ANOTHER GREAT SPEAKER TO BE AT NORMAL SOON

The Normal Lecture Course has been especially interesting and instructive this year and the men who have the work in charge surely deserve a great deal of praise for their efforts in behalf of the students at the Normal and the people of Wayne.

David Starr Jordan and Ralph Parlette were enjoyed by a large number of people and many would gladly go to hear them again should the opportunity present itself. And now another man has been secured for an

The date will be fixed for February 18 if possible. Next week's paper will tell you just what date he will be here and every one must plan to hear him.

Wayne folks appreciate these men who are brought here by the Normal people. Each year they do their best to secure just what is most needed. And just now there is no one better able than Dr. Steiner to help us with our war problems.

The Advance has this to say concerning Dr. Steiner: "Professor Steiner is better able than almost any other man in America to forecast some of the results of the great world's war upon American life. The product of his rich experience deserves the thoughtful attention of all who are interested in America's within her gates but to her brethren whom the war has brought nearer to her doors." The Outlook says:

"The best kind of patriotism is that which recognizes faults and tries to correct them. Dr. Steiner is essentially an optimist and a character-builder. We wish the country had a few more 'adopted citizens' of his spirit and helpfulness."

WAYNE TO HAVE HOME GUARDS

Elsewhere is a bid calling you to attend a meeting called to organize home guards at Wayne, at the Normal gymnasium Monday next at 2:30. The Public Service club is back of the movement, and it will undoubtedly be a successful move. The Carroll organization will be here to show what a real home guard organization is like. It is your duty to attend this meeting and see what it is that the government needs you for.

A SUCCESSFUL BOX SUPPER

The People of Carroll and vicinity gave a box supper to raise funds for the Home Guards, and netted the neat little sum of $306, which shows that they appreciate the organization.

A new line of dresses will be on display and for sale Saturday at Mrs. Jeffries' store for ladies. Adv.

FOOD CONSERVATION NOTES

Our government tells us we must save more bread and meat, and our government KNOWS.

We are told what to save and how to save it. Every GOOD citizen will cheerfully do what the government asks of him.

Each individual is either a PATRIOT or a SLACKER.

Which are YOU? The dealer or consumer who evades the government's rules is a SLACKER.

The consumer who buys the "substitutes" because he has to and then feeds them to the stock or stacks them in the pantry so he can buy more white flour, is a SLACKER. THE SUBSTITUTES ARE TO BE EATEN IN ORDER TO SAVE THAT FOR WHICH THEY ARE SUBSTITUTED.

If any one knows of a dealer or a consumer who is violating the government's rules and doesn't report it, he too is a SLACKER.

Some one tells me "These rules work a hardship." Did you ever know of a war that didn't work hardships? Do you want our Allies and our soldiers and sailors to endure all the hardship? This is YOUR war.

Another says: "The government will put us out of business. We can't make any profits." How about our BOYS who gave up business, profession and farm to fight our enemy and to give their lives if need be? Do you think they are dreaming of material profits? Make WINNING THE WAR your chief business and congratulate yourself if you can "break even" in business while our boys are fighting.

Be willing to sacrifice. Save food. What we can save in Wayne county may win the war.

Be a patriot!

FOOD WILL WIN THE WAR.

J. H. KEMP,
Federal Food Administrator for Wayne county, Nebraska.

MISS KOHL TO UNIVERSITY

Miss Marjorie Kohl has been granted a leave of absence from her duties as assistant in the department of expression of the Wayne State Normal School, and will leave this week for Chicago to take up special work in music and physical training in the Northwestern University. Miss Kohl had expected to enter Northwestern next year, but she found she can enroll advantageously at this time, so President Conn released her from her work at the Normal for the remainder of the year and she will begin work at the opening of the new quarter.

Miss Kohl's work at the Normal has been highly satisfactory, and her many friends at Wayne are pleased to know that she will return to her position at Wayne as soon as the special course at Chicago is completed.

PNEUMONIA CLAIMS WAYNE COUNTY SOLDIER BOY

The body of Thomas Swanson was here Sunday on its way to Randolph for burial. Mr. Swanson died of pneumonia at Camp Cody a few days before. He went from Wayne with the soldiers called the last of October, being one of the conscripted men. His home or the home of his parents is in the northwest corner of the county, the county lines forming two boundaries of their farm. The funeral was from Randolph Monday or Tuesday.

The Democrat's Jubilee and Conservation Offer

In ancient times the people celebrated a "Jubilee Year" following seven year periods of time. You and I cannot put off our Jubilee so long and be sure of being here to take part in it, so we will observe at the end of the first seven-year period. When the middle of March, 1918, comes the publishers of the Democrat will have completed their seventh year as owners of the Democrat and it is our purpose to begin the second 7-year period with the books square on both sides. This we can do if you, and each of you will respond promptly to this invitation to settle your subscription account until January next.

Our conservation offer was part of the plan of giving a $2 paper for only $1.00 until January, 1919, or until January, 1920 for only $2.00. This is an opportunity which has been taken advantage of by both new and old subscribers, the latter paying any arrears at the $1.50 rate and adding the one or two dollars.

The offer is still open for those who failed to brave the weather of the past month to accept, the only difference being that they will be short one month's paper.

Will you do your part and help us secure the mortgage to burn that we may have a "Jubilee"?

Yours for Conservation,
GARDNER & WADE, Publishers the Democrat,
Wayne, Nebraska.

LOUIS LARSEN, PIONEER, GOES TO CHEYENNE COUNTY

Tuesday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Louis Larsen and two daughters, Misses Ella and Hilda, left for their new home at Sidney, where they have purchased land for their sons and daughters and made a town residence for their home. The Larsen family are true pioneers in this county. A son came here forty years ago, and purchased for the father the farm they recently sold just southeast of Wayne, paying for it the sum of $3.50 per acre. Eight years later the lad returned and the father and family with him to make a home on the farm, Michigan having been their home prior to that time, since leaving Denmark a few years before. During the time they owned this land it has increased in value greatly, for they sold it at $180 per acre. True, it now has many dollars of improvement since they first bought it, but it has paid for all of these, and maintained and educated a family. In addition to those who go with Mr. and Mrs. Larsen to their new home, is a son Theodore, who has a farm near the home place, Mr. Les Larsen at Canby, Minnesota, and a daughter, Mrs. H. Putnam, at Superior, Wisconsin. Mr. Larsen is a well preserved man in his 70th year, and his wife a very pleasant lady who shows but slightly the marks of "Father Time" as she ably fills the manifold duties of wife and mother on a farm. Mr. and Mrs. Larsen have earned the right to enjoy life in their declining years, and a host of friends hope that they may live long to enjoy their hard earned competence. May their lines fall in pleasant places.

MISS PIERCE TAKES POSITION AT NORMAL

Miss Martha Pierce of Lincoln has entered upon her work as head of the art department of the Wayne State Normal School, a position made vacant by the resignation of Miss Sara J. Killen. Miss Pierce has had years of successful experience as teacher and supervisor. She had work in the Academy of Fine Arts and Art Institute of Chicago; studied with Dr. Haney of New York University; had special work in outdoor painting and drawing under Mr. John Morton of Chicago Art Institute. Her experience covers a number of years at Lincoln; first as teacher, then ward principal, and for the past ten years she has been supervisor of drawing in the Lincoln public schools. She was elected to the Wayne position at the last meeting of the State Board of Education.

JOHNSON-LONG

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Johnson of Sioux City announce the marriage of their daughter, Ietta Johnson, to Mr. Harold Long of that place. The afternoon, February 2, 1918. Mr. and Mrs. Long will make their home at Sioux City. The bride is well known at Wayne, having lived here with her parents until two years ago when they moved to Sioux City.

SCHOOL NOTES

The Freshmen gave a sleighing party to the Juniors last Friday evening. After the ride they returned to the High school where an oyster supper was served. Then one hour was spent in playing games. Mrs. Allis Pollard and Miss Ada Englund chaperoned the party.

The Sophomores entertained the Seniors at a sleighing party Monday night. After a glorious time in the crisp night air they returned to the domestic science rooms for refreshments and an hour of fun. As it was a school night the party dispersed at 9:30. Mrs. M. A. Phillips and Mrs. Allis Pollard accompanied the party.

Steps have been taken to organize the high school as a Junior Red Cross. A strong working committee has been appointed and will soon be ready to announce plans.

The Freshman A class regret to lose Onie Richardson who was compelled to discontinue her work in school on account of the illness of her mother.

The attendance in the high school thru January was better than at any time during the first semester. The character of the work of the school has correspondingly improved.

PRITCHARD'S BIG DUROC JERSEY HOG SALE

The dispersion sale of the Robert Pritchard herd of Durocs at Carroll, February 1, in spite of cold weather and poor train service, a nice bunch of young breeders turned out and secured great bargains.

Fred Helwig, the future owner of Cherry Lawn herd, secured a great bargain in No. 1, which topped the sale at $220.00. Fred Sandahl secured a great bargain in Nos. 3 and 5. Also Victor Johnson secured two of the winning litter Nos. 8 and 9; and J. B. Evans in No. 4. Dan Surber in Nos. 15 and 16. But the biggest bargain of all was lot B, which went to Claude Douglas of Allen. Lot 10 was a fine gilt belonging to Mrs. Pritchard who gave it to the Red Cross. It sold for $100 and went to Roy O. Roland of Belden. It was a splendid offering and sold at an average of $120.

PATRIOTIC UNION MASS MEETING

It is Planned to Have These Meetings Often to Keep in Touch With The War Situation

MANY OUT TO ENJOY MEETING

Several of our Wayne citizens have planned to have patriotic meetings frequently for the purpose of discussing war work and to get in closer touch with one another, in fact they feel that there is a sort of luke warmness about us all. And these meetings will help us all to have a better understanding of the things that are vital at this time. The feeling that some of us have of gluffing the responsibility on some one else's shoulders, is not a very American way of doing things.

J. J. Ahern presided at the meeting at the Presbyterian church Sunday evening and he doesn't mince his words and doesn't put the blame on anyone in particular, he says "we" must get together, get into the game right, and it is for this purpose these meetings are called.

At this first meeting Sunday evening, the church was crowded and each speaker was given the closest attention. The music, under the direction of Mrs. A. R. Davis, was especially inspiring. Only one criticism—there was too little of it.

Prof. J. G. W. Lewis gave a very splendid address. He gave a very able talk and sent his hearers home with a better understanding of this great war we are engaged in than they could possibly have had before. His thoro knowledge of history and the use he made of comparisons of the yesterdays and the living, vital present, was a new phase of war time oratory. A talk such as Prof. Lewis gave gives one food for thought because of its terse facts, plainly and simply told.

The conservation talk by J. H. Kemp, county food administrator, was straight from the shoulder, told in an interesting way and his plea will no doubt find a responsive chord in the hearts of every one of his hearers. In another part of this paper we publish under headings, two of his articles. It will pay every one to read and think of the little things Uncle Sam is asking of us as privileges—our opportunity to balance up on the great sacrifices our boys are making "over there." Mr. Kemp is doing his work well, nothing seems too great for him to take up if it means something for our country and the boys. It seems to us that if he can give ALL of his time telling us how to conserve the rest of us should be patriotic enough to do our part—obey Uncle Sam's requests cheerfully and willingly.

The next meeting will be held soon and other speakers will be given a place on the program, special music will be prepared and another big meeting will be held. Get the habit of boosting. You will be a better American.

COUNTY COUNCIL OF DEFENSE

At a recent meeting of the county Council of Defense with most of the committee of their members to pass upon the advisability of soliciting financial support for the different interests asking help. That is, this committee will be asked to pass upon the merits of the appeals, and select those which appeal to them as most urgent. Chairman Bressler was wanted on the committee and he then named A. R. Davis, J. G. W. Lewis, F. H. Wilson, H. E. Simon, Dan'l Davis and H. H. Barge. Plans were made to index the county with relations to material possessions, and committees named for the purpose of securing the required information. This committee will be reported next week.

Farmers are urged to co-operate in the selection of seed corn, and when assured of an ample supply for the county, let some less fortunate people have the surplus.

Mrs. Hale of Carroll was a guest at the Chas. Reese home Saturday.

Miss Beth Yaryan of Carroll was a business visitor here Saturday last.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Hogue were over from Winside Sunday afternoon, visiting at the A. R. Farrell home.

Miss Laura McKee of Kewanee, Illinois, returned to her home Tuesday after a couple of months here at the C. M. Madden home. Miss Pearl Madden accompanied her as far as Omaha.

W. H. Eastburn from Randolph was a Wayne visitor Monday, coming down on a business mission. Mr. Eastburn was for many years a resident of this county where he has a good farm, and when he became prosperous enough to retire, he moved to Randolph, his farm being near that place.

Patrick Coleman has been confined to his home for a week past with an ulcer on his eye and an attack of grip. Mr. Coleman, the nearly ninety years of age is usually about as spry as many a younger man. His friends hope soon to see him out and about, making the usual two trips daily to his office in town.

N. O. Sevene was over from Wakefield Monday on business matters. He is a farmer, and placed the wheat for his year's bread at the Wayne mill, and now Uncle Sam has stepped in to regulate flour, and so he came over to see where he is at. He tells us that the miller had assured him that he would get fair treatment, and value for his grain, even though he could not get it all in wheat flour as he had planned and expected when the grain was deposited. Mr. Sevene says that he is willing to comply with the government order, and has no wish to do otherwise; that he himself and family are and have been conserving, for rye bread is good enough for him.

Mrs. Ralph Rundell returned Friday from a visit at Norfolk.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Orr went to Sioux City Tuesday for the day.

Mrs. J. M. Tillotson from Itaton, New Mexico, was at Wayne last week visiting friends and renewing acquaintance with people she knew when a resident here. She was a guest of Mrs. Trumbauer during part of her stay.

Maurice Philleo, who is teaching at Valley, came the last of last week to visit Wayne friends, and was a guest of John Massie at the J. H. Massie home over Sunday. The two young men were friends thru school and college days, and they enjoy a day together greatly.

J. D. Lueers went to Marysville, Kansas, Sunday to attend a sale on the farm he recently purchased there, and he hopes to be able to keep a part of the stock and machinery that has been used on the farm right there for his use after he moves there the first of next month.

Elmer Sala, who has been here for some weeks during his mother's illness, returned to his home near Colome, South Dakota, Sunday, and will finish shucking corn, which he left in the field to throbly cure, rather than in the crib, and he will doubtless have better cured corn than those who cribbed corn not overly matured at the time frost came.

Many of our readers will remember Dr. E. M. Thomas, who left Wayne nearly seven years ago, and they also remember his daughter, now Mrs. Leo Petree. From Flagler, Colorado, where the Doctor is now practicing, comes the News saying that Dr. E. M. Thomas received word from his daughter stating that Mr. Petree is now acting in the capacity of censor at Hoboken, New Jersey, and that Mrs. Petree is with him.

Miss Catherine Owen from Carroll was here the first of the week, on her way from a visit with her mother who is at a hospital at Norfolk. Miss Owen is taking a special course in voice culture at the Western Conservatory, Chicago. We are told that she is making good, and that an engagement is assured her on the Chataqua platform with others for the coming season. Miss Owen attended high school and normal at Wayne and has many friends here as well as at her home town who join in wishing her not only a successful season, but a successful career in her chosen profession.

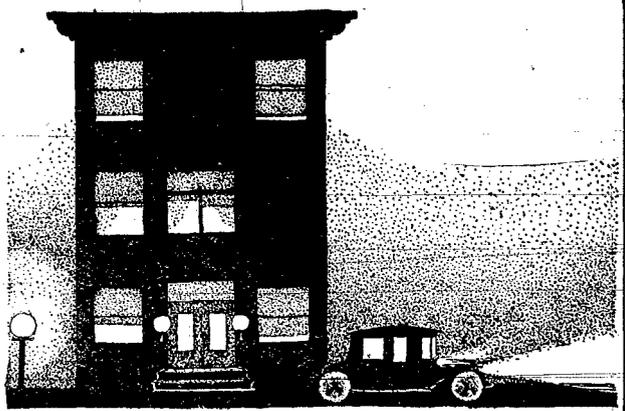

Wm. VonSeggern was at Omaha the first of the week with a ear or two of white-face cattle.

Miss Helen Bichel went to Wakefield Tuesday for a week's visit with relatives and friends.

W. A. Hiseox is at Lincoln this week attending the meeting of the Nebraska hardware dealers, and visiting friends and business houses in several other places.

Henry Kay and Lawrence Brown went to Lincoln this week where they are interested in the proceedings of the threshers of the state, there assembled. It seems that every calling now has a meeting of its own. Even the editors will have a meeting this month.

Wm. Assenheimer from Altona, and Messrs. Ernest Bichel and Henry Kugle went to Sioux City Tuesday to remain the rest of the week attending tractor school. When they return they will doubtless be informed very fully as to how to handle a tractor. While talking of tractors, it might be well to note that if the war keeps on the tract row will fill an increasingly large place in the affairs of the farm life. One man and a tractor will do the work of several men and teams in many kinds of farm work. Plowing, harrowing, seeding, reaping and mowing and even hauling to town. Man power is going to bescare unless the kaiser quits.

WHEN--
 A Room in Your House Goes Dark, You Know Why.

WHEN--
 A Part of Your Body Goes Wrong, I know Why.

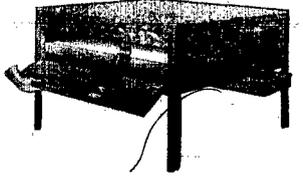

The principle is the same. If a person would try to light the dark rooms by making more electricity instead of turning on the switch, you would call him crazy.

Yet that is what most people do with their bodies. They take drugs and do everything to try and make a part of their body do its duty when it is really cut off from the source of supplies.

Pressure on the nerve caused by subluxated vertebra (bone) of the spinal column will injure an organ just as pushing a button of an electric switch will put out the light.

anxious to go back to the front again. I have not been to the front up to date, and do not know just how long it will be.

I bought a Sam Browne belt here for 37 francs, about $7.10. They wanted $12.80 for them in New York so you can see the prices are not as great here as in the states. This is also true in England. The Sam Browne belt, by the way, is the only costume in dress common to all the Allies, all officers of the Allies wear the same type. I do not believe the people of the U. S. will ever realize just what the war really is over here unless they come and actually see conditions as they exist. Of course, America has so many men who will never be called on, on account of their age limits in the draft etc. It would undoubtedly take a long time to reach such a stage. Here we find the women and girls doing most all of the work formerly done by men. Street car conductors, motor drivers, taxicab drivers, mail carriers, street cleaners, bill boys, saloon keepers, etc.

Wherever you go you find women and girls doing the work. Of course there are the older men and the boys and some younger men but the most of the work along this line is in the hands of the women. I have tried to get this letter off to you several times, but time is so limited that it seems almost impossible to find time to write. Your son,

FRANK F. TRIERWEILER,
1st Lieut. Eng. U. S. R. American Expeditionary Force.

TO THE WOMEN OF AMERICA

Women of America, your country is at war against the world's mightiest military power.

We entered it when all the nations holding Germany at bay were throwing in their man-power and money-power, spending their millions to end this war by winning it. And still Germany was not defeated.

We entered it when, with their farm folks in the trenches, the fields of our allies were being plowed and sown by the WOMEN. But there were not enough, though they worked from dawn till dark.

Those crops have been pitifully small. The usual outside sources of supply have been cut off and our Allies must depend on us. The women will work and the soldiers will fight to the death, but against hunger they are helpless.

Germany knows. She has said if she can only starve England she will win.

If our Allies have to yield to Germany because of hunger, America alone will have to shoulder the burden of winning the WORLD WAR.

And so to save our Allies and their liberty and our own, we have pledged our youth, our wealth, our all.

But we are not prepared to throw millions of soldiers into the field at once. Our money can not buy bread and meat in Europe for our Allies. There is little there to buy.

WE MUST give them food—REAL FOOD! They need wheat, meat, canned foods, fats. And though thousands of tons of it will be sunk by submarines, still we must ship, ship, ship, until we have saved democracy with food.

But how can we do this and feed ourselves when we must send our Allies 220,000,000 bushels of wheat this year, instead of the usual 88,000,000 bushels; when we are already sending them three times as much meat as we have sent them before? Moreover, corn meal, of which we have more than enough, can't be shipped to Europe now because it spoils.

Women of America, even as the women of France are guarding the fields day and night, your country calls to you to stand guard over the world's commissary. That commissary is the food supply of America. There is enough in it if you will guard it.

Your task in this war is to guard food for the soldiers and home workers of our Allies. They are fighting for YOU!

You can release shiploads of wheat for these fighters and workers by using less wheat flour in your homes and by using more corn meal, by wasting not a crust or crumb of wheat bread.

By eating less beef, mutton, and pork, and by eating more fresh and preserved or dried vegetables and fish, our supply of meat animals will do for us and our Allies.

Likewise you are needed to stand guard and see that there is no waste in the world's supply of fats, sugar, and milk in your homes. They are becoming scarcer. As they do, then we ourselves and our brothers on the firing lines and our sisters in the suffer.

Three times a day—at each meal—think of America's glorious privilege: To feed the world while it fights its way to freedom. Then remember that you are standing guard, that the opportunity to win the war for humanity is yours.

WOMAN'S WAR WORK

(By Mrs. J. G. W. Lewis, chairman Woman's Committee, Wayne county Council of Defense.)

The field of woman's war work is so broad that it cannot be taken in at a glance. With the first mention of the phrase "woman's war work" there comes immediately to our mind the vision of the Red Cross nurse, of hundreds of women in the Red Cross rooms, making bandages and plying their needles, doing those things which minister to the physical needs of the soldier in the camps, on the firing line, and in the hospitals. But this is not all of woman's war work. In almost every industry and profession, both in Europe and in America, women are taking the places of men who have gone to the front. They are working in munition factories, in lumber yards, in coal mines, on the railroads, as machinists, as conductors, as mail carriers, and in a host of other occupations which hitherto have been open only to men. But the great mass of American women are still in the home doing the things they have always done—preparing the food, making the clothes, rearing the children. But the women in the homes are doing and must do more than their usual work in time of peace.

Our federal government early recognized the woman power of America as a definite reliable factor in the conduct and success of the war, and accordingly in April, 1917, the Woman's Committee of the Council of National Defense was created. Its purpose is to so co-ordinate the activities and resources of the organized and un-organized women that their power may be utilized immediately in time of need, and to supply a direct channel of communication and co-operation between women and governmental departments. This purpose is worked out through the state divisions of the Woman's Committee of the Council of National Defense and each state-wide organization of women is asked by the federal government to report all its war activities to the Woman's Committee of the state.

The lines of work carried on by the Woman's Committee of the Council of national Defense are classed in thirteen departments, as follows:

- Registration.
- Food Production and Home Economics.
- Food Conservation.
- Women in Industry.
- Child Welfare.
- Existing Social Service Agencies.
- Hearth and Recreation.
- Educational Propaganda.
- Liberty Loan.
- Red Cross and Allied Relief.
- Americanization.
- Nurses' Training.
- Speakers Bureau.

The plan of organization of the Woman's Committee is the same in the nation, state, county, and even in the precinct where local conditions make it feasible. Each department of work has its head or chairman.

Next week we hope to tell something of the work of the Woman's Committee in Nebraska and in Wayne county. The matter of increased Food Production is to be strenuously pushed in the next few weeks and must receive our earnest thought and consideration.

THANKS TO WAYNE RED CROSS CHAPTER

At a meeting of the officers and others interested in Red Cross work last week, it was voted to donate the sum of $250 toward the erection of a base hospital, and the funds were promptly forwarded by the secretary, Mrs. H. H. Hahn. In a day or two a letter of thanks came from the secretary, Mr. C. A. Hull, and Mrs. Hahn wishes us to tell those who contributed to this fund, which we understand means every Wayne county member of the organization, how thankful they are for the needed aid. While money is given with a lavish hand by the people, the work under way is of such magnitude that no matter how free the giving there always appears need for more.

Perhaps these funds could not have been more wisely given than to the erection of a place where the injured and sick could be properly cared for without delay. The men who take their chances in the trenches should not be allowed to give their lives when wounded if proper care and housing and nursing can save them.

IN ACTIVE SERVICE SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE

The following letter from somewhere in France is written in such a happy vein that we are grabbing it from the Bloomfield Monitor, for it doubtless tells the experience of thousands of Nebraska boys who have gone or preparing to go to visit Paris and Berlin:

Somewhere in France:—1917.

Dear Parents: I am now on foreign soil. We had a most enjoyable trip over here notwithstanding the fact that in the early part of the voyage we often stood on deck at the rail and wondered if the meals which once went down were due to rise again, for things were in a most unsettled condition.

We left the U. S. at about 12 o'clock and everybody looked enthusiastic. After a while the enthusiastic look was replaced by one of entire indifference. As time went on and the day drew to a close the travelers commenced to strike poses supposed to represent "old salts" at ease. This was displaced by a mysterious look about the eyes, truly uncertain. About 4:30 the steward commenced to block up the port holes to prevent any light leaks. The boat at this time had acquired a perfectly lovely "side glide" with a touch of the elevator drop which was rather confusing to the "old salt" rummies. Our first evening meal was of true war spirit, every body talking as if he had sailed the seas all his life, all acting and looking as if they were expecting telephone calls. The dining room floor and ceiling had a motion all their own. The remaining part of the evening passed uneventful except for the sudden and mysterious visits below deck. For days the broad expanse of dancing waves were broken only by sister ships laden with soldiers or by the ever rushing convoys as they steamed rapidly in every direction—ever on guard against straying submarines of the enemy. We had several very beautiful nights. The sea was very calm and the moon's reflection in the water as the boat crept silently along was a very beautiful sight. After arriving in the harbor we remained on board a couple of days, this being due to the fact that we had on board a couple of cases of measles.

At A Later Date

Having started this letter several days ago I was just about to comment on the fact that I did not get sea sick on the trip, but such was not the case. In crossing the English channel, a heavy storm was raging, waves were leaping up from 40 to 60 feet and we had the biggest bunch of sick men I have ever seen together at one time. We did our share to feed the fish in the English Channel. We are now at a camp somewhere in France, have met a great many French and British officers here. They are a very fine bunch of gentlemen. Some have been in the service since the beginning of the war. They are all eager for peace, yet none want peace without victory. This evening I was talking with an American engineer officer who had been wounded at the fighting about Cambrai. He was one of the first American officers to be wounded and was recovering—having just left the hospital. He was a Second Lieutenant and was promoted to a First Lieutenant because of bravery shown at the time he was wounded. He appeared to be very

STAND BACK OF MR. BAKER

The attack on the record of Newton D. Baker, secretary of war, is one which we believe should be resented by the people of all sections. The move appears to carry too much of party politics to be given credit at a time like this. That the attack on his acts was unwarranted is convincingly shown by the able manner in which he defends his position and the open handed manner in which he bares his every official act for public inspection.

It is easy to believe that Mr. Baker will continue at his present post, and that back of him will be the President and the great majority of the American people. Every citizen who believes that this war is a just war should see that the politicians know that they are standing back of the administration so long as it produces results of as great magnitude as those now being accomplished. Baker's handling of the military problems has been masterly. He has cut his way through much red tape and done more in the short months since war was undertaken to put the army management on a safe, sane and business like footing than all of the war secretaries who have preceded him. In fact, it has generally appeared their chief aim to wrap every movement in red tape and then tie it. Under the former method of handling things how long would it have taken to have selected such an army of a million and a half of men, outfitted, equipped and trained them, as Mr. Baker has done, in ten short months? We now have soldiers on the firing line, and they are equipped with guns, and so drilled that they are giving good account of themselves, and the Germans will know that there has been a battle before they invade the trenches manned by American soldiers along the 150 miles of the west battle front.

The secretary is criticised for not having equipment in training camps in advance of the men in every instance. He had the men and their equipment under way simultaneously, and if the men came first, the equipment was on the way, and soon followed. When would we have been ready for war had we held the men form camp until their belts and brass buttons were all there in waiting? Would there not have been just cause for criticism in such an event? Again we say, "Stand back of Mr. Baker."

A MEATLESS MEAL EACH DAY

Changed From Noon Meal to Breakfast by Federal Food Administrator Wattles

SAVE FOOD AND WIN THE WAR

This change was made because it is thought more pork and bacon will be saved by observing this meal instead of the noon meal. The change became effective Friday morning last.

The wheatless meal each day is the evening meal and stands as originally announced. The wheatless days are Monday and Wednesday; the meatless day is Tuesday, and Tuesdays and Saturdays are porkless days.

(Rev. Rudolph Moehring, Pastor) Sunday school will be held at the usual hour, 10 o'clock a. m. Church services begin at 11.15, and Rev. S. T. Traubel of Emerson will preach. All are welcome. There will be services at Winside at three o'clock in the afternoon.

railroads have long been laying a great tribute on commerce, if not by excessive rates, by strangling all competition. Did a waterway need intelligent improvement, their lobby in congress either killed it outright or so mutilated it at birth that it was a weak cripple and a discredit to the motive behind it, and tended to challenge the intelligence of those who had advocated such a measure. To control the traffic and rates of freight on the great lakes, a waterway provided by nature, they secured control of all terminals, and made every ton of freight shipped by water pay a tribute to them for the chance to land their cargo or receive one. They were cruel in their methods of strangling competition, and the people paid the bill and failed to assert their rights. We now have the railroads, and if they are properly operated the people will eventually own them and operate them too, for we should never submit to wear the yoke of privately owned transportation monopoly. Lets be watchful, and put none but AMERICANS on guard.

If it was your fortune to be foreign born, and not your luck to have been naturalized, don't be a "slacker," but go to your postmaster and register this week—or suffer the consequences. Postmaster Berry tells us that but few are registering yet, and if all wait until the last day, it will be impossible, perhaps, to care for all. Do it NOW.

We are fighting for the right of the people of the world to rule—and against any autocratic "divine right" to ride the other fellow. Every man must do his part to make all equal under the law. God, if a just God, never delegated the right to rule to such blood-thirsty tyrants as have claimed to be His divinely appointed rulers.

While we were wishing for a sign of a thaw in the west last week, the people of Ohio, Pennsylvania and other sections of the east were praying to be delivered from floods caused by melting snows. We had no flood here—a dipper of water thrown into the air some days would come down ice.

Don't trade your Liberty bonds for worthless securities, is the warning sent out by Uncle Sam. The bond is a good safe investment, and one which the vendors of papers of uncertain value are really glad to take at their face. It is good advice.

To save the 100,000,000 bushels of wheat for export and the 70,000,000 pounds of meat mouthily can be accomplished only by a rigid adherence to these rules, says Mr. Wattles.

He has had the same class for about four years. An oyster supper was enjoyed after which games of different kinds were played. The following boys were elected as class officers for the ensuing year: Paul Crossland, president; Chas. Senter, vice-president; Donald Wolpert, treasurer. The boys feel very grateful to their teacher and to Mrs. Crossland for an evening of enjoyment.

A GOLDEN EAGLE

(From The Goldenrod.)

About a month ago two boys were out hunting in a car near Royal when two eagles flew over them very near the earth. One of the boys threw up his gun and fired. Luckily a shot struck the wing of one of the birds bringing it to earth, but not killing it. The wing was not even broken, but appeared to be paralyzed so the animal could not fly. The two boys perceiving this jumped from the car and took Mr. Eagle prisoner. Its mate, which was larger, escaped.

Mr. Evan Chapman, who attended the Normal last summer brought the bird captured by the boys to Wayne last Monday so that practically all the students and faculty have had the opportunity of seeing this rare bird. It is about three feet long and has a wing expanse of 93 inches (nearly 8 feet.) It is a dark blackish-brown with golden-brown feathers on its neck and legs.

The golden eagle (Aquila chrysaer) mountainous regions and seldom ever is found here except in the winter when food is scarce. He feeds on jack-rabbits and other rodents. "Golden eagles remain paired for life, and often attain the age of seventy to one hundred years."

They feed usually about once a week. This particular bird made a meal of three cotton-tail rabbits and two crows the other day and still seemed hungry. Contributed.

UNIVERSAL MILITARY TRAINING

(From The Goldenrod.)

When a man with the foresight of the late James J. Hill, the Empire Builder of the North West, speaks, the great ranks of humanity should at least listen and think.

Shortly before his death, in 1916, when asked what he thought of existing tendencies and conditions here in America he said, "Popular government as we are endeavoring to interpret it, is the most momentous experiment in the history of civilization, is yet a grave question whether a hundred millions of composite people, scattered over a continental area with diverse ideals and conflicting interests, are permanently capable of self-government along the lines upon which we are proceeding."

He said further that "our citizenship are forming, and unless steps are taken to rectify this trend, in my opinion, a crisis will be reached within twenty years, and I would not be surprised if it would result in fundamental changes in our form of government."

When asked what thing more than anything else would integrate us into a real nation and save democracy, his reply was prompt and emphatic: "Universal obligatory military training of all young men at or before they reach the age of twenty." He said that the bringing together of young men of all classes from various parts of the country, who had been living under widely different conditions, putting them in the same uniform, establishing the real democracy of the "dog tent," would tend to remove misconceptions, broaden their vision, clarify their thinking and furnish the discipline which every young man should have, war or no war.

The Chamberlain Bill before Congress at present provides six months of intensive training and discipline at the age of nineteen, to be taken in U. S. Army cantonments under the direction of the War Department.

Part of the training may be taken in schools or colleges and credit allowed for it. All physically fit are to be trained. Provisions are made to safeguard the morals while training. In case of war, the class last trained will be called first (there will be about 500,000 in each class.) By the time a young man reaches twenty-five there will be three millions subject to call before his class is reached, so the actual service, if required, will be rendered by young men before they have engaged in their life work and before they have become heads of families.

"The question seems to be whether the nation, seeing the value of training and seeing also the danger of not having trained men, should finally commit itself to a policy of never having the trained men when they are needed."

I am in favor of the passage of this bill. "The training actually to begin as soon after the cantonments are vacated as the war department can handle it, and not before. The expensive and splendid cantonments must be saved for this purpose."

The young men of the Wayne State Normal have answered the first call. One hundred seven are drilling from one to one and a half hours each day under the capable direction of Private William Moran from Battery C, 127th Heavy Field Artillery. Drill guns were telegraphed for Wednesday evening and should arrive within a week. We are expecting as a school to do our bit. For as Howard H. Gross, President of the Universal Military Training League, has said:

"It is necessary for national defense, it strengthens manhood and mental poise, it will develop physical force and endurance, it will democratize youth, furnish discipline and produce better fathers and workers for the ranks of peace." Contributed.

JOE H. COX MAKES GOOD

(From The Goldenrod.)

Friends of Joe H. Cox are glad to know that he has won recognition since entering military service. Several weeks ago he was transferred from the radio department to the naval auxiliary reserve. There is a high grade school at Annapolis, organized for the purpose of training officers, to which school 300 men are sent every ninety days. On January 10 Joe with 350 others took examination for entrance into this school, and he ranked ninth on the list. Joe was a ninety-five per cent student at Wayne and it is gratifying to know that he stands among the first in competitive examinations elsewhere.

THRIFT MEANS PROSPERITY NOT PARSIMONY

Every man, woman and child ought to avoid wasteful expenditure—ought to save where ever possible, but not to the point of parsimony.

Save some money now by all means, you have a golden opportunity. Invest in Liberty Bonds, Thrift Stamps and War Savings Certificates. Do it until it hurts. You'll help your country. You'll help yourself. You'll have a profitable investment and one that is secure.

If a Liberty Bond or War Savings Certificate is not safe—backed by Uncle Sam—nothing can be safe.

But do not hoard, keep most of your money moving—just as you always have.

The needed and legitimate purchases should be made just as ever.

We must have reasonable clothing and can probably buy it now more cheaply than later. We must and should have time and labor-saving devices in our homes, offices, factories—just as always.

Let us spend our money for these desirable things. But let us spend it more carefully, more advisedly, more wisely than ever. Let us habitually read and study the advertisements before buying. Let us make every dollar count.

Let us renew our obligations to work harder—keep cheerful—spend wisely, and never flinch a moment from our duty.

Mina Taylor Dresses have arrived at Orr's

Choosing a house dress is like picking a husband, it pays to consider both looks and wearing qualities—Aunt Mary.

Everyone is adopting

MINA-TAYLOR DRESSES

"For home and porch wear"

After all, the two tests that Aunt Mary uses are two big ones, aren't they? Isn't this about the way you decide on a new dress: Is it becoming? Will it wear.

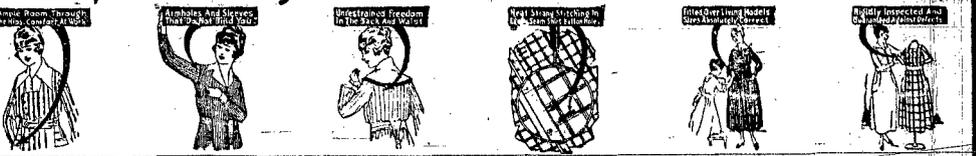

In the first question you include style design, the little individual touches make the dress truly representative of you and your taste.

By the second, you mean the fine points of workmanship—individuality of materials—fine wearing qualities, the staunchness with which the dress stands ready use.

Mina Taylor Dresses well measure up to your requirements, and you may now have the opportunity to see these dresses in styles for spring—dresses that will stand the double test of appearance and quality.

A great many of our women customers made the acquaintance of Mina Taylor Dresses last season. If you are among the number you know the quality of these most different dresses. If you have not already learned about Mina Taylor dresses—why then this is the very time. Come in and let us show you the line, dresses that are good to look at, made from materials that your judgment will approve—designed along lines of originality and beauty. Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Cavanaugh are to occupy the Ernest Paulson house soon as Mr. and Mrs. Paulson will move to a farm near Carroll before March 1st.

Mrs. L. B. Palmer was over from Hubbard Wednesday. She tells us that they are building a big double crib on their farm—building now because they could not get carpenters last fall. They will be in ample time for the next corn crop.

W. L. Fisher of the Wayne Bakery has just received his corn flour, and is now making a war bread that is fine, and complies with regulations. Lots of people will be more healthy and happy for eating the Fisher War Bread. Adv.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Hooper of Randolph were here Wednesday afternoon on their way to visit at Norfolk at the home of Mrs. Shorten. John Soules has received word of the death of a six-year-old son of Mrs. Gideon Cole, formerly of this place. The little fellow died at a hospital in Idaho.

Sam Straight was over from Hoskins today on a business mission. He tells us that the work of securing names for a county agent is going on nicely in his vicinity, and he thinks a good county agent would be well worth while in this good county.

Wm. Loberg from Camp Funston is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. August Loberg of Carroll, having been given a ten-day leave of absence. He was a Wayne visitor Tuesday, and called at this office a short time. According to his version, camp life at Funston is fine, and he certainly looks well-kept, but for all that we wager that a bit of mother's cooking, with his feet under "dad's" table made a happy combination for the soldier.

Have you tried the Wayne Bakery war bread? Don't be a slacker—eat of it—it's good. Adv.

SHOLES BRIDGE REPAIRED

The visit of Supt. Blondell of the "Omaha" to Sholes resulted in a promise to have the bridge east of town, which has been a menace to travelers, partly rebuilt and repaired in such a way that there will be no more danger to travelers.

OVER-REACHING (From The Goldenrod.)

It is a strange thing that after all the countless centuries of human experience, the individual and the race will not learn that if one over-reaches in his dealings with his fellow-men he, or his, must sooner or later pay the penalty for his perfidy.

Some designate this punishment for wrong-doing as "retribution," others say, "The worm doth turn;" another class call it "the compensation of nature;" still others dub it "retaliation;" and again others say "The boomerang has turned back and hit the thrower on the head;" finally some quote, "Vengeance is mine, I will repay, saith the Lord."

If one member of a family exercises his aggressive instincts too much in the household, the others "sit down on him." If the student becomes a "smarty" with his associates, they snub him. If a teacher tries to "lord it over" his colleagues, they "get it back on him." If a neighbor is underhanded, he loses the good will of the community. If a woman is too ambitious in her desire for social prestige, she is ostracized. If the business man "stings" his customers, they "drop" him. If the promoter advances his own interests, only those whom he has swindled quit "biting" him, and he makes no more "big hauls." If the so-called captain of industry exploits the people, they finally imprison him. If the greedy speculator becomes a ruthless "commercial pirate," the state limits his activities. In like manner the state (or nation) which, through its rulers, oppresses its citizens or violates the sacred principles of right and justice due other states or nations, is condemned and finally punished.

All down the ages, history, both sacred and secular, reveals unerringly the same principle, from Jacob, "the supplanter" to the modern bluffer and grafter. It has been said that King George III of England was a good man, but that he was exceedingly stupid and obstinate, and, because of these latter undesirable traits, he brought upon his subjects untold suffering, sorrow and bloodshed and finally lost his most valuable territorial possessions—the American colonies.

Napoleon, because of his inordinate ambition to dominate all Europe, found it necessary to sacrifice the finest domain upon which the sun shines—the Mississippi Valley—and ultimately "met his Waterloo" and suffered, as he deserved, lasting exile.

Today the most hideous and cruel crime the world has ever seen is being perpetrated because the Hohenzollerns and the Hapburgs secretly got together, as all dark conspirators do, and deliberately, in cold blood, plunged the whole civilized world into chaos. History repeats itself and in the end there can be but one outcome—right must surely triumph and autocracy, injustice and wrong must perish.

Bryan Kloppling returned Sunday evening from a business trip to Kansas. He says that the winter winds are, rather, searching down there. One day it was clear and sunshining, but the mercury did not get nearer the top than 18 below zero—and how that wind did search for the marrow in a fellow's bones. Then Kansas has another side. The wind ceases, the sun comes out strong and bright, and no one thinks of the milder climate of sunny Italy or California.

Henry Hollander, who lived at Bloomfield, but is now with a medical corp at Funston, came home Monday on a 7-day leave. He spoke of things at camp as being in near perfect condition. Eats, clothing and equipment for all, and the way they keep their barracks clean is something which would be the envy of any good housewife. He says that they fairly shine from constant cleaning, especially in the hospital wards. Never before has there been an army so well cared for in every detail as has the one raised in this country in the last twelve months. That appears to be the universal verdict, except for a few kickers, who have lost their hold on the public teat and are sore about it.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Blazer, better known as "Andy," were here Sunday to visit friends who were neighbors to them when they lived in this good county less than ten years ago, and they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Panabaker. Monday they went on to their home at Merriman, in the western part of the state, or in the sand country as Mr. B. called it. They had been at Ida Grove, Iowa, to attend the funeral of Mr. Blazer's brother, and came this way to see the old town and friends again. Then there was another reason. The newspapers are said to be responsible for having this worthy gentleman serving a six-year term in the Federal prison at Fort Leavenworth and he wanted to "show" any who are from Missouri that he is not there, else he could not be here folks. It seems that a drunken Indian got into trouble, stole money, a pony and saddle, sold the animal and wanted to sell the saddle to Mr. B. who was not buying saddles from Indians. So the red man left the saddle at his place of business and went his way. The authorities came and Mr. Blazer went with them to identify the Indian and help secure his arrest and conviction, and in some manner the newspapers sent Mr. Blazer to prison instead of the real native American. Those who had known Mr. B. here never believed the story, and now it is explained. Come again, Mr. B.

Pete Lewis was home from their Madison county farm over Sunday. He reports that all is well down there.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Guenther went to Norfolk Saturday evening to have a Sunday visit at the home of their son residing at that place.

Mrs. C. H. Hendrickson and son Maxwell went to Norfolk Friday evening to join Mr. H. who was called there on business, in a visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lucky.

Clyde Reynolds left Tuesday for Omaha, and from there he goes to Alliance to take charge of a new distributing station which the Standard Oil Company is establishing there.

J. D. Hash, who went to Magnet to take charge of the schools at that place until the close of the school year, or until Uncle Sam shall call him to some other field of duty, responded to an invitation from his uncle's representative to come to Wayne and be looked over that the uncle might know if he is "fit." He returned Monday evening, after his physical examination.

Fred Martin sent four double-deck cars of sheep to market last week and three cars came within 5 cents of topping the market the day sold, and one car did top the market. Mr. Martin tells us that they did not come so near sticking him for a place on the income tax with the Morgans and Rockafellos this year as last, but that the balance is on the right side of the ledger, which he is sorry to say is more than many of those who fed sheep this season can truthfully say.

MARVIN LEROY MASTEN
Marvin LeRoy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin J. Masten, was born January 3, 1915, at Inman, Nebraska, and died January 22 at Wayne. He was three years and nineteen days old. He was a very bright child, to know him was to love him. He was sick but seven days with the croup. Everything that medical science and loving hands could do was done for him but to no avail.
Funeral services were held from the home of the child's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Masten. Rev. Cross of the Presbyterian church preached an appropriate sermon and the body was laid to rest in Greenwood cemetery. There were many beautiful floral offerings.
Beside his parents and baby sister, he leaves to mourn his early death, his grandparents, three uncles, G. L. of Wayne, Ralph who is in the service of Uncle Sam at San Antonio, Texas, and D. F. of Ericson.
His grandfather, E. Poellet of Laurel; his uncles, Emil, Ben and Henry Poellet of Laurel; his aunt, Mrs. Elsie Mallett of Yankton, South Dakota, were all present at the funeral.

The flower has bloomed
It is faded and gone,
It's life from this world has flown,
It's spirit has gone
To Realms unknown
Where God will care for His own.
He is safe in the arms of Jesus
Safe on His gentle breast;
Safe from the world's temptations,
Sweetly his soul will rest.

ADMINISTRATOR WATTLES EXPLAINS REGULATIONS

Omaha, Nebraska, Feb. 5.—That an understanding of the new rules and regulations of the Food Administration may be had and confusion explained, Food Administrator Wattles offers these interpretations of rules:
1. Graham, rye or whole wheat flours are not substitutes for white flour. Rye flour may be purchased or graham, however, must be purchased with substitutes, the consumer buying six-tenths as much substitutes in weight as they buy of whole wheat or graham flour.
2. Bread is not Victory bread until it contains at least twenty per cent cereals other than wheat flour. All bakers must have twenty per cent or more in their breads by February 24.
3. In baking breads, bakers may use all the milk they desire; however, they must sell at the same price as if no milk were used and they cannot advertise this bread as milk bread.
4. Consumers in buying substitutes must buy an amount equal to the amount of wheat flour bought. Retailers must sell in the same proportions, pound for pound.
5. Breakfast is the meatless meal each day and the hours are construed up to 10 a. m. Eating places that stay open all night shall quit serving meats at midnight and not begin until 10 a. m.

PIGGLY WIGGLY

Memphis is making an experiment in the distribution of groceries which looks promising. A chain of cafeteria grocery stores has been established and backed by a fair amount of capital and brains. The customer enters with a basket, selects from a plainly marked stock what packages he wants and pays as he goes out by way of the cashier's desk. There is not a clerk in the place. No goods are wrapped unless the customer does it himself. This is no new idea. The innovation lies in the application of modern business methods to one of the oldest lines of business. They are named "Piggly Wiggly" stores because the name sticks in the mind and is not easily imitated without infringing on the firm's copyright. The goods are extensively advertised. The alert customer compares the list of prices and merchandise with that of other stores before starting out. Taking a copy of the advertisement and knowing just what he wants he does his shopping in a surprisingly few minutes. The first disadvantage of the plan is found in the absence of clerks, who are often a real help in explaining quantities and qualities and offering advice. The second is encountered with the customer who finds himself on the sidewalk with a basket of goods which he must take home under his own steam. The man who must count every penny will be willing to pay the price involved in patronizing a serviceless grocery. The man who is willing to pay well for service will have no use for the Piggly Wiggly or any other store operating on that basis. It seems to be the only method of selling that meets the argument that grocery clerk hire is more expensive than low priced delivery boys, and that the rock bottom price cannot be reached without doing away with both.—State Journal.

A progressive Wayne merchant has the idea, and is putting it in practice.

"FOR HOGS AND AMERICANS"

"A food for hogs and Americans." Is the way an old English dictionary defines corn. It's a pretty accurate definition now that the widest use of corn products are being used to conserve wheat products. Corn may be used as wheat substitute as a partial substitute in yeast breads, in quick breads, as mush, as hominy, as canned or dried vegetable, as cornstarch dessert.
In addition to such favorites as griddle cakes, waffles, corn bread, spoon bread, Johnny cake and muffins, corn meal can be used to make a delicious crackling corn cake. Often the cracklings remaining after the lard has been fried out are otherwise wasted on the farm.

Crackling Corn Cake

- ¾ c cornmeal
 - 1 c wheat flour
 - ¾ c boiling water
 - 1-3 c brown sugar
 - 2 c buttermilk
 - 1 tsp soda
 - 1½ tsp salt
 - 1 tsp baking powder
 - 1-3 c chopped pork cracklings
- Moisten cornmeal with the boiling water and let it stand five minutes. Sift the soda, baking powder and salt with the wheat flour and add with rest of ingredients to corn meal. Spread thin in a greased dripping pan and bake in a hot oven twenty minutes.

WAYNE M. E. TEAM TAKES GAME FROM NORFOLK BOYS

Last Saturday night the Wayne M. E. church team defeated the Norfolk First M. E. church to the tune of 48 to 21. The game the one sided was, fast from start to finish. The Wayne boys were superior in the team work and their signals were a mystery to their opponents.

The game started with a rush and at the end of the first half the score was 30 to 7. In the last half Norfolk put up the prettiest defensive game yet played on the floor.

Grothe played a spectacular game at both offensive and defensive. He threw several pretty goals from center. R. Carhart and Hickman played a fine game in their respective place. At guard J. Carhart put up a fine defensive game and also MacGregor.

For Norfolk Heperly and McLow played the stellar game each one getting four goals.

The boys are very fortunate in having Coach Brenaman referee their games for them as he is certainly the best in the surrounding country.

The line up
Wayne—Grothe, R. F.; Hickman, E. F.; R. Carhart, C.; MacGregor, R. G.; J. Carhart, L. G.
Norfolk—Askley, R. F.; Heerly, L. F.; McLow, C.; Beckenhauer, R. G.; Chapman, L. G.

NOTICE OF CONDEMNATION PROCEEDINGS

In accordance with the provisions of section 7390 of the Revised Statutes of the State of Nebraska for the year 1913, the Governor of said state has appointed a Board of Appraisers who will meet at the Administration Building of the State Normal school of Wayne, Nebraska, at 9 o'clock a. m., Friday, February 15, 1918, for the purpose of hearing all interested parties and to assess the value of said property and damages which the owners thereof shall sustain, by appropriation of the following described lands, to-wit:

NEBRASKA LEADS IN THE SALE OF WAR SAVINGS STAMPS

The National Committee at Washington Congratulates This State On Its Showing.

That Nebraska is doing its full share in the War Savings Stamp campaign is indicated by the following letter the national committee at Washington has sent the state committee at Omaha and asked it to forward the news to the town chairmen over the state:

"We extend to Nebraska our heartiest congratulations and express our appreciation for the fine work which you are doing. You have secured 538 specialty agents, and 457 agent banks, a total of 995. This is in addition to the cash selling agencies established in stores, business houses, etc. The next state to you was Texas, with a total of 805; so you see Nebraska is leading.

"Keep up the good work! We feel that it is only by the establishment of a large number of agencies for selling War Savings Stamps that this campaign can be put over, and the sooner they are established, on the basis of one agent to every two or three hundred of population, the quicker we will begin to get results in sales.

"We are trying to make the other states ashamed of themselves by telling them what you have done in Nebraska."

JOY FOR THE MEN AT TEA

Some Good Samaritan Has Invented Oval Saucer That Safely Holds Cup and Dainties.

Any man who knows that, sooner or later, he must go to another afternoon tea cannot but rejoice at the recent invention of an oval, platterlike saucer, large enough to hold with ease a cup, a lettuce or other sandwich, and a dainty trifle of pastry. The thing was needed, the modesty of the anonymous inventor—evidently not Mr. Edison—reveals him one of the large body of occasional and unwilling tea-goers.

We, the reluctant and unwilling, are all strangely alike at these functions; and we have all been embarrassed by the old-fashioned saucer. Circular in shape, and hardly larger than the cup that belies its reputation and dances drunkenly whenever another guest joggles our elbow (which happens so often that we suspect conspiracy), the old-fashioned saucer affords no reasonably secure perch for a sandwich; responds with instant delight to the law of gravitation if left to itself; and sets us wishing, those of us who think scientifically, that evolution had refrained from doing away with an extension by which alone we could now hope to manage it. We mean a tall! If afternoon teas had been started in the Oligocene epoch instead of the seventeenth century, we are convinced that evolution, far from discarding this useful appendage, would have perfected it. A little hand would have evolved at the end of it, such a little hand as might hold his saucer while a gentleman slips from his teacup.—Atlantic Magazine.

MISS MCBETH IS NOW IN MILITARY SERVICE

Miss Olive M. McBeth, head of the department of expression in the normal school at Silver City, New Mexico, writes of a recent visit made to Camp Cody and of her meeting with a number of young men who were formerly students at Wayne. She spent the entire week at Deming reading to the soldier boys in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium, which has a seating capacity of more than 3000. Her afternoons were spent at the hospitals. Miss McBeth expects to be taken into real service soon, and she is now studying French and shorthand to better prepare for service in France.

A HOME GUARD FOR WAYNE

The move for a Home Guard for Wayne is now about to come to a head, and our patriotic young men and older ones as well will soon be organized and learning the soldier way of moving. We are very glad to say that so far as the local condition is concerned there has been slight if any need for such an organization except that it is a mighty fine school of instruction where properly officered, as doubtless most of them are.

We are told that the Home Guard at Carroll ranks second in efficiency of drill and organization in the state. There is a community where things are not done by halves.
