FATAL AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

The Family of Henry Kloppling in Automobile Wreck and Glenn, the Youngest Son, Has Skull Crushed.

Monday morning Henry Kloppling and wife and two sons, Albert and Glenn started north and west from their farm just west of Wayne for a ride in a new automobile but recently purchased by Mr. Kloppling, to visit a son Frank near Carroll. All appeared to be running freely and the car was unning at a speed of from 28 to 30 miles per hour on an upgrade road, smooth in center but slightly rutted at the sides. In some manner Mr. K. pressed the accelerator down giving the car a much greater speed, and the lever appeared to catch when down and could not be released, and the car bounded forward and in almost an instant had a speed of 50 miles or more per hour, and as the clutch would not release the speed was constantly increasing until the car was beyond control and began to weave forth and back as the trail left showed. The car rocked from side to side without going entirely over, throwing all of the occupants out except Mr. K. who was in the car when the final stop was made.

Glenn the youngest son, aged 7 years, must have been caught beneath the car, for his skull was fractured both in front and back. Mrs. Kloppling suffered a broken arm, the bones between the wrist and elbow, and two ribs broken. Albert was bruised up some and his legs were cut in several places. Mr. Kloppling apparently escaped with numerous bruises and scratches, but suffered a severe nervous shock.

The funeral of Glenn is to be held this afternoon from the home, Rev. S. X. Cross officiating. An older son Frank, living near Carroll has been at the home since the accident, and two sons, Roy and Bryan in Idaho started at once for home upon receipt of the sad news. Mr. and Mrs. Kloppling have the sympathy of the community in their sad misfortune.

A Successful Meeting.

The German Lutheran church congregation of this city held their annual missionfest last Sunday, June 18, at the local church of which Rev. Moehring is pastor. President of the district synod, Reverend Michelmann of Grand Island; vice-president, Rev. Neumarker, D. D., of Columbus and Rev. Spieckermann of Bloomfield, were among those present.

In spite of the unsettled weather, all the farmers of the congregation were present and many guests, the church being crowded in both morning and afternoon services.

The missionary collection taken surpassed the one of last year, considerably.

Dinner was served at noon by the ladies of the congregation, and a lunch after the meeting in the afternoon. The missionfest was a success and all present were well pleased.

Fatal Accident Near Winside

While riding one of a team to the field Monday afternoon, Arthur, the 17 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Prince was thrown from the horse he was riding, and his foot catching in the lines where put up about the hames, he was dragged and trampled and kicked to death by the frightened animals. His body was dragged fully 100 rods before released from the animal.

The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon and was largely attended by the many friends of the Prince family, who are most highly respected people, and who have the sympathy of all in this sad bereavement.

Rations to the Departing Soldiers

To-night, at Baptist church the Public Service club will have a supper to which all members are invited and a splendid meeting is promised. This supper is provided by the vanquished in the recent contest for new members, and therefore comes free to the members of the winning side, so that they will certainly be present. In fact all are wanted, and if there be some interested, who have not yet taken a membership, we are told that they may secure a ticket for the small sum of half a dollar, and a welcome goes with the ticket.

Fred Ferricks Loses Hand

Saturday evening Fred Ferricks of Laurel drove here from Cole-ridge where he had been attending the wedding of one of his sons, planning to go to Rock county, where he has land. While waiting about the depot he started to cross the track near the Kroger elevator where a number of box cars were standing, and as he was in the act of climbing over the coupling, a stock train backed down to get on the main line, the string of box cars were bumped and down went Mr. F. with his right arm over the rail in front of the wheel with the unavoidable result. The great toe and the one next to it on the right foot shared the same fate. The injured man was not discovered for about 30 minutes after the accident, and had bled quite freely. As soon as found a physician was at once called and first aid given, after which he was placed on a stretcher and hurried to the local hospital where it was found that the right forearm was so badly crushed as to make amputation necessary.

He rallied nicely from the shock and the operation and is improving daily. Mr. Ferricks is a man past fifty years of age, and has lived most of the time for many years in Cedar county, but of late years has been in the western part of the state much of the time. He is father of seven grown children living in the home vicinity.

In District Court

Mabel B. Olson and husband have filed complaint against one, G. Jensen near Winside, to whom they had hired to work on the farm, as housekeeper and farmer, charging their employer with repeated attempts of criminal assault upon the woman in his employ.

Chas. Sullen, Asher L. Hurlbert, Henry Bock and perhaps others are bringing action against the Wayne County Bank, The Root investment Co., Wm. H. Root, A. E. McDonald, B. Stevenson and Emil Tietgen of Sholes, to compel them to conduct the business of the bank and the investment company in a different manner. Just what is wanted or what is wrong is not made very plain to anyone not an attorney.

Hospital Notes

Mrs. Joe Spinden, who was operated upon two weeks ago for a ruptured appendix, returned to her home in Winside, Tuesday evening.

August Kruse, who lives eight miles north of town, was operated upon Friday morning for a rupture.

Mrs. Abram Gildersleeve gave birth to a daughter, Monday, June 19, 1916.

Joe Anderson from Laurel had his tonsils and adenoids removed last Friday. He returned home in the evening.

Sholes Remains Dry

Last Saturday there was a hearing of the Sholes saloon application case before Judge Welch of the district court. Henry Lage had petitioned for a license, and those opposed filed a remonstrance. The Village board granted the permit—but the remonstrators appealed to the district court and the Judge held with them and against the village board, on the ground that the petition was not sufficient.

A Proposition by C. J. Rendell

That Wayne county shall pledge the privates and musicians of the Nebraska National Guard who go from Wayne county and who have to enter the danger zone in Mexico, the sum of $5 per week each—not as a bounty, but as just compensation.

A HAPPY ALUMNI REUNION

The Sixth Annual Homecoming and Reunion of the Wayne Normal Alumni Largest and Best in History.

The sixth annual Alumni meeting of the Wayne State Normal Alumni association was held in Wayne, June 16, the exercises being held at the normal buildings and grounds, and the banquet at the Baptist church at eight p. m.

The policy heretofore has been to have the alumni reunion and banquet during commencement week. The time has not been satisfactory for the reason that many of the public schools are still in session and members of the alumni association have been unable to attend. This year Miss Edith E. Beechel, president of the association, inaugurated the plan of having the home-coming and banquet the second week of the summer session. The change in date worked very well and will doubtless be continued in the future.

The alumni association had charge of the chapel exercises Friday morning. Miss Charlotte M. White, vice-president, presided, and in her characteristic manner introduced the various speakers who appeared upon the program. After an instrumental duet by Mrs. James Miller and Mrs. Horace Theobald, the scripture lesson was read by Miss Mary Mason, class of 1897, and Charles R. Chinn, 1911, led in prayer. Short talks were made by Professor C. H. Bright, 1894, Harvey Mason, 1892. Both talks were reminiscent of the early days of the school. John G. Neihardt was present and read from manuscript a poem that will be published later. A piano solo by Noble Kreider was greatly appreciated by the audience.

The visitors spent some time visiting classes and noting the improvements of the past few years. At noon class picnics were the order of the day.

ATHLETIC STUNTS:

At four o'clock the field day exercises began, the first event being the wheel barrow race between E. R. Rogers, '15, and Claude Wright, '14, of Beamer. Exciting, thrilling, the time of the half mile circuit taking about twenty-one minutes and possibly a few seconds. Mr. Hunter's watch ran down during the race, so he lost count. Mr. Rogers won the race.

Mr. Rogers now took charge of the girls relay race between class of 15 and 16 girls. The reporter tried hard to find out who won, but as yet has been unable. Both sides claim victory.

Mr. Rogers now called for volunteers to run the boys novelty race. Two nobly responded, Paul Young and H. H. Boyce. The boys first ran a quarter, stopped, changed their coats wrong side out, ran another quarter, stopped and changed their shoes around on the wrong foot and ran another quarter, changed coats right side out, the final quarter and then shoes right and the man first through won. Well, Boyce had button shoes and won easily.

As a fitting climax, the alumni baseball team played the regulars an exciting game of regular league baseball. Up to the sixth Hickman pitched airtight ball for the alumni and Conger pitched puncture proof for the regulars only four hits being obtained and the score stood 2 to 1 in favor of the alumni. But in the lucky seventh the regulars began to find Hickman and when the smoke cleared away in the ninth, the alumni, the old guard, stood glorious in defeat by a score of 15 to 2.

The banquet in the evening, served in the Baptist church by the ladies of the church was a record breaker in attendance. One hundred seventy-five sat down at the banquet table.

Then they will talk—Ye gods,

how they will talk." Miss Eugenia Madsen acted a toastmistress and the program was planned to represent the usual proceedings of a national political convention and was very cleverly followed out by those who responded to toasts. Prof. I. H. Britell made the keynote address and made the crowd feel at home and ready for all events to come.

Ray Hickman used the first letter of the words, "Wayne State Normal Alumni Association, and constructed the new words, W-Work, S-Sociability, N-Necessity, A-Affability and A-Activity.

J. J. Ahern was intrusted to write the platform and the draft he presented for adoption was fearfully and wonderfully made. It is too long and complicated to suit the republicans, too clear and emphatic to suit the democrats, too radical and sensational to suit the progressives and too dry to suit the prohibitionists. While it was railroaded through the convention, there is a movement on foot to invoke the referendum on some of the principles involved. It has been openly charged that no one regular member of any party can stand, much less walk on some of those Ahern planks.

Marguerite Forbes, as a feature of her toast, "Nominations", presented a take-off on Tennyson's poem, "Charge of the Light Brigade," showing how the alumni members were like the noble six hundred, having overcome all the dictionaries, books and teachers.

Grace Hedglin responded to the toast, "The Spellbinder," in her usual witty way and several members were noticed to know of whom she was speaking in her remembrance of days gone by.

In his toast, "Selection of National Committeemen, R. B. Berry, very cleverly represented nomination for the officers of next year and his nominations were seconded and passed unanimously. The officers elected for the ensuing year: Earl H. Schroer, President. Florence Welch, Vice-president. Alwine W. Luers, Secretary. Rollie W. Ley, Treasurer.

Alumni day like all alumni days in the past was spent in a most profitable manner. Everybody who was here enjoyed themselves and felt amply paid for coming any distance to be able to shake hands, join in sports, feast and talk with old schoolmate, teachers, and friends.

Ministers Entertained Here

Monday, when the delegates and ministers, who are attending the conference of German Lutherans of the North Nebraska synod at the church northeast of Wayne, alighted at this station they were met by a committee of the Public Service club with automobiles and given a tour of the city of homes and schools and churches. At the normal they were shown through the different buildings and the fine equipment for school work, and then were taken to a convenient place for the friends from the country, who were to come for them. It was a fine courtesy to show these distinguished visitors, and one which they undoubtedly appreciate.

Charles Ruge Dead

Chas. Ruge who for a year or more was in charge of the Standard Oil Co., business here three years ago, died at a Sioux City hospital a few days ago. Mr. Ruge was with the Standard people some time after he left Wayne, at Tilden, and later moved to Newman Grove. Of late he has been a member of a railroad bridge gang under Supt. of Bridges Chas. Mines, and had hand crushed while thus engaged. He was taken to Sioux City, but blood poisoning followed the accident and he died Monday.

Safety First at School

Members of the school board inform us that a fire escape has just been installed at the high school building, an approved escape having been purchased from and installed by W. E. Rotter & Son of Sioux City. The escape is installed in the north end of the building, openings to it being two windows on that side, and the arrangement is such as to be most convenient and safe in case of need, should ever arise.

WAYNE MILITIA AWAIT ORDERS

The Youngest Company in the State, More Than Sixty Strong, Marking Time Here Awaiting Sealed Orders

The latest reports make it appear more than probable that there will be, or perhaps already is, war with Mexico, and that our soldier citizens will be called to the southland as fast as they can be equipped and properly drilled.

The morning papers tell that a pitched battle occurred yesterday between Carranza's soldiers and a cavalry detachment of Pershing's army near Carrizal, in which both sides are said to have lost heavily. Details of the battle are not available at this time, but rumors say that the Americans were led into an ambush by a flag of truce, and that the Mexican authorities charge that the American troops opened the hostilities.

Authorities at Washington are waiting more detailed information as to the preliminaries leading up to the engagement, but in the mean time are losing no time in getting troops into position for use at any moment.

THE COMPANY AT WAYNE READY

The company of militia recently organized here have all reported except two or three, who are now enroute to Wayne or join the company at some other point more convenient, and are ready to go forward at any time the authorities say. Capt. Burnham has a message stating that sealed orders are sent, and that they are to be opened this afternoon, and there is no doubt but that these orders will set a time for the company to join camp at or near Lincoln within twenty-four hours at the most.

Equipment Arrived Saturday

The expected equipment for the members of Co. G arrived last week and the work of unpacking had scarcely commenced before the order came to Lt. Pile to assemble the men preparatory to a move south as far as needed. The soldier equipment is more complete and greater than in some earlier days, as may be seen of the following list, for which each member must receipt when given his baggage:

Rifle, knife bayonet, scabbard, cartridge belt and belt suspenders, haversack, meat can, tin cup, knife, fork, spoon, canteen and strap, coat, ornaments, collar, chevrons, breeches, shirts, hats and hat cords, leggings, tent shelter—halver, shelter pole and pins, blankets, ponchos, bed sacks, blanket roll straps and first aid kit.

In addition to this equipment for each private there is a quantity special equipment such as spade and pick, both with short handle, for the use of men who might be detailed to make a shallow trench and mound of earthwork, or other use which might require such tools. There are also a number of wire cutters and machete, some full size spades, picks and shovels. The individual equipment when all on for a march weighs not far from 60 pounds, but the weight is so distributed that it is like one's clothing, not felt as it would be in one package.

Certain it is that Uncle Sam proposes to care for those who serve him, as well as it is possible for men who are or may be always on the go without any chance to put up at a hotel every night.

Orders to Mobilize

Lincoln, Neb., June 21.—General Hall tonight wired orders for immediate mobilization to all company commanders, and from most of them received reports as to the condition of their commands. The enlistment is shown to have been going on at a satisfactory rate during the past forty-eight hours.

It is probable, however, that in most towns a commissioned officer and two or three privates will be left behind to do recruiting service, so as to guard against any emergencies, and to assure full strength should the men be called to the south within the next week or ten days, which now appears probable.

Burrell-Jewell

At Peru, Tuesday, June 20th, 1916, Miss Lillian Jewell, formerly assistant in mathematics at the Normal, and Mr. Warren E. Burrell of Peru were united in marriage. The ceremony was a three o'clock and attended only by relatives and intimate friends. The groom is one of the faculty of the normal school at Peru, where they will reside. The many Wayne friends of Miss Jewell will extend most hearty congratulations.

Is There a Fence Around Your House?

Do the pigs and chickens make themselves at home on your porch or walks?

Which would you rather have—

A slightly, permanent steel fence protecting a beautiful lawn from the ravages of live stock, or—

An unsightly, unclean yard that is over run with rooting, scratching animals.

Pigs and chickens are alright in their place but they do not belong on the porches, walks and lawns surrounding your home.

Why not start right, and today, by protecting your home, trees and lawn with a permanent steel fence composed of AMERICAN STEEL FENCING AND STEEL POSTS with strong, trim WALK GATES between.

If you will step into our office we can show you how easily and cheaply this can be done.

R. R. Smith Comes Back

Editor Democrat:—It is with pleasure that I note the replies in your paper to mine of May 11th.

The one from Rushville has but little of interest to me, and I would not deem it of enough importance to mention, but as Mr.
Hildebrand, of Seward county, has replied with a rather long letter, and you say you have others, I will try and take them as they come,
not that I am courting a newspaper argument. I fear that you, the Democrat man, created a mistrust in my intention to strangers, by your head lines of my letter, that "Farmer Smith fights the Demonstrator." This is misleading to those that do not know that there is no demonstrator in Wayne county and never has been. There have been two feeble efforts to organize the farmers and get one, but both failed, and it is the uncomplimentary remarks I have heard at different times and places, against those that did not see fit and proper to go into their scheme that fired me to the point of taking up the part of the old "Mossback Farmer" as they put it through your paper.
I deem it a very, very bad thing for our class of men to get at loggerheads when neither could get along without the other. What would the farmer and farms be worth without the towns in a county, and what would the towns
be worth without the farmers.
Now, as neither can very well get without the other, especially the city, why not work together. My contention is that the farmers of Wayne county do not need a demonstrator. As to other counties I cannot say, and do not mean to advise or dictate what, or when they should do things, and I am just as positive and sure that we,

the farmers of Wayne county, do not need to be dictated to by less successful business men, for who put the "Y" in Wayne but the farmer, who put "Win" in Winside but the farmer, who put the kinship in Hoskins, the song in Carroll, the grit in Shoes, or the Wakefulness in Wakefield, but the farmer, or the big red apples on Apex hill but August Hohncke, a farmer.

As to Mr. Bell's letter and Sheridan county, I have not much to say, but a gentleman living here knows that county and the gentleman for thirty years, says he is not a farmer as we know a farmer to be,
but a horse trader and land agent.
Another farmer here knows him also and says he poses as a sort of a preacher, which is all very nice, but from his letter, I take him to be a joy rider. I am told that the real estate dealers of Sheridan county have prevailed on the commissioners to levy a one mill tax on the county to pay for their demonstrator to boom the land values. Fine idea for them out there, but we do not need that in Wayne county.

As to Mr. Hildebrand's letter must say that it is very long and savers of a press bureau, and from the contents of it and some private letters I have received since my letter in the Democrat, they have the same ear marks. They all seem to take delight in how much they are taking over the business of the veterinarians. Now I think the veterinary surgeons are a very good and useful class of men, and one that could not very well be dis-pensated with. Our veterinary is a very capable man and his services are very satisfactory, and his prices reasonable, and if you want to vaccinate your hogs and calves yourself, he will not only tell you how but loan you the instruments to do it with. The farm manager from Seward boasts that they can get the serum cheaper than any one else. Now, I never bet, but will put up one hundred dollars in the hands of the President of the Public Service Club of Wayne, against an equal amount that our veterinary can get serum as cheap
as Mr. Hildebrand, and the money to be applied to a monument to the man who above any other one man
helped to put the "Y" in Wayne, James M. Pile, the founder of the Wayne normal, with this instruction that it be not put in the Senatorial art gallery, but on the campus at the Wayne state normal,
where even those who pass by may read. The bulletins that Mr. Hildebrand spoke of are dry matter at the best, and any one can get them
for the asking, so he has no corner on that either.

The government tax he speaks of
is not the first pork barrel stunt pulled off by our government, and I can't see why he should advocate having the county pay for these advisors when he says it pays him four fold now.

I have seen the old county fair start, flourish, then die, also the Boy club and Girl club, where the father raised the pig, the calf and the colt, and the boy's name was used only to prolong the county fair graft, which was more politics than fair.

I would suggest to Mr. Hildebrand that when they are on their auto trip that they extend it to Wayne county, and see the land that never yet had a failure, and compare it with his home county

where if they get three crops in five years they are doing fine.

Mr. Hildebrand's letter sounds
so much like the song of the traveling lightening rod man and stockfood agent that I must say it sounds familiar, but say, those days are gone. There was a day here when these men could sell their goods, and some farmers have even signed notes before they get the goods, but that day is past, and gone. Now, I have nothing against the young men that fit themselves for this work, and wish them well and prosperity, but when a man that has made a failure in life and has nothing to look back to but a lot of failures and mistakes gets up as a counsellor and advisor to those that are progressive and have made good, when he begins his abuse of such I must say that I get warm under the collar and can best cool off by turning loose and giving expression to my thoughts in language that sometimes might not look good in print, and would request Mr. Hildebrand to revise his suggestion to me and put some evidence that we, as a county, need these things. We are not trying you for an offense. We, the farmers in this case, have been tried,
condemned and sentenced to abuse
and slurs because we have progressed and made good by hard work, economy, perseverance, and minding our own business. If Wayne county wants an advisor, let them get one. I will be the last man to put a straw in the way,
but I do not feel the need of one,
and will not stand for any abuse
because I do not see as they do.

Mr. Hildebrand assures us that his letter is unsolicited by the farmers of Wayne county. We know that no progressive farmer would,
but I have a suspicion as to who
the puffyfooted party was that furnished the long ton of gas that caused you to make a Butinsky of yourself.

There is one thing in your letter,
the Clearinghouse arrangement, might work all O. K. if properly handled. There is another statement that I heartily agree to,
to-wit: that in traveling through the state you can pick out those that are doing things by the kind of business he keeps, whether farming, banking or anything else.
This is my belief, and will but ask you or any one else to visit Wayne county, and see the fine, well improved farms, the thrift and energy put forth, not only by the farmers but the town, and then if after looking over these things, and taking note that Wayne county has the least waste lands of any in the state, is as rich in productiveness, never had a failure, with the best homes, the best barns, and the most industrious people of any in the state, and that the Wayne railroad station shows that Wayne does more business than any town on the C. St. P. M. & O., R. R., if you still think we are from Missouri and need showing, I will ask you to hop to it.

Yours truly,

R. R. SMITH.

Obituary

Edward Stephens was born in Radnorshire, England, March 20, 1860. He entered into "life eternal"
at his home near Fort Collins,
June 8, 1916, aged 56 years, 3 months, 18 days. He came to the United States at twenty-one years of age and settled in Red Oak, Iowa, where he lived but one year, then went to Winside, Nebr.,
in 1882. He was united in marriage to Miss Mary B. Harmon, November 27, 1902, at Wayne,
where they resided for one year;
then spent one year in California.
They next moved to Randolph,
where they lived for five years,
moving to Fort Collins, Colorado,
in 1911, where they have since resided. Mr. Stephens entered into the Christian belief during his last illness. He had always believed in it, but had not made a public profession until quite recently.

He leaves to mourn his great loss, his beloved wife and their only child, Floyd James, who is but 4 years old; two sisters, Mrs. C. J.
Fisher of Greeley Center, and Mrs.
Wm. Worthing of Fort Collins, Colorado, also a brother, Sam Stephens of Fort Collins. He leaves also a brother and a sister in England.

Mrs. Stephen's father, J. E. Harmon, and two sisters, Mrs. L. E.
Panabaker of Wayne, and Mrs. W.
J. Finerty of Gordon were with her in her last hours.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. L. C. Woodford of Fort Collins at the home at 2 p. m., June 10, 1916. Interment was in Grandview cemetery.

Mr. Stephens was a good citizen, a kind husband and father, and was held in high esteem by his neighbors and many friends. He will surely be missed in this community, who will long revere his memory.

GOODRICH Tire Values are not at all "Accidental."
They spring from Conditions
which are logical as the Laws of the Uni-

The best-intentioned Tire Manufacturer cannot AVOID being heavily handicapped

Because—Goodrich "Conditions" sum-

1st—The longest Experience in Mfg.
the Product.

2nd—The greatest Leverage on pur-

3rd—The lowest Cost of Manufacturing, through largest VOLUME of Output.

4th—The clearly demonstrated INTEN-

NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC MEET

The national convention of the democrats at St. Louis last week which unanimously re-nominated President Wilson and Vice-President Marshall was a most enthusiastic and harmonious gathering. All were in accord as to the nominees and the platform. Not only are the members of that great party pleased, but many other good and loyal citizens who feel that they owe a vote of endorsement to the President for the able and conservative manner in which he has conducted the affairs of this great nation in time of stress never before equalled. Not only has the party under his leadership kept this country from war with honor, but more real constructive legislation has been enacted into law during the past three years than any like period in the history of the country. At peace with the world, honored and respected by the warring powers of the old world, this country today stands the best example of a civilized, Christian people of all nations. It is privilege to have opportunity to go to the polls and give a vote of endorsement and confidence to the man who more than any other has made such a condition possible. But Mexico—if that unhappy people fail to listen to the voice of wisdom and the brotherly advice so freely given and refuse to observe the laws of right and justice, it may become our painful duty to spit the little fellow just enough to make him treat his neighbors with due respect—but it is to be hoped this will not be necessary.

With the wish father to the thought, many have predicted that W. J. Bryan would be sulking in the tent if not in open revolt in the democratic ranks as is another man once worshiped by many as a hero. That they were mistaken was proven when Mr. Bryan at the St. Louis convention, said: "Whatever differences of opinion may exist, or may have existed as to particular measures or particular acts, we are here to begin the fight of 1916, a united party in every state in the union, ready for battle." No jealousy, sulking or personal aspirations ever will stand to stop this great leader from doing his duty to his country, fully and fearlessly as he sees it.

Abe Lincoln said not to trade horses in the middle of a stream, and it was said to apply to a political situation as acute as it is today, perhaps, and it was advice heeded in the campaign of 1864. It applies equally to the present situation, and we believe the American citizens of today are as intelligent and as loyal as they were half a century ago. Under the Wilson leadership this nation has bravely stemmed the current, we hope far past the middle of the stream, and knowing the treacherous currents can best take us across in peace and safety.

Might just as well make it unanimous this time.

Scientific Farming

TEST SEED CORN.

Necessary to Determine Viability of Seed in Advance of Planting Season. [Prepared by United States department of agriculture.]

Testing seed corn for germination, always a profitable farm practice, is an absolute necessity this year in many sections. In a number of districts the last corn crop from which seed for the coming planting will be taken was late in maturing or so moist when harvested as to call for special precautions. A high moisture content makes seed corn particularly susceptible to damage from freezing or heating. Farmers in the sections where corn failed to ripen normally who do not test their seed early enough to be able to replace their own bad seed with good seed secured from other sources will be taking an unnecessary risk. It is also especially important for holders of seed in such districts to take unusual care during the remainder of the winter to protect it from freezing.

SPROUTED SEED CORN.

While complete testing for germination should take place shortly before the seed is planted, the specialists of the department believe that it will be simple forehandness for farmers who have any reason to be doubtful about the viability of their seed, to make a preliminary germinating test with a few typical ears taken at random from the rack. If these preliminary tests show that the seed is good the owner then can continue his precautions to guard it from weather damage. If, however, this test with a few ears indicates that the seed is of low vitality the farmer should at once make further tests to satisfy himself as to whether his seed corn generally is good or bad.

If a farmer finds his seed is bad he should take steps at once to meet the difficulty. The purchase of seed should not be delayed till spring, especially when so much corn in various sections has been damaged. The farmer should secure his seed from well known sources, buy it upon a germinating guarantee basis and get his seed on typical samples early enough to make his own germinating tests. It is probable this year that many farmers who have not followed the wise practice of selecting enough special seed from good crops to last them in an emergency for two or three years will have to buy seed. In buying seed farmers should try to secure corn of varieties known to prosper in their section. The safest seed would be that carefully selected from good corn grown in the immediate neighborhood, but at any rate effort should be made to obtain seed grown in districts where climate, soil and farming conditions in general are similar to those at home.

If the farmer happens to have a stock of seed left over from the 1914 crop and doubts the seed saved from his 1915 crop he would do well to test the older seed also and then use whichever shows the greater vitality. Seed corn if properly cared for will retain its vitality for several years. Many farmers, knowing this, always select an extra amount of seed from an unusually good harvest.

WINTER CARE OF LAWNS. [E. F. McKane, Colorado station.] In order to keep our lawns beautiful they must have constant care. Too often the lawn is cared for only during the growing season, when in reality it should be cared for during the whole year. Whenever the lawn needs fertilizing put on very fine, well rotted manure soon after the ground becomes frozen in the fall. Let it lie on the lawn all winter and rake it off in the spring as soon as active growth takes place. Be sure and use well rotted manure, because fresh manure is apt to heat and kill the grass roots. During an open winter the grass is subject to a drying out process, which tends to kill the roots. This can be helped by sprinkling the lawn several times during the winter. Weeds, dandelions, etc., infest the lawn wherever the grass has become thin. These thin places can be remedied a great deal by sowing grass seed very early in the spring and raking it in well. Young grass will start growing very early and in this way it will get ahead of the weeds.

THE WHITE HUSSARS

A Singing Band
July 15-16

A keen observer says Ralph Dunbar is surely an innovator, for he did the "impossible" when he produced "The Nine White Hussars." He developed the highest possibilities and band music with nine, just nine—not five times that many men. Of course he secured young men of great musical ability, and best of all with real personalities. To do this would have been an achievement, but to find men who really sing well, and also are artists at playing the necessary band instruments, was a master stroke in the organization of musical forces.

The point is, it was done, and the Hussars now four years old, are one of the most talked of musical organizations in America to day. They have appeared during the past season in every important American city and the city press, the real critics, the fellows that are paid big salaries to get the facts and print them, have spoken. Note what they say.

Their engagement means plenty of real band music, that is as if a Sousa or a Santelmann were wielding his baton over half a hundred players. It means unusual ensemble singing—splendid timber, shading, studied tone, quality, real artistry. It means occasional solos that really get somewhere, are not just endured but enjoyed. It means some clean, clever fun that will bring a laugh from the kindergartners on the front row to the grown-ups further back, and all between. In short, it's worth while.

WHEELING, W. VA.

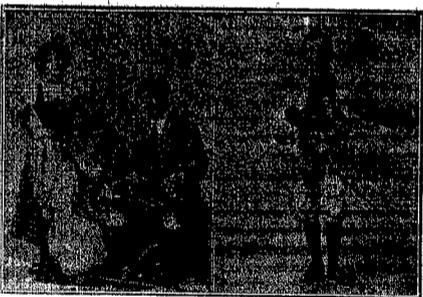

The best musical offering ever seen in this city. It is a "head line" feature, and Sousa in his palmy days was never better.

LOUISVILLE, KY.

If you think you have heard band music, hear the Hussars. They not only play good music but sing as well. They are particularly satisfying and make a fine appearance. An attraction par excellence.

PORTLAND, ME.

This is a world famous singing band, and their presentation of a delightful vocal and instrumental offering proved one of the best treats ever offered in Portland. As singers and players they are prime and hit the heart of every body.

Swiss Alpine Yodlers

SWISS ALPINE YODLERS

July 11

In presenting the Swiss Alpine Yodlers, we believe that we offer one of the most original and novel attractions in the Chautauqua field today. The Swiss Ploner family is direct from Fryol, and have been raised in that atmosphere, that is necessary to the success of genuine Alpine singers. This attraction consists of Herr Alois Ploner, Baritone and Manager; Frau Agnes Ploner, Soprano; Miss Anna Ploner, Alto; and Master Franz Ploner, Violinist.

We wish to impress upon you that this is not an aggregation of singers only, but each member is an instrumentalist as well. Their rendition of instrumental numbers on the quaint Swiss instruments are numbered among the most enjoyable features of the program.

Herr Ploner is a great master on the zither, while Frau Ploner enjoys the reputation of being the best lady Yodler from the Alpines. Miss Anna Ploner is a thorough musician and has a beautiful alto voice. Master Franz Ploner is recognized as a child prodigy on the Taken all in all, the Swiss Alpine Yodlers deliver one of the most unique and entertaining programs ever given from a Lyceum platform, and we heartily endorse them as a number that will not only draw a large attendance, but will positively please as well.

FRANK STOCKDALE

July 14

The man with the lectures that make you think and that bring a new message of Entertainment, Instruction, Uplifting.

This man Stockdale is a combination you do not find every day—a lecturer of tested capability, a writer who has made good, and a business man of experience. Because he has a down-to-bed-rock knowledge of what he talks about, you know that is worth the listening; because he has the knack of lecturing pleasantly with just the right touch of human interest or humor, you find that there is real entertainment, too, in the listening.

Stockdale knows two exceedingly important facts: First, that thoughts wrapped in smiles are easiest to carry home and put into practical use. Second, that after all lectures are but means to an end. The end is sound, sane inspiration along with tested plans or methods that can be put to use in every man's and every woman's life. And Stockdale has never delivered a lecture that overlooks these two facts.

As a result Stockdale's audiences get real enjoyment and actual assistance, they learn something and at the same time are as well entertained as they ever were. Probably this is one of the secrets of Stockdale's rather remarkable success.

He stands on his record: There is nothing untried about Stockdale and his lectures. He and his work are known qualities. Hundreds of audiences have listened to him—audiences big and little, audiences from every walk of life—and it is their approval which has put him in the front rank.

Train of Stock to Chicago

Saturday evening a train of stock, mostly fat cattle, left this station for the Chicago market. Prices have been excellent on the cattle of the high quality and finish of these Wayne county animals, but it was a little off Monday so that the money return was not quite what it might have been a day or two earlier.

Jas. Grier had 3 loads good enough to nearly top the market and bring $11.25. Andrew Stamm came next in price, with three cars said to be worth $10.85 by the bidders. The three loads fed by John Grier were sold at $10.80. Oscar Jonson had one load which brought $10.65. Mr. Jonson also had a car of hogs.

At Wakefield the train picked up Lee Mason with three cars of cattle. His top load brought $11.10 and the other two loads $10.55.

Monday Chas. LeCroix went to Omaha with two cars of fat cattle which we are told sold well. The cattle market has been strong, but if Wayne county is a true index to the cattle situation there will be few corn-feds left for the July market, and if that be so the price will mount up a bit.

Mr. Bloom has long been engaged in making, selling and erecting monuments, and as his sons came to manhood they entered the business with him. It is only on their very best work that Mr. Bloom now leaves the business office to superintend the erection. This monument of light grey granite is the largest and by many considered the handsomest one of the many in the cemetery. The base is 7x11 feet, the second base about 12 inches less each way, and on this rests the massive monument bearing on either side the family name, and a floral design cut at each corner, the rest of the surface appearing almost as though just sawed from the ledge. The entire monument and base weighs about 18 tons, and is a most massive and imposing sight.

J. J. Ahern went to Chicago the first of the week, leaving here Sunday afternoon. To the public he is supposed to be there to purchase goods—but the facts appear to be that his brother John, who left here by automobile nearly two weeks ago needs some one to look after him. At any rate he was nearly a week driving his little rambler to the city by the lake, and sent back word that rain, mud and bad roads had been causing delay. But another report comes that he was arrested at Waterloo, Iowa, for running over a street sweep and his cart. The facts are that the man came round a corner or out of an alley just in time to make a meeting which neither could avoid. A policeman happened just at hand and invited the driver to come with him. In court it looked a bit serious until the sweeper came in—and when he found why he was called to court laughed heartily and explained that it had been an unavoidable accident and that no one was hurt and no one to blame, so it was but an incident of the trip.

Among the Churches of Wayne

Methodist Church

(Rev. A. S. Buell Pastor)
The Children's Day program given last Sunday morning was of unusual merit, the parts were well selected and well rendered; much credit is due Mrs. L. C. Gildersleeve and her helpers for this most excellent program. The audience taxed the entire seating capacity of the church, including the Epworth League room and ladies parlor. The floral decorations were beautiful. The Epworth League service was one of special interest.

The theme for next Sunday morning's sermon will be, "For Their Sake," being a message on the social aspect of religious experience.

There will be a special program in the League meeting Sunday evening at seven o'clock.

At the hour of the evening preaching service we will all join the other churches in the union meeting at the opera house, where Mrs. Nesbit will speak.

The Methodist young people will hold a social in the church parlors on Friday evening.

The probationers class meets twice a week for a few weeks and are having very profitable studies in Christian experience and church doctrines and discipline.

A committee representing the official board, with a committee from the Ladies' Aid society are considering making extensive improvements in the church basement.

The second annual session of the federated district meet, including the district conference, the district Sunday school institute, the district Epworth League convention, the district Brotherhood and Men's Work convention, of the Norfolk district will be held in Stanton, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, June 27, 28, 29 and 30, 1916. It is expected that a full delegation from the Wayne societies will attend. Dr. L. O. Hartman, Supt., of Sunday schools in Mission lands, Chancellor Fulmer, Dr. I. B. Schreckengast, Dr. J. F. Boeye, Rev. J. O. Randall of the general conference commission on evangelism, and others will be speakers.

Men wanted! for the Brotherhood class which meets with the Sunday school at 11:30. Mr. A. R. Davis will be the teacher of the class. There are three classes in the Sunday school for summer school students. We shall be pleased to place you in one of these classes.

The Y. P. S. C. E. will meet as usual on Sunday evening. Come a little early and we will let you go in time to attend the mass meeting at the opera house. The topic will be, "What is the Purpose of Our Life on Earth?" The leaders are Ralph Ingham and Milo Hood.

Remember the mid-week prayer meeting on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. The lesson will be the 18th Psalm. Read it and you will find therein a practical theme for modern life. You miss something abundantly worth while when you absent yourself from this meeting.

Unimportant Activities

Toledo (Iowa) Democrat:—It's very easy to join a good roads club and declare for good roads. There is as much sense to such action as to join a good weather club and declare for good weather. A good crops club and a good morals club are on the same plane. The building of better highways isn't done at good roads meetings. Better highways is a matter of moving dirt, draining, grading, crowning,—not jolting clubs or talking. Where are your plans to better highways? Who will do the work? What will it cost? Get busy.

There are too many such dress parade organizations. They are like the preparedness parades—long on show but short on service.

Rev. John Aron of Hoskins was a Wayne visitor Friday and Saturday, and the Democrat acknowledges a friendly call. He is pastor of a German Lutheran church at that place, and has been there for a number of years. In fact, he is noted for having the happy faculty of getting along with people even after they become acquainted, and therefore in a long life as minister he has made but three or four moves, staying from 10 to 15 years or more at one church.

A Queer Presidential Year

"For the first time in a generation a 'presidential year' brings no business prostration. We have become accustomed to regarding 'bad times' as inseparable from our quadrennial elections. There is a deeply rooted theory that business of necessity marks time while the national issues are being fought out and the representatives of one or another set of principles are selected. And actual facts upset the theory. Our bankers, manufacturers, merchants and transportation managers are going ahead with their business just as if a presidential campaign were not already under way and the great party conventions were not imminent.

What is the reason? Evidently, that the country's business has grown so big and strong that it feels able to take care of itself, and regards even a presidential election as only an incident. That election is expected to be a paramount factor.

Is business, then, bigger than the government? No, but business is largely independent of government. It follows its own natural laws. Political events, though important, don't effect it so much as we used to imagine."

This from the editorial page of the Norfolk News, a republican paper, shows that the agitation of other years was simply imaginary or for effect. But with the best and most business like administration of all history, it is a foregone conclusion that no radical change will be made, and thus no reason to worry. Simply let well enough keep on doing better.

Unique Entertainment at Crystal

Wayne patrons of the Crystal theatre were treated to a pleasant surprise Friday and Saturday evenings by being entertained by genuine Hawaiian players and singers. Wierd and fantastic their music was typical of their native country, Hawaii. Encores were responded to with popular airs on the guitars and ukulele. By the hearty applause, the fact that the audience appreciated their efforts was made manifest. The native Hawaiian dance given by the two ladies of the company was classic and the type of dance not often seen outside their native country. The whole act was a clean, clever one, and one thoroughly enjoyed by all.

George Berry of Madison Replies

Editor Democrat:—Noticing Farmer Smith's article in the Democrat I deemed it a wise move for the good of the farmers of Wayne county to write my opinion of the good a farm demonstrator is to a county. In the first place he does not say "Mr. Farmer," "I am here to show you how to farm and you must do my way," but he waits until the farmer calls upon him to consult with him on whatever problems the farmer may have to place before him. They talk the matter over and the county agent tells him what he knows about the subject under discussion. Should they not come to a satisfactory conclusion in the matter the agent notifies the extension service at Lincoln and they send out a man that makes a specialty of this man's trouble, without any expense to the farmer except some local expenses which are but a trifle.

A farm demonstrator is selected from the State University graduates, one who has always worked on a farm and gone to the university to complete his knowledge of farm workings, which knowledge he is willing to impart to Indians, Bohemians, and the wise. He works under the direction of the board of directors of the local farm bureau. This board consists of a president, secretary-treasurer and a vice-president from each precinct in the county. Committees are selected from this board to take care of the different kinds of work to be done by the demonstrator under their direction.

There is a great deal of work for the demonstrator in the way of informing the farmers how to treat their hogs for cholera, spray and prune trees, treat oats for smut and potatoes for scab, and exterminate gophers, etc. Madison county farmers have received a great deal of information in regard to drainage, concrete construction, and arrangement and planning of farm buildings by the demonstrator using his efforts in behalf of the farmers by securing the agricultural engineer from the state farm to come and make estimates and submit plans. There seems to be no limit to the knowledge a farmer can gain through a farm demonstrator by paying his fee of $5.00 per year, which amount is our association fee.

Madison county has had a farm demonstrator for two years. The first year the farmers more than saved the salary of the demonstrator in treating hogs for cholera and the same thing would occur again should the cholera again break out. We consider the farm demonstrator a bureau of information and would regret losing him. We have had few with us of the same opinion as Mr. Smith, but after an insight into the work many have changed their opinion. I know very well that if you organize a farmers' association and hire a demonstrator you will be pleased with the investment. I know it to be a good one.

Yours very truly,
GEO. BERRY.

Farm Observations and Notes

Owing to the European war, it is said that meat is short—we know it—and it is suggested by the powers that be that chicken meat may be produced as cheaply as any in this great state of Nebraska, where $35,000,000 worth grew last year, and it is suggested—a little late perhaps—that more attention be given to poultry this season. Near Kearney, 40 acres of a big ranch has been set apart and fenced for poultry, and all kinds of domestic fowls are being grown. Half a hundred incubators are busy night and day. The possibilities of poultry profit on the farm are but poorly used on many a place.

The winter wheat crop of the state, as indicated by the first reports is 98 per cent of a crop, which is 8 per cent ahead of last year. The acreage is about 9 per cent less than last season, according to the reports now filed.

We pause to ask if this county is to be represented in the Boy Encampment at the state fair this season? If not, why not? We are entitled to two representatives, and the county superintendent is the one to ask about your chance to go and manner in which you shall qualify.

Miss Hilda Aron of Hoskins, who was here last week to attend the alumni banquet, goes this week to Madison, Wisconsin, to visit her brother, who is one of the instructors at the university of that state.

Dr. J. f. House and wife went to Bancroft Saturday to spend Sunday with John G. Neihardt and family. Miss Mary was already there, having accompanied Mr. Neihardt and Mr. Kreider home on Friday.

Mrs. Nesbit, state organizer of the W. C. T. U., was in town Saturday as a guest of Miss C. M. White. Mrs. Nesbit went to Carroll Saturday evening to give a talk. She is to be in Wayne a week from Monday and a big meeting is being planned.

The Democrat is informed on what seems to be a dependable information, that there is a high grade just north of town which the recent rains have left in dangerous condition. At least several drivers have been unable to stay on top and have skidded to the ditch and had to be hauled out, but fortunately no one was injured and the cars escaped damage. It is suggested that a danger-slow sign be put up or the grade be made wider.

One or both of these plans should be taken up at once by the county board, and meantime drivers should remember that it is not a good place to try to pass a team.

A. M. Jacobs and wife have gone fishing. Their favorite fishing place is an island of the Atlantic, near Portland, Maine, and to this retreat they started Monday afternoon, taking good care, however to secure round trip tickets so that they need lose no time starting for their home on dry land in case any sub-sea crabs from across the water threaten an attack. Mr. Jacobs and wife will visit among relatives and friends for a month or two near Portland and Boston, where they formerly lived. Mr. Jacobs tells us that among the people there he finds some who think that Nebraska is a part of the great American desert, the home of bad Indians, and worse white men, and it is almost inconceivable to some of them how a man who has once gotten away from this land would think of making sure of being able to return by purchasing a round trip ticket.

WHAT is it that makes a soap desirable for the bath and toilet? Is it perfume? Or is it mildness, purity, quality?

The makers of Ivory Soap believe it is the last three. Ivory Soap is so mild, so pure and of such high quality that no perfume could improve its delightful natural odor.

It gives a rich, copious, bubbling lather, yet rinses easily. It cleanses perfectly and leaves the skin feeling as good as it looks.

DEMOCRATS CARE FOR CASH
Serum Law Gets Black Eye in Supreme Court. Railway Commissioners Joked.

On June 15th, the state treasury showed a balance of $550,000 in the general fund. This is the highest mark reached so far as we can learn, in the history of the state. In spite of the fact that a democratic State Board of Equalization in 1915 reduced the state levy nearly a half million dollars, state finances are in better shape than they have ever been, which speaks well for democratic economy and efficiency.

Two very vital sections of the law regulating the manufacture and sale of anti-hog cholera serum and virus have been declared unconstitutional by the supreme court. The law was passed at the last session of the legislature. The sections are Nos. 2 and 9, and the decision practically invalidates the measure. The case was instigated by the prosecuting attorney of Douglas county against a serum manufacturer of Omaha, and was in the nature of a friendly suit to test the law. The verdict was a distinct victory for serum manufacturers in so far as the state law is concerned.

State house and Lincoln democrats are not much worried over the Chicago nomination, judging from the enthusiasm which was displayed here when the delegation rounded up ready for its departure for St. Louis. The out in the state members showed just as much "pep" and altogether there was a sanguine feeling among them. Even if the republicans and moose get together, which is unlikely to any great extent, it is conceded that a large independent vote of the progressive party will go to Wilson this fall. A good many republicans are dissatisfied with the methods adopted at the Chicago convention, while a perusal of the platform gives little encouragement to those who had hoped for something besides a wholesale denouncement of president Wilson and democratic policies. That local republicans, who are of the more progressive type, are keenly disappointed, is easily discernible in their conversation and in an occasional emphatic expression that "Wilson is good enough for me."

Lieut.-Governor Pearson of Morefield, walked quietly into the governor's office Tuesday morning about the time Governor Morehead was preparing to sit down to breakfast in old St. Louis, where he had gone to attend the democratic convention, and proceeded to take charge of the gubernatorial business of this great commonwealth. Shortly afterward a reporter for a local organ allied with the opposition, who is something of a humorist, began circulating a story that Acting Governor Pearson had ordered out the militia, and was preparing ouster proceedings against the railway commission based on an opinion handed down by the attorney general. In addition to this he was alleged to have in mind the discharging of a bunch of state employees whom he had reasons to believe did not vote for him in the late primaries, the calling of a constitutional convention and was to otherwise conduct himself as befits a governor of a great state who has only a limited time to do the conducting. For a while great excitement prevailed. A number of appointees hurriedly prepared alibis and other defenses. Tom Hall of the railway commission, heard the story and rushed over to the governor's office. He found the acting governor in close consultation with Secretary of State Pool and his suspicions were confirmed. He rushed back and annexed the other two commissioners. Finally after a good deal of flurry and heart palpitation they got in communication with the semi-professional governor. They found him to be a very mild looking little man with a friendly smile, a warm handshake and engaging manners. He did not have large teeth, nor fierce looking whiskers, nor a bad look in his eye. In answer to the anxious inquiry he remarked that he had just dropped in for a little while and did not intend to do anything to disturb the even tenor of the way of the statehouse gang. A sigh of relief went up that had in it something of the semblance of a distant bomb explosion, and once more the railway commission had passed a crisis. In the meantime, a search revealed the fact that the reporter had taken to the tall timber, and as a result no casualties took place.

Editor Visits Wayne Normal

While at Wayne Friday afternoon The Press editor was shown through the splendid state normal school of which all northeast Nebraska is justifiably proud. We admired the splendid auditorium, one of the finest in the north half of the state; enjoyed the delights of the domestic science and manual training departments; drew inspiration from the splendid classroom, fine windows, stairways and broad corridors, strolled over the campus, inspected the dormitories, witnessed a game of chess a-la wireless, met the splendid men and women that comprise the very able faculty and enjoyed the cordial welcome given us and came away regretting that it was not Norfolk's fortune to have that fine state institution in place of the one we have. Wayne is a beautiful town of fine homes, churches and schools and the normal college gives it tone. Nobody, however slow to recognize the advantages of the higher education, could overlook the influence the college has on the town. The students, and there are more than 500 enrolled now, are a fine lot of young men and women anxious for mental growth, eager for learning and to come in daily contact with them can but mean a world of inspiration for those outside. By reason of the college, Wayne and her people are enabled to have the best in music, drama, public speaking, to see the best in art and to live under the very roof of a towering teacher of ideals. Standing on the highest hill, it overlooks the splendid town, the wonderful farming community that slopes away to the horizon with its greens and greys and here and there touches of vivid color no mortal hand could reproduce. Surely it was a splendid treat, ours of Friday afternoon, and we are indebted to the good friends who made the visit possible. Norfolk and Wayne should know more of each other—they are a twain even Mother Nebraska may point to with pride.—Norfolk Press.

Board of Equalization Proceedings

Wayne, Nebraska, June 13th, 1916. Comes now Henry Rethwisch, Geo. S. Farran and P. M. Corbit, county commissioners; A. H. Carter, county Assessor and Chas. W. Reynolds, county clerk, and organize as a Board of Equalization as required by law, by the selection of Henry Rethwisch as chairman and Chas. W. Reynolds as clerk. Comes now L. S. Needham with his attorney H. E. Siman and protests on the personal property assessment of $5,380 actual valuation as in and for the village of Winside, for the reason that this property is situated and located without the corporate limits of the Village of Winside, and is therefore assessable in Hancock precinct. After hearing the arguments and being fully advised in the premises the board transfers the assessment of $5,380 from the tax rolls of Winside to the tax rolls of Hancock precinct. No further business being completed at this time. Board adjourned to June 20th, 1916.

CHAS. W. REYNOLDS, Clerk.

In the July American Magazine, a writer says: "For most men life is a modified reign of terror. Three Fears get up with them in the morning and go to bed with them at night. They do not confess to one another that they are afraid; but their wives know."

"At night, after the children have been sent to bed, they sit by the fire, the average man and his wife, and face their three Fears:

First. The fear of the loss of the job.

Second. The fear of bad health.

Third. The fear of a dependent old age."

It should not be so. Put this and that together, all from the republican platform, and then vote that ticket if you can figure out how it could all be true: "Intercourse with foreign countries has been largely cut off by reason of the war." Then it says, "Imports have enormously increased," and also adds of the Underwood law, "but for the adventitious created by the war, would long since have paralyzed all forms of American industry." It is not expected that any except republicans will be able to take the three at one dose and not gag.

RUNDELL'S COLUMN

In 1864 the Union Pacific railroad company, after obtaining an increase of its land donation to four times the original grant, and receiving 10 cents per mile passenger fare and a corresponding high rate for freight on the part of the government, conceived the scheme of asking the government to give its land away to actual settlers. The result was the homestead law for which the republican editors and orators have claimed so much credit. The motive of the Union Pacific officials was a selfish one. They wanted settlers to provide traffic for their railroad; besides so long as the government, under the pre-emption law, sold land at $1.25 per acre, the railroad land found no purchasers. It was a good thought, and the Union Pacific officials should have the credit and not the republican party.

Why were the public lands of Iowa, within six years after the passage of this noble act, offered for sale to non-residents without limit? I have been told that the act was promoted by state and county treasurers who were not content with their salaries. They wanted the cash to deposit with banker on a split interest plan to be loaned back to the settlers at 3 per cent per month.

In the early '70s Burrows bank at Cherokee, Iowa, paid 65 cents on the dollar for county warrants. In 1877 I served as chairman of a green-back county convention, and with the aid of a friendly newspaper we elected every candidate and when the treasurer was installed the holder of a county warrant could get its face.

The railroad companies that had been granted magnificent donations of land in northwestern Iowa played a sharp trick on these hungry county treasurers. They delayed taking out their patents until the land was sold, thereby avoiding paying taxes, but this led to serious trouble. The U. S. land office accepted filings on this land from homesteaders, hundreds of whom with their families, and holding patents for their land signed by President Grant, were forcibly ejected by United States marshals and deputies to execute an order of the United States court. Not only did the corporations obtain everything they had the gall to ask from the republican party, but the courts subserviently obeyed their bidding. Oh, for a Teddy with the recall of judges and their decisions.

Why We Have Two Eyes. Because we have two eyes the things we see seem solid and not flat, with the result that we can judge their distance from us with fair correctness.

Look through a window at a house across the street with one eye closed and then with the other eye closed. The bars of the window frame will cut across the opposite house in different places.

The two fields seen with the eyes separately, although in the main alike, differ. When you look at the house with both eyes open the two fields seen by the two eyes are combined and the house across the street assumes depth and relief.

Although we see a house with each eye, we see only one house with both eyes. This makes the stereoscope possible—an instrument so designed that the two eyes are made to converge on a single point and yet to see two different pictures.

If these two pictures represent a chair as it would appear to the right and left eyes respectively, they are perceived as one solid object.—Popular Science Monthly.

Too Much. In a certain city the street car system is operated on the policy that the passenger is always right, and it seems to work to the advantage of the company.

A man, woman and a boy plinily of fare age boarded a pay-as-you-enter car. Father handed the conductor a dime and started for a seat.

"How about the child?" asked the conductor politely.

Father reached in his pocket for another fare and as he offered it to the conductor remarked:

"I never have paid for him."

"How old is he?" asked the conductor.

"Not quite five."

"I beg your pardon," replied the conductor. "I thought he was past six. If you say he is not five I cannot accept a fare for him."

Father returned the money to his pocket and sat down, with a flushed face, realizing the polite conductor had given him the worst of it.

"Well," remarked father to mother, "I guess we will pay for William after this."—Indianapolis News.

Two Views of a Treaty. The treaty of Ghent, which ended the war of 1812, as signed on the 28th of December, 1814, was variously regarded.

Henry Clay, one of the signers, thought it "a bad treaty" and did not hesitate to say so.

In certain high quarters in England, on the other hand, it was looked upon as a great opportunity thrown away.

An able minister would have continued the war," Lieutenant General Sir Charles Napier declared, "until the northern states withdrew from the Union, making a separate treaty with England, after which England could have raised the negroes of the south, marched to Washington at the head of an immense force of armed and disciplined black regiments and dictated peace, making Delaware an independent black state in alliance with England."

So much depends upon the point of view.—From "Our Nation in the Building" by Helen Nicolay, in Century Magazine.

Tricks of the Trade. When the little blond stenographer visited her friend, the tall brunette bookkeeper, the other day she found the latter busy with a lot of envelopes and some paste.

"Why don't you get good envelopes so they'll stick?" she asked.

"These do stick once," the brunette confided, "but I'm fixing them again."

"What's the idea?"

"Whenever people come into the office for my boss he likes to make them think he is rushed to death."

"Uh-huh!"

"So you see I am fixing up these old letters. He will make a great fuss opening them when a customer calls. He does that so much we have a hard time keeping a supply of letters to stick up."—Exchange.

The Word Gaiters.

Episcopal gaiters cannot do from a very remote antiquity. The very word "gaiters" is almost a newcomer to the language.

Johnson's Dictionary does not recognize its existence. It does not occur before 1760, and even in 1802 a military dictionary had to define it as "a sort of spatterdash."

"Guetre," however, the French original, goes back at least to the fifteenth century, and the origin of that is lost, though etymologists compare all sorts of words in all sorts of languages, including an old German word for a baby's christening cloth.

The one certainty is that gaiters has nothing to do with gait, in spite of the punning line in the "Rejected Addresses"—"Lax in their gaiters, laxer in their gait."—London Spectator.

The Kick Subtle.

A man who lives in Savannah and owns a plantation in Chatham county, Ga., bought a mule with a reputation for owning a set of gifted and hair-triggered hind legs and shipped her out to his place to be used in plowing for cotton.

A Sunday or so later he visited the plantation. The darky whose particular job it was to care for the working stock came limping up to him to report.

"Jim," asked the owner of the plantation, "does that new mule kick much?"

"Kick?" said Jim. "Boss, dat dar mule kin kick de sweetest right out of yore coffee!"—Saturday Evening Post.

Restraints of Poverty.

A negro with a bad cut in his head came to a doctor. The doctor fixed him up, and as the man was about to depart, the physician said: "That's a pretty bad cut in your head, Henry. Why don't you profit by this lesson and keep out of bad company in the future?"

"Well, I should like to, doctor," replied Henry sadly, "but you see, I ain't got no money to get er' divorce."
