Ninety-Seven Pupils of the Rural Schools Finish Eighth Grade Work and Receive Certificates

The county court room was filled with relatives and friends of the largest class of pupils in the county who finished the 8th grade school work, and came to take part in a program arranged by County Superintendent Pearl Sewell, and receive their diploma certifying that the work was properly completed.

The program was short but most interesting. Victrola music was first, and a male quartet from the vicinity of Carroll sang. This quartet has as its members Richard Pinkham, Ed Evans, John Davis and Will Owen. U. S. Conn, president of the State Normal school of this place gave the address, but he gave no title to his talk, and it needed not to be labeled for it was of a nature of an appeal to pupils and patrons of the schools to organize the school work of the community in the most efficient way—in a manner which would produce results for its results that count. His talk could not set those who heard to thinking whether or not we are getting the most and best, and how to get it from our schools.

The class song, to the tune of "Marching thru Georgia," composed by the county superintendent was given with hearty good will. Miss Sewell presented each of the 97 pupils with a diploma after which the exercises closed with more singing by the Olympic quartet.

There was much discouragement about the pupils at the close of the first examination, held in April, when it was learned that but two pupils had successfully passed. However, it was no disgrace where they had so much company, and the list of questions given were unusually hard. Many a teacher would have failed to get past. Michael Tripp of Winside and Charlotte Stevenson of Sholes were the two who passed. In the final test, Bernita Lindsay of district No. 26 passed with the highest grade, 90.1. Wayne county schools are improving each year, and the day is not far distant when we will have consolidated schools and precinct high schools or both.

Asking Volunteers for N. N. G.

Second Lieutenant Dick Hunter, Corporal R. B. Berry and Private Clarence Kay of Co. E, 4th Nebraska, have been detailed from their headquarters at Sioux City to seek recruits in this vicinity. They have a headquarters here over the Berry law office, and from here will visit other towns. Tuesday evening there were part of them at Bloomfield, where there was a rally in connection with the annual meeting of the commercial club. In many places the young men are preferring to enlist with the militia rather than take a chance on the draft—and others are enlisting because they fear they will not get to go otherwise.

Flag Presentation and Dedication

Sunday afternoon will long be remembered as historic by patriotic people. It was then that the flag presentation, raising and dedication ceremonies took place on the court house lawn. A large number of people were present from both city and country. The Carroll band provided music, and a choir of many voices under direction of Professor Davies lead in the singing, in which the vast audience joined.

A flagpole had been erected by the county, and County Commissioner P. M. Corbit, on behalf of the county presented a large, handsome flag to the members of the G. A. R., urging in an excellent speech all to be true to the principles of democracy which this flag stands for, and which it is now to lead in establishing a spirit of democracy among the crown-ruled people across the Atlantic.

Acting Post Commander A. J. Ferguson accepted the flag, and thanked for it in appropriate words, and then with the aid of the comrades of the post, formally dedicated it to the cause of humanity, following the impressive ceremonies of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Fred S. Berry gave the address of the day, a most inspiring talk, pointing the way to duty, not alone on the field of battle or in the navy, but that each have a part in the every day walks of life—a duty to perform, and it is as important as the parts taken by those more in the flaming front of battle. The women and children have a difficult duty to their country, and important one. A sacrifice to make as great as any.

Following his talk, Attorneys A. R. Davis and H. E. Simon were called for and each gave splendid short addresses.

Rev. Fetterolf, who had opened the meeting with prayer asked the blessing of Deity at the close of the services.

A Couple of Big Land Transfers

Edward Perry has concluded a deal by which he releases his claim to $48,000 good and lawful money for the W. S. Brown farm of 320 acre about three miles south of Wayne. This is considered one of the good farms, and is well improved in buildings, orchards and other things which go to make a place desirable.

J. D. Lueers has sold his farm of a half section, three miles south east of Wayne to Fred E. Utecht and John Eimer of Wakefield, at $150 per acre. That looks like a big price, and when one considers that Mr. Lueers bought the place eight years ago at $97.50 and that he was paying a big price, it is easy to realize how values are coming to be recognized in this good county of Wayne, but the Democrat is going to go on record now with an opinion that the next eight years will see the price of these farms as high as $200 the acre.

Special Teachers' Examination

There will be a Special Teachers' Examinations June 15 and 16. The Reading Circle will not be given.

County Superintendent.

Letter from Naval Training Station

Some weeks ago Willis Fleetwood was accepted as a member of the hospital corps in the navy, and assigned to the Great Lakes training station near Chicago, where he has since been preparing for the duties to come. His father Wm. Fleetwood has yielded to our request for one of his letters to home folks to publish. The letter was evidently not written for publication, but contains much that is good, and we are glad to have the use of it, and hope that Mr. Fleetwood may find time to write to his many Wayne friends another letter more descriptive of his surroundings and work.

Dear Folks:—We are having the first nice day since I came. It is comfortable with out a coat.

Last Friday we got some clothes. One suit of blues with leggings; two suits of light underwear and two suits heavy long arms and legs; one-half dozen handkerchiefs; one-half dozen socks; one "P" coat; a broad cloth heavy blue coat which comes nearly to the knees. The pants to the blue suit is broadcloth and the middie is flannel. I don't know when we will get the rest of our clothes.

Conditions at the stations are pitiful for a nation to be at war. The station is supposed to accommodate about 1800 men and there are some 10,000 here now. A congressman was up and made an inspection of the stations this week and found that out of some 10,000 men only 800 were completely outfitted. Over at detentions camp there are about 200 still wearing civilian clothes. There was quite a severe article in the Chicago papers about conditions here which was not very complimentary to Secretary Daniels and the department. Captain Moffett has asked for appropriations so that he might accommodate 25,000 men but he can't get aid.

Today was pay day. I was paid up to the first of June. My check came to $19. Our raise in salary begins with this month. I will draw $35.90 per. We get paid twice a month.

Our company was merged with another company to form Co. E. The companies have all been made larger, 150 men. There were only 48 men in our company and the others had 90. Send my mail to Co. E instead of I.

"Dad" Elliot, secretary of the students Y. M. C. A., was here Wednesday evening and gave a fine talk at the Y. M. C. A.

The Glee Club meets tonight and we are going to have election of officers. Some of the boys want to give comic opera. There are some really good voices and a lot of bad ones but there are enough good voices to make a good chorus. One of the boys had been traveling with a light opera company before he joined the navy.

I had a boat ride out on the lake last Sunday in a gas launch. We went out about two miles from shore. There was quite a difference in temperature when we got out on the water.

I got my box last evening just as the company was "falling in" for mess. I didn't go to mess but finished everything in the box but some cake. It sure tasted good. It had a different flavor from the stuff we get here. Love to all.

Crockett-Ferguson

At the home of the bride's parents Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Ferguson at Hartington, Tuesday, June 12, 1917, Mr. Ralph Crockett of this city and Miss Joyce Ferguson were united in marriage, Rev. Mr. Collins of the Hartington M. E. church officiating.

Only relatives and intimate friends were present at the ceremony which took place at 5 o'clock. The bride and groom came to Wayne the day following, and are housekeeping in the Davies house on Main street, a place Ralph has been holding for the past few weeks, and growing a fine garden for this time of need.

Mrs. Chas. Kate and children were here over Sunday, guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Theobald. Mr. and Mrs. Kate now live at Minneapolis, where Mr. Kate is manager of a large farm producing and marketing milk, butter, eggs poultry and other farm products.

Normal Alumni Home Coming

The Alumni Home-coming and banquet of the Wayne State Normal School will be held on Friday, June fifteenth. The policy of holding the reunion during the month of June instead of at commencement time was inaugurated one year ago, because the teachers in the public schools are free from school duties at the later date. The association expects to take the entire day Friday, and a number have already written in assuring the committee that they will be present. The events of the day will begin at eight-thirty Friday morning and close with a banquet and program in the evening. The executive committee has a very unique program arranged for the occasion, the details of which will be announced later in a printed program. The special chapel exercises with Mr. Ray Hickman, '15, presiding, will be as follows:

At the close of the chapel session the remainder of the forenoon will be spent inspecting the new building and visiting classes, to be followed by class groups for picnic dinners on the lawn. Stunts on the athletic field will occupy a large part of the time Friday afternoon.

The evening program will open with a business session in the auditorium. This will be followed by a box dinner served in the new building, after which the following will respond to toasts:

James Britton, Jr., '12.—Toastmaster.

The officers of the association extend a most cordial invitation to alumni and former students of the N. N. C. and Wayne State Normal to be present at all these programs. Come to the auditorium at eight-thirty and enjoy the special chapel exercises; enter into the plans of the committee to spend several hours visiting classes and noting improvements on "Normal Hill"; return in the evening for lunch in new building and for closing program of the day.

Jenkins-McGraw

Announcements came to Wayne friends of Will E. Jenkins of this city this week, telling of his marriage to Miss Louise B. McGraw at Pierson, Iowa, Monday June 11, 1917, at the home of her parents in that city.

Mr. Jenkins had been missed by his friends here since Saturday, and their anxiety was to a certain extent relieved when they noticed in the Sioux City paper that license to wed had been issued to him, and plans were at once started to welcome himself and wife upon their return to Wayne, where they are to be at home after July 20.

Mr. Jenkins is son of Mr. and Mrs. Evan Jenkins of Carroll, and has for a number of years been bookkeeper at the Citizen's National bank, a most excellent young man. The bride's home is at Pierson, Iowa, where she is held high in the esteem of a large circle of friends, and has been one of the successful teachers of the village school. She is a graduate of the normal at this place, and it was while attending school here that she met Mr. Jenkins. They will reside at Wayne, and will be welcomed by a large circle of friends.

For ice cream for parties, etc., remember that the Wayne Bakery is prepared to serve you well and promptly.—adv.

The Greatest Moving Picture

"Womanhood, at the Crystal this week Monday and Tuesday afternoon and evenings was, beyond all doubt, equal if not superior to any picture produced here. The Birth of a Nation and the Battle Cry of Peace are both masterpieces in the same class. They deal with the past, and are largely historical. Womanhood is the production of the hour and the future, and gives one an insight into some of the possibilities of the age, and shows what may be done either in war or peace if this nation will bend all energies to attain the supreme results. Mr. Nielson is to be commended for his enterprise in bringing to Wayne a picture of this class while it is yet so new, for we venture the assertion that no other place of twice the size of Wayne has a movie man with enterprise enough to venture into new production. Wayne citizens feel like congratulating themselves that one so enterprising has located here, and they are coming to know that nothing but a high class production receives an order from Mr. Nielson. After the Monday afternoon show there was "standing room only" to be had. We hope the capacity of the room was enough to more than pay the cost.

Doing nothing by halves, the Crystal management secured the best orchestra obtainable at Sioux City, and his players while not organized as an orchestra are leaders. Ray Browne of the Browne orchestra, Leon Kaufman of the Orpheum, now closed for the summer, Mrs. Henry and others in the same class furnished music well worth the price of admission.

Goss-Peterson

The following from the Omaha World-Herald tells the story of an event in the life of a young lady well known and highly respected by many Wayne people. The Democrat extends good wishes to them: Miss Grace Goss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Goss, and Harry A. Peterson, both of Sioux City, Iowa, were married here Saturday evening at 6 o'clock at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. E. R. Gibson, by the Rev. Von De Lippe of the Clifton Presbyterian church. Only relatives were present. The ceremony was followed by a dinner party at the Rome hotel. The bride was married in a blue taffeta suit, with which she wore a white hat, and a corsage bouquet of bride's roses and pink sweetpeas.

After July 1, Mr. and Mrs. Peterson will be at home in Sioux City.

Last Day Liberty Bond Sale

There has been little demonstration at Wayne as to the sale of Liberty Bonds. The Boy Scouts have been out in pairs this week urging the sale of bonds, and have been successful in disposing of more than $10,000 worth. The final report will not be made until this evening, but there is yet a chance for you to help. If you have not been seen a telephone call to Black 34 will doubtless bring a scout to your door in short order.

A Home Wedding

The home of T. B. Heckert was the scene of a quiet home wedding Monday, June 12, 1917, when at high noon Rev. S. X. Cross of the Presbyterian church spoke the vow which united the lives of Mr. Paul R. Mines and Miss Marguerite Heckert, two most worthy young people who have grown to manhood and womanhood in our city.

Only the two families were present and Miss Clara Heckert of Red Oak, Iowa, and Mrs. Norris of Hastings being from out of town. The home was prettily decorated with flowers, with sweet peas and roses predominating. The bride was gowned in a leaf-brown satin, and wore a corsage of bridal roses; the groom appeared in the conventional black. Following the ceremony and hearty congratulations, a delicate luncheon was served, plates being laid for eleven.

The bride and groom left soon after for a wedding trip which will terminate at Wayne where they will be at home after August 1st. Their trip as planned includes visit in Illinois, a trip up the Mississippi river to St. Paul and other points of interest.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Mines of this city, an energetic young business man, and they embark upon the sea of matrimony with the best wishes of all.

A Child Welfare Campaign

Some time ago the ladies of the different country clubs that they could do no better work for the community than to have a "Child Welfare Campaign" and started to work for that end. The state furnishes charts and panels and much in the way of helpful suggestions for this work, and the work is so popular that it was not until July 10, 11 and 12 that they can secure this needed assistants, so those dates are set for the work. The meetings will be held at Wayne, but the place and hours are not yet fixed.

The program contemplates lectures from physicians, dentists, preachers and teachers on the different phases of the work. Instructors of domestic science will have a part, and the proper child food will have due attention, a proper diet will be outlined, and a work of education started which will tend to teach those who have the care of children that which will tend to make the lives of the little ones better in every way, happier and healthier, reducing doctor bills and postponing the visit of the undertaker until old age. It is a work which the entire community should aid in, and the invitation is for all to attend these meetings.

Mrs. S. K. West and son S. K. came last week from Hamill, South Dakota, to her old home south of Wayne. She will remain with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan McManigal. Mrs. McManigal's health is such that there is need of the daughter's care. Mrs. West went to Tripp county when it was first open for settlement, and leaves valuable farm lands there and several older children.

July 4th Celebration

Farmers and town people from all parts of the county have been asked by the Public Service Club for an expression of opinion in regard to holding a celebration July 4th. Almost every one advises that they would prefer to wait until the war is ended and then set aside a day for a great celebration of peace. Accordingly, we will postpone until that time the celebration we had planned to hold July 4th.

Judge Cariberg at Pender is a man of good judgment, as is evidenced by his decision that the Thurston county farmer who has 16 barrels of bottled beer and 95 gallons of whiskey at his place when the sheriff searched the farm, said he had only a reasonable amount. Perhaps snake bites are many in Thurston county, and especially bad on this farm.

A representative of the Union Pacific railroad was in town Tuesday endeavoring to get the business men to endorse a fifteen per cent raise in freight rates. The old man believes every one in business should be permitted to reap a reasonable interest on his investment and his labors but in these troublesome times we are all working under a great disadvantage and the railroads should stand their share of the grief along with the rest of us. One great objection to these raises is that they are passed along to the consumer and are greatly magnified by the time he pays the bill. An advance of twenty-five cents a ton to the coal miner generally means an advance of seventy-five cents or a dollar to the consumer.—Norfolk Press.

Mrs. Hess says the groom is her youngest brother, and the last of the family to leave a life of single blessedness.

The story leaked out that about two weeks ago John Storek of this city went to Omaha to exchange an eighty acre farm in Antelope county for some Omaha acreage with one Nathan Watts, an Omaha real estate dealer. The story goes that Mr. Storek went to Omaha with the intention of closing the deal but after an investigation of the property which was to come in his possession, found it other than represented and refused to fulfill his part of the contract. He had already give a check but after becoming more familiar with the conditions of the proposition, ordered the bankers in Madison not to honor his check. Watts who seemed anxious to put the deal thru then had a warrant issued causing Mr. Storek to appear in police court. The case came up before the police judge at Omaha last Monday and after an investigation by the county attorney was dismissed on the grounds that the defendant acted within the boundaries of the law and there was no cause for legal proceedings against him. Storek, it is said, has instituted proceedings against Watts for the sum of $15,000 alleging false arrest and malicious prosecution. The case will be tried in the district court of Douglas county.—Madison Star-Mail.

The people of Plainview and vicinity are taking up the matter of a big drainage ditch for Dry creek, for by this means they may reclaim many acres of land which cannot now be tilled, and in addition to that so dispose of water as to enable that community to have much better roads than is now possible. If the land owners of that vicinity are wise they will act promptly in the matter. The past week or two has demonstrated that it would have been a very profitable investment for land owners and railroads to have had a lot of kinks taken out of the channel of Logan creek, Dog creek and other streams. With the channel of the Logan made practically straight and direct the recent bottom overflow would not have amounted to much, if it had even gone out of banks. It makes a big difference whether a body of water travels one or three miles in crossing a section. These little streams have too many a double letter S.

She came by the southern route, thru San Francisco, Los Angeles, and across Arizona and New Mexico and Texas. Says it is very warm in that part of this country, but that it was a trip full of interest. Miss James is much pleased with the west slope country after two years there, and thinks she could not be tempted to remain in the east or central west which people out here call "back east." It is her present plan to continue in school work, and says that she is yet undecided as to which of several positions she will accept.

Arrangements have been made whereby employees of the Nebraska Telephone company may subscribe for government bonds of the "Liberty Loan" and pay for them on monthly installments, according to an announcement received by Manager J. R. Almond. In addition to the $5,000,000 of the bonds which the Bell telephone system has taken it is expected that the employees of the various companies of the system will subscribe for an equally large amount under the plan of paying for the bonds on monthly installments. The installment plan provides for the payment of $4 each month for ten months and $5 per month for two months on each $50 bond for which the employee subscribes. This will enable telephone employees to pay for their bonds in one year and collect six months interest in June, 1918. This will give them a return of approximately 3 1/2 per cent interest on each installment paid. In case an employee desires at any time during the year to make all remaining payments at once and take up his bond, he will be permitted to do so.

For the purpose of aiding in this conservation work a canning school will be held at the Wayne State Normal on June 22 and 23. It will be under the direction of the Domestic Science Department. The cold pack method of canning will be taught. This is the method recommended by the government. Owing to the sudden and great advance in the price of cans special emphasis will be placed on the new method of drying which has been recently sent out from Washington by Dr. Gore. By this method fruits and vegetables can be dried ready for storing in twenty-four hours and they do not lose their flavor and color as they do by the old method. This method of drying will be in operation during the two days. Products dried by this method will be on exhibition. Some of the dried products will be cooked ready to serve. Be sure you sample them.

The program will be as follows: The morning session will be for those registered for the actual canning work. The afternoon session, consisting of demonstration and lecture, will be held in the Wayne Normal auditorium and will be thrown open to the public. You are cordially invited to attend.

Each church, club, lodge or any other organization is entitled to send one delegate, the only condition is that this delegate must promise to carry the work back and teach it to other members of her community. If you have not already made arrangements and wish to send a delegate, send for registration cards to President U. S. Conn, or to Miss Agnes Finigan at Wayne.

If any student knows of a community in this part of the state which has not heard of this, please notify Miss Finigan, or, better still, explain the plan to the organization and have some one there write for registration cards. The only fee charged will be that to cover cost of materials and fuel used. The products canned will be the property of the person who cans them.

Friday, June fifteenth, is to be another red letter day for the Wayne State Normal. The second annual Home-coming Day and Alumni Reunion is to take place at that time. Earl H. Schroer, president of the Alumni Association, tells us that he is making big preparations for a full day of festivity. He is expecting a large attendance and his arrangements provide novel entertainment for a whole host of alumni. Following is the form of invitation sent out over the state to former graduates: To the Alumni:

You are invited to attend the second annual Home-coming Day and an Alumni banquet to be given in the new Industrial and Physical

Why Telephone Rates are Lower in Smaller Towns

Telephone rates are usually lower in small towns than in large places.

In large towns it costs more to furnish telephone service than in smaller communities.

The switchboard and other central office apparatus necessary in a large town to connect the greater number of subscribers costs much more per telephone than the equipment used in a smaller place.

The distance each subscriber lives from the central office is greater as the town is larger, necessitating more wire per telephone.

Also, expensive underground construction is generally required in larger towns, thus increasing the cost of operating the plant.

Then, too, wages, rents, etc., are higher in larger places.

Training building of the Wayne State Normal School on Friday, June 15.

A big program has been planned and every member is requested to be present. Bring your colors and boost for your class.

Very truly yours,

Here are Good Shoes at Reasonable Prices

I Queen Quality shoes you get Comfort and Style with GOOD WEAR. Nowadays when the market is flooded with shoes made of leather substitutes that neither hold their shape nor wear, you will find it good economy to buy these well known shoes which are GUARANTEED GOOD. Liberal purchases made months ago enables us to sell them at these reasonable prices.

Ladies' Shoes

When buying either black or colored shoes of kid leather of anyone be sure and ask for genuine kid. You will then get a leather that will hold its shape—clean perfectly and wear well. There are many imitation kid leathers and shoes made of them; scuff quickly, lose their color and shape, and do not wear. Get genuine kid made by a reputable firm and you'll get your money's worth.

High black lace boots of genuine kid are here at $5.75 and $7.50.

Colored and white high lace shoes of genuine kid are $7.50 and $8.50. Two extra fine qualities are $1.00.

Pretty patent dress shoes with cloth or kid tops, either lace or button are $4.50.

Special low heel styles in dressy kid and patent leather shoes are $4.50.

Fine patent and kid pumps in first new styles are $4.00 and $5.00.

At $2.50 you can choose from a big table filled with odd pair of shoes carried over from last year and year before. They are of splendid leather, well worth $5 to $6 as far as quality is concerned, but the toes and heels are not in style so we sell them at $2.50. They will make fine wearing every day shoes.

Boys' and Girls' Shoes

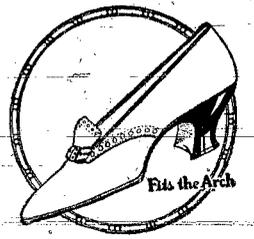

You like style in your girl's shoes as well as in your own. We take particular pains to buy pretty shoes and low shoes with low heels for the girls and young ladies. We understand fitting them properly and will pay as much attention to getting the right size and style for your daughters as for yourself.

Boys' shoes with Neolin soles are, according to size, $3.00 to $4.25. This Neol will outwear leather according to trials we have made and it is the greatest piece of economy ever brought out in boys' footwear.

You will be surprised at how much longer your boys' or girls' shoes will wear if you will rub a little linseed oil on the soles occasionally. Anything that keeps the water out will lend wear to leather and to the stitching.

White Shoes

Eight months ago we bought these white shoes and they are priced at much below the present market.

Canvas low shoes with low rubber heels and soles, all sizes, in misses' and ladies' $1.50.

Canvas lace shoes, high tops, white enameled soles and heels are $3.00.

Canvas lace shoes, high Louis heels, rubber soles are $3.50.

Children's white canvas Mary Jane slippers, rubber soles and heels are 85 cents to $1.35.

White canvas shoes are an investment now because of the wear they will save on your finer, higher priced foot-wear.

The Crop Outlook

The crop outlook is fairly good. The report on winter wheat caused a very large acreage of spring wheat to be sowed, and later reports show that a large amount of winter wheat was supposed to be utterly destroyed was allowed to stand and the later rains so improved it that it will produce ten or twelve bushels per acre. If it produces ten bushels it will give a good return to the farmer at present prices. The total grain acreage from all accounts, will be tremendously increased. Reports from one vast section of agricultural territory say that the increase will amount to 33 1-3 per cent. Even should the total agricultural acreage of the United States this year amount to a third more than last year, and thru intensive farming should increase the aggregate of crops to the largest amount on record, there will be a demand for every bushel of grain that can be produced. Prices are likely to remain sufficiently high to give the farmer ample returns for his labor.

wheat and that the Oklahoma crop will be slightly above the average. Taking the United States as a whole, the prospects are that the total agricultural output will be greatly increased over last year, and probably will be larger than in any previous year, for the reason that there has been such a uniform increase in acreage, and every one seems to be bending his best efforts toward enlarging the food crop.—World Herald.

WHO ARE TO STAND FOR IT?

An Open Letter to Secretary Danielson of State Agricultural Society Asking a Few Questions

Last week the Democrat received a second invitation to give free publicity to the state fair and the circus which they are to have at Lincoln this fall. The first invitation came from the plate maker, who sells the use of the plates for printing, and was answered, quoting the rate at which it might appear in the Democrat as advertising. Then came the second letter and card, this time from the secretary, and believing that their plate matter is absolutely worthless to them unless the papers of the state will give it publicity; and realizing the injustice asking the fellow who can give results to work for nothing with all others on the pay roll, the editor wrote the honorable secretary as follows: Wayne, Nebraska, June 11, 1917.

Mr. E. R. Danielson, Lincoln.
Dear Sir:—We are enclosing your card filled out according to the terms we sent back to the plate makers a month or so ago. Do they donate their services to the fair? Do you? Should we? and WHY? Please answer. You fellows must have very high estimate of the country publisher—think he is not able to give the fair such mention as he thinks will keep his readers posted? Think we need to have a page of Beautiful Sunshine provided about the circus you fellows are boosting at Lincoln? Haggenback should be able to pay for his advertising. Suppose that we will get a ticket—if we are good—admit the editor—not transferable—and if presented by any other fool it will not be honored and will be taken up and the person presenting it thrown in jail for impersonating a fool—ish fellow. Let's see, 120 inches at 14 cents—our regular space rate, and the reader rate would be 25 cents—but we are offering the 11 cents off—would be $16.80, and for that we might get a ticket which would cost $25, at least to use. That would make our fare and fair cost us upwards of $40. So if we find that we can go, it will be far cheaper to walk up to the captain's office and plank down the price of the little pastboard. Of course, we realize that this is a great state institution and one in which the public is much interested, and we expect that every reader of the Democrat will be able to find in the paper the place and date, etc. in ample time to go; but if you fellows want more and want to write it for the Democrat you will have to put up the advertising rate. Is that fair?

Respectfully,
E. O. Gardner.

We have not heard much from or about the Colonel Roosevelt lately—not even whether or not he "bought a bond."

The statement to an applicant for place that the aviation corps is about full seems to give a black eye to the old saying, "there's plenty of room at the top." The applicant's name was High, but it seems he is doomed to get no higher.

Weather predictions do not count. The fellow who predicted a dry time now, should go and keep company with the fellow who prophesied a mild winter. Another mild winter like that, and the coal men would own the earth and the fullness thereof.

Next week the elevator men of the state may have a short course in management of their business, at Lincoln. The average country elevator man needs wide knowledge of grains, their grades and the probable shrinkage if he is to successfully deal with the average middle man who always wants to take toll from the crop of the country before it goes to the consumer.

The editor of the Dixon Journal appears to be tired of paying tribute to the ready print house, and his paper last issue came out an all home print. We believe it was a wise move. When all county papers take this course it will be a sorry day for a lot of concerns who are getting their advertisements far under value, to the detriment of the publishers of the country.

A number of our exchanges are running a little article saving that turkey-raising is profitable; and one who looked at the prices they were held at when ripe last fall would realize that it must be profitable—but the trouble comes in raising them. Too often they turn out as the German friend in Iowa described when he said: "My wife, Tilly, she raise 17 turkey and dey all die." The mortality rate of the small turkey is great.

Uncle Sam is practicing more economy than ever before in many ways. One of the recent requests of the postal department is that the people use stamps of the denomination required as nearly as possible. If you have letters to mail use a 2-cent stamp rather than two ones, for it costs as much to make one as the other. If you have need of any considerable number of a larger size, buy that kind rather than 7 twos and a one for fifteen cents, get the 15-cent stamp.

It might be well for the members of the senate finance committee to remember, in levying taxes in the pending revenue measure, that the people are now the ones who say who shall be senator. The fellows who can afford to indulge in luxuries are few compared with those who must buy the necessities; but they can better afford to pay a burdensome tax. If they object to the tax they may refuse or neglect to purchase the contemplated luxury, but when the children are crying for bread it is different.

Who can blame the editor for being sore, sometimes, when he is criticized for omission of a gratuitous announcement of semi-public social function with sufficient news value to entitle it to a place—when if the facts were known the person whose duty it was to have had the notice given neglected that duty until the 11th hour and the 59th minute, then asked it when the copy book was loaded with other important news copy, and an overflow of a column of good stuff already in type that must be ditched. The editor is a good goat to put the blame on instead of acknowledging the fault where it belongs.

Here is "A Work day Prayer" by Berton Braley that is worth while for us all to read and remember. "Great Master Workman: This day I pray Thee for imagination, that I may find in the dulllest routine of my work the thrill of the true romance. For though I am but one toiler in a universe of toilers and my part in the labor of the world is small, if I have the vision to recognize the beauty and the dignity of that labor I shall know that I, too, am helping to build the dreams of the ages into the facts of the future. And knowing this I shall find even drudgery worth while and feel within me the joy of creation. Amen."

Rebekahs at 15th Annual Meeting

The 15th Annual Meeting of district No. 20 of the Rebekah lodge was held at Hartington and was a successful one. About 68 delegates attended the convention from the various lodges in the district, and all the sessions were pleasant and profitable.

Following are the names of the new officers who were elected for the ensuing year: Mrs. Susan West, Laurel, president; Mrs. Ida Howe, Randolph, vice-president; Mrs. Stewart, Laurel, secretary; Mrs. Martha Valaer, Belden, treasurer, and Mrs. McMillan, Wayne, ward-en.

On the whole in spite of bad weather the district meeting of the Rebekahs was a most successful one, and the delegates who were present all expressed themselves as well pleased with the cordial entertainment which they had received.

Social Notes

One of the pleasant social events in the community and happy events in the life of Rev. Gehrke of the German Lutheran church northeast of Wayne occurred Sunday when a hundred or more of his neighbors and the members of his church invaded their home in honor of his 50th birthday. They came with an abundance of good things to eat, and in spirit of true friendship and goodwill. Their coming was a complete surprise to Mr. Gehrke else they would not have found him enjoying an afternoon nap. His two daughters, one from Omaha and one from Columbus, their son Rheinart from Fremont and his grandmother, Mrs. Sophy Singpiel from the same place had come home at this time for a little family visit, but beyond this nothing was known by the pastor. His friends left a substantial purse as a token of the esteem in which they hold their pastor. All wish him another fifty years of life, happy, prosperous and useful.

Mrs. Chas. Craven, Mrs. Don Cunningham and Mrs. Harry Fisher entertained about thirty ladies last Friday afternoon in honor of Miss Marguerite Heckert's approaching marriage to Paul Mines. Four tables were arranged for 500, which occupied the attention of all for a time after which Miss Heckert was surprised with a miscellaneous shower. Little Miss Harriett Craven dressed in pink carrying a pink parasol on which bundles were tied and a basket trimmed with pink crepe paper rang the door bell. On being opened these were presented to the bride to be. At 5:30 a delicious two course luncheon was served on small tables which were decorated with pansie centerpieces. Miss Marguerite received many beautiful and costly presents.

The Union Bible Study circle enjoyed a fine lesson Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. McClenney, with Mrs. Wm. Beckenhauer as leader of the study. Mrs. C. A. Grothe will be hostess Monday afternoon when Miss A. Fern Houser and Miss Zimmermann, right from Gutatmla, C. A., will bring a living message that no one should miss hearing whether or not interested in spreading the gospel. All are cordially invited to this Monday afternoon meeting.

The Young Ladies Bible Study circle had an excellent meeting with Mrs. Herbert Rigg Saturday evening. All were enthusiastic over the coming of the Central American Gospel Team, who will have charge of the meeting Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. Edwin B. Young and an unusually interesting evening is anticipated to which all the girls are cordially invited.

The W. C. T. U. met with Mrs. Britton last Friday afternoon. The devotional exercises were led by Miss White. The following officers were elected for the coming year: Mrs. Boyce, president; Mrs. Scofield, vice president; Miss Redmond, secretary; Mrs. C. W. Hiseox, treasurer. This was the closing meeting of the year, unless they decide to work in connection with Red Cross work.

On Saturday afternoon, Mrs. Emil Kostomlatsky and Miss Helen Kostomlatsky delightfully entertained the Douglas King chapter, D. A. R., at their last meeting until fall. Each member of the chapter gave a story of "Our Flag" in response to roll call and Mrs. Homer Seace read "State Laws in Regard to Our Flag". The hostesses served refreshments.

The H. H. club held an interesting meeting last week Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Johnson. In addition to their usual good time the ladies discussed some things relating to the approaching "Child Welfare Campaign," which the ladies of the different country clubs have inaugurated.

Eastern Star held their regular meeting last Monday night. The officers were installed by the installing officer, Mrs. Chace, with Mrs. C. W. Hiseox as Marshal. Mrs. Mines gave a splendid report of the state convention which was held in Lincoln last month. Mrs. Blair sang a solo.

The Pleasant Valley club will meet next Thursday with Mrs. Elmer Noakes.

Miss Mary House went to Bancroft Tuesday morning, and will visit for a few days at the home of John Nihart, keeping the lady company while the master of the house is away, he being called to Lincoln to receive from the state university an honor which they are proud to confer. They will bestow upon the poet the degree of Doctor of Letters.

HOW SHALL WE PAY FOR THE WAR?

A Constructive Criticism on the House Revenue Bill.

LOANS BETTER THAN TAXES

Five Reasons Why Excessive Taxes at the Outset of War Are Disadvantageous—Great Britain Example Worthy of Emulation—How the Taxes Should Be Apportioned.

By EDWIN R. A. SELIGMAN, McVickar Professor of Political Economy, Columbia University.

On May 23, 1917, the House of Representatives passed an act "to provide revenue to defray war expenses and for other purposes." In the original bill as presented by the Committee of Ways and Means, the additional revenue to be derived was estimated at $1,810,420,000. The amendment to the income tax, which was tacked on to the bill during the discussion in the House, was expected to yield another $40,000,000 or $50,000,000.

In discussing the House bill, two problems arise:

I. How much should be raised by taxation?

II. In what manner should this sum be raised?

I. How Much Should Be Raised by Taxation?

How was the figure of $1,800,000,000 arrived at? The answer is simple. When the Secretary of the Treasury came to estimate the additional war expenses for the year 1917-18, he calculated that they would amount to some $6,000,000,000, of which $3,000,000,000 was to be allotted to the allies, and $3,000,000,000 was to be utilized for the domestic purposes. Thinking that it would be a fair proposition to divide this latter sum between loans and taxes, he concluded that the amount to be raised by taxes was $1,800,000,000.

There are two extreme theories, each of which may be dismissed with scant courtesy. The one is that all war expenditures should be defrayed by loans, and the other is that all war expenditures should be defrayed by taxes. Each theory is untenable.

It is indeed true that the burdens of the war should be borne by the present rather than the future generation; but this does not mean that they should be borne by this year's taxation.

Meeting all war expenses by taxation makes the taxpayers in one or two years bear the burden of benefits that ought to be distributed at least over a decade within the same generation.

In the second place, when expenditures approach the gigantic sums of present-day warfare, the tax-only policy would require more than the total surplus of social income. Were this absolutely necessary, the ensuing havoc in the economic life of the community would have to be endured. But where the disasters are so great and at the same time so unnecessary, the tax-only policy may be declared impracticable.

Secretary McAdoo had the right instinct and highly commendable courage in deciding that a substantial portion, at least, of the revenues should be derived from taxation. But when he hit upon the plan of 50-50 per cent., that is, of raising one-half of all domestic war expenditures by taxes, the question arises whether he did not go too far.

The relative proportion of loans to taxes is after all a purely business proposition. Not to rely to a large extent on loans at the outset of a war is a mistake.

Disadvantages of Excessive Taxes.

The disadvantages of excessive taxes at the outset of the war are as follows:

1. Excessive taxes on consumption will cause popular resentment.

2. Excessive taxes on industry will disarrange business, damp enthusiasm and restrict the spirit of enterprise at the very time when the opposite is needed.

3. Excessive taxes on incomes will deplete the surplus available for investments and interfere with the placing of the enormous loans which will be necessary in any event.

4. Excessive taxes on wealth will cause a serious diminution of the incomes which are at present largely drawn upon for the support of educational and philanthropic enterprises. Moreover, these sources of support would be dried up precisely at the time when the need would be greatest.

5. Excessive taxation at the outset of the war will reduce the elasticity available for the increasing demands that are soon to come.

Great Britain's Policy.

Take Great Britain as an example. During the first year of the war she increased taxes only slightly, in order to keep industries going at top notch. During the second year she raised by new taxes only 9 per cent. of her war expenditures. During the third year she levied by additional taxes (over and above the pre-war level) only slightly more than 17 per cent. of her war expenses.

If we should attempt to do as much in the first year of the war as Great Britain did in the third year it would suffice to raise by taxation $1,250,000,000. If, in order to be absolutely on the safe side, it seemed advisable to increase the sum to $1,500,000,000, this should, in our opinion, be the maximum.

In considering the apportionment of the extraordinary burden of taxes in war times certain scientific principles are definitely established:

How Taxes Should Be Apportioned.

(1) The burden of taxes must be spread as far as possible over the whole community so as to cause each individual to share in the sacrifices according to his ability to pay and according to his share in the Government.

(2) Taxes on consumption, which are necessarily borne by the community at large, should be imposed as far as possible on articles of quasi-luxury rather than on those of necessity.

(3) Excises should be imposed as far as possible upon commodities in the hands of the final consumer rather than upon the articles which serve primarily as raw material for further production.

(4) Taxes upon business should be imposed as far as possible upon net earnings rather than upon gross receipts or capital invested.

(5) Taxes upon income which will necessarily be severe should be both differentiated and graduated. That is, there should be a distinction between earned and unearned incomes and there should be a higher rate upon the larger incomes. It is essential, however, not to make the income rate so excessive as to lead to evasion, administrative difficulties, or to the more fundamental objections which have been urged above.

(6) The excess profits which are due to the war constitute the most obvious and reasonable source of revenue during war times. But the principle upon which these war-profit taxes are laid must be equitable in theory and easily calculable in practice.

The Proposed Income Tax.

The additional income tax as passed by the House runs up to a rate of 60 per cent. This is a sum unheard of in the history of civilized society. It must be remembered that it was only after the first year of the war that Great Britain increased her income tax to the maximum of 34 per cent., and that even now in the fourth year of the war the income tax does not exceed 42 1/2 per cent.

It could easily be shown that a tax with rates on moderate incomes substantially less than in Great Britain, and on the larger incomes about as high, would yield only slightly less than the $532,000,000 originally estimated in the House bill.

It is to be hoped that the Senate will reduce the total rate on the highest incomes to 24 per cent., or at most to 40 per cent., and that at the same time it will reduce the rate on the smaller incomes derived from personal or professional earnings.

If the war continues we shall have to depend more and more upon the income tax. By imposing excessive rates now we are not only endangering the future, but are inviting all manner of difficulties which even Great Britain has been able to escape.

Conclusion.

The House bill contains other fundamental defects which may be summed up as follows:

(1) It pursues an erroneous principle in imposing retroactive taxes.

(2) It selects an unjust and unworkable criterion for the excess-profits tax.

(3) It proceeds to an unheard-of height in the income tax.

(4) It imposes unwarranted burdens upon the consumption of the community.

(5) It is calculated to throw business into confusion by levying taxes on gross receipts instead of upon commodities.

(6) It fails to make a proper use of stamp taxes.

(7) It follows an unscientific system in its flat rate on imports.

(8) It includes a multiplicity of petty and unmerciful taxes, the vexatiousness of which is out of all proportion to the revenue they produce.

The fundamental lines on which the House bill should be modified are summed up herewith:

(1) The amount of new taxation should be limited to $1,250,000,000—or at the outset to $1,500,000,000. To do more than this would be as unwise as it is unnecessary. To do even this would be to do more than has ever been done by any civilized Government in time of stress.

(2) The excess-profits tax based upon a sound system ought to yield about $500,000,000.

(3) The income-tax schedule ought to be revised with a lowering of the rates on earned incomes below $10,000, and with an analogous lowering of the rates on the higher incomes, so as not to exceed 34 per cent. A careful calculation shows that an income tax of this kind would yield some $450,000,000 additional.

(4) The tax on whisky and tobacco ought to remain approximately as it is, with a field of about $230,000,000.

These three taxes, together with the stamp tax at even the low rate of the House bill, and with an improved automobile tax, will yield over $1,250,000,000, which is the amount of money thought desirable.

The above program would be in harmony with an approved scientific system. It will do away with almost all of the complaints that are being urged against the present. It will refrain from taxing the consumption of the poor.

It will throw a far heavier burden upon the rich, but will not go to the extremes of confiscation. It will obviate interference with business and will keep unimpaired the social productivity of the community.

It will establish a just balance between loans and taxes and will not succumb to the danger of approaching either the tax-only policy or the loan-only policy. Above all, it will keep an undisturbed elastic margin, which must be more and more heavily drawn upon as the war proceeds.

LIVE STOCK PRICES AT SOUTH OMAHA Beef Steers Active; Mostly 10c Higher Than Monday A 10c ADVANCE IN HOGS

Reaction in Market for Sheep and Lambs Sends Values About 15c to 25c Higher—Native Spring Lambs Reach $16.75. Demand From Both Packers and Feeder Buyers Shows Improvement. Union Stock Yards, South Omaha, June 13, 1917.—Receipts of cattle were very fair for a Tuesday, about 5,800 head, but the quality was hardly as good as on Monday. Demand held up well, however, and the market was active and strong to a dime higher, best heavy beefs bringing $13.25@13.35 and best yearlings $12.75@13.00. Cows and heifers were in very good request and generally about steady and there was a dull but notably unchanged market for stock cattle and feeding steers.

Quotations on cattle: Good to choice beefs, $12.00@13.40; fair to good beefs, $11.75@12.50; common to fair beefs, $10.25@11.50; good to choice yearlings, $12.25@13.10; fair to good yearlings, $11.00@12.00; common to fair yearlings, $10.00@10.75; good to choice heifers, $10.25@11.50; good to choice cows, $9.75@10.75; fair to good cows, $8.75@10.00; canners and cutters, $6.00@8.50; veal calves, $10.00@14.50; beef bulls, $7.00@11.00; prime feeding steers, $10.00@11.00; good to choice feeders, $9.50@10.00; fair to good feeders, $8.50@9.25; good to choice stockers, $8.50@10.50; fair to good stockers, $8.75@9.50; common to fair feeders, $7.00@8.50; stock heifers, $8.25@10.50; stock cows, $7.00@10.00; stock calves, $8.50@11.00.

Hog Prices a Dime Better. The run of hogs was not as big as dealers looked for and as both packers and shipping buyers had liberal orders to fill the market was active and prices were mostly fully a dime better than Monday. Tops reached $15.35 as against $15.50 last Tuesday and the bulk of the trading was at $15.00@15.25 as against $15.15@15.50 one week ago.

Upward Turn in Sheep. After declining steadily for more than a week there was a turn for the better in sheep and lambs and although receipts were fairly liberal, 5,800 head, the demand from all sources was broad and prices 15c to 25c higher all around. Native spring lambs brought $16.75, clipped corral western lambs $14.50 and shorn ewes $9.50@9.65.

Quotations on sheep and lambs: Lambs, shorn, $13.75@14.50; spring lambs, $12.00@16.75; spring lambs, culls, $9.00@12.00; lambs, feeders, $10.00@14.70; yearlings, shorn, $11.50@12.00; wethers, shorn, $10.00@10.50; ewes, shorn, $8.00@10.00; ewes, culls, shorn, $6.00@8.00.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured by Legal Applications. The only one way to cure catarhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and entirely restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarhal, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surface. Hall's Catarhal Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarhal Medicine. Circular free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Tomato Pruning

The tomato is made to produce better and earlier fruit by pruning. For growing fancy or early fruit, the pruning of the tomato plant is profitable.

The pruning of the tomato is the removal of a part of the plant. The tomato always produces branches in the axils of the leaves. These branches soon appear after the plant is set into the garden. The common belief is, that where so many of these branches are allowed to grow, the plant produces too many fruits for the roots to develop properly. The removal of these side branches is called pruning. The side branches should be removed as soon as they start to grow, and when done at the proper time they are easily broken off.

If the plant is to be pruned to one stem all of the side shoots are removed. This allows the main stem of the plant to grow and to produce a one stemmed plant. If a two stemmed plant is desired, the first side shoot which appears is retained and is allowed to grow and to produce a large branch. All of the side shoots on the second stem are removed the same as on the first stem. A three or four stemmed plant may be produced by allowing three or four branches to develop.

Tomato plants which are to be pruned to one or to two stems can be planted closer together than unpruned plants. A good distance to set the tomato plants when pruning is to be practiced, is two feet apart each way. If a little more room is available, three feet between the rows makes it easier to pick and to cultivate the plants. Two feet apart in the rows is ample space between each plant.

When pruning the tomato plant it should be handled carefully. Rough treatment of the plant at this time is injurious to the growth of the plant.

It is usually better to remove the side branches with the finger, than with a knife. Many times the knife will slip and often cuts the plant which either destroys or badly injures it.

Do not neglect the pruning until the side branches become large. If the branches are allowed to grow big, they take away the energy and food supply from the main stem and a loss of vigor is the result.

It is necessary to go over the plants three or four times in order to remove all of the side shoots. Once every ten days is usually often enough, but occasionally the grower must go over his plants more often.

Pruned plants should be tied to some kind of a support which should be done at the time of pruning.

Our President Writes to Russia

Washington, D. C., June 9.—President Wilson, in a communication to the new government of Russia, has made plain the war aims of United States and its position on "no annexation, no indemnities."

"No territory must change hands except those that constitute securing those who inhabit it a fair chance of life and liberty," says the communication.

"No indemnities must be insisted on except those that constitute payment for manifest wrong done. No readjustments of power must be made except such as will tend to secure the future peace of the world and the future welfare and happiness of its people."

In unmistakable terms President Wilson declares against Germany's proposal to restore the status quo before the war.

"It was the status quo ante out of which this iniquitous war issued forth," he says, "the power of the Imperial German government within the empire and its widespread domination and influence outside of that empire."

"That status must be altered in such fashion as to prevent any such hideous thing from ever happening again."

Baseball and the War

The Nebraska State Journal has again arranged to publish full box scores on all National, American and Western league games thruout the season. Yet for those readers who maintain that baseball will wane in interest because of the war, the Journal will provide all of the war news it is compatible with public policy to print. Journal readers will receive the latest possible news as furnished by the Associated press, supplemented by special correspondence from Washington and wherever Nebraska troops may be sent. The price of a three months subscription to The Journal is $1 daily or $1.25 with the big Sunday Journal.

Code for Flag Etiquette from Army and Navy Usages

1. The flag should not be hoisted before sunrise nor allowed to remain up after sunset. In the navy the colors are hoisted under ordinary circumstances at 8 a. m. It should not be displayed upon stormy days, nor left out over night.

2. The flag should never be allowed to touch the ground and should never be raised or lowered by any mechanical appliance.

3. When the national and state flags or other flags are flown together or are used in decorating together the national flag should be on the right side of the building or lawn.

4. When the flag is used out of doors as a banner, that is, suspended on a rope across a street, the union, or field, should fly to the north in streets running east and west and to the east in running north and south.

5. The flag should always be flown from a staff or a mast and should not be fastened to the side of a building, platform or scaffolding. In no circumstances should the flag be draped around pillars, or against walls or balustrades. Flags were made originally for the purpose of being flown and to use them in any other manner is to misuse them. If staple decorations are desired, red, white and blue hunting properly draped will give a better effect than a draped flag.

6. The flag should never be used to cover a table, or box, or where anything can be placed upon it. For indoor decorations, the flag may be caught up in many artistic fashions, and used with bunting, garlands, plants, and flowers, but should never be placed below a person sitting.

7. When flags are used in an unveiling of a statue or monument they should not be allowed to fall to the ground, but should be carried aloft to wave out, forming a distinctive feature during the remainder of the ceremony.

8. When the flag is flown at half-staff as a sign of mourning it should be hoisted to full-staff at the end of the funeral. To fly a flag at half-staff it must first be raised to full-staff and then lowered.

9. When the flag is formally raised, all present during the ceremony should stand at attention, with hand raised to the forehead ready for the salute.

10. The correct salute to the flag, as required by the regulations of the U. S. Army, is: Standing at attention, raise the right hand to the forehead over the right eye, palm downward, fingers extended and close together, arm at an angle of forty five degrees. Move hand outward about a foot with a quick motion, then drop to the side.

11. When the colors are passing on parade, or in review, the spectator should, if a man or boy, and if walking, halt, if sitting, rise, stand at attention, and uncover.

12. When used on a bier or casket at a funeral, the stars should be placed at the head. In no case should the flag be allowed to touch the ground.

13. The flag must not be marked by advertisements, nor desecrated on the stage.

14. It is an unwritten law in the navy that the flag is never to be washed, it is always to be considered immaculate.

15. On Memorial Day the flag should fly at half-staff from sunrise to noon and full-staff from noon to sunset.

16. When "The Star Spangled Banner" is played, all present should rise and stand at attention until the ending. The playing of it as a medley or exit march should be prohibited.

17. The only legislation with regard to the flag, forbids the registration of any trade mark which consists of or comprises the flag or coat of arms or other insignia of the United States, or any simulation thereof, or of any states or municipality, or any foreign nation, etc.

18. The flag salute adopted by our military schools, and other organizations and which should be taught in our public schools is: "I pledge allegiance to my flag, and to the Republic for which it stands one nation indivisible, with Liberty and Justice to all."

Our children should be taught to carefully handle and guard their little flags from rough and disrespectful treatment and not be permitted to carelessly toss them about in parades and processions, nor throw them away should a stick become broken or should the child tire of holding it.

Give Us Men

"Give us Men!
Men from every rank;
Fresh and free and frank;
Men of thought and reading,
Men of light and leading,
Men of loyal breeding,
The Nation's welfare speeding:
Give us Men—I say again,
Give us Men!
Give us Men!"

Not a Failure

He who but lies down beside the road to rest from wearying toil has not failed. He did his best. His hardened hands, the resolution stamped upon his face, and most of all, the smile his stiffening lips twist forth, all tell their tale. No fickle crowds acclaim him conqueror. He lies alone. No tender hands bind up his hurts. No loving lap receives his lowering head. His pillow is the Earth. Stern Poverty that walked with him down the way will grant his battered clay a place within the potter's field. Wealth, fame, applause of men and all the evidences the common mind attributes to Success will ne'er be his. To all appearances he lies defeated. But Kings upon their thrones have made of life far less than he. For this poor, battered frame made housing for a Spirit great enough to fight and conquer pitted against him since the dawn of Time. He fought himself and conquered. For wealth and fame and all such petty things he had no time to strive. Great visions, temptations strong enough to tear a common soul from out the opening gates of Palestine, were his. Satan from a thousand hills showed him a thousand tempting destinies and bade him take his choice would he but sell himself. He did not yield. Thru cold and hunger, thirst and pain he never once turned traitor to himself. He kept his soul.

The situation in Iowa before and after election was graphically told by the Onawa Democrat when it said: "Last fall the cry was 'Harding, Hughes, Havner, Harmony' last Sunday it was 'Havner, hell'." Yes, the Iowa republicans are still up to their old tricks—long on promises before election and the people go hang after the office is secured.

How Howard Thinks It Happened

The following is the article from the Telegram:

"I have read scores of comments upon the passage of the new Nebraska law—or rather the new law to enforce the terms of the new amendment, and in each appeared an effort to give some certain person credit for the final result. My own view of the case is different from any I have seen in print. I believe I was in good position to know the facts. Is the bill a good bill? Is it the best bill which that legislature could or would pass? Then give the greater amount of credit in two particular directions—first to an aroused public sentiment which caused friends of the amendment in the house to stand firm as adamant, and which also caused four senators who were part and parcel of the senatorial combine to refuse longer to obey the lash of the combine leaders. Second to Governor Neville, for his threat to call the legislature in special session in case it adjourned without enacting a satisfactory bill for the enforcement of the amendment. The senate combine, comprising nineteen senators, planned to permit the passage of no bill which would not be satisfactory to the brewery and hotel interests of Omaha. Four of the senators in the combination did not subscribe to all the demands of the Omaha interests, although generally agreeing to the passage of one enforcement law with holes in it large enough to admit a life-size bootlegger. When the deadlock between the house and the senate conference committee appeared some of the senators who had agreed to be reasonably well became disgusted with the efforts of the combination to block all efforts to secure even a reasonably good bill, and at last they began intimating that if the conference committee did not soon agree they would not stand for the combine program any longer. Senator Robertson, representing the senate on the conference committee, played a good part for which he has never been given full credit, but it is my purpose to discuss this work in a separate article, so I shall not do so now. Among the senatorial combine were Soost of Knox county, Wilson of Frontier, Gates of Sarpy and Samuelson of Franklin. It must be confessed that these senators had been pretty loyal to the combination, and that they had played fair in the matter of keeping true to their "gentleman's agreement," but as the closing days came near, with no agreement in sight between the senate and house conferees on the enforcement bill, they became decidedly uneasy, and at last Senators Doty and Samuelson openly stated that they were tired playing the part of "goats" for the combine, and that they honestly desired a good enforcement bill, and intended to do something very soon to break the deadlock. Quickly their sentiment was echoed by Senators Wilson, Soost and Gates, and then it was all over but the shouting, because the combine leader saw at once that if they lost the votes of any three of the senators I have here named they would no longer have a majority behind them. After the announcement made by these senators Conferee Robertson, who knew his business all the way, quickly agreed with the house conferees upon the satisfactory bill which was passed a day or two later with only a handful of dissenting votes in the two houses. Many other causes may be assigned as directly responsible for the result finally obtained, but I believe I have here stated the true cause, or causes, and that the repudiation of "gang" leadership by senators I have named was the final artillery blast which silenced the guns of booze."

THE AVERAGE REFORMER.

(National Crop Improvement Service.)

The average reformer having so little at stake himself, plunges about like a bull in a china shop, regardless of the results of his ardor.

An amusing incident is told of the Secretary of Commerce. The can manufacturers put up a howl that unless they could get tin-plate to make up, no canning of fruits and vegetables could be done, so without looking over the field it is said that an order was made that steel was to be diverted by the manufacturers from other projects and put at the disposal of the can manufacturers. It looked all right on the face of it, but when the manufacturers of harvesting machinery demanded steel which they contracted for, and found that there was not steel for aprons, it having been diverted to cans, a hurry-up call modifying the order was issued, so that our harvesting machines could be made in time for the growing crop.

This illustrates how many plans are ignorantly made robbing Peter to pay Paul. Every enthusiast who has a pet reform which is always hitting some other business instead of his own, never looks around to see what the effect will be before he plunges. The manufacturers of feed and the most successful feeders in the country have a right to demand that that delicate machine—the dairy cow—shall not be wrecked by hasty legislation.

Revolutionary reforms are seldom efficacious. Anything which disturbs the food equilibrium should be handled gradually. Experience has shown that the most efficient way to handle cereal products is to remove the human food first and feed the residue to stock. Any other system is sheer extravagance.

WRONG FEEDING METHODS.

(National Crop Improvement Service.)

There is an old story about a ship captain who had a medicine chest. A sailor was sick and he found that No. 47 in his book was the indicated remedy, but alas! the bottle of No. 47 was empty, so he took equal parts of No. 40, which was strychnine, and No. 7, which was carbolic acid, and added them together and made No. 47—and the sailor died.

The application of this old story is that many a feeder will think that if a little of cottonseed or oilseed meal is good, a whole lot will be better. And, like the man who put the green spectacles on the horse and fed him shavings—just after he got him trained the horse died.

It is human nature to experiment in feeds, and the poor cow has to suffer for an overdose or an underdose before the proper ration is established.

DIFFICULT TO MIX FEEDS

A More Scientific Result Can Be Produced By Machinery.

(National Crop Improvement Service.)

As no two lots run alike, it is very difficult to mix straight by-products of oats, barley, rye, corn, cottonseed, flaxseed, etc., by measure, because it is purely guessing. Only a few years ago intentional fraud or unintentional carelessness was the rule. Before the feed laws were passed, each manufacturer adulterated all the trade would stand.

Every car of feed sold to the consumer is not analyzed, and the farmer cannot become a feed expert because he has no laboratory. Not one car out of five hundred is officially inspected. In the old days country millers were throwing feeds together with no knowledge of feed and were ruining valuable cows and making the farmer poorer. In those days the feed tables were wrong, the feeds didn't fit the tables; the digestible analysis method was incorrect; feed standards for animals were not agreed upon nor complete; the animals didn't fit the standards; the buyer didn't know what was in the feeds he bought to mix; and there was an unavoidable variation in the concentration of the feed.

These conditions have been largely overcome through the joint action of the government and state experiment stations and the mixed feed manufacturers who have every facility for maintaining a uniform product. By using these scientifically prepared feeds, many a herd has doubled its yield and profits. There are some painters who can buy lead, oil and dryer and mix and match their own color uniformly but the best painters of today have learned that mill-made brands are much better than anything they can mix with a paddle. The same is true in fertilizers to a great extent. In mixed feeds there can be no economy in home mixing because the mixing factories, being near the large markets, can utilize by-products to the very best advantage. Home mixing cannot be accomplished at one-tenth of a cent per lb., besides the result is never twice alike and cannot be without the help of a laboratory.

There is no sense in hauling two loads of cheap feed when one load of high-grade feed will do the work and costs but three-fourths as much as the two loads.

For the first time in Omaha a unique religious movement, a week of missions for the deaf, was held at St. Mary Magdalene's church. The mission was for non-Catholic as well as Catholic deaf. The prayers, lectures and songs are given in the deaf and dumb language. Father Gehl of Wisconsin conducted the mission. Father Gehl is connected with the School for the Deaf at St. Francis, Wis., and acts as missionary in the middle west.

W. M. Hill of Hebron was elected president of the Nebraska Funeral Directors' association in session at Omaha. Other new officers were: Albert Hastings, first vice president, Arcadia; Frank Comte, second vice president, Springfield; Peter J. Mertens, secretary, Blue Hill; Henry Brown, treasurer, Lincoln. Walton G. Roberts and R. O. Castle of Lincoln were elected to the executive committee.

Rev. Father Gluba, pastor of the Polish Catholic church in South Omaha, belongs to the church militant. He has been preaching patriotic sermons ever since war was declared, and recently he preached one to the young men of his parish that produced real results. At the conclusion of the services Father Gluba carried a flag and eighty-six of the young men of this parish, all Poles by birth or parentage, marched to the recruiting office and enlisted.

Roy Markham, aged 27, a prominent North Bend young man, was drowned in Clear Lake, near North Bend, Markham, since the death of his parents, has conducted the Markham store. He went out with his camera and a dog for a cross-country hike. He stopped at the lake to take a bath. Cramps seized him. Men who found the faithful dog sitting beside his clothes searched the lake and found the body. Markham was treasurer of the North Bend high school alumni and was a leader in the younger social set.

Forty-eight farmers from Gage county and adjoining counties consigned nearly 12,000 pounds of wool to the care of County Agent R. Boyd Rist of the Gage county crop improvement association in Beatrice, to be sold at co-operative sale to the highest bidder. Buyers were in the city from Philadelphia, St. Joseph, Lincoln and Omaha. The sale is the result of an effort of the crop improvement association to create an interest in the sheep industry in Gage county. Consignments were made of from 100 to over 1,000 pounds.

The seventh annual convention of the State Luther league of Nebraska held its session at Emerson. Officers elected were: President, Walter Wolf, Grace church, Omaha; first vice president, Rev. Charles B. Lewis, Emerson; second vice president, O. Zeller, Hooper; recording secretary, Miss Thea Hansen, North Platte; statistical secretary, Bertha Wregman, Hastings; treasurer, Miss Edna Snell, Benson; chairman extension committee, Rev. C. F. Koch, Kountze Memorial church, Omaha; chairman executive committee, Rev. C. W. Nelson, Benson.

Sit Steady in The Boat

All things considered, the United States is unduly excited. Most of this excitement is along the Atlantic seaboard, but it permeates to a considerable extent thruout the central and western state. New York has been on the verge of nervous prostration for two years, and our senators and congressmen at Washington have been working amid an environment of nightmarish apprehension.

It is true that we are facing more than a nightmare. We may be up against it proper, especially if Russia lays down. But whether we are or not; whether Russia sticks or gets cold feet, we cannot help matters by getting excited and running around in circles.

Some of the remedies proposed for real and imaginary shortcomings would be funny if the situation were less grave and these very propositions, seriously made and powerfully backed as they are, make the situation worse.

The movement to recruit farm labor from the ranks of idlers around the pool halls and other branches of Sons of Rest is one of these. A small injection of this class of men into the farm labor supply might be profitably assim-lated, but to depend upon them to any great extent would be folly. Brains and experience must be mixed with brawn and energy to accomplish anything on a farm.

The proposal for the department of agriculture to take over the management of all the mills and food manufacturing plants in the country is another idea not evolved from clear thinking or sound reasoning. Neither the department of agriculture nor any other governmental department is capable of handling any of the principal branches of industry as well as the men who are now looking after those jobs.

Let the farmer do the farming and leave him all the skilled help possible; let the miller run the mills; the manufacturer, the factories, the packers, the packing plant, the newspaper men the newspapers, and the sailors the ships. This is no time to try experiments. If we must try to fit square pegs in round holes, let's wait until the war is over.

It may be necessary to restrict profits, but further interference with the established order of things just at this time is extremely liable to result disastrously.

Nebraska has set a worthy example in the matter of garden work, but we do not need all this material for immediate consumption. Now is the time to plan how we shall conserve this material which is going to be needed, and sorely needed, during the next year. The less attention you pay to conserving this surplus food the more keenly will some one else suffer because food which might have been sent to him will have to be shared with you. If this some one else was in your own neighborhood how eagerly would you cast about for a means to help him but how little does suffering at a distance affect us.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church (Rev. J. H. Fetterolf, Pastor.) Sunday school at 10 a. m. It was a pleasure to see so many of the Lutheran students at the college in attendance at the school last Sunday. There will be a class for students in the Sunday school, and a cordial invitation is given especially to Lutherans to attend.

Worship with sermon at 11 a. m. The subject of the message will be "At a Venture" based on I Kings 22:34. At 3 p. m. the sermon subject will be "Go up Higher." Everybody is invited to all our services.

Mrs. Anton Lerner will entertain the Ladies Aid next Thursday afternoon. At the last meeting of the society, the four circles conducting food sales presented their reports. The contest was quite evenly balanced but the circle of which Mrs. Heikes was leader won by a small margin. The receipts for the four groups were fifty dollars.

About forty children who had made enough points in the Sunday efficiency campaign to entitle them to attend a social, met at the church on Wednesday afternoon from five to seven. It had been planned to take a hike to the country and eat lunch in a grove, but the ground being too damp to admit of this, they spent a few pleasant hours in a social way in the lecture room of the church.

Games were played and lunch served. They departed delighted with the good time they had together and inquiring when the next campaign was to begin.

The Luther League meets at 7:15 Sunday evening. The program for the evening will be interesting and instructive. We should like to have all our young people to attend. It would not do any harm if the older ones would hear the discussion of the subject at this meeting.
