FAREWELL RECEPTION FOR 15 WAYNE COUNTY BOYS

Dedication of Service Flag—300 Blue Stars and Three Gold Stars—Splendid Program Planned

One of the best patriotic programs ever planned for Wayne and Wayne county will be held at the court house lawn, Sunday, July 21, at 4 o'clock p.m.

An excellent speaker has been secured to give the address and there will also be singing and short talks by local people.

The service flag to be dedicated is furnished by the Public Service club and county commissioners. It is 12x20 feet and made of the finest all-wool flag material obtainable. Three hundred blue stars will represent Wayne county's brave boys in the service and three gold stars will represent our dead heroes, Jens Jorgensen, Tom Sundahl and Sam Nicks. The name of each man entering military service will be embroidered on a star, thus making this flag a permanent historical record of Wayne county's contribution of man power to the war.

The flag will be carefully preserved and displayed on all patriotic occasions in the years to come.

Forty-five new stars, representing the boys who will meet with us Sunday afternoon, will be added at once.

It was planned to have this flag in time for a dedication on July 4th, but the makers were unable to furnish it at that time. Sunday will be a fitting time for the dedication, however, as the largest quota of men we have sent at any one time, will meet with us.

Every man, woman and child in Wayne county who can possibly come to Wayne for this service should plan to be here. Show the boys that we are back of them, that our hearts are full of the love of country and that we are ready to make sacrifices at home to cheer and brighten their path to victory.

C. CLASEN PASSES EXAMINATION FOR Y. M. C. A. WORK

Last Friday when Mr. and Mrs. C. Clasen went to Omaha, it was in response to notice that he should appear for examination if he would go to France as a Y. M. C. A. worker. He passed a successful examination, so far as can be determined at this time, and was sent home to await a call. If all goes well, he will be assigned to duty in the motor truck work. Mr. Clasen is an enthusiastic all-American citizen, even tho a native of Denmark, and no one will do more against the German government with a better relish than the people who have come to America from Denmark, and this is especially true of those who happened to be so unfortunate as to have lived in southern Denmark when it was taken by the German power, and suffered the indignities which were heaped upon those people by the nation which conquered the territory and stole it. Many of our best citizens and most loyal are those who fled the persecution of German rulers over that once free land. All wish Mr. Clasen success in his work and a safe return.

RALPH A. MASTEN CELEBRATING 17th BIRTHDAY IN FRANCE

Perhaps the youngest American soldier from this state in France is Ralph, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Masten of this city, who is today observing his 17th birthday in France. He enlisted for aviation work January last, and this week his parents received the word that he was safely on the other side of the pond. Having landed so recently, it is not at all probable that he is yet beyond some training camp back from the front, but he and others are quite apt to soon be flying where the Germans are thickest, and we hope that he drops a hot explosive on a bunch of their soldiers. He has an older brother who will be called to go with the August buff, when it is warned to appear.

A CONCERT COMPANY OF LITTLE FOLKS

Wayne people were surprised Monday afternoon to see a band and concert company alight from the train and proceed to take the town, for thru some error their advertising matter had been neglected, and remained wrapped in the bundle which it came in, and no press notices had been given out, so it was a surprise party. They are inmates of a children's home at Des Moines, Washington, and are touring the country in the interest of their home, which cares for perhaps an hundred homeless children, and these "Jolly Entertainers are doing it." The school receives no help from county or state and asks no contribution, tho they receive some.

They gave a band concert on the street that afternoon and announced their evening entertainment, and if and the one on the evening following were fairly well patronized, and were worthy of patronage, for it was an entertainment of more than ordinary merit. Songs, instrumental music and dances and a bit of comedy made up the bill of fare. Fifteen children from the home, three women and the superintendent, H. M. Draper, and an advance man make up the company.

They have two such troupes and they take turns on the road. They have some of their school work while on the road the same as tho at the school, and it is as a reward for efficiency that the pupils are taken for the tours. These little folks had been out nearly a year. Here are a few things which their literature tells of this unique little school:

"Some of our children have a father or mother who pays for them, but the majority have no one to help them.

"Some of our little folks attend the public school, and every child is taught music, both vocal and instrumental.

"While on the road, we have our school teachers with us, so that the children's education is not neglected.

"We have no special visiting days, but visitors are welcome any old time.

"We have no children to give away or place in homes. This is their home, and here they remain until they grow up and want to leave.

"We have a complete printing plant, including 75 fonts of type, 4 presses, paper knife gasoline engine, etc.

"We own our own opera house, with stage, curtains, scenery, etc. Here we teach and train our children in everything necessary for first-class musical comedy and vaudeville entertainments, and it is used for a playhouse in wet and cold weather.

"We are located half way between Seattle and Tacoma, on the Sound, four miles from the Interurban at O'Brien's and five miles from Kent. The Pacific highway, Seattle to Tacoma, goes through Des Moines.

"Our property consists of 12 lots, our home building, printing office, opera house.

ANOTHER WAYNE BOY TO RECEIVE LIEUTENANT'S RANK

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Crossland received a message Saturday from their son, Will, from Camp Joseph E. Johnston, Jacksonville, Florida, saying that he had just received a message from Washington with a commission as first lieutenant. Will enlisted last January as a private and through close application to duty he received many honors and finally was named to enter training in a school for officers. After months of hard study he passed with the honor of standing fourth in the regiment with a monthly average of 96 per cent and a final average of 91 per cent. He will be sent to Camp Funston, Kansas, where he will take up the work in which he has specialized. It is a pleasure to learn of the promotion of our Wayne boys especially one who won his honors through such hard work and determined perseverance. Will Crossland is made of the stuff which will bring to American soldiers victory and to the world democracy.

MISS ELLA MORRISON LEAVES SOON TO R. C. WORK IN FRANCE

Omaha Bee: Miss Ella K. Morrison of Wayne, Nebraska, sister of Miss Estella Morrison, instructor in English at Central High school, has been ordered to report in New York City by July 23 and to be ready to sail within a week thereafter to take up Red Cross canteen work. Miss Morrison volunteered for the service some time ago and was successful in passing the necessary preliminary examinations. She will pay her own expenses.

Miss Morrison has been instructor in surgical dressings for the Red Cross in the northeastern part of the state for some time. She was educated in Europe. She speaks French fluently. She is the daughter of the late John J. Morrison, Lincoln attorney, and of the late Mrs. Ella K. Morrison. Recently she has been making her home with her sister, Mrs. J. Woodward Jones of Wayne.

Miss Morrison left Tuesday for New York where she will spend a few days with friends at West Point before going across. Miss Morrison has endeared herself to Wayne people because of her unselfish war work and sweet disposition and while we regret to see her go so far away we can but appreciate the good she will accomplish among our boys over there. The love and well wishes of all go with her.

CHAS. GRAFF OF BANCROFT FILES FOR STATE SENATE

Word comes to the Democrat that Chas. Graff, a farmer and stockman of Bancroft will file for the democratic nomination for state senate in this district, which is composed of three counties, Wayne, Cuming and Pierce. Mr. Graff is not a stranger in the district, where he has long resided; nor is he a stranger at Lincoln, for he has served two terms in the lower house from his county, 1907 and 1909. During his second term he was chairman of an important committee which drew and secured the passage of the present guarantee banking law—one of the laws which has been of benefit to the people as well as the state bankers—tho they did not all seem to see it that way at the time. He is second vice-president of the Nebraska Board of Agriculture, and also president of the National Association of Breeders of Red Polled cattle.

Mr. Graff said that he had been asked by many to enter the race, but had waited in hope that some one perhaps better qualified would enter, for there appears to be a desire on the part of many for a race in which more than one candidate is running, thus giving voters an opportunity to make a choice.

TAKING THE SHORT CUT

I. C. Trumbauer has taken charge of Wayne and Dixon counties for the Pennsylvania Consumers' Oil Company of Council Bluffs, Iowa, and will look after their business in these counties, being out in the territory except Saturdays, when he will make headquarters at the Jack Liveringhouse electrical shop, for the convenience of patrons. This is a direct "from producer to consumer" proposition, handling oils, greases, paints, tires and tubes. Quality is one of their virtues, and others who have used their products are inclined to repeat orders, which makes it appear like a business that will grow and thrive as its merits are presented to the people. Trum will be out rambling over the territory in his little Ford and trying to help you save money on "quality" goods of his particular line, and it is a line as staple and necessary these days as any that are sold, for the automobile and practically all power-producing machinery are now necessities rather than luxuries, and the best is most economical to purchase.

JOHN WRIGHT CONVICTED

The county judge at Tekamah last week handed John Wright who has claimed Wayne as his home a 60-day sentence last week, who was convicted of illegally handling booze. Half of the 60 days of the jail sentence—the first 15 and the last 15—the bread and water diet is prescribed. It is said that when the time is out the Federal authorities will be waiting to interview the prisoner.

LEE JAMES WRITES FROM ENGLAND TO HOME FOLKS

Mrs. James kindly gives the Democrat opportunity to tell some of the things he saw while crossing the pond and on the other shore. He did not know the name of the camp he was writing from, but it was a rest camp in Merry England, where nature has her hair combed and things look very pretty. Where the farms are all small and look very queer to one from the fields of Nebraska. They have excellent buildings, nearly all of stone or brick, houses, barns and all. The trains of cars, both freight and passenger appear quite small, and are small compared to those of America. A good truck here, it seems would almost carry a car load there, on their autos, the driver sits on the right side, and turns to the left when meeting some one.

The people are very courteous to the Yankees, and some seem to regard them as almost superhuman, or at least better than the average. James Millken came over on the same ship that I did, but I did not get to see him until after we were in the harbor, and then for but a few minutes. He is a fine looking soldier.

We saw some things not seen in Nebraska when on the trip across, such as large fish leaping from the water making one think of trained dogs at a circus jumping thru a ring, and several whales, one being quite close to the ship. We had a very pleasant trip, and there was but little sea-sickness on the days when it was a little rough. We landed Sunday, coming into port Saturday afternoon, and traveled by train until midnight before reaching their camp. He says they are yet a long way from the front, and will be in training for some time before going very near, tho they expect to move on from there after a bit of rest. He can give no permanent address, but mail addressed to Private Harmon L. James, Co. E, 35th infantry via New York, American E. F. will follow and perhaps catch up with him. His friends here might try a letter or two, for home news looks good.

THE CRYSTAL THEATER INSTALLS VENTILATORS

On Monday evening of this week Manager Nielson gave his patrons the first demonstration of what the new ventilating system will do. The night was hot and close but the theater was comfortable throughout both shows. Even with the building crowded the air was pure and cool.

The play on Monday evening was a Wm. Hart movie, "Blue Blazes Rawden." It kept one's interest from the first and the lesson was a good one to set one to thinking of what chusing the myth called a good time will bring one to. The association of a good woman awakened the manhood lying dormant in the heart of Blue Blazes Rawden and he found himself. That there could be no other ending than the "lone trail" was just a little disappointing but students of life could see no other way.

CARROLL CHAUTAUQUA DATES JULY 27-31, INCLUSIVE

We have this week a page ad from Carroll to advertise their Chautauqua dates and you will find that they have splendid programs for the whole five days. Wayne people owe Carroll many favors for kindnesses extended to us and Carroll should have a goodly number of our people over there to enjoy the Chautauqua. The business men who advertised on this page are a progressive, up-to-date bunch of men who understand the value of advertising and have the right spirit of sticking together on anything which is for the good of their little city.

ON THEIR WAY OVER

Word came to Wayne Tuesday that four boys who left here but a short time ago are now on the water going across or on their way to the front. Fritz Mildner, Ralph Carhart and Knox Jones left Camp Merritt, New Jersey, and are now out on the deep blue sea. Albert E. MacGregor, who went to the west coast a month ago sends word back that they will leave San Francisco at once, but whether to France or Russia he did not know. He was assigned to battery D of the 67th Regular artillery. The other boys are in the medical corps.

REBEKAHS AND ODD FELLOWS INSTALL OFFICERS SATURDAY

At the I. O. O. F. hall Saturday evening occurred the annual installation of officers of both orders. Many people were out and the evening was very pleasantly spent. After the regular work a luncheon was served by the Rebekahs and the balance of the evening was spent in a social good time.

The following officers were installed by the Rebekahs: N. G. Mrs. Pearl Dennis; V. G. Mrs. Nina Thompson; Secretary, Mrs. Lydia Sellers; Treasurer, Mrs. Alice Mabbott; Warden, Miss Viola Mills; C. MEETING POSTPONED

The meeting which was to have been addressed by J. H. Kemp at Altona next Sunday has been postponed until the Sunday following, the 28th, on account of the gathering of the next quota of Wayne county men on the 21st. Mr. Kemp's meeting is for the purpose of instructing the people in food conservation. It will be a patriotic talk, for food conservation is one of the great things for the winning of the war. In fact, the English people acknowledge that the war would have been lost to the Allies but for the conservation of foods in this country that we might feed the soldiers and people over there. In the matter of saving for those people we have surprised ourselves as well as them at the results accomplished. When our supply was but what we ordinarily call normal, we have by the use of substitutes and cleaning up small stocks stored away on farms and in different places furnished ample wheat for the soldiers of three countries.

DECORATE PLACES OF BUSINESS

It has been suggested that all business places at Wayne should be decorated with flags and the national colors Sunday in honor of the boys who will leave Monday morning. Make the town look like there wasn't a pro-German within shooting distance. You will show your patriotism if you hang Old Glory to the breeze Sunday next and attend the farewell reception at the court house. People from over the whole county will be our guests that day and let's make Wayne one blaze of red, white and blue glory.

LADIES DRESSES

A beautiful line of dresses will be on display Friday and Saturday, July 19 and 20, at my Ladies' Ready-to-wear Shop. Mrs. J. F. Jeffries. Adv.

WAYNE BUSINESS MAN ANSWERS COUNTRY'S CALL TO ARMS

G. A. Christensen, the junior partner of the Mitchell & Christensen Monument Works, left for Oregon Sunday where he will enlist in the navy. Mr. Christensen was named in the draft and would have been called for the latter part of the month. Thinking that he would prefer the navy to any other branch he left to join the department of the service he liked best.

Since coming to Wayne nearly one year ago, Mr. Christensen has made many friends. He is a thorough business man and as a salesman of the firm he made good wherever he went. The good wishes of his many friends are added to the Democrat's good wishes that he may not be compelled to be gone long.

S. M. Cox of Harlan, Iowa, has been secured to take Mr. Christensen's place. He is an old successful salesman and will undoubtedly prove a find for Mr. Mitchell at this time. The business will continue as heretofore under the old firm name and when Mr. Christensen returns from the war he will assume charge of his part of the business.

The building in which the firm is located was purchased by them the first of the week from N. Williamson of Sioux City and they will begin improvements at once. It will be enlarged and made more convenient for the needs of their growing business.

The large assortment of stones recently purchased by the firm in Wisconsin and Minnesota has begun to arrive and salesmen will give Wayne people and the citizens of this part of the state a chance at the bargains they were enabled to pick up.

Mitchell & Christensen have worked up a splendid business here and for a time it looked as if they would have had luck trying to find a man to fill Mr. Christensen's place, but when a man decides to do his bit, everything seems to work out all right and Mr. Cox, the new man, will prove his worth to the firm while the junior partner takes a crack at the Huns.

LADIES GIVE SOCIAL—PROCEEDS TO COMFORT KIT FUND

At the pretty country home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Corbit last Thursday evening, a social was given for the benefit of the Comfort Kit fund. Many people were there from the country and from Wayne, the Home Guards going out in a body.

The program was especially good. Attorney Berry gave an interesting address. Mrs. Eli Laughlin gave a reading. There was also some good singing and a country orchestra furnished music.

Ice cream and cake, both homemade and delicious, were served and proceeds which amounted to something over $80 was turned over to the Comfort Kit fund. The neighborhood ladies who helped to make this affair a success deserve a great deal of praise. In these times when the farmers' wives have their time taken up in so many things at home it is hard to believe that they can take the time for affairs of this kind. Yet they are very patriotic and if these things spell hard work and self denial they give of their strength cheerfully.

PLACES FOR PRIMARY WILL CLOSE SATURDAY

The time is near at hand when the time for breaking into office by the usual primary method will close, Saturday being the last day. There are just now no one filed to make the race as representative or sheriff on the democratic ticket, and no one has filed for the office of county clerk state senate or commissioner in the First district on the republican ticket.

The list of those who have filed are as follows:

Henry says that he had to promise to help shock and stack the grain, and in our "mind's eye" we see those shapely grain stacks which are going to be—because Mr. Kellogg told the "horse-shoe" gang that he could do it, and would too.

T. V. B.

Miss Maude Thomas was a Carroll visitor over Sunday. She left for her home in Marysville, Kansas, Tuesday.

Miss Thomas has been working in the office of her cousin, Forrest Hughes, for some time and has made many friends during her stay at Wayne.

Chas. Graff of Bancroft, was a Wayne visitor Friday, on his way to Plainview. He was accompanied by Frank J. Closs of Manson, Iowa, a breeder of Red Poll cattle, who was looking for a herd header, lightning having killed two choice bulls for him, and it was to visit a herd at Plainview that the drive was being made. Of course, some of Mr. Graff's friends talked politics to him, but he was out after suitable animals for his friend.

Dr. A. T. Tuxley is mourning the loss of both father and mother who passed away at the family home at Newman Grove last week. The elderly Mr. Tuxley died Tuesday, July 2, at the age of 89 years, and the day following the burial, which was Thursday, July 4th, the elderly Mrs. Tuxley also passed away at the age of 87 years. The funeral was held on Monday of this week. The entire community extends sympathy to the doctor in his hour of sorrow through the death of his parents.—Carroll Index.

It is said that Will Baker's place near O'Neill was in the path of a hail storm last week, and as a result oats, rye and some other grain crops will simply pass as hay crops. It is such visitations as this over small strips of country form a strong argument for a state hail insurance, which would cost no one any considerable amount, but would furnish a bit of relief for the man who suffered such a visitation. So long as only here and there a man carries insurance it is bound to be too expensive for the policy holder—and nearly always too profitable to the concern writing the risk.

Sam Davies went to Sioux City Monday to see what had become of a car of paper which he had been gathering together for some months. He was not at all satisfied with a check for about $35 which he received in payment. If a car load of paper fully half magazines, is not worth more money, there is small need for any to take the trouble to gather and ship it, for that will not pay for the labor of baling and loading. Someone must be profiting quite extensively, we would judge when one must pay $100 per ton for a cheap grade of print paper. If the price is not too high the old paper price is too low.

T. V. B.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wilbur from Ponca came Saturday for a three day visit at the home of his brother-in-law, Wm. Beutow and family. Mr. Wilbur expressed his admiration of our city and its pretty natural site as well as the handsome homes and fine college buildings and grounds. He said it hardly seemed possible that over these same grounds that he used to hunt deer when a young man, and that in those days he never dreamed of a Wayne, for he had been here before there was a house here, or even in sight of the present city. He spoke of the need of some better business houses to take the place of some few buildings of the pioneer days that are still doing service, tho' not in keeping with the times.

It is said that Will Baker's place near O'Neill was in the path of a hail storm last week, and as a result oats, rye and some other grain crops will simply pass as hay crops. It is such visitations as this over small strips of country form a strong argument for a state hail insurance, which would cost no one any considerable amount, but would furnish a bit of relief for the man who suffered such a visitation. So long as only here and there a man carries insurance it is bound to be too expensive for the policy holder—and nearly always too profitable to the concern writing the risk.

Sam Davies went to Sioux City Monday to see what had become of a car of paper which he had been gathering together for some months. He was not at all satisfied with a check for about $35 which he received in payment. If a car load of paper fully half magazines, is not worth more money, there is small need for any to take the trouble to gather and ship it, for that will not pay for the labor of baling and loading. Someone must be profiting quite extensively, we would judge when one must pay $100 per ton for a cheap grade of print paper. If the price is not too high the old paper price is too low.

Get The Habit of Church Going— Any One of Them Belongs to God

(By the Reporter)

Sunday morning was a rainy morning but quite a few people braved the rain and went to church. It seems that the habit of church going is becoming so fixed that we never hear the old excuse any more.

The reporter attended the Methodist church and had the pleasure of listening to a sermon by the Rev. D. W. MacGregor. He took for his subject "The Message to the Church at Smyrna." His talk was based on historical facts concerning the fall and rise of the ancient city and the faith of her people which has lasted through the ages. One rich lesson from his talk was that if one wants to live loyal to the Christ, they must get used to criticism, and be firm and fearless.

There is one thing, however, that the reporter would like to see church people of the different denominations forget and that is that a man or woman is the better Christian if he belongs to any one church. There is but one church—God's church. If man sees fit to name his child Tom, Dick or Harry, just that name means nothing. The child is God's own, neither the first name nor the last signifies ownership. Just so with the churches. They are God's own, the different names man gave them makes no difference. It matters not which church we affiliate with, God smiles and blesses the Christian everywhere. Mere names are nothing, our hearts must be right with God, our lives must be right. In the final summing-up it will never make any difference what church we belong to, in what kind of society we moved or whether we belonged to the rich or the poor, the big thing will be "Have you been right with God?" And so it seems to us that when we go to church, the one thing to remember is that it is God's house, the name of the edifice matters very little. True Christians are seeking God and whether that path leads from our favorite church or that little brown church in the wildwood will never matter in the end. And so let's not care whether a man is of one denomination or another but rather "Is he a Christian?" Is the leader of the churches, the young people's societies, the teachers of our schools, the workers among the soldiers, the officers and leaders of our men—are they Christians?

An extract from a soldier's letter of recent date says, "I should say that on the whole the war has made men more rather than less religious; but it has punished what you call the creeds. You don't care in what attitude you stand or what the parson wears when you want to pray to God and the shells are flying."

Go to church next Sunday.

WAYNE MARKET REPORT

Following are the market prices quoted us up to the time of going to press Thursday:

Table with market prices for Oats, Corn, Wheat, Chickens, Hens, Roosters, Eggs, Butter fat, Cattle, Hogs.

FROM THE WEST FRONT

The war news of these days is very satisfactory to the allies... news of such a frightful kind may be called gratifying to any one...

But the features of the news which are most satisfying are those which tell of the repulse of the German forces along an entire battle line for 65 miles as far as from Norfolk to Sioux City...

Another matter of pride and satisfaction is the fact that the American forces in the battle front have been more than a match for the very flower of the German army...

German losses for four days of the conflict are reported to be 100,000 men in killed, wounded, prisoners and missing...

The Russian situation is also showing improvement, and a large element of that great people are resenting German rule...

Let the good work go on until the cause of the people shall triumph over the powers of darkness...

THE COUNTY CONVENTION

Wayne county democrats are called to meet in convention at the court house Saturday afternoon, July 27th, and as it is a mass convention it seems that every precinct should be represented...

ests and cornered lumber, coal barons have taken the coal lands and kept them from being developed that they might get their own price for mining the people's coal...

The Independent at Grand Island, tho a republican paper seems to be true to its Independent name, for here is what it is quoted as saying: "With the thought in mind that America shall and must win the war..."

"Nebraska Facts" is the title of a handsomely illustrated booklet just issued by the Department of Publicity and compiled by the director of the bureau, Will M. Maupin. The edition is limited but while the supply lasts one copy will be sent to each applicant upon receipt of a 3-cent stamp to defray postage.

Next to better roads better marked roads is the crying need of Nebraska right now. Comparatively few people realize the growing auto traffic, freight and passenger, in Nebraska.

In the east and some parts of the west, and in fact wherever there are high class public highways, the auto truck is playing a large and increasing part in the transportation question.

OVERWORKING THE WORK ORDER

From several neighborhoods the report has been brought to Wayne that the farmers are to be penalized for spending any time in town when they come, and that they are not to come unless absolutely necessary.

BOLT-MAHAFFEY

Miss Marguerite Bolt of Columbus and Mr. Jack Mahaffey of Wayne were married Sunday, July 14, 1918, at the Presbyterian parsonage by the Rev. S. N. Cross.

The apportionment of delegates being based upon the vote cast for A. L. Sutton, for governor at the general election of 1916.

It is recommended that the several precincts hold their meetings for the selection of delegates on Friday evening, July 26th, 1918, at 8 o'clock p. m.

By order of the Republican County Central Committee.

L. W. ROE, Chairman. FORREST L. HUGHES, Secretary.

DEATH OF MRS. FRED HINRICHS

Caroline Marie Dorothea Luth, who died at Rochester, July 9, 1918, was born April 18, 1870, at Middleton, Wisconsin, and came to Nebraska with her parents when but six years of age...

The funeral was from the home in this city Friday, her pastor, Rev. E. Gehrke, of the Lutheran church northeast of town, and body was laid to rest in the church yard there.

A kind mother and good wife and neighbor has been called home, and the sympathy of friends is extended to the bereaved family.

Thanks—We wish to extend to friends and neighbors our sincere thanks for many acts of kindness and sympathy during the death and burial of wife and mother.

POLITICAL ADVERTISING

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of County Commissioner for the Third district of Wayne county, subject to the will of the democratic voters of the district, as expressed at the polls at the primary election, August 20, 1918.

HARRY TIDRICK, Winside, Nebraska, July 17, 1918.

That the readers of this paper might know more of this candidate than the writer, or than perhaps many know who may wish to vote we learned that he is a good citizen, who came to Wayne county 29 years ago, and has since resided here.

In point of years of service, he is perhaps the oldest assessor in the county, having been repeatedly kept in that office in his precinct—and that equips him with another matter with which commissioners have to deal—property values.

Mr. Tidrick will scarcely need more introduction, perhaps, but we might add that he has been a successful grower of Poland China hogs for many years, and of late years has added the Duroc Jersey to his herd.

CHAS. RIESE FOR SHERIFF

I hereby announce my candidacy for the republican nomination for sheriff of Wayne county, subject to the will of the voters of the county, as expressed at the primary election August 20th.

RAILROAD ECONOMICS

(From the Cedar Rapids Gazette)
Announcement of reduction of operating expenses of 123 of the largest railroads in the sum of $108,196,836 for the first five months of government control, compared with the same five months for the preceding year, means less than the statement derived therefrom that the operating expenses of these 123 railroads under government control was only 63.3 per cent of operating expenses under private control.

Government control did not create new brains, engender new talent nor develop additional honesty of purpose. Men were not altered by the change.

The economies have been affected by lopping off duplicate trains, luxurious service demanded by the few but for which the many were compelled by indirect means to pay; by dispensing with superfluous legal talent that had been subsidized for political reasons; by stopping contributions to aid political endeavors; by dropping high salaried figure heads; by more direct routing of freight traffic and by the cessation of expenditures for needless purposes in general.

Local railroad men express the opinion that under government control enough steel now rusting on unused side tracks and duplicate terminals can be found to build a road from coast to coast.

For all the extravagance of operation the general public has been to blame—the more or less general public. There was no sane demand for trains operated at excessive rates of speed, but they were operated. There was no need for the superlatively luxurious trains between chief cities, but they were operated for the pleasure of the ultra fashionable. Such trains did not pay expenses. The millionaires and their would-be imitators did not pay their way, and compelled Tom, Dick and Harry, in plain day coach, way car and caboose to meet the deficit and foot their bills. Denims had to pay for broadcloth; overalls had to pay for dress suits; hooks-and-eyes had to pay for diamonds.

THE GERMAN DOCKS

The taking over by the United States of the title and possession of the docks, piers, wharves, and other shipping property on the Hudson river, owned by the German steamship companies, the North German Lloyd and the Hamburg corporations, is greeted with universal approval by the American people. The property is to be retained by the government and not turned back to its former owners at the close of the war.

Purchasers of Liberty Loan Bonds and War Savings Stamps, who supply the money used for this purpose, may feel especial gratification. These docks and piers and wharves are strategic points of great importance and value, and it is intolerable that they should remain in enemy hands, or that they should ever revert to German ownership. German commerce has been shown to have been so indissolubly bound up with, and so much a part of German militarism, that it is just and right it should suffer all the penalties of war.

WEIGAND GROVE FOR GUNSTOCKS

Crofton Journal: The government has contracted for all the walnut timber in the big Weigand grove northwest of town.

It is estimated there is from 50,000 to 60,000 feet of walnut timber in the grove, and it will all go to government use. A crew of a half dozen or more men are at work in sawing the trees down with cross cut saws. The trees then trimmed and the logs hauled to Crofton and loaded on cars to the east. Several loads have already been marketed.

The government gets whatever it needs in any way of raw material anywhere in the United States. If the owners do not wish to sell the government buys it anyhow and the value is fixed by the appraisers. In this case terms were agreed upon between the owners and the government contractor.

THE BREST BAMBOOZLERS

"Germany at Brest-Litovsk," said Senator Gore, "tried to bamboozle the bolsheviks in the most open and shameless manner."

"The Germans conducted themselves like the tramp who said to the milk man:

"What's the price of milk?"

"Ten cents a quart," the milkman answered.

"Gimme a quart in pints," then, he said:

"How do we stand now?"

"I owe you a pint," said the milk man.

"And I owe you one," said the tramp. "That makes us square."

And he dashed down the road as fast as he could leg it."

THE WAR, ITS END AND ITS INFLUENCE UPON US

(By Editor H. C. Evans)

Somewhere in France.

What do you really think of it?

This is the question I have been trying to answer every day as I mingle with our soldiers. You may think there are as many opinions as there are soldiers, but not so. There's a psychology in public opinion. There are instances where thousands of men, without conference, or publicity, or transmission of intelligence, have done the same thing at the same time. It is quite evident that there is forming a "public opinion" over here among our soldiers.

Public opinion is to a nation, a community or a group of men what conscience is to the individual. No particular number of men will long associate together without mutual understandings, without meeting of minds. When Frenchmen under Lafayette went to America and fought for democracy they became so obsessed with the idea that they came home and democratized France.

In fighting to overthrow the military monarchy of Germany, the Russians overthrew their own military monarchy. No army ever fought on foreign soil that didn't return home with new ideas and new ideals. What new impressions will our men receive over here that they will take home with them, and what will be the effect on our government?

There are various ways of expressing public opinion. The usual method with us at home is by the ballot. We determine what public opinion is by majority vote. Over here it must be arrived at in a different way. Many opportunities are afforded to interpret our boys personally and collectively. I have asked the question that introduces this article of a thousand men—actually put the question direct to that many men. "What do you really think of it?" and pressed them to an answer. Combining the answers of two-thirds of them into what may be called a composite answer. I would say it was:

"We've got to whip the kaiser!"

You get this same answer in the most popular song among them, "And We Won't Go Home 'Till It's Over, Over There." The public speaker gets it from them collectively, but the thing they cheer the loudest is the flat statement that we will lick the Germans. So that's the "public opinion" among our men in France.

It is difficult to visualize the future of our nation along industrial lines for the reason that we do not know whether or not we will be compelled to maintain militarism as a fixed policy. One thing is certain unless Germany is disarmed, and tied up by treaties that can be enforced, treaties more durable than scraps of paper, all other nations must adopt compulsory military service and continue the training of soldiers, the manufacture of cannon and battle-ships and munitions. If Germany is not disarmed we will have to stand armed against her. If we must compel our boys to give two years of their lives to military training it will mean two million men constantly withdrawn from business channels at an important productive period of their lives. It is a stupendous question and until settled one can hardly make an intelligent guess at our future.

It is too early to determine the changes that will come in our men's attitude relative to industrial questions when they return home. That they will be radical and will have tremendous influence on our politics and national life goes without question.

Two years ago I wrote from Stockholm relative to the new viewpoint of the British soldier. That article included an interview with a British soldier, and here's another along the same line:

"We soldiers don't believe that the world will have much use for very rich men after the war, the there aren't many professed socialists among us. We mean, however, to see that we get our rights, and if the door is shut in the soldier's face when he comes home there will be trouble. We don't believe in sweated jobs, and we have learned what labor means at the front just as it has taught us what can and cannot be done by brains. Our respect for the real sahib is unchanged. The boy who goes over with eyes on fire and a laugh on his lips, that boy we would follow to hell. But we don't want him to grow up into a fat man with a castle and a hundred flunkies to wait on him. As the lad said of the apple's core—there ain't going to be no flunkies."

"We are not about to return and till the land for a square who pays us sixteen bob a week and we do not intend that a few shall lord it over the many. A bit of blighty is our ambition and we mean to have it. I tell you that it is a purpose all the politicians in the country will not dispute. We are fighting not only to make homes for ourselves, but to make homes worth having. Mouldy cottages and ten square feet of cabbage garden will not do for us. Every one of us must have comfort and decency and a real living wage. And those who are wounded and helpless must have it too.

"In business it is going to be the same thing. How do you suppose that I, a fighting airman, twice wounded, will regard a fat financier who has set at home during the war and whose week-ends have been devoted to adding up his profits? Do I want to see the same old game played when peace comes? Week-ends with fat men and tow-haired women in fifteen hundred pound cars—shoots where you bring down thousands of tame pheasants—orgies of new and vulgar plutocrats in houses which have harbored ancient families—all the commonness and blatant swagger of the man of yesterday—believe me it is as dead as Queen Anne and deadlier. We shall push this fellow aside and look honest men straight in the face. The country has got to be run for all of us. It has got first to be run for those who do the work.

"The world needed a wash-out and it has got one. We at the front were so far away from the things of July, 1914, that we could see them in all their rottenness. Races were going to the devil headlong and if bloodshed had not begun in the fields it would have begun in the cities. A lot of social bricks came tumbling down at that time and not a few of them fell out of the churches. I should say that on the whole the war has made men more rather than less religious; but it has punished what you call the creeds. You don't care in what attitude you stand or what the parson wears when you want to pray to God and the shells are flying.

"This army is going to let you get a peace which will be the foundation of your new world. It is coming home to build that world, but its builders will think of men before they think of cities. We must make men by education, by opportunity, by the belief that the devil and not God Almighty first thought of 'classes.' They are done with, believe me. We shall have no use for classes when peace comes. It will be brains that count."

That's the philosophy of the British army, and it won't be long until some well-defined philosophy or public opinion, about home affairs will develop among our men. In fact, some things are already developing. The boys are not thinking or caring much about partisan politics. They're not caring a peacune about the dear old democratic party or the G. O. P. as parties, but they are thinking of individuals. In a great crisis, when the public is of one mind, men become the issue. Just now our boys over here are talking more about Roosevelt and Pershing and President Wilson than any other. Roosevelt would probably be elected president if the election was today, if the soldier vote in France determined the matter. However, the American general who this year and next year leads our armies to victory will be a formidable candidate for the presidency.

Meanwhile, politicians may as well understand that the old methods of the hustlings will no longer prevail. Old political machines and old political tricks will go to the discard. There will be economic and industrial revolutions—not along socialistic lines, for this war spells the death of socialism. In the new order of things the laborer will get his fair wage and the capitalist his fair profit—and neither will get more. The army of leeches that fare fat between the producer and consumer will disappear. Public service corporations will serve efficiently at fixed, reasonable profit; else the public will serve itself.

After these brave boys of ours, and the equally brave men of free France and democratic England, have rid the world of the German oppressor, they will not stand for industrial oppression at home.

KEEPING EGGS FOR WINTER

The water-glass method of preserving eggs has been found reliable and dependable, says a Washington Experiment Station bulletin. It is preferable to use infertile eggs, and in no case should old or cracked eggs be used. The best results are obtained when a solution containing one pint of water glass to ten pints of water is used, though a weaker solution will keep the eggs for a shorter period of time.

Another method of preserving eggs used widely is to coat the eggs with lard or a similar material. There are many commercial preparations for this use on the market, many of which were shown to be reliable in the tests. However, the use of lard, or a compound of lard with beeswax, or paraffin mixed with one-half per cent of salicylic acid, will make a good grease for preserving eggs.

How France Has Been Fed

"Before the war, a distinguished French Officer, General Maitrot, wrote a series of articles in the 'Echo de Paris' to warn France, that in case of war, the French meat industry would be unable to supply the French army in the field with fresh meat,—owing especially to the lack of modern refrigerating plants and of refrigerating transportation,—and too, owing to the deficiency in the national herd."

"Since the war began the French army has never been short of fresh meat, thanks mainly to the prosperous condition of the American meat industry, and too, to the American live stock breeders."

The foregoing statement was made by a representative of the Allies now in the United States.

Another representative of the Allies said recently:

"that the American packers have been of the greatest possible assistance to the Allies and have, by their efficient co-operation, contributed in the utmost degree to the successful prosecution of the war."

Are You Doing Your Best?

Are you doing your best to win the war or is the "spirit willing and the flesh weak?" Are you a red-blooded American citizen, full of health and vigor or are you handicapped by some ailment which prevents you from doing what otherwise you would do? If you belong to the latter class you should realize that it is not too late for you to "turn over a new leaf." The wonderful new Science of Chiropractic enables you to do this. Consult your local Chiropractor, get him to make a spinal analysis and if necessary give you an adjustment. If there is anything wrong he will tell you and if you put yourself in his hands you will soon feel like a new man and will feel equal to any call which may be made upon you. In these troublous times you cannot do your full duty, you cannot be patriotic unless you enjoy Health.

They used to say "An apple a day will keep the Doctor away." The modern version is "An Adjustment a day will keep disease away."

Acute and chronic diseases alike yield readily to Chiropractic Adjustments.

"TEARS AND SMILES"

It's the little things that count. Babies are little and that's why the five-year-old maker of tears and laughter, Baby Marie Osborne, brings such human interest to her films.

The little Pathe star is to be seen at the Crystal Theatre, Tuesday, July 23, in her newest picture, "Tears and Smiles." The story carries a strong, punch, and it gives the Baby a wonderful opportunity for the delightful light work for which she is famous and for emotional acting of which she is now showing herself capable.

This is the first time this little lady has appeared at the Crystal and the house should be packed to enjoy her exceptional ability.

WALTER SLAUGHTER

Master Walter Slaughter, 16 months of age, died at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. P. Dixon, Friday, July 12. The little fellow came to Wayne with his mother, twin brother and little sister, several weeks ago for a visit from their home at Burke, South Dakota. He was ill but a week and was not thought to be seriously ill until a short time before he passed away. It was indeed a sad hearted mother who took the little body back to their South Dakota home Saturday morning last. Miss Sybil Dixon accompanied her sister home. Funeral services were held at Burke Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the Catholic church and interment was made in the Burke cemetery.

To the sorrowing relatives the Democrat offers condolences.

SUGAR

There is now a sugar shortage and unless every one conserves diligently there will be a greater shortage if not a famine in this very essential commodity.

Every merchant in the county is required to keep a record of all sugar sold for household purposes—name of purchaser, number in family, date and amount of each purchase. If any one is evading the rules we will easily discover such persons and they will be subject to prosecution. People in town may buy not to exceed two pounds at a time. The maximum amount that any one person is entitled to in a month is three pounds, but each one is expected to get along on as much less as he possibly can.

Relative to sugar for canning and preserving let us say that every one is to do the maximum amount of canning on the minimum amount of sugar. Do not let anything go to waste that should be canned or preserved. Some things can be canned successfully without sugar. Some with very little sugar. Try substituting syrup for sugar or at least use part syrup. If twenty-five pounds of sugar is not sufficient for your canning and preserving, see your merchant about a second twenty-five pound lot. If the second twenty-five pound lot is not sufficient, see me for the third subsequent lots.

VALUE OF DAIRY COWS FOR FOOD PRODUCTION

The value of the dairy cow—her real worth—is not properly recognized, because not known. Here are some figures which make quite plain that the people of Wayne county are not living up to their opportunities in the matter of food conservation—for they will permit a good cow to spend her entire year feeding one calf—or partly feeding it, for the calf soon begins to consume hay and grain in addition to the milk. The calf can be grown in good condition and much more economically by a method of feeding which will leave much of the butterfat consumed by the calf and also a large part of the curd for human food or help feed chickens and pigs. The calf should not be allowed to take it all. Here are some figures carefully compiled from tests as to the food value wasted or not utilized for its greatest value by the people of this country:

"Do you know that one pound of cottage cheese is equal in protein value to 1.27 pounds of sirloin steak, 1.46 pounds fresh ham, 1.58 pounds pork chops, 1.44 pounds smoked ham? "This table is particularly significant when one remembers the high price of meats and the relatively low cost of cottage cheese. Furthermore, cottage cheese may be made into a number of tasty dishes in combination with vegetables to make it agreeable to those who do not like it plain. Circular 109 of the U. S. Department of Agriculture on Cottage Cheese Dishes gives several menus and a large number of recipes.

"On the basis of energy value, 1 quart of milk is equal to .79 pounds of sirloin steak or 2 pounds of chicken. While we do not believe that milk can entirely take the place of meat we are of the opinion that a liberal, though not wasteful, use of dairy products will release large quantities of less bulky and better keeping food for our allies.

"It has been proven that the dairy cow produces human food cheaper than any other animal on the farm. One cow when slaughtered will furnish sufficient meat for two soldiers for one year while the milk from one cow will yield milk equivalent food materials for twenty soldiers for one year. Take for example the record of Katy Gerben, a Nebraska dairy cow, who in seven consecutive milking periods, produced as much digestible food material as is contained in the carcasses of forty-seven steers. To this might be added the fact that she has raised seven calves. We should also remember that the cow is still doing business and when she can no longer give milk she can be slaughtered as a canner and furnish food. Practically all of Denmark's beef supply comes from cows who are no longer useful for milking.

"Herbert Hoover, National Food Administrator, tells us that over twenty-eight million dairy cows had been slaughtered in Europe since the war began. When the war is over these countries will look to America for breeding stock to rebuild their herds. Therefore, it seems safe to assume that there will be an unusual demand for dairy products and breeding stock for export for years to come."

SPLITS FINGER IN A SAW

Last Thursday, H. Griggs, who is building truck frames and boxes at the Clark garage, let his fingers mix in the buzz saw. Three fingers were touched. The third finger was split to the second joint, and the little finger was cut at the first joint until it lopped over and the second finger carries a mark at the end. After the wounds were dressed Mr. Griggs was told that he would have a pretty fair hand again when the pieces grow together.

WITH THE WAYNE CHURCHES

Baptist Church

(Rev. Fletcher J. Jordan, Pastor) Regular services in the Baptist church next Sunday. The pastor will speak at both services. Morning worship is at 10:30 a. m. and the evening worship at 8 p. m.

Sunday school convenes at 11:30 a. m. Let each member of our church and congregation plan to remain for the study period.

The young people's meeting will be held Sunday evening at 7 p. m. The subject is: "Lessons from Favorite Psalms," Ps. 103:1-13. We had a great meeting last Sunday—evening from the standpoint of numbers and interest taken in the lesson. Mrs. Carlos Martin is the new president and ought to have the support of us all. Come to the above meeting.

The weather is going to be warm from this time on, but true and undebated religion is not affected by heat or cold. We need God as much in the summer as we do in the winter. "We must not forget the assembling of ourselves together as the manner of some is." We need in these times of crisis the comfort and consolation of the sanctuary as perhaps never before.

Strangers and those who have no church affiliations are always welcome and urged to come and cast in their lot with us.

Presbyterian Church

(Rev. S. Xenophon Cross, Pastor)

Go to Church! The morning sermon at this church will be on the theme: "The Throne of Grace." The hour is 10:30. All are welcome.

The Sunday school demands the attention of every thoughtful man and woman, boy and girl. We invite inspection of the work of our Sunday school.

Miss Daisy Fox will lead the Y. P. S. C. E. meeting at 7 o'clock. The topic will be: "Lessons from Favorite Psalms." You are invited to come.

The Sunday evening service will be omitted next Sunday to give all an opportunity to attend the dedication service at the court house in the afternoon.

There is no good reason why people should neglect church duties in vacation time. We do not with impunity neglect the other essentials of life. Attend the morning service of your church, at least.

Methodist-Episcopal Church

(Rev. D. W. MacGregor, Pastor)

This church is still doing something worthwhile for humanity. The pastor has sent $157 for this church to the wounded soldiers' war fund. This is but a fraction of the million dollar soldiers' war fund that the church is raising in the U. S.

The fund is to be used in caring for our wounded soldiers who must be crowded out of many of the hospitals before they are fully recovered.

They must give way to the boys brought in from the battle field daily, the government is doing all possible for the boys and the church is helping.

Sunday services next Sunday: Sunday school, 10 a. m. Come rain or shine.

The pastor will preach both morning and evening, D. V. Young People's meetings at 7 p. m.

Strangers and citizens are always welcome to worship with us.

Evangelical Lutheran

(Rev. Rudolph Moehring, Pastor)

The pastor's confirmation classes will meet next Saturday at Winside in the morning at 11:45, at Wayne in the afternoon at 3:45.

Next Sunday in the Wayne church, Sunday school at 10 o'clock; divine worship at 11 o'clock a. m.

In the Winside church, Sunday school at 2 o'clock; divine worship at 3 o'clock p. m.

Services at both places will be in English.

A LITTLE ABOUT ARMY CAMP LIFE

Pete Collins writes from California to his folks at Randolph, and it is published in the Times of that place. He is busy, but likes the life, as do nearly all of the boys who are heard from. He says:

"Camp Fremont, Calif., July 2, 1918.

"It is nearly two months now since I came here and I must say that I like it better every day. It didn't rain here yet and I almost forget what rain looks like. There are quite a few truck gardens between here and Erisco and I notice that they irrigate. I also saw some hay but don't know if it is irrigated. Well Sheriff Anderson is on a furlough to attend to business. He got twenty days but don't expect to meet us in this camp for we all expect to move soon. I have cooked two days alone now and I think that I will make it alright. We have only two cooks again since Anderson is on leave, the other cook is acting mess sergeant but there is another fellow coming from the officers' mess and then we will have three again. Then I'll get

If You Want a Farm Or Farm Land

Where the soil is a rich loam, with just enough sand to make it work nicely,

Where all manner of grains, vegetables and grasses, including alfalfa, thrive.

Where water is abundant, pure and not far from surface.

Where railroads are already built to carry your produce to market, either east or west.

Where schools and churches and other evidences of civilization are exceptionally good.

Where coal may be obtained almost at your door—near enough to save railroad freight.

Where stock raising and dairying are profitable because of the rich natural grasses and abundant range for stock, and lastly,

Where prices are most reasonable, varying from $25 to $60 per acre, according to quality and location.

two days off and one day's cooking. That will be fine. I don't have to do anything when off duty except something special like this afternoon I had to go out two hours for gas mask instruction.

"I have a very sore arm on account of being vaccinated. My first one did not take effect so I had to take it over. Well I am very tired tonight, went on duty yesterday right after dinner to prepare supper and then it was about half past seven or eight o'clock before I got out of the kitchen.

"I got out at 3:30 this morning and got breakfast alone for one hundred and fifty men it sure keeps one busy for a while. Had twenty-three dozen eggs and I had to bread every one myself. I didn't get off till after dinner or about one o'clock that, was just about a day's work before dinner. After dinner I had to take that instruction so you see I am pretty tired. Well I sure would not like to be out of the army till the war is over and wish that I would have gone in sooner than I did. You wrote about the furlough late in autumn but I think I will be farther from home than I am now. Well I do not know any more news now so will close with love to all."

FARMERS RESPOND GENEROUSLY WITH HELP ON ROADS

Laurel Advocate: The farmers turned out well this week to help with the road work being undertaken by the Commercial club. About 30 men and teams responded Monday and about 20 Tuesday. This help is greatly appreciated, as the task undertaken is great and a great deal of expense must be met before it is finished.

The plan is for a 250-foot spillway on the road leading north from the Omaha station, a 340-foot spillway on the road east from the bridge north of town and an 800-foot spillway on the east road, between town and the Nels Utter place.

Ten cars of gravel and three of cement will be needed for the construction of the spillways.

WHERE TO PUT THE TAXES

The increasing of tax levies does not always increase the revenue as is shown by the falling off in receipts from postcards since the postage on them were doubled. It is said that the traveler who was accustomed to send three or four postcards home, or to his friends, wherever he stopped even for a short time, does not do that any more. It is declared that the zone system on secondclass matter which raises rates will have the same effect. In some cities where the price of papers sold on the streets has been doubled, fewer papers are sold, but the publishers cannot furnish papers to the public at less than cost and therefore the people will read less.

It is all a demonstration of the old law of economics that increased cost decreases consumption. The output of many lines of goods has decreased because of the increased price. That of course does not apply to the necessities. They must be purchased at any price as long as the purchaser has any money, and when he has none, he must suffer. There has been some of that kind of suffering and there will be more as prices rise. The profiteering is confined almost wholly to the necessities. Not even the very rich will pay excessively high prices for luxuries, unless some fashion or fad created by themselves induces them to do it. Such problems as this are facing the committee formulating the new revenue bill. It is desired to secure $3,000,000,000, and the question is where to put the taxes so they will increase the revenue to that amount. If an excessive tax were put on movie tickets it might so reduce attendance that the revenue would be less, and the same principle applies in hundreds of other cases.—World-Herald.

FIGURES SHOW GROWTH OF NEBRASKA LIVE STOCK

Figures attest to the wonderful growth in the live stock production of Nebraska and surrounding states. The following table shows the increased receipts of the three leading live stock markets for the first six months of 1918 as compared with the same period last year.

	Receipts (head)	Chicago	Omaha	K. C.
6 mon. '18	8,124,480	3,963,446	3,378,166	1,782,868
6 mon. '17	7,480,513	3,594,515	3,065,591	1,820,407

GRAIN AND STOCK REPORT

The following summary of present conditions is sent from Omaha by C. A. Smith, traffic manager for the stock buying interests of Omaha, and is considered a very fair estimate of conditions as they now appear.

The government report on the crop shows a condition somewhat higher than last year in the face of late frosts and drought conditions reported from various sections. In 1917 the acreage of corn grown was the largest in the history of the country, 118,755,000 acres, compared with 105,672,000 acres, the average for 1911-1915. The production in 1917 was 3,159,000,000 bushels, the greatest yield ever recorded; but a large part of the crop was soft, and the net feeding value was much less than appears from the mere statement of the quantity produced in terms of bushels. The crop during 1911-1915 averaged 2,754,000,000 bushels annually.

The acreage this year is approximately 5,000,000 less than last year or 114,755,000 acres and this is by no means a bad showing considering the difficulty experienced by the farmers in securing seed corn, which was extremely scarce this season in consequence of the combination of a late crop, with early frosts or freezes, an extremely low winter temperatures, causing a condition unprecedented in degree and extent during recent years. Notwithstanding the fact that the acreage is less than last year it is still 9,000,000 acres more than any other year in history and the government July returns should show a prospective yield exceeding 3,098,385,000 bushels compared with 3,159,494,000 bushels harvested last year, based on last year's average yield per acre which is very conservative considering the condition of corn as compared with last year.

While there are still some sections of western Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma that are in need of rain, the greater part of the corn producing area has received rain in the past few days.

The outlook in Iowa and northern Missouri has never been better, this section having ample rain fall at proper intervals, pastures being in excellent condition and bumper crops practically assured, which will result in even larger demand than usual for feeder cattle and sheep in this territory.

Contrary to the general belief, pastures in Nebraska are in fairly good condition and while there is a shortage of alfalfa, the outlook for an abundant crop of prairie hay and the fact that a good share of last year's prairie hay is still on hand, owing to the fact that all carriers have an embargo on hay, will easily offset the shortage of alfalfa. Also with the great amount of roughage from the large crop of small grain and the large corn crop which is evident there will be an unprecedented demand for live stock feeders in this territory for cattle and sheep this fall.

Naturally, it is expected the greatest amount of feeder stock will be marketed within the district that is producing a vast amount of grain and roughage and all interested feel confident that the fact that Omaha and Sioux City markets are located in the center of the corn belt and the increase in freight rates to the other large markets and limited train service east and south of the Missouri river will cause a demand at these markets during the entire shipping season for all classes of feeder live stock that has never been equaled.

It is the desire of the government that live stock be marketed at its nearest market, thus relieving traffic conditions and to this end federal authorities have established zones from which live stock may be shipped to markets east of the Missouri river and south of Omaha.

SOW RAPE IN CORN FIELD

Rape sowed in the corn field at the time of the last cultivation will make good hog and sheep feed in September and October, says the animal husbandry department of the University of Nebraska. It will in no way injure the corn, making most of its growth after the fall rains come and after the corn has matured.

It can be sowed by either walking, or riding a horse, through the corn, or seed can be placed in tin cans with perforated bottoms fastened on the front of the cultivator beams. Rape does exceptionally well where the corn is thin. It will keep the weeds down, and if not wanted in the fall for feed will make a good manure crop. It will be big enough in September, if the season is at all favorable, for excellent pasture for lambs or hogs. From three to five pounds to the acre should be sown.

HOUSING AT WASHINGTON

Washington, D. C., July 16.—The United States Civil Service Commission announces that it is now in a position to state definitely to the public that steps will be taken at once to relieve the congested living conditions in Washington, which have been an obstacle in the way of recruiting the civil service to meet war needs. The commission is advised by the department of labor that the erection of temporary hotels and restaurants, to be conducted under government supervision for the use of federal employees in Washington, will begin at once.

It is expected that the first units will be ready for occupancy early in September. Accommodations will first be provided for approximately 5,000 persons. Additional accommodations will be provided as they are needed. Each room will be arranged for the occupancy of but one person. In the meantime, the Room Registration Office, which is conducted by the District of Columbia Council of Defense under the auspices of the Council of National Defense, is able to provide rooming and boarding accommodations for the new appointees. At the latest report the room registration office had on its lists more than 5,000 rooms which had been inspected and found available for government employees.

Those who arrive on late trains may find accommodations for the night by applying at the booth of the District Council of Defense, which is prominently situated in the Union Station, where all trains arrive.

KEEP THE ENEMY FROM OUR SHORES

God has helped the Stars and Stripes
In many more struggles than one;
Righteousness was in our favor—
That's how our country begun.

So, now, we are hoping and praying
For this terrible strife to cease
So Righteousness will rule the world over.

And all the world will have peace.
Peace which will benefit every class
As well as our own glorious land;
If we have faith it will surely come,
—For we're under God's ruling hand.

By thinking and doing for others—
The Red Cross and the Y. M. C. A.;
We're all becoming more noble
And more loyal to the good U. S. A.

We will have learned many lessons
Helping to keep vice from our boys;
Sending testaments, goodies and letters
Thereby adding much to their joys.
When this terrible warfare is over
And our boys have returned home
once more;
We'll be glad we sent them, willingly,
To keep the enemy from the American shore.

MOW WEEDS

The other day the city marshal came and talked nice to the editor. He said that there are a number of places in Wayne that would look a heap nicer—more as the some public spirited citizen with civic pride lived at the place, if the man of the house would get out a bit early some fine morning and cut the weeds and grass on the parking and along the alley; not leave all of that kind of work for the wife or the city to do. We are taking the hint, and running this little reminder that some one has forgotten his duty to the public and to the neighbors who take a pride in keeping their premises neat and clean, and feel that others should do as well as they. Will you try, if you are one of the careless ones?

A. E. HERING ACROSS SEAS

(From the Goldenrod)
A letter just received from A. E. Hering was written in mid-ocean and doubtless ere this he is across seas. The letter had passed the scrutiny of the censor, but only the parts that gave details as to the dimensions of the ship and number of boilers were deleted. Excerpts from the letter follow:

"It is just a little early for my trip abroad, but as there is an open season for Germans I thought it about time to go over to get my quota of them. I understand they are getting scarce.

"I am somewhere in mid-ocean and it is sure cold. We get lots to eat, six meals a day, three down and three up. There is one thing that helps me enjoy the trip, there are twelve of us aboard that have gone to school at Wayne. I will send their names later if permissible."

The Goldenrod congratulates Mr. Hering on his rapid advancement to the battle front, and those who know him feel sure that the same dependable qualities that marked his career as a student will also characterize his services as a soldier.

An Implement House Advertisement For The Women

It has been so customary as to be considered as a matter of course, for all implement advertising to appeal to the men—and mostly the farmer men at that; so it will be a surprise to many to know that there is one implement store which has always a line which will appeal to the women who want dependable machinery and equipment for their work. Forgetting for this week the reapers, mowers, rakes, plows, harrows, tractors, wagons, spreaders, and implement repairs we wish to call to the attention of the ladies that we carry something for them.

The Submarine, Under Drive Washer, with wringer and bench complete, and a place to attach any power you have on the farm from an engine, windmill, automobile, to the family dog or a sheep on tread power, will make the work of the housewife lighter and better.

The Famous Maytag Washers and Wringers, combined or separate, power or hand propelled—a washer and a wringer as standard as gold dollars.

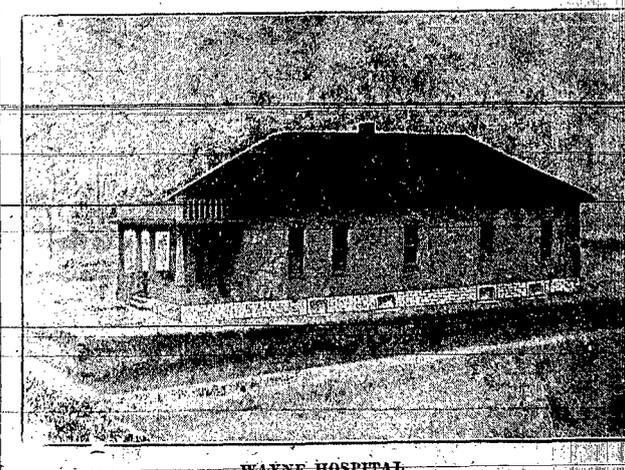

Then we have the oldest and best separator for the dairy department of the farm home—the DeLaval.

We have engines suitable to run any of these machines or the churn or pump.

We Also Have Some Pretty Lawn Swings in which to rest after you have finished your tasks by the aid of improved, power-driven machinery. Why not fit the laundry so as to take the "blue" out of Monday?

SOCIAL NOTES

Mrs. Chace Entertains P. E. O. Ladies Chapter A. Z. P. E. O. met at the home of Mrs. C. A. Chace Monday evening, July 15. The early part of the evening was devoted to listening to a most excellent report from Grand Chapter by Miss Faye Britton, their delegate. The ladies then enjoyed a "grab bag." Each member brought a package which sold for ten cents, the proceeds to go to the Comfort Kit fund. This netted the sum of six dollars. Some of the packages revealed wonderful treasures—white elephants. This caused a great deal of merriment.

Mrs. Chace and her daughter, Miss Marguerite, are very charming hostesses and it is a real pleasure to be their guests. The delightful evening came to a close when the members of the Sisterhood bid farewell to Miss Ella K. Morrison, a new member, who left Tuesday morning for New York, en route to her duties in Red Cross circles in France. Miss Morrison was especially loved by everyone but the ladies feel that they can give her up unselfishly because she is needed in a broader field.

The hostesses served delicious refreshments as a fitting close.

Mrs. Eli Bonwitz was 62 years old Tuesday and about thirty-five old friends gathered and gave her a pleasant surprise. Friends were here from Bancroft, Pflger and Beemer. Wayne friends were also present. They came with well filled baskets and it was a merry crowd which helped Mrs. Bonwitz celebrate her birthday. In the evening the friends departed wishing Mrs. Bonwitz many happy returns of the day.

The Bible Study Circle met with Mrs. Emma Liverhouse Tuesday afternoon. There was a large number present to enjoy the lesson study as led by Mrs. Lucy Wells of Clearfield, Iowa. Mrs. Wm. Libengood, west of Wayne will be hostess next Tuesday and all desiring to attend will meet at the M. E. church at 2 o'clock to ride out to meeting place.

St. Mary's Guild met with Mrs. Marcus Kroger Thursday last. The afternoon was spent knitting and visiting. An elaborate luncheon was served. Out of town guests were: Mrs. Brugger and daughters, Mrs. Malloy, Mrs. Roy Klomping, Mrs. Cullen and daughter Loretto, all of Winside; Mrs. Joe Baker of South Dakota.

Thursday evening last a party was held at the Agnes Lerner home in honor of their guest, Miss Freda Ege, of Bloomfield. The evening was spent playing games and a social good time was had by the young folks. Miss Elsie Lerner served light refreshments.

Miss Amy Goree was hostess at a very enjoyable meeting of the Bible Study Circle Friday evening led by Miss Nellie Bartlett, an interested student who is here attending summer school. Mrs. H. H. Hickman will be hostess this Friday evening.

Today at the home of Mrs. Eli Laughlin, a joint meeting of the Rural Home society and the Pleasant Valley club is being held. A program was planned for the day and light refreshments will be served.

Mrs. Perry Theobald entertained the members of the Coterie Wednesday afternoon. Cards was the order of entertainment and Mrs. Theobald proved a delightful entertainer. Refreshments were served.

The Nimble Thinkers met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Verner Dayton and the time was spent with Red Cross work. Light refreshments were served.

CANNING CLUBS AT THE STATE FAIR

The importance of the canning of fruits and vegetables will be fully stressed at the 1918 Nebraska State Fair in the boys' and girls' canning club activities and in the exhibits of the domestic products class. It is stated by the Nebraska State Board of Agriculture, Canning, as a means of conserving food, was never so important as this year. With our food reserves still distressingly low and with tons upon tons of fruits and vegetables going to waste in the fields each year, there is need of a new interest in canning.

Last year a great deal of comment arose out of the demonstration at the State Fair of a community drier for the preservation of fruits and vegetables and the demonstration was responsible for a drier being used in a good many communities. It is hoped that this year's canning exhibit may be of equal interest to the housewives of the state and that Nebraska may do her share in conserving as well as in producing food.

NATURALIZATION OF ALIEN ENEMIES

The said amendment of May 9, 1918, also provides for the naturalization of certain natives of Germany or Austria-Hungary, who are not citizens of the United States and who are considered alien enemies although they may have been naturalized under the laws of some other country. None of these may become citizens of the United States during the present war unless he comes under the following provisions of law: Any such person who declared his intention not less than two years nor more than seven years prior to the existence of the state of war between this country and his sovereign may proceed to file his petition for naturalization, if he has not already done so.

Any such person who was entitled without making a declaration of intention to file his petition for naturalization at the time of the commencement of the state of war with his sovereign, and who did not exercise this right before the existence of the state of war, may do so if he has not done so since the existence of the state of war. The widows and minor children of deceased declarants may proceed, if they proceed within the seven-year period of the declaration of intention providing the declaration of intention was two years old at the existence of the state of war.

Those who acquired the right, by honorable discharge from the military or naval service of the United States, to file their petitions for naturalization but who had not done so prior to the existence of the state of war with their sovereigns may still proceed to petition under this subdivision. The petition for naturalization of any such person that was pending at the existence of the state of war with his sovereign may have a final and favorable hearing upon his petition if he is otherwise entitled to admission.

Hazel Clark from north of Laurel, is pending the week with her sister, Miss Maude Clark.

Those who are to go Monday to enter Uncle Sam's service are: Fred Beckman, Stanley Hoegner, Emil Forstberg and Eliza Keffley. Wm. Young accompanied Alvin to Omaha Monday to enlist, expecting to visit a few days near Hancock, Iowa.

Mrs. J. N. Halladay is taking treatment at the Wayne hospital.

Harry Lyons is working for Carl Munson.

Harry Lyons accompanied Albert Nygren and family and Raymond and Linnea Erickson to Norfolk Sunday to visit E. H. Summers and A. Pfeifers.

STATE FAIR HOG EXHIBIT WILL BE IN NEW $100,000 STRUCTURE

One of the strongest exhibits of the State Fair, the hog exhibit, should this year surpass itself under the encouragement given in the new $100,000 swine barn that is just being completed on the fair grounds at Lincoln. The building is a mammoth structure, its dimensions being 350 feet by 240 feet and will far more comfortably house the big exhibit which has had as many as 1,900 hogs.

Requests for pen reservations, according to the State Board of Agriculture, were never so heavy, and it would seem that the hog men of the state are appreciative of what the state fair has done for them.

NEBRASKA WILL DO HER SHARE

The crops around Wayne were never in better shape than now. Fields of grain, ripening for the sickle, corn in tassel everywhere, speaks of the solution of the great problem of feeding our boys over there and in the camps. If the crops over the state are as good as they are in Wayne county, Nebraska will do more than her share in the winning of the war.

Usually at this time of the year we hear a great deal of pessimistic talk. The crops are absolute failures and remain so in many people's minds until the usual bumper is harvested. But this year we have heard but one real complaint. The early oats did not get the right amount of moisture at the right time and many fields will not come up to early expectations.

COUNTY ASSESSOR COMPLETES WORK

County Assessor Massie has finished his work of compiling the assessment of the different precincts of the county, and notes a marked increase over the totals of a year ago, due to increased production and higher values.

Total assessed value personal property $6,622,285. This is divided among the different precincts as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Precinct Name, Value. Includes Leslie precinct ($458,268), Logan precinct ($467,680), Hunter precinct ($621,155), Plum Creek precinct ($530,860), Garfield precinct ($541,090), Hoskins Village ($118,130), Strahan precinct ($528,025), Helks add. Wakefield ($13,415), Sherman precinct ($385,095), Carroll Village ($259,355), Shotes Village ($61,095), Hoskins precinct ($392,235), Hancock precinct ($553,830), Brenna precinct ($569,070), Chapin precinct ($990,295), Wilside Village ($353,460), Wilbur precinct ($551,470), Deer Creek precinct ($384,750), Wayne City ($1,013,080).

The totals show 8,722 horses and 1,012 mules; 32,819 head of cattle and 50,726 hogs; 9,807 dozen of poultry; 1,175 dogs and only 724 sheep, so it is no wonder that the dogs get hungry for mutton and kill sheep at times. There are 149 stands of bees. There are many other items of interest, but no one found time to compile more for this issue.

A POEM BY RUPERT BROOKE

For the second time the Goldenrod presents some verses by the late Rupert Brooke, the young Englishman who died at Gallipoli. Most of our readers are, perhaps, familiar with only one poem by this gifted young author,—his death song. That poem together with his romantic death and his burial on an island in the Aegean will be sufficient to make him remembered. But one brief song, however great, is not enough to render one immortal. Brooke wrote other poetry that is worthy to be read. Whether he shall rank among the great, the wise years must decide.

Day That I Have Loved

Tenderly, day that I have loved, I close your eyes, And smooth your quiet brow, and fold your thin dead hands.

The grey veils of the half-light deepen; colour dies. I bear you, a light burden, to the shrouded sands.

Where lies your waiting boat, by wreaths of the sea's making mist-garlanded, with all grey weeds of the water crowned.

There you'll be laid, past fear of sleep or hope of waking; And over the unmoving sea, without a sound,

Faint hands will row you outward, out beyond our sight, Us with stretched arms and empty eyes on the far-gleaming

And marbel sand . . . Beyond the shifting cold twilight Further than laughter goes, or tears, further than dreaming, There'll be no port, no dawn-lit islands! But the drear Waste darkening, and, at length, flame ultimate on the deep.

Oh, the last fire—and you, unklassed, unfriended there! Oh, the lone way's red ending, and we not there to weep!

(We found you pale and quiet, and strangely crowned with flowers, Lovely and secret as a child. You came with us Came happily, hand in hand with the young dancing hours, High on the downs at dawn!) Void now and tenebrous,

The grey sands curve before me. . . From the inland meadows, Fragrant of June and clover, floats the dark, and fills

The hollow sea's dead face with little creeping shadows, And the white silence brims the hollow of the hills.

Close in the nest is folded every weary wing, Hushed all the joyful voices; and we, who held you dear,

Eastward we turn and homeward, alone, remembering. Day that I loved, day that I loved, the Night is here!

At the Methodist church Wednesday evening occurred a social given by the young people of the church. A large crowd was out and a very enjoyable time is reported. The proceeds amounted to something over $60, which will be used for foreign missions.

COUNTY POLITICS

F. S. Berry has filed as the republican nominee for the office of county attorney, and it is doubtful if any will file against him for the place and it is possible that the Democrats may not have a candidate. There is talk of Harry Siman of Winside as the person to file for the republican nomination, to try titles with the democratic nominee who ever that may be. P. G. James has cast his hat in the ring, and wants to be the republican nominee for the office of treasurer, against W. O. Hanssen, who has filed for the democratic nomination. Miss Pearl Sewell files again this week for the office of county superintendent of instruction. At this writing no one has filed to make the race against her. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Benshoof and his sister, Mrs. Lindsay are at Sioux City today, going down to visit their niece, formerly Ethel Benshoof, who is at a hospital there.

CONVOCAION (From the Goldenrod)

On Friday, July 5, Miss Mildred Weber sang at chapel exercises. Her voice is pleasing and her technique and interpretation are excellent. Professor Lewis spoke on "The Lost Fruits of Waterloo" Friday morning. About one hundred years ago there was raging a great European war and Napoleon was considered very much as the Kaiser is considered today. As, at the present time, there were many idealists, Alexander 1, Czar of Russia was one of the most noted. He had a scheme for a league of nations. For ten years he worked for the Holy Alliance, as it was called, for the people were to be ruled as the Golden Rule would indicate. Then came the Congress of Vienna and the spirit of reform was crushed.

A balance of power system was chosen but the greatest difficulty came to be in the balancing. Europe has not had peace since but suspended belligerency. Although Napoleon's body was securely held his spirit has traveled over Europe.

Some say "Win this war and then attend to future affairs." The Czar did that at the time of the Napoleonic war.

Some say "Think of only one thing until the war is over." The reactionary forces are not thinking of only one thing at a time; people who oppose must think of several things at the same time.

A League of Nations formed by the people will help to solve the questions and America should lead, so says John Spencer Bassett, historian. We should watch The League to Enforce Peace. There is no group of men in the United States today which is doing more to push the war vigorously, with the idea that it must result in some kind of world organization to preserve world peace.

On Monday morning, July 8, Dr. House spoke at chapel exercises on "Where should one attend school for the first two years after leaving high school?" If he lives in northeast Nebraska he should attend Wayne State Normal School.

The president of the University of Chicago has said that the Freshman year should be abolished, for the course is simply a review of high school work. Why review the last year of high school? In the small schools a greater sense of personal responsibility is developed. In the university the individual is swallowed by the mass.

The arrangement of studies is better in the normal school than in the earlier years of the university. It is practically impossible to study literature in a broad way without first having studied psychology, sociology and history. The first two of these are not generally given in the first two years at the university.

There are better teachers in the smaller schools such as normals, than in the first two years of university, for in the latter the teachers are often students working for advanced degrees and they are much more interested in that degree than in teaching.

With practically no exception graduates of Wayne State Normal School have made good and completed the university of their choice in two years.

Mrs. Morgan, representative of T. C. U. who is spending a short time in Wayne, sang at chapel exercises Wednesday, July 10.

President Conn spoke to the students at this hour on Wednesday. His remarks were especially helpful to the prospective teacher. The teacher must know two things: first, he must know his work and second, he must know how to do it. This year the first great work is to teach Americanism. This may be accomplished by the teaching of patriotic music and literature.

The cause of this war is education wrongly applied. The German schools make the common people obedient, 8 per cent of the people are taught to think and act, and 92 per cent are taught to act only, not to think.

The American school system has not been strong enough to insist that the American language be the only language taught below the ninth grade. This is coming, however. We have at last come to realize that our people cannot have true American ideals when four or five million American citizens are unable to speak the English language. Here is the great work of the American schools.

I'm Coming Back to Thresh You That is the word E. Henderson tells us to give to the farmers of this vicinity. He means thresh your grain; for he has two outfits, and is bringing his engines back from the west part of the state to thresh grain here. See him.—Adv.

NATURALIZATION

The amendment to the naturalization laws approved May 9, 1918, make it unlawful to issue a declaration of intention on election day or during the period of thirty days preceding the holding of an election in the jurisdiction of the court. For this reason, there will be no declarations of intention issued, from July 21st to and including August 20, 1918, the date of the primary election in Nebraska, nor will any declarations of intention be issued from October 5th to and including November 5th, 1918, on account of the general election.

JOHNSON-OLSON

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Johnson, who were united in marriage at West Point July 19, 1918, left Wednesday to spend their honeymoon visiting at different places in South Dakota. The groom is a young man well known here, and the bride, Miss Eva Olson is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Olson of this place. They will soon move to York, where the young man will resume work as a baker, that being his calling.
