MRS. S. E. AUKER ANSWERS SUMMONS

After Years Spent in Usefulness, Loved by Everyone, She is Called in the Prime of Life.

EIGHT CHILDREN SURVIVE HER

Wayne friends of the S. E. Auker family were shocked and grieved last Thursday morning when the news reached them of the death of Mrs. Auker. Although she had been ill the greater part of six weeks and the attending physicians gave out the news that she was seriously ill it seemed impossible that death was so near and when the end came and the good woman slept the peaceful sleep that has no awakening here, the grief of the husband and children was almost unbearable. All thru her suffering the patient had smiled reassurance to them all and to the last she was, as she had always been, thoughtful and considerate of those around her. Mrs. Auker's life since marriage was spent in home-making. She had, as the years slipped by, God's greatest gifts, the love of a husband, children, home. And she was supremely happy always, radiating a Christian cheer and kindness that endeared her to everyone who knew her. Her life was spent in training the steps of the children and that they profited by her teachings is very evident in each of the lives of her noble sons and daughters. The writer met her but once and the memory of the friendly smile and the welcome grip of the hand to a stranger in a strange land will not be forgotten. Her last words, "Tell the children to go to bed, they will be tired tomorrow," showed her greatness of heart. Even at the hour when she realized the approach of the messenger, her one thought was for her loved ones. What a sermon her life must be to those who knew her best.

Funeral services were held at the Methodist church Saturday morning at 10:30. The Rev. D. W. MacGregor officiating. He took for his text, "Come Up Higher." In a few simple words he spoke words of comfort to the bereaved and paid fitting tributes to the departed. The choir sang some of the old hymns and with the singing of familiar songs came memories of our own hour of deep grief and we realized from the heartfelt sympathy in our heart for the bereaved that day that "Sorrow makes the whole world kin." There were many and beautiful floral offerings there, a silent message from relatives and friends.

Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

Helen Arabella O'Kieffe was born December 18, 1863 at Rochelle, Illinois, and died at Wayne, Nebraska, November 15, 1917. In early childhood she moved with her parents to Tecumseh, where she grew to womanhood and married Stephen E. Auker, March 12, 1882. In 1887 they moved to Rushville. It was here she joined the Methodist church. In 1898, she, with her husband, moved to Wayne county where she has since made her home.

She leaves to mourn her loss, her husband, seven sons, A. E., of Winfield; C. O., of Ponca; E. J., of Wayne; W. F., of Ponca; G. L., of Laurel; Robert and Irvan still at home; and two daughters, Mrs. C. H. Hendrickson and Mrs. Earl Merchant both of Wayne. An aged mother, Mrs. Mary O'Kieffe of Burkett, and a sister, Miss Minnie O'Kieffe who lived with her. Four brothers, Abner of Uffington, West Virginia; George of Gordon, Nebraska; Charles of Fargo, North Dakota; and Grant of Spokane, Washington.

GUSTAV KRAMER DIES AT CAMP FUNSTON

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Kramer and daughters, Freda and Bertha, and son Karl were Wayne visitors Wednesday evening enroute to their home at Norfolk. They had been to Concord to attend the funeral of their nephew Gustav Kramer, who died at Camp Funston, Kansas, Friday last. The young man was but twenty-three years of age. He went to Camp Funston the first week in October. The last letter his parents received from him was written November 13 and he said he was ill with the measles and "felt bummy," but wrote a cheerful letter. On the 16th he died as the result of pneumonia. It is indeed sad to hear of the death of our boys and we deeply sympathize with the relatives. Gustav was a favorite among the people of his home town and many flowers were sent from friends at Concord and surrounding towns.

PATRIOTIC MEETING AT ALTONA

The patriotic speeches at Altona Sunday afternoon were to as many people as could find room within the neatly decorated room where the meeting was held. The people were addressed by G. S. Meers, O. R. Bowen, A. B. Davis, F. S. Berry and others. Such meetings are doing much to make plain to the people the need of undivided allegiance to the government in such a time as this.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS MAKE DRIVE FOR CASH

The Y. M. C. A. and the Knights of Columbus—brothers, one might say, in providing aid for the soldiers and sailors in the service of their country. The Knights are to have their inning this week, and are asking the loyal people of the nation to give that they may have the needed money with which to provide the soldier boys with needful and healthful recreation, as well as to look after their moral condition and surroundings. And if, perchance, any are called to enter the dark river which divides time from eternity they may have a spiritual guide to lead them gently to the brink and bid them fear not as they enter the great unknown.

That they will meet with a liberal response is known in advance, for Wayne county people are doing their part in furnishing men, money and loyal support to the boys at the front and in training camps.

Of Nebraska's assigned part in this great work, the Omaha World-Herald on Monday contained the following in an editorial:

"The drive in Nebraska this week to raise $150,000 for the Knights of Columbus war fund is analogous to the Y. M. C. A. drive of last week and is equally deserving of the hearty and generous support of all Nebraska people."

"The movement is endorsed by President Wilson and Secretary of War Baker, as well as by prominent leaders like Roosevelt, Taft and Bryan, and it has the strong support of Chairman Fogdick of the War Department committee on training camp activities. The Y. M. C. A. leaders are thorely in sympathy with it, as a work that will supplement and strengthen their own great work among the soldier boys."

"Out of the proceeds to be raised buildings will be erected and equipped, at home and abroad, wherever our soldiers are congregated. These will be not alone amusement and recreation centers for all soldiers, whether Catholic or Protestants, but will provide mass and confessional facilities and maintain volunteer priests with all units of the service."

"This latter feature is of the highest importance, and it has to deal with a problem that could not be readily solved in any other way."

"In the regular army and militia regiments, in the navy and marine corps, it is estimated that the Catholics furnish from 35 to 50 per cent of the fighting forces. When it is considered that the Catholics comprise only about 18 per cent of the population this showing is one in which they may justly take pride. But to keep the morale of the soldiers professing this faith up to the highest standards it is essential to provide them with the means for fulfilling their religious obligations. These call for regular attendance at mass and the confessional. For this purpose buildings, equipment and volunteer chaplains are needed, and it is the Knights of Columbus war fund that will meet this need."

The Home Drive

The Knights of Columbus are not numerous here, but they are starting in to go "over the top" of the $500 apportionment for this county, and made a splendid start Sunday morning when a committee was named and nearly $200 subscribed at a meeting where but few were present.

The committee named for this county are E. J. Huntmer, J. C. Nuss, T. W. Moran and John Shannon of Wayne; John Brugger and E. Cullen of Winside; and Thos. Pryor and James Stanton of Carroll. This committee plan to make their canvass as rapidly as possible, and hope to meet with encouragement which will make their work quick and effective.

Their appeal is to all who are willing to help this great work of making camp life in the cantonments and at the front if they are called there, as near like home life as is possible. Their work is identical with the work of the Y. M. C. A. except that they have their church services for those of that faith, but their every benefit is as free for those of other beliefs as for their own followers.

This state is asked for $150,000, and it will doubtless be more than subscribed. Omaha was asked for $50,000 and that is already over-subscribed. Meet the members of the committee with a smile when they come for after them will come others asking aid for worthy causes.

It pays to advertise.

THOMAS WILFORD SHIRTS

Thomas Wilford Shirts was born at Whitestown, Indiana, May 21, 1853, and died at his home northwest of Carroll, Nebraska, November 19, 1917. On September 3, 1879 he was married to Miss Mary McFall in Keokuk county, Iowa. Five children were born to this union, one of whom, Della, died at the age of one year and six months, the others are: Ralph and Hattie, at home; Edgar at Carroll and Mrs. Blanch Tucker also of Carroll. His aged wife also survives him.

Mr. and Mrs. Shirts moved to Wayne in 1884 and Mr. Shirts was one of the first blacksmiths to locate at Wayne. They made their home here eight years, then moved to Carroll where Mr. Shirts followed his trade for several years, after which they moved onto a farm where Mr. Shirts died. For more than a year he has been a great sufferer but bore his pain with Christian fortitude and waited anxiously for the last summons.

Funeral services were held at the Baptist church at Carroll Tuesday afternoon at one o'clock, Rev. M. L. Dilley, officiating. Many friends were in attendance and there were numerous floral offerings among which was a wreath sent by the A. O. U. W. lodge of which he was a member. Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery at Wayne.

Mrs. Geo. Risher of Omaha, a sister of Mrs. Shirts and Mrs. Geo. Shirts and Mrs. Bert Lewis of Winside attended the funeral services.

The Democrat offers condolences to the bereaved relatives.

SHOT WAY OVER MARK

John D. Haskell, chairman of the eighth district, including the five counties of Cedar, Dixon, Wayne, Thurston, and Dakota, reports the army Y. M. C. A. drive a great success and a splendid tribute to the loyalty and patriotism of the people of those counties. The apportionment for each county was as follows:

Cedar, $6,000; Dixon county, $5,000; Wayne county, $4,500; Thurston county, $2,000; Dakota county, $1,200, a total of $18,700, more than double the apportionment. If the whole state does as well, Nebraska will have $550,000. Great praise is due the splendid body of men who conducted the campaign and solicited the money. They were all busy men; picked because they were busy men, men who get results. They laid aside their own pressing duties and gave liberally of time and money, in the desire to do their bit for their country in this time of need.

ORDINATION SERVICE

Rev. Fletcher J. Jordan will be ordained by the First Baptist church of Wayne, November 27, 1917, at 7:30 p. m. Last Tuesday the pastor with Messrs. S. R. Theobald and C. E. Sprague met the Permanent Ordaining council at Lincoln. This council is made up of twenty-five of the leading pastors and laymen in the state. The examination was passed successfully.

The following men from the Permanent Council will be here on the evening of the ordination: Rev. E. F. Jordan, Ph. D., President of Grand Island College; Rev. L. R. Bobbitt, York; Rev. A. H. Nickel, Polk; Rev. N. C. Parsons; and Rev. Ray E. York of Lincoln, who is at the present time Corresponding Secretary and Superintendent of Missions for Nebraska; also the pastor and two laymen from each church in the Northeastern Association. Dr. Jordan is to preach the ordination sermon. The public are very cordially invited to this meaningful service.

MORE ABOUT THE CORN CONDITION

John Morgan, who returned last week from a visit at Harlan, Iowa, and having been a farmer for many years, quite naturally he studied the corn situation closely. His findings were not encouraging for the man who grew corn last season. First, he says that in Harlan and vicinity they have more soft corn than here; at least they are hollering louder about it. He found huskers called from their jobs all down along the line this side of the river, because the corn was spoiling in the crib. This condition appears to prevail thru all the Missouri valley region and also in the Mississippi valley region in Iowa and Illinois. A letter from his son in Minnesota tells him that they are much the same there, and that he had taken a new turn on the corn harvest. When the weather turned warm and muggy he stopped husking, hitched onto a corn binder and went out and cut and bound about twenty acres, thinking it will make better feed that way than to try to husk it. The letter said that the leaves were nearly all on the stalks in his vicinity at that time. The best solution appears to be to leave it in the field at present or sort it carefully when cribbing. Farmer Morgan expressed the opinion that corn that will heat in the crib is practically worthless as a fattening food after it has been smoking hot.

"The Democrat is glad to make public the opinions and theories of the different farmers and has been farmers and near-farmers on farm questions; even those some do not agree with them and make light of them."

LATE NEWS NOTES

A report from Camp Cody at Deming says that the quarantine enforced there against measles makes things appear worse than they are. That a few cases of measles developing throws the entire regiment into quarantine for a time. In the entire camp the cases decreased yesterday from 303 to 223, and that no pneumonia or other complications had developed in connection with the measles. The death rate in the camp is less than in a like number of civilians in everyday walks of life.

The pendulum is swinging back again in Russia, and the radicals who recently won over the more conservative ones are not popular with the people. Their rule is said to be more oppressive than that of the former Czar. Russia, we believe, will yet come to her own and develop a government of, by and for the people. It takes time, of course.

WAYNE COUNTY BOYS WELL

The daily papers report that a considerable number of the soldier boys at Camp Funston are in quarantine, and that there are a number of cases of spinal meningitis in the camp. Thru Dr. Britell, Jas. Ahern of the Public Service club is assured that the soldier boys from Wayne county are well. This is good news. The newspaper reports show that this disease is being treated so effectively that the death loss is far less than ever before known from the disease.

Y. W. C. A. SENDS WOMAN SPEAKER TO WAYNE

For Co-Operative Work with Y. M. C. A. This Organization Needs Money—Miss O'Connell Speaks.

AMOUNT ASKED HERE SMALL

Miss O'Connell, field secretary for the Young Women's Christian Association of Minneapolis visited Wayne Sunday in the interest of the Y. W. C. A. She gave an interesting talk Sunday afternoon at the Methodist church. Unfortunately but a small audience was out but Miss O'Connell planted the seed for the campaign and Miss Blandin, our food demonstrator, will appoint committees to take up the work of soliciting for funds to carry out the work of the Y. W. C. A. in the camps and at the front among the soldiers and especially among the young girls near the camps.

The work of the Y. W. C. A. is not as generally understood as the work of the Y. M. C. A. It is only necessary to get the work of the Young Women's association well advertised to get the desired result.

The things the Y. W. C. A. will do with the money you give in this campaign are these:

It will erect "hostess homes" at army camps, where the wives, mothers and sweethearts of soldiers may be cared for while visiting. It will care for the emergency housing of employed girls in munitions plants, where adequate accommodations have not been supplied. It will build rest rooms for nurses at the front—a function that the Red Cross cannot perform, since all its money is to be used for the alleviation of suffering only. It will do community work among women industrial workers in foreign lands, along the line of the work already being done by Y. W. C. A. representatives in France and Russia. It will help in the care of negro women employed at war work in communities where these women have not been provided for.

The share for Wayne county is $595.00. It is a very small amount for a splendid cause. We should ever subscribe that amount.

It is true that these are days when the pocket-book is kept pretty low on account of the needs of this great nation of ours but we at home must sacrifice if our boys in the camps and on the firing line are getting the best we can give them.

DO YOU MAKE THE FIRES?

Then you will appreciate the Drop Draft Door of the Copper-Clad Range.

Put your kindling in—light from the outside and leave draft door down to force the draft.

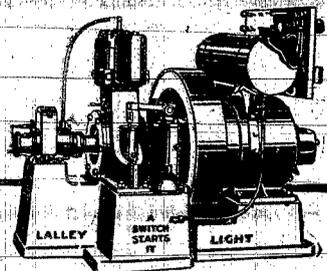

Your fire burns strong and quick—then you close up tight all over and hold a slow fire for a long, long time. To quicken the fire again, open door and use poker. This is one reason for buying a Copper-Clad Range. There are 25 others. You will be "Range Happy" with a Copper-Clad.

Hoover has a big job—regulating the food supply—but he is making good headway, considering that there never before has been an occasion to do such work in America—the no doubt much good might have been done by some regulation years ago. We have wasted a lot in the past, and are doing it yet. An hundred different savings might be made without injury to anyone.

In England and other European countries where they have had to practice economies that we know little or nothing about in this country they are now making fireless cookers at the manual training departments of the schools and selling them to the people at about cost. By their use fuel is conserved very much, and not only that, but the time spent in tending fires for other cooking can be given to other work.

Peter Coyle went to Lincoln Wednesday morning where he will attend a musical in which his granddaughter, Miss Marcella Coyle, takes part. Miss Marcella is doing splendidly in her music and as this musical is in the nature of a contest before competent judges, she is expected to make a good showing. If the young lady fall, let her grandfather get into the game with his violin.

In one of our exchanges we have just read a family obituary. The aged father had been called, evidently, for the account of the death told when he was born, when he was married, when his different children had passed away and the date of the departure of his beloved wife and companion, the day of the week when the funeral was held, but did not give the date of the death of the man who was supposed to be the central figure of the family history.

Leo Pryor of David City has joined the army, entering the quartermaster department in a clerical capacity, and was assigned to duty at Fort Logan, Colorado, about a month ago. His qualifications soon won recognition and promotion, and he is now secretary private to Major Harrington, one of the responsible positions in the camp. Mr. Pryor is son of Mrs. M. A. Pryor, and is a Wayne lad leaving here a few years ago for school and graduating from the law department about two years ago, he located at David City.

The writer had an opportunity of visiting the Wayne golf links last week and playing thereon. The Wayne golf enthusiasts have a very good nine hole course laid out, it is well cared for, and will in time be one of the best courses to be found in a country town. They also have a dandy little club house, something which the local club ought to have. While playing on the Wayne course we had the good fortune of meeting several of the golf fans and we would say that Wayne may well be proud of these men, princely fellows, big-hearted hospitality and friendliness personified. It was a great pleasure to meet such men and we count it a privilege to have played upon their course.—Stanton Register.

SOCIAL NOTES

Miss Beechell Entertains
At the Homer Seace home Saturday evening last Miss Beechell entertained the seniors of the Normal. Each guest was asked to represent some well known child in fiction. About sixty-eight guests were present and the evening was very pleasantly spent.

The guests were divided into three groups, A, B, and C and different rooms were assigned them where they played various games. Later in the evening the party was divided into two groups and spent some time in nature study. It was a sort of contest and the winning side was presented with a box of animal cookies.

Professor Coleman led in some interesting songs after which the guests were treated to brick ice cream, cake and candy. The ice cream was lavender and white, the class colors.

Miss Mabel Senter as "Mother Goose," Romona McElroy as "Pocahontas" and Professor Coleman as "Jack" of "Jack and Jill" fame, carried off the prizes. The guessing contest in which all took part as to what character each one represented was greatly enjoyed.

When good nights were said the guests departed happy and better able to take up their work after a peep into the happy yesterdays. Most of us had happy childhoods free from cares and sorrows and some of the happiest hours of long ago were spent with the children of the fiction world. A trip to those by-gone yesterdays would do us all good and make life less of a grind.

The Minerva club met on Monday of this week with Mrs. W. E. Beaman. Mrs. Beaman opened the program with a piano solo and responded to an encore. The lesson "Nebraska," with two leaders, was taken entire charge of by Mrs. Lou Owen in the absence of Mrs. Henry Ley. Mrs. Owen related many important historical facts in regard to our own native state and during the course of her talk made us glad that we are citizens of the most "intelligent state in the most intellectual country in the world." Mrs. James Britton told a few of her personal experiences of Nebraska pioneer days. The story of those early hardships and privations should engender in the hearts of those who live in modern ease in prosperous Nebraska a feeling of warmer gratitude to those heroic men and women. The club voted 10 cents per capita to the state Federation Scholarship fund. At the close of an interesting lesson, Mrs. Beaman, assisted by her committee, Mesdames Fortner, Hunter, Roe, Dean and Coleman, served a delicious supper made up of Nebraska home products. The club will meet December 3 with Mrs. Hickman.

The Coterie's plans for a meeting with Mrs. LeRoy Ley last Monday were altered, owing to the illness of the hostess and the club met, instead, with Mrs. Warren Shulteis. Mrs. Horace Theobald gave a splendid talk on "Departments of the Government" explaining the various duties of each department. Mrs. L. A. Fanske read Mrs. William Howard Taft's very interesting description of "Social Life in Washington." The free-will offering for the purpose of helping provide the soldiers with small paper testaments amounted to $3.25. The club then enjoyed a social hour and a buffet luncheon provided by the members. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. L. A. Fanske.

The Shakespeare club met with Miss Fairchild Tuesday evening at the A. H. Ellis home. The evening was one of great interest. The papers read were excellent. Miss Fairchild read a paper on "The Blue Cross on the Battlefield." Miss Redmond's subject was "The Origin of the Red Cross." Miss Stocking gave the latest war news. This was especially interesting. Mrs. Phillips' subject was "Prominent Men in War" and Miss Craven talked on "Life's Problems." Miss Luers told some interesting facts on the way our war news is censored. The next meeting will be with Miss Luers, Tuesday evening, December 4.

The Early Hour club had a very pleasant meeting last Thursday evening. Mr. and Mrs. J. Harrington entertained the members of the club by taking them to the Methodist church basement where a six o'clock dinner was served. All the good things the Methodist ladies know how to cook were served and the supper was greatly enjoyed. After supper the guests repaired to the Harrington home where the balance of the evening was spent playing 500.

Thirty-six bright young women made up the class of earnest Bible students attending the circle meeting with Opal Robbins as hostess Friday evening. Spirited songs, heart to heart talks on Romans 14, a prayer and loving handshake, cheered and lifted the happy company. A hike and a like meeting for Saturday night with Miss Marietta Clasen as hostess and Daisy Fox as leader, is planned.

Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. C. W. Hiscox entertained her Sunday school class of six boys from the Presbyterian church. The little fellows were delightfully entertained. The feature of the afternoon was a wiener roast and they also toasted marshmallows. The boys think their teacher is a wonderful hostess and they pronounced the afternoon "great."

The Acme club met with Mrs. A. H. Ellis Monday. The time was taken up in a discussion of a conservative Thanksgiving. It begins to look as if some of our Wayne households would be turkeyless and maybe meatless. The next meeting will be with Mrs. A. M. Jacobs. Mrs. Davies will read an article from a leading magazine and lead the discussion on current events.

Mrs. A. A. Welch and Mrs. M. S. Davies entertained at a six o'clock dinner Wednesday evening in honor of Lieutenant Welch who is home on a short furlough. Besides the guest of honor and the Welch and Davies families the following guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Chace, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Jacobs, and Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Philleo.

Mrs. F. G. Philleo entertained the following guests Monday evening at a six o'clock dinner in honor of Lieutenant Welch: Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Chace, Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Davies, Judge and Mrs. A. A. Welch and Mrs. Harry Armstrong. The evening was spent playing Royalty and music added to the pleasure of the guests.

The Rural Home society was to have met today but on account of the busy corn husking season the meeting has been postponed until December 6. They will meet on that date with Mrs. J. C. Forbes in an all day session and the time will be spent sewing for the Red Cross.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Henney entertained at a six o'clock dinner Wednesday evening in honor of Mrs. D. S. McVicker of Douglas, Wyoming, who is visiting with relatives and friends here. Mr. and Mrs. Grant S. Mears were guests. A delightful evening is reported.

The Pleasant Valley club met last Friday with Mrs. Andy Thompson. A short time was spent in parliamentary drill. Mrs. Will Morgan gave a paper on "The Women of China." A two course luncheon was served. The next meeting will be with Mrs. M. C. Lower, December 20.

Mrs. Gossard welcomed a crowd of her old time neighbors and friends Tuesday at the Bible study circle. Among the party was Mrs. Bracken of Blair and Mrs. Wells of Tilden, visiting relatives here. The next

THE BRUNSWICK

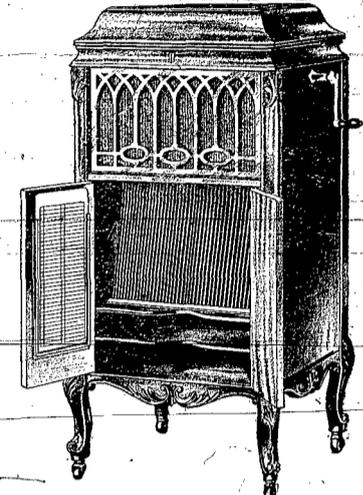

Unlocks the Gates for All Lovers of Music!

Until the coming of the Brunswick, music lovers had to buy and play records made by the makers of their phonographs. This meant barring many of the favorite artists. It meant a limited selection.

For instance, the Brunswick makes it possible for you to now enjoy the famous Pathe records, Europe's favorites. The wonderful Pathe records cannot be played on ordinary phonographs. The Brunswick provides a sound box for the Pathe records without extra cost.

Now you may buy any record you want, whatever make, and the Brunswick will play it as you never heard it played before. The Brunswick plays all records. It is all phonographs in one. It opens the gate to a new world of music, hitherto limited.

Hear the Brunswick yourself, then decide. We leave it to you, after making comparison. We know you will agree with thousands of others that the Brunswick has a better tone, and that its many features make it the phonograph you always wanted.

FOOD CONSERVATION REPORTS

According to the daily papers, Superintendent Pearl Sewell was the first superintendent in the state to make report of the result of the canvass made by the teachers and children. In one school a patron sent back word to the effect that he wanted nothing to do with it, and that it was foolishness, etc., and his expressions were reported by the teacher to the superintendent, and by her to the state superintendent, and from his report was taken by the papers and given to the people of the state. When it thus came back to the public in this vicinity it attracted more than passing interest, and there are those who think the superintendent and teacher should not have reported the matter. We think they did their duty, and the person sending the report back to the teacher should receive the blame, if any there be. Rev. Fischer of the church southwest of Wayne was the one sending back the report commented on. It is possible that the real importance of the cards thus brought in by the children is not realized, for here where a committee made the canvass they found those who did not appear to realize the full scope of the move, and inclined to make light of it, and doubtless if their reports are made public as they should be, they will wish they had considered the matter before replying.

Help Us Serve
the Nation First!

We can perform our full measure of service to the nation only when we handle the governments requests for service, for equipment and for men ahead of all private requirements.

New construction to meet the increased demands upon our facilities brought about by the war has been held back by the shortage of both labor and materials.

You can "do your bit" by asking only for equipment you must have and by making only such local and long distance calls as are absolutely necessary.

NEBRASKA TELEPHONE CO.

STAND BY THE PRESIDENT!
(From the Goldenrod)

We are hearing a great deal these days about freedom of speech and the abuse of it, about loyalty and disloyalty, about patriotism and treason. Epithets and accusations are being hurled about with considerable force and frequency.

What is the good citizen to do, who does not wish, on the one hand, to bear the stigma of being unpatriotic and who on the other hand does not wish to stultify himself entirely by keeping his thoughts to himself, if indeed, one can be a good citizen who merely attends to his own business and open not his mouth at all on public questions? Nothing can be more conducive to lack of interest in public matters than to be forbidden to say anything about them.

We are exceedingly fortunate, at this time, in having for our president a man whose policies, so often stated publicly, are so inclusive of all that we consider best in our national and international life. Our president has never been accused of lacking high ideals. And furthermore there is no one to whom we owe higher allegiance in time of war than to him who is at once our commander-in-chief and in a very true sense the leader of the people.

These things being true what are some of the essential features of the president's policies that we may support them?

First, he wishes to procure the defeat of the German arms. This is not the whole truth but it is truth. To be loyal, we must wish the same. Many, however, stop here and follow the president no farther. They refuse especially to take the step next noted.

Second, our president led us into this war, as a war against war—a war for international organization. This is the paramount aim and hope of the American people. Our hesitation before entering the war, and the documentary evidence pertaining to our participation are conclusive on this point.

Many, however, who are with the president in seeking the defeat of Germany are wholly against him in this matter. They regard any dependence on international organization as varying in degree from chimerical phantasy to downright wickedness.

Third, the president stands for democracy with all that it implies—the right of self government, social justice, belief in the ultimate judgment of the masses, faith in the integrity of all peoples (including the German) and the brotherhood of man.

Finally, the president is for a broad spirit of toleration among ourselves in-so-far as such forbearance does not actually impede the prosecution of the war. For the judging of conduct, the laws and the courts—not effusive sentiment—are to furnish the standard. He is utterly opposed to unauthorized acts of individuals or mobs, however mistakenly patriotic, if they inflict illegal penalties.

Since these policies are vital to our war life, how can we be as patriotic as we ought, unless we stand for all of them? How can we be patriotic at all if we oppose any of them?

Stand by the President!
—J. G. W. Lewis.

A LETTER FROM MISS PIPER
(From the Goldenrod)

We have been handed a letter from Miss Elsie Ford Piper, head of the Latin department, and are grateful for permission to quote therefrom. Miss Piper for a number of years has been at her post as Latin instructor and preceptress of Terrace Hall and well deserves this year's leave of absence as reward for faithful service. She is spending the year in study at Leland Stanford University.

She writes of the delightfulness of the climate. "California weather so far has been perfect—like the first of October at home, only warmer in the middle of the day. I wear a light sweater to school in the mornings but usually carry it back to lunch. * * * California is still brown as it hasn't rained for five months. They expect the rains to begin any day now, then it will be green, they say. I was disappointed at first because I expected a regular garden everywhere. The palm trees are beautiful, however, and so are the live oaks."

Miss Piper lives at her sorority house and describes it as "a beautiful large three-storied stucco house, with a most wonderful garden." She adds, "I wish you could see the chrysanthemums now. All kinds and hundreds of them—the large ones, red, pink, white, yellow, red and yellow." There are eighteen girls living at Alpha O. They have splendid meals prepared by a Chinese cook who has been there five years and for twenty years before that was with the family of one of the girls.

A few rules governing the girls in the sorority house are given in this letter and we find them somewhat similar to those with which our girls comply. "Everyone on the campus, whether in hall or private house must be in at 10:30, Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights included, unless at a "chaperoned" party. No young lady can ride in an automobile after dark. They can not go to the city and stay at a hotel unchaperoned. There is a camp, Camp Fremont, near here and none of the soldiers are allowed on the campus."

It is interesting to know the extent of the university grounds and the distance from the nearest town and from San Francisco. "The campus here is very large, 3,900 acres, all of which belongs to the University. On the campus are the Quadrangle (buildings proper), the dormitories, the professors' homes, the club houses, sorority and fraternity houses, boarding houses, etc. The University leases the ground to the house owners, but never sells it. We have our own postoffice. We are about a mile from Palo Alto which is a little town of about 5,000. The stores, however, are not much as

THAN KILLING THEM

The following extract of a letter written to the Sioux City Tribune by J. A. Dyorak, Tabor, South Dakota, is self explanatory.

By way of comment upon the letter of Dr. Walton, of Huron in which he does not approve of the buying of German high up men by the allies, I shall express a few ideas that may relieve the shock which the very mention of treason and bribery cause.

War is exactly what General Sherman said it was. War is a game. Germany, or rather Prussia, is an old offender when it comes to perfidy and bribery. It tried its old card with success in 1866 by buying the Austrian general, Benedek, and, with his treason, victory; and it tried it with success when it started this war, and the huge Russian armies which invaded Prussia and later Galicia, were defeated by the bribing of two men. I doubt the Russians could have been defeated any other way. War is a bloody and grim game. Germany inaugurated frightfulness. It murdered non-combatants, children and women, made aerial attacks upon unfortified towns and committed other heinous acts, and continued until France inaugurated a campaign of reprisals and the Huns quit. However, they continue these raids upon English towns; and England, always a little slow about getting excited, intends to follow the example of France to put a stop to these outrages.

The reason I mentioned the fact that the allies should use the same methods against Germany as Germany has been using against them for three years, is that they, and we, are in this war to win, primarily; and, furthermore, it would put a stop to many outrages of Germany. If it should be expedient to buy Hindenburg, or a lesser military light, to betray his forces, I do not see why that should be a greater crime than killing them to win. When the Germans kill to win, why, the allies shoot back to kill to win. When Germany for these three years bribes to win, why should not the allies bribe to win? The rule works both ways.

The buying of big men in Germany at this time, if necessary, would be nothing more nor less than a reprisal, not dishonor, for Germany's continual breach and violation of every rule of civilized warfare, humanity, principle, laws of God and man. I don't think it to be a greater crime to bribe a few big men to win victory than to kill them by the millions to gain the same end. Of course, we need not become beasts, and must draw the line somewhere, and we need not follow Germany's example in beastly acts of no military value or advantage. If the allies and we give Germany a dose of her own medicine, blow for blow, I think that outlaw nation would soon respect the rules of war. The way to treat a criminal intent upon killing you is to shoot him."

That might be all right if they would stay bought. In the early days the pioneers learned by sad experience that "dead Indians were the only good Indians;" and some went so far as to act upon the theory that papooses made Indians.

AN ANCIENT STORY AND A MODERN APPLICATION

Once upon a time there were born in Italy twin boys whose delight was to fight each other. They were not out of their cradle before they had their first encounter. When the mother dressed them and sat one at each end of the cradle they would crawl to the side and fight like cats but neither would overcome the other. When they were old enough to stand by holding on to something, one would draw himself up by a chair opposite his brother. Then they would meet at the back and begin another fight.

They fought as regularly as they had their meals but neither could ever subdue the other for they were of equal strength and skill. When they grew to manhood they fought with swords but so equally skilled were they that neither could harm the other.

One day they fought so long and so fiercely that they knew if they ever fought again, one or both would be killed. They struck hands and swore never to fight each other again.

One went to the East and the other to the West. The one became the champion gladiator of all that country while in the west no man was found who could stand before the other's steel.

The emperor at Rome heard of their fame and arranged for a combat between the champions of the East and the West. A holiday was proclaimed. A hundred thousand people had gathered in the great amphitheater. At the appointed hour the champions marched from opposite sides and met in the center of the arena directly in front of the Emperor. As they crossed swords and looked into each other's eyes each recognized his brother. Should he to shoulder they faced the Emperor and with shining blades on high they proclaimed: "We will fight the whole world but we will never fight each other."

And, so, no matter from what land your ancestors came, whether from Germany, Bohemia, Russia, Italy, Ireland, or any other, I know of no better motto for America than this: "If need be, we will fight the whole world, but we will never fight each other."

(Excerpt from the Liberty Bond address by S. Toledo Sherry, founder of the model farm plan of education.)

A LONG HEADED BANKER

"The palm for sound advice to Nebraska business men on ways to win the war and save the nation from war's disastrous after-effects belongs to Banker Gurney of Fremont. Mr. Gurney's views on war finance may have seemed radical to some of his hearers. Time will prove them to have been most conservative and sound.

Mr. Gurney's advice is of a kind made familiar in recent months by professional economists, but commonly rejected by politicians and business men. He would have the country go down in its pocket and pay for the war just as far as possible out of our current incomes. What we cannot pay now, he would pay immediately after the war by continued war taxes.

What would be the result? American business after the war would be the only business in the world not burdened with back breaking taxes. American labor would be the only labor in the world not starved and rendered inefficient by public debts which call for a large share of its product. America would be the only belligerent not harassed after the war by the consequences of the top-heavy credit which vast issues of war bonds create. If America would give everything to the war now, American business after the war could go on "as usual." For the sake of having business and profits go on "as usual" during one or two years of war, we are in danger of making it all but impossible for business to go on at all after the war.

Mr. Gurney sees that this is the soundest of banking policies, for it avoids the years of uneasy banking that go with the period of reaction from war inflation. It avoids that inflation. He sees that it is sound business, granting that the deep cutting taxes are equitably levied, since the mere sacrifice of surplus income imperils no business, while violent expansion and shrinkages of credit imperil all business. The pay-as-you-go plan is thrift. And everybody ought to know that thrift is the foundation of all sound legitimate prosperity. Mr. Gurney should be sent forth as a missionary to the business men of all the land. He will do them good."

The above is from the Nebraska State Journal, and is to be commended. There is another good reason for paying as we go. The interest cost will double the war debt in about twenty years, figuring compound interest, and it is not fair to the men who are sacrificing time, money, health and even life to have to pay the debt when they get home, or for their relatives to pay if they never come back. We would make excess war profits pay the limit, and then tax the monopolies that hold idle lands, mineral deposits, water power and valuable terminal facilities and like things for the amount lacking. If the burden of the war is properly placed for payment it will go far toward stopping the next war, or postponing it indefinitely.

W. R. MOREHOUSE SUS-TAINED LOSS ON HOGS

A few months ago a glib stranger representing himself as connected with some veterinary company contracted with W. R. Morehouse to vaccinate his herd of 180 head of hogs, says the Randolph Times. He also presented himself to other farmers in this section and secured written contracts for serum and the work of vaccination. He did the necessary work on the Morehouse herd in July or August, we believe, and Mr. Morehouse, resting upon the printed guarantee he had received that the work was to be done with guaranteed serum, thought his hogs were all right and took a trip to Colorado to look after some land he had there.

Last week his hogs began to die at an alarming rate and Mrs. Morehouse was frantic to see the animals dropping off daily. It so happened that Dr. Giffee of Norfolk, government veterinarian, was here at that time and he was driven to the Morehouse home. Dr. Giffee declared the disease was hog cholera, and that the serum administered by the stranger was worthless as a preventative of the disease. One of our local veterinarians was then called and took the case in hand after consultation with Dr. Giffee. The well hogs were given a double dose of the treatment and fourteen sick hogs were treated. One-half of the sick hogs and all of the well ones will be saved as a result. But Mr. Morehouse lost $3,000 worth of hogs as the result of his experience in taking up with a stranger traveling thru the country. He says "never again for him." This experience has taught him a lesson and it is one that every farmer should heed and can apply without the sacrifice Mr. Morehouse has sustained. It is, perhaps, needless to say that Mr. Morehouse is looking for the man that did this work for him and will take steps to see what the guarantee amounts to.

Mr. Morehouse has in his feed yards a carload of Kansas hogs that were vaccinated in compliance with the state law in regard to live stock being shipped in, and these hogs were not sick. The loss was among his own raising that were vaccinated by the traveler.

WHAT PIE FOR THANKSGIVING?

Who ever heard of a real Thanksgiving dinner without mince pie?

It can't be done. There may be cakes and cookies and puddings and all kinds of sweet things but unless there is mince pie there just isn't any real Thanksgiving dinner.

And since it takes mince pie to top off the feast, wouldn't it be a good idea to have mince pie to top off many of the other good meals? Wouldn't it just make the meal on many occasions?

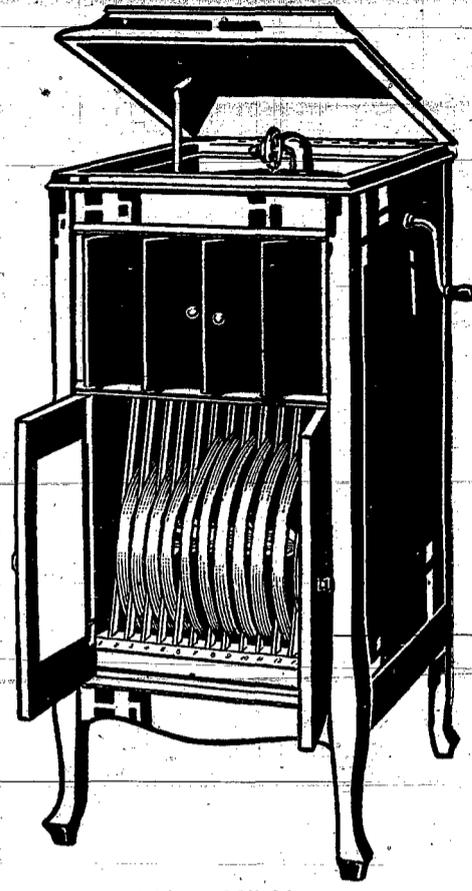

As you probably know, NONE SUCH MINCE MEAT comes in an up-to-date package form—secure handling, is moderate in price and becomes three times the package weight when you add the necessary moisture.

It is the economical way to buy mince meat because it prevents waste. The package recipes are good for pies, cakes, puddings, and cookies.

Try a NONE SUCH War Pie—no top crust. Saves flour, shortening, labor, money—half the cost. Helps the U. S. Food Administration.

The pie that is good enough for Thanksgiving dinner is good enough for all other meals—breakfasts, lunches, suppers, and in the dinner parl. Try it with NONE SUCH MINCE MEAT.

Variety Store News

By next Saturday I will have a big part of the Holiday Goods on display. There are two outstanding facts connected with Xmas Goods this year. The first is the scarcity of merchandise especially in some of the toy lines which is growing more acute with every week that passes. The second is the congested state of shipping which had as it is already, would be infinitely worse if unsettled weather should set in. Both of these facts exclude a replenishing of stocks sold.

People know and realize this and XMAS BUYING has already begun in certain lines. In order to accommodate the wise buyers—and these are the early buyers this year—the Variety Store will have the bulk of the Holiday Goods out next Saturday.

The stock is more complete than you would expect under the abnormal conditions.

I cordially invite all my customers to come next Saturday and inspect it. You may miss a few imported lines, but on the whole the American manufacturer has been equal to the task and goods manufactured in this country are just as nice and certainly more substantial than the imported ones used to be.

The Gem Cafe and the Boyd hotel observed meatless day this week, also wheatless day. Leslie Welch came this morning from Kansas City to join his brother Herbert and his sister, Mrs. Harry Armstrong, in a family reunion while Herbert is home on a furlough. Herbert has been commissioned as lieutenant in the regular army, as the result of his markings in an examination at Washington last summer, and is to report for duty at Fort Leavenworth the first of next week. He earned and was offered a commission at Fort Snelling, but accepted the one which gives him the first opportunity to get into service.

In spite of the heroic effort of each and every one of the members of our basket ball team, we again received the short end of the score in the game difference between the two teams was all in size and not in playing. With continued improvement we will soon be in position to reverse the scores in our contests. Even if we never win, we will remember that it is the game and not the score only which we are striving for. The score in this case was 74 to 11 in favor of Wayne. Our boys had the honor of making the first score.—Winside Tribune.

An exchange says that "Up at Norfolk the first of the month cigar dealers raised the price of the nickel cigar to 6 and 7 cents on account of the war tax, and last week they again dropped back to a nickel." Wayne retailers quite generally raised their prices at about the same time, and said it was not so much on account of the tax as the fact that the manufacturer and jobber were each making stiff advances, using the tax as an excuse for the advance. According to the manner of each one who handles the weed collecting a tax, for both himself and his Uncle Sam, tobacco cost to the consumer is very apt to go up like the smoke it makes when burned—clear out of sight. Well, it is no worse for the smoker to pay part of the war expenses than for the fellow who gets freight or rides on the cushions. We will all have to pay a share of the war tax, and no one should kick or object, just so it is adjusted equally and justly between people, according to their ability to pay, and the financial benefits derived from the bloody business of war.

I have been unable to get any report from the Carroll people as to the town of Carroll and Deer Creek precinct. They turned in $50.00 but made no report. I think they have retained a large portion of their collections for their local branch and membership fees. Winside sent direct before the war fund drive was started several hundred dollars, probably toward $500.00. Linn F. Hanson, a farmer boy of Wayne county, who is now in the military service of the United States, sent direct to Washington for the war fund $3800.00. Wakefield and other towns near the border line of our county have collected from Wayne county people so that I think Wayne county has contributed to the war fund $10,000.00 or more. I am trying to get credit for Wayne county so far as I can ascertain the definite amounts that have been sent direct by our people.

A prominent credit man recently said that he considers A Merchant who still clings to Horse and Wagon Delivery a Bad Risk.

The profit and loss account of America is being written by machinery. Methods that made men rich yesterday will make them poor today. The nose-bag has no place in a progressive community. With corn at one dollar a bushel and gasoline at twenty odd cents a gallon the most extravagant truck is a money saver. But the is the thriftiest truck ever built. A penny counter, a general expense reducer. The greatest single force for better business that the past year has witnessed. At this moment when conservation of energy, time and dollars is so vital to national welfare, when merchants are making so many unexpected outlays—the Maxwell is fighting for economical administration, laboring day and night at a minimum wage and furnishing competent and reliable transportation at the lowest load cost at which goods have been carried in our time.

Maxwell maintenance and repair bills are the lowest of record. It furnishes American Commerce, never so sadly in need of labor, a truck which even a boy can operate and understand.

Just the right size for the average firm. 2400 pounds. But muscled for giant burdens. Worm drive—a feature hitherto associated with the highest priced trucks.

Sold under the same guarantee as $5000 trucks are. Electric lights and generator. 10-foot loading space. 16 miles to the gallon. The lowest priced one-ton truck in the world and sold on liberal terms. $985; and it will earn its cost out of the savings it effects.

Pays its way from day to day.

CLIPPING THE WINGS OF TREASON WORKERS

The lines are being drawn tighter, and the pro-Germans are being weeded out and cared for in a way they do not desire. In New York, the teachers with sympathies for the German program are being given a vacation without salary, and indefinite.

Aliens must register from this time on, if citizens of the powers with which Uncle Sam is doing business with sword and gun. They will not be permitted to visit places where they may do great damage to property or life. Piers, wharfs, warehouses, the District of Columbia, the Canal Zone, and are forbidden to travel on the waterways of the country, including the great lakes and rivers, either in public or private boats or one of their own.

The people are also marking sepiemens as well as clipping their wings. At Ashton the properties of Paul Chlewiski, an inhabitant of that place (not a citizen) had three business houses decorated with yellow paint. He is said to be worth a half million dollars, and sits tight. He failed to subscribe for liberty bonds, and would not give to the Red Cross or Y. M. C. A., and refused to give $2 for a donation for the soldier boys a Christmas cheer. Such people might better (for the community) be dead.

WAR WORK AT OUR NAVY YARDS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21, 1917.—Nearly 55,000 appointments were made to the forces of mechanics, helpers, and laborers at navy yards and other naval establishments during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1917, and since that date appointments have been made in increased proportion.

An appropriation of $7,500,000 is now being expended in the enlargement of the great naval gun factory at Washington, which, when completed, will furnish employment for 4,000 or more skilled mechanics, in addition to the 8,000 already at work in the plant. In this mammoth factory, one of the best equipped and most interesting in the world, are built the great guns for our war vessels, which carry to every country the message of America's ability to protect herself and to safeguard the rights of her citizens wherever they may be.

The new naval aircraft factory at Philadelphia, which will be completed this month, will also employ about 3,000 men. A considerable part of the building of war vessels is also done in government yards.

The United States Civil Service commission, which is charged with the task of recruiting the ranks of this great civilian army, thru its widespread organization is furnishing the men as they are needed. In certain trades, particularly those connected with shipbuilding, there is usually a shortage. Sailmakers, coppermiths, shipfitters, anglesmiths, blacksmiths, and machinists are especially needed. Women to operate power sewing machines are also in great demand. The representatives of the civil service commission at the post offices in all cities are the official recruiting agents for this as well as other branches of the civil service. The commission urges competent mechanics to offer their services to the government at this time of great need.

The Wausa schools are all torn up. The superintendent did not prove very much of an American, and Wausa is American to the core, but there are many sons of Sweden among her citizens. Superintendent Hoppel was not proving satisfactory in many ways, but for the sake of not making a bad matter worse he was tolerated until he showed that he was not one of the American people by his acts and talk regarding American activities which are vital to all—and especially to the patrons of our public schools. So when he showed that he is yellow, the patrons asked the school board to demand and accept his resignation—and it was done. A Miss Larson, teacher in the grammar room resigned at the same time, but not for like cause, for she appeared a lady, but inexperienced and not overly efficient, and she had not been given proper aid by the superintendent. So the schools closed for a two-weeks vacation during corn picking, and the board is looking for a competent American.

WAR EFFECTS ORPHANAGE

The Christian Home Orphanage, at Council Bluffs, Iowa, is feeling seriously the effects of the war. The numerous calls for funds for the prosecution of the war, has greatly affected receipts at the Home, and the management finds itself confronted by a debt of six thousand dollars for actual living supplies. An effort is being made to raise this sum at Thanksgiving. The Home cares for five hundred children annually, and at the present time has more than two hundred and fifty homeless children under its care, and nearly thirty little ones on its waiting list to be admitted as soon as funds and room will permit. The winter season is at hand, when demands on the Home are greatest. If you feel that you can help the work at this time, it will be money invested in a good cause. Address the Christian Home Orphanage, Council Bluffs, Iowa.

SCHOOL NOTES

The Thanksgiving idea prevails in the art work being done in all the grades this week. Paper cutting, clay modeling, drawing and water color are mediums used to represent autumn fruits, turkeys, Thanksgiving table, and scenes in the life of the Pilgrims.

New pupils recently enrolled are Lulu Mitchell and Maude Goeman in the eighth grade, Hazel Mitchell in the seventh grade and George Craig in the first grade, and Bonnie Mitchell in the third grade.

Alma Martin of the first grade has returned after an absence of several days when she was away visiting.

The third and fourth grades are preparing to unite in giving a Thanksgiving program next Wednesday afternoon.

Recent visitors were Mrs. Marcus Kroger, Mrs. Bertha Carpenter, Beryl McClure from Randolph, Mo., and Mrs. S. X. Cross, Miss Esther McEachen, Miss Gertrude McEachen, Miss Grace Nettleton, Mrs. A. R. Davis, Mrs. John Dennis, Mrs. J. Felber, and Professor O. R. Bowen.

Professor O. R. Bowen of the state normal faculty addressed the high school Tuesday afternoon, reviewing the life of General Pershing. His address was highly interesting and much enjoyed. Mr. Bowen is very popular with the students and will gladly be welcomed at any time.

The girls of the high school are organizing a club to include all high school girls. At a meeting held yesterday afternoon, a constitution was completed. Another meeting will be held soon to elect officers and complete an organization.

Superintendent J. R. Armstrong has issued a circular letter to parents explaining the contemplated plan of medical examination of pupils.

More than sixty of the boys have pledged the sum of one dollar each per month for ten months, for and to Y. M. C. A. work. The money to be earned by them. The names were offered too late for use in this issue.

MAGAZINES FOR THE SOLDIERS

Late magazines, October, November and December numbers will be shipped to the camps by the 15th of December. We have already sent 500 magazines and 125 books to Camp Funston. The boys are hungry for reading matter and this will be a good way to help them pass their idle hours. Send or bring all magazines to the library.

DR. JORDAN ON PANGERMANISM

Writing on "Pangermanism" in the Public of New York, Dr. David Starr Jordan says:
Much may be said for the plan itself except for its fatal combination of military force with exploitation. In utter defiance of rights of other peoples. It is a shame to civilization that it has left the valley of the Euphrates and Tigris, the sites of Ninevah, Bagdad and Babylon, for centuries practically unoccupied. German industry would restore the waterways and German patience would expel the mosquito, making these deserts once more a "garden of the world." But the subordination of the whole scheme to military domination spoiled it all. No "dream of Empire" can be made reality, so long as it rests on irresponsible force alone.

But the actual propaganda encouraged by military authority and militant patriotism with the sympathy more or less complete, of the vain and vacillating kaiser, and supported by a venal press, gained steadily in volume. The influence of sane men and sane journals was opposed to it, but sanity makes little headway against herd instinct, when stirred by dreams of national glory. The war-makers had more and more of their own way. The spirit of aggression is always fairly measured by the degree to which military affairs infringe on civil life. In Dr. Veblen's words: A warlike organization is servile in character in the same measure in which it is military. "Another country," said an officer in 1912, "may possess an army; the army possesses Germany."

The war has disclosed the abject futility of Pangermanism. The current of feeling against these "murderers of the state" (to use the words of a German editor) rises higher and higher in Germany as thruout the civilized world. But only the Germans themselves can suppress Pangermanism. The antidote to its machinations is found in the theory and practice of democracy. The highest statesmanship of the hour will lie in bringing German democracy into harmony with that of the rest of the world. To this end it is vital that Germany shall never gain anything whatever, anywhere thru Pangermanist aggression. It is equally vital that her present antagonists gain nothing thru adoption of Pangermanist lust for annexation.
"Live and let live" is a homely proverb, but it indicates the condition on which civilization may revive in Europe.

Divine worship with a sermon at 10:30 a. m., also special music of an inspiring character by the choir. The morning worship is adapted more particularly to the church membership but the pastor endeavors to take the messages of the different books of the Bible and give them a modern application. The evening sermon is always evangelistic. This service starts promptly at 7:30. Please pray for the success of these meetings and invite a friend to come along with you. This applies to each member of the congregation. The Lord is depending on us to do our bit and let us not fail Him in that confidence.

Sunday school convenes at 11:30. Let us all be in our places next session.

No where do we as young people get as much practice in the Christian life as we do in this society which is free from carping criticism and those things which cramp and hedge the soul. We had a splendid turnout last meeting, but may our aim be to still have more than usual.

Choir rehearsal Thursday evening at 7:30.

St. Paul's English Lutheran Church

(Rev. J. H. Fetterolf, Pastor)
Sunday school convenes at 10:00 o'clock. In these days of unrest and agitation we need the comforts of the gospel. The Bible school furnishes the key that unlocks the door to the treasures of peace. The young need instruction in divine things and may it not be that it is just as needful to the old. There is a class to welcome you no matter what your age.
Public worship with sermon at 11 a. m. Following the Augustinian division of the Ten Commandments, the morning sermon will be on the Fourth Commandment "Honor Thy Father and Mother." This sermon will be of vital importance to the young and we will be disappointed if the church is not filled with young people.

Luther League prayer meeting at 6:45 p. m. The subject is "Thanksgiving and the Voice of Melody." Every Leaguer should be present and prepared to give some reason for being thankful. Miss Viola Bastian will have charge of the meeting.

The evening meeting at 7:30 will be a special service in charge of the Missionary society. It is their annual Thank Offering meeting. A good program, informing and devotional, has been prepared. It is not an entertainment but a service of inspiration and gratitude for blessings. You will be delighted with it if you come.

Never has our country been more in need of seasons of humiliation and prayer than now. It is a solemn duty imposed on all people to gather on this day in God's house for worship. We most sincerely urge every member of this church to attend. This is not merely a custom or a formality. It is a crying need for each individual.

VEGETOLE

WHAT IS IT?

VEGETOLE is an absolutely pure vegetable fat, processed to proper cooking consistency without anything being added to it. VEGETOLE supplies every body need for fat without taxing digestion, is economical both in first cost and in use, and in cooking brings out the natural flavor of the foods.

The fact that it is an Armour Oval Label Product is in itself proof positive of its quality and purity. Recipes cannot go wrong if VEGETOLE is used.

What VEGETOLE Will Do.

VEGETOLE can be used wherever a shortening or fat is needed in baking, cooking or frying.

As a shortening, it makes delicious, flaky pie-crust, cakes and biscuits.

For frying, it quickly forms that rich, golden-brown crust which permits thorough, digestible cooking. Further, because it can be used over and over without carrying flavors from one food to another, it is highly economical.

And best of all, because of its extremely high smoking point—over 150 degrees above the temperature required for cooking—it will not smoke up the kitchen and house.

Never sold in bulk, but put up in convenient sized pails—3 sizes—and sold to an increasing number of patrons at the with luncheon served at noon. The bazaar proper will open at 1:30 p. m. There will be a food sale in connection with the bazaar. Many useful articles will be offered for sale. This will be a good time and place to make Christmas purchases. All are cordially invited to attend this bazaar and have a good time whether intending to make purchases or not. You will be heartily welcomed.

Easy Starts in Cold Weather

Polarine is produced under pressure at a zero temperature. That's why it flows freely, feeds steadily and won't "stiffen up" in the crankcase of your car—not even in the coldest weather. So winter starting is easy with a Polarine lubricated motor.

Polarine lubricates thoroughly. It forms a perfect seal between piston and cylinder wall. That's why compression and power are increased.

This winter get the driving satisfaction that Polarine gives you. Fill your crankcase wherever you see the sign—you'll find it on numerous Service Stations and good garages everywhere.
