DECORATION DAY OBSERVED IN FITTING WAY AT WAYNE

Home Guards in Uniform—Flowers—Flags and Flowers—Help to Celebrate the Day

A PROGRAM AT OPERA HOUSE

Decoration Day was observed at Wayne in a fitting way with union prayer services at the Methodist church in the morning and a patriotic program at the opera house in the afternoon.

The program was especially good, the music was in charge of Mrs. Clyde Oman. Several patriotic songs were sung by the audience, and as a special Miss Fern Oman sang, "Oh, Dry Those Tears." Miss Fern has a very pretty voice, rich and sweet and she made the old favorite ring with beauty.

The speaker of the day, Dean Hahn of the normal, gave one of the best addresses ever heard in our little city. The writer often wonders as we listen to some one from out of town, just why send out of town at all when we have such men as Dean Hahn here.

Following is the names of the old soldiers present: Post Commander Robert Skiles, A. J. Ferguson, Archie Lindsay, S. Fox, Chas. Baggert, J. M. Barrett, Mort Harman, E. W. Dorsett, Peter Coyle, John Stallsmith, E. Q. Sala, Dan McManigal.

Wm. Assenheimer of Altona, a soldier of the Spanish-American war was with the G. A. R. men in their car.

After a brief history of the origin and purpose of Memorial Day, Mr. Hahn announced the theme of his address, "A New Evaluation of the Services Rendered by the Soldiers of the Civil War."

He said the Civil war, the war with the Central Powers were different stages in the development of a mighty world power, the first stage being that of saving a nation, the second the saving of a weaker sister nation, and the third the saving of the world.

In connection with the saving of the nation, Mr. Hahn reviewed briefly the founding and the development of the nation prior to the Civil war. He showed how the doctrine of state sovereignty threatened the existence of our nation at different times, in different places, and for different reasons. "Finally, in 1860 and '61, it struck its fatal blow and bade fair to leave the nation a wreck upon the shores of time."

The question immediately arose among the Northern States as to whether the nation was worth saving. Many of the people of the North, including the radical Abolitionists, President James Buchanan, General Scott, Horace Greely, and other prominent men, thought it was not worth saving. "But Abraham Lincoln thought that the nation, founded upon the lofty principles that all men are created free and equal and that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed—the nation whose government is of the people, for the people, and by the people, was worth saving. These Civil war veterans upon the platform and their comrades, almost three million strong, thought it was worth saving. They knew, too, that the nation could not be saved by moral suasion or by negotiation or by any sort of nambypambism. They knew that one thing and one thing only could save the Union, and that was to fight. And fight they did." Mr. Hahn then invited anyone who doubted this to read the history of the battles and added that the story of the saving of our nation was replete and resplendent with the finest display of military bravery. "Yes," he said, "the nation was worth saving at any price for its own sake; it was doubly worth saving as a protector and defender of weaker nations; it was worth saving a thousand times over as a savior of the world. It is only when we interpret the service of the boys of the sixties in the light of what the nation has done and is now doing that we place the proper value upon their patriotism."

Then the speaker gave a brief review of the prosperity of our nation for thirty-three years following the close of the Civil war and a very brief history of the Spanish-American war—"the story of saving a weaker sister nation." At the close of this war the United States found itself a "World Power" with possessions in far away places. Henceforth whatever concerned the world

"A LIFE ON THE OCEAN WAVE" FOR TWO WAYNE YOUNG MEN

Two former Wayne boys, Cooper Ellis, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Ellis, and Earl Shroer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Shroer of Norfolk, have taken up work as wireless operators on ships which recently sailed from San Francisco. They have been in training at Mare Island since last summer. Each is one of three on a vessel taking turns in receiving and sending messages. They are both graduates of the Wayne high school and of the Wayne state normal.

This will be good news for the friends of the lads and we will wish them good luck while they are out on the "rolling deep." We know they will make good, that no matter what comes they will give a good account of themselves. So the wireless station established at the normal before the war did its share in "preparing" for both of these young men were deeply interested in the "wireless."

concerned the United States. Every nation of the world was our neighbor.

Guided by the hand of destiny, we were given twenty-nine years more to make our adjustment, both in thought and in deed, as a world power. Our wealth and productive power multiplied manifold until they equalled the wealth and productive power of England and France and Germany combined. Thus when the world was threatened in 1917 and it called loudly for a savior, America was ready. If it had not been for the services of the boys in blue, instead of the one nation with inexhaustible wealth, unlimited productive power, and unimpaird man power, there would be in North America a number of smaller nations not unlike South America. There would be no nation now in either of the Americas strong enough to help the Allies to save the world. That we have such a nation we owe to the soldiers who saved the nation in the sixties."

Mr. Hahn then stated that we are now in a death struggle with the mighty giant Autocracy. If the mission of our nation is to reach its full fruition we must slay this giant and save the world. What are you doing to help your country? You can do no less and be a patriotic citizen than to support your nation financially to the full limit of your ability. Our soldiers cannot win the war with a nation of tight-wads behind the lines. But giving is not enough; you must save as much as you give. Saving is as necessary as giving. The soldiers cannot win the war with a nation of spendthrifts behind the lines. In the third place, you must believe in your government and co-operate in stead of spending your strength in criticism. The government is doing things. The ship scandal and the airplane scandal will rank as two of the greatest pages of American achievement. Fourth, you must be just to the Allies. The chance of winning this war depends on the degree of the Allies. Anyone who criticises unnecessarily, either on account of ignorance or willfulness, is helping our enemy. Lastly, you must believe greatly that the Allies will win. Doubt here is unpardonable. It must be impossible for you to think otherwise. There may be dark days for us in the future, but win we will. The winning, too, must be absolute. There must be no peace by negotiation, but peace by victory. The North demanded of the South an unconditional surrender. They refused to compromise or negotiate with the evil of state sovereignty. As a result they killed the monster once for all. Likewise there can be no temporizing with the monster Autocracy. His defeat must be absolute and his surrender unconditional. We need men in congress with this conviction. Look well to your ballot this fall and elect none that are half-hearted or pussy-footed.

After the program all went to the cemetery; the old soldiers were taken in a decorated car as was also the Home Guards. And those boys looked mighty fine in their uniforms. At the cemetery the Guards had charge of the services and after the resting places of the old soldiers were decorated with flowers, their bugler played "taps." It was a day long to be remembered by all who attended the services.

GERMAN ALIEN WOMEN TO REGISTER JUNE 17

The registration of German alien females of 14 years of age and upwards, will begin June 17th and will continue each day except Sunday, June 23, 1918, up to and including Wednesday, June 26, 1918. A German alien female should register at the postoffice from which she receives her mail.

FLOODS CAUSE MUCH DAMAGE IN NORTHEAST NEBRASKA

An over supply of rain water in this corner of Nebraska has made sad havoc in some places. The railroad has suffered considerable inconvenience in places. A water spout just above Bloomfield Tuesday night put the Bazile creek out of its banks, at that place, and there was no train from that line until afternoon. The water turned the turntable so that it could not be used, and undermined a bit of track. But the section men were able to fix up with a crib or two, so that the afternoon train made the trip a little late, but it got here.

The Sioux City-Norfolk line was not hurt, but the Wakefield-Crofton road suffered a bad washout not far from Hartington. It is reported that one stream there raised four feet in ten minutes, indicating a heavy down pour somewhere in its territory. Considerable track was taken there, and a crew that has been ballasting a new switch track near Sholes was taken to fill the place and restore the track.

The Wynot branch also suffered much washing.

At Bloomfield there was much damage done to residence property in the lower part of town. Cellars and the first floor of many buildings were flooded, and one house was turned on its foundation, and another first floor into the basement. The water flooded Main street for considerable distance. The business houses did not open in the morning. Everybody went out to help those in the path of the water.

The rainfall here was 1.75 hundredths of an inch.

PANNABAKER-CARTER

A very pretty home wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Pannabaker when their daughter, Miss Cora, was married to Mr. Roy Allan Carter. The ceremony took place at high noon, Wednesday, June 5, 1918, Rev. J. Bruce Wylie of Winside officiating. The beautiful ring ceremony was used. Mrs. John Dennis played the wedding march. The bridal couple were attended by Miss Ethel Miller and Mr. Dan Carter. They took their places under a large white bell which hung in the center of an arch made of fern leaves, peonies and orange blossoms. The ends of the arch rested on fern stands on which were great pots of ferns. The rooms were profusely decorated with cut flowers and potted plants.

The bride was dressed in an embroidered toupe dress and looked very sweet and charming. The groom wore a dark blue suit.

At 12:30 the guests were seated at one long table, the center piece was a vase filled with silk flags, a bunch of white flowers stood at each end. The place cards were brides and kewpies. A large red apple with a tiny silk flag, standing in the top, adorned each place. A three-course dinner was served by Miss Anna Jobcobia and Miss Dorothy Kuglar. At the beginning of the last course a large angel food cake was placed before the bride with a request that she cut it. She used a large silver cake knife which was decorated with a bow of white ribbon.

Many beautiful presents were received. Only relatives and intimate friends of the bride and groom were present. Out of town guests were: Rev. and Mrs. Wylie, Winside; Mr. G. B. Carter father of the groom, Winside; Mrs. Elwood, Iowa; Misses Josephine and Edith Carter, Winside; Dan Carter, Polk; Mr. and Mrs. Lute Carter, Carroll; Mrs. O. B. Nelson, Bonesteel, South Dakota; Harry Walling, Laurel; Miss Myra Bell, Winnebago.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter went east on the afternoon train and after a short visit with Iowa relatives, will return to Wayne and Winside for a short time, after which they will decide upon the place they will make their home.

Both these happy young folks are well and favorably known at Wayne and the best wishes of hosts of friends will go with them.

WAYNE GUN MEN ATTEND SHOOT

Messrs. Walter Weber and George Miner went to Wisner Monday to take part in a shooting match at that place, and made a very good record. Contestants were there from Omaha, Lincoln, Norfolk, Wisner and a dozen other points, with one man at least of national reputation.

MRS. J. E. MORTON AND SON ARE BURNED TO DEATH

The first of the week L. J. Courtright, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. H. J. Courtright, and his daughter, Mrs. Chas. VanNorman, returned from a trip to Minnesota, where Mr. C. and daughter were called a few days earlier by word of the death of his sister, Mrs. Morton.

He brought with him a paper giving a very complete account of the sad accident which caused her death. She went to start a fire in the kitchen range, and poured oil from a can into the stove in which there yet remained some of the live coals from a previous fire. Explosion immediately followed, and the shock was sufficient to throw the victim out through an open door, at the same time igniting her clothing, and before the flame could be extinguished she was so severely burned that he passed away after several hours of intense suffering. A daughter was also quite seriously burned, but will recover. One son, evidently unconscious by the explosion, was burned to death, and the charred remains of the body were found in the cellar next day. The husband was in the cellar, and not burned except injuries received while trying to extinguish the flames on wife and daughter.

Mrs. Morton had visited here, and was acquainted with quite a circle of friends here. She was a woman in middle life, and an active worker in social matters at the home. A husband and four children survive her. The house was burned with the contents.

FOREIGN MISSIONARY SOCIETY GIVES AN ENTERTAINMENT

At the Methodist church Sunday evening the ladies of the Foreign Missionary society gave some very fine stereoptican views of the work in the foreign fields. The pictures were beautiful, some of them, others were simply vivid portrayals of the life which the noble women of our land wish to make different. Mrs. D. C. Main read the story of the pictures as they were flashed on the screen. A large crowd filled the auditorium and there was great interest aroused in the work. Mr. Nielson, manager of the Crystal theatre, brought his machine for the use of the ladies and his operator gave his services. Mr. Nielson is a very generous, public spirited man and the ladies feel deeply grateful for his kindness.

The Junior Missionary society, who are supporting a missionary in China, had pledged a certain amount to the work and the silver offering of the evening, amounting to $20.00, was given to them.

No doubt this meeting will serve to awaken the members of the church and others to the full importance of this society.

BLOODHART-ELLIS

At the Presbyterian parsonage, Tuesday evening, June 4, 1918, at 6 o'clock occurred the marriage of Miss Helen E. Bloodhart, daughter of E. M. Bloodhart of Bloomfield, to Mr. Leslie Ellis, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Ellis of Wayne. Rev. S. X. Cross pronounced the words which joined these happy young folks.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis left for Omaha Wednesday morning where Leslie will enlist in the Marine band. He hopes to get a short leave of absence. He has been attending the training school at Great Lakes, Illinois. Mrs. Ellis will return here Monday. She has been teaching in the Lincoln public schools.

GREAT PATRIOTIC MEETING AT NORMAL AUDITORIUM

Tomorrow evening, June 7, at the college auditorium, Congressman Sloan will give a patriotic address. He is an interesting speaker and will give you a message on present day affairs such as will send you home with a deeper understanding of the perplexing problems which are confronting us today.

BOY SHOT IN LEG

Wednesday afternoon, Frank Bradford was accidentally shot in the fleshy part of the leg while out playing with other boys. The wound is not considered serious.

Weigh and Measure Your Child for Your Government

Next week, June 10th to 15th is the time of the National Weighing and Measuring Test of Children for Wayne. Have your child weighed at the office of any physician any afternoon next week. At Winside and Hoskins, the date is June 7th and 8th, and at Carroll two days next week. Watch Carroll paper for exact date.

SKOVGAARD, DANISH VIOLINIST PLEASURES WAYNE MUSIC LOVERS

The Boy Scouts brought to Wayne music lovers a treat Tuesday evening when the great Danish violinist, Axel Skovgaard, and his company of artists, gave a program at the Methodist church. There were few people out and it is hard to understand why people must go to outside cities to hear good music when we have such artists as these come to our own town, and have only a small percentage of our musicians out to hear them.

Of the violinist we could say much. Space forbids, however, but from the most difficult number to the beautiful old favorite "Swanee River" we listened and were glad to be there. The singers, Sofia Stephal and Marie Kern-Mullen, delighted and pleased their hearers, not only because of their incomparable voices, but because of their sweet graciousness. They did not seem to tire. After their regular numbers, they willingly responded to repeated encores. To go through their generous program and pick out the best number would be impossible, they were all so good. As soloists the singers were wonderful and in their duets their beautiful voices blended in the purest harmony.

Mrs. Alice Skovgaard was perhaps one of the finest pianists ever heard in Wayne. Taken all in all the entertainment was a musical feast and the people who braved the storm felt more than repaid.

I. E. ELLIS FILES FOR SHERIFF

Elsewhere you may see the announcement of I. E. Ellis, asking that the republicans of this county nominate him for the office of sheriff at the coming primary. Mr. Ellis has a wide acquaintance in this county, where he has been a resident for the past fifteen years, and most of that time in business at Wayne. For thirty years he has been a resident of Nebraska, living at Pender and Wakefield before coming to this here. He is farm-bred, having been born and raised on an Iowa farm. His success in business is such as to indicate that he has the necessary qualifications to perform the duties of the office to which he aspires.

THAT WILLARD SERVICE

Wayne is fortunate in being selected for the location of a Willard service station. The branch is now open on Second street west of Main street, and under the management of Mr. G. A. Gurnon. This service is exclusively a battery service, and they sell service of a kind for which there is a real need. The Willard stations are in all cities and some towns like Wayne, and it is no exaggeration to say that the Willard service sign is a most welcome sight to many a man with a car. Their announcement on another page will interest you. Road it.

For that picnic lunch order what you need from the Wayne Bakery.

Announcement!

E. H. DOTSON wishes to announce that he has purchased the R. N. Donahay Optical Store and will continue to conduct an exclusive optical business in the place formerly occupied by Mr. Donahay.

Mr. Dotson did not purchase Mr. Donahay's grinding equipment but instead is installing on of the very latest improved models.

Mr. Dotson is not a stranger in this vicinity, or a beginner in the optical business, as he has the distinction of being the first man to record a Registered Optical Certificate in the county.

I am now ready for business. Accuracy, service and satisfaction are my aims. All work guaranteed.

I have on file all the prescriptions of glasses fitted by Mr. Donahay and can quickly duplicate any lense without any of the broken pieces of the original glasses.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Judson and family spent Sunday at Norfolk.

Save time, labor, fires and money with a Lally Light plant. Adv.

Miss Mabel Summer visited over Sunday at Bloomfield with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Wallway from Emerson were Wayne visitors the first of the week.

Mrs. Herbert Robson went to Red Oak, Iowa, Monday to visit her parents a couple of weeks.

Mrs. Frank Gamble left Sunday to visit her former home and home folks at Woodhull, Illinois.

Miss Cecelia Miester went to Norfolk Sunday to visit a short time at the home of her brother, Herb Miester and family before returning to her duties at the hospital in Omaha.

Mrs. C. E. Farrier of Chambers, came the last of the week to visit friends here, and see that her daughter, who came to attend the summer school, was established in a home.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Armstrong were here from Sioux City the first of the week, Mrs. Armstrong staying with her grandmother, Mrs. Davies, while her parents made a trip to Omaha.

A. D. Lewis came home from Newcastle Tuesday, where he was called by the illness of his wife, who is there visiting her parents. He left her much better and fast regaining normal health.

L. W. Roe, who came from the western part of the state or eastern Colorado two weeks ago to bid his son Frank—goodbye before he went into the service, returned the first of the week.

All kinds of electric supplies, Jack Liveringhouse. Adv.

Mr. and Mrs. June Conger started by automobile for Sioux City Tuesday, but we do not know just how far they traveled in that direction, for it had been pretty wet in spots the evening before.

Mrs. Jas. Finn of this place and Mrs. Matt Finn of Carroll were visitors at Norfolk Sunday, where they attended a K. C. banquet in the evening. They were accompanied by Miss Margaret Dennis.

Boardman Cooley from Dubuque, Iowa, stopped here Saturday to visit his cousins, E. O. Gardner and family. Mr. Cooley travels for the Dubuque Telegraph-Herald, and on a trip to Montana, with a few stops on the way.

Harry Tidrick was here from Winside Tuesday and expressed the opinion that his town is wetter than Wayne for they had experienced a heavy rain the night before. But Wayne probably broke even the next night, for our rainfall Tuesday night was nearly 1.75 of an inch.

L. J. Courtwright and his daughter, Mrs. Chas. VanNorman, left Friday for Grand, Minnesota, called there by word of the sudden death of his sister, Mrs. James Morten. From the telegram they learned that the Morten home burned, and the sister was so badly burned that she lived but a short time.

Miss Lelo Olmsted came Tuesday evening from Valley City, North Dakota, where she had been teaching during the school year. She is going to Rusk, Wyoming for the summer, and stopped at Sioux City to visit a sister, and at Wayne where she is a guest at the home of S. D. Relyea and daughter.

Lalley Light works for you every day in the year. Adv.

George Mellor from Malvern, Iowa, came Monday to arrange for the building of a barn on his farm north of Wayne, where the lightning took the old one. He reports that since the rains of the past ten days crop conditions have improved in southern Iowa. Mrs. R. E. K. Mellor and daughter, who have been at Camp Funston, returned with him.

Dave Russell of Tilden was a Wayne visitor last week. He had been at his farm in the southeast part of the county, then came to Wayne to visit old friends and get a good start for home. Mr. Russell was one of the pioneers of this county, and for many years a resident here, and for a time one of the county officials, and no man has a larger circle of warm friends among the old settlers than this same Dave Russell.

Ross Hammond, editor of the Fremont Tribune, has filed for the republican nomination for U. S. senator. Mr. Hammond until recently served as internal revenue collector. He is a brilliant writer and a successful newspaper man but well we don't favor him for the office he seeks. Why? Just now we'll cite but one reason—he recently made a trip to Europe, visited the trenches briefly and has been covering the state since telling the people of the various communities what he saw over there. We wanted to believe that a patriotic service. Now it looks to us like a political campaign as war talk. Norfolk Press.

Mrs. John Vannerberg and daughters, Anna and Esther, were Sioux City visitors Monday.

J. M. Cherry and Wm. Morris went to Omaha Monday to attend a session of Grand Lodge, A. F. & A. M.

Mrs. W. E. Royce of Missouri Valley brought her daughter Miss Mildred here Monday to attend summer school.

Judge and Mrs. A. A. Welch went to Fort Omaha Saturday to visit their son Leslie. He expects to leave there soon.

Mrs. Grant Davis and daughter and son, Anna and Fred, went to Inman the last of the week to spend a week or ten day with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Noakes went to Carroll Monday to visit their niece, Mrs. W. H. James as she left for her new home in Canada Wednesday.

Misses Margary Milner and Atha Hertz of Fairfax, South Dakota, returned to their home Monday after a visit of several days with friends here.

Mrs. Clossen Clark of Sholes went to Paullina, Iowa, Tuesday morning to get her little niece, Miss Corintha Clossen, who has been there attending school.

Mrs. Janet Hoyt, who has been at a Sioux City hospital for several weeks, suffering with ear trouble, arrived home Saturday very much improved. She returned Monday for a treatment.

Mrs. D. H. Burn of St. Edward visited over Sunday with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. D. W. MacGregor and other relatives. She especially came who left the first of the week to join to say goodbye to her brother Albert the army.

W. L. Fisher and family returned Thursday from a week visit at the home of their daughter near Wymore. Mr. Fisher tells us that there is no drouth there, for it rained nearly every night he was there, and when it missed a night and gave the Ford a chance to amble toward home, he headed in. Small grain, he says looks fine in that section of the state.

BARN FOR SALE

Twenty-four ft. square, 14 foot posts, studding 16 inches apart, sheeted and sided. A bargain for a house. Phone 131. W. R. Weber. 19-11.

G. L. Hall of Tabor, Iowa, was here Tuesday morning on his way from Carroll, where he visited at the home of his granddaughter, Mrs. Clyde Williamson, and planned to visit a son at Beaver Creek, Minnesota. Mr. Hall formerly had relatives here, but the granddaughter is now his only relative in this county.

Fred Benschhof was called to Lincoln Tuesday on some insurance business. We hope they are not calling for an advance in rates.

Peter Coyle went to Lincoln Tuesday to visit his son L. J. Coyle for a few days. The son visited here last week with his parents and his sister, Mrs. T. W. Moran.

Your Home Needs Music

Why Not Get a NEW EDISON?

Now that Thomas A. Edison has perfected this marvelous instrument, a home without a New Edison should be as rare as one without a collection of books. Literature feeds the brain but music feeds the soul. And in the New Edison you get music—real music—not an imitation. Music is an absolute essential to a home with any claim to culture.

The New Edison Re-Creates the artist's voice or instrument with such fidelity that no human ear can detect a shade of difference between the two renditions. The famous Edison tone tests have proved this conclusively.

HOLT COUNTY COUNCIL OF DEFENSE FINDS SLACKERS

The Council of Defense held the regular monthly meeting at the Court House Wednesday of last week with twenty-two members present. The first decision of importance was to order Roy Ofe, John Simmons and Tom McClatchy of Oakdale and Herman Johnson and Henry Francisco of Royal before the body for examination.

Herman Johnson of Royal was examined on complaint that he was idling, and not supporting his family, and he admitted that he had not been doing the right thing, and after through examination, signed a statement in which he agreed to keep occupied at productive labor to support the government as far as possible, and take care of his family.

Henry Francisco of Royal who runs a pool hall and grocery store was examined on the charge of not keeping closing hours, and of not activities with a patriotic spirit. Mr. Francisco after examination signed a pledge which on motion was received and accepted.

Tom McClatchy of Oakdale, age 21 and single, was examined on the charge of neglecting his farm work, and spending time running around, and for not supporting the government's war activities as he should. signed a statement agreeing to mend his ways as suggested by the council, which on motion was received and accepted.

The State Council of Defense having requested that every man or boy over 16 years of age, be required to register, it was moved and seconded that this registration be conducted by school-district units, and that the school officers be requested to see that each man in their respective districts so register. The work of registration to be outlined and under the general supervision of the County Superintendent.

Moved, seconded and carried that the Home Guards of Clearwater, Oakdale and Royal be extended a vote of thanks for bringing in parties summoned by the Council.

Moved, seconded and carried that the Council order a supply of buttons which shall have the inscription, "Speak the American Language When I am Around," and that these be placed on sale in the various communities at a nominal charge.

The secretary was instructed to publish that portion of the Sedition Law which covers the penalty for idleness and those not engaged in productive labor.

John Simmons, an American citizen of comfortable means, was then examined on the charge of making near seditions statements, and of being close and rather indisposed to meet his proper proportion of the material burden of the war. After examination, Mr. Simmons agreed to change his ways in acceptable manner, and to give $25.00 more to the Red Cross and to meet all requirements of the Council of Defense.

That is the way things are going in Holt county, and that is the way the papers publish what is being done. There does not appear to be any guarding the "reputation" of a slacker, but it is contrary to the order of the State Council, we regret to say. We believe that a bit of publicity given to the State and County Councils would help them to do more good and result in great good to the cause of the government, which is, or is supposed to be, the people of the communities.

While the report above given is not to the credit of those who had to appear before the Council, we venture the assertion that it will make it far easier for the Council to get what is justly due it and the government in the future.

The Democrat has no desire to do other than what is best to aid in every possible way in getting from every citizen what he should justly and fairly do to aid in this hour of stress. It is a part of the duty of every citizen to respond to the call of his government—if it be a fair government in which he has a voice, in every hour of need, but we do believe publicity a wholesome remedy for many wrongs; public sentiment is a power and a public opinion permitted to know the facts is very prone to misjudge and do rash things. They paint yellow, wreck buildings and even tar and feather people. In some cases they get the guilty—but in others innocent people suffer. The editor believes that all the findings of the Councils should be made public.

WILL RAISE FLAG POLE.
Pierce is to have a flag pole and a flag worthy of the splendid little city that she is. How many times it has been said, "Why do we not have a flag pole and a flag of our own right here in the center of town? Why are other towns getting flags and we not raising one." All that was needed was some one to give a little time and energy to the matter. There was needed only that men be seen and told that Pierce was going to have a

THE UNIVERSITY CASE The hearing before the university regents which has deservedly attracted wide attention during the past week, has seen the introduction of practically all the testimony cited by the state council of defense. On Tuesday the trial will be resumed, when opportunity will be given for the accused to make additional defense. So far as the university is concerned, it is already cleared of the charge that it is "honeycombed with disloyalty," which has been made by some of its critics. The hearing has been one of the most creditable incidents in the history of the institution. It has established the fact that in contributions of men and money, in the staunch patriotism of its professors and students, in the general attitude of the administration in supporting war with a whole heart, the university of Nebraska has made a magnificent record. When the figures are available it may be found that no other institution in this country has done better.

So completely have these facts been established that the regents hardly need make any report on the main issue. Indeed, on Friday Frank M. Hall, attorney for the state council of defense, made a statement in open court which led many who heard him to understand that the charge of disloyalty had been withdrawn. The attorneys for the council of defense joined in the action clearing four of the twelve instructors without asking for more evidence. The trial has made it clear that the "psychological reconstruction" which has been going on in this country since 1914, notably in the white house, was effected very early in the case of the vast majority of the university professors. Even where slightly belated, as it undoubtedly was in some of the professors' chairs, it now seems complete. What the regents decide to do with instructors who have been unfortunate in their remarks or unable to make themselves completely understood or do team work in general is purely an internal university problem. Problems of this kind come up in times of peace as well as in war, and require much wisdom and discretion in their solution. When the hearing is resumed on Tuesday the doors will again be opened wide for any direct testimony any person in the world has to offer bearing upon the loyalty of the university as a whole or any of its professors and employes. No technicalities will be allowed to prevent the introduction of evidence bearing in any way upon the charges filed by the state council of defense. It is necessary for the usefulness of the chief educational institution maintained by the state to have this question of loyalty settled so completely that no doubt will exist in the mind of the humblest citizen. Technically the verdict at the close of this trial will be made by the regents. In fact, it will be made by the people of Nebraska. Therefore the desirability of putting before them every item of evidence that will aid in reaching a decision. State Journal.

EDWARD A. STEINER AT THE NORMAL JUNE 13 AND 14

One of the numbers, (or rather two of them by one man) which will be of interest to many besides the students attending the summer school will be the lectures to be given next week Thursday and Friday evenings, June 13 and 14 by Edward A. Steiner of Grinnell, Iowa, an author of several works of more than nation-wide fame. Dr. Steiner is a close student of history in the making, and a man who has given the immigration question much study, and is therefore well qualified to tell his hearers much of deep interest to American citizens in these times. His talks are patriotic and it will be a very pleasant duty to hear him speak. Next week we can promise something more definite as to his subjects, and more about the man.

Candidate For Sheriff I. E. ELLIS I have filed for the republican nomination for sheriff of Wayne county. I have lived in this county over fifteen years, most of which time I have been in business in Wayne. Before coming here I lived at Wakefield for eight years, going there from a farm near Pilger, Neb. I was born and raised on a farm in Pottawattamie county, Iowa. This is the first time I have asked for an office in Wayne county. I served as constable in Dixon county for a number of years. If I am intrusted with the office of sheriff I will do everything in my power to fill the office properly and efficiently. YOURS FOR VOTES, I. E. ELLIS

THE COMING TOTAL ECLIPSE OF THE SUN

On the afternoon of Saturday, June 8, 1913, the wonderful spectacle of a total solar eclipse will be visible, weather permitting, over a track extending from the Pacific (Washington) to the Atlantic (Florida). This track of the moon's shadow is 70 miles wide to the western coast, narrowing to 40 miles in Florida.

For about an hour the moon will gradually encroach upon the sun's disk, the daylight will fade, then the narrowing crescent of the sun will suddenly disappear, and around the jet-black ball of the moon, hanging in the northwestern sky among the brighter stars, will be seen the pearly radiance of the mysterious solar corona. The remarkable spectacle may be enjoyed for 122 seconds at the western coast, and for half that time in Florida. Then the crescent of the sun will appear on the other (western) side of the moon, and after another hour the full disk of the sun will shine as usual.

This event happens at any one place on the average, only three times in a thousand years.

The gaseous envelopes of the sun can be advantageously studied by astronomers during the brief interval of total eclipse, and it is then only that the corona can be observed. It is estimated that there are only about 90 minutes in a century for the investigation of this interesting but still perplexing outer appendage of the sun. Its shape is not constant, but varies with the eleven-year cycle of the sun's activity in producing sun-spots. Sun-spots are now about at their maximum, and accordingly we may expect a corona with streamers distributed in all directions around the sun, but not so widely extended east and west as in 1900. The streamers issuing from the sun's poles suggest somewhat certain appearances of the au-rorae borealis. The light of the corona is partly reflected sunlight and partly radiation due to the intense heat it receives from the sun. But the most interesting part is due to an unknown gas, called coronium which has not yet been found in the earth or in the spectrum of any other sun. This eclipse is staged this time for the benefit of the editors, who are to assemble for their national meeting in Arkansas during the time of this event, and it will be a fine thing for the editors, for during a total eclipse the chickens all go to roost, and while there are a few editors like Pease who can catch'em on the jump, most of us prefer to pick them while they sleep. We cannot understand how the preachers came to miss the opportunity of holding such a meeting in the path of the shadow across this fair land.

HADAR RAISES LIBERTY FLAG

Hadar raised a Third Liberty Loan flag last Friday evening with appropriate exercises. The flag dedication was in charge of Miss Ethel Currie, teacher of the Hadar schools and was attended by the people of that village and many farmers in the surrounding territory. The school children featured in a parade with a number of decorated floats and gave a pretty-flag drill combined with the singing of patriotic songs. The raising of the liberty loan flag with three stars was announced by the playing of Star Spangled Banner by a band from Norfolk. A large flag pole on the streets had been raised to receive the flag. Hadar went over the top and then some in the recent liberty loan drive, making the greatest per centage of gain of any district in the county. After the exercises a Red Cross auction was held, the band giving a concert in the school house during the evening.—Pierce Coll.

CRUELTY NOT FEMINE VICE

Unfair to Lay Individual Cases of Thoughtlessness at the Door of the Entire Sex.

An official of the New York Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals complains of "cruel women who come to the meetings of the society wearing egrettes of the plumage of birds that are obtained by the slaughter of the mother bird and the starvation of the brood."

On this solid foundation of fact one might feel secure in concluding that women are, as a sex, more cruel than men.

All eyes have seen the women with the bird-on-her-hat. She wears this particular badge of her cruelty where it cannot escape being seen and for the sole reason that it may be seen.

But is it not unfair to condemn women as utterly cruel because of this one fault? After all, it is not so much a fault as a frailty. Women's vanity is an overpowering passion, and if they must feed it upon the plumage of slaughtered birds, are they any worse than men who glut their greed upon the fruits of others' life-crushing toil?

Cruelty is really a very infrequent vice among women. Even bird-wearing is far from being universal among them. It is impossible not to remember that the whole structure of the movement on behalf of humanity to all creatures which has reached greater proportions in this country than in any other, is founded in the first instance on the tender-heartedness of American women. It would be interesting to know how for the S. P. C. A. movement would ever have progressed but for the inspiration and enthusiasm that have come from women.—Christian Herald.

DEFENDS LOWER BIRTH-RATE

Writer in Leading Scottish Publication Sees No Cause for Alarm in Its Continuance.

This is the rule of evolution—fewer offspring, a longer period of infancy, and more careful parental care. Wherever one looks in the animal kingdom he finds that rule working, a writer in the Edinburgh Review points out.

Among fishes, species that exhibit no sort of parental care, the average of 3 gives 1,040,000 eggs to a female each year, while among those which make nests or any apology for nests the number is only about 10,000.

Coming down through human history one finds the same law working. Among savage or semicivilized peoples the birthrate is very high, as is also the deathrate through enemies and disease. But, as fast as civilization makes its influence felt, the result is seen in a lowered birthrate, accompanied by better care of the fewer children who are born.

Havelock Ellis recently pointed out that the nations in Europe which were most ready and eager for war—Germany, Russia, Serbia, Austria—are the countries of highest birthrate, and hence of greatest economic pressure. And he adds: "Those who would seek to restore the birthrate of half a century ago are engaged in a task which would be criminal if it were not based on ignorance and which is in any case fatuous."

Knitting, Revived Art.

Knitting, as a handicraft, almost universal among our grandmothers, and now being revived by women all over the world, received its death-blow from the invention of Isaac Wix-Lamb, who was born in Salem, Mich., about 78 years ago.

Lamb's invention of the knitting machine, the first perfected apparatus of its kind, transformed the art of knitting from a home-occupation to a great manufacturing industry. His machine is capable of producing more than 30 varieties of knit goods and makes 4,000 loops a minute at ordinary speed, turning out both flat and tubular work. Later inventors have worked improvements in the process. As one result of the war—knitting needles are again in vogue, and their click may now be heard in the homes, in the theaters, in the street cars and every other place. In all probability, however, home knitting will pass with the years.

Goldsmith a Poor Physician.

There is a long list of men distinguished in various spheres of life, who began their careers in medicine. One of the most striking examples is that of Dr. Oliver Goldsmith, though nobody knows him by that title today. As a medical man the creator of "The Vicar of Wakefield" was held in such low repute that his appointment as a physician to the East India company was revoked before he got the chance to tamper with any one's ailments, says the New York Telegraph. Even when he presented himself at Surgeons' hall as an applicant for the humble position of mitter in a naval hospital he failed to pass the examination.

Dogs That Follow by Sight.

Hound is a term that embraces all dogs which follow game either by scent or sight. Of those which follow by sight the leading variety of the present time is the greyhound, and along with this class are also the Irish wolfhound, the Scottish deerhound and the Russian wolfhound.

Of the hounds that follow the quarry by scent are the bloodhound, foxhound, beagle and basset. At one time there was the large foxhound called the staghound or buckhound, which was used in deer hunting, but this variety has practically passed out.

Take Care of Your Tires

America's greatest need is for ships—more ships. Every available vessel is being utilized in government service.

Many ships that have been carrying rubber from Sumatra and Brazil have been taken for active transport duty.

This will necessarily force a temporary curtailment of tire production.

So, make the most of the tires you have.

Use good tires.

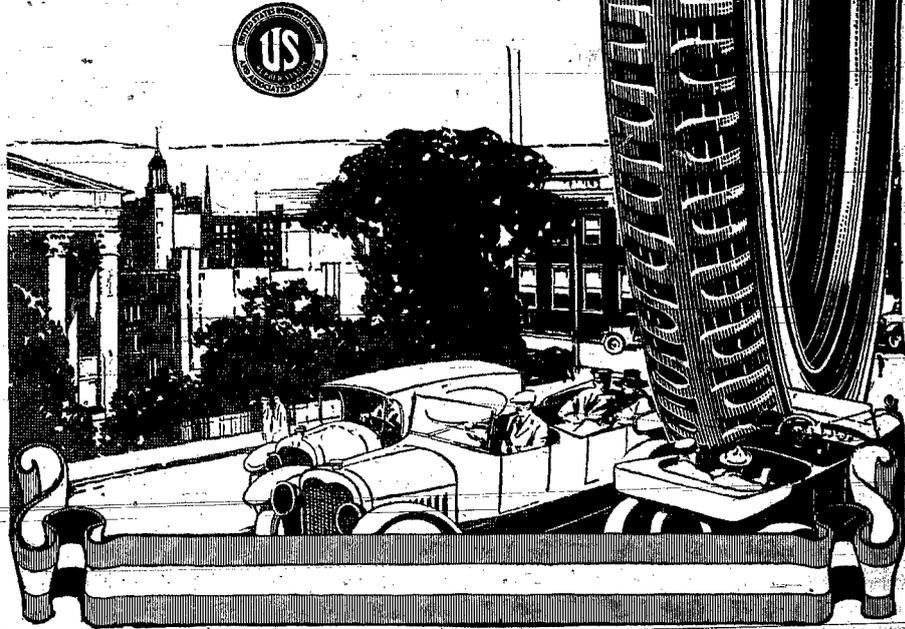

Take good care of them. Keep them in perfect repair. See that they are properly inflated.

Increase their mileage by careful driving. Keep out of car tracks and away from bumps. Don't scrape the curb or apply brakes too suddenly.

Get every mile your tires have in them.

Only in that way can you be assured of your car's continuous service.

A QUEER KIND.

Our republican friends tell us that the present political campaign is to be a non-partisan campaign, and yet every new day brings forth the statement from republican leaders that a republican congress must be elected in order that the peace terms upon which the war must be settled shall be in harmony with republican principles.

Let's see about that. We all claim we are fighting for a world democracy. We all claim that we want a lasting peace among the nations, and yet our republican friends are planning to make all other peoples our enemies by demanding that after the war great walls shall be erected on all American borders—walls so high that the democracy of other lands may not climb over them in order to come and enjoy friendly trade relations with us.

If history is true, then just such walls were primarily responsible for this great war. One of the little nations was compelled to pay a tribute of forty per cent of the value of all her goods for the privilege of passing those goods through the territory of a big sister nation on their way to the markets of the world. It is absurd to talk about establishing a democracy of the world and at the same time raising impassable commercial barriers between the peoples of different nations. President Wilson has already declared in favor of peace terms following the war upon a basis which will provide for friendly relations between the peoples of all nations, thus making impossible such conditions as prevailed in the Balkans, and which were largely responsible for the present war. It is not the purpose of The Telegram now to challenge the integrity of our republican friends who tell us that they are favorable to the war plans of the American government, but we confess that we cannot harmonize the plans of President Wilson and the plans of Roosevelt, Root, Smoot and other republican advocates of commercial barriers between nations after the war.

The safe plan for the people to pursue will be to elect a congress which will favor the peace plans of President Wilson, rather than the peace plans of Roosevelt, Root and Smoot. The peace plans of President Wilson contemplate the drawing of good feeling on part of all nations toward our own republic. The peace plans of Roosevelt, Root and Smoot contemplate an era of distrust on the part of all other nations toward any nation which shall insist upon raising impassable trade barriers between its own people and the people of other nations.

And so we say it will be well to question pretty closely any candidate for congress who says with his lips that he will support President Wilson in his heart that when the time shall come for making peace we will prefer the peace terms proposed by Roosevelt, Root and Smoot.—Columbus Telegram.

How Much Do You Know About Your Body?

As we think of the afflictions that mankind is accidentally subjected to, we look at the smooth exterior of our body and wonder why. But the more we know about ourselves, the easier we can understand cause and effect.

In the first stages of life, the principal thing to be noticed is the brain. The brain, being first, must be the medium through which Nature builds a complete body. The baby is born with its organism working normally. As long as nature can continue her constructive energy, the baby will grow and remain normal in every respect until, like an old machine, it will finally wear out.

If we were once well and normal, why are we sick now?

Chiropractic

proves that dis-ease is due to interference with the constructive energy, partially or wholly, through pressure on the spinal nerves, causing dis-ease wherever those nerves extend.

By analyzing the backbone, the Chiropractor can detect any subluxation (displacement), and by simple adjustments can remove the cause of dis-ease. Good health follows naturally.

Look into Chiropractic—the new Health Science, and pass the word along to some suffering friend. Information costs nothing.

Bridging the Gap From Steer to Steak

Live stock is raised on the farms and ranches of the West.

Meat is eaten in the large cities of the East, and by our boys in France—thousands of miles away.

The day of transporting live animals from ranch to seaboard and overseas has passed. There was too much waste. The modern packer locates his large and specialized plants in the producing regions. He ships the dressed beef in refrigerator cars, and holds it in his own refrigerated branch warehouses until delivered to the retailer. For shipment to foreign ports, he transfers the meat to refrigerated ships.

By means of his nation-wide organization the modern packer maintains a continuous flow of meats to all parts of the country, so that each retailer gets just the quantity and quality of meat his trade demands, and at the time he wants it.

Swift & Company recently shipped 1,000 carloads of meat products in one week to our Armies and to the Allies.

Bridging the gap from ranch to consumer can be done successfully—and at low unit costs and profits—only by large business organizations.

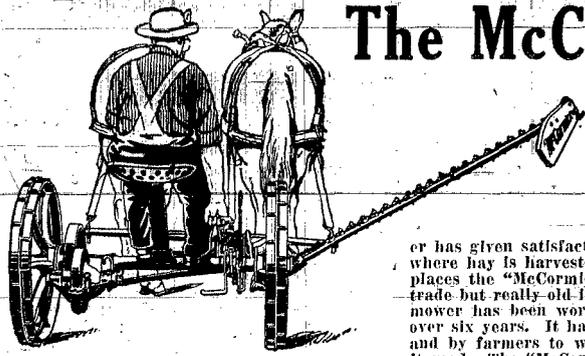

Swift & Company's profit on meat, always so small as to have practically no effect on prices, is now limited by the Government to about 2 cents on each dollar of sales.

McCORMICK Farm Implements!

McCormick machinery is the best machinery to buy because in every way it is better, it is built of the finest materials, it will stand all kinds of service and in the long run is the cheapest you can buy today. These are the days when we learn to economize and to buy the BEST is the only way to properly economize. Through the years McCormick implements have stood the test, and today's improvements put them in a class all by themselves. Call and inspect our line today.

The McCormick No. 6

A New Mower

McCORMICK Harvesting Machines are never changed unless decided improvement can be made either in the machine itself or in the work that it does. For the past sixteen years the "McCormick New 4" mow-er has given satisfaction to farmers in practically every country where hay is harvested. This year the "McCormick No. 6" replaces the "McCormick New 4." It embodies features new to the trade but really old in the point of use. The "McCormick No. 6" mower has been working under the most adverse conditions for over six years. It has been tried thoroughly by expert mechanics and by farmers to whom it was entirely new—and all pronounce it good. The "McCormick No. 6" is not a New mower made over. It is a new mower with all the good features of the "New 4" embodied and with many improvements that you will like and should have on your machine.

SOME OF THE NEW THINGS—Effective Raising Levers; Flexible Gag Arrangement; New Cutter Bar, which gives it a clean, sheer cut the full length of the mower bar; Removable Wearing Plates; the Pitman has Exclusive Features; External Main Gear; Rigid Frame; Special Features on Coupling Bar; Four Prong Clutch; Counter-shaft Easily Adjusted; Easy to Replace Parts; Spring Tracker Board; Pole is Strengthened; Easy on Horses and Operator.

A McCormick Self Dump Rake

The McCormick Self-Dump Rake will meet your requirements under all conditions. It has gained a reputation in every locality for durability and ease of operation. It dumps quickly, and the teeth return to the ground close to the windrow. As the rake fills, the cleaner rods float above and retard the hay so that it does not roll into a "ropy" form.

IT IS EASY TO DUMP—The rake leaves a neat appearing field due to the ease with which the teeth can be kept in position. By pressure on the foot lever the teeth can be locked down for bunching hay from windrows. It has perfect adjustments for different kinds of hay.

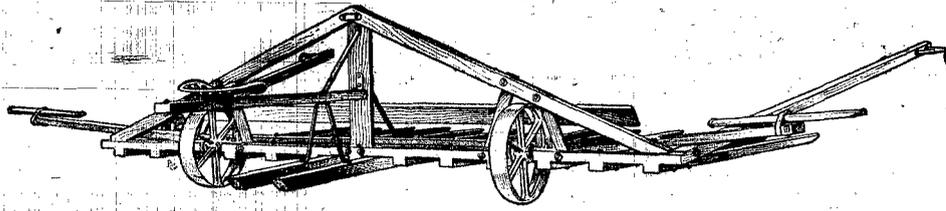

WHEELS INTERCHANGE—The wheels interchange so that when one side of the racket is worn the wheels can be reversed, giving practically the wear of two rake wheels in one. The wheels have staggered spokes and heavy steel tires. They are large and keep the rake running smoothly even on rough ground.

MAIN FRAME AND RAKE HEAD CONNECTED—The good work and lasting qualities of a hay rake depend to a great extent upon the material that is put into the Main Frame. The Main Frame of the McCormick rake is made of angle steel, and, being strongly braced, is resistant to twisting. The rake head is also made of angle steel strongly trussed to prevent sagging. The frame and rake head are connected by heavy hinges.

DURABLE RAKE TEETH—McCormick rake teeth are made of high grade, oil-tempered steel. They have a curve which brings them well under the hay where they carry it, rather than drag it along. These teeth undergo a severe test before leaving the factory. When a tooth becomes broken or worn it can be replaced by taking off ONLY ONE SECTION.

REVERSIBLE DUMP RODS—The rods are in two parts and can be taken out and turned. The ends are tempered, furnishing added durability.

McCormick Sweep Rakes

No Machine equals McCormick Sweep Rakes and Stackers for Economy when stacking hay in the field. No other method equals this in saving of time and labor. McCormick Sweep Rakes are made in nine styles, so that every field condition can be met successfully. They will gather hay from either swath or windrow.

A VISIT WITH AN OLD FRIEND

In the pursuit of duty one day last it was the pleasure of the editor to form a chance acquaintance with a man who by some fortune, good or bad, was a native of our old home county, Clayton, in the state of Iowa. The "Hawkeye" gave his name as C. S. Anderson, and now claims Wausa as his home, tho he is not a relative of the great majority of the Andersons of that good town. He is distinguished from some others by the title of Captain—a title he earned in this part of Nebraska before the days of railroads. He was in business in those days at Lynch and Running Water. He realized that business is barter—that the people buy where they can sell—and that to buy he must have a way to get their products to market. So he established a few boats on the "Big Muddy" and by this means could pay as much for grain delivered on the Missouri river bank as they could pay at any of the railroad points in the state and make a shorter haul for many a farmer. With his boats he delivered his cargo at some railroad point on the east side of the river, and the usual bridge charge for a car of grain made a difference in freight which enabled him to break even on the way to the big market in the east. It was because of this enterprise that they called him Captain. When the iron horse came in close to him on the south, he sold his boats and shipped by rail, tho he was able to bring merchandise by boat and freight it across to Lynch for a time at a less freight than the new railroad charged. But he evidently knew when to sell.

We visited a time of other days in Iowa, and both remembered the time when railroads were not there, and the Mississippi river was the great highway of commerce, and McGregor the great commercial center for hogs and wheat. Those were great days for that old river town at the mouth of a little stream along which a road was made to the high and more level land back of the line of bluffs which rise from the river along that portion of its course. McGregor now has a railroad, and so have many other towns in that part of the world, and its greatness as a commercial center has gone, never to return.

In the days when its glory was fading, an artesian well was drilled there, and a great flow of water gushed from the earth, said to be 70,000 gallons per minute. But then, as one man said in a rival town, to belittle the wonder, he "did not know what they would do with all of that water, for there was not a man in town who knew the taste of water." Just now Mr. Anderson tells that he is giving his attention to farming, having several tracts of land in different states, which under a lease system were not producing more than a living for the tenant, so he is equipping with tractors, and farming them with competent help and careful management to make them produce, not only for himself and those who work them, but for the soldiers and our allies across the water. It is the energy and push of such men that will be felt in the coming struggle for victory as much as the work of the soldier in the trenches.

Speaking of Wayne he said he had known in Iowa one who was for a time a county official here, Ed Reynolds, father of Charles, Ray, and the other Reynolds boys.

Mr. Anderson was on a trip from

QUEER TRICKS OF STORM

When the nice country residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. Schneckpeper was blown to pieces by the cyclone of May 18, the house and its contents were literally scattered to the "Four ends of the Heavens," Mrs. Schneckpeper's maiden name was Miss Clara Claussen, had two post cards that were addressed to her in 1912, prior to her marriage and which she still kept in her country home until the recent cyclone tore the house to pieces. After the storm these cards were picked up in the corn field of a South Dakota farmer and returned to her. Here is the evidence:

Baltic, S. D., May 21, 1918

Miss Clara Claussen, Bloomfield, Nebraska. Dear Miss Claussen: You will no doubt be surprised at receiving this letter with enclosed cards bearing your name and address and postoffice stamp date of May 7th, 1912. However, you will not be more surprised than I was yesterday upon finding both of them only a few rods apart in my corn field while dragging same and getting ready for planting. The only explanation I can give of this is that they must have been carried by the strong winds we recently had. The stretch of 100 miles from down your way and right across up here to our place, which is five miles southwest of Baltic and 14 miles north of Sioux Falls. The two cards must evidently have traveled together, therefore I return them to you, as you no doubt can give me information as to how they got up here. They bear evidence that they have been out in the open only a very short time. If this is so that the recent winds we had up here come from Nebraska, I sincerely hope that the people down there will do their bit to prevent them in the future from coming across into S. D. It was almost impossible for us here to be outside in the open for a couple of days, the 15th and 16th inst. Very respectfully yours, N. J. Sundt.

Bloomfield Monitor.

IS NEBRASKA PRO-GERMAN

The bureau of publicity of the Omaha Chamber of Commerce has issued a booklet under the above title which will be mailed free on request. It copies an editorial attack from the Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph and a reply thereto.

NEBRASKA CROP REPORT

The report for the month of May up to the 27th show much improvement over the conditions a month ago. At that time the western part of the state, alone, had had anything like enough moisture. Recent good rains in the eastern part of the state have put that section in excellent condition. The central part of the state, however, is still short of moisture.

Winter wheat showed some improvement during the first of May but subsequent high winds and drought have set it back in those sections which failed to get sufficient moisture. Nearly all winter wheat west of Culbertson and North Platte is in excellent condition.

The bulk of the corn was planted during the second and third weeks of May. While nothing is yet known as to the stand there was sufficient moisture to sprout the grain and the warm weather was favorable for proper germination. Cool and wet weather might have been disastrous to the weak seed. Some cultivating has been done. High winds did some damage in Pierce, Antelope and Holt counties by filling the furrows while in some other counties corn crops were washed out by heavy rainfall.

Except where blown out in the light, sandy soils the small grain has suffered little, it being too little advanced to suffer from the wind and drought. Most of the oats, wheat and barley are in promising condition. Pastures are very short, particularly in the South Platte territory. In a few cases, cattle have been turned into oat fields because of lack of grass in the pastures. Most of the alfalfa will make a fair crop although some of it is a 50% loss as a result of the dry weather. Wild hay is in poor shape and the yield will be low.

MAKE WATER SAVE COAL

Nebraska is a state without coal, and oil has never been found within its borders to any great extent, tho prospecting and speculating have been twin enterprises in seeking this wealth-producing fluid. But the state is blessed with plenty of water, and science has found a way to make use of gravity water to produce heat and power; it should be the duty of the state to aid in harnessing this mighty force for the use of the people. From an exchange we clip an article which shows the awakening of Italy to the use of this force when they were compelled to do so. Some parts of this country are now having the convenience of this heat and power; but too often for it they are compelled to pay much tribute to soulless corporations. Read the story of Italy, and go them one better:

"Italy has learned from the war an economic lesson that is full of interest for Americans. When coal had nearly disappeared, and their industries were on the point of suspending the Italians began to make a more extensive use of their water power. The excellent results of their effort are shown in the following figures, given by the New York Times. In 1856 the applications for water field with the Italian government amounted to eighty-six horsepower; in 1899 to 2,160 horsepower; in 1914 to 100,000 horsepower. Today the sum of $120,000,000 invested in hydro-electric companies, and the annual horsepower is more than 1,000,000,000. It ought not to require such a bitter experience as Italy's to convince Americans of the wisdom of developing to the utmost extent water power where it is available for industrial purposes.

The U. S. Chamber of Commerce after citing the great necessity for development of our potential water power at this time resolved by an overwhelming vote that the immediate passage of legislation which will make available at earliest possible date the water powers of the entire country, be urged earnestly upon congress."

An Expression Of Appreciation

At the close of a very busy season, we wish to express our appreciation of the orders placed with us for delivery before Decoration day, and while the volume of business was so large that it was impossible owing to weather conditions and sickness, to get every piece placed on time we have the satisfaction of knowing that we pleased our patrons with our efforts and success in completing nearly all work as expected.

Now that this hurry time is over, we wish to state that we had but few good pieces left of our splendid stock. These we are offering just now at a price which cannot be duplicated when our new stock arrives. We invite those interested to call and inspect them, for if we have what pleases you, we can furnish any of these stores for less money than we can furnish from our new stock, because prices are advancing constantly.

We have several car loads purchased and on the way for which we must make room, and then we plan to visit the quarries for the purchase of several other car loads of carefully selected stock.

We intend to conduct the business and select our stock that no one in Wayne or in Northeast Nebraska need go elsewhere to secure the best in our line.

Mason Jars

Conservation of home production is more important this year than ever before. People have responded to the call to plant larger gardens. This will create a greater demand for fruit jars and canning necessities. Our advice is to protect yourself early and lay in your supply of jars, jar tops, etc. Do not buy more than you need, there may not be enough to meet the demand. We have Mason jars in all sizes and are offering them at a comparatively low price.

All orders received by this department will receive our best attention. Our prices are low, our goods are clean and of the best quality, and our clerks are courteous.

L. D. Bruggeman's cousins of Omaha, were heaviest losers of any one in that vicinity when the cyclone struck there. Every building, a stock, even chickens being destroyed.

Those who were at the H. C. Lyons home Saturday were: Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Spence of Buckeye, Texas; Wm. Mills and family of Carroll; Rev. and Mrs. G. M. Bing of Laurel; Bennie Nelson of Beresford, South Dakota and Lorenzo Wilcox.

Bennie Nelson of Beresford, South Dakota, came Wednesday to attend the graduation of his former school mate Lorenz Wilcox.

Clarence Dahlquist and Vernie Larson received their eighth grade diplomas recently, both being from the Golden Gleam school.

Miss Marthwig from north of Laurel, has been visiting with Mrs. J. N. Halliday.

The Red Cross met with Mrs. Carl Munson last Wednesday. This week they are meeting for an all day session at L. D. Bruggeman's. Miss Olive Swanson is improving.

WAR NOTES

The U-Boat from German waters has appeared in American waters, off the coast of this country, and has sunk a total of 13 ships; but now that they are being hunted and seamen are on guard the number may not grow much larger. But few lives have been lost by these sinkings, and most of the ships were of a smaller type.

The great German drive toward Paris is brought to a stand still. Losses have been heavy and the fighting fierce. American soldiers have been in the midst of it, and all reports indicate that the German soldier is now aware that the "Yanks" are doing business in France. Their sub-sea warfare on this side is beyond a doubt in the hope of keeping American soldiers at home.

THERE'S SOMETHING DOING FOR THE KIDDIES NOW

Miss Eva Mills of the State University, sent out in the interest of summer work for boys and girls, reports that she is meeting with great success here. She has at this time a War Bread class, a Canning class and a Chicken and Pig class. In all these projects she has been able to arouse great interest. Her headquarters are here at Wayne but her extends over the county.

Saturday evening Miss Mills entertained the members of the different classes at a picnic in Bressler's grove. A wiener roast was the feature of the evening also games were played until the threatening clouds sent the party home.

This is indeed a great work, giving the children something to fill in vacation hours and something which will bring them a benefit as lasting as the lessons of the school room. Conservation of food will be the greatest lesson taught. The work will not be hard, it is planned to make the real work a pleasure. In the open, close to nature and the beautiful lessons which can only reach the heart through the medium of God's blessed sunshine.

Miss Laura Lyons has been on the sick list.

Mrs. W. S. Young has been suffering from a bad attack of quinsy.

Mrs. L. D. Bruggeman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Witt, of Arcadia, Iowa, came Thursday for a ten days' visit.

Mrs. Roy Nelson of Fallon, Wyoming, returned from the Sioux City hospital Wednesday and reports her mother, Mrs. O. Hogelin as doing nicely since her recent operation.

Mrs. J. M. Mohr drove to Jefferson, South Dakota, to visit his daughters, Mrs. H. Doolittle and went to Raleigh also to bring Miss Anna home who has taught there this year. We are glad to report she was re-elected with a substantial increase in wages.

Miss Mabel Carlson, a graduate of the Wayne Normal, also her two brothers and a sister of Elgin, have been visiting at W. Larson's and G. Dahlquist's and Levi Reimer's.

Misses Esther and Olive Swanson returned to G. Dahlquist from Omaha a week ago Sunday and the following day Miss Olive was taken seriously ill and a few days later a specialist was called and a nurse is now in attendance.

"When such a republican as Representative Anthony assures the country that no graft will be found in the management of the war, not even in the airplane department, the country is entitled to take courage. Mistakes of the head have lost some wars, but corruption has lost more." Mr. Hughes may find rotten spots which congressmen do not suspect, but evidently no serious graft is likely to be unearthed. There is more danger of profiteering. Is this war department having to pay absurd prices for the service it buys? This is one point on which the Hughes investigation should enlighten us."—State Journal.

And when papers like the State Journal give such editorial, there is some hope for the people.

FIFTY-FIFTY

(Camp Dix Times.)

A simple-minded lumberjack from troops wrote a letter asking for $50, and addressed it to "The Good Lord, care of Y. M. C. A., France." His letter was so simple, direct, and full of faith that the boys around the Y. M. C. A. camp decided to chip in and send him $25. He acknowledged the money with a heart full of thanks, but added this postscript: P. S.—In case you send me any more money, don't let it come through the Y. M. C. A., as the last time they held out $25 on me.

Waste in Education

(From the Goldenrod)

The following is a part of a letter sent out by Dean Hahn to the parents of the children in the Training School. It shows the evils of a long summer vacation.

"Getting on in school does not depend wholly upon how much is learned but rather upon how much is remembered. Until very recently the school recognized only the learning factor, and one sort of learning was considered as good as another. Today the school is as much interested in the saving of what is learned as it is in the learning itself. Recent experiments have established the fact that children forget much more rapidly than teachers and parents are willing to believe. Equally well established is the fact that much of the forgetting is unnecessary and can be prevented by right sort of learning and the right sort of school organization. The school's ideal for the child is to learn much and to forget little.

"The principal cause of forgetting is disuse. Much of the forgetting due to disuse can be prevented while school is in session by systematic and consistent reviews. But what about the forgetting due to long vacations? It is estimated by some authorities that the child forgets, in case of mere rote learning, as much as seventy-five per cent if the period of disuse extends over a whole month. Of course, in the case of logical learning, forgetting is less rapid. Yet, even according to the most conservative estimates, the fact remains that during three months of educational idleness—the child slips back much of the distance he has covered during nine months of educational labor. What is the remedy? Many educators in many different localities suggest shorter vacations, or school the whole year round.

"Wayne offers an excellent opportunity to parents who sense the importance of this problem. It so happens that the need of the Training School of the Wayne State Normal and the needs of the children are identical. The Normal is in need of a summer school for the demonstration of methods in the training of teachers. The children are in need of a summer school to conserve the learning and make it unnecessary to repeat two or three months' work each year. By pooling their interests both parties can be greatly benefitted."

The New Rural Courses

For a long time those interested in the country schools have felt the need of training to prepare teachers for definite service in such schools. The last session of the legislature authorized such work. Students who have finished the eighth grade or its equivalent and are at least sixteen years of age may enter the elementary course of two years and upon completion of the same will receive a state certificate which will entitle the holder to teach three years in any rural school.

This course is especially planned for those mature students who have had but little or no high school work and yet desire to teach. It offers strong reviews in the common school subjects; enough high school work that the teacher may be prepared to give pupils a vision of things in advance of the elementary school; agriculture, domestic science and manual training for industrial work; and rural school management, observation, rural sociology, music, playground and physical training to prepare for efficient teaching and community service.

The advanced course is open to those who completed the two year elementary course or its equivalent and leads to a life certificate good in rural and village schools. The work is more advanced but along the same lines as that offered in the elementary course, and offers preparation for county superintendents and teachers in town, consolidated, and rural high schools.

NEBRASKA LIBERTY LOAN EXCEEDS FIFTY MILLIONS

According to final figures announced by Thos. C. Bryne, state chairman of the Nebraska Liberty Loan Committee, loyal Nebraskans purchased $50,513,450 worth of Liberty Bonds. This is an average of one bond to every family in the state, and represents a 68 per cent over-subscription. The total subscription to the three Liberty Loans in Nebraska is $102,866,350, a per capita distribution of $85.14.

The spirit shown by seniors in consultation with faculty advisor in regard to teaching positions:

I don't want no education.
I ain't got no application.
I can't do no multiplication.
There ain't no chance of graduation.
There ain't nothing ahead but aggregation, misery and prevarication.
So I'll quit.

The only exceptions are persons in the military or naval service of the United States, which includes all officers and enlisted men of the Regular Army, the Navy, the Marine Corps, and the National

ELIMINATE THRESHING WASTE

Beyond a doubt much grain is annually lost as far as human food is concerned by the carelessness of the thrasher. About 20 months ago when wheat boomed up in price a lot of people realized that they had left grain in the straw, and got busy with threshing machines and thrashed the straw over again, and made good wages at a time when they were not doing much else. But how much better it would have been to have taken that grain the first time through. To do this conditions should be right when the grain is put into the machine. The machine should not be overtaxed—just kept busy.

The food administration knows of this waste, and is taking steps to avert it, and send us the following outline of a plan which should help, and threshers and farmers should co-operate with the Federal Food Administrator, J. H. Kemp of this county to take the grain from the straw.

The Grain Threshing Division, under the auspices of the U. S. Food Administration Grain, Corporation, has outlined an important plan calling for the organization of a County Grain Threshing Committee. The purpose is to mobilize the threshermen of America, that millions of pounds of wheat now lost by inefficient practices may be saved.

The Federal Food Administration for Nebraska has been requested to have all County Administrators in the important grain producing counties organize a committee and proceed with this work. The county organization should consist of the County Federal Food Administrator, the County Agricultural Agent, a competent thrasher, and such other parties as would be of assistance in the work.

To the County Administrators of the grain producing counties of the state, will be dispatched under separate cover complete information on this plan.

The first duty of the County Administrator is to select his committee, call a meeting of the same, and give immediate consideration to the plans. The next important duty is co-operation with their committees, to procure from the assessors' records, or other reliable sources, a complete list of the names of threshing machine owners, with their addresses, and manufacturers' name of engines and separators located within their county. Mail this list promptly to the Grain Corporation, 42 Broadway, New York, retaining a copy for your county's use, and dispatching a copy to this office.

Guard and Naval Militia, while in the service of the United States, and officers in the Officers' Reserve Corps and enlisted men in the Enlisted Reserve Corps while in active service. Persons not subject to registration on account of being in the military or naval service of the United States become subject to registration and are required to register immediately upon leaving such military or naval service.

An alien who enters the United States for the first time after the date set for registration by the President is not subject to registration, unless he declares his intention to become a citizen of the United States.

Citizens of the United States or persons who have declared their intention to become citizens of the United States who do not register on account of absence from the territorial limits of the United States are required to register within five days after their return to the United States.

Date of Registration June 5th, 1918. Place of Registration, Court House, Wayne, Nebraska, for Wayne county. Hours for Registration are from 7 o'clock, A. M., to 9 o'clock P. M.

NEWS OF INTEREST

(From the Goldenrod)

The Entertainment Course

In making the plans for this course the committee has been unusually fortunate. The course is educational and will be greatly appreciated from the standpoint of entertainment, as well.

(a.) The second week on June 13 and 14 Dr. Steiner will lecture for us. Two of the best possible numbers for a teachers' course. Dr. Steiner is a world man, who thinks in terms of the future as well as the present. The inspiration of these lectures will go to the school room with you and you will be a better teacher and a better citizen.

(b.) The fourth week we have what the friends of the Wayne Normal ask for: the Normal Male Quartet. This year they are to be assisted by the Stanton Ladies Quartet. This combination is really the blending of two first class musical entertainments. What a treat this program will be!

(c.) The seventh week we have an evening with Miss Josephine Mack, head of the department of expression. All who heard her read "Experience" last summer must fully appreciate the ability of Miss Mack. This program will be arranged and executed by an artist of high rank, and, what is still better, by the students' friend and helper.

(d.) The school paper "The Goldenrod" is in the hands of able students and will be continued along the same high standard of excellence it has had in the past.

(e.) "The Son of Democracy," in ten chapters. Each a thirty-minute drama. This is Mr. Benjamin Chapin's masterpiece. Mr. Chapin loves Lincoln and "The Son of Democracy" as given by him is historically correct. This drama is history, but history come to life. "The Son of Democracy" is entertaining, educational, historical and moral. It is our purpose to give the ten chapters in five entertainments.—June 11, 18, 25, July 2 and 9.

The summer course will consist of nine or ten evening entertainments and a subscription to the Goldenrod. The whole for $1.25 or less than 15¢ each.

This arrangement is made under the impression that all students will, as they have in the past, purchase a season ticket. If each number should be purchased at single admission prices they would cost about $3.25. It will require hearty co-operation to make this course financially self-supporting, but judging from other terms it can be done even at this low price. Let us all boost for our Summer Program.

I. H. BRITTELL,

Secretary Budget Committee.

Don't Always Blame the Telephone Operator When You Are Called by Mistake

Were you ever called to the telephone when another number was wanted?

When this occurs, the operator, to be sure, may have humanly erred by ringing on the wrong line. More often, however, it is the fault of the person making the call.

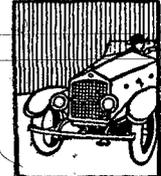

People often ask for 456, for example, when 546 is wanted and then either "hang up" when the mistake is realized or become impatient when the wrong person answers.

Unfamiliarity with the work of telephone operating often prompts unjust criticism. Please don't forget the earnestness of the operator's effort when some occasional service difficulty does arise.

Coalless Monday

By MARCIA MEREDITH

(Copyright, 1918, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Will you please get off the wire?" The voice, though young and feminine, was not entirely pleasant.

"I believe I took my receiver off first," came back good-naturedly. "I am trying to get the janitor. Are you the janitor's wife?"

"How ridiculous! Where is the elevator boy to answer the phone? I want the janitor."

A laugh came back through the telephone. "Everybody wants the janitor. The last I heard he had gone out to try and buy soft coal. I dare say you're in the same boat that I am—frozen to death in your apartment. You know it won't do any good to kick, but, like me, nothing else will keep you warm."

There was no answer. Freda Tilson's receiver slammed back on the hook that held it, and if she had been inclined to talk to herself in her little apartment she might have muttered something about an impertinent creature who dared to talk to a girl when he did not know her, and that she was the most remote idea who it was. That would have been a fib, however, for she really did know that it was the young man who dwelt in bachelor state in the somewhat more spacious and luxurious apartment in front of her own, the greater luxury and higher rent of his apartment being due to the fact that while he managed to draw to himself a weekly check for $75 for writing "thrillers" for a popular weekly, she pounded a type-writer somewhere in the "downtown" district to the tune of sixty a month.

To her, having an apartment of her own, with a little place she could call home, was a luxury that she had earned by much economy in the way of amusement and pretty clothes. His living there was put down to his New England origin, for Victor Paige was more of a miser than a spendthrift, and he would rather dine alone on the simple fare that his visiting colored housekeeper made for him than to spend many ducats in alluring restaurants. Now it happened that the typewriter that Freda Tilson pounded was located in the very office whither Victor Paige occasionally strolled to deliver his manuscript, and mayhap chin with the editor. Perhaps she felt a secret grievance, because, though she had noticed the coincidence that he frequented her office and also about under the same roof, he had sought no excuse to speak to her as they passed in the halls going home or venturing forth. It does seem strange that Victor never sought the excuse, for Freda would have been good to speak to. And there was nothing repellent in her round blue eyes. But then, Victor came from New England.

As Freda performed the task of dusting and straightening up her little apartment, clad to the chin in a sweater and wearing gloves on her hands as she worked, she listened intently for a ring at her doorbell that would mean that the letter she was waiting for had come. When all chance of the delivery was over she descended to the entrance to make sure that the boy in attendance there had not failed to deliver it to her.

Strange that Victor Paige should have gone forth at the same time. He waited while she made her complaint.

"In the first place," she said, "it is perfectly ridiculous that on the one day in the week when we have to be home, and when it would really seem that apartments and houses ought to have enough coal to make them comfortable, we should be made to suffer in this way. How I am ever going to write on my typewriter, with hands stiff from cold, is more than I can tell. It seems most extraordinary that my manuscripts did not come by the mail this morning. My office is closed, and it is absolutely necessary for me to typewrite some revised manuscript that the editor was sending by special delivery. Are you quite sure nothing has come for me?"

"The dusky skinned attendant nodded in the negative."

"And is there no hope of any heat?" Again a negative nod.

"Well, then, get some oil. Thank goodness, I bought a stove."

Now it was Victor's inquiring. Having heard Freda's plaint and the unsatisfactory replies, he did not mention the frigid atmosphere that prevailed in his apartment as well as in hers.

"I say, Obadiah—beg pardon, I forgot your name was Hannibal—you haven't seen anything of a stray messenger boy with a typewriter, have you? Of course you haven't. But, you see, the place I usually dictate my copy is closed, and I was going to pound it out for myself today, so I sent for a typewriter. But I guess they had too many orders before mine. Well, if there's no hope for heat I'll have to burn oil."

meeting occurred. It was at the corner grocery. Freda came hurrying in with the base of an old stove, her self-consciousness at having to carry this awkward burden only making her cheeks pinker and her eyes rounder.

"Please fill this with oil," she told the grocer's boy, and then blushed a little rosy as she realized that Victor Paige was standing at her elbow. He took his hat off, and then, when Freda averted her look he awkwardly waved his hat in the air and stroked the cat with the brim of it to try to convince himself that he had meant to take it off anyway, and that he was not a bit embarrassed by Freda's hauteur.

"We ain't got no oil—all sold out," came from the grocer's boy, just as Victor Paige was inquiring of the grocer himself whether it happened that all stoves were a part of his equipment. In the grocery store he recalled that such trifling articles were always sold. And as the grocer assured him that the only places to get such things were the household furnishing stores, and they were all closed because it was coalless Monday, he confided to him. He knew the grocer didn't care, and he didn't care whether he did care, but he spoke in a loud, clear voice. "Could it have been that it was for Freda's benefit?"

"You see, the woman that keeps house for me suggested that if I bought some oil I could manage to keep warm, even when the steam was not up in the apartment, and I was such an ass as to forget that one really needed something to burn it in. I have a gallon of oil, but what good does that do?"

Freda did listen, and for just one moment she was tempted to tell her neighbor that between the two they might manage to get some sort of result. But she didn't tell him. She hurried home, walking faster and faster as she heard his footsteps behind her. He overtook her just as she reached the landing off which both their apartments opened, and would have spoken to her only that she closed the door rather unceremoniously in his face. She knew she had been rude, but for some unaccountable reasons she took satisfaction in her heartlessness.

A half hour later, when Victor Paige answered a slight ring at his doorbell, he wore a skating cap, a bathrobe, an overcoat, hockey stockings and galoshes. He found Freda Tilson on the landing. She was very sorry to disturb him, she told him, but she had received word from the editor in the office where she worked that, because he had been unable to dispatch some copy for her to do at home, he would like her to put in the day taking dictation on the typewriter from Mr. Paige. Wasn't it funny that Mr. Paige happened to be connected with the same office? Did he wish to come into her apartment, or should she come into his? There was small choice; both were arctic.

Ten minutes later Victor Paige, carrying an odoriferous gallon of kerosene, some ill-kempt notes on stray bits of paper, and a dish of apples—Victor could not write without apples for refreshment—went into Freda's small apartment. When lunch time came Freda had forgotten her resentment, and Victor, truth to tell, was as much in love with her as he had ever been with any girl.

"If I had some eggs I'd make an omelet and ask you to lunch," she said, just a little timidly.

And although Victor knew that his Dinah was coming to make lunch in his apartment that day, he hurried to get some eggs that he was right in guessing she had left in his ice box. And so they lunched, and so they worked on through the afternoon.

"What's the use of resisting the inevitable," he said as she handed him the last page of his manuscript from her typewriter. "We can't either of us get along without the other. We would both have been miserable today alone."

"It does seem strange. Do you believe in fate?"

And apparently Victor did, for he was always sure it was fate that threw him and his wife together that coalless Monday.

High Cost of Patches. There is no economy in patches. You may have a frugal wife who persists in patching your trousers, but you always feel miserable and degraded in such garments. They make you feel like a thief, or like 30 cents in counterfeit money. You are forever trying to hide them from view. . . . I have worn them myself and I know how uneasy a man feels in good society when he expects each gust of wind to fan his coat tails aside, exposing his wife's needlework. Zim writes in Cartoons. A patch in the seat of your trousers, if it be accidentally exposed in public, will reduce your market value 99 1/2 per cent. If you cannot afford so sudden and enormous a decline in your stocks, and are not prepared to cover margins, you'd better accept a fool's advice and unload your holey belongings upon the ragman before your wife gets out her darning needle and patch bag.

RED MAN'S GOOD QUALITIES

As a Race, and Individually, the American Indian Has Proved Capable of Many Things.

It is very worth while to give the Indian a square deal. He has proved himself capable of great things. Two presidents of Peru have been Indians. One of Mexico's greatest presidents was an Indian, and Bolivia has had at least one great Indian president. One expects them to excel in warfare. The Araucanian Lantare was the greatest military chieftain South America has produced except San Martin, and we have had Gen. John A. Logan and Gen. Ell S. Parker. Numbers of our senators and congressmen have been proud of their Indian blood, and Thomas C. Moffett, who knows the red man well, says that "in the professional world today, on farms among leaders in business affairs, the Indian, educated and Christianized, is taking his place; clever Indian lawyers are looking out for the interests of their tribes; capable Indian physicians are ministering to the needs of their own people; earnest Indian preachers and teachers are spreading among the reservations; the seed of the gospel message; aggressive Indian agricultural experts are teaching the younger generation how to improve land and crops; the new Indian is helping the forward movement activities of his country."

The white man's diseases and vices have burdened the Indian, but his schools, medicine, Christian morals and faith can, if he so wills it, lift that burden and make his red brother once again a free man.—Evangeline Cole, in World's Outlook.

VALUE OF MUSICAL TRAINING

Sound Reasons Why Physicians Should Have Thorough Knowledge of Sound and of Rhythm.

The great value of musical training to the practicing physician is pointed out by Dr. Ernest Zuehlbin, associate professor of medicine in the University of Cincinnati, in an article contributed to American Medicine. Appreciation of the pitch, intensity and duration of sounds, and of rhythm, which must be acquired by the musician in the study of his art, are also necessary to the doctor, who is obliged to take note of these same sound qualities in making many of his diagnoses. The objective signs of disease, Dr. Zuehlbin points out, are closely related to acoustic phenomena, such as conductivity, quality, tonality, pitch, intensity, duration and rhythm. The conductivity of sound, for instance, is quite different in a normal lung from one where there is fluid between the lung and the chest wall. The quality and tonality of sounds produced within the lungs or heart or transmitted through the abdominal viscera, are essential for the diagnostician. The better the musical training, the sharper the personal perception of the student, the more he will excel his competitors.

Traits of Bird Lovers

Years ago, during a winter's visit in London, I used to watch the persons who regularly fed the birds in Hyde park. I noticed that most of them were people of apparently humble circumstances, a few pretty close to underfeeding themselves. It was delightful to see how much pleasure they all took in keeping these birds from hunger.

Two that I saw each day for a week or so, evidently husband and wife, I ventured to speak to. Eagerly they talked about the birds as they might have talked about children, noting and relishing individual characteristics.

"We have become so fond of them," said the wife. "They recognize us now, many of them, and a few come to us quite fearlessly. We should feel quite uncomfortable if we should miss a day. They are like members of the family that have to be cared for."—Exchange.

Johnson as Literary Autocrat

The Great Cham of Literature was a term formerly general in its application to Samuel Johnson, arising from a reference to that quaint and autocratic master of letters in a letter from Doctor Smollett to John Wilkes in 1759. The term suggests the Great Cham (sometimes Chan) of Tartary whom many writers of that day employed as a figure typifying despotism. In the letter referred to, however, the term is used somewhat ironically, for the so-called Great Cham had appealed to Smollett to secure the discharge of his negro servant from the navy and it was through Wilkes, who had nursed a grudge against Johnson, that the discharge was procured. Smollett's inference was that under such circumstances the Great Cham was a humble man.

Frost as a Finish

Frost gets a lot of blame when it kills off certain fruits and withers certain plants. Blackberries lose their lusciousness, and mushrooms fear to bloom, yet the housewife has much to be thankful for to Father Frost.

He it is who causes the celery to have that delightful crispness. No epicure would eat celery before it has been "frosted." And what dame with any knowledge would think of cutting a red cabbage for pickling before it had been touched with the cold nip of winter?

Many people refuse to eat Savoy cabbages before they have been given the sweetness of the frost, and parsnips have no flavor until they have been similarly treated.

WITH THE WAYNE CHURCHES

Presbyterian Church

(Rev. S. Xenophon Cross, Pastor) A cordial invitation is hereby extended to teachers and students of the summer school to make this church their church home during their sojourn in Wayne. Our purpose is to make your stay here very pleasant and profitable as far as the church can help to do that.

"Modern Issues of Life," will be the sermon theme for next Sunday morning. This will be a study of "Heart Supremacy." Every one is welcome at this, as well as at all of the services of the church. There will be special music. Mrs. A. R. Davis, director.

War work is not confined to the trenches. The spirit of the church is "Win the War." Everything in church life, nowadays, centers about this slogan; the Sunday school, devotional meeting, endeavor, sermon, and social life of the church: All must breathe the spirit of loyalty.

"The Hun vs. the Anglo-Saxon spirit," will be the subject of the discourse at the evening meeting next Sunday. What is the main outcome of the Great War, so far? What will be the greatest failure of the blood-dripping group that must inevitably fail?

Miss Elizabeth Mines will be the leader of the Y. P. S. C. E. meeting next Sunday evening. The topic will be: "Progressive Christians." All come who can, and plan to remain for the evening meeting.

Baptist Church

(Rev. Fletcher J. Jordan, Pastor)

The Northeastern Association meets at Tilden, June 12 and 14. We ought as Baptists to endeavor to make these associational meetings inspirational and helpful. Dr. W. O. Anderson of Omaha will lead the devotionals. Other strong features will be a part of the program. Let us decide to attend this meeting if at all possible.

In the morning at 10:30 next Lord's Day the pastor will speak on the theme: "The New Commandment of Love." At 8:00 o'clock the subject will be: "The Power of Christ."

Miss Hazel Norton will have charge of the young people's meeting Sunday evening at 7:00 o'clock. "Progressive Christians" will be the subject considered. The scripture is found in 2 Pet. 1:1-11. A very cordial invitation is extended to all young people, but especially the summer students at the Wayne State Normal school.

The Sunday School convenes at 11:30 a. m. Classes will be found for all who attend. Children ought to be present so that they can hear all about the program for Children's Day.

Choir practice Thursday evening at 8:00 p. m. Plan to worship with us next Sunday. Strangers, students and all people without a church home are earnestly invited to all the services on the Lord's Day.

English Lutheran Church

(Rev. J. H. Fetterolf, Pastor)

The religious instruction imparted by the Sunday school should interest old and young. The hour of meeting next Sunday morning is ten o'clock. Manifest your interest by your presence.

Public worship with sermon at 11 a. m. The subject of the morning sermon will be "Judgment must begin at the house of God." We would be glad to have every member hear this exposition. Strangers are always welcome.

The Luther League meets at 7:15 p. m. The subject is "Deacon and Deaconess." Mr. Julius Hurstad will conduct the meeting.

Evening preaching at 8 o'clock. The sermon will be the first in a series on the book of Jonah. "So he paid the fare thereof."

The Woman's Missionary society will meet for their June study next Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Juhl.

The regular monthly Council meeting will be held in the pastor's study next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Methodist Episcopal Church

(Rev. D. W. MacGregor, Pastor)

Children's day services next Sunday at 10 a. m. An excellent program will be given by the school. Everybody come. Sermon in the evening at eight o'clock. The public and strangers visiting in our city are cordially invited to all our services.

Twin Scourges

Disease and ignorance are two of the greatest handicaps which mankind has to fight. They stand between the race and the attainment of all that makes life worth living.

Suffering is due to a violation of Nature's Laws or to ignorance of Nature's way to keep the body in health. The sooner we become acquainted with Nature's way, the less suffering we'll have, and the quicker will we free ourselves of time-worn practices that often retard the well-being of the world. Civilization demands newer ideas—progress provides them.

Rules Concerning Conduct of Those Rooming in Dormitories

(From the Goldenrod)

The following are the rules which will be found posted in the corridors and rooms of the dormitories. A careful observance of the same will keep you out of jail and make everyone associated with you happy:

1. Students who room in the halls are not permitted to do any cooking or self boarding.
2. Do not deface the walls by means of nails or tacks; treat the room as you would your own home.
3. Your co-operation is very much needed in order to make this hall a quiet home-like place for yourself and for others who occupy it.
4. All of the rooms in the halls are reserved for those who board at the dining hall. This is an order of the Board of Education and no deviation can be made from it. If you desire private board call at the office and you will be given assistance in securing a desirable room outside. This requirement does not apply to the preceptress.
5. Do not neglect your room; keep it tidy at all times. It will add much to your comfort and no apologies need be made should unexpected visitors come to inspect our halls.
6. If you desire to be absent during study hour, secure the permission of the preceptress before hand.
7. If you feel that you cannot comply with these rules and such others as the preceptress may make, go to the office and make arrangements to vacate the room at once.
8. LOCK THE DOOR WHEN YOU LEAVE YOUR ROOM.
