Plans Complete, a Royal Welcome Awaits the Coming Guests. Noted Men of the Profession to Speak

Unless the weather moderates it may not be truthfully said that Wayne's welcome will be warm, but it will be most hearty and cordial. That is assured, and the Democrat feels most grateful to the committees who have so efficiently and willingly responded to the need of the hour to make the coming guests welcome. Of the business session little need be said here except that all are welcome to attend, for the general public will not be greatly interested in "shop talk", but of the program at the banquet too much cannot be said—it will be a treat. The attendance is only to be limited by the capacity of the dining room, and the advance sale of tickets has taken every place not reserved for the guests, and there are now those standing in line to fill any place that may happen to be made vacant. The pastor and ladies of the Baptist church, where the banquet is to be spread, are deserving of more than special mention for the well directed zeal and energy they are putting into their efforts to make it an event without a rival.

The menu was given last week, and the program as well, but as there are a few additions to the program it is now given as completed for Friday evening at the Baptist church, 6:45 p. m.

Ahern will be an especially interesting subject for our business men as will the talk following by J. P. O'Furey of the Cedar County News on "The Country Merchant and Advertising." There will be other good things, but they will be more strictly newspaper subjects.

Jugel-Baden

Wednesday, January 26, 1916, at the German Lutheran church, Rev. Moehring officiating, Mr. Richard Jugel from Cumming county and Miss Bertha Baden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Baden, who live about eight miles south of Winside, were united in marriage.

Wm. Baden and Mary Obst, other and sister of the bride, were present as witnesses. Mr. and Mrs. Jugel plan to remain residents of Wayne county, we are glad to say.

A Close Shave

The other day one of our leading citizens was ambling up the west side of Main street, and just as he reached the Gaertner furniture house, he took a sort of a tumble to himself and soon landed at the foot of the stairway leading to the basement, went clear in, in fact, and Barber Dewey gave him the close shave, because that was the kind he wanted.—adv.

Sudden Death of Mrs. O. C. Lewis

Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Lewis walked from their home in the north part of the city to the postoffice, and returned together as far as the home of J. W. Mason, where they stopped to leave Mr. Mason's mail. Here Mrs. Lewis said she could go the remaining few blocks alone, and that he could return to attend the meeting of the Modern Woodmen.

Just before reaching home she fell, and a man who had been working at the Wm. Rennick place and who was just passing, saw her and went to her assistance. She complained of being short of breath, but with his aid walked a few feet more when she fell again and was not able to rise. Her aid ran quickly to the home of Mrs. Fisher for aid, and soon other near neighbors were called, and with their aid she was carried to her own home but a few feet away, but she was dead before reaching the house.

Mr. Lewis was sent for at once, and kind neighbors did all that remained to be done—care for the dead and try to comfort the bereaved husband.

Harriet Eliza Gordon was born at Antwerp, Ohio, August 7, 1885, and was therefore 60 years, 5 months and 18 days of age when she was called to her reward Tuesday evening, January 25, 1916. She was united in marriage to O. C. Lewis at Birmingham, Iowa, December 30, 1875. Of the four children born to this union one died in infancy and another at the age of about 10 years. The husband and two daughters, Mrs. Etta Jones of Gettysburg, South Dakota, and Minte Leebick of Atwood, Kansas, survive to mourn her loss.

They moved to Wayne county in 1886, living for about 20 years on their farm southwest of Wayne, then moving to Carroll where they made their home until about two years ago, when they came to Wayne.

She joined a Baptist church at the age of 14, and was ever an earnest Christian woman, a loving mother and most excellent neighbor. Funeral arrangements are not yet made and will not be until the daughters arrive, which they will probably do today.

A Rare Treat Coming to Us

John G. Neihardt, one of the world famous poets, who was discovered at Wayne and developed in the old Wayne Normal in the days of President Pile and that institution of learning, is coming back to see old friends and new and give to Wayne folks an opportunity—the opportunity of a lifetime—perhaps—to hear a great poet read his own poems as only this author can do. His verses have stood the acid test of the best and greatest critics, and yet they are so charming and simple that they appeal to those who have little or no poetry in their soul. He has been and is a growing poet, and may not yet have reached the zenith, but "great" is the only qualifying adjective used to qualify the word "poet" when speaking of him. His works have found favor in all lands.

His return to Wayne will be next Thursday, the 3d of February, and he will be at the Normal auditorium that evening—and so will the citizens of this place, especially those who have seen and heard him. The Democrat joins in giving hearty welcome to this world-famous poet.

The Sick at Carroll

Among the seriously ill at Carroll, are Mr. A. J. Honey, who seems not to be fully recovered from the shock of the sudden death of his daughter; Sam Williamson is confined to his home by grip; Mr. and Mrs. Morris have been quite ill and Mrs. Hoskins from this place has been there to nurse them. They are reported to be convalescing. D. M. Davis, who was rallying from an attack of pneumonia when his wife died, has not been gaining as fast as he appeared to be doing before the loss of his companion.

Death of Mrs. D. M. Davis—Carroll

A kind and loving mother, a good neighbor and Christian woman was called to her reward Saturday, January 22, when Mrs. Ann Davis of Carroll passed away, following more than a month of suffering. She leaves an aged husband and six daughters and a son to mourn her loss.

Ann Owens was born in Meir-yoneddshire, Wales, June 1st, 1846, and died at the age of 69 years, 7 months and 21 days. Came to America in youth and was united in marriage in Louisa county, Iowa, to David M. Davis, March 2, 1872, by Rev. Samuel Jones. For nearly 44 years they have journeyed together. Of the children born to them all save one are living and were at her bedside during the last part of her sickness. They are Mrs. S. E. Pryce, Red Oak, Iowa; J. L. Davis, a farmer near Carroll; Margaret Ellen Davis, who lives at their home; Mrs. Kate Grace Jones, Carroll; Mrs. Kate McKay, Luverne, Minnesota; Mrs. Sarah Owens, Carson, South Dakota; Gwendoline Hiller, Carroll; Elizabeth Ellen Davis died at the age of four years, and is resting in a cemetery in Montgomery county, Iowa.

From Louisa county, they moved to Montgomery county, Iowa, where they lived until 1893 when they moved to this county which has since been their home.

She was a member of the Welch Congregational church near Carroll, and teacher in the Sunday school at Carroll. She was ready and waiting for the summons of her Master, conscious till the last.

The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and many gathered to pay a last tribute of respect to one they had long known and loved, and sympathize with the bereaved family.

Married

Miss Frances Silkett, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Silkett, and Mr. Elmer S. Reed of Lyons, were married at high noon at the bride's home Wednesday, January 19, the Rev. M. O. Keller officiating.

The bride is a member of the Baptist church and has grown up in our midst. She is a young lady possessing rare personal charm and a bright character, and will be a true helpmate to the one she has chosen to honor with her hand.

The groom is an entire stranger to this editor, but we learn that he is a prosperous young man of good habits and a disposition to do things worth while.

The wedding was to have been an invitation affair with a large number of guests present, but owing to the illness of the younger brother of the bride, the former arrangements were cancelled and a quiet wedding was substituted.

The young couple left on the afternoon train for a short trip and about the middle of February will be at home to their many friends on a farm near Lyons.—Carroll Index.

Hohneke-Maas

Wednesday morning, Miss Ella Maas and Frank Hohneke surprised their many friends by going to Wayne on the early morning train where they were married at the court house by Judge Britton. They returned to the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Maas, on the forenoon train where a wedding dinner awaited their arrival.

The wedding was a quiet one, witnessed only by the immediate relatives of the bride and groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Hohneke are both too well known to need any introduction to the people of our vicinity, as they were both born in the homes from which they went as bride and groom.

After a few days they will make their home on Mr. Aug. Hohneke's farm six and one-half miles north of Hoskins.

The many friends of this young couple wish them a long, pleasant and prosperous life.—Hoskins Headlight.

SOCIAL EVENTS OF THE WEEK

Brief Review of the Social Happenings of Wayne and Vicinity During The Week Just Passed.

One of the happy home events of the season was at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. S. Gamble last Sunday when there was an almost complete reunion of the family. There were present R. E. Osborn, wife and family, who recently returned from California; C. E. Norman, who came recently from Montana; Ernest Norman who has just arrived from a sojourn in Kansas, coming here from Lone Elm. Rose Norman came last week from Shenandoah, Iowa, to visit and attend this reunion. Arthur Norman was here from Thurston, all children of Mrs. Gamble. With them met Ray Gamble and family, son of Mr. Gamble. Miss Grace Gamble was not able to attend, being engaged in care of the sick. A bounteous dinner was spread and the day was passed happily, telling of incidents which happened during the time they had been separated.

The W. C. T. U. held a social meeting Tuesday evening at the commodious new home of Mrs. Ada Rennick, and a pleasing program was followed. Rev. Gaston gave a talk on temperance work and the boy scout movement. Miss Helen Reynolds was on the program for a recitation; Miss Edith White sang several solos and the ladies sang their state song. Several men responded to an invitation to be present, among them was Ex-Governor Chester H. Aldrich, who was in the city for the evening. He spoke briefly of the work, and predicted that this state will join the dry column when the people express their opinion at the polls. Refreshments were served and a social hour was passed. It is the plan of the ladies of the organization to hold these social meetings quarterly.

Last Wednesday the members of the Pleasant Valley club and their husbands were delightfully entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Morgan. Instrumental music was rendered by Mrs. B. Surber and Mrs. L. Gildersleeve. Mr. William Cunningham and Mr. W. H. Gildersleeve very ably discussed, "Farmers' Co-operative Associations and their Advantages." Mr. Cunningham led the discussion, followed by Mr. Gildersleeve, after which a general discussion followed. A three-course dinner was served at two o'clock. At the next meeting which will be held in February, with Mr. and Mrs. Eli Laughlin, Mr. William Morgan and Mr. H. J. Miner will discuss, "Mail Order Houses."

The ladies of the U. D. club gave a farewell party for Mrs. Green at the home of Mrs. Kemp on last Monday evening. At 6:30 a three-course dinner was served. Each lady gave a quotation on friendship as she took her place at the table. Mrs. Hufford read an appropriate poem on Friendship. Mrs. Harry Craven read an original poem on Friendship. The evening was informally spent. The club presented Mrs. Green with a half dozen teaspoons as a token of their good will and friendship. At the close of the evening, several old songs were sung. Mrs. Green leaves with her family for Omaha, Friday. Club meets next Monday with Mrs. J. Woodward Jones.

The children, grandchildren and great grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Coyle surprised them at their home in this city last week Wednesday evening, it being Mr. Coyle's 74th birthday. They took well filled baskets and a bounteous supper was served, and Mr. Coyle was the recipient of numerous gifts which he will cherish in memory of one of the happy events of his life. The guests departed wishing him many happy returns of the day, and health and happiness. The T. W. Moran, Hunter and Lantz families participated in the happy event.

The ladies of the Woodmen Circle held a social and business session last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Trumbauer. Officers for the coming term were installed as follows: Guardian, Ida Reynolds; advisor, Alice Mabbott; clerk, Ethel Norton; banker, Blanche Trumbauer; chaplain, Lucile Murrell; attendant, Barbara Learner; O. S., Caroline Dammeier; I. S., Alma Ludtke. At the close of a social hour the hostess and Alma Norton served choice refreshments.

The Westminster Guild met and elected the following officers, one evening last week. President, Miss Cella Gildersleeve; vice-president, Miss Neva Orr; secretary, Miss Bessie Durrie; treasurer, Miss Helen McNeal; patronesses, Mrs. Wendte, Mrs. Felber and Mrs. Horace Theobald. On next Tuesday evening there will be an open meeting at the home of Miss Cella Gildersleeve.

The ladies union bible study circle met with Mrs. Bracken on Tuesday in spite of the weather. A goodly number with a splendidly interesting lesson was held. All the ladies are cordially invited to come and enjoy the lesson with us at the home of Mrs. I. C. Trumbauer next Tuesday.

Mrs. Ray Reynolds and Mrs. James Miller entertained the U. D. club last Friday evening. A two-course supper was served. "500" was played throughout the evening. The following invited guests were present, Mrs. Kollie Ley, Mrs. Erskine, Mrs. Von Seggern, and Mrs. T. T. Jones.

The girl's bible study circle met at the home of Mrs. E. Ferrel last Saturday evening. Elen Montgomery, leader. A very enjoyable and instructive hour was spent on the evening's lesson. Next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Sim Jacobson, Saturday evening, January 29, 1916.

The Monday club met with Mrs. Welsh this week. Roll call, School Items. Mrs. Welsh read a paper entitled, "What the Patrons Expect of the School." Mrs. Phillips read a paper on, "What the Schools Expect of the Patrons." Next meeting will be with Mrs. Main.

See us for wedding invitations.

Minnie Peterson Dead

Monday, Henry Peterson returned from Colorado Springs, where he had been called to the bedside of his dying niece, Minnie Peterson, who passed away at a sanitarium at that place where she had been for the past four years. It was her sister who had gone to that place a few weeks ago whose body was brought home for burial two weeks before this body came. A brother and two younger sisters survive her besides the uncle with whom she had made her home until she went west, and with whom the other sisters still reside.

The funeral service was held at Carroll Monday, and was largely attended, the Methodist church being filled. The services were conducted by the Methodist pastor, Rev. McKinsey and the pastor of the German Lutheran church.

The sympathy of the community goes out to the brother and sisters and the uncle who has so faithfully cared for this family, and all hope that others may be spared the fate of the other members of the family. An out-of-door life, beginning in the spring, and going slowly to some place where climatic conditions are such that one may live in the open year round appear to be necessary conditions to fight off this plague, and we think it fitting to add these lines at this time, not alone for this afflicted family, but for any who may need to heed the advice.

The Profit of Growing Good Stock

More and more are the farmers and breeders, and the feeders as well, coming to realize the value of breeding and growing the best that can be obtained in live stock, horses, cattle, hogs, sheep, chickens and all, so it is with a feeling that this farming community will be benefited if they shall attend and patronize the sales of improved animals at the Wayne pavilion from time to time. Opportunity is to be presented on Saturday the 5th of February to purchase from a herd of most excellent Shorthorn cattle, both in breeding and individuality. George Buekirk from the south part of the county will place a lot of 50 choice animals from his farm on sale. They are said to be a choice lot of individuals, and of the best breeding. They are thoroughly acclimated and the farmer who wishes to improve his herd in the line of Shorthorn cattle should plan to attend this sale and not permit the best of it to leave this community. This is not an advertisement but the opinion of the writer.

Another Candidate for Assessor

Monday, J. H. Massie of this city filed his name with County Clerk Reynolds as a candidate for the democratic nomination for county assessor. Beyond a doubt, Mr. Massie is exceptionally well qualified for that place, having acceptably held the office of Wayne assessor for the past nine years.

See the Democrat for wedding invitations.

According to one of our exchanges dated the 20th the county superintendent is planning to go to Lincoln January 5 and 6 to attend a state meet. It is so easy to overlook such an error, for evidently February was intended.

An exchange tells of a young waiter, but 19 years of age who has acquired a chain of four restaurants by his own efforts in the past three years, and he is a mute and cannot talk. That is a pretty good hint for other talkers to keep still.

Mrs. Harvey Mason was here from Meadow Grove last week visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Mason, and assisting in the care of Mrs. Mason, who was suffering from the grip. She returned home Sunday evening.

Bloomfield now has a city building, and a splendid one for their council meetings, their firemen and the apparatus as well as a large auditorium for public gatherings. That is something every place should have and then it should be used.

At Hartington the school building has been equipped with a fire escape, a galvanized tube which carries one safely out. Members of the school board made the trial trips. Say, would not fire drill be great sport for the kids who like to slide down a banister or most any other thing that will wear the gable end of their trousers out?

Mrs. Lamm and daughter Marie of Harlan, Iowa, returned home Monday following a visit at the home of Mrs. Emma Baker in this city.

Nebraska's permanent school fund amounts to over nine million dollars. It has accrued from the sale and rentals of state school lands. The interest on the principal is divided semi-annually between the school districts. We call it a pretty good nest-egg.—Burt County Herald.

The report from the H. V. Cronk sale of Duroc-Jersey sows at Waterbury last week is good. He sold 45 head at an average of $35.50, which is ample proof that his stock pleased the people who went to look for that breed of swine there. We have not yet seen a list of the purchasers.

W. S. Slaughter and family came from Herrick, South Dakota, Saturday, and Mrs. Slaughter will remain for a time at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hansen, while their daughter Grace takes treatment for chorea, a nervous trouble. Mr. Slaughter returned Monday.

Ferdinand Trapp, one of the pioneers of Cedar county passed away last week, at the age of 78 years. He had lived on a farm he homesteaded in that county for nearly 50 years. He was father of 21 children, and fourteen of them survive him, four of whom still live in Cedar county.

E. J. Burkett has now announced himself a candidate for vice-president. We would prefer Joe Cannon, who is an expert presiding officer, who has never played false to his friends, he has always been for special interests and never straddled an issue. Burkett is a joke.—Burt County Herald.

Gradually the mists of apprehension are clearing away and a good, wholesome fellowship spirit is growing up in this community. And why not? Two men are better than one and a whole community pulling together can help each one in many ways more than he could help himself.—Coleridge Blade.

A county convention with delegates from each precinct which could name men as candidates before the primaries for county as well as other officers would help a lot in ridding us of the crop of butt-in-skies which the primary nominating plan has developed, and incidentally probably give us a higher type of office holder.—Coleridge Blade.

F. S. Munsinger, who has been for nearly a month past in this part of Nebraska, visiting part of the time at the home of his cousin, M. T. Munsinger, left Saturday to visit at Montrose, South Dakota. He was accompanied by M. T. Munsinger as far as Sioux City, who said he was going to visit the stock yards and commission men of that place and insist that they boost the price of hogs a bit so that Wayne dealers may bid up as high as $7.50 at least. His cousin expressed the opinion that Wayne and Wayne county are all right, and the people are right—progressive and intelligent. He is in love with this fertile land.

Dr. J. T. House closed the work of the first semester in College English with a contest held in the auditorium Monday evening of last week. A cash prize was offered by Dr. House for the best oration, the best essay and the best story. In the oratorical contest the first prize was won by Miss Elsie Meyer of Belden, whose subject was, "The Changing Ideals Concerning Wealth." Helen B. Erloch of Jackson won second prize in oratory, her subject being, "The Harmony of Life." Writing upon the subject, "The Road of Dreams," Miss Amy Culbertson of Dakota City, won the prize in the story contest, and the prize for the best essay was awarded to Hays Main of Wayne, who chose for his subject, "Our Treatment of the Criminal."

Beginning the last day of January the Sioux City commercial club will open their second annual winter short course in Merchandising. Last year they gave their first term, and it was a success, according to the reports of the Wayne merchants who attended all or part of the sessions. Many phases of merchandising will be discussed. Advertising, and its opportunities; reducing cost; credits and collections; prices and profits, and many other phases of business. Besides there will be separate branches of business taken up by those interested, such as dry goods, hardware, groceries and other lines. It promises to be a great school for the merchant to get and give progressive business ideas. No doubt a postal card request to the secretary will bring you full particulars.

Orr & Morris Co., are pricing all their women's, misses and children's ready-to-wear garments at just half price during their special clearance sale which ends next Saturday night.—adv.

Attendance at the weekly dinners of the David City commercial club is averaging nearly 60 of late. It includes a gratifying number of young business men, employees of David City business firms. The club room where the dinners are being served is comfortable and cheerful. It is the club room of the Community building, on the second floor of that building.—The Press.

R. H. Camp has been named as the new county agricultural agent of Thurston county. He was farm raised in eastern Nebraska, farmed in the semi-arid region, went to the state school and has had charge of a co-operative creamery during part of his experience. He has also served as farm manager for different large farms. He can, in our opinion, do nothing better for the farmers of Thurston county than to start them right in a few co-operative creameries and help educate them in the best methods of dairying.

Bradstreet says in his business summary that retail trade was benefitted by the cold wave and fill-in business is good. Spring trade is opening earlier than usual. Deliveries rather than new business is complained of. Material and labor are scarce. Textiles lead in distributive trade. Demand and prices are the best in a generation; prices high, interest low. A big building campaign is planned in spite of high material. Stock market bearish and clearing gain heavily over other years. Bradstreet is supposed to be authority.

One of the farmers' most troublesome problems is the equalization of labor throughout the year. Among the suggestions given to the students at the college of agriculture for winter work are the following: Repair each piece of farm machinery, make tools and do other carpenter and repair work, oil and repair harness, haul manure, sharpen all tools, sharpen mower sickles, sharpen posts for fences, prune trees and vines, clean seed, repair buildings and market grain and hay. Where cows freshen in the fall, the larger care in milking them and caring for their calves comes during the winter months, and the product brings a better price.

Just listening, the other day, a week or so ago, perhaps, the editor heard one man say he had just purchased a machine, and had expected it to arrive the day he was talking, but it was not yet in. He then volunteered the information that he would have purchased it from a Wayne dealer, but he did not know that they were sold from this place, and had purchased from a neighboring town. A little later it developed that he was paying a little over $500 for the machine, and we wondered if the home dealer had not missed a nice profitable deal because he had taken it for granted that the people all about knew just what he was selling, because in a general way they knew his line of business. The Democrat still maintains that it pays to advertise—if one does it intelligently, constantly and economically.

New Item in National Defense

Instead of remaining the most wasteful of nations, the United States must become the most economical.

That is the latest "preparedness" cry.

The United States bureau of chemistry has already undertaken to point the way. It commences with conservation of food at its source of supply, the farm.

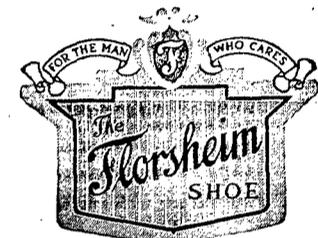

It deals with the prevention of food spoilage, it develops new uses for products, new methods of preservation, new ways of detecting adulteration of foods. It deals with such matters as the breakage of eggs in transit, which is said to be enormous and preventable.

In such conservation is the key to big economy, but it is not the master key. That is in the hands of the American housewife.

The greatest waste in this land of great extravagance is that which accumulates in the garbage cans at the kitchen doors.

Lack of economy in cooking is often merely thoughtlessness, as in the case of housewives who pay the same rate for the tail of the tenderloin of a porterhouse—and then throw the tail away.

Such thoughtlessness or "culinary nonpreparedness" may prove just as fatal to a nation as military nonpreparedness. It is one of the pronounced differences between the self-sufficiency of Germany and the "muddling" methods of England in the present war.—Sioux City News.

Good Looks Alone

Never cooked a meal or did a baking. If the COPPER-CLAD depended alone on its good looks, it would certainly beat them all, for there is not a rivet head or rough place in any of the nickel plating. But the COPPER CLAD does not depend on good looks. It is lined (not plated) with pure sheet copper, for one thing, and this single feature should insure better lasting qualities than any other range made and at very nearly the same price.

You want the most for your money you can get—then see the Copper-Clad before purchasing. We'll leave it to your judgment after that.

Greatest Travel Writer TO TELL OF ALASKA

The World-Herald of Omaha has secured a contract for the exclusive publication in Nebraska of a series of one year's articles in the Sunday World-Herald on the new country of Alaska. Mr. Carpenter spent a year in that country of mystery which the government of the United States is taking a hand in developing. He is the best known descriptive travel writer in the world. He is enthusiastic about what he discovered there and says it is the best human interest and next-to-news material he has ever found. All of our information about this country has hitherto been from dry government reports. The story of this great treasure house, farming section, home of new industries of great magnitude, a magnificent country and a most interesting people will be told by Mr. Carpenter in the Sunday World-Herald. It will be illustrated by beautiful and appropriate half-tone illustrations.

Mouth Hygiene

Realizing the need of a better understanding of the teeth, and the necessity of better care for their preservation, The Democrat has kindly opened its pages for a discussion of this important matter.

Most people will agree, that to have perfect health, it is necessary to have good and clean teeth. It is true that many people with good teeth do not have good health, but the reason for this apparent contradiction is, that they do not use them, but have acquired the habit of bolting food without mastication or have learned when too late, that these important organs were intended to prepare food for the stomach.

Dentists are often astonished at the deplorable ignorance of parents in regard to the teeth, and the bad condition of the child's mouth. Now the mouth being in plain sight, where its unclean condition can be seen even by the casual observer, it does seem strange that it should be so badly neglected. One would think that even if we did not value the teeth for purposes of mastication, and were willing to indulge in the bad habit of bolting food, that we would treasure them for appearance sake. If parents could stand by the side of the dentist and witness the deplorable conditions daily found in the mouths of little children, they would be impressed with the real need of more extended knowledge of these important matters. He is confronted daily with mouths filled with broken down and decayed teeth, nerves exposed and aching and pus oozing from diseased gums.

If such conditions were permitted in any other part of the human body it would be considered a public disgrace and parents permitting it would soon be in danger of being taken before a juvenile court for correction.

The pity of it is, that nearly all of these troubles are unnecessary and the result of neglect.

Dentistry is efficient and can save teeth, with your help. The cause of tooth decay is well known and the remedy as well. Decay comes from the growth of bacteria on unclean and rough surfaces.

Western Drug Merchant Discusses National Health

MONRAD J. OLSEN

Des Moines, Ia., said, in an interview today.

"If each person in this country would take an occasional laxative dose, our hospitals would lose thousands upon thousands of patients."

Mr. Olsen further stated that he was familiar with and had sold all the various laxatives, and that in his opinion, Rexall Orderlies is the most pleasant and sure remedy for constipation.

We have the exclusive selling rights for this great laxative, Trial size, 10 cents.

ROBERTS DRUG CO. THE REXALL STORE.

The remedy of course would be to keep the teeth clean and polished.

The mother's duty is to clean the child's teeth daily, until he is capable of doing it for himself, when he should be required to attend to it just as regularly as he washes his face and hands. His mouth should be inspected often by the mother for soft spots or beginning of decay or better take him twice yearly for dental inspection.

The dentist may find beginning of decay, not noticeable to the inexperienced observer, and by filling the tooth with some indestructible material, prevent further decay and loss of tooth structure with final loss of the tooth.

These operations are usually painless and will be submitted to without trouble by most children.

The reason why filling prevents further decay may be taken up in a later article.

You should remember this fact also, it is cruel to frighten a little child with tales of suffering you have undergone in a dental chair. It is usually untrue and if it were, it is better to keep your troubles to yourself. A child that has not been frightened in this way will usually approach the dentist with confidence and will heroically stand what little pain is necessary to inflict. It is usually easy to impress them that a little pain now will prevent a great deal later on, and they are often better behaved than their elders.

The public schools are doing good work in teaching children the need for care of the teeth and many school districts have become convinced that this matter is of sufficient importance to have free dental inspection, and in some cases, free dental services. There have been instances where it seems to have been proven that contagious disease is spread in the public schools. The infection coming from bacteria sheltered in cavities of decayed teeth, in the mouths of children who have recovered from the disease. If this be true, it is only another argument for a clean mouth to prevent spread of disease. It needs no great argument to prove to any thoughtful person that the period of growth of a child from 2 to 12, is important, and that he should not be handicapped by any preventable deformity. If his teeth are poor or absent, he is surely handicapped, by inability to properly masticate food and he will not only suffer the immediate bad results of indigestion and stunted growth, but will acquire the bad habit of bolting food without mastication, which will continue through life and perhaps permanently injure an overworked stomach.

The immediate bad results of neglected poor teeth have been proven by actual experiment upon school children, but the permanent physical injury is only a matter of speculation and not possible to prove, but it is easy to believe that the delicate organism of a tender child may be permanently injured from neglect of his teeth and inability to properly masticate his food, and a delicate nervous system be wrecked by constant irritation from decayed and aching teeth.

Next in importance to cleanliness for prevention of decay is a knowledge of the importance of the value of the six year molar. At about 6 or 7 years of age there appears back of all the 20 baby teeth a large molar, making 24 teeth. This is a permanent tooth and should be carefully watched as it is very likely to decay early.

It is a very common mistake to think that this is a baby tooth on account of its early appearance and decay is allowed to progress, until tooth ache develops and the dentist is compelled to extract it, although he regrets to do so on account of the importance of this particular tooth. It not only means the loss of a valuable tooth, but permanently deforms the face of the one losing it. Often throwing the occlusion entirely off, causing a crippled inability to masticate.

If the two lowers are extracted, there will be a shortened lower jaw, causing a retreating chin. If the two uppers, a shortening of the upper jaw causing a projecting lower jaw, or if all four are taken out a shortening of the whole face below the nose, causing a weak looking mouth.

Many people are compelled to go through life with deformed and ugly faces, simply because parents were not aware of the importance of this particular tooth, with its consequent loss. There are even some dentists who do not know the permanent injury they are doing a child by the extraction of this tooth. It is usually the fault of the parent, however, and the dentist is simply compelled to extract the offending tooth on account of pain.

There is, of course, danger of injury to the normal development of the bones of the face, in the extraction of any of the permanent teeth of a child, although I do not mean to say it is not often necessary and beneficial to extract teeth in a crowded mouth, to make room for erupting teeth. The six year molar, however, comes at a tender age when the bones are soft and undeveloped, and if extracted during this period a deformity is certain to develop.

Now this can all be prevented by keeping a careful watch for soft spots or beginning decay, and if any are found, have them stopped at once. A very little filling often being all that is necessary to permanently preserve this valuable tooth.

There is much more that might be said on this important subject, and perhaps we can persuade the editor to give us further space in the future. I wish to impress upon you that this is not a plea for the dentist, but prompted by a desire to see the people of Wayne realize the importance of conserving the children's teeth.

—Dentist.

Notes on Oiled Roads

Taking the following clipping from Fairbury (Ill.) Record for a text, the letter following it needs no other introduction:

"Automobilists are complaining of the bad condition of the oiled roads, stating that they are far worse than the ordinary dirt roads, as the water does not sink through and they are so badly cut up that the water in the chuck holes splashes up badly when driving through them."

Editor Democrat:—Some time ago I noticed an item in the Democrat in regard to oiled roads. At the time I thought it would be a good thing for Wayne county roads. It works fine out here, but our roads are mostly sandy, although the oil seems to work well in clay and gravel. You would have the frost to contend with in Nebraska, however.

When an oiled road is just put down, it is quite an improvement, but when it begins to get out of repair it is about as disagreeable a road to travel over as you can find and the only way to repair it is to plow the crust and make it all over new.

In talking the matter over with a friend he gave me the inclosed clipping from his home town in Illinois. If the people of Wayne are still considering the question of oiling their streets, perhaps they would be interested in this news item.

Nebraska's Wealth in Stock

The government officials have favored the Democrat with the government live stock report, from which we glean the following figures regarding the domestic animals of this state:

Of horses there are 1,030,000, which is a little below the five year average. They are valued at an average of $94.

There are 98,000 mules, which is a gain in number over previous years, and their average value is $104.

Milch cows have increased in number over last year, and now the number 650,000, with an average value of $60, which is nearly twice their average value five years ago.

Cattle other than milch cows have also increased in number, and are now given at 2,240,000 with an average value of $40.50 each. This value five years ago was placed at $22.50.

But little difference was shown in the number of sheep for several years, and the number is given at 374,000, but they are worth about 60 cents each more than last year, and more than a dollar more than five years ago.

More swine are given than in other years, but the value per head is a little less. The number is given at 4,270,000, valued at $9.40 each.

These figures show how much more popular the hog is than the sheep in this state. Yet there are those who say the sheep is the more profitable animal to grow.

Swift & Co., the meat packers of Chicago, sent the Democrat a handsome calendar, and a write-up worth two dollars of any man's money as an advertisement. We accept the calendar but decline the free adv.

Congressman Gardner is said to repudiate the letter credited to him by some of the newspapers last week relating to his change of allegiance to the policy of preparedness. He says that he never belonged to the league. Glad to hear that he kept out of that kind of company.

The fellow at Keokuk, Iowa, who sold liquor after the new prohibition law became effective, to test the law, is getting satisfaction. He has been indicted by the grand jury as a criminal, and he seemed surprised. He should not have been surprised when he knowingly and willfully disobeyed the law.

That political harmony meeting at Lincoln last week failed to harmonize. The self-appointed harmonizers could not even agree among themselves as well as the common people appear to. Yes, it was a republican harmony—and that kind appears nation wide in that party and its bullmoose competitor.

If the republicans name a candidate suitable in the eyes of Roosevelt he will desert his baby bullmoose and return to the fleshpots of the interests—if the candidate does not please his highness he will use that bull calf to disrupt the standpat faction of what was once his party. That makes it imperative for the republicans to name Teddy if they want his support.

One of the things which seem to prove that a farm demonstrator is a good thing for a rural community is the fact that while they have been increasing in number until more than 1,000 counties now have them, no county of record has thought it wise to do away with the county agent once they had one. They sometimes change for a better one, but discontinue, never.

Abraham Lincoln Sutton of Omaha is asking the republican nomination for governor on the grounds that he believes in water as a beverage and a power. He would encourage education and reduce expenses—he would use water for irrigation also. His platform sounds good to a lot of people. We do not happen to know his past record, so cannot judge except by his words.

There appears to be a feeling now that Hughes is the only man the republicans can unite on with any show of winning, and the judge seems to think he is not called to quit a steady job just to his liking, for so uncertain an undertaking as running for the presidency on the republican ticket. One really wonders how any man can be two minded enough to please a Teddy and a Fairbanks; a Cummins and an Estabrook; a republican who wants to have war and eat 'em alive and one who favors peace; one who thinks a higher tariff will bring prosperity and one who professes to want only such tariff as will cover the difference in wages here and abroad. Perhaps some one may be on both sides of several questions at the same time, but we doubt it.

Things are going wrong, or liable to in congress, and the Democrat is asked to aid to give publicity to the fact that Mr. Aryes of Kansas is guilty of introducing a bill which will make it unlawful for the book combine to show any favors to large purchasers of books for use, such as schools and libraries. They must sell to wholesalers at a uniform price only, to retailers all at a given price whether they purchase one copy or one thousand, and to schools and libraries at the same price they sell to individual consumers. In other words, as we understand it, would legalize any prices the book combine saw fit to make, and would add from 25 to 40 per cent to the prices now paid by schools and libraries. We do not know whether the bill applies this vicious system to other than books or not. But if you believe the principle wrong write your senators and congressmen requesting that they vote against the bill. We look at the matter as one of more importance than simply the application to the sale of books. If a law may compel a manufacturer to make uniform prices, then they may make a maximum price, and should do so, and be sure that it is not too high. But except as to a monopoly (and by monopoly we mean things too large to make competition probable or possible as railroads, or some enterprise founded on acquisition of natural resources, such as the Standard Oil, the Steel combine or the great coal concerns, the copper kings and the like,) competition should fix prices. Consider this bill in its largest, broadest sense, and if you oppose the principle involved, make your congressman sit up and take notice that you think it wrong.

LOCAL NEWS

Cletian Gossard and family from up in the Saskatchewan regions of Canada, were visiting at the home of his brother, A. P. Gossard last week. They have been visiting at other places in Nebraska where they have relatives. He, too, brings a good report of that as a land for farming, and that the last season was a most excellent one—but then not many people from this land of peace will go the possessions of one of the warring nations of Europe to settle and be taxed to pay the cost of this great war.

Dr. G. J. Green and family are planning to leave Wayne this week for a new home at Omaha where the doctor has become a partner in the dental office of Dr. T. P. Barber in the City National bank building. Dr. Green feels that he is entering a field where there are opportunities not to be found in a professional way in such a place as Wayne. Himself and worthy wife have many Wayne friends who wish them well while regretting their going. All predict that he will be very successful in his new field, as he has been here.

Ex-Governor Aldrich was a Wayne visitor Tuesday. He was looking after the political fences for himself, being a candidate for the republican nomination for United States senator. The cards he was giving out pledge him if elected to advocate a vote on national prohibition, a tariff commission, reasonable adequate defense, irrigation and development of western land, rural credits, federal inheritance tax, more vigorous foreign policy and not a bit of pork. So you read the platform and vote as it pleases you.

S. Fishman from Cheyenne county was here the first of the week visiting his friend, E. B. Chichester and others. He is treasurer of the county, and tells us that they are prospering there as an agricultural country, and a stock growing community. He told the Democrat that he was coming back here when the flowers are in bloom and talk land to a lot of people. He is farming 1,800 acres and thinks it is far better than trying to make ends meet on the high priced land we are living on in this part of the state, especially for the poor man who does not always want to remain poor.

Haul Manure When Fresh

When possible, it is profitable for the farmer to dump his stable manure into a manure spreader and haul it directly to the field as often as it is full. A man who will haul to, the field will average 29 minutes in handling each spreader full. As ordinarily handled, a man can haul but 12 loads in nine hours at the rate of 50 minutes a load. In addition to the saving in time and labor, fresh manure brings to the soil a larger amount of plant food, since leaching and losses by destructive fermentation are avoided. Besides, the farmstead is relieved of breeding places for flies and disease germs, as well as unpleasant odors.

Baby Week March 4 to 11

March 4 to 11 is Baby Week in Nebraska and all over the United States. Sponsored by the children's bureau of the United States department of labor and assisted by thousands of members of women's clubs all over the country, an effort will be made to bring about a better understanding concerning children's problems. Although the conditions in Nebraska are not so acute as in other sections of the United States, Nebraska women are expecting to take a keen interest in the movement. In an effort to co-operate with the work, the extension service of the college of agriculture, will send a program for this occasion to any one interested.

At last service Peter was the subject of discussion but next Sunday night "Jonah" will be at the bat.

If there is anybody in Wayne who has been accustomed to laughing at Jonah or somewhat skeptical about that so called fish story come out to the evening service next Sunday and hear something about Jonah that you never heard before. Men of Wayne—business men—attending church should be made a business, and churches should be supported in a business like way. With this in mind the church on the corner will do its best to maintain a business man's service—plain, practical, up-to-date, with life and business prominent in every feature.

Presbyterian Church
(Rev. S. Xenophon Cross, Pastor)
There was a fine attendance at the evening meeting last Sunday and you are invited to come again. The Sunday morning United Service begins at 10:30 sharp. The sermon subject for next Sunday is: "The Deeps of God."

The Barracca-Philathea class is doing excellent work. There were 26 in the class last Sunday. Miss Margaret Forbes is teacher of the class. The Juniors are splendidly keeping the pledge to attend the services of the church. Armed with notebook and pencil, they are taking down the text and they can tell about the sermon, too.

Last Sunday was the banner day in the Sunday school, in the record of more than a year. Let us make next Sunday another record-breaker in the Sunday school attendance. Your presence will make one more. Visitors are always welcome at the 6:30 Y. P. S. C. E. meeting. Miss Margaret Forbes will lead the next meeting. These are good meetings and are becoming better with each Sunday evening. May we see you at this meeting?

There will be special music at the evening service next Sunday. The meeting begins at 7:30. There will be an address on: "The Purchase of Opportunity." This will be the best service of the entire day, provided you will assist with your presence. Plans have been matured to redecorate the entire interior of the church and lay a new floor covering. Messrs. Wm. H. Gildersleeve, A. R. Davis, and Jas. McIntosh constitute the committee appointed in this work. The work will be commenced in the near future.

Methodist Church
(Rev. A. S. Buell Pastor)
Why not make our homelike church your church home? It is with pleasure we note the real friendly greetings among our congregations which gives to the church that homelike atmosphere. If our audiences become much larger we will have to open our League room in order to accommodate them, but we assure you that we would be delighted to do that. Why not join the church going through next Sabbath and find your place in one of the churches? In the Methodist church the pastor expects to continue the practical interpretations of the decalogue. At the hour of the morning worship he will speak on, "The Sacredness of Life." The text will be the sixth and seventh commandments. "Thou Shalt not Kill, Thou Shalt not Commit Adultery." Life must neither be destroyed nor abused.

The evening message will be on, "The Individual Relationship and Right to Property." Come and find out about your share. You will find these services intensely interesting. The plan is to get out of the message that which will apply to the present conditions of life. We aim to be practical. We know that the church has a message for you and will help you if you are willing to come half way. Our splendid choir under the efficient leadership of Professor Coleman assures a high class and efficient musical program at each service. Miss Bessie Crockett is becoming quite proficient in playing the pipe organ.

The young people's social last Friday evening was a very decided success. The young people took the train for the heart of the Rockies where they all enjoyed the privilege of fishing in Lake McDonald. Two were maids in the lake, greatly assisted in the catch. Various kinds of fish were taken from the lake including shellfish, suckers and salmon. The train next took the party to Swan lake where they went hunting, after many adventures and some success they returned to West Chicago and were refreshed at the railroad lunch counter with sandwiches and coffee. The young people of the Epworth League give another social February 4th.

Our Wednesday services for prayer are growing slowly. The ten o'clock prayer groups at the homes were not large in numbers but the aggregate of attendance in the nine groups would have made a good showing. We had some blessed times in those group meetings and we trust you will find your place in one of these meetings. The afternoon and evening meetings were held in the Methodist church this week and will be held in the Presbyterian church next week.

The regular revival meetings will begin in the Baptist church at three o'clock Sunday afternoon, February 6th. Plan your business and social life so as to be present at as many services as possible during the revival. We urgently ask the professors and students in the high school and in the Normal schools to co-operate with us as far as possible in these meetings. Let us wait upon God and see if He will not open to us the windows of heaven and pour upon us blessings that we will not be enabled to receive.

Only a moderate run of sheep and lambs showed up yesterday, about 6,000 head, and the quality was not good. Pyorrhoea

Decay is not the only enemy of the teeth. Inflammation and absorption of the gums and bony sockets, chiefly caused by the presence of tartar and soft accumulations of decomposed food particles, is alarmingly frequent, and results in the loss of many teeth.

To prevent decay of the teeth and absorption of their bony sockets, the one great essential is cleanliness of the mouth, and also correct habits of eating.

To remove tartar and stains the DAILY use of the tooth brush is necessary, and frequent visits to the dentist for polishing and cleaning are also essential.

Gus Test, southeast of this place will have a farm closing out sale on Wednesday, February 9th.

Last Friday evening August Fanske, who is here visiting his son, L. A. Fanske, was the victim of quite a serious accident. It had thawed during the middle of the day and water from the snow had run into the groove at the bottom of a large sliding door built to let a buggy or wagon through. This caused the door to stick and Mr. Fanske took a spade to loose the door so that he could close it for the night. In prying with the spade he raised the door so that the rollers at the top came off the track allowing the door to fall, and this it did, carrying Mr. Fanske beneath it, but not gaining force enough to crush him. He managed to get out from under the door and get to the house without aid, but he was so badly bruised about the hips and thigh that he has been in bed most of the time since. A physician says that there is no internal injury and that no bones are broken, and predicts that he will again soon be about as usual in spite of the 85 years he has been on earth.

Hugo Line, who has been visiting here with his brother and sister for some time left Wednesday to visit a brother at Nevada, Missouri. Their niece, who has been visiting here since the holidays left by the same train for her home at Charter Oak, Iowa.

E. L. Jones and family, who have been living in Minnesota for the past year or two, are moving back to this county.

Let's Vote on the Question

Equity, a quarterly publication devoted to improved processes of self government, says that the people should be given a chance to vote on the question of preparedness, and urges that it is a new question in its present shape, and that there has been no demand from the people or by the political parties. Equity, therefore says let the question be placed on the official ballot so that every voter may this fall tell his sentiments.

The Democrat believes the idea a good one, and proposes to give the citizens of this county opportunity to express their opinion, and here submits the question in the form suggested as embodying the president's idea. If you will vote your sentiments and send it to this paper the result will be announced, and that will at least help to show public sentiment. We would be glad to have the voter sign his ballot, but will not insist on that. Here is the form:

Referred to the Voters by Congress

Do you favor the general plan of increasing the nation's military and naval establishment, as proposed in the Dec. 7, 1915, address of the President to Congress, namely: An increase in the regular standing army from 108,008 (all services) to 141,843 and the creation of a volunteer enlisted citizen army of 400,000 men required to undergo discipline and drill not over two months a year for a 3-year period; also, for the navy a 5-year program of construction to provide ten battleships, six battle cruisers, ten scout cruisers, fifty destroyers, fifteen fleet submarines, eighty-five coast submarines, four gunboats, one hospital ship, two ammunition ships, two fuel oil ships, and one repair ship; and to enlist enough more men and educate more officers to man these ships. The total increase of said national armament estimated to cost in five years, $500,000,000.

Congressman Shallenberger, after hearing from the people who sent him to represent them in Washington, has notified Chairman Kitchin of the ways and means committee that he need not consider him one who will aid in placing additional tax upon the people to pay for war preparation in time of peace. It might be well for a lot of the present congress to hear from home before they go too far. Naval and military men who hold their office and draw the salary during good behavior or for life appear to be the loudest in demand for the spending of the people's money to make more secure their job. It might be a wise thing to increase the army and navy as proposed as to numbers and drill them in road work for the army, and navy in improving waterways and drainage. Do this and let their pay be taken from the increased land values such improvement would make. An army and navy is all right if they can be made useful, but to keep them simply for show purposes to strut about in uniform is a sad mistake.

The State of Nebraska, Wayne county, ss.
I, Chas. W. Reynolds, county clerk in and for Wayne county, Nebraska, do hereby certify that the board of county commissioners of Wayne county, Nebraska, did on January 11th, 1916, it being a regular session of the board, make the following estimate of expenses for Wayne county, Nebraska, for the year 1916.

County General Fund	$35,000.00
County Bridge Fund	30,000.00
County Road Fund	30,000.00
County Road Dragging Fund	5,000.00
County Soldier's Relief Fund	1,000.00

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal this 13th day of January, A. D., 1916.

(Seal) CHAS. W. REYNOLDS, County Clerk.

What's the Use?

W. H. Green of the Creighton Liberal must have been off the job last week—as we failed to note his usual spiky editorial—is it the grip, William?—Wayne Democrat. The Wayne Democrat since the present management took possession several years ago has been a very generous contemporary and we know that the foregoing is not a jibe. No, the lines which appeared in the Democrat as given above were written when we opened the Liberal and failed to find the usual opening editorial which we hoped to use for copy, for Editor Green always strikes fair and knows what he is talking and writing about, unless this editor is much mistaken.

Lincoln Letter

"Organized Agriculture" has filled Lincoln to overflowing with lumbermen, tax assessors, apple growers, stockmen, historians, dairymen, housekeepers, politicians and onlookers, all of whom seemed to derive much benefit from the various meetings, January 17 to 21.

Upon application of Attorney General Reed, the supreme court of Nebraska has granted a temporary injunction restraining five railroads from violating the two-cent fare law and the mileage book law. Hearing is set for February 7th on motion to make the injunction perpetual. This order covers all railroads in Nebraska, except the Missouri Pacific and Rock Island which had previously commenced suits in federal court to restrain the state officers from enforcing the rate law. The Missouri Pacific is now charging 2.4 cents per mile fare.

State Treasurer Hall has certified to State Superintendent Thomas that he has $454,410.93 of temporary school money to be apportioned among the various school districts of Nebraska. This represents the collections from June 2, 1915, to January 17, 1916, and is made up as follows:

Interest on bonds	$288,349.89
Game and fish licenses	27,650.75
Old state school tax	74.24
Interest on school land sales	39,552.62
Lease on school land	92,182.43
Miscellaneous licenses	6,601.00
Total	$454,410.93

A most successful meeting to the county assessors of Nebraska was held in the senate chamber at Lincoln Wednesday and Thursday of last week and closed by re-electing D. L. Sylvester of Butler president and J. H. Dean of Buffalo secretary. The legislative committee chosen comprises, T. F. Costello of Hall, J. R. C. Miller of Lancaster and Fred Kluck of Colfax. Secretary Bernecker of the state board of assessment spent much of the time explaining puzzling questions that arise in the assessment of property. He said the state board expects counties to assess real estate at 75 per cent of the sales value, only bona fide sales to be included. Addresses were made by State Treasurer Hall and State Auditor Smith, members of the state board.

State Auditor Smith has just issued his quarterly report for the state's expenses during the last quarter of 1915. It shows a reduction of nearly eighteen thousand dollars in expenditures.

Quarter ended Sept. 30, 1915, total	$1,124,932.94
Quarter ended Dec. 31, 1915, total	1,107,220.68
Reduction	$ 17,712.26

The last quarters expenditures may be summarized as follows:

State University	$ 393,402.31
State Normal schools	143,503.91
Fifteen state institutions	372,757.95
The supreme and district courts	53,613.39
All other departments	143,943.12
Total	$1,107,220.68

The university and normal schools cost 48.4 per cent of the total; the fifteen state institutions and board of commissioners, 33.6 per cent; the courts, 4.8 per cent; while the executive offices, boards, commissions, etc., took up the other 13.2 per cent.

County Demonstrators

The county farm demonstrator no longer is an experiment. The things he has accomplished, as a whole, seem to be worth while and he apparently is here to stay. It is said that not a single county in the country has dropped the plan after once trying it out. Here and there a man has failed to make good at the job, but that was not the fault of the job and so another man was hired. The success or failure of the plan depends almost entirely on the kind of man that is hired. The best of them will sometimes have a hard row of stumps to hoe, due to opposition from outside the supporting organizations, and to other adverse conditions, but in the end their personality and ability will win out.

There are now 1,000 county farm demonstrators in the 48 states of the union. Eight of these are in Nebraska, in Gage, Madison, Dawes, Dakota, Thurston, Kimball, Seward and Boxbutte counties. Four other Nebraska counties have asked for men to begin work January 1 next. This shows that Nebraska is far below the average in the number of demonstrators maintained but this is true of all Middle West states. By far the largest per cent of them are found in the South where some states have a man in almost every county. But then they need them more down there than we do here.

With the Peace Ship Oscar II.

Harry C. Evans, editor of the Yeoman Shield, was sent on the peace ship Oscar II as representative of the great fraternal societies of this land and he writes back the experience of the ship, crew and passengers while under the temporary rule of the British. He says:

"At Kirkwall British officers came aboard, demanded our passports (which were not to their country) and examined our cargo. We were held here three days, virtually prisoners. We were not permitted to proceed on our journey; we were not permitted to go ashore; we were not permitted to use our cameras, and the wireless was sealed. We were allowed to mail letters home to our families, but these were taken to London, the seals broken, and if anything was found therein that displeased the censor the letters were not permitted to reach the United States.

"Conditions found by the inspectors of our ship were wired to London. On the morning of the third day word came from London to confiscate all that portion of the United States mail known as parcel post. The officers of our ship were required to put all parcel post packages in sacks. A British vessel came along side and 1000 sacks, big bags of United States mail, addressed to individuals in Norway, Denmark and Sweden, neutral countries, were seized by England. "This is only a side light on the treatment the neutral nations are receiving from the mistress of the seas. It is a mere incident, showing what is happening to every vessel that comes within England's war zone, and of course the same procedure is taken by all other belligerent nations if you happen to get into waters controlled by them.

"Had there been a suspicious person aboard he would have been detained. I recall the difficulty our government got into during the civil war when we seized an English ship and took from it Mason and Slidell, confederate envoys to Europe. England raised such a row about it that we were compelled to return the prisoners, known to be avowed enemies, and Abraham Lincoln made an abject apology to England.

"The extreme lengths to which the warring nations are going in interfering with the rights of neutral nations on the high seas will call for a reckoning and readjustment of the question of the freedom of the seas. Every American aboard felt extremely indignant in the thought that he was forcibly brought from the high seas to English soil and held a prisoner for three days.

lish soil and held a prisoner for three days.

"The harbour at Kirkwall is landlocked. Its entrance is one thousand feet wide. From either shore toward the center of the entrance there is a line of buoys, larger than barrels, that sustain a network of mines.

"A trip through the Orkney islands, then across the North sea to Scandinavia and Holland affords one the best possible opportunity, from a geographical standpoint, to study the great question of sea power. The configuration of the coasts of the North sea makes it possible for Great Britain to control the exits from the sea.

"Germany's only outlet from its corner of the sea to the world is through the Kiel canal. In no other way can she get her navy on the high seas. Through no other waters could she bring her battleships against England—and England has the mouth of this canal, and adjacent waters, so thoroughly mined as to prevent the egress of the German navy and prevent imports into Germany from overseas.

"As we passed through the islands off the north coast of the British Isles and crossed the North sea fairly sensed the near presence of the great British navy. True, we did not see much of it—only its pickets and skirmishers—trawlers, coast guards, converted cruisers, torpedo boat destroyers and imaginary if not actual battleships. We knew that from the Shetland Islands south, along the east coast of Great Britain, lay the mistress of the sea waiting the possible forcing of the Kiel canal by the German navy.

We knew, also, that the great bulk of England's sea fighters were well to the north end of the British Isles, for if the German fleet ever came into the North sea to strike England it could strike only by passing her to the north, then south to her west coast. German ships could never go south from Holland into the English channel.

"English and French mines and submarines are as thick there as leaves in Valembrosia. Between Calais and Dover the channel is but fifteen miles wide, and passage by an enemy's ship is impossible. So we intuitively knew that here in these waters immediately surrounding us lay the great, silent, irresistible power that has controlled the sea and thereby the destinies of nations for more than a hundred years."

Winside Notes

(From the Tribune)

Mrs. Laura Cress was a passenger to O'Neill Tuesday evening, where she was called by the illness of her sister.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fuchser of Yutan, on Tuesday, January 11, a son, Mrs. Fuchser will be remembered as Sophia Dimmel.

Herman K. Olson and wife of Wausa came last week and Mr. Olson took charge of the Daniel Cole Cream station, the vacancy caused by the resignation of Wm. Thies. They have remodeled the interior of the building and will do light housekeeping there for the present.

The Farmers State Bank opened last Thursday morning for business in their new home. While the finishing touches are not completed, the officers and patrons will find a pleasant place for their business transactions. A cordial invitation is extended to you to visit the new home.

About 20 young people dropped in at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Carr last Thursday evening and gave them a surprise. The evening was spent in playing games and singing favorite songs. A midnight lunch was served and at one o'clock the guests departed for their respective homes, all declaring they had had the best time of their lives.

One of the greatest social events of the year was Thursday evening, when Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Cullen celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Cullen have spent a good part of their lives in Winside, being identified with all parts of the social life of the town, generous, charitable and always pleased to help any good enterprise along, and it was fitting they celebrate this occasion. It was 8:30 when about 50 of their friends gathered at their beautiful home to assist in making merry this one bright spot in the lives of the bride and groom. The many rooms were elaborately decorated with fresh cut flowers, and the happy smiles of the host and hostess stimulated all the guests to drop their sorrows, if they had any, and mirth and joy went on unconfined. Cards were the main feature and after ten games the tables were cleared, then loaded with all the year's master mind could conceive. Then came a cake, presented by Mrs. Lorette, the size of a small grindstone or wash tub, decorated with twenty-five burning tapers, the cake then had to be cut and each lady take a piece home and placed under her pillow to bring pleasant dreams. In behalf of the guests, H. E. Simon then presented a beautiful chair, which was tested then and there by the esteemed couple to see that it would carry two, the same as the old rocker did 25 years ago. It was the small hour of next day when the guests departed, all wishing the worthy couple twenty-five years more of unalloyed happiness that they may celebrate their golden wedding as happily as they did their silver wedding, last Thursday evening. Those present were; Messrs. and Mesdames George Gabler, J. D. Cavanaugh, A. H. Carter, Charles Needham, H. E. Simon, G. A. Mettelstadt, Walter Gaebler, J. G. Neely, I. O. Brown, Henry Smith, A. C. Lantz, Henry Brune, Francis Fish, Harry Tidrick, Ralph Prince, John Prince, Mr. and Mrs. John Massie and son, of Wayne, Mrs. Lute Miller, Dr. V. L. Siman, G. E. French, Walter Christensen, Sam Rew and G. A. Pestal.
