$1.50 PER YEAR

Teaching

The opening of the Wayne county teachers' institute convened in the high school building at Wayne Monday morning to continue for five days. The sessions meet from eight to twelve and from one-thirty until four each day.

One hundred and three teachers are enrolled on the register this year and every session has been fully attended and very careful attention has been given to the instructors and lecturers.

Instructors this year are: A. H. Dixon of Tekamah, who gives daily lectures on psychology, pedagogy, U. S. history and government and conference talks to superintendents and teachers of town schools; Miss Ethel Williamson of Albion, daily lectures and instruction on penmanship; Miss Lillian Beach of University Place, Lincoln, lectures and instruction on music, primary reading, occupation work, language and story work. Dr. T. T. Jones, a local physician talks daily on "Prevention of the Spread of Contagious Diseases in Town and Rural Schools." This series of lectures is proving one of the greatest benefits to the teachers for it is a practical teaching of co-operative work between the teachers and the local health authorities, which is going to prove one of the greatest sources of successful work against unsanitary conditions that so often are found in communities, both town and country.

In addition to this instruction, J. C. McMillan of the U. S. department of agriculture at Lincoln spoke Tuesday afternoon on the subject, "Boys and Girls Club Work." The kind of work Wayne county teachers will take up this year in this line will be Corn Club, Pig Club, and Sewing Club. R. D. Moritz of the state department of education talked to the teachers Tuesday afternoon on, "Value of Visualization in our School Work." Both talks were brim full of helpful ideas along the line of practical education.

The sessions have been fortunate in being visited with the fine cool weather, making thought concentration to the work easy and keeping interest up.

An auto ride was given to the teacher and instructors Wednesday afternoon throughout Wayne and surrounding vicinity which was much enjoyed by all. In the evening a picnic supper was held in the city park where plenty of good things to eat and games and sports were provided for all. Miss Pearl Sewell, county superintendent, is responsible for the suggesting and carrying out of these plans to make the visitors' stay in Wayne as pleasant as possible.

The Summer Minstrel Girls, who so ably sang and entertained the audience at the lawn party of Mesdames Oman, Gildersleeve and Rennie last Thursday, were called upon to sing to the teachers at their picnic supper at the park Wednesday evening. Old favorite songs with some of the new classical songs of the day were rendered, and most thoroughly enjoyed by all.

In all the sessions have been an inspiration, helpful and instructive. They have been a success both in attendance and in the co-operative spirit of the instructors and audience in exchanging useful ideas.

Some Corn Prospects

Corn prospects in the vicinity of Wayne this season are most excellent, both as to quality and quantity. We were reminded of this Saturday when Mr. Agler, who with his sister-in-law, Mrs. W. P. Agler, farms the county farm at old Laporte, entered this office with four large, well developed ears of corn. The variety was the Iowa Silver Mine, the seed of which came from that state this spring. They have eight acres of this corn, and as the ears shown were fully 12 inches in length and the stand is good it looks like a crop that will not stop short of a half thousand bushels on the piece. They have other corn also of good prospect, and so, too, have hundreds of other farmers. One visitor who looked at a piece he used to farm and on which he had gathered 66 bushels per acre, said he had never seen the field look better at this time of the year, and the owner is figuring on no less than 70 bushel return.

Head-On Auto Collision

Shortly after six o'clock Friday evening two run-about cars came together a mile west of Wayne, the cars having been hidden from sight from each other by a raise of ground until about a few rods apart. John Ahern and D. W. Kinne of this place, the occupants of Norfolk, were the occupants of one car and J. B. Coleman and Miss Ruth Carver of Sioux City, bound for Norfolk, were in the west-bound auto. The road at this point has two good tracks, and is in good condition from gutter to gutter, but Ahern was traveling east in the left-hand track, which some claim belongs entirely to west-bound travel. It was but an instant after the drivers could see each other until they crashed together, and no one can tell positively how it happened.

Fortunately no one was fatally injured, and in fact the injuries are very slight considering the chance for worse. Mr. Coleman sustained the most severe injuries, the attending physician finding a broken rib and a number of cuts and bruises about the arms and body and several cuts of head and face. Miss Carver had a face cut and an injury to the knee, but otherwise escaped with some bruises and scratches. Mr. Ahern had a bandage on one hand and Mr. Kinne walked with a limp because of a bruised ankle.

Both cars were badly wrecked, and it is a question whether or not they should be in the hands of the repair man or the junk dealer. The Ahern Ford is being repaired by the repair man, and the little Saxon still stands a mute disfigured reminder of what might have happened to any of the occupants.

Mr. Coleman, who is a merchandise broker, and Miss Carver, returned to Sioux City Sunday afternoon, he on a cot—the lady able to walk. Mrs. Mary Meyer, acting as nurse accompanied them.

The matter of fixing the damages and responsibility, we will not undertake in this issue of the paper, as that is matter for the participants of the encounter to determine.

Last evening the Democrat received from Miss Carver and Mr. Coleman a note asking that we convey to the people of Wayne an expression of their appreciation of the many courtesies extended at the time of the accident.

Scace—Mahood

A very pleasant surprise was given to Miss Mary E. Mahood's friends of Wayne, and parents, relatives and friends in her home at Columbus, when it became known by word over the wire that Mr. C. E. Scace of Lusk, Wyoming, and hereafter had been quietly married at Council Bluffs, Iowa, Tuesday afternoon, August 22, 1916, at six o'clock, the Rev. Bingaman of the First Methodist church officiating.

The newly married couple arrived at Wayne Wednesday evening to visit with Mr. Scace's brother, Homer Scace and wife. Later they will go to Columbus to visit with relatives and friends, leaving for Lusk, Wyoming, in a week or two, where they will make their future home on Mr. Scace's ranch near that place.

Mrs. Mahood-Scace, before her marriage, was head of the home economics department at the State Normal school. At the close of the summer term she was granted a year's leave of absence in order that she might go to the Columbia University of New York to take advanced work, but she was overtaken by the "Little Bowman" and her marriage ensued.

The groom has many warm friends here and is a well to do ranchman at his home at Lusk. Friends extend congratulations to these young people and wish them the best of success and happiness throughout life.

Mahon—Hunter

Married, August second at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hunter, at Akeley, Minnesota, Miss Leah Aileen Hunter to Mr. Stanley Almont Mahon. Miss Hunter will be remembered by Wayne people as the daughter of The Democrat man. She spent her early girlhood days in Wayne going to Akeley to become a successful teacher, and the wife of a Minnesota superintendent of schools. Her many Wayne friends join in wishing her a happy married life.

Gaston—Leech

The wedding of Miss A. Gladys Gaston, daughter of Rev. W. L. Gaston, pastor of the Baptist church, and wife, to Ivan A. Leech, son of T. C. Leech and wife of Westerville, was solemnized at eleven o'clock Wednesday morning, August 23, 1916, at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. W. L. Gaston officiating.

Only immediate relatives were present at the wedding, which took place in the drawing room. A temporary altar was erected in one corner of the room of ferns and hydrangeas before which the bridal party stood. The room was beautifully decorated in Shasti daisies, St. Joseph lilies and roses.

The bride was dressed in a beautiful pussy willow silk dress, carrying in her arms a large bouquet of bride's roses. The bridegroom was dressed in a suit of dark blue.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served in the dining room, which was decorated with many beautiful flowers. An informal reception was held between the hours of one and two, when members of the congregation and friends of the bride were received by Misses Ina and Ruby Hughes and shook hands and extended best wishes to the newly married couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Leech departed on the 2:40 train for Lincoln and Omaha where they will visit for a week or ten days with relatives and friends. They will be at their future home on Mr. Leech's farm near Westerville after September 1st.

The bride is the only daughter of Rev. Gaston and wife. She is a graduate of the Merna high school where she has taught for the past three years, holding for some time the position of deputy county superintendent of Custer county. Mr. Leech is a prosperous farmer near Westerville, being a graduate of the Ashly high school and of Wesleyan college, University Place.

The Democrat extends with many numerous friends of this worthy couple, sincere congratulations and best wishes, hoping that the future holds much happiness and success for the two.

Relatives from out of town were: G. G. Harrison, wife and daughter Marion of Jewell City, Kansas; Wm. Gaston and wife of Jewell City, Kansas; Mrs. D. A. Brackett of Jewell City, Kansas; T. C. Leech and wife of Westerville and Mrs. Day McClusky of Norfolk.

Miss Vallie Armcoast caught the bridal wreath thrown by Mrs. Leech. Many friends were at the station to throw the last farewell rice and other delightful (?) grains that insist on falling down one's neck. Old shoes, dear old shoes, formed a warm attachment for grips, and cards and bills of various descriptions adorned parcels. No marriage is complete without these.

Love Grows Not Old

Years may lengthen into the winter of life, days may fly by and we scarcely realize that the spring of life is gone, yet despite gray hair and the old age, Dan Cupid keeps the heart of all true lovers young and gives to all the sweet love of youth.

Such was the case Monday, August 21, 1916, at the Wayne county court house when the wedding of John H. Ashly, age 76, of Magnet and Rachel M. Black, age 65, of Randolph, was solemnized. Acting County Judge James Brittain, the youngest acting county judge in the state of Nebraska, pronounced the words that made these lovely old people, husband and wife.

May the remaining years of their life deal kindly with them and may each day bring them some joy to add to their happiness.

Social Notes

Mrs. Harry Jones and Mrs. H. J. Felber entertained thirty-two ladies at the Jones home Friday, August 18, at three o'clock in honor of their mother, Mrs. A. L. Tucker, formerly of this place but now residing in San Diego, California, and who has been visiting here the past month. The afternoon was spent on the cool porch, socially the ladies invited being former friends of Mr. and Mrs. Tucker, the most of them coming to Wayne or Wayne vicinity as settlers about the same time as Mr. and Mrs. Tucker, 1885. Early hardships were discussed, the development of the town and surrounding country as they had seen it grow in the past years. At five o'clock a delicious two-course luncheon was served by Mrs. Jones. The guests departed about five-thirty wishing Mrs. Tucker many happy returns and wishing that she may again visit Wayne and friends in the future, and thanking the hostesses for the splendid time. The guests invited were: Mesdames C. A. Chace, A. A. Welch, Robert Mellor, T. W. Moran, H. F. Wilson, J. T. Bressler, J. Brittain, J. J. Williams, F. L. Neely, J. Lewis, Armstrong, W. O. Gamble, M. S. Davies, F. G. Philleo, J. Harrington, P. M. Corbit, M. E. Jones, A. J. Ferguson, W. A. K. Neely, E. J. Nangle, J. C. Forbes, Wm. Gildersleeve, P. H. Kohl, A. H. Ellis, J. G. Mines, A. M. Jacobs, S. X. Cross, E. S. Blair, S. R. Theobald, Walter Weber, F. E. Moses of Pasadena, California, J. Grimsley. Mr. and Mrs. Tucker left the first of the week for Ashton, Idaho, where they will visit with relatives. Later they will go to Twin Falls, Idaho, to visit. Mr. and Mrs. Tucker have many friends here who have thoroughly enjoyed a visit with them and hope they will return again in the future.

Mrs. Clyde Oman, Mrs. Wm. Gildersleeve and Mrs. Ada Rennie were hostesses to a party of one hundred and fifty of their friends at a lawn party on the Oman lawn last Thursday from three until six. Two hundred invitations were sent out. When the guests had all assembled they were first given a piece of colored tissue paper and instructed to make a cap. There were eight different colors distributed. The ladies were next told to hunt for the prize hidden in the eight piles of hay that were marked with the color flag corresponding to their cap. Much fun and excitement ensued but the prizes were finally found. The guests next had the pleasure of listening to the "Summer Girl minstrels" the company being composed of Florence Welch, interlocutor and the four minstrels, Ferno Oman, Frances Oman, Helena Baker and Minnie Will; Cella Gildersleeve and Cidne Macklin, 1st end minstrels and Marguerite Chace and Wilma Gildersleeve second end minstrels. Songs new and modern and ancient were sung, including "In the Good Old Summer Time", "Good Night Ladies", and many others of the popular songs. Jokes were dispensed freely and many of them lit gently upon some ladies in the audience. The ladies were invited next to a swimming match between a fat lady and an exceedingly slim one. The ladies assembled at the large aquarium (tub) and perceived floating on the water just a common every day match and then they all went back and sat down. Following this clever stunt the guests enjoyed a social hour after which ample refreshments were served in cafeteria style. Punch also was served during the games in the afternoon. The time for departure having arrived the ladies all thanked their hostesses for such a splendid afternoon and departed for their homes having indeed enjoyed a splendid time under the cool shade trees.

Mrs. Jessie Jett of St. Louis and Mrs. Abbott-Lance of Ohio, were guests of the Ladies Bible Circle, Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Liebgood, northwest of town. The lesson study was very helpful as lead by Mrs. Edwin Young. At the close Mrs. Jett gave a touching account of her work among the girls of the juvenile court and also of her visitation work among the lowly of her city. Many requests for prayer were sent in from far and near and all were remembered. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses and a special day planned for next week when the ladies will meet with Mrs. Beckephaer in honor of Mrs. Jett. All are welcome.

The W. C. T. U. had a called meeting at Mrs. Brittain's Saturday afternoon, which was very interesting. Nebraska going dry this fall, how to promote and other topics relating to the subject were discussed. Rev. Buell gave a very interesting talk on the subject. The entire meeting was given to this discussion. Mrs. Hickman was made a member. Mrs. O. E. Lantz of Danville, Ohio, who is visiting her mother, Mrs. Abbott, was a guest. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Wollert, Friday, September 1.

Wednesday evening Mrs. James Brittain entertained in honor of C. L. Roberts and wife, who are visiting here from Illinois, a number of relatives and friends at tea. Among the out of town guests were, Ray Azler and Jerry Longnecker and families from near Wakefield and Mrs. Goodyear of Scranton, Iowa, who with Mr. and Mrs. Goodyear of this place and Ray Reynolds and family made up the happy gathering.

Mrs. I. J. Lane, Mrs. E. B. Young and the girls of the Junior Bible Circle, went to Wakefield Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Lane and Mrs. Young to attend the meeting of the Bible Circle there, the girls to join with the Wakefield bible study girls in a picnic. They all returned home in the evening.

Between fifty and seventy-five members of the local Masonic lodge and Eastern Stars attended the Winside Masonic picnic held east of Winside Friday. A very enjoyable time was had by all, plenty of good things to eat being furnished by all and games in which all could participate being held.

Dan McManigal Loses Fingers

Last Saturday Dan McManigal lost the end from second and third fingers of his left hand near the first joint. He was working about a farm grain elevator when the fingers caught beneath the drive chain. A Wayne physician was called to dress the ends proper, and at this writing he is doing nicely. Mr. McManigal is one of the early settlers here, and had previously had one hand crippled, but it will take more than such an accident to keep him quiet long, for he is an active worker in spite of his more than three score and ten years of life.

The Denver Post (which opposed prohibition) announces: May 1 to July 15, 1916—with saloons—137 criminals were sent to the penitentiary. May 1 to July 14, 1916—under prohibition—there were only 44.

Some Real Facts About Kansas:

July 1, 1916, Kansas paid all bonded indebtedness and burned the cancelled bonds.
July 1, 1916, the per capita wealth of Kansas was $1,630 greater than that of any other state.
The state tax this year is $1.25 per thousand—lower than any other state—with one exception.
Jan. 1, 1916, bank deposits were $224,110,576. This was then the largest per capita deposit in the union.
Kansas has 74,000 automobiles—one to six families—a record equaled by only two other states.

At Clay Center the community club is planning to accumulate a car of waste paper and ship it to market. The idea seems to be to have the paper donated as it is comparatively worthless in small quantities, and from the car shipment the club may realize $150 to $250, if they know where to sell it.

S. R. Theobald and wife left the first of the week to spend a time at Chicago, shopping for the "Racket" store at this place. Both Mr. and Mrs. T. are expert judges of merchandise, and by thus going at least once a year to the wholesale market they find that they can purchase a line which proves far more satisfactory to the many people they serve than to buy from the salesman or by sample and mail order. Then too, they have an added advantage in seeing every late style and fad and selecting only that which they are confident will appeal to their patrons. It is worth much to the buyer to be assured from one who knows that a garment or pattern of goods is the correct thing according to the latest edict of dame fashion. Proper buying is half of the selling, and this is the way the Theobald stock will be bought.—It.

Drainage Along the Logan

The work of redeeming more of this good country for its best use has for some time been under way, but progress was made very slow for a time, but the following from the Wakefield Republican puts new interest in the plan, and will add value to many a farm:

A meeting of the directors and officers of the Wakefield Drainage Ditch was held last week at Pender. Every member of the board of directors was present, also Roy L. Towle, engineer from Omaha, and O. C. Anderson, the attorney from West Point, Superintendent Babcock from Winnebago also was present. The preliminary arrangements to comply with the Nebraska statutes are now being completed, and advertisements for bids will be made as soon as possible.

The board of directors consists of: John D. Haskell, elected for five years; H. P. Shumway, elected for four years; Chas. A. Kinney, elected for three years to fill the place of James P. Morgan; Fred Larson, elected for two years; and Oliver Lamer, elected for one year. H. P. Shumway is president, John D. Haskell, treasurer; Fred Larson, secretary; O. C. Anderson, attorney; Roy L. Towle, chief engineer.

Some time ago a telegram was received by Mr. Haskell from U. S. Senator Norris announcing the passage of the bill in congress providing for the payment of the assessments on Indian lands. The securing of necessary appropriation has been the cause of the delay in beginning work on the ditch. At the close of the Pender meeting the officers, with Superintendent Babcock, examined the Bancroft ditch and interviewed farmers along its line. They were much pleased with the condition and work of the Bancroft ditch, which has been in use six years. Every farmer interviewed, whether land owner or tenant, was enthusiastic over the work of the ditch. There has been no damage from overflow since it was dug.

The Wakefield ditch will extend from the section line just east of town to about five miles north of Pender and will benefit about 15,000 acres of land. It is an improvement long needed, and thousands of dollars of loss to crops in the past will be prevented in the future. The value of every foot of the Logan Valley land within this drainage ditch will be increased. All land owners are looking forward to its early completion.

On Buying Land

Last week the Democrat copied an article under the above heading which held to the opinion that a young man now has but little chance to buy a farm by his own efforts in this part of Nebraska at present prices. To this one of our subscribers takes exceptions. We did not ask permission to use his name in connection with these comments, and that is not very important, for he does not claim to be more than ordinary in ability and he thinks that a young man who is now working as a farm hand may reasonably hope to own a farm in this part of Nebraska if he desires, though admitting that one might secure good land in other parts that will cost less and require less investment, less debt and perhaps a greater per cent of advance.

This farmer, who now owns a fairly well improved quarter section in this good county tells that less than twenty years ago (this is written from memory, as no notes were taken at the time of talk) he was working for wage on the farm—and wage was less then than now. As soon as he had saved the sum of $300 he got a simple outfit and rented a piece of land for corn. This he planted and cared for, working for wage when the corn did not require his attention. He was fortunate in securing a pretty good yield when others got less, which helped the price, and his crop sold for about $1,000 and would have brought more had he not tried to get rich speculating. That is, he held about half his crop for a raise in price, lost a load by poor crib, stood the shrink and expense of moving it once and sold the last half for less than the first per bushel. But we did not get the history step by step, but suffice to say that from this start he continued, and now has a place well stocked with cattle, hogs and poultry, and knows every year what it is bringing to him, and what it costs to get it. One thing that it has cost is work, and this he says one who would do likewise must expect to do. Work hard and manage intelligently—keep credit good and practice economy. One may not be able to buy just the best of equipment but farm well, look after your time and keep expenses down until you can afford to let them raise. In this manner he thinks it is possible that many a young man might become a farm owner with land as high as here.

Riley's First Poem in 1870

James Whitcomb Riley's first printed poem appeared September 7, 1870, the year he was 17, in the Poet's Corner of the Greenfield (Ind.) Commercial. It was entitled: "The Same Old Story":

The same old story told again—
The Maiden drops her head,
The ripening glow of her crimson cheek
Is answering in her stead.
The pleading tone of a trembling voice
Is telling her the way
He loved her when his heart was young
In Youth's sunshiny day;
The trembling tongue, the longing tone,
Imploringly asks why
They can not be as happy now
As in the days gone by.
And two more hearts tumultuous
With overflowing joy
Are dancing to the music
Which that dear, provoking boy
Is twanging on his bow string.
As, fluttering his wings,
He sends his love-charged arrows
While merrily he sings:
"Ho! Ho! My dainty maiden,
It surely can not be
You are thinking you are master
Of your heart when it is me."
And another gleaming arrow
Does the little god's behest,
And the dainty little maiden
Falls upon her lover's breast.
"The same old story told again,"
And I listened o'er and o'er,
Will still be new, and pleasing, too,
Till "Time shall be no more."

Does Prohibition Prohibit?

Many Nebraskans have the mistaken idea that state Prohibition makes a state "dry" in the actual sense of that word.

At Confession of Failure:

(From the Topeka State Journal, of Jan. 14, 1916.)

"Are the prohibition forces of Topeka cheerfully smiling under a feeling of false security in ignorance of the situation which they have to combat? * * * Legally Topeka is 'dry!' But—"

The Record:

In the same article the Topeka Journal states that the INCOMPLETE record of shipments for 1915 shows that citizens of Topeka ordered and received during that year a total of 160,169 quarts of various kind of liquors.

The reader's attention is called to the significant fact that these are the present conditions in Topeka after 85 years of constant effort under state Prohibition to compel the people to discontinue the use of liquors.

The Actual Condition:

Prohibition fails to remove the opportunity and the desire on the part of the people to purchase and to use alcoholic beverages. Denied the opportunity to purchase from manufacturers and dealers operating under license within the state, resort is had to express shipments to bootleggers and to "alley joints."

Extract from an address by Harmon Allen, Chaplain of the Kansas Penitentiary, printed on page 39 of the First Biennial Report of the Kansas State Board of Corrections.

The Chaplain's Testimony:

"About 37 per cent of the prison population are floaters from other states. Most of them came by the 'dope' and liquor routes. It must be confessed that a large percentage of Kansas citizens incarcerated here came by the same route. * * *"

So long as the desire to purchase and to use exists, better results are achieved by REGULATING the manufacture and sale of alcoholic beverages than are secured by enacting a state Prohibition law.

Smut Prevention

R. E. Grinstead of Lancaster county tells of a smut preventative which he says is sure and comparatively simple, here it is as it appeared in the Nebraska Farmer: "Sixty years ago when oat smut appeared in the fields of southern Kentucky my father, who was a progressive farmer, concluded that he could correct the trouble in his own fields, which he did in the following way: At harvest time he stacked his oats in one side or corner of the field away from the barn. Early the second spring afterward would thresh it. He found that this was a complete success. The smuts pores live but one year and are completely without power of reproduction after the succeeding spring following any harvest. For years my father raised large quantities of oats for seeding purposes for himself and for sale to other farmers. I am very certain that if farmers would use metallic or other bins and keep their seed oats for the second year continually they would successfully eliminate smut. I think wheat smut can be eliminated in the same way. My father and other farmers then knew that smut grains in oats would not grow, but supposed that the smut grains of wheat would grow and perpetuate wheat smut. This evidently was a mistake. Wheat smut is perpetuated in the same way as oats smut. And either one may be eliminated by keeping the seed over in a bin, metallic preferred, the bin being a substitute for stacking out."

WAYNE MARKET REPORT

Following are the market prices quoted us up to the time of going to press Thursday:

Table with market prices for Oats, Corn, Spring Wheat, Wheat, Eggs, Butter, Hogs, and Fat Cattle.

Candidate Hughes is quoted as saying that he is 100 per cent candidate. That may be true—and Wilson is 100 per cent president—the voter must take his choice.

Politics surely does make strange bedfellows. Now we behold the spectacle of the Nebraska republicans defending the doctrine of state's rights. That is once they are right.

In the death of Elmer Orr, one of the proprietors of the Nodaway Valley (Iowa) News, the editor notes the passing of a faithful employee of other days. In Elmer Orr we found a faithful, efficient helper—ever willing, cheerful, faithful. To his bereaved father and brother we extend sincere sympathy in this affliction.

Hughes' sympathy is all with the under dog in the fight. He is shedding tears because men who held office for years because of their loyalty to a party and for no other reason, have been pried loose from a public seat that one of another party might see how it seems. Give us the office, seems to be the burden of Hughes campaign.

In 1912 the republicans carried but eight votes for their choice for president, and the progressives had 88, or eleven to one. The progressive candidate had nearly a million more votes than the republican nominee; yet in making up a committee to handle the campaign this year there are 12 republicans and but five progressives—and that is the sort of a union that has tried to take in the progressive voter.

Any corn being sold in your neighborhood at 12-cents or hogs at 2-cents as was predicted in the event of the election of Wilson by the calamity howlers four years ago? Then later they said the democrats were going to ruin the sheep industry of the country. Have they done it? How is the price of wool and how is the price of sheep? The same fellows will be around again soon with some sort of a scare crow and there will be some who will believe them.

A warning is raised by those interested in the pork supply against feeding green corn to the hogs in a reckless manner. Shoots and sows sucking pigs should be given but a little green corn when first fed this food or serious results may follow. This is the season when cholera starts, and an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. Not many parents will tempt trouble at this season of the year by giving their children as many green apples. Their appetites demand—and as the green apple is to the child the green corn is to the pig—feed it very sparingly if at all for a time yet and avoid cholera. Hogs are selling at Wayne this week above the $10.00 figure and that makes extra care profitable.

Some people see things from different angles. The Norfolk News in an editorial a few days ago tells its readers that we will need a protective tariff when the war closes, because European countries will be obliged to make a vigorous commercial war to regain lost trade. That is just the reason that the Democrat would say that we do not need protective tariff. A protec-

Protective tariff has long been the great handicap on American manufacturing. A tariff on wool is a detriment to the manufacturer of cloth—a tariff on rubber raw and manufactured does not seem to help to break the strangle hold of the rubber trust and free trade might help some. A tariff on lumber does not help to house the people of great prairie states like Nebraska, Iowa and Kansas—nor does it help to preserve the forests of this country from devastation. But it causes many a man to live in a poor house—and acts against nearly all building enterprise. (Give the American workman a free field and a fair show and he can meet all comers. But if he must carry the burden of a protective tariff in a race against a people who have a free access to the markets of the world, he is at a disadvantage.

Our friend Bixby tells us that Keith Neville is the wet candidate for governor and that he was nominated by the wet element. If that be true his candidate Sutton is a wet candidate, being the nominee of the worst wet district in Omaha. In fact it looks now as though the wet element had managed to get a monopoly of the candidates for governor this year, but one had best look deeper than the wet or dry proclivities of a candidate this time, for the voters are going to settle that question and candidates will have to obey to at least a certain degree. It will stand voters well in hand to know the temper of the candidates as to other economic questions on which the voters are not giving specific instruction. The insurance grafters, the stock yard robbers, the telephone monopoly, the railroads and many another big interest are looking for a chance to graft and while the people are wrangling over the liquor question these interests will get away with their plunder. Better know how the candidate for representative stands on the monopoly question and mark your ballot according to his disposition and ability to fight these other evils.

Something About Coffee

Did you ever hear anyone say: "Have a cup of coffee like mother makes?"

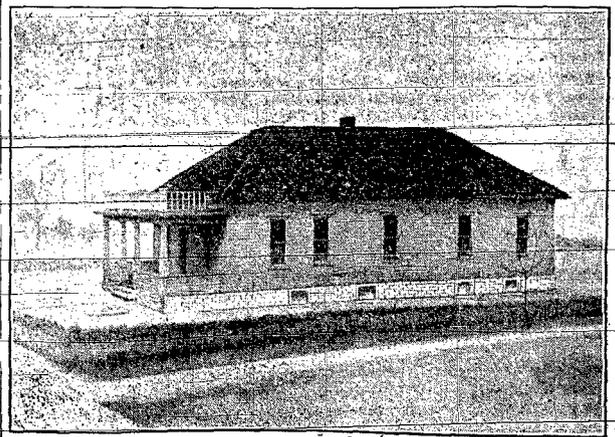

No. They always say: "Coffee like mother used to make." Why? Because mother used to have fresh roasted coffee, roasting and grinding it as she used it.

We are living too fast to do as mother used to do, and instead of roasting and grinding coffee as we use it, we are paying a traveling salesman's salary and expenses, the cost of a beautiful label, a tin can, a shipping crate, and many other expenses that force us to pay five to ten cents per pound more for stale coffee than we should for the same grade, freshly roasted.

To enable the people to get away from these wrongs, I have bought a large gas roaster of the latest improved type and have arranged with some of the largest importers of green coffee for my supply; and will have the assistance of their expert blenders, to insure that I get the proper flavor, and in a few days you can make coffee like mother used to make. As my policy always is satisfaction or money back, you need not hesitate to try using coffee roasted every day right here in our store. GRAND OPENING and DEMONSTRATION, Saturday, September 9th. C. L. Henderson was called to Deadwood, South Dakota, Sunday by word of the serious illness of his brother, who was taken to a hospital at that place. It was reported that his recovery was not probable. Mrs. Henderson accompanied him.

Mrs. S. Ickler is home from a six-week sojourn in South Dakota. She went first to Yankton where her father, G. Sheer, was ill at a hospital, and later to Wall to visit. Mr. Ickler went to Norfolk Sunday to meet her and return with wife and son from that point, and while he did so he did not know it until they reached Wayne.

Wm. Watson, who with his wife has been visiting with relatives and sight seeing in Seattle, for the past month, arrived home from Leith, North Dakota, the first of the week, where they visited on their way home. Mrs. Watson remains in Leith to visit for a brief time, returning home Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Watson reported a splendid trip, it being nice and cool in Washington this time of year, when other parts of the country south are suffering with the heat.

Miss Jessie E. Grace has just returned from the the wholesale millinery markets and gives us this interesting glimpse of what the season holds in store for that very interesting part of "my lady's" wardrobe, the hat. She states that almost any color combination is permissible with the following shades predominating: black, navy, purple, Bordeaux, nigger brown, myrtle and metal.

For dress hats velvet is the popular material, either used alone or in combination with other materials. Trimming materials cover a wide range and include fancy feathers, flowers, ornaments, ribbons and silks. In shapes the opportunity is offered for the customer to choose that which is most becoming.

There are large sailors, mushrooms from small to large, high back rolls, in all sizes, short backs with high poke fronts, close-fitting turbans of many shapes.

Miss Grace says she has bought the newest things to be found and will be able to show the ladies of Wayne the latest modes in millinery for any occasion.—1t.

Paralysis

Is there a part of your body that is paralyzed? Do you lose hope and think that you will never again regain the full use of that part.

When the vertebra (B) gets wrenched out of place as shown in illustration it pinches the nerves that supply the motive force which results in paralysis.

Rubbing, serums and electric treatments will not restore the nerve control. The pressure on the nerve must be relieved by chiropractic adjustments.

Come to my office and let me prove to you why the spine is the seat of all diseases.

War Benefits to America

One of the great benefits which may come to this country as a result of the war may be learning to care for many things which grow here with and without cultivation, which we have been too lazy or too busy to attend to. The following from an exchange tells part of the story, but to that we can add that an industry has been inaugurated quietly here in Wayne which was made profitable because of the war. In the south part of Wayne may be seen quite a field of flowers, astors, from which many are now being cut and sold to Wayne people and shipped in quantity to cities outside. This is simply the by-product, for the plants were put out for the seed, but each plant produces more blossom than it has vitality enough to fill with seed, so the extra blossom is removed and sold that the strength of the stock may go to developing a perfect seed and plenty of it in the flowers left. This seed and much other flower seed in the past has been shipped from Germany.

The shutting off of the drug supply from Europe has aroused the interest here in the cultivation of plants for medicinal use. Some of these can be raised with little trouble, and a number of them are already grown for floral or ornamental purposes. Others are found in their wild state and may be made to yield a fair profit with a reasonable amount of care. Calomus or sweet flag is a native wild plant used as a drug. It may be started from the old roots which are apt to be found along the banks of streams or the edge of swamps. Tons of the dried roots of this plant are imported every year. Yet a single acre in this country can be made to yield at least 1,500 pounds with an average value of four to five cents a pound. Thousands of pounds of coriander seed are also imported each year. The returns from the government experiment farms indicate that this seed can be grown in America at an average yield of 1,000 pounds to the acre and a market price of six and one-half cents. Old fashioned herbs, such as peppermint, catnip, horehound, lobelia and boneset, grow wild, but can be improved by slight cultivation, and are sure of a certain demand while the cultivation of lavender, especially in the southwestern states, is fast becoming of commercial importance.

Such tobacco enjoyment

as you never thought could be is yours to command quick as you buy some Prince Albert and fire-up a pipe or a home-made cigarette!

Prince Albert gives you every tobacco satisfaction your smoke-appetite ever hankered for. That's because it's made by a patented process that cuts out bite and parch! Prince Albert has always been sold without coupons or premiums. We prefer to give quality!

PRINCE ALBERT

the national joy smoke

has a flavor as different as it is delightful. You never tasted the like of it! And that isn't strange, either.

Buy Prince Albert everywhere tobacco is sold in tippy red bags, 5c; tidy red tins, 10c; handsome pound and half-pound tin humidors—and that corking fine pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top that keeps the tobacco in such clever trim—always!

Men who think they can't smoke a pipe or roll a cigarette can smoke and will smoke if they use Prince Albert. And smokers who have not yet given P. A. a try-out certainly have a big surprise and a lot of enjoyment coming their way as soon as they invest in a supply. Prince Albert tobacco will tell its own story!

NEBRASKA

Nebraska was the theme of nearly every song and story heard on the editors' excursion train last week, says the Norfolk Press, and it made an inspiring topic, too. Adam Breede, of the Hastings Daily Tribune, African lion hunter and among the most eligible of the newspaper bachelor members, has written a beautiful song entitled "Nebraskaland" and this was a prime favorite on the trip, the music being quite as catchy as the words, which follow:

Nebraskaland, Nebraskaland,
The state of sixty-seven,
No other place at man's command
Comes nearer being heav'n.
It's rich beyond one's fondest dream;
Has wealth beyond compare;
There's untold wealth in field and stream
There's wealth most anywhere.
How fertile are the fields today,
What grandeur decks the home
Where buffalo did sport and play
And red men free did roam.
There's golden rod on hill and dale,
The flower of our state.
In days gone by it marked "the trail"

The pioneers relate.
The house of sod has had its day,
It served its purpose well;
Prosperity now holds full sway,
As one can quickly tell.
In education there's no flaw,
Nebraska's hard to beat.
Equality before the law
Denies justice that is meet.
No fairer skies in all the land,
No softer zephyrs blow,
No greener fields on every hand
Can country show.
That's why Nebraska stands out free.
That's why I love her so,
And home to me 'twill always be,
No matter where I go.

Chorus:
Nebraskaland, Nebraskaland,
I love your waving fields;
Nebraskaland, Nebraskaland,
I love your golden yields;
It matters not where I may be,
What foreign fields I roam,
You'll always be most dear to me,
I'll love you, 'cause you're home.

Words or Deeds?

We are now facing the question whether we want words or whether we want deeds—Rollicking "Charley" Hughes.
Candidate Hughes is dealing in words. Here are a few of the deeds President Wilson has dealt in:
1. The child labor law.
2. The law declaring human labor not to be a commercial commodity.
3. The federal trade commission.
4. The federal reserve system.
5. The income tax.
6. The parcel post.
7. National defense.
8. Peace with Europe.
9. Peace with Mexico.
10. The rural credits law.
11. The dispersion of the lobbies at Washington.

12. Freedom from Wall street control of government, the tariff and the financial system.
13. The suspension of the submarine campaign.
14. The repeal of the canal tolls law which repudiated the pledged word of the nation.

15. The appointment of Louis D. Brandeis, a representative of humanity, to the supreme court of the United States.

From the Boys Near Mexico

Co. E. 4th Nebr., Inf., Llano Grande, Texas, August 20, 1916. Editor Democrat:—Last Sunday morning I received permission to be absent from camp during the day. Walked to Mercedes, attended Sunday school and church services at the Methodist church. The pastor was absent, so Rev. John Clemens of 2nd Minnesota filled the pulpit. Rev. Clemens (relative of Mark Twain) has been presiding elder of two different districts in Minnesota and was chaplain of Minnesota regiment in Spanish-American war. Audience was at least one half soldier boys. Passed by the Baptist church also. They seemed to have a full house. Went to a restaurant for dinner. They seemed to be doing a rushing business. When tables were filled, screen door would be hooked until more room was available. In the meantime the boys in brown would tarry near the door waiting their turn. After dinner I walked around taking in the sights. Noticed that drug stores, confection stands and banks were open. Why the banks were open on Sunday I did not learn. The scenery is fine around town, being of a tropical nature, ferns and palms 16 to 20 feet high were to be found on hotel park and plot south of depot. On the west end of park was a number of orange trees which were laden with fruit almost full grown but of deep green color. I picked one and tested its flavor, found that even at this stage it is much better than green apples of Nebraska. Went over to where Mexicans live, found that they have shops of their own much as Chinese do in large cities. Their shops compare with modern shops about like our tent life compares with home life. Some of these Mexicans were sociable, but some of the older ones regarded us with curiosity or suspicion. They don't seem to like the camera flash very well. After strolling about for a while section No. 2 of the passenger train came through, having three freight cars attached. This being a good chance for weary boys to rifle home about 40 or 50 of us climbed on top and arrived at camp about seven minutes later. This is an every day occurrence down here and railroad employees never say a word to our boys for business has not only increased but safety is doubly insured. Late Sunday evening we were startled by a bugle call which went something like this, pay day, pay day, pay day. So about 8:30 our company marched up to Col. Eberly's headquarters and received our June pay, which ran all the way from $2 to $6 for privates. Haven't heard that the bank deposits were materially increased since then. At any rate even a few coins were the means of rousing the spirit of the boys. We have been promised our July pay some time next week. Monday we had a division review. Nine regiments making a division. After some maneuvering the different regiments were lined up with their companies double rank facing the front. After this by squads right we marched four abreast past the reviewing officers. There were between seven and eight thousand men in the parade and it was nearly one o'clock when we arrived home for dinner. Boys were dismissed from further duty that day. Another event which was pleasant for the boys was the announcement that Wayne folks had sent us a draft for $70.00 for necessities of camp life. We assure you this is much appreciated. On Tuesday evening our company went on guard mount again for 24 hours. Wednesday being field day and a holiday, you might guess we felt unlucky. Each regiment had foot races, jumping, boxing, wrestling, scaling walls, baseball games and band music. This will be a monthly event. Thursday night we were warned that there was a storm coming our way. We made our tents doubly secure and went to bed for the night. On waking Friday morning it looked kind of rainy but we thought the storm had missed us. Boys started on their ten mile hike after breakfast, had not been gone long when a heavy rain came for about half an hour, then it slackened up then began anew. Boys got back about 11:30 soaked to the hide as they had no rain coats along. Throughout the afternoon the storm grew worse and we had all we could do to keep our tent up, two of our tents did go down, which was a small percentage compared with some other companies. Along about 9 o'clock the wind abated and at midnight the rain ceased. We were glad to have a dry place to crawl into after that. Next morning sun was shining and we carried out all our clothes and

Wm. Gildersleeve has sold his 100-acre farm just north of Wayne, John Bannister taking the east half of the quarter and Will Cunningham purchasing the 20 acres remaining, on which to make himself and family a suburban home. The men paid different prices per acre because of improvements, but the average for the land was $170 per acre. Acting county judge, James Brittain, issued license and tied the matrimonial knot which united the lives of John Burke and Mrs. Minnie Goebler of Norfolk for weal or woe, until death do them part. The young judge is becoming quite a popular official with those who wish a beau-knot tied, and is increasing this line of court business among those who wish to be married in a good town. Last week Jay Jones, formerly of this place underwent an operation for removal of a tumor from his side, at a Sioux City hospital, and late reports are favorable for speedy recovery. He has been living at Sioux City for several months. His mother and Mrs. Jones' father, Sam Barley, were there last week. Mrs. Jones came home Sunday evening bringing her grandchildren with her to remain until the father is able to return home. The Omaha line and Sioux City are playing in hard luck this week, having a wreck Tuesday morning on the main line between Emerson and Omaha about two miles south of Bancroft, caused by an oil car leaving the track. Four other freight cars left the track going into the ditch, including a car of wheat which is especially valuable at this time. Traffic was tied up for two hours. This morning at 2 o'clock a high bridge was burned out two miles north of Hubbard, caused presumably by coal dropping from the fire box, of a freight engine. Things were tied up until after noon before any trains could be moved. Pure Food For the Hungry Food Commissioner—Harmon has put the kibosh on hamburger stands at the state fair this year. The fair association is to co-operate with the pure food department and will not issue concessions for this ancient fair time provender. It has been proven by previous inspections on the fair grounds that the word "ancient" is not only a prefix to a custom in this case but that hamburger often possesses other propensities of a like nature which make its food qualification of a doubtful value if health is to be considered in its consumption. Two very disappointed state officials were compelled to forego the state press association trip across the northwestern part of the state last week owing to an unexpected press of state business. They are State Auditor Wm. H. Smith and Secretary of State Pool, both newspaper men and members of the association. These gentlemen are by virtue of their official titles, members of the state board of assessment and equalization. A rush of extra work in connection with this board forced them to either be derelict in their duties or stay on the job. They decided their duty to the state was of more importance than the pleasure this trip would afford them, and those who have never been associated with the Nebraska newspaper men's annual meetings cannot begin to realize what real disappointment means when one is compelled to stay at home while their brother and sister editors are galavanting around over the state on one of their annual pleasure trips. Auditor Smith and Secretary Pool have hardly been out of their offices more than a day at a time, and very few ones at that, during their more than eighteen months incumbency, and they had planned on this week with their newspaper brethren as a justly deserved one of vacation and recreation. Hence their very keen disappointment. Among the Churches of Wayne

Presbyterian Church (Rev. S. Xenophon Cross, Pastor) The fight of the church should be against the saloon. The Five Bros., world's most musical Evangelists, will begin a union evangelistic campaign in Wayne, September 10th. Everybody is invited to attend the Sunday morning service at the Presbyterian church. The sermon subject next Sunday will be: "Light and Life." Why should not the church be interested in fighting the saloon? It causes dipsomania, insanity, pauperism, vagrancy, crime, divorces, death. No church member should, and no real christian will, defend the saloon. Sherman L. Lyons has been added to the personnel of the Five party since their engagement to come to us for our fall campaign. He is the secretary of the association, an expert player of drums, sings first bass in the male quartet, and attends to the details of the campaign. The Sunday school will meet next Sunday morning at 11:30 o'clock. Miss Charlotte White will act as superintendent in the absence of Mr. E. H. Jones. The songs used in the opening exercises last Sunday were the Dry Nebraska campaign songs. We hope that they will be sung again next Sunday. There is a welcome for each and classes for all. A Y. M. C. A. secretary of Los Angeles writes concerning the Fifes:—"When a man can go to a city like Pomona, Calif., strengthen every local pastor in the esteem of the people, deepen the spiritual life of the people and lead over 1,000 persons into the Kingdom, he certainly proves himself an evangelist of rare ability. This is what Clyde Lee Fife has done." If this can be for Pomona, why not a like thing for Wayne? Methodist Church (Rev. A. S. Buell Pastor) "The Temperance Issue Today" will be the subject for Sunday mornings message at the Methodist church. The temperance issue is a live wire in Wayne and throughout the state. The saloon is a moral menace and an economic folly. Let us vote Nebraska dry this fall. There will be union services on the court house lawn Sunday evening. The pastor expects to be in Wakefield Sunday at three o'clock where he will speak and have part in the laying of the cornerstone of the new Methodist church. Friends with autos are invited to be present. Remember that September tenth is the opening date of the great Fife Brothers' tabernacle meetings. St. Paul's Lutheran Church (Rev. J. H. Fetterolf, Pastor) Sunday school next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. There will be no preaching next Sunday except on the court house lawn in the evening. Our regular preaching service will be resumed the first Sunday in September. The Ladies' Aid will meet with Mrs. Juhlin Thursday, August 31. Circle number one (1) of the Aid society will have a food sale at Deans' meat market next Saturday afternoon. RUNDELL'S COLUMN 1871 was a year of anxiety for the invisible government that had directed the financial legislation for ten years. The 5-20 bonds, payable in any lawful money, but the interest thereof in coin—i. e., gold or silver were to fall due during the next administration. The democrats contended for the payment strictly according to the contract. The "honest money" fellows said that the J. Cook company that negotiated the bonds for greenbacks had, as a government agent, promised their payment, both principal and interest, in coin, and if refused, England, whose capitalists owned many of them would send her guns over here and compel us to be honest. The G. O. P. split on this issue and the liberal republican party with Horace Greeley the father and builder of the G. O. P. as chief promoter, endorsed the contention of the democrats. This was the paramount issue. The Greeley party nominated him for president and the democrats endorsed him, and it was conceded by election experts in September that his election was certain. These conspirators believed in preparedness. So to secure a huge campaign fund, the accommodating G. O. P. repealed the income tax law, leaving a tax to the limit of all household necessities. Experience assured them that the common herd could be rallied to the support of any candidate by shouting "treason, copperhead and rebel" at the opposition. But the most effective campaign slogan was the denunciation of Greeley for signing J. F. Davis' bail bonds. It was a campaign of venomous slander by the republicans, but a profound silence on the demands made by the democrats and liberal republicans. Have the descendants of this coterie of conscienceless conspirators persuaded Hughes to adopt similar methods of campaigning? His late Portland speech was so rank with partisan hatred and personal abuse of J. F. Davis in the west, but the Omaha Bee had the gall to publish even an excerpt of it. Times were good when this famous victory was won. I sold wheat in New York at 17 shillings a bushel ($2.12 1/2) and received only 60 cents the next year in Iowa. The overwhelming victory lead the conspirators to believe that the common herd would stand hitched for anything asked in the name of the G. O. P. This was Senator Sherman's opportunity to secure the proper man as chairman of the coinage committee in the house to secure the passage of his bill making gold the only legal tender money, so secretly that Speaker Blaine and President Grant admitted afterward they did not know what the bill contained. The following is an extract from a speech delivered in the senate by Senator Sherman twenty years after the passage of this act which made gold the only lawful dollar: "If we adopt the single standard of gold without the aid of silver we will greatly increase the burden of national and individual debts, disturb the relations between capital and labor, cripple the industries of the country, still further reduce the price of silver and invite a struggle with the commercial nations for the possession of the gold of the world." Is it not plain to any student that this act of 1873, as a chaser to the destruction of 850 millions of currency caused the disastrous panic of that year? The republicans, hypnotized by the big majority for Grant, cherished the belief that democracy was dead. The negroes, led by carpet-baggers, were in the saddle in the south. A former slave of Jefferson Davis was sent to occupy his vacant seat in the United States senate, and while the G. O. P. were joyriding over the events, the invisible government planned a peonage for the United States that would rival that of Mexico. The supreme court had for ten years been compelled to accept their salaries in greenbacks that had formerly been paid in gold. A test case was brought and a majority opinion rendered that the legal tender act was unconstitutional. Silver was dead, except the trade dollar that was soon after demonitized. Gold was the only money that would pay debt, dividend, interest on railroad or other bonds or taxes. The people or the banks, except in the large cities, had no gold; the United States notes, demonitized by the court, was no longer money, but a promise to pay money. The National bank note, redeemable in nothing but a greenback, possessed, like its redeemer, as little power to discharge debt as the continental currency. The bullion brokers who had fattened on the people's misfortunes for ten years advanced the price of gold. The financial interests that were backing the operation and construction of railroads, foreseeing bankruptcy for themselves as well as the people, appealed to congress, then in session, for relief. A plan was devised to enlarge the personnel of the court from seven to nine, and a rehearing was had that reversed the former decision and restored the "fiat" to the greenback. The railroad financial interests should be credited with saving the country by this act. The conspirators were defeated but not dismayed. Like Herod, who sought the life of the infant Christ, they devised a new scheme to take the life of the hated greenback, calling it an act to resume specie payment, which in reality was an act to redeem in interest-bearing bonds the $450,000,000 of them in circulation, building railroads, paying taxes and serving the people better than gold. These vamps secured the passage of this act and the business failures, poverty, distress and suicides that followed would make the men who deliberately planned and produced the hard times under Cleveland look like amateurs.
