"TONY" BASTIAN FALLS ON WEST BATTLE LINE

A Wayne County Lad, Son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Bastian of this Place Killed in Action

ENLISTED FROM SOUTH DAKOTA

Wednesday evening, C. C. Bastian received the following sad message: "Deeply regret to inform you that Private Anton C. Bastian, machine gun battalion, is officially reported as killed in action, August 30th."

The parents had but just received a short letter from him written August 8th in which he only stated that he was well and that there was nothing else that he could write, and closed with a "Good-bye." It is possible that other and later letters will come from him, and some day the sad story of his death will perhaps be told or written by some comrade who saw the end; but that he died in a great cause is the solace which must comfort the bereaved parents.

Anton C. Bastian was born in Wayne county November 28, 1891, and here was his home until four years ago when he went to Chance, South Dakota, and took a homestead near the home of his brothers in that part of the state. He enlisted at Lemmon, South Dakota, and went to camp at Mobridge, September 18, 1917, and later was sent to Camp Green, North Carolina, and from there to Camp Mills and last Thanksgiving time moved to Hemsted, New Jersey, and sailed over in March.

Besides his parents, four brothers and two sisters, Albert and Martin of this place, Adam at Chance, South Dakota, and Leonard, who has just landed safely on the other side within the past few days. He is in the 2d Engineers. The sisters are Mrs. Anna Cowan in Montana and Mrs. Tillie Gildersleeve near Wayne.

As yet no plans have been reported for any memorial service. As a lad he attended the Baptist Sunday school, and the parents are members of the English Lutheran church.

JOHN SHANNON SELLS FARM TO VERNON L. DAYTON

A deal has been completed between John Shannon and V. L. Dayton by which Mr. Dayton becomes the owner of the 220 acre farm adjoining Carroll on the north, which Mr. Shannon has long owned. The price is a new top-notch for this county for a tract of that size, being $265 per acre. Mr. Dayton recently sold his farm near Wayne, and then looked at land and prices in one or two other places, and voted that nothing outside of Wayne county would look quite right to him in the future, and bid up until he got a place better suited to his needs than the one he sold. He is now adjoining a town, and as a larger farm, and one that he thinks will meet his future needs. We understand the present occupant of the place will remain another year at least, and Mr. Dayton will take a vacation from farm work while organizing for the management of his new home.

REDMOND-ERICKSON

The many Wayne-friends of W. D. Redmond will be glad to learn that he has taken a partner for better or worse—weal or woe. Word comes to Wayne at this time that himself and Andrew D. Erickson, so long with the State bank at this place, have purchased a bank at Mason City, in Custer county, and are to take possession November 1st. W. D. is to be president, and Mr. Erickson the cashier. Both men are favorably known at Wayne, and they will have the well wishes of all that their venture may prove a pleasant and profitable one.

CHAS. GRAFF'S SON DIES

Word just comes to us that Arthur, the 21-year-old son of Chas. Graff of Baneroff had passed away, a victim of the Spanish Flu, at a camp near Atlanta, Georgia. Mr. and Mrs. Graff will have the sympathy of their many Wayne friends in their sad loss. Talking to Mr. Graff a few days ago, he told us that the son was seriously ill, and that fears were entertained as to the result. The body will be brought home, but it is not known when it will arrive.

TEACHERS MEETING POSTPONED

On account of the epidemic, for which the Emerson schools have been closed, the meeting of teachers which was to have been held there Saturday has been postponed until a later date.

EX-GOVERNOR MOREHEAD SPEAKS AT WAYNE

It was not a very large crowd that gathered yesterday afternoon to listen to the short talk given by John Morehead, for two terms governor of this state, and now the democratic nominee for a seat in the United States senate. But those who heard his talk were convinced of things which have been a doubt in some minds. One is that the candidate is willing to stand or fall on his record made while in public office or private life. The record is made, and all are asked to study it. Another is that Mr. Morehead has been misrepresented in a matter in which his loyalty was questioned, though he referred to that only incidentally in his talk, but in reply to the questions relating to his expressed position on the draft question. The story that he favored a volunteer army in early days of the war and that he opposed conscription grew from his reply to a member of congress who asked Mr. Morehead for sentiment of the people of his part of the state. In reply he said that the majority favored the volunteer plan rather than conscription—but he had never in any manner opposed the conscription or gone contrary to the expressed wish of the administration in the matter.

He paid his compliments to his opponent, who not only talked but voted against the measure—and talked until members of his own party in the senate called him to cease, telling him that his utterances were an insult to congress and the president—and little if any short of treason. But the most of the talk referred to Liberty loan and to the need of constructive measures when peace comes, and the need of men of business ability and honesty of purpose to meet the great questions which will soon come to be settled.

His was a talk well calculated to carry conviction to the hearer of the candor and purpose of the speaker.

HEALTH NOTICE REGARDING THE INFLUENZA

Mayor Lamberson hands us a notice from the State Health department which tells that all cases of the Spanish influenza must be reported to the proper health officer at once by attending physician or the family in case no physician is employed, the same as any contagious disease, that proper restrictions may be used to prevent its spread. All are expected to comply with this rule or suffer the penalties. It is a war measure.

A PRETTY HOME WEDDING

At noon Thursday, October 3, 1918, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wright, occurred the marriage of their daughter, Miss Fountanelle and Mr. G. A. Smith from Camp Dodge, Rev. G. A. Pendle, an old soldier and a friend of the family, coming from Morningside to perform the ceremony.

Following the ceremony and congratulations a splendid wedding dinner was served to the guests assembled, only the family and near relatives being present. The decorations were in national colors, most befitting the marriage of a soldier lad. The flowers were roses and white and blue asters, and the tables were decorated with silk flags. The bride wore a dress of white silk and georgette crepe.

Miss Wright spent the greater part of her life at Wayne, a student of the public schools and a graduate from the college, she has many friends who join in wishing her a happy life. The groom is a comparative stranger here, coming from a neighboring state a year or two ago, he has proved a man of many excellent qualities. Before his furlough had expired from Camp Dodge he was taken with pneumonia, and is still under the care of a physician, but getting better, according to reports this morning.

BLOOMFIELD TO HAVE FLAG POLE

Wednesday morning Bur Cunningham of Bloomfield, was greeting Wayne friends, of whom he has many. He first told that he was on his way to Berlin to give the Germans what he helped give the Johnnies at Gettysburg, but later modified the statement, and said he was here as a representative of the city of Bloomfield, or the citizens, who had read in the Democrat about the fine flag pole erected here, and that Bloomfield wanted to go one better, and that they were going to do so—not in the spirit of rivalry, but because they wanted to have absolutely the best that was to be had, and the biggest perhaps.

He was directed to Fred Blair, and there secured the information desired as to the cost and where the supplies were purchased—and while he praised our ornament he was planning one which he thought would be an improvement.

Speaking of the present war, Mr. Cunningham says that he favors giving the kaiser the same terms that Grant gave—"Unconditional Surrender," and then give them back what they need most and will use for the good of mankind. No one can impeach Bur Cunningham's loyalty, and it is his opinion that it is not the purpose of this government to do as some orators talk, destroy Germany—but he would have their bad government converted into a fair and just government for the good of that people and the rest of mankind.

CAR POTATOES ON TRACK

W. L. Fisher has a car of potatoes on track somewhere between the great Nebraska potato fields and Wayne, and they are due to reach here early in the week. Mr. Fisher is now booking orders, and tells us that they are to be fine spuds or no sale. They are government graded and inspected, of Early Ohio variety. Better call and place order early for they are going fast. Phone Red 50 or 359 and find out just how well he can care for you. The price will be fixed by the government.—Adv

THE LIBERTY LOAN DRIVE

Wayne county is not yet over the top, according to the report of Chairman Hamer Wilson, and as a number of districts have not completed their drive and reported he can give no figures this morning that would form a basis for an estimate. Wayne county certainly should be among the counties of the state to raise its full quota. The books are open, and the opportunity is here for each and every one to respond.

NINETY MEN CALLED FROM WAYNE COUNTY

County Clerk Reynolds of the local board tells us that the call has been given for the men who were to have gone the first of the month, and that seventy-five men then listed are to be sent to Camp Kearney, California, between the 21st and 24th of this month.

Fifteen men are also to be sent to training at the University at Lincoln, and they are to leave October 15th. That makes a total of ninety men from Wayne county, which will make the total from this county above the 500 mark, and will call for more stars in the service flag.

THE SPANISH INFLUENZA

Up to date Wayne has escaped the ravages of this epidemic with but few cases, and no deaths, and it is to be hoped that the crisis has passed. While public meetings are not forbidden there are many precautions taken, especially are the pupils of the public schools being cared for and closely watched for symptoms of trouble.

All agree that care should be taken not to over-eat and to keep regular hours, live and sleep in well-ventilated rooms when not outside and fight the first symptoms vigorously.

As a precaution against pneumonia which so frequently follows in the wake of the first symptoms the editor has but one remedy to offer—it is cheap, effective, simple, and within the reach of all. In fact it is so simple that many neglect to use it—just so easy. Here it is:

Deep breathing. We claim that it is impossible for one to contract pneumonia who will follow a simple systematic system of deep breathing. It has been successfully tried for a number of years. We hate to deprive the doctors of business, but if the knowledge of this relief will help no one will be better pleased than the over-worked and worried physician.

HOW GOES THE WAR?

It is well with the Allies. On every front the enemies are breaking, and the morning papers tell that the Germans are retreating in rout as complete as can be started in a well disciplined army. The Hindenburg line has been left behind, and the enemy is going toward home so fast that the cavalry can hardly keep up with them.

Their armistice proposal has been tactfully rejected—the request is so denied that the refusal is of no value for use in the enemy army. Peace may not be near, or it might come at any time—the enemy is breaking up rapidly. Turkey is asking for peace.

JOE WHITE DIES AT CAMP PIKE

Don Cunningham was called to Des Moines, Iowa, the first of the week to attend the funeral of his cousin, Joe White, who had died at Camp Pike, Arkansas, the last of the week from influenza. A letter had just been received from Mr. White saying that all was well with him. Mr. Cunningham returned today.

Joe White was born at Wayne, and here spent the first sixteen years of his short life, moving to Des Moines when about that age, from which place he entered the service. Mr. Cunningham left Monday evening for Des Moines to attend the funeral.

JACK COTTERELL HERE FRIDAY

Announcement is made that Jack Cotterell, a Nebraska aviator who served with the British flying forces, will speak at the opera house Friday evening under auspices of the Wayne Home Guards. No admission charge will be made, but opportunity to contribute will be given.

Jack was wounded during the March offensive, and has a message from over there to those over here. A welcome awaits those who want to know.

AMONG THE SICK

There is considerable sickness, and pneumonia is quite a common complaint just now. Among the sick are reported a baby at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Green. Two children of Clifford Dean and wife are said to be suffering from pneumonia. John Barnes is suffering from pneumonia at his home in this city.

Stray Sows Wanted

About three weeks ago, two Poland China sows (weighing about 175 to 200) strayed from home of undersigned, who wants information of their present whereabouts, and he stands willing to pay any damages and keep cost due.—J. M. Ellenborg, Wayne, phone 1112-408.—Adv-pd

THE STUDENT TRAINING ARMY IS INCREASING

On Monday and Tuesday occurred the enrollment of the Student Army Training corps. The result of the lively canvass conducted by this town, the faculty of the Normal school and the students in behalf of his enterprise appears in an enrollment larger than the required number. The young men who constitute the unit are high school graduates from Nebraska and neighboring states. They are a fine appearing group of students, are taking hold of their work in a serious manner with evident intent to succeed.

Lieutenant Sheldon, inspector for the war department, visited the Normal yesterday and declared that the equipment and plans met his hearty approval. Lieutenant Sheldon suggested that it might be desirable to order more cots, etc., in order that the enrollment might be increased so as to be commensurate to the equipment.

The members of the unit have passed through the medical examination conducted by local physicians and have been measured for their uniforms. Today papers preparatory to their formal induction into the service will be made out. The local board in control of the draft are the committee of induction. It is hoped that a considerable ceremony will attend this induction. It will perhaps occur tomorrow, though that is not certain. The public will be informed. After the fifteenth it will be possible to induct into this unit men of twenty-one years and over. Until then the time is reserved for men from eighteen to twenty-one. In these remaining days young men within those years must enter the school if they are to receive the privileges of the unit at all.

Question has arisen as to whether those under eighteen may have the privileges of the school. The answer is: "Yes,—if they pay their own expenses until they become eighteen." Young men who will reach that age within a few months will best serve their own interests by entering school at once. They will then be certain of being received into the unit and inducted into the service at the earliest moment.

Normal Tales

Word reaches the Normal that former registrar W. D. Redmond and Andrew D. Erickson of the State Bank of Wayne, have gone into partnership in a bank at Mason City, Nebraska. Both men are so well known for their business ability and integrity and so well liked for their personal qualities that the confidence and good wishes of the Normal and of the community go with them in an unstinted measure in their new enterprise.

Mrs. Corde Reynolds of Austin, Texas, enrolled Monday as a student in the commercial department. Mrs. Reynolds is staying with her sister, Mrs. J. R. Almond.

LIVE STOCK SURVEY

October 15th, with the aid of the school children Nebraska is to have a complete live stock survey. The little folks and some not so small will all take part. The schools are being used more than ever before for such work, and it is one of the very best methods of gathering facts and is also helpful to the pupils. Not long ago a teacher in one of the grades of a city school told how eagerly the pupils had aided in getting the parents interested in the Junior Red Cross work, and other like enterprises. Especially among the foreign population, did the children find a short cut to bringing to the parents a splendid understanding of the questions, and once these people understood they were in most cases willing and anxious to help. This teacher expressed the appreciation of the wonderful opportunity she had had to reach and come to know these people through the children.

We venture the prediction that practically without cost the authorities will get more information as to the live stock of Nebraska than the assessors have found by their slower and more expensive method.

FUEL SAVING

In these days of high priced fuel you cannot afford to use a cheap range or any range that wastes fuel. It only wastes 5c worth of fuel a day you waste $18.25 a year or about the price of a Copper-Clad every 5 years.

The four walls and air space of the Copper-Clad Range holds heat like a thermos bottle. Even the doors are double with a big air space between the two walls.

The sheet of pure copper between the asbestos and outer wall or range body overcomes all internal rust, making the Copper-Clad last years longer than any other range.

Add $18.25 to the price of any range for the first year, then $18.25 for the second and so on every year. You can't afford to buy any range but a Copper-Clad. — The World's Greatest Range.

AN UNCENSORED LETTER FROM ONE WHO WAS "OVER THERE"

A friend hands us a letter from one of the boys who came home unfit for active service over on the other side, and below we give extracts expressing his sentiments, and telling some of his experiences. Writing from a hospital at Newport News the letter says:

Newport News, Va., Sept. 18, 1918.
Your welcome letters reached me today and I will tell briefly what has happened the past few weeks.

I hardly realize yet I am in the U. S. but when I listen for big shells, aeroplanes or gas alarms and everything is quiet I realize where I am. My last two weeks with Co. H, was very eventful and active, some of the most active we had up to that time. When I wrote that letter to you dated July 10, we were on the "line" about half way between Rheims and Verdun. We stayed there until about July 18. In the meantime we helped the French hold the Germans in their famous offensive of July 15 when they were to break through and gain considerable ground. They didn't get past the third line and the offensive was declared off. After two whole days of fierce fighting, from there we moved northwest of Chateau Thierry and took up the American drive that started July 18 there.

We started over about 4 o'clock Friday afternoon, July 26, and from then on we fought their machine guns which were in shell holes, bushes and tops of trees and everywhere, and their artillery both large and small until August 3 when we were relieved. Every man that was lucky enough to stay with the company was completely worn out.

Just imagine about one meal sometime during the twenty-four hours, water—a spring happened to be near us and that watered our battalion. No sleep and no clothes off, and yet I am here to tell the tale. Herbert and I met many times. Once I saw him with a pair of German leather boots on and kidded him; but the most happy meeting was after we had "gone over" the morning of August 1st, and we were two of the fifteen left from the outfit that went over that morning. There were only about sixty in it. Most of them were wounded however. I was the only one in my squad not to get a scratch. Herbert was just like I was and we had a fine visit, but the darn Germans soon spied us so we moved back with our company a little less than nothing flat, that some speed. We often joked about that race afterwards.

That afternoon Herbert and I slept and read and talked in our holes which we had dug in the side of a bank. The Germans were shelling us something fierce so we had a good protection here. It was there a big shell burst near and knocked a stone down the embankment and caused this abscess, darn that stone. About 5 p. m. Herbert left me and went down to the town of Sergy. Do you remember that name? While down there the Germans began shelling it. He started back but received a small schrapnel wound on his arm, it wasn't at all serious but he went to the hospital at once and I have not seen him since. You see I couldn't go down to the town and never realized I would come home so soon.

August 18 we received the most welcome orders to proceed at once to Brest, France and sail for the U. S. Think of it. Me of all soldiers in France. One man was chosen from each company in our regiment making twelve and one lieutenant from our company. We passed through Chateau Thierry, two days in gay old Paris, Orleans, Tours down the most fertile river valley in the world and finally landed at Brest, where about four days of anxious waiting sailed for the U. S. A. All this time I was walking with a cane and bearing pains just because I wouldn't give up and go to a hospital and maybe lose my trip.

We sailed on the Zealandia an interned Holland vessel. There were about 150 officers coming back as instructors and about 150 severely wounded soldiers, some men from our regiment.

Well we had an uneventful voyage. We had six destroyers with us for three days out of Brest and then they left. No subs were sighted and the sea was very calm, just like Lake Erie on a quiet day. It sure was calm.

We landed here Sunday evening, September 1. September 2 I went into this hospital and am still here, feeling fine and still a little soreness in my knee. I expect to leave about October 1—maybe. We received our order Sunday to report to Camp Dodge, Iowa. Another piece of good luck, to act as instructor for the new army. I don't know what line I am supposed to instruct in yet.

Now you have my life history almost. I hope it will prove interesting and will be something what you want. I was not wounded at all and I am in excellent health and spirits.

FARMS AT AUCTION

The sale of a farm at auction is becoming quite common, and is growing in popularity. It seems to be an eminently fair way. The owner of the farm thus tries to assemble all those who desire the land, and then says: I mean business—this place is for sale, and which of you value it the highest is the one to whom it goes. The man who fails to get the place, he wants knows that some one wanted it worse than he. Next Tuesday, October 15, P. G. Burress of Carroll, offers two farms near that place for sale, and if one has watched the land prices there he must be convinced that Mr. Burress is offering something of real value. Near one of these farms only last week a 220-acre farm changed owners at $265 per acre—small tracts near Carroll have sold around the $300 mark. Any who contemplate buying a farm in that vicinity would do well to watch these two farm sales, and not let any one get them below value, unless you are the man. Elsewhere, Mr. Burress tells about these farms, which are excellent ones—for they are in Wayne county, the garden of Nebraska.

"The Relics of Chateau-Thierry"

After that memorable battle, visitors went to the building back of the lines which served as a hospital. It held the American wounded who had survived that pitiless thirteen hours of beating back the Hun at Chateau-Thierry.

On that line of white stone houses on the south bank of the river the American machine gunners, after a thirty-hour ride in camions from another part of France, placed their tools of war and held for thirteen hours against the mad rushes of the oncoming Germans to get across the river.

With the same unconquerable boyishness that is laughing its way into the hearts of all civilized Europe, these heroic young soldiers had tacked upon the door of their hospital this sign:

Relics of Chateau-Thierry

Under the most favored nation clause of the treaties, with other powers we do not see how Wilson could do otherwise than offer Germany the same terms which Bulgaria was glad to accept. When Germany is willing to kick the Kaiser out and quit, that will be soon enough to quit fighting—for the fighting is good now—the weather just right, and the cooler it gets the faster the Germans can run.

It is proposed to make a survey of the Platte river for the purpose of estimating the water power which may be developed from it and the cost of so doing. It is time that the lazy waters of this state be put to work that the people may cease paying so much tribute to the coal barons and the railroads. It would be far better to have the railroads pay the people for power than for the people to be everlastingly shoveling coal into their furnaces and let the water run unobstructed to the sea.

SOCIAL NOTES

The Women's Bible Study circle enjoyed a very interesting meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Edwin B. Young. After the splendid lesson in the new series, a letter was read by the corresponding secretary from Nathan Johnson who is stationed at U. S. base hospital, Fort Riley, Kansas, telling how the Spanish influenza is sweeping that camp. From his hospital there are five or six fine boys carried out daily having died from the dreadful disease. He says that every available space is occupied with sick boys, even the porches are turned into wards for sick. Much earnest believing prayer was offered for the removal of the disease from our land. Let others join us. The plan to meet with Mrs. Tom Bracken at Emerson next week is postponed until later on. Next meeting is with Mrs. J. W. Ziegler.

The Monday club had its first meeting of the year Monday afternoon with Mrs. Miller. Members responded to roll call with current events. Mrs. Moran and Mrs. Kostomalasky were appointed as salvage committee for Wayne. Miss Clara Heckert was voted in as an honorary member. Mrs. Carver of Sioux City, who is visiting in the Kostomiatsky home, was a guest. Mrs. Warren Shultheis, assisted by her niece, served a delicious two-course luncheon at the close of the meeting. Next meeting will be with Mrs. Hahn. Each member will give synopsis of some war book.

Last Saturday afternoon Mrs. L. A. Fanske entertained eight little girls in honor of her daughter, Margaret's sixth birthday. The little folks played games on the lawn and had a merry time. The following little guests were present: Harriatt Craven, Marjia Ley, Jannette Lewis, Dorothy Gulliver, Ruth Clark, Adalade Meyer, Marian Joe Theobald, Fanniel Beckenhauer. At 5 o'clock a delicious two-course luncheon was served. Margaret received several nice presents.

The Coterie club met Monday afternoon at the home of Horace Theobald to do Red/Cross work finishing garments for the Belgian children and making comfy kits. The meeting opened with roll call. A small fine is assessed against tardy members and a double fine for absence. All reported having spent a delightful afternoon. Monday, October 14, the regular meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. D. H. Cunningham.

A Box Social Saturday Night
Saturday evening the ladies of the Queen Esther society will have a box social at the Methodist church, for the benefit of the society, and ask all interested to come. Ladies are asked to provide box lunch for two, and the gentlemen will have opportunity to purchase.

Mrs. Pawelski entertained the St. Mary's Guild Thursday afternoon. They did Red Cross work. Mrs. Pawelski served light refreshments and proved a delightful hostess. Mrs. H. A. Lynch of Carroll spent Thursday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Pawelski, and assisted in entertaining the Guild.

The Guild of St. Mary's church met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Pawelski. The time was spent in knitting. The out of town guests were: Mrs. A. J. Lynch of Carroll, Mrs. McNerny of Bloomfield. At 5 o'clock a delicious lunch was served.

Queen Esthers held a business meeting Tuesday at the home of Mrs. A. C. Dean. They voted to hold a box social in the basement of the M. E. church Saturday evening, October 12. Every girl is invited to come and bring a box.

The Minerva club will meet this week with Mrs. W. E. Beaman instead of with Mrs. Armstrong. Mrs. J. G. W. Lewis was elected to represent this club at the State Federation of Women's clubs at Fairbury.

A few of the bachelor maids of the Normal faculty took a hike to a grove east of town Tuesday evening and had a beefsteak roast. A most delightful time was spent.

The Central Social circle will meet with Mrs. John Heeren near Carroll this afternoon. The circle will meet every two weeks hereafter instead of once a month.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Chace entertained at dinner Sunday M. S. Davies and family, F. G. Philico and family, A. A. Welch and family and Grandma Davies.

The Acme club is to meet next Monday at the home of Mrs. J. T. Bressler, instead of at the Red Cross rooms as announced first.

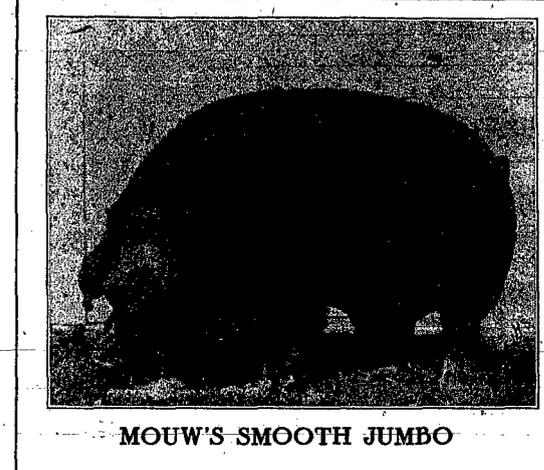

Miss Elsie Ford Piper entertained a few friends at dinner Friday in honor of Ensign Joe Cox who visited the Normal last week.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

On Friday afternoon a short program was given in the high school, urging the fourth Liberty loan. Edith Huse, Frank Martin and Edward McChesney read letters sent out by the American Red Cross, telling of the value of the Liberty loan to our allies, the large amount of money needed to carry on the selective draft and the money needed to care for the soldiers in the camps. This was followed by a very stirring talk by A. R. Davis.
Several classes are having a contest to see which one can have the most Liberty bonds and Thrift Stamps by November first.

The juniors and the high school teachers were the guests of the mid-year class at a wiener roast Friday evening. The party left the school house at 5:30 and were taken two miles west of town in cars. After the usual lunch, games were played. Miss Wessen and Miss Sweeney chaperoned the party.
On Tuesday a call was received from the French and Belgian Relief headquarters of New York, for a quota of 600 refugee garments to be distributed by the chapter school committee among the six Junior Red Cross districts of the county. A circular letter of instruction is being sent out to all the districts.

A surgical dressing class has been organized and will meet on Tuesday and Thursday evenings after school under the supervision of Mrs. B. Fleetwood.
Rev. Moehring visited the first grade on Thursday.
Mrs. E. W. Huse and Mrs. W. E. Beaman were visitors of the second grade recently.
Mrs. H. J. Felber visited the second and third grades last week.

All of the grades gave short patriotic programs Friday afternoon.
Mrs. C. F. Whitney and Mrs. W. H. Morris visited the first grade Tuesday.
Mrs. C. T. Ingham and Mrs. J. S. Liveringhouse visited the kindergarten on Tuesday.
Mrs. Frank Whitney and Mrs. C. H. Cox were visitors in the second grade on Tuesday.
Miss Alma Craven visited the high school Wednesday morning.

The school is taking every precaution known against the spread of the Spanish influenza. The building is thoroughly ventilated, the temperature of the room is watched closely, the children's throats and noses are sprayed each morning with a germicide solution, and children coming from homes, in which any member of the family has the disease are excluded from school. The spraying is done by the superintendent and an assistant under absolute sanitary conditions. Between each pupil treated the atomizer dipped in a solution many times stronger than carbolic acid, so that there is no possibility of germs being transmitted by the nozzle of the atomizer. The rooms are sprayed with a disinfectant two or three times a day and a strong disinfectant is used in the sweeping compound used on the floors. The school board, the city authorities, the doctors and the superintendent are all working together to prevent a further spread of the disease.

Holt County Land

Take a trip up to Holt county and see what crops are raised up there and be convinced that it is worth more money than what you have to pay for it. Do not expect to see land worth $250 per acre although I will sell you some for that price.
Here are really two good bargains:
360 acres good hay and farming land 9 miles from O'Neill. Price, $22.50 and should sell for $50 per acre.
160 acres 5 miles from O'Neill, easily worth $25 per acre but will sell for $15.00.

Help Is Scarce! Let Us Show You One of Our Corn Pickers

Let us show you a way to get around the labor question. One way is to invest in modern labor-saving machinery, for instance, a corn picker. Yes a McCormick field picker will solve the corn husking question cheaper and better by far than could be done by human hands, all of which we can prove to you.

FIRST—Every draft makes labor scarcer, therefore you must use more modern machinery in order to keep on producing, and thereby help win the war and at the same time help gather your harvest. So why hunt and worry looking for some one to help gather your corn when a McCormick field picker will gather it for you in a surprising short time with less expense and is always on the job. With a little care the McCormick picker will last for years. Gets all the corn on the stalks; leaves most of husks on stalks; takes what little shelled corn there is and puts it in the wagon with the ears.

SECOND—Stop and figure for instance you had 160 acres of corn yielding on an average 35 bushels per acre, a total of 5,600 bushels. At 8 cents per bushel would amount to $448 and board for men, while a McCormick picker would cost you $450 delivered to you at our place of business.

THIRD—McCormick pickers are built to last. All main bearings are roller bearings which means long life and also a light draft machine. Five horses will handle it any where. It is backed up by the International Harvester company, which means service.

Sandwich Elevators

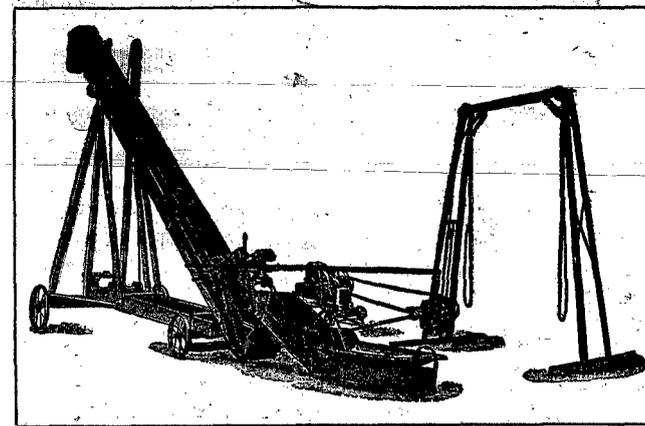

We purchased a car of these great elevators, a machine which has been thoroughly tested and proven a very popular aid for the farmer. It is so well made, using the time-tried cypress wood for its wood parts, that their life is so long and the repairs so slight that the first cost is lost sight of in the saving they make from year to year—and the convenience of having a dependable help in time when the emergency comes.

They make work easier, faster and less expensive. Huskers who have to scoop their loads want an extra price, and they lose time and energy.

In no essential feature is this elevator deficient.

Never before have we taken the care in the purchase of quality implements, and we feel that in all reasonable farm machinery we are in shape to provide our patrons with that which has no superior. This, we feel to be especially true in our selection of the two makes of elevators offered above.

We invite inspection, confident that your judgment will confirm our judgment as to the quality of the offering. Yours for the best labor-saving machinery.

Meadow's

Portable and Stationary Grain Elevators

Are the culmination of sixteen years of study and improvement, until they are considered the equal of the best for practical service. Ease of operation, durability and satisfactory service.

These elevators are made in different sizes, of wood or steel, all castings are of gray iron, cast at our foundry, and made of the right kind and proportions of the different irons to produce the greatest strength and durability. Every department of our factory is in charge of experienced mechanics, specialists in their line, assuring a perfect elevator.

"TO HELL WITH THE KAISER'S PEACE TERMS"

Say American Boys—Italian Officers Surprised But Pleased

(By H. C. Evans)

Genoa, Italy—Unconditional surrender—Grant's terms—nothing else will satisfy America's fighting men in Europe.

For a week I have been with a certain American regiment, the first to arrive in Italy. The regiment is unloading and assembling supplies just arrived from home, preparing to move to the Austro-Italian front.

I am taking off ships Y. M. C. A. supplies, also just arrived, loading them on freight cars and shipping them to the front, where other Y. M. C. A. men are establishing huts and tents and canteens against the arrival of our troops.

This particular regiment was one of the first mobilized in the United States. It is composed of young men who volunteered at colleges. Ames furnished 36 and there were others from Iowa City, Grinnell and Sioux City. They expect immediate service in France, and have spent the fourteen months since mobilized in intensive training and fretting over the delay in getting into action.

Yesterday some Italian officers visited our camp. During the conversation one of them expressed the belief that now there are so many fighting men from America on the line the kaiser will offer some reasonable terms of peace.

"To hell with the kaiser's terms," exclaimed Capt. Harper of Denver, "we're not here to listen to any peace terms the kaiser may offer. We'll make our own peace terms—the Y. M. C. A. make our own terms, and they'll be unconditional surrender! We've never fought a war on land that we didn't capture the enemy's army, and that's what we'll do in this war!"

The Italian officers were perplexed.

They withdrew and conferred among themselves for a few moments. Many of our officers and men had gathered around. Our militant Captain, supported by other U. S. officers, some of whom outranked him, stated that we can mobilize an army equal in numbers to the armies of all the fighting nations in Europe; that while we entered the war to help restore the territory of Italy and Serbia and Belgium and France, we also entered it to destroy the military power of Germany, to conquer her to make her submit to the standards of civilization and keep her agreements with other nations—in short, to disarm her that in the future other nations may live and develop their own ideals in peace. "How can this be done?" exclaimed the captain; "how, except to conquer and capture the German army? That's why we came, that will we do!"

And then those Italian officers stood at attention, shouted, waved their caps and shouted: "Vive la Americans!"

This determination of the American army is at last understood by our European allies and it has sunk into their souls and taken possession of them. With its accomplishment they sense such a peace in Europe as has never been known.

As an illustration of the splendid spirit of the American troops I give an example: Word was received that a ship load of their supplies had arrived at a port seventy miles down the coast. Captain Harper took a squad of the men by rail to this port. The ship was in dock. The men took off train of trucks and automobiles, assembled them and loaded them. The remaining contents of the ship were loaded on a freight train. At 4 o'clock, p. m., we started to drive the truck train back, seventy miles across the Apennine mountains.

Every truck was heavily loaded, the engines and machinery new. When we struck the first climb up the mountain side two engines died. The boys sandwiched the two dead trucks between a half dozen others, and pushed them up and over the mountains to the end of the journey.

There were many mishaps, the new machinery constantly getting out of order. At 10 o'clock we halted for supper at a small mountain village. We made coffee over a fire by the side of the road and from our own commissary feasted on bread, canned meat, beans and jam. The dust from the crushed rock of the road settled on the clothes and faces of the men, every man looked like a white specter. The dust was a pasty white, and not a man could be recognized. Often the road ran through a tunnel, then along the edge of a chasm. It was a moonlight night and frequently we saw the blue waters of the Mediterranean far below. We arrived in camp at 5 o'clock the next morning—eleven hours on the road. Capt. Harper, who left the Boston Tech. school and a career at home, drove his car through the long hours of the night, face and clothes besmirched with grease and dust, joking with the men, helping repair machinery and assisting with the dead trucks. About 2 o'clock in the morning we stopped on the crest of a mountain for refreshments when the boys sang "My Old Kentucky Home," and other familiar songs, closing with the new chorus to "Over There," which runs:

"Over here, over here, send the word, send the word, we are here, and we're all working, we all are working; no one is shirking, never fear.

Mother dear, dry that tear, soon your worries will all disappear. We are over, we're glad we're over—and we won't come back till it's over, over here!"

And through all that long night with its troubles and discomforts no man uttered a cross word, a complaint or an oath.

After a long sleep I visited the camp at 6 o'clock, p. m., for mess. Not a man had slept during the day. They were too busy, for they were getting ready to move to the front. I was standing on a busy corner of this, one of the oldest cities of the old Roman empire, when some one slapped me on the back and called my name.

I turned and embraced Congressman Dowell! Dear old Cash. I didn't know he was within four thousand miles, and he thought I was in France. With him were Congressman Sweet of Iowa, and a dozen other U. S. Congressmen. They had just arrived from home and were like a lot of verdant untraveled youths from the farm, keen for information. I gave them their first news of the great offensive by the Americans and French on the Marne and they fairly jumped with joy.

Then we called on the American consul and our naval commander, visited the old house where Columbus was born and then to camp where officers and men gave them a cordial reception. I hunted up the Iowa chaps for Congressmen Dowell and Sweet and the boys declared it was like seeing their own home folks. The congressmen expressed themselves as delighted with the spirit and morale of our troops. They went on to Rome that night, appointments having been made with Ambassador Page and the king of Italy. From there they were to go to the Italian front then to France.

In order that two good Iowans may learn to love each other they must first have some fun together. The bit of fun that Dowell and I had in the congressional bout two years ago sharpened our appreciation. Leastwise we had a whalein' good time together over here.

Speaking to the boys at camp, Dowell said: "Men, we want you to know that our government intends to stand behind you and support you to the limit in everything and in all ways. Our fighting men are coming fast. Our vast storehouses in Europe are already crowded to bursting with every conceivable sort of supplies you need, and more storehouses are being built and more shiploads of supplies are landing every day. Your president, your congress and the people are supporting you with all our tremendous resources. We believe in you, and you will lack nothing from home that will enable you to prosecute the war to a successful and speedy conclusion."

Such assurance from one in authority just from Washington is of inestimable value. Nothing else could so encourage and enthuse our boys as a rule confined to preachers and Y. M. C. A. men. If a few more congressmen would come over and swing around the circle greeting the men it would be time and effort well spent. I have known of nothing that so heartened the boys as this visit of our congressmen. I am sure that these soldiers will go into the fight—and they'll be in it in three weeks—strengthened and encouraged by the assurance brought them officially by Dowell, Sweet and their fellows.

A SUNDAY SERVICE AT THE FRONT (Selected)

It has been frequently said that the war is bringing the fighting men to a more serious consideration of religious questions. Here is an example. In a letter which is printed in the Wichita Eagle, Lieut. Kenneth Cassidy, on active service in France and wearing the war-cross for distinguished service, writes to his parents, the Rev. and Mrs. George W. Cassidy, of a picturesque service in a shell-torn French town:

The service was held on the steps in front of what was at one time a church. Now there is nothing left of it but a part of the tower, and a part of the four walls, also a few beams of the roof. The church, and the whole town for that matter, has been pretty heavily shelled, not over half the buildings being fit for occupancy. The church-tower was used for the Germans as an artillery-observation post during their occupancy of the town. The French were forced to shell the church to drive them out. The same is the story of practically every church in this section of the country.

Anyhow, you have the picture of me at mass at 6 a. m. on Easter Sunday, standing silent through a simple but impressive service with a thousand other Irishmen, heads bared, faces earnest. Probably in that assembly there were men of as many faiths as I could count on the fingers of four hands. Yet there they were joined in a mutual brotherhood, all gathered with the single purpose of worship, and as we stood there in the early dawn, listening to the few words spoken by a man loved as few men are loved, a man who fills the very atmosphere that surrounds him with holiness—I felt a stronger kinship for my brothers there than I have ever felt before. The picturesque landscape; the quaint old town; the battle-scarred ruins; the fresh, balmy spring air—and the quiet, peaceful multitude—and I wondered why it was that men must be torn with such violent passions—why there must be war and ruin, rapine and bloodshed, and all the untold horrors being enacted here every day.

And then I thought of the common feeling of all gathered there and I wondered again that it was as it was, Catholic and Scientist, Protestant and on-sectarian, side by side. But, of course, the question thus raised in my mind was answered at once by the realization that minor disputes were buried in the united desire of those gathered there to settle a dispute which for the time at least was greater and more potent than inter-sectarian squabbles. Then as I continued to think along these lines, the belief seemed forced upon me that there was and is something fundamentally wrong with the very foundation of our modern ethics.

So, I wondered, is it not natural that when the foundation of a great people, which is their religion, I believe, begins to crumble, after a while the whole structure of their civilization will fall with a cataclysmic crash? When we can begin by being brothers in the fundamental thing I believe we can begin to hope to some day attain to that mythical utopia called by some one lasting universal peace.

America's Coming of Age

By DR. FRANK CRANE

America is coming of age.

The nation's hundred years of democracy have been but the preparation for its manhood.

It is a cheap jibe to say that America was unprepared for this war. It has had the mightiest preparation in the history of nations. For over a century Destiny has been preparing in this New World a spirit of triumphant Democracy. Such a spirit cannot be made. It must be grown, inbred.

On this Western Continent Destiny has been training the young Galahad for the rescue of the world.

Nature has an antidote for every poison.

American Democracy Is the Antidote for German Autocracy

Every one of our wars has been for the same purpose: to liberate the common man. The Revolution of 1776 was to get the privileged class of England off the backs of the American Colonists who were redeeming this wilderness.

The War of 1812 was to rescue American seamen from oppression.

The Mexican War was to liberate the settlers of Texas from the whimsy cruelty of Mexico.

The Spanish War was to save the people of Cuba from the tyranny of the Spanish Government.

Every time our army and navy have gone forth it has been to clean up some filthy autocracy.

But all of our wars have been but a preparation for our present task. We did not realize it. No man foresees his destiny, no nation foresees its mission. Yet the life of every nation, as of every man, is a plan of God.

God has been piling up riches on this continent until we are the wealthiest nation in the world. He has been sharpening our inventive skill and our business ability. Our training has been intensive.

Now God says, "America you are come of age. All I have done for you is to prepare you for the present conflict, for your real work. Go forth and make the world a decent place to live in."

At this time every son of America is called upon to do his utmost. The slacker is a traitor.

We are sending men across the ocean, men who are physically and mentally the pick of the world, an incomparable army. But the men at home must back them up.

It is as much our solemn duty to put our money into the Fourth Liberty Loan as it is the duty of the soldier to stand firm at his post in battle.

The Fourth Liberty Loan is to be our supreme effort. God helping us, we shall not be found wanting. Let us subscribe all we can, and a little more.

America, Civilization, Democracy, Humanity, expect every man to do his duty

WITH THE WAYNE CHURCHES

Baptist Church
(Rev. Fletcher J. Jordan, Pastor)
Divine worship in the First Baptist church next Lord's day, God willing. The pastor will preach at both services. Morning worship at 10:30. The evening hour is 7:30.

Sunday school convenes after the morning service. The lesson for next Sunday is: "The Greatness of Unselfishness." Gen. 13:5-11; 14:14-16. Let us plan to be in Sunday school this coming Sunday. Strangers and people who go to no other Bible school are welcome.

The work of the B. Y. P. U. is going forward splendidly. The topic for the next meeting will be: "Weak Points in Our Society to be Strengthened." 1 Chron. 28:1-10. Mrs. Carlos D. Martin, our efficient president, is the leader of this meeting. All young people are asked to attend, but a special invitation is extended to Normal students. This service begins at 6:30 p. m. and lasts for one hour.

Do not forget that Rev. J. D. Collins, state director of Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. work, and Miss Nellie Lucas, a returned missionary, will be with us three days beginning October 16 to hold an institute.

Choir practice Saturday evening at 7:30. A full attendance is earnestly requested.

Mid-week prayer service Wednesday evening of each week in the basement of the church at 7:30.

The Nebraska Baptist state convention has been postponed until November 2, on account of the Spanish influenza which is raging in our country.

We are happy to have strangers at each service of our church.

We are very anxious that the young people take advantage of this. It is their service and we trust they will feel that the responsibility for its success depends on them. Everybody welcome. The Pierce County Leader, for the past fifteen years under the care of A. H. Backhaus has gone to other hands. W. H. Brown coming along one day and asking the editor to price the plant and business, and taking it, when the price was named. As Brother Backhaus had no serious thought of selling, he now has no definite thought of what his next step will be. Mr. Brown took possession October 1, and his first issue is well up to the Leader standard of excellence. His announcement promises no radical change. Here's to the outgoing and incoming editors—may they prosper.

Only One-Fourth of American Telephone Exchanges Are Bell Owned or Controlled

Of the 21,700 telephone exchanges in the United States, only 5,400 or about 25 per cent, are owned by the Bell System.

The Bell System, composed of 37 associated companies, does not seek universal ownership of the telephone. It does, however, encourage the connection of all the telephone systems in the country with each other so that communication between any two telephones in the nation will be possible.

In addition to 9,129 independent telephone companies in the United States operating 16,300 exchanges, there are 22,000 mutual telephone associations of farmers with 1,400,000 rural telephones.

The United States today has over 11,700,000 telephones, or more than all the rest of the world combined, and the service is the best and cheapest given anywhere.

No single telephone organization can claim the credit for the magnificent showing made in this country. Every telephone company, large and small, Bell owned, independently owned or a mutual association, is entitled to its full share of the credit.

UNCLE SAM'S GIRL

(Mrs. Grace Lutgen)

Wayne has a lady with the talent for story writing that is winning her a place in the magazines and in the hearts of their readers. One whose stories attract more than passing notice. Following we give extracts from a paper which she prepared and read at a convention of women workers, and the manuscript was solicited for the Union Signal, one of the official organs of the W. C. T. U. and from that paper we quote:

"We are living in an epoch-making time; a time when every American woman is a co-partner in the greatest enterprise which this nation has ever undertaken—the business of fighting for democracy. You ask how they became partners in this enterprise? Have not the women given their sons and husbands to the fighting line; and have they stopped at that? No, they are knitting and sewing till their arms are weary; they have taken the responsibility of furnishing surgical dressings and hospital supplies for the sick and wounded; they have packed kit-bags; they have made a 100% Red Cross membership campaign possible; they have bought and sold Liberty bonds; they have and are helping in the Thrift Stamp campaign; but the greatest task of all—the one which rests almost entirely in their hands—is the Food Conservation problem. Surely we have earned the position of co-partner. And we are not failing in the task placed upon us, for so gallantly and uncomplainingly have the women responded, that Secretary McAdoo has said, 'The women of America have marshalled their forces with extraordinary patriotism and zeal in this great war of America's vital rights, for Liberty and Democracy. What the women have done for the Liberty loans is a striking manifestation of the enthusiasm, the patriotism, the intelligence and the power of women. They have earned the unstinted admiration of the country.'

"America boasts of having the greatest people for her children, and well she may, for we have sprung from the best blood of all nations. It was not the aristocratic class who ventured across the ocean to settle this continent, neither was it the dependent class. Instead, it was the great middle class who desired a better and broader field for their activities, a land where they could have spiritual liberty.

Those were not impelled by hope of conquest, wealth or pleasure. They came for an entangible spiritual something which led them across vast unknown seas to establish this great land of the free. It is but the outgrowth of the same spirit which has urged us into the great world struggle for Right against Might. Thus because of her early ancestry we find in Uncle Sam's girl the predominating traits of all other nations. She is endowed with Irish wit, French vivacity, Scotch thrift and industry, Dutch love for cleanliness and order, English pride and daring, and even German love of music and the ability to accept her share of the burden. But intermingling through all these traits we find the curiosity and cunning of the original American, inherited from our historic Pocahontas. Therefore according to the theorem that a whole is greater than any of its parts, we claim that the American girl should be and is superior to the girls of any other nation. Endowed with such characteristics it is surprising that we find Uncle Sam's Girl taking a very prominent part in the world of her nation?

Her work has been great indeed, although it required this great crisis before our national leaders were willing to give such recognition as Secretary McAdoo's words convey.

"We find that woman's influence began before America was known to the Old World. It was after a seven-year wait upon Ferdinand of Spain, that Isabella finally sold her jewels that Columbus might start upon his venturesome journey. Later when the English made the first settlement upon the continent, it was named Virginia, after the virgin Queen. Yes, even the honor of being the first white child born in America, fell upon one of Uncle Sam's girls, Virginia Dare. We have all read how the women played an important part in the early settlements. Many attempts at colonization failed, until the wives accompanied their husbands in the venture and established homes for them. Then through their patience and courage and inspiration, combined with their added labors, planings and devotions, homes were built, families were reared, and the strong foundations of our nation were established. Long before the classic letter of Lincoln to the mother who gave her five sons to her country, the part which woman had borne in our national wars had become undisputed. Throughout all epochs of history, women have been doing what Molly Pitcher so gallantly and so unselfishly did, when as her husband dropped by his gun, she sprang forward to his place, crying out—'His voice shall speak though he be dead, 'I'll serve my husband's gun,' she said.' So, today, as a place is vacated by our gallant boys who are joining the ranks of heroes, we see Uncle Sam's Girl there ready to fill the place.

"Washington was praised for his timely retreat when hard pressed by the British too, yet he himself, called Mrs. Murray the real strategist who enable the soldiers to gain their fortified positions. It was Washington's request that she detain the British army if possible, and so well did she do her part, in feasting and infatigating the British General and his staff, that our troops escaped without the loss of a man.

"During the winter at Valley Forge, Washington sent for his wife and in despair asked what could be done for his frozen, half-starved, disheartened band. It was then that Martha Washington became master of the situation, and soon warm knitted socks and mufflers were being sent to camp, along with added rations that were provided only at terrific sacrifice among the women and children.

"Again, we have the story of how Lydia Darrah listened at the door to hear British plans for attacking

FORMER GOVERNOR

JOHN H. MOREHEAD
of Falls City, Nebraska

NOMINEE FOR

UNITED STATES SENATOR

Former Governor Morehead was born in Iowa, of Colonial-American ancestry dating back to the year 1633, and settled in Nebraska some 36 years ago. He is essentially a self-made man, and has been closely identified with the progress of Nebraska ever since coming into the state.

How well John H. Morehead stands with his home people is illustrated by the vote of Barada, Richardson county, his home until recent years, in the last primary: Out of 114 votes, Morehead received 109. And that he has always stood well at home is evidenced by his election as County Treasurer two terms, Mayor of Falls City and State Senator for the First district.

Governor Morehead is a practical farmer and stock-raiser. His success in these fields has been abundant. He knows the needs of the farmers, because farming has always been his principal business. He knows the needs of Nebraska, because his four years as governor gave him ample opportunity to learn them. He is constructive in everything, and is not and never has been an obstructionist. During his two terms in the governor's chair he sponsored more constructive legislation than has ever been enacted in any other four years in the history of Nebraska.

Governor Morehead's business interests lie in Nebraska and are dependent for future success upon the continued prosperity of Nebraska. Every dollar of his fortune was accumulated by close attention to farming, stock-raising, merchandising, and banking—all in Nebraska. His future prosperity is so closely linked with the prosperity of Nebraska farmers, stock-raisers, merchants, and other business men, that self-interest—if nothing else—would align him on their side. He was a people's governor; he will be a people's senator.

Washington, and how later she deceived the enemy with her snores, and still later prepared our soldiers for the surprise attack, thus winning the title of 'The Woman who saved Washington.'

"American history tells us also of Betty Stark; of Elizabeth Zane whose daring saved Fort Wheeling; of Betsy Ross, who made our first flag from her old red petticoat, a white skirt and her husband's blue army coat; and of many other noble women whose inspiration and daring helped to make us free and independent.

"While many orators, poets and influential statesmen of all classes advocated the abolition of slavery, it was left for one of Uncle Sam's Girls—the daughter of a Congregational minister, to fan into flame the sentiment against enslaving human beings. Harriet Beecher was early impressed with the sin of slavery, and while yet a little girl visited a slave plantation in Virginia to learn the actual facts concerning the life of a slave. It was not, however, until after her marriage to Professor Stowe, and while rearing her family of six children that she became so aroused as to write her famous story—'Uncle Tom's Cabin.' Her youngest child was less than a year old when she her. Her convictions were so strong that the Fugitive Slave law of the United States, and helped to render it no avail the decision of the courts, and to usher in a four-year war. In her story she appealed to humanity as her little home group appealed to her. Her convictions were so strong that she not only gave her pen to fight this great wrong, but she gave her first-born as well. Mrs. Stowe's book has outsold every other book written by an American; and she was lauded and praised by all the great men of her day; and yet her duties as a wife and mother were ever uppermost in her life.

"Another woman, the mother of six children, accompanied her husband one day to watch the army drilling on the commons at Washington. She was deeply moved and impressed as she looked upon that group of men going out to die, if need be, for the cause of right, having only the old song—'John Brown's Body,' to cheer them on. Returning to her home, that night Julia Ward Howe's great inspiration came, and she produced our Battle Hymn of the Republic, to be sung to the soldier's old familiar tune. That song poem was a success cannot be denied, for the soldiers took up its cry in their long weary marches; the prisoners, dying in the

With of Libby prison, took heart when they heard the noble words; and Lincoln exclaimed: "That gives me heart, sing it again, sing it again." And this same Julia Ward Howe, whose song still brings a thrill to every heart, once said: "To be happily married seems to me the very best thing for any woman. Surely she did not neglect her home and family, and yet just as Mrs. Stowe aroused her nation to a realization of its sin, so Mrs. Howe was a great factor in helping to cheer the north into victory."

"And now again we find our nation in the throes of a most terrible war, and as of old we find the women anxious to have a hand in the struggle. There are those who can go to the battle front and help minister to the wounded; there are others who bravely face shell fire as ambulance drivers; and there are a few who are able to control aeroplanes and bombing machines; but the labor which mostly falls upon Uncle Sam's Girl is that which has no attractive sentiment or pathos to recommend it—it is doing the old prosaic work in an even more self-denying way. In other words, it is doing our bit by denying ourselves, by staying at home and doing the usual tasks, and also doing the work left by those who have gone from the home fires. We must do all of the tasks more economically, more carefully, and more wisely than ever before. And it is really only thus that we can hope to achieve the highest good for all. So we feel a pride as we say—

U stands for our dear Old Uncle Sammy,
S is for our ships in stern array,
A is for our army, undefeated,
Guardian of our stars and stripes to-day.

All are waiting for the Nation's summons
To show the world we're made of proper stuff;
And our foes will surely see
It were best our friend to be,
When Uncle Sam cries—"Enough! Enough!"

"When our men go forth to man the ships, and fill the khaki ranks, fishing their lives to 'show the world we're made of proper stuff,' we women will stay behind and 'Keep the Home Fires Burning.' We will sew and knit; deny ourselves and conserve; cheer and comfort; and while thus earning our right to equality and partnership, let us not forget to prayerfully sing the added verse to our loved America:

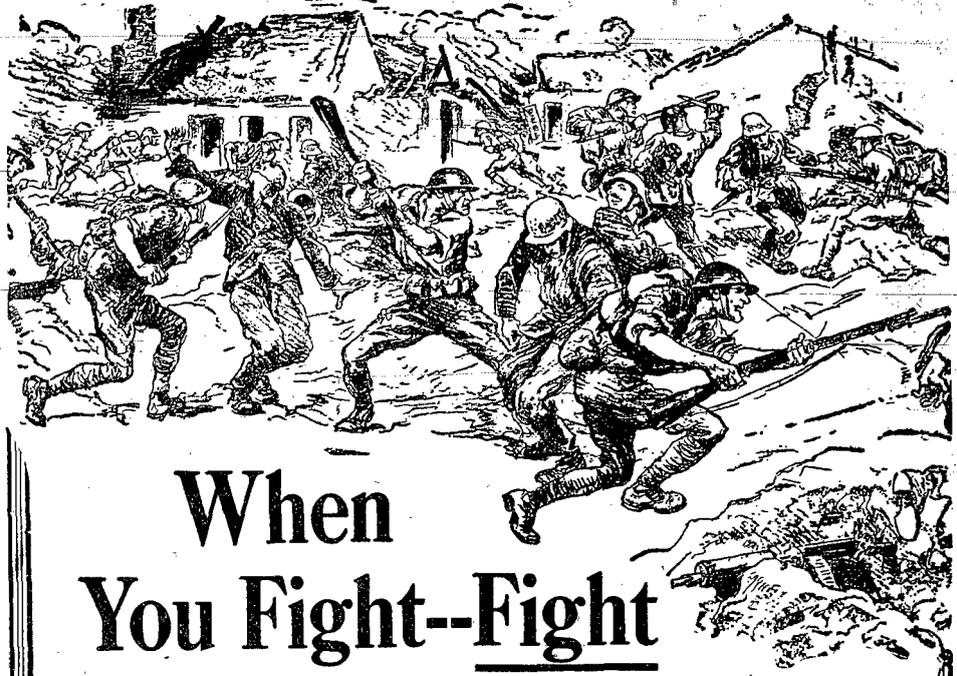

"God bless our noble men,
Bring them safe home again,
God bless our men,
Make them victorious,
Patient and chivalrous,
They're so dear to us,
God bless our men."

DEMOCRACY IN SCHOOLS
(Taken from the Goldenrod)

It used to be in the olden days, the dominion was the autocratic ruler of his universe, the schoolroom, with its usually large number of subdued inmates. When the subject behaved itself, performed explicitly the tasks assigned and did not rise in upheaval among its fellows, it was left undisturbed by any intrusion, friendly or otherwise. But the offender—woe to him! He was punished, without trial, for all sorts of misdemeanors from lack of knowledge to "playing hooky." The punishment was thought to be most effectively inflicted by his Majesty with the aid of the hickory stick. He was the legislative, the judicial and the executive head. The pupils went out into the world with the feeling that they had a "big boss" somewhere who would think for them, assign their places in life's activities, manage the affairs of the community of which they were a part.

Times have changed since then. Where now can be found a school of that character? Perhaps in Germany,—certainly not among the best types of schools in this country. Here the teacher is a leading factor, to be sure,—but leading the pupils to be their own leaders, to settle their own disputes, to try their own cases, to inflict their own punishments. The teacher has not made a rigid set of laws for them to obey. They are learning to make them themselves as they see the need. They are learning to see the consequences of neglected work, of unfair play, of injustice to others. They are given the chance to reason. In schools for higher education the boys and girls or young men and women take the responsibility of education more and more into their own hands. There is nothing really compulsory about it. Their course of work, their behavior, their

When You Fight--Fight

FIGHT as these American soldiers fought in the streets of Fismes. "They covered themselves with glory," the papers say. Of course they did—they are Americans.

They met the finest of the enemy's troops in a terrific hand-to-hand struggle. They used their guns—their bayonets—their bare fists. Every American soldier went after his man desperately, fearlessly, persistently, with one great driving purpose—to whip that Prussian Guard, to silence its machine guns—to win!

It's a pretty good way to fight—this American way. It wins battles over there, it will win a splendid victory over here—if we fight when we fight—if we buy Liberty Bonds to our utmost.

When you fight—fight! When you buy—buy!

Lend the way they fight—Buy Bonds to your utmost attendance upon classes, their school organizations are in their own control.

Such schools bring forth men and women with ability to think for themselves, to find the duties they are best fitted for, to take active part in the government of which they are a part.

Is not all this the spirit of democracy? If a nation is to be safe for democracy the people of that nation must understand both what is involved in its government and how to take their parts in it. It is fitting that the boys and girls who are to become the men and women of a democratic nation should have democratic training during the formative period of their lives, should have this training in the public schools.

People will make mistakes, even President Conn. Last Friday morning he permitted a couple of Senior boys to take a trip in search of recruits for the S. A. T. C. Allen, Martinsburg, Ponca and Newcastle were the towns outlined for them to visit.

They arrived at Newcastle, the last town on the trip, O. K. As a result of the trip they found many a prospective recruit.

It was after dark before they started home. Fast and furious they drove back over the same road that they had come. They passed through Ponca and Martinsburg safely but missed Allen and hit Waterbury. From Waterbury they drove westward thinking to reach Allen or Concord. They drove on and on over a road that seemed to lead to nowhere. Finally city lights appeared in the west. Headed for these lights they drove into a small town, supposedly Concord. The lights were thrown on the depot. Solemnly and sadly, woe fully and wonderingly, disappointed and discouraged, they gazed at the sign "JACKSON." For it revealed to them that the bright lights in the distance were Sioux City and that they were farther away from home than when they left Newcastle.

It was then two o'clock in the morning. The starter on the car had gone "bum." The crank had been lost some few miles back on the road. The gasoline had not been looked at since early morn. With all this, and a tired feeling, they pointed their lights toward Wayne and resolved to be home before morning. They arrived at four o'clock safe and uninjured.

It is hoped that Mr. Conn will profit by his recklessness and keep the children closer at home hereafter.

The W. S. N. chorus held its regular meeting last Tuesday afternoon. With Nora Figum temporary chairman, the chorus organized as a club according to regular choral society laws. The following officers were elected:

JUNIOR RED CROSS PROGRAM

On Friday afternoon, the training school gave an interesting Junior Red Cross program. This was in accordance with the suggestion of the National Department of Junior Red Cross. Programs of a similar sort are being conducted throughout the nation. The aim is to create a zeal for the work.

The program consisted of National songs, flag salute and the taking of the following pledge: "I pledge myself to courage, to purity, to self-sacrifice, to service, to the end that I may help my country to strengthen her vigor as a nation."

The third and fourth grades decided that they could help the cause by omitting gum and picture shows. Fifth and sixth grades demonstrated "First Aid work," while the eighth grade explained through moving pictures, the story of Red Cross from its beginning to the present time.

As a practical lesson the tenth grade brought in a report of its garden proceeds. On a plot of 30x150 feet and by means of intensive gardening the high school students have realized the amount of $25.48. There remains to be harvested and sold, beans, part of the beefs, and onions, and the popcorn. The Training School is to be congratulated both on its spirit and its accomplishments.
