both women, poured kerosene all over the house and set it afire. He finally admitted that he had attempted assault upon Mrs. Heelan, and failing, murdered both women who were unarmed, and alone in the house.

LOOK INTO PIPE LINE PROJECT

Commission to Look Into Feasibility of Pipe Line.

Governor Morehead has named a commission to investigate the feasibility of a $5,600,000 pipe line to convey oil from Casper, Wyo., to Omaha. The commission will serve without expense to the state.

Those named are Senator Bedford of Omaha, who is boosting the project; John L. McCague of Omaha, State Engineer Johnson, Professor Stout of the University of Nebraska, and George W. Wolz of Fremont. The commission was suggested by a resolution passed in the 1915 legislature.

The line would be 600 miles long and two feet in diameter and would follow the line of the Platte river from the Casper oil fields to Omaha. Tap stations would be established along the way.

Lincoln Drug Firm Is Fined.

For selling Hall's catarrh cure and calling it a "cure" the Meler Drug company of Lincoln has been fined $50 and costs on a complaint of the state pure food department charging misbranding. The company appealed.

The case was tried in the justice court. The prosecution attempted to show that the "cure" did not entirely remove the cause of the disease. The defendant, represented by Harry Thompson of Washington, chief counsel for the Proprietary association, composed of 200 companies, maintained that the medicine was sold under a registered trademark "Hall's Catarrh Cure," and hence the company has a right to use it.

Anti-Treating Law May Be Enforced in State

TEST FOR MOTHERS' PENSIONS

Governor Morehead Names Three Municipal Court Judges For Omaha. Treasurer Hall Declares He Lacks Authority to Pay Warrants.

Attorney General Reed is seriously considering starting a crusade for the enforcement of the Nebraska anti-treating law.

The attorney general figures the prohibitionists certainly would not object to the crusade, as they have been demanding it for years. The saloon men certainly could not object, he believes, since they have been using the Slocumb law to fight prohibition.

The attorney general will shortly announce his decision. The Omaha municipal license year begins Jan. 1, and he proposes to start things in plenty of time so that those who apply for licenses next year will know just what they have to go up against.

Hall Says Lacks Authority to Pay.

Admitting that he has $6,000 on hand collected from fees due the state fire commission, State Treasurer Hall, in his answer to the mandamus suit filed by Fire Commissioner Ridgell to collect his salary and expenses, declares that he has no authority to pay out the money without specific legislation. The treasurer asks to have the suit dismissed on these representations. There is now owing Ridgell's department, $201.21 for the month of September. On the application of Ridgell the supreme court issued an alternative writ requiring the treasurer to countersign the warrants or show cause for not doing so. No time has been fixed for the hearing of the case on its merits.

Dry Federation Makes Its Plans.

The State Dry federation, which will wage a campaign for prohibition in Nebraska, held a committee meeting in Lincoln. An executive committee, consisting of W. T. Thompson of Lincoln, chairman; Judge A. C. Epperson of Clay Center, vice chairman, and W. A. Seileck of Lincoln, treasurer, was elected. The literature and petition work of the campaign was given to the Women's Christian Temperance union, the publicity and speaking to the Anti-Saloon league, and E. I. Morrow of Omaha was chosen to represent the Socialists.

Lincoln County May Sue.

The state may collect $5,000 of the old insane tax fund due from Lincoln county, but it will also face a suit for $1,000 for money paid over by the county some twenty years ago to make good the loss of state funds in a bank failure. County Treasurer Albert Durbin intimated to Secretary of State Pool while calling at the capitol. Mr. Durbin had heard that Lancaster had recovered $10,000 under similar circumstances and he intends to present a counter claim for the amount he claims is due Lincoln county.

To Test Mother's Pensions.

The Lincoln legal department, under Mayor Bryan's legal aid program, will prosecute in the district court the case of Mrs. John Miller, mother of six children, to whom the county commissioners refuse to pay a mother's pension as provided in an act of the last legislature. The commissioners have been disregarding the pension orders issued by the district court in every instance, waiting for prosecution so the legality of the law can be tested.

Municipal Court Judges Named.

Governor Morehead named the three municipal court judges of Omaha, to conform with an act of the last legislature. They were: Robert W. Patrick, Richard C. Hunter and A. M. Murdock. The statute does not clearly specify when the law becomes effective, but the governor made the appointments and will let the legal profession of Omaha take necessary steps to interpret the meaning.

The special commission which was to have taken pictures of Nebraska schools, to be exhibited in eastern and southern states and in Central and South American countries, struck a bunch of muddy roads and was unable to secure many of the views it had planned. Union Stock Yards, South Omaha, Oct. 19.—Cattle receipts yesterday totaled 11,700 head. To all intents and purposes it was a steady market for corn fed beefs, as there was very little fed stock in the yards, fully 95 per cent being western grassers. Both dressed beef men and feeder buyers were out after western cattle and competition was brisk for desirable stock of all kinds. Prices looked anywhere from strong to a dime better than the latter part of last week, and business was tolerably active at the advance all day. Cows and heifers also sold to a better advantage. The demand for stock cattle and feeding steers was very keen and prices anywhere from a dime to a quarter better than last Thursday.

Cattle quotations: Prime beefs, $9.75@10.00; good to choice beefs, $9.00@9.75; fair to good beefs, $8.30@8.85; common to fair beefs, $6.75@8.25; good to choice yearlings, $9.00@9.75; fair to good yearlings, $8.50@9.00; common to fair yearlings, $6.50@8.00; prime grass beefs, $8.00@8.60; good to choice grass steers, $7.20@7.80; fair to good grass steers, $6.60@7.15; common to fair steers, $5.50@6.50; good to choice grass heifers, $6.00@7.00; good to choice grass cows, $5.75@6.25; fair to good cows, $5.00@5.65; canners and cutters, $3.75@4.75; veal calves, $7.00@10.00; bulls, stags, etc., $4.25@6.25; prime feeder sitters, $8.00@8.50; good to choice feeders, $7.40@8.00; fair to good feeders, $6.80@7.30; common to fair feeders, $5.50@6.50; good to choice stockers, $7.50@8.00; fair to good stockers, $6.50@7.25; common to fair stockers, $6.50@7.25; stock heifers, $5.75@6.75; stock cows, $4.75@6.00; stock calves, $6.50@8.00.

Some 3,800 hogs arrived yesterday. The market was fairly active with prices nearly a nickel higher than last Saturday. Bulk of the supply moved at $8.30@8.40, and tops reached $8.45. Sheep and lamb receipts totaled 34,500 head. The market for fat lambs was a little slow, but prices were quoted as strong to 10@15c higher than last Friday, or just about steady with a week ago yesterday. Bulk of the offerings moved at $8.50@8.65. Feeding lambs were fully steady. A good share of the desirable stuff moved at $8.25@8.40, and some choice ones up to $8.50. Feeding ewes sold as high as $5.40. Aged sheep were in good supply and sold at prices that were strong to possibly a little higher. Choice yearlings reached $7.00, and best ewes went at $6.15.

Quotations on sheep and lambs: Lambs, good to choice, $8.50@8.65; lambs, fair to good, $8.40@8.50; lamb feeders, $7.75@8.50; yearlings, fair to choice, $6.00@7.00.

WAYNE MARKET REPORT

Table with market prices for various goods: Oats, Corn, Barley, Spring wheat, Wheat, Eggs, Butter, Hogs, Fat Cattle.

Chicago was not quite as dry last Sunday as it was the Sunday before, about twice as many saloons defying the closing orders as on the previous Sunday.

Woman suffrage failed to carry in New Jersey Tuesday, the opponents having a majority of about 50,000. The vote of the larger towns and cities was against women voting.

When nations begin borrowing money from other nations to finance the war it is much like a farmer or business man borrowing money to finance a lawsuit, only worse. If he wins the lawyer gets it—if he loses the lender is apt to stand the loss.

The Commoner divides the people into two classes. The tax payers and the tax eaters. It then implies that the tax payers should be very careful not to allow the tax eaters to make gluttons of themselves. Eternal vigilance will be the price of keeping those fellows on a diet that is not burdensome to the payers.

The late news from England indicates that the cabinet and the people are not united in regard to war measures. The premier, Aquith, is ill. Attorney General Carson has resigned and may go before the people and urge the election of a new cabinet. Meantime the slaughter goes on, and it is small wonder that the people are growing weary of the war burden, not only the English, but the people of all the warring nations.

The reports from over the state indicate that the corn crop will be the largest ever grown in the state, says a note from agricultural headquarters, but all the same if we had 10,000 bushels of sound corn this year we would not be in a hurry to market it on the strength of this report. It is yet too early, our farmer friends tell us, to say what the crop will be in sound corn. We are always glad to get a good report, of which a few are coming.

The jingo press appears to be trying to commit the administration to an extravagant policy of preparedness for something that is not at all likely to happen if we mind our own business—but as we read it, we fail to see that President Wilson is committing himself to any great war plan policy. We have been spending plenty for the army and navy—too much for what we have been getting in return, and do not see why it should be increased. We have kept out of war in these troublous times, and can continue to do so.

Henry C. Erdahl, President

Those pioneers who changed the musket for the breaking plowshare after Appomatax and came some hundreds of miles ahead of the railroads and civilization and made these western states what they are have little fear of Germany, Japan, England, Russia or any other foreign country, says the Creighton Liberal. Their greatest alarm is the ease of which our Schwabs, Garys, DuPonts and others of the same kidney get the leading middlemen and capitalists to fall for the farmers graft. Born within a few miles of Mr. Schwab's Bethlehem plant we noted two years ago that many of the chimneys were cold and the Wall street rating of the property was 5 millions of dollars, without building any new factories, will go a long way towards corrupting the publicity agencies in this country. The fact that it costs forty-six per cent of the price received to distribute the farmers product is a graver issue for the men who produce Nebraska's wealth than any fear for bankrupt foreign nations, and the Nebraska congressman who expects to see Pennsylvania Avenue every day had better get that conviction into his system.

Now is none too early for the farmers to select their seed corn, in fact, it was none too early two weeks ago, and the editor thought of saying so. Then he took another thought that perhaps our farmer friends had thought it all out during the rainy days and had gone out and gathered in the ears. In fact some of them did do so, and have told of it, and we are glad we do not have to lay awake nights and tell the Wayne county farmers when to harvest their pumpkins and corn. But we are glad of a chance to pass the good work of one farmer on to the next if we can, and we believe that it frequently helps to have a hint of some of the good things your neighbor has done. That neighbor may be in another state, and we may get the hint from something he has told his newspaper man. A lot of such things now travel much faster than they did 40 years ago, when the telephone was not known in the country, and the newspaper was not aided by a lot of city fellows who run farm papers and investigate in state experiment stations and send the printed story to the country editor. But if you have not done so, go out and get in the best corn you can find and care for it for seed.

To illustrate—the ink on the proof of this story was not dry before the editor was told that Mr. Nela Orcutt, who is a careful observer of crop conditions and who owns a farm or two and always looks to the seed which his tenants plant, is now storing seed for his farms for next spring. He had learned that the cob on such a year as this carries a vast amount of water, enough to kill the germ should it freeze hard with the water there. So he is taking the precaution to bore the pith out of each cob. He finds that in most of the ears so treated the water will follow the bit out when the hole is completed. It is but a small job to arrange a device to hold the ear and make the hole, and it might pay others to try the plan, for it is predicted by some that seed corn (that will grow) will be both scarce and high next planting time.

State Normal Notes

Miss Elizabeth Brown, a graduate of the Nebraska Normal in 1910, is now a teacher in the Lincoln public schools.

Our football team will meet Trinity college next Saturday afternoon on the home field. A good game is expected.

Mrs. Fred Shultz and Mrs. Henry Shultz of Stanton were visitors the first of the week, and while here they were the guests of Miss Elsie Ford Piper.

On Thursday, November 4, at 12 o'clock, the annual reunion and luncheon of the Wayne state normal school will be held at the Rome hotel, Omaha.

Friends at the Normal have received announcements of the marriage of Miss Violet C. Woosley to Mr. Samuel Chinn, which occurred at Los Angeles, California, October twelfth.

At a meeting of the faculty held Monday afternoon, President Conn announced that school would be dismissed on Thursday and Friday, November 4 and 5, during the session of the State Teachers' Association.

The football game played against Buena Vista college last Friday afternoon at Storm Lake, Iowa, resulted in a victory for the latter team by a score of 26 to 6. As the result of an injury, Captain R. A. Dawson went out of the game in the second quarter, thus placing the home team at a great disadvantage. Coach Gross and the squad speak very highly of the excellent treatment received from the boys at Storm Lake.

At the present time much interest is being shown in the extension work of the school. A number of teachers are enrolled for courses offered in absentia, the persons enrolled in such work expecting to enter later for resident study and secure a professional life certificate.

Tuesday evening in the auditorium the lecture course for the season was opened by Henry Clark, who gave his popular lecture, "Play Ball." Mr. Clark's inspiring address was well received by a large number of students and a goodly representation of the citizens of the town. At the opening of his lecture he took the occasion to congratulate the committee on having secured Miss Sarah Mildred Willmer, who will appear on the next number of the course. Mr. Clark regards Miss Willmer as one of the best readers of the day, and says that the selection to be given at the Normal, "The Sign of the Cross" is her masterpiece.

President Conn returned Friday from Kearney, where he attended a meeting of the Board of Education. This time was made the occasion for the laying of the corner stone of the new auditorium of the Kearney normal school. Aside from the ceremonies of the corner stone laying, only the regular routine of business received the attention of the board. The question of additional buildings to be erected in the present biennium was passed over for action at a subsequent meeting. The following resolution was adopted:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of the Nebraska State Board of Education, that the normal schools should participate in a federal fund for extension work in vocational and industrial education. We respectfully request that our congressmen support any bill that will have this end in view."

The board adjourned to meet at Chadron on December 7.

Among the Churches of Wayne

Methodist Church

(Rev. A. S. Buell Pastor)

Next Sunday morning the sermon subject will be "The Tree of Life," being the first in a series of sermons on Christian experience. In the evening the subject will be "Jesus the Evangelist" the first in a series on Jesus the Christ. The morning sermons dealing with man's side of redemption and the evening sermons dealing with God's side.

Both series are to be evangelistic with the hope that they will brighten the Christian experience of believers and win souls for our Christ in the regular services. Let us make this the matter of prayer and consecrated effort.

We are glad to report a splendid attendance at Sunday school last Sunday. The Sunday school rally day program, "The Patriotism of Peace" will be given October 31st. The full program will appear next week. The Epworth Leaguers had a pleasant time at their oyster supper last Friday evening. They will soon have another social. Remember the devotional meeting at 6:30 Sunday evening.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary society will meet with Mrs. Dayton at 2:30 Friday afternoon, all ladies are cordially invited to attend. Remember the prayer meeting Wednesday evening at 7:30 each week.

A large class of applicants were received into the church last Sunday morning. Others are to come in next Sunday. That certainly was a splendid audience at the church last Sunday morning. Come again friends. Bring your church letter with you. Others are also invited to come and worship with us. Help us grow.

A splendid gathering of Wayne people from the various churches met to worship with the Baptist people Sunday evening at a farewell service for Bro. B. P. Richardson and family, who goes this week to Hastings to become pastor of the First Baptist church in that city. The well wishes and prayers of a host of friends go with them.

Presbyterian Church

(Rev. S. Xenophon Cross, Pastor)

The Every Member Committee, or United committee of the church, met on Monday evening and effected a permanent organization. A great deal of service is hoped for from this committee. Every organization of the church is represented on the committee. Its expressed mission or function is to arouse the interest and enlist the service of every member of the church. A canvass of the church is already planned for the near future and an attempt will be made to adopt a "Church Year" of activities that will help to direct the energies of the church in the right channels at the right times. The committee will meet again next Monday evening and the church roll will be read and indexed and visiting teams appointed.

At the morning services next Sunday, the sermon theme will be: "Is the Church Losing Ground?" Come to church and stay for Sunday school. Rally Jay spirit must continue. Plan to send the little folks to the Junior meeting at three o'clock. All are invited to the Y. P. S. E. meeting at 6:30. Mr. A. R. Davis has kindly consented to lead this meeting. It will be worth while. The C. E. topic is: "Capturing Politics for God." At 7:30, the evening choir will give a program of special music. You who read this are invited to come and bring a friend. Look on page 91 of the handbook and find the prayer meeting topic for next Wednesday and come and take part in the meeting. Let a reasonable part of your time and powers be given to the church work.

The Ladies Aid society of the Presbyterian church announces another of the social afternoons like those that everybody participating in them enjoyed when they were given every month last winter and spring. This social and tea will be given at the home of Mrs. Wm. H. Morris next Wednesday afternoon. All members and friends of the congregation are invited. Twenty-five cents will be charged for supper. Come, and you will want to come again.—adv.

Baptist Church

Tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Nichols, the prayer circle will hold its regular meeting. The meeting will begin at 2:30, so as not to interfere with the work at the church. Beginning at 5:30 Friday afternoon the ladies will serve a chicken-pie supper and conduct an apron sale.

Sunday morning Prof. Bright of the Normal will speak at the regular service.

The young people will hold their regular service.

There will be no evening preaching service. On the following Sunday, Rev. Gaston of Broken Bow, will preach. It is desired that all the members attend this meeting.

L. S. Winsor came over from his farm between Tilden and Plainview Wednesday and spent the day with Wayne friends, returning this morning. Of the corn condition there he says it is much the same as here, and that they will have lots of soft corn. He compares it to the 1896 season.

DEMAND FOR FATHERS' DAY

Governor Morehead Refuses to Issue Proclamation.

There is what the governor has to say about fathers' day, for which he was asked to issue a proclamation.

"I have some petitions asking me to designate a day to be known as fathers' day. I have a high regard for men who stand for good things morally, intellectually and patriotically, and I do not believe that I underestimate the value of good citizenship, yet I feel that there is such a thing as having too many holidays or special days. I like the citizen who is endeavoring every day in the year to be of benefit to society by helping to raise the standard of citizenship. And I feel that if we try to do some good each day to better the condition of the people, it would be better than to go to the extreme and have days designated for certain purposes. I cannot see wherein any good would come of designating a day called fathers' day, and at the present time I shall issue no proclamation for that purpose."

BOARD BUYS PIPE ORGAN

Vote Money to Equip Kearney School With Musical Feature.

The State Normal board has voted a pipe organ for the chapel at Kearney, to cost from $7,000 to $10,000. The board has made an appeal to Andrew Carnegie to see if he will make a donation toward the instrument.

The board took W. F. Crossley of Kearney, contractor, at his word, and refused to allow him $700 extra for odds and ends in plumbing and heating of a new building at the Kearney normal, erected by him for $37,700, under the verbal agreement that "everything would be included."

Miss Edith A. Lathrop, employed at the state superintendent's office, was elected to the faculty of the Chadron normal school at a salary of $1,455. Miss Finnegan of Waverly, a teacher in the Lincoln schools, was made domestic science assistant at Wayne, at $100 a month. Mr. Brown, temporary instructor at Peru, was made permanent. Mr. Shreeve of Greeley, Colo., was made head of the department of education at Kearney normal.

TWO WOMEN MURDERED

Mrs. John Heelan and Mrs. Layport of Arabia Victims of Attack.

Mrs. Nell Heelan, wife of a rancher at Arabia, Neb., was one of the victims in a horrible double murder at the Heelan ranch house near Arabia. The other victim was Mrs. Anna Layport, a neighbor.

Twelve hours after the crime, the murderer, known as "W. C." and believed to be William Criderman, a 17-year-old employe, was caught near Wood Lake by Sheriff Rossiter of Cherry county, and a complete confession obtained.

The young fiend, after murdering both women, poured kerosene all over the house and set it afire. He finally admitted that he had attempted assault upon Mrs. Heelan, and falling, murdered both women who were unarmed, and alone in the house.

LOOK INTO PIPE LINE PROJECT

Commission to Look Into Feasibility of Pipe Line.

Governor Morehead has named a commission to investigate the feasibility of a $5,600,000 pipe line to convey oil from Casper, Wyo., to Omaha. The commission will serve without expense to the state.

Those named are Senator Bedford of Omaha, who is boosting the project; John L. McCague of Omaha, State Engineer Johnson, Professor Stout of the University of Nebraska, and George W. Woltz of Fremont. The commission was suggested by a resolution passed in the 1915 legislature.

The line would be 600 miles long and two feet in diameter and would follow the line of the Platte river from the Casper oil fields to Omaha. Tap stations would be established along the way.

Lincoln Drug Firm Is Fined.

For selling Hall's catharrh cure and calling it a "cure" the Meler Drug company of Lincoln has been fined $50 and costs on a complaint of the state pure food department charging misbranding. The company appealed.

The case was tried in the justice court. The prosecution attempted to show that the "cure" did not entirely remove the cause of the disease. The defendant, represented by Harry Thompson of Washington, chief counsel for the Proprietary association, composed of 200 companies, maintained that the medicine was sold under a registered trademark "Hall's Catharrh Cure," and hence the company has a right to use it.

Union Stock Yards, South Omaha, Oct. 19.—Cattle receipts yesterday totaled 11,700 head. To all intents and purposes it was a steady market for corn fed beefs, as there was very little fed stock in the yards, fully 95 per cent being western grassers. Both dressed beef men and feeder buyers were out after western cattle and competition was brisk for desirable stock of all kinds. Prices looked anywhere from strong to a dime better than the latter part of last week, and business was tolerably active at the advance all day. Cows and heifers also sold to a better advantage. The demand for stock cattle and feeding steers was very keen and prices anywhere from a dime to a quarter better than last Thursday.

Cattle quotations: Prime beefs, $9.75@10.00; good to choice beefs, $9.00@9.75; fair to good beefs, $8.30@8.85; common to fair beefs, $6.75@8.25; good to choice yearlings, $9.00@9.75; fair to good yearlings, $8.50@9.00; common to fair yearlings, $6.50@8.00; prime grass beefs, $8.00@8.50; good to choice grass steers, $7.20@7.80; fair to good grass steers, $6.60@7.15; common to fair steers, $5.50@6.50; good to choice grass heifers, $8.00@7.00; good to choice grass cows, $5.75@6.25; fair to good cows, $5.00@5.65; canners and cutters, $3.75@4.75; veal calves, $7.00@10.00; bulls, stags, etc., $4.25@6.25; prime feeder steers, $8.00@8.50; good to choice feeders, $7.40@8.00; fair to good feeders, $6.60@7.30; common to fair feed-

Some 3,800 hogs arrived yesterday. The market was fairly active with prices nearly a nickel higher than last Saturday. Bulk of the supply moved at $8.30@8.40, and tops reached $8.45.

Sheep and lamb receipts totaled 34,500 head. The market for fat lambs was a little slow, but prices were quoted as strong to 10@15c higher than last Friday, or just about steady with a week ago yesterday. Bulk of the offerings moved at $8.50@8.65. Feeding lambs were fully steady. A good share of the desirable stuff moved at $8.25@8.40, and some choice ones up to $8.50. Feeding ewes sold as high as $5.40. Aged sheep were in good supply and sold at prices that were strong to possibly a little higher. Choice yearlings reached $7.00, and best ewes went at $6.15.

A View of The Northwest

By Robert Stambaugh
 We left Wayne August 27 and arrived in St. Paul in the evening. We left over the Northern Pacific for Fargo, North Dakota, where we arrived at 6:00 a. m. Saturday we rode through the Red river valley till about 4 in the afternoon and saw thousands of acres of small grain that had not been cut. We saw an engine pulling three binders, and thousands upon thousands of acres which had been cut and shocked, the thickest we had ever seen, hundreds of new threshing machines at different towns ready to go out to work and lots of old ones at work. We also came to the bad lands and where Teddy ran a ranch. It surely was a rough country. We arrived in Mirbeau, Montana, about 5:00 p. m. and stayed with our cousins till Monday evening. We had not seen them for thirty-one years, but had a fine visit with them. They live about three miles from town and have about 2,700 acres in the farm which is leased for $750. They farm nearly three eighths and the rest in pasture and hay land. We came to the Rocky mountains about mid-night and rode all day Tuesday and went through a few valleys of golden grain and hay stack. Saw many sheep grazing. Came to the state line of Washington about 7:00 p. m. Went through the Yakima valley about two o'clock that night. It is one of the most fertile valleys in the northwest for fruit, grain and hay. We came to the Cascade mountains about daylight Wednesday morning. They seem higher than the Rockies on the Northern Pacific road but both are high enough, had two engines pulling and one pushing part of the time over the mountains, and went through a tunnel two miles long. We arrived in Tacoma about 11:00 a. m. Wednesday and a nephew met us at the depot. The city has a population of about 110,000 and is a nice clean place, but was told they have over 100 saloons, but the first of January they will be a thing of the past in Washington and Oregon; and hope the whole United States will be the same soon. Tacoma is a great lumber center, much manufacturing is going on. One of the Wayne farmer boys is there in undertaking business, his partner's name is Buckley and his is King. They have the largest establishment in the city. There is a lot of fishing on the sound, the water being from 40 to 120 feet deep at Tacoma. There are several parks in the city, park Defiance being the largest and finest with 639 acres in it, with all kinds of trees, some six feet through and most all kinds of flowers and many kind of animals. Wright park has 32 acres with 32 kinds of trees and shrubbery. There are two high school buildings, one cost about $750,000, the last one was finished about a year ago and cost about $500,000, and about 25 grade schools. Washington is one of the leading states for schools and has a large Indian school. Has about fifty different churches and is a great railroad center. We saw Mount Tacoma twice. The first time it looked like a large thunder head, being between fifty and sixty miles from Tacoma and looked about fifteen. It is over 14,000 feet above the sea level and is a fine sight. It is covered with ice and snow the year round. The Japs farm truck patches. We were told some pay as high as $50 an acre and get as high as $300 an acre trucking it. The sound makes Tacoma a great boat center for the Pacific. I was told that one saw mill turns out about 250,000 feet of lumber every twenty-four hours. There are many large steamers but did not see any war vessels, but are there sometimes. Two large passenger steamers run to Seattle and back every two hours, 35 miles each way, and fare is 50c round trip. We were sight seeing in Seattle one day when the streets were crowded during the middle of the day as if there was a large show in the city. They told us it is that way every day. The streets are very narrow and hard to get through on account of the street cars and autos. There are some large buildings, one being 42 stories high. There seems to be more push in Seattle than in Tacoma; the population of Seattle is 250,000. There is one store building in Tacoma rents for over $300 a month. We visited with our brother and family in Tacoma three weeks and had a fine time with them. We left for home September 21 via Portland, Oregon, and went along the sound for about 25 miles from Tacoma and the rest of the way was quite swampy. We left there at midnight and ran along the foot of the Cascade mountains most of the way to Mount Hood. We took the Oregon Short Line from Portland to Salt Lake City. Struck lots of sage brush sights after daylight Wednesday morning until about 10:00 a. m. It looked like a desert, then we came to the bitter root mountains and for about three hours about all we saw was roots growing over the rocks. Most all the afternoon we went through a valley of grain and hay and orchards. About supper time we came to the Idaho line and saw lots of fertile land. Got to Wampa, Idaho, about 9:00 p. m. where they were holding a fruit fair that week and everyone on the train was invited to get off and given a small paper sack of fruit that was grown there. We arrived in Salt Lake City at 10:15 a. m. and were there seven hours sight seeing. Five of us went in an auto bus and saw much of the city. We were in the Mormon tabernacle and heard the recital on the largest pipe organ in the world. It was fine. There is not a nail in this building, wooden pins were used in place of nails. It is a fine building and will seat about 10,000 and room for the choir of about 200 persons. Salt Lake City is a beautiful city, having a population of about 95,000 they claim, 60 per cent Mormons, have fine buildings, just finishing state capitol building, have wide streets, was the finest city we visited while away. We left over the Denver Rio Grande and thus got to see most all the scenery in daylight, past the Holy cross put on a large rock by Brigham Young in the early fifties. Soon after we left Salt Lake City we went through the Castle gate. We saw thousands of tons of hay through Nebraska and hundreds of acres of sugar beets. We did not see much corn till we got on this side of Omaha. We arrived home Sunday evening, September 26. We traveled just about 4,700 miles by railroad on our trip and had a fine time but Wayne, Nebraska, is good enough for us. Mrs. Frank Severance from Sioux City was here Saturday and Sunday visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Stanley Woodworth.

Paralysis

Is there a part of your body that is paralyzed? Do you lose hope and think you will never again regain the full use of that part?

When the vertebra (B) gets wrenched out of place as shown in illustration it pinches the nerves that supply the motive force which results in paralysis.

Rubbing, serums and electric treatments will not restore the nerve control. The pressure on the nerve must be relieved by chiropractic adjustments.

Come up to my office and let me prove to you why the spine is the seat of all diseases.

Do you think you are obliged to spend the rest of your life paralyzed? This new science opens a new road to health.

The American Telephone

The United States has less than 6% of the world's population, yet it has more than 64% of all the world's telephones. The five states of Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota and the Dakotas have more telephones than all Great Britain.

The City of New York has more telephones than all of France and Spain combined. Chicago has more telephones than all of Austria.

The Cost of Operating

The telephone companies in this country pay double the wages for the same kind of work that is paid in Europe, and telephone equipment costs a great deal more here.

Fully half of the European telephone exchanges are closed at night and on Sundays and holidays. It is the general rule in this country to give all-night and all-day Sunday telephone service.

When the efficiency of the service and the cost of producing it is considered, American local and long distance telephone rates are by far the lowest in the world.

Better An Eyeglass Than A Glass Eye

Putting it off "till tomorrow" is neither wisdom nor economy where the safety of your eyes is concerned. Little eye troubles lead to big ones, usually, unless steps to correct them are taken.

By means of scientific instruments, we can tell you whether glasses will do much or little for you. Even if you do not need glasses our assurance is worth vastly more than the time required to be examined.

Why not be sure that your eyesight is safe.

Mr. and Mrs. Wat Williams, who have been visiting among their friends here and at Carroll, left Wednesday for Sioux City, and after a short stay there will return to their home in Minnesota. Mrs. Williams says that they may elect to spend the winter months in California. If you want to make a newspaper man happy, just suggest to him that he should run something in his paper urging people to trade in this good town, and thus help the place all he can. Such talk from a man who does not spend fifty cents a week on an average the year round in all kinds of advertising, for himself or the town, puts the editor who never lets a copy of the paper go out that does not boost the town, county and state, wondering if the fellow thinks it is the duty of the paper to do all the boosting at his own expense. If the newspapers of Nebraska were as dead as a lot of the people who think they are doing business, the buffalo grass would grow in the streets of many a town.

Misses Sarah J. Killen of the college, Margaret Killian of the high school, and Pearl Sewell, county superintendent, were drafted as judges of the fine arts and domestic science exhibit at the Carroll exhibit last Thursday. The exhibit was fine, and complete. Besides needle work of this generation there were on exhibition linen that was spun and wove more than 100 years ago, and also some of the kitchen utensils that were in use more than a century before this meeting. Another reader who was present tells us that the exhibit of stock could hardly be excelled. Horse buyers who were present remarked as to the real quality shown by the horses on exhibit and those who brought people to see the show.

Henry Kinsel, a former banker of Northeast Nebraska but now resident of Long Beach, and P. H. Kohl from Wayne, Nebraska, gave the Journal man a surprise visit and enjoyable afternoon last Thursday. The gentlemen are heavily interested in property in Oregon, which called Mr. Kohl west. The latter is one of the shrewdest politicians of his state and the writer "took orders" from him for many years in electing democrats to office where the party was up against apparently insurmountable odds. For years he has been a member of the state senate and now the more prominently mentioned democratic candidate for governor. The Journal is reciting the above for the reason that Mr. Kohl, aside from his financial and political prowess, is owner of a large incubator factory at Wayne and he was deeply impressed with the magnitude of Wilmington's harbor projects and future possibilities of the city. He promised to come back—absolutely certain he was coming to California to make his home here, in a few years—and requested to be kept posted as to what was doing, with a view of putting in a factory at this place.—Wilmington (Cal.) Journal.

Cole Koser, who came over from South Sioux City the first of the week and stopped at Wayne while on his way to look after his ranch near Harrison, stopped again this morning and is spending the day with Wayne friends. He is acting as a sort of an immigrant agent for his home town, and tells a pleasing story of the city and citizens. They have there a sort of department store (Second hand) where the owner keeps everything in stock from a cambric needle to a Missouri river steamboat. He is one of the sort of fellows who thinks barbers are not needed and his wavy hair hangs in ringlets down his back, and his whiskers wave over his manly bosom. Politically, he adheres to the doctrines of socialism, but may not practice them at all times. He also offers a few bargains in real estate to the "tenderfeet" like Cole, who look susceptible, and as if they had money that could be easily separated from them. Of some of the other citizens his account is flattering. They wear their pants tucked into the top of their "butes" and carry their hands in their pockets except when eating or taking a chew of "Battleax." Mr. K. really was delighted to meet his friends here and wanted to stay long enough to have a game of horseshoes, for it is impossible for him to get those fellows there to waste time on such sport. The contrast between this place and that, as pictured by our former citizen, is such that we confidently expect to see him move back to the good town of Wayne.

The World Wide War Trust

From Remarks of Clyde H. Tavenner

For more definite evidence of the tremendous syndication and wide sympathies of armor-plate patriotism, an examination of the Harvey United Steel Co., of London, is instructive and entertaining.

The Harvey United Steel Co. (see British Stock Exchange Yearbook, 1912, p.1211.) was registered July 16, 1901, to amalgamate or control four other companies holding the rights of the Harvey patents for treating steel, including the Harvey Steel Co., of Great Britain (Ltd.), and the Harvey Continental Steel Co. (Ltd.)

They were also licensors for the Krupp and Charpy processes of hardening armor plate.

All of the peace societies in the world have not been able in a century of labor to effect such an international alliance for peace as the Harvey Co., in a few months, succeeded in effecting a world wide organization for preparation for war.

Although paying handsome dividends, it is claimed that this company has been voluntarily wound up during the last year, after the decisions of two extraordinary general meetings held on July 15 and 31, 1912, but it is very difficult to feel sure that this international association of patriots for profit is really dead and that it has not been resurrected in some less discoverable form.

These are the firms which, banded together, were known as the Harvey Steel Co.:

Great Britain

Vickers, (Ltd.), Albert Vickers, chairman of the great English war trafficking firm that bears his name, not only held 2,697 shares in the Harvey Steel Co., but was its managing director, and was one of the two persons intrusted with its alleged winding up.

Wm. Beardmore & Co. (Ltd.), Wm. Beardmore, chairman of this company was a director of the Harvey Co.

W. G. Armstrong, Whitworth & Co. (Ltd.) J. M. Falkner, a director of this firm, was also on the board of the Harvey Co.

John Brown & Co. (Ltd.), the Coventry Ordnance Co. (Ltd.), and Thos. Firth & Co. (Ltd.) were all represented by C. E. Ellis, with a holding of 7,438 shares.

The Fairfield Shipbuilding Co. (Ltd.), and Messrs. Cammell, Laird & Co. (Ltd.) are, of course, largely interested in the Coventry Ordnance Co. (Ltd.), and are both in alliance with John Brown & Co. (Ltd.), with the last of whom are connected also the Projectile Co. (Ltd.), Messrs. Palmer's Shipbuilding & Iron Co., and the Hadfield Foundry Co. (Ltd.)

United States

The Bethlehem Steel Co. (Ltd.) held 4,301 shares in the Harvey Co. With the Bethlehem Co. was at this time joined Harlan & Hollingsworth, of Wilmington; United Iron Works of San Francisco; and Samuel L. Moore & Son, at Elizabeth. Mr. Schwab, the power behind the Bethlehem corporation, had also a $10,000,000 sub-contract for armor and gun mountings of two Argentine dreadnaughts building by the Fore River Shipbuilding Co., which he has acquired, and by the New York Shipbuilding Co.

France

Schneider & Co. held 9,862 shares in the Harvey Co., while LaCie des Forges et Acieries de la Marie et d'Homecourt held another 150. The Harvey Steel Co. had four French directors, two of whom held 2,000 shares each.

Italy

Societa degli Alti Forni Fondiere ed Acciaiere di Terni held 8,000 shares and was represented by Raffaele Bottini. This firm is in alliance with Vickers (Ltd.) as Vickers-Terni, with a gigantic arsenal, and Vickers are also allied with Messrs. Odero and Messrs. Orlando.

Messrs. Armstrong, Whitworth & Co., hold the shares of Armstrong-Pozzuoli (Ltd.) whose arsenal is the "chief supply of war material to the Italian navy," and Ansaldo-Armstrong & Co. (Ltd.), of Genoa, is in the same group.

Germany

Actien Gesellschaft der Dillinger Huttwerke. In alliance with the patriot firms of England and France this company held no fewer than 2,731 shares, and was represented on the board by Fritz Sofftel, of Dillingen, Saad, Germany.

Friederich Krupp, of the famous Krupp factories, held 4,731 shares, and was represented by Heinrich Vielhaber and Emil Ehrensberger. Krupps are related to the Skoda Co., of Austria; Schneider & Co., who make the Creusot gun, have interests in Russia, while the Dillinger firm is owned by Deutsche Waffen & Munitions Fabrik, which has holdings in Belgium and in the Mauser Co., in addition to its huge munition factory in Germany.

What Hinders Profit in Dairying

The other day an Iowa friend addressed us the above question and asked us to write him our answer. We did so and here it is:

The main thing that hinders profit in dairy farming is poor cows. By that we mean the keeping a lot of cows which do not pay any profit on their keep. If the average cow farmer could be induced to enter upon a vigorous campaign against himself and his lack of good cow sense, as well the poor cows that he insists upon keeping year after year, there would be a revolution in this cow business. Put the question any way you please and it comes out the same:

1. We never yet saw a herd of cows of high average quality that did not pay a profit. Did you?

2. We never yet saw a herd of low producing cows, no matter what their breed, that paid a profit. Did you?

3. We never yet saw a dairy farmer who resolutely set to work to cull out and grade up his herd but that made money by it. Did you?

4. We never yet saw a dairy farmer who let things run along in a loose, unsystematic manner; who would do nothing to bring up the standard of production of his herd; who made any money in dairying. Did you?

Put these questions together; apply them to the situation as it exists on your farm and about you.

Deduce from them what you should do to raise the standard of profit and you will find yourself doing lots of things that help that are not mentioned here. Start the farmer to looking at the question of profit from the right standpoint and he must be a dull man who can not then improve his condition.—Hoard's Dairyman.

An Appalling Condition

Editor Commoner:

Would it be impertinent now when the silver issue of 1896 has been so long settled (?) to rise up and ask a question? I don't really wish to disturb the sweet dreams of those gold standard monumentalists who have always been so contemptuously doubtful of other people's views, but there's one thing—one fact—that is bothering me. Facts are stubborn sometimes. That fact is that gold is fluctuating. Horrors! The world must indeed be upside down! The British pound sterling which our monumentalists said would be less likely to fluctuate than the pole star itself, has slumped!

Would it be wicked to call our gold standard friends' attention to it? They surely can't call us "ag'in the gov'ment" as they used to do, for two reasons: First, the government is democratic now; and, second, because they want us to be "ag'in the gov'ment" for they are against it themselves. They might call us un-neutral, but for the fact that good old gold standard marks have suffered the same kind of a slump.

Really, my dear editor, I can not see anything reasonable in calling attention to it now, unless indeed it might possibly detract from our program of preparedness for war. If you think it does that, don't print it, Mr. Editor. If not however, I'd kind of like to see it in print. J. M. TADLOCK.

Agricultural Meetings Begin

The farmers' institutes and agricultural short courses are with us again. About 100 farmers' institutes have been scheduled and a larger number of short courses or extension schools have been booked than ever before. The farmers' institutes have been cut to one-day sessions this season, owing to lack of money for this purpose. The increased number of extension schools has been made possible by the use of federal funds which may not be used for farmers' institutes. Towns having short courses are allowed to choose subjects from any three of the departments of the college of agriculture. The following towns have arranged for such week's courses in agriculture: Sargent, Minden, Springfield, Gresham, Laurel, Papillion, Swanton, Wisner, Wood River, Allen, and Stromsburg. The speakers are furnished through the Agricultural Extension service, college of agriculture.

Why Boys Leave the Farm

Some light as to the reason why the boy leaves the farm may be found in the fact that the farm does not offer for him a fair opportunity. A survey shows that 79 per cent of the boys on small farms leave home, while only 16 per cent of those on larger farms leave. As a matter of fact, the 16 per cent is believed by many to be no larger a number than the percentage of boys that drift from the village to the city for similar reasons, apparent lack of opportunity, says the college of agriculture.

Ergot is Prevalent

Wild rye and western wheat grass this year show a large percentage of ergot which appears as dark purple spikes. The action of ergot on live stock is to contract the blood vessels so that those farthest from the heart are first affected. If the feeding is long continued, the feet get tender at the coronet and in some cases slough off. Cold weather aggravates this condition. As soon as the first symptoms are noticed, change to feed free from ergot says the professor.

FIGHTING THE CHINCH BUG.

Checking an Advance of Bugs in Wheat or Corn Field.
[Prepared by the United States department of agriculture.]

The seriousness of the devastations of the chinch bug varies greatly from year to year, chiefly on account of weather conditions. In some years the inroads made upon the wheat and corn crops have been very serious. If the fight against the pest is started late in winter or very early spring the burning of waste vegetation is recommended by the United States department of agriculture as the most satisfactory control. If the elimination of the chinch bug is delayed until harvest time some form of barrier is practical. It is said indeed that if it were not for an occasional season of heavy rains at the right time the chinch bug would make it altogether unprofitable to raise grain year after year on the same areas. Drenching rains during the hatching season always prove fatal to the young, and such wet periods are sufficiently frequent to keep the numbers of the pests within bounds. The two forms of the chinch bug are known respectively as the long winged and the short winged. The short winged form occurs along the seacoast and inland along the lower lakes to northern Illinois. The long winged form is found all over the country east of the Rocky mountains and is especially abundant in the middle west, the section which suffers the most from the chinch bug. The long winged chinch bug has two generations a year, while it is doubtful whether the short wing has one or two. The adult insects pass the winter under clumps of broomsedge, matted grass, leaves or in fact any convenient form of waste vegetation, from which they emerge in the spring to deposit their eggs in nearby grain fields. When the young hatch from the eggs they cluster upon the plants and begin at once to feed upon the juices. Shortly after midsummer this first generation have become adults and deposit their eggs in turn. When these eggs are hatched the young fasten on corn, millet, Kafir and similar crops. To control the pest, therefore, the department of agriculture recommends in the first place the cleaning up of all fence rows and roadsides and the burning during winter of grass and rubbish about the farm. This not only destroys large numbers of the bugs, but deprives them of shelter through the winter, so that where the work is thoroughly done comparatively few will survive to the breeding season. In the fall or spring green or wet grass will shelter a certain proportion of the bugs from the fire, so it is important that the burning be done in the early winter. Where this precaution has been neglected or where the negligence of a neighbor has exposed a farmer to loss through no fault of his own, there may be about midsummer a great migration of the bugs from the wheat to the corn field. This presents another favorable opportunity to destroy the pests. Various kinds of barriers are in use to turn the invading army aside. One of the most satisfactory of these is said to be the coal tar line supplemented with post holes. The bugs will not cross the coal tar and, moving along the line of the barrier, fall or are crowded by other bugs into the post holes, where they can be killed at will. As the bugs mass along the line of coal tar they present an appearance not unlike a reddish brown stream running into the post holes. This method has been found thoroughly practical. It is important, however, especially in dusty weather, to keep the coal tar line fresh, for as soon as it is covered with dirt the bugs can pass over it without difficulty. If coal tar is not available petroleum or road oil may be substituted. Another method is to plow a furrow around the field to be protected with a side so steep that the bugs cannot crawl out of it. In the case of showery weather, when the sides of the furrow cannot be kept loose and dry, the bottom can be cleaned out with a shovel, making the sides more perpendicular and the bottom smoother. The bugs will then follow along the bottom instead of trying to climb out of the furrow, and if holes are dug at intervals of thirty or forty feet the pests will fall into them and can then be killed by kerosene. The coal tar line is probably preferable to the furrow except in cases of exceptionally dry, windy weather.

Truth and Other Things

Some of my good friends in democratic officialdom in Nebraska (temporarily hypnotized by corporation influences), issued a bull of excommunication against me last fall, because I declared in favor of equal suffrage, and because I would not support a stock-yards candidate for governor. But now that President Wilson has adopted my views on the equal suffrage question, I am beginning to feel as immune from the javelins of these servants of the corporation hypnotizers as a vaccinated Poland-China from the cholera germ. It is indeed comforting to me in these hours to feel and to know that the corporation janizaries in official place in the Nebraska democratic organizations dare not now fire at me without danger of inflicting a wound upon our dear president, who has not only announced his advocacy of equal suffrage, but also undying hostility to the war-trust corporations, which have been robbing the American people with the same manner of combinat'on so effectively worked by the stockyards trust on Nebraska farmers. However, I would not desire that any of my good friends now under obedience to the political end of the stockyards trust, the old-line insurance trust, or the reviving grain trust, shall regard me as trying to shield myself behind the strong bulwark erected by our good president. I fear no foe, no matter if he be clad in stockyards armor an inch thick, and carry a ten-foot lance under the banner of the Omaha brewer's political organization. Nor am I now saying that my arguments in favor of equal suffrage converted President Wilson, nor that my declaration of freedom from stockyards control impelled him to issue his own declaration of freedom from war-trust domination. I simply say that I am glad that our good president has thrown the great weight of his influence in favor of my own equal suffrage views and my own views touching the arrogant demands of the criminal corporations for the privilege of dominating the affairs of state and nation. Isn't this a beautiful Nebraska morning? — Edgar Howard.

Cedar County's Money Muddle

There has been some reckless work done in Cedar county, if we read the record right. Warrants amounting to more than $45,000 are said by Judge Graves while presiding at Pender, to have been illegally issued, and the action of the treasurer in refusing to pay them is sustained. The issuing of warrants on any county fund in excess of 85 per cent of the tax levy is illegal. The legal warrants may be returned to the county clerk to have the amount of the levy and the sum drawn against it before they will be paid. The claims for which illegal warrants are held will again have to be passed upon and new warrants issued if claims are just and the condition of the treasury will permit. It is not charged that there was any criminal offense in the matter but certainly there was almost criminal carelessness in the matter.

A Wayne young man who called upon a girl for the evening and after arriving could not find words to say. After sitting for an hour he was given a pencil and paper and these directions: Draw nine cyphers, draw a line down from the right hand side of the first; up from the right hand side of the 4th; down from the right hand side of the 5th cypher; up from the right hand side of the 7th and down from the same side of the 8th cypher. What did she tell him?

Plant Wheat Thicker

When the seeding of winter wheat is much delayed beyond the normal time for seeding this crop, it is desirable to plant at a somewhat thicker rate, according to the department of experimental agronomy, university farm. This will make up for the reduced standing common with the late planted wheat. Late planted wheat is also more subject to winterkilling, and thicker planting overcomes this to some extent.

Employees as Stockholders

There are about 150,000 employees in the Bell Telephone System. More than 30,000 employees, or practically one in five, are stockholders.

Thousands of girl operators, linemen and clerks have subscribed for stock under an easy payment plan recently adopted by the Company.

Including employees, there are nearly 100,000 stockholders in the Bell Telephone System, or one to every thousand persons in the United States.

Who the Shareholders Are

In many cases stock subscribed for by employees is being paid for a little each month. The plan of buying stock this way aids employees to save their money as well as to become part owners of the Company for which they work.

Aside from employees, the majority of stockholders in the Bell System are women.

Yale and Harvard, and other colleges and public institutions, have part of their endowment funds invested in Bell Telephone stock.

Assistant in Science Department

At a meeting of the Board of Education held at Kearney recently, Miss Agnes Finigan of Havelock, Nebraska, was elected assistant in the department of science. She will assist in biology, chemistry and domestic science.

Miss Finigan is a graduate of the University of Nebraska, and her preparation includes summer work in the University of Chicago. She has had a number of years of successful experience as teacher in the public schools of Nebraska, two of which were spent in the grades at Lincoln. Miss Finigan began her work at the Normal Monday morning.

Geo. Fortner is carrying the stub end of his little finger in a sling for a few days. When they built their fine new home they had built therein a sort of dumb-waiter affair which is intended to convey whatever is left over from dinner down into the depths below the bottom of the cellar and there be kept cool without having to contract any ice bill, a very nice thing they say. In some manner this was not properly fastened at the top, or the fastening came loose and the shelf took a shoot to the depths below and Mr. F. had carelessly laid his hand in such shape at the top of the shaft as to have this finger sticking over the shelves. He is taking good care of what is remaining of the finger and is careful not to get it in danger of another clipping. He is able to be about now.

GET READY THE SILO.

It will save time if the silo and machinery are all ready before they have to be used. All silos should be cleaned thoroughly and any leaks or weak places repaired. A thin cement wash can be applied to stone, brick, or concrete walls. Wood silos may be painted with boiled linseed oil or hot creosote. One gallon of the latter will cover 200 square feet of surface, two coats. The creosote should be heated to just under the boiling point, but care must be taken to prevent its boiling over into the fire. A large kettle like those used in making soft soap is suitable for heating and the creosote may be applied with a brush the same as in painting, allowing the first to dry before the second is put on.

FALL AND SPRING PLOWING.

August and September Rains Often Make Autumn Plowing Advisable. [Prepared by United States Department of Agriculture.]

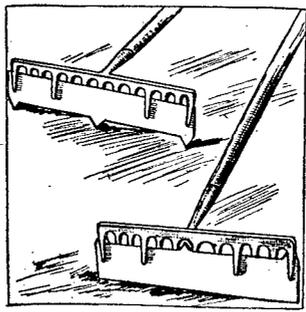

The average yields of spring crops, such as wheat, oats and corn, in the great plains area from spring and from fall plowing show that the blind following of a rule prescribing any particular time of plowing might cause a reduction as often as it does an increase in the yields. The great variation in the time and amount of precipitation in this region must be constantly kept in mind when considering the time of plowing. No dependence can be placed on a heavy precipitation in August and September, yet it frequently occurs. As moisture is considered the most important factor in crop production in the great plains area, its conservation is the primary object in cultivation.

Stubble, weeds and uneven ground are common means of retaining snow and holding a large part of the winter precipitation. In deciding when a field should be plowed, the question of whether a greater amount of moisture will be accumulated by holding the snow that falls than will be dissipated by the growth of weeds is paramount. It must be decided by the man on the ground. In answering this question several factors must be considered—namely, the amount of moisture already in the soil that may be lost through weed growth, the probable time before the weeds will be killed by frost, the possibility of increasing the water in storage in the soil by holding the snow that may come, the danger of soil blowing if the stubble and weeds are removed and the distribution of farm labor.

In deciding the time to plow, the advantages and disadvantages of both spring plowing and fall plowing must be taken into consideration. Heavy rains in August indicate that fall plowing should be done, as the gain of moisture during the winter by the stubble land probably would not equal the loss of moisture taken by the weeds in the fall. If only light rains occur, however, the moisture in the soil produced by these rains probably would be more than offset by the greater quantity of snow held by the stubble during the winter and the reduction of the weeds in the crop. Spring plowing would then be better. The availability of labor in the fall will influence the amount of plowing done, but a greater effort should be made to do the plowing if there is heavy precipitation than if the rainfall is light. The only advantage in late fall plowing is that the amount of spring labor in preparing the seed bed is reduced.

Seed Row Drills.

A good way to make drills or seed rows of uniform width and depth is to have an attachment for the garden rake as shown in the sketch, writes Bert W. Verne of San Diego, Cal., in Popular Mechanics. The device consists of a piece of tin or sheet metal having V shaped projections on one edge of the width of the rows. The other edge of the metal is inserted between the teeth on the rake. Thus it can be easily drawn over the garden bed to mark the rows. After the seed has been planted reverse the tin and use it as a hoe for filling the row.

Farming in Denmark.

Denmark has been termed the paradise of the small proprietor. Nearly two-thirds of her population make a living, and a good living, from the land, one-half of the agriculturists being their own masters. The secret of success has lain in technical education and co-operation. Every farmer, big or little, belongs to one of the great co-operative associations, which guide him in the care of the land and cattle and dispose of his produce to the best advantage without the needless waste of competition. The result of the system has been to make Denmark one of the richest countries in Europe in proportion to her size.

Beauty of Victoria Falls.

The Victoria falls, the native name for which is Most-oa-Tounya, or the Thunder Sounding Smoke, have rightly been called the most beautiful gem in the whole of the earth's scenery. No pen picture or photograph can give the faintest idea of the marvellous grandeur and beauty of the scene. The majesty and mystery of the gigantic gorges, the foaming torrents, the wonderful atmospheric effects—all come upon one with a force and power as though nothing had ever before been read or heard in connection with them. The falls by moonlight are a truly fascinating spectacle. The roaring clouds of spray, the somber rain forest, the stream of the Zambesi shimmering far above the trembling earth, the lunar rainbow, combine to make an immitable picture.

Portugal.

Five hundred years ago, the span of a few generations, Portugal was the greatest maritime power, preceding Great Britain in that eminence. The Portuguese first explored the two coasts of Africa. The Cape of Good Hope was doubled by Bartholomeo Diaz in 1486. Vasco da Gama reached India, via Cape of Good Hope, eleven years later. In 1500 King Emanuel ascended the throne of Portugal and assumed the title of "lord of the conquest, navigation and commerce of India, Ethiopia, Arabia and Persia." In that year the Portuguese made settlements in Brazil. History is a catalogue of dreams. The dream of empire is nearly the oldest one. Its star is very tickle.

The Poet's Peacock.

Dante Gabriel Rossetti had an irresistible tendency to purchase rare and beautiful birds and beasts that appealed to his poetic or artistic fancy. Eilen Terry tells in "The Story of My Life" of his once buying an exquisite white peacock, which very soon after its arrival at his home disappeared under the sofa. In vain did Rossetti "shoo" it out. It refused to budge. This went on for days. "The lovely creature won't respond to me," said Rossetti to a friend. The friend dragged out the bird. "No wonder," said he; "it's dead!"
