Father and son, both named William H. Miller, the father for many years a resident of West Point, met there a few days ago after a separation of more than 40 years. The son came from his home in Pennsylvania to visit his aged father, who had come west in 1877.

Not many moons ago a lady member told the editor that they had made $100.00 at church supper just did she added, counting up what the ladies gave, about $3.00 worth each—eleven of us, and we only had about four dollars left for our exercise—and that was less than we would have earned had we worked as hard at any other work—but they had a good time. How much did they take in?

Charlie Martin, erstwhile republican enthusiast went to Wakefield Saturday afternoon to be present at the big republican rally and to lend his voice and aid in making it a howling success. Charlie was much worried and frustrated Friday evening when the democrats held the floor and conducted their successful parade and meeting. So in order to revive his drooping spirits he went to the neighboring town (not to drink) but to imbibe a new political spirit and try to be happy.

Some kind hearted man or shall we say some horse shoe fan raked and burned the old weeds on the vacant lot between the Wayne Dye and Cleaning Works and the I. W. Alter building Saturday morning, putting it into condition for horse shoe playing. Saturday afternoon initial games were played between some of the farmers of the surrounding community and a few of the local fans. We can give no results as to the outcome of the contests. Hereafter no doubt one will be able to stop on his way up the street or down and witness the artistic skill of some of our best players. Perhaps in time regular leagues will be formed and we may expect some good matches every day.

The old superstition long prevalent among railroad and newspaper men, that accidents always come in series of three held true on the Union Pacific Wednesday. While Charles Sampeck, of Columbus, a member of a Union Pacific bridge gang, was unloading a jug of muriatic acid from a car at Humphrey the jug broke and the acid splashed up severely burning his left hand and forearm. He was attended by Humphrey physician, and later in the day came down to his home in Columbus. Though he is able to be around, he will be off duty for several weeks. Shortly after noon the second accident occurred, when Chas. Lawler, of Lafayette, Ind., was struck and killed by the Norfolk train just west of Humphrey. At almost the same hour a third accident happened in the company's yard at Spalding. While the cars of the Spalding-Columbus passenger train were being turned around on the "Y", a baggage car was derailed. It was necessary to send to Omaha for a crane crew to put it on the rail again. The train, minus one car, reached Columbus nearly an hour late.—Telegram.

When before has corn been selling at $1 per bushel right at husking time? Not since man can remember, here in Nebraska. Why? Well, the money to move the crop is not cornered by Wall street is one reason, and there is apt to be more in corn growing for the farmer and less for the speculator.

Though the state convention of the G. A. R. and its allied organizations is not to be held until next May or June, preliminary arrangements are already being made for entertaining several thousand visitors who are expected to gather in Columbus at that time. Secretary Dickey of the Commercial club is negotiating for a carnival company to be here the entire week of the convention. He expects to hook one early so that he can get the best in the field, says the Columbus Telegram.

To save the bother of draining your car radiator mix denatured alcohol in the water with which you fill the radiator. If you know it is going to be zero weather you will need to add about one third alcohol. Be sure that your garage is locked or some one may get the scent and drink your radiator empty these dry times in Nebraska.

C. C. Bastian returned last week from a month spent at this old home near Pekin, Illinois, where they visited his aged mother. He tells us that the district he visited has a very fair crop this year, but he does not think it will compare with the crop of this county when every crop is considered.

Mrs. Emma Baker went to Bloomfield Monday evening to be present at the funeral of Max Schuman, her son, Will Baker's brother-in-law. Max Schuman is the twelve year old son of August Schuman of Bloomfield, dying Sunday morning of acute appendicitis. The funeral was held at Bloomfield Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock.

The good which men do lives after them. The pioneer printers and editors always insisted that communications for publication be written on one side of the paper only, and now the average county editor gets so much boom stuff sent in as copy that he has only to use the reverse side of these sheets, or so much thereof as is needed, and the question of copy paper is settled for all time.

Speaking of railroad business the other morning, Agent Moran, who has long been at the head of the "Omaha" so far as Wayne is concerned, said that never in the history of the road had business been as large as now. He said that this was true without regard to the oil business from Wyoming, which now passes through here for a large territory in this corner of Nebraska, and also in Iowa, Minnesota and South Dakota. Great trains of stock and farm produce go through mostly east bound, but the cars do not now go west empty as in other days, but they are carrying lumber, coal posts and many supplies for prosperous farmers of this great agricultural section.

No business man in any town should allow a newspaper published in his town to be printed without his name and business mentioned somewhere in its columns. This applies to all kinds of business, general stores, dry goods, groceries, furniture dealers, professional men in fact all classes of business men. This does not mean that you should have a whole or half or even a quarter of a page ad in every issue of the paper, but your name and business should be mentioned, if you do not use more than a two-line space. A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell just what business is represented in a town by looking at the business lineup in a paper.

Mrs. Charles Long was operated upon at her home Monday morning for appendicitis.

Mrs. George Crossland went to Tilden Saturday to visit over Sunday with Mr. Crossland, who is selling nursery stock in that vicinity.

Mrs. E. Townsend and two children, Edwin and Harriet of Norfolk came Saturday afternoon to visit at the Clyde Oman home for a few days.

Misses Hilda Gustafson and Beulah James went to Wakefield Friday afternoon to visit with friends. They returned home in the evening.

Little Dorothy Shurtliff, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Shurtliff, passed away about midnight Sunday, caused by the dread disease infantile paralysis. She had only been sick about a week and her taking away so sudden cast a gloom over the community. This little girl was a member of the M. E. church and Sunday school and her presence will be greatly missed especially by the little friends who loved her. The burial took place on Monday afternoon, but owing to the contagion and quarantine the family could not follow their loved one to the cemetery, which made the death doubly sad to all. The pastor Rev. J. H.

Hard, Mesdames M. N. Winebrenner, Fritz and Rickerson went out in the Tindale car, to the beautiful Walthill cemetery and a prayer was offered and a song, "Jewels" was sung before the casket was lowered into the grave. Flowers from friends were laid on the casket in the tender remembrance of this little girl. This family has the deepest sympathy of the entire community in the sad affliction.—Walthill Citizen.

A recent investigation made by the United States Public Health Service in connection with studies of rural school children showed that 49.3 per cent had defective teeth, 21.1 per cent had dental attention. Over 14 per cent never used a tooth brush, 58.2 per cent used one occasionally and only 27.4 per cent one daily. Defective teeth reduce physical efficiency. Dirty, suppurating, snaggle-toothed mouths are responsible for many cases of heart disease, rheumatism, and other chronic affections. The children are not responsible for the neglected state of their teeth. The ignorant and careless parent is to blame for this condition—a condition which hampers mental and physical growth and puts a permanent handicap on our future citizens. School teachers can and are doing much in inculcating habits of personal cleanliness on the rural school child but this will fail of the highest accomplishment unless parents co-operate heartily and continuously. This is a duty which we owe our children.

Miss Fanny Worley broke the two bones in her right leg just above the ankle, Saturday as she was stepping to the ground from a lumber wagon. Miss Worley had accompanied her brother W. T. Worley to one of the neighboring farm homes near the A. C. Dean farm south of town which Mr. Worley is farming, and was climbing down from the seat when her foot slipped causing her to fall throwing the weight of the body upon the right leg in such a way as to break the bones. The fractures were extremely painful and it will be some time before they will be completely healed.

Tuesday afternoon Dr. E. S. Blair left for St. Paul where he was in attendance yesterday at the first annual meeting of the Association of Railway Surgeons of the C., St. P., M. & O., railway. This meeting was called that the surgeons of the road might organize for better work. Of necessity the program for their first meeting is brief, and consists of a clinic in the morning at the St. Lukes hospital, at which Dr. Archibald MacLaren, Dr. Harry P. Ritchie and Dr. L. E. Daugherty are to take part. The afternoon will be given over to organization work, election of officers and addresses. At 6 o'clock an informal dinner will be served at the Windsor room of the Saint Paul hotel. Dr. Blair has long been the company surgeon at this place, and will doubtless be one of the physicians who having long been in the service of the company will appreciate the need and benefit which an organization of the men in the same work will be to all.
