WAYNE, WAYNE COUNTY, NEBRASKA, AUGUST 3, 1916

$1.50 PER YEAR

Gun Club Annual Shoot

The sixth annual gun shoot of the Wayne Gun Club was held yesterday on the local grounds at the state normal, with the blue sky for a background.

The meet was an authorized and registered shoot under the old policy and rules of the Interstate association of Gun clubs. The score will be registered in the 1916 year book as official.

48 competing men were present from the different parts of the state, two professionals being representatives from the ammunition houses, to participate in the meet. Del Gross of Kansas City and Hollingsworth of Omaha. Money was divided in four purses in each of the twelve events, twenty-five per cent in each purse. High gun was $10, low $5. There were eight 15 bird events and four 20.

Many spectators were at the ground throughout the day and the meet was watched with interest. The masculine element crowded close up to the shooters, whose guns boomed incessantly at the black pigeons shot through the air. The fairer sex kept to the background, where the noise was some what less.

The score and the winners nor the prize money cannot be given this week.

Long run at gun shoot:

E. Sasse, 192; A. Kayen of Fremont, 103; H. S. McDonald of Omaha, 96 and 53; D. D. Gross, 58 and 53.

National Touring Week Next

The automobile people have designated next week as a national touring week, and have done much to encourage the people to tour their own and adjoining states during the coming week, and it is very probable that more people will be viewing the scenery within 500 miles of their own home next week than ever before have been engaged at one time in such a worthy undertaking. Beyond doubt they will find that much of beauty may be found within a short drive of home. Nebraska is not far noted for its beauty spots, yet we are told that there is scenery approaching the sublime within a few days ride of Wayne. Camping and fishing grounds, abundantly provided with shade and the purest and best of water. The slogan for the week is, "Seeing America First by Seeing Your Own State Now." A good one it is too.

Lloyd Tyrrell Dead

Ed Sellers returned Tuesday morning from Bancroft, bringing word of the death of his son-in-law, Lloyd Tyrrell, which occurred Monday at an Omaha hospital, where he underwent an operation on the stomach, Friday. Mr. Tyrrell had been in poor health for a number of years, and last year underwent an operation for the removal of ulcers from the stomach, from which he secured a new lease of life, and for a time was given a fair degree of health. But trouble began again recently, and the one hope of relief in an operation proved without avail. He leaves a wife and one child to mourn his early death. It was planned to have the funeral and burial at Bancroft Wednesday, Rev. Buell of the Wayne Methodist church to conduct the service. An obituary will be given next week.

That Million $ Smile!

That is what appeared on the countenances of Wayne county people Tuesday when more than a half inch of rainfall came gently down during the forenoon. It was needed, and came in time to prevent a lot of worry about the corn. The general opinion is expressed that corn prospects are the best they have been in several seasons. The fields certainly look fine.

Does Prohibition Prohibit?

That is the question asked on another page in a political advertisement and answered in the negative by many prominent men of the state, who want every voter to consider that side of the question before passing an opinion at the polls in November when the question of trying that policy for Nebraska is to be passed on.

NOTICE—My dental parlors will be closed during the remaining weeks of August on account of a vacation trip. F. O. WHITE, D. D. S.—adv. 31-3.

Death of Mrs. Augusta Kruger

Albertine Augusta Kruger Schmidt was born in Germany, September 2, 1852, and there married to Christian Kruger in 1874, and about twelve years later they came to America and settled on the farm near Winside, which has since been her home. Here the husband and father died March 14, 1898, and also two of the eleven children born to them passed away. Two sons now live in Dakota, and the other members of the family reside near Winside.

Mrs. Kruger died as the result of a cancer, Sunday morning, July 30, 1916, at the age of 63 years, 10 months and 28 days, and the funeral services were conducted by Rev. Moehring from the home at 10 o'clock and an hour later from the German Lutheran church at Winside. A large number of the relatives and friends of this pioneer woman gathered to pay a tribute of respect and the business houses of Winside closed during the funeral hour, a fitting tribute to the memory of a woman. Burial was at the Winside cemetery.

City Votes $12,000 Water Bonds

At the city election Monday, the citizens of Wayne voted to issue $12,000 water extension bonds by a vote of 148 to 31. By wards the votes were as follows:

1st ward 50 votes, 38 yes, 12 no; 2nd ward, 60 votes, 54 yes, 6 no; 3d ward, 69 votes, 56 yes, 13 no.

The extensions provided for consist of about twelve small extensions in different parts of the city, and the purpose is to supply city water and fire protection to a larger circle of citizens—a larger Wayne. Last season the sewer district was extended beyond the water mains in some directions, and it was necessary to have the water that the sewer might be valuable to property owners.

The Soldier Boys Pleased

In order that the Public Service club might be assured that the members of Co. E desired a benefit, and that they were free to accept one, a letter was written, to which the following message came as reply:

Llano Grande, Texas, Aug. 1, '16
Public Service Club, Wayne:—
The boys of Co. E, 4th pleased with Auto polo. Please forward company fund for messages and other necessary for their benefit. We wish you the best of success.
The Boys of Co. E, 4th Neb.

Keep Cool and Help Others

A move has been started to provide an ice fund for the Wayne soldier boys, and at either or all of the three banks, one may leave such sum as he wishes to be sent to the boys for comforts not provided by their Uncle Sam. It is worthy, and your offering will be acceptable, be it dimes or dollars.

The Owl Picnic

Sunday some five or six hundred people responded to an invitation to attend a picnic given by members of the Order of Owls at the Nels Nelson farm a few miles southeast of Wayne. A good time is reported by those who accepted the invitation to attend. Music, dancing, eating were the pleasures indulged in.

Obst-Larson

Paul G. Obst and Olga Larson, both from Carroll, were married Wednesday, August 2, 1916, by County Judge James Britton at the court house.

A Bumper Oat Crop

Wm. Gildersleeve reports that Mr. Smith, who has charge of the farm work on his ranch south of Wayne, is farming it good enough to grow oats that measured from the machine 68 bushels per acre, and of a quality which measured 80 bushels per acre by weight. 2,400 bushels of oats by weight from 30 acres shows that with proper care and a good season the lands of this county can and will come back to equal the best yields of earlier days.

We hope to have many reports from the farmer, and want them, be they good or bad.

A Letter from Our Soldier Boys

Co. E, 4th Neb. Inf.,
Llano Grande, Texas,
July 29, 1916.

Editor Democrat:—Perhaps you think the picture drawn last week a little dark, but you see I wanted you to really know that the boys were really making sacrifices of some of the comforts of life which they have enjoyed at home. However, we would be really and truly ashamed of them were they not willing to make even greater sacrifices for the good of their fellow-men, should duty demand it. Did not men in Civil and Revolutionary wars suffer much greater hardships than we? And shall we not show that we are "true blue?"

It will be but the making of many a manly character, for it is the fiery tests of the furnace that converts iron ore into the mighty steel. Likewise trials and tribulations build better men. These little matters will call our attention to politics and the government of the nation, it will caution us that it pays to be informed and to vote our convictions, that our nation may not run amuck as have the nations of Europe today.

While there has been some little criticism of the administration for sending national guards to border, we have no doubt good has been accomplished though we never see a day's active service. It has no doubt had its influence on settlement of trouble with Mexico, thus being a protection to our brothers on the border. Again it has been means of preparedness should trouble occur in the future. It has shown that the American nation really wants International Peace and will not enter Mexico or any other nation unless it can be shown to be to the advantage of all parties concerned. Now then, you may guess that Co. E, and all others are glad that we have a level-headed president, who will not permit this nation to rush headlong into strife of battle while more peaceful and humane means can be found for settling differences.

Again we turn our thoughts homeward.

Last Sunday evening we had pleasure of listening to John Clemens, Chaplain of 2nd Minnesota Inf. Mr. Clemens is a relative of Samuel L. Clemens, (Mark Twain) and his talk would give evidence of this, as wit and humor came to surface several times. Band also played.

The boys have been receiving heavier drill the past week, taking a 3-mile hike after breakfast and then having regular drill and school throughout the day. We hope to take 10 or 12 mile hikes soon.

We have all received our second pair of shoes to date and may change to rest our feet.

Boys are nearly all in line for duty again and are able to eat three square meals per day. Reuben A. Faulk is working as postal clerk in our postoffice at Llano Grande. He feels quite at home at that kind of work. George Church has secured 30 day furlough to visit his mother, who is quite ill.

First installment of a dozen or more magazines arrived this week and have been going the rounds. We thank you.

We also are much interested in swimming pool for Wayne. This is indeed a proposition whereby someone will have chance to help convert boys and girls into men and women to whom Wayne can point with pride. Let's boost for Wayne.

Our camp grounds have filled very rapidly and now we have quite a city of tents. We have 3 Minnesota regiments, 3 Indiana and 2 Nebraska that I know of and several regiments at Mercedes. We have a street up at the station called "Broadway". Upon this we have a 6-chair barber shop and laundry, 16 1/2 Broadway Dairy Lunch, all kinds of lunch stands, Llano Grande Vaudeville and Western Queen picture show.

Also Y. M. C. A. building in course of construction.

As ever,
JAMES J. STEELE.

Social Notes

Miss Goldie Cnace, Mrs. LeRoy Ley and Miss Alma Craveu were hostesses Wednesday afternoon at a Kensington in honor of Miss Neva Orr's approaching marriage, which occurs August 9 to Mr. Kavanaugh of Winside. The house was beautifully decorated with garden flowers. At 5:30 a delicious two-course luncheon was served. Immediately after Miss Neva was called to the phone and informed that a parcel post package was on the dining room table and all wanted to see the package opened. It contained many beautiful gifts, most of which were silver. Eighteen young ladies were present and a most delightful afternoon was enjoyed.

Miss Ruth Sherbahn and Miss Cella Gildersleeve entertained at Miss Sherbahn's home last Thursday evening, about fifteen young people, the party being given as a farewell to several of their friends who have attended the normal this summer. In the party was six girls from Orchard, who were school friends of Miss Sherbahn when she taught there last year. Lawn croquet was played and later indoor games. Following the social evening a light lunch was served and the guests departed for their homes after a pleasant "last evening in Wayne."

The Union Bible Circle of Wayne met with Mrs. E. B. Young Tuesday July 25 at 2:30 o'clock. A large number of the members were present despite the hot weather and a very interesting, instructive and helpful meeting was held. Mrs. Fred Beneshoff led the meeting. The next meeting of the circle will be held at the home of Mrs. C. O. Fisher. Mrs. Wells will have charge of the meeting.

The Wayne Campfire girls, under guardianship of Miss Fannie Brittell are enjoying a few days of real camp life at the pretty grove on the Mrs. Rennie place a mile south and a mile west of town. Mr. and Mrs. Brittell camp with them at night. Those at camp are the Misses Frances Beckenhauer, Faunee Senter, Lynette Rennie, Lila Gardner, Mary House and Mabel Brittell.

Miss Rue Rickabaugh and Miss Ethel Huff entertained the four classes of the Baptist primary Sunday school at a picnic supper in the social rooms of the church Friday evening at 6:30. About fifty young boys and girls were at the supper. Following the supper the indoor games were played, the guests departing for their home at about nine o'clock.

Mrs. Chas. Craven was hostess at a card party last Saturday afternoon, complimentary to her sisters, the Misses Botheln of St Peter, Minnesota, who were visiting in the Craven home. The afternoon was spent in playing "500". A most delicious luncheon was served at 5:30.

Local Weather Predictions

Will Weber reads the signs from the 5th to the 13th to declare for fair weather. With the showers of the past few days, Weber weather stock has advanced several points.

Mrs. Frank Peterson took her daughter Mabel to the St Joseph hospital in Sioux City, this morning to be operated upon for a bent bone in the left cheek, caused by a horse kick some time ago.

LOCAL NEWS

Mrs. Mel Norton and daughter Miss Hazel, returned last week from a visit of several weeks with relatives in Ontario, at Glenworth, where Mrs. Norton's daughter lives, and where she grew to womanhood. They were at London and other cities in that part of the province, and passed an enjoyable time with relatives. To Miss Hazel the visit was one of much interest, mingling with the people so different from those of this great prairie state where she was raised, in customs and manners. The climate, too, was quite different. Corn when they left, less than ten days ago, was not large enough to cover the ground, and some of it will not be much larger than is needed to shade the ground. They do not raise much corn there, nor husk much of the little grown, for nearly every farm has a silo, and the corn is cared for in that way to much better advantage. It is a great dairy country and practically every farm has a herd of cows. On many farms they use a milking machine and thus do away with the drudgery of hand milking. Weather was cool and damp there for the greater part of the time they were there, but when it finally turned warm it was hot.

Arthur Ahern has been in South Dakota for two weeks arranging dates for special coat sales—which he will give in that state during the fall and winter season. John Ahern will continue to give sales in N. E. Nebraska. All the coats, suits and "skirts" they will sell will first be shipped to the Wayne store and we will have a first choice of them here. This means that during the coming season we will see at the Ahern store in Wayne more coats and suits than are shown in most city stores and we will have the advantage of buying them at much below city prices.—adv.

Mrs. W. A. Hiscox went to Fremont Wednesday to visit a short time with her aunt, Mrs. W. Springer and family. She will also go to Benson, Iowa, to visit with Mrs. B. Reed and family for a few days. Later she will go to Hastings to attend the wedding of Mr. Hiscox's niece, Miss Nellie Cook, who will be married on the seventh of August at her parents home, to Mr. Donald Brook of Hastings.

J. G. Mines, wife and two daughters, Elizabeth and Margaret and Mrs. Mines' mother, Mrs. J. R. Rogers, went to Lake Okoboji Wednesday morning for a month's camping, fishing and boating trip. Mr. Mines will stay about a week and then return home for a short time before again returning to the lake. Paul Mines will join his mother and sisters at the lake later in the month.

Wm. Beckenhauer, our village undertaker, went to Sioux City Wednesday morning to attend the interstate undertakers convention to be held in the Martin hotel, August 1st, 2nd and 3d. Undertakers from the states, Nebraska, Iowa, South Dakota and Minnesota will be in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Ahern leave for the east in a few days to buy fall and winter merchandise. Next week they will attend the great style show given by the Chicago manufacturers, where they will have opportunity to see all the new styles in ladies' wear that have been brought out for the coming season. They will also see the sample display of New York and other eastern goods which are brought to Chicago at this time for the convenience of western buyers. Of the styles shown, those that prove most popular will be bought and within the next few weeks we will find them at the Ahern store.—adv.

Mort McManigal came Wednesday from Happy, Texas, to visit his father and mother, Dan McManigal and wife, south of Wayne. He has been in that happy land for the past eight years, and looks well, although he talked of people not eating or making any money in the "panhandle land." He also said they did not work there, but that was a joke, as one may know by the callous on his hand. He plans to be home several days. He found many acquaintances at Wayne to greet him.

One Wayne merchant told the Democrat this week that the July just closed had been the greatest in volume of business and cash deposited in the banks of any since he had been in business, and that thus far this year every month save one had shown an increase over last year, and the total was a substantial increase over any like period.

At the coming state fair, September 4 to 8, a great display of farm and garden and orchard products is now promised. Live stock and babies will come in for a share of the attention. A boy's camp will be filled too, if one may believe the reports which come. The citizen who attends with open eyes may see much that may be of profit.

F. O. White is planning to leave the last of the week to spend a month in the woods of northern Wisconsin, fishing and boating. He will join Prof. Lamb at Menominee, and together they will go up the Red Cedar in a canoe for 125 miles, parting their hair in the middle so that the boat will not upset.

Mrs. Harry Fisher left Monday morning for Hartford, South Dakota, where she will attend the wedding of Miss Luella Brenner, who with her parents, formerly lived here. The groom lives in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and there the married couple will make their home in the future.

Miss Winnie Fleetwood, accompanied by Chas. Closson, Mrs. Ida Clark and a little Miss Closson, autoted to Sioux City in the cool of the day Sunday morning, spending Sunday and Monday at the Ed Johnson home, returning Monday evening.

Prevailing winds are northwest and in frequency and velocity is about what Iowa has for we have personally observed both places for sixteen years each.

ALTITUDE.

Four thousand and ninety feet with a rise westward of ten feet a mile. Very beneficial to lung troubles and those of the throat and nose.

WHAT WE HAVE AND WHAT WE NEED

This is a big county. There are 1,194 sections, scarcely one of which is not tillable. With a family on every quarter there is room for 4,776 families, while now there are only 570 farmers, 449 of whom own the farms they till. What this country needs is families. What the families need is education regarding our resources.

The county does not need more water nor better soil. It does not need longer summers nor warmer winters. What it needs is the intelligence to meet conditions as they are. It needs brains to conserve the moisture, to thoroughly plow and to properly seed. It needs judgment in what to plant. One of our greatest critics says this is not a corn country. Admitted for the sake of argument. Neither is it a coffee country nor an orange country. It is a wheat country, so why try oranges? It is an oats, a speltz, a rye country, so why depend on cranberries? It is a potato country, so why attempt palm trees? It is an alfalfa country, so why build our hopes on cotton? But as a matter of fact it is a corn country if the proper kind of corn is grown. Plenty of corn is raised for feed but as yet it is not grown for export, and if good corn can be raised for our feed why not more good corn for the world's feed?

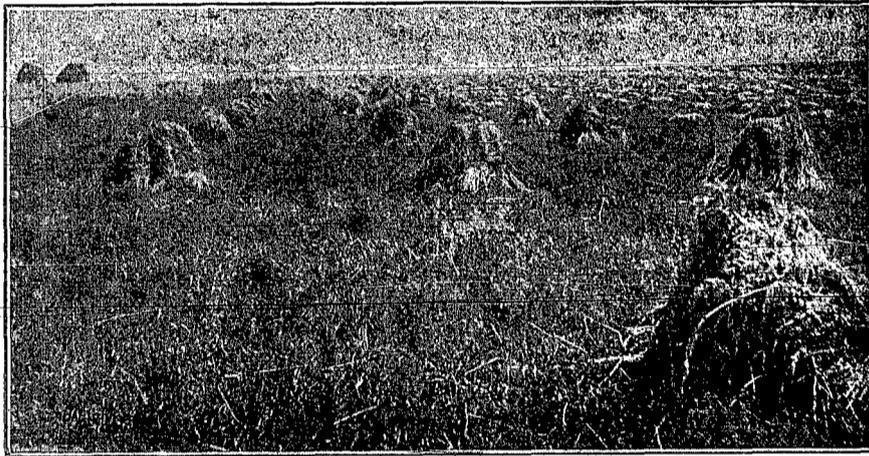

RAINFALL.

The rainfall of Cheyenne county is abundant. This is conclusively shown by the official crop reports and also by official weather reports given below.

It is interesting to compare our rainfall in a year with that of other rich agricultural communities. Thus in central and northern Germany it is 20 inches. Is that a good country? In Hungary it is 17 inches; in eastern Russia it is but 14 inches; in northeast Portugal it is 11 inches, and at Madrid, Spain it is but 10 inches annually. Land that will produce such crops as we raise is worth just as much acre for acre as any other land in any part of the world that won't produce any more.

CHEYENNE COUNTY OATS.

The rich land of Cheyenne county raises just as much as eastern land selling at five times the price. We have the soil; we have the climate; we have the water and WE HAVE THE CROPS, which proves that we have, in combination with a perfect soil, sufficient moisture to raise them.

CHEYENNE COUNTY CORN.

CHEYENNE COUNTY DAIRY FARM.

Dairying...

Dairying is one of our great industries. Our mild winters and abundance of feed together with the prices of dairy products and facilities for marketing same make dairying very profitable for our Cheyenne County farmers.

SOME QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Do We Ever Have Hot Winds?

No. The reason being that the hot winds come from the southwest, and the fact that Cheyenne county is located about 100 miles south of us, the mountains being snow clad the year around making it impossible to get hot winds from that direction, while about fifty miles east of us where wind sweeps around the mountains, comes over the Arizona desert, the Colorado parched prairies, sweeps over the Northern Nebraska sand hills on through the Dakotas and way up into Canada, there is much danger of hot winds. Hot winds have ruined six times as many crops as actual drouth.

Where are your shipping points and what are your shipping facilities?

Our shipping facilities are very good as we have railroads running directly east, west, north and south. Our shipping points are Omaha, Denver, Kansas City, Cheyenne and the Black Hills.

How are prices on lumber and coal as compared with prices in the east?

Being that we are located near Wyoming and Colorado, and getting our lumber and coal from these states, our lumber averages from $10 to $15 a thousand cheaper and coal from $2 to $3 a ton cheaper for the same quality in the east.

ALFALFA BIG RETURNS IN CHEYENNE COUNTY.

The man who does things in this world—who makes a success is the man who, when he hears or sees an opportunity, investigates—goes after it—gets it.

Lewis Brott, living northwest of Sidney, Cheyenne county, Nebraska, conceived the idea of growing alfalfa on our great divide by putting his alfalfa in rows and cultivating it.

Mr. Brott has a section of our table land and has about a hundred acres drilled to alfalfa since 1898. He has been using the first cutting for hay and lets the second go to seed, which in the past five years to our personal knowledge, has averaged him from four to seven bushels to the acre and has sold his seed from $10.00 to $13.50 per bushel.

Many of our later settlers have followed Mr. Brott's ideas and now we have many fields of alfalfa we can show you where the returns on an acre of Cheyenne county land will more than equal the returns on high priced eastern land.

We ask you to take nothing for granted. What we do want you to do is to take a trip to Cheyenne county, investigate our statements and our county, and then if you are satisfied to settle with us.

NO TIME IS LIKE THE PRESENT.

Now then, since the climate is good, soil productive, crops remunerative, rainfall abundant, water pure, and land values certain to rise, why not buy now. You have probably thought many times that you would go out and buy as soon as you could get away but you have put it off time and again until you have practically forgotten about it. Did you ever stop to think that the man who acts quickly gets the profit from the fellow who waits a while? We have made scores of sales this year to men whom we asked last year to come out and buy for less money. We will make scores of sales this coming year to men who could come now and buy for less money than they will pay when they do come, simply because NOW is the TIME to buy.

LEAVE YOUR RENTED FARM IN THE EAST.

Why pay rent when you can buy a farm of your own which is just as productive as the one you rent? You are barely making a living because your high rent eats up your profits. The landlord is growing fat and you are growing thin. You will never save up enough money to buy the farm you rent and even if you could you would only be making rich the man who bought the land when it was about the price at which you can buy land here now. Your landlord did not get rich buying $150.00 land. He made money because he bought his land when others hesitated and were afraid. He bought land when it was cheap. You have exactly the same opportunity in Cheyenne county.

NOTHING TO STAND ON

Those who have been seeking something to criticize the present administration at Washington about, pick up first one thing and then another, and but few of them will stand open criticism. But when they find they have made a mistake they seldom correct it, hoping that some will not find out that their criticism was wrong. Not long ago they attacked the revenue measures as not adequate to produce the needed money--and that has proved groundless as the following figures will show, taken from the Chicago Herald:

The sound efficiency and wise economy of the Wilson administration is shown again in the surplus of $45,987,492.83, with which it concluded the fiscal year June 30, 1916.

The most grudging fairness will accord the democratic administration a great deal of praise for its financing. No administration in 35 years has gone from March 4th to March 4th without being concerned with one or more deficits. Under the Wilson administration the surplus has been for the year ending June 30, 1913, $41,000,000; for the year ending June 30, 1914, $34,000,000; and for the year closed June 30, 1915, $45,000,000. For the year that closed June 30, 1916, the final audited deficit was only $38,000,000, this in spite of a year of world war, customs receipts upset, and business and finances in every country but this one in turmoil.

It is a most notable record and a most creditable one. It becomes more notable by comparisons with recent administrations. Under the Roosevelt administration there were deficits of $8,000,000, of $20,000,000,--all in times of no turmoil such as the Wilson administration has contended with. In the McKinley administration there was a deficit of $58,000,000, and there was another of $38,000,000, both larger than this administration's only deficit, and the world conditions now such as would excuse yearly deficits.

Some republicans are urging against the President that he changes his mind sometimes. We have heard it said that "Great men sometimes change--fools, never."

Candidate Hughes has made his formal speech of acceptance of the republican nomination for the presidency, but we did not notice that he has yet accepted the nomination given him at the hands of the moose people. It appears that he elects to fight the campaign in Mexico and Europe. He seems to think it right and proper to attack the foreign policy which has thus far kept us from war, and if he thinks it should have been war, we are glad to hear him say so.

The President and a majority of the democratic senators are standing firm for the passage of the needed child labor legislation before the adjournment of congress. Certain southern senators oppose the bill for the reason that its provisions as proposed have been abused in the south, and it is their purpose to block its passage, but in this they were decisively defeated in caucus Monday. One thing we like about the President is that he has a reason for the legislation he proposes, and he stays with it until it is passed or defeated. And so far, the shipping bill is the only measure of importance upon which he has lost, and while the producers are suffering because of the defeat of that bill they cannot place the blame upon the President; but rather upon some senators who profess to be democrats--when running for office.

For the business man, the Federal Reserve act; for the farmer, the rural credits system; for the manufacturer and merchant, the Federal Trade Commission; for the Wall Street speculator, nothing. That is the record of the first of four years of Wilson's administration for better things.--Pierce Leader.

President Wilson's appointment of Brandies "the people's lawyer," and now of J. H. Clarke, the Cleveland progressive democrat, to the supreme bench is almost enough to entitle him to the support of all forward looking folks if he stood for nothing more. Mr. Clarke has been "conspicuous" in progressive movements in Ohio, not passive, and in his campaign for the senate advocated a 2-cent railroad passenger fare law. This is enough to prove that Hughes would never have appointed such a man for he vetoed a 2-cent fare law while governor of New York. When we realize that President Taft was called upon to appoint a majority of the supreme bench during his four year term, and that the men were of the conservative type like himself, it makes us all the more thankful for Wilson, who has now made two such excellent appointments to this tribunal. We must not forget that no matter how progressive the laws passed by congress are, they will accomplish nothing if they are to be declared unconstitutional by the conservatives on the supreme bench. That's the reason big business fought the confirmation of Brandies so hard.--Blair Pilot.

Northeast Nebraska Editors Meet

Friday afternoon and Saturday forenoon the members of the Northeast Nebraska Editorial association held their semi-annual meeting at Norfolk. What the county agent is to the farmer, the editorial meeting is in a measure to the editor. To be sure we have no expert to come and tell us the best way to handle the business, but we hope to—but we get together and compare prices, methods, and discuss questions of interest to the publishers and the public.

At the meetings Friday and Saturday about 30 members of the association were present. An excellent program had been arranged by the local committee, and it was very closely followed, the greater part of those to whom a part had been assigned being present and prepared.

The afternoon meeting was held at the country club grounds, where City Attorney Stewart gave a welcome, and Miss M. V. Dugan, formerly of the Wayne normal, but now with the Norfolk Press, gave a greeting from the city press, which we give in this account. President Nevin of the Laurel Advocate made a fitting response. Fred Marshall of the Niobrara Tribune, accompanied by Mrs. Marshall at the piano, gave a violin solo. Mrs. Friday, the accomplished wife of Mayor Friday, gave an excellent reading. The social program closed with a solo by Miss Eula Mayfield.

The hours of the remainder of the afternoon were then devoted to discussions of different questions, "The Newspapers and the Schools" led by J. A. Stahl came first. The effect of the war on printing industry was handled ably by E. F. Huse of the Norfolk News. Edgar Howard of the Columbus Telegram spoke of political advertising. Mel Schmied of the North Nebraska Eagle of Dakota City told how he started and maintains a cash in advance subscription list, and then N. A. Huse told of "Advertising Nebraska," and the good which is coming from the invitation accepted by the representatives of eastern advertising agencies to visit this great state and see why it is a rich field in which to plant advertising of the best sort.

The ladies of Norfolk, many of them, then appeared on the scene and became hostesses to men of shears and pen, inviting all to tables bountifully loaded with the good things necessary to make a picnic supper. After a social hour about the tables, all adjourned to the chautauqua tent and listened to the evening entertainment.

Saturday morning was devoted to a discussion at the round table of the different questions relating to cost and results—and how to keep the former down and the latter up to the limit. W. H. Weeks of the Norfolk Press presided. At the close of the discussion a paper, "Print Shop Efficiency" from E. W. Huse of Wayne was read by Miss Forbes, in the absence of the author. It gave much good advice. When the meeting adjourned it was to meet at Norfolk at call of the executive committee, some time in January.

Following is the Greeting from the City Press:

It is the pleasure of the city press To welcome visitors of high and less Degree; to greet them with glad hand and smiles That cause them to return in after-whiles In memory, and long to come again Where they are welcomed, not by tongue and pen Alone, but where the business and the home

Combines to welcome those who are but come.

This is the function of a city press. But on this occasion we confess Our hearts are underneath our words—our thoughts

Spell gladness to the joy today has brought!

For you are brothers, kindred, and we know

The pleasure felt by aliens who receive

A visit from the friends of long ago.

Now we are face to face and shall relieve

Our consciences and overburdened minds,

To feel the joy confession ever finds.

And while we talk of printing and the rate

Of advertising, and of paper's late increase in prices, we shall bear in mind

That our is a profession where we find

The highest mead of service and content

As well as knowing self-expression's vent.

We know that for each pleasure we receive

There is a duty that we may not leave

Undone—that for our pleasure we must pay

And often in the hardest, cruellest way.

For when we strike at wrong we must be sure

That it is wrong and not inverted right:

Which if it were would only stain the pure

And give it lasting barrier to light.

And when in course of daily work we meet

Life histories and secrets, and our feet.

Profane the tombs where angels, fearful, tread,

'Tis our responsibility to wed Wisdom with justice, and to keep the law

Of hiding in our hearts the things we saw

That help not, only hinder, those who try

To overcast the past with better deeds.

And we must keep our trust in human kind,

The little courtesies, the deeds that bind

Us heart to heart, and make this living sweet—

For we have need of it, who often meet

Only the sordid, blemished and defiled.

We, we must look beneath it, as a child

Reads to the heart beneath, o'erlooks the clothes

That are the only signs a grown-up knows.

And if we look we shall find friendliness

And if we smile a smile shall be returned

For who despiseth us is surely less Than he whose favor full our way is turned!

Then we must bear in mind we hold the sway

Over a nation's subjects—that a ray

Of influence the least newspaper yields

Is more than any living monarch yields:

We shape the people's thought; we guide their minds,

Unconsciously they let us choose the kinds

Of dress, of morals and of law they use—

Tusting ours are the wiser, better views.

Alas that we are human who design To pick, select the faint, elusive line

That differentiates between the coarse and fine!

So to our welcome there is added trust

Of inspiration, to us all who thrust Pencil to paper muttering, "I must!"

RUNDELL'S COLUMN

I recently met a man several years my senior. After listening to his denunciation of President Wilson I asked him why he was a republican. He replied, "When a young man he lived in a district presided over by Judge Bryan, Wm. J's father. The Judge was a man of great influence, a democrat of sterling integrity, and a devout Christian of the Baptist faith.

"The five weeks of indecision and feeble activity by President Lincoln following his inauguration was a period that tried mens' (and womens') souls. Judge Bryan with many other copper heads, chief of whom was Congressman C. L. Vallandigham of Ohio, criticised and embarrassed President Lincoln in all his efforts to prevent war. The criticisms of the copperheads and the hesitancy of the president confirmed the southern leaders in the belief that Lincoln had a divided north to back him and would not dare to resort to force and boldly bombarded Fort Sumter. When Lincoln wanted volunteers these copperheads increased their fault findings and dampened the patriotic fervor of the people.

Patience at last ceased to be a virtue and Lincoln ordered the arrest and trial of Vallandigham for treason. The jury convicted him and said he must die but the kind hearted Lincoln commuted the sentence to banishment to the Confederacy. That is why I am a Republican."

Now if any republican can give a better reason for his political faith here is my hat and I will buy him a new one for him. Lincoln suppressed several of those copperhead sheets but their criticisms were mild compared with the rantings of the Chicago Tribune and some other papers. If it was patriotic in 1861 to stand solidly back of the president, is it not equally patriotic to let the enemy know that we are as one man when genuine Americanism does not consist in telling the enemy that the commander-in-chief of our army and navy is a weakling, vacillating, and wholly incompetent? This country may yet become involved in war in spite of all Wilson can do and if it does the president may imitate the example of Lincoln and hang a few of the present day copperheads as there is no place to deport them.

It is a sorry picture indeed for a candidate for county office to be soliciting votes on the ground that our president is weak and vacillating, was afraid to fight Germany for sinking the Lusitania and his failure to send an army into Mexico to avenge the many insults offered us.

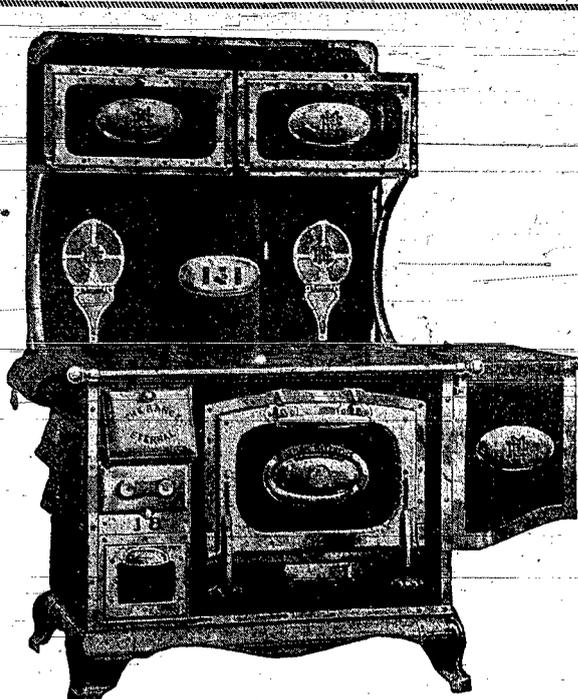

I notice that most of the measures he has asked for have been so essentially just and popular that many of the G. O. P. dared not oppose them. They voted with a few off color democrats to defeat the Ship bill wanted by the President, which would have added two hundred million dollars to the coffers of the wheat and corn raisers of the United States.

The amusing incident of the season was the republican county convention. The brains of the G. O. P. was present, even Reverend Gaston, but Satan was in their midst. They were so obsessed with the belief that all the Germans will vote for Hughes and Teddy that they forgot to mention God, the old soldier or the new, now on the burning sands of the border in defense of our country at forty-nine cents a day.

And they failed to "point with pride to the past" (distant past), Satan often does that when called down for his conduct. But perhaps this is news to that bunch (except one) that the devil was once a bright and shining angel. He wanted to be boss but receiving only eight electoral votes they boosted him over the battlements of heaven and the G. O. P. has secured his services for the campaign.

Teddy and Taft gave us part of the recent record of the g. o. p. in 1912, but next week I will give the record of its distant past. C. J. RUNDELL.

If the laboring people of this country fail to support the republican ticket this fall it may be laid to the fact that their candidate for President was one of the judges who upheld the decision which placed a fine on the hat makers, which is considered by many as most unjust, whether legal or not. Then, too, the fact that the republicans of the senate with one exception voted solidly to reject the appointment of Brandies to a place on the supreme bench. The great masses of the people feel that they are entitled to one man on the bench who is known to be at least considered fair by the people as between the interests and the masses; but the republicans in the senate were not that fair, and they cannot expect a man who works for a living, and most of us do, to vote such a party into power.

"Ask and Ye Shall Receive"

That is the theory on which many people assume that a newspaper is run, and in proof of that fact it will be of interest to note that within a week the different people have suggested that the editor GIVE:

The fellows who speed their automobiles a scorching rebuke.

The kids and older ones, who ride bicycles on the walks, warning of what may be in store for them unless they "keep in the middle of the road."

Tell it so that the city officials will know that fully half of the fellows who drive automobiles at night violate the law by not having any tail light.

Not all people are observing the regulations as to keeping to the right, and turning their car or vehicle only at the intersection of streets.

And say, Mr. Editor, why not ask people who have trees with limbs hanging low over the walk to trim them so that people will not have their hats brushed off by them? Sure, Mike!

Then, again, will you please suggest that there are several lots and some of them right in town, that are most unsightly, because the weeds need cutting?

We suggest that if you have a complaint to make that you write it out—and sign it—and hand it in for publication—and it would be a fine thing when making any complaint to suggest the best remedy—most any one can kick and knock, but do it with a boost or a suggestion of something better.

The principle of chiropractic (adjust the cause and the effect is eliminated) is right. Clinical observations of tens of thousands of cases, as far as can be learned, every known condition of the human body is subject to, shows conclusively that this science is reaching all conditions and correcting the cause of disease, opening the way for nature to cure.
Chiropractic is not a theory any more; it is a science of facts and is doing for suffering humanity that which other professions have been striving to do for ages.
Chiropractic should be thoroughly investigated by those who are sick, or by those whose dear ones are suffering from disease. Chiropractic courts investigation. A science which is based upon logical principles delights in being investigated; while a pseudo evades analysis. Do not insult your intelligence by ridiculing the great science with which you are unfamiliar; nor will you be a stumbling block to those who want to come in touch with this science. Chiropractic invites suffering persons to come and see her and get well. Do not abuse the best friend of poor suffering humanity, chiropractic.
Lady patients. In no line of disease do we have better success than in the various diseases and ailments which affect womankind. Benefits are promptly shown without the annoyance which they are subjected to under other treatments. The proper nerve supply being restored, normal functions are quickly re-established.
Your health and happiness depend on the condition of your nervous system. Investigate this wonderful science. It's a pleasure to tell you about it.

Ash is very much taken up with the town, Lewistown, and the surrounding country. The town is in Fergus county, the county being 100 miles long and 65 miles wide and made up of rich sheep and cattle ranches and one or two gold mines, and coal mines. The bank deposits of the town Lewistown reaches up into the millions and for a town of only six thousand is a practically new country this is remarkable. The city lights, electric, are furnished by water power from a river 125 miles distant. Three railroads pass through the town. Perhaps one of the best features, however, is the fact that the town has 100 blocks of paved streets and the kind of paving that they will go to Marion, South Dakota, to visit with Mr. Bartill's brother, Martin Bartill and family. A Little Bit of Soldier Life

Ed Stephenson, who went from Neligh down by the Rio Grande has a letter in this week's News, from which we extract the following:

We stood guard here last Monday night on the canal just about two miles west of here. Each man is armed with ninety rounds of ammunition, rifle and bayonet. One Mexican was shot and wounded here at Liano Grande, while trying to beat the lines. About seventy-five per cent of the population here is Mexican and negro. The negro has no rights at all. If he gets in your road you can beat or kill him and no one cares. One was burned at the stake at Denison a few weeks ago.

At mess time we line up and march up to the cook shack with mess kit and cup and army silver in hand. Each one rushes to be first. We eat beans and hardtack for breakfast, some more beans for dinner and still some more beans for supper. Now I know you folks would enjoy to mess with us at beans and hardtack. The boys have eaten so many beans that they are taking to liking them, but I will guarantee you one thing you will never get fat.

We are going on a long march tomorrow with full equipment, consisting of a knapsack and blanket roll, belt and side arms and an army rifle. The whole thing weighs about fifty pounds. I was down to the border last week to the Rio Grande river. The country down here they say sells for one hundred and fifty, but a man would be foolish to pay it. Cactus grows here to the height of four and five feet. The Mexicans make a sort of a drink out of it. It is as black as tar and they say it will make you drunk as a fool by taking just a few drinks. The whites have cactus burners and burn stickers off and the cattle follow up and eat it. For my part I would take Nebraska for mine.

Domestic Economy by a Marine

Because they use too much water and too little soap, women do not get that same dazzling whiteness in their washed clothes as do the United States Marines, Sergeant Clarence D. Rhoades, of the Marine corps, told a party of society women visiting the battleship Utah today.

"The eye-paining brilliance of our white clothes is due to the fact that we wash with our heads as well as our hands, and we let soap do its proper share of the work. Just enough water to thoroughly wet the wash is sufficient," the sergeant continued, "and the less water and more soap one uses the whiter the washing will turn out."

The fair visitors seemed greatly impressed with the lesson given them in an art that is dear to every woman's heart.

What now? Insurgency in the republican camp in this state already. And not in this state only we vum but in every other state whose railway or public service commissioners are republicans. Our three republican railway commissioners Clark, Taylor and Hall, are opposed to the plank in the platform abolishing the state commissioners and putting all control in the hands of a federal commission. Of course these men would be expected to oppose the abolition of their own jobs, but they didn't give that as a reason for their opposition, they gave some real reason we would do well to consider even from interested parties. (Our commissioners are elective and the people can have some say as to who they will be. Federal commissioners would be appointive and it is very evident that the railroads prefer to take their chances on getting a majority of our appointive commissioners to see things their way. So the railroad men are even more "interested" than the state commissioners who would lose their job. What do you think?—Blair Pilot.

Wakefield News
(From the Republican)

G. W. Davis and children, Earl, Ruth and Mrs. Walter Carlson will leave soon on an auto trip through Kansas and Oklahoma. Mr. Davis is taking the children to visit their mother's folks, whom they have never seen.

Report has it that Jeff Taylor has bought the Winnebago, Chieftan and will take charge in the near future. Taylor knows the printing business thoroughly, is a hustler for business and a wide-awake editor. Winnebago can expect a live paper constantly boosting for its interests when Jeff takes charge.

Mrs. Martha Davis tripped when stepping off the porch Tuesday and fell on her head and shoulders. Her right shoulder was broken, her head and left arm bruised. Temporarily she is unable to use either arm. Fortunately the injuries are not such as to confine her to bed. Mrs. Davis is 78 years of age.

Francis Kimball's have been having rather more than their share of trouble. Mrs. Kimball has been quite ill. Mr. Kimball was kicked on the knee by a horse a few weeks ago. The usual remedies failed to cure it and he had to have it operated on Sunday, putting him on the off-duty list at the busiest season of the year. However, Mrs. Kimball is much better and Mr. Kimball's knee is improving.

While on duty as nightwatchman Friday night, J. S. Cramer went into the new building which N. N. Sackerson is building. He fell through the opening for the stairway into the basement. One thigh-bone was broken diagonally across, the fracture being about six inches in length. While he is doing well as could be expected, the hot weather, kidney trouble and his advanced age along with the injury are making it pretty serious for him. Howard Cramer came from Woodbine, Iowa, when he heard of his father's accident. He had to return for a few days, but will be here again Friday evening to stay a month or two to assist in caring for his father.

W. R. Mick can drive his car twenty-two miles on a gallon of gasoline, and if you don't believe it, he'll show you. He did it last Friday over some of the worst roads in this territory and had about a spoonful of gasoline left.

Judging from what we have heard, it must have been quite an interesting foot race that took place in Carroll last Friday evening, but we have experienced some difficulty in securing the names of the participants. Every place we went in search of information, the party broached would suggest that we ask James Stephens about it, and this we decided to do. We asked him if he knew anything about the footrace that was pulled off in Carroll Friday evening. He said he thought he knew as much about it as anybody for he had seen the whole show. He informed us that August Lohberg was one of the runners, but said the other fellow was going so fast that he couldn't tell exactly who it was.

Does Prohibition Prohibit?

The people of Nebraska are being urged this year to adopt state-wide PROHIBITION, and to wipe out the Slocum Local Option, High License Law.

Naturally, the average man wants to know what results have been achieved in states where PROHIBITION has been tried. He wants to know first of all whether state-wide PROHIBITION prohibits. The practical man also wants to know what results have been achieved in Nebraska under the Local-option, High License System

We intend to publish a series of articles with a view of laying certain vital facts before the people of this state, facts which they should possess in order that they may be able to make an intelligent decision.

The citizens of Nebraska want an opportunity to hear both sides of the question. They have little patience with the extremists, of whom there are some on both sides. They want to hear in plain language why so many men of standing are opposed to state-wide PROHIBITION.

We will present evidence in abundance to show that state-wide PROHIBITION does not prohibit; that serious new evils follow in the wake of PROHIBITION, evils far worse and more numerous than those for which PROHIBITION is offered as a remedy.

Kansas tried for many years to make state-wide PROHIBITION prohibit, and has failed. The news item presented herewith is eloquent testimony to that fact.

An Item of Proof from Kansas

Showing that PROHIBITION does not prohibit.
(News item in Topeka Capital of November 3, 1915.)

"Liquor is being sold to high school boys by bottom characters," according to Ed. Rooney, probation officer.

"W. E. Atchison, county attorney, yesterday afternoon ordered a warrant drawn for the arrest of the negro who is said to have sold liquor to Reuben Niedens and Johnnie Barret, the two boys who took Mrs. Ida Brownell's Ford from in front of her residence, 205 Madison, and began a mad career of window smashing that ended in their arrest. Niedens is 17, Barret 14. The boys gave information to Atchison about purchasing the liquor. The warrant will be served this morning."

Bixby says: "The democratic party never grows or gets anywhere in a community of sober men." Sometimes Bixby's efforts at humor are very painful, and also very far from what he knows to be the truth. Oklahoma City is "dry" and democratic. Lincoln is full of saloons and has a big republican majority. And there is more "dry" territory under democratic administration than there is "dry" territory under republican administration. Sometimes Bixby makes the mistake of thinking people are laughing with him, when in fact they are laughing at him.

Miss E. Kingsbury, professor of German at the state normal left Saturday morning on her vacation. She will first go to Waukesha, Wisconsin, to visit with relatives for some time. Later she will go to Ithica, New York, to visit with her brother, Dr. B. F. Kingsbury and family, for some time. She will be gone about six weeks.

Mrs. McCrae left Monday afternoon for Brookings, South Dakota, to visit for a few weeks with relatives. Her daughter, Mrs. Chas. Madden, husband and daughter Pearl, left the same afternoon for Brookings in their car and where they will visit for some time. It was feared that such a long trip by car might prove over tiresome to Mrs. McCrae.

The County Agent

No county ever spent so much in the same length of time to help the farmer and promote agricultural industries to the end that better results might be obtained, as the United States spent during the period from 1910 to 1915. Agricultural schools were multiplied. Experiment stations and model farms increased in number. Tons of literature giving the results of investigation were distributed by the government, and special trains with lecturers and samples of farm products traveled the country at great expense.

How much did the farmer profit by all this effort? Not as much as he might, in many instances. There were many farmers who did not listen with open minds to the information furnished for them. They were prejudiced against innovations, and in some cases misinterpreted the instructions. But what was accomplished during these years, was the collecting of a vast amount of valuable data and the training of a large number of teachers and of young men in the agricultural colleges of the country, who are now beginning to put into actual practice the theories and ideas received from their scientific training. Another important factor which the period of training produced is the county agent who labors to bring about as large a measure of co-operation among the farmers of a county and to enlist the help of railway officials, bankers, merchants and thus practically show the way in which the several business interests and industries of a community are dependent upon one another. The county agent makes it a part of his business to aid in securing good seed in large quantities at low prices and in marketing the products of the farms to the best advantage. He brings home to the individual farmer the way in which he, personally, can profit from improved methods, and is a valuable man to all lines of business which depend upon the products of the soil.—Norfolk Press.

And yet Wayne county farmers hesitate. Why not be among the most progressive.

A newspaper will soon be started at Wakefield by Mr. Boyd Leedom, who has had several years experience in the business in Kansas. Wakefield is a first rate place for a newspaper, and we do not doubt but Mr. Leedom will furnish an excellent paper, one well worthy of patronage and support. We wish him the best of luck in the enterprise.

A specimen of timothy, said to have been grown on Witham's sand hill, near Martinsburg, was banded this week. It measured four feet two inches in height. In the east where land sells at $100 to $200 per acre, timothy grass four feet two inches high would be considered immense. But here, where land ranges from $5 to $10 per acre, we are not satisfied with any such small grass as this. A pure and unadulterated satisfaction happens to us only when the grass is from six to ten feet high. The fact is, one acre of our ten dollar land has double the actual value in it of the best high priced lands of the east.—Ponca Journal-Leader, July 1882.

$85,000,000 for Better Roads

Recent legislation provides for system of improved highways. How states may secure funds. The sum of $85,000,000 of Federal fund is made available for the construction of rural roads, by the passage of the Federal-aid road bill which became a law on July 11, 1916. Of this sum $75,000,000 is to be expended for the construction of rural post roads under co-operative arrangements with the highway departments of the various states, and $10,000,000 is to be expended for roads and trails within or partly within the national forests. The act limits the Federal government's share in road work in co-operation with the states to 50 per cent of the estimated cost of construction. Federal aid may be extended to the construction of any rural post road, excluding all streets or roads in towns having a population of 2,500 or more, except the portions of such streets or roads on which the houses are, on an average, more than 200 feet apart.

Five million dollars is made available for expenditure during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1917, and thereafter the appropriation is increased at the rate of five millions a year until 1921, when the sum provided is twenty-five millions, making a total of seventy-five millions. In addition, an appropriation of $1,000,000 a year for 10 years—a total of $10,000,000—is made available for the development of roads and trails wholly or partly within the national forests.

The class of roads to be built and the method of construction are to be mutually agreed upon by the Secretary of Agriculture and the State highway departments.

Why Oppose Him?

If there is any congressman that devoutly wishes that congress would adjourn and quit its job it is our friend Dan Stephens, at present congressman from this district. He wants to get back home and patch up the many places that have been injured in his political fence. He can see great holes in it all over the district. The only possible salvation of Dan's would be the solid support of the German vote and that he knows has been slipping away, not only from the president, but from himself. Dan realizes that "his goose is done cooked." — Editor Tamplin, in Tekamah Journal.

Just why Congressman Stephens should have to worry about the German, the Irish, the Bohemian, Swedish, or even yet the American vote. Mr. Templin fails to make clear. Mr. Stephens has made the Third district its most efficient representative. The "Germans" especially should feel kindly toward him in that he has opposed the preparedness move from its beginning, and that, we believe, is consistent with the opinions of those Americans whom Mr. Tamplin insists on calling Germans.—Norfolk Press.

Lincoln Letter

The republican state convention held in Lincoln last Tuesday was very little like the old time conventions of the kind of other days. It lacked "pep" and enthusiasm which has distinguished these biennial conclaves of the past. A most pronounced feature was the absence of whole delegations from counties that were only a few hours ride from Lincoln. Very few farmers were present except those living in close proximity to Lincoln, and these were mostly old men whose usefulness on the farm had become a negative quantity. The attendance was the smallest known in years. The dearth of young men was a striking feature probably more noticeable than any other one thing. Looking over that crowd of bald-headed and grey-haired delegates gave one a feeling that age was stealing away the virility and stamina of this once dominant and historic organization. Like some ancient castle, with its battlements and turrets grown useless in this modern age of warfare, its mouldering walls moss grown and ivy covered, crumbling away amid the splendor of a new age and a new dispensation. Something of this feeling seemed to permeate the atmosphere of the deliberations of this meeting. Hoary-headed men were there in that convention who had been on the firing line more years than some of us have lived; men who had seen their party at its zenith and glory, who loved its traditions, and who remembered the achievements of its past. They cared not that it had erred, that its traditions and slowly dying principles had been trailed in the dust of false promises and false prophecy by designing men and politicians. They cared not that the days of its usefulness were gone, sacrificed to the god of mammon and predatory interests. They still loved it for what it had been, as a mother loves her only child, regardless of how worldly or scarred he becomes as youth and maturity grow apace. Fiery orators attempted to stir the spirit of these grey-haired delegates but it was useless. The reading of the resolutions caused only a desultory applause. Mention of the presidential candidate's name raised hardly a ripple. It took less than four hours to wind up the affairs of the convention and by five o'clock in the afternoon the end had come. Few of the so-called progressives were present, and the Old Guard was in the saddle for fair. The program was cut and dried and the delegates present seemed to have little interest in the proceedings.

What a contrast to the republican convention was that of the democrats at Hastings, where youth and age mingles in one conglomerate mass of enthusiastic, high-spirited, virile Americanism. There was harmony there, too, but it was of a different brand. The delegates, not a few leaders, controlled the convention. Factionalism was forgotten in the higher standard of patriotism set by a splendid and united Democracy, led by the greatest hearted president since the days of Abraham Lincoln. It was the largest gathering of democrats in the history of democratic state conventions, and every one who attended went home with the firm conviction that victory was assured at the polls next November. There was oratory there, too, but it was the vibrant, enthusiastic oratory of achievement, of faith, of a nation redeemed from the money changers and the tariff barons, from the war lords and designing politicians, from the jingoists and the selfish in heart and mind. It was a love feast of unity and harmony, and one that will long be remembered in the future history of democratic state conventions. The splendid record of the party during the past four years is an inspiration to every democrat as well as those who believe in that form of government which governs and protects all alike.

August Alfalfa Sowing

August seeding of alfalfa is now becoming quite generally practiced in many sections of the state. Reports have been secured from practically every section of the state, indicating that its success depends largely upon the amount of moisture at the time of, or immediately following the seeding. The first week in August is generally best, but the time will depend very largely upon the condition of the soil. August seeding gives a chance to secure a small grain crop in sections of the state where there is plenty of moisture. It also allows tilling in sections of the state where moisture should be conserved. August seeding enables one to kill the weeds, thus doing away with the greatest objection to spring seeding. Bulletin No. 120, Nebraska Agricultural Experiment Station.

Open Air Sleeping

Gentle reader, if you have been in the night as you walk home or from your home door or window white robed figures darting across lawns and sleeping porches do not worry or imagine that ghosts or goblins are visiting Wayne and your neighborhood. It is simply some poor heat affected victim, who has tried in vain to get some sleep in a room that has collected all the heat it could during the day and is making the sleepless sleeper a present of it.

Listen, here is what one man says after trying our sleep producer remedy for three weeks. "After using the new idea of sleeping out of doors for some time I am convinced that a man can spend his summer days feeling fresher and brighter all day than he can trying to sleep and miserably failing in a hot, stuffy room."

The writer has tried it and it works fine. You don't have to fix up the porch with screens. The mosquitoes will not bother and if they do use a little mosquito netting.

Nebraska's cool evening air is a fine sleep producer. It contains no malaria or consumption germs. No one will deny, unless he is a walking ice berg, that these evenings are hot inside. Well, just try a little of this new, old remedy, out door sleeping, and see for yourself how it works. You will enjoy it.

Shipping Live Stock

Farmers' live stock shipping associations have proved so successful that, although the first was not formed until 1908, the department of agriculture now has a list of approximately 500 that are shipping stock in a co-operative way. About 200 of these are in Minnesota, where the movement started and the remainder are chiefly in the middle west.

The main purpose of these associations is to enable their members to ship in carload lots to the central market instead of being more or less at the mercy of local buyers in disposing of a few animals from time to time. The fact that no capital is required for the organization of such an association, says a new publication of the department, Farmers' Bulletin 718, which deals with this subject, makes these associations possible in communities in which more complicated forms of co-operation would not succeed. The Bulletin, however, points out that such associations are scarcely practicable in regions where there is so much live stock that it is generally marketed in carload lots under any circumstances or where there is so little that the association has practically nothing with which to work.

Obituary of Peter Nygren

Peter Nygren was born at Kalmar Lane, Sweden, Nov. 15, 1860, and died at his home south of Laurel July 13, 1916. He was married to Miss Christina Limberg in 1883, and came to America in 1889, locating near Carroll. The first summer he was here Mr. Nygren worked on the Wilson ranch southwest of Laurel—before the town was started—when the Short line (now the Burlington) road was being graded. He lived in Wayne county until 1910, when he purchased the home farm six miles southwest of Laurel. Besides the wife he leaves three sons, Emil, Albert and John, one daughter, Mrs. E. C. Smith, and three sisters, Mrs. Frank Kardell, southeast of Laurel, the other two in Sweden. Mr. Nygren was a member of the Concord Swedish church, and also a member of the M. W. A. and A. O. U. W. lodges. The funeral was held from the home July 18, conducted by the pastor of the Concord Swedish church, assisted by the pastor of the Swedish M. E. church.—Laurel Advocate.

Spring vs. Fall Plowing

During the four years out of seven under study at the North Platte experimental substation, there has been more moisture at seeding time in the first three feet of spring-plowed land than in the same depth of fall-plowed land. During the three years that spring plowed land contained less moisture than fall-plowed land, the difference was practically negligible. The amount of water that can be stored in the soil from the harvest period of one crop to the seeding time of the next crop is comparatively small except in very favorable years when the amount of rain or snow during this period is about normal and of such character that there is but little run-off. Under conditions that have prevailed during the last five years, this stored moisture is rapidly used by weeds and the growing crop in the spring.

To keep pure white summer garments of linen, silk, lace or flannel as clear, sweet-smelling, soft and unworn as when new, they should not be put in with the regular wash nor should they be cleansed with ordinary soap. The only way is to wash them separately and carefully with Ivory Soap.

Ivory Soap will not shrink them, stain them, nor harm their texture no matter how often it is used. There is nothing in it that can damage them in the slightest degree. It contains no free alkali, no materials of any kind that can harm color or fiber or leave a disagreeable odor. It is nothing but pure soap, and that of the highest quality which can be made. Remember these general directions:

- 1st—Wash one piece at a time.
- 2nd—Use lukewarm water.
- 3rd—Cleanse by working garment up and down in suds; do not rub garment on a washboard nor rub soap on the garment.
- 4th—Use Ivory Soap.

That a child born in 1916 has ten times the expectation of life possessed by its predecessor of thirty years ago is the claim of the Lincoln city department of health. The Lincoln department takes exception as follows: "The period of life from birth to the termination of the adolescent stage is one continuous period of growth and development."

A cloudburst near the Wyoming-Nebraska line has at least temporarily relieved the irrigators and water power users along the Platte river in Nebraska. The cloudburst damaged a Government canal, which crossed into Nebraska from Wyoming, in such a way as to allow 1,500 cubic feet of water a second that was going into the canal to go into the North Platte river. The supply is enough for all irrigators. It is said, and also the Kearney Water Power company, which had complained of a shortage.

Circular Boats.

Still used to a considerable extent, circular boats in the Tigris may be seen at Bagdad, just as they appeared 2,000 years ago, when Herodotus wrote: "The boats which come down the river to Babylon are circular and made of skins. The frames, which are of willow, are cut in the country of the Armenians above Assyrria, and on these, which serve for hulls, a covering of skins is stretched outside, and thus the boats are made, without either stem or stern, quite round, like a shield. They are then entirely filled with straw, and their cargo is put on board, after which they are suffered to float down the stream. Their chief freight is wine, stored in casks made of the wood of the palm tree. They are managed by two men, who stand upright in them, each plying an oar, one pulling and the other pushing. The boats are of various sizes, some larger, some smaller. The biggest reach as high as 5,000 talents' burden. Each vessel has a live ass on board. Those of larger size have more than one."

Apple Peddlers of New York City.

On the east side of New York City, on Ludlow street, south of Grand, is the wholesale market of the apple peddlers. Here there is an animated scene, men widely shouting and gesticulating, sidewalks crowded with forests of apple barrels. It is almost impossible to pass along even in the street for the dozens of peddlers' carts lined up there. Suddenly there is a commotion, and a crowd gathers at the curb. A barrel of apples is on sale, bids rise at a penny a bid, and finally the highest bidder carries off his prize. Everywhere are barrels overflowing with cheerful red and yellow apples which the peddlers will carry off to peddle in other parts of the city. The wholesale apple dealers rent basements along this street in which to store their wares. In the morning they bring out and narrow the barrels all over the street, dingy stretch of Ludlow street.

Divorces Are Costly in Canada.

Canada's divorce court is never entered except by members of the wealthy class and not frequently by them. Only four to six divorces are granted in Canada annually. There is no record of a poor man ever getting a divorce in the Dominion. It is said. The average cost of a divorce in Canada is $2,000, and the decree is granted for only one offense—marital infidelity. The legislature at Ottawa appoints a divorce committee each session, and all cases are settled by this committee. There is no appeal in a divorce action. Those living in the western part of the Dominion have to pay much more for a decree than those living in the east because of the heavier traveling expenses.—Detroit Tribune.

Dropped in on the Bears.

Some years back a visitor dropped in on the bears at the zoological gardens. A hat fell into the pit, and its owner at once jumped in after it. He landed on a bear who was enjoying a dose in the sun. The bear made him welcome. It seized him by the shoulder and waltzed him round and round. Luckily the visitor kept his feet until a keeper opened a side door and pulled him into safety. But the hat was left behind. On the following day the man sent to the society a letter in which he claimed the cost of a new hat.—London Tatler.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Keep the Teeth Clean. That the far-reaching consequences of neglecting to take care of the teeth may be felt in later life is the belief of many medical observers. Many diseases are the direct result of decayed teeth, swollen and inflamed gums, pyorrhea or some other form of oral sepsis.

Attention must be given to the teeth regularly, three times a day, as soon as possible after eating, if the teeth are to be preserved and the health kept normal. An equal portion of prepared chalk andorris root, mixed will keep the mouth sweet and clean if used as a tooth powder. The gums may be toned up by rinsing the mouth with salt water.—A half teaspoonful to a tumbler of water makes an agreeable solution. Salt water in this strength is also an excellent gargle for a sore throat.
