HALF HUNDRED LESS TWO WAYNE COUNTY BOYS GO

Greatest Gathering at Wayne Sunday in Honor of Forty-Eight Men to Camp and Service Flag Dedication

An almost perfect day sandwiched in between two rainy nights laid the dust, cooled the air and gave all mankind an inspiration and belief that this is a country well worth living in and worth fighting and sacrificing for if need be. The 48 boys who were under orders to leave for the different camps were at the court house at the appointed time, and so were the thousands of citizens who came from all over this part of the state to see and listen to the inspiring program.

Carroll and Wayne Home Guards, each about 100 strong, came in uniform and full equipment to participate, and show to all that while we send fifty men from this county we have at least 200 more in training for any need which may come in the future. The guards made a splendid showing. The Carroll band enlivened the time with splendid music. The singers—a sextet from that place also assisted in the program, and placed the citizens of Wayne under obligation to the good people of Carroll who are never found wanting on any occasion when their talent is needed for a worthy cause.

Too much praise cannot be given the committees of the Public Service club and home guards for the splendid manner in which they planned the seating and the care of the people. The large balcony in level with the second floor of the court house was arranged for the speakers and singers, the band just below, with the guards in line on the east and south, while chairs for the recruits formed the west side of a hollow square about the flag pole. Within this open space were the representatives of the Red Cross who were to distribute the comfort kits, and a few old people that they might have a good place to see and hear.

J. J. Ahern presided with ease and dignity, and the program, which lasted two full hours was of such interest that few if any of the thousands assembled left the grounds until the benediction was spoken by Rev. D. W. MacGregor. Rev. J. R. McKenzie of Carroll gave the invocation, that the roll call by Clerk Reynolds and after singing by the sextet P. S. Berry was introduced, and gave an address which was most heartily and repeatedly applauded. Below we give a few of the paragraphs which were most liberally punctured with applause:

Three ministers appear upon the program this afternoon. They are to be congratulated upon the privilege extended to them of appearing upon the same platform with a man of the legal profession. It is perfectly proper to permit ministers to get in good company once in a while.

We have passed the cross roads in this war and are on the road to certain victory. The American people are awake; the boys across the seas have got to going—they have gone over the top—and during the last few days a part of the German army has been running so fast that we had to call out the cavalry to catch them, and the cavalry was so anxious to get right through to Berlin that we had to send out aeroplanes to head them off. This ambition of the German government to rule and dominate the world is not new in history—other nations have tried it and failed and Germany is going to get the best and soundest licking of any one of the bunch. And any one who thinks Germany ought not to get such a licking has no business in this country and is entitled to no protection from our flag. There is room in this country for but one class of people—the class which is body and soul for this nation and this flag, and there is room for but one language in this country and that is the language in which the Constitution of the United States was written. But my friends any man who is a whole soul American citizen and absolutely loyal to this country is entitled to our right hand no matter under what flag he was born, and any man who is not one hundred per cent loyal and isn't on the right side of the fence is entitled to our boot and ought to be kicked into the middle of No Mans land where the bullets from both sides will catch him.

Wayne county is proud of her boys and proud of the spirit of the fathers and mothers and wives and other relatives. We are proud of their names upon this flag and their names will never appear in a more glorious or sacred place until enrolled in the world to come. This service flag has just been dedicated in prayer by a man of the cloth and that is the only way it should be dedicated. If you were to ask me to what this flag should be dedicated I should say to the Cross of Calvary for it was there the Savior died to save the world and we are engaged in this war to save the soul of the world. This nation was founded to lead humanity out of the darkness. It was saved and preserved by the men of 61 and 65 and it is our mission today to save and preserve the cross because I want to tell you my friends if America and her splendid allies do not win this war the soul of the world will die and the birth of the Savior and his crucifixion will have been in vain. You and I believe in the immortality of the soul but if the soul of humanity dies in this world there is nothing left for the Resurrection. Fathers and mothers some boy—and it may be yours—is going to carry the Stars and Stripes to Berlin and when he plants it there he will plant the cross with it. Is this struggle worth while? Is it worth suffering, sacrifice and human life? You show me a man who does not think so, and is not willing to do his full share in this cause and I will show you a man whose soul is so warped and dead that he will never wake up on resurrection morn even though he be buried in rich Nebraska soil and his casket be filled with fertilizer, and it won't make any difference if he is a deacon in the church and kneels at the altar seven times a week.

At the close of this address the great, new service flag containing more than 300 stars of blue and three of gold was lowered from the balcony, as Rev. S. X. Cross offered a prayer which was eloquent and fitting.

Rev. Frank Williams of Wakefield was the next speaker, and his address was full of patriotism and good points. He was handicapped a bit, because as he said Attorney Berry had stolen his speech, and said just what he wanted to say. And in fact the two talks were much alike in that they were both intensely American—patriotic to the core—and every sentiment of patriotism was echoed by the vast audience. Wayne has never before had a meeting which appeared so spontaneously patriotic, hopeful and happy; for the good news of the turn of the tide of battle on the other side was being hourly sent across the water to many anxious people in America. With many Wayne county boys at the front, on the way there and in the training camps, the people were glad to bid this largest quota yet sent by draft a God speed as they marched away.

Each one was provided with a comfort kit by the ladies of the different Red Cross organizations. Below we give the names of the men who left:

The following were transferred to Wayne county, two from Wyoming and one from South Dakota: Maurice P. Bressler and Emanuel F. Lange and Jos. L. Laugenfeld.

At the station next morning in spite of rain and mud many people gathered for a last word and visit with the boys, and while all were proud to have a son, brother or sweetheart among the departing men, there were many sad partings as the men entrained.

That they may all be permitted to return again was the hope and wish, and from present news reports it is possible that they may never see a live German in arms against them.

SAILING DAYS FOR FREIGHT FROM OMAHA AND SIOUX CITY

Under government management the railroads have adopted a new plan for handling local freight, which will we believe make it better for all railroad, shipper and receiver. Under the new plan they have "Sailing Days" for different stations. For example, at Omaha and Sioux City, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays are "sailing days" for Wayne, and only on those days will the railroads receive freight at these points for Wayne in less than car loads. The other days of the week are the days for the towns on the branch from here to Bloomfield. Train men will certainly appreciate this when they do not have to move a half car of branch freight to find some bundle for Wayne, which had been loaded before the branch shipment came in.

It will certainly save trouble, and if we get the local freight sure three days in the week, and do not expect it at any other time, there will be less disappointment than when we had to wait a week while it was taking a trip to some other port and back, that that did not happen to us on this road.

COUNTY CONVENTION SATURDAY

Saturday afternoon at the court house the Democratic county convention is to be held, for the purpose of selecting seven delegates to the state convention to be held at Hastings the 30th of July, and for the naming of a county central committee and the transaction of such other business as may properly come before it. Any democrat of the county is welcome to come and have a voice in the proceedings, and every precinct should be well represented, for these are times when Democracy is on trial as never before, both abroad and at home, and no neglect of the private citizen should be tolerated, else it fall short of the high aspirations of those who first declared the principles of democracy to be true and vital—questions of burning interest to every citizen.

C. O. MITCHELL PURCHASES SEDERSTROM GARAGE

A deal was closed yesterday by which C. O. Mitchell of the Wayne Monument works becomes possessor of the Sederstrom garage, next door to his place of business. Mr. Fox, who has been looking after the mechanical end of the business for Mr. Sederstrom will remain in the same capacity as a partner to Mr. Mitchell in the work. This little shop on the side street has been doing a nice business and beyond doubt will continue to do so under the guidance of the new firm.

THE FIRST REPORT FROM THE WINTER WHEAT

Last week Chas. Rubesh threshed out a field of winter wheat for Ray Robinson, just east of Wayne, and they figured out 21 bushels per acre. He also threshed about 2,000 bushels of oats, but could not give the yield per acre, as he had not learned the acreage.

WAYNE TO HAVE FLAG POLE OLD GLORY WILL WAVE HIGH

Wayne has been a little slow on the flag pole proposition but right now is coming to the front and soon will have a pole and flag equal to any in the county. And the plan goes merrily on. The following committee is in charge and donations can be handed to any one of them: Dr. C. T. Ingham, A. R. Davis, Fred Blair, Rev. S. X. Cross, and J. H. Kemp.

It is planned to erect the pole directly in the center of the Main street between the Berry office and R. B. Judson's. When the pole is erected and the flag is here a dedication service will be held and a rousing patriotic rally will take place. Wayne has been in need of this pole for many moons and it will give us a better showing in the eyes of the traveling public.

Following are the names of the donors to the fund: A. R. Davis, P. M. Corbit, Fred Blair, Andrew Stamm, Dr. Ingham, Frank Strahan, Julius Hurstard, Wayne Motor Co., C. E. Sprague, Carl Wright, Earl Miner, Geo. McPherson, M. B. Nielson, E. W. Huse, Professor Wiley, Wm. Beckenhauer, Dr. Lutgen, and R. B. Judson, each $5.00; Chas. Riess, $1.00; Miss Ethel Huff, $1.00; H. A. Masten, $1.00; Grant Marrison, $1.00; E. C. Tweed, $2.00; Ed. Miller, $1.00; Geo. Roskopf, $3.00; Nick Eicher, $1.00; Dick Carpenter, $1.00; J. G. Liveringhouse, $1.00; J. L. Kellogg, $1.00; Sam Davies, 25c; R. P. Williams, 25c; Forrest Hughes, 50c; N. E. Jenkins, 50c; R. A. Corie, 50c; Bert Van Norman, 50c; S. B. Sprague, $5.00; J. H. Folber, $5.00; E. Lindsay, $2.00.

MEETING OF THRESHERMEN

The threshermen of Wayne county met at the city hall last Saturday afternoon in response to the call of the local administration. Geo. Farvan, Henry Klopping and Chas. Rubesh were appointed a committee with authority to see that all the rules and regulations are observed. The rules and regulations adopted are uniform in all the counties adjoining Wayne. Books for keeping records were given to all the threshermen. Mr. Lamb of the National Threshermen's Association of the Food Administration, was present and addressed the meeting. It is estimated that last year 18,000,000 or 20,000,000 bushels of wheat was lost by carelessness. This we will endeavor to save this year.

Threshing Rules and Regulations

- Separators and engines must be in first class condition before entering the field.
- Engine must maintain proper speed at all times.
- Straw must be thoroughly cleaned of all grain.
- Grain must be carefully gathered up around machine after each thresh.
- Separator must not be fed too fast. All bundles must enter the separator head first.
- All racks must be furnished with a canvas or have a tight bottom.
- Grain wagons must be leveled with straight-edge.
- Canvass must be placed between grain wagon and bin.
- All shock rows must be carefully raked.

Every thresherman of Wayne county is hereby delegated an agent of the Federal Food Administration to see to the enforcement of the above rules. Any violation of the above rules must be immediately reported to the committee.

STARTING HIS COUNTRY. MEN AWAY HAPPY

A "big" party of the twenty-five Syrians who are called in the draft quota for next week will be given all day tomorrow by Charles Hassan, at his home, 414 South Rustin street. It also will be a birthday party for the Hassan baby, who will be 1 year old. Each of the young men called to the service will be presented with a razor and a blanket by Mr. Hassan. The above is from the Sioux City Journal of last Saturday. The host is a friend of S. Alloway, of the new store at Wayne, who is a Syrian, and was at Sioux City Sunday, and a guest at the Hassan home, where he met many of his countrymen who are gladly going to fight for Uncle Sam. Mr. Hassan showed his loyalty by giving the drafted men of his native land a most happy day.

DEATH OF FORMER WAYNE CITIZEN

Mrs. Shirley Spargue sends us the following account of the life and death of her brother, Emory Claude Armacost, who lived with his parents on a farm not far from Wayne twenty years ago. His home paper says:

Emory Claude Armacost, was born in Ohio, April 26th, 1880. Here he spent his early boy hood, and in 1898 moved with his parents to Wayne. Here he attended the Wayne Normal, from which he was a graduate. It was there he met and married Miss Theresa Bailey, in 1900. They came to Idaho in 1905. In 1906 he joined the Baptist church at Nampa.

He died at his home at Mountain View, July 2nd, 1918. He was a true and loving husband, a kind and affectionate father and a friend to all who knew him.

He leaves, besides his wife and six children, a father, C. N. Armacost of Cincinnati, Ohio; brother, Victor Armacost of St. Paul, Minnesota; and a sister, Vallie, now Mrs. Shirley Spargue of Wayne. Also a host of sorrowing friends to mourn his demise. The sorrowing relatives have the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community.

A SUCCESSFUL CONCERT

The entertainment for the benefit of the comfort kit fund booked for Monday, July 22, was given on Sunday evening owing to the fact that the Stanton ladies could not be here as advertised. So some of our patriotic and faithful ladies did not waste any time in securing talent for Sunday evening, and through the courtesy of Miss Mack of the State Normal and the Welsh singers of Carroll, one of the best patriotic entertainments ever given in Wayne, was listened to, by a large and appreciative audience at the State Normal auditorium. Mr. Combs kindly consented that the auditorium could be used at our disposal for a charge for such a worthy cause. So much cannot be said of such loyal patriotic people as the above mentioned, and we hope their reward may be that self satisfaction that comes to each individual when he or she has done something to lighten the burdens of our boys, who are fighting, for us in this great cause.

The beautiful lecture recital by Miss Mack was an inspiration to her hearers, both young and old. She had a message for one and made each one feel that he was doing his bit, fighting a brave battle.

The spirit with which the Carroll boys came to the front and sang songs of the moment, radiated to their audience and filled each heart with patriotism. Perhaps their effort in filling the gap was doubly appreciated for the reason that one of their number was leaving the next day for the training camp. That he was willing to begin his services before he reaches the battle front and devote the last moments when they might have been spent at home.

Their musical voices blended harmoniously and the audience was loathe to depart. The patriotism of the community and surrounding towns was shown by the receipts of the evening amounting to one hundred and fifteen dollars.

CLIFFORD BENSHOOF ACROSS THE POND

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Benshoof received a card the first of this week stating that their son Clifford has arrived safely "over there." The young man enlisted in Wyoming about three months ago, and was sent to Camp Lewis, in Washington for training, and about four weeks ago went east and then on east until the land appeared on the other side. The boys of today are having some wonderful experiences. Probably a million of those now in France had never given a serious thought of ever crossing the ocean, for they thought America good enough for them, and beyond a doubt the most of them when the new wears off, and the sights have been seen will continue to think the same way, only more so.

WINSIDE CHAUTAUQUA DATES ARE AUGUST 1 TO 5 INCLUSIVE

One of the inside pages of the Democrat is devoted to Winside this week as an advertisement for their Chautauqua to be held there August 1 to 5 inclusive. They have an all star line-up and Wayne people should look the program over and attend on one or more of the dates. Winside is but eleven miles from Wayne, a nice distance for a car ride, and any attraction, any one of the days, will be well worth one's time.

The Democrat reporter spent Monday at Winside getting acquainted with Winside business people. They are a splendid bunch of people over there in our neighboring city and when you go over to the Chautauqua go into the business places and meet them. They made the reporter feel a royal welcome and were glad to boost their Chautauqua in the Democrat's territory. They have a good little paper of their own over there and it is good to see the line of advertising it contains each week. We found but one business place there where there was discord because of unbelief in advertising. But all towns must have something to mar the harmony of it's good citizenship, it seems. But the rest of those big hearted, loyal fellows will reap their reward in prosperity and contentment.

The writer wishes to call your attention to the page especially the names of the firms who made possible this bit of Chautauqua advertising. We did not have time to call at all the business places. We would have had another page easily could we have called on them all.

Attend the Winside Chautauqua and enjoy the good program they have in store for you.

"SHREWS OF THE SEA"

"It's an enchanted island and over yonder sit Lorelei and her sirens. Destruction of not, I'm going to Lorelei," exclaims the handsome young rachtsman Gerald Waldron to Hartley Boyce as they sail past a rock-bound island where Sybil, a exquisitely beautiful maiden, and her girl companions, all donned in seaweed in lieu of bathing suits, are playing ukuleles and dancing about the beach. The girls seek hasty shelter as the young men make a landing and rush after them.

Gerald and Hartley both become enamoured of the golden-haired Sybil. Trouble ensues when Julia, a captivating brunette, consumed with jealousy, conspires with Hartley for the undoing of Sybil, who, to elude Hartley's desperate pursuit, throws herself into the sea. Gerald rows about all night and falls asleep at dawn, dreaming of Sybil as Lorelei. A thrilling drama based on the "Lorelei" legend is then visualized on the screen with picturesque setting and magnificent water-witch scenes of dazzling splendor, the sea swarming with a huge ensemble of alluring water spirits performing sensational swimming and diving feats that have never been surpassed.

NO EXTRA SUGAR AND FLOUR FOR THRESHING

I have had a number of requests for extra sugar and flour for threshing. I have issued a few permits for extra sugar, but do not want to issue any more. As I view it, threshing is largely a matter of exchange of labor and a man in a threshing season eats away from home about as much as others eat at his home. This should make a family break about even and there should be no reason for having an extra allowance of sugar or flour. Look ahead a little and plan to get along on your usual allowance. Keep the sugar bowl off the table. Let everyone drink his tea and coffee without sugar. The extreme shortage of sugar makes it imperative that we abide by the strictest regulations. J. H. KEMP.

Randolph home guards went out one evening last week and shocked 40 acres of oats for John Gubbles, and were paid $10 for the job, which was 50 cents per hour for the men during the time they were at work. That was good pay, and the total for putting the grain in shock was reasonable. It was done in quick time.

Uncle Sam has decided to carry his own insurance on his railroads and ships, and as a result the big insurance combines will not get a chance to operate the $300,000,000 premiums which has been about their annual stipend on this line of business. It was a glorious rain—both Saturday and Sunday night—but Monday it rained part of the afternoon, stopping hired men from working. The motherly old farmer wife of half century ago used to say that she liked to see it rain—nights and Sundays, so that the hired men could rest. The inch of rain which fell at the times above stated was most welcome at any old time. Corn is just getting where it will do it much good; and one may travel all this corner of Nebraska and find more good corn for the time of the year, and less little, dirty insignificant corn than any season in the history of this part of the state, we do believe.

Fire destroyed the electric light plant at O'Neill and the creamery. The fire started in the creamery coal bins and spread to the light plant, and soon the heat drove all of the employees out of the building. The power was soon out of commission and when the water in the tank ran out there was no way to stop the fire and it burned both buildings. The engine ran away when the governor belt burned off, and exploded and nearly blew the building up or down. The fly wheel ran so rapidly that it went to pieces, and some chunks weighing several hundred pounds were thrown thru the building and as far as 800 feet from the engine. It must have been quite like a German bombardment. No one was hurt for a wonder. The light plant is soon to be started again.

Ponca is coming to the front at last for last week they organized a company of home guards, 100 strong and elected a captain and two lieutenants in the order given below: Dr. C. C. Jensen, Elmer Carter and Owen Knerl. The Ponca Leader-Journal is going to install a Linograph in the near future. We hope that when they get the machine running they have the sum and get up necessary to get out an all-at-home sheet and discard their patent insides. A paper published within the shades of a place like Sioux City has about as much use for patent insides as a dog has for two tails. Not one in ten of their readers, probably, take the paper for anything more than the home news, and it is good money thrown away to pay for patent sheets and thus compete with yourself in the field for foreign advertising.

The Best Farm Machine to Purchase is a MANURE SPREADER!

WHY?

Because it increases the crop many bushels per acre.
Because it increases the land value, and thus the price.
Because it helps to make a farm better each year rather than being depleted and robbed of fertility.

An Iowa farmer once refused to buy a spreader because he could not buy at his price—the price would come down. He waited and after several years bought, then he quickly bought another, and he told the writer that he would have been better off had he paid four prices for one and had the use of it. Do not have such regrets and such loss—BUY IT NOW.

We sell the best makes of spreaders, and you will have the choice of three good ones here.

The Low Clover Leaf

Good enough to win grand prize at the San Francisco exposition.

The Great Western

A low down spreader with many exclusive features, made in three sizes, from 50 to 85 bushel capacity. Roller bearings, insuring the least friction when working.

The Litchfield

An all-steel frame, insuring perfect allinement for all bearings and easy, effective work.

From this assortment we can meet the requirements of any or all, and assure them a machine to meet their peculiar needs which we can guarantee to work satisfactory in every way, and it will pay for itself fifty times during its natural life in increased crops—in increased farm value and in labor saving.

Go to Church Sunday---The Minister May Have A Message Just For You

(By the Reporter)

Sunday morning we had the pleasure of hearing a splendid sermon at the Evangelical Lutheran church by the Rev. Rudolph Moehring. His subject was "Immeasurable Love and Holy Wrath." He pictured vividly the wrath of the Master, the righteous wrath of a Father sorely tried by the wickedness of the sinners. Love can be measured, it seems, by the punishment sent to awaken the thoughtless unbeliever. Parents who excuse the faults of children by saying "We love them too much to chastise them" should have heard Rev. Moehring's interpretation of love. Love, such as the Christ has for us, is divine, it has never a selfish purpose. It is built on a foundation erected for our good and the immortality of our soul. If we must suffer, be punished unto death for our own salvation, the love of the Master is great enough to sacrifice our earthly happiness for our heavenly life to come—that is love, immeasurable. The parents who indulge the child in it's wishes regardless of consequences because they "love the child too much to deny it's wants" has the wrong conception of love.

Rev. Moehring spoke earnestly, reverently of the beautiful teachings of the Christ. He sought to instill into the hearts of his hearers a deeper understanding of the purpose of Him who seeks to save the world by arousing us to our wickedness and shortcomings. "Come unto me and I will give you rest" is a wonderful promise to the war stricken world today. And to the nations who have disobeyed the rules of right and justice, who have violated every commandment of the Bible, to these people who are suffering the consequences of their sins and to the innocent "Who suffer with the guilty," Rev. Moehring's message is full of rich meaning. Out of grief stricken Europe there will be born a better people, God's immeasurable love will purify the tomorrows until the blood stained, heart broken yesterdays and todays, will be only a memory of his "holy wrath." Not to be forgotten but remembered as a fulfillment of His promise that "God takes care of His own."

We are glad we heard the message and while we, perhaps, did not get all of the meaning it contained, we left that little church feeling that we understood better some of life's problems. And it lifted some of the bitterness, cleared some of the darkness away, and we are better for having met in God's house with those splendid, earnest Christians.

Rev. Moehring read the following special order, sent to him by the State Council of Defense, to the congregation:

"Applied to religious instruction, it is intended that the Sunday school and all other services be conducted in English, excepting that for the old people, unable to read, write, speak or understand our language, a special service shall be arranged. To this end any hour may be set apart which is agreeable to the pastor and congregation, any day or any place. In the many foreign language churches over the state, where, for instance, the regular Sabbath services the old people are given a special hour at 10 o'clock. Then follows the main service in English, which those who do not understand English are urgently requested to attend, in order to familiarize themselves with our language."

It is announced in the daily press under a date line of July 23 that Winside is dry—but it is a known fact that it rained there the day before, and as for the other kind of dry, that happened nearly 15 months ago.

Ross Hammond, republican candidate for United States senator was billed for a patriotic meeting at the opera house last evening. It must be pretty tough on a member of the g. o. p. to have to label their political campaign efforts "patriotic" meetings in the hope of fooling some one by the camouflage. We all know why Ross went to Europe.

There are no Americans but that rejoice at the news of allied success in the past week in that great struggle over the pond for human freedom. A defeat has been administered to the forces of the central powers, but that is but one step toward a victory. The military powers are fighting for existence, and the struggle will continue until their power is gone—and the allies too are pledged to fight until the power of their foe to create and wage war is forever gone.

A. E. Walrath, a gentleman whom it is a pleasure to meet and to know, writes us that he has his hat in the ring for the democratic nomination for the office of secretary of state. He is editor of the Polk County Democrat, at Osceola, and has been with that job for the past thirty years, which entitles him to any office within the gift of the people—if he wants one. He is almost a half hundred years of age and has lived in Nebraska more than two-thirds of his entire life. He has been secretary of the senate two terms, and once served as state printer. Being a democrat, and qualified, what can be said against him?

GOOD WAR NEWS

All America, and most of the world rejoice to know that the great allied drive at the flanks of the German army in France continues to be effective. German losses this week are reported at 180,000 besides much in guns and supplies. The line for supplies to pass or an army to retreat from the southwest portion of the German west front is all but cut off, and their losses in prisoners is great and growing greater. All is going well at latest reports.

One of the real thin arguments now being put up in favor of electing a republican to congress this fall is that it should be done to give tone and strength to the democratic administration. On that theory, if you wished to endorse the work of your superintendent of schools you would proceed to elect a school board who opposed him and his ideas, and see if he were a great enough man to carry a double load. Tell us what better any republican administration ever did in times like these than the present administration is doing. When a party must resort to such a plea they admit that they have no case to plead worthy of American citizens in times like these. Give congress a majority opposed to the President, and see if he can handle that added load. He probably could, for he would ask the people to help him—but it is not at all probable that he will have to do so.

WANTED BY UNCLE SAM AT ONCE 25,000 NURSES

That is the urgent call, and it is to the young women to join the United States Student Nurse Reserve. The call is for women 19 to 35 (and they do not get older,) intelligent, responsible, of good character, education and sound health. By enrolling they agree to hold themselves in readiness till April, 1919, to accept assignments to nurse's training schools, as fast as vacancies occur. There are 1,579 nurses' training schools, and the need is so great that it is hoped they may all be kept full of active students, and that when one class is qualified for duty another class may fill their places. The pay after completion of the training is from $100 to $300 per month. Those desiring to do so may enroll at the nearest recruiting station, which from Wayne is Norfolk, with either Sioux City or Omaha quite convenient.

Nebraska's quota in this drive is 790 and Wayne county will want to do her share. The Woman's Committee of the Council of Defense has established an enrolling station at the City Library, and the librarian, Mrs. Blair, has gladly consented to look after this work between July 29 and August 11.

WAYNE HOME GUARDS SHOCK GRAIN

Friday evening in reply to a call for help about twenty Wayne home guards went into a number of harvest fields and shocked grain until dark. They put more than 100 acres of grain in shock. Saturday evening others went out to different places where help was needed and stood the grain on end. One party put up more than 40 acres, and ate watermelon for their pay, the farmer wanted to give more substantial pay. It is fine exercise for the men who are inside so much of the time, and if they can help and make play of the job, why not go out and have the fun?

SOCIAL NOTES

On Tuesday the Deer Creek Homemakers met with Mrs. Jas. Hunter, says an exchange. Mrs. Will Haight gave us a demonstration of molasses cookies which were surely appreciated by all. These cookies were wheatless and sugarless, eggless and milkless. If you get cookie hungry you can make these without going down into the sugar bin or flour barrel:
2 cups molasses.
¾ cup shortening.
½ teaspoonful salt.
2½ cups oatmeal.
1 cup chopped raisins.
1 tablespoonful each of ginger, cinnamon, allspice and soda, enough barley and rye flour to make a stiff dough.
Heat molasses and shortening, add soda; when slightly cooled add spices, raisins, salt, then oatmeal, either whole or chopped. Add enough barley and rye flour to make a very stiff dough roll out thin, cut out and bake in a rather quick oven.

The class of 1918 of the Wayne State Normal were entertained by Miss Beechel last Monday evening. The guests met on the college lawn and tied a Red Cross quilt they had previously made. After finishing this they hemmed comfort kit handkerchiefs. When darkness approached a squad was formed and with McGee as leader all marched to the College Hill Cafe where they enjoyed ice cream. Each received a bunch of sweet peas from the hostess as the treat came to an end. The class vote Miss Beechel an excellent sponsor and entertainer.

The Ladies' Bible Study Circle was entertained at Mrs. Wm. Libengood's home Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Thos. Bracken leading the lesson study. Election of officers resulted in choosing Mrs. A. P. Gossard, president; Mrs. Carlos Martin, first vice president; Mrs. Chas. McLennen, second vice president; Mrs. Wm. Goldsmith, treasurer; Mrs. Kortright, secretary; Miss White, Mrs. Laase, Mrs. Hanssen, pulpit notices. Mrs. Claude Perrel will be hostess at the next meeting Tuesday afternoon.

The Standard Bearers of the M. E. church enjoyed a picnic at the home of Mrs. Richard Helt. During the afternoon the girls packed the Belgian baby clothes they had made during the summer. At six o'clock a delicious picnic supper was served. After playing croquet the party dispersed, voting Mrs. Helt thanks for her help and hospitality.

The Coterie will hold a picnic at the Country club Friday evening. The husbands and children of the members will be guests. A picnic supper will be served and the evening will be spent socially.

Wednesday evening the Girls Circle met with Mrs. E. B. Young as a farewell meeting for the Normal girls attending during summer. A short vacation will be observed until fall school begins.

The Helping Hand society will meet Thursday, August 1, at the home of Mrs. Alex Jeffrey. It will be an afternoon session and Red Cross work will be planned. Luncheon will be served.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Methodist church met at the Red Cross rooms Wednesday and put in an afternoon for the surgical dressing department.

The Junior Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist church met Wednesday with Mrs. A. M. Helt.

civilization and humanity.

"I am here to thank you and to tell you that you must not forget now that American boys and French soldiers are fighting in the same trenches, for the same aims, shoulder to shoulder, heart to heart. Do not forget that the French soldiers are dying for the Stars and Stripes of your flag as the American boys for the Tri-colors of France. You must do everything possible to sustain them. May I tell you that during four years our soldiers have been fighting our battle and your battle, and if you do not know more about French soldiers, it is because they have been fighting, struggling, dying for humanity in silence.

"Do you know that the north of France is a desert. Our villages and towns burned, sacked and destroyed. Among those devastated territories, I have learned that nine-tenths of the atrocities that Germans have committed have not been made public.

"And do you know that we have lost already one million and a half of men, that we have one million of wounded and crippled soldiers, that we have one million widows, two millions of orphans and that France is nearly exhausted?

"Help France to take care of her widows and orphans. Give a little of your money to help them. Do not call that a sacrifice. You have no right to this holy word. It is only the boy who gives his life 'over there' and the mother or father who has given the boy who can use the word 'sacrifice'.

"Don't call that charity. I am not here to ask for charity. We are a proud nation and we shall die until the last for you, for humanity, before asking for charity.

"I am here to ask help as I should do to a brother, to a sister, for people who have every right to ask it, because they have given everything they have for this great cause by giving their lives, their husbands, their fathers.

"Don't call it charity, but duty. Bless the privilege that God gives you in a blessed country. Be a soldier here at your place as your boy is over there. Be ready to give until it hurts you as it hurts the boy to be wounded or killed. Get hurt in your purse which you will be able to mend tomorrow if you begin to have privations."

"Although she is rather small of stature, she makes a striking appearance. Her large eyes have been saddened by the pictures of suffering which they have had to witness. Her smile comes only to the lips. Madame's family, scattered with the soldier husband in Africa, one daughter in the protected regions of Switzerland and the other in college, with the mother on her errand of mercy in America—is a typical picture of the modern French home.

She has been lecturing and speaking here, giving the people a real conception of what the war is, by telling of the conditions, not only of the French army, but of the American.

Before coming to America she visited in both armies and in the Y. M. C. A. headquarters. She has a direct message to the people of America from the men over there. She says that they are beginning only now to realize what war is. She tells of their struggle with the French language before their struggle with the Hun, but the French are so good natured and so happy to have the Americans there that none of them mind. Most of the soldiers are progressing fairly well with their French.

Last year, Madame Guerin had with her, her eighteen-year-old daughter, but they were so nearly torpedoed that she was not willing to bring her this year. She tells of one particularly pathetic incident which makes us realize that not even children are exempted from the ravages of the German. A little child of five years was in the hospital with her hands cut off above the wrists, and as each person passes her bed—nurses or strangers—she asks, "If I will be very, very good, do you think that my hands will grow out well again and get well?"

Madame Guerin says that nine-tenths of the German atrocities are not known, and that America should believe everything that they read in the papers and then think that they do not know one-half.

Madame Guerin says that she has never been jealous of the richness and prosperity of this country, but she cannot help noticing the difference between the two nations. She mentions the absolute absence of men in the villages of France. The harvests are cared for by women and children of all classes. As an example she cited the case of her own daughters, reared in the atmosphere of one of the best French homes, who last year were obliged to work in their uncle's vineyard in order to salvage the fruit.

Madame Guerin is presenting the plight of her people to their American brothers under the auspices of the Red Cross. The pledge money for work in the devastated regions of her country are handled entirely through the American Red Cross, being sent directly to Washington from the local chapter in which it is raised.

"Everybody is busy. You see no men from seventeen years to sixty years walking about the streets leisurely. All of the men able to fight between the ages of seventeen and forty-five years are in the army. All the men from forty-five to sixty years not at the front are engaged in useful work behind the lines.

"Your boys when they reach the shores," she said, speaking of American soldiers, "will see everywhere the black of widows in mourning and children mourning the loss of a father or brother."

The French woman paid a tribute to the French peasantry. "The peasant of France is a tragic symbol of duty," she maintained. "All honor to the peasant of France who has not only preserved the land but has found a way to pay the heavy taxes and buy liberty bonds."

Speaking of the advent of American troops in France she said: "I am glad to tell you that the valor and courage of your Sammys is such that everybody loves and admires them. The French people look upon the American boys as men who can work with one hand and fight with the other and all the time keep smiling."

"As long as there is a French or American boy alive the Germans will never pass to victory. We have given up some of our positions and let the Hun advance a little but it was only while we were waiting for your American boys to come. They can send their U-boats to the shores of New York but if we are spared the time and are strong enough to hold them off until the American boys arrive in sufficient numbers there is no danger.

"For four years we have been fighting our battles and now are going with the aid of our allies to save the situation not only for France or for America but for the whole world."

THE PROGRAM

Already the corporation leaders have made a "program" for the democratic state convention, to be held July 30.

The "program" calls for a convention which will confine its platform to a noisy display of patriotism, casting a coward cloak of silence over all other subjects.

I do not believe the corporation leaders will be able to put through their "program." I assent to the proposition that the subject of the winning of the war is the greatest subject Americans can discuss in these days, but I insist there are vital economic problems to be solved in state and nation, and I believe the democratic convention ought to tell the people very plainly how the party nominees will, if elected, deal with these great problems.

I believe the democratic convention platform should speak out clearly in favor of state-owned stockyards and terminal warehouses.

I believe the platform should pledge the party nominees in favor of legislation to enable the people of Nebraska and the people of the nation to form public water-power districts

How The Bayonet Lost a Great Battle

BAYONETS, first made at Bayonne, France, whence they get their name, to begin, were almost as dangerous to the army with them as to its foe.

Fashioned with a solid butt, to be jammed into the muzzle, it rendered a gun useless for firing.

The butt was soon changed to a socket, but not before the new fangled bayonet brought the English army to grief at Killiecrankie.

The English soldier found the bayonet a poor fit, hard to get into his gun; and when he got it in, hard to get out. When he had to bayonet, he couldn't bayonet; when he had to shoot, he couldn't shoot.

GOODRICH SERVICE VALUE TIRES

The bayonet experiment gave the Scots the battle. To safeguard tire users against the chance of experiment, Goodrich Test Car Fleets put the road test to Goodrich Tire, to make them in word and deed SERVICE VALUE TIRES.

Goodrich sees but one tire value, SERVICE VALUE—

That is, what a tire proves it is worth to the motorist on his car and on the road, in comfort, economy, dependability, and durability.

All Goodrich skill and sincerity build up SERVICE VALUE, whether you get SILVERTOWN CORD TIRES, or BLACK SAFETY TREADS, you get SERVICE VALUE TIRES.

Gain mileage, and the security of knowing your tires will not fail, by demanding SERVICE VALUE TIRES.

A STORY OF CONDITIONS IN WAR-STRICKEN FRANCE

In an interesting page of the Norfolk Press, Mrs. Weekes presents the following interesting and pathetic story of conditions in our sister republic:

"Another privilege that was ours while in Lincoln was to meet and hear Madame Guerin, officer of the French academy of public instruction and wife of the president of the French court. Here is a wonderful message and we wish that Press readers might meet the charming little lady whose personality is decidedly pleasing. Dressed in the blue grey of the French soldier, short, full skirt and natty jacket, she is a bewitching little figure from the top of her pretty 'tammed' head to the sole of her dainty high-heeled boots. Owing to the poor acoustics of the auditorium and to the fact that her feelings are so intense as to occasionally affect the carrying power of her voice it was sometimes difficult to follow her although her numerous French gestures are a language all themselves. The auditorium was packed and even standing room was at a premium. General Pershing's picture occupied a prominent place on the stage and the lady's mention of his name brought rounds of applause. A collection and pledges for the care of the fatherless French children followed the close of her address. Follows a few excerpts:

"I am just back from a long journey through my war-stricken, bleeding France. I am here to thank you and to tell you that in spite of all that France has endured, never has her courage been greater than at this moment, when she has American soldiers fighting at her side for liberty for the harnessing of the waters in the rivers of the state and nation.

I believe a pledge should be given in favor of a state hail insurance law which would be more satisfactory to the farmer than the present law.

I believe a pledge should be given in favor of lifting all taxation from improvements constituting the actual homes of the people, on the farm and in the cities and towns. The castle of a sovereign citizen should be held sacred.

These are a few of the problems with which a democratic state convention ought to deal, and I hereby serve notice upon the leaders who built the "program" that the democratic state convention to be held in the beautiful city of Hastings on the 30th day of July will consider some of these problems. A thousand splendid democrats over the state have told me so. The "program" of the gang will never cross the Marne at Hastings.

EDGAR HOWARD.

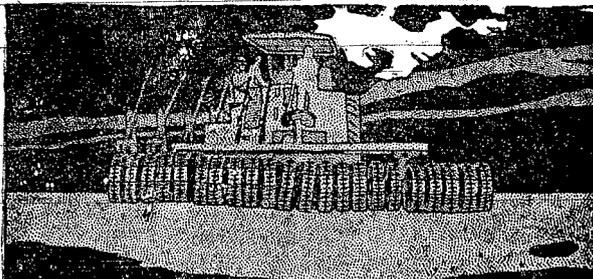

MISS EMMA SCHWERIN IS APPOINTED TO DIRECT JUNIOR RED CROSS WORK

Miss Emma Schwerin, county superintendent of schools of Cedar county has been appointed Junior Red Cross leader for the ten counties in northeast Nebraska comprising the Ninth district. The appointment comes from Leonard W. Trester, director of the Junior Red Cross work in the state.

Miss Schwerin has already taken up the work and has arranged for an institute for chapter chairmen of both junior and senior auxiliaries which will be held at Norfolk on July 31. Papers explaining the work will be read and every effort made to secure the best co-operation of those in charge of the activities in each community. J. C. Robinson, chairman of Cedar county chapter will read one of the papers.

Miss Schwerin has taken much interest in the Junior Red Cross work in the county schools and possesses ability to make the work in the district a success. Her appointment is an honor of which she and her friends may be proud.

IN cases where the Round Oak Moisture Heating System is installed at 68° the furnace is controlled. With this type of heating system the amount of heat is 70% to 80% more than the ordinary type. The difference is accounted for by the amount of moisture in the air regulated by Round Oak Moisture Heating System.

This is only one of the five distinctive improvements. You should thoroughly investigate the Round Oak Moisture Heating System before deciding on the heating system that is placed in your home.

THE DOG IN THE MANGER

Waterpower Sites Must be Developed, but Magnates Insist on Getting them for Nothing or they Won't Help the Nation at War.

(By Gifford Pinchot)

The great war in which our nation is engaged will be won not alone by food and men, but by mechanical power as well. Without mechanical power we could not make nor move the weapons with which we fight—guns, ammunition, ships, and supplies. Our national war necessities. We need them to win the war.

In this gigantic struggle our security requires us to use all these great resources, and to use them wisely and well. The people of the United States own some 50,000,000 undeveloped water horsepower, or about enough to run every train, trolley, factory, mill, mine, and electric power plant we have.

For ten years the friends of conservation have urged the development of public water powers in the public interest. But development has been held back by a little group of waterpower magnates and their friends in congress who have blocked all legislation which would not give them these valuable properties and for nothing.

Today, when the nation needs all its resources, the same men who have been blocking reasonable waterpower legislation own and are holding millions of water horsepower undeveloped and out of use while clamoring for more.

The time has come when such obstruction threatens the nation's safety and success. We need the development of these powers in war even more than in peace. At the coming session of congress sound waterpower legislation should be enacted as a war measure, based upon principles fair to all sides. These principles I believe to be briefly as follows:

1. The thing to do with waterpower is to develop it. Whatever restraints or restrictions the development of public waterpowers on terms fair to the public is against public policy and hostile to the general welfare.

2. Waterpower belongs to the people. The sites where it is produced should always be held in public hands, for only so can effective control in the general interest be secured.

3. Where public development is not desired, the right to use waterpower sites should be leased for periods long enough to permit sound, attractive, and profitable investment, but never longer than 50 years. At the end of each lease all rights should return to the people who gave them.

4. In order to protect the consumer against extortion, rates and service should be regulated by federal authority when state or local authorities fail to do so.

5. Reasonably prompt and complete development and continuous operation, subject to market conditions, should be required. Already millions of water horsepower are held out of use to further monopoly by private corporations.

6. Corporations or individuals who make money out of rights granted by the people should share their profits with the people.

7. The public has a right to complete information about every business based on the use of public property.

This is no time to give away public assets necessary for the welfare of our people both in the war and after the war; and we should no longer tolerate the selfishness of private interests which take the dog-in-the-manger position that they must have these waterpowers on their own terms, or no one shall use them at all.

As the president has said: "The supreme test of the nation has come. We must all speak, act, and serve together."

HOLD YOUR LIBERTY BONDS

To successfully finance the war it is necessary that owners of Liberty bonds hold their bonds if possible. Where for any good reason it is necessary for them to turn their bonds into cash they should seek the advice of their bankers.

Liberty loan bonds are very desirable investments, and every individual is using various means to secure them from owners not familiar with stock values and like matters. One method is to offer to exchange for Liberty bonds stocks or bonds of doubtful organizations represented as returning a much higher income than the bonds.

There are various other methods used and likely to be used, some of the gold-brick variety and others less crude and probably within the limits of the law. All offers for Liberty bonds except for money and at market value should be scrutinized carefully. The bonds are the safest of investments and have nontaxable and other valuable features.

To hold your Liberty loan bonds, if possible, is patriotic. To consult your bankers before selling them is wise.

RED CROSS NOTES

In the central division of the Red Cross division of the country, which comprises the states of Nebraska, Iowa, Wisconsin, Michigan and Illinois almost 5,000,000 persons hold membership in this great organization. More than one-fourth of the population of this great district are members. A year ago this district had less than 200,000 Red Cross members, which shows how great the interest, and how rapid the growth of the organization. Nebraska leads in percentage of population, 41 people from each 100 having membership, except Iowa, where the percentage is 42.

Here are some of the ways they are helping to win the war and save the people for useful living: "Carry On!"

That's the true soldier's command to his comrades when he drops wounded.

And the comrades go right ahead leaving the wounded man to the stretcher-bearers.

The idea has been adapted by the United States government to the career of the wounded man in private life. All our wounded boys or blinded boys will be trained for occupations at the expense of the government, aided by the American Red Cross.

Afless men, legless men, blind men are being taught trades that make them self-supporting. They are "carrying on" in the highest sense of the idea. Charity is the last thing they want.

A new magazine is being issued by the American Red Cross for the Surgeon-General of the United States Army and its title is "Carry On." This magazine tells how the disabled soldiers are being made to earn as much or more than they earned before entering the army.

"JUST A FAIRY STORY"

One of the pleasantest memories of childhood is the hours spent curled up in an arm chair before the old fashioned fire place reading fair stories. And today we find that the person who has lost his "make-believe" existence is not much of a good fellow after all.

At the Crystal theatre, Monday evening, July 29, we will all have a chance to see one of the old fairy stories, "The Seven Swans." It will be made beautiful by the incomparable acting of little Marguerite Clark. Miss Clark has decided to make one picture a year for the kiddies, including, she says, those from 7 to 77, and all others who have not grown old and hard at heart. Even the tired business man is glad to relax once in a while and enjoy a thoroughly impossible bit of fairy-tale lore. Witches, hobgoblins, swans, sandmen and moon fairies have all been woven into this story with exquisite charm.

This beautiful story will be put on at the Crystal, Monday, July 29.

THE COUNTY AGENT

Manchester (Iowa) Press: The idea that some farmers seem to entertain that the county agent has been engaged to teach them how to farm, is a mistaken notion. The county agent comes to co-operate with the farmer, to help him wherever possible in securing seed or stock or other materials, to study his problems and do what he can to solve them. He does not come as a know-it-all or as a pedagogue whose province it is to sit on the fence, chew a straw and tell the farmer how to do it. We hope that every farmer whose mind may have been prejudiced against the county agent by mis-statements regarding the latter's work will reserve judgment until the agent has a chance to show what he is really trying to do. This is the American way of doing business, and it is a mighty good way.

NEBRASKA THIRD CATTLE STATE

Recently issued figures of the department of agriculture show that Nebraska stood third in 1917 in the production of beef cattle, and fourth in production of hogs, corn and oats. As a result Omaha jumped from fourth to third place the first half of 1918 in receipts of cattle. Omaha hog receipts increased more than those of any other large market. Omaha jumped from sixth to third place in wheat receipts, from sixth to fifth place in oat receipts. Omaha maintains its position as the second corn market with a much larger increase than any other large market.

ODD FELLOWS CENTENNIAL

The Odd Fellows of Nebraska are organizing by counties to make the celebration of the hundredth anniversary of the order in America a great success. Numerous prizes will be awarded for attendance, floats, degree staffs, bands, etc. The celebration will be held April 26, 1919. Read the advertisements.

WITH THE WAYNE CHURCHES

Baptist Church

(Rev. Fletcher J. Jordan, Pastor)
 The Ladies' Missionary society meets with Mrs. H. C. Henney Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. This is an interesting meeting and every lady of the church and congregation is earnestly asked to attend.

The pastor will preach both morning and evening. In the morning the subject will be: "The Spontaneity of Religious Love in the Worship of Jesus Christ." This service begins at 10:30 a. m. In the evening at 8 p. m. the theme will be: "The Reward of Rightful Seeking." Let us one and all endeavor to make our worship of Almighty God all that it should be.

Every person is welcome to remain for the Bible school next Sunday which meets after the preaching service. Classes will be found for all who come. "The Place of Law in Christian Living" will be the lesson. The portions of scripture are Matt. 4:18-22; John 14:22-24; James 1:22-27.

B. Y. P. U. next Sunday evening at 7 p. m. The topic is: "Woman's Part in Foreign Missions." Acts 16:14-25. To this meeting all young folks are asked to be in attendance and to make some contribution aside from singing. Let us read our pledge over often and in that way keep ourselves informed as to what we ought to do.

Choir practice Saturday evening at 8 p. m.

Prayer meeting each Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. These meetings are helpful and will make us more efficient to meet the problems of life.

Go to church next Sunday. We will expect you.

Presbyterian Church

(Rev. S. Xenophon Cross, Pastor)
 Remember, "Go to church." The church invites everyone. Next Sunday will be a good time to be in church.

"The Giving of the Comforter," will be the sermon theme at the hour of morning worship, next Sunday. There will be special music under the direction of Mrs. A. R. Davis, chorister.

Visitors in the homes of Wayne are cordially invited to attend any or all of the services that may be in this church during the summer. The Sunday morning preaching service will be of especial interest to our summer visitors.

There is always a place for each one in the Sunday school. The work will continue in all of the departments, right through the summer. This is the place for all, both great and small, on Sunday morning. The hour is 11:30. Come and bring a friend with you.

Miss Marguerite Forbes will lead the Y. P. S. C. E. meeting next Sunday evening. The topic will be: "Some Life-Lessons from the Bible Proverbs." This will be a meeting of unusual interest and helpfulness. Visitors are always welcome at the meetings of the young people on Sunday evenings.

Methodist Episcopal Church

(Rev. D. W. MacGregor, Pastor)
 Hot weather services will be short and to the point.

Sunday school at 10 a. m. each Sunday. This is the strong arm of the church. The men's Bible class last Sunday morning was one of the best this year, there is a growth in this class, in spiritual things and an interest in Christ's teaching that is very commendable.

Men come to Sunday school next Sunday and get a spiritual refreshing.

The pastor will preach morning and evening, D. V.

Epworth League 7 p. m. Young people this is your meeting of helpfulness. Come.

Look forward to Sunday, August 11. We expect that to be a day of great things in Wayne Methodist church.

The Foreign Missionary society of the M. E. church will meet Friday afternoon, July 26, with Mrs. Geo. Fortner at 2:30. All come and bring your mite box and assist the treasurer by paying your dues.

Chiropractic Talks!

Chiropractic For Infantile Paralysis

Poliomyelitis or infantile paralysis is a type of paralysis in general. It is an unnatural interference with normal physiological function. Its cause is not by any means so complex as to be beyond understanding, as many people believe. It is true that a great many professional men are at sea, and quite often truthfully state that the cause is unknown, and always will be until they study cause instead of effects of the cause.

Many claims have been made that infantile paralysis is caused by a germ so small that no glass has ever been made powerful enough to see it. There are at the present time thousands of people suffering from fear due to the scare over infantile paralysis and there are also thousands of persons afflicted with the disease whose suffering could be relieved and health restored by chiropractic spinal adjustments which removes the pressure from the nerves responsible for the trouble. Technically speaking, infantile paralysis is an inflammation of the anterior horns of the spinal cord. It seems to affect children more than it does adults, and many children are handicapped by a useless arm, lower limbs, or paralysis of both, by this dreadful disease. There are thousands that believe such cases are hopeless and that the afflicted will always remain helpless through life.

The science of chiropractic comes as a deliverance to a great many of these supposed hopeless cases. What is the cause of infantile paralysis? It is caused by pressure upon nerves which if continued for any length of time and severe enough; will result in degeneration and final destruction of the nerve cells. If the degeneration of the tissue cell only is present, restoration by chiropractic spinal adjustments is assured. The degeneration referred to in cases of this kind is brought about by the inflammation which is primarily caused by the vertebral segment being out of normal alignment which is a fact proven by the spinograph (the X-ray machine), causing pressure on the soft nerves by harder tissues. The body has reparative mechanism to combat this condition. Chiropractic skill, it is admitted, succeeds in setting this mechanism in motion. Would it not be wise and a common sense proposition if you or any member of the family suffering from the disease to at least have their spine examined by a competent chiropractor before you make the statement that there is no cure. Chiropractors believe that preventive measures should be kept up. Chiropractors give the same importance to disease as any other school of the healing art.

The resistance of the body depends upon the condition of the spinal column; the chiropractor makes it his business to build up the resistance. The body will combat disease so long as the resistance is normal. Chiropractic spinal adjustments the positively harmless. It would seem that persons interested in protection from the danger of disease would speedily consult a chiropractor.

With the disappearance of the epidemic, temporarily at least, we are calling your attention to the "after care" of those who passed through it. Nearly all of those children are permanently crippled. Out of 2,715 cases followed up carefully in New York City, 1,886, or two-thirds, are unable to walk; 520 more are partially paralyzed in the lower limbs, and 273 have one or both arms, totally paralyzed. Chiropractic science has done more for the relief and cure of these unfortunates today notwithstanding the erroneous statements advocated by people who know absolutely nothing whatever of this disease, its origin, care of treatment, and who make a practice of rushing into print, stating that druggists healers who handle such cases should be put out of business. Perhaps such people have pressure on their own nerves and need adjustments as some are so blind that they will not see, or so deaf that they will not hear. The science of chiropractic will stand the most rigid test and we ask the public to investigate this health science. Ask your chiropractor for a booklet on infantile paralysis; it will interest you and is not hard to understand.

CURRENT EVENT TOPIC

The Russian Dilemma

Probably the question that is giving President Wilson and allied statesmen the most anxiety at the present time is the problem of Russia. If only the eastern battle front, the front formerly held by Russia, could be again formed, it would make it very much easier for all our soldiers on the western front.

The other nations as well as America are desirous of Russia's best good. America is as desirous as any of the Allies for the aid Russia might bring to the common cause. The question is how to aid Russia without offending one or both of the great powers of the Russians. There are risks in the policy of furnishing only economic aid, and waiting in order to quiet the suspicions of the Russians.

The question as to what should be done has been discussed pro and con with considerable animation. One group of statesmen is for sending our army into Russia to stiffen up their resistance to Germany whether this would suit the Bolsheviks or not. On the other hand we hear from other quarters that the moment a foreign army sets foot in Russia, that moment all the Russians will unite not against the Germans but against those who are trying to force a particular kind of aid upon the Russians.

The New Republic, from which the substance for these paragraphs is gleaned, inclines to the plan apparently held by President Wilson, that of proceeding carefully and slowly, rendering aid as fast as it is acceptable.

But some will say the condition is urgent and that the way, by economic aid and understandings is too long a way to secure a renewed eastern front. The New Republic says it will be better to have the good will of the Russians and a battle front somewhere west of Petrograd than to have them turn upon us and face us east of Lake Balkal.

After all, the New Republic thinks that the recent assassination of a German diplomat by Russians may force Germany to begin harsh treatment of Russia. If we are not too hasty, at which time our help would be desired by all the Russians. If we work carefully, we may gain inestimable advantages from Russian co-operation. "If by zeal for thrusting Russia into the war by sheer force, we may lose her altogether and take upon ourselves the burden of a war indefinitely prolonged."

It is recommended that the several precincts hold their meetings for the selection of delegates on Friday evening, July 26th, 1918, at 8 o'clock p. m.

By order of the Republican County Central Committee.

L. W. ROE, Chairman.
FORREST L. HUGHES, Secretary.

BUGLER WILCOX WRITES

President Conn received a letter from Bugler George Wilcox whose address is A. C. 134-109 Sanitary Train, Deming, N. M. He writes that he finds pleasure in reading the Goldenrod and sends greetings to his friends. He says in part:

"There are a number, or I should say were a number of Wayne men here in this camp. Glenn Chenoweth is still here and we never fail to talk over our old days at Wayne and wish the old school well."

"There have been a number who have left this camp for the big doings over there. The old 34th Division is a name only. The Nebraska, Iowa and Minnesota troops are all mixed up with draft troops from the south. The pride of company and regiment is gone because the privates were all transferred out for what is called casual troops, men sent over to fill up units at the front which have been depleted by death, disease, etc. I've stood and watched the old 34th pass in review and then I was proud of our Middle West."

"There wasn't a lot of noise when the boys left—just the Star Spangled Banner,—long lines of splendidly tanned to the desert brown matching their spotless uniforms and all at salute. I was proud of my pals and comrades who will some day be fighting and dying for the flag you raise on the old Administration building."

George has been in camp for fifteen months and hopes soon to be sent to France, a time which all the boys seem to look forward to and long for. We are, indeed proud of the service our boys are rendering for us and all humanity. May they soon be returned to us with victory and with peace.

WE KNIT

This is a time when everyone is trying to do his bit in helping to make the country safe; So faculty women knit.

Now men can talk and give advice. And tell folks how to work; They set examples full worth while. And they never, never shirk.

Not what men do but what they say Will make you truly great, If you but heed their gospel wise, So worthy to emulate.

But women can do but just one thing; They have no wisdom or wit, No talent, no blarney like oxymel;

If You Want a Farm Or Farm Land

Where the soil is a rich loam, with just enough sand to make it work nicely.

Where all manner of grains, vegetables and grasses, including alfalfa, thrive.

Where water is abundant, pure and not far from surface.

Where railroads are already built to carry your produce to market, either east or west.

Where schools and churches and other evidences of civilization are exceptionally good.

Where coal may be obtained almost at your door—near enough to save railroad freight.

Where stock raising and dairying are profitable because of the rich natural grasses and abundant range for stock, and lastly,

Where prices are most reasonable, varying from $25 to $60 per acre, according to quality and location.

"MARCHING THROUGH GEORGIA," REVISED

(By Sergeant John Tyler Williams, 65th Balloon Company, Fort Omaha.)

Blow the good old bugles, boys, we're coming right along;
Make a great big racket, for we're many millions strong;
Our watchword now is Victory, and that won't take us long,
While we go marching through Germany.

Tell the world that we have got an army "out of sight,"
Men who want to meet the Boches, and show them how to fight;
We can do it 'cause we know we're fighting for the right,
While we go marching through Germany.

We don't have to stoop to kill the women or the kids,
Like the "kultured" kaiser and his "kultured" army did,
All we ask is, show us where the devil now is hid,
And we'll go marching through Germany.

Haul the fiendish kaiser out, we want to make him dance;
Get a hickory club and then pound him on his pants;
Fall in line and take your turn, for all will get a chance,
While we go marching through Germany.

CHORUS

Hurrah! Hurrah! We're going to Berlin;
Hurrah! Hurrah! They've got to let us in;
And what we'll do to that old town will surely be a sin,
While we go marching through Germany.

WILL FORBES TAKES TO WATER

Will Forbes has joined the ranks of the jackies, and will take initial instruction at the Naval Officers' Training school at Municipal Pier, after which he will be stationed first at Cleveland and later at Pelum Bay, New York. Mr. Forbes leaves a very responsible and remunerative position, the sales managership in the separator department of the Associated Manufacturers Company at Waterloo, Iowa. Mr. Forbes has been connected with the Associated people for the last three years, going to Waterloo from the University of Minnesota, where he was head professor in the dairy husbandry department. Previous to accepting the professorship in Minnesota Mr. Forbes was with the dairy division, United States Department of Agriculture for over two years.

The Iowa district board placed Mr. Forbes in Class 4 because he was a departmental head in one of the largest manufacturing concerns of the state. Like every other red-blooded American, however, Mr. Forbes was not content to stay at home, but wished to get into active service, no matter how great the sacrifice.

Mr. Forbes, who has been in Wayne for a week's visit, will leave Friday morning for Waterloo.

NOMINATIONS ALL IN

When the nominations closed for the coming primary, Saturday night, the line up of candidates was found to be as follows:

For state senate from the Wayne, Pierce, Cuming district, Chas. Graff, Bancroft and Phil H. Kohl, Wayne, democratic nominees; Harry Simon, Wayne and M. Inhelder, Pierce, republicans.

For the legislature, Nels J. Johnson of Hoskins and G. S. Mears, Wayne, republicans.

For county clerk, Chas. W. Reynolds, democrat.

For county treasurer, W. O. Hanssen, democrat; P. G. James, republican.

For attorney, F. S. Berry, republican.

For sheriff, O. C. Lewis, I. E. Ellis, and Chas. Riegg, all Wayne and republican.

For commissioner, 1st district, P. M. Corbit, democrat.

For commissioner, 3rd district, Harry Tidrick, Winside and Simon Strate, Hoskins, democrats; Otto Miller, Hoskins and Geo. Farran, Winside, republicans.

For county judge, J. M. Cherry, non-partisan, Wayne.

For superintendent, Pearl E. Sewell, non-partisan, Wayne.

MISS FORBES APPOINTED DEPUTY FOOD ADMINISTRATOR FOR WAYNE COUNTY

The duties of the office of county food administrator have become so numerous and extensive that I find it a bigger job than I can well handle alone. I have therefore appointed Miss Forbes my deputy. I am compelled to be away a great deal and I find it necessary that some one remain in the office at least a part of each day to answer questions issue permits, hand out supplies, etc.

Either Miss Forbes or I will be in the office each afternoon from two to five o'clock and people having business with the food administration should make it a point to call at the office between said hours or call up by telephone at the office or either of our homes.

THE CONCORD FIRE SATURDAY

Saturday morning a call came to Wayne for help, as Concord was burning, and our valiant fire ladders took the chemical truck and simply hit the hill tops as they made the 12 miles in a little more than 20 minutes.

A fire had been started at the oil tanks by an auto truck back-firing, and it was spreading, for they have nothing but a bucket brigade there to fight with. Part of the lumber yard and some of the oil burned. Other towns sent help also. The loss was not very great, thanks to the help.

Yet, the insurance companies expect to raise premium rates in a well protected city like Wayne to make such losses good, where there is no protection.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. Iyer Morris was here from Carroll Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. J. P. Douthit and Mrs. C. A. Jones of Winside were Wayne business visitors today.

Miss Elizabeth Buck returned to her home at Bloomfield today after attending summer school.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Laurie of Carroll, visited Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Buetow.

Miss Mamie Ludwig returned to Elgin today. She has attended summer school for the past eight weeks.

It might pay you to see Fortner when you want to buy feed, or sell poultry—It pays to investigate, sometimes.—Adv.

Harold Fisher of Bloomfield who is in training at the artil station at Miami, Florida, was a Wayne visitor Wednesday. He went to Bloomfield to visit-home folks.

Mrs. Bertha Wiedenfeldt went to Detroit, Michigan, today where she will visit her son, George, who is in a naval training school. Miss Kate accompanied her mother as far as Sioux City.

On the last page of this paper bargain seekers will find a story of interest. We call your attention to it because we could not give the adv. the position desired, and it may be to your advantage to read it.

True Prescott has commenced work on a new modern farm home on his place south of town, which is to be thoro'ly modern, and of ample size for the needs of the home. J. H. Foster, who is building it, estimates that the cost will foot up about $8,000. A fine addition to the place.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Conover came from Colome, South Dakota, to visit Wayne relatives and friends, and were guests at the G. A. Wade home. They had some business interests to look after, one being the closing of a deal for the residence of Mrs. Rickabaugh, J. H. Boyce having purchased it. He is now repairing the house. They go to Bloomfield this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh E. Jones came last Sunday morning from Lake Crystal, Minnesota, to spend the day with his brother of Carroll, who went with the soldier boys Monday morning. They spent the day at Wayne, much of the time with him, as they learned after getting this far that he was seen to be here. They returned Tuesday as Mr. Jones is on the list of substitutes from his Minnesota county, and was listed to leave today if needed.

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

The following proposed amendment to the constitution of the State of Nebraska, as hereinafter set forth in full, is submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska to be voted upon at the general election to be held Tuesday, November 5th, A. D. 1918:

A JOINT RESOLUTION to amend Section one (1) of Article seven (7) of the Constitution of the State of Nebraska.

Be it Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Nebraska:

Section 1. That Section One of Article Seven of the Constitution of the State of Nebraska be and the same hereby is amended by striking out the following words:

"Second. Persons of foreign birth who shall have declared their intention to become citizens conformably to the laws of the United States, on the subject of naturalization, at least thirty days prior to an election."

And inserting in the place of the words so stricken, the following words:

"Second. Persons of foreign birth who shall have become citizens of the United States by naturalization or otherwise conformably to the laws of the United States at least thirty days prior to an election."

Sec. 2. That at the general election nineteen hundred and eighteen (1918) there shall be submitted to the electors of the state for their approval or rejection the foregoing proposed amendment to the constitution relating to the right of suffrage. At such election, on the ballot of each elector voting for or against said proposed amendment, shall be written or printed the words: "For proposed amendment to the constitution relating to the right of suffrage," and "Against said proposed amendment to the constitution relating to the right of suffrage."

Sec. 3. If such amendment shall be approved by a majority of all electors voting at such election, said amendment shall constitute Section One (1) Article Seven (7) of the Constitution of the State of Nebraska.

Approved, April 9, 1918.

Attest: KEITH NEVILLE, Governor.

CHARLES W. POOL, Secretary of State.

ALLAWAY & HASSAN

PLUMBING!

I have leased the basement under the old National Bank building, now owned by F. S. Berry and am installing stock and equipment for a neat and complete plumbing shop, which will be conducted by an experienced workman, who is prepared and equipped to do all manner of inside and outside plumbing work, such as installing water, sewer, sinks, toilets, etc.

My prices and work will be made satisfactory, and I ask a chance to estimate on your work.

THE GOVERNOR WANTS TO KNOW EVERY SOLDIERS ADDRESS

I would greatly appreciate it if any person who has a relative or friend who enlisted from Wayne County, Nebraska, in the service of the United States, either the Army or Navy, would fill out the following certificate and mail it to me on or before July 31st, 1918:

Name of enlisted man.....
His home address.....
Name of nearest relative.....
His or her address.....
Present location of enlisted man.....
Organization and Rank.....
Date of birth..... Date of enlistment.....

This information is desired primarily for the purpose of giving these men an opportunity to vote at the coming election, but is also being compiled as an authentic record of Nebraska's sons in the Service. This is not intended for the drafted men, as there is a record of them, but only for the enlisted men.

Wayne County Council of Defense

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATION FOR POSTOFFICE CLERKS

August 10th applicants for a position in the Wayne postoffice may appear for examination. Information and blank applications may be had at the Wayne postoffice, says Helen McNeal who is authorized to conduct examinations in this district.

On the 14th of August there will also be an examination for a postmaster at Carroll at the Wayne postoffice, and those who want to be the "nabby" of that berg should get busy and show their ability to shuffle the postal cards.

FACULTY REJUVENATE

Friday morning, July 12, showed a gray and rain-drenched world. The lowering clouds gave no encouragement of brighter things ahead to the anxious faculty who had planned their annual picnic for that day. At noon it had ceased raining but was still cloudy, and several expressed the belief that the picnic would, of necessity, be staged in the gym. Others contended that the grass was drying and the sun was certain to shine before long. The optimists won out.

At four o'clock cars gathered up the faculty and their families and after a short but pleasant drive deposited them in an ideal grove in the country. Throwing aside their professional garb, literally and figuratively, the members engaged in the game which suited each one's fancy and physique. If practice counts for anything, some of the professors may be expected to be expert horse shoe pitchers now, for they certainly "practiced" zealously. The ladies excelled at "shot put" if stiff and bruised muscles may be taken as a measure of achievement. Several games of catch were in progress beneath the trees.

When supper was announced the famished crowd formed in a line which passed down the long table at which were stationed Mrs. Lackey, chairman of the refreshment committee and her several committee-men. Seated in the grove in any fashion, or no fashion, usually supported by convenient tree trunks, the faculty proceeded to demonstrate that appetites are gained in proportion to exercise taken or work done. Dean and Mrs. Hahn made themselves forever famous by making coffee the color of amber, with an aroma that was tantalizing to one who had already drunk four cups of the liquid, and with a taste that was a full justification of the appearance and smell. Second and even third servings were not prohibited and many availed themselves of this unconventional liberty.

After the repast all adjourned to the pasture across the way and prepared to wage a baseball game. A spot was selected and called "home," for as some one argued "There's no place like it." Professor Lewis brought and planted the "home plate," the bleached and broken skull of a former inhabitant of the pasture. Miss Piper and Mr. Redmond captained the two teams and the game proceeded, with many grand stand plays and the usual fiery disagreement with the "empire." Miss Piper was the only one to knock a "home run" but she was prevented from running it out as in starting she stepped on the home plate, which tipped to one side and precipitated her in a heap ten feet from her starting point. The game was not played to the end of the nine innings but everyone asserted he had had "nine innings' worth" and the umpire (Dean Hahn) was more than willing that the conflict close.

The faculty returned to their homes about nine o'clock, looking perhaps a little tired and tanned but radiantly happy, and already are anticipating the next annual faculty picnic.
