CLEAN-UP WEEK AT WAYNE

Governor Proclaims April 10 to 15 as Clean-Up Week, and Asks All Nebraska to Co-Operate. Will You?

The idea of setting a time to do good things and urging a common movement by the entire community is splendid one. It gets things done at the time they should be done—it gets a lot of it done at once, and when it is a clean-up movement, as this is to be, it gives the air a sweeter smell, makes the community more healthful and gives an air of thrift and cleanliness. The following program has been suggested as a good one to follow, the days to be known as follows:

MONDAY, April 10th—"Front Yard Day." Rake lawns, plant flowers, clean walks and gutters, swat the fly and erect a concrete or brick ash vault.

TUESDAY, April 11th—"Fire Prevention Day." Clean basements, attics, remove rubbish, greasy rags, waste paper, remove all fire hazards. Install a concrete refuge box to burn the paper in. Swat the fly under the rubbish. This is also "Tin Can Day."

WEDNESDAY, April 12th—"Paint Up Day." Paint up inside and out, porches, fences, chicken houses, barns, woodwork, out-buildings, etc. Paint the store fronts, remove old awnings, and take down the old billboards. Repaper the office or rooms at home, screen the windows and doors and swat the fly.

THURSDAY, April 13th—"Repair Day." Remove dilapidated buildings and wooden sidewalks, repair the fence, fix the lattice work and haul away the trash.

FRIDAY, April 14th—"Back Yard Day." Clean the alleys, remove the rubbish and garbage; haul away the refuse.

SATURDAY, April 15th—"Vacant Lot Day." Clean the lots adjoining your home. Resolve on this day that hereafter every day in the year will be clean-up day at your place.

Helms-Albers

At the German Lutheran church in this city by the pastor, Rev. Rudolph Moehring, Thursday, March 23, 1916, Mr. Anton B. Helms and Miss Martha Albers, both of Randolph, were united in marriage.

The groom is the newly elected and recently appointed postmaster at Randolph and the bride is the popular and of an accomplished daughter of one of the prosperous farmers near that place. The impressive marriage ceremony of the church was witnessed by a sister of the bride, Miss Amanda Albers, and a friend, Mrs. Alma Sund of this city.

Bride and groom left on the afternoon train to visit relatives in Iowa and Illinois, and while they had quietly given their friends at Randolph the slip in the morning, a delegation came down from Randolph on the afternoon train to wish them well on their wedding trip and properly tag them and their baggage so that there would be no doubt on the part of the other passengers that they were newly weds.

Local Weather Forecast

March 26 to April 2, fair and frosty, says Will Weber the local weather man.

WADE-CONOVER

At Sioux City, Iowa, Tuesday, March 28, 1916, Mr. Glea A. Wade and Miss Laura Mae Conover, both of this city, were united in marriage.

The groom has been a resident of Wayne for the past five years, coming here from Villisca, Iowa, to purchase an interest in this paper. The bride grew to womanhood in this county and is known as a lady of sterling worth by all. They are at present visiting at the former home of the groom, but will return to Wayne the last of the week and be "at home" here to their friends.

NOTE—Compliments of "the force."

Progress of Farm Work

In the vicinity of Wayne a little farm work has been done. Some fields have been plowed during the past ten days. Much ground has been disced where not too wet. A few farmers have sowed wheat. The snow Saturday put work back a few days. Frost has not been entirely out of the ground, and on some north slopes, it was too near the surface to permit working the ground.

A few have commenced to make garden. One Wayne man is said to have planted potatoes last Thursday or Friday.

At this writing the roads are in fairly good condition for driving, but a trifle spongy for hauling, though we notice some full loads going out with but two horses to handle the same, and they get through.

Fair to be Reorganized

Hartington, Neb., March 28.—The Hartington Driving and Fair association is dead—legally speaking. The charter under which it was organized twenty years ago expired April 20, 1915, and had not been renewed. A special meeting was held at which a large number of the shareholders were present. W. H. Burney, the chairman of the meeting, stated the purpose of the meeting, which was to consider the question of reorganization or liquidation of the association. A vote was taken on the question and 26 out of 27 favored reorganization. A motion was then made that the directors, who were elected at the beginning of 1916, be authorized to act as a soliciting committee to solicit the stockholders of the defunct organization to exchange their share for stock in a new association, and this motion, after being amended to include the services of an attorney or other legal advisor, was carried. The new organization will be known as the "Cedar County Fair association" instead of the old title.

The association was first organized in 1892, but for some reason a charter was not obtained until 1895, which was good for twenty years. There were eighty-five shares of stock in the old organization.

WOODMAN CLASS ADOPTION

Large Class Taken In. A Number of Out of Town Visitors Present. A Big Time Enjoyed by All.

Tuesday evening was a date long to be remembered by a class of more than twenty candidates, who were admitted to the secrets of woodcraft at that time, and marks a new impetus for Logan Valley camp of Modern Woodmen. The class was gathered by District Deputy Woodby and the local camp deputy, assisted by the members. The attendance at the meeting was good, there being nearly one hundred members about the campfire, of the 240 members of the order, who belong to this camp.

Head Consul Talbot, who was expected to be present, is ill at his home in Lincoln and was unable to attend. The state deputy, who was to be here had to put in two or three weeks at a hospital, and was not strong enough to take part at such a strenuous time as this was to be, but C. E. Renner of Lincoln, one of the lecturers of the order was present and acted as Consul for the evening, assisted by other local officers and the team of forresters and the members at times, too. Neighbor Renner made a very happy talk before the camp broke, and told of the fraternal features of woodcraft, among its million members.

At the close of the work a committee of the Royal Neighbors spread a substantial lunch which was enjoyed by both members and candidates as they passed a social hour becoming acquainted with each other—each perhaps finding that the other fellow was at least no worse than they had been given credit for being. The local deputies are hoping to add another class in the near future.

Advertising Pays

To the Democrat: In the last issue of your paper an ad appeared from one who was in quest of a housekeeper. Following closely upon this, information comes that the junior member of the Democrat firm has recently entered into a contract which makes it possible for him to renounce forever hotels, restaurants, cafes, and all other haunts of bachelor days, and that his fondest dreams of a housekeeper was realized within five days after the aforesaid advertisement appeared. For the benefit of a number who are puzzled over this very singular circumstance, please inform the public whether the facts stated above were merely a coincidence, or whether it is to be explained on the theory that it pays to advertise. If the latter be your explanation, kindly quote advertising rates in the Democrat for an individual advertiser, or by the dozen, the understanding being that each insertion carries with it a positive guarantee of immediate success.—Contributed.

W. F. Stoecker Speaks Here

Wednesday afternoon W. F. Stoecker's campaign ship came into town under full sail. On the sail of his automobile his platform was inscribed in letters so that he who runs may read. Mr. Stoecker is a candidate for the democratic nomination for governor on a platform of his own building. He has been a successful business man, and since retiring a few years ago has been studying economic questions and drawing his own conclusions.

He is not a prohibitionist, but a democrat, and he is making his canvass mostly on the liquor question, and tells how he would have it regulated, but does not say how long it would take him to get the law so changed that he could try it his way.

A commission should have charge of the liquor regulation representing the people. Instead of a license he would have every drink pay for a revenue stamp, thus the volume of business would regulate the tax each dealer must pay. He would make a light tax on beer and other of the mild drinks and a heavier one on whiskey and other strong drinks. The beer money should be apportioned equally among all of the schools, according to number, not giving all to the town schools as the present license system is prone to do. The higher the tax on whisky, which he had estimated would amount to about six million dollars annually in this state, he would place according to population among the counties for good roads. He gave out a pamphlet giving his plan in detail.

On Thursday, March 23, 1916, County Judge Britton spoke the words which united the lives of Edw. C. Drew and Miss Lillian Ghizoni as husband and wife. Mr. Drew has been living at Wayne for some time, in the employ of the Oil company.

At their last meeting the county commissioners of Cedar county voted to eliminate half of their road supervisors, and give to each of the supervisors a half precinct to look after instead of only a quarter. The precincts are divided in the center, the dividing line running north and south. It is thought that this will simplify road work in the county and make less road machinery necessary.

An exchange says that Editor Crellin, who launched the Birt County Democrat at Tekamah a year ago, has severed his connection with the plant and the family have moved to Lyons. Consolidation Bobs Up Again

Wayne, Nebraska, March 29, 1916.

Mr. Will Morgan, and Patrons of these Five Districts:

Well, I can't throw away my hammer yet, as I have a few more nails to drive, and as you can see, a hammer has diverse uses. Now my former letter is not my own thoughts alone, but those of many I have talked to.

As to my wealth, it is mine; I earned it; I worked for it, and my taxes I pay without protest.

If your own district is congested why don't you hire another teacher, if you are not afraid of a little extra taxes?

As to the age limit in Nebraska, it is 21 years I think, you will find, if you look up the school law, and State Superintendent Thomas ruled, that if the district wishes, the teacher must teach the ninth and tenth grades.

As to the Sholes schools, ask the patrons about their school, they are not strong for it by any means, and this is not hearsay.

As to the social benefits, well it will be just as hard in a large district as in a small one, and we know that is pretty hard. Of course the Sholes schools have a social center, the saloon and pool hall.

I asked you to explain your proposition, but you did not, you have not made plain what type of consolidation you are in favor of. If there are many in the district that are in your favor why don't you make a plain statement of your proposition, then if it is all right, we can all vote for it.

Now you seem to be free to avoid the way of transportation. Now as I have since heard, your plan is for each family to carry its own pupils. Will that be practical? Can a little boy or girl, 8 or 9 years do the driving?

As to the other counties, other localities may have different conditions and we must look local conditions. EMIL HANSEN.

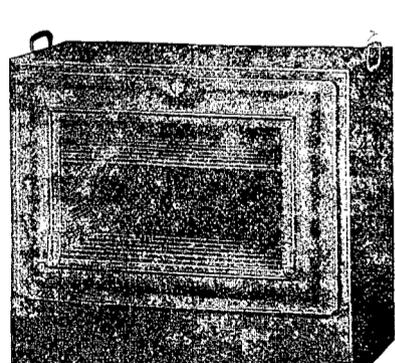

Mike Coleman brought in a car of hogs Monday, which we are told were good enough to top the local market at $9.30. This goes to show that the man who had the faith and the nerve to put good corn into good young hogs was the one who made a killing. It looked a bit extravagant when the piggie was only bringing $6 a hundred to wait for him to get big at the expense of corn worth around 60 cents.

McKELVIE FOR GOVERNOR.
Successful Business Man.
One of the things frequently referred to in connection with the candidacy of S. R. McKelvie for governor is the fact that he has been an unusually successful business man. Though a young man, he has shown a foresight and executive capacity in business which commands the attention of observing business critics wherever he is known. His knowledge of Nebraska conditions, together with his natural business stability, is one of the several reasons why McKelvie is usually referred to as "The Popular Candidate."

The Candidates Now With Hat in Ring. Some Close Races Probable. Wet and Dry Elements of Both Parties Seek Victory.

Secretary of State Pool and his office force have been busier than the proverbial cranberry merchant near Thanksgiving, being almost buried under an avalanche of nominating petitions, personal filings, acceptances, withdrawals, etc.

The Democratic ticket is headed by Woodrow Wilson for president, but contains also the freak filing of one Robert G. Ross, whose name also appears on the republican ticket. For vice-president there is a real contest between Governor Morehead of Nebraska and Thomas R. Marshall of Indiana, the present incumbent.

For presidential electors at large, Otto J. Baumann of Omaha and Felix L. Gallagher of Rosalie have no opposition. For district electors the only contest, is in the first district between Dr. E. Arthur Carr and Attorney W. M. Morning, both of Lincoln. The other district candidates are: Second, S. F. Neble, Omaha; Third, Louis Lightner, Columbus; Fourth, H. J. Requette, York; Fifth, J. M. Teeling, Hastings; Sixth, James A. Donohue, O'Neill.

For delegates at large to the St. Louis convention there are seven contestants for the four places. The first four named are the so-called Bryan slate, while the last three are the so-called anti-Bryanites, or, as others classify them, the four "drys" and the three "wets." Their names are: W. J. Bryan, Lincoln; W. H. Thompson, Grand Island; L. J. Piatti, Omaha; J. J. Thomas, Seward; W. B. Price, Lincoln; W. D. Oldham, Kearney and Douglas "Cone of Pierce.

For district delegates there is a contest among three or four in most of the districts, and no filings at all for alternates.

Mayor Dahlman (Bryan) and Arthur Mullen (anti) both of Omaha contest for national committeeman; and I. J. Dunn has entered the lists against G. M. Hitchcock for United States senator.

On the state ticket, Auditor Smith, Secretary of State Pool and Attorney General Reed have no opposition. Harry Adams of Chadron, aspires to take State Treasurer Hall's place, and Lieutenant Governor Pearson is camping on the trail, that eminent Episcopalian democrat and editor, Edgar Howard of Columbus, and W. B. Banning of Union.

There are four entries in the gubernatorial free-for-all but the favorites in the betting ring seem to be Chas. W. Bryan ("dry") of Lincoln and Keith Neville ("wet") of North Platte. Friends of Deputy Food Commissioner Harman, filed a petition for him but it is not known that he will make the race. W. F. Stoecker, the other entrant is regarded as not better than a thirty to one shot.

For State Superintendent, J. A. Woodward of Seward and W. H. Clemmons of Fremont. For Land Commissioner, A. J. Slinger, Hastings; G. L. Shumway, Scottsbluff; Henry Obermann, Snyder; and E. B. Zimmerman, Lincoln. For Railway Commissioner, Andrew Clute, Hastings; V. E. Wilson, Stromsburg; Edward Sugrue, Bartley; W. S. Ridgell, Alliance; R. W. Ralston, Omaha. For Regent of the University, Dr. P. L. Hall, Lincoln; H. D. Landis, Seward and J. W. Long, Loup City.

For Congress, Dan V. Stephens, Fremont, present incumbent has no opposition in the third, nor has Wm. L. Stark in the fourth, while the sixth has no candidate. In the first, J. S. McCarty of Lincoln and D. W. Livingston of Nebraska City cross swords with former Congressman J. A. McGuire in a triangular duel. In the second, Congressman C. O. Lobeck has "three men in buckram" at his throat, State Senator L. J. Quinby, A. T. Monohan and H. B. Fleharty, all of Omaha.

Raising Mulefoot Hogs

G. W. Gartner of Coleridge was a caller Saturday. Mr. Gartner is making a success raising Mulefoot hogs. He says cholera does not seem to touch them; says he had them running with other hogs the past year when he lost fifty head of other breeds, and not a mulefoot took the disease. The above is from the Laurel Advocate. Perhaps the Mulefoot hog has improved since our acquaintance with some specimens brought to Iowa from Kansas, but as memory now serves us the fact that they were too fleet of foot for cholera to catch them was about the only talking point there was in their favor. Possibly those we saw might have also been known as "thin bacon" hogs.

Bryan's Birthday Party

Thousands of democrats from every section of the state attended the great democratic mass meeting at Lincoln last Monday night in honor of W. J. Bryan's birth anniversary, and many more thousands would have been there but for the well-founded fear that no building in the state was large enough to contain the multitude. Many who went to Lincoln for the meeting were unable to gain admission to the great auditorium, but the fortunate ones, who did gain admission, enjoyed a rare treat. Their greatest joy was in beholding the loved leader of the Nebraska democracy in perfect health, and in a fighting mood which recalled the old days of his splendid fightings in behalf of democratic principles which have been enacted into law by many states, and many of them by the national government.

Always at his birthday parties Mr. Bryan brings from other states the great leaders of progressive thought, and on this occasion he brought two of them, each a brilliant star. Without effort to minimize the accomplishments of others, we instantly say that the address delivered at the birthday party by Dr. Hardin, picturing the evils, and opposing the claims of militarism, was the most masterful speech on that subject ever uttered by any man. If that speech could be heard by all the people of the agricultural states not a single congressman in favor of preparedness would be sent to Washington from any state between the Allegheny and the Rocky mountains.

There came to the birthday party from faraway Alabama a distinguished son of that state, for many years a judge of the supreme court, and he brought to Nebraskans a vivid picture of the long struggle between the people of Alabama and the combined brewery and corporation interests, and the happy ending of that struggle. Judge Weakley is the author of many statutes in many states for the loosening of the steel claws of the booze and corporation hand from the throat of state government, and under the workings of those new laws a common citizen of Alabama now has as much influence in legislative affairs as the combined influence of the liquor interests and all the political corporations.

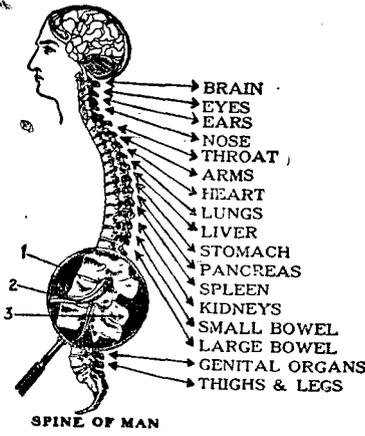

Particularly gratifying to all free democrats was the appearance on the birthday platform of that magnificent democrat, I. J. Dunn, who is a candidate for the democratic nomination for United States senator. Many in the vast audience had never seen the man, never heard him speak. But throughout his fervid address of fifteen minutes frequent bursts of applause appeared, and at the close of his defiant challenge to the combined liquor and corporation interests the splendid orator was accorded a great ovation. And that's the way his addresses will be received wherever he shall appear in this campaign. He has a message for the people—a message of hope. He has a message for the corporation politicians—a message of defiance. And he delivers his messages in a manner to instill courage in the hearts of the masses, and fear in the hearts of the corporation political oligarchy which has long claimed divine right to control the legislatures of Nebraska.

Mr. Bryan's message of welcome to his birthday party was inspiring. He spoke but sparingly of his own great work for democratic principles. He put the branding iron upon the cheeks of those democrats in Nebraska now denouncing him as a traitor to President Wilson, and told how on his meeting with those same Wilson friends at a town named Baltimore, he saw in the hand of each of them a blood-stained dagger, and on the blade of each dagger was the private mark of those same special evil interests which are now backing the corporation Villas in Nebraska. His reference to the candidacy of his brother, Charles W. Bryan, for the democratic nomination for governor was a beautiful tribute to a brother's devotion to a brother's cause. He told of the faithful efforts of Charles W. Bryan in support of democratic principles in state and nation for more than twenty years, and challenged the hired servants of predatory wealth to disclose upon the political record of Charles W. Bryan one single stain which would offend any democrat who is free from corporation strings.

It was a great party, in honor of the greatest private citizen in all the world.—Columbus Telegram.

The Methodist people of Wausa are remodeling their church at a cost of about $3,000. It is proposed to complete the basement and build a wing to the building as was planned to do at some later date, when the building was planned.

MAYOR CHARLES W. BRYAN
Democratic Candidate for Governor

Mayor Bryan favors the re-election of President Wilson.

Endorses business administration of Governor Morehead.

Mayor Bryan is urging a reduction of telephone rates. He defeated fire insurance combine bill in last legislature, saving fire policy-holders probably $800,000.00 annually, and will continue to favor competition in rates. Favors scientific good road building under supervision of state and county engineers. Favors rural credits system for farmers. Favors state hail insurance. Urges public development of water power to furnish cheap electric current to light homes and operate machines on farms and in factories, to supply heat and to operate interurban railways.

These practical and constructive measures are in operation in other parts of the country but impossible in Nebraska on account of interference of special interests under leadership of booze interests and their lobbyists. Help drive them out and legislate for Nebraska people the same as has been done for Lincoln people. Free the party and party machinery from interference of the special interests, and elect all county and state officers under the leadership of Mayor Bryan as candidate for governor, who has had experience in executive affairs, and who has a record of achievement in Lincoln.

Some years ago Judge Landis fined the Standard Oil Co., $29,000, -000 which has never been paid. It is now said that this company is building 29 ships, each costing a million dollars in which to carry gasoline to the warring nations of the old world.

It has been suggested that an embargo on gasoline preventing its shipment abroad would tend to make the price lower and automobilizing more common. It might and again it might not—for the Standard Oil Co., appears to pretty nearly control the output and the price.

If every one fully realized the value of time, and the fact that once it is spent—passed and gone it is gone forever more of us would get really so busy, that the comparison of his Satanic Majesty beating tannin bark would lose force by comparison with the general speeding up that would move the people.

Keith Neville, the boy candidate for governor, has plenty of credentials as to his democracy, honesty of purpose and natural ability, but a lot of it looks too gushy to be genuine. And then some come from a source which seldom booms anything without being sure that it is going to hold a whip hand in some manner that will make it sure of its pay. Lets give this and every other candidate careful scrutiny before we vote, and not be leaning on a weak broken reed in November. Democracy must be sure that it is to be free from corporate control if it expect to retain permanently its hold on the people. It cannot serve two masters.

Lt. General Nelson A. Miles does not appear to be much alarmed about the English or Germans or

Japs or any other foreign power taking this country by storm. Here is what he said in answer to questions the last day of January, less than two months ago:

"The placing of an army on American soil is the last thing any European government would attempt; it could never be re-embarked. It would dissolve like snow beneath the midday sun. Whenever it has been attempted it has resulted in disaster. If the enemy could not be destroyed by the patriotism and valor of the American people before they could send their ships back and get another load, then I would want to live in some other country."

Government armor plate a few months ago was looked upon as a sort of a dream. And judging by past action of the United States senate, the great deliberative body of other days, it would be but a dream for years to come. After twenty-five years of persistent effort the senate reluctantly gave the people a chance to say who should serve them in the senate, and as fast as the terms of the legislative-elected senators expire, they must be appeal to the people to be returned. Seeing this the more progressive members know that it is wise to listen to the voice of the people. The good to result from the victory, which makes the senator answer to the people rather than to some big special interest, is but just beginning to bear fruit for the people. As yet, neither all of the people, nor all of the senators fully realize what it means.

When the people become fully awake there will be no more bills passing the senate like the one but recently passed, giving so much of the nation's water power into the hands of private monopolies. We hope that the fight in the house will defeat the measure, or that the president will veto it. Let the good work go on.

Four Scholarships Given

Four scholarships, the purpose of which is to assist worthy boys and girls of this state to secure an education, are at the disposal of the scholarship committee of the Nebraska Federation of Women's clubs. These scholarships, two of them in the University of Omaha, one in the Lincoln Military academy, and the other in the Kearney Military academy, are open to any boy or girl in the state of Nebraska who can meet the requirements. Applications must be made before June 15, when the awards will be made. Mrs. F. H. Cole of Omaha, chairman of the scholarship committee, will give detailed information. The Omaha university scholarships carry free tuition, while the Lincoln Military academy scholarship carries half tuition and board. The committee also has a loan fund available, from which loans can be had by worthy applicants for a period of years without interest. Mrs. Cole will also give detailed information on this subject.

Additional History on Consolidation

Last week Mr. Morgan handed in a lot of reports of successful consolidation, which were too late for use at that time. Today we quote from the Nebraska Farmer's account of consolidated schools as given by A. O. Thomas, state superintendent of public instruction. We select from an article covering two pages of this paper:

"Kid Wagons" Work Well

"We employ two drivers, or rather run two wagons. We call them 'Kid Wagons' and they are used to transport country children to and from school. We have found since consolidating and transporting the children that more interest is taken in school work. The attendance is better. The country children are never tardy and show a higher average in this point than pupils living close to the school in town.

"Much comment was at first made that transporting pupils was not practicable. We have now run one wagon three years and the other two years. The past winter was severe, and rather worse than common, but the country children missed only one day. I have heard no one mention going back to the old method. Everyone is well satisfied. All children are ready when the wagon passes. One wagon drives eight miles and one six. We have good enclosed rigs, and plenty of warm blankets furnished by the district. It takes only about one hour on the road for the farthest ones out.

"I have never heard any complaint about children being cold. It is the driver's duty to see that every child is taken care of. Here is a point I wish to bring out. In one storm last winter I called upon several patrons asking if their children had gotten home all right. Everyone answered. Mr. Wilson (the driver) will take care of them. We don't worry."

Better than Town

"With competent teachers the work can equal and even surpass the instruction in the town school. More individual work is done and a greater appreciation is shown for the teacher."

"What was the result of your work on the discipline of the school?"

"No discipline was necessary. It was necessary to have someone on the playgrounds all the time, for the children wanted the teachers in their games. In the winter months the recess was taken up with the work of preparing luncheon. In our hot lunches we had baked potatoes, cocoa, rice, tapioca, corn starch pudding, baked apples, soups and many other dishes. Many of the mothers of the district voluntarily furnished the stock for the dinner. The entire community is interested in this school and the people show their appreciation and their desire to help."

Mr. W. H. Campbell of Clark says: "Out in Pierce Chapel we have just opened a rural high school with ten grades. This district has forty acres of land. Near it is a newly consolidated school."

Bloomfield-Wayne Debate

Bloomfield, Neb., March 27.—The Bloomfield-Wayne high school debate will be held April 7. The local team will uphold the negative side of the question. "Resolved, That congress should substantially adopt the recommendations of the secretaries of war and navy for increased armament."

Politics and Prohibition

As Mr. Bryan begins his speaking campaign for a dry democratic party and a dry state we note in wet quarters a disposition to talk politics instead of prohibition. Some of the activities of some of the prohibition workers have harmonized with this tendency. Here, too, has been some little disposition to think of politics rather than prohibition.

The saloon man must perforce talk of something besides the liquor question. There is no defending the saloon, and no defending the manipulation of politics by brewers. The only way to save the saloons and breweries is to get the voters to thinking of something else. If, for instance, voters can be made so hostile to Mr. Bryan or his brother that they will vote wet because the Bryans are dry, that is good business for the liquor men.

The liquor men will accordingly be very willing to shift the issue from saloons to politics. The anti-saloon people will at the same time be wise to keep out of that trap. It is desirable to secure a governor and a legislature in sympathy with the prohibition amendment if the latter is adopted. But this will have to be left to the party men. Mr. Bryan's campaign will probably serve this purpose for the democrats insofar as that purpose can be served in that party. In the republican party a little vigilance will block the brewers. But amid the play of politics, it is wise to remember that the vital thing in the year's campaign is not to elect individuals to office but to adopt a policy which puts out of business and hence out of politics the foundations of Nebraska's most evil political influence, the liquor interest.—State Journal.

That Invasion

Three ships recently left Halifax with 2,500 Canadian soldiers a piece on board. These were the Adriatic, the Celtic and the Baltic, each of approximately 15,000 tons displacement. This expedition gives a basis for figures on the mooted question of the ability of a European country to smother this nation in soldiers in the course of a few weeks.

With a 15,000-ton ship carrying 2,500 soldiers, we have each soldier absorbing something like six tons of a ship's capacity. Taking this as a basis, we can estimate the shipping tonnage required to ship an army for our shores.

Germany's mercantile fleet before the war—it is less now, presumably—totaled 3,000,000 tons. Divide this number by five and we see that if Germany, for instance, can assemble its entire merchant fleet in German harbors at once, it could load a full 500,000 men for an invasion of America. This would be exactly as simple and feasible as for the Burlington railroad to have all its freight cars in the local yards at one time and have them loaded here and started forth on a given day. In the meanwhile, of course, the foreign commerce of the nation making this stupendous arrangement to invade us is paralyzed, for all the ships are engaged in transporting the army.

The more one looks into the matter, the more convinced he is likely to be that the president was right in saying that no one seriously thinks of a military invasion by an overseas power. To say this reflects, we regretfully concede, upon the seriousness and sincerity of those who put forth scares for the American defense society, which has frequently affirmed the ease with which a European power could land 387,000 men on our coasts in the course of eleven days. But that cannot be helped. When men are excited they are apt to exaggerate, and the professional defense folks have had more than their share of both excitement and exaggeration.—State Journal.

Just Handed In

G. K. B.: Briefly stated, a young man recently admitted to your social circle has some very pleasing attributes. He is well educated, draws a good salary and has the confidence of his associates.

But he has a habit of swearing in the presence of ladies and as he is an inveterate cigarette smoker, rolls his cigarette, lights it and puffs away when ladies are in the room or on the veranda in summer time.

And these two practices are direct violation of social usage to which you have been accustomed.

You say, "It is not only presumptuous, but disrespectful to women and especially annoying to other men, who resent an oath in the presence of their wives, daughters and sisters. Then they feel that promiscuous smoking isn't just the thing and that it is an indication of ill-breeding."

You have said it. It is safe to assume that the offender was reared away from refining influences. His associates were rough and uncouth and his recent environments, while advantageous in a business way, have not awakened him to the fact that he has yet to eradicate certain habits before he is an altogether desirable member of good society.—Kansas City Star.

MAKING the "Silvertown" Cord Tire, taught us a few lessons in the manufacture of lighter, cooler, more flexible and enduring FABRIC Tires.

The "Silvertown" Tire, you know, gains its marvelous Speed (and the Coasting qualities that demonstrate its Speed) primarily through having only TWO layers of Cords, laid transversely.

Of course, these TWO layers bend more readily than Five, Six, or Seven Layers of Fabric do (or of Cord would).

But, we found it necessary, in order to conserve that flexibility (in the Two-cord construction), to put a Rubber Tread over it which was equally flexible,—equally strong,—and elastic enough to act as a sort of spring between the Earth and the Tire-casing, when Brakes were thrown on at stopping, or clutch thrown in at starting.

So, we had to devise practically a new kind of Rubber, for this purpose, TWO YEARS AGO.

And this new kind of Rubber Compound now does for GOODRICH Tires a work paralleling that done by the wonderful Alloys of Steel and Bronze in modern Motor Car construction.

It multiplies Rubber Efficiency, for Tire purposes, while decreasing its Weight, and without increasing its Bulk, or its Cost to you.

AS we cannot yet supply half the demand for "Silvertown Cord Tires" (until enough manufacturing equipment can be constructed) we compromise with the Public by giving them, without additional charge, the highly efficient black Silvertown Rubber in all Goodrich FABRIC Tires for 1916.

This makes GOODRICH Fabric Tires the most Resilient and Responsive-to-Power,—the most Long-Lived and Lively, of all FABRIC Tires, at ANY price,—without increasing their relative price to you.

We call this new Silvertown Tread Compound by the name and brand of "Barefoot Rubber."

Because, it CLINGS to the pavement for the same sort of reason that your bare foot clings to a slippery floor, while being flexible, stretchy, springy, and light.

TENACIOUS, resilient, enduring, this "Barefoot Rubber" you today get in all black-tread Goodrich Fabric Tires,—Goodrich Motor-Cycle Tires,—Goodrich Truck Tires,—Goodrich Bicycle Tires,—Goodrich Rubber Boots, Overshoes, Soles and Heels, and in none but GOODRICH products.

Test out a pair of these moderately priced black-tread FABRIC Tires and see what results from the mixing of BRAINS with Rubber.

Cleaning and Pressing Neatly Done. Over State Bank

A Good Press Agent

Harry Richmond who is doing the publicity work for the interests supporting young Mr. Neville, the millionaire candidate for governor before the democratic primaries has evidently struck pay dirt.

When a rich young man, who has never gone through the political ropes gets the bug he is fine picking, especially if the Bell Telephone, the Standard Oil—Harvester combination, the stock yards and the other kindred interests flock solidly to him.

Personally, Mr. Neville appears to enjoy a splendid reputation but it is little less than a sacrifice of the innocents for to expect a young man, who was born to the silk stocking, golden upon strata and who has never had any political experience to combat the pirates, who fly the political and commercial black flag in this state.

It is like sending a three year old child out to feed a grizzly bear. But then the publicity squad, who are doing the honking for the Neville chariot, are not members of any child saving institute, in real fact they are doing specialty work for the menagerie, which own the bear.—Creighton Liber al.

Mrs. A. B. Carhart spent Tuesday afternoon at Emerson.

Dad

Dad ambles home at close of day, and though he's tired and sore, he joins the children in their play upon the cottage floor. He seems to share in the glee that stirs their hopeful hearts. A dad adjustable is he, a dad of many parts. Now he is slain in mimic wars and proves a lively corpse; and now he is a train of cars, again he is a horse. He is a rooster or a mouse, a monarch or a gnome—it's always Christmas in the house when good old Dad comes home!

And when he's tired of being all the creatures in the zoo he leans his chair against the wall and talks an hour or two. Who ever heard such wonderful tales as Dad knows how to tell? Of palaces in far-off vales, where nightly giants dwell; of maiden stolen from her bower, of knight in brave array, who dares the frowning giant's power and takes the maid away. And so he talks until each tot is nodding in his chair; it's always Christmas in the cot when good old Dad is there!

December's final week departs adown the dead years' tracks, but Christmas lives in human hearts and not in almanacs!—Yeoman Shield.

Miss Bertha Wieland returned Tuesday evening from a visit of two or three weeks in southern Kansas. She was at Cherryvale and liked that thriving place very much. In fact, she said that some parts of Kansas were almost equal to Nebraska.

Among the hogs which came to Wayne Tuesday to get top-notch price was one of more than ordinary size, a little. A 2-year-old Poland China, brought in by M. W. Simpson tipped the scale at 830 pound. After being docked the usual 80 pounds there was enough hog left to bring $69.37 at $9.25 the cwt. Some hog, that.

Judge B. F. Feather and wife and Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Skeen, were an auto party from Pomona to call on the Journal family last Sunday. They are former Nebraskans, hailing from the same city as the Journalites. For some twenty-five years we remember the judge as being practically an invalid. About six years ago he was taken to his home from the county court house and it was rumored about the town that his days were numbered. As soon as able to travel he left for California, a tall, thin, emaciated man. Today he is a robust, hearty appearing gentleman, past 82 years old, and barring automobile accidents looks good for at least a quarter of a century. You may chant in cheerful chuckles of Nebraska as a state, where the cattle, hogs and horses make the dollars soon and late. But when it comes to living, for years or centuries, California ties "blue ribbons" around Nebraska's high death rate. Also, what's the use of living where you either freeze or bake; where the lurid lightning hits you and the blizzards "take the cake;" when here in sunny sunland you may loll in ease sublime, never caring, not a tinker, for the troubles of mankind.—"By Dad" in Wilmington (Cal.) Journal.

Business and Charity Begin at Home

G. L. Shumway of Scottsbluffs puts some good ideas on paper as a part of his platform, for he has been asked to file on the democratic state ticket for commissioner of public lands and buildings. Among other good things he says: "I advocate and favor the investment of school and public moneys in securities within the state. This nation and her separate states stands almost alone in sending our money away for 'invisible investments.'" Nebraska money should not be invested in bonds of Idaho and other states while we have within our own state so many sleeping resources—sleeping for lack of encouragement of capital to develop them. Millions of dollars ran annually to waste for the want of money to dig irrigation canals, and develop fertile lands. The great central Nebraska still sleeps for that reason. Our lack of control of rivers, and our undeveloped water power is a far greater waste. The fall of the Platte is greater than ten Niagaras. Great are the possibilities of "the sheaf of wheat hanging near the waterfall." Why not invest all of Nebraska's millions in Nebraska school, county, municipal, industrial and community bond issues or even real estate loans? Why not invest at home instead of thousands of miles away which always helps the other fellow develop his industries? Why not invest on home folks and safe and sound securities where we can supervise the investment? Why not a water power development and a perpetual revenue from the horsepower developed? Why not have million-dollar institutions strung out across the state, continually pouring wealth into our state treasury as taxes and revenues? Why not encourage the dinner-pail brigade by fostering institutions where they work? The incomes would support our state institutions, build our highways and bridges, and do much more. Bad roads cost the farmers of this state untold wealth. Why not road or interurban encouragement by the state? "Omaha, Fremont, Columbus, Kearney, St. Paul and other cities have sleeping giants of power energy awaiting only reasonable encouragement. We sometimes hear a doubt expressed as to their practicability or economy, but the all-potent fact remains that big private enterprises stand ready to build whenever the powers of the state are willing. That seems the best answer to those who doubt. "There are twelve million dollars invested in irrigation ditches in Scottsbluff and Morrill counties alone. The wealth of cities and towns, the splendid homes of thousands are made possible by irrigation. Many millions of dollars of products are raised annually on irrigated farms. The sheep fattened in these two counties each year will give each family in the state two hundred pounds of mutton and the wool from their backs will make a garment for every man, woman and child in the state. The railroad receipts of Scottsbluff city alone crowds the million dollar mark. There are sixteen banks in Scotts Bluff county. The sugar produced annually at the Scottsbluff and Gering mills will make a hundred pound sack for each person in Nebraska. "Then there are other irrigated sections along the Republican and South Platte, the Frenchman, the Niobrara, the Lodgepole and White River. Unless Nebraska awakes to her duty, Colorado and Wyoming will have laid hold of all this wealth by taking the water before it reaches our borders. "Such a calamity is possible, I might say imminent. It would devastate vast areas entailing great personal losses, and the state would lose the prosperity and the taxing values which are immense and growing. We must guard these interests, our homes and our state assets. We who are on the ground see the danger vividly. The encroachments of these other states are no idle dream. Suits are already pending which will take the waters from us unless we look carefully to our affairs. "Can you see anything in this idea of making Nebraska money do duty at home and in the state where it belongs? I believe it will be a strength to the party. "The Commissioner of Public Lands and Buildings is a member of the Board of Irrigation, Highways and Drainage, and of nearly every state board that has to do with the control of school lands and the investment of school moneys. A most important office, although considered generally one of the minor offices of the state."

At the outbreak of the War it took Great Britain, with full control of the seas, 33 days to transport 30,000 men, without equipment, across the Atlantic, from Quebec to Southampton. Why this great preparedness flurry?

Why Not Apply This to Wayne

From the Butler County Press: "While there are many other suggestions of practical worth and usefulness in G. A. Bryant's address at the David City Commercial club dinner March 15 on "The Commercial Club and the Farmer," The Press is especially impressed by the suggestion that the club have a farmers' day every once in a while, with farmers not only as guests but as talkers at the dinner, presenting frankly and clearly their views on community interests and best methods of encouraging co-operation in promoting matters of mutual advantage and profit. It would help a lot all around. One of the most gratifying incidents in the experience of The Press was a talk in the Press office by a farmer living in the north part of the county, and whose statement was given in The Press at the time. He said that David City business men appeared to him more friendly and cordial and accommodating to customers than business men in some other towns and stated that although he lived much nearer Schuyler than David City, he did substantially all his trading in David City because of the friendly spirit shown. It was a compliment that The Press believes is deserved. David City business men are usually busy, but some of them do not neglect any opportunity of exhibiting neighborly interest and friendliness, such for instance as attending neighborhood or church picnics in the country, farmers' institutes and poultry shows at Rising City, Chautauqua at Surprise and Ulysses, anniversary or other celebrations at Abie, Bruno, Brainard, Bellwood, Dwight, Edholm, Linwood, Millerton and elsewhere in the county. And many a box social or other school entertainment held at night in country school house or in village of the county is attended and thoroughly enjoyed by David City young people. People who come to David City from the country or from villages of the county to live here, soon learn that David City people are naturally and unaffectedly friendly and cordial and that snobbishness and silly uppishness is practically unknown. Friendliness and warm cordiality are characteristic of Butler county people in general.

Every Man a King, by Madden is an interesting discussion of the effect of the mind over the body. Right thinking contributes not only to health, but to success in life in a social and material way, overcomes fear, promotes self-confidence, builds character, takes away the fear of death, and prolongs the period of youth to an extremely old age. This is a book that mothers and teachers should read, and encourage the children to read.

Provocational Education in the Public Schools, by Edith Brown. This book will be interesting to those, who heard Prof. Holden lecture, as he advocates the same method of education as this author. He takes up this need for vocational education, suggests text-books and methods of instruction. He says that the vast majority of our children are for one reason or another, deriving little benefit from our school system, and suggests that this is on account of our retention of ancient and worn-out methods of so called cultural education. This is a book of interest for all who have the welfare of the children at heart.

The Changing Chinese by Rasa, analyzes the character of the Chinese people and seems to prove conclusively that the cause of their peculiar racial traits and degrading poverty, are largely due to the struggle for existence, the pressure of excessive population, ancestor worship, the subjection of women, the decline of militancy and the ascendancy of scholars. This is instructive just at this time, when there is so much discussion of militancy and pacificism in America. He points out the reason for the dislike of a Chinaman for athletic sports and why he will not fight. He gives great praise to Christian missions, and gives them credit for much of the progress already made, in restricting the use of opium and foot binding. He predicts that the country will become Christian within the next fifty years. Railroads and telephones will be common and women will become as free as their western sisters.

In the County Court of Wayne County, Nebraska,
State of Nebraska, Wayne County, ss.

Truly Farmer Boy

"Here are two stalks of corn," remarked Sam Jordan as he talked to the fair school boys last year. "Both grew side by side in the same hill. One has a fine, well developed ear, the other grew a nubbin. Now would you keep the good ear for seed?" Many of the boys admiring the fine ear displayed asserted that it would be added to their seed corn but a little fellow in the corner piped up, "I wouldn't have that ear, Mister." "Why?" shot back Uncle Sam, pointing a long forefinger at the young corn grower. "Because it grew in the hill with the nubbin," answered the boy, "and might produce nubbins instead of seed corn." "Right you are," said Sam as a slow grin spread over his face. "You can't grow prize winning corn when the parent ear has had worthless associates and prize winning boys like you chaps here must keep out of bad company if you expect to become topnotch men. Get the point, fellow?"

If it takes 300 men one day to kill three wolves, as the wolf hunters did near Wynot last week, would it have taken 600 men, had there been six wolves? Wolf hunting appears to be quite a sport in some parts of the state. In most cases most of the wolves seem to escape.

We notice from the reports in the Pierce papers that they had another big meeting of their commercial club or community circle, or whatever it is called, last week, and the attendance was a record breaker. Pierce people, as the Democrat man learned from a visit there, are much pleased with the success of these meetings. They are held occasionally—about once a month by the business men of the place, who all attend. For their guests, they invite every farmer in certain precincts, and they all come, we are told. The next month residents of other precincts are invited—the division of territory being necessary, because of lack of room to accommodate all at one time.

Local speakers make short talks, and it is also the purpose to secure at least one speaker from some other point, who will make a talk along the line of some community interests which will entertain and instruct all present. Some light refreshment is served, frequently more as a token of hospitality, than a real feed. It is really a meeting to become acquainted with each other, and is a good thing, for as Prof. Holden advised they get acquainted with their neighbor and like him. Most men are pretty good fellows, if you come to know the best side of them.

Carroll Items

(From the Index)

Rev. D. Penry Davis, pastor of the Welsh Congregational church, has received a call to the pastorate of the First Congregational church at West Point.

Dr. Texley and C. E. Clonson indulged in the purchase of new cars Saturday morning. The doctor can use his to good advantage in his business and Mr. Clonson, who was supposed to be a hopeless case, matrimonially speaking, may yet win out.

L. R. Bellows returned to Carroll Saturday evening to assist his wife in packing their household effects, preparatory to moving to their new home at Spencer, Iowa. Their oldest son was ill with pneumonia when Mr. Bellows arrived and their moving plans may be somewhat retarded on that account. If he recovers sufficiently, they expect to leave latter part of this week.

The young people of the Welsh Congregational church realized $65.10 on their play, "Dot, the Miner's Daughter," which was given Wednesday evening of last week. A large number went out from town to attend the play and all speak very highly of the manner in which it was put on. They are giving it at the Baptist church tonight, and on Saturday will render it again at Winside.

W. B. Hornby returned latter part of the week from his trip to the western part of the state, where he indulged in the purchase of a quarter section of land lying just two miles due north of Sidney. The price paid was $25 per acre. Mr. Hornby will leave for there in the very near future to begin farming operations, but the family will remain in Carroll until the close of the present school term. Mr. Hornby expects to use a tractor to do the bulk of the work on the farm. Success to him.

A pretty home wedding took place at 10 o'clock on Wednesday of this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank James, when their youngest daughter, Edith, and Mr. Harry Griffith took upon themselves the vows that made them man and wife. The ceremony was pronounced by Rev. D. T. Davis in the presence of only a few near relatives, at the close of which a three-course wedding dinner was served by the bride's mother and Mrs. John L. Davis. The happy pair left by auto for Wayne where they boarded the afternoon train for Sioux City to spend a short honeymoon. Many very useful and beautiful presents were received.

At the Commercial club meeting Tuesday evening of last week it was decided to grant the band boys' request that the bandstand be prepared for summer concerts by installing electric lights. We learn that it will have five lights, one in the center and one on each side or corner. It was also decided that when a person comes to your office, store or home, seeking financial aid that said person be required to produce a certificate signed by the secretary of the Commercial club, which will prove him, or her, worthy to receive your support. Should he not have a certificate properly signed by the secretary you will be justified in refusing him aid.

Winside Notes

(From the Tribune)

The Epworth League social held at the Clinton Fry home last Friday evening was a social success. Decorations were in green and shamrocks. The society realized $6.36 out of the admission charged, which was ten pieces of money.

The Citizens held their caucus Monday night and renominated the following trustees for the village, Wm. Brune, Herman Fler and F. W. Weible. With two tickets on the ballot this year, we can expect to see every voter in Winside at the polls.

Ruth Peltzer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon R. Peltzer of near Hoskicis was stricken with appendicitis last Sunday and was taken to the Samaritan hospital in Sioux City Tuesday afternoon, where she underwent an operation. At this writing she is doing nicely.

At a caucus of the Winside Municipal Improvement party held at the town hall, March 20, for the purpose of nominating three trustees for the village of Winside, Prof. G. E. Cress was elected chairman and appointed J. B. Wylie, secretary. The following nominations were made: A. C. Lantz, Geo. Motson, Halsey Moses and E. W. Darnell. The ballot being taken, A. C. Lantz, Halsey Moses and Geo. Motson having the highest vote were declared elected as candidates. The following day, A. C. Lantz, handed in a written statement, refusing to be a candidate. The party then held a meeting in the Merchants State bank and nominated G. E. French as a candidate.

J. A. Ferguson, who with his wife is spending the winter at Pomona, California, favors the Democrat with a copy of the Homeseeker's edition of the Review of that place, which shows the beauties of the place and the enterprise of the citizens. A map showing in the form of a triangle the great citrus fruit field of the world, with Pomona its center, gives one an idea of why this little city is of such importance. Figures show that this triangle is the most productive and valuable agricultural acreage in the world. A handsome panorama of the place with the mountain background accompanied the paper.

D. S. McVicker returned last week from a visit at Douglas, Wyoming, and brought with him views to prove that thriving young town to be prospering and improving at a rapid rate. They have harnessed the Platte river and are working it for both power and irrigation purposes. We never can grind with the water that is passed, but right here in Nebraska we are wasting daily power enough to do all of the work of the state and then to double the amount we now and still have water to burn, if we do but harness it and make it work. Let's not give it to private monopoly, but secure and use it for all of the people. By developing our water power, Nebraska can do much to get away from the grip of the coal trust and the high freight rate on coal and give the railroads opportunity to use their power and cars carrying other products.

W. E. Reed has made so efficient an attorney general that it would look like folly for another democrat to file against him for renomination for a second term. Mr. Reed has given the state more of his time during his term of office than has probably any other attorney general since Nebraska was a state. His thorough knowledge of the law has upon more than one occasion saved the state needless expense and his watchfulness has more than once been the means of bringing dollars into the treasury, where a less observing official would have lost them. Nebraskans are very well pleased with Mr. Reed's administration of office. Republicans and democrats alike are insistent upon Mr. Reed accepting another term. Mr. Reed has been quite ill for several weeks, but he will find upon his recovery, that his friends have been zealous in looking out for his political interests, which in this case are their own.—Clay County Patriot.

Study the Advertising

It is frequently more profitable to make a careful study of the advertisements which appear in your local paper than to read the account of the marriage of some worthy young people, but there is no law against the subscriber reading both. Then there is sometimes a bit of plain miscellany which entertains and instructs. Perhaps it is the best advice to ask all to read all of the local paper. One sure thing, you will be helping to make your home town a better place by studying the home news.

"The Battle Cry of Peace"

Wayne is to be complimented on having as the manager of the Crystal theatre, such a man as Mr. J. L. Hostettler, who has shown his faith in our city, by booking for presentation here, the greatest of all film productions, "The Battle Cry of Peace." This production has the endorsement of the public and press in all large cities of the United States. Its praises have been sung by our greatest citizens, among whom are Ex-secretary of War Garrison, Major General Leonard Wood, Theodore Roosevelt, Admiral Dewey, Dr. Lyman Abbott and several others of equal fame.

"The Battle Cry of Peace" is a picture of today—A CALL TO ARMS AGAINST WAR. Special orchestral music accompanies the feature and it is one of the masterpieces of the age. No person, young or old should fail to see this great lesson. The exhibition dates will be announced in due time.

Dunn and Howard Talk

A group of Norfolk democrats gathered in the city hall Monday night and listened to two strong political addresses by Edgar Howard of Columbus, democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, and I. J. Dunn, democratic candidate for the United States senatorial nomination, says the News. Both addresses covered state and national issues and both speakers made personal appeals for the sending of William Jennings Bryan as a delegate to the national democratic convention at St. Louis. Mr. Dunn made a strong plea for the selection of Charles W. Bryan as governor of Nebraska and declared him a progressive who had done much for Lincoln. His attack on Gilbert M. Hitchcock, seeking renomination by democrats to the United States senate, was a bitter one and he charged the Omaha newspaper man with being lined up with the special interests of the country. In his outline of the policies of democracy since 1896, Mr. Dunn traced Mr. Hitchcock's record and claimed that throughout, the senator from Omaha had appeared suspiciously as being in line with special interests. He told of Hitchcock's fight against Bryan in the Baltimore convention.

Primaries April 18—VOTE FOR HIM

Madison County Seat Vote Makes No Change

Norfolk, Neb., March 25.—Although Norfolk got a majority of the votes cast in today's county seat removal contest the county seat will remain at Madison for another two years at least. Norfolk polled 2,895 votes, Madison 2,564 giving Norfolk 53 per cent of the total 5,459 votes. Sixty per cent was required by law to make the change. The largest vote ever cast in Madison county prior to this was less than 4,300.

Norfolk cast 2,259 votes, 2,224 for Norfolk and thirty-five for Madison. Madison cast 667 votes of which Norfolk got nine. Newman Grove, in the south half of the county, gave Madison 428, Norfolk 24, Tilden and Battle Creek, in the northern half of the county, gave Madison substantial majorities. Meadow Grove and Warnerville gave majorities to Norfolk but interior rural precincts nearly all gave Madison a heavy lead. Madison's campaign was made upon the issue that removal would increase taxes. Norfolk urged its railroad center and the fact that it is the metropolis of the county as reasons for changing.
