WAYNE COUNTY DEMOCRATS HOLD CONVENTION

Pass Resolutions, Name Delegates to State Convention and County Organization

It was not a large number of democrats of Wayne county who responded to the call for a convention—in fact, since the primary law has robbed the convention of a lot of its functions of other days, interest has not been as great, and in these strenuous times when all democrats are busy winning the war in one way or another.

J. H. Kemp, secretary of the last campaign committee, called the meeting to order, and W. D. Redmond was named as temporary chairman, and W. O. Hanssen as the temporary secretary, and later the temporary organization was made permanent.

On motion the chairman appointed two committees, one on resolutions, and one on selection of delegates to state convention. The resolutions committee consisted of J. H. Kemp, H. C. Bartels and E. O. Gardner, and their report is given below, as adopted by the convention:

Resolutions.
The democrats of Wayne county, in convention assembled, declare our unflinching devotion to the principles of democracy as the only true protection of the great masses against the oppressions of autocracy. We believe the principles outlined by Jefferson and now so ably and intelligently applied by our beloved President in these days of storm and stress will strengthen and broaden before the world so that they will grow in strength and power with the people. We pledge unwavering support without question or equivocation to our President, the brave men who have gone to foreign lands and are on the great deep offering fortune and life to defend these principles, and the cabinet and congress, so loyally backing these worthy endeavors to spread the principles of democracy. We favor prompt and adequate punishment for all disloyalty or interference with the war program of the commander-in-chief of the American army and navy.

We believe the profiteer is a slacker, and that the state administration should co-operate to the greatest possible extent in protecting the people from the greed of profiteers. We believe it would be in the interest of all of the people for the state to own and operate sufficient terminal elevators to protect the producers of our great agricultural common-wealth from the greed of speculators.

We favor state fire and hail insurance as the best method of fighting the insurance corporations who are exacting unjust and excessive tribute from the property owners of the state.

We believe that the state should own and develop its ample water-power as an economic measure, making this power to the largest possible extent supplant the use of coal for the heat and power.

We demand the next legislature to at once ratify the national prohibition constitutional amendment, in accord with the will of the people as expressed at the last election.

We most heartily commend the advanced position taken by President Wilson in favor of both state and national equal suffrage, believing with him that as the women are unselfishly bearing their full share of the war burden they should be freely granted a voice in the government of state and nation.

We heartily favor a constitutional convention that our fundamental law of state may be made to meet present day needs.

The committee to select delegates and alternates to the state convention composed of Wm Assenheimer, Chas. Killion and Sam Reichert reported as follows, and the report was adopted: H. C. Bartels, John Massee, Walter Gaebler, W. F. Assenheimer, W. D. Redmond, Geo. E. J. Jysen, Robert Skiles, and M. Fritze. Delegates present were empowered to cast the full vote of the county. The chairman and secretary of the county committee were given authority to fill any vacancies which might be made among the candidates caused by removal, death or resignation. The following county organization was perfected by the selection of the Hon. Chas. Graff was a Wayne visitor Saturday, and a guest at the Wm. Beckenhauer home, they being former neighbors, and he was invited to address the convention, and gave an interesting talk. He holds that it is not only a privilege to be an American citizen—a privilege too often not fully realized; and further that it is a duty which all owe to themselves and the country to vote at primary and general elections.

He then took the resolutions adopted by the convention and endorsed them in the main. As he is a candidate for the democratic nomination for the state senate from this district he took some pains to make known his attitude on the resolutions. He was heartily in favor of the one which endorsed and commended the action of President Wilson in his stand for equal suffrage; and he believes that the voice of the people of the state should have been heeded and the national amendment to the Federal Constitution should be ratified by the legislature of this state. He believes that there should be some changes in our state constitution, but seemed inclined to consider that question well, and weight it carefully. So, too, he would consider the matter of state hall and fire insurance. It should be carefully considered and approached with care. His talk was well received, and gave those present an opportunity to know measures the candidate favored in case of his election to the senate.

SUGAR SUBSTITUTES AND THEIR MANY USES

One Wayne county woman is solving the sugar problem by rationing out the day's allotment to each member of the family in small dishes. She promises that just as soon as they have saved enough from the table for a pie or cake she will bake. This puts the sugar proposition squarely before everybody in the family and is very satisfactory, she declares.

The use of honey is steadily growing for it is an excellent substitute for sugar in coffee as well as in baking. Baked apples are delicious when the cores are removed and the cavity filled with honey and a little flour or corn starch. Honey is very good for cookies. It should be used in the same proportions as sugar.

It is imperative that every woman in the county save sugar with more care than ever before. During August the allotment is cut to two pounds a person a month, with an intimation that the price will be one cent higher.

CARL BADEN LOSES AND FINDS HIS CAR

There was some excitement in the neighborhood south of Wayne Monday, when it was learned that Carl Baden had lost his car. It seems that he started away from home and had car trouble a week before and hitched his buzz wagon to another one to haul it in. It was too much load for the other car, with roads wet and slippery, so it was left at the roadside. A week went past, and it was still there by the wayside, for Carl had been too busy to care for it. Monday morning when he came to get it, it had been got—or gotten—and the search began, and the car was soon located in a Wayne garage, the sheriff having taken it and left it in charge of the garage people. They must be honest people out in that neighborhood, for no one took the tires, the brass trimmings and the like, or the car—until the sheriff came along.

AN OVERTURNING CAR BREAKS TOMMY MORAN'S LEG

Saturday evening there was a dance at the Will Peters home south of Wayne, and a number of the young men were planning to attend, and as they were about to start a young fellow drove up and asked to be directed to the place where the dance was to be held, and after telling him, young Moran was asked to ride with him as all were going out, and he did. After a time at the dance Moran and the other started for home, and had not gone far when the car upset, catching Moran under the windshield in such manner as to break his thigh and cut a slight gash in the flesh. The driver escaped serious injury, for he immediately went back to the Peters home and called for help, and while a car was being gotten out to go to the scene, the stranger disappeared, and has not since been seen.

Moran's injuries were given first aid by a physician called to the scene, and he was brought to his father's home here, where he is undergoing the inconvenience of keeping still while the thigh bone knits, for he had no other serious injuries. Sheriff Porter was called and he brought the car to a Wayne garage. It appears that the car is practically without damage from the upset except the windshield. The supposition is that the car had been taken for the trip, and the guilty one thought the best way out was to jump the job.

ROBINSON-MITCHELL

Omaha, July 31, 1918.—(Special to the Democrat)—At four o'clock this afternoon Mrs. Katherine M. Robinson and Mr. Claude O. Mitchell of Wayne, were united in marriage, Judge Brill officiating—home after a ten-day trip in west.

The above briefly tells of the union of the lives of two people who have been residents of Wayne but about one year, and during that time they have made many friends among those who came to know them, and developed a love for each other which could have but one happy termination, and they will return to Wayne at the end of their honeymoon with the best wishes of all for their future happiness and prosperity.

The bride has been a member of the Democrat staff for a little more than a year past, and has indeed been an efficient assistant. She has a "nose for news," and presents it in intelligent entertaining form, and we are glad to announce that Mrs. Robinson promised that Mrs. Mitchell would not entirely sever relations with the Democrat. The groom is a genial, successful business man, the senior member of the firm purchasing the Wayne Monument Works last fall, a man who stands high in the esteem of all who know him. Thus it appears to be a union of two worthy people—people who realize the duties and responsibilities of life—who believe it a privilege to so live that others may be made happier for their work among them.

The Democrat simply joins their many other friends in wishing them all of life's choicest blessings.

AN EXHIBIT PLANNED FOR CHILDREN'S PRODUCTS

Miss Eva R. Mills, who is leader of the Boys' and Girls' clubs in this corner of Nebraska, with headquarters at Wayne, tells us that plans are being laid for an exhibit of the garden products, the canned goods of the little girls and the pigs, calves and chickens grown by the little folks during the season—a sort of juvenile county fair. No date has been fixed, but it is to be before the fall schools open. Such a fair or exhibition would be of much interest, and should draw a large crowd, and prove instructive to old and young alike, and an incentive for good work this season and better next year. The Democrat believes in such an enterprise.

MRS. ELIZA SHORTEN DIES AT NORFOLK HOME

Mrs. Eliza Shorten died at Norfolk Sunday, July 28, 1918, at the age of 78 years, 9 months and 23 days. Eliza Lee was born in Queens county, Ireland, October 5, 1839, where she spent her childhood days, coming to America when but 16 years of age. She resided at Concord, New Hampshire, until 1856 where she was united in marriage to James Shorten, who passed away about ten years ago. Nearly thirty years ago, they moved to Wayne county, and made their home in the country or town until about six years ago, when she moved to Norfolk.

She is survived by three daughters, of the eight children born to them, Mrs. F. M. Hooper of Wessington Springs, South Dakota, Mrs. W. J. Lowry of Winside, and Mrs. C. E. Turnbull of Norfolk, and a daughter-in-law, Mrs. W. T. Shorten of Norfolk. Seven grandchildren and four great grandchildren were also left to mourn her death.

A consistent member of the Episcopal church, she so lived, that one who knew her intimately said, she never made an enemy. The body was brought to Wayne for burial in the family cemetery lot here, beside a husband and some of the children, Rev. S. X. Cross of the Presbyterian church holding a short service at the grave. Her daughters were all present at the burial.

STONE-GRIFFITH

A very pretty wedding was that which took place at Omaha Saturday evening, July 27, 1918, when at seven o'clock Miss Pearl M. Stone was united in marriage to Mr. Frank J. Griffith, at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Benner, 2101 Miami street. Rev. Chas. Savage read the impressive ring ceremony in uniting these two young lives for weal or woe. Following the ceremony a two-course dinner was served to those present, the party being confined mostly to relatives.

The bride was very attractive in a bridal gown of white organdy, wearing a bouquet of pink and white roses. The groom wore his military suit, he being one of the Wayne boys who was called to Lincoln two months ago for training at the university for some branch of military service, and is in the radio school.

Both of these young people are well known in Wayne and vicinity, where they have lived since childhood. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Griffith, and the bride a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stone, and is a young lady of many womanly qualities. Sunday evening they went to Lincoln, where they plan to remain while the husband is at the school, and when he is called for service elsewhere the bride will probably return to her home here until the boys come marching home. The Democrat but expresses the sentiment of their many friends in this community in wishing them all joy imaginable.

SHOCKING GRAIN

Nearly every evening a number of Wayne's business and professional men are in the harvest fields near town shocking grain. W. B. Vail is doing good work in "rounding them up" and getting them conveyance to some farmer who has grain to save. It is a work that is appreciated by the farmers and rather enjoyed by many of the men. A number of them are carried back to other days when as boys or mere youths they thought shocking a great grind—and it was in those days, when the bundles were not assembled by a carrier, and one kid was expected to "keep up with the harvester."

WAYNE COUNTY COUNCIL OF DEFENSE MEETS

At a recent meeting of the county council there was business of importance. One man who was called before that body was asked to donate a bit more liberally to the Red Cross and Y. M. C. A., and invest in bonds according to his means. Of course, he has the right to appeal to the state council—but they might add to rather than subtract from the verdict of those who know him. The public is almost unanimously back of the acts of this kind of the council.

LIST OF WAYNE'S ENLISTED MEN

In response to the call for the names and home address of the men of this county who have volunteered for service, President Ahern of the Public Service club has been given the following list of over 100, and doubtless there are still others. This with 225 drafted men now in the service makes a great showing for this small county; and has convinced Mr. Ahern that they made a mistake in ordering the service flag with but about 240 stars, and the flag has been sent back to the makers for more than 100 additional stars, for when the August quota has been filled, Wayne county will have provided nearly half a regiment.

G. O. P. COUNTY CONVENTION NAME DELEGATES STATE MEET

Last Saturday was the day for the republican county convention, and as the county superintendent occupied the court room that day, they met at the city hall. G. A. Pestal was named as chairman and Forrest L. Hughes as secretary. The chair appointed committees on credential and resolution and to select delegates to attend state convention.

The credential committee found no delegates from Deer Creek, Wilbur, Strahan, Brenna, Plum Creek, Logan and Leslie. The other ten precincts were represented.

The resolutions committee composed of A. R. Davis, L. W. Roe and H. G. Lindsay reported as follows, and the report was approved and adopted:

"We, the republicans of Wayne county, Nebraska, in convention assembled, reaffirm our unwavering allegiance to the principles of republicanism and pledge our united and undivided support to the successful conclusion of the war now being waged for the freedom and safety of humanity.

"We note with continued confidence and satisfaction the patriotic zeal and loyal support to our nation of all war measures by our members in congress.

"We point with pride to the splendid qualifications of Hon. R. E. Evans, our republican candidate for congress, and pledge the united support of our party in securing his election."

The following were named delegates to state convention: August

- Zieman, C. W., Anderson, W. E., Closson, H. E., Siman, John Shannon, A. R. Davis, U. S. Conn, Harry C. Lindsay, Geo. S. Farran, S. E. Auker, Eph Anderson and Vaughn Williams. The following were selected to act on the county committee for the campaign: Hoskins, Frank Phillips, Garfield, Dave David, Sherman, Spenser Jones, Deer Creek, Geo. W. Yaryan, Chapin, William Prince, Hancock, S. H. Rev. Brenna, A. E. Gildersleeve, Strahan, Truie Prescott, Wilbur, Oscar Johnston, Hunter, V. L. Dayton, Plum Creek, George Berres, Logan, Eph Anderson, Leslie, Amos Longe, Wayne, First Ward, John Shannon, Wayne, Second Ward, Ed Owen, Wayne, Third Ward, L. M. Owen, Winside, H. E. Siman.

Speeches were then called for from the republican candidates, and all appear to have been present and responded except Grant Mears, O. C. Lewis and Geo. Farran. S. E. Auker, A. R. Davis and E. W. Closson each made short talks before adjournment.

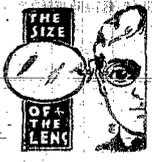

TWO MORE WAYNE BOYS ENTER MILITARY SERVICE

Last week Paul Rimel and Gerald Roberts, sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Rimel and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Roberts left for Fort Logan and entered the medical department of Uncle Sam's big and growing army. The lads are but 18 years of age, but they thought it was looking as though they would have to get in before they were much older or they might not get to see the other side of the pond, and have the government pay the bill. They are now taking their vaccinations, and after this work is finished, and they get normal again they will be assigned to a station for training somewhere along the line.

PLEASED AND SATISFIED

At the close of our second month of business at Wayne, we wish to express our satisfaction with the business we have enjoyed during the past sixty days and thank our patrons for generous treatment. As summer is drawing to a close, we find that we have on hand some summer goods which we have not room to carry over, and elsewhere we are felling the ladies just how cheap we are going to dispose of them. We have enough to supply many with dress patterns, and at the special price offered will not sell more than enough for one dress to a customer. The sale will start Saturday morning, and the early purchaser gets the first choice. Allaway & Hassan, at the New Store, just west of State Bank.—1

Henry Lessman was at the republican convention at Lincoln Tuesday, and reports a big attendance.

I do not fit the same size and shape lenses to all persons.

But fit the size that is best adapted for each face and the shape that is best fitted for your work.

Hardly any two lenses are the same size and shape so you see I make them up as soon as I have taken the dimensions of your face.

To carry them all ready made up would be impossible. Do not be misled on this point. Come to me and avoid being disappointed.

Remember the best is always the cheapest.

Miss Ella Wilson of Bloomfield, who attended summer school here, went to Omaha Monday for a visit.

Miss Dorothy Eberly returned to her home at Niobrara Friday after having attended the summer school here.

Miss Clara Brewer went to Madison Friday where she will visit relatives before taking up her school duties.

C. A. Grothe went to Grand Island the last of the week on a business mission, returning home the first of this week.

Mrs. John Soules and son, Albert, went to Neligh Friday where they will visit Mrs. Soules' sister, Mrs. Ed Dotson, for several days.

Mrs. Geo. Roskopf went to Denison, Iowa, Friday to visit her father, R. Gaffey. She will also visit a brother at Omaha before returning.

Miss Elsie Ford Piper left Saturday to spend a month's vacation with home folks at Lincoln, first stopping a few days to visit with friends at Stanton.

Mrs. Henry Long and Miss Ruth Davis from Winside, were Wayne visitors last Saturday, guests of Mrs. S. C. Kopp, and her daughter, Mrs. Lee James.

Miss Ethel Olson, who has been spending a fortnight at the home of her uncle, C. H. Hendrickson and wife, left Monday for her home at Kingman, Iowa. She reports a splendid visit.

Miss Anna Nielson went to Tekamah Friday where she will perfect plans for entering a rural high school as teacher. Miss Nielson is a teacher of unusual ability and will no doubt prove very efficient.

W. D. Hughes went to Plainview Friday evening to visit over Sunday with his mother, Mrs. H. A. Hughes. He said the rain had put a stop to stacking and threshing for the rest of the week, and he would take the short vacation.

Miss Barbara Goedert, who is trimmer for Mrs. Jeffries, left Monday to spend two weeks or more in the wholesale millinery houses of Minneapolis, and visit home folks at St. Cloud, Minnesota. She plans to return to Wayne for the fall season.

Miss Dorris Myer went to Ponca Monday, and from there will go with her uncle, Robert Dunn and family to visit at Malvern, Iowa. Her mother, Mrs. Joe Myer, accompanied her as far as Emerson, and visited her mother there for a short time.

Wayne people will remember pleasantly the entertainment given here this spring by Steckelberg & Silder, musicians from the state university. Never were our people better entertained than by these artists, Steckelberg, especially, being a favorite. It is understood that they are planning the date of Tuesday, August 20, as a date to return. At that time Carl Frederick Steckelberg, Fred C. Marshall, assisted by Mrs. Steckelberg, piano and Clarence Faubell, reader and impersonator, will come if the date can be arranged. These people are all artists and music lovers will have a great treat awaiting them. Watch the Democrat for further particulars.

DeRoy Owen, who has been attending school at Chicago, made several attempts to break into military service, but on account of age or physical conditions failed to land, has joined the staff of the Daily News of that city, and can doubtless serve as faithfully "behind the lines" as in a more conspicuous position. His home school record proves that he will make good, and if he shall stay with the newspaper game, his power to do much good will not cease with the close of the war, if he perchance is in any way connected with the news or editorial end of the game, nor will he need particularly to change the direction of his course, because advocating principles of government and economics which are correct in war time will continue to be correct in the hour of peace. If he is connected with the business end of the concern, business will go forward after the war as well as now.

Robert Skiles left Saturday morning to try a month of honest toil near Vayland, South Dakota. Of course, Robert need not have gone so far from home if he had really cared to work here, but he seems to think the harvesting and threshing is of more interest to him there than here, for there he has a farm to look after.

Ernest Bernscheln and his son-in-law, J. G. W. Lewis, left Saturday morning for Madison, Wisconsin, where the former will visit for a time, and Mr. Lewis look after some business matters before returning. Mr. Bernscheln plans to visit at other points on his way home.

Miss Beatta Krause of West Point, a niece of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Beckenhauer, returned to her home Friday after having been in attendance at the Normal for the summer school.

Miss Anna Hansen and Clara Wischhof left here Saturday morning, announcing that they were going to Cody, New Mexico, and visit a real trapping camp, and some of the people trapping there.

Chas. Harris, the presiding genius of the Coleridge Blade, was a Wayne visitor, driving over Sunday to bring some one to the afternoon train. He stopped a short time while it was trying to rain and talked "shop" at the Democrat office. Harris is a progressive man in the newspaper game, and is working out some ideas of his own as to the newspaper business in the small town. A few months ago he issued his paper for a time without advertising, because the business men of the town seemed to be of the impression that advertising did not pay. But it was not long until they saw that they had made a mistake, and were losing trade to surrounding towns and the next order houses, and began to come back. One of his rules is a change of advertisement each week, and with that rule faithfully followed the advertiser has something fresh each week, and gets a corresponding benefit.

MY FOUR YEARS IN GERMANY

SENSATIONAL GERARD FILM COMES TO CRYSTAL

"My Four Years in Germany" Starts
Two-Day Engagement at the Crystal Tuesday, August 6

The wonderful story of Ambassador James W. Gerard and his remarkable career as representative of the United States government in Germany, where he proved the courage of his nation by defying the kaiser and remaining adamant against the blandishments and trickery of Teuton Kultur, comes to the Crystal Theatre for two days showing, starting Tuesday, August 6. This marks the exhibition here of the most talked of film feature in all America, a multiple reel masterpiece that has been breaking all attendance records on Broadway for many weeks at the Knickerbocker theatre. So great was the success of this production at this big metropolitan playhouse, at $3 admission, that two other of the leading theaters of the city have been given over to it. It is a production of Gerard's own story, "My Four Years in Germany," and is the biggest and most authentic disclosure of conditions in Germany to the time America got into the war that has ever been shown. It is gripping, it is spectacular, it is true. It has the endorsement of the U. S. government and the personal sanction of Ambassador Gerard. It is this production and he has seen to it that it is real.

Mr. Nielson is putting this picture on at a great expense and the people of Wayne and Wayne county should see to it that he has a good patronage to repay him for giving them the opportunity of seeing such a picture as this.

The admission will be but 15c and 50c which is cheap as compared with the prices asked in other places. Remember this picture will be shown two days, beginning Tuesday, August 6th.

POTASH LANDS TO BE EXPLOITED BY OMAHA COMPANY

A number of Omaha's leading capitalists have acquired large holdings of potash lands in Garden county, Nebraska, and have organized the Omaha Potash & Refining company.

The executive officers elected for the ensuing year are Everett Buckingham, vice-president and general manager of the Union Stock yards, president; Philip H. Kohl, capitalist, of Wayne, vice-president; Joseph Barker, of the Foster-Barker company, Omaha, treasurer and Frank A. May, commercial superintendent of the Nebraska Telephone company, secretary.

The company has acquired leases of one of the largest areas of potash bearing waters in the state. Chemical analyses have been made of many of the different lakes and all have shown potash and other by-products in solid and solution in paying commercial quantities.

It is the intention of the new company to develop its holdings by the erection of a modern reclamation and reduction plant at Lakeside, Garden county.

The character and business abilities of the men identified with the executive offices and directorate of the new company promise to assure its financial success. They have all made a personal investigation of the physical values of their holdings and are confident of the fact that they will be able to develop their proposed venture into one of the most extensive and profitable potash reduction plants in the state, especially as their extensive holdings are located in the heart of the richest district. —Omaha Bee.

DANGER FROM SOFT COAL

Owing to the government's request that all citizens put in their supply of coal this summer, larger quantities of coal than ever before are now stored in all homes in the country. This coal is all subject to spontaneous combustion, and especially the lignite coal. We would advise all property owners who have stored their winter's supply of coal to watch this very carefully and whenever the coal commences to burn or even smoke, move it from where it is, and do not put water on it for the more water put on it the more it burns; the only safe way to do is to move the coal outside and spread it out not to exceed 4 or 5 inches in thickness and cover it over with ashes or sand.

Do not store coal near wood partitions or posts and do not pile it up to the flooring joists above.

Insurance money will not reproduce food, or fuel and will not clothe or feed our boys in the trenches. We must, during these turbulent times, conserve every article of food and material that we produce and manufacture. We understand that every man has a personal interest in preserving his property from destruction by fire or from loss of any kind, and he will tell you so as he has often indignantly told us, but at the same time the fact that he is fully insured often makes the solicitation for the safety of his property only of ordinary or luke-warm interest. We know that from experience. At this crisis of our history every citizen should feel a keen, active alert interest in preserving for humanity that which is their very existence and life-blood, and should take an extraordinary interest in reducing the enormous annual fire waste of this country.

Imagine what it means to this country's financial resources when something like $250,000,000, or the worth of bonds is destroyed in a single year and goes up in the smoke of great, senseless, preventable fires. Imagine if you can the Treasury Department deciding upon a bond issue of such size and amount and gathering together a huge pile of securities and valuables to take care of the necessary interest, then imagine some citizen lighting a cigar and carelessly tossing the lighted match into this accumulation of securities while hundreds of indifferent citizens stand around and watch it burn.

Would you imagine they were alien enemies? Surely they are helping the kaiser with every dollar's worth of property that they destroy in this country. It is a fact, proven by statistics, that over 1,500 fires per day occur throughout the country and every cloud of smoke from these fires leaves the country absolutely poorer by an appreciable degree and retards it that much in meeting the strain of war-time finance.

W. S. RIDGELL,
State Fire Marshal.

Profits and Prices

Profits may be considered from two angles:

- 1st—Their effect on prices;
- 2nd—As a return to investors.

When profits are small as compared with sales, they have little effect on prices.

Swift & Company's profits are only a fraction of a cent per pound on all products sold, and if eliminated entirely would have practically no effect on prices.

Swift & Company paid 10 per cent dividends to over 20,000 stockholders out of its 1917 profits. It also had to build extensions and improvements out of profits; to finance large stocks of goods made necessary by unprecedented requirements of the United States and Allied Governments; and to provide protection against the day of declining markets.

Is it fair to call this profiteering?

ADVERTISING WHICH ATTRACTS ATTENTION BY LOGIC

Three weeks ago the Democrat inserted an advertisement of the Kay & Bichel implement house addressed to the women which seemed to have merit enough to attract the attention of the Tradesman, the organ of the retailers of Nebraska, and in their July number they reproduced the advertisement and commented upon the originality and timeliness of the advertisement as follows:

"An Implement House Advertisement for Women." It is something unusual as Kay & Bichel of Wayne, Nebraska, point out. Generally the implement ad is addressed to the men. Right now this is particularly timely advertising. Woman is playing a more important part in the work of the world than ever before. On the farm and in the city she is stepping into positions left vacant by men. The writer on a recent automobile trip through Douglas county saw women at work in the fields, clad generally in femininals, and driving harvesters and rakes.

This advertisement does not apply to the new work of women as much as to the old, regular work encountered by women in every household. But it emphatically brings the implement company before them so that it really has its effect on the women in the new work as well.

This two column ten inch ad is generally of an effective type.

Retail merchants as a whole, pay little attention to the outside border around their ads. This is a study in itself—something which we pay little attention to in detail at some time in the future. But something a little irregular in the border—a getting away from the single line around the ad, is frequently very effective. It attracts the attention itself, before the reader even notices what is in the advertisement. For instance, a break in the border with the head extending through, or an arrow pointing to some portion of the ad, will itself frequently make the ad stand out from all of the rest.

This means more work for the printer, but it is something worth watching, and following occasionally.

OUR DUTY AS CITIZENS
We find the following on the back of a campaign card, and it was written by Chas. Graff of Bancroft, who is asking the votes of the people (who think as he does in the main on question of government) a seat in the state senate from this district. But there is no hint in the appeal for any to vote for him, but it is an earnest appeal to citizens to do their duty and not neglect their privilege of voting, for it is the very foundation of a government for, of and by the people:

Why You Should Read the Following

"Under our form of government, which is the best on earth, we should, in order to do our full duty to make it truly representative, never neglect to go to the polls on election day and register our decisions at the ballot box. In that way only is it possible to obtain what the American Form of Government stands for. A stay-at-home vote is a neglect of duty which you owe to good government and to yourself. Our Primary election is for the purpose of choosing candidates for public office by permitting the people themselves, by ballot, to choose them and the voters should consider it a privilege and a duty to see that his vote is registered for better and a more efficient government. No one will sympathize with you unless your record shows that you have done your part whenever opportunity is given you to help make conditions better but by your indifference and neglect you pass by the greatest privilege our government grants to all her citizens. Show your loyalty to your government by supporting those candidates whom you believe will carry out, if elected, the principles of good government.

Respectfully,
CHARLES GRAFF.

CANADA RESTRICTS FLOUR

Importation of flour and sugar into the state of Maine from Canada is now prevented. The department of custom at Ottawa, Canada, has issued orders restricting the exportation of these food commodities. For several months residents of Maine towns on the Canadian border have been bringing flour and sugar into this country from Canada. But the action of the Canadian authorities will prevent this practice in the future.

WHAT IS PATRIOTISM?

Patriotism—true patriotism is often put to a severe test these days. The men in front line trenches are not the only patriots. We have them at home. W. H. Needham, life-long republican, supporting that enthusiastic democrat, W. H. Mullen, for a seat in the state senate in putting brother Needham to the supreme test, for to him place one of democracy's leaders above one of his own political faith shows the sincerity of the man in his determination to do for his state and nation what seems best, even though it mean advancing into "no man's land" and burning the bridges behind him. We quote his reasons, and they are the right and proper ones for each of us to apply at any time, and especially the 20th day of this month of August, when every American should go to the polls and vote his honest convictions. Not to do this is to be a slacker—and God hates a slacker. Needham says:

"Dr. Mullen is my friend and I am man and patriot enough to support him at this time and thus help make the world safe for democracy. I do not want to vote for any man this fall whom I know to be less than a full fledged one hundred per cent American regardless of his political alignment in other years. I do not want to vote for any man this fall with whom I cannot sit down to a peace board when this war is concluded and feel that he has not carried out and assisted in the policies of the Commander-in-Chief of our army and navy and assisted him in bringing this great war against the German autocracy to a just and righteous conclusion.

"Therefore I am for Dr. W. H. Mullen for state senator from the Eighth Nebraska district.

"W. H. NEEDHAM"

The filings are now all made, and one may look over the list and make out the slate to suit himself. If we may find a wet candidate for the senate and a dry one in each party, if we are correctly informed. He may choose between a farmer and an insurance and land man on the republican legislative ticket, and if a democrat he may write in his choice of all the county, and try to land him. The republicans have three asking for the sheriff's home at the jail, and the democrats want to keep out of jail—at least no one filed for the place. A choice is offered as to treasurer, and two democrats and two republicans have filed in the Third district for commissioner, and a democrat only in the First. The democratic county clerk has no opposition. Then look the state field over for the bigger game.

And now the Turk has jumped the job, and Fritz will have no Thanksgiving Turkey for dinner.

INDIAN A MATCH FOR TWENTY GERMANS

One North Dakota Indian is a match for twenty Germans according to a letter received here from Sergeant E. H. Tostevin, now in service in France. The Indian is Charlie Rogers, a full-blooded Sioux of the Standing Rock reservation, and a member of the 18th United States Infantry.

"You ought to have seen that Indian the first time the Boche made a raid on our trenches," writes Sergeant Tostevin. "He leaped over the parapet swinging his old rifle over his head. He let out a yell that he had sworn for years, and was a genuine war-hoop by one of the people who made war-hooping famous.

"The Huns were pretty close before we mixed. Rogers, of course, had his gun loaded with five rounds, and his bayonet fixed. After swinging his gun around his head a couple of times he brought it down to his shoulders and emptied his shells at the enemy, swung it again, yelled and jabbed, and used the butt of his gun to smash the skull of another. I had my hands full by this time, but the crazed Indian's actions were so fast that we half watched him, Germans and we fellows alike. It was only a small fracas anyway. The twenty or more Germans who were left to beat it, beat it for their lives. Rogers never got a scratch. It was in fact very much a one man scrap, almost an exhibition. I never saw a man move so fast in my life, and I guess the Germans hadn't either."

Rogers is now being utilized as a sniper, and is enjoying himself picking off enemy snipers, Sergeant Tostevin adds, and says that other Indians in the regiment are being used for scouting and patrol duty, because of the natural instinct which fits them for this kind of work.

SOCIAL NOTES

Camp Fire Girls Picnic

The Faholq camp fire girls enjoyed a picnic Saturday evening at the Ben McEachen grove a mile and a half southwest of Wayne. About five o'clock the young ladies drove to the grove, and spent an hour or more in a happy way telling of their camp-life there for a week the year before. About 6:30 a splendid picnic supper was served—at any rate the sharpened appetites said it was splendid, regardless of the menu. The young ladies of this organization are taught to realize the value of labor, and not to waste time, and being patriotic they passed a part of the happy time knitting and other fancy work. Miss Ethel Olson from near Harlan, Iowa, was a guest. The evening will mark a pleasant date in their season's activities.

Country Club Picnic Tuesday

Next Tuesday afternoon is the time set for the Country club picnic, when members of the club, their families and friends will spend the afternoon and evening at their tidy grounds just east of town, and make it a time long to be remembered. A number of guests from out of town will be present, and golf and other sports will furnish exercise and amusement for all. The members are anticipating a fine outing.

The Helping Hand is meeting today at the home of Mrs. Alex Jeffrey, and the ladies are very busy with Red Cross work and other needed work for the ending of the war.

WITH THE WAYNE CHURCHES

Presbyterian Church

(Rev. S. Xenophon Cross, Pastor)

One of the biggest things that any person does is to "Go to Church." We urge you to go to church next Sunday. You will be welcome at this church.

Dr. C. T. Ingham will occupy the pulpit in place of the pastor Sunday morning, and tell of soldier life in the camps he has visited, as Rev. Cross has been named as one of a committee from this county to visit a camp and bring back to the citizens information which will be useful to the men who are to go in the future—a committee of instruction for drafted men. With W. O. Hanssen, he will leave in the morning for Camp Dodge, and spend Saturday and Sunday at camp.

The church that does its duty, as the man who does his, will devote much energy to some form of patriotic duty. To attend a church that does this is a proper patriotic activity. We need to keep the home fires burning in our church life and work.

The Sunday school work keeps up finely during the summer. F. H. Jones is our superintendent. There are classes suited to the needs of each person. A cordial invitation is extended to all who can do so to be present in one of the classes of this school next Sunday. The hour is 11:30.

Lowell Henney and Ellis Miner are to lead the Y. P. S. C. E. meeting on next Sunday evening. This will be the regular, monthly, consecration meeting. The topic for discussion and study will be: "Our ambition all for Christ." The young people invite you to visit this meeting. There will be a special announcement anent the recent contest with neighboring societies.

Baptist Church

(Rev. Fletcher J. Jordan, Pastor)

The ordinance of the Lord's supper will be observed in this church next Sunday morning at 10:30. Evening worship at 8 o'clock. The pastor will have charge of both services.

Sunday school at 11:30 a. m. You are asked to remain for this also. Strangers will find a cordial welcome extended to them. The study of the Bible is one of the most fruitful studies in which we could engage. Miss Ethel Huff will be the leader of the B. Y. P. U. next Sunday evening. The topic is: "All for Christ, Our Ambition." (Consecration meeting.) Phil. 3:4-11.

Mid-week meeting Wednesday evening in the basement of the church at 8 o'clock. Choir practice Saturday evening at 8 p. m.

Plan and pray for our services next Sunday that we may be in the spirit and also that our hearts may be open and receptive to God's truth. Strangers will always find a welcome and cordial greeting at our church. Give us the pleasure of meeting you.

Methodist Episcopal Church

(Rev. D. W. MacGregor, Pastor)

Rev. Howard Young, of Boone, Iowa, will preach morning and evening, next Sunday at 11 a. m. and 8

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. Carl Wolf from Winside was a Wednesday visitor at Wayne.

Last week Dr. C. A. Lutgen of Auburn and Dr. S. A. Lutgen of this place went to Rochester to spend a week visiting the great hospitals there, in the interest of their patrons at their homes. Each has a hospital, and seek to keep abreast of the times by spending some time with other physicians who are known to be specialists. Than the progressive physician there is perhaps no greater benefactor in a community; his mission to prevent sickness, relieve suffering and restore health.

Miss Agnes Finnigan of the Normal Domestic Science department went to Lincoln the first of the week to spend the summer vacation.

Miss Mabel Sumner, who has been away for treatment and visiting at Bloomfield, has returned to her duties at the F. S. Berry office, able to resume work.

Miss Elizabeth Betcher of the Normal is spending the summer vacation with relatives at North Liberty, Indiana. Miss Beechel is with her sister at Laurel.

August 1st

The above date may find a number of Wayne county business and professional men out of office stationery: Letterheads, Envelopes, Billheads, Stateheads, Remittance Blanks, Cards, etc. It is a very general experience that the supply of office stationery runs low before the fact is realized and then the first thing you know you are out. Avoid such a state of affairs by looking over your supply now and seeing what you should order.

Perhaps what office stationery you have is not satisfactory in style and appearance. Maybe the type was not modern or new enough for good printing, perhaps the presswork was careless and doury and maybe the paper is cheap and flimsy. You dislike to use such stationery, of course, for it does not conform to your ideas of Twentieth Century Stationery and is in painful contrast to stationery that you receive in business correspondence.

If you are in need of printing now, let the Nebraska Democrat know over the phone, by mail or come in person, and your wants in that line will be supplied promptly and satisfactorily. You will get printing that you will be proud of.

Printing for farmers and live stock men is done properly and promptly at the Democrat office. Orders for Sale Bills, Letterheads, Envelopes filled quickly.

Mrs. M. K. Munn from Salt Lake City, Utah, has been here visiting her sister, Mrs. H. Henney, and left Wednesday morning to visit other relatives at LeMars, Iowa, before returning to her western home.

This morning Wm. Beckenhauer and family and Mrs. P. C. Crockett and daughter left for Lincoln to attend the Epworth assembly, which is to be in session there for the next two weeks. Mr. Beckenhauer will return within a few days.

The Democrat was misinformed slightly last week as to the sale of the Sederstrom garage. Mr. Sederstrom tells us that he sold the business and leased the building. "As we understood it the monument works people had purchased the property and business."

Mr. and Mrs. Ed A. Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Long, their daughter, drove out from Sioux City Sunday evening and spent the night at the Wm. Fleetwood home, and Monday morning left for Denver for a visit. They carried camp equipment with them, planning to stop when night came.

Before selling your poultry, telephone 102 and get prices. This is the word E. E. Kearns sends to the farmers this week. He is handling poultry across from the mill, and has a hunch that he can make it to the advantage of those with poultry to look him up, or at least call him up.—Adv

Mrs. M. T. Munsinger and daughter, Miss Alta, are in California, going last week to visit son and brother, Joe Munsinger, who is at Presidio, in an artillery battery. He has been there some weeks, and is daily expecting orders to move on. Albert MacGregor is yet in the same camp, and they may both be transferred toward the trouble zone together.

J. J. Coleman, wife and children, and Miss Lena Andrew, a sister of Mrs. Coleman, left Tuesday morning to visit at Des Moines, where their home folks live. Mr. Coleman proposes to devote a part of his time to voice culture, under the instruction of his old time music master, Professor Bartlett, a pioneer in voice culture in Iowa, who had the ability to remain well at the top as the years passed, and at the age of three-score-and-ten he is still a leader and an authority on music as he was when the writer heard him in sacred concert more than forty years ago.

Last Sunday Rev. S. X. Cross of the Wayne Presbyterian church and Rev. A. G. Martin of Ponca exchanged pulpits, giving each congregation a change of orators. Rev. Cross went to Ponca with the Wm. Beutow family, and with them visited at the John Wilber home, a relative of the Beutow people. Mr. Wilber and family are preparing to make an extended auto trip to Montana and perhaps Washington state, and this was a sort of a farewell visit before the trip. Rev. Cross quite fell in love with Ponca, or at least one of their pleasant customs. Their street light poles are in the middle of the street, and about each is built a flower box, which are looked after by the citizens of the block, and thus flowers are growing about each lamp post, making a very pleasing effect.

Dan McManigal returned Monday evening from a visit of a few days in southwestern Iowa, in what is known as the very best part of the state—down in Mills county, which with Fremont, Page and Montgomery counties, is said to be a land hard to better for farming purposes, and we know it is good. But after looking the country over, "Uncle Dan" tells us that he would hate to offer his good land in this county, acre for acre for that land as he sees it today. It has been dry there, their pastures are short, and the stock has to be fed, corn is not quite all it should be, though it is a great corn country. Their alfalfa is not in it with ours, either in acreage or quality. In fact Mr. McManigal came back with home looking better to him than ever before, and he does not wonder that men of means and judgment are buying Wayne county land at better than $200 the acre, for he considers it worth as much, if not at a premium over the land in this far-famed corn county of Iowa.

Huse, Dean Hahn and Dr. J. T. House attended and had a part in the program. Nearly every county in the district was represented, and some changes in the organization plans were made.

Rev. J. H. Fetterolf and family and A. D. Erickson and family are home from a week of camp life at Crystal Lake, and they tell us that Erickson did his bit while there, for he caught one German carp if not a "bouche." Beyond a doubt this is a hard season for the German fish in American waters. They report a very enjoyable week, and saved meat bill, for they managed to keep the table supplied with fish.

Basket Store Service

Saved This Community Several Hundred Dollars!

When we speak of service we do not mean the free delivery of a twenty-five, fifty cent or dollar order; that's not consistent with good merchandising in times of war. What we mean by saving to the community, for instance: The Basket Store by its co-operation with large distributors has made it possible to make Wayne a regular car-load distributing point of perishable fruits. Three cars of berries has been distributed from this station at a saving to the consumer of a dollar a case or more. The third car of water-melons are on track which means melons to you at about one-half as compared with local shipments. Our contracts assure you pears, peaches and plums in car lots at a saving of 20 per cent over other towns who are required to submit to local shipments. Your co-operation with the Basket Store will simply reflect what we are doing for you, securing goods in large lots and selling on the basis of quick turn-over and small margins.

Water Mellons

Carload on track all this week, at 3 cents per pound. Saturday afternoon and evening, you will have an opportunity to secure melons thoroughly ice-cooled from the big tank in front of the store. All melons sampled and sold subject to your approval. Get a melon on Saturday. Special salesmen for melons only.

Pure Fruit Jams

$1,000.00 worth just received. New goods at a price less than you can preserve it yourself. Strawberry, Red Raspberry, Black Raspberry, Blackberry, Pineapple, Loganberry, Apricot, Peach and Damson plum all put up in 21 ounce Mason jars on a basis of 50 per cent fruit and 50 per cent sugar at $5.00 per dozen. You must see and sample these fruits to determine the real saving. Don't be misled by the offering of apple mixture jam for a trifle less. The Basket Store offers you pure fruit and sugar jam which insures you almost twice the amount usually offered.

Peaches and Pears

FOR PRESERVING. A carload has been contracted to arrive the first week in August. Leave your orders. Its co-operation that makes quick sales and a corresponding close margin.

THE BASKET STORE

For County Commissioner Third District

Harry Tidrick, the well and favorably known farmer and fine stock breeder of the Winslow vicinity, has filed on the democratic ticket as a candidate for county commissioner to represent the Third District. Mr. Tidrick came to Wayne county 29 years ago from Ohio, locating in Brenna, then just across the line in Hancock. He is probably the oldest assessor in point of continuous service in the county. He has served in that capacity for eleven years, never on his own initiative, but always at the urgent request of friends. He has been road overseer for fourteen years. The satisfactory manner in which he has handled the duties of the two trusts is attested by the people of his precinct. The signal success he has made of his own affairs is a sure criterion of the success he would make in handling county business. His judgment is manifestly safe and sound.

How Much Better It Would Be

Every one, or nearly every one, likes to criticize or at least to advise. Many people who know and feel that they ought to go to church regularly seek to excuse themselves to themselves by criticizing the church people. They do not deceive themselves in doing this, but they may deceive some of those who hear them finding fault with the churches, and when they stop to think about it they, deep in their hearts, feel real mean, for they know that finding fault with others is not helpful to fault finders and the faults of others do not excuse or justify faults by ourselves.

At Albion very successful union revival meetings in a tabernacle erected for the purpose were held for four weeks recently by Evangelist Scoville and his party of associates. They closed June 30. Record of this soul-winning campaign shows that 1,625 persons responded to invitation to become identified with Albion churches.

On Monday, evening, July 1, Evangelist Scoville delivered a lecture on "The Passion Play." The lecture was given in the tabernacle and the receipts were $307.85, which Evangelist Scoville gave to the Y. M. C. A. War Work Fund and the Red Cross.

There is criticism of one kind and criticism of another kind. One kind is harmful; the other kind is helpful. Referring to the spirit shown in the recent evangelistic meetings in Albion "An Observer," writing to the Albion News, gives example of criticism of the helpful sort. It is in the shape of kindly suggestions that show intent to be helpful. Following is An Observer's communication to the Albion News:

"We might have a continual revival if the churches would back their pastors as they have the evangelist.

"If we worked as hard all the time for our Sunday schools as we have done in the past three or four weeks it might soon be said of us 'and they shall know more every man his neighbor, know the Lord' or 'they shall know me from the least of them unto the greatest of these.'

"If all the auto owners believed that a tithe of their auto service belonged to the Lord, and gathered up the old people who can no longer walk to the church, how many pathways might be brightened. They could do it during the revival, why not all the time?

"If our churches, while holding fast to the things they believe in as churches, would cast aside all jealousies, all thoughts of superiority, all distinctions of rich and poor, and work unitedly for the saving of souls and the uplift of humanity, as they have done through these meetings, what a glorious place Albion and vicinity would be in which to live."

Wayne, too, had a similar revival experience. A meeting was held, and hundreds professed conversion and a determination to lead better lives, and among other obligations many of them took upon themselves was church attendance. Some probably have remained true to their new obligations, and yet the combined increase of the average attendance of the Wayne churches, we believe, will not exceed 20 per cent of the number who professed conversion at the time of these revival services. We would not want to lay this indifference to the pastors of Wayne churches, but rather to the proneness of certain people to do that under stress of excitement which they have not the determination to keep up unless constantly under the impulse of some mental or moral stimulant, and this the local minister cannot supply the year-round, nor could the evangelist, should he continue his work at the same place. With all credit to W. A. Sunday, the most successful worker in that class, we doubt if he could successfully hold a church membership together three years—especially if it were a church made from the elements of humanity gathered in a revival by an evangelist, so we maintain that the local pastors are entitled to credit for some things they do, as well as blame for some things not done.

are not the most encouraging. Commercial growers last year lost money, and as a result the acreage this year is much less than a year ago. Weather conditions have damaged the crop somewhat. The acreage would have been very much less than it is had not Nebraska farmers patriotically responded to the request for "more potatoes" in the face of their losses last year. Nebraska will have a surplus of potatoes, but not as great as the indications promised a few weeks ago.

Newport, Rock county, ships more hay than any other railroad station in the United States, probably in the world. Arnold, Custer county, ships more silica than any other railroad station in the world.

The bureau of crop estimates of the federal government estimates Nebraska's winter wheat yield this year at 40,000,000 to 50,000,000 bushels.

The Mid-August edition of the Popular Magazine contains a tribute to Nebraska's potash industry and credits this state with having made proper response to Germany's insolent boast that she would crush her enemies by withholding potash and thus rendering their fields unproductive.

Have you a commercial organization in your city? Does your city offer any inducements for the location of any industry or industries? The Bureau of Publicity at Lincoln wants to know. The department is preparing a booklet which will show the industrial opportunities in every town and city of Nebraska that is interested enough to co-operate with the department in making the facts known.

Nebraska is observing the "War Angelus." At 11 o'clock every morning the angelus rings, and everybody is urged to spend a full minute in silent prayer for the success of our boys over there and their safe return. The movement was inaugurated by the Rotary clubs. Every business house in Nebraska is urged to participate and sound the signal promptly on the stroke of 11.

Politics and geography make strange bedfellows. Garfield county has a Bryan township and a Roosevelt township, and they lay side by side. To date there have been no reports of strife between the peoples of the two townships.

UNCLE SAM PRACTICES THRIFT BY PATCHING SOLDIERS' GARMENTS

Methods of thrift now enforced in the Army Quartermaster General's office, including the repair of clothing and shoes, where possible, have cut down the issue of new clothing and shoes from 30 to 40 per cent in some instances.

The plants where the mending is done are run in connection with forts and camps by the camp quartermaster. When a soldier tears or rips a garment he turns it into his supply officer. When the soles of his shoes wear out or the heels run down, the shoes go back to the same officer. These garments and shoes are taken to the repair shops managed by the conservation and reclamation officer. When repaired and put in order they are returned to the original owner if possible, and if the original owner cannot be located they serve some other soldier.

Hundreds of women are being employed by the war department in the work of repairing the garments of soldiers and in the laundries at camps and cantonments. Preference in this employment is given the wives, sisters and mothers of men in the service. By paying $1 a month a soldier is entitled to a weekly bundle of laundry in which the number of articles is not limited. The women mend and repair all garments before they are laundered.

Why, then, should we be ashamed of patches on our pants—even our Sunday ones?

LAMB FEEDING IN THE FALL
The result of feeding five lots of lambs at the Nebraska Experiment Station have been set forth in a bulletin for free distribution. Experiments were conducted on the following methods of feeding lambs in the fall: The use of silage in fall feeding; the cornfield vs. the dry lot; clipping lambs for cornfield feeding; the addition of oil meal and cottonseed nut cake to the cornfield ration; lambs in the cornfield and on blue grass. The bulletin will be sent on request to the Nebraska Agricultural Experiment Station, Lincoln, Nebraska.

Miss Genevieve Dorsett has been elected to the sixth grade at Randolph for the coming year.

Prof. and Mrs. J. H. Wiley motored to Naponee last Friday to spend their vacation with home folks.

Mrs. E. H. Dorsett went to Craig Saturday to visit her daughter, Mrs. E. D. McMullen, for several days.

Misses Rachel and Miriam Bracken went to Blair Saturday afternoon to spend Sunday with their grandmother there.

Mrs. Warren Everett returned to her home at Lyons last week after a week's visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Seace, her daughter.

Miss Martha Pierce, art instructor of the Wayne State Normal, returned to her home in Lincoln Saturday. She will spend her vacation there.

Mrs. R. V. West of Magnat, was here Saturday taking teacher examination. She is a niece of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Carhart, and found a short time to call at their home.

Let me figure on your next paint order. I'll save you the middleman's profit. Compare T. V. B. paint formula with any other so-called high grade paint on the market—then get my price. Trumbauer, the oil man.—Adv.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Shurtliff from Walthill, spent Saturday and Sunday with friends here, driving over for their daughter, Myrtle, who has been attending summer school. They were guests at the Fred Martin home, north of Wayne. Mr. Shurtliff tells us that crop conditions are very fair with them though it is rather more dry there than here. He said that last season was a very good one for them, and their present prospect was as good as a year ago.

Many automobile parties are now passing this way on vacation trips. Many cars are now seen bearing the number of other states, laden with grips, baskets, robes, bedding and the like, indicating that those who travel in them are not expecting to be home the night of the day they leave. Wayne is not on a great international highway, but a road is marked through which leads from the northeast part of the state, and from two Missouri river crossing points to the central and southern part of Nebraska. The time, too, is at hand when many Wayne people are moving out for a bit of vacation, and part of them go by automobile.

John Brennan, an O'Neill merchant, who by his unique and very well written advertisements has attracted attention all over the state, says newspaper advertising, successfully carried on, is the biggest factor in the merchandising game. He says he has found it the only way to successfully meet catalogue competition. Through it he has broken down prejudice, made the people believe in his store, trust it and respond to the appeals set forth in the O'Neill papers. He says he will never retrench in his advertising. He writes the advertisements with care and always reads his proofs carefully but when a mistake appears in the price, no matter what the loss to his store, he lives up to the printed word and does what his advertisements promise.

Miss Elizabeth Fluckey, who has been attending the summer school, left Monday for her home at Fruita, Colorado. This little place is named for its chief article of export, fruit. It is a center for shipment of one of the great fruit growing districts of the state. The writer visited that place about fifteen years ago, and it was then developing wonderfully as an apple and peach country. On that trip a farm was visited which had a few of what was said to be the oldest apple trees in the valley, and at the age of about twenty-two years these trees were producing annually about fifty bushels each of marketable apples. We saw thousands of trees then which are now the age and size of these pioneer trees, and if they shall be doing as well as these trees did, the fruit output of the district must be a source of great wealth.

PLANT FALL GARDENS
Several garden vegetables may be successfully grown during August and September. Among them are turnips, endive, lettuce and radishes. Turnips will do well sowed broadcast, and the White Globe is a good variety. Endive may be sowed broadcast and then transplanted or may be drilled in rows 12 inches apart and thinned to 12 inches apart in the rows. Endive may be used for salad and greens. Radishes and lettuce will do well if sowed in early August, especially with favorable weather.

The Best Farm Machine to Purchase is a MANURE SPREADER!

WHY?
Because it increases the crop many bushels per acre.
Because it increases the land value, and thus the price.
Because it helps to make a farm better each year rather than being depleted and robbed of fertility.

An Iowa farmer once refused to buy a spreader because he could not buy at his price—the price would come down. He waited and after several years bought, then he quickly bought another, and he told the writer that he would have been better off had he paid four prices for one and had the use of it. Do not have such regrets and such loss—BUY IT NOW.

We sell the best makes of spreaders, and you will have the choice of three good ones here.

The Low Clover Leaf
Good enough to win grand prize at the San Francisco exposition.

The Great Western
A low down spreader with many exclusive features, made in three sizes, from 50 to 85 bushel capacity. Roller bearings, insuring the least friction when working.

The Litchfield
An all-steel frame, insuring perfect allinement for all bearings and easy, effective work.

From this assortment we can meet the requirements of any or all, and assure them a machine to meet their peculiar needs which we can guarantee to work satisfactory in every way, and it will pay for itself fifty times during its natural life in increased crops—in increased farm value and in labor saving.

MAN'S INHUMANITY TO MAN
Thursday evening last we had one of the biggest rains of the year. It came down in a perfect deluge. And thereby hangs a tale. A young couple, the gentleman from a nearby town, went out for a ride early in the evening. The storm came suddenly when they were several miles from town; the car had no top and the young folks were dressed in their best clothes. It rained steadily and they decided to ask at a farm house for aid. The young man politely inquired for the loan of a wrap for the girl. She was almost drenched as it was and chilled but the farmer refused in violent, abusive language. In his own home, quietly sleeping, was his wife and his own children, dry and comfortable. Outside was this girl, sweet and fine as his own, a teacher in our Wayne county schools. And the makeshift of a man went back to his bed and left the young folks, wet and cold, with a car that was useless, to their fate. The young lady was game. She is one of the kind of girls who have come to the front at this time of stress, a girl who has made good. She said that although she had on her best clothes she would undertake to walk to town, a distance of over two miles in mud and water six inches deep. So the young folks trudged the long, homeward way without one murmur of complaint. The writer saw them upon their arrival and was surprised and amazed when they told of their inhuman treatment.

Right here we want to say that we don't know who the farmer was, we are loth to believe he could possibly have given a thought to his extreme cruelty. We hate to think that such a man really lives in our fair county, and we are sure that he is but the exception to prove the rule of Wayne county's hospitable people. It may be true that travelers ask too many favors as this man seemed to intimate, but when a young girl knocks at your door, cold and wet, a young girl who deserves the best you have, and you turn her away with something near an oath, you are mighty low and contemptible whoever you may be. The fact that a man could go back to his bed to untroubled dreams while the young folks walked the distance to Wayne in a blinding rain, is another evidence of his degenerated soul.

SUPPERS FOR THRESHING CREWS

In some of the counties of Nebraska the Councils of Defense have adopted the rule that no suppers shall be served to threshing crews excepting the machine owners. This rule is adopted to conserve food because often a supper is prepared for all and half or more of the crew go home for supper thus wasting often a lot of good food. The Threshing Committee of Wayne county has called my attention to the matter and have asked me to suggest that Wayne county people could adopt the rule with profit. If threshing crews take supper where they are working, the people in charge of the cooking should always know just how many to prepare for.

A SENSIBLE VIEW

Here is the way a sensible German views the situation:
"I speak from the viewpoint of the foreign born. I, and millions of others like me, came to this country alone, and without friends. We sponged on all America had her free lands, her free schools, and free hands, her free schools, and above all on her spirit of open-hearted comradeship. She owed us nothing, but she gave us all. We swore allegiance to her flag, her constitution and her laws. We would be recreants, ingrates, perjurers and curs if, in the hour of need, we counseled with her enemies and were disloyal to her cause."

EDITOR EVANS' LETTER IN YEOMAN SHIELD

Letters from home! Now fades the rugged camp. Fair friends of France give way to fairer still—
I see the home in dear old Iowa, The morning sunlight on the pergola, The pathway running over the pasture hill, The dear, sweet, fragrant garden view abloom Fashioned by loving hands with tact—
As I would have it; The little details of familiar rooms, Dear forms and faces seen through longing tears
And over all—the flag! Beloved home, for all you mean to me I would not share you 'till the world is free!

Paris, June 19.—Gay Pargel! Her streets are thronged with here fragments of men and blackvelled women. Thousands of refugees stream into the city from the battlefields. Just yonder to the north we hear the sullen roar of mighty guns as they hurl their death messengers in quest of young lives.

All the day long comes the thud, thud of shells from long distance guns as they strike cement pavement or stone wall. Every night the air is vocal with the uncanny screech of siren whistles announcing the approach of flying "boche," followed by the terrific barrage of French guns that border the city. Soon the rattle- rattle of the machines overhead, and from the streets is seen the spectacular battle of aerial navies.

At 6 o'clock last evening a Y. M. C. A. secretary stopped his car in front of our hotel. He had driven the eighty kilometers from the front in an hour. He brought the news that the Germans had reached the Marne! While he was telling his thrilling story a shell from a big gun struck a church three blocks away, exploded and shook the ground beneath us as a dog shakes a rat.

Walking to the scene of the explosion I passed a cafe where a hundred men and women were dining gaily chatting as if nothing unusual had happened. As we stood looking at the demolished masonry a smiling courtesan sollieted a group of Y. M. C. A. men.

Later in the evening when the whistles sounded the alarm, I went to the streets. When the Hun airplanes cross the allied lines at night in the direction of Paris, notice is telephoned to the city. All the way back there are listening posts and as the flyers approach the city their course is reported and the whistles are blown.

Thus notice is given in time for the people to get off the street and under cover. Comparatively few, however, seek other refuge than their own homes, a store or doorway. The safest places are the subway and thousands crowd therein. In every block there are "Abits"—basements designated as safe places.

Into these places go people from the streets and others who live in the immediate vicinity. I visited several such places. Always room is made for the American. Two ladies, seated in the window of a basement, invited the "Monsieur Americain" to share their seat. There were about one hundred in this cellar. There was no apparent fear. They talked and laughed and later sang the "Marseillaise." It reminded me of the stories of Girondin meetings in secret, dark places of this same city during the French revolution. Many people remain on the streets watching the bursting of shells in the air and the long beams of searchlight sweeping across the sky. The barrage is thrown into the air and over the city from all sides and from guns stationed in the heart of the city.

The noise is terrific. One can readily distinguish between the noise of the guns and the explosion of a bomb when it strikes the earth. Never before have I heard such an infernal noise as these explosions make. Had General Sherman ever heard it he would have apologized to hell. It rocks the very ground on which the city stands. It is not just one explosion that ends as suddenly as it occurs. There is a continuous explosion lasting several seconds, tearing the air with shrieks of hate against all that is fair and beautiful. It is the voice of the Hun arousing women and children of Paris from their midnight slumbers, protesting against the peace and quiet of the home, emphasizing the brutal philosophy of frightfulness.

It is the midnight marauder who strikes in the dark; the incendiary coward who applies the torch and runs away.

The shells bursting in the air over the city are from the barrage. The scene resembles a Fourth of July celebration minus the comet-tailed colored effect of fireworks. The falling shrapnel is heard on the roofs of houses and on the pavement. It has caused one or two deaths. There is no fighting by the planes immediately over the city, as the French planes do not enter the barrage. They attack the Huns outside the city. Fights between machines are sometimes seen at a distance only the shooting flames from machine guns being visible.

It is impossible for the folks at home to understand the tensions under which the Parisians live. More impossible still is it for them to comprehend the stoic of the French people.

With the Prussian legions swarming along the north bank of the Marne a few miles away, endeavoring to batter their way into Paris; with bombardment by airplanes by night and bombardment by long-distance guns by day, they go about their business in the usual way without doubt as to the final outcome of the war.

Windows of business houses are shattered and the man next day strips his windows with lath and opens his doors for the daily trade. The streets are thronged with people, unafraid. Greater than either of the seven mysteries of the world is the mystery of the morale of the French people.

It is illustrated by the story of the old French mother, who was found among the new-made graves near a battlefield in northern France. When soldiers remonstrated with her for being in the danger zone, she stated she had located the graves of five of her sons who had fallen on as many battlefields, and was looking for the grave of the sixth one, her last.

They pointed it out. She knelt a moment over the sacred spot, her tears mingling with the dust that covered her last born, then flung her hands in the air and shouted, "Vive la France!"

The day after the drive for Paris began, refugees arrived. The American Red Cross quickly took over buildings and erected tents near the depots. Fences were built about vacant lots and stockades formed into which refugees were huddled like rabbits in a warren. A hurried call was made by an officer of the Red Cross on the Y. M. C. A. forces, and every day since representatives of these two American institutions have been Good Samaritans under more difficult conditions than ever existed on the road from Jerusalem to Jericho. Thousands are fed every day. Special trains arrive from the battlefields carrying refugees only.

Hastily they had bundled up clothing, provisions and valuables and left their homes. A man, his wife and five small children had nine parcels. I saw the cover over a basket move and lifted it. In the basket were two half-grown ducks! We carried several sick women off the trains and laid them on blankets in the stockade. Two strong Y. M. C. A. men had just laid one woman on the ground when she made known her desire for a doctor. Two Red Cross nurses responded. The men carried her to a secluded corner behind a truck where her baby was born.

A conductor carried a woman down the steps of the car and called, "Some one take her." I took her in my arms. She was 80 years old and as frail and delicate as a piece of Dresden china. She didn't weigh over sixty-five pounds. Her face and hair were white as a lily. She put her frail arms about my neck, smiled and said, "Mercee Monsieur." On her lace collar was a cross. A fair target this for Prussian guns!

The refugees are sent into the country, and distributed by vans and trucks throughout the city. They displayed no fear, no hysteria, no tears. They went about the business of assembling their bundles and repacking them and caring for their babies and children as complacently as they would go about their daily tasks on the farm or in the village.

One of the distressing tragedies of the war has been the flight of non-combatants from their homes. One and a half million of them trekked out of Belgium into Holland in front of the German army. Two years ago I saw thousands of them in Holland. At one place a double row of shacks, backs together, had been improvised. They stretched two miles across the commons and looked like a row of stables at a racing track.

Here lived several thousand Belgian women and children. Four times during the war a great army has crossed the plains of Poland; and each time old men, women and children flew like flushed quays from the oncoming hordes. They hid along the streams and in out-of-the-way places.

Later they would be rounded up like cattle on our western prairies. The children would run from their rescuers like frightened deer in a village in Poland I saw seven thousand children in a temporary structure that looked like a Billy Sunday tabernacle. They had been gathered up in that district. They were dying from starvation at the rate of two hundred per day.

I saw their emaciated lifeless bodies laid out awaiting-burial. Their limbs were not much larger than a man's thumb. More than three hundred thousand non-combatants have been sent out of French territory occupied by the Germans into Switzerland.

Non-combatants of five nations have been driven from their homes, from pillar to post, from nation to nation, by the German armies. It has been an international movement. The Germans have proven their skill in the chase of women and children.

Instead of frightening the Parisians into a desire for peace that they may escape the frightfulness imposed upon them, each additional act of barbarism makes them more determined to fight to the end. Every German bomb dropped on the city of Paris stiffens the morale of her people. Every old woman and child driven from home strengthens the determination in every allied heart that by the eternal flames of all peoples shall be made safe.

HAROLD BOYCE WRITES FROM PENNSYLVANIA

Harold Boyce, who left here about three months ago to join the medical corps of the U. S. A., writes to a young friend here from Allentown, Pennsylvania, saying that he is that far on the way over. In speaking of one of the articles of which so many have been knit by the little folks for the soldier boys—the wash rag—he says: The washrag overtook me after a pursuit extending from Kansas to eastern Pennsylvania. It is certainly welcome, as cleanliness is more of a virtue in the army, and especially in the medical department than anywhere. After a month or two fellows get the habit of shaving and washing their teeth, who never before washed their teeth or shaved more than once a week.

We have quite a nice place here, about two hours ride from Philadelphia and about four or five hours from New York City. We are only about three miles from Bethlehem where the large steel works are. They extend about three miles along the Lehigh river.

You have read in history how Washington crossed the Delaware on floating ice. I crossed it Sunday, and as no ice was available, we used a canoe. We crossed at Phillipsburg, New Jersey.

Give my regards to Wayne friends. Very sincerely,
H. H. BOYCE,

ENROLLMENT OF THE STUDENT NURSE RESERVE

Don't forget that from July 29th to August 11th is the time for enrolling for the Student Nurse Reserve. The Woman's Committee of the Council of National Defense and the American Red Cross are undertaking to enroll 25,000 young women between the ages of 19 and 25 for the nurses training schools. Nebraska's quota is 790.

Young women who enroll for the courses to become trained nurses are doing as patriotic service as the young man who enters the army or navy. The war is not over and whether it ends before they finish their courses or not, the need for trained nurses will be great enough to assure them a good future in the profession.

Those who enroll become members of the United States student nurse reserve and promise to hold themselves in readiness until April 1, 1919, to be assigned to training schools, including the new army nursing school. It is a glorious opportunity for young women to back up our boys.

The place for enrollment in Wayne county is at the city library and full particulars can be secured there from the librarian, Mrs. E. S. Blair, or from Mrs. J. G. W. Lewis, chairman of the Woman's Committee of the Council of Defense.

STATE FAIR WILL BE PATRIOTIC

The Semi-Centennial State Fair which will be held September 1 to 6 has based its program upon a desire to be of service to the government. It will preach and teach increased food production and conservation of available stores as it never has before. It will also show a large exhibit prepared by the government, planned to give the people a better understanding of how the war is being fought. Stress is being placed on features that tend to develop better citizens and thereby better Americans. It will be a Nebraska Fair built for Nebraskans.

Of all diseases originate at points indicated by arrow heads. The diseases given below are ONLY A FEW OF THE MANY which are caused by sub-luxations of the spine.

1. Slight subluxations at this point will cause so-called headaches, eye diseases, deafness, epilepsy, vertigo, insomnia, wry neck, facial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, etc.
2. A slight subluxation of a vertebra in this part of the spine is the cause of so-called throat trouble, neuralgia, pain in the shoulders and arms, goitre, nervous prostration, la grippe, dizziness, bleeding from nose, disorder of gums, catarrh, etc.
3. The arrow head marked No. 3 locates the part of the spine wherein subluxations will cause so-called bronchitis, felons, pain between the shoulder blades, rheumatism of the arms and shoulders, hay fever, writers' cramp, etc.
4. A vertebral subluxation at this point causes so-called nervousness, heart disease, asthma, pneumonia, tuberculosis, difficult breathing, other lung troubles, etc.
5. Stomach and liver troubles, enlargement of the spleen, pleurisy and a score of other troubles, so-called, are caused by subluxations in this part of the spine, sometimes so light as to remain unnoticed by others except the trained Chiropractor.
6. Here we find the cause of so-called gallstones, dyspepsia of upper bowels, fevers, shingles, hic-cough, worms etc.
7. Bright's disease, diabetes, floating kidney, skin disease boils, eruptions and other diseases, so-called, are caused by nerves being pinched in the spinal openings at this point.
8. Regulations of such troubles as so-called appendicitis, peritonitis, lumbago, etc., follow Chiropractic adjustments at this point.
9. Why have so-called constipation, rectal troubles, sciatica, etc., when Chiropractic adjustments at this part of the spine will remove the cause?

PROFITEERING IN WAR HUSBANDS

The prosecution by the war risk bureau of women who have married two or more soldiers to obtain their war insurance discloses the existence of a thriving new feminine industry. Taking two soldier husbands instead of one of course doubles the wife's income during the war and likewise doubles the expectation of a round sum of insurance money in case of death or disability. Apparently the honors in this form of plural marriage profiteering belong to the women.

Under the old pension system of rewarding war service the matrimonial-eligibility of a soldier increased with his years. The present system of government insurance apparently puts a premium on youth; there is now no necessity of waiting to become an aged veteran's bride and in due course his widow in to receive his pension. This to be sure, is taking merely a cynical view of plural-soldier marriages. It may be that some women of exuberant affections find soldiers so irresistible that they are even willing to commit bigamy, not once, but as often as necessary for their sake of their pay and insurance. In addition to the romance of the adventure they multiply their sources of support.

The revelation is a curious one of feminine duplicity. While soldiers have been protected from the influences of open immorality, they have become the prey of a peculiar form of marriage exploitation for profit by conscienceless women, not only in isolated cases, but, according to officials of the war risk bureau, "in all sections of the country, from Maine to California." CONDITIONS UNDER WHICH AMERICA MIGHT BE LICKED BY GERMANY

The above pessimistic heading does not designate an analytical treatise upon certain remote possibilities of failure on the part of the American nation to make good under a specified detailed set of circumstances but is rather the title of a poem submitted by one of our subscribers for the perusal of our readers.

This is the literary gem to which we refer:

When the lion eats grass like an ox,
And the fish worm swallows the whale
When the terrapins knit woolen socks,
And the hare is out run by the snail;
When serpent walk upright like men,
And doodle-bugs travel like frogs;
When the grasshopper feeds on the hen,
And feathers grow on hogs;
When Tom cats swim in the air,
And elephants roost upon trees;
When insects in summer are rare,
And snuff never makes people sneeze;
When fish creep over dry land,
And mules on velocipedes ride;
When foxes lay eggs in the sand,
And women in dress take no pride;
When Dutchmen no longer drink beer,
And girls get to preaching on time;
When the billy goat butts from the rear,
And treason no longer is crime;
When the humming bird brays like an ass,
And limburger smells like cologne;
When plough shares are made of glass,
And hearts of Americans are stone;
When the kaiser gets sense in the head,
And wool on the hydraulic ram;
America will then be licked,
And Germany not worth a damn.
