SUCCESSFUL CHAUTAUQUA

The Wayne Mid-Summer Entertainment Pleasing Many with Its High Class and Pleasing Attractions. A Fine Opening Day.

1st Day Chautauqua

2:45 Prelude—Cap's Orchestra.
3:30 Lecture—"American Ideals"—David D. Vaughan, D. D.
8:00 Concert—Cap's Orchestra.

Ideal weather was J. Pluvius' bill for Wayne chautauqua opening and Sunday, July 9, was indeed an ideal day both in weather and in program.

Platform Superintendent Rev. S. X. Cross after the few preliminary announcements introduced C. C. Cappel's orchestra, better known as Cap's orchestra and the company composed of six men took the platform.

Mr. Cappel first introduced his company by telling how twelve years ago in the city of Bellefontaine, Ohio, the company was first organized. The original company did orchestra work merely as a side line, playing for entertainments, dances and plays in their own and neighboring towns.

Mr. Cappel is a printer by trade and he worked at his trade directing his company in spare hours. After five years their popularity had so gone abroad that they were induced to organize a permanent company composed of Bellefontaine boys. And so for the past seven years the company has traveled on chautauqua circuits. The company is composed of: C. C. Cappel, director, pianist and clarinet; S. M. Cooper, violin; Joseph Payer, clarinet and saxophone; Charles Hutchings, cornet; Harold Rexer, trombone and cello; Fred Royer, drums and violin.

Their opening number, a march, showed that they were true artists and all of their selections were of high class music and well rendered.

Following the concert Rev. D. D. Vaughan, D. D., of Chicago gave his lecture on the subject, "American Ideals." The ideals as set forth in the lecture were first the ideal home with its many influences. The very rich and very poor have no homes, and the hope of the two classes lies in the homes of the great middle class.

The ideal of truth. Men are needed to talk, to preach, to write the truth about the conditions as they exist, to make people understand without fear or prejudice just what conditions are and help the people find the remedy.

The ideal of liberty. Liberty from unnecessary toil, liberty from poverty, liberty from disease, liberty from an unequal distribution of wealth.

The ideal of justice. Child labor is not just for children are laboring in factories where they can look from the factory windows and see big strong men playing golf and tennis.

Justice of equal suffrage. Women are entitled to the vote for they are as much a part of the community, state and national life as are the men.

Ideal of equality, equality of opportunity. Giving the poor man, who is kept down in his rut of life by unreasonable, unjust conditions, a chance for better things.

Ideal of fraternity. The ideal of America is not to think and live Americanism or nationalism but internationalism. America's mission is to strive to better the world, not America alone.

Ideal of service. Not a question of what the world can give to you but what you can give to the world. Service by serving God and man, not selfish self.

The lecture was an inspiration. It was sound in principle, brim full with splendid truths. It left Wayne people something to think about as Mr. Vaughan wished it to. Wayne and Wayne community are blessed with a rich and thriving community far away from the conditions described in the lecture, existing in Chicago. Yet it is well we should know of those things for it is within our power to reach out and extend a hand of help and fellowship to those people.

Cap's orchestra gave a sacred concert in the evening.

2nd Day Chautauqua

Cap's orchestra gave the prelude program, consisting of three numbers and the evening concert.

James A. Burns, president of

The Masonic Picnic

The third annual picnic held last Friday afternoon by the Masons and Order of Eastern Star was a success in every particular, attendance, program, interest and enthusiasm. It was an ideal picnic day, and the refreshing shade of the Bressler grove furnished a delightful spot to spend a hot, sultry afternoon. Shortly after three o'clock the picnickers, with well-filled lunch baskets, began to assemble on main street, and C. W. Hiscox, A. A. Welch, W. J. Renick, V. A. Senter, W. A. Buetow and George Porter rendered excellent service in transporting them to the grounds in the autos. L. W. Roe and Geo. W. Fortner as members of the refreshment committee made elaborate provision for both the hungry and the thirsty. Ice water and lemonade were freely dispensed during the afternoon, and all were abundantly supplied with ice cream for the lunch in the evening.

Horseshoe, indoor baseball, and games of various sorts claimed attention until six o'clock, at which time the party divided into groups for the big picnic dinner. Following this Carroll Orr, chairman of the committee on amusements, staged a number of interesting events. Fifty yard foot race for boys under 10, won by Armand Hiscox; fifty yard race for boys between 10 and 15, won by Herbert Fortner; fifty yard race for girls under 15, won by Edith Huse; fifty yard race for married women, won by Mrs. A. R. Davis, with Mrs. V. A. Senter a close second; one hundred yard race for married men, won by Fred S. Berry, with Harry Craven second in the race; potato race, won by Mrs. D. W. Kinne; baseball throw, won by Miss Gladys Olson. Miss Elsie Ford Piper and Mr. Charles A. Bagart carried off the honors in the horseshoe game. When Miss Piper threw a ringer she vociferously yelled, "I ringed around the stake." She was given credit for the play but penalized for bad grammar.

The only disappointing feature to some of the ladies was Mr. Redmond's failure to announce his coming engagement, which he so faithfully promised to do. However the clouds of despair were dispelled when one thought of the disaster averted, for a time at least; that of Mr. Redmond giving up his delightful bachelorhood.

At about 8:30 the crowd journeyed homeward, voting the third annual picnic a great success and believing that such an event should be continued each year in the future.

Crossland-Claffin

The marriage of Miss Mildred Claffin to Weldon Frank Crossland was solemnized last night at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jason L. Claffin in University place. The vows were spoken at 7 o'clock before a company of sixty relatives and friends, the Rev. I. B. Schreckengast officiating. A reception attended by 200 followed from 8 to 10 o'clock.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Crossland were graduated from the Nebraska Wesleyan university in 1913. The following October Mr. Crossland went as a Rhodes scholar from Nebraska to Oxford university in England. He received his bachelor's degree there in June. The bride has been a teacher in University place schools.

The bridal couple departed last night for Omaha and from there will go to the lakes of Minnesota for their honeymoon. Enroute to Minnesota they will visit at Wayne, Mr. Crossland's home town, where he will lecture before the chautauqua tomorrow on the subject of the European war. During the latter part of the summer the couple will be in Wisconsin while Mr. Crossland acts as advance man for a Chicago chautauqua.—State Journal.

Another State Meet for Wayne

Arrangements are fast being completed for a state meet of the gun clubs at this place August 2d. This meet will bring to Wayne not only the good shots of this state, but those from other states are eligible to compete. In fact it makes it open to all comers, except perhaps professional men. In a later issue we will divulge more of the plans of the coming shoot.

Old papers for sale at this office.

VISITORS ARE COMING

Monday morning 100 men from all over the state will arrive in Wayne to spend the week at the State Tennis Tournament, which will be held on the Wayne tennis courts.

These men are business men—bankers, newspaper men, professional men and ministers, and it is well worth our while to entertain them royally, and give them a splendid impression of our hospitality and our town.

We entertained a similar set of men here two years ago and our town received a great amount of favorable publicity all over the state for months afterwards.

Let us show our visitors every attention next week—it will benefit our town to do so.

Will You Furnish a Room?

Will you room one or two of these guests for the week? The tennis association will provide all other entertainment, but it is impossible to get suitable rooms for these men without asking you to help us.

Will you take one or two of these men for the week?

A nice room in a nice home will help greatly toward winning their good will for our city.

If you have a room to spare kindly call on or phone Frank Morgan or Paul Harrington, and they will arrange to bring your guests to you sometime Monday the 17th.

THE WAYNE TENNIS ASSOCIATION

State Tennis Meet

The Fifth Annual Tournament of the Nebraska State Tennis Association will begin at the courts of the Wayne Tennis Club on Monday, July 17. The meet will continue during all of the week. There will be from eighty-five to one hundred entries in the singles and double events. It is expected that about 250 matches of tennis will be played during the week. Considerable interest has been aroused by the fact that the former singles champion, Harry Koch of Omaha will not be here and that Russell Larson another Omaha star is now playing in the east thus increasing the likelihood that some out-state player will win the singles.

Davis and E.H.H. the doubles champions will be present to maintain their title. Interest is shown in the probable entry of H. H. Rolfe of Omaha, a former Californian, who was ranked No. 5 in the United States in 1908. By his defeat of Johnny Madden at Omaha on Tuesday, he promises to be a regular come-back. Another probable entry is that of Prof. Partidge of Fremont, who recently won the Fremont Invitation Tournament.

The players will be entertained during their stay by the people of Wayne. Comfortable seats are being provided for spectators. No admission is charged and play will be practically continuous from 8:30 in the morning until dark. Special efforts will be made to stage some of the matches or special exhibition matches in the evening to accommodate those who find it impossible to attend in the day.

For Our Soldier Boys

I have a little plan for our soldier boys that I think every one of Wayne's citizens will approve of and help along, for we often think of them these warm days for we know it is much warmer and more uncomfortable where they are with possibly nothing to do but watch and wait through these hot days and nights. Let each of us send them a magazine or book by parcel post. Every one must have one with his name on it once a week. Surely this would give them pastime and pleasure, to receive a book from home and know that we were all thinking of them and wished them well. They can exchange their books with their comrades and all have the same chance to enjoy them.

There will be a place provided for you to leave your magazine, and do not forget to put your name on it. I will see that they are sent and each soldier boy gets a book from home.

Soules-Hollis Wedding

Monday morning, July 10, 1916, at nine o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, John L. Soules and wife, D. D. Hollis of Little Rock, Arkansas, was married to Miss Nellie Soules of this place, Rev. W. L. Gaston of the Baptist church officiating.

The wedding was a very quiet one only immediate friends and relatives being present. At nine o'clock Mrs. A. R. Davis started playing Mendelssohn's wedding march and the bride and groom accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Soules, father and mother of the bride, marched into the parlor where the guests were assembled and the preacher was waiting. Rev. Gaston then pronounced the words that made the couple husband and wife, the ring ceremony being used. Mr. Soules gave away the bride. Following the ceremony the guests congratulated the happy couple.

A charivari party had been organized and the guests and the new bride and groom were serenaded with improvised kettle drums, tin pans and other charivari implements.

The newly married couple left on the ten o'clock train Monday morning for Columbus where Mr. Hollis holds a position as chief chef in the Eagle restaurant and where they will make their home.

The only out of town relative was Mrs. G. H. Cadwell of Wisner, Mrs. Soules' mother. Guests of Wayne were A. R. Davis and wife, J. M. Cherry and wife and daughter, J. G. Mines and wife, Lambert Roe and wife, Mrs. Charlie Riese, Mrs. Marcus Kroger, Mrs. George Miner, Rev. Gaston and wife.

The Democrat joins with the many friends of the happy couple in wishing them much success and happiness throughout the years to come.

Will Feed Stockdale

On Friday noon the members of the Public Service club will have an opportunity to meet the Hon. Frank Stockdale at a luncheon served at the Gem cafe. After luncheon Mr. Stockdale will hand out some hand made advice and information concerning business and business methods that will be beneficial to every man who hears him.

The luncheon will cost the usual price of 35 cents and tickets can be procured from the secretary.

An Explanation

An article giving detail of a most important public work for Wayne and vicinity came too late for use in this issue of the Democrat, we are sorry to say, but it will appear next week, and will tell details of an enterprise many will delight to aid.

The Guild of St. Mary's church met last Thursday afternoon with Mrs. John Meister. At the close of a social afternoon an elaborate two-course luncheon was served. The Guild meets again next week.

Miss Margaret Pryor and Miss Clara Burson entertained a company of lady friends at a porch party Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Pryor, in honor of Miss Faye Benefiel of Leon, Iowa, who has been a guest at the Pryor and Dixon homes for the past two weeks.

Mrs. W. E. Winterringer, formerly of this place, but now residing in Marshalltown, Iowa, returned to Hartington Tuesday to visit with friends and relatives before finally returning home. Mrs. Winterringer has been visiting for the past few days with her daughter, Mrs. Verne Fisher and husband.

Mrs. Jones from Nashville, Illinois, was here last week and at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hall near Sholes, visiting. She is an aunt to Mr. Hall, and Sunday she, with Mr. and Mrs. Hall, visited at the home of Mrs. Hall's parents, R. J. Dempsey and wife. Mrs. Dempsey and Mrs. Jones were girls together in Illinois.

Mrs. Emma Durrin left Wednesday morning for Wenona, Illinois, where she will visit for an indefinite time with relatives and friends. Later she will go to Streator to visit for a few weeks. Mrs. Wm. House accompanied Mrs. Durrin as far as Streator, Illinois, where she will visit with relatives and friends for about five weeks.

Judge A. A. Welch left Monday afternoon for Williamstown, Massachusetts, where he will visit with his son Herbert for some time. Herbert is attending the summer session of the William college in order that he may finish sooner than he could by attending only the regular winter term. Leslie Welch, who lives in Kansas City, Missouri, left Thursday of last week for the east where he will stop at New York and Philadelphia for a few days going on to visit his brother for a few weeks. Neither brother knows of their father's coming so it will be a surprise visit all around.

George Shaw, former resident of Wayne, gave a dinner to twelve of his friends Friday at the Boyd hotel. Those present were Lambert Roe and wife, George Fortner and wife, A. J. Ferguson and wife, Robert Perrin and wife, George Roe, jr., Frank Roe Lottie White and Mr. Shaw. Old time were talked over, memory of events gone by recalled, in all it was a general good fast of food and fun. Mr. Shaw, before leaving Los Angeles gave a dinner party to a number of his relatives and friends at the Osceola, he gave another such party and then here Friday. Mr. Shaw says, "It gets my old friends together so I can see them and talk to them."

INTERESTING SOLDIER LETTER

James Steele Writes Briefly of Trip to The Sunny Southland, and Reports all Wayne Soldiers as Being Well

Co. E, Enroute from Houston to Brownsville, Sunday July 9, 1916, 6 p. m.

Editor Democrat:—Times were slow around our camp when part of our home boys took their leave for Wayne the first of the week. We felt that we were to be detained in camp for an indefinite time. They had hardly made their departure; however, when it was announced we were to be ready to leave within 36 hours. We were fitted out with shoes Wednesday. Thursday we were fitted out with underwear, socks and given a final inspection. Business for telephone company was rushing that evening with messages to home folks.

Arose at 4 o'clock Friday morning. Our straw ticks, rolled our blankets, ate mess and had all tents ready to fall at bugle call 6:30. Then rolled our tents, packed and loaded wagons and left fair grounds at 9:30 for our train which was waiting for us at the gate. It was composed of 15 coaches, 7 freight cars and cabooses.

Major Johnson being ranking major of our regiment, we are in the first battalion, and Capt. Burnham having highest rank as captain, we are first company in first battalion. Therefore, we had honor of being in the lead in leaving camp. Fifth regiment all turned out to give us a good send off. On our train are companies E of Wayne, F of Blair, G of Stanton, H of Madison, 4th Regiment Band supply company of Wisner and one division of hospital corps. The other two trains followed later.

Left Lincoln not knowing where we were going except that we would go as far as Kansas City on Burlington. Arrived here safe and sound with exception we run into a hand car between St. Joe and Kansas City. Occupants jumped in time to save themselves. At Kansas City we transferred to Missouri, Kansas & Texas railway and left that city at 8:40 p. m., passing a train of New York artillery.

Eastern Kansas sure has its charms. Crops fine, wheat mostly in the shock, corn tasseling, and air pure and sweet. About 2 a. m., we reached Oklahoma. This did not look to be as good farming country. Red clay soil, stony in southern part. At Muskogee oil wells were much in evidence. Just before reaching this city we crossed the Arkansas river, which is as muddy as our Missouri but flowing faster. Threshing and plowing cotton was order of the day. Saw very few hogs in Oklahoma, those we did see from appearances had their ancestors in Arkansas.

In passing from Oklahoma to Texas we crossed the Red river, which isn't very large at present but true to its name, it is red, be-

They visited with Dr. Ingham and family until train time.

Homer Scace and wife left Thursday evening on their vacation trip for Lusk, Wyoming, where they will visit with relatives for about a week. From there they will go to Denver, Colorado, and Pikes Peak on a sight-seeing trip. This trip will take about another week, and from there they will return home.

With three small chautauquas this week in territory from which Wayne draws more or less of chautauqua patronage, the advantage of having a strong program here will be apparent, no doubt, and enable us to draw from the outedge of the circle our full share. Allen, Wakefield and Pender are each holding a five day session this week.

We were just going to appropriate the following as our own, after seeing it in an obscure exchange as original, but when it appeared in at least a dozen exchanges without credit, we will not claim it as original:

"A brother editor remarks that he would rather have a good stomach than a million bucks. We modestly would prefer to have both."

Ensign Young left Friday for Chicago where he will visit about a week with friends, from there going on to Winona Lake, Indiana, where he will join Evangelist Stephens of the Stephens party with which Ensign has been associated for the past year. Ensign is to play at a large bible conference, which will be held at Winona Lake soon. This is a large meeting and many men and women of national and international fame in church work will attend. After the meetings are closed Ensign with the cornetist of the Stephens party are to give several concerts this summer on the chautauqua platform, while their evangelist Stephens will make addresses. Ensign is rapidly advancing in fame in the musical world, and is making a record that reflects high credit to home folks.

The record recently made by Jessie Forbes Bessie Homestead 100,742, a Holstein-Friesian cow, shows that with butter selling at 35 cents a pound, which is not above the average price for good butter in many parts, and allowing just a little for the skim milk her product would be worth $50 per month. Allowing that she would not be at high record all the year, it means a return of $500 per year besides a calf, and the calf from such a cow usually sells as high as $1,000. The cow recently sold for $3,000. In the same sale a bull but seven months old brought $20,000. His name is on the record book as King Champion Rag Apple 179,305. His dam has a record of 658.3 lbs., of milk and 41.811 pounds of butter for seven days, almost six pounds of butter per day. Yet there are people who will act as if they believe that it does not pay to test their cows and weed out the non-productive ones.

Water Chickens Often

It is surprising how much water a chicken will drink, particularly in hot weather. At this time fresh water is necessary to the rapidly growing chick and good producing hen. Water chicks in shallow dishes in the shade at least three times a day, preferably after each feed. A chicken wants a drink the last thing at night and the first thing in the morning, and it will not drink stale water.

Children's Diseases

Most diseases that man suffers from could be prevented, if the influence of the Spine as a causative factor were recognized. About ninety-five per cent of all diseases in children and adults are dependent upon traumatic causes; in Children, falls and recklessness in play are responsible for nearly all the trouble they suffer from, as the control of children during play is practically an impossibility; therefore, to forestall the possibility of diseases in children, parents should insist upon an examination of the spine being made every six months.

Nature always tries to make the best of a bad situation, health is only a relative condition and, while many parents are under the impression their children are enjoying robust health, if an examination of the spine be made, displaced vertebrae are reasonably certain to be found that are sure to produce future trouble, unless corrected.

The Bird Man's Evening

Charles Crawford Gorst, whistler, entertainer and bird lecturer with his inimitable imitations of bird calls and bird music pleased the large audience at the normal auditorium last Thursday evening, July 6th, in a way that left a lasting impression. Mr. Gorst is no common lecturer, for here is a man with a message, in a distinct class by himself. Birds, their habits, their habitats, their music, are his constant study and of which he has succeeded in perfecting an almost thorough human understanding and complete knowledge.

His study has led him to have pastels of the highest order painted of the birds he finds to be of the most common interest to all people, which are wonderful pieces of colored art.

Mr. Gorst opened his lecture by whistling Mendelssohn's beautiful Spring Song, "as a mocking bird would whistle it, if it had attended singing school when young." It was artistically done and the audience would have thoroughly enjoyed a full entertainment of such songs.

Mr. Gorst first explained the way the notes of the bird are imitated by the human voice; the lips, the teeth, the tongue, and the vocal organs all being used separately or combined to produce the notes. The breathing must be carefully watched and regulated to produce notes that are to resemble bird calls. To show how carefully the breath must be conserved Mr. Gorst whistled Yankee Doodle 5 1/2 times in one breath.

"A bird in the bush is worth two in the hand" is the new interpretation Mr. Gorst gives to an old proverb. "The time is coming, and in many of the states has already come, when those birds which are useful to man will be protected by law. This is only just in view of the fact that birds are demonstrating their usefulness in agriculture and forestry every day, showing their usefulness to offset their supposed harm in a hundred different ways.

Nature is the father and mother of us all, it has been the model of the artist, of the sculptor, of the architect; its human machine, the animal, is unexcelled by no machine invented by man and so its beauty, its music, expressed in the flowers and the silver throated birds out rivals any beauty and music that the mind of man can conceive.

Mr. Gorst imitated the robin and the house canary, which went to prove that bird music or notes have rhythm or a musical quality in the sense that we understand music, but not a complete tune as the music we have.

By illustration on charts Mr. Gorst, as an introduction to the different calls he would imitate of the birds he would show, explained how he was able to take down on paper the different notes of the bird calls, so he could easily learn them by the notes, in the same manner a musician reads the music from the printed paper in front of him.

The chart was simply a combination of vowels and phonetic sounds that could be produced by the vocal organs. It was easily understood and once seen, much of the mystery of the bird imitator was cleared up.

With these notes in mind and a basis to work upon Mr. Gorst could now show his audience how the birds music has rhythm, measure and time. As an example he whistled the blue bird song and by leaving out the superfluous notes that the bird sometimes puts in, he showed very clearly how the song resembled human music.

Mr. Gorst next gave the whistle or song of the following birds as he showed each one by illustration: the song sparrow, the bob-o-link, the blue bird, the red wing black-bird, the white throated thrush, the Baltimore oriole, with its sad sweet song; the blue jay with its robust, strong and somewhat harsh song, although this is not the characteristic nature of the bird, at all times. The Wilson thrush, the hermit thrush, the wood thrush, the eastern meadow lark, a trifle larger than our western meadow lark whose song is more robust, were all imitated by Mr. Gorst.

Mr. Gorst now told how, after hearing many birds, he believed that the western meadow lark embodied all it saw of this rich Nebraska land of ours, with its rich prairies, its waving corn and other grain and its beautiful pasture lands into its melodious, noble, inspiring song which it sings on its favorite fence post all the day long.

The scarlet tanager, the rose crested grosbeak, with their beautiful feathers, the whippoorwill with its sad mournful call, the call of the night hawk, the wondrous unearthly call of the screech owl were given. The yellow bill and black bill cuckoo, the cardinal with its beautiful feathers, the black chickadee, the mocking bird with its ever changing song were shown and imitated. The last bird shown and imitated was the cat bird, with its brown feathers and cat like call.

Mr. Gorst said he believed that the birds learn their songs from early impressions rather than by inheritance or later impressions. They are curious like people, and when their call is imitated will come toward the source of the sound, not because of the call itself but because they know their call is being given in a not altogether perfect way. Another thing noticed was that birds are often interested in each others songs. The instance cited was when he noticed a sparrow sit down by a robin on a twig and watch the robin sound his call.

Mr. Gorst closed by urging all the people who listened to his lecture to study nature more closely. "We live surrounded by nature on all sides and yet it is seldom studied. It has a wealth of beauty of colors and its ever changing scenes are a source of study never to be tired of."

The lecture throughout was a masterful, scholarly study and talk on a most interesting subject. The audience was appreciative as was shown by the applause. No one attended the lecture who did not receive a better, clearer insight of Nature and its likeness and nearness to those things which are beautiful, pure and uplifting.

Nature is Gods own handiwork given to us, for use and to be used by us. It was given to make this old world better than it could ever have been without the birds, the flowers, the trees and the mountains. He has given us the birds for our enjoyment, embodied in the word Music. We can ill afford to destroy wantonly His own gift.

Golden Wedding and Reunion

Last Saturday, July 1st, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Milligan celebrated their golden wedding and enjoyed a reunion of their children and children's families. On account of the illness of one of the daughters, the event had been postponed from December 16th to July 1st.

They assembled from widely scattered homes to meet each other and their parents under the old home roof and to form the acquaintance of new members of the family. August Jaiser, wife and children came from Kansas City; Emil Horstman and family from Denver; J. O. Milligan, jr., Scribner, Nebr.; Emmett Milligan and family from North Bend, Nebr.; Miss Gertrude Milligan from Cody, Wyo.; Charles E. Woodruff (whom the Milligans raised) with his wife and daughter from North Yakima, Wash.; Miss Rena Milligan lives with her parents. Glen's wife was ill and they could not be present but expect to come for a visit later.

Though, considering the long distance travel by some of them, they had but a brief time together, yet it was a memorable home-coming and a most enjoyable one. A magnificent Victrola was given to the parents to be a constant reminder of the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Milligan, sr., were married at Wyandot, Ill., December 16, 1865, just after Mr. Milligan had returned from his duties under the U. S. government at Nashville a few months after the Civil war closed. They moved to Nebraska in the spring of 1869. They have participated in the development of the state from a wild, unsettled district to its present high rank in culture and commerce. Whether as farmer, merchant or capitalist, Mr. Milligan has been successful. He has assisted in and directed large enterprises and has almost uniformly "made things go." The family moved to Wakefield twenty-six years ago and have been prominently identified with its interests since. Though now retired, Mr. Milligan still takes a keen interest in the community and its enterprises.—Wakefield Republican.

The Schools Consolidate

The Iowa newspapers tell of the success of a recent consolidation of country schools and the erection of a fine modern school house and the establishment of a graded school system at the village of Dow City. A territory of 42 sections of land contiguous to the village was taken into the district, which voted $75,000 bonds.

At 4 1/2 per cent these were snapped up, and a premium of $1,200 paid on the issue. There had been doubters and determined objectors, and the promoters of the plan adopted a clever scheme to silence or convert these. Representative opponents of the plan were induced to go and visit districts in other counties where consolidation had been effected. They were asked to talk to school patrons, especially those who had themselves opposed the plan at first. They found almost nobody to criticize—the actual working of the scheme had steam-rollered all opposition out of existence. So the Dow City district carried its bond issue with a good majority.—Farm and Fireside.

At Sloan, Iowa, a similar move is under way, and a district has voted bonds for a fine consolidated school. Some of these days the people will be willing to pay as much to give their children a chance as they will to see that their blooded stock has the best of care.

Obituary of P. D. H. Burnham

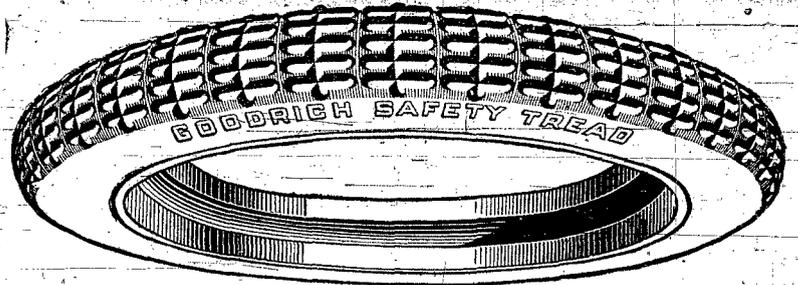

Potter DeWild Hamilton Burnham was born in Allegheny county, New York, March 10, 1833, and died at the home of his son, H. W. Burnham, at Sholes, Neb., at 12:30 p. m., June 24, 1916, aged 83 years, 3 months and 14 days.

At an early age he moved with his parents to McHenry county, Illinois, where he received a liberal education and prepared for the teaching profession which he was compelled to abandon on account of impaired hearing. He came to Mills county, Iowa, in 1860, where he resided until he moved to the vicinity of Sholes, Neb., in 1890.

Grandpa Burnham was made a Mason at the age of 27 and was the oldest and one of the best informed Masons in the state of Nebraska. He was a charter member and one of the organizers of the Masonic lodge at Silver City and Malvern, Iowa. In religious belief he was a Universalist and has always lived an honest righteous life.

Three Million Auto Tires made——by GOODRICH, in year 1915

STUDY the Price-List publicly printed below. Compare with the List-Prices of other Tires made in LESSER Volume. Observe that competing Prices are higher in almost the exact proportion that VOLUME of production is smaller. This, when Quality approaches the Goodrich Standard. Cut our 1915 Tire Output (of 3,000,000 Auto and Truck Tires) to One-third, and it would still far exceed the Average of all Competing Makes or Brands. But, that huge reduction in Volume MIGHT result in every Tire we made costing you One-third MORE than present prices. They would not,—and could not,—be BETTER Tires, at this necessarily higher-cost to Us, and higher-price to You. Because,—Goodrich Tires are not made "up to a price,"—nor "down to a price."

WE, first of all, make the BEST Fabric Tires that our 47-year Experience in Rubber-Working,—our huge Purchasing-Power, and the most Advanced Equipment, renders possible. Then we let Cost fall where it will. To that Cost we add a moderate, and fair, Profit for Ourselves and for our Dealers. Then we let VOLUME rise,—as it will. The more Tires we Make, the LESS each Tire COSTS us to produce,—and the less it costs YOU to buy them. The more Tires we Sell, the less profit, per Tire, WE NEED, for dividends. The more Tires we make, the better we KNOW HOW to make them,—the more we have at Stake on Quality,—and Satisfaction to Consumers. And,—because of all this,—THE BEST Fabric Tires that Skill,—Experience,—Good-Faith, and Maximum Volume, can build,—are now available to YOU at the VERY MODERATE Fair-List Prices here quoted. Why pay more for ANY Fabric Tire?

Secret of Good Jelly Making

Many housewives insist that the making of a good jelly depends upon luck, but any housewife may always have a perfect jelly if she knows the principles of jelly making and follows a few general rules. The essential part of fruit juice that makes jelly set is a chemical substance called pectin. It is found in abundance in apples, currants, grapes, quince and the white rind of oranges and lemons. Small quantities are found in cherries, raspberries, blackberries, and pears. Since pectin is essential, the housewife should determine whether the fruit juice she expects to use contains any before she starts the jelly making process. To determine whether pectin is present, add two tablespoonfuls of grain alcohol to two tablespoonfuls of hot fruit juice. Cool, and if pectin is present, a lump of jelly will have formed. The size of the lump will indicate the amount of pectin present. Fruit juice should also contain acid. By tasting it one can easily determine whether or not acid is present. If lacking, enough lemon juice or tartaric acid may be added to give the fruit a tart taste.

COUNTY DEMOCRATS MEET

Select Delegates, Name County Central Committee, Elect Officers and Pass Resolutions.

It was not a large number of democrats who quit work at this busy season to give voice to their choice of delegates to the state convention and name a county central committee, but those present did good work, and held a harmonious session.

The meeting was called to order by Walter Guebler of Winside, the county chairman, and in the absence of Secretary Ziegler, who is not yet fully recovered from his recent sickness, J. H. Kemp was named as temporary secretary, and the temporary organization was made permanent.

Call for convention read. A committee on resolutions appointed by Chair—C. J. Rundell, L. A. Kiplinger, and E. O. Gardner. Committee on delegates to state convention—Henry Bartels, P. W. Oman, and J. H. Massie. They reported the following names and they were elected by acclamation: Phil Kohl, W. O. Hanssen, L. A. Kiplinger, Henry Bartels, J. H. Massie, Simon Strate, W. H. James, Charley Killian.

Resolutions Committee report read by L. A. Kiplinger, and adopted by acclamation was as follows:

Resolutions:

The Democrats of Wayne county, in convention assembled join all thinking men and women (fathers and mothers) of America in Praise to God for the defeat of Wm. Howard Taft and Theodore Roosevelt in 1912, and tender our gratitude to Woodrow Wilson, who, in spite of active conspirators abroad and pretended patriotic leagues at home has kept this republic with honor out of the consuming broils of the old world war. He has so confounded those who criticize his diplomacy that they resort to joining the ruler of Mexico in charging him with desiring war to advance his political interests.

We most heartily commend the economic measures of the democratic administration which have resulted in such universal prosperity, such as has not been given the people under any other rule, and has driven his critics to resort to their old tariff twaddle with its sophistry that the foreigner pays our tariff taxes. The wisdom of its militant and economic acts challenge the criticism, not only of its opponents in this country, but of the world, and its record both civil and militant has our most hearty endorsement.

We commend the officials of our state from governor down for the many economic reforms put in force and for the thorough business methods in which the affairs of the state are being handled, and ask all citizens who believe in the economical administration of state affairs to endorse the past reforms by their vote in November.

To the end that the people of the state may be freed from the clutch of transportation and fuel monopoly, we urge that the members of the next legislature take decided steps toward providing for the public ownership and use of the water power of this state.

We heartily endorse the idea of a state tax of one cent per acre, the fund thus raised to be paid to relieve losses inflicted by hail upon growing crops.

We commend the loyalty and patriotism of the young men who have been called to defend our southern border from the raids of a disorganized and impoverished people who are striving to free themselves from the oppressive hand of monopoly, and we recommend that this great and prosperous state give additional compensation to the men who have made this sacrifice. We believe that the men who fight for our country should not be asked to serve for less compensation than they received at home.

We favor the re-submission of the revenue amendment, so dishonestly defeated in 1914, that the taxing power of the state may be made more elastic and thus conform to more modern methods of raising the needed revenues for state expenses.

County central committee selected, was as follows: Hoskins—Simon Strate. Strahan—Henry Klop ping, Wayne. Leslie—C. A. Killian, Wakefield. Logan—J. K. Mitchell, Wakefield.

Wilbur—W. H. Buetow, Wayne. Winside—E. W. Cullen. Plum Creek—Wm. Assenheimer, Altona.

Wayne 1st—R. P. Williams. Wayne 2d—J. M. Cherry. Wayne 3d—L. A. Kiplinger. Hunter—W. A. K. Neely, Wayne. Garfield—Geo. F. Dreisen. Sherman—A. R. McDowell, Sholes. Hancock—Sam Reichert, Winside.

Chapin—Ward James, Winside. Deer Creek—J. F. Stanton, Carroll.

Brenna—D. H. Surber, Wayne. L. A. Kiplinger was elected chairman of the county central committee and J. H. Kemp, secretary.

Motion carried that chairman and secretary of County Central committee be empowered to fill vacancies occurring on ticket.

On motion Hon. L. A. Kiplinger addressed the County Convention on "The Democratic National and State Administrations."

C. J. Rundell, candidate for State Representative, spoke briefly on "Republicanism Versus Democracy."

ing colored by the red clay.

Striking Dennison at 9:45 a. m., and traveled all day long in Texas, passing through Dallas, Waco and reaching Houston at 3:45 a. m., Sunday. And all of this long run being through fields which were showing forth the fertility of that great state. Corn has ears on and looks like good old Nebraska in August. Grain being threshed. After we left Dallas cotton began to show up as king, showing about the percentage that corn does up home. Cotton fields certainly look fine, are just beginning to bloom. Can't hardly see a weed in the fields. Besides being plowed, weeds are hoed out. In the towns you can see great sheds or warehouses where baled cotton is stored. The first one I saw thought it was a bowery. They are made with a platform about four feet high and a roof over it, no side walls.

Another thing that was much in evidence on our long ride through Texas was its Jersey cows. Saw cows all along the way and every one of them a Jersey.

Paved roadways into the large cities also and many rural electric railroads.

At different places we noticed peaches on trees but not till we awoke in Houston did we realize that we were at least in a semi-tropical climate. There we found many young orange groves, trees with figs and persimmons. While people told us watermelon fields were just a few miles ahead.

Another thing of interest to us was the spirit of people on our way. From Nebraska to the end of our journey we were greeted by the Stars and Stripes. Many times in country homes along track, people would wave our banner as a greeting. In Texas, of course, people are much interested; they being on the border.

At Houston we waited for other two sections of our regiment and upon leaving there on Sante Fe another battalion of 4th was added to our train, making 43 cars in all.

We are not making very good time, however, as road is much under guard for some 200 miles above Houston and therefore must move with care.

Rice fields are much in evidence here below Houston. Also if you folks need palm leaf fans we could stop off and pick you a whole arm full. Lot of them along railroad track been mown down.

We are going to the border and are willing to sacrifice time, wages, health and should occasion demand it our life's blood, not to conquer a race of people or a strip of territory but for the upbuilding of human kind. Then comes the thought, will those dependent upon the boys at the front be led to starvation while others are padding their bank rolls with cold cash. If they are well taken care of please do not call it "charity" for it will but be meager reward for service well rendered.

Sometime tonight or tomorrow we expect to reach Brownsville, Texas, located at the mouth of Rio Grand. Don't know how long we shall be there. With best wishes from all the boys.

J. J. STEELE.

Llano Grand, Tex., July 10.—The Fourth Nebraska under Colonel George Eberly and Lieutenant Colonel William Baehr, detained here today in a terrific rainstorm, and immediately set about pitching camp.

Many delays were encountered along the last one hundred miles of the journey and it was not until 3 o'clock that the train reached its destination.

Mercedes had been selected for the concentration camp, but a suitable tract large enough to encamp all the soldiers expected here could not be obtained and the camp was moved to this place, three miles west. One battery of field artillery from Indiana is already on the scene and from now on until the end of the week troops from Indiana and Minnesota will continue to arrive. It is expected that this will be one of the biggest concentration camps along the border.

Colonel Bloeksom, Third United States cavalry, is in command. The New York regiments are within a short distance of this camp. Sanitary conditions here are not bad. The ground is well shaded and the men may suffer some discomfort from mosquitos, but the sanitary department is working hard to overcome this. Major L. Breche-min, jr., United States army, is in charge of the sanitary department. The Nebraska men made a good impression as they marched from the train to their camping site.

A large lake nine miles long is only half a mile from camp. Fine fishing and swimming can be had here.

Wanted—Girl for General house work. Mrs. J. I. Ahern. adv.

Late News Notes

There is much newspaper talk about an epidemic of infantile paralysis in the city of New York and other parts of the country, and it is serious, and worthy of careful and intelligent effort to check and if possible exterminate. Yet the health report of the same New York city shows that an epidemic of measles which was so little noticed that it did not receive more than passing attention from the city press, and none from the press of the outside country, was far greater, and resulted in a greater percentage of fatalities and life-affliction to victims than the paralysis. The same is true in this community. There is a government offer of $100,000 for an effective remedy or preventative for infantile paralysis—to this should be added a like offer for the measles. Measles are not even quarantined in this state, yet they are highly contagious. Is there a preventative remedy? Must measles go on forever?

Since President Wilson has insisted that congress pass on the reforms it is pledged to before adjournment for the campaign, the members of both branches, are getting down to work in earnest. Some of them might better stay right there and saw wood. If they come home they may be asked some embarrassing questions. A lot of republicans might have to explain why they voted for the democratic revenue measure—but more of them may be asked why they did not support it.

The Independent Workers of the World have declared war on the steel concerns, and have inaugurated a strike in the iron mining region of Michigan, where 20,000 miners are out for an increase of pay, and are appealing to their fellow workers for money to live on. They are asking for laborers a wage ranging from $2.75 to $3.50 for an 8-hour day. It is such labor troubles as these which will hasten the day when government will own and operate or at least control the great mineral deposits of the people.

The Allies are crowding in on the Central powers from all sides with varying success. Russia appears to be gaining territory faster than the English and French. Italy is making some progress, but as yet the fighting is all outside of Germany and Austria except

What Has Been May Be! Land Investment is Safe Sound and Sure. Thirty years ago a tract of land sold near Lincoln, the capitol of this state, at $40 per acre. Last year the same land sold at $250 per acre, breaking the Nebraska record for large acreage of unimproved land. This land grew good hay crops each year, paying its way--the $210 per acre increase was velvet. We are now offering land equally as rich and fertile at as low a price ($40.00) per acre, and as near the capitol of a great and growing agricultural state as was this Nebraska land. Land that will annually produce as good a crop, land that will pay its way, and land that will advance much within the next few years, because there is but little like it left. We ask you to investigate, Mr. Renter and Mr. Speculator. Have some offerings for a less price, others a trifle higher, but all bargains. Write Geo. E. Wallace, Bismarck, N. LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Gus Hanssen was a visitor from Randolph the first of the week.

Mrs. F. H. Jones and Miss Belle Temple were passengers to Sioux City Wednesday.

Beaman is agent for The Price Canning Compound. Mail orders given prompt shipment.—adv.

Mrs. Anna Kyd of Beatrice came Tuesday evening to visit a few days with Mrs. Harry Jones and family.

Miss Cora Smith of Pender, who has been visiting with her sister, Mrs. Don Fitch and family, returned to her home Tuesday.

Miss Helen Blair went to Whiting, Iowa, Wednesday to visit for about two weeks at the home of Will Whiting and family.

Beaman can take care of you on good Country Butter along with your Grocery orders. We candle our eggs very carefully.—adv.

Miss Mabel Goeman left Wednesday morning for Arcadia, Iowa, to visit with her aunt Mrs. C. Brockman and family for about two weeks.

Beaman sells MYSTIC and SOLITE flour at a fair profit and his sales are increasing each month. There must be a reason; you can taste it in the bread.—adv.

Mrs. W. F. Sears of Kersey, Colorado, came Friday evening to visit with her son-in-law, W. S. Bressler and family for an indefinite time. She has spent the past three years in Colorado.

Sunday Frank Gaertner left on his annual trip to Grand Rapids, Michigan, the home of the great furniture makers. His mission was to buy furniture, and send it here for your benefit.

Mrs. Geo. Heady returned Tuesday morning from a visit of four weeks at Scotia, where her sons live. She tells us that she saw no better crop prospects between here and there than right here at Wayne, but is of the opinion that their prospects for a great harvest there are as good as here.

Mrs. L. E. Panabaker is home from Ft. Collins, Colorado, where she was called some weeks ago by the death of her brother-in-law, Mr. Ed Stephens. She remained with her sister several weeks after the funeral, and says that she likes that climate very much, that she hated to leave—but the fact that she was coming to as good a place as Wayne, of course, made the parting from Colorado seem more tolerable.

Woodward's and O'Brien's Chocolate Candies on Ice at Beaman's Grocery.—adv.

Miss Faye Benefiel returned to her home in Leon, Iowa, Wednesday after a two week visit with Miss Sybil Dixon.

Mrs. Dan McManigal left for Hamill, South Dakota, Monday to visit for about two weeks with her family, Mrs. S. K. West and family.

Ed Ellis was home from the carnival show over Sunday and reports that business is good in all lines of the carnival profession, even to the ostrich farming.

Mrs. L. Hildenkamp of Arlington and Mrs. E. Shearer of Fontanelle returned to their homes Tuesday after a few days visit with Mrs. Carl Victor and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ott, who have been here on a furlough from the home at Burkett, returned the last of last week. She had been here a month, and he came two weeks later.

Dr. J. J. Coleman of Hartley, Iowa, came Monday morning to visit until the afternoon with his parents and sisters, Pat Coleman and family. He returned home on the afternoon train.

Miss Ethel Garwood of Carroll and cousin Miss Ruth Garwood whose home is in Newcomerstown, Ohio, and who is visiting Miss Ethel Garwood were in Wayne Monday afternoon attending chautauqua.

Beaman sells MYSTIC and SOLITE flour at a fair profit, and his sales are increasing each month. There must be a reason; you can taste it in the bread.—adv.

The committee chairmen to take charge of the work of fitting the playground and chautauqua ground, have been chosen and are announced as the following: Mrs. Henry Ley, Mrs. Fred S. Barry, Mrs. J. J. Williams, Mrs. Eli Laughlin, and Mrs. W. A. K. Neely. These committee chairmen will appoint their own committee to aid them in carrying out the work.

Gus Bohnert and wife and daughters, Magdaline and Katherine went to Neligh Monday to visit about two weeks with Mrs. Bohmert's niece, Mrs. M. Toussard and family. Miss Magdaline will visit a few days at Neligh then will go to Norfolk to visit a few days with friends, going from there to Lincoln to visit a short time. Gus will go on to his farm in the "Rosebud" land for a few weeks.

Beaman can take care of you on good country butter along with your grocery orders. We candle our eggs very carefully.—adv.

Among the Churches of Wayne

Methodist Church
(Rev. A. S. Buell Pastor).
There was a good service at the Methodist church last Sunday morning if the interest manifest in the faces of the listeners is any indication. If you were helped by the message, tell your friends and invite them to come with you next Sunday. The pastor will preach on, "The Eagle's Nest." You will find this message intensely interesting and full of helpful suggestions.

The great Nebraska Epworth Assembly meets in Lincoln, August 1st to 10th, with a program of great merit. This is the twentieth year of the assembly and is expected to be the best. This assembly is under the management of the Epworth Leagues of the state and is the greatest tented assembly in the United States.

Remember that September is the opening date for the Fife Brother's tabernacle meetings. Arrangements have been made whereby the new garage on the corner of third and Main streets is to be used for these meetings. This is fortunate, since the building is just right in location, size and arrangement for such meetings.

It looks as though the harvest would be out of the way in good season and the farmers have a chance to attend during the entire campaign. We are expecting and praying for a great revival meeting.

There is to be no evening service at the church next Sunday evening on account of the chautauqua.

Presbyterian Church
(Rev. S. Xenophon Cross, Pastor)
We hope to be able to join with all the other churches of the city in Sunday evening union services until after the beginning of the Fife Revival campaign.

All summer visitors in Wayne are invited to attend the Sunday morning services of this church. These services will be continued right through the summer in spite of hot weather.

The Y. P. S. C. will meet next Sunday evening. It is desirable that every member shall be present. The meeting will be dismissed in time to permit everybody to attend the evening chautauqua meeting.

German Lutheran Church
Rev. Moehring, Pastor
Next Sunday there will be Sunday school at ten o'clock and services at eleven o'clock.

There will be no services at Winside.

The congregation at Winside should bear in mind that there will be a missionfest at Winside a week from next Sunday. The preachers will be announced next week.

Baptist Church
(Publicity Committee)
The regular morning service at the Baptist church next Sunday will constitute the Baptist services of the day. In the evening they dismiss to attend the chautauqua. The pastor will deliver the morning sermon and the regular choir led by Prof. Davies will be responsible for good music.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church
(Rev. J. H. Fetterolf, Pastor)
Sunday school every Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

Worship with sermon at 10 a. m., but there will be no preaching in the evening.

The Ladies Aid will hold its next meeting Thursday afternoon, July 20 at the home of Mrs. Anton Lerner.

Special Train From West Point

Two car loads of West Point boosters were here Tuesday morning advertising the race meet to be held at that place next week, the 18th, 19th and 20th. The best horses in this part of the state will enter and compete for nearly $4,000 in purses. The boosters who were here tell us that the track is in splendid condition, and those who know claim that some records will be smashed if conditions are as favorable next week as now. A number of Wayne people are planning to go and see a real horse race. They carried a splendid band and were accompanied by 100 men and women. The train went round the circle from West Point to Norfolk, thence to Emerson, south to Blair and up that line home. The Wayne Public Service club opened the ice cream parlors of the city to the boosters and many of them stopped for a cooling dish.

ALL PEOPLE OF WAYNE

Whose shoes need repair are requested to bring them to the new shop opposite the Crystal, where price is reasonable, the work guaranteed and is promptly done. Competent workmanship.

Just Advertising—That's All

It might pay a lot of people to read the Telephone advertisement this week. They have no competition here, yet they are constant and consistent advertisers. Why? Because they believe that publicity helps to increase their business even though they have practically a monopoly of the hello game. If a telephone is desirable let that be known and people will buy the use of it. By advertising they increase the efficiency of their service—and better service means better patronage.

We sometimes approach others, who do not seem to hold this view of advertising. With them it is a matter of weather or convenience or generosity. One week it is too cold—another too hot, if one is to believe that the excuses they give are valid and in good faith. Another watches to see if his competitor is going to advertise and thus force him to do so. They do not give proper time to the preparation of their advertising. Too busy is a common excuse—and what are they busy about—dusting, packing away goods or washing windows—things very necessary to be done, but they have helpers competent to do such work who are not familiar enough with stock, the prices and conditions to intelligently write an advertisement—but they could do the other work. Possibly the newspaper men are at fault in not intelligently co-operating with the advertiser and aiding him in the work.

A few weeks ago one firm here engaged the services of one of the most competent advertising men in the country to give the publicity end of their business a bit of his time and attention, and we will watch the result with much interest. They will, we believe make it profitable, for they are giving it careful attention themselves. We know of others who have been talked into starting what was supposed to be some aid of that nature, but they bought a supply of cuts and copy for a year or two at one hitch and used about two or three of them and quit with cold feet—absolutely throwing the money paid for help away.

This, and all newspapers, subsist largely on the advertising patronage, and we want it to be good—worth all it costs the purchaser and more too, for thus we are assured our daily bread. Why not study advertising and the best methods of publicity?

FURNITURE FOR QUICK SALE

Having disposed of my business here, I have for quick sale a full set of household and kitchen furniture, all nearly new and in splendid condition, consisting of four or five bedroom sets, bedding, couch, rockers, copper clad range and boiler, and other desirable furniture. Come soon for first and best bargains.

Local Crop Conditions

The week just past has been a record breaker as a corn growing week. It has been a constant hustle for the farmer to get over the corn the last time intended before it became too large for the cultivator. Then he has had other motives for hurry. Early oats are ready for the reaper. Clover and timothy hay is in proper condition for the best hay and the second alfalfa crop is reaching up and calling for cutting. Beyond a doubt now is the very busiest week on the farm.

All crops are doing fine, and are ranging above the 10-year average several points. The report from over the state is generally good, and the reports of those who travel from here and those who come here from other places are unanimous in declaring that this little corner of the state is ahead of any they have seen anywhere. Corn is always mentioned as being better than elsewhere.

Supt. Blondell of the Northwestern called a few moments recently and said that he had just completed a daylight trip through Iowa, and Illinois to Chicago, then back through Wisconsin, Minnesota and northern Iowa, but in all the trip taken for the purpose of noting crop conditions, he saw no section of the country which equalled northeastern Nebraska.

Wise and Otherwise

We love our President for the enemies he has made.

The richest woman in the world has gone the way all must go—wealth is all left behind unless she had a wealth of character—of good acts and humane deeds.

The Marion Register puts a low estimate on the patriotism and intelligence of the people of Iowa when it predicts that the republicans will carry the state by 100,000 majority.

John P. Irish of Iowa, who has won the distinction of having it repeatedly said of him that he never was right on any question, is convincing many of the people of the truth of the saying by announcing that he is for Hughes.

It is said that Congressman Mann of Illinois is to be speaker of the house of representatives, if the republicans control the next congress. By what authority can this be predicted? Is not the house yet to be elected the body that says who shall preside? Not if the republican can win—and that is the reason they should not win.

And now if the democratic administration shall decide to conquer Mexico with bread instead of bullets, it will give Teddy something to talk about in the coming campaign. Why should we spend a million dollars to secure the friendship, confidence and gratitude of a people, when we could fight them to a finish for perhaps two hundred times that sum and an 100,000 good men lost?

It is seldom that you can find anyone who will oppose the President's domestic measures such as rural credits, banking legislation, tariff reduction, the income tax and direct election of senators by the people. If only those who oppose these acts of a democratic congress will vote for Mr. Hughes, his vote will be light. Even republican congressmen dared not vote against all of these measures and go home and ask re-election.

One of the reasons the republicans have for opposing President Wilson is the fact that they want the offices. But how many of them can expect to secure an office? There will be but one postmaster at Wayne, and we are informed on splendid authority that if the republicans win, the people of Wayne as a whole will have nothing to say about WHO will be postmaster—that will be settled by the bell-weather of the stand-patters, and don't you for get it.

Possibly the administration of state affairs in Nebraska have not been perfect under democratic rule the past three years and a half, but it has been so much of an improvement over the old republican methods that it seems incredible that the people who pay the bills would want to return to the old methods by the election of republican officials. It is efficiency that counts, not party label, and the democrats of Nebraska have made good in many ways.

A great "leader" (?) led four million men up the hill and then tried to "lead" them down again. That is the version some use for a story of misplaced political confidence four years ago. It is a safe bet that those who were led up because of a conviction that it was the right thing to do, will not come tumbling after their leader. If they went simply for the spoils of office they simply made a bad guess and they may make a worse one now in guessing that in the union they are trying to form there is strength.

John Jones and others placed Bill Smith at the head of the affairs of a great concern, and Bill wasted money, lost valuable time and conducted the business in the interest of less than one out of a hundred of those who were interested—so the 99 got together and named a manager who reversed the plan and did for the majority—and the man "John Jones" had the gall to ask the others to put another fellow like Bill in charge again, and the other fellows said by their votes, we will keep the man we have—he is doing well by us and is fair to you. So the people will say in November.

It pays to advertise. Three weeks ago Editor Stone of the Hartington Herald secured a suit of new clothes in some manner not yet clear to all of the brothers on his exchange list, and the "devil" thought it an item of news worthy

Prince Albert gives smokers such delight, because

- its flavor is so different and so delightfully good;
- it can't bite your tongue;
- it can't parch your throat;
- you can smoke it as long and as hard as you like without any comeback but real tobacco happiness!

On the reverse side of every Prince Albert package you will read:
"PROCESS PATENTED JULY 30TH, 1907"

That means to you a lot of tobacco enjoyment. Prince Albert has always been sold without coupons or premiums. We prefer to give quality!

PRINCE ALBERT

in goodness and in pipe satisfaction is all we or its enthusiastic friends ever claimed for it!

It answers every smoke desire you or any other man ever had! It is so cool and fragrant and appealing to your smoke appetite that you will get chummy with it in a mighty short time!

Will you invest 5c or 10c to prove out our say-so on the national joy smoke?

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO CO., Winston-Salem, N. C.

YOU'LL find a cheery howdy-do on top no matter how much of a stranger you are in the neck of the woods you drop into. For, Prince Albert is right there—at the first place you pass that sells tobacco! The toppy red bag sells for a nickel and the tippy red tin for a dime; then there's the handsome pound and half-pound tin humidor and the pound crystal-glass humidor with sponge-moistener top that keeps the tobacco in such bang-up trim all the time!

This is the reverse side of the Prince Albert tippy red tin. Read this "Patented Process" message to you and realize what it means in making Prince Albert so much to your liking.

About Rural Credits

Speaking of the rural credit law now before congress, Geo. Woodruff, writing in the Twentieth Century Farmer has the following to suggest:

"The experience of the mortgage bank at Joliet suggests the idea that it might be advantageous to the farmers, the investors and the dealers to change the Hollis bill so as to bring about a typical American system simple in operation and based in the main upon European practice, but adapting itself to American customs and present conditions. This could perhaps be brought about by authorizing the organization of a system of independent, locally owned, government supervised mortgage banks, organized and examined in the same way as our present national banks and being either joint stock or co-operative, at the option of the organizers. From these banks the farmers might make serial loans instead of amortization loans, these loans to run for long periods of years and to be paid back to the banks by making small annual or semi-annual payments. Under a serial loan a farmer merely agrees to pay off a certain fixed amount of principal annually or semi-annually, and consequently, as his interest constantly becomes less, the payments which he makes representing interest and partial payments constantly become smaller. In the case of an amortization loan the farmer signs but one note, and the amortization payments, constantly changing in amount, are endorsed on the back of this note. Under the serial plan he would sign a separate note for each payment, as each payment would be for the same amount, and these notes of various maturities signed by the farmer would be endorsed with the guarantee of the mortgage bank, and they could then be sold to various investors, for investors are glad to buy a note which represents part of a loan and which matures at a stated time, while they will not buy an amortization note which is paid off a little at a time. The guarantee would provide that in case a note was not paid the mortgage bank would reimburse the holder within eighteen months after the default of the farmer, interest payments being maintained in the meantime at the rate provided in the mortgage. This arrangement would give absolute security to the investor and would give time to the mortgage bank to foreclose the mortgage before making payment on its guarantee.

"Under the serial plan where a loan to a farmer was for a limited amount the serial payments would be small and consequently the denomination of the notes would make them desirable investments for the small class of savers. This plan of issuing the securities in small denominations has proven one of the very strongest points in the operation of mortgage banks in Europe; and then, too, as one note would come due every six months or every year, as the case might be, the mortgage bank would have notes of either short or long maturities and consequently would be able to furnish an investor what ever maturity was desired.

"The profits to the mortgage bank would be represented by a cash commission or "split interest" coupons, or by second-mortgage commission notes, all three of which systems are now in use generally in the United States."

Intestinal Worms in Poultry

Intestinal worms from infested poultry may be plainly seen in the droppings. For treatment, prevent the spread by removing all droppings in reach of the birds. Spray with disinfectant.

Lime the infested yards, and plow. Place the poultry on fresh ground. For individual treatment, give each bird one teaspoonful of turpentine and one tablespoonful of Epsom salts. For 100 birds, dissolve 5 pounds of Epsom salts in warm water and mix in a wet mash.—College of Agriculture.

As to the Quitter?
Are you a quitter? Have you given up those ambitions that set your heart singing and your feet flying when you first started out on the road of life? Are you satisfied to be just an average workman, an average stenographer, an average clerk, an average lawyer, an average doctor or an average man at the task you have on hand? If you are, you are a quitter. And somehow a quitter seems to be a little worse than a coward. A coward hasn't the nerve or the ginger to start anything. But a man cannot quit a thing unless he has embarked on it. When he quits he is showing the yellow in him just as the coward did when he said, "I can't" and it is a bigger streak or at least looks like it than that displayed by the other. Courage, moral courage is a splendid thing, but it is not necessarily an endowment of a man. It can be developed from the embryo that is in all of us, and it is moral courage that bids a man refuse to quit in the face of any misfortune. Humanity, it is well to admit, has its moments of weakness, but it has no excuse for being weak. Weakness need not be a permanent condition, but if a man throws up his hands in a moment of discouragement and joins the "What's the Use" club, he becomes a weak man, and he is on his way to hopelessness. If you have felt like quitting or if you have quit, take a better grip on things. The battle for better conditions and better things is the best there is of life anyway.—Lincoln News.

For Better Horses
A Washington correspondent makes a suggestion in a letter that is worth thinking about: "Indications are that Congress will make a large appropriation to provide high class stallions in localities where there are good brood mares, in order to increase the number and the quality of horses. Now is the time for neighborhoods to get in line for their share of this service. It is going to be made cheap and profitable to raise the best colts in communities where these government stallions are placed. When Uncle Sam goes in for this sort of thing he always does it well. Get together the showing for your neighborhood as to supply of good breeding mares, willingness of their owners to co-operate, etc., and forward it to the right authorities in Washington. Your Congressman or Senator will see that it gets to the proper place. First come will be first served, other things being equal."
The Democrat fails to see why Wayne county farmers should not move to profit by this plan, for there are few if any places where the horse has better natural advantage than right here in Wayne county, and that is proven by the many almost perfect specimens produced in this county. The premiums won in state and in inter-state fairs by Wayne county horses and colts proves that.

Mr. Taft and Mexico
Mr. Taft says that if it comes to intervention in Mexico, "the present administration will be to blame for the mess."
Mr. Taft is the last man in the United States who ought to be talking about the blame for the "mess"—which is the right term, by the way—in Mexico.
During President Taft's administration, Diaz, the one man in more than a century who had been able to keep order in Mexico, was permitted to fall.
During President Taft's administration Madero, the man who represented the highest hopes of liberty and human justice in Mexico, was treacherously supplanted by the unspeakable Huerta, and Mr. Taft's ambassador, Henry Lane Wilson, is accused of conniving at the treachery in the interests of American investors.
Mr. Taft is the last man that ought to talk about the blame for the Mexican mess.
When God makes a little thing,
The fairest and completest,
He makes it little, don't you know,
For little things are sweetest.
"Little birds, little flowers,
Little diamonds, little pearls,
But the sweetest things in all the world,
Are little boys and girls."

Don't Judge This Company by One Act of An Unthinking Employee

Every employee of this company has been taught that his or her duty is to render not only efficient service but to be courteous and absolutely fair in every action.

We have been foremost to establish and propose to continue our efforts to maintain good wages and good working conditions.

In return we insist upon efficient service from our employees and courtesy and thoughtfulness in their dealings with our patrons.

We feel sure that all of our employees are imbued with the spirit of service and conscientiously want to serve you, but all of us are human and all of us occasionally do thoughtless things.

When you believe we have made a mistake, when you think we have erred in any way in dealing with you, please call it to our attention. We want you to feel free to do so. We want to correct any error that has been made—any wrong that has been done—and we want you to tell us about it so we may.

Do not judge us by one act of an unthinking employee. Always we are trying to serve you faithfully and well.

State Hail Insurance
The opponents of the state hail insurance say that it would be unfair to tax town property to provide a fund to make good the losses sustained by farmers who have crops ruined by hail. Nobody intends to make town property pay hail tax. As we understand the matter, the advocates of hail insurance would raise all money for the payment of hail damage by a tax on land alone, laying no tax burden upon any property not in line for relief from the "hail" fund.
We have not studied the state hail insurance principle long enough to be familiar with its details, but we have gone far enough in the study to fully endorse the principle. It has been tried in Canada, and it works so well that it is now a permanent part of the law of that realm. We hope to see Nebraska adopt some sort of hail insurance during the next legislative session.—Columbus Telegram.

Sheep Die from Maggots
Much injury from maggots on sheep is reported this season. In ordinary years these maggots bother only the lambs, especially following docking and castration, when sores are exposed. The maggots develop in the clotted filth in the wool and work well over the hind quarters if not checked. If undisturbed they become so bad that serious injury and death frequently the result. Under favorable conditions the maggots develop in twenty-four hours.
The college of agriculture says that sheep should be carefully examined, and enough lysol or some other strong dip of practically full strength at the first application should be poured on the maggots. Apply as many times as is necessary to be effective. Then examine frequently, and when the maggots are all killed apply a healing salve so that the skin will keep soft and the wool will grow again.

A SUCCESSFUL CHAUTAUQUA

Onedia college, Onedia, Kentucky, was introduced and spoke on the "Remaking of the Kentucky Mountaineers."

"We are immortal till our work is done." James A. Burns is indeed a true type of the highest American ideal of American manhood. Monday's lecture proved beyond a doubt that a man with a sincere heart and noble purpose was in our midst, earnest, eloquent, practical, in the sermon of love and devotion that went straight home to the heart of the listeners.

Mr. Burns need not apologize for his supposed unbleness to speak in phrases and words used by orators. His talk showed like Lincoln, "a clear command of English," and ability to paint word pictures, descriptions, not often found in our best orators. Clear, simple, yet the most effective style, a personality, the charm of which is rarely found in the most eloquent of men, his lecture embodied all of these.

No one heard his lecture without being impressed with the work he is doing, without coming away feeling mentally and spiritually refreshed.

Mr. Burns made a plea for his mountaineer people, who have been persuaded to put away the gun, to cease the feuds and to educate their children to something loftier and better than the idea that "might makes right."

Mr. Burns told of his school, how teachers from the mountains are giving their time and labor free and unstintingly to educate the children, drawing their salary whenever funds are at hand to do so. He told in a beautiful word picture how the vision came to him when he was attending Dennison college, Ohio, to answer the call of his God to save his people.

In a story that would make many of our moving picture stories of the feuds sound like a nursery tale, Mr. Burns pictured very vividly his peaceable settlement of the last one of the feuds in his district, how the enemies shook hands, pledging to co-operate to educate their children in a common school. The school has gradually grown from the first log building to a large institution. The agricultural industry worked by the boys practically furnishes the fruits and vegetables for the food and the domestic science practically cook all the meals.

His school today is still struggling to exist for they are far away from a railroad, far away from facilities to obtain supplies and the necessities of school life. And yet by the iron will of its president and by the co-operation of its rough and sturdy mountaineer board of trustees the school is gaining ground.

The school issues a paper, which contains no advertising, nor solicits no subscriptions. Simply edited it tells of the work which is just in its infancy for they still have the poor white trash problem to deal with and this is to prove their most severe task.

Mr. Burns is indeed remaking his people, his own people, by his work. He gives all his spare time to lecturing and all the money except enough for bare living expenses is given to the school.

It is a noble work and worthy of a man who is practically guiding his own generation.

3d Day Chautauqua

The Swiss Alpine Yodlers family composed of the following members: Herr Alois Ploner, baritone and manager; Frau Agnes Ploner, soprano; Miss Anna Ploner, alto and Master Franz Ploner, violinist, gave a concert in the afternoon.

Every member of the company proved to be a musician of first rank. Their ensemble numbers with their yodling were delightful and harmonious.

Stanley Le Frevre Krebs, psychologist-lecturer spoke following the prelude on the subject, "The Two Snakes of Eden."

The two snakes as Mr. Krebs applied them were the diseases of the mind, fear and worry, two psychological invaders of the mind.

Happiness is a state of mind brought about by the actions of the individual, not controlled, as is often supposed by fate, God, the world or hell. The world is doing five things to produce happiness: It is producing, it is distributing, it is governing, it is educating, and it is controlling the religious life by the aid of God.

Unhappiness is caused by a wrong perceptive or viewpoint and by wrong ideas. People take life too seriously, not too earnestly. They do not get the joy out of life God intended they should. Unhappiness is caused by the two snakes fear and worry.

Happiness not found in the physical life, not by physical pleasure, but happiness is founded in the mental makeup

Fear and worry are not naturally a part of the mental but are foreign or invaders which the mind must resist at all times and once succumbed to, serious results often follow.

Conditions, events, tend to make one person happy and another unhappy, the unhappy mind not receiving the same impression in the way the happy person does.

Mr. Krebs spoke and explained by means of a chart the cause and the result of fear and worry. In defining fear it does not mean terror, nor a terror of God, but it does mean anxiety, worry, irritability caused by a loss of sleep leading to nervous breakdown, insanity and often suicide.

Reason for fear and worry are four:

Physical—Indigestion, ill health. Ethical—Guilt, neglect of some duty.

Mystical—Ignorance, Mystery, not understanding conditions and knowing how to meet them.

Spiritual—Loss of faith in God. These four and no more are the four tests any and every man can put himself to in his own mind when he worries or fears and cannot find his difficulties.

Failure and defeat are not of the same meaning. Failure means loss of the sought for goal for the time being but defeat means the giving up of ever expecting to reach it.

Worry and fear cause weakness in mind, muscles and morals. These interfere with the mental efficiency of the mind.

Mr. Krebs spoke briefly of the delicate scientific machines recently invented that are able to read a man's life and mind. It has been proven by science time and time again that fear and worry and grief are poisons to the human body and that these poisons are the direct causes of nervous breakdowns. Four causes are given out by the insane hospital as causes of insanity. They are: sexual disorder, alcoholism, shocks and worry and fer. And the last named in one large asylum included more than one third of all the inmates.

Causes for worrying and fearing are three: liquor, lucre and lust.

Mr. Krebs closed by asking all the people to be more cheerful, that mental efficiency might gain its highest point.

Mr. Krebs' command of English is remarkable, his logical reasoning appeals to all. His lecture was helpful and it was unfortunate that our Nebraska weather had to play one of its favorite tricks that of growling a lot and doing nothing and causing many people to scurry home and watch the beautiful lightning before Mr. Krebs could finish his talk.

4th Day Chautauqua

Due to an auto accident the Oxford Musical company scheduled Wednesday were unable to get here until Thursday morning so the chautauqua men were obliged to call upon home talent and Wayne proved herself a home of chautauqua talent in Mr. Willis Fleetwood's prelude concert in the afternoon and also in the evening prelude given by Mrs. W. E. Johnson and Mr. Glen Gildersteeve, accompanied by Mrs. Jim Miller.

Verdi, the noted piano accordionist and the entertainer Jesse Pugh came over from the Wakefield chautauqua for the afternoon entertainment. Mr. Pugh is a talented reader, a man who knows how to smile and make others smile. Verdi is well known as he makes records for phonographs, so his playing was high class.

Miss Minna Mae Lewis read the play, "In the Vanguard," written by Katrina Trask for the evening program instead of in the afternoon.

The play is a strong appeal to all against the horror of war, an appeal for universal brotherhood, for the soldiers of the durable type, life unto life and not life unto death. The general theme tended to show that war destroys all laws of humanity, all laws of brotherhood.

The play was well read and Miss Lewis proved herself to be an "entertainer that really entertains." Her interpretation of characters was clear, her enunciation perfect, her personality one that held her audience all through the play.

ASSESSOR CARTER'S FIGURES

Below We Give Summary of County Wealth as Compiled by County Assessor. A Monotonous Job Well Done.

The grand total of all property assessed in the county is $28,820,035, and the tax is levied on one-fifth that sum or $5,764,007.

This divided, between the real and personal property, and then divided again and again into the various items, and divided again by precincts and again among individuals until the assessor has but to close his eyes at the expiration of his term and the closing of the books and see figures marching and counter-marching, dividing and assembling like the entire armies of the Allies and Central Powers in Europe—a literal army of figures to be marshalled.

From the blanks of Assessor Carter we glean a lot of interesting information about what we are worth in this county—that is so far as we have let the tax gathering power know, and it is a safe bet that no one has made the mistake of telling it too high.

Of land there are 280,938 acres, and the average value per acre is $68.22, making a total valuation of $19,176,410. On these lands are improvements valued at $1,388,955, making an average acre value of $4.95, bringing the total of farm lands and improvements up to the sum of $73.17, which is subject to the act of the state board as to whether or not it shall be increased at their meeting to equalize between the different counties.

There are 2,877 improved lots and the improvements thereon are fixed at $1,188,700 and the lots are valued at $731,335, making a total of $1,920,035.

Going on with the analysis we learn that there are 8,684 horses of all ages and kinds valued at $752,205. Of mules of all ages the assessors reported 926, valued at $88,675. There are 28,034 cattle in the county of all ages, said to be worth $962,980. Hogs of all ages were valued at $368,610. Poultry was listed with the assessors totaling $42,710. Sheep are few, the total value being $3,430. 1,143 dogs were discovered, of unknown value, but assessed at $1 each.

In grains the bushels of corn came first in number, being 425,020. Of oats there were 267,550; wheat 6,366; rye 1,637; barley 980; potatoes 5,390 bushels, 4,987 tons of alfalfa hay was reported.

Mechanical tools and medical books are listed together and the combined value is $7,050. Shares of stock in national banks have a value of $216,995. Stock in state banks $140,640. Stocks in corporations outside the state, $560. Franchises of every kind, $7,415. Accident, fire and life insurance companies, $19,170. Express companies, $125. Telegraph companies, $8,010. Telephone companies, $70,500. Railroad property as certified by the state board of equalization, $1,914,780.

Then we come to a long list of miscellaneous items, some of the largest of which are money on hand or deposit, which is given at $101,275. Notes secured by mortgages, $36,400. All other notes, $85,780. Money paid into building and loan, $36,825. Diamonds were worth about $2,000. There are 685 watches and clocks, 473 pianos valued at nearly $50,000; 529 other musical instruments. Sewing machines number 755.

The stationary engines number 25 and there are 161 gasoline, steam and tractor engine, 26 threshing machines and corn shellers, 709 automobiles valued at $301,800 each, making a total of $213,785. 4,163 wagons and vehicles were given a value of a little over sixty thousand dollars. 858 cream separators and 176 typewriters were listed. Household furniture totaled more than $150,000. Agricultural tools not otherwise listed amounted to $100,000. Goods in merchandising and manufacturing totaled $312,735.

The cost to the county for gathering these figures are given as $600, county assessor salary; $1,610.36 fees to deputy assessor and $250.01 for books, schedules and blanks, making a total of $2,460.37.

The Bell Telephone Co., has issued a letter stating that any of their employees who were subject to the call of the President of June 18, will receive their pay from the telephone company for at least three full months. The Goodrich Tire Co., has also notified its employees that they will see that they stand no pecuniary loss by serving their country so far as the wages they were drawing was concerned. Our peace man Ford, however took a different view and does not pay, but will not reinstate those who were in the militia and also in his employ—showing that it takes all kinds of people to make the world.

RUNDELL'S COLUMN

(This chapter is dedicated to the farmers and other owners of real estate.)

You have now devoted of your valuable time before the county board of equalization striving to minimize your assessment for taxation; but when the state board, having read about Wayne county land selling at $250 per acre, will not be inclined to lower your assessment.

Had you devoted one-tenth of the time that you have wasted before the county board of equalization to securing the success of the constitutional revenue amendment which was defeated by a narrow margin in 1914, your next tax receipt would be cut in halves. The legislature of 1913, which prepared and submitted that amendment was democratic, and the present legislature being democratic in both branches would surely have enacted its provisions into the revenue statutes of the state. Under our present constitution there can be no exceptions except $15,000,000 to the national banks of the state. Even the old veterans must pay taxes on their pension or swear falsely as many do who had the same opportunity to be a veteran.

Many of you ensure the county board on the extravagances of the legislature when you should blame yourselves for the defeat of the amendment. Do you realize that your land has trebled in price, also your cattle, horses, hogs and hens and corn and oats in the bin to feed them while you try to grow another crop are bringing prosperity prices and are assessed accordingly. Remember, too, that bank stock and stocks and bonds of other corporations and public service property such as railroads, telegraph and telephones are assessed about the same as they were ten or fifteen years ago.

But don't expect a republican legislature to re-submit this amendment. The bosses in that party have never failed to dictate the acts of republican legislation.

C. J. RUNDELL.
