CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Krempe Observed the 50th Anniversary of their Marriage at their Wayne Home Friday.

On November 5, 1865, at Kreisstadt Berga, on the little island of Ruegen, in the Baltic sea, north of Germany, Mr. Herman Krempe and Miss Johanna Goegge pledged each to the other to unite their lives for life. This was a half century ago, in their native land, where they continued to make their home for about sixteen years. Then turning their faces westward they sailed for a strange land, but a land of opportunities, to them unknown except by report.

In 1881 they landed in America, and crossed the state of New York to Buffalo, where they tarried for six years, then on again toward the setting sun. Coming to this state they first settled near Gretna, and after four years there, came to Wayne county in 1891, living on a farm until 1904, when they moved to this city where they now reside, happy in their comfortable home.

On Friday, the 5th, and the 50th anniversary of their marriage their two sons and two daughters and nearly all of their 24 grandchildren gathered at their home with more than half a hundred others, friends and neighbors, to congratulate them upon their finish of the first half century of married life, and wish them many years of happiness and prosperity. The family and guests were given a royal welcome and both dinner and supper was served. Their two sons, Otto and Milo, live in this county, the first near Sholes and the latter on the home farm about three miles northwest of Wayne. One daughter, Mrs. Max Mueller, lives at Bloomfield, and the other, Mrs. Henry Ott, in this county, but a few miles from Wayne. Mr. and Mrs. Krempe were the recipients of numerous presents, handsome and useful, and long to be cherished as tokens of the good will which their children, grandchildren and neighbors have for them. Rev. Rudolph Moehring, their pastor, was present, and addressed them and their friends for a few moments in words fitting such an occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Krempe are both enjoying splendid health, in spite of their years of toil and hardship as pioneers in a new country, he at the age of 76 years and his companion but four years his junior. The friends departed at the proper hour, wishing them many returns of their marriage day. The day will long be remembered by Mr. and Mrs. Krempe.

Dodson-Henderson

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Henderson in this city, at noon, Wednesday, November 10, 1915, occurred the marriage of their daughter, Teeny B. Henderson and Mr. Geo. R. Dodson, Rev. Buell of the Methodist church officiating.

The ceremony was in the presence of about thirty relatives and friends of the bride and groom. Miss Madge Barnes of Verdel and Mr. Allen Henderson, brother of the bride, acting as bridesmaid and groomsman. After congratulations a wedding dinner was served to the guests and the afternoon was spent in a social time.

Mr. and Mrs. Dodson have a home furnished for their occupancy on a farm near Carroll to which they go today. The groom an industrious young man, the bride well known at Wayne as an industrious, Christian young lady, the Democrat but voices the sentiment of the community in wishing them well.

Jacob Wingert Dead

Word comes to Wayne from Bridgewater, South Dakota, of the death of Jacob Wingert, formerly of this place. We have learned no particulars except that death followed an illness of several months, and the burial was at Bridgewater last Saturday.

Mr. Wingert moved from Wayne to South Dakota several years ago. He was for many years a resident here, and a man well respected.

Robert E. French, grand custodian for this state is here conducting a short session of school for the Masons, and quite a number are attending.

A Word of Explanation to the Public

In a recent issue of the Wayne papers, the President of the Normal school has taken it upon himself to comment quite extensively upon the administration, or rather maladministration of city affairs, more particularly the light proposition as it was handled a few days ago. The president says, "that the lights were turned out by order of the Mayor. No warning was given. The Mayor says he tried to get me on the phone and failed."

About three weeks ago one of the dynamos at the power house failed and we were obliged to send it away. That week on October twenty-first, there appeared in both Wayne papers notice to all light users that we were very hard pressed, and asking everyone to cut down as much as possible their lights. This notice in itself was a warning to the ordinary user. On Saturday, October twenty-third, the electrician informed me that the Saturday night load would probably be too heavy to pull, and told me I had better notify the college people. I met Prof. Hunter in front of the Hiscox hardware store and told him to warn the president of the school, but also told him if we possibly could we would try to carry them. In talking with the president of the school the night the light went out, I told him about having told Prof. Hunter and he informed me that a warning to a member of the faculty was no warning to him, yet comes out in his newspaper article and says if I had even warned one of them at the college, they could have taken care of the matter.

We carried the load in good shape, however, on the Saturday night of October twenty-third and believed that we were going to get along for the balance of the time. On Saturday night, October thirtieth, the night to which the Normal President refers, the electrician called me and told me that the load was becoming so heavy that he could not pull it much longer and I told him in that event I would warn the college and we would shut them off rather than the business district on this important night of the week. The reason we could lighten the load in this way was, because the college line is the only one in town outside of the street lights that is independent, the residence and business district being on the one system. This call was about six-thirty. Between that time and seven o'clock I called the president at least six times at his residence and failed to get an answer. Then I asked "Information" for the executive office or Mr. Redmond's office and she told me there was no one there at that time. Next I called the Perrin boarding house and the residence where Mr. Redmond rooms and could not locate him at either place, the last named place not answering. Failing in this I called Terrace hall and asked for the preceptress and was informed that she was at the Bright home. I called there and told Mrs. Bright of the existing conditions and asked her if she could inform me as to the president's whereabouts or get word to him. Then I talked to the preceptress of Terrace hall and told her that the lights were going out. Both she and Mrs. Bright informed me that I could undoubtedly find the president down after his evening mail. I hastened to the postoffice and there found Mr. Redmond and told him about the matter and asked him to locate the president.

In the meantime the business men turned off enough lights to lighten the load to such an extent that the college was only out of lights twenty-five minutes. "The Mayor says he tried to get me and failed." I'll leave it to the fair minded public to judge from the foregoing facts whether or not I tried to get the Normal president and whether or not the college people had not had warning.

The president of the normal school has either allowed his personal feelings enough sway to warp his better judgment as to the facts in this case or else has made a deliberate mis-statement of the facts. D. H. CUNNINGHAM.

A school of instruction was held Monday evening in connection with the regular meeting of the Eastern Star, by Mrs. Anthony. At the close of an interesting meeting the members served delicious refreshments and devoted an hour to a social time.

Death of Jonathan Brugger

Sunday night Jonathan Brugger, for many years a respected citizen of this county, died at a hospital at Norfolk, where he had been taken from his home near Winside a few days before, suffering from an attack of pneumonia.

Deceased was born in Juniata county, Pennsylvania, January 2, 1856, and lacked but a few weeks of being 60 years of age at the time of his death. At the age of 17 years he left his early home and went with the family of his cousin, Jacob Brugger to a home on the state line between Indiana and Michigan, the farm line and the state line being the same. Here they all remained a few years, and then came to this state, settling in Dodge county, near Hooper, where they resided until 1891, when they moved to this county, which has since been his home. Here he purchased a part of the Chapin ranch, and has since added to his real estate holdings until he was the owner of three good farms in this county at the time of his death.

Jonathan Brugger never married

Incendiary Blaze—Perhaps

Monday evening shortly after seven o'clock the fire department responded to a call from the house belonging to Dr. S. A. Lutgen on Main street just north of the standpipe. The house had been occupied as a residence property until recently, and as the proposed public hospital for Wayne appeared to be rather indefinitely postponed, Dr. Lutgen had just commenced the work of converting this house into a small private hospital for his own use, as he frequently has patients requiring a suitable place to stay during a short sickness or for an operation.

The fire appeared to have been started in the attic, and being soon discovered, the damage was confined mostly to the roof and the plaster of the rooms below, which water saturated. There appeared to be no way to figure out the origin of the fire except that it was purposely set and there were several things indicating that to be the case, but no motive can be given.

The loss will perhaps be $400,

MR. AND MRS. HERMAN KREMPKE

and his nearest relatives, a brother and family live in Pennsylvania. A number of second cousins reside in Nebraska and were present at his funeral which was held at Wayne Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church, Rev. Cross conducting the service. A large number of his friends and neighbors from Winside and vicinity also came to pay their last tribute of respect to one they had long known as an honest, industrious man, a splendid citizen and kind neighbor. In early life he had been a member of the German Reform church, and though not maintaining church relations with any organization in later life he remained true to Christian teachings of his youth and led a life free from the vices common to many. He used neither tobacco nor intoxicants, and a strong, rugged man that he was his sudden death came as a surprise to his many friends.

It was impossible to get word to his brother in the east, and the relatives here took charge of the burial, those present from other places being J. H. Brugger, wife and son, Creighton; Jas. Shaffer and wife, Hooper; I. D. Brugger and wife, Winside; Rollie Fisher and wife, Ainsworth.

Our Electrolies Here

Material and poles for the new lights are here and the work of installing them is under way, and Main street promises to be a thing of beauty soon.

A splendid suggestion is made by one of our young citizens who believes in the verse which says to let your light shine. It is that four large search lights and good reflectors be installed on top of the city standpipe, facing to all points of the compass so that Wayne lights may be a beacon to people for miles around. The suggestion is that a subscription be taken or entertainment be given to provide the means for installing same. A bright idea.

Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Hannah Kelly, who formerly lived near Winside. She died at the home of a son at Waterloo, Iowa, and the body is expected here Friday morning for burial.

The Teachers Meeting

Four thousand, one hundred eighty-three teachers from Iowa and Nebraska attended the fiftieth annual meeting of the Nebraska State Teachers Association, which held its sessions in Omaha last week. In a convention usually free from politics the teachers, through resolutions, declared for a higher standard of education and requested the co-operation of the newspapers of the city and state to attain these ends.

Without exception the sectional meetings were the best that have ever been held by the association. Uniform excellent programs predominated, which were heard by crowds that overflowed the meeting places.

The teachers were the guests of the bureau of publicity Friday night at a concert given by the Omaha Symphony orchestra, supplemented by vocal solos by Miss Hazel Silver and Mrs. Louise Jansen Wylie. Miss Silver's rendition of "The Last Rose of Summer" was enthusiastically received and her work was greeted by the highest applause.

While spirited competition was shown in the nomination for president of the association, it was friendly at all times. Among those who received the support of the teachers were Dean H. H. Hahn of the Wayne Normal, Dr. G. W. A. Luckey of Lincoln, P. M. Whitehead of Red Cloud, E. U. Graff of Omaha, W. H. Clemons of Fremont, and R. V. Clark of the Boy's Industrial School, Kearney.

Yankton Bridge Bonds Carry

According to the verdict of the people of Yankton county, South Dakota, a bridge is to be built across the Missouri river at that point, and it is to be constructed on the implied pledge that a line of railroad will be built both north and south from Yankton, the south end to make a direct outlet for business from there to Omaha. It is now time for Wayne people to get busy and see to it that if such a line is built, that it comes through Wayne.

See the Democrat for wedding invitations.

Some Late News Notes

A Chicago bank has purchased $500,000 Omaha school bonds paying a premium of $13,250 to secure the same on a competitive bid.

French representatives are in this country to purchase a large lot of steel. They want to spend at least $160,000,000 for it. They formerly bought such goods as they now want from Germany, but they are now getting more steel than they want from there, but not the kind they need.

A great sleet storm has the Alberta country in its grip this week. It was particularly hard on wire communications.

Spain is having a mighty hard time trying to remain neutral, and about their only chance to be so considered remains in their ability to keep their mouths closed. Say nothing and do nothing.

The departure of Earl Kitchener of London for some unknown port is the cause for much wonder. The last guess is that he has gone to India, but for what purpose?

John Dale, a veteran insurance man of Omaha, died Monday at his home in that city.

The English are said to be quarreling among themselves as to what to do next in war matters. We suggest that they fight or quit bluffing.

It paid to advertise, according to the report from Chicago to the effect that the railroads of the country have spent $10,000,000 for advertising during the past year. The editors used to take their share in rides, but they now walk, stay at home or pay their car fare just like common folks.

Water Works at Hoskins

The village board at Hoskins is taking the first necessary steps toward having a system of water works installed at that place. Every place, be it no larger than a group of farm buildings should have a system of waterworks if for no other purpose than to protect in case of fire.

The constantly recurring floods at West Point and Wisner, caused largely by the crookedness of the Elkhorn river at both of these points, has engaged the attention of the county supervisors. Every spring great damage is done to property by high water and the valuable bridges at both West Point and Wisner are in great danger. The board has advertised for bids for straightening the places and at this weeks session contracts were let. The engineers employed by the board recommended the plan of cutting ditches and the plan was adopted.—Beemer Times.

Hans Jorgensen from Blair has been visiting in this section of the state and tells people that he has just purchased 500 acres of land in New York because he could buy three acres there for the price of one here. That may be true, doubtless is, but are the three acres worth it in comparison? We have seen some New York land that we would hate to take as a gift and be obliged to fertilize and farm it.

Chris Dreson of Randolph has an order for 500 bushels of seed corn, to be shipped to northeastern Iowa and southern Wisconsin, and it is also said that he has the corn from this season's crop, and has the supply to fill the order about selected. By some it is thought that seed corn will be scarce and high next spring, but our farmers can do much right now to prevent such a thing in this vicinity, and it will pay them to do it.

H. D. Estabrook, formerly of this state, but now sort of mingling with the Wall street crowd, was out to talk to the Nebraska bankers at their state convention two weeks ago, and since that time many of the papers of the state, of his republican faith, have been announcing his availability as a presidential candidate. Perhaps it might as well be Estabrook as any one if he will stand for it and has the necessary barrel back of him.

Pete Petersen returned last week from Dalton where he has been at work on a farm the past season. He reports that the Wayne people in that part of the state are doing well and are correspondingly happy. Mr. Frank Baker, he says, threshed out more than 4,000 bushels of oats, and his wheat, all spring wheat, made better than 20 bushels per acre, of good quality, and totaled about 3,000 bushels. Mr. Baker did not move there until last spring, so had no fall wheat.

The county commissioners of Cedar county have decided that the illegal warrants issued in excess of 85 per cent of the 1914 levy, and ordered issued by a former board, will be taken up and paid as soon as there are funds available in the county treasury. The board so decided at their regular meeting held the fore part of this week. As the public is aware, about $45,000 of county warrants were declared by the district court illegally issued by the county board in previous administrations.

Before the new congress is tied up with a multiplicity of undertakings why would it not be the better part of unfettered wisdom to get big sponge and wipe half the federal statutes off the books? This country has too many laws and the people are gradually losing all their inherent rights. Like the old Romans whom Reinzo addressed, we are likely to become slaves to a horde of petty tyrants and when we wake up it will be too late to save our bacon just as it was with the stupid Romans under the iron heel of the brutal Caesars before the fall of the empire.—Denver Field and Farm.

According to a story in the Omaha Bee, Evangelist "Billy" Sunday carries a million dollars of life insurance, says an exchange. That is what he told an agent who called on him in Omaha to sell him some insurance. He said it was all he wanted, and the agent had to agree with him that the amount seemed sufficient. The cost of carrying it is $30,000 to $50,000 a year, so the Bee states. The evangelist did not state who is to be the beneficiary of this vast sum. The Bee surmises thus: "The probable thing is that the evangelist intends it to be used for the establishment of some religious or evangelistic foundation."

From the reports of financial papers and the page advertisements it appears as though banks who underwrote the half billion loan to England and France find themselves with a white elephant on their hands as the American individual investors will not bite. Some cities in the middle west have not taken a dollar and less than a third of the money has been subscribed. This is the best evidence of our neutrality. Some of our big interests and politicians are anything but neutral, but the individual investor is not going to buy trouble several miles away from home, if he knows about it in advance.—The Creighton Liberal.

Announcement

A special cut-price mail rate of only $3.50 a year is made for the Daily and Sunday State Journal with colored comic section and magazine. Without the Sunday paper the mail rate will be only $2 a year. The State Journal price heretofore has been $5 a year for Daily and Sunday and $4 without the Sunday.

The publishers believe it is possible to give its patrons the benefit of cutting out traveling solicitors' salaries, hotel bills, railroad fares and other expenses. Therefore these new rates. A sufficient increase in the business should make these rates permanent.

There will be the same expenditure of money and brains in producing The Journal in the future that has given it the reputation of being the most ably edited and most carefully prepared newspaper in Nebraska. The Journal receives the full Associated Press reports, has its special Washington representative, and hundreds of local correspondents throughout the state. It has a corps of special writers who produce articles upon subjects of which they have real knowledge. The Journal is Lincoln's only morning paper.

It has always been the endeavor of The State Journal to serve the people of Nebraska and its efforts have now the approval of thousands, its circulation being at its highest point at this time. It is especially fitting now to reach out and include thousands of others in our list of readers. The character and cleanliness of a paper is much to be considered in its admission to the home.

These new prices are but little more than usually charged for a good weekly newspaper and hundreds of families which are not now subscribers to a daily will feel able to have one since they can have the best for $2 a year, or $3.50 including Sunday.

There are many in the state who, while preferring The Journal, have felt compelled to take cheaper dailies. These can now have their favorite paper, because now the "best" is also the "cheapest." News dealers throughout the state will deliver The Journal, week days and Sundays, with the special Sunday features, for only ten cents a week. Address,

About Your Own Business

The largest bond issue to be registered at the auditor's office during the present incumbency came from the Omaha school district last week. The original issue was a million dollars, but only one-half of this amount was registered. The other half million will come later. The smallest issue was also received the past week, this being in the sum of $165, and came from a school district out in Sioux county.

The Tokio Marine Insurance company of Tokio, Japan, has applied and was granted a license to do business in Nebraska by state insurance commissioner W. E. Eastham, last week. Its principle line is the fire and liability insurance on automobiles, also upon cargos, freight and other property against loss by lake river and inland transportation. The Patriotic Insurance company of Dublin, Ireland, is another company asking admission to the state, and upon investigation, if found to be all right, will likely be licensed.

The monthly report issued by state auditor Smith shows that a total of 3,652 claims were passed on by the auditor's office during the month of October, these aggregating a total of $302,909.22. With the exception of February this was the smallest total of any month so far this year. The total amount of claims audited during the past ten months has been $4,549,1052.56, while the aggregate for the year 1915 will probably run close to five and one-half millions of dollars.

At the hearing held in Omaha a few days ago wherein the Missouri Pacific railroad company is seeking to have its passenger fare rates increased from two to two and one-half cents per mile by the federal court, the point was raised by Attorney General Reed that the court in question has no jurisdiction in the matter, and whether the August jurists agree with the contention or not the people of the state are of the opinion that the attorney general is right in his opinion.

The meetings of the county assessors held by Secretary Bernecker of the state board of equalization and assessment, throughout the state the past ten days have been well attended, and will doubtless result in a more perfect understanding of assessment matters. Eight meetings were held in all, the state having been divided into eight districts and the assessors being advised to attend the one most convenient to them. In one county the past year automobiles were assessed at an average of $40 each, while in a neighboring county the assessed valuation was $136. Other property was assessed proportionately in many cases, and the meetings that have been held by Mr. Bernecker have been for the purpose of securing a more equitable assessment in the future.

Dr. G. W. Cullins of Pawnee City, one of the pioneers of the state of Nebraska was visiting Secretary of State Pool and others old friends in the State House this week. The doctor was speaker of the house of representatives at the third session of the legislature in 1871; this was the legislature that impeached Governor David Butler. Dr. Cullins was a neighbor and friend of Governor Butler and did all in his power against the impeachment. The doctor is hale and hearty and his conversation of the early political history of the State of Nebraska is most interesting.

The monthly report issued by State Treasurer Hall shows the collections in by the treasurer's office the past month to have been $300,332.78, and the balance on hand to be $1,285,155.29. In addition, to the foregoing the state has invested in trust funds the sum of $9,735,711.65, all but about one million of this being in the permanent school fund.

See the Democrat for wedding invitations.

More Stock, Better Yields

The gospel of more live stock and more diversified farming seems not to have been preached in vain in Nebraska and some nearby states in these later years. These are the factors that are pushing up the acre yields of crops in Nebraska, Kansas and Iowa, and it is not too much to hope that the time will soon be here when the average yields of the New England states with their hilly, stony, wornout soil will not shame us. For 30 years prior to 1910 the yield of wheat in Iowa averaged 13.2 bushels an acre. In five years since then the average has been 19.3 bushels an acre. Livestock and more careful farming did it. Bank deposits have increased accordingly and now exceed a half billion dollars in that state.

Average yields in Nebraska and Kansas have increased at approximately the same rate as in Iowa, and with this increase has come a corresponding increase in bank deposits. They always go up together.

The three states mentioned are considerably in advance of other Middle West states in these lines. Comparisons may be odious, but not so much so when the better showing is on the right side. In this connection it may be interesting to read what H. R. Smith, formerly head of the animal husbandry department of the Nebraska College of Agriculture, told a group of North Dakota bankers in a recent speech. Mr. Smith said:

During the 30 years previous to 1910, the average yield of wheat an acre for Kansas and Nebraska together was only 9 per cent greater than for the states of North and South Dakota. This small difference might be attributed to the fact that more winter wheat is grown in those states, and this ordinarily yields a little heavier than spring wheat, other conditions being equal. During the past five years, the average yield of wheat in Kansas and Nebraska has been 51 per cent greater than in North and South Dakota. In other words they have been growing as many bushels of wheat in Kansas and Nebraska on one-third less land. The rainfall in the Dakotas is just as great, and the soil originally as productive.

The principal reason why wheat in the Dakotas has decreased in acre yield is the fact that much less attention has been paid to diversified farming and live-stock in these states. Kansas and Nebraska are two of the three leading states of the Union in the production of alfalfa, and both are among the six leading corn and livestock states in the Union. A recent statement shows that the bank deposits of North Dakota total $69,529,000, South Dakota $98,009,000, Nebraska $221,697,000 and Kansas $223,829,000.

Mr. Smith is now employed by the First National Bank of St. Paul, Minn., to work for more livestock on the farms in the territory served by this bank. This move is intended not so much to help the farmers as to help the bankers. Of course, it will help the farmers for what is good for one is good for the other. Mr. Smith's first work was with the bankers whom he urged to extend credit and to make loans easy to farmers who could use the money in building up herds of livestock.

Local School Gardening

Any village or city in the state wishing to organize gardening in connection with its public schools may receive aid from the Agricultural Extension Service of the College of Agriculture. Representatives of the service will visit towns interested in establishing this type of school gardening work for the purpose of explaining it in detail. An illustrated lecture will be given with views of the work in progress. If a moving picture projecting machine is in the hall, motion pictures of the work will be shown. To help introduce this work in the state a public meeting will be held on the afternoon of Nov. 18 at the Lincoln high school auditorium at which the results of the work of the 1200 members of the Lincoln School Gardening club will be given. An exhibit of canned products and reports of the children will be shown.

Schools in towns where the work is established will be furnished free with lessons and instructions at the beginning of the season. These will be mailed monthly or semi-monthly to all boys and girls who have enrolled in the garden work. The lessons are brief, interesting, and educational. The Service will also furnish the record blanks and such other report blanks as are needed.

Specialists will visit each co-operating town and teach the boys and girls how to can their vegetables easily and cheaply. Assistance will be given in organizing the local markets and in case there is difficulty in marketing the vegetables in the towns, an effort will be made to find a market at some of the larger cities.

The plan is to have all school children, who will co-operate, above 10 years of age, grow a garden during the summer months. They will be taught by means of lessons and demonstrations how to prepare the soil, what vegetables to plant to give the best profit, how to plant and care for them, how to market their products, and how to can their surplus.

It is suggested that prizes for the work be given by the school board, the commercial club, or other interested persons. The service says that cash prizes should not be held out as the chief inducement. The boy or girl should realize that the knowledge gained, the profits made, and the honor of doing the work well, are of more value than cash prizes. Often, trophies and ribbons are as acceptable as prizes in money.

The Extension Service feels that the influence of the school in the development of habits of industry and economy along the lines of agriculture and domestic science of great importance. They say that it is especially to be recommended where any plan accomplishes such a purpose, and at the same time healthfully, profitably, educationally, and pleasantly employs the boys and girls of school age during the summer vacation and their leisure while school is in session.

World Government vs. War

President Wilson's speech defining his views of what should be done by this country in the matter of preparing for war has aroused much comment, and he invites comment, and is evidently not committed to the plan he proposes in a better one can be brought about. Preparedness in right hands might be no menace to peace, but preparedness in the hands of others might become very costly. So far as we have read, nothing has come to our notice that is more to be commended and considered than the following from Charles Fremont Taylor. It is a great work and must take time to accomplish, but let us start in the right direction, and keep going, and only make such preparation for war as must be made until a world government may begin to show the dawning of a new and brighter day:

"Preparation for war does not result in peace. It only makes war more certain and more terrible. The only way to prevent war is to improve government. The only way to prevent clashes at arms between nations is to establish an international government, to which armed forces will be subordinate, like our army and navy are subordinate to our government."

"The most rational 'preparedness' against war is to extend the blessings of government to international relations. The failure of government is responsible for all wars. If I could drive this truth into the understanding of every voter in this country, our attitude toward war would immediately change. Our country would become the light bearer thru the clouds of war to the sunshine of intelligent peace. If this great truth could be placed in the understanding of every soldier in Europe, the statesmanship that leads to murder of the masses would be repudiated, and a leadership of sufficient intelligence to

Only 35 more shopping days before Christmas, do your holiday advertising early, the early advertiser catches the early shopper, as surely as the early bird catches the early worm. Naturally the best things of earth are appropriated by those who are out after them early and often.

Who's that crying? That is the republicans weeping because they think that Wilson and Bryan are going to fight. Will they fight? We think not, for they seem large enough to discuss their disagreements without fighting, but if they do fight the republicans will laugh rather than cry as they watch a battle royal.

The land lottery under government control and by the government appears to be the only lottery tolerated by the postal authorities. Even the word "lucky" is sometimes barred from other advertising, and it does not look much more fair than for the government to print envelopes at less than cost, but we should not complain for our government is only what WE make it for WE are the government.

Down around Pender they have been having some good road spasms, and as a result the Republic says that a number of miles of roads have been put in good shape for the coming winter. Large grading machines have been used with good results. About $1,500 was subscribed for the road work besides the sum raised by taxation. By the way, we are not just now hearing much about the roads around Wayne, though some good work has been done. Now that the rainy season appears to be over, it might be a wise plan to again take up the proposed marking of a road from Wisner on the Elkhorn to Yankton on the Missouri. There is lots of travel that way, and a well marked road if properly maintained would increase the traffic.

The threatened ruin of American industries by the cheap goods of Europe after the war grows steadily, steadily less with each day of the war. If it is necessary to protect the strong, healthy labor of this free country by anything more than the natural barrier of 3,000 miles of ocean, freight from the unfortunate labor of impoverished nations across the briny deep, may the good Lord protect us. But what we need the worst is protection from the greedy combines of our own land. A land that has paid a bounty from the hand of toil to offspring of idle luxury and special privilege. A land where the natural resources have been placed in the keeping of the few. Where organized greed has and largely does claim to own and control the coal, copper, the lead, the iron, zinc and every other valuable metal as well as the water power sites and railways, telegraph and telephone. Let us have protection from these monster monopolies, we say, and our people can not only cope with the unfortunate labor of the old world, but lend it a helping hand.

A stray copy of the Tecumseh Journal comes to the editorial desk of the Democrat this week, and being a republican paper, the editor is already worrying about how the democratic administration is going to explain the fact that they have not collected more taxes, and that revenues are not sufficient to meet expenses, and a war tax has been levied in time of peace. Don't worry, brother, but remember how many trips you fellow got past when you taxed the people more.

than was necessary and then made extravagant appropriations to use the money. As to the war tax and the peace, if ever the people of the world suffered from war it is now, and we of this nation are getting off with slight revenue tax increase made necessary from the fact that the commerce of the world has been almost stopped by war. Imports have been much limited because of the war engaging the attention of the nations who ordinarily ship much to this country. Now they are sending nothing but gold, and even the republicans have never advocated a tariff tax on that. We are getting so much gold that it is a burden to the nation for it is non-productive and there are so many foolish people who think they want it that it is costly to protect from thieves. As to the Journal, we hope it will get its flag on right side up at least before it criticizes the government that flag represents too severely.

School Notes

Quarterly reports for the high school will be issued tomorrow.

Mr. E. J. Simond, state college and high school secretary for the Y. M. C. A. addressed the high school on a line of thought presented in a football captain's speech to his men in a crisis, "You have four minutes to play and all the rest of your life to think about it." He showed the significance of the idea when applied to the four years time in a high school, and emphasized the value of concentrated effort.

Rev. Rudolph Moehring addressed the high school Friday morning, on the subject, "Know Thyself." He emphasized especially the intellectual phase of development, advocating the importance of continuing the process of education throughout the entire life. He also called attention to the necessity of acquiring the power of applying knowledge, and suggested that an occasional self-examination would be an aid in acquiring that power. Mr. Moehring's address was logical, scholarly and interesting, and was much appreciated by the students.

Wayne Normal vs. Bellevue College

The Wayne Normal football team won its fourth game of the season last Friday, when it defeated Bellevue college at Omaha, by a score of 12 to 6. Although without the services of Hering, the regular center, Sabin proved a capable substitute and outplayed his opponent in every department of the game.

Dale was by far the best ground gainer of either team, but was weak on the defense. Stonebraker's defensive work was the best seen on the Normal team this season. His covering of punts was especially good, as he failed to tackle the catcher of the punt in his tracks but once during the game. Rundquist and Muhn were also good on the defense. Leuck, who was sent to Dale's tackle in the latter part of the game, immediately stopped the gains over his tackle, three yards being the total of Bellevue's gains through him.

During the first half Bellevue was unable to gain an inch from scrimmage and their players were forced to punt every time they obtained possession of the ball. Wayne gained at will during this half and lost three additional touchdowns because of costly fumbles. In the first two minutes of play, they rushed the ball to Bellevue's 2-yard line, only to lose it on a fumble. Receiving the punt out on their 49-yard line they again marched to the goal line, and Ellis on a split play went over the line only to fumble it and give Bellevue a touchback on their 20-yard line. Bellevue was again forced to punt, and after several 10-yard gains, Dale on a tackle-back play ran 40 yards across the line, but was called back to the 10-yard line for going out of bounds. The ball was then carried to the 3-yard line and Bellevue held for downs. Wayne took the ball in the middle of the field and after a few plays Bellevue intercepted a forward pass. They then punted and Rockwell fumbled, Bellevue getting the ball on their 10-yard line. The first two plays failed to gain, and on the third Dale intercepted a forward pass on his own 7-yard line and ran the entire length of the field for a touchdown.

Opposite Post Office

Bellevue kicked off and Rockwell passed the ball to Wallin, who ran 8 yards for the second touchdown. Dale missed both goals. Wayne then kicked off and a few minutes later time was called with the ball in Wayne's possession on Bellevue's 40-yard line.

The second half was more evenly contested. In the third quarter Wayne several times rusted the ball to the 10-yard line, only to lose it on downs, or because of intercepted forward passes. Twice during this quarter Dale attempted goal from placement on the 30-yard line and missed only by inches. In the fourth quarter Bellevue sent in two new men in the back field and using them alternately bucking through Wayne's tackle, took the ball to Wayne's 10-yard line and it was first down with ten to go. Here the time-keeper forgot himself and Bellevue was given three additional minutes to try for a touchdown. Their efforts were in vain, however, and

Wayne held for downs. Wallin punted out to the 50-yard line and time was called with the ball in Bellevue's possession in the middle of the field. Piccotte and Stewart, the substitutes used by Bellevue in the third and fourth quarters, were the only ones who were able to gain against the Normal and rooters in the last minutes of play.

The men came out of the game without serious injuries and should be in good condition to meet Buena Vista college on the Normal field next Saturday. Buena Vista was the victor in the former game but the Normal boys expect to turn the tables this time.

Hon. G. S. Mears and wife went to Omaha Tuesday afternoon, where Mr. Mears feels that it is his duty to his party to go and help make a respectable showing in the point of numbers at least for the little republican gathering called there to listen to a talk from Mr. Burton of Ohio, who has his lightning rod out to attract the presidential bolt to his domicile. We hope that Mr. Mears will bring a good report of the meeting home with him. Mrs. Mears will visit relatives there a few days.

Special music was furnished by the senior and junior classes.

Robert Johnson and son Clarence were passengers to Sioux City Sunday, where they visited Mr. Johnson's mother, who had arrived on Saturday from Linkoping, Sweden. Mr. Johnson had not seen his mother for 14 years. She made the trip to this country alone, which is very remarkable for a lady of 67 years of age. She will make her home with her sons in this country.

A letter was received the first of the week by Mrs. H. P. Petersen, from her son Soren who is serving in the U. S. regulars at Douglas, Arizona, states that there was no little anxiety on the part of the residents of Douglas, as General Villa was about to attack the city of Augo Prieto, just across the border from Douglas. He further states that two regiments of infantry and some artillery were on the way to Douglas to re-enforce them in case of trouble on the American side.

The ladies of the Woman's Home and the Woman's Foreign missionary societies will hold their annual supper in the church dining rooms on Friday evening. The ladies served about three hundred last year at their supper and they are making bountiful preparations for a large gathering at this supper.

They will begin serving at five o'clock, the price being twenty-five cents. Everybody is invited. Not only are you assured of twice your money's worth in the supper but the event is quite an annual social event in which the members of the various churches get together in a pleasant way. We have a plate for you and are expecting you on Friday evening.

Remember all of the regular services next Sunday. You are wanted and you will be made to feel at home if you will come.

There will be no evening services at this church as we will join with the Presbyterian church in a union temperance service.

Presbyterian Church
(Rev. S. Xenophon Cross, Pastor)

On Tuesday evening, Frances Jones took the boys of his Sunday school class for an outing. They took a hike to Bresslers grove where all heartily enjoyed a wiener roast and pumpkin pie feed. All had a good time and will be glad to go again.

Misses Cella Gildersleeve and Esther McEachen will attend the state Y. P. S. C. E. convention at Norfolk, the last of this week, as delegates from the local C. E. Several others are planning to attend at least at some of the sessions of the convention.

MORGAN SUIT BUILDER

The Every Member plan is proving splendidly satisfactory as far as it has been adopted. The canvass Sunday brought good results and showed in part the great possibilities of the movement. Another canvass will be made soon, probably in December.

The W. C. T. U. will have charge of the 7:30 service next Sunday. A fine program of music and speaking has been prepared. Prof. I. H. Britell has been secured as the principal speaker of the evening. You cannot well afford to miss this excellent program.

The sermon theme at the morning hour next Sunday will be: "Sowing and Reaping." Come to church and stay for Sunday school. The attendance on Sunday morning was the largest in the Sunday school for many months. Break the record again next Sunday.

The Y. P. S. C. E. will meet at 6:30. The topic will be: "How the Denominations May Be United in Service." It is very significant that the young folks are taking up this all-important question. It is a question that will demand a solution in the near future.

Baptist Church

The Rev. J. D. Collins of Lincoln, state Sunday school worker, has consented to fill the pulpit next Sunday. All members and any others who can attend should be present.

Sunday school will be held as usual following the morning preaching service. The young people's meeting will be at 6:30.

German Lutheran Church

Rev. Moehring, Pastor
We will have our regular services next Sunday. Sunday school at 10 o'clock and preaching at 11 a. m. All who come find welcome.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church

The Ladies Aid of the St. Paul's Lutheran church will meet with Mrs. Herman Lundburg, Thursday, Nov. 18. All are cordially invited.

Social Notes

Mrs. Rollie Ley, Mrs. James Ahern and Mrs. Harry Fisher entertained about one hundred ladies at a Kensington Thursday afternoon. Mrs. T. T. Jones, Mrs. Ed Johnson, Mrs. E. W. Johnson, accompanied by Mrs. James Miller, each sang charmingly. Miss Ferne Oman pleased the ladies with her whistling solos. In the evening more invited ladies gathered for a social evening. Mrs. Oman and Mrs. A. R. Davis delighted the guests with vocal solos. Mrs. H. Theobald favored them with an instrumental solo and Ferne Oman again gave a whistling solo. Refreshments were served afternoon and evening and the guests were waited upon by a bevy of young girls.

Miss Nettie Craven was hostess at a two-course six o'clock dinner last Monday. The invited guests were officers of the Eastern Star.

Out of town guests were Mrs. Anthony, Worthy Matron of Wausa, and Mrs. Nye, official visitor of Plainview. Decorations were lodge colors. Each guest was given a star with colored points and found their table by matching color of bouquet.

The Acme club met with Mrs. Davies last Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Minea gave a book review of John Halifax, Gentleman; Mrs. Cartwright gave two excellent readings entitled, "Nimmy, Nimmy Not" and "Sergeon's Miracle." Club will meet with Mrs. Ingham Nov. 22.

Monday club met last Monday afternoon with Mrs. Hecker. Mrs.

Welsh read a paper on "Map Study of Africa." Mrs. Kohl read a paper on "Cecil Rhodes," and Mrs. Main gave a paper on "Cape Town." Club meets next with Mrs. Hez.

Mrs. Ray Reynolds entertained informally, Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Anthony of Wausa, who is visiting Mrs. James Miller, was a guest of honor. The evening was spent in playing "500." Refreshments were served.

The U. D. club met with Mrs. Kinne last Monday afternoon. The afternoon was spent in discussing current events. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Wm. Morris.

The Worst Battle

I herd the voice of I. G. Dunn

Replying to Met,
And I. G. is the biggest gun,
And sure enough the loudest one
That has exploded yet.

He says his party has defied
What Metcalfe says is just;

He says the whiskey bunch has tried
To run Nebraska open wide

And rule the state or bust.

So Dunn stands Johnny on the spot

God bless him for his nerve—

And gives the candidate this thought
"Say whether you are wet or not,
Or else you cannot serve."

I love the man who speaks out

frank,

And sets his foot down square.

For what Dunn said I want to thank

Him from heart—he is no crank

But plays the card-boards fair.

For long the brewery bunch has fouled

The democratic nest,

And not a living soul has howled

Through fear if anybody growled,

It might disturb the rest.

The die is cast, in spite of Met-

The office seeking skate

Who hopes the people's votes to get

Will have to answer "dry" or "wet"

Before they nominate.

Now I. G. Dunn has come out strong

Along that very line

And that is why I sing this song—

Right still is right, and wrong is wrong—

Dunn's statement suits me fine.

Let statesmen stand to win or lose,

In virtuous content,

Truly admitting sober views

Or that their knees are bent to booze

If so their knees are bent.

The words of Dunn I greatly prize,

"Play fair in politics."

'Twill pay the sopping we s and drys

To face the facts without disguise

And trust the people. BIX.
