GRANDMA DAVIES 92 TO-DAY

At the Home of Her Daughter, Mrs. A. A. Welch, She Looks Back Over Well-Spent, Happy Life.

Ninety-two years ago today amid the rugged hills of Wales, where the days are long in summer and short in the winter months, where ocean breezes temper the summer heat and the great gulf streams warm the winter air; where the earth surface gives forth abundance of hardy vegetation and great deposits of coal enrich those who delve beneath the surface, Anna Davies first saw the light of day. Almost a century—and such a century, measured not in years, but in progress, the world has never before seen. Art, science, invention; the use of steam power, almost unknown, came to a place of supremacy, only to find a rival which will soon take its place when man succeeded in harnessing electricity. The telegraph, the telephone and the wonderful wireless mechanism overcoming land and sea obstacles, throws a voice round the world. Within the span of her life the tallow dip has given place to electricity; the open fire place to the modern range and heaters; the hand implements of agriculture to great power-propelled machines doing the work of many men and oxen. The knitting needle the sewing needle are almost ruled out by machines which make possible an hundred fold greater production than by the old methods.

It has been the privilege of Grandma Davies to witness this great evolution and most keenly note the great change. In memory she goes back to other days and it is most interesting to visit with her, for she keeps well posted on all current events as well as knowing the past. The daily papers are always read by her with interest.

Today her many friends are sending messages and tokens of love as they have for several years past on her birthday anniversary, nor is she simply receptive, for during the past few weeks she has been busy making neat little needle cushions, neatly stitching the edges and working the years of her age, "92" in the center and sending them to friends, who will long keep them in remembrance of this loyal friend.

Briefly told her life history began with her birth, June 15, 1824, at Cwmdu, or Cwmtrwch, Glamorganshire, South Wales, two brothers and three sisters sharing with her the meagre opportunities for schooling under the tutorage of an Englishman who believed that to spare the rod was to spoil the child, and diligently did he strive not to have any spoil in his school. The Bible and an English speller were the only text book. In 1845 she united in marriage with Samuel Davies, and to them were born nine children, five of whom are still living, M. S., Sam and Mrs. A. A. Welch of this place, Mrs. Harris of El Paso, Texas, and John in North Dakota. An earnest, consistent member of the Baptist church since her baptism in 1848, she has lived a happy, Christian life.

In 1864 the family came to America in a sailing vessel, they first settled at Carbondale, Pennsylvania, and eleven years later moved to Plymouth county Iowa, settling on a homestead and facing the privations of the pioneers of that great prairie county. Here in 1882, the husband died and a year later the family moved to Sioux City where they lived three years, coming to Hartington in 1885. Five years later she and son Sam moved to this place where a son and daughter resided, and since that time Wayne has been her home, and for a number of years past with her daughter, Mrs. Welch. Such is a brief history of the life of a woman whom we all delight to honor.

Nebraska State Tennis Tournament

The fifth annual tournament of the Nebraska State Tennis Association will be held on the courts of the Wayne Tennis club, July 17-22. These dates have been lately decided upon by the influential players of the state as the best possible dates for the reason that they conflict with no other tourney, and occurs in the middle of the month when people can get away from their business better than around the first of the month. The secretary, Frank S. Morgan, is receiving so many inquiries from players who have not heretofore entered the State meet, that he is sure that there will be 100 players here when the time for play comes. The tournament will start on Monday this year on this account, so the meet may be finished during one week, for with 100 players entered there are about 250 matches to be played.

The courts of the local club are certainly in great shape now and it is a pity that so few people, who are players, are enjoying them. These courts cost the tennis club a pile of money and while people here have been fairly generous in buying memberships this year, only a few of the old guard of players are really getting out. If the Wayne Tennis club is to score a success in giving this tournament, it must have the moral and substantial support of the people of Wayne as it has had in the past. If you are or have been a tennis player get out these nice evenings and play, if you are a member, and if you are not a member join the club for their rates are the lowest of any tennis club around here and no other club in this section has such good courts. They are now practically perfect clay courts.

The writer firmly believes that nothing this town has ever done has given it so much good advertising over the state as the very successful state tournament held here two years ago. The players at the state meet at Lincoln last year could not say enough good things about Wayne and the treatment they were accorded here in 1914. A number of the local players and business men went to Lincoln last year to get this meet and as usual when Wayne goes after a thing they brought home the bacon. It is now necessary that we make good in taking care of the visitors, as Wayne has always done before.

Join the Wayne Tennis club and get out and play after your day's work is done. The exercise you get will be a great thing for you and by boosting the local club you are helping out one of the best advertising agencies the town has. There is no cleaner game than tennis and if you have a growing boy who spends too much of his time on the street to suit you, you can do nothing better for him than buy him a membership in the Wayne Tennis club. It will not hurt him and it may do him a lot of good.

Fleetwood-Laub

At the home of the bride's mother, on Wednesday, June 7, occurred the marriage of Miss Fay Laub and Mr. E. E. Fleetwood, Dr. Aukerman, pastor of the Presbyterian church, officiating. The bride is one of Grand Junction's best young ladies. She has been a very successful teacher in our public schools the last four years. The groom is a young business man of Wayne, Nebr. The happy couple left on the 11 o'clock train for a ten days' wedding trip to points in the West. After their return they will make their home in Wayne.

Bride and groom were both raised at Rippey, where they grew up together from childhood.

The Globe, and their many friends in and around Grand Junction join in wishing them happiness.—Grand Junction (Iowa) Globe.

Tabernacle Meetings

The Rev. Roger H. Fife, father of the Fife Brothers, evangelists, of Plymouth, Indiana, was in Wayne Tuesday afternoon and evening making arrangements for the Tabernacle meetings to be held in Wayne, beginning on September 10th.

The committee of eighteen representing the churches arranging the meetings met in the Baptist church at three o'clock in the afternoon with the following persons present: Rev. S. X. Cross, Rev. W. L. Gaston, Rev. A. S. Buell, E. B. Young, W. H. Gildersleeve, C. E. Gildersleeve, C. A. Grothe, A. J. Ferguson, S. R. Theobald, C. E. Sprague, F. H. Jones, J. H. Kemp, F. G. Philleo, Mrs. G. W. Crossland, Mrs. A. S. Buell. The following is a list of the committees which will have charge of the different departments of work for the meetings:

Finance—W. H. Gildersleeve, C. A. Grothe, S. R. Theobald.

Tabernacle—C. E. Gildersleeve, F. G. Philleo, M. T. Munsinger.

Ushers—James McIntosh, Lambert Roe, C. E. Sprague.

Militia Equipment Comes

Lt. Pile has received word that as a result of the inspection held here May 19, the company of militia organized at this place a few weeks before was found to be acceptable to the government, and they are accepted and the complete equipment of uniform, arms and camp utensils are expected to arrive now any day. The room vacated by the Vibber cafe has been engaged as a storage room for the equipment when it arrives.

Just what a company of militia will mean to Wayne, in dollars, may be judged from the following figures: The government allows $1,200 for armory rent, and the company or the citizens may provide a suitable building for this purpose. In many Iowa towns the citizens form a company and build an armory. The total pay drawn for a full company of officers and men for a year is given at $4,458.88. Of this sum each private will be entitled to $48.12 as pay for his drill time. The camp allowance for a company for 15 days is $816.21 besides transportation and rations.

To the Democrat the national guard plan of fitting men for service appeals more than many another for the reason that the men are all volunteers and usually home men and mostly one community. They remain at home and their duties as citizens are scarcely abridged in the least by their service in times of peace. In time of war they are far better fitted to do good and efficient service by reason of their training, and their chances for returning from trouble in sound health are better than it would otherwise be. If we must have preparedness—and no one denies that it is necessary yet—let us so train men that they will not be lost from the everyday walks of life while training.

HANSEN—Friday, June 9, 1916, to Gus Hansen and wife, at Randolph, a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. John Horn of Carroll went to Norfolk this morning on a business trip.

Social Notes

One of the most pleasing social gatherings of the season was the picnic supper given by Mrs. Forbes Mrs. W. A. K. Neeley, Mrs. Wm. Cunningham, Mrs. Eph Beckenhauer and Mrs. A. T. Claycomb. About 75 ladies responded to their invitation and came in autos. The guests were met at the door, and requested to state their birth month, as each group was to perform a stunt. Some of them were very unique and all original, which caused a great deal of merriment for the crowd. The June wedding was an unusually brilliant affair; the bride looked lovely in her white veil and the groom looked much more grave and solemn than the occasion would warrant, with the bright future before them. The minister was most graceful and eloquent. The May pole dance was pretty. All enjoyed the sweet strains of Tipperary which was rendered by one of the leading musical ladies on a coarse comb. December gave Christmas presents. Refreshments were served on the lawn in baskets, each basket containing supper for two. It is not often the ladies of Wayne have an opportunity to enjoy such a treat, as the refreshments were delicious. Among the stunts was an original poem given by five ladies whose birthday is in April.

(Poem)

Five lovely ladies, living north of Wayne

Gave a picnic party and we were invited to the same,

We all went in autos, as the day was very fine

We knew these ladies, so we expected a good time.

We were all born in April, altho no fool

Our faces may belie us, we have attended school.

So give these lovely ladies a vote and a cheer

And if they will repeat this we will be back next year.

The Ladies Union Bible Study Circle met with Miss Charlotte White Tuesday afternoon to study the advance Sunday school lesson and as the leader was absent, Miss Thilda Jacobsen lead in the study, which proved both profitable and interesting. It was voted to have an all day meeting and picnic dinner in the near future, when evangelist Frank E. Lindgren, passing through Wayne to the west coast, will stop off a day with his many Wayne friends. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Claude Wright, who has recently moved to Wayne from Beemer and all are cordially invited to be present.

On Friday evening the "Workers" class of the Methodist Sunday school held open house at the church, for all summer school students and the young people of the city. The three hundred young people who assembled were met at the door with a warm welcome and seated in the auditorium where a program of talks, readings and musical numbers was given. After the program was completed all adjourned to the basement where they were provided with entertainment and a means of becoming acquainted. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

Saturday evening, the tenth, Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Bowen entertained at their home a number of West Point high school students who are attending the normal here. The young people were former pupils of Mr. Bowen when he was superintendent at West Point. The evening was spent in playing games. Shortly after light refreshments had been served the guests departed for their homes feeling more at home in Wayne by being remembered by former teacher and friend.

P. N. G. club met with Mrs. Erickson on Tuesday afternoon. The first part of the afternoon was spent with fancy work, then at the invitation of Mrs. Henry Lev, all went to her home where she showed velloiptean views of her trip in California, returning to Mrs. Erickson's where she and Mrs. Lev served refreshments. Next meeting will be with Mrs. Herman Lundberg in July.

Central Social Circle met with Mrs. Adolph Keiper last Thursday afternoon. The first part of the afternoon was spent in discussing current events. Then a social hour was spent, after which the hostess served excellent refreshments.

Mrs. Gus Wendt will be hostess the second Thursday in July.

Mrs. J. J. Williams entertained Friday afternoon complimentary to Mrs. Edna Neely Churchill, Winnipeg, Canada. The afternoon was spent in playing cards. A delicious luncheon was served at the close of the afternoon.

The Guild of St. Mary's church meets with Mrs. F. S. Berry this afternoon. After a short business meeting a social afternoon will be spent at the close of the meeting—a two course luncheon will be served.

Junior Bible circle met with Mrs. H. R. Ferrell Saturday evening. Miss Cynthia Gilbert was leader, the circle will have a supper at the home of Mrs. Young next Saturday evening.

Miss Dayton, Miss Cella Gildersleeve and Miss May Hiscox entertained the Juniors of the Presbyterian church at a picnic supper on the lawn at Mrs. James Miller's last Friday afternoon.

O. E. S. met in regular session last Monday evening and installed their officers for the coming year.

A Ministerial Conference

Next week, June 20 to 22, the ministers of the Missouri Synod of North Nebraska will gather in conference at the Emanuel church seven miles northeast of Wayne, of which Rev. Gehrke is pastor, and hold a three day session. It is expected that all of the Lutheran ministers of that Synod in North Nebraska, nearly 100, will be guests of the good people of that country neighborhood.

Their services will be morning, afternoon and evening, and the greater part of the time will be devoted to the discussion of questions of theology and the business of the district. On Wednesday evening there will be preaching by Rev. Oelschlager and a song service by the choir of the local church and a choir of the visiting ministers which will appeal to all.

Rev. Gehrke says that the greater part of the visitors are due to arrive at Wayne on the 2:05 and 2:30 trains Monday afternoon, and it has been suggested that it would be a nice courtesy for the citizens of Wayne to invite the visitors to tarry an hour or two at this place and take an automobile drive over the city of homes and visit the college before they leave for their meeting in the country. The matter will be taken up by those who were to come for them from the country and the Public Service officers will be informed of whether or not the suggested plan is acceptable to them.

Certain it is that Wayne citizens would be glad to have these clerical gentlemen see our city and its educational institutions.

FREE STREET ENTERTAINMENT

Wayne Business Men Engage George Abbott to Perform for their Patrons as Free as the Air.

The manager for George Abbott, who has the title of the "Boy Wonder" was at Wayne this week and arranged with the business men to stage a free afternoon and evening performance on the street. An exchange says of the young man:

"His stunts will include many and various attractions that will be wonders to those who witness. But the best one of the lot is said to be the one in which he defies any man to lift his 102 pounds from the platform. He also claims that eight men cannot pull his hands apart.

Georgie, the Boy Wonder, by means of what he terms, his magnetic power, matches his strength against the combined efforts of twelve men taken from the crowd and makes them easy victims. He only weighs 102 pounds and cannot be lifted. No collection will be taken as the expense of this entertainment is borne wholly by the local merchants. It promises to be well worth seeing, and shoppers in town can spend a very profitable half hour witnessing the marvelous performances of Georgie."

Wayne has other attractions, but this one is new, just thrown in for your entertainment, if you will come.

State Normal Notes

A meeting of the board of education will be held at Lincoln on June 23.

Anna and Ruby Meyer of New Holstein, Michigan, registered the first of the week.

The total registration to date is 567 in the regular normal department, which exceeds the enrollment in the summer session of 1915 by 102. In addition to this more than one hundred are enrolled in the training school.

Flag day was observed with appropriate exercises in the auditorium Wednesday morning. Rev. W. L. Gaston gave a very inspiring address.

Among the visitors during the week were: F. S. Perdue, deputy state superintendent during the administration of Superintendent Bishop, Superintendent E. E. Erickson of Battle Creek, and R. C. King, formerly registrar of the Kearney state normal school.

Miss Edith E. Beechel has all plans complete for the alumni homecoming and banquet, which will be held on Friday of this week. The banquet will be served by the ladies of the Baptist church. Miss Eugenia Madsen will be toast-mistress.

The first number of the summer school entertainment course will be given in the auditorium Thursday evening. Noble Kreder, the great American composer, rendering his own and others' music, will be the attraction.

Mrs. McVey and daughters, who have been spending a month or more at their Wayne home, left last week for Oklahoma, where they plan to reside for a time.

Miss Ardath Conn, who has been attending the Northwestern university at Evanston, Illinois, the past year, came last week to spend the summer vacation with home folks at Wayne.

Wm. Benson and family arrived Saturday from Sioux City, and will now make their home at Wayne, moving into the C. A. Chace house as soon as it is fitted for occupancy. He will work at the Paulsen grocery. He formerly was employed at the Ahern store, and has many acquaintances here.

Gus Bohnert was a visitor at Winside Friday night.

Mrs. Claude Forney went to Omaha Monday for a short visit.

Mrs. A. R. Davis and Mrs. W. D. Kinne were visitors at Norfolk Friday.

Mrs. L. A. Lantaff and children left Monday to visit a month or two at Hawarden, Iowa.

Mrs. Ed Ellis went to Sioux City Saturday to visit a few days at the home of her son there.

B. F. McDonald from Thurston was here last week visiting his daughter, Mrs. Earl Lewis.

A good modern house for sale or rent. Inquire of R. P. Williams or W. O. Hanssen.—adv. 24tf.

Miss Jennie Crane, who has been here visiting her sister, Mrs. B. D. Goodyear, returned to her home at Dixon, Saturday.

Fred Mattes, his sister Mrs. Anna Schwalbold and Miss Louise Sipp of near Winside went to Sioux City Tuesday.

Paul Young, who has been attending the Wesleyan university came home last week to visit his parents during a part of the summer vacation.

Evangelist Hamilton has been conducting tabernacle meetings at David City, and has more than 230 reported converts, and the cost has been about $2,000 besides the sum which may be donated at the close to the evangelist.

Mrs. C. B. Norris of Grand Island came last week for a short visit at the T. B. Heckert home, bringing with her her little grandchild to stay with its mother, Mrs. Walter Norris, who will remain for a time with her father here, Dr. T. B. Heckert.

Now and then is shown in the market report from the Rising City Independent of June 1. The following were noted as local market prices on Thursday, May 21, 1896: Hogs $2.65, corn (shelled) 15 cents ear corn 16 cents, oats 12 cents, butter 9 to 10 cents, eggs 5 cents. Local market prices about the same date this year, that is on May 25, 1916, were: Hogs $9 to $9.25, corn 61 cents, oats 32 to 34 cents, butter 20 to 27 cents, eggs 18 cents.

G. J. Church went to Fremont Tuesday.

Mrs. C. E. Denesia went to Winside Tuesday evening.

Mr. Hendrickson was at Carroll Tuesday on legal business.

Mrs. Henry Jans and Miss Camella Hansen were visitors to Pierce Tuesday.

Mrs. W. C. Ehlers returned to Norfolk Tuesday morning after a visit with the June Conger family and Jennings Dobbins her brother, who is attending the Normal here.

James Finn of Carroll was through here Monday on his way to Omaha with a car of splendid hogs from his farm. A few weeks ago at Sioux City he topped the top market.

Miss Anna F. Anthony, who has spent the year in the University of Illinois, returned Thursday and will resume her work as assistant in the department of commerce at the normal.

Miss Thelma Harnly came from Lincoln Saturday to spend the summer here with her uncle, W. D. Redmond and his sister and attend the summer school. Mr. Redmond went to Omaha Saturday to meet her.

Miss Edith E. Beechel, president of the alumni association, has announced Friday, June 16, as the date of the annual home coming and banquet. Miss Eugenia Madsen, class of 1915, has been selected as toastmistress.

Miss Nellie Strickland started last week to spend the summer with friends at Medamont, Idaho, and from there at the opening of the school year she is to cross the state line to Clarkston, Washington, where she is engaged as a teacher for the coming school year.

C. R. VanHorn left Friday for Longmont, Colorado, hoping that the mile-high altitude and bright sunshine of the Centennial state would give better health and greater length of days. He has been a resident here for the past two years. Mrs. VanHorn expects to join him there shortly.

At Altona, Wisconsin, the municipality is going to take charge of and run the four saloons of the city July 1st, and strange as it may seem, it is their purpose to use the profits from the business to put in municipal waterwork. When they are in it is supposed that the saloon will no longer be necessary.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Vaught of Pilger visited friends here Saturday afternoon, and had planned to spend Sunday at Crystal lake with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ley, and were on their way by automobile when the rain storm drove them home. They returned home by train Sunday.

Aug. Dangberg, accompanied by his wife and Geo. Genthner and John Leoback went to Sioux City Monday to consult a specialist as to his health. It is possible that they will go on to Rochester if they fail to find proper relief at the first stop. Mr. Dangberg has been quite ill for a week or more past, suffering much.

Miss Wilma Gardner from Lansing, Michigan, comes this week to visit at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Gardner, and add a few frills to her education at the Normal. She is of the 1916 class of the Lansing high school and will return to her Michigan home to teach near her home city the coming school year.

One of the great goods which comes to a community from the county farm agent is the publicity which is usually given through the local papers. The Democrat tries to give much seasonable farm news and does so, but it lacks in respects for want of knowledge of what is being done. The county agents are in position to give much authentic farm news and many valuable hints.

Send fifty cents today and have The Sioux City Tribune sent to your address for three months. You will find it satisfactory in every respect or your money will be refunded promptly. An intelligent family can hardly afford to be without an up-to-date newspaper these days when half the nations of the world are at war and our own country may soon be drawn into the conflict. One More Answer to Mr. Smith

Editor Democrat:—My attention has been called to some articles recently appearing in your paper opposing the farm demonstrator movement, and as we have probably had more experience with the farm demonstrator in Gage county than any county in the State I thought a short statement of conditions in Gage county might be of interest to your readers.

On the first day of February, 1913, Mr. O. H. Liebers became farm demonstrator for Gage county under the management of the Gage County Crop Improvement association. Mr. Liebers is now serving his fourth year as county agent for this county. He is a man about thirty years of age. He was raised on a farm in Kearney county, Nebraska, and, outside of the time he spent in the agricultural college at Lincoln, his entire life had been spent on the farm until he became county agent of Gage county. He is a practical farmer in every way; a sensible, straight forward, honest, intelligent, man who has the confidence and respect of every man in this county who knows him.

When he first came into the county there were a few men who made the usual objection to "any young fellow just out of college riding around in an automobile and telling them how to farm." These objections faded away as soon as they met Mr. Liebers and found that he could, and did work as hard as any of them and knew more about farming than any of the kickers did.

The Gage County Crop Improvement association is a county association of men interested in better agriculture. Ninety per cent of its members are actual farmers and the association now has a membership of about five hundred, each man paying $5.00 a year for his membership dues. This association has the usual officers and in addition a vice-president or member of the advisory board from each township. Each township's vice-president oversees the work in their own townships. That is, they arrange for public meetings and assist in carrying on the work in many ways.

No one ever asks any more, "What has the farm demonstrator done?" because he has done so many things for Gage county that his work is well known to every intelligent person in the county. The United States government has for several years carried on a hog cholera demonstration covering the north half of Gage county. The farm demonstrator organized the south half of the county and has practically wiped all cholera out in that territory. For several years he held public meetings and gave public demonstrations showing how to treat seed oats for smut. His records show that he has increased the oat yield in Gage county many thousands of bushels annually.

Mr. Liebers has greatly stimulated the dairy industry. He has purchased and shipped into Gage county six carloads of Holstein cattle, and many of them being pure bred. The last shipment of three car loads arrived here on May 6th. As one example of the confidence our people have in the farm demonstrator I might say that in each case when he has gone to Wisconsin to purchase cattle, the farmers who desired the cattle gave him the money with which to make the purchases and left the matter entirely in his hands. The last shipment cost about $7,500, and the purchasers are all satisfied.

This spring the farm demonstrator organized one and a half townships in an effort to eradicate the gopher and all agree that the demonstration has been a most successful one.

Mr. Liebers has personally vaccinated thousands of hogs for cholera, hundreds of cattle for blackleg and has tested a great many cattle for tuberculosis.

Each year he visits the members of the association on their farms and he has so many office and telephone calls that the number runs into a very large figure. He holds meetings in all parts of the county for the discussion of farm questions. He has assisted the members of the association during the last year in selling and exchanging more than $15,000 worth of live stock and seed. The members of the association consult him upon all kinds of questions relating to farming and all appear to think they profit by the consultation.

Some of the people who oppose the farm demonstration proposition appear to think that it is the third rate farmer or ignorant foreigner who wants the services of the farm demonstrator, but this is a mistake. The ignorant men are the men who object to a farm demonstrator. The most intelligent farmers of our county are the most enthusiastic in the support of the farm demonstrator and they are the men who consult him most frequently. If any of your readers desire to verify my statements they might write to Fred Boesiger, Cortland; W. A. Stahl, Liberty; Kirk Griggs, Beatrice; C. A. Burbank and F. C. Crocker, Filley; Claussen Brothers, Beatrice and Fred Nicols, Beatrice. These are all large farmers occupying and farming splendid farms, and if these are not sufficient a hundred more names can easily be furnished.

The farm demonstrator is no longer an experiment. His value to any community cannot be estimated in dollars. It is only the ignorant and egotistical farmer, who believes he knows all there is to be known, who opposes the work. The intelligent man is always anxious to learn more. The intelligent man is always anxious to learn more. The farm demonstrator brings directly to the farmer the result of the years of experiments carried on by the different experimental stations and assists the farmer in applying scientific methods to his work. To be sure the success of a farm demonstrator depends upon the man, just as the success of a school teacher or a preacher depends on the man.

My observation and experience has convinced me that the men who undertake the work of county agent are intelligent, capable and industrious and are common, ordinary men just like the rest of us. If the farmers of any county will give them a fair show they will be amply repaid for doing so.

Very respectfully,

A. H. KIDD.

Beatrice, Nebr., May 24, 1916.

In Time of Storm

Most any sort of a coat will shelter a man in fair weather, but in time of storm a slicker is needed to keep out the rain.

The state law which guarantees bank deposits is a sure good slicker in the time of a financial storm, and if the people of Nebraska are wide awake to their own best interests they will see to it that our present guaranty law shall not be changed to suit the whims or designs of anybody. A few weeks ago a state bank in Dakota county got into trouble through the incompetency (or worse) of the man who controlled the bank. The doors were closed, but no depositor lost a dollar.

Following the failure of that little bank certain large interests in financial circles began an agitation against the Nebraska guaranty law, claiming that it was designed to encourage crooked banking. On the contrary that law is designed to discourage crooked banking, and it works so well that no man in Nebraska has lost a dollar in any closed state bank since the law was enacted. And no banker has been harmed by the provisions of the law. The cost of it has been too small to talk about. Now is just the right time to ask legislative candidates about this good law. Now is the time to ask legislative candidates what they think about this scheme of the big banking interests to cripple the law. Make them tell plainly where they stand. Any legislative candidate who favors the plan of the big bankers to cripple the Nebraska law which guarantees bank deposits will be a good candidate to keep away from Lincoln next winter.—Columbus Telegram.

People Liked Him

People liked him, not because he was rich or known to fame. He had never won applause.

As a star in any game, his was not a brilliant style.

His was not a forceful way, but he had a gentle smile.

And a kindly word to say.

Never arrogant or proud,

On he went with manner mild, never quarrelsome or loud,

Just as simple as a child,

Honest, patient, brave and true,

Thus he lived from day to day, doing what he found to do

In a cheerful sort of way.

Wasn't one to boast of gold

Or belittle it with sneers,

Didn't change from hot to cold,

Kept his friends throughout the years.

Sort of man you like to meet

Any time or any place.

There was something sweet

And refreshing in his face.

Sort of man you'd like to be,

Balanced well and truly square;

Patient in adversity,

Generous when his skies were fair.

Never lied to friend or foe,

Never rash in word or deed,

Quick to come and slow to go

In a neighbor's time of need.

Never rose to wealth or fame,

Simply lived and simply died,

But the passing of his name

Left a sorrow far and wide.

Not for glory he'd attained,

Nor for what he had of pelf

Were the friends that he had gained

But for what he was himself.

Bandits

The Aurora Register says that President Wilson is having about as much trouble with the American bandits of special interests in Mexico as he has with Villa bandits. This is the truest outline, in few words, of the real situation in Mexico. And indeed it is a toss-up as to which of the bandits is the most annoying to our own government. President Wilson's position is exceedingly difficult. The big American bandits who have secured vast concessions from the corrupt rulers of Mexico constantly demand of President Wilson a course of action which he knows will lead to war. The big bandits seem to be able to enlist the services of many of the news agencies in effort to constantly inflame the public mind and cause it to urge administrative action in harmony with the view of the money bandits who want our flag to float over Mexico for the sole purpose of protecting their own loot.—Columbus Telegram.

To defeat the land speculator and preserve the public domain for the landless man the democrats enacted the pre-emption law which required a year residence and the payment of the government price of $1.25 per acre. The republicans gained control in 1861 and soon began donating the public lands with a lavish hand.

In 1862 congress granted a charter to the Union Pacific railroad company with $32,000 per mile in government bonds and the alternate sections of land 10 miles wide on BOTH SIDES of the railroad. After learning that Nebraska was not part of the great American desert, two years later the railroad company induced congress to increase the grant to 20 miles on BOTH SIDES of the railroad. The engrossing clerks of both house and senate wrote into the engrossed bill EACH SIDE, which doubled the grant again. When General Weaver was in congress he unearthed the original bill, but the attempt to have it corrected was only another case of Christ before Pilot.

The B. & M. obtained another similar grant which totaled a pure donation of one half the land 80 miles wide across Nebraska alone. But the Lord failed to make the earth large enough. In places the two grants overlapped and the railroad company was permitted to supply the deficiency in Wayne and other counties. C. J. RUNDELL. (to be continued.)

Pioneer News

From Ponca Journal, June 8, 1884:

The Logan Valley Courier, J. D. Smith's new paper at Wayne, was commenced last week. It is a large handsome sheet filled with interesting and well written articles, and also has a large amount of advertising. The Courier has our best wishes. That it will do well at Wayne, there can be no doubt, and Wayne is fortunate in getting such a first class newspaper and job outfit to locate there.

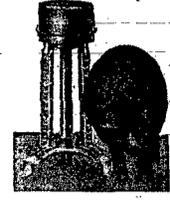

On Monday the weather threw off that vinegary, old-maidish policy which it has pursued during the past two months, and inaugurated a reform as it were. The sun came out warm and pleasant, the iciness of the atmosphere dispersed itself to other climes, and mercury went up stairs and took a nap. The change is very welcome to the people, and much more so to the growing crops. If favorable weather would continue, this county would roll out such a harvest of everything as to astonish the most sanguine. And to this end let us ever pray.

It was noticed on Monday morning that a slight frost had visited this locality and several others throughout the county. No damage done, but having a frost at this time of the year is really not setting a good example to say the least.

Deduct the war business from our export trade, and yet it is greater than the greatest under the Payne-Aldrich tariff.

Is the republican platform big enough for both Taft and Roosevelt, the only living ex-presidents to stand on? That is doubtful.

It certainly looks like a chilly campaign with Hughes and Fairbanks, the two unapproachables, for the republican candidates.

We now have a Jew on the supreme bench, and the question arises as to whether or not there would be less pork if there were more members of congress of that people.

The republican delegates at Chicago had quite a time making a choice between two candidates, one of whom had said nothing at all and one who had said nothing all the time.

Safety first seems to be a motto at David City, for they have an ordinance which makes it unlawful for a kid under 16 years of age to drive an auto. We do not think they OZ either.

The republican fight against the confirming of Louis D. Brandies for the supreme bench will undoubtedly cost that party at least a half million votes this fall, no matter who the candidate or what the platform.

When the votes are counted this fall a lot of those fellows will wonder why they did not go fishing last June instead of fooling away so much good time at Chicago in setting a political friend up for slaughter.

The republican platform proposes a subsidy for the shipping interests in the form of "liberal compensation" for carrying the mails. Why not encourage freight transfer to the farm homes by a liberal compensation for carrying the mail to the farmer?

The republicans may have convictions, but they evidently lacked the courage to express them in their platform. It is leaving much for the spell-binder to weave in when he is on the stump, fitting his remarks to the occasion and the audience—their platform will not cut much ice, in the campaign, and it is not expected to be used for any purpose except to run on.

It is possible that the big interests have stampeded Teddy, but that will not take his 4,000,000 followers, most of whom went with him in 1912 as a matter of principle. It is the same old gang who are in control of the party machinery as were there four years ago.

Women suffrage was defeated in Iowa at the election Monday by about 5,000 majority. We had a better opinion of the fairness and gallantry of Iowa voters. But then a lot of the men over there are afraid of the women. That is the politicians are afraid they cannot vote them in blocks of five.

Youan Shi Ski, president of China, is dead, and it is reported that he was poisoned. He was facing a revolution, and by some authorities it is thought that his departure from the head of the government may pacify the revolutionists. Perhaps it were better so—perhaps had the rulers of half the kingdoms of Europe lost their heads two years ago and the other half been struck by lightning, many a humble citizen, who is now dead or maimed for life, might have been following peaceful vocations.

R. R. Smith calls upon the "Hello" machine to tell us that he has another letter for this paper on the other side of the demonstrator business, but that he is just now too busy demonstrating in the hay field to get it to us in time for this issue—but we are assured that it is good enough to keep until another week. There is a growing interest in the question, when we get some one other than the editor writing about it. By the way, on another page is an interesting article telling of the manner in which a community in Iowa is handling the matter of county agent or county expert or farm demonstrator or whatever you may desire to call it.

For the moment our standpat republican friends appear happy and confident—or at least think they will be when they know definitely what Teddy is going to do with his party—just as though the one man was all there is to that party. They criticize the Wilson administration freely and quite generally. They do not, however, become very specific. His Mexican policy does not suit—would they tell what they would propose to do—go to war? annex, subjugate and subdue that people? Would they dare advocate the repeal of the Federal Reserve bank law? Would they prefer to collect damages for violations of our rights by the Allied and Central powers on the battle line or in a court of arbitration as the Wilson administration has already taken steps to do? One method would inflict untold wrong, suffering and murder upon our own people as well as those opposed to us—the other give indemnity to the injured people, the amount of which will be determined by an impartial court of enquiry. One method would send bad money after good money—the other would bring good money return for a wrong committed, and which could not be righted by other wrongs—nor by money perhaps, but nearer and better righted in court than on the battle field.

The Gazette is now publishing a series of advertisement in which the Bethlehem Steel Company is explaining its reason to the public for opposing a government armor plant. Since this concern is a legitimate business enterprise it is entitled to the same consideration as other business institutions and we have no hesitancy in selling them advertising space at so much per inch. More than that, if they can give us some good reason why the government should leave its contracts to them rather than manufacture its own armor plate, we shall be glad to have it. Summing the thing up, we are inclined to believe that the principal reason for the opposition of the Bethlehem Steel Company to a government armor plant is that the company does not want to lose the profits it stands a chance of making on the government orders. And that is fair enough. We believe in individual enterprise, but there is this danger about the armor proposition—and the same applies to the manufacture of all armaments and war munitions—that as long as it brings profits to individuals and an increased demand means increased profits, the big concerns interested will be tempted to inaugurate and encourage movements that have a tendency to bring about war. This danger would be wholly removed if the government manufactured its own armor and other war supplies.

The above is from the Wausa Gazette, a republican paper, but the editor appears to see quite plainly one reason why the government should make its own plate and munitions of war. With the government taking care of this work there would be no temptation for war sentiment and agitation of the revenue which might be derived from equipping men and ships to fight. The Democrat hopes to see this government make its own needed munitions of war and provide for adequate protection, but we believe that the money could be spent to far better advantage along other lines—something in the way of improvement. But if we must have armor plate, lets not farm it out to give millions of pork and profit to the captains of industry.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Oman left this morning for Sidney on a business and pleasure trip.

Mrs. Adolph Meyers, who has been in the Hospital four weeks following an operation, has recovered sufficiently to be able to return to her home north of Wayne.

The republican papers are now busy naming a successor to ex-justice Hughes for Mr. Wilson. Well, if the republicans can name the man he will not be a Brandies nor any one to whom the special interests will seriously object. He would be hand-picked all right.

Mrs. Mel Norton and daughter, Miss Hazel, left Wednesday morning to visit at the home of Wm. Trigger and family at Glanworth, Ontario, Canada, Mrs. Trigger being daughter and sister to the ladies. They will, of course, visit many places of interest while in the east.

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Churchill, accompanied by Mrs. F. L. Neely as far as Sioux City, left this morning for their home in Canada. They will visit at different points in Iowa before finally returning home. Mrs. Neely will remain and visit in Sioux City a short time.

Mrs. W. H. Gildersleeve and daughter, Miss Wilma, are visiting in the east, leaving here a few days ago for Niagara, Albany and New York City, Atlantic City, Philadelphia and Washington. In addition to sight seeing in these places they will visit relatives in Pennsylvania.

Miss T. O. Jacobson a missionary who has just returned from German East Africa and who gave an address to the Y. W. C. A. last evening returned to her home at Elm Creek this morning to take a vacation before continuing with her work. Miss Jacobson has been in Africa for the last three years.

Mrs. M. A. Phillips left this morning for Chicago here she will take up work in newspaper and magazine story writing at the Chicago university. Mrs. Phillips will visit friends for a short time in Fremont on her way and will also be joined there by Miss Stocking, who is also going to the Chicago university this summer.

They plan to go to other western Nebraska points and also to go into Colorado as far as Denver. They will be gone about three weeks.

Miss Monte Theobald has gone to Chicago to take work during the summer term at the University there, taking some special work to aid her in her teaching. Her mother, Mrs. S. R. Theobald accompanied her as far as Sioux City, where she visited at the home of Mrs. B. F. Swan, a former neighbor, and known to many Wayne people.

C. J. Rundell did not have much of an audience at his school house lecture northeast of Wayne Sunday, but they sure did get a soaker of a rain there the night before. In fact, Mr. Rundell is gaining a reputation as a rain maker, it seeming only to be necessary for him to fix a date for a lecture to break a drouth.

Mrs. W. E. Weber of Crofton, who has been suffering some time with inflammation of the bone and bone marrow underwent an operation Saturday at the home of her father-in-law, Will Weber. Mrs. Weber is recovering nicely. Her husband came over from Crofton and remained a few days at the time of the operation.

Those who went to Sioux City Monday with Aug. Dangberg reported upon their return that his case was diagnosed as an ulcerous condition of the stomach, and it was thought would yield to treatment. He remained at the Hillside Sanatorium for treatment and a more careful diagnosis of his case than could be made without a longer period of study of the case.

Margaret Chace returned home from a winter in California last Saturday evening, and Tuesday Miss Goldie Chace came, having stopped a few days at Sidney to visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Vath, the lady being better known here as Miss Piepenstock. The young ladies report that they spent a most enjoyable winter in California.

There was a happy family reunion at the station Saturday morning when Chas. Nelson met his wife and four children upon their arrival from Sweden. They had formerly lived here, and all returned to Sweden, but two years ago Mr. Nelson returned to America, and has been employed on the Ted Perry place south of Wayne, and now the family is here to make a home again, for Mr. Nelson says he is tired of batching.

Sam Temple seems to have a closing sale this week. The editor invaded that popular smoke house last evening in search of news or advertising and on every hand were letters of red announcing that 5 cents would buy any 10 cent cigar in the house; that a package of cigaret papers went free with each package of tobacco and that a quarter of a dollar would purchase 8 5c cigars, a most remarkable reduction. We tried to secure an advertisement of these figures for the Democrat, but as Mr. Temple was out of town the men in charge would not give the order for fear the stock would be exhausted before the proprietor returned and they would be out of a job. Temple will tell you about it when he returns.

Three members of the executive committee of the Northeast Nebraska Editorial association, President Nevin of Laurel, vice-president, Mrs. Weeks of Norfolk and Secretary Gardner of this place held a meeting at Wayne Friday afternoon and fixed the date for the July meeting, which is to be held at Norfolk, for July 28 and 29. The program was discussed informally, and Mrs. Weeks and Norris Huse of Norfolk were put in charge of that work, assuring a program which will be worth your while to hear and take part in. Mr. Huse could not attend the meeting, being with the eastern adv. men. Editor Mayfield of Stanton wired his regrets that automobile trouble had ended his contemplated trip here, close to home.

Willis Noakes, who has been attending the dairy department of the Iowa agricultural college at Ames, came home last week to visit a few days. Since leaving school a few weeks ago he has been out for the state inspecting among some of the Holstein herds of the state and making official butter fat tests of some famous animals. In one herd he tested a cow that gave 28 pounds of butter fat per week, which is getting well up in the list of good butter producing animals. He is in love with his work and sees in dairying possibilities he had not dreamed of during his previous experience in a small way in the work at this place. He has been in position to catch a glimpse of the wealth which a herd of good cows enables the farmer to extract from the soil. He is planning some practical demonstrations when he is through school.

CHAUTAQUA ATTRACTIONS

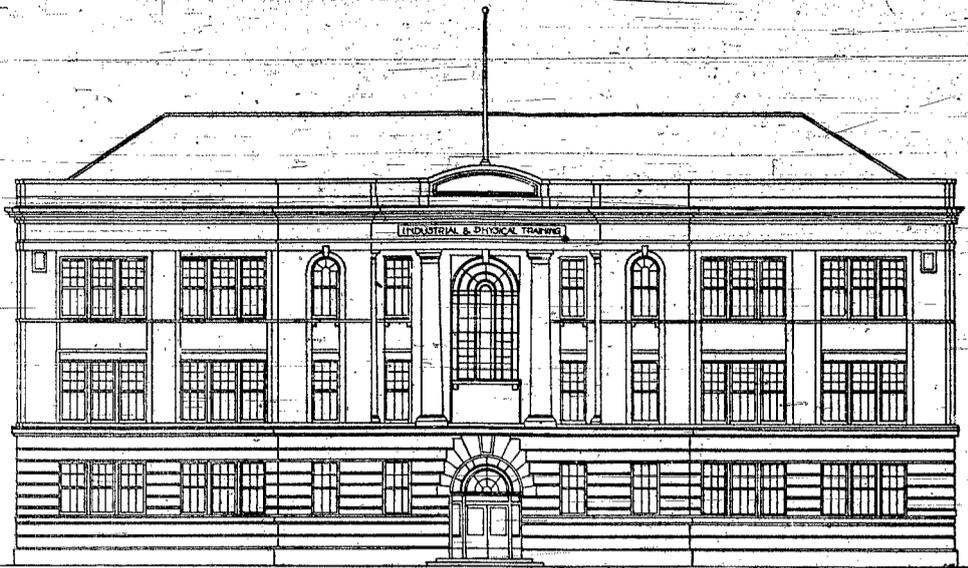

THE DIETRICKS
July 14

Magicians, Novelty Musicians and Entertainers. Mr. and Mrs. Dietric have combined into one pleasing entertainment as much variety as is usually found in three or four programs. They have been entertaining together for the past ten years, assuring a smoothness of programs otherwise unobtainable. Feature follows feature without a pause or drag. Just clean wholesome fun and enjoyment, passing swiftly on to what we believe will be one of the enjoyable programs of the chautauqua.

Mr. Dietric presents his magic in an entirely different, original manner, used to the best of his knowledge, by no other person, absolutely original with himself. Mr. Dietric accompanies the magic with an entertaining monologue of witty, appropriate remarks, keeping the audience in an expectant, pleased mood.

Mrs. Dietric without a doubt offers more variety in her portion than any other person of whom we know on the Lyceum or Chautauqua Platform, introducing Musical Monologues, Whistling, Singing and Impersonating. Mr. and Mrs. Dietric participate in a unique series on Novelty Instruments including Cup Bells, Banjo, Mandolin, Glockenspiel, and the Mammoth Resonating Xylophone.

NEW INDUSTRIAL AND PHYSICAL TRAINING BUILDING FOR NORMAL
(From a Drawing made by Professor Huntemer)

The industrial and physical training building, the contract for which will be let on June 23, will be a three-story fire proof structure. It will provide a large gymnasium, swimming pool, shower baths, locker and dressing rooms, and a calisthenics room for physical training. For industrial training it will contain a model dining room, serving room, kitchen, domestic science laboratory, experimental laundry, dress-making and millinery, industrial art, machine and blacksmithing shop, furniture and general woodworking department, and mechanical drawing.

The dimensions of the building will be 88 by 128 feet. It will be of the same architectural design as Library and Science hall, and the Administration building. It will probably be placed on the extreme eastern part of the grounds and will face the west. This will make three of the four buildings necessary to complete the quadrangle. The fourth building will eventually replace the training school building. This building will be of the same general design as the other buildings and will stand in line with the administration building, and will be used for the training school and the department of education.

This is an opportunity to come under the spell of a seer that guides his generation.

MRS. LENORA M. LAKE
July 13

In summing up the attributes that make an ideal human life, Lenora M. Lake uses these words: Love and Service; and they express as no other words could the keynote of her character, for her heart is filled with love for God and humanity.

During her nation-wide investigations of and crusade against labor conditions, she found so much poverty and hardship, of much wreck and ruin of the home and family life due to the use of alcohol in its various forms that it made her a pronounced advocate of temperance.

For fifteen years she has been honored with official position by the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America, and many other organizations have been glad to honor her. Years ago the Knights of Labor, at the time the greatest body of organized labor in the world created a special position for her, called General Instigator of Women's Work. For eleven years she and the late Frances E. Willard were devoted friends and congenial co-workers.

This is the woman with the message: "The most gifted woman speaker on the platform today."

They Should Have Known Better

When Sherman E. Eddy and Miss Lydia Krenzien secured a marriage license at Stanton Monday, they hurried to Norfolk and found that under the law they would have to be married in Stanton county. A romantic turn in the plans took place here. Hustling Rev. A. Wichman of Norfolk into an automobile the party drove to a pretty place on the Norfolk-Stanton road, just within the Stanton county line and were married in the automobile.

Mr. Eddy is principal of the Stanton high school and has been recently elected as superintendent of the Pender public schools. The bride is the daughter of prominent Stanton people and is popular in social circles there. Mr. and Mrs. Eddy will make their home at Pender.

The Difference in Strawberries

Did you notice any in the past week or ten days? We did. The berries we are now getting are Nebraska grown, picked and packed. In quality they are the equal of any we have had—in quantity they are short. All spring we have been receiving berries grown and packed in Arkansas, Missouri, Kansas or Iowa, and under the laws of these states they are packed in full quart boxes. One man who handles much fruit says that the imported boxes weigh an average of 24 ounces; the Nebraska packed fruit a scant pound. Certainly this state should enact a law which will compel those who grow and pack such fruits to use a standard box of known quantity. This bunco game has been going on for years, until some states have enacted laws governing such matters, and the result is very satisfactory to the consumer.

C. J. Rundell, who annually buys apples for this market has urged that a law be enacted to properly regulate the packing of apples, and he would include berries, and other fruits as well, and as he is a candidate for the legislature from this county he says that will be one question he will urge legislation on if elected. If not elected he will be most willing to aid the candidate against him in getting such a law through for the benefit of both grower and consumer, for with honest pack in quality and quantity and a brand true to name and measure Nebraska fruits will hold their own in any market, and a market is necessary to make the growing profitable.

The Eternal Grind that Sharpens

A good workman is known by his tools and the condition in which they are kept. Many a sweet temper and pleasant disposition has been spoiled by a dull pair of shears or a knife with a blade that resembles a saw too much. It is as important to have the proper equipment to grind with as it is to have keen tools for cutting. Knowing this and that others than those from Missouri appreciate being shown there will be a demonstration all next week at the Carhart hardware of Luther Household Grinders and other grinders put out by the Luther manufacturers, and there will also be a special demonstration price for the household grinders. To "show you," you may bring knife or shears any time during this demonstration time and have them sharpened free of cost. While they grind for you the simple operation of the machine may be watched.

Before taking the advertisement which appears elsewhere of these grinders, the editor asked of the merit of these and their other grinders, and the reply from one who has long known the firm and its product was that all the output of the Luther Grinder Manufacturing Co., of Milwaukee, was of a quality that also helped to make that city famous—in other words the Luther brand stands for quality, always. T. R. Puts in Tardy Claim

Colonel Roosevelt is out for industrial preparedness. It is apparent that the work initiated by Secretary Daniels a year ago was a big step in the right direction. It was a work that the Colonel overlooked in the seven years he was president. On July 13, 1915, Thomas A. Edison accepted Secretary Daniels' invitation to become chairman of the Naval Consulting Board. When the board was organized it appointed a sub-committee on production, organization, manufacture and standardization, and this sub-committee, with the aid of about 30,000 engineers, whose help was solicited by President Wilson's personal appeal, is now completing an inventory of American industry. This inventory was designed, first to tell us what we have, second, to determine what we have not, and third, to ascertain the best way to produce what we need.

The work of the sub-committee is rapidly nearing completion. The naval appropriation bill carries $1,000,000 toward a laboratory for the board.

At last, it appears the Colonel has caught up with the possibilities of this great achievement of the Wilson administration and running to form, claims it as his own.

The Hughes Record

What had Justice Hughes done that he should be a popular candidate for a presidential nomination? What gave him such prestige that the party managers at Chicago should assent to his nomination though they greatly preferred candidates of another type? It is a remarkable thing for a man who has for six years been buried in a judicial position to loom up in such fashion in a popular campaign. How is it to be accounted for?

Let it be admitted to begin with that a dearth of strong presidential material had a part in the matter. Aside from Colonel Roosevelt, the avowed candidates for president, were not such personalities as impress the popular imagination. The country, to begin with, was not in mood to take a cipher for president. In President Wilson the country had had a strong president, whatever may be said of his mistakes. The republican rank and file did not want a dead duck to follow through a campaign against such a president. Colonel Roosevelt was not acceptable to many republicans, and his availability was denied by the party leaders. It became necessary to go on a hunt for the virile candidate demanded. In Hughes appeared the only man answering to the description.

Hughes' popularity with the country rests upon what is ancient but well remembered history. Until the life insurance investigations of eleven years ago he was a New York lawyer unknown to the country. The force with which he conducted the revolution-making proceeding gave him a prestige that made him governor of New York state. His administration as governor was notably successful. It was marked by two lines of action. His appointments were notable for their excellence, and were correspondingly unsatisfactory to the professional politicians. The result was a high degree of administrative efficiency during his term. In the second place, the governor led in two great political contests. In his successful effort to abolish race track gambling he locked horns with his party machine, appealed to the people and won. A second great struggle with the same force engaged raged over his insistence upon establishing direct primaries in New York. His labors as governor were so successful that he received what in New York is a rare tribute, a re-election.

In the campaign of 1908 he added to his prestige by making himself easily the most effective campaigner for the election of Taft. It was at this time he made his personal impression upon Nebraska. This is the extent of his political record. In 1910 President Taft moved him from the governorship to the supreme bench, where he has worked quietly since. It was forceful, hard-hitting, progressive, straight-forward service as a governor that earned Hughes this nomination. Other governors take notice.

The above is what the State Journal, a republican paper thinks of their candidate.

Theo. Barnhardt from Norfolk was a Wayne visitor Wednesday, coming over to interview the board of equalization relative to the assessment on some of his farm land in the southwest part of this county, which he thinks is higher than it should be, according to the other land in the neighborhood.

Mr. B. is therefore eligible to become a member of any of the pioneer organizations. He was here before the grasshoppers came, and endured much hardship during the seasons when they took all of the crop grown here and wanted more.

He said they rolled in in clouds from the northwest, and that people thought a big shower was coming, and it was. They were so thick at times and places that one did not venture out—as they were worse to face than a blizzard.

He has been living at Norfolk for several years, and but recently returned there from a visit in Texas, where a daughter lives. Sons are farming his Wayne county lands, and he is now reaping the reward for the hardships he endured before this land was made to overflow with products of agriculture—before the railroads, the telegraph and the telephone made all the world and neighbors seem near.

In those days it was getting crowded when more than one family lived on a section.

Local Crop Conditions

The Democrat man hat tried to learn of the local crop conditions by diligent enquiry among the crop growers. The general verdict is that the first cutting of alfalfa, now mostly in the stack, is above the average yield per acre. Some few pieces are reported as short of bloom, believed to be due to the near frost of ten days ago in some low places. The rain of the last week assures a growthy second crop.

Corn is coming on well, according to all reports. As a rule the stand is well up to the average, and not more replanting than usual has been necessary. The conditions have been ideal for giving it a clean start over the weeds, and most fields were in good condition in this respect when the rains of the last few days came. Weather has been a trifle cool for corn, but it has not turned yellow. The cool weather, however, has been ideal for wheat and oats, and these crops as well as other small grain crops are coming on well.

Pasture is said to be as good as ever known—an abundant growth without so much moisture as to make it poor quality. Hay, too, is promising a good yield, especially since the recent rains.

Ordinance No. 238

An ordinance vacating the west twenty feet of Windom street between Tenth street and Fourteenth street in the City of Wayne, Nebraska, providing for the appointment of free holders to assess the damage of each and all persons which may be sustained by reason thereof, and providing rights of appeal from such appraisal.

BE IT ORDAINED by the Mayor and Council of the City of Wayne, Nebraska:

Section 1.—The west twenty feet of Windom street in the City of Wayne, Nebraska, between Tenth street and Fourteenth street is hereby vacated.

Section 2.—The City Council of said city shall appoint five disinterested resident free holders of said city who shall, after taking the oath required by law, impartially appraise the damage sustained by any person or persons by reason of said part of said street being vacated, who shall file a written report of such appraisal with the City Clerk. Said appraisers shall receive the sum of One Dollar ($1.00) each as services for such appraisal.

Section 3.—Said city or any person or persons who are dissatisfied with said appraisal shall have the right of appeal therefrom to the District Court of Wayne county, Nebraska, which appeal shall be perfected in manner and form as required by law.

Section 4.—This ordinance to take effect from and after its passage, approval and publication as required by law.

Passed and approved this 13th day of June, 1916.

Miss Bulah Barnett from Dakota City was here last week a guest of Miss Ethel Patterson.

Chas. Martin is at Sioux City today, going in to see a physician for his head trouble. Since Roosevelt failed to secure the republican nomination and is sulking about it and refusing to play in the progressive tent Charlie sees that it is inevitable that he will have to endure at least four more years of the Wilson administration without any chance to go to war or save Mexico, and he would not want to be a soldier in time of peace—so he is in search of some dependable endurance powders.

Mrs. J. F. Donahey from Omaha is here visiting her son, R. N. Donahey and family.

Fred L. Blair leaves this morning to join his wife at Lincoln, where she is visiting, and attend the wedding of his wife's sister, Miss Lois Dixon, to Mr. Edgar Group of that city. The bride and groom will make Omaha their home, Mr. G. being a civil engineer with work in that city. Miss Dixon has visited at Wayne frequently and has a large circle of acquaintances here who will join with her many other friends in extending best wishes.

FROM THE OLD HOME TOWN

An Interesting and Instructive Story From the Editor's Early Home. The Dairy Land of Iowa.

Few, if any, lose an opportunity to praise the land of their birth, and give such publicity as they can to any good report which comes from a place they did not have the good judgment to remain at—because looking for something better—chasing after the bag of gold at the end of the bow. So the editor, seeing the following from the Chicago Daily News of his old home naturally wants to have people of this community know by what means that community became one of the richest agricultural communities in all this country, and nature did far less for them in soil fertility than here:

"Strawberry Point is a small community in Clayton county, Iowa, fifty miles west of Dubuque. Its population is somewhat more than 1,000, the people of the village and those of the surrounding country are exceptionally intelligent. Otherwise they would hardly have worked out the system of agricultural instruction which has just been adopted there, and which is likely to render the farming in that community even more effective than it has been in the past. And that is saying much. For it is not to be forgotten that the section about Strawberry Point has been noted as a dairy country for forty or fifty years. But from that section won the premium at the Philadelphia exposition in 1876. At that place was established the first whole milk factory in the United States, and that factory was the first to be given permission to place the state's creamery stamp on its butter.

"So now it is not surprising that Strawberry Point is to have an agricultural school, the character of which is probably unique in this country, but of a kind that has proved highly effective in nations devoted largely to agriculture, such as Denmark, Holland and Ireland. "Some time ago the board of education of the village and the thriving commercial club took up the matter. It was logical that before much progress should have been made the projectors of the new school sent for Edwin G. Cooley of Chicago. For not only has Dr. Cooley's fame as an authority on vocational education become widespread, through his studies abroad and his writing on the subject, but he lived in Strawberry Point when a youth, worked in the creamery and later taught in the school at that place. He detailed to the people of the village and its environs what has been accomplished abroad and gave them vital suggestions that he believed would prove most successful in that direction in this particular neck of the woods. The outcome has been the engagement of an undergraduate of the Iowa state agricultural college at Ames who is to take charge of the work beginning in June after his graduation. This young man is C. H. Obye, who is to be given a B. S., degree, and who has made some study of the work that is done by the agricultural schools of Denmark.

"Mr. Obye, during seven months of the year is to engage in real social service farm work. The remainder of the year he is to teach the youth of Strawberry Point and those who live within five or six miles the science of agriculture. This year he is to go about on the farms in this particular district applying the knowledge he has gained as an agricultural scientist. He is to live with and among the farmers and their families and become thoroughly acquainted not only with the needs of these farms but of the farmers' needs and the farmers' families' needs, social and otherwise. If he discovers that the south forty on Henry Hollander's farm needs nitrates he is to advise Henry Hollander of that fact. So, if he finds that a different rotation is needed on Richard Drake's farm or that George Jones' cattle ought to have more green fodder. In the words of one commentator, he is to have his feet on the ground.

"In Ireland or Denmark or Germany he would be known as an itinerant instructor. Operating in this fashion, it is almost inevitable that the young people of the farm will become interested in matters pertaining to the farm as they have never been interested before. Seeing things in a new light, not a few of them are more than likely to reveal a desire about the first of November to enter the school at Strawberry Point which Mr. Obye is to teach. By that time crops will have been harvested and marketed. The year's heavy work will have been done and time will be allowed for studying the science of farming as it relates to technical uses which can be taught in school. That is how it is done in Ireland, in Denmark, in Holland and other foreign countries where agriculture is an intensive study. Later on instruction will probably include girls and young women.

"The school sessions in Strawberry Point are to continue until the first of April, when Mr. Obye will again become an itinerant instructor. Thus the practical and the scientific will be linked together perhaps more closely than is the case in any existent school in the United States.

"As befits an enterprise of this nature it has the co-operation of all the people living near by, most of whom are enthusiastic over the prospects. Thus the governing board of the new school is to be balanced in such fashion that all classes will have representation. There are to be two farmers, two business men and two members of the board of education. It is to be recalled that this is the sort of balance maintained in the German vocational school and others abroad, in order that vocational work may not become one-sided, in order that it may not lean too much toward the practical, but that it shall be well rounded.

"Probably the people of Strawberry Point are justified in expecting much of the progressive program that has been mapped out in order that this typically farming district, representative of advanced agricultural ideas, may maintain its supremacy in that respect. If a plan of this general character is successful in Ireland—always until a few years ago extremely backward agriculturally—there would seem to be no reason why it should not be eminently successful in a high grade farming community in Iowa. And this kind of instruction, with intimately friendly relations established between the farmer and the wandering instructor, has been an important part of Ireland's regeneration agriculturally, and its probable future development in this line.

"J. R. Campbell, a two fisted Scot, is Ireland's secretary for agricultural instruction. As quoted in Dr. Cooley's "Vocational Education in Europe," he "believes that the salvation of backward farming does not lie in the teaching of agriculture in the public schools, or in the multiplication of agricultural colleges with demonstration farms attached. He maintains that it will come in Ireland, as it has come in Holland, Denmark and Germany, through the training of teachers and experts, the appointment of itinerant instructors in every branch of agriculture, the establishment of winter schools and of agricultural stations for experimental work and provisions for research.

"He also holds," Dr. Cooley continues, "that too much stress has been laid upon scientific instruction and too little upon commercial and practical training, each of which he regards as more essential to the success of the farmer than scientific instruction. All three are necessary, as farming does not admit of the division of labor that counts for so much in city industry, but no lack of technical or scientific education can compensate for lack of knowledge and experience that can be gained only on the farm."

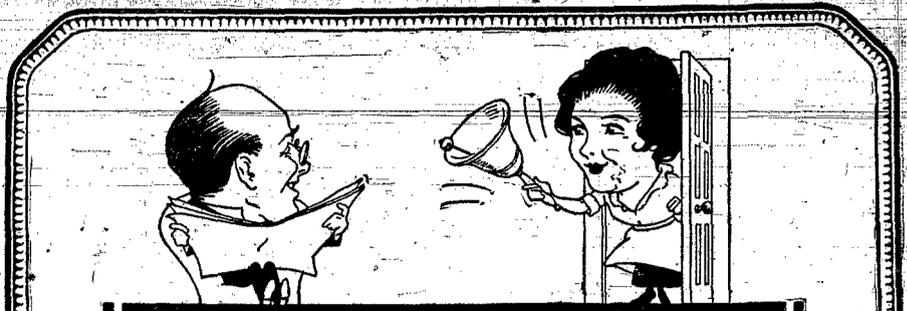

"Strawberry Point is thus following the guide posts set up by experts. It need surprise no one, then, if not so very far in the future the state of Iowa and neighboring states may adopt a system of agricultural instruction similar to that employed in Strawberry Point.

Omaha Strike Settled

Omaha, Nebr., June 14—Labor troubles have been settled and the strike, which threatened to assume gigantic proportions, was eliminated. Reason prevailed and by a get-together understanding on the part of the laborers and contractors, work has been resumed. Almost without exception, laborers have returned to work on the buildings which remained stationary for about two weeks. The sound of the hammer and the whirring of the machinery are evidences of Omaha's and Nebraska's prosperity and the return to work is an evidence of the common sense that prevails among middle west citizens in general.

Do You Know That

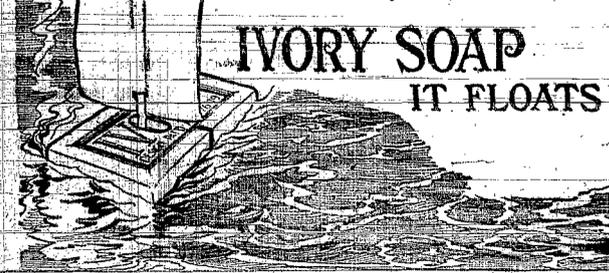

Rural sanitation is a health protection to the city dweller? It's foolish to educate a boy and then let him die of typhoid fever? The U. S. Public Health Service issues a free bulletin on the summer care of infants? Exercise in the garden is better than exercise in the gymnasium? Clean water, clean food, clean houses make clean, healthy American citizens? The State of California has reduced its typhoid death rate 70 per cent in the past ten years? Rats are the most expensive animals which man maintains? It is estimated that the average manure pile will breed 900,000 flies per ton?

It is not alone the youngsters who are glad that Ivory Soap floats. Everybody who uses it values this quality next to Ivory's mildness and purity.

In the bathtub it means not only convenience but freedom from possible injury to have the soap always at hand and in sight instead of at the bottom of the tub where it may be stepped on.

And in toilet or laundry use the floating cake is a great economy because it reminds one to take it from the water instead of sinking out of sight and mind to waste away.

How a Telephone Company Obtains Money for Extensions

Do you know how a telephone company obtains money for extending its plant when new subscribers are added? A private business is usually extended out of profits. Generally when a farmer buys another eighty acres of land he does so out of profits; when a merchant builds an addition to his store, he usually does so out of his profits. But when we extend our telephone plant, whether to install a telephone or string a wire down the highway, it means an additional investment of new money in the business. Beyond a reasonable surplus for protection against emergencies, which has been invested back into our property but on which no dividends are paid, we have never extended our plant out of the money we get from the public for service sold. We have never attempted to earn a larger return on the money invested than was necessary so we could obtain new money for needed extensions. Our growth has been phenomenal the last few years, and it has required a great deal of new money from investors. It is necessary to earn a fair rate of return on their investment for our present stockholders before we can obtain additional money. The public's welfare is best served by our paying fair dividends to the men and women who have their savings invested in our property. If we did not do this the service would suffer from lack of new money for proper improvements and extensions.

WORK OF STATE OFFICIALS

Interesting Lincoln Letter Telling of Official Acts of General Interest and Other News.

About forty medical students, graduates of the Creighton Medical college, were examined by members of the State Board of Secretaries in the senate chamber Wednesday, June 8, and if they all pass will be given licenses to practice in this state. A medical student may have a college diploma, but before he can begin the practice of his profession he must have a license issued by the state board of secretaries of the State Board of Health.

In making up a jury panel in Douglas county a few days ago, it was found that a certain juror was missing. A little investigation brought out the intelligence that this certain juror was busily engaged in making furniture at the state penitentiary. It is the opinion of prison officials that he will not be able to serve, because work of this kind under the circumstances bars him from participating in court deliberations in the character and manner above enumerated. Besides, the court will likely have no objections for the reason that a juror situated as this one is, might be prejudiced in rendering decisions, and would feel that there is more justice in hanging a jury than the more unfortunate one at the bar.

An official report in pamphlet form, of the late presidential primary election has just been issued by Secretary of State Pool. The pamphlet comprises a tabulated statement of the votes as certified to by the official canvassing board, which is composed of Governor Morehead, Secretary of State Pool, State Auditor Smith, State Treasurer Hall and Attorney General Reed. It is the first time anything of this kind has been attempted in the state since the primary law went into effect in 1907, and the book will be a valuable addition to the library of the student or any one interested in the political history of the state. It contains the vote of the candidate of all political parties both national and state, including the legislative and district judiciary ballot.

The Democratic State Central committee met at the Lindell hotel last Saturday afternoon, June 3, and unanimously and harmoniously elected Merton L. Corey of Clay Center temporary chairman to open the state convention at Hastings, July 25. Mr. Corey was chosen two years ago for this same office and his very eloquent and able opening address at that time made a deep impression on the large number of assembled democrats at the Columbus convention. The 1916 convention will draft a platform and elect a new State committee together with a permanent chairman, who will have charge of the state campaign. Several prominent democrats are mentioned for the place among whom are, C. F. Langhorst, Cass county; E. P. Sprague of York, John Byrnes of Columbus and C. E. Harmon, present deputy food and oil commissioner.

The board of equalization has reconsidered its action to increase the valuation of main line roads only, as reported in this letter last week, and on motion of Secretary of State Pool, seconded by State Auditor Smith, distributed the raise over both branch and main lines. This was done in order that all counties through which railroads pass may be equally benefitted. Some of the counties have no main lines, and others have more branch line mileage than main line. The raise will increase the valuation of the railroads about $1,016,590 on the one-fifth basis or over $5,000,000 actual value. One or two members of the board were for accepting the valuation of 1915, but this was objected to on the ground that land values had been raised both in 1908 and 1912, and the railroad valuation had not been increased since 1909. This contention was backed by Governor Morehead, Secretary of State Pool and Auditor Smith. Three being a majority, the motion was passed by a unanimous vote.

Many cruel things have been written about the icicle twins—Hughes of New York, and Fairbanks of Indiana, but the cruellest of all was written by Editor Whedon, in the Kearney Democrat, as follows: "Hughes for president, and Fairbanks for vice-president Platform: 'Nothing too cold for us.'" But Whedon went further in his cruelty when he said that the campaign song of the twin icicles ought to be: "On Greenland' Icy Shore We Stand." The very suggestion of the nomination of the icicle twins by the republican national convention makes a warm-blooded western man shiver, and causes all farmers to fear the frosting of the corn in July.—Edgar Howard.

Winside Notes

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Horton, on Thursday, June 8, a daughter. Prof. G. E. Cress left Friday afternoon to attend the University of Chicago during the summer quarter. A number of friends gathered at the John Roll home last Sunday afternoon to help him celebrate his birthday. They visited until evening when a dainty lunch was served the guests by Mrs. Roll. Mrs. C. R. Hanham and babe left Wednesday morning for their home in Colome, S. D. They were accompanied by the former's sister, Miss Bess Leffer, who will visit in Dakota and other points before returning home. After twenty-four years as Village Clerk Walter Gaebler resigns the office and on last Monday evening at the regular meeting of the town board turned over the city's books to the new clerk, D. B. Carter. Mr. Gaebler was elected to this office one year after the town was incorporated and had filled the office during those many years with the greatest of care, always throwing his influence where Winside could best be benefited. Mr. Gaebler's resignation was for the purpose of having more time to devote to his own business and interests.

The burning of a celluloid ring last Tuesday, caused the destruction of the F. W. Knittle barn. The two boys, age about eight and ten years, were in the barn, the older boy held the ring and the other applied the match. When the ring lighted it started with a sputter and the little fellow dropped it in some baled hay. They ran out of the barn screaming for help. Wm. McMillen, a close neighbor, heard them and labored hard to subdue the blaze. Owing to the strong wind from the north he was unable to control it, and when it reached the hay loft, where a quantity of straw was stored, he gave up the hope of saving the barn and turned his attention to the house. It was about this time that other neighbors saw the blaze and turned in the alarm. The firemen promptly responded, but after arriving found they were short of hose. The barn was completely burned by this time, and had they had a sufficient amount of hose their services would not have been needed. The loss on the contents in the barn to Mr. Knittle is about $80.

Faculty Reception to Students

On Tuesday evening occurred the faculty reception to the students of the summer school, at the Normal. The members of the faculty formed the receiving line, which received the three or four hundred students who were present. After passing down the receiving line the students were seated in the auditorium where part two of the evening's entertainment took place, Mr. W. D. Redmond being in charge. Miss Bessie Crockett played two piano numbers in her usual pleasing and artistic manner. President Conn then gave the address of welcome, in which he expressed in a few simple, well meaning and well chosen words that they were "Thrice welcome. We are glad to see you and have you with us." This was followed by two vocal selections by Miss Ardath Conn with Mrs. James Miller at the piano, and though sung under great difficulties was much appreciated by the folks present.

The feature of the program occurred when Mr. Redmond called on Dr. House to give instructions concerning the third part of the evening's entertainment which was to take place in the corridor and reception room on the main floor. Dr. House countered when Mr. Redmond read a parliamentary rule to him and called Mr. Redmond to account. Mr. Redmond's reply, though being impromptu was excellent and showed him to be a master in his art. Considerable humorous repartee on both sides livened things considerably, so that when the guests adjourned to the main floor, all were in jolly mood. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening and all made their escape at a reasonable hour.

Stockton-McNeal

G. G. Stockton and Bessie McNeal were married in Trinity cathedral, Omaha, at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon according to a telegram received by Norfolk relatives late Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Stockton plan a brief trip in Nebraska and Illinois and will return to Norfolk shortly. The bride is the daughter of former Postmaster McNeal at Wayne and for some time has been employed as a trained nurse in Norfolk. Mr. Stockton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Stockton and is owner of the Stockton photograph studio. The studio now being reconstructed and Mr. and Mrs. Stockton have leased the apartments on the second floor of the Ransom building, which are now being constructed on Norfolk avenue and which adjoins the studio, says the Norfolk News.

Dick Rutherford of Beatrice, hailed as Nebraska university's greatest athlete, and captain of the champion Cornhuskers last year, has announced his engagement to Miss Ruth Tingler of Long Beach, Cal. The young woman's tennis champion of the university. The wedding will take place June 23. Rutherford expects to leave for the coast this week.

What is happening at Verdun is nothing to what has been going on in the streets of Hartington since the state railway commission issued an order permitting the Cedar County Telephone company to make an increase of 25 cents a month on farm and business telephones, with no change in the price of residence telephones at either Hartington or Fordyce.

Attorney General Reed submitted to Secretary of State Pool the form of the prohibition question to go on the fall ballot. It will read as follows: "A constitutional amendment prohibiting the manufacture, sale and keeping for sale or barter, any malt, spirituous or vinous liquors. Shall the prohibition amendment be adopted?" and then follow squares for the yes and no vote.

Sixteen boys and girls ranging from twelve to twenty years of age and representing nineteen counties enrolled at the annual short course in agriculture and home economics of the school of agriculture at Lincoln last week. The course was intended particularly for members of the boys' and girls' clubs, conducted co-operatively by the United States department of agriculture and the extension service of the college of agriculture.

The Rock Island's weekly crop report says: "Our reports from Nebraska are quite encouraging. Wheat is looking exceptionally well and while the weather has been cool it has not affected this cereal to any extent. Corn is probably two weeks late in this state and owing to cold weather and unfavorable conditions generally, considerable replanting has been necessary. The first alfalfa crop is now being cut under very favorable conditions. The crop is an excellent one."

Food Commissioner Harman finds that manufacturers of beer and near beer are placing their product on sale in many Nebraska towns, especially in towns that recently went dry. He intends to enforce the state food laws which require the percentage of alcohol, no matter how small it may be, to be branded plainly on the label. After dealers in drinks comply with this law they run the risk of being prosecuted under the Slocumb law of Nebraska of being taken in hand by federal authorities for selling intoxicating liquors without a license.

What Has Been May Be! Land Investment is Safe Sound and Sure

Thirty years ago a tract of land sold near Lincoln, the capitol of this state, at $40 per acre. Last year the same land sold at $250 per acre, breaking the Nebraska record for large acreage of unimproved land. This land grew good hay crops each year, paying its way--the $210 per acre increase was velvet.

We are now offering land equally as rich and fertile at as low a price ($40.00) per acre, and as near the capitol of a great and growing agricultural state as was this Nebraska land. Land that will annually produce as good a crop, land that will pay its way, and land that will advance much within the next few years, because there is but little like it left. We ask you to investigate, Mr. Renter and Mr. Speculator. Have some offerings for a less price, others a trifle higher, but all bargains.

Among the Churches of Wayne

Presbyterian Church (Rev. S. Xenophon Cross, Pastor) And now, everyone with the best foot foremost for the Fife Bros. Campaign!

We desire unity in all things and are more than willing and ready for any get-together movement for the church people of Wayne.

A very helpful Sunday school workers' meeting was held at the church last Tuesday evening. Superintendent F. H. Jones has an excellent program planned for the summer months.

It was encouraging to see so many of our summer school students at the Sunday school service and at the evening meeting last Sunday. Come again. We welcome all summer visitors in Wayne and vicinity to our church services.

The sermon subject next Sunday evening will be, "ALWAYS AT HOME." This will be a pleasing service with a helpful address. Come and join us in an appeal for a movement that is of vital interest to all of us. There will be special music under the direction of Mrs. Horace Theobald.

Miss Bessie Durrie will lead the Y. P. S. C. E. meeting at 7 o'clock. The topic will be, "The Usefulness of Good Cheer." Read the C. E. column in "REMEMBER." This column will be edited by Ralph Ingham. There is a suggestion in it this week that we hope will be carried out. All Endeavorers plan to stay for the service next Sunday evening.

The hour of morning worship is 10:30. The theme of the sermon will be, "The Growth of the Child Jesus." Mrs. W. E. Johnson will direct the music. Mrs. James Miller is the organist. If you can, plan to stay next Sunday for Bible school part of the morning service. If all would stay for the Sunday school, we could easily arrange the United Service to last only an hour and a half.

Methodist Church (Rev. A. S. Bnell Pastor)

That was an inspiring audience at the Methodist church last Sunday with a full attendance of local people and a good showing of the college folks. It was necessary to use the lecture room both morning and evening. We are always glad to see our old friends and equally glad to welcome the new ones. At the close of the morning sermon a large number were admitted into the fellowship of the church. We are glad to see these students identifying themselves with the churches during their stay in our city.

Next Sunday morning at 10:30 our Children's Day program will be given. Children to be presented for baptism should be brought at that time.

In the evening the pastor will have a special sermon on the Challenge to Christian service. Every young person with a life to consecrate to service, and every parent with children to dedicate to service should hear this message.

A most cordial welcome is extended to all of the services of the church. If not identified any other place come and worship with us.

German Lutheran Church (Rev. Moehring, Pastor)

Next Sunday, we shall have our annual Missionfest. Rev. R. Neumarker, D. D., of Columbus, Rev. G. H. Michelmann of Grand Island, Rev. A. Spieckermann of Bloomfield, have promised to preach. Dinner will be served by the Ladies' Aid society. Let us all be present. Services will begin at 10:30 a. m.; Sunday school at 9:45 a. m.; The time of the afternoon service will be announced in the morning service.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church (Rev. J. H. Fetterolf, Pastor.)

Sunday school every Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. Preaching at 11 a. m., and 8 p. m.

Luther League at 7 p. m.

To Observe Flag Day

The Baptist people will observe flag day by putting on an evening service appropriate for the occasion next Sunday night at the brick church on the corner. Those who attended last Sunday evening will be on hand again to hear the next program. Mr. Gaston in the evening lecture will discuss the flag and the country for which it stands. Many new and interesting things will be related and the application will deal with the most inspiring banner that ever waved o're the heads of men. There will be the usual service at the morning hour and that will be a very delightful occasion. Splendid music will be presented at both the morning and evening sessions.

Council Proceedings

At the regular session of the city council Tuesday evening all were present except Mayor Cunningham, who is in Idaho. The following bills were read and allowed, after which several ordinances were passed and some other business transacted.

LIGHT FUND: Eli Laughlin, error on claim 2140, $1.10.

F. S. Martin & Co., coal, $150.49. Freight, $90.99.

Carhart Hardware Co., $59 17. H. W. Barnett, dray, $.75.

The city purchased poles for the change of the light wires from Main street to the alley between Main and Pearl, paying $57 for 19 poles.

The First National bank was given a permit to use not to exceed four feet on Main street for steps to the bank when making some contemplated improvements to their building.

An ordinance vacating the west 20 feet of Windom street between 10th and 14th streets was passed.

Another ordinance was passed providing for the licensing of jitney automobiles, and after its publication it will be unlawful to operate an automobile within the city of Wayne for hire without such license.

An ordinance providing for the annual tax levy was also passed to its final reading and adopted.

Another ordinance providing for the calling of a special election in the near future was also passed. The question on which a vote is asked is that of issuing $12,000 bonds for the purpose of extending the waterworks system of the city. The ordinance for this matter is not yet given out for publication, and the scope of extension is not known.

After attending to some few other matters of less importance the council adjourned.
