PROF. HOLDEN TO LECTURE IN WAYNE NEXT TUESDAY

Wayne County Farmers Secure Prof. Holden, the Most Noted Expert of Proper Seed Growing, to Aid in Making a Greater Corn Crop.

Too much importance cannot be attached to the Holden Corn meeting to be held in Wayne next Tuesday, both afternoon and evening, for the benefit of the Wayne county farmers. Every farmer and land owner should be alert and anxious to take advantage of the thing that can aid him in the selection of seed and the securing of a good stand. The 1915 corn crop was grown under very adverse conditions, the summer and early fall were extremely wet and while the corn was very soft an early frost and very low temperature overtook it. What damage the corn germs sustained no one knows. The haphazard system of selecting an ear for seed because it looks good will not do this year above all years. It never was the right kind of a system, never gave best results and has been responsible for the loss of a great deal of corn in Wayne county.

LAST YEAR'S SEED

There is, no doubt, considerable corn being saved for seed from year before last crop and this may be good and it may not be good. There is always uncertainty attached to old seed of most every variety and corn is no exception. If it was good last year it does not follow that it will be good seed this year. Every ear of corn planted this spring, whether of the new crop or old, should be tested with exceeding care and great pains. No farmer can afford to take chances. West and south of us the Nebraska farmer is already in the market for his seed corn and realizes that he has no small task before him. If by test it is found that you have good strong seed there will be a market for it for planting purposes if you can guarantee its growing qualities.

HOLDEN WILL TELL US HOW

The object of Prof. Holden in visiting Wayne county is to explain fully all the processes of testing and the diagnosing of a strong, life germ. He himself is a past master in the art and as an authority on corn is not surpassed in the United States. He is the Taseled Knight of the Stalk—the wizard of the yellow king. He will forget more about corn today than most of us ever knew.

THE COMMITTEE IN CHARGE

During last week Prof. C. H. Bright of the normal sent out requests to the following men asking that they act on the committee that shall have matters in charge, in order that the whole affair may be the greatest possible success: Harry Tidrick, Winside; W. A. K. Neely, Wayne; Will Cunningham, Wayne; Ed. Sundahl, Wakefield; Fred Sundahl, Wakefield; John R. Morris, Carroll; R. R. Smith, Carroll; Geo. Snowden, Carroll; V. L. Dayton, James Baird, P. M. Corbit, S. E. Auker, Jno. McIntyre, A. C. Dean, Geo. McEaghen, Harvey Miner, all of Wayne; Roggenbach Bros., Altona; Henry Lessman, Wayne; Irvin Moses, Winside; Wm. Assenheimer, Altona; Carl Wright, Wayne; Milo Kempke, Wayne; A. Whitter, Wayne; M. J. Munsinger, Wayne; James Mcintosh, Wayne; Frank Housen, Wakefield.

These gentlemen will meet Saturday of this week in the city hall and perfect the arrangements.

TO USE COLLEGE AUDITORIUM

The meetings both afternoon and evening will be held in the college auditorium and the exhibit of corn in the Science hall. This arrangement will give added impetus to the whole affair and contribute much to its success as well as convenience. The normal faculty, too, will contribute to the general fund. Information all in their power, are already at work on the samples of corn sent in and it is being germinated and will on the 7th inst., be on exhibition so that every farmer present can see for himself what Wayne county has for seed corn this year of poor and uncertain quality.

The Passing of Mrs. Conover

Following a year of sickness during which time all that is known to the skillful medical men of the west was done to stay the onward march of a disease from which few escape, Mrs. Janette Conover passed peacefully to the other world from her home in this city Saturday afternoon, February 26, 1916, surrounded by her children and faithful friends. Twice did she submit to operations to stop the cancerous growth which was eating her life away. She withstood her sufferings with cheerful, Christian fortitude, and sympathized with relatives and friends in their sorrow that they could do nothing to prolong her life.

The Democrat but voices the words of those who knew her best when it says that in the passing of Mrs. Conover a kind and loving mother, a real neighbor and faithful Christian woman has been called from a world of suffering to a home where pain and sorrow are not known.

Janette I. Brock was born April 27, 1858, at Green Mountain, Iowa, where she spent her young days, and was there united in marriage to Monroe N. Conover, December 24, 1875. They moved to Wayne county in 1880, and here builded their home, settling on a farm one mile east of Wayne. She is survived by five children, Joel D., Clinton E., and Miss Laura of Wayne, and Mrs. J. A. Farnsworth of Sioux City, and James W. Conover of St. Paul, Minnesota, all of whom were with her during her last hours. Her husband, Monroe N. Conover, died February 7, 1901.

In January 1883 she joined the Baptist church and has since led a consistent Christian life. The funeral service was from the Baptist church in this city Monday morning, conducted by Rev. W. L. Gaston, her pastor, and a large number of friends gathered to drop a tear on the bier of one they had long known and loved, and give expression to the sympathy they have for the bereaved family. Following the service the body, accompanied by the three sons, was taken to North Bend and interred beside that of her life companion.

Third Bank for Winside

For the past two or three weeks we have heard a great deal about the third bank that is to be opened in Winside in the near future, but had no positive proof until a week ago today, when we were informed of the facts.

The new institution will be open for business under the name of Security State Bank, with Mr. G. E. French as president and Mr. D. B. Carter as cashier. The bank will have a capital of $15,000 and an authorized capital of $25,000. The site of the banking house will be where the French & Carter Realty office is now located, and will undoubtedly be constructed of brick.

Mr. French is at the head of the organization and is sure to make a most successful institution as he has had a life-time experience in the work and is a very careful and successful banker. Mr. Carter, who will be the cashier of the new bank, was the cashier in the Merchant's State Bank the past four years, having worked his way from bookkeeper to that position in the eleven years he was associated with that bank.—Winside Tribune.

New Preacher for St. Paul Church

Rev. J. H. Fetterolf is to arrive here from Kansas this week, and has accepted the pastorate of the English Lutheran church, and begins his duties at once. This church has been without a pastor since the death of Rev. Blessing last fall, but have carried on a lot of church work just the same, having been fortunate in a loyal working membership which has met the emergency well.

Marriage Licenses Issued

Marriage licenses were issued last week to Wm. Bowles and Miss Ruthilda Siminonsen, and county Judge Britton united them in marriage the 25th of February. Robert E. Paulsen and Miss Hazel Milligan were issued license the 23d.

February 23d Walter Obst and Bessie Carpenter were given license and married by Judge Britton.

See us for wedding invitations.

GOEMANN WEEK AT COURT

Time of District Court this Week Devoted to Trials of Siemon Goemann for Illegal Sale of Intoxicants.

Judge Olson is presiding at the Wayne county District Court this week and the time has been entirely taken so far to hearing evidence and arguments in the cases of the State vs. Siemon Goemann, who was under bonds to answer to the charge of illegally selling liquor.

The first case went to trial Monday, and to the jury about 10 o'clock Tuesday. This jury after being out more than thirty hours returned a verdict of guilty on one count.

Meantime another jury had been selected and trial started on another case. In this case the verdict was "Guilty," one count only being so declared. This jury was not so long reaching a verdict and reported after a few hours out and ahead of the first one out.

The men were then set up for the third trial, and the result was the same in this as in the others. The fourth trial is now under way, in which the City of Wayne is plaintiff, and the verdict is not yet.

It may come a little high to devote a week of court and secure so many jurymen from all parts of the county to try this one man, but if he violates law persistently it is best to have the matter settled so that it will not come up again.

No sentence has been passed, but the maximum penalty is a fine of $500 for each count and 6 months in county jail.

Brumel-Marten

Last week Thursday afternoon at three o'clock at the German Reform church, three miles southwest of Hoskins, occurred the marriage of two very prominent young people of the Spring Branch settlement. The contracting parties were Miss Emma Brumel and Mr. Frank Marten.

Rev. Hammann, pastor of the church, spoke the words which made the happy young couple man and wife through the remainder of life's journey.

After the ceremony at the church the bridal couple and invited guests went to the home of the bride's parents, where a very elegant supper was served at 5 o'clock.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Brumel, well known residents of Wayne county and is a charming young lady, who will make a pleasant helpmate in the home she will adorn. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Marten, who reside in Stanton county and is a young man of good word and a son of honorable parents. Mr. and Mrs. Marten will go to house-keeping in a short time on the groom's farm, three miles south of Hoskins.—Headlight.

Local Weather Forecast

Last week Will Weber the weather prophet, predicted a week from the 26th to the 3d of March with stormy tendencies, and his prediction has been made good by the weather man—at least good enough so that no one is asking that it be more literally fulfilled.

For the coming week, beginning with the moon change at 9:58 the evening of the 3d until the change at 12:33 the afternoon of the 11th rain or snow will be our portion more or less if there be a south or southwest wind.

March came in like a lion that roars much, and it is hoped that the exit will be lamblike.

County Fair

A county fair is assured for Wayne this year regardless of what the state appropriations may be. The one in question will be held in the Baptist church next Saturday evening. It will be a very laughable and entertaining affair. You will be weighed and charged only a few cents for your avoirdupoise. There will be much fun and harmless entertainment. The young people of the church have the affair in charge and will use the proceeds to build a garage on the pastorial lot for the use of the pastor.

Munsinger quotes $8.35 for hogs at Wayne today. By the way Wayne is getting notoriety as a hog market the past month.

Social Notes

The Long Beach, (California) Daily Telegram brings the following word of Wayne people spending the winter there, the clipping being taken from the social notes of the Alberta Apartments in the above named paper:

"Mrs. Henry Ley of the Alberta was the fortunate winner of the ladies prize at the Day Nursery benefit given Saturday evening at Hotel Alexander, and Mr. Henry Ley carried off the gentleman's prize. To celebrate the victory and also to get assistance in eating the prize, which was a delicious five pound box of candy, Mr. and Mrs. Ley invited a party of friends to enjoy the evening with them in playing "Royalty." This is a very pleasing game of cards invented by Mrs. Ley. The suits in the cards are carnations, roses, pansies and violets, while the face cards are adorned with the photos of her friends.

Mrs. John Vennerberg and Miss Frances Spahr entertained the school children of district No. 14 Friday evening in honor of the Timson boys who leave the first of next week for their new home near Bloomfield. The evening was spent in playing games and in singing the school songs, after which Mrs. Vennerberg, assisted by Miss Anna served a delicious supper. All left for their homes at a late hour, after having spent a jolly evening together and wishing the boys a pleasant year in their new home.

The Minerva club met at the home of Mrs. Lutzen Monday afternoon. Mrs. House read a paper on the History of Norway. Mrs. Huntemer read a paper on Hendrick Ibsen. Mrs. Lutzen, assisted by her committee, served a delicious two-course luncheon. The musical members of the club gave selections on piano. Next meeting will be with Mrs. House, March 13.

The U. D. club met with Mrs. Kemp last Monday afternoon. Roll call, An Austrian city and Some Facts Concerning It. Mrs. Ringland read a paper on Japanese Commercialism. The hostess served dainty refreshments. On next Monday evening Mrs. Ringland and Mrs. Hufford will be hostesses to the club and husbands.

FLOYD HOLT FATALLY HURT

Brakeman on the Crofton Branch Falls Between Cars at Wakefield Tuesday Evening Losing Arm and Leg.

Floyd Holt of Emerson received injuries at Wakefield Tuesday evening which resulted in his death before morning. In attempting to raise the coupling while running at the side of a freight train he slipped and fell with an arm and leg across the rail in such a manner that the wheels caught him, severing both members.

He was at once taken to Sioux City on a special train, and all that could be was done for him, but the shock was too great, and he passed away at an early hour Wednesday morning.

He was a son of A. Holt of Emerson, who has long been in the employ of the railway people as car inspector at Emerson, and he grew into railroadng naturally. He was braking on No. 43, which plies between Wakefield and Crofton. He had frequently been on runs which took him through Wayne, and had many acquaintances all along the line who will regret much his sudden death. This is the second recent death in the family, his brother Arvid dying last December of pneumonia.

Farmer Advertisers

Many of the farmers and breeders who grow and sell live stock and seed grains are taking advantage of finding buyers close to home, and that is the best rule for both buyer and seller, and are using the columns of the Democrat to let others know their offerings. This week George Buskirk, whom many know, tells that he has a few thoroughbred animals to sell. Emil Splitger, another good breeder takes space to tell you what he has for market. W. E. Roggenbach tells of the merits of a stock remedy he has sold for a number of seasons, and found it to be good. Other and smaller advertisements tell of poultry, seed corn and property for sale. The facts are, the editor who makes his part of the paper as vital in interest to the reader as does the advertiser, merchant and farmer, has no time to do other than dig diligently for the news.

Fame of Wayne Afar

That it pays to advertise, and that publicity comes to a city because of its activities in amusements and social ways is proven by the fact that the secretary of the Wayne Tennis club recently received an application for the position of tennis instructor and coach from a young man who wrote from Nassau, N. P., Bahamas, asking for a place. The applicant sends ample reference as to his ability. Whether or not Mr. Allan O. White shall come or not, he knows that Wayne is on the map—which is worth something to a community.

See the Democrat for wedding invitations.

Siman-Neely Episode Closed

When Dr. John G. Neely made the following statement for the public regarding the controversy which led to his departure at his office February 12th, Dr. Neely said that he had been prosecuted by the man for felony. The Doctor plead guilty to the charge and was given a fine and costs amounting to $38.10 by the court judge.

Wayne, Nebraska, February 24, 1916.

In view of the publicity which has been given in several papers to the controversy between H. E. Siman of Winside, Nebraska, and myself in my office at Winside, on the 12th day of February, 1916, at which time and place an assault took place, I feel that in justice to Attorney Siman and his son Doctor Siman and other persons directly and indirectly interested, I should make a statement of the facts out of which the controversy grew.

On the night in question, Attorney Siman called at my office for the purpose of having me explain a certain statement I had made of and concerning his son, Doctor Siman, and which, concerned Doctor Siman's professional conduct in a certain case. I at that time insisted that I had stated only the truth concerning the case as I had received it from Doctor Siman. The assault which followed was precipitated by myself and was the result of anger and passion on my part and during the assault I was the aggressor.

Further I desire to say that I have since learned that I was mistaken as to what Doctor Siman told me concerning this case and that I did repeat the statement to which Mr. Siman objected and am now ready to retract the same as untrue and unwarranted by the fact and this I cheerfully do.

Further I desire to say, that at no time during the controversy did Attorney Siman strike me or assault me.

The State of Nebraska, )
Wayne, County, ) ss.

On this 25th day of February, A. D. 1916, before me the undersigned, a Notary Public in and for Wayne County, Nebraska, personally appeared Doctor John G. Neely, known to me to be the identical person who signed the foregoing instrument and he acknowledged said instrument to be his voluntary act and deed.

Witness my hand and Notarial Seal the day and year last above written.

A. E. BRESSLER,
Notary Public.

Prospect of Wayne Laundry

This week a representative of the Globe Laundry Co., of Lincoln is to be at Wayne to look over the situation with a view of establishing a laundry here. Certainly it appears as though this would be an ideal field, judging from the baskets which weekly go to outside concerns to be cleaned and smoothed.

B. F. Fleming, who has been living at Wayne since last fall, was a visitor to the land south of Lincoln, looking for a farm to rent, and came home without securing the one he went to look at because there seemed a good prospect of litigation to secure possession.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Slaughter and their little daughter, who came here for treatment, left Monday for their home at Hetrick, South Dakota. They report that the little one was improved by the treatment received, but is not yet cured or able to walk. They visited her parents, Henry Hansen and wife while here.

John F. Johnson, who purchased the Henry Evans place east of Wayne, has taken possession of the same, moving over from Wakefield last week. Mr. Johnson was a visitor in his native Sweden, returning less than a year ago. He says that when he left Sweden things were comparatively quiet there so far as war was concerned, and that they had no trouble with war ships on their way home.

The blustering storm which visited this vicinity about 7 o'clock Friday evening, threatening a severe storm, which did not develop, came at just the right time to mar the success of the box social to be held that evening at the Strahan school house just west of Wayne. But in spite of the bluster a good time was had by those who went, and the presentation of the program spoke well for the instructions given the little ones by the teacher, Miss Clara Liedtke. The proceeds were in the neighborhood of $12.50 which will be used to good advantage for the school.

I wish in leaving Wayne to give expression of my gratitude to many friends and neighbors for kindly acts and neighborly ones during my sojourn here, and for the enthusiasm with which they aided at my public sale. Also to those from a larger circle in the community than the immediate neighborhood. To auctioneer Neely I wish to give due credit for his ability to hand the goods to the people at a proper value and do it quickly. Thanking one and all and wishing you all prosperity, health and happiness, I am
Respectfully yours,
HENRY LINKE.

Forrest L. Hughes has filed for the republican nomination for the office of clerk of the District court in this county, an office to which he was first elected four years ago (this fall). He is doubtless better qualified to fill the place now than he was when he filed four years ago, he having been a studious officer since his installation into office.

Friday night at the school house in district No. 10, Miss Milligan teacher, held a social of the box variety. The attendance was good and the bidding high. The boxes brought nearly $70 to the fund for school improvements. A commendable program was given and a social hour was passed by all while taking care of the lunch box contents.

W. S. Elder went to Sioux City Monday to buy a bunch of feeders if he found the right kind at the right price. He is moving back to his farm again and will hereafter try to make an honest living by the sweat of his brow and the proper application of elbow grease. He has always succeeded before and it is safe to predict that he will do so this time. By the way, he has a good place for rent here in Wayne, or sale either.

Judging from the reported earnings of the New York banks, business must be pretty good and credit must be on a pretty sound basis. The national banks of the metropolis earned last year an average of over 21 per cent on their capital stock. The National City bank earned 24.1 per cent. The First National earned 71.6 per cent, enabling it to pay a 50 per cent dividend—amounting to $5,000,000—and leaving a couple of million for surplus.

J. N. Hough came last week from Oakland, Iowa, to make his home in Wayne county, having leased the Schalnus place southwest of Wayne from which Mr. Schalnus is retiring. He came from a good part of the sister state to this good country, and one naturally draws the inference that he thinks this the better, though he did not say just that. At any rate he will be welcome. A number of his new neighbors were in to help him unload and move out.

Fred Riese left Monday with two cars of farm implements, etc., on his way to eastern Montana where himself and mother will go onto a ranch. Mrs. Riese will leave Friday to join him, as it will take some time for the freight to make the trip. Bert Surber has leased the Riese place south of Winside for the next five years, and Mrs. Riese thinks that by that time she will begin to feel at home in Montana and be willing to remain there. She already has one son there who has been living in Montana for nearly 15 years.

In telling of the opening of a new city hall at Bloomfield last week, editor Needham of the Monitor enumerates some of the good things they have at the terminal of the branch to the northwest of this place. Among the things told of are system of water-works now nearly paid for, good school building ample for present needs, an electric light system installed a year or more ago, and now a new city building—equal, the editor thinks, to any in this part of the state. It cost them about $10,000, and they bought a building at a bargain and remodeled it to meet their need.

Cliff Penn returned Sunday morning from Rochester, Minnesota, where he was for about four weeks at the hospital, and underwent an operation for appendicitis from which he is recovering nicely. He says that the hospital is a wonderful institution with more than 100 physicians—experts—constantly busy. People from all parts of the world come to this place, and come by thousands. Some wonderful cures are made, and the aid of surgery is most efficient. If only some great prevention could be found what a world of suffering would be saved. Right living, right diet and maintaining the body in correct position at all times are perhaps the most effective plans for the prevention of disease yet known to man.

Henry Linke, his father of the same name, his sister Miss Roga and a niece, Miss Freda Linke, left Saturday morning for Charter Oak to visit relatives and friends, and where the father plans to remain, as we understand. Mr. Linke will return in a few days to close up some business matters, after which himself and sister plan to visit the Pacific coast for a year at least. Mr. and Miss Linke have lived here for the past seven years, and they won many friends among their neighbors by their genial hospitality and neighborly conduct and their departure is deeply regretted. May they continue to prosper wherever they may cast their lot in the future is the wish of all.

Community House Agitation

Mr Editor:
The writer is tremendously interested in the proposal of the secretary of the Civic club, the Rev. W. L. Gaston, that this community build a community house. By the way, this gentleman from whom the idea emanates seems to be quite a fellow. From what we gather as to his work, both in church and community, he is able to both preach and practice. The community house is needed in order that every interest of the place, health, commerce, art, ethics, knowledge and every group, children, youth, middle age and old may be represented in every legitimate way. Such a house could be used as an after school meeting place for the school children. Tonight I saw about sixteen little chaps throwing clods at one another and otherwise giving expression to personality in violent fashion. I do not suppose it was very bad, but there are better ways for boys to perform. One night I saw a clerk in one of the stores, a fine young man, who said, "This is the first night off that I have had for a month and I don't know where to go. Is there anything on at the normal?" I was sorry to be obliged to answer, "No."

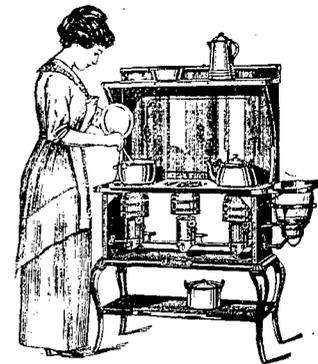

Rev. S. X. Cross has another plan that is of great interest to us all. It is that of a county Y. M. C. A. Cannot the two notions be made to supplement each other? What is in a name? Instead of having a county Y. M. C. A. secretary, why not a county welfare worker? He will not be the worse for training in some college Y. M. C. A. and he can be one who has some skill in social investigation. Every community should be self-conscious, that is it should know what it is about, what it is accomplishing for the values that we all hold dear.

The welfare worker will find out the facts and the community house will serve to promote all the values of the community. He will be our community executive as well as our community scout. One of the beautiful features of the community house plan is that the money to build it is to be raised by taxation. I shall rejoice in paying my share. My valuation is small for the privilege of living in a place like Wayne, with a progressive civic club, finest newspaper service, library, splendid public schools, up-to-date normal and churches manned by able and wide awake preachers and I crave the chance to add to the expense that we may be the pioneer town of the section to recognize the need of definite knowledge of our community needs and have a place where all may go to find out how to live a better co-operative life. Hail community house and the welfare worker!

The American Ambulance of Paris
by Weldon F. Crossland

Nebraska Rhodes scholar who has had some interesting experiences in British prison camp and in American "ambulance" in Paris since the beginning of the war in Europe.

The sympathetic character of the French people is making life at the present time much more pleasant for the limbless man than it would otherwise be the case; he is shown every possible kindness. His condition fifteen years from now, however, when the war is over will be much less endurable; the limbless man will not be a novelty then. His pension will be barely sufficient to keep him alive; without private means he will be quite unable to procure the artificial limb he so much desires. Any liberal American could not better invest fifty dollars than in providing one for one of these appreciative Frenchmen. The saddest and most pathetic of all are the eye cases, those who in their total blindness grope their way along the corridors. They have surely "done their bit for the freedom of France." Few philanthropic efforts of the war deserve more credit than does the movement both in France and England to found schools for the blind. "The finished product" as these poor fellows are, is probably one of the elements left out of the calculations of the militarists of either side, who think that war is the natural state of man.

Though the Frenchmen are not especially religious, the little chapel, which serves as the dental department during the day is crowded—at both the morning and evening services. All the patients are Roman Catholics, and the shepherd of the flock, a white-bearded patriarch, is deeply revered by all. The men put on their best behavior when the old gentleman pays his daily calls to the wards.

The French wounded are quite in contrast to the English in that they are most industrious. Most of them are early and late at their favorite pastime, wood-carving, raffia work, the manufacture of cigars, painting, doll-making, weaving and a host of other things at which they improve their time. Their work is their amusement, but in addition they enjoy games of every sort, especially if there is the possibility of winning something besides the game. They are the happiest lot of men I have ever seen, continually singing or whistling. Perhaps the reason is, as one of them told me, "After being in the trenches, how can we help being glad to have as much left as we have?" He had lost a limb and an arm. The entire hospital turned out each morning and afternoon for half an hour to watch an aviator, one of the aerial defenders of Paris, who had been a patient at the American hospital. He showed his appreciation for his recovery by performing with his machine just above the hospital, looping the loup, spiraling, flying upside down, each time coming dangerously near the buildings. The Frenchman was certainly made to fly. The applause which he received for daily risking his life was hearty and prolonged.

It is difficult to overpraise the temper of France in this most critical time in the nation's life. She has suffered in a way that few realize, and the suffering has sobered her. "Gay Paris" is no longer the correct description of her. Black is the national color; but it by no means disheartens. It reminds everyone that all are making sacrifices, and encourages them to sacrifice further. The motto which the nation was urged to accept a number of years ago in connection with the loss of certain territory, "Never speak about it, always think about it," applies precisely in this case. There is but one thought, that is to win the war. There are no illusions as to an early or an easy victory, they realize that the cost to an attacking force is almost twice that of a defending force; but the last Frenchman will give up his life before he will give up victory. Even if England were not "determined to fight Germany to the last Frenchman," as some humorist has said, France would. Various of my friends have said, "Oh yes, it will be a long war, probably four or five years yet; and the worst is yet to come. But we shall win."

As members of the American Red Cross contingent we were privileged to go where and do what we wished. Among the most memorable trips we made out from Paris were the ones to the battlefield of the Marne. One reads of the destruction and horrors of war, but without having been where war is or has been, it is impossible to realize what it all means. The towns were in ruins, and whole rows of homes were heaps of debris. In the battles many of these villages changed hands several times, each time suffering a bombardment from explosive and incendiary shells, which was intended to leave none of the enemy in existence. The town of Meaux is representative, about twenty miles from the fighting line. Between bombardment and fire, merely the framework of the buildings is left; the streets are bricked with charred wood, stone, brick, and plaster; while the beautiful old church, which so often served as a shelter to the wounded of either side, is roofless and towerless and deserted, with the exception of one small portion of it, near the altar, which is used as a stable. The cemetery with its enclosing stone wall was appropriately chosen as the scene of the fiercest struggles for the town. Loop holes were cut in the wall, through which machine-guns and rifles poured their streams of lead into the attacking Germans or the French. The cemetery is now full.

The country district near the village is equally devastated. There are graves every where, with their white crosses for the French and their black ones for the Germans. Occasionally a long mound, as wide as a man is tall marks the common resting place of Germans and French alike, to whom the exigencies of the situation did not permit of individual burial. We walked across the fields of grain, where old men and women and children were reaping the harvest among the graves marked with the plain wooden cross with the four small corner stakes connected with a thin strand of barbed wire. The whole sight was depressing in the extreme. It is another example of war as it really is.

On one of these excursions two of us had rather an exciting experience which might conceivably have had a different ending. In going out to Senlis, one of the points at which the Germans were stopped on their march on Paris, we boarded a limited train by mistake which carried us past Chantilly where we were to change for Senlis. As there was no train back until evening, we decided to walk the eight miles to Senlis. We inquired the way of one of the natives, an old fellow almost deaf and dumb, who of course misdirected us. It was no doubt his knowledge of the country rather than our knowledge of French that was at fault, in view of the fact that our stay on French soil had just completed its second week. The result was that when we arrived warm and dusty at the outskirts of a town which we afterward learned had been the quarters of General Joffre until three weeks before, only to be taken into custody by two pickets who were stationed at the edge of the town. Our "safe conduct" papers called only for Senlis, so of course "we must be permitted to explain the matter to the police," as the little French sentry said. The extreme and obsequious politeness of that Frenchman made me wish to thrash him, but in view of the fact that he had a very formidable bayonet which had just been sharpened on one side and had newly filed saw-teeth on the other, I refrained. Whether out of consideration to walk the mile to the jail, he called the military auto from the neighboring barracks and with more of his characteristic politeness begged us to step in before him.

We stopped in front of a substantial building with barred windows, which bore a certain resemblance to the exterior of the Nebraska state penitentiary. As we were let out of the police patrol, we discussed the possibility and the enjoyability of spending several days or weeks there on a bill of fare which would have in no way contributed to our good nature. The petty officer, whose acquaintance we first made, thought the case too serious for his modest self to decide, and with more politeness said we might interview the prefect if we wished. This official, though he had the air of one who could decide any matter, military, political or religious quite off-hand, followed the example of his under-officer by saying that we must see "le general." The first words of his excellency as we entered his luxuriously fitted office were: "You are prisoners." As that was the command, we did not differ with him but proceeded to present our case. He insisted on speaking in French, which farther put us at a disadvantage. As we told him of our pedestrian wandering, we could not have stated the case very clearly, for he looked as if we were attempting to tell him a colossal yarn. As his skepticism was reaching the breaking point the truth and consistency of the tale dawned upon him. Immediately his whole manner changed into one of cordiality and with profuse apologies he excused the overzealous sentry, and added various other similar remarks which were more or less irrelevant. His last words were a wish for success and prosperity of the American hospital, all those who dwell therein and the whole American people.

Many of the Oxford Americans are planning to spend this coming vacation in work at the hospital. It is an experience that one will not soon forget.

The Disease of Charity

Bolton Hall, well-known writer on social questions, has written a booklet that challenges the efficacy of charity work. He admits that with poverty, sickness and misery all about, we cannot let men suffer and die without doing something. But he is not sure that we are doing the right thing. "The Disease of Charity" is inspiring, thoughtful and constructive.

A complimentary copy of this booklet will be mailed to every reader of this paper who sends a trial subscription (only 25c) to The Public, a journal of fundamental democracy.

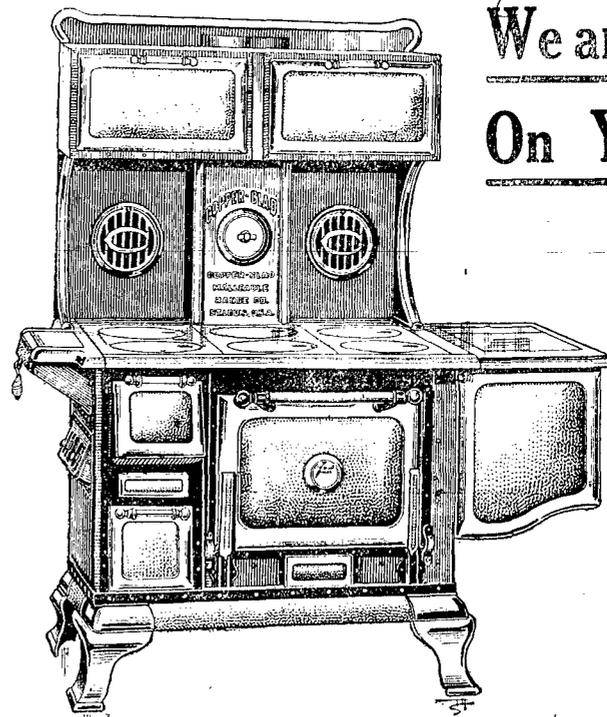

Referring to The Public, Brand Whitlock wrote from Belgium: In the midst of all the horrors of the world it is the one thing I know of—aside from one's own conscience—and the democratic principle down deep in our heart—by which to correct one's reckoning. It is a compass—never sensational, always calm and pointing in the same direction.

That Big Corn Talk

Next Tuesday the farmers of this county are to have a treat in the opportunity to hear the greatest corn man of the land tell new and old things about the growing of corn. Prof. Holden has been secured for Wayne as one of the few places in Nebraska where he will speak, and the magnificent new normal auditorium has been secured for the meeting with a seating capacity of 1,000 people, and it should be filled. Wayne county farmers cannot coin money faster than in receiving lessons from this man. If he should enable each one who hears him to simply increase his corn production one bushel per acre it will mean much for the coming year. If it applies one year it will hold good for 10 years, and if Nebraska farmers are equal to those of other states, and they are, the instruction and knowledge imparted by this man should add a million dollars to the wealth of Wayne county within a very few years.

The farmers are taking an active, intelligent interest in this enterprise and are co-operating with a class of 80 students at the college in furnishing corn to be tested, more than 500 ears being sent in from all parts of the county, so that this test for from 75 to 100 farms in this county of both the 1914 and 1915 crops will tell much of local seed corn conditions, and there is no more vital question to be solved this season for the corn grower than the knowledge of corn seed conditions. Whatever else you do or do not do, attend these meetings at the normal both afternoon and evening. They are as free as the air you breathe.

Twelve Mississippi and Missouri valley states make 60 per cent of the butter of this country, and Nebraska is one of the dozen. They make good butter, too. New York is perhaps the greatest dairy state outside of this dozen states, but it was way back in 1876 at the Philadelphia centennial that Orange county (New York) butter gave the first place to good butter from what was then the wild west, and it placed Delaware county, Iowa, on the map as a butter making proposition to the surprise of the world. That prize winning butter was credited to Delaware county because the man who entered it lived at Manchester, but those who claim to know have told the writer of these lines that the prize winning butter was really made at a country creamery about three miles southeast of Strawberry Point, and the creamery was in Clayton county, though the county line was within a stone throw of the plant. That part of Iowa has ever since maintained a place near the head of the good butter producing world. The little creamery has long since given way to larger and better ones, but there is a locality where the separator people have never been able to plant many farm separators. The creamery at Strawberry Point now has a battery of 12 to 15 large separators, and the farmers send their milk daily direct to the creamery for skimming and churning, and the butter from that factory the year round finds ready market at not less than five cents a pound, above the price of the first grades of Elgin creamery. And it is co-operative, giving the producers all there is in it.

The fight against the confirmation of Brandies for the supreme bench appears to be losing force, and those who have been instigators of the opposition will beyond a doubt hear from the people when it is time for their re-election.

Saturday, President Wilson will begin the last year of his first term, and he has done mighty well, as all will agree if they will but be honest. True, almost as many Americans have been killed in Mexico in that time as have been murdered in Chicago; but they were urged to come home and not stay in a land full of rebellion and revolution, but a lot of them preferred to take chances of remaining—in fact it is not healthy for them this side of the border, and that is why they flew to Mexico.

Senator Burton of Ohio has asked to have his name withdrawn from the Nebraska primary ballot. Some of his fool friends filed it when he was not looking, and did not even think it necessary to ask him if they might. The nearer the primary and convention dates come the more it looks as if the republicans will have trouble to find an available man who is willing to make the race.

W. H. S. Boys Get Together

Plans developed during the week for a banquet, in honor of Ralph Porter, who has been member of the high school for the past two years and is moving to Broken Bow. The boys met in the music room of the high school at 8 o'clock. After an hour the party proceeded to Viber's cafe. Twenty-seven sat down at the long table and thoroughly enjoyed the feed from the tomato bullion to the pie a la mode. It certainly was a gay time during the meal.

Ward Randol took charge at this point, and ably acted as toastmaster. We are glad to note among the fellows we have such a person for future occasions. The first speaker to be introduced was Prof. Bowen, who as usual, entertained the fellows with a most helpful talk seasoned with wit and humor. Prof. Bowen mentioned that on such occasions each fellow gets to know the other fellow a little better. He hoped that we may have more in the future.

LeRoy Owen followed discussing high school activities. Basketball, debating and plans for a future banquet were mentioned. Mr. Randol next introduced Ralph Ingham who characterized members of the 40-minute period. He very skillfully outlined the trip of Mildner and Owen, which they took this summer. Also, by the use of answers to examinations he showed how learned some of us are.

Orvin Gaston was present in new togs. It was rather a coming out party for him with his first pair. Mr. Gaston briefly described the country in the vicinity of Broken Bow. He said that if a jack rabbit attempted to run around the hills very fast that he would throw every joint in his back out of place.

We were very fortunate to have with us Mr. F. R. Schweitzer of the state Y. M. C. A. Mr. Schweitzer emphasized the fact that our fellowship should continue. In a very helpful talk, he gave us word pictures of success and failure.

Our coach, Mr. A. C. Lamb, enjoyed himself more than any one present, I believe, especially did he enjoy the eats. His subject was, Rancing in Arizona, but he got on the wrong track and talked on concentration. It is very evident that Mr. Lamb has the subject well in hand.

Ralph Porter concluded the program by expressing a word of appreciation and thanks for the honor shown him and assured us of his lasting friendship.

So long, Porter, may you long remember us as we will remember you.

You will see coats from New York, Cleveland, Cincinnati and Chicago—hundreds of them. You will see everything good in style and material that has been brought out for the coming season. There are sport coats, plain cloth coats, fancy colored corduroy coats, silk coats, coats for every purpose and every occasion. There are coats at every price from $3.50 to $30. Our new stock of spring dress skirts is now complete.

Besides the popular utility skirts of fine poplins and serges and gabardines, you will also find beautiful dress skirts of black taffetta and fancy plaid silks. Every size is here from 23 inch up to 36 inch waist, and you can choose either plain or full pleated styles, as both are considered good this season. We fit all skirts without extra charge, and the prices are very reasonable, mostly $6 to $7.50.

Miss Elva McCaw, who has been nursing at the Conover home for the past three weeks, left Wednesday to visit relatives at Norfolk, and her mother at Winfield, Iowa, after which she will return to her claim in southeastern Idaho, and spend the farming season there. Wrestling has been counted one of the finest of sports, but the money-making serpent is beginning to spread its trail over the mat as it has over the ring. The Lincoln devotees of the sport who paid their money to see a match last week have neither been cheered nor informed by the explanations following the fiasco. The manager of the Duluth athlete claims that he understood the wrestlers were to struggle for two hours to a draw, after which a profitable match could be made at the Zenith city. Why his plan fell through he does not explain. In the meantime, the people who paid to see the match have no means of getting their money back and no guarantee that they will not be given similar treatment in the future.—State Journal.

School Notes

Jesse Randol has returned from Sioux City where he was receiving treatment in a hospital. He is still unable to be in school.

The W. H. S. debating team will go to Pierce tomorrow where they will meet the Pierce team in debate on the state league question. The winner in this debate will meet Bloomfield later.

The rhetorical contest for the purpose of selecting a Wayne representative in the district contest, will be held in the high school auditorium Wednesday, March 8, at 8 o'clock p. m. An admission of ten cents will be charged. Music will be furnished for the occasion by the high school quartets and orchestra.

Several high school boys will attend the tri-state boys' conference at Sioux City Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. F. R. Schweitzer of the state Y. M. C. A. addressed the high school Friday afternoon. He made a strong plea for clean living and efficiency.

Wayne Superlative flour $1.50 per sack in 10 sack lots, at the Wayne Roller Mill. adv.

Suits

Dozens and dozens of them are here for you now. This will be a great suit season and we have prepared for it. The styles are very sensible and becoming to almost everyone. Just now we have an exceptional number of suits because the suits we use in giving our special sales in other towns are coming in. Now is the time to make your choice while there are so many to select from. If you are particularly hard to fit, we have suits made to measure by a firm of Chicago ladies' tailors who guarantee an absolutely perfect fit. They have been making suits for us for years, and no matter what your figure, we know they can fit you. We have their samples here to show you.

For many very good reasons it is advisable to order your suit early this spring. Nice materials are very scarce on account of the dye situation, many mills being closed down entirely. You will avoid disappointment by getting your suit now.

Wash Goods

All the materials for making of summer dresses and waists purchased in Chicago during the past two weeks are now in stock. You will find a good selection of the goods and trimmings used in making the best liked dresses and waists at the Chicago Style Show, and we will help you plan the newest ways of making them up. Georgette Crepes, Pussy Willow Taffettas, Silk Marquissettes, Flowered Silk Chiffons and Fancy Silks are much favored for the nicer dresses; gold and Silver Laces and Bands, gold decorated allover Laces and Chiffons, and fine net lace flouncings being the popular trimmings. For afternoon washable dresses there are scores of dainty materials in flowered, striped and plaid designs at from 10c to 60c per yard.

We have laid all the goods out on counters where you can examine them at your leisure, and we want you to come now while the assortment is at its best.

About Gingham: You have been reading a good deal about poor colors in these goods, and there will be a lot of trouble with many of these goods that are now being made because it is impossible to get some certain fast color dyes which are made only in Germany, but our stock of gingham were bought six months ago, made up during the winter, and are absolutely fast colors, the same as we have always sold.

Prices are no higher than last year, as long as our present stock lasts; so you can buy gingham here and feel secure about the colors and values you are getting.

Shoes

Fit the Arch

The new styles in "Queen Quality" shoes for ladies and "Kreider's" shoes for the girls are now on display. We have the correct styles for you in footwear that will give satisfaction both in comfort and wear. Prices are very reasonable, $3 to $4.

New Curtain Materials

A great deal of attention is now being paid to the draping of the home windows.

Lace curtains are very little used, their place being taken almost entirely by nets and side drapes. Nets and drapes of certain materials are correct for living rooms and dining rooms, while an entirely different sort of nets and drapes are required for the bed rooms. There are many different and effective ways of hanging these curtains, too. We have made quite a study of the new window draping and have bought a nice selection of the newest nets and drapes to match almost any color scheme you may wish carried out. Come in and let us help you plan pretty and effective curtains for any of your rooms.

The topic to be discussed at the Baptist church next Sunday morning is one that has always been of vital concern to the human race. Where are the dead? Do we know anything about the dead? The most important interrogation that perplexes humanity is the old question, "If a man die will he live again?" will be presented from the angle of theology and science.

The process by which mortality is extended into immortality as presented in the bible will be described. All bible students are invited. Men and women who are anxious to learn what little we know about what is to come hereafter are invited to be present.

Filed for United States Senate

To the Democrats of Nebraska: I will be a candidate at the primaries for the nomination on the democratic ticket for United States senator. I endorse the principles of democracy as outlined in the Baltimore platform. I regard the foreign policy of President Wilson with regard to Mexico and the belligerent nations of Europe as wise, statesmanlike and patriotic. President Wilson ought to be reelected. I am opposed to the increase in the army and navy now being agitated. We ought to wait until the war in Europe has ended before attempting to decide whether additional military armament is necessary.

The government should manufacture all its munitions of war, armor plate, battleships, submarines and other craft in time of peace and control such manufacture in time of war. Congress ought to investigate the expenditures for the army and navy during the last fifteen years. If we are unprepared to defend ourselves now the people who have paid the bills ought to know what has become of the large sums of money spent for the army and navy. Any increase in the appropriations for the army and navy ought to be raised by an additional tax on large incomes and an inheritance tax on swollen fortunes and a direct tax for the present at least on munitions of war. The nation ought to be prepared to meet any probable attack. I believe the country is better prepared now than it has been at any time for fifty years. I am opposed to a large standing army and to the proposed continental army.

There are in my judgment, certain issues involved in this state which democrats ought to have an opportunity to pass upon at the primaries. Those who differ as to what constitutes progressive democracy ought to have a chance to vote for candidates who represent their views. This also applies to the question of so-called preparedness and to the methods of taxation to be adopted to meet the additions to our army and navy if they shall be increased.

I am opposed to the domination of the democratic party in this state by organized interests, headed by the public service corporations and liquor interests. I object to the democratic party in Nebraska being used as an instrumentality by these selfish interests and their paid lobbyists to control legislation. I am in favor of driving the special interests out of politics, out of the government business and particularly out of the business of running the democratic party.

If elected to the United States senate I would be guided by the vote of the people of the state on the question of prohibition. If the amendment prohibiting the liquor traffic should be adopted at the coming election I would not oppose the submission of a national prohibition amendment. If the amendment should be defeated I would oppose submitting such an amendment to the national constitution.

I. J. DUNN.

Chas. W. Bryan

For years it was second nature for this paper to boost for any candidate named on the democratic ticket.

Our political creed might be taken from the disappointed office seeker who said that he never voted for any—that was on his ticket.

It takes more than a name to create political enthusiasm any more. 4th of July committees will be able to secure some fireworks after Chas. W. Bryan gets his little machine to working.

There are those who think that Mayor Bryan is simply a paalm singing sabbath school teacher but those people never saw him in action at a national convention with nearly all of the big leaders coming in to consult with him. A man who can stand the strain at a national convention to never undress for forty hours at a stretch is going to be a hard man to rough house. Mayor Bryan has a real nasty habit. He persists in calling names and giving facts which no real gentleman would do.

It will certainly be interesting to see Mr. Bryan pour vinegar into those raw wounds of the Lincoln Star, our old friend, John G. Maher and those other yeggmen for the liquor and kindred conspirators.—Creighton Liberal.

Community Spirit Growing

Last week Edgar Howard of the Columbus Telegram spoke at a banquet given at Pierce and then went home and wrote about it in his paper as follows, and it is our wish that Wayne may profit from the experience of our neighbor town:

For years I have been reading about the "community spirit", but I never saw any of that spirit in action until last Monday night, when I attended a commercial club meeting in Pierce, Nebraska. I saw more actual farmers at that one meeting than I have seen at any other dozen commercial club meetings in any other dozen towns in Nebraska. I have often attended commercial club meetings which farmers attended as guests, but up there in the Pierce community the farmers are as active as town men in commercial club work, regarding the town as something of their very own, even though the state laws forbid them to have any voice in the making of town laws. Our state university is playing a good part in promoting community interest, and now I have a suggestion to offer to the university people. If they will send their field men to a commercial club meeting in the town of Pierce they will be inoculated with the virus of accomplished community interest, and thus be able to carry it to every nook and corner of the state. I do not know to whom the credit belongs for accomplishing in Pierce something which has not been accomplished in any other locality in Nebraska, but I do know the thing has been accomplished. Better still would it be for the cause of community interest if every commercial club in Nebraska would send delegates to the regular meetings of the Pierce Commercial club, there to behold the full fruition of many dreams regarding a better understanding between town people and farmers. My word for it, the delegates will return to their home towns as singing evangelists in a cause which many have heretofore regarded as hopeless.

Cries of Alarm

Alarm cries are constantly being sent out by the Agricultural College concerning seed corn. Every person in the state would be affected by a short corn crop and there is prospect of one if the utmost care is not taken in selecting seed. Scores of reports indicate that the seed corn situation is extremely serious. Tests of crib selected corn from last year's crop show that, on the average, less than 60 per cent will germinate and much which does is very weak. Corn selected at husking time but not properly cared for is testing from 60 to 90 per cent, while corn that was selected at husking time and well cured is testing over 90 per cent. Corn from the 1914 crop is usually testing about 90 per cent.

There are a lot of farmers in this state who think that they can tell good seed corn by sight. That is the way their fathers selected seed and they still stick to the old way. In one neighborhood where the point was disputed a trial was made and the farmer who furnished ten ears of which he warranted every seed to grow was astonished to learn that only 72 per cent under test grew and of the amount that grew, 9 per cent was so weak that it would only produce bunnies or no ears at all. If that corn was used for seed, there would be little over half a crop.

If sending out alarm cries will result in increasing the corn crop in this state several millions of dollars, it is well to keep shouting them. Any farmer can get directions free from the Agricultural College at Lincoln how to test seed corn. There is more danger of loss from bad seed this year than for many years past, for much of the corn that looks good and sound will not grow. That has been proved by very many tests. The rural press should devote some space to this matter. If the farmer raises a poor corn crop, he will have nothing left after paying his debts to support his local paper.—World-Herald.

A few months ago cordage circles were stirred by rumors that the binding twine supply of the country was falling into the hands of a few men with unpronounceable names.

Levi Mayer of Chicago is one of three great Hebrew lawyers in America and he comes forward and says that it is our old friends the harvester trust which is not only doing the monopoly stunt but that they are doing the proper fandango by supplying the finances for a revolution. Nothing strange about that.

Gridley, California, February 28, 1916.

Mr. Gardner & Wade.

Gentlemen:—Your paper is a welcome visitor every week. We all enjoy reading the Wayne county news. We are having fine weather and the cattle grazing in pastures. The almonds and apricots are in bloom, the majority of fruit trees are planted; I am planting 500 prune trees on my place I bought one year ago. We also grow rice in Sacramento valley. I had 100 acres in rice last summer, averaged 65 bushels per acre. Good rice is selling at $2.00 per 100 lbs.

You are announcing Pay-Up Week. That hits me hard, but I will take advantage of your liberal offer, please extend my subscription 5 years, enclosed find money order for $5.00. We are all in the best of health. Wishing you the same.

Attorney Kingsbury was over from Ponca Wednesday to do a bit of courting, but he could not get a look-in between the Goemann cases, which have been following one another in rapid succession—just as fast as the sheriff and his assistants could rustle the juries. Come again.

Freeman Clark from West of Carroll was a Wayne visitor Tuesday, and after looking after some business matters at the court house, paid the Democrat a friendly call. He says that he seldom comes to Wayne, but we predict that he is apt to come more frequently in the future, for this town is going to keep making inducements greater and greater as the days go past—increasing the good service and the business.

D. B. Robinson, who has for many years lived in the vicinity of Sholes, has sold his holdings in this county, and the first of the week left with a car or two of implements, etc., for a new home at Winner, South Dakota, where he will farm the Thos. Sundahl farm. Mr. Sundahl went up Tuesday, accompanied by Master Benj. Robinson, and will remain at the place for a time making some improvements and adding new buildings.

Volume 1, No. 2, of the Nebraska Printer has been handing out a few boquets to the different papers, and has the following comment regarding the appearance of the Democrat: "The make-up of the Wayne Democrat, Gardner & Wade publishers, is about the acme of perfection. Every page balances absolutely and the ads. are gotten up in the most excellent shape. The Democrat is in its 31st volume."

News from State Capitol

About 175 students from the Lincoln high schools assembled in representative hall February 24th and listened to an address on the subject of "Food Laws" by Hon. Clarence E. Harmon, deputy food, drug, dairy and oil commissioner. Governor Morehead authorized Mr. Harmon to announce a contest, in which prizes of $5, $3, and $2 will be awarded to the Lincoln high school students who will write the best three essays on "Food," limited to 600 words each.

Charles W. Pool, Secretary of State since January, 1915, has filed for renomination. His administration of the affairs of the office has received commendation from all quarters for efficiency displayed and economy practiced. In his first year, he collected and turned into the state treasury nearly $135,000, a sum greatly in excess of that earned and accounted for by his predecessor in the preceding year. He has turned into the treasury every dollar collected in fees for labor performed by himself or those employed by him, something not done previous to his taking charge of the office. As a member of the board of assessment and equalization, he assisted in reducing one mill on the dollar valuation the tax levy for state purposes, causing a saving of $100,000 per annum to the tax payers. As a member of the board of educational lands and funds, he assisted in investing over one million dollars of the permanent school funds in bonds bearing five per cent interest. He has practiced economy in every department, and goes before the public inviting the closest scrutiny of his official record.

The Nebraska legislative league held its fifth annual banquet at Lincoln the 24th. About 350 members, former members and would-be members were in attendance. To Henry Richmond, secretary of the league, is due much praise for his untiring efforts to make the banquet the success it proved. Governor Morehead presided and toasts were responded to by Geo. H. Hastings of Saline, George Jackson of Nuckolls, R. B. Howell of Douglas, G. W. Collins of Pawnee, T. J. Majors of Nemaha, Patrick Roddy of Otoe, Emil E. Placek of Saunders, and H. H. Baldrige of Douglas. Roll call showed former members of sessions from 1866 to 1915 with only 1877 missing—T. J. Majors, W. H. Dech, Orlando Tefft linking the early days to the present.

A favorite remark of Governor Morehead is to the effect that Nebraska is prosperous, doesn't owe a dollar, and has ten millions loaned out at interest. And it is true. Our constitution limits the state bonded debt to one hundred thousand dollars—and the last and only bond issue was paid off shortly after 1897. At times, of course, when warrants are registered, there is a sort of floating debt but at the present time every sort of state warrant is paid upon presentation at the state treasury, one hundred cents on the dollar. The money at interest belongs to five trust funds. It is invested in county, municipal and school district bonds and on December 31, 1915, had the following:

Permanent School Fund	$8,883,313.65
Permanent University Fund	224,953.00
Agri. College Endowment	560,700.00
Normal Endowment	78,650.00
Bessey Memorial Endowment	1,500.00
Total	$9,749,116.65

A petition has been filed asking George E. Hall to accept a renomination for state treasurer. He has not filed acceptance yet but has several days in which to do so.

Mass Meeting for Wayne County

A call is hereby issued for a mass convention for Wayne county, to be held in the Baptist church at Wayne, Nebraska, on Saturday, March 11, 1916, at 2 o'clock p. m., to organize a County Dry Federation to further the submission and adoption of an amendment to the State Constitution, prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors. All organizations within the county, which will work in harmony with the State Dry Federation, are requested to send delegates, and all individuals interested in such a county federation are invited to be present and to participate in the organization of a County Dry Federation and local auxiliary federations. It is earnestly urged that all persons, irrespective of political and religious affiliations, who are interested in the cause of temperance, shall attend this mass convention.

Remember the date, March 11, 1916, at 2 o'clock p. m., Baptist church, Wayne. NEBRASKA DRY FEDERATION, By Charles Beckenhauer, District Chairman.

C. J. Rundell Quotes Scripture

The Democrat takes the following from the "Public Pulse" department of the Omaha World-Herald of Friday last, for the consideration of one and all:

"Go With Him Twain"

Wayne, Neb., Feb. 22.—To the Editor of the World-Herald:—Your editorial of yesterday denouncing the Root, Roosevelt Bryan bunch for criticizing the president is illogical. The Root bunch condemn him for deeds of omission committed many months ago and approved by them by their silence.

If the United States were bound by the Hague convention to protest against the invasion of Belgium as now claimed by Teddy, Root & Co., a high well paid officer of the government like Senator Root was false to his trust by not calling the state department to account. But the most despicable charge against the president by this dirty crowd is that Ambassador Dumba in a personal interview with Secretary Bryan was informed by him that there was nothing serious intended in the Lusitania note, that it was for home consumption only and that he so reported to his government. Would Senator Root or even Teddy believe the Austrian Ambassador as against Bryan? Dumba, the man kicked out of this country for unlawful, deceitful and lying activities.

Bryan disagrees with the president for acts of commission of present and quite recent date. For a year or more after the opening of the European conflict they were both opposed to any preparations for war. But the president has changed his mind. Representative Kitchen, the leader of the majority, in a long personal interview urged the president to cut out his "preparedness" recommendations to the present congress but the jingoes howled long and loud and louder still. His war secretary handed him a plan prepared by the war board demanding a huge increase in the navy and regular army and the adoption of the Austrian military policy of universal compulsory, military service and told him to go out and arouse the people to influence congress or the Wild Man from Borneo who can draw even the chairman of the Chicago convention to his support will get his goat. He went them one better at their own game by asking for the largest navy in the world.

Now Mr. Bryan and Senator Root are two of America's great public men and trusted by their friends. Should Mr. Bryan remain silent on these great public questions his readers would construe it as approving them, thereby proving false to his trust as did Senator Root when the kaiser invaded Belgium.

When the president returned from arousing the people he found that congress had heard from home including Miami. The military committee informed him it was unanimous against his plan to Prussianize the United States. His war secretary pronounced them ignoramuses but the president regarded the members as well informed. Garrison then jumped his job without the "God bless you" benediction.

I have one vote. If I had a million votes, regardless of my opposition to any further wasting of the people's money for preparation for war, I would cast them for Woodrow Wilson. Every sensible democrat understands the folly of permitting the enemy to raise an issue and take his choice of sides.

A few years ago two armies met to prepare for battle, one at Lincoln and the other at Grand Island. The Lincoln forces mobilized a large supply of county option munitions. The opposing army experts countered and an issue was formed. Bryan and Metcalfe were both defeated in opposing the report of the experts and the whole army went to defeat. Had it avoided the issue by adopting the same brand of shells as the enemy, it would have been Governor Dahlen and there was a little prospect of his having to sign or veto a county option bill as there is that the president will have to sign or veto a bill to adopt the European military policy in the United States.

A scriptural injunction to all democrats: "If thine enemy compel thee to go with him a mile, go with him twain, or in other words beat him at his own game by going him one better." C. J. RUNDELL.

RECIPES FOR GRAY HAIR.
To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo's Compound, and 1/4 oz. of glycerine. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the desired shade. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Full directions for making and use come in each box of Barbo's Compound. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair, and remove dandruff. It is excellent for falling hair and will make hair soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off.

Wayne as a Hog Market

The Young Men's Improvement club was organized some weeks ago under the direction of Prof. Chas. H. Bright and has as its members young men who are taking the short winter course. A series of weekly meetings have been held, each of which has been much appreciated by the young men.

The various department of the school have been pleased to arrange an hour's program for the club in which they have taken up some topic relating to the department giving the program.

President Conn used the stereopticon and views in and about our national capitol with a description of the places as he had seen them. Professor E. E. Lackey use the stereopticon and views relating to a farm topic. Professor Hunterer talked on farm buildings. Miss Killen used the hour to illustrate work in architecture. Professor H. H. Hickman presented the biological work. Professor I. H. Britell illustrated atmospheric pressure and ended with a demonstration of the X-ray and the Arlington time signals by wireless.

Last Friday evening the club gave a formal three course dinner. This was served in the upper hall of the Science building by the domestic science department. The club had as its guests the instructors who had given programs. The long table was beautifully decorated and had artistic place cards and printed menu cards. The table was lighted by a row of candles and illuminated from above by electric lights arranged especially for the occasion.

At the close of the meal, the president, Albert Bengtson acting as toastmaster, called the members to order and announced the speakers. The toasts as printed on the menu cards were given.

"What Benefit Have I Received?"—Harry Dahlquist.

"How May We Make Our Meeting More Interesting?"—Louis Jepsen.

"How May Each One Get the Most Benefit?"—Will Donigan.

"What I Know About Boys?"—Miss Killen.

"What Can the School do for the Short Course Students?"—Albert Thompson.

"Shall We Have a Club Next Year?"—Harry McIntosh.

"Some Suggestions"—Professor C. H. Bright.

All during the program there was much of laughter and hand clapping with expressions of appreciation by the members of the club. The applause was unstinted and good-fellowship was much in evidence. Professor Bright was called upon to close the program and at the close of his address the club gave him a hearty cheer which was taken up by the young ladies of the domestic science department, who in turn received the cheers of the club. All then joined in the school yells.

The evening marked the best ordered function held by any organization of the school so far this year. The most noticeable feature of the affair was the sense of unity these young men felt in this organization. Many of them will soon return to their homes and the work of the farm for the year. In leaving the normal all expressed regret and will long remember the club which afforded them an opportunity of knowing the work of the departments of the normal, and also an opportunity of forming lasting friendships with each other and the members of the faculty.

They now appreciate a membership in one of the schools most prosperous organizations. In time to come the influence of this organization will be of great value to the school of which it is a part.

Founded Town of Allen

Funeral services were held from the Lutheran church in Allen last week for Henry Allen, founder of that little city. He was one of the pioneers of Dixon county, coming here in 1870—46 years ago. He was born in Ireland on March 1, 1845, and came to the United States when 9 years old, making his home in Philadelphia until a young man, then moved to Wisconsin and later to Nebraska, where he took a homestead in Dixon county, near Allen.

E. A. Johnson came out from Sioux City Wednesday evening and visited Wayne friends, stopping at the Wm. Fleetwood home, his father-in-law. Here he found G. J. Johnson of Stewart, another son-in-law.

Wayne as a Hog Market

The price of hogs has been advancing during the past week, and reached a top of $8.15 at Wayne, which is a little better than Mr. Munsinger predicted early in the month when he said with the market quotation starting in with a "6" that before the month closed they would reach $8. Perhaps he was thinking of the 29th day when the market went above the predicted price. Mr. Munsinger says that the March top will be higher than now.

The Cradle

OSBORN—Wednesday, February 23, 1916, to B. Osborn and wife, a daughter.

L. B. Palmer and wife left Tuesday for their new home at Hubbard. They have been residents of Wayne county most of the time for the past 27 years, and naturally feel as though they were going from home, but it is not far this time. A number of years ago they sold their farm near Wayne and purchased land in North Dakota, living there a few years, but returning to this county nine years ago, during which time they have rented land. Selling their North Dakota land at an advance they have just purchased a farm near Hubbard, and report that they have a splendid home again. Their Wayne friends will wish them well in their new home.

The Four Great Sauces.

A French epicure has declared that "man has created the culinary art; he does not feed like an animal—he breakfasts, dines and sups."

The French are particularly eloquent on the subject of sauces. Among their famous chefs are recognized four great sauces, Spanish, veloute, bechamel and German. The Spanish and veloute were known as far back as the seventeenth century. In the eighteenth they were modified by the masters of cookery, particularly by Careme, who was called "the Raphael of the kitchen."

The Spanish sauce is composed of juices extracted from a mixture of ham, veal, chicken and pheasant. Veloute is similar, but is not colored. Bechamel is veloute to which cream has been added, and the German sauce is veloute plus the yolks of eggs.

Curious Dwarf Oaks.

Known to ranchmen as chinnery, the dwarf oak of the southwest presents a curious instance of the devious and inscrutable ways of nature. There the Illupitum of the great oak family covers a great area in the plains of Texas bordering on New Mexico. The trees, it is said, rarely attain a height of twenty inches and are replicas of their giant brothers in other parts of the country. The acorns which they bear are as large as those of the common burr oak and present a grotesque appearance hanging from the little limbs of the low growing shrub or tree. The annual crop of mast is used for fattening hogs. When the acorns are ripe many wild animals and birds flock into the miniature forest to feast on the nuts.—Argonaut.

Told Almost All.

Here is a story told by one of our women lawyers:

"I told my client to tell me everything just as it had occurred—to hold back nothing—and then, being perfectly familiar with all the facts, I might be able to help him. After the story had come to an end I asked him if that were all.

"'Everything'—'cept where I hid th' money'—was the answer."—Buffalo News.

Islands.

There are about 100,000 islands, large and small, scattered over the oceans. America alone has 5,500 around its coasts. There are 305 in the bay of Rio Janeiro, 16,000 between Madagascar and India and some 1,200 off the eastern coast of Australia between its mainland and New Guinea.

Mexico City Is Aged.

Mexico City is traditionally nearly 600 years old. It was founded when the Aztecs settled on an island near Lake Tezcoco. Cortez practically destroyed the city in 1521. From this time on there was hardly a break in the ordinary events until 1692, when there was a revolt against Spanish rule. Later it was the scene of many revolutions and much bloody fighting until the iron rule of Porfirio Diaz made revolutions for thirty years somewhat unprofitable ventures. In the war between the United States and Mexico the principal movement of the American troops was directed against Mexico City. After capturing the hill of Chapultepec by assault General Scott occupied the city Sept. 14, 1847.
