"The Servant in the House"

The Senior Play, "The Servant in the House" will be given in the Normal chapel Tuesday evening May 23. The very title arrests attention, for who in our Christian world fails to recall the words of Jesus to his disciples that the greatest of all human beings is he who is the servant of all?
There is a fascination in trying to place one's self among the band his simple, thrilling, divine, omnipotent message, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." To say that this theme has been thoroughly worked out in the play is to command the interest of all intelligent people, of all lovers of humanity. With much careful study and long hours of rehearsal the cast taken from the senior class is prepared to do justice to the noble spirit of the production.

Norfolk Can't Get Over It

Norfolk takes it sadly to heart that the next meeting of the North Nebraska Teachers' association is coming to Wayne. The secretary of their commercial club without any authority from the Teachers' association is trying to get a vote of the teachers on their preference as to place of holding the meeting, after the teachers had decided to leave it to the executive committee and then named a committee favorable to Wayne. So without even giving Wayne a chance to be heard in the matter the Norfolk club is asking a vote by mail. Here is the reply sent by Chas. H. Bright of this city in reply to their second appeal, under date of May 11:

My dear Weaver:—My failure to answer your first request regarding your famous referendum was not an oversight. Such a course is not authorized by the association, nor its officers, and I fail to see any reason for attaching any importance to it whatever. Official referendums always allow all parties bidding for meeting to present their case. You did not even offer this courtesy. This may be an interesting pastime for you but since it is absolutely unofficial it can have no standing.
Very respectfully,
C. H. BRIGHT.

Sons of Herman at Columbus

The grand lodge had a business session Tuesday afternoon, and Wednesday is to be the election of officers.

Tuesday evening a banquet and a musical program was had at which time addresses were made by several grand lodge officers and local members as follows: "Our Duties as American Citizens," Past Grand President John Mattes; "The Red Cross for the Benefit in the Service of Humanity," Grand Treasurer Fred Volpp; "High is the Song of the German Woman," Grand Vice-president Wm. Piepenstock; "Impressions of a Neutral Herman Son During His Travels in Europe," Peter Luchsinger; "The Past and Future of the Organization," Grand Trustee J. H. Lohmann.

Successful Class Play

The above heading tells very briefly the truth regarding the "Lion Tamer," as presented by the members of the graduating class of the Wayne high school, Friday evening. The house was full when the curtain went up for the first scene, and until the last scene of the last act the attention of the audience was held closely. It is a modernized play and deals in love, politics and flying machines. It required many characters of many kinds to properly present it, and it is to the credit of the members of the class and those who drilled them, that they had one who could adapt himself to fill each place. Not all parts called for a star, but there was a star for every part.

Ralph Ingham as the "Lion" assumed the difficult part of a woman hater well, though not in his elements during the first acts as was shown by his falling into his natural pace in the last act when he had been conquered and ceased to hate. He carried the leading part well, and won much applause. LeRoy Owen, as Ricerie, a younger brother also presented a difficult part well—considering that he was not sure during the entire evening that he could overcome an obstinate brother and mother and wed the lady of his choice. But all ended well. Ward Randol as Colonel Peckero also carried a difficult part with much skill.

Of the ladies Nita Foster as Lady Clayborne, and Anna Granquist as Patricia the lion tamer each carried leading parts well throughout the play. Ruth Ingham and her maid Genevieve Dorsett were also stars of the first magnitude. But to tell the merits of the two dozen would be impossible, and the plot of the play and cast were given last week.

The players showed by their acting that they had had careful training, and the costumes were both beautiful, appropriate and worn becomingly, whether in the dress of lady, maid or servant; gentleman of leisure, student, rancher or man servant.

Company E. Inspection

Special order No. 1 has been issued to the militia company recently organized here, directing them to assemble at the city hall for their first annual inspection, when Captain Gordon of the U. S. A. will inspect the men and equipment, Friday evening the 15th.

Now that Wayne has a company of the Nebraska National guard all should join the boys in every laudible effort to make it the best company of the state. The enlistment is voluntary and carries with it an obligation to do a certain amount of drill work, for which the men are paid, and an obligation to serve the state if in need of services, and the nation in case of war. The training and discipline of the guard as now conducted, may be of much value to the young men, and very valuable in case of war that would call an army of volunteers to the field. Citizens should attend the inspection as far as possible.

Last week George McEachen unearthed a nest of seven coyotes, all of one litter and captured them. Wednesday he brought them to town and they attracted considerable attention in a case in front of the Gamble & Senter store.

The Cradle

GRANQUIST—Wednesday, May 17, 1916, to Nels Granquist and wife, a son.

May Festival

For the first time in the history of the Normal, one day of the commencement week is set apart for the May Festival. Year by year the management of Professor Coleman has been increasing the musical spirit among the students. The musical organizations are popular, and chorus have each year given an acceptable concert of excellent music. In 1913 the normal chorus gave the "Rose Maiden" by Cowan; in 1914 the opera "Martha" by Flotow; in 1915 "Ruth" by Gaul.

On Thursday, May 25 the May Festival will occur, the entire day being given over to this phase of the commencement celebration. At eight-thirty a. m., will be held the May Revels, which will consist of pantomime and dancing representing a May dream. The queen of the occasion is Miss Alice Banks, and the poet Miss Sara Henry. The of eager men who left all to follow the teacher of Nazareth. To these, entranced by the magic of his spiritual touch, how simple seemed the principle of human brotherhood, the love divine, that shed abroad in their hearts, was soon to spread over to the whole earth and bring all men under its potent sway! Wonderful, indeed, was the lure of the dream that enticed them. Bravely they lived out their lives, perishing at last by cruel torture, but ever with spirits set toward the shining vision of universal brotherhood! Long since those followers of the Nazarene have passed away. Empires have risen and fallen into dust. Yet still the heart aches and eyes are dimmed waiting and watching for the coming of the kingdom of divine and human love. Was Jesus of Nazareth, were his disciples mistakes? Is the dream impossible; merely a deceitful mirage, destined to dissolve in air and reveal only the dreary waste of desert and stretching on in endless desolation? Today we see war on a more gigantic scale than ever before. Our prisons are crowded with the refuse of civilization! Two million children lose all that makes childhood sweet and beautiful in the factories and mills of our land. And still we pray thy kingdom come and the weary soul whispers: "How long?"

Those who see "The Servant in the House" next Tuesday evening will learn as never before how today men are caught in the clutches of an economic system, entangled in artificial relationships that defeat the best in us all. They will see how even the church, the bride of Christ, left by the Savior to reflect his purpose for men, may become futile, and even corrupt and base. They will see how the institutions of modern times, fostering false and wicked ambitions separate brother from brother and allow the strong, the cunning, to destroy the weak. And over all will be heard still the voice of the Master calling down the centuries performance was prepared by a large number of young women of the Normal under the direction of Miss Josephine E. Mack, head of the department of expression and physical training.

At ten-thirty Metta Legler, soprano, and Frederick Southwick, baritone, singers of national fame, will give an artists' recital. At one-thirty the Voget Concert Quartet, so favorably known in this place, will give one of their excellent entertainments.
At three o'clock a second artists' recital will be given by Madge Miller, contralto, and J. Glenn Lee, tenor.
It is with pleasure that the Normal announces as a special feature of the day, the reading of Middleton's play, "Nowadays" by Miss Josephine E. Mack. Miss Mack has not read before the general public of Wayne on any previous occasion, though her work in chapel has greatly interested the students. She is possessed of the appreciative faculty and charm of the true artist. Miss Mack will read at four o'clock.
In the evening the chorus of 100 voices under the direction of Professor Coleman, and with the assistance of all the visiting artists, will render the cantata, "The Holy City," by Gaul. Several months of preparation insure a concert fully equal to, or even beyond the standard set by previous concerts. Mrs. James Miller will accompany the soloists and Miss Bessie Crockett the chorus.

The Tented City of a Week

In a night, as it were, a city of tents sprang up at Wayne the first of the week—the Savidge Amusement Company opening for the season of 1916 and starting from a good town to get a good start. This is the 7th successful season for Mr. Walter Savidge, and each season a little stronger, larger and better than the preceding one.

There are little tents from which lunches are served, candies and novelties sold, and larger tents which are full of snakes and reptiles; in another tent is quite a number of wild animals and birds not to be seen every day in this land. The ostrich farm, high wheel and the merry-go-round, the free street performance of tumbler, acrobats and trapeze performers; the band and orchestra all helping to amuse and entertain.
Then comes the big top under which each evening and Saturday afternoon some excellent play is given by a company of most capable actors, many of whom are known at Wayne, having been here several seasons. The tent was well filled last evening, which was the first entertainment, the rain of the last of last week preventing the earlier opening. Tonight the play will be "That Printer of Udell's," Friday evening "Graustark," and Saturday afternoon the "Prince of Liars," and closing Saturday evening with W. C. Herman's popular play, "The Girl of the Mountains."

People of the country are nearly always amusement hungry, and the advent of such a group of splendid attractions as this company offers is eagerly welcomed to most any rural community, and Mr. Savidge has gained a knowledge of the desires of the people, and is prepared to fill the need with attractions of a class far better than the usual carnival company.

Invite State G. A. R. to Wayne

John Stallemitz left Monday to represent the G. A. R. post of this place at the annual meeting of the state encampment of the members of that order at Lexington. In addition to his credentials from the post he carries a cordial invitation from the Public Service club of Wayne to the members of the order to hold their 1917 annual meeting at Wayne. The invitation carries with it the pledge of this community organization to make the welcome cordial and their care the first duty and pleasure of our citizens. We should all delight to honor the men who stood in the battle line in defense of a great principle more than half a century ago.

Art Department Exhibits Work

The Art department of the State Normal will give a "studio tea" Friday afternoon, May 19, from 2 to 5. All interested in the work of the department are invited to see the student's work.

A Little About Road Work

It was the pleasure of the Democrat man Wednesday to scrape an acquaintance with Mr. Kinkaid of Randolph, who is in charge of the Cedar county road grading equipment, and by plying the pump process painlessly extracted a bit of information about this important work in our sister county. In his opinion a grading outfit and tractor power is the best road investment a county can make. It gets away with more bad road for less money than any other system now in practice for the common dirt road.

The Cedar county equipment, Mr. K. tells us, consists of a 86 h. p. tractor, an elevator plow and seven dump wagons and a large grader. He says that there are times when using the elevator plow and wagons that they should have twice the number of wagons, but they make what they have do as best they can. The cost of such equipment he estimates at about $7,000, and the average total cost of running the tractor he says is about $1.80 per hour. Mr. Kinkaid was on his way to Wynot, where he left the outfit while he went home to let it rain. In his opinion a tractor propelled on the caterpillar plan would be better than the common type, because it could be used in wet places where the work is frequently needed and hard to do. If this is a good thing, and it seems to be, Wayne county should consider it, for we need the most road work we can get for the money spent.

Are Coming to Wayne

On another page we make mention of a company of newspaper advertising men who are going to pay Nebraska a visit—a tour of inspection that they may know something of this rich land first hand to tell their clients. J. J. Ahern made a visit to Norfolk Tuesday and learned particulars regarding the proposed visit, and a party of about 70 will probably come by automobile to Wayne, and be guests at dinner to the public service club. Wayne is the only town in the state not on their direct route to be visited, and they will visit the following other towns and cities:

These men are visiting only the best towns of the state, and their route takes them to Omaha, Fremont, Norfolk, Wayne, Columbus, Grand Island, Kearney, Hastings, McKelvie Farm, Harvard and Lincoln.

Rundell Breaks Drouth

Two weeks ago when candidate C. J. Rundell had a lecture date in Leslie precinct quite a storm came up, but the rainfall was slight. Last Sunday he was to lecture at the Chichester school house, and we had a splendid rain Saturday and Sunday, so much so that the lecture was postponed one week, and is now announced for 2:30 Sunday afternoon at the Chichester school house in Plum Creek precinct. All who can attend are invited, and there is no admission charge.

This is carnival week at Wayne, and a big time may be expected from this time till the week ends.

Some of our dealers are offering straw hats with ear muffs on, sufficiently heavy to meet the needs of weather conditions.

Gordon Beckner and family have moved here from Wausa and occupy a home on Main street near the hospital. Mr. B. is employed at the Munsinger farm just north of town.

Edward Coleman was here from Letcher, South Dakota, for a part of Saturday and Sunday with his father, Patrick Coleman. He is Superintendent of the Letcher schools.

Hohn Heeren from Carroll is a visitor at Omaha this week, going down Tuesday morning. His many friends are glad that he is in so much better health than he was a year ago.

O. E. Jacobson and wife came from Sioux City last week to visit at the Victor Carlson home a few days. Monday he went to Norfolk for a few days, and the wife remained at the Carlson home.

Wausa, as well as Wayne, came to her senses last week and demanded that automobiles be parked in the middle of the street. Correct—now let's see who paves these said streets first—for that naturally comes as the next good step.

Miss Gladys Norman, who has been staying with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Gamble for several months, left Friday for Ellendale, North Dakota, where her parents live. Though but 12 years of age she was making the trip alone.

The Publicity committee of the Pierce Commercial club urgently requests that all automobile owners in the town and adjacent country mark their cars with a Pierce pennant so that the name of the city will be more widely circulated.—Pierce County Leader.

The U. S. bureau of crop estimates say that in 1915 there were 49,487,000 bushels of apples gathered, of which Ben Davis heads the list with 14.5 per cent Baldwin, 10.9 per cent; Winesaps, 7.3 per cent; Jonathan, 5.9 per cent; Grimes Golden, 3.8 per cent.

G. G. Porter from Lake Preston, South Dakota, came to Sioux City with stock from his place, and came out to visit Wayne and Wakefield folks Saturday and Sunday before returning. He reports favorable crop prospects there so far as they show at this season of the year.

According to the Pierce County Call the dandelions are about to take the place. The fellows who made such effort last year to find their lawns of the golden flower are the one, who have the most this season. The best way to kill 'em is to let them die of neglect and old age.

V. P. ("Pudge") Gallagher, who has been salesman in the Gamble & Senter clothing house in this city, since January 1st, severed his relations with that firm last week, and returned to his home at Coleridge. He will assist his father, who is in the implement business at that place.

Rev. Samuel Merrill, who died at Los Angeles, California, April 30, at the age of 81 years, was the first white person born in what is now the state of Nebraska. He was born in a Baptist mission maintained by his father one mile south of Bellevue and left Nebraska when six years old.

The census of 1910 shows a report of 4,731 acres cultivated to sunflowers from which was gathered 63,677 bushels of seed. The greatest acreage was credited to California and Illinois. The valuation of the crop was about 3¢ cents per pound and the average value per acre $15.

The state meeting of the Sons of Herman is held this week at Columbus, and Wm. Piepenstock, Grand vice-president, accompanied by his wife, went on Monday evening. The delegates from Wayne are, C. J. Nuss, A. Lerner and Henry Koch, who went Monday morning to do a bit of preliminary work, and they tell us that it is their purpose to bring the next president home with them in the person of Wm. Piepenstock, whom they are favoring for the highest office in the gift of the order, in the state. Mr. Piepenstock has long been one of the grand officers, and has been constantly advanced by the members from year to year and it is but natural that they continue to advance him to the top, for he is in every way competent and worthy.

Beatrice is going to supplant the saloons with music. The business men of that city have raised $2,000 for the band at that place and in return they will receive twenty-four concerts this season, eighteen on week days and the other six on Sundays.—Hamprey Democrat.

A stranger entering a household knows whether the keynote there is high or low. There are houses, affluent wealth and culture, where the discords are incessant, and the meaning of life no higher than that of brutes. But no symphony can compare with the daily life, in a family of gentle words and noble conduct.

As one of the results of the editorial banquet at Wayne last January, Rev. Gaston has received an invitation to deliver a decoration day address at Deemer this year, and he will accept and speak to the boys who wore the blue and the citizens who will gather at that time to honor them.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Peters from Sholes went to Omaha Tuesday for a short visit. Mr. Peters and family moved from Hay Springs to Sholes last March, and he was sadly crippled for a time by an accident while moving, and we are glad to report that he has practically recovered from the effect of the injury.

J. H. Foster was looking after business matters at Sioux City Saturday. He is getting prices preparatory to submitting a bid for the building of a Methodist church at Wakefield. In these days of jumping prices it is not safe to make a bid on anything until you can get a quotation that is the latest.

Mrs. Henry Buskirk and her little son were here from Fremont last week, the little fellow going to the Wayne hospital to have tonsils and adenoids removed. They returned home Sunday, and were accompanied as far as Wisner by Mrs. Lydia Hartshorn whom they visited while here. The patient was feeling fine when the trip home was made.

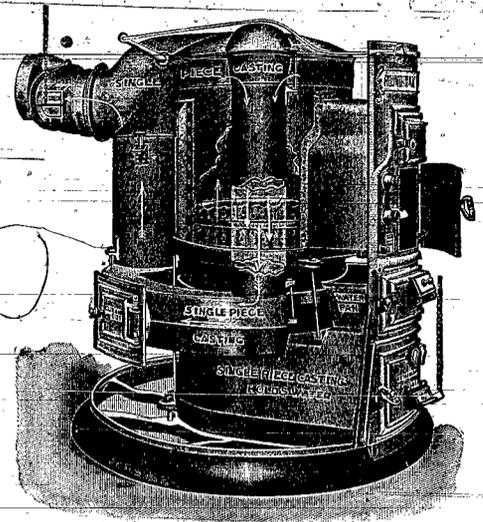

John Scott, Randolph's oldest citizen, died last week at his home in that city at the age of 90 years and 15 days. He was born in England and came to America eight years after he married, and has been in this country since 1855. He was for 22 years a resident of or near Randolph. He was sick but a short time. Two weeks before his death he observed his 90th birthday happily.

The term of President Woodrow Wilson expires on March 4, and if the inauguration exercises are put off until Monday the nation will be without a ruler for a period of 12 hours or more at least. It is the first time in the history of our nation that March 4 ever fell on Sunday in an inauguration year and it is said it will not occur again for 138 years.—Ex.

Last week Wednesday the Coleridge hotel and moving picture show buildings were destroyed by fire of unknown origin. The blaze was discovered about four o'clock in the morning, and three hours later the buildings were in ruins. The hotel building was valued at $2,000 with half that amount of insurance. Guy Moore was owner of the contents valued about the same as the building, on which he carried $1,400 insurance. The other building was without insurance, and said to be worth $1,500.

The Nebraska Publishers' bureau is planning to bring to Nebraska next month, 25 of the leading advertising men of America. A special train will carry the party over the state, to show these people the prosperity of Nebraska. The bureau does not plan to put these men under any obligations to Nebraska, but feels that the prosperity and merchandising possibilities of the state are too little appreciated in the east. Incidentally much advertising should be gained to the state as a result of this visit. Among the cities to be visited are Columbus, Grand Island, Kearney, Lincoln and Norfolk and Wayne, probably.

For two or three weeks past W. O. Hanssen has been advertising that he would gather from the citizens of the place their refuse and waste matter from the kitchen and dining room for use for a bunch of swine he is growing near town. He informs us that many are taking advantage of the chance to have this matter taken care of free of cost, and while the advertisement is now discontinued he will consider your needs in the matter if you will call him by phone or otherwise. It is a fine thing for the community that someone has taken up the work of utilizing this refuse which was frequently worse than wasted, for it would breed flies and possibly disease if not properly disposed of.

Ernest Norman, who has been here since December at the J. S. Gamble home, visiting his mother, Mrs. Gamble, left Monday to return to his home at Lone Elm, Kansas.

A community club banquet was held at Wausa Monday evening. With a club of 110 members, each member entitled to bring one guest, an attendance of 200 or more was reported.

Rev. Hefner, who for the past 27 years has been pastor of the German Lutheran church at Lawn Ridge, dropped dead last week Wednesday while on his way to Coleridge to take the morning train out of the city. Mr. Hefner was between 50 and 60 years of age and his death is said to be due to heart trouble.

MICHELIN 12 to 15% Extra Weight

When you buy your next tire make this simple test. Let us weigh a Michelin Universal Tire in comparison with any other non-skid of the same size.

You will find the Michelin 12 to 15% heavier than the average, the exact percentage depending on the size of the tires used in the test.

This extra weight represents extra rubber and fabric, which means extra service.

Tabernacle Meetings in September

(Contributed)
It is settled. The die is cast. Wayne is to have a tabernacle meeting—not a one-horse concern conducted by a company that makes towns "that a Rand-McNally map never heard of" but a big robust, self-respecting meeting that will make all this corner of the state sit up and wonder how it happened. A tabernacle will be built large enough to hold everybody between Wakefield and Winside and we will bring into it the great aggregation of Christian workers that are to be found in the tabernacle business.

We have had a hard time reaching this stage of the game, but at last it has been reached and we are now ready to make announcements and tell the story. In the latter part of February the matter of a union meeting was first taken up and discussed pro and con on all four ideas. Several were anxious for an early spring meeting and advocated rolling up our sleeves and jumping in. There were others who wanted to know what they were jumping into and proposed that we make haste slowly. There was an Evangelist named Green who was at that time very willing to be named captain of the campaign. Many were in favor of putting him to work and try him out on the "Wayne brand" of sin and "short-comings". Others thought an amateur could handle Wayne and insisted that we take time and secure an evangelist of national reputation, and go at it in a business like way and make a business of the business.

Acting finally on that suggestion letters were written to more than a dozen of the prominent tabernacle workers of the country. All these were asked to come to Wayne in October and their replies all indicated that September and October were considered the best months of the year for a meeting of that kind and that those dates were all taken by cities beyond our class, so the evangelists seemed to think, but left to Wayne to judge, it is a classy city that outclasses us. This state of affairs caused somebody to sprout a bright idea which was to the effect that we sinch the man we wanted and give up our favorite time of October, "when the maple turns to crimson and sassafras to gold," and take the man of our choice any old time we could get him. This proposition focused on Evangelist James Kayburn, the man who was brave enough to tackle Fremont. It was argued that any man who could handle a Fremont sinner would have an easy time in Wayne, and it was voted that Rayburn should be the man. A delegate was sent to Broken Bow, where the evangelist and party were in a death grapple with the sandhill sinners of that section. Rayburn had no dates more favorable than mid-winter. January and February have their drawbacks and naturally work against a "hot campaign." While our representative was in Broken Bow, word came over the wires from California that the Fife Brothers, who are giving the devil an awful chase on the coast, could come here in September. Again the committee was corralled and the time seemed so favorable that it was decided to bring the Fife Bros. here in September, build them a tabernacle and stir up the whole country. Night letters were wired to and fro, and it is now settled that Fife Bros. will be the one to lead the Wayne campaign. The Fife party consists of three brothers, one brother-in-law and two sisters—five Fifes and a half Fife in all, and every Fife pitched on the same key. Clyde Lee Fife is the leader and the evangelist. He is some preacher. The devil classes him along with Billy Sunday and holy water. He has a clear ringing voice and a congregation of five thousand people can easily hear him. That he is effective is attested by the 1,000 trail hitters at the last meeting they held in Pomona, California. Earl H. Fife is leader of the great chorus and a past master in the art of getting men to sing. It is claimed that he can make clams whistle and oysters sing. Bob Fife is an assistant evangelist and a cornet player and nothing finer on the boards than one of his solos. Mrs. Bess Fife-Brooks is a woman worker and a leader among women. She is in evidence throughout the entire campaign and makes a hit every appearance. Fred H. Kuhns is a brother-in-law (to the fifes and the violin) he plays the violin and is a splendid factor in the "Fife Band." He is also the advance man, and will probably be in Wayne before long and give us a few rehearsals in lining up for the time of our lives.

This is the party we are expecting and this is an outline of the campaign we expect to conduct—so tell it in Winside and publish it in the streets of Hoskins that the Fifes are coming and that in September all roads will lead to Wayne. Tell everybody in the country to watch our smoke. The meeting is not planned for the town alone. We expect the farmers of the community for miles and miles around. We expect the "Klaxon" of every auto to join the Fifes. September will be the month—watch for it, wait for it, and when the band begins to play, you will hear the "Fifes."

The following letter just received from the evangelist will explain itself and acquaint you with the status of the situation.

My Dear Brother Gaston:—Your telegram of invitation and my acceptance have been duly received and sent. I thank you for the confidence and love expressed in this and assure you that we will arrange for what we confidently expect to be a great and sweeping victory.

Brother Gaston, I can not take the time now to write out a contract for the preachers there to sign as that would be only a matter of formality anyhow. I am coming and we will have the meeting at the time appointed and that is what you wanted to know, I am sure. So, we will let our correspondence be a memorandum of argument in the matter and my advance man will visit you on his next trip to the east, which will probably be by the first of the month. Anyhow, I will try to let you know in advance so that you can have all the ministers of the county invited in to Wayne to meet him and hear his plans that I have or will send through him at that time, better than it could be written had I the time. We are tremendously busy here. Wet town and a hard pull but great victory.

Big crowds and the people are with us.

You see this is the heart of the grape industry and nearly everyone is tied up with the wet bunch on account of raising wine grapes. But it is their greatest campaign and God is with us in victory. Pray for us. Kuhn will see you soon.
Yours faithfully,
CLYDE LEE FIFE.

Political Outlook from Lincoln

The state board of assessments met, the fore part of the week and in addition to other business raised the valuation of Pullman cars 15 per cent. A year ago this board which comprises Governor Morehead, State Auditor Smith, Secretary of State Pool, State Treasurer Hall and Land Commissioner Beckman made a 25 per cent raise to Pullman cars and equipment, making a 40 per cent raise in two years.

State House and Lincoln republicans are busy speculating these days on Who is Who and Why? In the late republican gubernatorial mix-up Judge Sutton of Omaha cleaned up the entire bunch of republican candidates with votes to spare. While the Omaha candidate was running on an extremely dry platform he carried the wet wards of Omaha with ease and the wettest candidate on the ticket, Ex-Mayor Miles of Hastings, received only scattering support. McKelvie of Lincoln who is as dry as a powder house and Ex-State Treasurer George who is only semi-arid in his moist propensities are wondering how the foxy judge pulled it over on them. Mr. George had very little chance anyway but Mr. McKelvie went down to Douglas county with something like a 4000 plurality and was harpooned properly by the judge's county. Neither of these gentlemen while thoroughly believing in the fundamental principles of temperance as expressed in holy writ have followed this teaching to a very great extent in expressing their sentiments in the matter and intimate very broadly that the astute representative of Blackstone from the metropolis played both ends against the middle and even fooled a good many who should have been wiser in their day and age.

County Treasurer Ure of Douglas county who was the victim of misguided judgment in refusing to pay over moneys due the state when called upon to do so by the state treasurer has remitted $11,316.69 the balance for the first quarter of 1916 in accordance with a recent supreme court decision which compels him to remit to the state monthly. However Mr. Ure neglected to add to this remittance a little matter of $3,817.91 with which the state has him charged this being interest on funds which he refused to pay into the state treasury until forced to do so by the court. He is said to have confidently confided to some friends that there would be good ice skating in his satanic majesty's realm before he paid that interest. A resort to the courts for a decision in the face of his declaration will likely be the next move on the part of the state officers. As courts are some times pretty frigid in their judiciary actions, there is a possibility that some sort of artificial refrigeration may be inaugurated to the satisfaction of Mr. Ure, thus inducing him to liquidate. The Douglas county treasurer's reluctance to pay this sum is undoubtedly superinduced by the fact that he must pay it out of his own pocket.

A warrant was drawn by the state auditor last week for $7,963.94 as the first payment on the bridge across the Loup river at St. Paul. The bridge will cost about $28,000. Howard county pays half of the cost and the state the remaining half. The state board of irrigation, highways and drainage, have a number of bridges either practically finished or in course of construction, besides several for which plans have been drawn, but no contracts let. The more important are: The Lexington bridge which was finished during the winter and accepted, will cost about $35,000; a new concrete or steel bridge will be built across the Platte at Kearney, contract to be let May 23, cost estimated at about $65,000; the North Platte bridge was recently completed at a cost of about $30,000; the Superior bridge across the Republican river is completed, but has not yet been accepted by the state engineer; the Overton bridge at a cost of $15,000 is nearing completion; the contract for the Gretna bridge across the Elkhorn has been let, but work of construction not yet begun, cost about $18,000. Another bridge at Parchall, crossing on the Niobrara near the town of Butte, to cost about $25,000 is also contemplated. The state pays half the cost of these bridges.

Have you paid your dog tax to the city—bang, if not.

Randolph	Hartington
Coleridge	Laurel
Wakefield	Pierce

The meet will be held at the city parks where a track has been made for the running and hurdle events. The ball game will be played at 10:30 in the forenoon and all the other events take place in the afternoon, starting with the girls' basket ball game at 1:30 sharp. There are fourteen events to be decided. They are:

Base Ball	Basket Ball

Relay Race	Discus Throw
Shot Put	Hammer Throw
100 Yard Dash	220 Yard Dash
440 Yard Dash	Low Hurdles

In the runs it will be very likely necessary to run preliminaries because of the large list of entries.

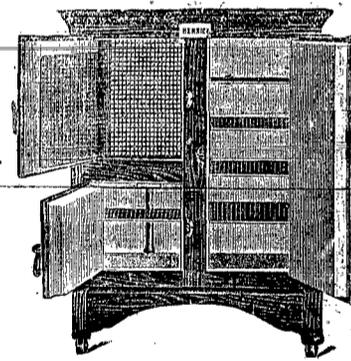

The program is a long one with a good field of athletes, and those who attend will be assured of a day of good athletic entertainment.

The school winning the most points at the meet will be awarded the silver cup. The individual winning the highest number of points is awarded a gold medal and the second highest a silver medal.

WHAT is it that makes a soap suitable for the toilet? Is it not mildness, purity, quick lathering, easy rinsing, freedom from alkali?

Ivory Soap excels in all these qualities. It is not sold on the theory that it is a good toilet soap for 5 cents. It is sold on the fact that it is the best soap for toilet use that can be made at any price.

The progressive party does not seem to be true to its name. Better change it.

It is estimated that President Wilson received nearly as many republican vote at the primary in this state as did Mr. Ford, which means that there are nearly twice as many republicans who would favor a peace policy man as were counted, for there was no official record made of the Wilson vote on the republican ballot.

It seems strange that after the republicans had been in power for 16 years and spent millions of money on army and navy, it was not until the people had retired them from office that they discovered the lack of preparedness in this land. This belated discovery is not to the credit of their party.

Now that Wayne has decided—or rather some of the church organization have made arrangements for tabernacle meetings this fall—why not, the suggestion is offered, build a tabernacle of substantial nature, large enough and good enough for all time or at least for some time? Let the community build it and the community own and use it. Make quarters for the young men, the old men, the young women, for they seldom become old, something for all. Why not consider it?

Wayne takes to the new plan for parking automobiles like a duck to water. The ink was scarcely dry on the paper publishing the ordinance, the final act to make it effective before the drivers began to line their cars up in the center of the street as nearly as they could. Next morning a white line was run distinctly marking the proper parking place, and after this came the rain, and the white line was gone, so it is evident that we will soon have to pave the streets and then a line of white or black brick may be inserted to mark the proper place, a red paint if concrete paving is put in.

Editor Pease of the Beemer Times has taken the life and drank the heart blood of so many roosters that he appears to be thirsting for something a little richer, and breaks forth as follows:

"That pestiferous, wall-eyed, green-gaged, stunted, pin-headed pimp at Wisner who sent me that marked copy of last week's Chronicle has been spotted, and if it wasn't for his stinking cigaret breath and glasses I'd smear the sidewalk with his remains and cheerfully pay the fine."

Yes, and the republicans have

For the Girl Graduate

No gift is more appropriate than a ring. It puts your good wishes into a permanent remembrance. Other presents may come and go—but rings have always led as graduation gifts.

For graduation time comes when young people desire rings most. In later years they proudly show these cherished gifts—and look back happily at school-day memories.

Why not please the girl or boy graduate most by giving a ring? Such as a W-W-W guaranteed ring—in which the stones do stay. They cost as little as $3—but $5, $7, $8 or $10 will buy an ideal graduation gift. Look at them now.

nominated him as their representative to go to the next legislature. Will the people send him there and have the walks of the capital city all muddled up with human gore every time some one ventures to criticize Pease?

Now that Germany has promised to be good, the President is handing a package to John Bull telling him that he, too, will be expected to comply with the common usages which go to make up international law, whether written or unwritten. This government evidently intends to hold the Allies as strictly to account as it does their enemies. The policy of Germany was taking a toll of American life, and hence more urgently called for prompt action, for that is something which cannot be repaid in gold. The English transgression, while exasperating, has been confined to matters which can be settled in the coin of the realm to a great extent but our protest is none the less earnest.

The preparedness fellows had a great parade in New York last week and showed 150,000 people in line if we may believe all we read, but that doesn't butter no parsnips. For the past six weeks Uncle Sam has been inviting patriotic citizens to come and join the army from any and all parts of the land, and only asked for 20,000, and yet out of this 150,000, who would go out for a day picnic on dress-parade, not one in ten had patriotism enough to get into the ranks in times like these. This does not mean that patriotism is dead—nor does it mean that these men would not come if needed. But it does mean that the great mass of the people do not see any need of an army larger than we now have. Congress can pass a law authorizing an army of a half million, but that does not bring the men in time of peace.

Congressman Stephens writes the following to the Democrat, and we are glad to know that rural credits are to have consideration. The government should aid the producer in an effort to raise our production to the highest level possible with only such tax for the money to accomplish this end as is absolutely necessary. That would spell prosperity. Here is the congressman's view: "I note the editorial in your issue of the 4th inst. suggesting that the right thing to do was to dig out the best rural credit bill that has been drafted and see that it is passed. I want to assure you that that is just what we are trying to do. I believe that we should pass a rural credit bill that provides for Government aid. We may not be able to get that, but I am very much interested in the passage of a bill that will be all that its name implies and be of real value to those whom it is intended to help."

Obituary—Fuoss

George Fuoss was born in the province of Wurtemberg, Germany, on September 25, 1848, and died in Wakefield, May 1, 1916, at the age of 67 years, 7 months and 6 days. The final illness was pneumonia and was of only a single day's duration.

The deceased came to America in 1870 and located at Thawville, Illinois. There he was married in 1874 to Miss V. Kronenbeter. To this union were born three daughters: Rosa, who died ten years ago; Anna, now Mrs. Fred Miene, and Ella, now Mrs. Marion Pullen, both of whom live near Wakefield. In 1884 Mr. Fuoss came with his family to Wayne county. He lived on the farm, was successful in securing a competence, owning at the time of his death two farms besides the property in town. He moved into Wakefield fourteen years ago and has resided here since then.

Besides the wife and children above mentioned, he leaves two brothers and one sister: John Fuoss of Thawville, Illinois; Sam Fuoss of Concord, and Miss Annie Fuoss, who lives with her brother Sam.

The funeral services were held at the residence and at the Swedish Lutheran church and were conducted by Rev. Borneman and Rev. Bullinger of the German Lutheran church, the attendance being very large. Interment was in Wakefield cemetery.

Integrity, thrift and unceasing industry were characteristics of George Fuoss. A good citizen doing faithfully his little part for the welfare of the public, the memory of him will be very pleasant even to us who knew him but a brief time.

School Notes

Ray Phiblin celebrated his eighth birthday anniversary with his classmates of the first grade.

Little folks who have been out on account of measles are returning to school.

Wayne Carpenter of the second grade is suffering an attack of pneumonia but is recovering. Helen Thompson of this grade has been visiting in Bloomfield. The A. class is now reading a third reader.

Dr. House visited the class recently and told them the story of "The Message to Garcia."

Dora Heikes was recent visitor in the eighth grade.

Max Kinney of the fourth grade has moved with his parents to Council Bluffs.

Darrell Trumbauer entertained the kindergarten children and their teacher, Miss Janet Garlough at his home Friday afternoon from 3 to 5. Needless to say the little folks had a delightful time.

Mrs. Ed Owens was a recent visitor in the third and fifth grades.

The pupils of the sixth grade had planned a picnic in the park for Saturday. On account of the rain they went to the gymnasium, where they enjoyed a good time and plenty of good things to eat.

The girls of the domestic science classes had planned a picnic breakfast for Saturday morning. On account of the rain they held it at the school house. The forenoon was spent in games in the music room. After partaking of a picnic dinner, all went home taking with them memories of a happy day.

Mrs. Stevens, who is conducting meetings at the Methodist church, addressed the high school girls Monday afternoon after school. She spoke very feelingly on the subject, "My Possible Self," emphasizing poise, self-control, modesty in dress, and many other subjects of vital interest to girls. Every girl present felt that the hour was all too short and went home feeling that she had received an inspiration for better living.

The Sycamore.

One of the very best trees for street planting is the oriental plane or sycamore. Because of its many good qualities it is rapidly coming into general favor. It bears a heavy crop of large scalloped leaves, which remain on the tree until late autumn, long after other trees have cast their foliage. This variety of sycamore has a spreading trunk, which branches, and a spreading, round topped head.—Tree Talk.

Social Notes

Miss Marguerite Forbes entertained the Westminster Guild at her country home last Friday afternoon and evening at the annual picnic on the lawn. Miss Forbes, assisted by the committee served a bounteous supper, after which a social hour was enjoyed by all. Mrs. Wendte and Mrs. Theobald, patronesses of the club and Mrs. Young, a former member, who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Gilderseeve were guests of the club.

This morning the Seniors of the high school served a six o'clock breakfast at about 7:30 to the Juniors, going to a grove just west of town. Fruit, eggs and sandwiches with coffee and steak cooked over an open fire all tasted good, and it was a jolly frolic and gave some of the pupil a glimpse of early day. It is well worth the while of any one to study the beauties of a Nebraska sunrise at this season of the year.

Monday was little Miss Nellie Lane's eleventh birthday. About 35 little folks responded to her invitation to come from 4 to 7 and help her celebrate. At six o'clock a delicious two-course luncheon was served, which was greatly enjoyed by the little guests. The time was spent in playing games. Many beautiful presents were received by the young hostess.

May 26, Mrs. Frank Martin will be hostess for the Baptist Missionary society. The topic for study will be, "Orientals in America," with Mrs. T. Hughes as leader. These meetings are helpful and instructive and give an insight to the trials which are met by, and how same are overcome by some of the noble men and women who go to foreign countries as missionaries.

The U. D. club invited their husbands to a delightful three-course dinner served at 6:30 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Reynolds last Friday evening. The rooms were very prettily decorated with garden flowers. The evening was spent in playing 500. This event closes the meetings until fall.

Ladies Aid of the Presbyterian church had a business meeting at Mrs. Ray Reynolds' Wednesday afternoon.

The Ladies Aid of the English Lutheran church meets with Mrs. Carlson, north of town, today.

Shakespeare club postponed their meeting on account of the special meetings at the M. E. church.

There will be a meeting of the session on Sunday morning at ten o'clock to receive any who desire to unite with the church.

Nearly enough boys to organize two patrols recently took the exam for the degree of "Tenderfoot." The boys and their leaders are to be congratulated on the splendid success of the order thus far.

The "Juniors" and the Y. P. S. C. E. held a joint meeting last Sunday at the regular C. E. hour. Both societies are doing excellent work. We may hope for other meetings in the future. The usual hour for the meeting of the "Juniors" is 8 o'clock each Sunday p. m.

The High school sermon to the graduating class will be delivered by the Rev. W. L. Gaston at this church next Sunday at three o'clock. The evening service will be adjourned for the baccalaureate sermon at the college. Sunday will be a big day in church and school in Wayne. Let everybody plan to make it a day of church attendance.

All are cordially invited to attend the regular morning service at this church. The service begins at 10:30 sharp. There will be special music under the direction of Mrs. W. E. Johnson. The sermon subject will be: "All That Labor and are Heavy Laden." The theme is one for the present day and for all men. Come to church Sunday morning and bring a friend with you.

The young people invite you to the 7 o'clock meeting in the C. E. room. Misses Dorothy Bressler and Esther McEachen will jointly lead the meeting. Her pleasing personality, her deep sympathy with her audience, her forceful delivery and her deep Christian experience have enabled her to charm and inspire her listeners. She gives herself unsparingly to the work and many in Wayne will remember her because of the inspiration that has come through her ministry. She is doing a wonderful work with the young people in the school. Mr. Hudson is a singer of unusual ability and with a fine consecrated personality.

The meetings continue through this week with services each afternoon and evening, including Saturday. A fine class was baptized and received into the church last Sunday at the close of the morning service. We expect to receive others into the church next Sunday. Weather Report and Predictions
Wayne county weather continues to be mixed both as to temperature and moisture and dust. Last week while passing through a torrid zone a lot of the fellows took 'em off, and some have been game enough to leave 'em off, while others put 'em back on. The few straw hats which appeared prematurely have disappeared again. After two days of wind and dust, rain came early Saturday morning, and the fall was 1.65 before it quit, sometime early Monday morning. It was a fine rain, coming so slowly at all times that the soil absorbed it all.

Will Weber gives us the following prediction as to what is coming: May 10 to 17 as he told us two weeks ago, cold and showers. From the 17th to 24th changeable.

Not Looking for a Moses
Anamosa, (Iowa) Eureka: Perhaps if some of the aspirants for state office would look over their campaign literature with a little less enthusiasm and more judgment they might get out of their heads the idea of saving the state and the people. Iowa needs no Moses. The people of the state are not suffering from lack of intelligence or from any pestilence unless it be the pestilence of politics. The state wants common sense and business ability manifested in its affairs, and the fellow who delivers such is to be preferred, comparison of records and blatant promises of deliverance from evil to the contrary notwithstanding.

Making a Good Record
A lot of men, not republicans, are hounding Hon. Cato Sells, commissioner of Indian affairs, because he is doing two men's work in his office every day, and keeping a lot of political schemers at bay. They want spoils, want to rob the wards of the nation of their possessions. Mr. Sells stands like the Rock of Gibraltar against their plotting. He is a mighty good man for his position, is gentlemanly and laboriously attends to his duties. He is well equipped for even a higher position.

Commissioners' Proceedings
Wayne, Nebraska, May 16, 1916.
Board met as per adjournment. Present: Geo. S. Farran and P. M. Corbit, Commissioners, and Chas. W. Reynolds, Clerk. Absent: Henry Rethwisch, commissioner and chairman.
Proceedings of May 2, 1916, were read and approved.
Whereupon Board adjourned to June 1, 1916.
CHAS. W. REYNOLDS, Clerk.

Last week the prediction of W. H. Weber was omitted as it had been given the previous week until he 18th, the signs telling him that from the 10th to the 18th would be showery, with a gradually rising temperature. By remembering what the weather has been you can see how he hit or missed it.

We quote good republican authority when we state that the federal authorities in the past few months have closed up 240 "bucket shops." We regard this as high authority for the republicans always know about the bucket shops. But it is a good work, and we are glad to see it go forward.

Rooster Swatting Week

Last year Missouri put one over on Nebraska by making a rooster week when the farmers and poultry men generally disposed of all roosters or penned them up by themselves away from the remainder of the flock. Why? The pure food law has reached the bad eggs, and it is unlawful to sell eggs that are not good—and more than five in 100 is said to constitute unmarketable eggs. The fertile are the first to spoil. Producers and dealers in eggs lose $2,000,000 annually in this state, by bad eggs. Why not eliminate the greater part of this loss? It is easy to do. Here are a few rules:

Separate hens from roosters.
Provide clean, dry nests for hens.
Gather eggs daily—or twice a day in very hot weather.
Market eggs at least twice a week.
Handle them carefully, and keep for home use and immediate use the cracked, small or dirty eggs.
And don't forget rooster week, May 22-27.

Farm and Garden

PLAN BACK YARD GARDEN.

A Small Patch Can Supply a Family With Fresh Vegetables All Season. [Prepared by United States department of agriculture.]

"Plan your back yard garden on paper in advance" is the advice of the vegetable garden specialists of the United States department of agriculture. A little indoor gardening of this sort will enable you to have fresh vegetables throughout the season and will make the same ground, with little extra labor and expense, yield two or three crops instead of the single crop commonly raised in small gardens. Where two or three crops are grown instead of one a comparatively small garden will supply the average family with fresh vegetables all season. Moreover, such planning in advance will enable you to get the ground ready in time for planting and to secure your seeds and plant them at the dates which give each variety its best growing conditions. For example, if you will thus plan the plot to be devoted to peas by the time your first crop is harvested the second crop will be in bearing and the plants of the third well advanced.

Next study your garden bulletins or books on horticulture and the seed catalogues to determine what can be grown in your climate under the conditions of exposure, soil and drainage in your back yard. This study may lead you to plan ditches to improve drainage, show you that your soil needs finely sifted ashes to break up its sticky character or that you must add rotted manure, dried blood, bone meal, wood ashes, lime or other fertilizers to make it suitable for vegetables.

Then comes the consultation with the family to determine the sorts of vegetables the different members like and which, therefore, they personally will be interested in raising. Confine your selections to the standard well tried sorts. Finally, and this is most important, is the conference between the garden force and the housewife as to what vegetables really are worth raising in the back yard. It will hardly pay to raise in a small space potatoes, corn, cucumbers, squashes or melons, which occupy a large area in proportion to yield and which can be bought cheaply in nearby markets.

In general the aim of the back yard gardener should be to raise those vegetables which are either expensive or in which the flavor or quality depends importantly on absolute freshness. Peas and string beans or lima beans, to be at their best, should be cooked almost immediately after they are gathered. Peas kept even for a day lose their delicate bloom and sweetness. Consequently as much space as possible should be devoted to such vegetables, and other vegetables in which freshness does not count so importantly should largely be used as fillers to keep the ground at work. Effort also should be made in a garden to have special vegetables, such as okra, of which the family is fond and which are difficult to obtain in local markets or are commonly high priced. The housewife probably will want a little bed of parsley, chives or other herbs, not because they are expensive to buy, but because of the convenience of being able to pick a sprig just when it is needed.

Forcing Frames.

Forcing frames will be found useful in starting vegetables early in the open ground. Cabbage, cauliflower, lettuce, corn, cucumbers, tomatoes, melons, eggplant and other vegetables can be planted out or seed sown several weeks earlier when protected with frames than when no protection is afforded. They are also useful for starting seeds of flowering plants early in the garden or for protecting plants set out early.

A frame placed over rhubarb or hardy plants, either flowers or vegetables, will hasten maturity considerably. Placed over bulbs in the spring in small gardens, blooms of greater perfection may be had much earlier than usual. The heat of the sun is trapped, so to speak, during the day and held overnight, the frame at the same time protecting the plants from cold winds and the cold night air. Small forcing frames can be purchased of seedsmen and florists or can be made. They are really miniature hothed frames.

The ability of every man must be known. For War is Mechanical. It is Electrical. It is Chemical. It is Mining, Manufacturing, Transportation. It is EVERY phase of Engineering fused into a single industry— "THE NATION'S DEFENSE."

Thirty thousand Engineers today are serving YOUR COUNTRY without pay. They are making a survey of YOUR COUNTRY'S Industrial Resources. They are helping YOUR COUNTRY to FIND ITSELF—and You. They are charting the channels of commerce. Sounding each source of supply. So that, should the Day break when War comes, YOUR ARMIES in the field will be but the crest of a Wave of Industry, as wide as the American Continent and as deep as the American Soul. That YOUR COUNTRY may know what the Engineers are doing, the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World have pledged their services to the President of the United States. And this advertisement, published free by this paper, is part of a nation-wide series to secure YOUR co-operation with the Engineers. "WHAT CAN I DO?"

This is, doubtless, the question you are asking yourself. Here is the answer. If you are a manufacturer co-operate fully with the Engineers so they can do their job quickly and efficiently; if you are a working man help your employer to help the Engineers and be prepared, if so needed, to be a Soldier in Industry, behind the firing line, which is just as important as being a soldier on the firing line; if you are a business man or a professional man, or whoever you are, help mobilize "GOOD WILL" behind this patriotic task of the Engineers in behalf of National Defense and International Peace. COMMITTEE ON INDUSTRIAL PREPAREDNESS OF THE NAVAL CONSULTING BOARD OF THE UNITED STATES in co-operation with The American Society of Civil Engineers, The American Society of Mechanical Engineers, The American Institute of Mining Engineers, The American Institute of Electrical Engineers, The American Institute of Chemical Engineers, The American Chemical Society, Engineering Societies Building, 29 West 39th Street, New York

Frank Gaertner has just installed at the furniture store what is probably the best and most complete cash register in this corner of the state. As a piece of office furniture it is a beauty. As a system for keeping absolute record of every item of business and who made the deal it is a marvel. It makes a record of cash and credit sales, of money taken in and paid out on account. It totals any amounts that have been through the machine at will of the operator. It locks automatically in several ways if not being used right. Eight hundred dollars looks to an editor like a lot of money to spend for a machine just to keep tab of cash, but from the bookkeeping this will save and the errors it will prevent it is probably worth the price.

That Socialistic Talk

It was not had at all, as some people have been taught to believe. The street talk last Thursday evening was listened to by quite a number of people. G. C. Porter, formerly of the Presbyterian church at Randolph, was the speaker, and there were many of those who listened who had known him in other days. He was generous, offering to give a part of the time to our representative, G. S. Mears, whom he said proposed government control of the big monopoly interests rather than government ownership, as the socialists believe to be the better. He said that he probably might not present truly government control ideas of our representative much as he wished, and hoped that Mr. Mears would come and tell his own platform. But he declined.

Mr. Porter spoke of state issues, and commended moves which he considered good. He would have the state own, operate and control the water power, and hoped that Nebraska would harness her rivers and smaller streams and put them to work instead of paying so much for coal and the freight on the same. He believed in state insurance for both life and fire, and made it appear economical and proper. He would have a land tax—that is a tax on natural resources, with proper exemptions for the small land owner and tiller. He thought proportional representation a better and more fair way of giving all people a chance to say about government than they now have, when a small majority are given all the power and responsibility. His position was against the preparedness for war, as advocated and urged by the present administration and more opposed to the more extreme measures which some other parties would enact if possible. All in all it was a talk which contained much that was good, and nothing which is known to be bad. He would have people do their own thinking and studying, and rest the result with the verdict expressed after thoughtful study.

The New York Herald, which has been rather persistent and bitter in its criticism of the Wilson administration and all along has been pointing to an easy victory with Hughes as the nominee, has heard from the middle west, we judge by the following, which the Herald gave space to from different sources, and then adds a bit of its own, as shown below:

"But pitted against this is an unquestioned jubilation that America is at peace. Then the people are exultant because they have more money than they have ever had before. They thank President Wilson for it. The middle west is feeding in the fattest clover patch it has ever known."

A citizen of Anderson, Indiana, is quoted as explaining the sentiment in this way:

"We are glad because instead of being killed or sent home blind, legless, or with arm or two off, our sons are at home with their mothers. We are at peace. We have better business than we have ever had. Mortgages have been lifted which hung like millstones around the farmers' necks. So we don't spend all our time condemning President Wilson."

The general manager of a concern owning more than a hundred ware-houses between Pittsburg and the Pacific coast is quoted as saying:

"I have never seen business as good as it is now. The volume is so great that jobbers, manufacturers and commission men generally can't begin to take care of it. Everyone is behind in his orders. This applies to every kind of business. I would say from my observations in about forty distinct sections that ten per cent of the business is munitions and the rest natural growth."

The Herald itself says: "Business never has been as prosperous as it is now in the middle west. Every factory is working at capacity. Most factories are away behind in orders. There are no idlers. The employers in such centers as Pittsburg, Indianapolis, Cleveland and Chicago, and the hundreds of smaller places in between, are unable to get men enough. Wages have been increased. Banks are overwhelmed with money. Citizens can borrow any sum if they have any kind of security. In the west banks loan money on cattle. Banks buy for the herdsman. There are no hungry children in the middle west. The empty dinner pail is unknown."

"Just how far these conditions will affect the election next fall no one can tell. The thing which the republican managers may contemplate with interest is that the conditions which they had counted on to insure victory are not here. The reverse is most strikingly true. Pay your subscription today."

Tractor Results

The government has been compiling statistics relative to the use of tractors on the farm, and below we give a few of the averages found to have been made in reports from 200 farms in Illinois. The bulletin may be had by writing for one and learn more than we can give here: One is that the purchase of a tractor seldom lowers the actual cost of operating a farm, but it usually increases returns.

The size of the farm to be tilled should govern the size of tractor purchased, and they have not been found profitable on farms of less than 140 acres.

The life of a tractor is from 6 to 10 seasons, and the number of days a tractor is used each varies from 50 to 70.

The chief disadvantages are difficulty in procuring efficient operation and the soil packing when used during a wet time. Two and one-half gallons of gasoline and one-fifth of a gallon of lubricating oil has been the average required to plow an acre. The later makes of tractors burning kerosene is not given, but they are said to cost less to operate than on gasoline. A tractor usually displaces about one-fourth of the horse power previously used on the farm.

A Pointer For Merchants

The advertising manager of one of the biggest mail order houses in the country, in a talk before the members of an advertising club recently gave some interesting information on how they secure much of their business. He said: "We have a bureau whose duty it is to read each week the country newspapers from all over the country. There is not a paper of any consequence in our trade territory that our bureau does not get. This bureau looks over these papers and, when we find a town where the merchants are not advertising in the local paper, we immediately flood that territory with our literature. It always brings returns far in excess of the same effort put forth in territory where the local merchants use their local paper."—Laurel Advocate.

Notice is hereby given that the board of county commissioners, the county assessor and the county clerk will sit as a board of equalization, commencing on Tuesday, the 13th day of June, 1916, for the purpose of equalizing the valuation of personal property of the county, as returned by the precinct assessors, also to equalize the value of real property as returned by the precinct assessors, which assessment on lands, stands for four years, unless an error is found which works a gross injustice. Any and all complaints on the assessment of both real and personal property which is made by the assessors, will be heard at this time. KILL THE DANDELION.

Ridding Lawns of Pest is Constant and Hard Work.

Dandelions have always been a pest to the keepers of blue grass lawns. There's no royal road to get rid of them, according to the best authorities.

The dandelion is pretty in bloom perhaps, but when the flower begins to seed it becomes an eyesore. The lawns and parks become a mass of weeds, and heroic measures must be taken to combat this menace to the beauty of the residence district.

When the practical gardener says heroic measures he means either the use of a sulphate of iron solution or consistent trench work, "dig in, dig deep and dig together."

Sulphate of iron may be bought cheaply, and in the solution a pound should be dissolved in two gallons of city water. Then the lawn is sprayed with this. The grass will not be affected unless the solution is too strong. It is well to mow the dandelions down several times. Each successive cutting weakens the plant and makes it smaller, so that final eradication is easier.

If the dandelions are to be removed by the digging method the home owner must remember the roots are very long. They are fibrous and slender, and if the eradication is to be worth while all of each root must be taken out of the ground. Any bit of live root left will spring up again, and the whole work must be repeated. Frequent mowing will prevent seeding, and that aids in preventing a further spread of the pests.

By co-operation between neighbors, each working together and attacking the pest at the same time, it can be wiped out.

Analyzing Soils.

The Wisconsin state soils laboratory has analyzed soils and carefully examined individual farms in fifty-three of the seventy-one counties of the state. These examinations and soil analyses are made for a charge of $5 for the first quarter section examined and $3 for each extra quarter section. By combining in groups of five or more the charges are reduced to $3 for each extra quarter section. By combining in groups of five or more the charges are reduced to $3 for the first quarter section examined, with all additional charges at the rate of $2 for each 100 acres. The report prepared for each farmer outlines methods for the permanent improvement of the soils examined.—Wisconsin Station.

GROWING ASPARAGUS.

Asparagus will grow in most soils, provided they are sufficiently rich to meet the feeding habits of the plants, says M. F. Ahearn, assistant professor of horticulture in the Kansas State Agricultural college.

"The ground for planting asparagus may either be prepared in the spring or fall. In fall preparation of the field well rotted manure should be plowed under the prospective asparagus garden. The subsequent steps of preparation are similar to preparing the ground for gardening.

"Asparagus is grown either from seed or from one to two year old roots. The seeds are planted thick in the rows in a nursery bed, and when the plants are grown to the desired age the roots are transplanted to the permanent field. For quick germination the seed is soaked and warmed before planting. "The distance between the rows varies, according to the purpose for which the asparagus is planted. If grown for home consumption the plants are set fourteen to eighteen inches apart in the rows and three feet apart between the rows. The roots are set either in a deep furrow which is gradually filled as the plants grow, or planted six to eight inches deep. Where plenty of manure can be applied a trench is made and filled at the bottom with manure and this covered with soil. Over this the roots are planted. No tips should be cut the first two years after setting. In the third year a partial crop may be cut. This cutting season should not extend more than five to six weeks."

HANDLING MANURE.

There is no better or more economical method of handling manure than to haul it daily to the fields, meadows or pastures. Once it is there any plant food which leaches from it finds its way immediately into the ground where it belongs. Even on hill-sides the absorbing power of the soil is such that little fertility is lost when this plan is followed.

There can be only exceptional instances where manure cannot be handled daily by loading the spreader as the barns are cleaned. In these instances a cement floored shed, roofed and sided so as to protect its contents from the elements of the weather, is as essential to farm equipment as are the grain bin, the corncrib, the haymow and the silo.—Kimball's Dairy Farmer.

PLANTING CORN.

The Time to Plant Varies with the Season and the Locality.

When the ground becomes sufficiently warm to start the leaves on the deep rooted trees, like the oak, the walnut and the Osage orange, it is time to plant corn, according to C. C. Cunningham, assistant in co-operative experiments in the Kansas State Agricultural college.

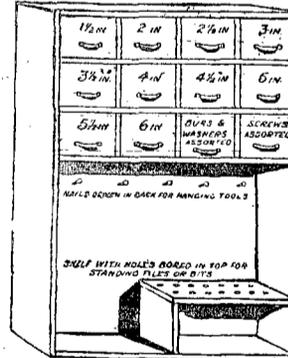

"The time to plant corn varies with the season and the locality. The growing season in southern Kansas is from two to three weeks earlier than that in northern Kansas. In the western part of the state the altitude is a factor influencing the time of planting, in that the season is shortened as a result of the greater elevation.

"Under average conditions there is a period of about three weeks during which corn may be planted with equal chances of success, although sometimes, because of peculiar climatic conditions, very early or very late plantings are best. In the northern and the northeastern portions of the state from May 1 to 20 is, on the average, the best time to plant corn, while in southern Kansas most of the corn is planted in the last three weeks of April."

The time required to mature the variety of corn grown is a factor to be considered, points out Mr. Cunningham. Early maturing varieties may be planted comparatively late with good results, while late maturing ones must necessarily obtain an early start in order to ripen properly. Since the top soil becomes warm earlier than the subsoil, the surface planted corn may be seeded earlier than the listed corn. A wet soil warms up more slowly than a comparatively dry one. Corn consequently can be planted in the dryer soils earlier than in the wet ones. For this reason early planting is safer in western than in eastern Kansas, because of the naturally drier condition of the soil in the western part of the state.

Bolt and Tool Cupboard.

Here is a sketch of a sort of cupboard of tools and bolts. The squares marked 1 1/2, 2, 2 1/2, etc., are drawers for bolts, burrs and washers and screws, and the numbers represent the length of the bolts so as to enable any one to find just what you want in a hurry. If painted dark the numbers can be marked with chalk and easily removed or changed if desired. All drawers have a piece of strap for pulling the drawers open.—H. H. in Farmer.

Setting Bush Fruits.

The extension specialist in fruit growing of the New Jersey agricultural experiment station recommends that raspberry and blackberry plants should be set about three feet apart in the row. Six feet is the minimum distance between rows, and blackcap raspberries and blackberries will often do better if the rows are seven feet apart. Such strong growing varieties of blackberries as Ewing Wonder or Black Diamond are easier to cultivate and handle when set at a minimum of four feet apart in the row. Dewberries are usually set with the rows six feet apart. Currants and gooseberries should be set four feet apart in the row, with six feet between rows.

Early planting of bush fruits is very important. If the buds and shoots are broken off after starting the second lot does not develop immediately and the plants therefore do not get a good start. The blackcap raspberry requires more care in planting than the red raspberry or blackberry, because its roots are developed in a cluster, similar to those of the strawberry. All plants bearing root gall, a most destructive disease, should be thrown out.

LIVE STOCK PRICES AT SOUTH OMAHA

Fat Cattle—Stronger; Cows Steady to Strong

HOG MARKET ABOUT 10c LOWER

Wooled Lambs Still Advancing. Prices 10@15c Higher. Ewes Also Higher. Mexicans Bring Day's Highest Price.

Union Stock Yards, South Omaha, Neb., May 17, 1916—Cattle receipts for Tuesday was fairly liberal, some 253 loads, or about 6,000 head. Although the run of fat cattle was about one-third larger than yesterday the demand was just as strong, and the market was very active right from the start. On account of the favorable reports from the other markets both the shipping and local trade was strong, and offerings sold early. Choice heavy and light beefs brought $9.60, some of the choice heavy weights brought $9.65, the highest for cattle so far this season. Fair to good 1,000 to 1,250 lb. beefs sold around $9.00@9.30. Prices paid today for the general run of beef cattle were the highest of the season. Quotations on cattle:

Good to choice beefs, $9.30@9.65; fair to good beefs, $9.10@9.30; common to fair beefs, $8.00@9.00; good to choice heifers, $7.50@8.75; good to choice cows, $7.50@8.25; fair to good cows, $6.75@7.50; canners and cutters, $4.50@6.50; veal calves, $9.00@11.50; bulls, stags, etc., $6.00@8.00.

The hog trade opened Tuesday about 10c lower than Monday's price. The shipping demand was not strong and the packers did not have use for all the hogs. The supply was very large, and the demand being so small, had a tendency to lower the market. Early packing purchases were made at about a dime lower, some buyers wanting even lower prices, so before a great number had moved the prices were from 10@15c lower than yesterday.

Today was another record breaker in the sheep market, one car of Colorado Mexicans bringing $12.35, 10@15c higher than yesterday's price. This was the only supply of woolled lambs on today's market. The supply of clipped lambs was good, and the buyers took a little time in making their selections, but could not hold prices down, and at the end bought the bulk of the shorn offerings at 10@15c higher. Handy Westers made a new year's top, reaching $10.40, and as high as $10.45 was paid for 77-lb. clipped Mexicans. Three cars of California spring lambs brought about steady money.

Quotations on sheep: Lambs, good to choice heavy, $12.10@12.35; lambs, fair to good, heavy, $11.75@12.10; lambs, fair to choice, heavy, $11.00@11.75; lambs, clipped, heavy, $9.75@10.50; lambs, clipped, heavy, $9.25@10.25; lambs, spring, $11.50@13.25; yearlings, fair to choice, light, $10.00@11.00; yearlings, fair to choice, heavy, $9.00@10.00; wethers, fair to choice, $8.25@9.75; ewes, good to choice, $8.75@9.50; ewes, fair to good, $8.00@8.75; ewes, clipped, $6.75@8.35.

THE PASS TO THE NORTH.

El Paso Was Given Its Name in 1598 by Juan de Onate.

As you near El Paso you catch a glimpse at Ysleta of the venerable church, now hopelessly "restored," that was built away back in 1682 after the Pueblo uprising. Does this sound like a remote date in American history? One is constantly surprised down here by the antiquity of the settlements.

El Paso is certainly no exception to the rule, for it was given its name in 1598 by Juan de Onate, one of the earliest explorers of New Mexico, who, having forded the Rio Grande at this point, called it El Paso del Norte—the pass to the north. Fifty years later the old church and mission at Juarez were built. But from that time until the Mexican war period the site of El Paso itself remained a ranch belonging to the Ponce de Leon family. After the American occupation it became a terminal point on the old overland trail from St. Louis to San Francisco, and the rumbling stagecoaches brought life and glitter to the suburbs and gambling joints of the Calle El Paso.

The last half century has again vastly changed all this, and the border town has been completely submerged in the steady march of modern improvement.

Pioneer Plaza remains the center of the city's activities, to be sure, but upon it, instead of humble adobe homes and tawdry shops front two great hotels, several large department stores, which display the very latest fashions, and the "largest all concrete building in the world."—Ernest Peixotto in Scribner's Magazine.
