VERY NEAR CYCLONE VISITS WAYNE COUNTY

One of the worst winds in the history of this vicinity blew this way Friday night, accompanied by strong symptoms of a cyclone. One man who was out watching the sky for trouble says that it was to all appearance a sure enough twister, but that instead of being all coiled in one big cable, like the hundreds of strands of rope it was a cloud hung with an hundred little rope looking funnels sweeping down from it. The record it left makes this theory appear plausible. Tree tops were twisted out and tossed about on one side of a street many trees were broken—across the street not a tree lost a limb. In several places trees were taken out by the roots. In numerous instances patches of shingles were ripped from roofs as though taken off with a spade, except that no one had the shingle for kindling, in the immediate neighborhood at least. A few small buildings were blown down. Henry K. Meyer, southeast of Wayne tells us that two small buildings at his place were littered into pieces, and the boards scattered far and wide. On the farm of O. Hinnerichs, north of Wayne—the barn was moved several feet on the foundation. The college restaurant started north, and one end was pushed over six or seven feet. Windmills and orchards appeared to suffer the worst, and apple trees by the score were broken, and many a windmill tower was flat down Saturday morning.

In Wayne there appeared to be a dozen places where the mark was very distinct. A tree was uprooted at R. P. Williams' place, another near the college. Along Pearl street from 2nd to 5th many trees suffered. At 7th and Main the tops were taken from the maples about Mr. Fänske's home. In the east part of town were a number of marked spots. Frank Morgan says the treetops were piled twenty feet high about the house. A number of windows were broken at the high school building. Many people sought the cellar or a cave; others slept right on. There was but little lightning or thunder, and the rainfall but just laid the dust.

The damage in dollars was light. The city was perhaps at the most expense of any, in replacing light wires, but they had things practically in normal condition before night, by putting the entire available force at the job. Telephone wires went down in some cases, and many of the rural lines were out of commission for a day or two.

So far as we learn similar condition prevailed in all this corner of the state. At Sioux City the reports indicate about the same damage as here, and the wind gauge there showed a wind velocity of 90 miles.

THE COUNTY EXEMPTION BOARD.

Under the ruling made to provide local boards to pass on exemption claims when the draft shall be made next month, the county clerk, the sheriff and the county health physician are the ones to shoulder this responsibility. Chas. W. Reynolds, Geo. T. Porter, and C. T. Ingham in this county of Wayne. It is a responsible position, one that calls for a strict observance of the rules which they will have for their government. In the discharge of the duty they should be free from criticism, for theirs is the great responsibility and they should be left free to act according to their judgment.

FRANK O. SEVERANCE DEAD.

For the past twenty years Frank O. Severance has been going and coming on the railroad through Wayne as a conductor, died at his home at South Sioux City Monday. Sometime on a run between Sioux City and Norfolk; sometimes from Emerson to Bloomfield, he had many friends who will miss him. He was through here on his regular run Thursday, we are told. Pneumonia and quinsy were the troubles which so suddenly caused his death. He was 48 years of age, and leaves a wife and one daughter, Elizabeth. We have not learned of the funeral arrangements.

A MILLION DOLLAR RAIN.

That was what came to Wayne county Tuesday night when almost an inch fell in gentle showers. It was no gully-washer, but a nice ground soaker. Last night a quarter of an inch was added to that of the night before. Just in time for many a patch and field of early potatoes.

F. S. Berry left Wednesday evening for a trip of a week in Wyoming where business calls him. Cheyenne, Lander and other places are on the map of his journey.

A SUCCESSFUL CANNING SCHOOL.

The canning school or demonstration put on at the college last week by instructors from the University at Lincoln was a success, about 60 ladies from a dozen different places in this part of the state taking a part and receiving instruction in the cold-pack method of canning for garden products. The ladies did the work in the morning, and watched it demonstrated and listened to lectures in the afternoon, at the chapel.

Credit is due to Miss Finnigan of the department of domestic science at the normal, to Herman Siems of the garden school and to Misses Scofield, Wendt, Graham, Gardner, Schrad and Fish of the domestic science class, who assisted very materially in the work.

The new method of drying or evaporating fruit or vegetables was demonstrated, showing how much products may be cured in 24 hours by properly placing it on racks and using an electric fan. In the absence of a fan a windmill may be made and run with a gas engine or a motor and some do this on the farms, using the gasoline engine. A knowledge of these methods of canning and evaporating will aid in saving much that has been wasted in other years, and save many a dollar besides providing people with better food. There is no good reason why fifty percent of the canned goods consumed in a community like this should not be cared for in the community.

Among those taking part away from Wayne we can give the following, which may not be complete list:

Wisner, Mrs. Myrtle Butterfield, Mesdames E. E. Hyspe, B. Pierson, R. H. Mathewson, A. L. Nuernberger, J. Nygren, H. Wiggins, and Miss Clara Goldberg. Pender, Mrs. F. C. Worth. Crofton, Mesdames Hölle, Falco and Olsen. Wausa, Mesdames Ankony, Kreutz, Harrison, Misses Nelson and Johnson. Winslow, Mesdames Gaebler, McKinsey, Holton, Anderson, Jose Carter, Edith Carter, Clayton, Perrin and Chapin. Concord, Mesdames Nelson, Tuttle, Wallin, Isom and Miss Goldberg. Randolph, Miss Mattie James. Carroll, Mesdames Unger, Morris and McKinsey.

Wayne was represented by a dozen or more.

HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNI ORGANIZE.

Last Friday evening nearly 100 members of the different classes of the Wayne high school met at the call of the members of the class of '16, to renew acquaintance, enjoy an evening and plan a permanent organization.

The meeting was called to order and Miss Margaret Forbes named as the temporary chairman. Dr. F. E. Gamble presented resolutions and by-laws, and by their adoption a permanent organization was made. F. E. Gamble was elected president; Mrs. Rollie W. Ley, vice president; Helen McNeal, secretary and Anna Granquist, treasurer.

After the organization was completed light refreshments were served by the class of 1916, and a social hour spent about the banquet board, where representatives from all of the classes present responded to a toast. An automobile was taken to pieces, so to speak, and the different speakers representing the various parts managed to get the car together again, if we have the plan for the evening correctly outlined. It will be an organization in which much enjoyment may be had at the yearly gatherings.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lesman, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Kruger, Mrs. Wm. Meyer and Mrs. Wm. Brummond went to Fremont Sunday, going down Saturday to attend the annual picnic held at the Lutheran home for orphans near that city. This home is for any orphans in need of such a home as they can give. They have an annual picnic, and the people gather from far and near to aid the cause. Everything made from sales at the picnic and donations made are for the home. The treasury is fully $800 richer because of the picnic this year. It is a splendid work.

C. H. Bright has sold his residence to F. A. Gulliver, to give possession at the close of the summer school, when Mr. and Mrs. Bright plan to leave for the west. A deed has purchased the Moler property.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mines returned from their wedding trip, and are settling down to housekeeping.

WAYNE AWAKE TO SEE RED CROSS SITUATION

Last week all the nation was busy contributing toward a hundred million dollar contribution to the funds of the Red Cross, and it was done in fact the fund was far over-subscribed, and Nebraska did well her part, but for some reason Wayne was not in the running. We know not why, and it matters not, for Wayne still has time to get to the front and do her part.

A meeting was held last evening at the office of A. R. Davis, and a committee named to take charge of the work of soliciting funds. We do not know whether or not Wayne was asked to contribute any given sum or not, but if it were there is no reason why it may not be doubled or tripled if so inclined. In many places they asked each person to give the wage of one day. In many places individual subscriptions were measured in thousands, and the aggregate was many times the sum asked. At Tekamah $6,000 was asked, and they made it $39,000; and all over the state and nation the response has been like that only not so much so in many cases.

One little Iowa town of seven or eight thousand people went above the $100,000 mark. Below we give the finance and relief committees named last evening and you should give according to your ability when the committee comes to your door. Chairman, J. T. Bressler; vice chairman, W. H. Morris; members, James Ahern, E. S. Blair, Henry Ley, Wm. Beckenhauer, Wm. Cunningham, D. H. Cunningham, C. M. Craven, F. R. Dean, R. N. Donahue, F. E. Gamble, Forrest Hughes, C. H. Henney, John Harrington, Wm. Kennick.

Committee on Civilian Relief, Chairman, Mrs. George Porter; Miss Pearl Sewell, Mrs. Ray Reynolds, Mrs. George Buskirk, sr., Mrs. Wm. Beutow and Mrs. J. H. Miner were added to membership committee. Mrs. Jacobs, Secretary.

Chairman, J. T. Bressler; vice chairman, W. H. Morris; members, James Ahern, E. S. Blair, Henry Ley, Wm. Beckenhauer, Wm. Cunningham, D. H. Cunningham, C. M. Craven, F. R. Dean, R. N. Donahue, F. E. Gamble, Forrest Hughes, C. H. Henney, John Harrington, Wm. Kennick.

SHALL THE WOMEN VOTE?

The last legislature extended to the women of Nebraska certain voting privileges, and should have given them the full franchise; for if eligible in any particular they should be for all. Now comes a move to block the lay for the time by invoking the referendum which will tend to suspend the law until the people can pass upon the act. The following letter explains quite fully the views of the women and those who believe they should become equal as citizens with "us men":

Lincoln, Nebraska, June 15, 1917.

Dear Co-Worker:

An organization known as the "Anti-Suffrage Association" is circulating a petition to suspend the Woman's Suffrage law by invoking the referendum. The real organization back of this movement is our long-time enemy and is well known to everyone.

You have probably observed that few saloon sites have been given up but are held for soft drinks, pool halls, etc. There is a determined effort to keep the women out of the electorate until they have time to re-submit the prohibition question.

The petitions are being circulated by paid solicitors who will soon complete the work and file them at once. We must defeat this referendum move by making it impossible for them to secure the required five per cent of the legal voters in each county.

E. M. Barkley.

President State Suffrage Ass'n.

MISSIONS-FEST HELD SUNDAY

The annual Missions-fest of the German Lutheran church was held last Sunday. The pulpit was occupied in the morning by Rev. Goods of Glenville, Nebraska. In the afternoon by Nevs. Traubel of Emerson and Ahrens of Norfolk. The church was filled at both services and the congregation responded freely to the call, showing their interest in missionary work by contributing liberally to the offering. The ladies of the congregation served a dinner at noon and a lunch in the afternoon.

SOME STOCK SHIPMENTS

J. M. Roberts had two cars of well finished young cattle in the yards here Tuesday morning for shipment. They were not uniform in size, representing different ages, but a very slick appearing bunch. Ben Nissen and R. Ritze shipped a car each of hogs Monday night.

TO ENLARGE NORMAL GROUNDS

For some time past those who have her as far as Sioux City. looked into the future of the state school at this place have realized the necessity of having the grounds enlarged, and the matter was before the legislature last winter, and the question was left so that the action of the Board of Education might govern in the matter as they thought best. The following tells the story very concisely so far as it has become a matter of record:

At the recent meeting of the Board of Education of the Normal Schools, at Lincoln, it was definitely decided to acquire additional land adjoining the present Normal school grounds. The grounds will be extended one half block east, one full block to the south, and possibly a block to the west. Under the provisions of the statutes, if the Board and the owners cannot agree upon a consideration for the property involved the whole matter will be left to a committee of six disinterested non-residents appointed by the Governor. Those men investigate values and fix a price. The state then takes possession at once and the price fixed is final unless it is over-ruled in the courts. The Board expresses themselves as willing to consider a fair price on any of the property involved if the owner prefers before condemnation proceedings are entered into.

When this additional ground is obtained the plan will be to have it all graded and parked. It will be laid out proper drives and walks and ornamented with trees and shrubs. The city will be asked to abandon the streets. No improvement in connection with the Normal could be of greater benefit to Wayne than this extension of the grounds. It will afford a park which will be the pride of every citizen. It is earnestly hoped that the owners of the grounds will not make it necessary to acquire any of the property by condemnation proceedings. The Board are willing to give a fair price for all of this land but they are not willing to pay more than it is actually worth simply because the state is purchasing it.

BEN FLEMING INJURED

Early Monday morning as Ben Fleming, who lives in the west part of town and is hauling bridge material for the county, was driving from the yard he went under a swing rope which caught beneath the front end of the wagon bed, and as the mules kept going things began to come apart. This indeed the team to go faster, and in an effort to hold them the driver was pulled out of the wagon, and bumped his head on the running gears of the wagon so hard that he lost interest in things for a while. When he came to he had a couple of cuts on the head, two ribs broken, and gave evidence of having been at a rough house. He is up and about now, and thinks he will soon be on duty again.

FLOYD GLEASON INJURED

Floyd Gleason, a member of Co. E., Fourth regiment, died at St. Joseph's hospital at Sioux City Tuesday of injuries received while on duty. He came from Allen, and joined the regiment May 28th. He was on guard at the bridge, and was found with a fractured skull soon after a freight had passed the place where he was found, and the supposition is that he or his gun over his shoulder was struck by the passing train and he was knocked from the bridge. He was discovered soon after the train passed and taken to a hospital where he passed away. After a short funeral service at Sioux City, the body was taken to Allen for funeral and burial. Father and two sisters survive him.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

At the regular session of the city fathers Tuesday evening, and in addition to the regular routine business a resolution was passed calling a special election for Tuesday, July 31, to say whether or not the city shall issue bonds to the amount of $30,000 for improvements—a drainage system to tell it briefly. The election was called at the request of the freeholders of the city, who presented a petition with more than the required number of signers, asking the election. A notice of the election appears elsewhere.

A building in unsanitary condition was ordered torn down or removed from its site on lot 2, block 9, of the Crawford & Brown addition to the city of Wayne.

The reports of the library board and the librarian were read and approved, and the vacancy on the board was filled by the appointment of S. R. Theobald a member of the board. The following claims were examined and on motion of Gildersleeve seconded by Poulsen, were allowed and warrants drawn:

SCHOOL GARDEN CLUB

Garden student and group leaders are to have a meeting at the school building Saturday morning at 9:00 o'clock. Gardens are reported as doing nicely. It is suggested that the wind provided a fine lot of brush for tomato and climbing plants to hang to, and that not all of it be burned, but that the portion suitable be saved for such use.

With large purses, a good track and the entry of fast horses the management of the Stanton races are promising those who attend them July 4th and 5th the worth of their money. With the race program is mixed a celebration of the nation's birthday. Stanton is now a dry town, so no one need be afraid to go for fear of getting soaked—unless it rains. In fact, before that date it will be a long ways to a drinking place.

A Madison man is charged with stealing a hog, and has plead guilty. That used to be a penitentiary offense, and may be yet, but from the price of porkers we think it should put the man in the same class as the fellows who loot a bank, and make his sentence a very light and suspend it or pardon him very shortly—for hogs is hogs now. Later—an exchange tells that the accused man committed suicide.

Miss Bessie Lauman, who has been attending school came from Omaha Thursday evening to visit at the home of her sister, Mrs. Elmer Noakes and other relatives and friends for a month or so. She spent a month with her sister, Mrs. Sweet at Omaha since leaving Chicago.

We see by one our exchanges that one in their neighborhood had been kicked by a mule and had a limb broken. Yes, the writer was once a modest young man, and spoke of broken limb to an elderly lady who that plain United States language was best, and she corrected something like this: "Oh, you mean leg, don't you? limbs point up; legs stick down." Since then we have called a limb a limb and a leg a leg; an arm has most always been an arm.

Miss Marjorie Kohl started last Friday on a pleasure trip which is quite extensive, and will be one of real pleasure, no doubt. Accompanied by her mother she went to Aberdeen, South Dakota, where she was to meet one of her college classmates, Miss Hoge of Seattle, Washington, who was returning home from New York. Together they travel to Seattle, and from there they will go by boat to Alaska, as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Hoge, who owns and operates a line of boats between Seattle and points in Alaska.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Vanderbilt from Bloomfield were here last week, guests at the home of S. Taylor and wife for a day or two while on their way to visit at Verdige. He and Mr. Taylor were young together, and soldiered in the same company during the Civil war. Mr. Vanderbilt says that he is not planning to go this time unless they need him pretty badly. He that war 55 years ago was bad, and it was, but thinks it now comes fully up to Sherman's brief definition of it—in fact it is pretty hard to imagine any worse hell than the present war is reported to be.

Miss Eloise Miner went to Crab Orchard Saturday, where she was a guest of Miss Fay Redmond for a few days.

Master Martin Sorenson came from Chicago Saturday morning to spend the summer vacation on the C. J. Johnson farm. The lad is but about eight years of age, and this is his third trip to Wayne for the summer vacation. He wants to get away from the city for vacation in the country as soon as school closes, and Friday was the last day.

The czar of all Russia has sent many a poor fellow to exile and to death without more than a farce of a trial, and now there is talk in that country of giving him a trial before they hang him. It might look better that way. Besides, he is said to have put a nest egg for old age and emergencies in the Bank of England. Just a mere pittance of $35,000,000.

In discussing the question of "How to pay for the war," most of the fellows are trying to work out a scheme which will throw the burden of cost on the other fellow. Yet we are all patriots. In the days of the rebellion, Artimus Ward is credited with saying that he proposed to put the rebellion down, if he had to sacrifice all of his wife's relation. That would have settled the mother-in-law question for him.

The production of honey, and it is for that purpose that bees are kept, may be increased by providing ample storage room for the swarm to use, and provide it at the right time. Some seasons the bees gather and store nearly their entire output in a few weeks, and then they need to have ample storage room. When the honey flow is good, a competent authority says, a swarm will frequently fill the super of standard size, holding about 25 pounds, in three or four days. Then they need more storage room, or they cease to work.

NEW REFRIGERATOR COUNTER

As is frequently the case, a Wayne business man leads the procession for Nebraska in the introduction of some new good thing for the better service of the public in the conduct of his business. This time the distinction comes to Fred R. Dean, proprietor of the Central Meat Market at this place. He has just installed a new refrigerating counter, of the Hussman air circulating system, which is so constructed that the gasses are deposited in the ice bunkers and pass from them to the sewer, with which sanitary connection is made to carry away water from the melting ice and the fumes and gasses. This makes the section for the display of meat dry, free from odors, thus avoiding any decomposition. By regulating the amount of ice and salt in the ice bunkers, the temperature may be made as desired, tho a low temperature is not so essential in this class of refrigerating. As a test the first night a bucket of water was placed in the display box, and the next morning it was covered with a coating of ice which required considerable pressure to break.

The value of this system consists in its strictly sanitary preservation of cut meats and the fact that it enables the patrons to see the entire display of meats, fresh, cured, or cooked.

Cut meats kept in this class of refrigerator retain their natural juices free from poisonous gasses, and when cooking heat is applied the ligaments are broken down, permitting the meat juice to escape and inoculate the meat with sweet juices, so healthful and so pleasing to the taste.

This is the first counter of its kind to be installed in this state, and among the first put out since they were perfected, and it is well worth one's time to visit the Central Market and see this piece of furniture.

POULTRY AND EGGS

INSECT-POULTRY PESTS.

To Know Lice and Mite Groups Makes Easier Their Control.
[Prepared by United States department of agriculture.]

Forty-eight species of lice and mites make up the army of oppression in neglected henneries and poultry houses, which keeps down egg production and reduces the quality of flesh. Forty are lice, of which seven are common on chickens, and eight are mites, of which four are widely distributed.

Mites infest fowls by night and suck blood; lice are on the fowls continuously night and day and bite. Because they work at different times—night and day shifts, as it were, and have dissimilar habits—different methods of combating them must be used. In "Mites and Lice on Poultry," farmers' bulletin 801, the United States department of agriculture, by F. C. Bishepp and H. P. Wood, the insect parasites of poultry—chickens, turkeys, geese, ducks and pigeons—are further classified and remedial measures prescribed which are particularly applicable to the small flocks of the average farm.

The poultry house here illustrated is one that was rebuilt from a much inferior one after the owner had joined a poultry club.

Aside from the chicken tick and the stick tight flea, the most important external parasites of fowls are the common red mite, the scaly leg mite and various lice.

Poultry raisers are all familiar with the common red or gray mite which infests poultry houses. Its presence is indicated by the excrement of the mites on the roosts, which appears as black and white spots like specks of salt and pepper.

An examination will reveal masses of these mites in hiding, together with their eggs and the silvery skins cast off by the young. The effects of this pest are shown by decreased egg production and the poor condition of the flesh of fowls. If the infestation is heavy, chickens become droopy and weak, with pale comb and wattles. The sitting hens desert their nests or are found dead on the nest, being killed outright by this sucking parasite. In extreme cases a considerable percentage of the fowls succumb, even though not sitting, and are so weakened as to be very susceptible to various diseases. While this species sometimes becomes very numerous in chicken-houses in the northern part of the United States, the shorter breeding season there usually makes it of less importance than in the south, where breeding continues throughout the year with little or no interruption.

Two species of itch mite attack fowls. One of these is the cause of scaly-leg. While this mite commonly remains on the feet, burrowing through the scales and causing their enlargement, it also attacks the comb and the neck. When this infestation is left untreated the feet often become badly distorted, and in some cases the fowl can scarcely walk. Sometimes terminal joints of the toes are lost. As this mite is transferred from one bird to another, fowls with scaly leg should be treated promptly by applying crude petroleum to the legs with a brush or dipping the affected part of the legs into this oil.

The other itch mite, commonly called the depluming mite, is a very small creature, which burrows into the skin near the base of the feathers. The intense itching sometimes causes the fowls to pull their feathers until they are almost naked. Repeated applications of sulphur ointment should destroy this mite.

There are two other species—small, soft bodied mites. One of these bores into the skin; the other, which has been found in several places in this country, occurs in the air passages, lungs, liver and other internal organs of chickens and turkeys. Serious injury probably is not caused by these mites, except that when they are present in large numbers breathing may be hindered. Still another small species sometimes feeds on the feathers of fowls, but causes no other apparent injury. One species of mite recently has been found in great numbers along the grooves on the under side of the shaft of the wing feathers of turkeys in Texas and Louisiana. Associated with this, but apparently in very small numbers, was a sixth species of mite, but neither caused any apparent injury to the host. Other kinds are found occasionally on various birds as well as domestic fowls; but are of little or no importance as parasites.

Emperor and Czar.
The Czar Ferdinand of Bulgaria, notwithstanding his numerous visits to Vienna, never succeeded in making himself welcome to the Austrian aristocracy. For a long time the aged emperor refused to receive him. After much useless scheming to get the ear of Francis Joseph he was advised to obtain the aid of Mme. Schratz, who held at Schoenbrun an influential position.

Ferdinand sent to this favorite a jewel box with a note: "I desire to offer to you the earrings that my mother wore until her death. Deign to accept them and intercede in my favor with the emperor."

Mme. Schratz used her kindly offices, and Francis Joseph consented to receive the king of the Bulgars. Ferdinand had brought a napkin filled with papers that he wished to show to the emperor. After Ferdinand's departure the emperor, turning to his grand chamberlain, said: "It is curious that a king should be so lacking in manners. This fellow has spoken to me as though I were a mere notary!"

Welding Glass.

Welded glass suitable for certain optical instruments and other apparatus is a novel material that is stated to be of great practical value as well as much interest. As the welding process is described by Parker and Dalladay to the Faraday Society of London, the glass surfaces to be joined are placed in good optical contact under pressure and are heated to a carefully predetermined temperature, which, to avoid distortion of optically worked surfaces, must not approach too near what is defined as the "annealing point." This point of appreciable softening is determined for any kind of glass by noting the temperature at which the internal heat stresses seen in the glass with polarized light quite suddenly disappear. Similar glasses unite perfectly well below this point, but with very unlike kinds the softer becomes distorted before the harder is hot enough to make a good weld.

Stewed Apples.

To stew apples so each quarter is unbroken and so clear one can almost see through it is an art, and yet it is a simple thing to do if one only knows how. Peel tart apples very thin, cut them in quarters and remove the cores and seeds. As fast as you can peel and quarter them drop the apples in a saucepan in which you have already placed cold water to the depth of two inches. When the apples are all in put the saucepan over a slow fire, cover it till the water reaches the boiling point, then remove the cover and let the apples simmer almost imperceptibly till you can pierce them easily with a toothpick; then sprinkle the sugar over them and let them just simmer until it is all melted. Remove the saucepan from the fire and let it stand where the apples will get cold before turning them into a dish for the table.

Bumps on the Head.

The lump raised by a blow on the head is due to the resistance offered by the hard skull and its close connection with the movable elastic scalp by many circumscribed bands of connective tissue. The result of a blow when the scalp is not cut is the bruising and laceration of many of the small-blood vessels or capillaries. Blood or its fluid constituent, serum, is poured into the meshes of the surrounding connective tissue, which is delicate, spongy, distensible and cellular, and the well known bump or lump is quickly formed. This cannot push inward at all and naturally takes the line of least resistance. Similar bumps may be formed on the shin in exactly the same way, for the shin bone also is covered only by skin and subcutaneous connective tissue.

Purity is for man, next to life, the greatest good. That purity is procured by the law of Mazda to him who cleanses his own self with good thoughts, words and deeds.

Thou shouldst not become presumptuous through any happiness of the world, for the happiness of the world is such like as a cloud that comes on a rainy day, which one does not ward off by any hill.—From the Zend-Avesta, Ancient Persian Scriptures.

Continental Congress.

The first session of the continental congress was held in Carpenter's hall, Philadelphia, Sept. 5, 1774, with forty-four members present. All the colonies were represented except Georgia and North Carolina. Peyton Randolph of Virginia was president and Charles Thomson was secretary.

But her disease proved to be one which the climate could not help, and the body was brought to the old home for burial.

F. E. McDonald and wife of Omaha have been visiting at their farm northwest of Wayne, with Herbert Lessman and wife, who are living on the place. He is still on the road and has a run between Omaha and Sioux City. I am prepared to give your orders for ice cream for the 4th proper care and ask your order. Wayne Bakery.—adv.

Dr. T. B. Heckert returned home the last of last week. He visited his brother at Lexington after leaving Hastings, but decided not to make the trip to Iowa. At Lexington his brother is mayor of the place, and he was rather enjoying life, raiding the joints that were trying to evade the dry law. In some cases he lead the raids, and when a verdict of "guilty" was given it was about $100 and the trimmings for the first offense. He is also holding stop watches on some of the automobile speeders, and one of these days a lot of fellows are very apt to be asked to come in and settle. Seems as tho that would be a splendid pastime here at Wayne. We believe that from ten to twenty-five might be caught most any busy day here. It might be better and cheaper to call a halt before someone has a damage suit on hand. A $50 fine might be a cheap way out.

To properly enjoy your 4th of July picnic, order your cakes, pies, and ice cream early from the Wayne Bakery, says W. L. Fisher, who guarantees to provide you with something good for the occasion.—adv.

More Honors for Joe O'Gara
In the list of names of the 11 persons honored with degrees by the state university last week we find that P. F. O'Gara, along with that of Col. Roosevelt, General Pershing, John G. Neihardt, and other distinguished company. Alluding to Mr. O'Gara in his address, Cancellor Avery said: "Patrick J. O'Gara, a university graduate, is the highest paid botanist in the world today."

Now, if that isn't "going some" for a Laurel boy, we'd like to have somebody rise up and tell us what is!

With P. J. O'Gara's father, a pioneer superintendent of schools of Cedar county, learning counted for much. His boys did not idle away their evenings. In the home they had a reading circle of which the father was head; and it didn't meet once in a week or two—bless you, no! It met every night, and those boys and girls, gathered about the kerosene lamp in a Cedar county farm house, were learning things worth while every evening of their lives. One of them used to entertain himself while ploughing corn by repeating McCauley's lays, which he knew by heart. Perhaps the same one—perhaps another—we don't remember now, could repeat Scott's "Lady of the Lake" from beginning to end. Do you suppose they would have gotten those things by spending their evenings away from home at some questionable amusement, as so many of our present-day young people are inclined to do? Whenever we see in print that some new honor has come to one of the several sons of the late Roger T. O'Gara, we are reminded of those evenings he spent with them and his ideas regarding the disposition boys and girls should make of their leisure. The following which we clipped the other day from an exchange applies here:

"It is when the sun goes down that the home influence becomes actual and potent. In opening the tender buds of young characters, the light from the hearthstone is far more efficient than the sunlight. The distinctive characteristics of the home life are manifested most strongly when the labors of the day are ended and the family gather round the fireside for the evening. One hour of evening homelife is worth a month of the ordinary daily experience."

The degree conferred upon Mr. O'Gara, "Scientist, Investigator, Author and Industrial Advisor," was Doctor of Science, which is the high honorary degree that may be conferred by a university.

Dr. O'Gara was graduated from the University of Nebraska 15 years ago. He was present last week to receive his degree, and his brother Frank of Hartington went down to see him. He had not time on this trip to come here but his wife is visiting her parents at Vermillion. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. O'Gara expected to visit here Sunday, while at Volin, but car trouble prevented. However, they hope to make another attempt. —Laurel Advocate.

While attending the carnival at Plattsmouth Frank O'Brien and Nic Mercure, both of Omaha, stole an automobile belonging to John Richard and left for Omaha. It was discovered at the home of a friend where they had left it, and the men were captured and returned to Plattsmouth. Frank O'Brien, the leader, received a sentence of from one to seven years in the penitentiary, his companion $2 and costs.

Soldiers at Fort Crook and Omaha can now play quills, tennis, baseball and volley ball or listen to Victrola and piano music in their spare time. This has been made possible by the Omaha Young Men's Christian association and the social and welfare division of the National League for Woman's Service. The former has erected two army tents, one at each fort, and the latter is supplying the necessary paraphernalia to equip the tents.

For the purpose of settling the Omaha strike and lockout Attorney General Reed has resorted to the old remedy, "government by injunction." He has filed an application in the district court of Omaha to enjoin both the members of the Business Men's association and the members of fourteen labor organizations, and asking that the closed shop question be held in abeyance until the close of the war. The temporary order was granted by Judge Leslie at Omaha.

Steps were taken by Adjutant General Hall to complete the organization of the new Sixth regiment in order that all three Nebraska regiments will leave for the southern training camp at the same time. General Hall has received word from Marshal Crowder that the new Nebraska regiment will be recognized if the necessary number of men are secured within the next few days. The order to complete the organizations in the Sixth was issued by Governor Neville, through the adjutant general.

The reported burning to death of Miss Teresita McCrossin, a Nebraska girl, 18 years of age, once a member of the state home for dependent children, and the finding of her body with limbs and head severed, is being investigated by the Nebraska state board of control. She was the legally adopted daughter of Mr. Mary Harlan and he died June 10, near Keeline, Wyo., where she was living with her adopted mother and the latter's brother, Mr. Donahugh, aged 67. The little two-story farm house was destroyed by fire. The girl is said to have been alive on the upper floor when the fire started, but after the fire her body was found in the cellar or basement.

The big boy problem is the big problem of the Sunday school today," he said.

The cement plant which has operated at Superior for some years has been sold to an eastern cement concern. Some time ago holders of the bonds of the Superior firm bought the plant at a receiver's sale. The plant is in Nebraska, but the quarries are largely in Kansas. Dean H. H. Hahn, adviser Class of 1914.

Class of '12

Two members of the Class of 1912 were present at the home-coming exercises, Miss Edith E. Beechel and James Britton, Jr. Altho this was a very small percentage of the entire class, it was a representation with a good deal of power and ability.

Class of '13

The class of 1913 was represented by two of its members on home-coming day, Irma James and Fannie Britell. Irma James is spending her summer vacation with her parents in Wayne. She has just concluded her second year of teaching at Ashland, Oregon, and plans to return to the west next year. Fannie Britell has returned to Wayne after a year spent at the Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois.

Of the other members of the class we have been able to locate the following:

Ernest Samuelson has been teaching manual training very successfully at Lynd, Minnesota. Clifford Ireland is superintendent of the schools at Yutan, Nebraska. Paul Young taught the past year at Concord but is a member of the military band at Ft. Logan, Colorado. Glen Hickman will return for another year at Tekamah. A. T. Cavanaugh is teaching commercial work in the Lincoln schools. James McEachen is farming on his farm near Wayne. Anna Peterson is a farmer's wife and is living near Wayne. Ruth Fortner married Mr. Moseley and now lives at Belden, Nebraska. Hazel Rand taught a successful year at Osmond this past year. Eugenia Palmer had to give up her teaching because of ill health and is now with her parents at Hubbard. Cleone Teter has been teaching in South Sioux City and expects to remain there next year.

Class of '15

The class of 1915 had their annual dinner at the home of their president, Ray Hickman, Friday noon. Seventeen of the class responded to the home-coming call. A good time was enjoyed by all and the roll call of the class gave some interesting facts. Practically all of the class were heard from. Those present were: R. B. Berrie, Eulalie Carroll, Leta Fisher, Ethel Garwood, Cynthia Gilbert, Cella Gildersleeve, Grace Hedglin, Ray Hickman, Marjorie Kohl, John Lower, Eugenia Madsen, Mary C. Monahan, Ralph Moore, Lotos Relyea, Alice Sabin, Athol Stevenson, Ruth Sherbahn.

Two of our girls, Mrs. Paul R. Mines (Marguerite Heckert) and Mrs. Wm. Jenkins (Louise McGraw) were on their honeymoon. Mrs. Peck (Luella Bush) left us during the year. We infer from the number of diamonds worn that others will have changed their names before another reunion. The following have graduated from higher institutions: Martha Winter, Helene Schemel and Arthur Hughes from our State University, Marjorie Kohl from the Leland Powers School of Expression, Boston, Paul Becker from Stout Institute, Menomonie, Wisconsin, while Clarence Linton is spending his second summer at Chicago University. He will finish at Morningside this year and at Chicago next year. Two of the boys, R. B. Berrie and Ray Ash, have responded to the call. R. B. Berrie is now senior corporal and will next be appointed Sargeant. H. J. Plymester has left the school work and is now the efficient treasurer of Pierce county. Elmer Rogers is chautauqua platform manager for the summer. Eugenia Madsen goes to University of Chicago next year. Ray Hickman is superintendent at Rye Gate, Montana, for next year. Ethel Garwood is to be in Carroll High, Grace Hedglin teaches English in Hartington High, Martha Winter has German in York High, Eva Graves has music and art in Lincoln schools, while most of the other members have made good and are generally retained at a great increase of salary.

Class of '16

The following members of the class of 1916 attended the exercises on home-coming day: (their present teaching position is indicated)

Shall the Farmer Have a Price Guarantee?

While there is much talk and much published in regard to price regulation, the farmer anxiously awaits announcement of a price guarantee. The city man may be concerned regarding the high cost of living, but the farmer is just as deeply concerned as to how little he will be paid for his products. If he is to sow double his customary acreage of wheat, using $3 seed, he wants to be assured that he will at least have an opportunity to make a legitimate profit. A guarantee of, say, $1.50 per bushel for wheat harvested in 1918 will do more toward increasing the acreage of wheat to be sown next fall than all the literature a rural mail carrier is capable of transporting.

While the farmers' credit is limited, there are many who could, by mortgaging their farms, have ample capital for vastly increased operations; granting that the price guarantee has been given, and that the capital is available with his farm for security. What if unfavorable weather, chinch bugs, Hessian fly, or any of the hundreds of limiting factors in wheat production destroy his crop? He will find himself without the anticipated profit, and, if he has mortgaged to the limit, without a home or place of business.

Thoughtful farmers are considering all sides of the question. They are patriotic, possibly more so than the average city dweller, and while they see a chance for great profit, yet they see many chances for as great and far more vital losses. The federal government, through the various State agricultural extension departments partially supported by funds available thru the Smith-Lever bill, is seeking to organize the farmers of the country.

The organization is accepted by a portion of the farmers as an opportunity to do their bit, and as creating a mouthpiece thru which they can be represented in the affairs of the nation. But a majority of the farmers look on the project with suspicion, and are reluctant to join.

The cost of implements, the scarcity of help and its increased cost, both in wages and board, discourages increased operations. If regulation applies to farm products, why cannot it apply to farm implements? If the Government can buy our wheat this year, why can't it do so every year? If the city man loans me money and my crop fails, he has my farm and his interest and I have nothing. If seed wheat is worth $3 a bushel, why should I sow a great acreage of it, when that represents more than the average profit I make from an acre of wheat? All these questions seem unreasonable to a student of conditions, but the majority of farmers are not students of conditions, and those who seek to incite him to increased production will find their pathway easier if they will at least have replies to some of the questions which the taciturn farmer is asking himself, whether he propounds them to any visitors or not.—From "The Farmers' Viewpoint," in the American Review of Reviews for June, 1917.

Soap an Antiseptic.

Some medical authorities, explaining the abatement of epidemic diseases in modern years, are sufficiently free from professional ties to attribute this betterment of conditions not to medical science, but to the increased use of soap and water. The Homeopathic Envoy is of the opinion that with a clean house and a clean person no one need have much fear of infection. A writer in the New York Medical Record says: "Soap is now recognized to be antiseptic and to be efficacious must produce a lather. Bacteria rubbed into soap or dropped on its surface are incapable of multiplication. The typhoid bacillus is very sensitive to soap, being killed by a 5 per cent solution in a short time. More than half the total number will die in one minute. The thorough use of a pure potash soap is not only a mechanical method of cleansing, but is an active factor in cutting down germ life."

A measure to put the ban on dogs running at large in Fremont from March to October every year was introduced by the ordinance committee at the council meeting. It will precipitate a big fight, but it is said the council intends to put the bill through. Fremont is headquarters for several important breeding kennels. Dogs running at large have done much damage to gardens and lawns.
Fremont has finally settled upon a plan for maintaining its volunteer fire department. Instead of paying several firemen, the city will maintain four paid drivers for the fire apparatus and firemen's headquarters will be established at the city hall. The volunteer system will be continued. After studying several departments, it was decided that the part paid fire department plan would be a failure.
W. H. Sheldon came to Kearney with a load of corn which brought $118.55. This holds the Kearney record and the man who sold it can well recall the day when corn was raised there to be used only as fuel, there being no market for it in the city at 5 cents a bushel. Last week a load of wheat brought in by a Center township farmer drew the record price bringing $230.50.

A discovery of early Indian remains was made recently on the Dismal river, about fifteen miles above the junction of the Dismal and the Loup rivers, near Dunning, Blaine county. In all, six skeletons have been found several finely made agate arrow heads, remains of ancient fireplaces, buffalo and elk bones and other aboriginal fragments. The discovery was made by Miss Frances Gago, daughter of J. D. Gage, a well known Grand Army of the Republic leader in Nebraska. O. L. Gage of Dunning is the man who brought this discovery to light.

Champion Corn Club Boy of Kansas Tells Story of His Success.
By ALBERT ROBINSON, Lowmont, Kan.

One day last winter I was in an agriculture class. The principal, Mr. Royce, said the topic on corn would be the next assignment. After I returned to the assembly room I began to think of the trips that were won by corn boys last year. The term was about half over, and I was going to graduate from the high school in the spring and did not know whether to join the club at Easton or not because it would be too far to attend all the meetings.

"So I went home and talked organizing a club among the boys and girls of my home school. We organized and got along very well.

"I was elected president of the new organization and called fourteen meetings during the summer.

"At one of our meetings we discussed the selection of seed corn. I had selected my seed last fall and knew just what kind of an ear I had. We tested our corn in a tester, the corn making an average of 90 per cent.

"When it was nearly corn planting time I selected my acre of ground along the creek bank. The creek overflows this part of the field about twice a year, but I was going to take the chance of it not getting so high.

"On April 25 I listed the acre about four inches in depth. It took me one hour, valuing my labor at 30 cents an hour.

"After leaving the ground in this condition for about ten days I decided to plant my corn. My father helped me because I had to help him. It took us one hour, and we valued our labor at 60 cents.

"I went back to my acre in about a week and found that the corn had sprouted, but it was not through the ground. I passed the corn three days later and found the corn was up. It was not very long in getting large enough to harrow because it was planted in a sandy soil.

"After waiting about ten days I went down to my acre with a harrow and harrowed the ridges nearly flat. It took me thirty minutes. I found a good stand, and went home very well pleased. In two weeks I went back with my cultivator and plowed my corn about four inches deep. The corn had grown about six inches in the two weeks. It took me one hour and thirty minutes.

"In about a week my father told me to give my corn another plowing because he did not want the weeds to get a start if the creek did not flood the corn and lose all my work. I did as he told me. It took one hour. The corn had received several rains in this period of time, which made the corn grow about twelve inches taller.

"I did not get back to my corn for about ten days on account of rainy weather. When I did get back I found that the corn had a dark green color and was about two feet tall. The last plowing took me an hour. I was unable to plow there any more until after wheat cutting. The corn was clear, and I did not think it needed any more cultivating, so it did not get any more.

"I left the corn alone until October and began husking.

"When I got through husking my crop I was anxious to see how much money I had made during the summer.

"I found under the expense column 30 cents for listing the first time, 60 cents the second time with planting, 15 cents for harrowing after planting, $1.15 for cultivating three times, 50 cents for seed, rent $5, and $2 for husking. The expense amounted to $9.70. I gathered five bushels of seed and seventy-eight bushels of common corn. The value of seed, $1.50 per bushel, making the seed worth $7.50. Common corn being worth 80 cents per bushel, valuing the common corn at $62.40. The value of both common and seed being $70. Having $9.70 expense, making a profit of $60.30 from my acre of corn.

GRAND OPERA SINGERS IN "BOHEMIAN GIRL"

Hugh Anderson, Noted Basso, Returns to Chautauqua Circuit.

Anderson and Mathieson Returning to Chautauqua.

It will be a welcome announcement to those who heard the Hugh Anderson Company when they were on the Circuit before, that they are coming back this season and will give extracts from the ever popular "Bohemian Girl." For those who have never heard this excellent company there is something fine in store. The picture of Mr. Anderson and Mr. Mathieson was taken at Kearney, Neb., when the company was on the circuit several years ago. Mr. Anderson has a repertoire of twenty-two grand operas, eleven light operas, and eighteen oratorios and cantatas, while Mr. Mathieson, lyric tenor, was formerly with the National Norway Opera Company. Below is a snap shot of the company taken two years ago just after the program when the company gave "Martha."

"They certainly look like the very approachable folks they are, and my, how they can sing! Mr. Anderson is almost a crank about clear enunciation, so we are looking forward to his interpretation of the familiar airs of the opera with great anticipation, for we feel sure it will be especially enjoyable.

Outline of the Opera.
Written in 1845 by the English composer, Balfe; scenes laid in Hungary. The exile, Thaddius, a Polish nobleman, encounters Devilshoof's band of gypsies and joins them, thus meeting Arline, a nobleman's daughter, kidnapped and reared by the gypsies, and falls in love with her. The Queen falls in love with Thaddius. Arline declares her love for Thaddius in the well known "I Dreamt I Dwelt in Marble Halls," after which the Queen realizes that he is lost to her forever and sings "O, Would That I Had Died 'Ere Now," and the others join in the beautiful quartet, "From the Valley and the Hills." Devilshoof, deserted by the Queen, sings "The Heart Bowed Down" and Thaddius, fearing Arline, who has been found by her parents and is about to return with them, may forget him, sings "Then You'll Remember Me." This is followed by "Through the World Will Thou Fly, Love," in which Devilshoof tries to persuade Arline to remain with the tribe. In the final number

Arline and Thaddius are happy in their love and the Queen and Devilshoof, having been reconciled, join them in the closing chorus, "Oh What Full Delight!"

Modern Machinery.

Not to see poetry in the machinery of this present age is not to see poetry in the life of the age. It is not to believe in the age.—Gerald Stanley Lee.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Hardening of the Arteries.
Hardening of the arteries cannot be cured. The vessels have been overstretched day by day and white, inelastic fibers have taken the place of the elastic fibers that have been lost. The elastic fibers can never be restored. But one can regulate himself so that his life may yet be long and comfortable. Temperance in eating, drinking and working must be the unalterable rule of conduct.
The man with arteriosclerosis should have his blood pressure taken periodically. In case of dizziness and a considerable rise in pressure he should guard against apoplexy by starting and purging. When the pressure rises suddenly and sharply he should have his urine examined for albumen, as Bright's disease is even more of a menace than apoplexy.

If They Could Keep It Up.

There have been big men in Wall street who did all the work themselves, who attended to every minute item, who were from Missouri in regard to each point in any proposition put up to them. One of these marvels was among the very greatest financiers the country ever had. But he didn't last long, and there have been few others like him. If a man with the first order of brains and ability could only keep it up there is nothing to prevent his owning the United States. If E. H. Harriman could have kept on fifteen or twenty years longer at the pace he was going he would have gobbed up all that was worth taking. He had about all the railroads in sight, and he was just getting a strangle hold on the big banks. He conquered every square foot of territory as he went along. There was no force on earth to stop him except premature death, and now he is almost forgotten.—A. W. Atwood in Saturday Evening Post.

Most Buoyant Wood.

The lightest wood known, so far as any evidence attainable is concerned, is balsa wood, which grows extensively in the Central American and northern South American states. It is composed of very thin walled cells, which are barrel shaped, interlace with each other and are almost devoid of woody fiber. These cells are filled with air, making a natural structure well adapted to prevent the transmission of heat because of the particles of air imprisoned in the material without interconnecting fibers. Various tests of the insulating properties for resisting the flow of heat have been made. Balsa wood has been used quite extensively in the past as a buoyancy product for life preservers and in connection with the fenders of lifeboats and rafts. Its life is short, under ordinary conditions, unless treated with antiseptic of preservative material.

Moderate Receipts of Sheep and Lambs and a Steady to Unevenly Lower Market.—Demand from Packers Fairly Good but Tone to Trade Rather Bearish.

Union Stock Yards, South Omaha, Nebr., June 27, 1917.—Cattle receipts were not heavy for a Tuesday, about 4,800 head, and the quality of the offerings was very fair. All classes of buyers were decidedly bearish in their views and prices ranged from weak to fully 10@15c lower than Monday. No choice heavy cattle were offered but prime yearlings registered a new top of $13.40. Cows and heifers were very slow. 50c@$1.00 lower than last week. Stockers and feeders were dull and unchanged.

Quotations on Cattle: Good to choice heaves, $13.00@13.75; fair to good heaves, $12.00@12.75; common to fair heaves, $10.50@11.75; good to choice yearlings, $12.50@13.35; fair to good yearlings, $11.75@12.25; common to fair yearlings, $9.75@11.50; good to choice heifers, $10.25@11.50; good to choice cows, $9.75@10.75; fair to good cows, $8.50@9.50; canners and cutters, $6.00@8.00; veal calves, $10.00@14.50; beef bulls, $9.00@10.50; bologna bulls, $7.00@8.50; prime feeding steers, $10.00@11.00; good to choice feeders, $8.00@9.00; good to choice stockers, $9.50@10.50; fair to good stockers, $8.00@9.00; common to fair grades, $7.00@8.00; stock heifers, $8.25@10.50; stock cows, $7.00@10.00; stock calves, $9.50@11.00.

A 10c Decline in Hogs.
There was another rather liberal run of hogs, 13,200 head, and another decline of about 10c in prices, a 15@25c decline for the two days. Packers still favor the heavy and butcher hogs, and tops of this kind brought $15.45, the bulk of the trading being around $14.00@15.25. The general tone to the market was very weak at the finish.

Sheep Steady to Lower.
A run of about 4,300 sheep and lambs showed up today, but the small supply apparently had no stimulating influence on the trade. Packers had fair orders to fill, but their bids were lower and the trade very slow. Best spring lambs brought $13.55 and best shorn yearlings $15.75.

Quotations on sheep and lambs: Lambs, shorn, handy, $15.25@16.00; lambs, shorn, heavy, $15.00@15.85; spring lambs, $16.50@18.55; spring lambs, culls, $13.00@15.50; lambs, feeders, $14.00@15.25; yearlings, shorn, $12.00@13.00; wethers, shorn, $10.00@11.50; ewes, shorn, $9.00@10.25; ewes, culls, shorn, $6.00@8.50.
