DECORATION DAY EVENTS

Large Numbers of People Join the Survivors of the Civil War in Honoring the Dead and Lamenting the Living.

Perfect weather, conditions, splendid roads and a most interesting and instructive program tended to make the decoration day exercises at Wayne this year the most largely attended of any in recent years.

The exercises were under direction of the officers of the Public Service club of this city, relieving the members of the G. A. R. from the detail work and seeing that the old soldiers and their wives had all done for their comfort possible. There were but 25 of the old guard who could attend here, and about that number of members of the W. R. C.

The opera house was appropriately decorated with flowers, flags and foliage, and the pictures of the martyred president and many of the leading commanders under whom the men present had served were prominently displayed. Most of the business houses were decorated with national colors and many windows trimmed for the occasion, and the business houses closed during the exercises.

The music by the orchestra, the invocation, singing and reading were all of high order and most appropriate for the occasion. The address by Rev. W. L. Gaston was an inspiring one, paying homage to the illustrious dead who had died that this country might survive, and tribute to the living who had faced death often for the same cause. His address was more than that, it called most serious attention to the problems of peace—of living and serving right in times like these that this government, so successful against open foes, might prove a friend to those who had been foes as well as those who had been friends in times of peril and point the way of peace to all the civilized world—if it be civilized or can be considered so in the light of history in the making in these days. The speaker gloried in our victories of war, but hoped they had but preserved and fitted us for a greater victory of peace. It was an inspiring talk, and warmly applauded.

At the close of the program at the opera house a large procession marched to the city of the dead, where flowers were heaped upon the graves of the soldier dead, by the loving hands of an army of flower girls, who lead the march to the cemetery. Following them was a squad of the members of Co. E., N. N. G., in uniform, representative of the young manhood that stands ready to defend our land from foreign foe, should any attempt to intrude. Then came the veterans in automobiles, followed by cars carrying the ladies of the W. R. C., and citizens.

All day the cemetery was filled with those who have friends in the quiet city, who came to place flowers upon their last resting place and drop a tear in memory of those near and dear to them, who had passed on before. Memorial Sunday and Decoration day are coming to be two of the most sacred of the year, and it is indeed well for all to pause on these occasions and give thought of the dead and a pledge to better living in the time yet given to those who survive.

There are buried at the Wayne cemetery 33 soldiers, five of whom are soldiers of the Spanish-American war. At Laport are three soldiers, one, Nathan Allen, a soldier of the war of 1812.

A. Anson was the only old soldier buried at Wayne the past year.

At Memorial service Sunday Rev. S. X. Cross gave a splendid address, and a large audience greeted him, the old soldiers attending in a body.

The Last Day at School

Friday is the last day of school in district No. 23, where Miss Nell Connell is teacher, and the pupils a patron will join in a big picnic and when a splendid program will be given and a real picnic dinner served. This is one of the larger schools of the county, having an enrollment of nearly thirty. The teacher will go to spend the vacation with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. Connell at Blue Springs.

A Successful Sale

Last week the Frank Gaertner furniture house put on a special sale of the famous Hoosier kitchen cabinets, advertising the event two weeks in advance. At this special sale, as we understand, no special prices were made, nor terms which may not be had at that place at any time, but local attention was called to this nationally advertised kitchen necessity and a large number of the different styles sold by this firm were placed on exhibition and the ladies especially invited to come and see which size and style best suited their needs. The fact that but one cabinet of all those in stock and on exhibition was left, attests the merit of such a plan of selling. Nor is the end yet, for with these new cabinets going into the kitchens of Wayne and vicinity will be some further advertisement of their merits, and create a demand for more. You never knew it to fail—a good article put out in a community makes demand for more of the same. This year as never before since the writer has been in the newspaper game, are the people who have been advertising nationally been recognizing the great benefit that comes to them and the local dealers by using the local press and telling the people of a community where they may secure the goods close at home and from some one they know. The magazine and farm paper advertisement which says, "ask your local dealer," does not say which local dealer, and has a sort of far-away look that does not appeal like the name you are familiar with. Then, too, the local paper has the dense circulation right at the spot where the home dealer is. The Democrat, perhaps, has a larger number of readers in Wayne county, than the combined monthly magazines, and therefore is much greater aid to the home dealer.

A Big Event Planned

A gathering of agents and policy holders of the Northwestern Mutual Insurance company planned by District Manager J. H. Kemp is to be an affair of more magnitude than many of us suppose. The Democrat reporter learns from reliable authority that not less than 100 plates are already ordered and that the limit is fixed at 200, and this number may be reached. This gathering will bring to Wayne many of the most energetic and progressive business men in this corner of the state, and the people of Wayne will spare no pains to extend to them the welcome they so richly deserve as guests of one of our citizens. Below we give the program of the evening session:

Music by high school orchestra while banquet is being served.

Program following banquet: Music by State Normal Male Quartet.

Welcome—Mayor Don H. Cunningham.

Response—Mr. Franklin Mann, General Agent, Nebraska.

Address—J. R. Moyer, Lincoln, Nebraska.

Brief Remarks by a Number of Policy Holders.

What I Think of Life Insurance.—Prof. J. G. W. Lewis.

The Northwestern—Mr. M. H. O. Williams, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

The Corn Prospect

Diligent questioning of farmers from different parts of the county gives a very favorable outlook for the coming corn crop in this county. But few appear to have been obliged to replant, thanks to a careful seed test in many cases. Some are going over the field and planting in where the first planting did not come, and a few fields have been replanted.

The prevailing reports are to the effect that corn came slow, but that in time most of it has come so that there is better than a 75 per cent stand, and with what may come a little slower, that is considered better than to replant, while many are reporting a very nearly full stand. Most fields have been harvested several times since planting, and many are now cultivating first time over, with clean fields the rule.

Prof. A. C. Lamb, who has been in the public schools of this city, during the past year, left Wednesday for his home in Menominee, Wisconsin.

An Invitation To The Ladies of Wayne

Next Wednesday, June 7, our city is to have distinguished visitors.

We invite you to join us in entertaining them and impressing upon them the good points of our city and country.

These visitors are 25 advertising experts from the world's greatest advertising agencies located in Boston, New York and Philadelphia.

They are being brought to Nebraska to see what a splendid state and prosperous people we are.

They will be shown the principal cities of the state and Wayne has been selected by the committee who have the tour in charge as the Model Small City for their inspection.

Let us reciprocate the honor thus shown us by this committee and give these distinguished guests a royal welcome and show them our city and people to the best advantage.

These 25 men will be accompanied by twenty representatives of the leading newspapers of the state, by state officials, prominent railway officials and other men keenly interested in promoting the advertising of our state, in all 75 visitors are expected. A special reporter will come to write for the state papers a detailed account of our city and county and the manner of the reception.

Let us brighten up our yards, our streets, our homes, our stores and our public buildings and appear at our very best next Wednesday.

These men will arrive at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning. They will spend an hour in sight seeing and visiting our stores and people.

At 12 o'clock we will entertain them at dinner. As they will undoubtedly be entertained at formal banquets in the larger cities they visit our committee believes they will be tired of this manner of dining and thoroughly welcome a fine home cooked picnic dinner on our beautiful court house lawn.

So we are going to ask our wives to prepare and serve the best meal these men will eat in the whole state of Nebraska. Will you do it? Will each of you prepare four dinners and bring them to the Court House square Wednesday morning at 11:30? One dinner for yourself, one for your husband, and two more for the guests. We will provide tables, chairs, coffee, water, cream, sugar, cream pitchers, sugar bowls. Each of you bring food, linen and cutlery to serve four dinners.

If you will be one to join us in this entertainment call up or see Mr. Ahern or Mr. Fred Berry by Saturday.

This invitation is extended to every lady in our city and surrounding country. Let us all join hands and show the Easterners true Western hospitality. Leave your name by Saturday, so that we can make arrangements for every body.

If the weather is unfavorable Wednesday morning, we will provide a place indoors for serving the meal and let you know where to bring them. Will you serve? Please notify us as soon as possible.

Last Day Normal Commencement

The sixth annual commencement of the Wayne State Normal closed Friday when President Conn delivered to a class of 60 their certificates of graduation at the close of a brief program and an able address from John L. Kennedy, who gave the graduating address. Service was the keynote of the talk, and preparedness for service. He showed that the possibilities of this class were great—going out, as they were, equipped in knowledge of the best method of imparting it to others. The sixty might soon swell to 600, then 6,000 and so on in ever increasing numbers as the years pass.

The occasion was a happy one, and the auditorium was well filled with students and citizens who greatly enjoyed the exercises.

Mrs. Dan McManigal and Miss Kate Scott visited Norfolk today. Mrs. McManigal is improving in health.

Social Notes

Mrs. John Payne, whose family including the son Eugene and wife, are soon to remove to Wyoming, was most pleasantly surprised Monday afternoon by the Ladies Bible Study circle. At the close of their interesting lesson at Mrs. Noakes', they marched to the farm home and were seated in the shady yard while tokens of remembrance were presented and ice cream and cake served. Mrs. Payne will be missed by her many Wayne friends who join in good wishes for the family. Mrs. Lewis will entertain the circle next Tuesday.

The members of the U. D. club and families had a picnic supper last Monday evening at 6:30 in Bressler's park. About 46 found places at one long table and an elaborate meal was served. After supper the children roasted wienies and marshmallows and had a jolly time. The grown ups were having as much fun as the children and all lingered till almost dark. Mrs. H. S. Welsh and daughters Elizabeth and Dorothy, of Central City were guests of honor.

Mrs. F. L. Neely and Miss Helen McNeal entertained at Brdige Tuesday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Edna Churchill of Winnipeg, Canada, who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Neely. The house was decorated in patriotic colors and flowers. Four tables were placed for the game. At five o'clock a two-course luncheon was served. Out of town guests were Mrs. Ebert of Fremont and Mrs. Frank Wilson of Winstate.

The members of the Class of 1916 of the high school enjoyed a picnic at the Elkhorn last Saturday, making the trip in autos. A delicious two-course dinner was served at noon under large trees near the river. After dinner the chief attraction was boat riding. Many kodak pictures were taken. Fudge was made late in the afternoon, after which the picnics returned home.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church had a social tea at the home of Mrs. A. H. Ellis, Wednesday afternoon. There was a good attendance, proceeds twenty-five dollars.

The Rural Home society meets today with Mrs. P. M. Corbit.

Wayne People at West Point

A Christian Endeavor convention for a district in this corner of the state is being held at West Point, and Wednesday C. Clasen drove over with delegates Esther McEeachen, Milo Hood and Wilma Gildersleeve. Today he planned to go again with Rev. Cross as passenger.

J. L. Payne and wife returned Saturday evening from a visit at Red Oak and Clearfield, Iowa, where they formerly lived and have relatives and friends. This week they plan to leave for their new home near Douglas, Wyoming, where himself and sons have located on homesteads of state land, under some state law. D. K. Bryant, who has done much to make the Goldenrod interesting and attractive with the cartoons from his pen, left Saturday to attend the school of fine arts at Chicago, where he will give particular attention to cartoon work. He appears to have a natural inclination and ability for this work, and doubtless will make his mark in the world very frequently, if he shall follow the work he is studying to attain perfection in.

The committee of the Methodist church is on sound ground when it declares against segregation of vice as a remedy for the social evil. Like the old argument that the open saloon is a necessity, the talk for the segregation of vice is in the end found to be based on the commercial advantages to arise from such a system. The plan is wholly bad from every standpoint, and has been so declared by the most competent investigators and thinkers in Europe as well as in America.—State Journal.

Miss Mack of the Normal went to Hartington Saturday to spend part of the short vacation there.

C. W. Tompsett and their youngest child went to Omaha Saturday to visit a few days with his mother at that place.

The hotel question at Hartington has finally been definitely settled, and according to the present indications, work on a $30,000 hotel will commence in that city in the near future. This announcement is the result of a number of conferences between the business men of Hartington and the Investment & Realty company of Omaha, and the proposition has at length been worked out to the last detail.

Supt. C. L. Culler has decided to spend the coming year studying at the University of Nebraska. In one year Mr. Culler can obtain a Master's degree and he has decided that next year is the time to do the requisite work. Supt. Culler has made a splendid record here as an instructor and as superintendent and with another year's preparation he will be still more efficient.—Hartington Herald.

Ellis Owen and family from near Carroll go this week by automobile to visit at Columbus and other points in Platte county, where their home was before coming to this county. We note that they are loyal to their new home county, and the car carries the banner of Wayne. Their daughter, Miss Catherine, who attended high school here, graduating last year, will return for the Normal summer school. She has just closed a successful school near their home.

Fred Stone is producing quite a fine dairy herd on a place northwest of Wayne, and is a breeder of the Holstein cow and cattle. He has a herd of about thirty animals, and in order to keep them improving has secured the service of a Holstein bull that weighs over 1,500 pounds at less than two years of age. He also purchased a splendid bull calf, which he received last week. He spent some time investigating breeding and prices in the east, then gave his attention to some of the Nebraska product, and thinks it equally as good, but not valued quite as high, so he has the "made in Nebraska" brand on the animals of his herd. He has some sons who are interested in the dairy proposition, and who are studying farming as much as possible while practicing it so intensely, for Mr. Stone had the misfortune to be ill and undergo an operation and is not yet able to do much work, but sons and daughters and the good wife are getting along with the work well, he tells.

A DAY OF MUSIC AND MIRTH

The First May Festival of The Wayne Normal School Was a Success. Friends From Far and Near Enjoy the Program.

Bright sunshine and a cloudless sky ushered in the first May Festival held by the Wayne State Normal. This has proven a most happy event, bringing the people of Wayne, the numerous visiting friends of the normal and student body. The May Revels with their May Day dreams in pantomime and dance, given by the class in physical training under the direction of Miss Josephine E. Mack; the artists' recitals rich in masterly finish of technic, interpretation, and power to please; the Voget Concert Quarter, with their exquisite renditions; the reading by Miss Mack, last and greatest of all the grand concert rendered by the State Normal, soloists, and Wayne choruses, touching with sacredness the close of the day.

The May Revels, played upon the campus and not within the "greenwood of Merry England," gave the interested throng of spectators glimpse of the times of Robin Hood and Friar Tuck, and elicited praise and admiration as scene after scene was enacted. Each one was replete with interest, but scenes four, five and six, were especially beautiful.

Every folk-dance held the attention of all, but the Oriental Dance of the Huries, led by Miss Joyce Ferguson deserves especial mention for grace of movement, precision, and aesthetic value. As a leader Miss Ferguson is an artist. The Dance of the Roses was a little gem of spontaneity and action. Every phase of the revels gave pleasure to all and reflected great credit upon class and director.

The recital at ten-thirty was given by Miss Madge Miller, contralto, and Mr. J. Glen Lee, tenor, and both artists evidenced their skill and ability to please. In rendering, "Vergiliches Standchen," by Brahms; "A Riot of Roses," by Coombs; and "Rosy Morn," by Ronald, Madge Miller won the hearts of her audience by her rich contralto voice, rich in quality, and pure in tone, and also by that intangible something, called personality.

J. Glenn Lee handled his voice in masterly style in singing the, "Indian Love Lyrics (Cycle)" by Amy Woodforde Finde, charmed all with his rendition, technique, and beauty of tone. His voice is one of rare lyric quality.

When the noon hour arrived, Wayne people, friends, and students and faculty ate picnic dinners under the trees on the campus, after which, at one-thirty a recital was rendered by the Voget Concert Quartet, who need no introduction to this part of the state, having always delighted lovers of music by their technique, skill, and interpretation.

It seems only fitting, however, to pay tribute of appreciation to the exquisite rendition of "Minuet in G, Op. 14," by Paderewski, and to the violin solo, "Il Lombardi Jerusalem," by Viueuxemps. The skill and technique displayed were beyond question and called forth warm applause from the audience.

The artists' recital at three was given by Matta K. Legler, soprano, and Frederick Southwick, baritone, and vied with the previous ones in finish, quality and pleasure given the audience.

Miss Legler sang the "Aria" from "Herodiade", by Masenet with a range and flexibility of voice and superb technique.

Frederick Southwick carried his audience with him from the first by a winning personality. His interpretation of "Innituo," by Huhn was almost sublime. Rare skill was shown in the rendition and interpretation of, "Mother O' Mine," and "Laddie," by Thayer; and the tribute he paid his accompanist, Mrs. Maude Miller, was the generous recognition of the ability of one artist by another.

Following the recital, the audience was given a treat in the reading of the play, "Now-a-Days," by Miss Josephine E. Mack of the department of expression of the normal. The reading was a revelation of the power and versatility of the reader and placed Miss Mack among the artists of the day.

As a fitting climax to the day, the concert, "The Holy City," was given at eight-fifteen under the direction of Professor J. J. Coleman, by the State Normal and Wayne choruses, and the artist soloists previously mentioned.

This concert proved to be one of the greatest musical events ever enjoyed by Wayne people, and their friends, and was executed with such mastery of skill and rendition that comment seems unfitting and superfluous.

The special numbers rendered by the local singers were especially appreciated by all, the artistic finish being made possible by the untiring efforts of Miss Bessie Crockett, who has given unstintingly of her time and skill during the entire year.

In the magnificent chorus, "Great and Marvelous Are Thy Works, Lord God," the adoration of the Divine rose with an ever swelling volume of exultation, echoed over the campus swaddled in darkness riven intermittently by vivid flashes of lightning, and pronounced the benediction upon the first May Festival of the Wayne State Normal.

The management of the May Festival wishes to express their appreciation and thanks to all those who helped in any way to make it the success it was. By the co-operation and patronage of Wayne people and the surrounding country and towns, the first Festival was made a financial success and leaves the management with a nice little start on next year's program, which will insure better artists and a better day in every way.

Sons of Herman Memorial

Next Sunday is the day set by the Sons of Herman of this state to pause and honor their dead. Members of the organization at Wayne, and any visiting members of the order are requested to attend the Wayne service, which will be held at the I. O. O. F., hall at 2:30 Sunday afternoon. The head officer of the state of Nebraska is expected to be present at the Wayne meeting, and take a part in the ceremonies. After a service at the hall the members of the order will march to the cemetery and decorate the graves of the members who have passed on before.

The Prize Tribute to Wayne

"THE HOME CITY" Built on the Hills of "Always Corn."

In the oratorical contest at the Commercial Clubs convention at Omaha last week, there were forty-three contestants. The roll of the cities contesting was called alphabetically. As each name was called the representative of that city responded with the best statement of his cities claim possible. For the most part it was a description of the city or town with a statement of what had been done and an outline of what they intended to do.

Wayne was the fortieth name called and when its turn came W. L. Gaston took the floor and said:

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Convention:

One hundred miles northwest of here, built on the hills of Always Corn, is the city of Wayne, queen of a region three times richer than the "Promised Land" sought by the ancient sons of Isaac and Jacob, for to their "Milk and Honey" we add the corn and pork, the Ben Davis and the tuber. Wayne delights in the sobriquet of the "Home City" for it is a city of homes. It has more fine homes and palatial dwellings than any other place of the same size in all the middle west. Every hill is home crowned and every slope lawn-covered. Every street is fringed with, and every house surrounded by magnificent shade trees. Every back lot has its garden and every front yard is covered with nuggets of yellow gold and they look "dandelion" there in the grass.

In full pace with our homes, comes our churches and our schools. The High school and State Normal have been awarded our highest hills.

The Commercial club has just been re-organized, renamed and given a new baptism of fire. It is the Public Service club now. The new name makes it more elastic and gives us opportunity to bring in the farmer and unite the whole community. We have divided the club into two divisions and elected a captain for each, and we are full tilt into a campaign for new members. The sides are contesting to see which will get the more recruits. The side that is defeated will have to fry a feed for the victors. When the fight is over the Public Service club will have two hundred members.

We are boosters for everything that will help the town. We boost for our schools, we boost for trade, we boost for the farmers, we boost for our corner of the state. We boost for a chautauqua and lyceum courses, and farmers meetings and good roads. We are out for conventions—and we get all the conventions that Norfolk doesn't get and once in a while we put one over on Norfolk.

We hold an annual banquet, at which always two hundred of our townsmen fare forth to feed and wit. Once a month we meet in some dining room and have a noon-day lunch together—these meetings are half talk and half eat.

We observed "Clean-Up Week" and "Pay-Up Week" and "Dress-Up Week" and "Let-Up Week."

We have put in long lines of electroliters—milk opals by day, fire opals by night—they add both light and beauty to the down town streets.

Both York and Hastings beat us a little on paving. But we are doing the preliminary work and when we get the block paved that we are after now, and two more we will have three paved blocks altogether. On the 7th of next month we will entertain—Here the time whistle sounded.

When the next town, Waco, was called, somebody shouted, "Call Wayne again."

The announcement of the judges giving the prize to Wayne was greeted with applause and calls for Wayne, Wayne, Wayne, until Mr. Gaston came forward and made another speech.

Showing Results of Spirit Leveling in Nebraska, as follows:

From 1896 to 1913 inclusive, the elevations have been corrected to agree with the 1912 adjustments of the Coast and Geodetic Survey. This work has been extended into Nebraska from bench marks that had been established along the Missouri river. These stations or bench marks were erected or caused to be by what was called the Missouri river commission, but some work was done in the western part of the state by using as a starting point. The bench marks or elevations were established by railroad surveys. Contiguous to these lines were established bench marks or stations showing elevations above sea level. These were also based on Missouri river bench marks, as they started to take their levels. All U. S. Geological survey elevations are referred to mean sea level, which is the level that the Norfolk has 3 of these stations, ranging in average height of 1521 feet; Hoskins 1666 feet and 5 inches. Quinn-Benshoof

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Benshoof near Carroll on Wednesday, May 24, at high noon, when their daughter Neva, was united in marriage to Harold Quinn, says the Winside Tribune.

The wedding march, "Hearts and Flowers," played by Miss Mildred Cullen began at 11:55 and at 12:00 the bride couple attended by Miss Bessie Leary and Irving Leary, marched into the living room and took their places in front of a large bay window, where the Rev. R. McKenzie of Carroll performed the ring ceremony.

The bride wore a white embroidered dress and the groom a blue serge suit.

After the ceremony the guests were ushered into the dining room where an elaborate wedding feast was served.

The bride and groom are well and favorably known to all our readers, and may happiness and prosperity be theirs, is the wish of all.

Those who attended from Winside were: Messrs. and Mesdames Louie Needham, S. L. Tidrick, Harry Tidrick, D. C. Hogue and Jay Wilson; Misses Edith Carter, Bessie Leary, Mildred Cullen, Rosa Wilson, Blanche Leary and Mr. Irving Leary.

WAYNE MARKET REPORT

Following are the market prices quoted us up to the time of going to press, Thursday:

Table with market prices for various goods: Oats, Corn new, Barley, Spring wheat, Wheat, Eggs, Butter, Hogs, Fat Cattle.

Ford is threatening to send another peace ship and party to the old world to stop the war. Hope he can and does.

In telling what the republican platform is likely to be, Chairman Hillis expresses the opinion that the party will have no opinion on the suffrage question. Perhaps they can dodge it once more.

In many parts of this state oil is used for fuel on the locomotives to reduce the cost of operation, but the people get no benefit from the saving, which they would do were the people the owners of the roads.

It really appeared quite in keeping with the occasion that one should have case of ptomaine poisoning, come from eating at a supper given to encourage the cemetery association, as one of our correspondents tells of in another column.

The motor hearse has come at some places and will soon be everywhere. The doctor has for several years been answering hurry up calls when folks come into the world, by automobile, and now the undertakers are scooping them to the grave by the same quick and convenient method.

Young Waite, who poisoned his rich father-in-law and toll of killing several other people in New York was found to be guilty of murder in the first degree last week by a jury. It was claimed that he was insane, and he may be, but he will get the best kind of a cure for that form of insanity when he gets into the chair with the electric current in it.

We are told by the man who read it in the Iowa papers that in one township in Iowa, where the law requires a man to tell when he changes his party allegiance in voting at the primary, that in one township 116 voters declared their intention of turning from the democratic to the republican party and they were all Germans, while not one had turned the other way. Hence he concluded that Roosevelt will be the nominee of the republican party and the next president. Well, the republicans have always managed to carry Iowa on presidential year, if they could only stick together, but there are plenty of that party there who would not support the ex-president for another term. They would rather vote the prohibition ticket, bad as they dislike that cause.

Alliance is to put in a steam heating plant for the city. It is a wise thing to do, but can it be made extensive enough to aid the poor people of the city? But it may give the business district some relief from the coal barons. The fuel situation in nearly every part of Nebraska is one of the great draw backs to the state—and it is within the power of the state to relieve that situation to a great extent by owning and using the water power of the state. If electricity were not used for heating purposes, but simply for power it would greatly reduce the consumption of coal, and provide a means for the cheaper transportation of the coal used, for it is the freight which more than doubles the first high cost of every ton of coal used in this great state. At Wayne the freight on coal is always quite a per cent greater than the price paid for the coal at the mine, no matter from where it comes. We hope the next legislature will be progressive enough to provide the means for starting this great work.

Members of the Methodist church who dance, play cards or attend theatres may feel since the vote at Saratoga that they are under only partial condemnation from the church. The vote against rescinding the old rule was 435 to 360. That is a substantial majority, but not enough to give the rule the moral support it needs if it is to be strictly enforced in the great field of the church.

Thus says an exchange, but really who has the right and power to condemn the acts of another? Are the high officials and dignitaries of the church authorized to say what the membership shall say is right or wrong? Once a person becomes a member of church knowing the rules, he may be expected to obey them or withdraw from the organization. The 435 who favor retaining the present rules are consistent to their membership pledge. The 360 who would change the rules doubtless represent their proportion of the membership who believe the rules are too strict on such matters; but in the final adjustment it comes to the individual and his or her honest belief should govern action in the case.

Blair is all wrought up over the action of a single man we take it from reading the Pilot of that city. A band has been organized and equipped as well as instructed at a sacrifice of time and money by the members and public spirited citizens. So it was decided to build a band stand, and money was subscribed and paid for that purpose. Then came the question of location, and there was a split until it was agreed that the stand should be a portable affair, and he built at a certain corner and moved if later desired. Just as work was about to begin the mulishness of one man came to the surface to such an extent that the father part of the mule was visible to the naked eye, and he stopped the good work by objecting to the stand being built in a public street, though he has no use for the street except as a pedestrian, having neither auto or horse and carriage—nothing but mulishness. As a result the money has been returned to the donors—though the council had no objections to use of the street in this manner, but of course had not given formal permission, something no one had thought to ask, for it was known that they were in sympathy with the movement.

W. P. Warner of Dakota City, who is a candidate for a republican seat in congress spent part of Wednesday at Wayne, interviewing the faithful and some other voters. He was at Carroll Tuesday and made a decoration day address. We have to yet see his platform so do not know whether or not he is a progressive or a standpat, or whether he expects to keep near enough the "middle of the road" to secure the support of both elements. We do not know whether he is for war or peace, Mexico or Canada. It is safe to assume, that he is and will be for some form of a protective tariff, otherwise we doubt if he would have been drafted for this battle. At any rate he was selected practically without opposition to try for the place.

Chan Norton, who went to Minnesota last week, accompanied by Ernest Sederstrom, to get his automobile, is home. He reports that they spent a day at Lakefield with our former citizens, Mr. and Mrs. Wat Williams, and that they put in part of the time fishing, and caught all they could eat, when cooked properly, as Mrs. Williams so well knows how to do, and as many as they cared to bring home. In fact, to tell of such splendid fishing as they there had, makes one of John Morgan's fish stories look like "30 cents", to use a very cheap expression. Mr. Norton says that Mr. and Mrs. Williams are well and happy, and sent greeting to their Wayne friends. Crops are looking well there, but a trifle wet. Roads they found quite rough most of the way, and some muddy, yet they made the 200 mile drive in 12 hours, including all stops. The Floyd river had been making some bad bottom roads, having been out of banks and far over the bottoms recently.

This season we took particular care to have several of our nicest styles in strap slippers and pumps made up with low heels. Made of soft dull kid or light, cool patent kid at $3.00 and $3.75.

A HERN'S Porch dresses are neat dresses made of lawn, light percale, and light ginghams, made up and trimmed nicely enough to wear most anywhere. They are very inexpensive—$1.25 to $3—and will save you some needless sewing. We have them up to size 50. You will like them.

A HERN'S Did you ever own a rain coat of which the rubber lining peeled off? Some of them will do it when they get in a warm place. If one of our raincoats do that, we will gladly give you a new one. We sell guaranteed raincoats at $5 and $6. Rain hats to match are 50 cents. Some new black and white checks came in today. A tip: Never use gasoline to clean a rubberized coat. It eats the cement in short order.

A HERN'S Before you buy barefoot sandals for your boy, let us show you a boys' athletic oxford made with an elk skin sole and no heel, which sells at $1.25 and $1.50. The uppers are black, so they can be cleaned up with a little polish, dirt will not get into them and cut out the stockings, and they will outwear a sandal. The boys all like them. They can be worn on the tennis courts and save buying tennis shoes.

A HERN'S In spite of the dye shortage, we as yet have plenty of our three best selling numbers in Ladies' and Children's hose. Our Wayne Knit Pony hose at 25 cents (fine light weight for girls—heavy weight for boys) are the best children's stockings to be had. Linen thread is woven into the heels, knees, and toes, and you get a fine appearing fast black stocking that wears and washes splendidly. Wayne Knit, 3 for $1.00. Silk Lisle are the nicest sheer light-weight hose to be had. They come out of the tub a clear, even black, and wear splendidly for a light weight hose.

A HERN'S We now have two more nice patterns in 9x12 foot velvet rugs. We have sold several of this quality already at $23.50 and they are certainly good looking and well made rugs. We also sell a 9x12 Brussels rug of splendid quality for $18.50. If you want any kind of linoleum we have sample pieces which show pattern, thickness, and wearing qualities, and you can get any size piece you want in a few days. We are still able to secure 12-foot inlaid linoleum of the finest quality, but we are notified that stocks are getting very low on this particular grade. All linoleum prices will advance June 1, so if you need it, don't delay.

A HERN'S You can make a nice saving by buying the material for your little girl's summer dresses from the Remnant counter. Pieces of the nicest wash goods we have had are on this counter at low remnant prices.

A HERN'S Forty extra discount stamps will be given this week and next with every man's dress shirt. This means soft shirts with or without collars, at 75c, $1, and $1.25. There are dozens of pretty patterns in fast colors here and the menfolks are sure to be pleased with your choice. Get their shirts now, while you can save a nice discount through the extra stamps.

A HERN'S Have you seen the nice aluminum ware on display in the Premium department? This is really fine, first-class aluminum, that will wear satisfactorily, and makes a nice premium for your stamp book.

A HERN'S Now is the time to sell the roosters. This week we are paying 8 cents a pound for them, by far the highest price we have ever known. You will get more for them now than they will bring in the fall when the price is generally 5 cents a pound.

Miss Minna Mae Lewis
July 10 to 15

Children's Entertainer, Reader and Lecturer, is exceptionally well qualified to meet the demands of Chautauqua audiences, which are everywhere becoming more critical and demanding higher class attractions.

In order that she might be more useful in settlement work, Miss Lewis availed herself of the opportunity to take a thorough course in a nurses' training school under the instruction of some of the best physicians of the day. She is therefore well qualified to lecture on "Practical Nursing in the Home." For the past eight years she has made an extensive study of Sociology. Her morning lectures are bound to be beneficial to every woman. For a short time each day practical demonstrations will be given along Physical Culture lines.

Story telling has become an art, and Miss Lewis' experience in children's entertaining, including Physical Instruction and Story Telling, enables her to make this one of the most popular features of the Chautauqua.

Miss Lewis has had conferred upon her by the Chicago Musical College School of Expression and Physical Culture the degrees of Bachelor of Oratory and Master of Oratory, and it has been said of her, "she is an entertainer that really entertains."

Miss Lewis will have the morning hours—entertaining for a while the children, with fairy tales, myths, folklore tales and legends, after which she will talk practically to adults, especially women, who will do well to be in the main tent at 11 o'clock each morning. Miss Lewis will also give readings on the afternoons as indicated by the Complete Program.

Cap's Orchestra
July 9 and 10

Cap's Orchestra is a new departure in musical entertainment and their playing has a snap and style which is original and entirely different from the ordinary musical attraction. There are no dull moments during their program—something different each number and no waits between numbers. Each of the members of the organization plays more than one instrument, and they change instruments during the rendition of numbers, using the instrumentation best suited to the different movements of the selection.

Every number is improved by some bright, new idea, either in the manner of playing or in the combination of instruments used. The audience is kept in expectancy as to the nature of the next "stunt." The quality of the music is not sacrificed for these "stunts" however, and favorite classical numbers such as "Il Trovatore," "Tannhauser," "Faust," "Lohengrin," "Tales of Hoffman," and others take on a new and added interest, from the unique solo and ensemble work of the musicians. This organization will be a delightful and refreshing change from the usual orchestra program.

The members of the orchestra are all clean cut, refined American gentlemen, as well as able, versatile musicians. They have been playing together continuously for more than eight years. They are full of life and vigor, as only Americans can be, and they show this in the bright, happy, "snappy" manner in which they play and in the "snap" given to the music. This is contagious and they readily have their audience in a like happy frame of mind.

"To miss their concerts is to cheat yourself."

July 11

Stanley LeFevre Krebs has traveled on three continents studying human nature conditions and relations; is prominent in educational, professional, business and musical circles. Is a member of the London Society of Art; American Academy of Political and Social Science (N. Y.); National Geographical Society; Medical-Legal Society, Phi Beta Kappa, etc.; contributor to magazines and author of books on political economy and applied psychology that have a wide circulation here and abroad. He is an original thinker, a man of magnetic personality, an awakener of energy and purpose handling the great problems of individual and national line of our times.

His remarkable command of language, his powers of analysis, the logic of his reasoning, the scope of his learning, and his keen and trenchant wit, have brought him fame and standing. To his ripened intellect and manifold talents he adds a frank earnestness and broad mindedness which place him among the very foremost in his chosen profession.

Mr. Krebs has slept in more "haunted" houses, pursued to their lair more "ghosts," hobgoblins, specters, phantasms, figures and forms of mystery, than, perhaps, any other living person. He can entertain people for hours telling about his experiences. He is a rather unusual combination in that he is at one and the same time profoundly scientific and strikingly sensational. Come, and you will be charmed by the spell of his eloquence and personality.

wicked Spaniards under Cortez. From that inspiring narrative it appeared that the Aztecs under the lamented Montezuma II, had a civilization of which any country might feel proud. Through treacherous protestations of undying friendship Cortez found favor with the great ruler, he and his soldiers and were received in the city of Mexico (which went under another name at that time) with much pomp and ceremony. The motto of the Spaniard was "do unto others as you expect to be done by, and do it first." So they stole the great and good ruler and held him as a hostage and guarantee of their own safety from utter exterminations. The same story makes it appear that Montezuma, feeling the humiliation and shame of being held captive in his own home town, ended his life, which later historians say is not borne out by the official records. The truth concerning the civilization of Mexico of which so much nonsense has been written, is what the people desire at this time, that we may judge whether the introduction of Spanish atrocities accounts for all the disorganization and disorder which prevails in Mexico now. The truth is that the Aztecs of four hundred years ago were great for preparedness but lame in diplomacy. They worshipped bum-looking idols, ordered fat human sacrifices, and practiced cannibalism, polygamy and other vices common to our own Caucasian civilization. Besides that, they ate dogs. Montezuma was a great man in his day, who was able like the late Perfidious Diaz, to levy immense toil and tribute upon the people of his dominions for his own aggrandizement. If any failed to pay when the collectors were sent their rounds, the wives and daughters of the petty chieftans were carried into captivity, by reason of which fact the mighty ruler had many ardent enemies among his own people. Changes for the better in some things have taken place in Mexico in the last four hundred years, but the masses have no better chance to make good now than then.—State Journal.

Why We Are Opposing A Government Armor Plant

To the People:

Some people say that the very fact that the Bethlehem Steel Company is so aggressively fighting the proposal to build a Government armor plant is conclusive proof that the Company is seeking to assure for itself the "vast profits" derived from private manufacture.

The fact is that armor making is the least profitable feature of steel manufacture.

The reason we oppose a Government plant is very simple. It is this:

Even though there is but little profit in the making of armor, we have invested over $7,000,000 in our armor plant;

That plant is useless for any other purpose; if a Government plant is built the usefulness of our plant is destroyed.

It would be good business for us to make armor for the Government at any price over and above the actual shop cost, RATHER THAN SACRIFICE OUR ENTIRE INVESTMENT.

We do not seek to save big profits; our purpose is very frankly to save our armor plant—itsself built solely for the use of the Government—from going to the scrap heap.

To do that, we are prepared to agree for any period to any terms of manufacture which the Federal Trade Commission shall say absolutely protects the Government of the United States.

Mrs. Weaver Goes to Texas

Yesterday morning Mrs. P. J. Neff and Miss Mary Neff, who had been called here by the death of I. H. Weaver, returned to their home in Happy, Texas. They were accompanied by Mrs. Weaver, who will, probably, make her home with them. Mrs. Weaver has been identified with the activities of Wakefield and vicinity for over thirty years. Pupils whom she taught are now men and women with families. The entire community has had the benefit of her ability in such capacities as treasurer of the Cemetery Association, which position she has held since its organization in 1899; a member of the Library Board since its formation, she has been its president for many years. Her many friends here wish her the best of everything in her new home and, should she decide to remain there permanently, that she may return frequently to visit. The Weaver family will be greatly missed by this community.—Wakefield Republican.

What Has Been May Be!

Land Investment is Safe Sound and Sure

Thirty years ago a tract of land sold near Lincoln, the capitol of this state, at $40 per acre. Last year the same land sold at $250 per acre, breaking the Nebraska record for large acreage of unimproved land. This land grew good hay crops each year, paying its way--the $210 per acre increase was velvet.

We are now offering land equally as rich and fertile at as low a price ($40.00) per acre, and as near the capitol of a great and growing agricultural state as was this Nebraska land. Land that will annually produce as good a crop, land that will pay its way, and land that will advance much within the next few years, because there is but little like it left. We ask you to investigate, Mr. Renter and Mr. Speculator. Have some offerings for a less price, others a trifle higher, but all bargains.

When the farmers and feeders of this county shall raise more of their feeders on what is not now saved in the way of roughness, this will be a richer community.

Wayne Lodge No. 103, Ancient Order of United Workmen, will celebrate the thirtieth anniversary of the order in Nebraska, on Thursday night, June 8, in the lodge hall, by appropriate exercises in connection with an address by Frank G. Simmons, of Seward, who is our Grand Foreman, and in line for Grand Master. The date is regular meeting night for the D. of H., and they have kindly consented to our using the hall. Let every Workman turn out. Bring your wife or sweetheart and also a prospective candidate.--L. E. Panabaker, M. W., I. W. Alter, Recorder.

E. Dotson and wife came from Neigh last week to visit at the home of her mother, Mrs. Clara Gustafson, and with their many friends here. Mr. D. returned Tuesday evening, but he wife remained for a longer visit. Mr. Dotson expresses himself as being well pleased with his new home and place of business, only he says that when the wind does a good job of blowing he realizes from the sand shower that he is not in Wayne county. He spoke of one feature of community organization which must be fine--a county band in which there are some 80 members, all musicians of the county being eligible to membership. This band plays at the different towns at intervals, and band day at a town is a day for a big crowd.

Being alone he had not been able to plant as early as some, but that the way the weather had been he did not think the early planting had any advantage of that planted when he did, but admitted that it was a game of chance, and that he would have been glad to have been ready and put his corn in early, for ground was in condition most of the time.

Home Again

Under this heading H. C. Evans, editor of the Yeoman Shield, who accepted the invitation of Mr. Ford to represent the Yeomen on his peace ship gives some of the impressions received abroad from which we cull the following:

I remember reading a story of two maiden sisters who lived in a country village from which they had not traveled a half dozen miles in fifty years. In their old age they visited a large city, and it was their boast afterwards that they had "seen above the rim of home."

The big thing about seeing above the rim of home is that it enables you to better sense the value of home itself. The home is, or ought to be, of more value than all things that lie beyond its rim. The home in which you live, the neighborhood or village or city in which that home is situated, your state, your country, the people with whom you associate—these are all sufficient. And no one knows this better than he who has withdrawn for a season from old associations and old environments. To be away for months from the places, people and things you love most dearly—and then to come home! The joy of home-coming under such circumstances is unspeakable. I cannot express it so well as did my little daughter some years ago. She had been away from home for a season, and after cordial greetings on her return she sat down with the family about her. Somewhat excited and agitated, her eyes filled with happy tears, she said: "Oh! folks, just let me sit and look at you!" This indicates something of the feelings of the Editor since he returned home and resumed his duties among his co-laborers in the dear old Yeoman Castle. To be home again, to have about you those for whom you care deeply, to take up their duties and responsibilities and burdens—all this is but to take up life's joys and happiness. There's never a duty that is not attended with pleasure; never a responsibility without compensation; never a burden that is not related to a joy.

I visited six European monarchies and one republic. If they want to impress you with the grandeur of Europe, they show you ancient ruins, statues of military heroes, old fortified castles, old battlefields, and introduce you to princes and other titled nonentities. The hotels and cafes and depots are infested with armies of beggarly flunkies whose sole income is what they receive in tips. They are at your heels at every turn shouting their national battle cry of "Give! Give! Give!" I listened to the tragic stories of the boys from the trenches—stories that have made young men old, stories that have sent thousands of mothers to insane asylums and other thousands to join their sons in premature graves. I heard the roar of artillery as it sent its deadly messengers in search of young lives. I saw the remnants of handsome red-blooded, healthy boys brought home from battle front and hospital. Millions of them who a few months ago left their homes in all the glory of perfect physical manhood, are now but fragments—limbless, eyeless, lifeless. Millions of their comrades were killed outright, and yet other millions are spending their skill and strength killing their brothers who are killing them. Oh! the horror of it all! No pen can write the story, no mind can comprehend it, and I gladly turn from it to consideration of the affairs of home.

I am sure that after an absence of some months I am better able to estimate the value of the Yeoman Society, and the worth of the men who are making and maintaining it. When things are a part of our everyday life for years and years, our sense of estimating them becomes dulled. We take things as a matter of course. But let us break away, completely disassociate ourselves, throw off responsibility, with even the avenues of information from our old work-a-day world closed—under these circumstances when we come back we see things from a new viewpoint and are astounded at the vastness of a work which we had come to regard as commonplace. The bigness of our society thrills me! Two hundred and eighteen thousand members! And last year there was distributed among the families visited by death over one million, eight hundred thousand dollars! We set this work of our army of over two hundred thousand peace-loving Yeomen, this work of relieving the distress of their unfortunate brethren, we set it against the destructive work of an army of like size across the water. The one army building homes for their stricken brethren, the other burning the homes of their brethren; the one army caring for the sick and conserving life, the other spreading famine and disease and destroying life; the one army constructing, the other destroying.

To all Yeomen everywhere, my greetings. You have ever been generously kind to me. You have stood by me in my failures and shortcomings. I am delighted to again take my place by your side in the great constructive work we are doing. More than ever am I obsessed with the tremendous importance of individual effort. Every man, every woman, counts for something. Here's my prayer that your count and mine may be recorded on the good side of the book of life, on the constructive side. To you all personally, my greetings, my gratitude, my love. H. C. EVANS.

Nebraska at St. Louis

For twenty years the Nebraska delegation at democratic national conventions have ranked in equal importance with that of New York state and Mr. Bryan's room was as much a center of interest as the den of Chas. Murphy, the Tammany king. From the fact that Mr. Bryan represents a syndicate of newspapers at St. Louis for which he receives two thousand dollars a day, his room will still be one end of the busy wire, but where will the Nebraska delegation be? You will need the Lick telescope to find them for the votaries of Wall street spend no time on people or interest who have neither the power to help or hinder their game. Mr. Bryan's room will be crowded with some of the most brilliant minds speaking the English language. Those writers will say very bitter things about the Nebraskan but in confidential discourse they will tell the residents of this state that we ought to have long ears with hair on them growing out of our heads for they will add, we say those mean things about your citizen because we are well paid for doing it, in fact, our bread and butter depends on how ably we can misrepresent the actual fact.—Creighton Liberal.

Sheep Growing

"An interesting sheep experiment is now being conducted by the Nebraska state board of agriculture. On April 25th the board purchased 239 Merino sheep. These sheep were placed on the State Fair grounds, mainly for the purpose of conducting an experiment in keeping grass and weeds short. On May 8th and 9th the sheep were sheared and a clip of about 2,000 pounds of wool was secured therefrom. The flock now numbers over 380. This experiment has another angle, and that is in the helping to bring to the attention of farmers the splendid opportunity for sheep production in Nebraska."

The above is in line with an idea we have long had—to call attention of the Nebraska farmer to the sheep as a means of converting a lot of otherwise waste into good money. If you think sheep are low in price, go and ask your butcher for a leg of mutton and listen to the price. If any meat is worth the price asked these days the leg of mutton surely is, for when properly cooked it is hard to find a meat more to be desired. Then go and ask the price of real all-wool cloth and listen again to find out about the worth of wool. True, many of our friends who firmly believe in a protective tariff honestly thought and feared that the sheep industry of this great agricultural land would be wiped out by the pauper sheep of Mexico or some other country, but both wool and mutton are bringing a higher price than at any time under the high tariff protecting wool. If one could believe the doctrine of the high protective man, wool and sheep should now be a drug on the market in this country. But letting the tariff rest, will some good farmer tell us why so many of them give so much attention to the growing of hogs, and so little to the sheep industry? It seems that growing sheep would be equally as profitable and fully as pleasant. Sheep are not subject to cholera as are the swine—there are two sources of revenue—wool and increase for sheep, and increase along for the hog.

The Community Idea

Faith and confidence are essential to success in any undertaking. The man without these seldom accomplishes all his possibilities. The same is true of any business, any organization, any community. Faith must be a dominant factor in whatever man is called upon to do, or results are of little account.

The man who does most is sure to have an abundant faith in himself, in his fellowmen, in the community in which his interests lie.

It is faith which inspires the minister to go daily about his pastoral duties.

It is faith which gives the teacher courage to spend his years in training the young for their respective places in the affairs of life.

It is faith which impels the farmer to prepare his soil and plant his crops.

It is faith which guides the merchant in planning and building his business.

Faith in the community in which his venture is located.

Faith in his ability to perform an economic function for that community.

Faith that good service and a square deal will win for him the confidence and good will of the people served.

And so it is in human activities. But more especially are faith and confidence essential factors in community development.

Nowhere is the "knocker" wanted—in community life least of all.

Every man—whether farmer, mechanic, laborer, professional, manufacturer, banker, merchant—has his special function in community affairs.

The more harmoniously all the industrial factors work together—

The more they co-operate—

The more rapid will community progress and the advancement of individual interests.

The community is the civic unit from which the country, state and nation are builded.

In it there is no room for prejudice or discord.

The community's prosperity is dependent upon the prosperity of all its people.

It naturally follows that individual prosperity is dependent upon community prosperity.

Harmony and co-operation must prevail among all other interests.

The merchant can hope to succeed only as he proves himself an economic factor in community life.

Even the farmer's success does not result wholly from his own efforts and the productivity of the soil.

Because the property values are regulated in large measure by other influences—

The development of varied industries, the building of good roads, the progress of local mercantile interests.

Just Fishing Now

School is out and we daily see the small boy heading for the Logan or Dog or Deer creeks with rod, line and bait, to compete with some of the veteran fishers, who have been angling in these streams without having to wait for school to close. By the way, it is well to remark for the benefit of some who do not know that there is fishing in the Logan this spring, that since the dam at Wakefield no longer forms an obstruction there has been marked improvement in the size and quality of the fish taken here. In other years the bull-head from four to six inches long has been the best that could be found; but this season we hear frequent reports that channel cat from eight to twelve inches in length have frequently been taken in, and others have almost landed some that were too large for the pole and line, and the breaking of one or the other has allowed the biggest one in the lot to escape the frying pan. It might pay some of the rest of us to try our luck.

To the Housewife in the Country

Some reasons why your "bake-day" is a very expensive luxury and an unnecessary bother.

Because the same time devoted to the cream, butter, eggs, fruit and vegetables will make you much more money than you possibly could save by baking your own bread.

Because you are no more entitled to suffer red hands and a scorched face than your "city sister," who does away with "bake-day" by using "HOLSUM" bread.

Because "HOLSUM" is not the so-called "baker's bread" you so much dislike, but is the kind you have wanted all your life.

Because of "HOLSUM'S" uniformity, its purity, its absolute cleanliness, its perfect flavor and keeping quality. You'll make no mistake in buying it.

The state board of irrigation has been notified that the contract for the steel bridge across the Platte river, south of Kearney has been let to a Kansas City firm at a cost of something over $44,000. Kearney and Buffalo counties pay half and the state the other half.

Lieut. Bagnell, Nebraska National Guard aviator, who has been taking a course of instruction at the government's aviation school at Newport News, Va., has been chosen mechanic for Steve McGordon at the Sheepshead Bay aviation meet to be held during the summer. Officers of the N. N. G., feel quite elated over this tribute to their brother officer's skill as an aviator.

A delegation of prominent state workers filed into Secretary of State Pool's office last Monday and formally presented him with a mammoth petition containing nearly 70,000 names, asking the secretary of state to place on the ballot the prohibitory amendment to be voted on at the fall election. A movie man was present and took a moving picture of the formal acceptance of the petition. The scene was a one-act drama, with Secretary Pool as leading man, including understudies, supernumeraries, henchmen, ladies in waiting, soldiers, and guards of the castle, standing in various poses. The movie picture will be used in the campaign for prohibition this fall, and exhibited in various parts of the state.

A move to put the Pure Food and Oil department on a non-partisan basis has been initiated by Deputy Commissioner Harmon and others who are vitally interested in the efficiency of this department of the state government. The plan is to submit an amendment to be placed on the ticket this fall that the people may have an opportunity to vote on the question. Petitions are being circulated over the state embodying the proposed change, 40,000 names being required to place the amendment on the ballot. It is proposed to make the present term of commissioner, six, instead of two years, and to make him the head of the department rather than the governor, who is at present the commissioner while his appointee is deputy. This is practically the plan that obtains on the board of commissioners of state institutions, the railway commission and the supreme court, with the exception that the latter two departments are elective. In addition to this, it is also proposed that the food and oil commission, if the amendment should be submitted and carried, be placed on a civil service basis. The plan has been under consideration for some years, but has never been attempted heretofore.

There are a good many dry republicans in the state who are at present questioning the wisdom of the nomination for governor of Judge Sutton of Omaha. The fact that Omaha and Douglas county are so wet that a dry ticket down there would have about as much effect as a drouth in the middle of the ocean, and that Judge Sutton, who was running on a perfectly dry ticket, romped away with the big end of both the wet and dry votes, has caused some speculation. An investigation by some of these curious ones as to the reason of this, may, they claim, have a bearing on the following statistical information: Douglas county, including Omaha and its villages and towns, has a bonded indebtedness of $23,141,703.24. Of this amount the city of Omaha, alone, carries $18,054,860 of bonds, already registered, while at the late primaries another $1,700,000 was voted but have not yet been registered. This total of approximately $25,000,000 bonded indebtedness, drawing 4 per cent, which is a fair average, would mean $1,000,000 interest to be paid by the Douglas county tax payer in addition to his regular assessment. There are good reasons for believing, according to those who have looked up the matter, that right now the business interests of Omaha and Douglas county are more concerned in controlling the state government than they are in the wet and dry question. Thus speculateth our brethren of the Eleph. B. Moose tribe, who are having much to answer for in these days of their political tribulation.

HIS ORIGINAL RULINGS.

Henry Watterson's Debut as a Parliamentary Lawmaker.

In Henry Watterson's "History of the Mauffattin Club" the author tells of his experience as temporary chairman of the Democratic national convention of 1876:

"The night before the assembling Mr. Tilden's two or three leading friends on the committee came to me and said, 'We can elect you chairman over Cox, but no one else.' I demurred at once. 'I don't know one rule of parliamentary law from another,' I said. 'We will have the best parliamentarian on the continent right by you all the time,' they said. 'I can't see to recognize a man on the floor of the convention,' I said. 'We'll have a dozen men to see for you,' they replied. So it was arranged, and thus at the last moment I was chosen.

"I had barely time to write the required 'keynote' speech, but not to commit it to memory, nor sight to read it even had I been willing to adopt that mode of delivery. It would never do in such a matter to trust to extemporization. A friend, Colonel Stoddard Johnston, who was familiar with my rough penmanship, came to the rescue. Concealing my manuscript behind his hat, he lined the words out to me between the cheering, I having mastered a few opening sentences.

"Luck was with me. It went with a bang—not wholly without detection, however. The Indians, devoted to Hendricks, were very wroth. 'See that fat man behind the hat telling him what to say,' said one to his neighbor, who answered, 'Yes, and wrote it for him, too, I'll be bound!'

"One might as well attempt to drive six horses by proxy as preside over a national convention by hearsay. I lost my parliamentary law as we went along. Never before nor since did any deliberate body proceed under manual so startling and original. But I delivered each ruling with a resonance—it were better called an impudence—which had the air of authority.

"There was a good deal of quiet laughing on the floor among the knowing ones—though I knew the mass were as ignorant as I was myself—and realizing that I meant to be just and was expediting business, the convention soon warmed to me, and, feeling this, I began to be perfectly at home. I never had a better day's sport in all my life."

CURIOS MARRIAGE CUSTOM.

How the Dusky Maidens of Western Africa Win Husbands.

The natives of western Africa, and especially those on the coast, retain many quaint customs. When a girl has reached her eleventh or twelfth year she is considered quite old enough to enter into the bonds of matrimony. She is taken to the bank of the nearest river and an offering to the particular deities that she and her tribe worship is made with all due solemnity beside the stream. The dusky maid is then publicly washed in the river; a bracelet of black and white beads and gold is placed round her wrist, or, if her family are not rich enough to provide beads of gold, her wrist is simply marked with white lines.

She is then dressed in the best of the family wardrobe and is escorted in a procession through the town to show to all beholders of her beauty that she has reached the marrying age. Her hair is fantastically plaited and she is perfumed with scents.

Board of Equalization

Notice is hereby given that the board of county commissioners, the county assessor and the county clerk will sit as a board of equalization, commencing on Tuesday, the 13th day of June, 1916, for the purpose of equalizing the valuation of personal property of the county, as returned by the precinct assessors, also to equalize the value of real property as returned by the precinct assessors, which assessment on lands stands for four years, unless an error is found which works a gross injustice. Any and all complaints on the assessment of both real and personal property which is made by the assessors, will be heard at this time.

Owners of farm lands, and in fact all that are assessed are especially urged to call and inspect the books relative to their assessment, as this will materially aid us in avoiding any gross errors.

The board will continue in session for not less than three (3) days, and all complaints or protests, must be made at this time.

Witness my hand and seal this 10th day of May, A. D., 1916. (Seal) CHAS. W. REYNOLDS, adv. 19-4. County Clerk.

New York's Spasm

The pro-British press of New York says in telling about the preparedness demonstration in the metropolis last Saturday: "The old American spirit flared up in easy going, comfort-loving Gotham and inspired the greatest demonstration for patriotism our country has ever seen."

According to the story told, the crowds have surged thro Wall Street, that haven of "patriotism." They must have blocked the thoroughfare in front of 26 Broadway, headquarters of the Standard Oil company and citadel of the preparedness movement in this country. The "patriotic" crowd must have suffraged by before the greatest aggregation of prostitutes ever reared in any Babylon, ancient or modern. The patriotic thousands must have rested in the streets in front of the mighty palaces of the men who in the interests of "patriotism" have gathered together their hundreds of millions.

New York is the wickedest, the wealthiest and the most cowardly city in the world. New York would willingly sacrifice a million men simply that it might never know fear. There are as many hungry men and women in New York who have suffered cruel wrongs as there are in any city in the world. It is not more possible for New York to "flare forth with the old time American patriotism" than it is possible for the decrepit drab to step forth with the blush of innocent maidenhood upon her cheeks. New York is a city whose soul has been sold. It is the city of unrest, of greed. It is a caldron in which all the dregs of humanity seethe. True it is that Gotham may have marched, but the populace of that city would have fared forth to gaze upon a murderer, a dance, or a president, with equal zest.

It was said that the procession marked a "profession of faith." If it did it was a profession of faith in the Almighty Dollar, because it was dollars and not patriotism that prompted the great parade. However, New York seems to be satisfied. Why begrudge her one brief spasm of righteousness? Johnstown (Pa.) Democrat.

Introduction to Prince Albert isn't any harder than to walk into the nearest place that sells tobacco and ask for "a supply of P. A." You pay out a little change, to be sure, but it's the cheer-fullest investment you ever made!

Prince Albert is sold everywhere in tippy red boxes, 5c. tins, red tins, 10c; handsome pound and half-pound tin humidor—and that clever crystal glass pound humidor with sponge-moistener top that keeps the tobacco in such splendid condition.

Among the Churches of Wayne

Presbyterian Church
(Rev. S. Xebophon Cross, Pastor)

There will be four church services in Wayne next Sunday evening. Choose the one that most appeals to you and attend, but be sure to be present at one of them.

The theme at the Sunday morning service at this church will be, "The Little Children." You will enjoy this service more by having carefully read the tenth of Mark.

The Sunday school invite your attention. If you believe in it, you ought to boost for it, work in it, and encourage all the workers by being present at every session.

The evening choir will present a special music program next Sunday evening. We shall be pleased to see all our friends at this service. You will be glad you came.

The Y. P. S. C. E. meeting next Sunday evening will be the consecration meeting. We shall expect a report from the District convention. All are very cordially invited to come.

At the Sunday evening 8 o'clock meeting, the subject of the sermon-lecture will be, "A Revelation."

We shall be pleased to answer at this meeting some of the questions you have been asking.

Prepare on the tenth Psalm and come to the prayer meeting on next Wednesday evening. The subject is, "Practical Atheism." There are some practical points for the week's work.

The final invitation in these church notes is to come to the evening meeting next Sunday. We are going to say something at this meeting that will be of interest to any person in this community who hears it. But if you do not feel like accepting this invitation, let us just decide to go to church anyhow, somewhere, next Sunday evening.

Methodist Church
(Rev. A. S. Buell Pastor)

The subject for the sermon next Sunday morning will be, "The Holy Spirit and the Church." In the evening the pastor will speak on "The Soldier Who Never Retreated," being the first sermon in the series on, "The Hero."

The Workers class in the Sunday school will have charge of a public reception to new students to be held in the church parlors on Friday evening, June ninth. All young people whether students or not are invited. A real program of fun and good fellowship will be carried out. The price of admittance will be a smile and good will.

We are anticipating with pleasure the Union Tabernacle meetings to be held next October. The Five Brother Evangelistic party is coming to Wayne on invitation from the churches, because we believe that a great tabernacle meeting will be blessed of God to the good of all the community. Such a meeting will have to do with the churches themselves, bringing to their larger vision and opening greater possibilities for unity of service. Such a meeting must serve to awaken new interest in religious things in the town and county. The Five Brothers will bring to this meeting leadership that is not excelled in the evangelistic field anywhere. Write now to your friends and invite them to come for the meetings in October.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church

LOCAL NEWS

Miss L. A. Lush of Page returned home this morning after a short visit here.

A number of Wayne Masons were at Laurel last evening attending a session of the lodge of that order.

Miss Monte Theobald arrived home this morning from San Antonio, Texas, where she has been teaching the past year.

Mrs. F. M. Garrett and children came from St. Joe Wednesday evening to visit the Garrett home in this city. Mr. Garrett comes Friday to join them.

A very pleasant social event was that at Beemer this week, when the citizens of that place united in a farewell reception to Prof. and Mrs. C. L. Wright, he having been principal of the Beemer school for the past five years. They come to Wayne to spend the summer this being Mr. Wright's home.

County Surveyor Jones, last week, run lines and marked corners for John S. Lewis, Philleo & Harrington and the Democrat, three properties on the east side of Main street, between 1st and 2d streets, thus making sure of the place on which to build new buildings, as soon as the signs of the purse are right.

Judging from present indications it will be necessary to accommodate from 250 to 300 students in private families during the summer session. Generally two students will be expected to occupy a room. Those renting rooms should not plan on having more than that number in a room. The room should have a closet or wardrobe, a student's study table, and a good light besides other furniture necessary for rooming. The usual prices are from 75c to $1.25 a week for each of two students in the room. We need the co-operation of the people of Wayne in this matter and any one who is able to accommodate students should call the Normal School office soon and tell us how many you can care for.

Very truly,
U. S. CONN.

Henry Giese returned the first of the week from a visit at Chicago and at his former home in LaSalle county, Illinois. It was a third of a century since he had visited the scenes of his boyhood, and he noted marvelous changes in that time—it having been very marked in that immediate vicinity. Where he was wont to go to the timber and gather wild plums and other fruit and get lost in the great woods, he found a city of more than 9,000 people, with 45 saloons, besides a number having been closed because they were too bad. But few of the citizens spoke the English language. The sons of Italy, Greece, Turkey, and many other European countries were to be found there, but nothing like the nature scenes of other days. The discovery of coal had made the change. The larger towns had become great manufacturing centers. He visited one factory where 2,000 people are employed making cheap watches and clocks, and the daily out put of the factory is some 4,000 time pieces in a day. He found but few people he had ever known, and the change had been so great that it was hard to realize that it was the place that had once been his home, and where he knew it all.

Donated a Dodge Car

Father Kearns of the St. Mary's church is feeling quite well these days over the testimonial of appreciation of his work in the parish, shown by the members when they presented him with a new Dodge car, purchased from G. S. Strickland of this place. Clear weather and fine roads is what the reverend gentleman now wants that he may get out and give the new vehicle a try out. It certainly was a fine token of regard from his people, and it convinced him that he did not know all that was going on among the members as well as he thought the did.

Robver-Sodermann

At the German Lutheran parsonage in this city by Rev. Rudolph Moehring, Wednesday evening, May 31, 1916, Mr. Geo. Robver and Mrs. Minnie Sodermann were united in marriage. Both are most favorably known in this county, and all wish them well.
