THIRD CONTINGENT LEAVE WEDNESDAY Thirty-two More of the Cream of Wayne County Answer the Call to Arms

A reception was given at the court house Tuesday evening in honor of the third contingent of drafted men to leave for Camp Funston, Kansas. A large crowd was out to bid the boys Godspeed, and the tears of the mothers, sisters and sweethearts made the occasion sad indeed. It is hard to say good-bye and it seems that the past few months have been full of the agony of parting with the young men who go into an unknown future, a future that we dare not look into except with the thought that God is with us in this great war, that in the end the dove of peace will come again. "God moves in mysterious ways His wonders to perform" and if it takes great sacrifice on our part we can but bow to His wisdom. Out of it all will come the perfection of His plan for better, truer manhood and womanhood.

The Carroll band gave a concert on the streets before the reception and played at the court house at the program. J. J. Ahern gave an interesting talk on camp life as his brother John sees it. Mr. Ahern has a happy way of speaking and left cheer with his hearers. The Normal quartet sang a pleasing selection after which Mr. Ahern introduced Harry Simon of Winside who gave one of the finest speeches we have had the pleasure of listening to. Plenty of fire and it stirred the sluggish blood and made the heart beat faster with the love that was only lying dormant. We had grown so used to peace we had become almost willing to take the Kaiser's insults in preference to war. But we are in the fight now and in to win and as the man from Winside said, "Our Stars and Stripes have never been defiled and please God they never will." Americans are not hysterical, they have considered calmly and judiciously this great problem, they have awakened to the call for defense of everything they hold dear as one dear old lady said, "I am trying to be brave, I really want John to go, I wouldn't have him stay when he's needed, but oh, he's the only boy I have." We have come to the place in the game where we WANT to fight and no sacrifice is going to be too great. It is a determination that has backing enough to move Kaiser Bill off the throne and we invite our pro-German friends to watch this interesting little game because the cards are stacked.

We would like to give that speech of Mr. Simon's in full as it was full of hope and cheer and sent our boys out with the right spirit. Rev. S. X. Cross gave a short talk after which the courthouse flag was lowered to the strains of "The Star Spangled Banner." A. R. Davis spoke a few words to the boys and the crowd dispersed.

At the train Wednesday morning it seemed that the whole city was represented as the depot platform was crowded with relatives and friends of the soldier laddies. A special train carried them away amid the cheers of the throng.

The ladies of Wayne presented each boy with a packet of luncheon and we can surmise those packets contained happy surprises as only the mothers of boys know how to prepare. The boys in the last contingent wrote that they had no lunch and it was their suggestion the ladies took up. Homer Wheaton gave each boy tobacco and matches with which to while away the hours.

Following are the names of the boys who left Wednesday:
Fred Herman Green, Lloyd Ber Fitch, Ben Andres Torgersen, John Ed Lettman, Walter Dreager, Jens Christensen, Oscar Fred Vogt, Levi Roberts, Allen Henderson, Sam Nicks, Martin Wm. Geo. Doering, Vincent Clinton Hayorka, George Waterman Foster, Oscar Frederick Meierhenry, John Fred Wittler, Emil August Kai, Edward Frederick Moeller, William Henry Skiff, Geo. H. Otte, Fred Wm. Franzen, Jesse Jones, Frank Otto Krause, James Andrew Parker, J. Fred Olson, Thomas Swanson, Frank Henry Thielmann, Carl Wm. Sund jr., Harris S. Sorenson, Lester Geo. Fogle, Bernhard Theodore Mattson, Jens Christen Jensen, Irvan Benjamin Lyons.

Jensen and Lyons were not compelled to go with this call as their reported acceptance was by telephone but papers have since come. They volunteered to go at this time.

RECEPTION FOR THE NEW METHODIST PASTOR

A reception was given at the Methodist church Tuesday evening in honor of the Rev. and Mrs. W. D. MacGregor. A large attendance was present and the evening was one of great enjoyment. Mrs. L. C. Gilder-sleeve introduced the Rev. MacGregor and his wife to the members of his flock who will help to make his stay at Wayne pleasant. A very excellent program was rendered. Miss Helen Main played an instrumental solo, Mrs. E. S. Blair, R. W. Heit, Mrs. Oman and Professor Lackey each sang, and Mrs. V. A. Senter gave a reading. Mrs. M. A. Phillips gave the address of welcome and the Rev. MacGregor responded. He said that he was well pleased with Wayne so far and that he expected his stay here to be very pleasant, and with the co-operation of the people of the church hoped to make this church the best in the district. He thanked them for the welcome extended to himself and family and assured the kind people present that he would do all in his power to come up to their expectations. The entire program was greatly appreciated. Light refreshments of coffee and cake were served.

Rev. MacGregor preached two very interesting sermons last Sunday and will no doubt hold the interest of his people and all who hear him as he has a pleasing personality and a convincing manner and we predict that he will be the means of accomplishing a great good in our little city.

MOVING TIME NOW

The past week has been a busy one for some people, for moving means work. J. H. Boyce sold his place at the corner of Main and 7th streets to Claud Ferrell, and has moved to his house south of 1st street on Pearl, and Mr. Ferrell has moved to his new home.

Perry Theobald, who sold his home to Mrs. Ziegler, has moved to the Olmstead house and Mrs. Ziegler has taken possession of her new home. Frank O. Martin is to move to the Ziegler place just at the west edge of town, which he is farming.

F. H. Jones, who sold his residence to J. M. Barrett has moved to the Pingry house on Pearl and 3d streets which he purchased and Mr. and Mrs. Barrett are moving to the Jones house.

R. M. Meyer has moved into one of the Scace houses.

Grant Shaomin has moved into the Horace Theobald house, vacated by C. L. Puffett who went to New York.

Mrs. Gulliver and daughter have moved into the Milligan house.

Mr. Graham and family who are just moving here are taking possession of the L. M. Owen house in the northwest part of town.

F. L. Richards has moved into Mrs. Durrin's house on east 6th street.

Paul Mildner has moved from Emerson into the Mrs. Wells house on Douglas street between 1st and 2nd.

W. S. Brown, who sold his farm to Edward Perry a few weeks ago, is almost moved into his residence on Main street—that is they have their goods there, and are simply waiting for their successors to come to the farm, that they may not leave the place deserted.

THE TABLES TURNED

Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Sprague returned from their wedding trip Saturday evening and dodging the reporters at the depot they made a bee line for a livery and went to Mr. Sprague's country home. They were so afraid their friends would get wise to the fact that they were home they didn't even light the lamp but searched in the dark for something to eat and went to bed elated with the success they had had of eluding the wily charivari bunch. "The well laid plans of mice and men—" sometimes fail, as we all know, and at the unearthly hour of 1:30 a. m. the uninvited guests arrived and proceeded to make merry. Mr. and Mrs. Sprague treated their visitors with an invitation to come in and a jolly good time is reported.

NEBRASKA TROOPS TO BE DIVIDED.

Deming, New Mexico, October 1.—The "Dandy Sixth" Nebraska Infantry, one of the two volunteer regiments in the United States, has been ordered split up and divided among various organizations of the 109th division. According to the new order, the Fifth regiment will remain intact as an infantry organization. The Fourth regiment will become a heavy artillery organization. Most of its officers, it is understood, will be transferred to infantry organizations.

General George Harries in charge of the Nebraska brigade will remain in charge of the Fifty-ninth depot brigade. Col. P. L. Hall and Lieut. Col. Mack of the Sixth will be attached temporarily to this brigade.

Companies A, B, and C of the sixth are assigned to division headquarters as military police. Col. N. P. Hyatt, Second Iowa, commander, and Major H. L. Harries, second in command.

Company D becomes an ambulance company. The officers of this company, Captain Phil Risch and Lieutenants Gilen and McDonald, are transferred to the Fifth regiment.

The Second Battalion, of the Sixth, together with the headquarters company, including the band and the supply company under Captain Tetan, are assigned to the division engineer's corps.

Company I, Norfolk, Third battalion, is assigned as an engineers' train. The Third battalion, less company I, becomes a supply train.

The machine gun company, Sixth, under Captain Buehler Metcalfe, will remain intact, but will become a part of the 126th Machine Gun battalion of the Sixty-seventh brigade.

The First Iowa and the Fifth Nebraska, remaining intact, will be known as the 133rd and 134th Infantry, respectively, and all compose the Sixty-seventh brigade under General H. A. Allen.

The machine gun company of the Fourth Nebraska regiment and the Third Battalion of the Second Iowa and Troop C of the First Iowa cavalry make up the 127th Machine Gun battalion of the Sixty-eighth brigade.

The Nebraska signal corps becomes a wire company in the divisional battalion. The Iowa signal corps becomes an outpost company.

The Sixth Nebraska sanitary detachment becomes a part of the 127th Field artillery and the Nebraska field hospital now at Mineola becomes a part of the Fifty-ninth depot.

The new order becomes effective October 1.

The Sixth regiment will give up its beautiful camp to the South Dakota cavalry, Tuesday will be moving day. The order which came today was not altogether a surprise. Rumors of such a re-organization have gone the rounds for the last week. And instead of gloom, discouragement and sullenness, nothing but the most serene cheerfulness and optimism prevail in the camps of the Sixth Nebraska regiment.

NOTICE

Women of Wayne and Wayne County: You are earnestly invited and urged to attend a mass meeting of the patriotic women of Wayne county to organize a Woman's Committee of the Wayne County Council of National Defense, at the State Normal Auditorium, Sunday afternoon, October 7th, at four o'clock. We expect to have with us at that time Miss Sarka B. Hrbkova, State Chairman of the Woman's Committee of the Council of National Defense. Her address will be full of information and inspiration, and you will not want to miss it. Miss Hrbkova is professor of Slavonic languages in our State University.

The men of Wayne county are doing good work in their Council of Defense organization. Let the women of Wayne county be eager and ready to render this patriotic service requested of us by our national and state governments.

MRS. J. G. W. LEWIS

Chairman of Woman's Committee of Wayne county Council of National Defense.

PRECINCT MEETING OF COUNCIL OF DEFENSE

Mr. S. E. Auker, representing Wilbur precinct in the Wayne county Council of Defense, called a meeting at the Sundahl school house last Thursday evening, the purpose being to bring the people closer in touch with the work of the organization and to discuss questions of interest to the country at this time. The meeting was well attended and good interest shown. Mr. Auker spoke on the importance of food conservation, emphasizing the need of greater economy among the people, and cautioned against wastefulness in the affairs of the nation. He stated that the purpose of the council of defense was to co-operate with all other agencies in the community, and asked in what way the organization might be of service to the farmers of that precinct. A general discussion followed on the scarcity of hands for corn picking and the probable price to be paid for corn huskers this year. W. D. Redmond was also present and addressed the meeting. The meeting opened with the singing of "America," Miss Clara Linn, teacher in this district acting as organist.

CERTIFIED FOR SERVICE

The local board from this county made the following report to the district board of the following names of men of this county certified for service not exempted or discharged.
188 John Fred Gottsch, Winside
199 Irvan Benjamin Lyons, Winside
201 August John Alleman, Winside
205 Henry George Langenberg, Hosk.
206 Edward Benjamin Brummels, Hosk.
211 Walter Evert Randol, Wayne
192 William Howell Rees, Carroll
203 William Mellor, Wayne.
212 Albert Detlef Kai, Pender.

The district board has certified for service, Chas. Warren Skultheis and Jens Christen Jensen.

The following have been exempted or discharged by the local board.
189 Harvey Nelson, Winside.
190 Emil Sophus Steffen, Winside
191 Carl Fredrick Thomsen, Wakefield
194 Anthony Nicholas Glasser, Randolph.

195 William Westerhaus, Winside
197 William Ernest Fred Wiese, Wakefield.
200 Max Emil Stahl, Winside
202 Oscar Carl Max Liedtke, Wayne
204 Axel Emanuel Seastedt, Carroll
207 Milo Ray Hanson, Hoskins.
208 Herman Henry Frese, Winside
209 Adam William Grier, Wayne
210 Ross William Jones, Wakefield

Of the last fifty called for examination, six were discharged as physically unfit; sixteen asked no exemption; two had enlisted; four have not yet reported; one died, Owen Jones of Carroll. Of the 21 who asked exemption 19 did so because of dependents; two were alien enemy.

To fill the Wayne county quota will require 17 more men, and they will probably be called within two weeks.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Harry Shantz a student at the Normal underwent a minor operation Saturday morning.

Miss Edith Crouse of Emerson had her tonsils and adenoids removed Saturday.

Fred C. Brandt of Sholes underwent a minor operation Monday.

Minster Oswald Jensen of Laurel underwent a major operation Tuesday for the removal of a mastoid tumor. The little fellow is but nine years old but stood the ordeal in splendid shape and at this writing is getting along fine. This is a very serious operation and seldom attempted except under the most favorable conditions. Dr. Lutgen realized an operation was the child's only hope and took the chance, playing against odds with a life in the balance and we hope he will win.

Mrs. William Woehler who lives near Wayne was operated on Wednesday and is doing fine.

Mrs. George Gunther underwent a throat operation Wednesday.

Jack Bly returned home Tuesday. He has been at the hospital three weeks suffering from the effects of a pus appendix. An eleventh hour operation was necessary to save his life.

Mrs. A. Henneger was able to return to her home Tuesday.

Mrs. Thos. Howleson of Mapleton, Minnesota, who has been visiting at the H. E. Griggs home went to Carroll today accompanied by Mrs. Griggs to spend a short time visiting.

TRAVEL EIGHTY MILE CIRCUIT.

The weather man favored those who planned to observe last Thursday as a holiday and spend the day visiting a number of the farm homes of members of the Wayne County Pure Bred Breeders Association. It was an inspiring sight to witness more than thirty automobiles filled with farmers, business and professional men going out to take a chance at getting acquainted with each other and some of the farms and farm owners of the county. They took long chances in thus meeting and visiting with their neighbors of finding some one they might like.

The Welsh Band, an organization of more than thirty young farmers from the Welsh neighborhood west of Carroll, was engaged to accompany the party and furnish the music. They appeared at Wayne shortly before eight o'clock and at the close of a short band concert the people were off for the farm of Wm. Lessman, who lives about six miles northeast of Wayne.

At this place a fine herd of Herefords awaited inspection, and were admired by the visitors. Mr. Lessman told of the merits of this breed of beef cattle, and why they were his choice—but admitted that others who preferred some other breed might honestly differ from his view of the case.

A little farther east the Shorthorn herd and the pleasant home of Wm. A. Meyer was visited. He has a splendid herd of this standard breed of beef cattle. But there were too many places to visit to permit a long stop at any one place, and all were off for the V. L. Dayton home.

Here was the only dairy herd visited on the trip, and Mr. Dayton's herd of Holstein-Friesian cattle were much admired. Prof. J. H. Frandsen of the dairy department of the state agricultural college, who had accepted an invitation to make the trip, gave a little talk on the dairy cow, and instructed a bunch of interested spectators on the visible points of a good dairy cow. His talk was most interesting, telling how the head, the body, its length and depth all had to do with a cow's ability to convert her food into milk and butter fat. The importance of milk wells of ample size was simply explained. He paid a rare tribute to the milch cow as a factory for the manufacture of food for the human family. In addition to the cattle, Mr. Dayton has a fine herd of Duroc Jersey swine and a fine flock of Rhode Island Red chickens. In all three branches he produces prize-winning individuals.

The splendid home of C. Frank Sundahl was the next stop. Here the attention of the visitors was mostly taken with his horses, two handsome Percheron stallions being the center of attraction, and they were certainly very fine animals. But those who knew what else was to be seen here did not spend all of their time with the horses, but saw a splendid bunch of Shorthorn cattle and also a herd of Duroc Jersey hogs that were a credit to their owner and that type of hog.

A five mile drive brought all to the farm of H. J. Miner, a mile south of Wayne. Mr. Miner breeds Polled Durhams and Shorthorns. His herd was waiting for inspection, and experts tell us that one seldom sees a better bunch. His sales indicate that his herd is one of known quality. His other specialty is silver laced Wyandotte chickens.

From here the party trekked five miles to the home of Henry Cozad, who has a fine herd of Shorthorn cattle, and his cows and calves and the head of the herd were of the best strains of the great family of beef cattle. But the dinner hour was drawing near, and the schedule called for a visit at Sunny Slope flock farm where Harry Tidrick makes headquarters and has two herds of Bogs, the Durocs and the Poland Chinas. The stay was short here but there was time enough to see that he has his yards and buildings in proper shape and that his animals were of the high class which indicates careful selection of herd heads and dams.

From here it was a short drive to Winside, and the city park was taken possession of and a hungry crowd partook of a bounteous picnic dinner. The writer seemed to have developed a better appetite than is possible in the regular duties at home, and he wondered that the food supply held out to the end. After the splendid dinner the band gave a short concert, then Mr. G. W. Hervey of the Twentieth Century Farmer was introduced by President Dayton, and made a short address. He expressed his keen appreciation of the country he had traversed and the stock he had seen and told of the results of a similar association of breeders in Ohio thirty years ago, who had organized to improve their herds of sheep and gain publicity for the sale of their stock, and how successful they had been. Following his talk Professor Frandsen spoke of the need of developing all lines of food production, and the present need of making it as great as possible.

At Winside several cars joined with people who found it impossible to spend the entire day with the boosters, and some who lived in this part of the county, so that the procession contained forty cars and about 160 people from here on. The H. O. Prince farm was visited, the home of some splendid Shorthorns with a handsome roan bull imported from Canada to head the splendid herd. In addition to his show stock we saw here in pasture a splendid herd of cows of the Shorthorn breed. Mrs. Prince has a flock of Single Comb Brown Leghorns which pay her a handsome profit.

The next stop was at Carroll, where the band gave a concert and the sightseers inspected the horse breeding barns of Burrell Brothers, who raise prize winning Percheron

Henry Giese went to Red Oak, Iowa, Monday to visit his daughter, Mrs. Jos. Erickson for a time while Mr. Erickson goes west looking for land, he having sold his place near Red Oak, where he recently moved from this place. Mr. Giese thinks he will look at Montana prospects first.

Dr. Warren E. MacGregor, son of Rev. and Mrs. D. W. MacGregor, who is located at Camp Logan, Texas, and is a member of the Dental Reserve corps, has been assigned to the Third (Illinois) infantry, which has over 1200 men. The doctor with but one assistant has some job to care for the dental work needed in each man's case.

Last week C. L. Puffett left to join his wife in Iowa, where she had been visiting home folks, then visit his folks at Oto, after which he would go on to his new home among the low-priced farms of central New York. Mr. Puffett has located in Chenango county, New York, where he thought he could buy better bargains in farms than he could buy in this country. He certainly bought for less money, and probably he received good value, for one could not replace the improvements here for what he paid for the 100 acres of land.

L. M. Owen appears to be very favorably impressed with Wayne county land in the vicinity of Wayne for no sooner had he sold one farm than he purchased two in its place. His latest venture is the purchase of the south quarter of the Mrs. Ada Rounick farm just southwest of this town. For this 140 acres, on which there are no buildings, he pays $175 the acre. There once was buildings, but fire destroyed them and they have never been replaced; but there is a fine grove where the old buildings were, and a very good site for another set of buildings. Mr. Owen evidently thinks that Wayne county land is a sure and safe investment.

Geo. Luders was a Pender visitor Tuesday.

J. M. Cherry was a Sioux City visitor Friday.

Will Gildersleeve was a Sioux City visitor Friday.

Mrs. W. W. Garwood of Carroll was a Wayne shopper Thursday last.

Mrs. Alice Rickabaugh went to Sioux City Friday on a business trip.

Father Kearns went to visit at Omaha Monday and view the Ak-Sar-Ben.

Mrs. Harry Armstrong of Sioux City visited over Sunday at the A. A. Welch home.

Mrs. J. J. Williams and Mrs. John Harrington went to Sioux City Friday on a short visit.

Mrs. J. A. Kiser returned to Paulina, Iowa, Friday after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Tranquill.

County Surveyor Robert H. Jones has been surveying in Wilbur precinct for Messrs. Hansen and Brock-Ben.

Raymond Fox was home from Wynot for a short time before he leaves for Ft. Riley today, he having been among the Cedar county boys who were called to report for duty.

Fred Benschhof was at Sioux City last week, and he tells us that there is a move on for a big class initiation of the M. W. A., taking members from this corner of Nebraska and also from South Dakota, Minnesota, and Iowa. The date set is November 9th, and Mr. B. is to be drummer for this part of the forest.

Mrs. Philbin and daughter Fern and her little son went to Norfolk Sunday to meet daughter and sister Myrtle Philbin, who has been at Rapid City, South Dakota, visiting relatives. Myrtle went to that place with her grandmother, Mrs. Wadsworth about six weeks ago. Mrs. W. is feeling well, and will remain there for a time longer.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. S. Henderson of Marshall, Minnesota, and Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Henderson of Story City, Iowa, arrived at Wayne Saturday evening making the trip by auto. A family re-union at the I. D. Henderson home was held Sunday and the four sons enjoyed one of their mother's splendid dinners. Allen, the younger son, left Wednesday with the last contingent of drafted men and the occasion was one of sadness as well as a joyful homecoming.

The old question "Do you catch a weasel asleep?" was a common one and beyond a doubt one seldom caught that little animal napping. But several people who came down Main street early Saturday morning had a chance to see one of the little fellows. Near the corner of Main and Third streets, the animal was running about the walk and street. He first went into the drain tile on the west side of the street, then came out again and crossed Third street and finally disappeared into the cellar under the building to be occupied by W. A. Hiscox with his hardware. The animal did not appear very shy, and several people were near him as he leisurely crossed the street, but the "weasel was not asleep;" and it is possible some one who has chickens nearby may find that out if they do not take good care of the birds, for the weasel is very fond of chicken blood.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Davis of Emerson, Iowa, were here for a few days this week. Mr. Davis tells us that while in Cheyenne county he purchased more of the land of that county, thinking if some was good more was better.

Robert Pritchard has sold his farm adjoining Carroll to Fred Helwig, who is to take possession in the spring. Mr. Pritchard's place is a good one and the price for the 200 acres was $225 the acre. Mr. Pritchard owns a Carroll residence just across the road from his farm property, and says that he is not necessarily lost to this community because he has sold the farm. His neighbors hope that if he retires it will be to remain in Carroll, and if he relocates on a farm it will be near.

Mrs. C. H. Johnson went to Brunswick Tuesday to join her husband and they will make their future home there.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Perkins left Tuesday to visit with relatives and friends in different parts of Minnesota. They ticketed to Duluth first, planning to spend a day or two at Sioux City, however. They will visit Two Harbors, Minnesota, and plan to be absent about two weeks.

SEES MUTILATED BELGIAN CHILDREN

Will Walker, son of Chas. Walker, has owned a half section ranch thirty miles north of Miles City, Montana, for the last three years. He was lately drafted for the war with Germany and came home last week for a visit with his parents and other relatives here before entering training camp. Will was not very keen about going to war until about three weeks or so ago when a party of Belgian children passed thru Miles City, bound for a Belgian settlement in the state of Washington. There were about a hundred of these children and they ranged in age from babies to twelve or thirteen years. Will saw them and talked with some of their nurses and every one of their nurses except one little boy had been mutilated by the German soldiers. Most of the boys had their right hands amputated. Many had lost one ear and some lost their noses. Most horrible of all some of the little girls had had their breasts cut out that they might never be able to suckle a boy who could grow up to be a Belgian soldier and avenge the wrongs of his fatherland. Will said these poor children, who stopped at Miles City long enough to be seen by hundreds of the inhabitants, made a great impression and created tremendous indignation. Out of 390 called for the draft examination only 15 claimed exemption, and the spirit of the people of the neighborhood was illustrated by a cripple, who, when Will left home, was still moving heaven and earth to get into the army for a chance to get at the Kaiser and the soldiers who mutilate little children.—Algona (Iowa) Advance.

SPECULATION IN FOOD- STUFFS WILL BE STOPPED

"Speculation in food-stuffs and necessities of life must stop." That is the ultimatum issued by Food Administrator Wattles upon his return from Washington, where he has been in conference with Food Administrator Hoover.

"We do not propose that speculators are going to profit from this war. The interests of the people must be conserved. The speculation of past years is gone forever. The accomplishment in the matter of wheat is an evidence of what can be done, and we propose to save to the American people the profits of their labor."

Among the things Mr. Wattles is charged with is to see that abuses in the matter of marketing of food-stuffs is stopped; the redistribution of live stock on farms; adjustment of charges for handling live stock; the securing of signatures to pledge cards, and other things of national importance.

He is a busy man these days, and his efforts are all along the line of conserving and saving for Nebraskans.

THE NEW WAR
Americans who desired universal military service and a large standing army before we entered the war are now sure that these will result from the war. Cities now booming in consequence of the proximity of thousands of soldiers in training camps have been assured by one military leader that these camps will be a permanent asset owing to the universal military service to follow the war. A great many people who had no desire for this change will now concede its likelihood.

But this presupposes that war after the war is going to be the same thing as war before the war. It would be strange if this were so, and some men of standing as military authorities say positively that it will not be so. One such is S. Sidebotham, a well known English student of military tactics. Mr. Sidebotham unqualifiedly sweeps aside the military system existing before the war and existing thus far through the war. "It is fairly safe to predict," he says, "that for tactical reasons alone, not to speak of reasons of another order, this is the last war in which the armies will be composed of the whole manhood of the nation. Universal military service is out of date, and although some officers whose career depends on its maintenance will struggle hard to retain it, the higher officers, whose business it is to affect the strategy and tactics of a campaign, should be interested in its abolition or modification. War with armies of billions is becoming an impossibility, and if the institution is to have any chance of surviving, the size of armies will need to be reduced."

Why should this be? Primarily because equipment has grown to count so much more than men. Had the British army been equipped at the beginning with a machine gun to every man, he says, the number of men required to hold a dozen miles of the front against the German attack would have been ample to hold fifty miles. More machine guns and artillery means relatively more men in the munitions factory and in the transportation service and fewer in the actual fighting.

The aeroplane, by ending trench warfare and the fighting of fixed positions is to make a war of massed men further impossible, according to this authority. We have just seen an airplane making a record flight on an American field with twelve passengers. Airplanes with a capacity of twenty-five passengers are being built by the American government. A thousand of these airplanes would jump an army of 25,000 men over trenches, mountains and streams to a distance of hundreds of miles in a night. Mr. Sidebotham points out that one company of men with such equipment would do the work of a present brigade. Behind each aeroplane load of soldiers must be a small army of mechanics and laborers. But the army of soldiers, of actual fighting men, is comparatively few.

We shall know more of this by the time America has put in practice its plans for ending the war by precipitating a cloud of airplanes upon the enemy. Surely no one can deny that this Englishman's expectations look reasonable. In view of such prospects this is no time to decide that future national safety will be best promoted by giving every man a military training.—State Journal.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Rev. and Mrs. Rudolph Moehring visited at Pender Monday.

Mrs. R. Sparks went to Sioux City Friday for a visit of a few days.

Miss Lizzie Muhs, went to Norfolk Tuesday where she expects to make her home.

There will be services Sunday at 10:30 at the St. Mary's church, and evening devotions at 7 o'clock.

Mrs. H. P. Nelson and Mrs. Wm. Splittgerber returned Tuesday from a trip to Van Tassel, Wyoming, where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Splittgerber.

Miss Ella Wilson went to Bloomfield Tuesday to attend the funeral of her grandfather, S. J. Wilson who died in California Monday. Funeral services will be held at Bloomfield Saturday to which place the body was sent for interment.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Y. Grupe, of Omaha, autoed to Wayne Saturday and spent Sunday with Mrs. Grace D. Keyser. Mrs. Keyser's mother, Mrs. Lydia Dixon and sister, Mrs. Fred Blair and daughter, Mirabel, returned with them to Omaha Sunday for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. White left last Friday afternoon to visit for a month amid the scenes and friends of her younger days, at Galena and Warren, Illinois, and a place or two over the line in Wisconsin. Mrs. White left that part of the country more than thirty years ago, and this is her first return to native soil.

Mrs. M. I. Dotson from Pierre, South Dakota, came last week to visit at the home of her son, E. Dotson at Winside, and with Mr. Dotson and family went by automobile to Omaha this week to attend the Ak-Sar-Ben and view the electrical parade. Mr. Dotson is expected from Dakota to join his wife in the visit here—the last of the week.

Mr. Necloy from Hancock, Iowa, sold his good farm in Iowa at $225 the acre; and then says to himself, "I will go over to Wayne and buy a farm just as good at $150 the acre." When he began to price the good farms here he discovered that he would not grow rich on the difference in prices. The fact is that Wayne county land is the equal of the good land most anywhere you look for land.

At the Crystal last Thursday evening a great picture was put on "Mother O' Mine." A packed house greeted every show and Manager Neilson feels deeply grateful for the liberal patronage and for the words of appreciation heard on every side. Mr. Neilson is making some improvements at his movie house which is already above the average. One of the big things he is doing is the erection of a Minusa gold fibre screen. No more flicker or eye strain and the pictures will be plainer and more clear cut.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lampe and two daughters from Red Oak, Iowa, spent two weeks in this vicinity, and were guests at the home of her uncle Robert H. Jones and wife part of the time. They came by automobile and visited all the surrounding country from Norfolk to the river. Mr. Lampe expressed his surprise at the crop condition here, saying that the crop was as good and as safe from frost as with them in the great corn garden of Iowa. Each year more and more people are learning that this is a mighty good country to stay with.

THOUGHTS BRIEFLY TOLD

The Corn-Belt Farmer wants the old sows to get busy, and says that they should raise two litters of pigs where but one is raised now. The price of pork on foot certainly indicates a shortage.

If you have a cow on your farm that is merely a star boarder, just fatten her and let her feed the boarders.

Healthy people means wealthy ones, for there are no riches comparable with good health—but good health and moderate wealth of the world's goods should go hand in hand.

Gather plenty of seed corn now, there will be a call for good seed in many directions before the corn grows again.

By drying potatoes and other perishable crops there will be a great saving of foods that in other years has been wasted.

Astounding Report for Wayne

The wife of a merchant had stomach trouble so bad she could eat nothing but toast, fruit and hot water. Everything else would sour and ferment. ONE SPOONFUL buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-I-ca benefited her INSTANTLY. Because Adler-I-ca flushes the ENTIRE alimentary tract it relieves ANY CASE constipation, sour stomach or gas and prevents appendicitis. It has QUICKEST action of anything we ever sold. H. J. OMAHA GIRL FINDS SALE FOR STORIES

"Fur Mittens," a short story by Miss Elizabeth O'Brien, 2805 Woolworth avenue, and three articles on sociological study from her pen, have been accepted by the Curtis Publishing company and will appear in some of its early publications.

Miss O'Brien came to Omaha from Wayne, Neb., where she worked on the Wayne Herald, and before that on the Tekamah Journal. She is a University of Nebraska girl and took special work at the University of Chicago.

Miss O'Brien's parents died when she was quite young, since which time she has educated herself and taken care of a young sister.—Omaha Bee.

FOOD ADMINISTRATION FOR NEBRASKA

(G. W. Wattles, Food Administrator)
Omaha, October 2.—The state managership for the Pledge Card campaign under the food administration has been given to S. R. McKelvie of Lincoln. Mr. McKelvie is organizing the state by districts, with sub-managers for each congressional and senatorial district.

The campaign will be held during the week of October 21 to 28, when Food Administrator Wattles and Manager McKelvie aspire to get 250,000 Nebraskans to pledge themselves to assist in conserving Nebraska's food resources.

Pledge cards will be delivered into the home of every Nebraskan. Everyone can and will sign one of these pledge cards," says Mr. Wattles. Nebraskans are willing to do their bit, and they are going to do it. The signing of a card involves this pledge: that every Nebraskan will assist, so far as able, to help conserve food products. Elimination of waste is the principle end, the much food can be exported by Nebraskans using perishable foodstuffs in place of wheat.

THE SECOND LIBERTY LOAN

Monday morning, bright and early the doors were open to those who wished to aid their Uncle Sam in his fight over the seas, who have the necessary cash with which to do it.

The people are asked to loan the government $3,000,000,000 in cash at 4% annual interest, payable semi-annually. The security is good, and every mother's son and daughter and all of the property they possess is mortgaged to make it good. It's a first mortgage, too. It will be paid off in full, so there is no other question to be considered, except having the price of admission. Kaiser Bill of Germany wanted to, and yet wants to, put a blanket mortgage on this country and the rest of the world, under the terms of which he could name the interest rate, the terms of the lien and leave to him the question of when and how he would foreclose and take possession. He was so insistent on having this mortgage that he proposed to make his people fight that he might have it. They are fighting for it, and have been for more than three years; but as it now appears, with every day less chance to win. The world is practically united against him, and while they were wonderfully prepared for the struggle, he bit off more than he could masticate at once, and now there is no way to divide the bite, and he will have to spit it out or choke.

The secretary of the treasury asks all of the people who have a spare dollar to loan it to the government, to aid in the fight of democracy against autocracy.

LIVE STOCK BREEDERS ON A BOOSTER TRIP

and Belgian horses. In their barn we saw the animals which were good enough in breeding and individuality to carry off two first prizes, three second prizes, four third prize ribbons and two gold medals at the Inter-State fair at Sioux City a week before. There are no better horses bred in the state or in several states than right here in Wayne county. They certainly have a fine bunch of splendid horses.

The next stop was at the farm of C. H. Morris who has Percheron and Belgian horses as a side line, and for his chief stock industry grows the best Oxford Down sheep in all these parts. We make that statement without fear of contradiction, because he had the animals home which had won that title from competent judges at the fair where sheep from several states were competing. Here Mr. Hervey was called upon to talk, and he spoke of the Nebraska laws, or rather lack of laws, to protect the man with the sheep from individually standing all of the loss from dogs, which any one might own almost without cost. He urged the farmers to demand a law which would tax worthless dogs out of life or create a fund to be used to pay a part of the damages to flocks. The sheep is a very timid animal, and the easy prey of dogs, coyotes, and wolves, and this is the reason given by Mr. Hervey for the fact that Nebraska has but about 300,000 sheep, the many times that number are brought in from the ranges of the west to winter here, and move on to the slaughter yards in the spring.

The farm of Hy Paulson and Son was next visited, and Mr. P. was busy digging prize-winning potatoes when the party began to arrive, and their prize-winning hogs and champion boar were not on exhibition for a few minutes, but was soon rounded up from the orchard where they have the freedom of range so beneficial to the proper and healthful development of all domestic animals. It was a disappointment to the visitors not to have had time to see the entire herd.

The W. H. Billeter home was next invaded, and here a certain state of unpreparedness existed, owing to the fact that Mr. Billeter had not understood that his place was to be visited. But he was promptly on the job and soon had a showing of his splendid horses on exhibition. His animals were also winners of prizes at Sioux City and some of his best colts still had the ribbons on. Carroll vicinity has long been noted for the excellence of the stock produced there, and there is no limit to their possibilities to develop this line of agriculture.

A. C. Sahn northeast of Carroll, who has a Shorthorn herd, sent word to the approaching members to please excuse him as the threshers had invaded his place, and it would not be possible for him to properly entertain the guests, a circumstance for which he was sorry. So the route was changed and Carroll was again visited, a short stop made there before leaving for the Geo. A. McEachen farm about half way between Carroll and Wayne. Here we found McEachen at his best, right at home, so to speak, and it was with pardonable pride that he escorted his many visitors about and introduced them to his blue blooded Shorthorns and sporty Poland China swine. Here the president of the organization declared the end of their first booster trip, and every one who made the 80-mile circuit with them voted it a success in every particular, and returned to their homes with a better knowledge of the resources of our county and a better opinion of the possibilities of our farms. It was a success.

Another week it will be our purpose to tell of some of the things we did not see, and some of the criticisms offered, not in the spirit of fault finding, but with a view of making the next trip more successful and offering suggestions which should prove beneficial if accepted in the spirit given. We saw much, learned many things, and hope to have a better story to tell another time.

Too much credit cannot be given those who took an active part in forming this organization of breeders and sparing no time to inaugurate this initial "Booster Trip."

SOCIAL NOTES

Last Friday was the 79th birthday of Mrs. Henry Jans, and as has been the custom of herself and friends a party gathered to celebrate the event. Twenty-five relatives and friends were present, mostly those living at Wayne. Her son, P. F. Peterson and family from Belden and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hokamp from Carroll were present. Mrs. Hokamp being a granddaughter. A happy afternoon was spent, refreshments were served and Mrs. Jans was the recipient of a number of tokens of love and esteem from those present. All hope that this kindly lady will be spared for many more years to her many relatives and friends.

The first meeting of the Acme club was held with Mrs. C. T. Ingham Monday. Mrs. H. Rosa, an aunt of Mrs. Ingham and Mrs. E. B. Erskine were guests. Mrs. Erskine gave a very interesting talk on camp life at Fort Riley where her husband is in training. Light refreshments were served. The ladies did not have programs printed this year and gave that amount to materials for Red Cross work. They will have programs as usual but they will give most of their time to Red Cross work. The next meeting will be with Mrs. V. A. Senter.

The Union Bible circle met with the Misses Gilbert Tuesday afternoon and spent a very pleasant time together. They spent the time learning the choruses now being learned by the soldiers in all the training camps, "Give your Heart to Jesus, He is Calling You." They also took up a very interesting discussion on "The Return of the Children of Israel from Captivity." The discussion was led by Mrs. John Nichols. The next meeting will be with Miss Myrtle Hutchins.

The Rural Home society enjoyed a party last Friday evening at Clarence Corbit's new barn north of town. The ladies have an annual party, usually this time of year, and invite their husbands and families and together they have an enjoyable time. This year was one of the best times they have ever had. The new barn gave them ample room to play games and as the committee had planned several a great time is reported. An elaborate luncheon was served.

Friday evening being Miss Elsie Spahr's birthday, the children of school district No. 15 where she has taught several years, surprised her at the school house, going back after dismissal and taking with them an elegant picnic supper. All enjoyed this as well as the hour of games which followed. Miss Spahr was the recipient of a large box of chocolates and appreciated very much this, as well as the surprise.

The seniors of the Normal seventy-five in number took a hike to Renick's grove Saturday evening and enjoyed an evening of out-door sports. Camp fires added to the glorious night and beef was roasted, coffee made and eats fit for a king was spread. It takes the college folks to have a good time and this was one of the best they have had in some time.

Wednesday being Miss Pearl Riese's fourteenth birthday six of her intimate friends were invited in for a six-o'clock dinner at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Riese. After enjoying the two-course dinner the young folks played games and sang songs until about ten o'clock when they went to their homes wishing Miss Pearl many happy returns of the day.

The ladies of the Normal faculty gave an afternoon tea for the young lady students Wednesday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock in the science building. Short talks by several of the teachers were very interesting and a dainty luncheon was served of wafers and tea. The students report the teachers royal entertainers.

The Bible Circle girls met Saturday evening with Miss Mae Hiscox. The regular Bible study was taken up and the young ladies enjoyed a profitable evening. The next meeting will be with Miss Ida Mae Brayton at the home of Mrs. Fred Dean.

The Central Social Circle will meet with Mrs. George McEachen Thursday, October 11. Roll call responses with current events will take up the greater part of the time. Fancy work too, will be in order. The ladies are planning a pleasant afternoon.

The ladies of the W. C. T. U. will meet Friday afternoon, October 5th, at 2:30 at the home of Mrs. A. M. Heit. All members are earnestly requested to be present.

SCHOOL NOTES

The High school gymnasium last Friday evening was the scene of a reception given by the upper classes to the new classes and teachers. The evening's entertainment opened with a grand march, following which, the crowd was divided into Harvard and Yale squads by means of red and blue pennants. Various so-called athletic stunts were put on in the form of a contest between the two squads. These were not as strenuous as might be supposed, but very interesting. The gymnasium rang with merry laughter from start to finish when Harvard announced her victory over Yale in a resounding yell. Punch was then served in the music room after which some merry games were played till time for "Good Night!"

Rev. Cross addressed the High school at convocation on Tuesday.

Wednesday evening the sophomore class entertained the senior and junior freshmen classes at a hike and wiener roast about two miles from town. About forty in number, they left the high school grounds at six o'clock. Wieners and marshmallows were roasted, a few lively games played around the campfire and then began the hike home. School songs and happy conversation made the walk seem short, and the school grounds were reached at nine o'clock. Mrs. Pollard, the sophomore class sponsor, accompanied the classes on the hike.

Mrs. E. B. Erskine, Mrs. C. T. Ingham and Rev. S. X. Cross were visitors during the past week.

LERNER-STUDTS

At the parsonage of the German Lutheran church, Sunday afternoon, September 30, 1917, Mr. Walter H. Lerner of this city and Miss Anna M. Studts of Madison, Rev. Rudolph Mochring, officiating.

The announcement came as a surprise to their many friends. The groom is a Wayne boy, employed for a number of years at the Piepenstock harness shop, an efficient workman. The bride was in the employ of the Democrat for a year or more as Unitype operator, and is a young lady with many accomplishments, an industrious, faithful young lady. They will reside at Wayne. The Democrat congratulates.

From the way some of the farmers of other states are hollering about the government fixing the price of wheat one might almost suppose that they prefer to have the grain gambler fix the price on their products.

The speculator, often assisted by big money interests, has for years been first "bear" and then "bull" beating prices down until they held a large percentage of the crop, then pushing them up so that the consumer would have to pay them a profit. Only last year the speculators held more wheat than the farmers when prices advanced so greatly. We hope that the grain gambler's occupation is gone.

Cold storage, canning perishable products or drying them are great helps toward giving the people a balanced ration the year round; but the government should step in and control and regulate prices—these methods of preserving food will be fully in control of monopoly and the people will be taxed to death by the speculators. We hope to see the day when the government will control the speculator absolutely. The man who buys and sells and distributes has a place in our economic system—but the fellow who simply gambles in necessities is not at all necessary to the preservation of the race. Why not let him go to work for a living?

WITH THE WAYNE CHURCHES

St. Paul's English Lutheran Church

(Rev. J. H. Fetterolf, Pastor)
Sunday school convenes promptly at 10 a. m. A special effort is made to have October a "Go to Sunday School" month for old and young. See to it that you are present yourself. Invite others and make this month the banner month of the year for Bible school attendance.

Worship with sermon at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Mark the change of time in the evening service. As is customary, beginning with the first Sunday in October all evening services will begin a half hour earlier—Luther League at 6:45 and preaching at 7:30.

This Thursday evening the Luther League will give a social at the parsonage. A short business session will be held in connection with the social. Every member is expected to be present. All will want a voice in the important business matter to be finally decided.

The class confirmed last Easter will meet for their semi-annual reunion next Saturday evening. It is planned to have these social gatherings twice a year to keep the class united and arouse interest in the work of the church. If the weather permits they expect to go to a nearby grove and have a wiener roast.

The October meeting of the Home and Foreign Missionary society will be held at the home of Mrs. Juhn next Wednesday at 2 p. m.

Next Tuesday the pastor leaves for the meeting of Synod at Grand Island. The reports for the year are encouraging. Every budget has been fully met with an excess. The pastor has been instructed by the congregation to invite Synod to meet in Wayne next year.

Baptist Church

(Rev. Fletcher J. Jordan, Pastor)

The Woman's Missionary society will meet with Mrs. John Soules Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Alfred Dragon will have charge of the meeting. Each lady of the church and congregation is especially urged to be present.

Next Sunday morning at 10:30, the Lord's Supper will be commemorated. The pastor will speak words appropriate to the occasion. The church voted some time ago to observe the communion service the first Sunday in each month. In the evening at 7:30 the pastor will take for his subject "The Rejected Banquet." Special music at these services.

The Sunday school convenes at 11:30. There is a class for everyone in our school. The lesson is taken from Psalms 85 and 129.

At 6:30 the young people hold their meeting. The topic is "Christ's Yoke: What it is and How to Wear it." The scripture is Matt. 11:25-30. (Consecration meeting.) Let each young person of the church be present at this service. The Normal students are always made to feel at home among us.

Choir rehearsal Thursday evening at 7:30. The choir has purchased new books, and an added interest ought to be manifested from this time forward.

All people not in other churches of the town; students and strangers, will be cordially welcomed at all the services of the Baptist church next Lord's day.

Presbyterian Church

(Rev. S. Xenophon Cross, Pastor)

You are invited to attend a prayer meeting at the church on next Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Next Sunday is Rally Day in the Sunday school. It will mean a great deal for each person to be in place at the beginning of the opening exercises of the school.

The Sunday evening hour of service has been changed to 7:30. The subject of the sermon next Sunday evening will be "The Kingdom of Truth." A good music program is being prepared by Mrs. Horace Theobald, Chorister.

The Ladies Aid Society will hold a meeting at the home of Mrs. J. J. Williams next Wednesday afternoon. Business of importance is to be transacted and every member is urged to be present. Remember the Pre-Thanksgiving Bazaar to be given at that season.

Next Sunday is the Communion season of the church. There will be a meeting of the Session at ten o'clock. Persons desiring to unite with the church should meet the Session at this time. Children will be presented for the rite of baptism at the morning service.

Miss Mae Hiscox will lead the meeting of the Y. P. S. C. E. All are cordially invited to attend this meeting and to take part in the services.

Methodist Episcopal Church

(Rev. W. D. MacGregor, Pastor)

Sunday school at 10 a. m. Wm. Beckenhaber, superintendent. Subject of study, Psalms of Deliverance. Every officer, teacher and student got busy. Let us make our school as a "Busy Hive" bringing the honey out of the "Rock." Boys and girls, young men and women, who do not attend other Sunday schools in the city come. You will be welcome.

11 a. m. Miss Holland a returned missionary from Malasia, will speak. Miss Holland will speak at 3 p. m. the Woman's Foreign Missionary society will have full charge of both services. Mrs. Grothe is president.

The Woman's Home Missionary society will meet at the home of Mrs. Barker, Thursday at 3 p. m., Mrs. Ada Rennick, president.

The ladies of the W. C. T. U. will meet at the home of Mrs. A. M. Helt Friday, October 5th, at 2:30 p. m.

The Epworth League, the Intermediate League and the Boy Scouts will meet at 6:30 p. m. The pastor desires to meet all of the Epworth Leaguers in the basement of the church. We extend a cordial invitation to all. The pastor will preach at 7:30 p. m.

German Lutheran Church

(Rev. Rudolph Moehring, Pastor)

There will be no services at this church Sunday, the pastor holding preaching service at Winside at 10:45 a. m.

HOOVER AND ADMINISTRATION

One of the most striking statements made by Herbert C. Hoover at the meeting of farm journal editors was that, "the majority of the food problems which have arisen in the United States, and which will arise in the future, would have occurred even if we had not gone into the war."

Mr. Hoover states his position clearly when he says, "the Food Administration can only live by consent of the public and results can only be secured thru good will and patriotism and not thru legislation."

We have been asked what the Administration intends to about fixing the price of corn. This question was prompted by the fact that the wheat price was fixed. Every commodity is considered individually as it is surrounded by different circumstances. It was found necessary to control the price of wheat because bread is the great American "fetish" the food of the people. Should a similar situation arise with corn immediate steps would be taken to meet it.

There is the feeling in some rural districts that a fixed price for wheat is detrimental to the farmer's interests, when as a matter of fact the administration is just as much concerned about keeping the price of wheat up for the farmer as it is in keeping it within the consumer's reach. This will be quickly seen when it is understood, "that while we face on one side, shortage of supplies, such shortage might be distinguished over night by the flood of supplies now dammed back in other quarters."

Mr. Hoover and his colleagues deserve the hearty support and co-operation of every individual whether he be producer or consumer for the interests of both are closely allied. In order that the farmer may receive the highest possible price for his produce it is necessary to see that the farmer's prices reach the consumer with only the proper and normal cost of distribution added.

FARMERS ARE ASKED TO SHIP FOOD STUFFS

Farmers are urged to ship their wheat and other food products as a patriotic measure. With prices for wheat established by the government, Secretary C. W. Murnane of the Railroad's war board Northwest committee on car service, believes that no advantage can be derived from holding such grains in farm elevators.

"The roads can promptly handle wheat to storage centers now and such movement will facilitate the manufacture of flour for domestic consumption and for export to our allies. That is why the railways are appealing to farmers for quick action. Later, when many more products must be hauled, congestion and delays are more likely.

"The carriers are now being operated as near as possible like a single unit to serve the entire community. But the demand for hauling soldiers and supplies will be an increasing burden which may hamper the movement of food supplies."

WHY NOT AT WAYNE?

Ticket sales for this year's Butler county fair, totaling $2700.50, are $134.75 greater than last year, $616.10 greater than in 1915, $941.65 greater than in 1914 and $998.35 greater than in 1913. That's a handsome showing of steadily increasing popular interest in the county fair. It is, too, an illustration of the value of advertising in the county papers. The fair was systematically advertised by display ads changed from week to week in all the county papers, and the ads were throo presentation of the purposes and attractions of the fair. Besides greater sale of tickets at the gate this year than ever before, the sale of season tickets was double that in the best previous year.—Butler County Press.

PFLUEGER-SCHMIDT

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pflueger, ten miles southeast of Wayne, last Thursday afternoon at three o'clock occurred the marriage of their daughter Anna to Mr. William R. Schmidt, Rev. Leimer of Beemer officiating.

There were over three hundred neighbors and friends present and the occasion was a very enjoyable one.

The happy couple were attended by a brother and sister of the bride, Anton and Ella Pflueger, and a brother and sister of the groom, Hugo and Emma Schmidt. The bride was beautifully dressed in white georgette crepe and the groom wore the conventional black.

After the ceremony a very elaborate wedding supper was served. One hundred and fifteen families were represented at the feast. Many out of town guests were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Schmidt will make their home at Beemer where the groom is engaged as teacher in the public schools.

The Democrat offers congratulations.

A CHANCE IN THE NAVY

The limit has been taken off enlistments in the United States Navy until further orders. This announcement was made by the commanding officer of the Nebraska and South Dakota district yesterday. Heretofore the quota has been sixteen apprentice seamen a week. Now the number allowed to enlist in one week is unlimited. How long this will last is uncertain. All who have been on the waiting list in this district have been notified by the recruiting officer to enlist at once. This has been met with a prompt response from the young men who have been waiting for the opportunity to obtain the navy's $50.00 education, and be paid handsome wages while learning.

Special arrangements have been made with the recruiting officers to take care of all the young men who have registered for the draft and have not been called. Each substitution has been supplied with blanks to be filled out by local exemption boards.

W. C. T. U. COUNTY CONVENTION A GREAT SUCCESS

"Then when, and how soon should we begin teaching the children the effect? Mothers, do you realize that when you take headache tablets you are drugging yourself with something as disastrous? Or when you feed your babies soothing syrup that it is injurious to the nerves and that the appetite is created in the cradle? Then, little do we wonder that these habits are formed and if we are going to help when we, men and women, going to wake up to the common pitfalls? In conversing with an elderly man not long ago I asked him in a kindly way, if he had it to do over again if he would leave out the smoking. His ready reply was: 'Not only the pipe and cigars, but the cigarette.' More money is spent in the United States for tobacco than for bread.

"Is not this alarming when there are so many across the sea who go hungry from day to day and if this awful war keeps on who knows but that our own may share that fate? So it behooves us, as a faithful band of co-workers, to see that laws are enforced and thus do away with the deadly weapon that is destroying our young men and boys." So in going back to the coffin nail or the four D's.

"How about Metcalf of Yale; Dewitt of Princeton; Stevenson of Pennsylvania and Pollock of Wisconsin—all abstainers. Prof. W. P. Lombard of the university of Michigan, in careful scientific investigation, found that the smoke of an ordinary cigar reduced muscular power about 75 per cent in ten minutes. No wonder athletes leave it alone. But how about the four D's. 1. Tobacco is Dirty, it means dirt and offense. 2. Dearth, tobacco creates suspicion. 3. Disease, one of the most horrible diseases caused by cigarette smoking is insanity. 4. Death, yes, even that. But that is not the kind I want to emphasize. Cigarettes mean death to ambition and stamina."

A New Arithmetic
"I am not much of a mathematician," said the Cigaret, "but I can add to a man's nervous troubles, I can subtract from his physical energy, I can multiply his aches and pains, I can divide his mental powers I take interest from his work and discount his chances for success."

Mrs. Margaret Yaryan of Carroll was on the program but was unable to be here. Mrs. Laura Cress of Winside gave an interesting talk on the work the Winside union have taken up.

A business meeting was called immediately following the program and county officers were elected for the coming year as follows: Mrs. A. A. Wollert, of Wayne, president; Mrs. Evan Jenkins of Carroll, secretary; Mrs. Verna Fitzgerald of Winside, treasurer. Mrs. Wollert read a telegram from Mamie M. Claffin, state president as follows:

"Lincoln, Nebraska, September 20, 1917.

"Mrs. Charlotte Wollert, Wayne, Nebraska.

"Names of signers to referendum petition will soon be sent to each locality in county where men signed, tell convention to use every effort to get every possible man to withdraw name if given under misrepresentation or false pretense, good prospect for breaking petition and holding law if our forces work."

Mrs. Wollert appointed committees from each locality to look after this work. They are Mrs. Mabel Holcomb, Mrs. Laura Cress, Mrs. Verna Fitzgerald and Miss Edith Carter of Winside; Mrs. Anna O. Jones, Mrs. Jessie McKenzie, Mrs. Walter Hribert, and Mrs. Minnie Snoden of Carroll; Miss Charlotte White, Mrs. Wm. Beckenhauer, Mrs. A. M. Helt, and Mrs. James Britton of Wayne.

It was voted to send Mrs. A. A. Wollert to represent the county and Mrs. Wm. Beckenhauer to represent the local W. C. T. U. at the state convention to be held at Lincoln, October 8 to 12.

It was also decided to hold these county meetings three times a year. The next meeting will be held at Winside some time in December. The meeting closed by all singing "America." Everybody then adjourned to the basement where the Wayne ladies had prepared a luncheon of salads, sandwiches, pickles, coffee, peaches, cream and cake. After a social visit the visitors from Carroll and Winside were escorted to their train. They first gave a unanimous vote of thanks to the Wayne ladies for their generous hospitality and said these meetings were a source of great help to them and were thankful for the harmony and good fellowship evidenced in this meeting.

News from Home

When the evening shade is fallin' at the close of the day,
An' a fellow rests from labor, smokin' at his pipe of clay,

There's nothing does him so much good, be fortune up or down,
As the little country paper from his Own Home Town!

It ain't a thing of beauty and it's print's not always clean,
But it straightens out his temper when a feller's feelin' mean;

It takes the wrinkles off his face an' brushes off the frown,
That little country paper from his Old Home Town!

It tells of all the parties and the belles of Pumpkin Row,
'Bout who spent Sunday with who's girl, an' how the crops 'll grow,
An' how it keeps a feller posted who's up and who is down,
That little country paper from his Old Home Town.

Now, I like to read the dailies and the story papers, too,
And at times the yaller novels an' some other trash, don't you?
But when I want some other readin' that'll brush away a frown,
I want that little paper from my Old Home Town.

A FORMIDABLE portion of that income, you Nebraskans expend in automobiles and automobile tires.

And the expenditure in tires is the more important because tire service more quickly and emphatically translates itself into dollars.

Well may you Nebraskans in these days of sane economy study economy in tires, and learn by actual use the economy of Goodrich Tires.

GOODRICH BLACK SAFETY TREADS

Are tires which embody the BEST in tires—
The Best that has stood the Test of Goodrich's Test Car Fleets. That Best is the Goodrich, CLOSE-CLUTCH CROSS-BARRED tread, a practical non-skid, not a novelty design; and the Goodrich Unit-Mold, Unbroken-Cure, the most lasting fabric tire body.

You can get the best only in "America's Tested Tires."

POISONING FROM COLD PACK CANNING PREVENTABLE.

"Botulism" is the name used to designate the bacillus which sometimes causes poisoning from the use of vegetables preserved by the cold-pack method. Dr. Geo. J. Hess calls attention to an article by Ernest C. Dickson of San Francisco in which he has tabulated the result of his observation, showing that a toxin may be formed from fruits and vegetables, and while not frequent nor always fatal they are enough to show that care must be used to be safe. The writer has a record of eleven outbreaks in 20 years, and 23 persons were ill and 23 died on the Pacific coast region where he made his records.

Much garden stuff has been preserved this season by the cold-pack method, hence it is well to know just how to prevent any possible trouble from this cause, and the article closes with the following which all will do well to heed:

"The botulinus toxin is easily destroyed by heating, and all danger of botulism will be removed from home-canned products if the food is always boiled before it is eaten or even tasted. Under no circumstances should home-canned vegetables which have been prepared by the cold-pack method be served as salad, unless they have been cooked after their removal from the containers, and until it has been established what fruits are suitable for the formation of toxin, it will be safer to re-heat all fruits which have been prepared by this method, even tho there may be no apparent evidence that the food has spoiled."

We are sorry that we are unable to give more of this article, but one is here warned of the danger and told of the sure remedy or preventative.

SHERIFF'S SALE

By virtue of an Order of Sale, to me directed, issued by the Clerk of the District Court of Wayne County, Nebraska, upon a decree rendered therein at the April, 1917 Term thereof, in an action pending in said Court, wherein Mrs. L. DOCTORS ON NEW TRAIL

The eminent surgeons who have been employed by the government for some years past have devoted most of their attention to what has been called "preventative medicine." They have chased millions of microorganisms to their lair and found just what part they played in creating disease and the best methods in combating them. But lately they have turned their attention, in a large degree, to other things and have discovered that some thousands die every year from malnutrition, caused by badly selected food supply. Among the most prominent of these investigators is Dr. Charles E. Banks, senior surgeon of the United States Public Health Service. He has made many long and patient investigations and has found that flour, strange as it may seem, is the real cause of some diseases.

He says that the present method of milling utilizes only 75 per cent of the grain, and this is almost exclusively the starchy part; the other 25 per cent containing the phosphorus, mineral salts, vitamins, etc., is sold by the millers as feed for hogs and cattle. These grow fat on it, for they are getting the best part of the wheat.

Dr. Banks says the diet of white bread is responsible for Americans of today being pale and anaemic in youth and fat and flabby at forty.

Dr. Banks has on his side some eminent food specialists, but they have made no progress with the mass of the people who still demand the perfectly white flour which is forbidden in all the belligerent countries of Europe, and he has come to the conclusion that nothing but a law will change the conditions.—World Herald.

WHOSE OX IS GORED?

It makes a wonderful difference whose ox is gored. For years the national banks have had the favor of government in many ways, and their bonds and currency has been exempt from taxation. They have been the fellows who have never before intimated that it was not constitutional for the government to exempt its bonds from taxation, but now it seems that these beneficiaries of the government favor do not consider it constitutional for others to have like favors, according to the following from the World-Herald:

"The farm loan crowd are getting anxious over the government farm loan bonds and having made up their minds that the whole scheme is unconstitutional, will bring suits to test that question. The Financial World says: 'Some criticism may be heard over the declared intention of some members of the farm mortgage association to begin a friendly suit in order to have the highest court of the land pass upon the legality of the tax exempt feature of the farm loan bonds issued under the Federal Farm Land Bank Act.'

For twenty five years the farmers have been forced to pay as high as 8 to 10 per cent interest or even more, to this farm loan crowd, which is very much opposed to having its big profits reduced. There was a time when a decision could be obtained by declaring almost anything unconstitutional that interfered with the Wall street schemes to fleece the people, but now there is practically a new court and the old members are seeing things from a new viewpoint. There may be grounds for objecting to tax-free bonds, but that it is unconstitutional is another question. The cities have long been in the habit of exempting their bonds from taxation, and no question has ever been raised about the constitutionality of such bonds. If the cities can do it, the judges will likely decide that the United States government can do it. As far as the public is concerned, these farm loan sharks will get no sympathy from it. They made the farmers pay extortionate interest so long that the government finally provided a way for escape from them."

Our Country's Telephone Needs Are Served First

At the entrance of this nation in the great war, the Bell Telephone System pledged its entire service, its equipment and its men, unreservedly, to the government.

The government's telephone calls are given right-of-way over private messages and the government's requirements for men, for switchboards, wire, telephones and other equipment are served ahead of private requests.

Don't you patriotically co-operate by asking only for equipment you must have, and make only such local or long distance calls as are absolutely necessary?

THE DRAFT AND THE MELTING POT

By Hugh Reid, in The Public

I have just finished the three hardest days' work in many months. Also, I have had a post-graduate course in applied sociology that I value above classroom platitudes. I got it serving as a volunteer upon a draft board.

Beginning at nine in the morning and ending at ten each night, with intermissions for meals, we examined during three days, six hundred men in all. The process was frequently humorous, often inspiring, at times pathetic—even tragic, but never uninteresting.

The district itself guarantees that. The First ward of Chicago is known everywhere in America. It is the richest ward in Chicago, and contains over two billion dollars worth of real estate—more than the other thirty-four wards combined. Politically, it is owned by two shrewd Irishmen, one a saloonkeeper, the other an ex-rubber in a Turkish bath. They have ruled like kings for more than a generation. Bosses in other wards come and go but "Bath House John" and "Hinky Dink" are returned election after election "by the usual majorities."

There is no middle class in the district—only rich and poor. The millionaire at his club or hotel is only five minutes walk from the hobo at his nickel "flo" or lodging house. The prostitute driven to her trade by poverty lives the same distance from her wealthier sister who plies her trade from choice. Our district was the south half of this section where until a few months ago the red-light district was in full blast.

The examining staff, too, was interesting, including as it did a well-known specialist in children's diseases and one of the foremost surgeons in the middle west. The others were leaders in their profession and all served without pay.

The preliminary examination revealed the most extraordinary assortment of races, colors and conditions conceivable. There were cooks, porters, bartenders, peddlers, Chinese laundrymen, and Slav laborers—not to mention others among whom might be classed a tall Negro who appeared two days late.

"Can't you read?" asked the examiner.

"Yes, sah, boss. Sure, Ah reads." "Then why didn't you come on time?"—pointing to a notice requiring the applicant to appear at nine on the morning of the second—it was then two in the afternoon of the fourth.

"Well, you see, boss, when Ah got out of the Bridewell—then followed a long winded but plausible explanation. There were a number of that kind as well as many naive confidences easy of appreciation, but hardly proper to print.

The inquiry as to whether the applicant had ever been in a hospital also brought unexpected answers. One dark-skinned friend admitted having been in the hospital eighteen months earlier for treatment of a cut.

"How did you get cut, Sambo—at your work?"

"No, sah, Ah got it at a party." Later on more than one sear laid bare the gentle custom among the colored brethren of carrying razors for social purposes.

Here and there were those who were reluctant or surly, but in general, it was a good-natured crowd. Once in a while a bewildered Austrian would balk at signing his own preliminary statement, evidently believing that the following week would find him in the trenches if he did. The interpreter straightened these out, however.

After the preliminary examination the men were taken into a separate room, where sight and hearing tests were applied and the nose, throat and teeth examined. Afterwards they were required to strip and go to another room where each was in turn weighed, measured and submitted to a very careful physical examination.

I watched these naked men come in with a new sense of realization of what the term "melting pot" really means. The first man was a young trim-moustache and a clean, sharp profile. Then a broad-shouldered Greek with wrestler's muscles and an air of self-conscious pride. Following him were a reserved American-born Italian and a hairy-bodied Serbian with sweeping mustaches. I looked at his card later on and noticed that the examination had disclosed body lice. All day I felt a bit uncertain. Thereafter I looked at the card before I became friendly!

Next came a tall, athletic Jew, built like a sprinter; a solemn un-ruffled Chinese, calm but interested; two more Austrian Slavs, and an Italian peddler with enormous shoulders. I had begun to feel like a stranger myself when in came a young fellow whose skin was so white in contrast with his swarthy neighbors that it seemed like marble except for his sunburned arms and shoulders with their telltale strips of white where the bathing suit had protected his skin. I glanced at his card. The name was Monahan. I thought I had recognized that devil-may-care grin and assured that there were at least two of us.

The next man was a 253, the first number drafted, Moy Goon, a Chinaman—rejected because underweight. Next came another Chinese, born in San Francisco, with straight eyes and Caucasian features; following him, a Negro prize fighter and that rare bird, an American—an automobile mechanic.

The "slacker" was little in evidence despite the newspaper scare-heads. Few claimed exemption except those who were legally entitled to do so. Italians seemed eager to be accepted. The Austrians were the outstanding exception. Practically none were citizens or had any intention of becoming so, although many had lived eight, ten or twelve years in America. The presence of an increasingly large body of permanent alien residents is going to create a serious war problem. Already there are signs of resentment against these men who are today enjoying the highest common labor wage in the world and are nevertheless not subject to demands made by the State upon the citizen. To compel them to serve in the army is out of the question, especially in view of the anomalous position of Austria today. We may be at war with her tomorrow. In that case, it has been suggested, it will be possible to intern them as enemy residents and to put them to work at war prisoner's wages—about one fourth the average today.

We generally had twenty or more in the room at the same time. At first sight I thought of Walt Whitman. Here truly was a theme for that singer of democracy, these men with their naked bodies and bulging muscles. This was my first thought. Later on I thought more of Edwin Markham. There was much material for more lines like "The Man With the Hoe."

If ever our tyrannical industrial system has marked men, it has marked these. The Austrians (Dalmatians, Croatsians, Slavonians), seem years older than they really are. Repeatedly I asked some one who appeared forty or more his age and discovered that he was twenty-seven or twenty-eight. Hard work, lack of mental training, and no athletic sports had made them old before their time.

During the examination of heart and lungs each candidate was required to run and jump. Some of these Slav laborers had actually never run or jumped since earliest boyhood! This seems wholly unbelievable to one who thinks of baseball and sports as the natural accompaniment of adolescence and young manhood. Yet it is literally, shamefully, true. Each applicant was required to jump straight up in the air, bringing his heels sharply against the buttocks as he jumped. Every American boy can do this readily. Not a single one of the more than two hundred Slav laborers could perform this simple feat. Already the packing plants and steel mills have begun to take their fearful toll. Today it is stiff muscles and slow movements. Within five years—certainly within ten—these men will be chronic rheumatics, stolid of face and slow of mind, they toil ten and twelve hours a day in mill and stock yards. Their exercise and recreation are the saloon and dance hall.

Then the tailors and shoemakers. The Italians and Jews suffer most here—no chest expansion—breathing wholly with their abdomens—their shoulders pulled inward by the hunched up positions of their trades. These men will tomorrow be the recruits for another army, the one which fills the tuberculosis hospitals. Their pasty skins and rounded shoulders are ominous for the next generation.

And the Negroes. These with their start in the south should be free from the defects of the white laborer. But already the city has done the mischief. Heart and lung lesions testify of the way we have packed this people into our east-off tenements between the slum and the dive. "Look at those fellows," said the physician, "built like giants and rotten inside." I wished we had a thousand Mary Church Terrells to tell as well as she does the wrongs of this race.

Even the young Americans had fallen victims to the enemies of Health. There was a young bartender with an alcoholic heart, two drug addicts with the puncture marks of the hypodermic syringe on arm and abdomen, and a barber rejected for lung defects. He said that until a year ago he had worked in a basement.

Most of the rejection are directly traceable to occupational causes. These include not only the premature old age and stiff knees of the laborer, but the maimed arms, mis-slag fingers and burned limbs as well. Others are indirectly economic. Poor pay and ignorance due to poverty have prevented proper treatment and trifling ailments that proper care might have cured have become serious defects.

Even the diseases due to vice, one cannot help thinking, are fundamentally economic. Ten per cent, or more were venereally diseased at the time of examination. Alcoholism is common. Yet these are the penalties for packing men and women too closely where the surface of the earth is valuable. The individual is paying the penalty for the sins of the mass.

The War Department at Washington will shortly have the physical data concerning a million men. If a statistician with sympathy and imagination will but classify the facts set forth on the examination cards, he will have released a document that will furnish the most potent argument for American democracy that has ever been published. In those cold figures are stories, histories, poems, orations. Could these but be released, the rising storm now beating strongly against despotism abroad would turn and destroy the system which made such results possible in America.

SHOES SAYINGS

Geo. Noakes is hauling material for a new corn crib. Elmer Noakes and wife of Wayne spent Sunday with Geo. Noakes.

Julius Herman and Hilda were Randolph visitors Thursday evening.

George Marsh of Randolph visited relatives here Saturday and Sunday.

W. H. Root and August Carstens autoed to Randolph Wednesday morning.

Warner Moats and son Peter of Osmond are visiting at the T. A. Jackson home.

Mrs. Guy Root and children went to Wayne Sunday for a visit with her mother, Mrs. Cross.

The Ladies Aid met at the church Thursday. The next meeting will be with Mrs. C. O. Selton.

E. C. Braggion of Sioux City was in town Tuesday. He is traveling for a wholesale house.

Mrs. Hurlbert who has been at the hospital at Norfolk is fast improving in health and expects to come home soon.

Geo. Marsh and Guy Root and W. H. Root autoed to Wynot Sunday. They found plenty of wild grapes, but very few fish.

Henry Tietgen has purchased the building formerly used for a harness shop. He moved it to his farm east of town and will use it for a hog house.

Mrs. John Jackson is at the Methodist hospital in Omaha for treatment and her many friends will be glad to know that she is improving in health.

Miles Moats of Missouri Valley, Iowa, a brother of Mrs. T. A. Jackson was shaking hands with friends here Thursday. Miles expects to leave with Iowa troops soon and is anxious to go.

Last week V. Isom enjoyed a visit from his sister, whom he had not seen for several years. They returned Saturday to their home at Sioux City accompanied by Clara Isom who is employed in a restaurant there.

The Patton brothers and Miss Mary Patton of Salome Springs, Arkansas, came Friday for a visit at the A. E. McDowell home. They report good roads and a splendid trip from the south. They went to Walthill Sunday for a visit with Will Patton and wife.

One of the instructive and interesting features at the Madison county fair, according to the Norfolk Press, and that is good authority, was the "Homemaker Booth." The one thing which appeared to appeal most was the economy shown in the making of garments for children from the clothing of older people which is too frequently cast aside and permitted to spoil by mould, mildew or moths.

With a bit of training and care many children may be clothed from the partially worn clothes of older and larger ones, better than much of the new clothing purchased these days of high costs and advancing prices. They have a home demonstration agent in Madison county as well as a farm demonstrator, and beyond a doubt both are proving worth more to the people than they cost.

A NEAR-ACCIDENT

A party of young folks consisting of Misses Mable and Minnie Thompson, Frank Brune and Irvin Cook, started to Winside-Saturday evening last and with the hope of arriving there before they started the driver exceeded the speed limit a trifle. In result the car balked, tipped over—a couple of times—and mauled the occupants of the car in pretty bad shape. Those Ford are always ready to paw the backbones, boys, and you shouldn't tease them. Trying to get a 100 mile clip out of a 49 mife critter like that makes 'em peevish and they bite back somethin' awful. Nobody killed, only shaken up and bruised, was the result and we are glad indeed that we are not called to to chronicle a death.
