SUCCESSFUL RED CROSS SALE

Friday evening the patrons of district No. 4, which is in the southeast part of the county, held a sale and a box supper which resulted in assembling the sum of $316, and some reports to come in yet for the Red Cross proper and the Red Cross Junior. It was truly a district affair, and but for the fact that it was a bad rainy evening there is little doubt but that the offering would have reached the $500 mark, for every one in the district had a part in the event.

Miss Gladys Chambers is teacher, and she had the cooperation of the children. Among the offerings which netted the most money we might mention that the boxes brought about $75. Lyle Chilcott put a Hampshire pig in the ring, and that brought more than $90. Geo. Hartshorne, a lad of 12 years asked his mother to let him offer his bicycle, and when the smoke cleared away the fund was another $90 greater. The balance of the fund came from the sale of numerous small articles. The lad who gave the bicycle is in earnest in the work, and is knitting sweaters. The funds were divided between the two chapters mentioned.

Visit Mrs. Jeffries' store Friday or Saturday and see new goods on display and for sale. Adv.

OBITUARY OF MRS. J. C. HANSEN

(By the Pastor)

The funeral of Mrs. J. C. Hansen took place outside the home Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Quite a large number of friends were present, and others would have been there had it not been for the fear of contracting the Spanish influenza.

Mrs. J. C. Hansen (nee Miss Effie May Bonawitz) was born near Marshalltown, Iowa, on March 8, 1879, and came to Wayne county twenty-seven years ago in which county she has resided ever since. She was married to J. C. Hansen in Wayne, December 27, 1897. To this union were born eight children all of whom are living at the present time.

Our sister has been in poor health for a couple of years, but through it all has been very brave and patient. A week ago last Monday she took sick and died at her home, October 14, 1918, aged 39 years, 7 months and 6 days.

She has been a good woman to everyone in the community. Her pastor has heard nothing but the kindest words regarding her life in all of its relationships. She has been a good and faithful wife and mother sinking her life into that of the family and has always seemed most solicitous of their welfare. Surely she shall be missed by every member of her household.

Mrs. Hansen united with the Wayne Baptist church in 1911 and has been a very consistent member ever since. She loved the house of the Lord and the mid-week prayer meeting and was found at these services whenever it was possible for her to leave those entrusted to her care. Her presence was earnestly sought in the Bible circle. She had the aptitude of bringing good Christian cheer into that helpful organization. Her chief joy seemed to be to testify and witness for Jesus and through all her testimonies ran the note of sincerity.

One of the last times the pastor was in the home she was telling him about the joy she had had in taking over a little food to a sick man and how he appreciated the kindness. She thought of these little acts of mercy and lived in the blessed experience of the Master who said: "In as much as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

Mrs. Hansen is survived by her husband, J. C. Hansen, and eight children, Mabel, Wesley, Leon, Bernice, Effie, Ina and Isabel of Wayne; also her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Bonawitz of this place, and one brother, Wesley Bonawitz, who resides in Stanton county.

Rev. P. J. Jordan, pastor of the Wayne Baptist church, who officiated at 3 o'clock, read appropriate scripture passages, offered a comforting prayer and made a few tender remarks.

Sister, thou wast mild and lovely,
Gentle as the summer breeze,
Pleasant as the air of evening,
When it floats among the trees.

Peaceful be thy silent slumber,
Peaceful in the grave so low;
Thou no more will join our number;
Thou no more our songs shalt know.

Yet again we hope to meet thee,
When the day of life is fled;
Then in heaven with joy to greet thee,
Where no farewell tear is shed.

Interment was made in the beautiful Greenwood cemetery, at which place the Royal Neighbors carried out a very impressive and helpful service.

The sympathy of the entire community is extended to the family in their bereavement.

THE SPANISH INFLUENZA SPREAD IS GENERAL

Reports from all parts of the state indicate that the epidemic is everywhere present. It is possible that many reports are exaggerated, as is apt to be the case in times like these. Rumor says that Bloomfield has had seven deaths, Randolph a number, some at Wisner. Two were reported from Pender Tuesday morning. Schools, churches, and all inside gatherings of people are forbidden, and the state health authorities ask that the assembling of people whether inside or outside, be generally discouraged.

HANS GRAVERHOLT SERIOUSLY WOUNDED

In a recent list of wounded appears the name of Hans Graverholt of Wayne and Geo. Higgins of Hartington.

AFTER THE WAR WHAT?

When the peace talk begins peace may be thought of—and may come. Then comes the question of what next. Forward looking people already are planning things for the benefit of the people and in some instances for themselves. Among those for the public which happens to come to our notice is the idea of a suitable memorial for the soldiers and sailors of the war, living and dead, and it is a proper time to suggest that in the event of Wayne planning any such an enterprise the memorial be not merely an ornament, but something useful as well. A community building is needed in every place the size of Wayne, and what could be a more fitting memorial for our men who have offered themselves a sacrifice for a great cause than the erection of a splendid building for the use of the community. Wayne needs it. A place for young and old to assemble on any and all occasions. We have churches; we have school houses, we have college buildings and other public buildings, but we have no suitable place where a large audience is free to congregate—no place where the youth may meet for pleasure, study, recreation sports. A community building for all would be most fitting.

MRS. MARY HOUSE PASSES AWAY

Wednesday Dr. J. T. House received a message from Mammoth, Utah, telling that his mother passed away there that morning, October 16, 1918. She had been staying at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. E. Diehl, who was assisted in her care by another daughter. Mrs. House was 85 years of age, and had retained her health and all faculties to a remarkable degree, and but a few weeks ago suffered from a slight attack of paralysis, from which time she gradually failed until the end came. She had formed a few acquaintances at Wayne when spending some time at the home of her son here, and she was admired by all who knew her for many pleasing traits of character. A widow for many years, she assumed the responsibilities of rearing a large family, meeting every emergency with skill and fortitude. The body will be brought to Peru and laid to rest beside that of a sister, who was with her for many years.

BUSINESS GROWING RAPIDLY

This has been a very busy week at the factory of Messrs. Mitchell & Christensen, the monument men, for they have had the entire force and one of the bosses busy unloading the finest load of Wisconsin granite they have had since moving to Wayne. This car is composed entirely of a beautiful gray granite, a stone of very fine grain and even color. Much of this car was ordered in what is known as the rough or broken finish, and this granite is one of the very few stones which are uniform enough in color to permit of this style of finish. The parts dressed for the lettering will take on a very fine polish, and the other dressed parts also admit of very smooth work. In the car load were a few jobs in different finish—cap jobs, and they are certainly artistic.

Messrs. Mitchell & Christensen are quickly learning that the people of their territory are best satisfied with the very best that can be had, and they are not slow to respond to the demand, and each load is better than previous orders. They have still another car on the way.—1

GREAT FOREST FIRES RAGED

Eastern Minnesota forests not far from Duluth have been visited by the most destructive fires in their history, it seems, so far as loss of life is concerned, and the news reports tell that hundreds have perished in the flames. Geo. Stringer and family who went from here a few years ago, and settled near Wrenshall in Carlton county, were so near, if not in the devastated district that their relatives here had been greatly worried at not hearing from them, but Wednesday, her father, Jas. Perdue, received a letter stating that they had escaped injury, but that in common with many others their escape had at times appeared far from certain.

GLENN GILDERSLEEVE MOVES

Glenn Gildersleeve, who has been a fixture at Camp Funston since the first Wayne boys went to that camp about fourteen months ago, has been transferred to an officers' training school at Camp Taylor, in the state of Kentucky, where it is supposed he will be for the next three or four months, after which he will be in line for overseas duties.

INFLUENZA AT WAYNE

At this writing the health situation does not look as serious as is reported from many other places. Physicians are kept very busy, and one to whom we applied for information said he had been too busy to keep any record that he would consider official. He had been called to nineteen different places, mostly on influenza cases, and had two where pneumonia had developed, but in no instance did he consider his patients in really critical condition.

At the College

Among the hundred or more boys gathered there for training unit about twenty-eight cases had developed, and but two new cases were reported for Wednesday. The boys are being kept in quarters by themselves and are given the best of care. A number of the sick are up and about; and none have been in a really critical condition.

Most of the other students have taken advantage of the closing of the school to go to their homes, and while some were not well when they left, no report of death has come from them.

There is no means of determining the number of cases in this vicinity, for while the rule says that cases shall be reported, we have not been able to secure any record of the cases reported. But multiplying the cases of one physician per day by the number of physicians and the number of days, one would easily determine that there are many cases; and it is a conservative estimate to place the number at 150; with no deaths which might perhaps be properly credited entirely to the disease, though Mrs. Hansen may have suffered from the disease with complications.

STATEMENT

To the Democrat: Since I am not a candidate for any office I will take this means of correcting some statements that were charged up against me during the primary and of which I do not feel guilty. For the benefit of those misrepresenting me as being a non-partisan leaguer I will say that I never was one and would say emphatically that I don't believe in the organization. I don't believe in arraying one class of citizens against another, and I don't believe this is a time to stir up class hatred, which manifestly the league is trying to do.

Now, as to being a Farmers' Union man I will say that I have been a member almost from the start of the organization, and I have had the honor of being secretary ever since the county was organized over two years ago—a fact of which I am certainly proud. The Farmers' Union has no secrets. Its work is an open book. Look up if you will the business that is being done by the organization at Wayne, Winside and Carroll and the savings that have accrued to producers and consumers. Savings have not gone to big cities to build up skyscrapers, but have stayed at home to build better homes and better schools. To those who have been in the habit of knocking the Farmers' Union let me say that you are only knocking your own business. We are only fighting for things that we feel by right belong to us.—Nels J. Johnson, Winside, Nebraska.

THE GOLF TOURNAMENT

The championship Red Cross golf tournament at the Country club is under way and some interesting matches have been played in the first round Carter defeated McClure 1 down in a very hard fought match. A 3 on the lute hole of the match winding up the battle.

J. G. Miller beat Cavanaugh 1 down, after Cavanaugh had tied up the match through a sensational putt on the 17th.

Craven defeated Reynolds 4 and 3. Davis defeated Ringland 3 and 2. Abern defeated Hufford 4 and 3. Morgan defeated Whitney 7 and 6. The Fisher-Blair and Kemp-Brittain matches have not yet been played.

In the second round C. M. Craven defeated A. R. Davis.

No matches have been played in the handicap tournament during the week. The winner of the Brittain-Fisher match plays Blair.

The course record was lowered during the week a 37 by Morgan.

A big car load fancy Washington box apples just arrived this morning. Jonathan, Delicious, Black Twig, Black Ben Davis, Rome Beauty, Stayman, Winesap, Spetzenberg. This car is strictly winter keeping stock. This will be ready for your inspection at the store. Price, $2.50 and up. Basket Store.—Adv.

OUR PRESIDENT'S REPLY

In another part of the paper we give a report of the peace move made by Germany since they are coming to realize that they cannot win with the military arm of their government, and below we give the answer sent by President Wilson to the rulers of the Central Powers. It is a most complete reply, and meets with the approval of the people at home and of the allies:

"Sir: In reply to the communication of the German government dated the 12th instant, which you handed me today, I have the honor to request you to transmit the following answer: "The unqualified acceptance by the present German government and by a large majority of the reichstag of the terms laid down by the president of the United States of America in his address to the congress of the United States on the 8th of January, 1918, and in his subsequent addresses justifies the president in making a frank and direct statement of his decision with regard to the communications of the German government of the 8th and 12th of October, 1918.

"It must be clearly understood that the process of evacuation and the conditions of an armistice are matters which must be left to the judgment and advice of the military advisers of the government of the United States and the allied governments, and the president feels it his duty to say that no arrangement can be accepted by the government of the United States which does not provide absolutely satisfactory safeguards and guarantees of the maintenance of the present military supremacy of the armies of the United States and the allies in the field.

"He feels confident that he can safely assume that this will also be the judgment and decision of the allied governments.

"The president feels that it is also his duty to add that neither the government of the United States, nor, he is quite sure, the governments with which the government of the United States is associated as a belligerent will consent to consider an armistice so long as the armed forces of Germany continue the illegal and inhumane practices which they still persist in.

"At the very time that the German government approaches the government of the United States with proposals of peace its submarines are engaged in sinking passenger ships at sea and not the ships alone, but the very boats in which their passengers and crews seek to make their way to safety; and in their present enforced withdrawal from Flanders and France the German armies are pursuing a course of wanton destruction which has always been regarded as in direct violation of the rules and practices of civilized warfare.

"Cities and villages, if not destroyed, are being stripped of all they contain not only, but often of their very inhabitants. The nations associated against Germany cannot be expected to agree to a cessation of arms while acts of inhumanity and desolation are being continued which they justly look upon with horror and with burning hearts.

"It is necessary, also in order that there may be no possibility of misunderstanding that the president should very solemnly call the attention of the government of Germany to the language and plain intent of one of the terms of peace which the German government has now accepted. It is contained in the address of the president delivered at Mount Vernon on the Fourth of July last.

"It is as follows: 'The destruction of every arbitrary power anywhere that can separately, secretly and of its single choice disturb the peace of the world; or, if it cannot be presently destroyed, at least its reduction to virtual impotency.'

"The power which has hitherto controlled the German nation is of the sort here described. It is within the choice of the German nation to alter it. The president's words just quoted naturally constitute a condition precedent to peace. The president feels bound to say that the whole process of peace will, in his judgment depend upon the definiteness and the satisfactory character of the guarantees which can be given in this fundamental matter.

"It is indispensable that the government associated against Germany should know beyond a peradventure with whom they are dealing.

"The president will make a separate reply to the royal and imperial government of Austria-Hungary. "Accept, sir, the renewed assurance of my high consideration. (Signed) "ROBERT LANSING," Mr. Frederick Oederlin, Charge of German interests in U. S.

"WILL WAYNE GO OVER?"

"WAYNE WILL GO OVER"

To the question this morning from the writer to Hamer Wilson, chairman of the fourth Liberty loan drive, made the reply given above, as his opinion of what the people of this good county will do.

But we are not over, as his figures show, and two days only remain for us to come across to keep the Hun from coming across. Here are the figures:

Quota $913,750
Purchased 892,600

Balance needed $ 21,150

Just keep coming, and if it is over so much the better.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Geo. Judson underwent a minor operation October 12.

Reuben Elchart who was ill with bronchitis was able to leave the hospital Monday, October 14.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Paulsen of Carroll, Wednesday, October 9, a baby girl. Mother and child doing nicely.

A. Stevens of Carroll is a medical patient at the hospital this week.

Leon Hansen, son of C. J. Hansen, is in the hospital very ill with pneumonia.

FARMS SOLD AT AUCTION

The two farms advertised for auction sale Tuesday by P. G. Burress sold for their worth, in the opinion of those bidding, and that also is the general verdict of those posted on land values. The 80-acre farm just north of Carroll sold to C. J. Harmler at $211 per acre. Dave Griffith purchased the quarter section west of the town at $170 per acre.

DISTRICT COURT ADJOURNS

After convening and considering a matter or two of equity, the October term of the district court for this county adjourned until December. The jury was not called from their labors.

NORMAL NOT OPEN NEXT WEEK

It has been definitely decided not to resume school at the Normal until Monday, October 28, when it is hoped that work may again be resumed.

Don't Be Misled
By false statements or advertising.
Be careful with whom you trust your eyes.
I am the only man in Wayne that has passed the State Optical Examination.
My fitting is done in a private room built and equipped especially for this purpose.
I have the only lense grinding equipment this side of Sioux City.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Laurel schools have organized an athletic association.
Mrs. William Wolcott of Winside, came Saturday to do shopping.
Mrs. Gabler of Winside, came over Monday to have dental work done.
Mr. and Mrs. Bittner and family came from Page Friday to visit Cleve Roe and other relatives.
Henry Hanson and wife went to Carroll Saturday morning to spend Sunday with Carl Carlson and family.
Miss Phoebe Ring of the Wayne State Normal, returned to her home in Wakefield Friday for a short visit.
Mrs. Herman Echtenkamp left Friday for a short visit with her sister-in-law who is sick in a Sioux City hospital.

Mrs. Alex Gabler of Winside, was a visitor in Wayne Saturday.
Mrs. E. B. Michael went to Winside Saturday for a short visit with relatives.
Dr. Young's Dental Office over the First National Bank. Phone 307.—Adv-29-1f.
Mrs. Esther Hossfelt came from Sioux City Friday to visit at the J. R. Jensen home.
Mrs. Heady returned from Norfolk Saturday night where she had spent the week visiting.
Mrs. Evan Jenkins from Carroll spent Friday visiting with her son, William Jenkins and wife.
M. B. Nielson returned home from Sioux City Friday night where he had been on a business mission.
Edgar Taylor of Plainview, has added a $675 Duroc Jersey boar to his herd, buying at an Iowa sale.
Mrs. J. B. Gaskill and son came Friday afternoon from Valentine, to visit with W. L. Richardson and family.
Dr. Glen Vail, who has been visiting with relatives and friends, returned to his home in North Dakota Friday morning.
Miss Mabel Gotch from Emerson visited a week with her uncle, Dave Surber and family, returning Saturday afternoon.
Mrs. G. A. Hanssen returned to her home at Randolph Saturday after a short visit with her brother-in-law, W. O. Hanssen and family.
Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Babcock of Atkinson, have been visiting their daughter at the Wayne State Normal, returned home Saturday morning.
P. H. Jones returned home Friday night from New York where he had been to visit his mother and sister. He says the Spanish flu is raging every where in the east.
C. Clasen and wife returned Friday from Rock Rapids, Iowa, where they had been called by the death of Mrs. Clasen's brother, a soldier boy at the naval training station at Hampton Roads Base, Norfolk, Virginia.

Antelope county is to send ninety-eight men to service this month.
Mrs. J. A. Clayton of Winside, spent Friday shopping in our city.
Mrs. O. S. Gamble and son, Morris, visited Sioux City Monday to do shopping.
Mrs. M. G. Cross went to Laurel Friday morning for a visit with her daughter.
Miss Mary Rathford who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rimmel, left Sunday for her home in Kansas City.
Zella Lewis of the Wayne State Normal, returned to her home at Decatur Monday on account of sickness.
Dr. C. T. Ingham was called to Norfolk Friday to be present at a conference of medical examiners of the local draft board.
Mr. and Mrs. Art Auker came from Winside Monday to be with Mr. Auker's father and help get things ready for the sale Wednesday.
Henry Kloppling was a passenger to Sioux City Monday. He had heard that there were feeders for sale there, and went over to see what kind.
Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Minnich from Coop Rapids, Iowa, returned home Monday after a short visit at the home of the lady's sister, Mrs. Mary Gilbert.
Musician W. O. Smith of the Field Artillery Band of Corpus Christi, Texas, has been granted a short furlough and visited his parents near Carroll, and will also visit his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Fox, of this place.
J. S. Carhart came home from Sioux City Saturday where he had been spending a few days with his wife who is still confined to the St. Vincent hospital. He thinks her condition slightly improved, but she is very weak.
No, it was not an attack by the Germans last week Sunday that caused all of the musketry rattle—it was just the Winside and Carroll home guards at rifle practice. The two organizations had a contest and Winside won by a score of 259 to 187. As the possible score was 500, it shows that some of the enemy might have escaped had the firing been a real battle.
J. B. Wallace, who has been visiting for ten days at the E. O. Gardner home in this city, returned to his home at Villisca, Iowa, Monday. He fell in love with Wayne county as a farming country. In fact he had not expected to see so productive a country. The alfalfa and corn fields were what appealed to him, and he did not wonder that land is changing at $250 the acre.
E. N. Manley of Lyons, won first prize on junior yearling Hampshire hogs at the National Swine show at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, last week, which shows that of "all that's good, Nebraska has some of the best." No one can get past and win with inferior stock at a show of that class, for there is lots of competition at a national show, and the Hampshires had a large showing.
George Guenther, Jr., of the Medical corps, at Fort Bliss, Texas, where he has been in training, is home on a 30-day agricultural furlough, and is now as busy in the cornfield as he was at camp, shucking out the huskins. He and his father were conducting quite an extensive farming operation, and he can perhaps do as much toward winning the war in a month harvesting this crop as he could in any other branch of service.
M. B. Nielson of the Crystal informs us that the picture show will be closed this week, and until the danger from the Spanish flu is over. Mr. Nielson wishes to inform the public that he is very glad to do this; although a heavy loss, as he had several high-class plays booked for this week and as he works under a contract those things cannot be canceled. Furthermore he wishes the public to know he has always looked after the health of his patrons using as a disinfectant daily one of the most powerful solutions known for that purpose. He went to a great expense a short time ago to put in the new ventilators which changes the air of the entire room every two minutes, giving fresh air while in the building.
Randolph is soon to receive a new oil engine for their city light and power plant, and after it is installed, they will have a 24-hour service at that place. The cost of the engine is said to be $1,800. The new engine is but 25-h. p., and it is intended to be used for the light day load, and it is thought that the saving in cost of operating will be more than 40 cents an hour. That will mean a saving of about $6.00 daily; but if Randolph and Wayne and every other town in this part of Nebraska and southern South Dakota could and would go in with the farmers for a publicly owned power plant at the mouth of the river Niobrara, think what an additional saving there would be—what a getting away from the cost of high priced coal and burdensome freight rates. We move that the people of Wayne county support David Harner for the legislature, for he favors such a plan, and then let the Cedar, Pierce and Knox county voters find out who of their candidates favor the plan and support them. That is a job for the representatives.

Miss Hartley, a teacher in district No. 40, left Monday morning for Lincoln, her school being closed by Spanish flu.
Miss Emma Richardson returned to Norfolk Monday where she teaches in one of the schools, the school being closed this week.
Miss A. Luers, a teacher at the Wayne Normal, returned Monday to her home at Columbus for a short visit with home folks.
Robert G. Mears and wife returned to their home at Omaha Monday after a short visit with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Mears.
Miss Abby Grey and Miss Lillian Fox of Lynch, returned to their homes Monday to be with a brother he leaves for one of the training camps.
Mrs. Chas. Meyers of Carroll, stopped over on her way home from Carroll, Iowa, where she had been visiting, being called home by the sickness of her children.
Link Wellbaum was here Monday, returning from a trip to Spencer, as his bowling alley is closed at Wakefield by the health order against the gathering of people in public places.
Miss Mamie Reneke came up from Lyons Sunday, a passenger with Mr. and Mrs. Claude C. Mitchell as they returned home belated by rain and mud from a business trip to several places in the vicinity of Lyons and Craig.
Rev. and Mrs. MacGregor left Tuesday morning to visit at the home of their son at Tekamah, he taking advantage of the fact that the preacher is put out of the running for the time by the order of the health board closing all public meetings.
Mrs. P. N. Elarth and her daughter, Mrs. Trussell and son, Homer, who have been here visiting a son, returned to their home at Sheridan, Iowa, Tuesday. While here the little boy had a severe attack of membranous croup and had to be in the hospital for several days.
The Yeomen meeting which had been planned for tomorrow evening is indefinitely postponed on account of the order prohibiting public gatherings. That order now has a membership here great enough to make their meetings come under a class known as public gatherings.
Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hofeldt started to visit their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. Shinkel, at Broadview, Montana, planning to be gone a month. To reach their destination they will have a stage trip of about 150 miles after leaving the railroad, probably at Miles City.
Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Milton from Long Pine were here over Sunday visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Juhlin, and other relatives and friends. Mr. Milton is in the draft age, and his number may be called, but he is also in the employ of the railroad, and is waiting to know where they will need him most—in other words he is waiting his classification.
One young Wayne business man who is called for examination was offered some advice as to how to secure an exemption, and was heard to reply—why should I ask exemption? For what reason can I claim that I should be favored? I do not claim any exemption. Yet he has what many would consider ample excuse—a business which needs his attention—but if the government consider it essential they shall say so.
Mrs. P. C. Waltermier and daughter, Mrs. Ethel Resner, from Sioux City, were Wayne visitors Monday morning, coming from a farm west of Center, where they had been visiting at the home of relatives. Mrs. Waltermier has numerous friends at Wayne where she has made several visits in the interest of her profession, being a costumer. She was also here on two different occasions with the Yeomen teams from Sioux City, being an active member of one of the drill teams of that order in the city. Since her last visit here it was her bad fortune to lose her stock in business, as she occupied a part of the large building which collapsed while undergoing repair there some months ago; but she was fortunate in escaping with her life. She had rooms on the third floor, and made her escape from the window by a ladder route.
Now, what do you think of that? An apology came to the Democrat editor the other day. And for what? For not sending us any copy boosting a certain charity enterprise in which the writer appeared to be interested. Why, bless your heart, we never missed what you might have sent—for our desk is loaded and over-loaded with appeals—worthy as otherwise. This apologist promises to come back with his appeal as soon as the Liberty loan is passed, and that at least shows that he is patriotic or diplomatic—perhaps both. The side issues may well wait until the peoples get their breath after the loan is finished. But top of that is coming a big drive for the united benevolences the Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A., the K. of C., and a number of other worthy aids to the soldier boys. It is the part of conservation of time and energy to unite in making this drive. Every dollar saved in expense of conducting the campaign means that much more for the cause to which it is given.

Mrs. Noah Philben of Dallas, South Dakota, came this week for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Masten.
Mrs. Norman who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. James Gamble, a few days, returned to her home in Walthill Tuesday.
Mr. and Mrs. J. Masten of Pender, have been spending this week visiting their parents and brother, Roy, who is at home on a furlough.
Mrs. Jack Mahaffey went to Columbus Sunday evening to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bolt, who are ill there. The family are planning to move to Colorado, on account of the health of Mr. Bolt, who is troubled with asthma in this climate.
See the Democrat for sale bills.
Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kellogg returned Tuesday afternoon from Verdell where they had been visiting their son. Her mother returned with them.
Miss Bessie Durie, who has been spending a month in the mountains of Wyoming, is home. She reports a very pleasant time, and is quite in love—with the scenery and climate of our sister state.
Miss Eva Horshman from Sioux City and her mother from Madison came Tuesday to visit a son and brother who is here sick with Spanish flu. Miss Horshman returned home Tuesday. She said her brother was recovering nicely.

Mrs. Emma Livinghouse returned home Saturday night from Tilden where she had been visiting a son and friends.
Mrs. Lydia Sellers and children left Saturday morning for Carroll for a short visit with her cousin, Mrs. George Roe.
Henry Kuhl of Plainview, took a number of his Duroc Jersey hogs to the Bloomfield stock show last week, and won a number of prizes.
Miss Mildred Wesscott of Oakland and Miss Newmeyer of Lyons, teachers in the Wayne schools, returned to their homes Monday morning the schools being closed on account of Spanish flu.
Mrs. Arthur Norman and her sister, Miss Marie Norman, have been visiting their mother, Mrs. James Gamble, left Saturday for Carroll for a visit with another sister before returning to their home at Walthill.
The Laurel Advocate editor tells that some of his friends have been visiting in Iowa and report that land is selling there at $300 an acre, and yet their crop this season consisted of hazel nuts and walnuts, which were to be had for the gathering this year. They must have visited Haekle-Barney for those hazel nuts, for that is where they used to grow.

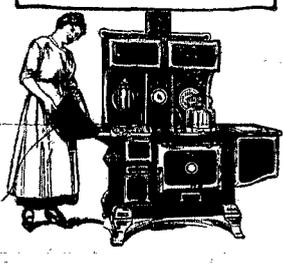

Miss Elsie Deule came up from Norfolk Friday to say hello to normal friends, returning Friday evening.
Mrs. J. C. Barker left Friday morning for Chicago, called there by the death of a brother. She had not gotten the particulars of his death further than he was killed in an accident. Mrs. Barker is to meet two sisters in Norfolk who will accompany her on her trip.
Paul Carroll of the navy arrived in Randolph this week from Great Lakes on a 30-day furlough in which he will lay aside the duties of his position in the navy for the good old autumn sport of husking corn. He will work in the fields of his brother, Dan Carroll. Thus says the Randolph Times. The lad's mother now lives at Wayne, Wayne.
Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Hansen from Harlan, Iowa, have been here visiting their son, Dick Hansen, northeast of Wayne, and returned home Monday. Incidentally the reporter learned that it was another son of theirs who won such general recognition and commendation for his patriotism, the young man who sold his farm north of Wayne, put the price into government bonds and Red Cross donation and then joined, and is now in France.

Antelope county is to send ninety-eight men to service this month.
Mrs. J. A. Clayton of Winside, spent Friday shopping in our city.
Mrs. O. S. Gamble and son, Morris, visited Sioux City Monday to do shopping.
Mrs. M. G. Cross went to Laurel Friday morning for a visit with her daughter.
Miss Mary Rathford who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rimmel, left Sunday for her home in Kansas City.
Zella Lewis of the Wayne State Normal, returned to her home at Decatur Monday on account of sickness.
Dr. C. T. Ingham was called to Norfolk Friday to be present at a conference of medical examiners of the local draft board.
Mr. and Mrs. Art Auker came from Winside Monday to be with Mr. Auker's father and help get things ready for the sale Wednesday.
Henry Kloppling was a passenger to Sioux City Monday. He had heard that there were feeders for sale there, and went over to see what kind.
Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Minnich from Coop Rapids, Iowa, returned home Monday after a short visit at the home of the lady's sister, Mrs. Mary Gilbert.
Musician W. O. Smith of the Field Artillery Band of Corpus Christi, Texas, has been granted a short furlough and visited his parents near Carroll, and will also visit his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Fox, of this place.
J. S. Carhart came home from Sioux City Saturday where he had been spending a few days with his wife who is still confined to the St. Vincent hospital. He thinks her condition slightly improved, but she is very weak.
No, it was not an attack by the Germans last week Sunday that caused all of the musketry rattle—it was just the Winside and Carroll home guards at rifle practice. The two organizations had a contest and Winside won by a score of 259 to 187. As the possible score was 500, it shows that some of the enemy might have escaped had the firing been a real battle.
J. B. Wallace, who has been visiting for ten days at the E. O. Gardner home in this city, returned to his home at Villisca, Iowa, Monday. He fell in love with Wayne county as a farming country. In fact he had not expected to see so productive a country. The alfalfa and corn fields were what appealed to him, and he did not wonder that land is changing at $250 the acre.
E. N. Manley of Lyons, won first prize on junior yearling Hampshire hogs at the National Swine show at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, last week, which shows that of "all that's good, Nebraska has some of the best." No one can get past and win with inferior stock at a show of that class, for there is lots of competition at a national show, and the Hampshires had a large showing.
George Guenther, Jr., of the Medical corps, at Fort Bliss, Texas, where he has been in training, is home on a 30-day agricultural furlough, and is now as busy in the cornfield as he was at camp, shucking out the huskins. He and his father were conducting quite an extensive farming operation, and he can perhaps do as much toward winning the war in a month harvesting this crop as he could in any other branch of service.
M. B. Nielson of the Crystal informs us that the picture show will be closed this week, and until the danger from the Spanish flu is over. Mr. Nielson wishes to inform the public that he is very glad to do this; although a heavy loss, as he had several high-class plays booked for this week and as he works under a contract those things cannot be canceled. Furthermore he wishes the public to know he has always looked after the health of his patrons using as a disinfectant daily one of the most powerful solutions known for that purpose. He went to a great expense a short time ago to put in the new ventilators which changes the air of the entire room every two minutes, giving fresh air while in the building.
Randolph is soon to receive a new oil engine for their city light and power plant, and after it is installed, they will have a 24-hour service at that place. The cost of the engine is said to be $1,800. The new engine is but 25-h. p., and it is intended to be used for the light day load, and it is thought that the saving in cost of operating will be more than 40 cents an hour. That will mean a saving of about $6.00 daily; but if Randolph and Wayne and every other town in this part of Nebraska and southern South Dakota could and would go in with the farmers for a publicly owned power plant at the mouth of the river Niobrara, think what an additional saving there would be—what a getting away from the cost of high priced coal and burdensome freight rates. We move that the people of Wayne county support David Harner for the legislature, for he favors such a plan, and then let the Cedar, Pierce and Knox county voters find out who of their candidates favor the plan and support them. That is a job for the representatives.

Mrs. Noah Philben of Dallas, South Dakota, came this week for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Masten.

Range Happy
Happy—what a word—what a world of meaning. A contented woman, proud of her work, proud of her cooking machine.
All machinery is designed to lighten labor, to enable one to do more and do it better. Then cooking machines are no exception and the Copper-Clad cooking machine is The World's Greatest Range. Holding heat like a thermos bottle, a woman knows exactly what she can depend on. She knows, too, that she is saving fuel.
She appreciates a Copper-Clad most when it comes to cleaning it. With no hinges, catches and latches, with no ornaments or corners, with no rivet or bolt heads on the nickel, the Copper-Clad cleans like a dish and is a woman's delight. Then, why shouldn't a proud owner of a Copper-Clad be Range Happy? Why shouldn't the Copper-Clad be called The World's Greatest Range?

A beautiful service was given at the court house Monday afternoon in honor of the boys leaving for camp. The meeting was opened by singing a verse of the Battle Hymn of the Republic. Followed by roll call of the soldiers about to leave and assigning their special duties, followed by prayer by Rev. Jordan. There was wonderful inspiration in the song, "Freedom for All," given by Miss Fern Oman. Rev. Jordan gave an excellent talk, telling the people they should have as much interest in the soldiers now as they did at first, for they are going on the same grand mission as those who went first. This should be a joyous time because we have men who are willing to go and defend our flag. Second, it must be a joyous time because of the blessed news which is coming to us. But we must not stop until the job is absolutely done for all time. In closing he said may we go way with this lofty sentiment in our hearts, that has been voiced recently by one who is fired with a loyal devotion for his country.

"America, America, we lift our battle cry,
To live for thee is more than life,
And more than death to die,
Now by the blood our fathers gave,
And by our God above
And by the flag on every grave
We pledge to thee our love.

America, America, bid all thy banners shine,
Oh mother of the mighty dead,
Our very lives are thine.
At Freedom's altar now we stand
For God and liberty,
Lord, God of Hosts, at thy command,
We lift our souls to Thee.

America, America, speed on by sea and air,
We take the stripes of sacrifice,
The stars of honor dare;
And by the road our fathers trod,
We march to victory,
To fight for Freedom and for God
Till all the world is free.

Prof. I. H. Britfell of the college gave the address of the occasion and in part spoke as follows:
It has just been my good fortune to witness your first step into the service of our army of defense.—Our sheriff said, "Boys: Forward march. Boys—our boys—fellow citizens. Forward march and they stepped forward soldiers of our common cause. Boys I have confidence in your marches always being forward. Forward across the sea and forward until the Imperial German forces are forced into surrender.

We all realize that the scene here is being duplicated all over our state and all the state. Young men, the best blood of our land is stepping forward into the ranks of our army. In fact, there is born this day a new army. An army of men who shall defend the cause of democracy and who shall aid in the complete overthrow of autocratic power in the world. An irresistible army of christian ideals and progress.

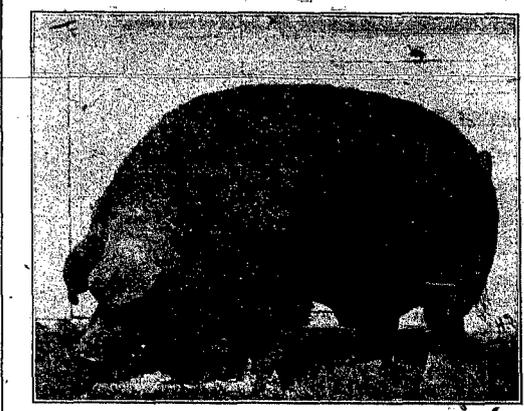

As each group of men assemble here for induction the citizens of Wayne county by these exercises rededicate their all to the defense of the nation. Here they renew their pledges of loyalty and of unstinted support to the young men who have gone and are now going to the front. Citizens, fathers and mothers, brothers and sisters, these young men are placing on their country's altar their all. It is not possible for us to do as much but it is possible for us to remain true to these lads and to support to the maximum the interest of the nation whose flag they defend.
Boy.—The nation is completely and effectively back of its army.—One and a half years ago we were a nation of peace. Our whole national thought was in harmony with ideals of peace and industrial development. When we were forced into defense of our freedom and our liberty we had an army of 300,000 men. Today we are over 3,000,000 men—2,000,000 have been transported—equipped, provisioned and disciplined—3,000 miles over sea and where they have met the Imperial German forces and smashed their strongest defense and are surely forcing them back—and back still farther back.—This army of ours is today the best fighting machine in the world and we built it in one and a half years. Germany has been forty years building hers and it is now impotent before the valor of our sons.

One and a half years ago we had no aviation department in our army. We had about 200 obsolete airplanes and no one to fly them. Today we have a department of 150,000 men, 6,000 airplanes, all American built, 2,000 of which have gone across the sea. We have 7,000 trained aviators. And all this has been done even in the face of much criticism.

In the beginning we had 304 boats in our navy today 1,800. Our merchant marine had 400 boats today 1,400. Some 400 taken from Germany and the balance has been built on our shores.

We have had many problems to solve food, fuel, transportation, communications and the manufacture of guns and ammunition. Yes, in one and a half years we have changed from a nation of peace to the first nation of the world in efficient war service. You can be assured our great resources will continue to minister to your successful struggle with "autocracy gone mad." $1,000,000,000 per month is now being spent on the war and more will be raised if that is not enough.

Your enemy is not an honorable foe. He is not a fair fighter. This makes your task more difficult. Their criminal and inhuman practices are beneath you even in retaliation.

Their mad philosophy and doctrine of culture has led them to believe they are supermen. They have staffed themselves on that idea until I guess they believe it.

The fact that Imperial autocracy German leadership deliberately and intentionally forced America into the struggle proves they were and are super-fools.

The fact that they have gone to the extent of claiming they are supermen shows they are super egotists.

And I believe that as defeat, inevitable, crushing defeat, comes to them they will raise such a torrent of abuse for the rest of mankind and go down so inglorious in their fall as to prove to all coming ages that they were super cowards.

Just a word as to peace and peace terms. I can conceive of no just and honorable terms with the German government or people. I am afraid of the present situation. I believe their requests for peace considerations only another German trap. They are undefeated, they are still the arrogant Imperial forces. They are still feeding their people on lies and slander. They still hope for a victory that will leave them able to at least prepare for the conquest of the world. This is a time to fight and press forward every available energy to the utter crushing of this monster of injustice, inhumanity and tyranny.

To fail in this is but to have expended our money, wasted our wealth and shed our blood in vain. I believe the 1,000,000 men or more now going forward will next year meet these brutes of battle and with the allied forces crush them into honest endeavor free from lies or plots. Then will the world have peace lasting peace.

The flag, this flag, is not yours alone. It is broader than our nation. It today is the flag of democracy everywhere. In its power lies the hopes of many nations. If it fails the world is lost to tyranny. If it conquers then the whole world friend or foe may have a democratic peaceful nation.

I should be ashamed today if I found it in my heart to urge you into battles across the sea to gain money or territory. I do not ask you to return to us with indemnities or with conquered territory added to our national domains. No indeed, America asks you to fight for an ideal, the ideal of liberty, justice and freedom for mankind. When you return having established that ideal in the world we will give you the greatest reception a grateful nation ever gave its soldiers returning from successful battles. In the name of freedom America calls you to service.

RESTRICTION OF BUILDING ACTIVITIES

The war industries board at Washington has restricted building enterprises in the following manner:

First, anyone having a building under process of construction in town at whatever cost or on a farm at a cost exceeding $1,000 must make application to the county building restrictions committee for permission if he wishes to complete the building.

Second, anyone purposing to build a new building in town at whatever cost or on a farm at a cost exceeding $1,000 must make application to the county building committee and through it to the state committee and finally to the war industries board for permission to construct the building.

Third, anyone wishing to repair a building in town or on a farm at a cost exceeding $2,500 must get permission to do so from the war industries board through the county restrictions committee.

The building restrictions committee for Wayne county hereby asks dealers in building materials to cooperate by refusing to sell building material, or deliver material already sold, lumber excepted, to anyone who cannot show a written permit from the county committee. All retail dealers are pledged, or should be pledged, to wholesale dealers not to sell building material to anyone who has no permission to build. To live up to their pledge is the cooperation asked from material men by the undersigned committee.

A peace of justice—that is all we are asking.

Next, comes election. Do your duty as an American as you see. Don't be a slacker. If you have a conviction, vote it as nearly as possible.

When the kaiser is thrown out by the German people, there may be some show for peace talk—but the kaiser is too crazy to talk peace with.

Wilson's note is said to have caused a bank panic in Berlin. The end is not far off when the money gets scared. The Shylocks are getting cold feet, and they will choke off the revenue—and then it is all off with Bill.

Will Mauplin has transferred his Midwest to Gering. Thus the course of empire westward takes its way, or words to that effect. His second number from the new location is very good, telling of the great irrigation scheme for watering that land, but it looks as though the "make-up" had bungled the story somewhat.

Our readers should read the questions propounded in this issue by Congressman Stephens of this district, and answer them if you can. If you cannot find a satisfactory reason for sending an inexperienced man to take his place, it is the proper thing to do is to vote for Dan. Of course, if you have a reason, then you might be excused for lining up with the minority.

Liberty loan publicity is being paid for by many different classes of people. In one exchange the candidates for office have been solicited, and could not refuse, and have used a number of the prepared advertisements. Another exchange carries a page paid for by the ministers of the place; so in addition to preaching for the bond purchase these men have taken in a larger congregation and to people they do not preach to every Sunday, and never to some, perhaps, and silently told to thousands of readers the need of united action in putting this loan over. At Wayne the council of defense has ordered the paid publicity, and this gives the business men that much more released for bond purchase; but we believe that to a certain extent the bond advertisement in the name of a business is a good advertisement, for it shows that he is public-spirited, and wants to boost a good work.

The farmers of this county will have opportunity election day to send representatives of their interest to the legislature. David Herner, the democratic nominee is one of the pioneer farmers of the community—he is more than a farmer—he is a student of economic questions, and is broad enough to recognize the claims of the other fellow while not neglecting the interests of the farmer. He is 100 per cent American, too. Then for the senate from this district is Chas. Graft He is a farmer with a state-wide reputation and a record in many walks of life proving him to be true to convictions—and convictions based on sound reasoning. He too is American, and has just been called upon to make great sacrifice—word coming from the training camp that his son had died in camp there. The body was all that came home of one who freely offered his all for America and her undying principles of democracy.

W. O. Hanssen, the democratic nominee for the second term as county treasurer, may not need the office very badly, but the citizens whom he serves need him for the office because he has proven himself a most efficient official. One long familiar with the affairs of the county said that never to his knowledge had the treasurer books been kept in as good shape. Neat, accurate, and always posted right down to the hour of closing. It is safe to say that no set of bank books are in better shape for inspection at a moment's notice than are the books of W. O. Hanssen. His reports have been given out on time, and have been carefully checked by the county commissioners and found to be correct to the penny. We have in mind good service for the people more than looking out for Mr. Hanssen's welfare in urging his election for another term. His record as a citizen and an official appears to compare favorably with that of most of us, and it has proven that no mistake was made in his election two years ago, and we do not believe that conditions could be bettered by a change at this time. He is an energetic, hard-working man, and has made good.

A DECLARATION OF PRINCIPLES

To the Voters of Wayne County:

As I am a candidate for representative of the Twentieth representative district, it is right that I make known my views on public questions, and take this opportunity to do so.

"I stand first for 100 per cent Americanism. No man should be elected to a position of trust unless he has shown that he favors the one central thought of making this country the greatest democracy on earth, free from taint of any special interest of any kind.

DAVID HERNER
Democratic Nominee for Representative for Wayne County.

"That our state government assist our president in winning the war; that the legislature cooperate and assist in every way possible.

"I believe that the natural resources of the state should be owned and controlled by the people of the state, (such as water power, mineral or oil or gas deposits.)

"I believe it to be the duty of the next legislature to pass laws to control monopoly in restraint of trade; and to stop profiteering. All public utilities should be owned or controlled by the people.

"I am in sympathy with any patriotic movement the farmer and stock raiser may take to protect his calling and improve his condition. Every other trade and profession has organized for cooperative action, and why not the farmer?

"If elected, I promise to cooperate with the farmers in securing such just legislation as they may desire.

"I favor the ratification of the prohibitory amendment to the federal constitution.

"I favor the enactment of laws for the betterment of the people of the state educationally, socially and economically."

WHY NEBRASKA'S WAR GOVERNOR SHOULD BE CONTINUED IN OFFICE

1. Every pledge made to the people has been fully and faithfully redeemed.

2. He has given whole hearted support to the federal government, and his experience is an asset in the prosecution of the war.

3. He has made it possible for Nebraska's heroic sons in the service to exercise the right of franchise, and has protected their property rights in their absence from the state.

4. He will exert every effort to protect the people of Nebraska from organized profiteering.

5. He has vigorously opposed all this calculated to embarrass the government in the prosecution of the war.

6. His administration has been clean, honest and businesslike, free from graft, favoritism and ostentation.

7. The general fund levy for 1918 has been reduced to three mills, and the amount raised in taxes for the general fund will be the least raised in recent years.

8. Hundreds of thousands of dollars were saved to the farmers through the embargo placed upon seed corn in 1917. The price per bushel in Nebraska ranged from $3 to $5, while in Iowa and surrounding states, the prices reaped by seed speculators ranged from $5 to $12.

9. He appointed a committee of prominent stock feeders to confer with the federal food administration and a market for heavy feeders was created, averting disaster to the stock feeding industry of Nebraska.

10. Prohibition has been energetically enforced throughout the state. There have been 4,527 prosecutions and fines have been assessed aggregating $125,000.

11. He was born and reared in Nebraska, and understands the needs of the people.

12. It is unwise to change horses in the middle of a stream.

The re-election of Governor Keith Neville insures a continuance of Nebraska's good record.

Holt County Land

Take a trip up to Holt county and see what crops are raised up there and be convinced that it is worth more money than what you have to pay for it. Do not expect to see land worth $250 per acre although I will sell you some for that price. Here are really two good bargains: 360 acres good hay and farming land 9 miles from O'Neill. Price $22.50 and should sell for $50 per acre. 160 acres 5 miles from O'Neill, easily worth $25 per acre but will sell for $15.00.

Candidate For Re-election

I AM ASKING you voters of Wayne county for your support in this election November 4, 1918, for the reason that I am in better shape to serve you than before. Any one familiar with this class of work will tell you that it takes a good year to become fully efficient in all the details and work of this office. I claimed efficiency before my election and can prove that you were not deceived. I am in shape to give you the best service and would be pleased to have you take a little time to satisfy yourself whether I am deserving, the asked for, second term. My books are open to the public and I claim that in neatness and accuracy, which the county has a right to demand, I stand second to none.

I have worked for the good of every citizen in the county and have a record of collecting taxes that I am not ashamed of.

WHY THE PUBLIC MUST DO ITS SHARE

If the "home papers" are to be sent to all our soldiers and sailors and others, men and women, engaged in war work abroad, this must be done by the public generally or by interested parties in each community.

The ruling of the War Industries Board in reference to daily newspapers, published August 6, says:

"Copies may be sent free to former employees who are in the war service, and copies may be sent free to libraries of institutions recognized by the government, such as the Red Cross, P. M. C. A., K. of C., etc. Copies should not be sent to individual soldiers unless formerly employed by the newspaper."

The ruling of the War Industries Board in reference to country weeklies, published August 23, provides:

"No publisher may give free copies of his paper except for actual service rendered and except to camp libraries and hospitals or canteens of organizations recognized by the government, etc. * * *

"No publisher shall send his publication to any one below the public subscription price."

It will thus be seen that all newspapers which heretofore have been sending free copies to the soldiers abroad and all newspapers that have been contributing a portion of their subscription price in order that the public might be encouraged to send the newspapers to soldiers, will have to discontinue those practices.

In other words, if the soldiers are to have their "home papers" of which they stand so much in need and which give them so much delight and comfort, the people will have to supply the money for the full paid subscriptions.

The newspaper has no option in the matter, in view of the very business-like ruling of the War Industries Board, which is seeking to prevent any consumption of print paper without an adequate return therefor.

If the public will respond with prompt donations for sending the papers, every boy from Wayne county will in time receive his "home paper."

LETTER FROM THE NEAR FRONT

Harmon Lee James has written several letters from France to his wife here, and from them we glean that he is well and enjoying life, as well as a number of the other boys. They keep moving, and each move is a little nearer Berlin, but they do not just now speak of it that way—but nearer the front. Trucks play an important part in their moves, and great trains of them carry thousands of men and their equipment. All are anxious to get into the mixup and have a whack at the Hun.

Speaking of mail from home he said that he had just received a letter from his mother which had been three months finding him. Then as to letters coming this way, he stated that he had written one three weeks before and was called to duty where he had no opportunity to mail it—in fact he had been called to the front, and after his first experience wrote back that life at the front was not a bad as he had expected. Some, he says, prefer life at the front and in the trenches, but for his part a little of both tend to break the monotony. He received a shell shock which dazed him for a time, but he had got down in time for it to go past without him stopping it or any of the pieces.

After getting out of the trenches he spent some time with a French artillery company, and enjoyed it much. They are as well fed as American troops, so one need not imagine that they are starving. I am getting so that I understand and can speak a little French, and am studying the language.

James M. has been in battle but I have not seen him since, and it is only hear-say that he captured a number of prisoners. I would like to be able to see one fall in front of my rifle, and while that may seem that I am getting mean, all of the boys come to feel when they have been here a time and their comrades are brought in wounded or dead. He tells how they enjoy letters from home, and wonders that they do not come more frequently, but in most cases it is due to the constant movement of the troops and the uncertainty of the mail service where everything is unsettled as it is in the war zone. With near two million men to serve, some will be left.

LIGHT PLANT IS TAKEN OVER

The new stock company formed of local business men finally took over the Wakefield light plant Saturday noon. Thomas Rawlings is president of the new company; Fred Larson secretary, and J. A. Seagren treasurer. Articles of incorporation will be published shortly and the company will then be fully organized.

A Mr. Wilkins of Ponca has been chosen to run the plant, together with two others. H. H. Childs will operate it for about a month in conjunction with a third person. It is the intention of the board of directors to keep three men on the job all of the time, in order to get the best of service.

Repairs are here for one of the generators and are being installed and the repairs for the large engine have already been shipped.

While the people must not hope for light, that is, good light, too soon, it is only a question of time until the new management will have the plant operating smoothly, and we will again have good lights, which will be almost as welcome to the people of Wakefield as the downfall of the kaiser.

At present the company is represented by ninety-nine stockholders with a total paid up capital of $16,000.

Thus says the Wakefield Republican. Now it seems that our sister city has had a heap of trouble with light and power, and been short of both much of the time, which causes us to remark that their case is no exception to many other towns in this part of Nebraska and in other states. The remedy should be found in a state-wide project to harness the streams of the state and put them to work. We have no coal in the state, but we have water, and water can be used to generate heat and power, better and cheaper than coal, even if we had it at our door. Why not get busy?

SUBSCRIBE VOLUNTARILY!

Subscriptions to the Fourth Liberty loan must come voluntarily, and every man, woman and child must assume his or her proportion of this financial responsibility. It is not sufficient to subscribe for a Liberty bond, or such small amount as in our judgment our idle means may seem to justify. It is necessary for us to pledge or mortgage our income and wealth accumulations for at least a six months' period, buying the greatest amount of bonds which we by any possible means can care for during this time. Many of us will be obliged to borrow as long as the war lasts, but even that is a glorious opportunity, and is not sacrifice, but protection—protection for those whose lives are at stake, protection for those who must stay at home, the sanctity of their wives, their daughters, the preservation of homes and property and the evasion of slavery which would surely be our lot if we were a conquered nation by our brutal, cruel foe. No sound thinking man, woman or child in America doubts for one moment but that victory shall ring in our ears sooner or later.—Bulletin.

ANNUAL MEETING OF WAYNE COUNTY CHAPTER A. R. C.

The second annual meeting of the Wayne County Chapter, American Red Cross, will be held at the city hall Wednesday afternoon, October 23, at 3:30 o'clock. The branches of the Wayne county chapter are requested to send representatives to this meeting. Two important matters are to be considered:

First, it is advised by State Director Frank W. Judson, that the Wayne county chapter change its present by-laws by substituting the revised by-laws for chapters, issued by the central division, A. R. C. The proposed by-laws provide for the election of a board of directors, as stated in Article vi, which reads as follows: All powers of government and management conferred upon the Wayne county chapter by the American Red Cross, except as hereinafter provided and not inconsistent with the provisions of these by-laws, shall be lodged in the board of directors. The board of directors shall consist of _____ members. This number shall include the chairman of each branch of the chapter as ex-officio directors.

Second, if the revised by-laws are substituted, then the members present at this meeting will proceed to elect the board of directors. Article vii reads: The officers of the chapter shall consist of a chairman, vice-chairman, secretary, and treasurer, who shall be elected by the board of directors from its own number at the time of the annual meeting, after the election of the directors, for a term of one year or until their successors are elected.

As this is the annual meeting and important matters come up for consideration, all members are urged to be present.

Secretary Wayne County Chapter,

THE HOHENZOLLERN DYNASTY

The reason why the whole world is taking such an antagonistic attitude toward the Hohenzollern dynasty is very apparent. Several historians have recently called attention to the fact that since the establishment of Prussia as a kingdom in 1701 by a coupe d'etat, this dynasty has never respected its signature, its treaties, its oath.

It formed alliances with Sweden and Poland and then invaded them, annexing much of their territory. The list of acts of like character is a very long one, with nothing in the history of the house to redeem it. Austria in 1864 was the Hohenzollerns' ally when the latter robbed Denmark of Schleswig-Holstein, but after two years, in 1866, the Hohenzollerns turned against the Hapsburgs and fobbed them of their rights in Germany. That has been the course of the dynasty from its foundation to the present time, and it is the declared purpose of the whole world to put it in such a condition that it cannot continue its criminal career.

In the leadership of that movement is President Wilson, by the common consent of all the nations that have been fighting it. Its invasion of Belgium and making a scrap of paper of its treaty is in accordance with its whole history.—World-Herald.

PEACE TALK OF MANY KINDS WON'T WIN WAR

Is Germany trying to win by diplomacy what she is now convinced she cannot win by force? It looks that way. Sunday morning papers carried the news or the headlines that Germany will comply with Wilson's terms, and then followed a note to the effect that:

"The German government has accepted the terms laid down by President Wilson in his address of January 8, and in his subsequent addresses on the foundation of a permanent peace of justice. Consequently, its object in entering into discussions would be only to agree upon practical details of the application of these terms. The German government believes that the governments of the powers associated with the government of the United States also take the position taken by President Wilson in his address. The German government, in accordance with the Austro-Hungarian government for the purpose of bring about an armistice, declares itself ready to comply with the propositions of the president in regard to evacuation.

"The German government suggests that the president may occasion the meeting of a mixed commission for making the necessary arrangements concerning the evacuation. The present German government, which has undertaken the responsibility for this step taken peace, has been formed by conferences and in agreement with the great majority of the reichstag. The chancellor, supported in all of his actions by the will of this majority, speaks in the name of the German government and of the German people.

"Berlin, October 12, 1918.
"Solf, State Secretary of Foreign Office."

With any other government such assurance would be considered ample, perhaps to consider an armistice, but hardly with the German government as it is constituted—unless the kaiser gives his assurance, and makes it sure with his head in a noose to be forfeited if he fail to keep his word, for he has repeatedly shown by word and deed that he considers his word or a treaty utterly worthless, except to use to advance his own ends. The kaiser is the German government, and he is not mentioned in the note. The kaiser names the rulers of the various kingdoms, appoints all members of the cabinet and military and naval officers who have any standing which is to be respected. Thus far he is it, for the power that appoints in this case, can "unscramble" the eggs—he can remove. The puppets he names as rulers under him, in turn appoint the members of the law-making branch of their government—the "Senate" we would call it in our government. And they can also be removed by their little tin king or by the kaiser. They meet in secret session and make the laws of the land, which are not laws except they be approved by the kaiser—and so far as we know the people may not know what is law until they break it. Then there is the debating society, known as the reichstag, supposed to be elected by the people, but really by a part of the people, for their districts were made in 1870 to give the rich control of the body, and have never been redistricted, so that the laboring people are practically without voice in their so-called government, for this is only a body in which they are given a pretense of having a say, may do no more than petition and recommend. So it looks like small assurance on which to grant an armistice.

Yet the terms laid down by President Wilson, with the allies to place the construction thereon are ample—and so long as the central powers refuse to accept the allied construction of these terms there should be no cessation from hostilities, appears to be the general verdict.

Here are the Wilson terms:

The issues involved in the war and the way to peace as set forth by President Wilson in his speech September 7, which are mentioned by the German chancellor as a proper basis for "negotiations," are as follows:

"Shall the military power of any nation or group of nations be suffered to determine the fortunes of peoples over whom they have no right to rule except the right of force?"

"Shall strong nations be free to wrong weak nations and make them subject to their purpose and interest?"

"Shall peoples be ruled and dominated, even in their own internal affairs, by arbitrary and irresponsible force, or by their own will and choice?"

"Shall there be a common standard of right and privilege for all peoples and nations, or shall the strong do as they will and the weak suffer without redress?"

"Shall the assertion of right be hazardous and by casual alliance, or shall there be a common concert to oblige the observance of common rights?"

"No man, no group of men, chose these to be the issues of the struggle. They are the issues of it, and they must be settled—by no arrangement or compromise or adjustment of interests, but definitely—and once for

Ice Boxes on Wheels

Refrigerator cars for carrying meat are ice boxes traveling on wheels.

Most people in America would have to go without fresh meat, or would have to pay more for what they could get, if it were not for these traveling ice boxes.

Gustavus F. Swift, the first Swift in the packing industry, saw the need of these traveling ice boxes before others.

He asked the railroads to build them. The railroads refused. They were equipped, and preferred to haul cattle rather than dressed beef.

So Gustavus F. Swift had to make the cars himself. The first one was a box car rigged up to hold ice. Now there are 7,000 Swift refrigerator cars. Each one is as fine an ice box as you have in your home.

Day and night, fair weather and foul, through heat and cold, these 7,000 cars go rolling up and down the country, keeping meat just right, on its way to you.

Thus another phase of Swift & Company's activities has grown to meet a need no one else could or would supply, in way that matched Swift & Company ideas of being useful.

When you see one of these Swift & Company cars in a train, or on a siding, you will be reminded of what is being done for you as the fruit of experience and a desire to serve.

all and with a full and unequivocal acceptance of the principle that the interest of the weakest is as sacred as the interest of the strongest.

"This is what we mean when we speak of a permanent peace, if we speak sincerely, intelligently, and with a real knowledge and comprehension of the matter we deal with. We are agreed that there can be no peace obtained by any kind of bargain or compromise with the governments of the central empires, because we have dealt with them already and have seen them deal with other governments that were parties to this struggle at Brest-Litovsk and Bucharest. They have convinced us that they are with out honor and do not intend justice. They observe no covenants, accept no principle but force and their own interest. We cannot come to terms with them. They have made it impossible. The German people must, by this time, be fully aware that we cannot accept the word of those who forced this war upon us. We do not think the same thoughts or speak the same language of agreement.

"If it be in deed and in truth we should also be explicitly agreed that (Continued on Page Nine)

The Superior Successor to Butter

Farrel's Nut-Butter

You can use Nut Butter and feel perfectly sure you will never miss butter. Farrel's Nut Butter is more than a satisfactory substitute. It is a superior successor for butter, so pure and wholesome, made from the white meat of the cocoanut, sweet pasturized milk and cream and churned like butter. It absolutely contains no animal fat so objectionable in many substitutes. One lady recently related the following incident: "I used the vegetable coloring capsule you gave me; my butter was just perfect, just as you said. I had a guest for dinner who could not be fooled on a butter substitute. At the conclusion of the meal she remarked 'the country butter was certainly lovely.' The joke was too good to keep so I told her I had served Farrel's Nut Butter and we all had a good laugh. This is an incident my guest will not soon forget and incidentally you have secured a new patron for Farrel's Nut Butter." Many of the best families are using this product; serve it to their guests without fear of criticism. Farrel's Nut Butter is fast securing a preference and a steady demand is the result—and why not? Its better and saves 24 cents on every pound as compared with creamery butter. Let your next order include a pound of this Farrel Nut Butter. Be sure and use the color capsule we give free, then let yourself be the judge.

Mrs. P. C. Crockett and daughter, Hattie, returned from Sioux City Wednesday evening where they had been guests at the Fleetwood and Johnson homes.

Mrs. J. S. Carhart, who was for a month at a Sioux City hospital was able to be brought home Tuesday, and is reported to have stood the trip well, and though still very weak, is improving daily.

A card from John L. Soules, dated at Norfolk, Virginia, tells that he arrived there safely the first of the week and doubtless by this time has been inducted into service. He promises a better story later.

Nels Swanson, writing from Rib Lake, Wisconsin, to send pay for the paper another year states that he is well and prospering. Some weeks ago we received a letter and some verses from his pen, but as we were then having machine troubles, and otherwise crowded with war work, the letter was laid aside for future use, and each week seemed busier than the one before, and it is still waiting for the war to cease.

Visit Mrs. Jeffries' store Friday or Saturday and see new goods on display and for sale.—Adv

Mrs. Star West came Wednesday from Oakland, where herself and daughter, Mrs. Fred Kennedy, from Hamill, South Dakota, visiting here, had been called by the serious illness of son and brother, Frank West, who is seriously ill of lung fever at that place. The young man had been in service, but given a discharge on account of lung trouble, and when the epidemic of influenza and pneumonia came he could not withstand it. They had but slight hopes of his recovery. Mrs. West is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan McManigal and she is keeping house for her parents since her husband died a year or two ago.

OFFICIAL INSTRUCTIONS FOR MAILING TO SOLDIER LADS

So many people fail to have mail sent to their soldier relatives and friends reach them that official instruction as to the proper method of addressing soldier mail is handed to us by Mrs. J. H. Boyce, their son, Harold, having sent them a sheet of directions sent out from headquarters for the use of the soldier boy's friends. It says:

Make the address on the envelope, which should contain your return card in the upper left hand corner, in the following order:

Private John Jones, Jr., Med. Dept., U. S. A. Base Hospital No. 82, American Expeditionary Forces

The location or station of the organization not to be given in address under any circumstances.

Postage to be fully prepaid, 3c per ounce or less for letter mail. All mail subject to domestic classifications, conditions, and rates of postage. Postal money orders, at domestic rates, may be used for transmitting money to or from Europe. Money and valuables will not be transmitted by registered mail.

Shipments of any articles will be limited to those requested by the individual to whom they are to be shipped, such request having been approved by the commanding officer. Parcel post shipments will be accepted by the postoffice authorities, and other shipments by express or freight companies only upon presentation of the above request in each individual case.

Personal telegrams to Europe to be addressed "Amexforce, London," with the name and base hospital No. 82, appearing as the first words. Example:

"Amexforce, London: John B. Jones, Base Hospital No. 82, Have followed your instructions. Mary Jones."

Body of telegram to be in plain English or French, or in authorized code. Telegrams of one plain language word not accepted. Signature necessary, surname alone being sufficient, but no other single name, as "Mother," "Mary," etc.

Three classes of cable service available between the United States and England:

1. "Full rate"—Charges 25-37 cents per word.

2. "Deferred rate"—Charges 9-15½ cents per word.

3. "Week end letter"—Charges 5-9 cents per word. May be filed during week up to Saturday midnight—transmitted when traffic permits.

In class (2) messages "LCO" to be inserted before the address, and in class (3) "EME" before the address.

By order of Lt. Col. Burnham: Thomas G. Miller, 1st Lieut. M. R. C. Acting Adjutant.

COMPARE THE PRICE of good clothes with the high cost of cheap clothing. It costs a merchant just as much to sell you a poor suit of clothes as a good one.

The transportation cost is just as high from the mill to the maker and from the maker to the merchant's store. The mill overhead and labor cost of weaving poor material may very well be as great as with better goods.

When it comes to cutting and making a cheap suit of clothes the price of the work is out of all proportion to the material.

You may pay less for a poor suit—BUT you do not get anything like the same value for what you pay.

If the motto "The Best is the Cheapest" holds good in ordinary times it is doubly true today. Poor clothing is relatively so much higher in price than good clothing that it pays an economical man to buy the best and less of it.

The clothing made for us by Ed. V. Price & Co., is best in every way. The prices are also reasonable—no higher than most of the ready-made. They are made to please you in every detail or we will not have you accept them. ASK THE MAN WHO WEARS ONE.

WHEN THE WAR WILL STOP

Paragraphs from the Sunday sermon delivered by Rev. S. X. Cross at the Presbyterian church Sunday last. A discourse full of the assurances of the promises of God of the triumph of right over might—that justice shall prevail—that just government shall not perish from the earth:

"In the long ago, the Psalmist, puzzled by such problems as vex the world today, but being able to rise above the puzzle to the sublime height where Faith teaches said: 'The Lord reigns, let the earth rejoice. Let even the islands be glad. The clouds and darkness of mystery may hide Him, but righteousness and justice are the foundation of His throne.

"The day after President Lincoln was assassinated, a young man from the middle west stood on a balcony in New York and said to the multitude of anxious, puzzled people whose faces were upturned to him: 'God reigns and the government at Washington still lives.' The faith of humanity is as sorely tried today as it ever was and the confident answer of the prophet of God is to be returned to its questionings.

"Not long ago, a mother of a soldier now in France asked us, through tears, the question: 'Why doesn't God stop the war?' Job, the ancient, asked a similar question: 'I reach before, behind, to the right and to the left to find God. I know He is, but where is He?' I believe that if each questioner today will look fixedly into the fiery furnace in which France and Belgium and England stand unscathed, he will see also a 'Fourth and He is like unto the Son of God.'

"The answer to the question: 'Why doesn't God stop the war?' is clear to the devout student of history. He can't! in any other way than the way He has chosen. He is stopping it in a thorough and painstaking manner. God's way of ruling the world is by law. The Devil's arch agent on this earth planned the great war as a campaign of utter lawlessness. God, through the agency of human will and power, must crush the fiend of lawlessness and re-establish the reign of law. It is being most gloriously done.

"The philosophy of the German school is perverse. The Kaiser has sought to revise God's plan for man. The whole group has rejected the reign of law and righteousness. They stand indicted at the bar of history which is the bar of God.

"Do you remember where it was that Attila, the Kaiser's chosen model, met his Waterloo? Was it not at Chalon, where the stars and stripes float today? No American should lose or lessen his faith. God is 'stopping the war.' 'Clouds and darkness may be round about Him, but righteousness and justice are the foundation of His throne.'

no peace shall be obtained by any kind of compromise or abatement of the principles we have avowed as the principles for which we are fighting. There should exist no doubt about that. First, therefore, going to take the liberty of speaking with the utmost frankness about the practical implications that are involved in it.

"If it be in deed and truth the common object of the governments associated against Germany and of the nations whom they govern, as I believe it to be, to achieve by settlements a source and lasting peace, it will be that all who sit down at the peace table shall come ready and willing to pay the price, the only price that will procure it; and ready and willing, also, to create in some virile fashion the only instrumentality by which it can be made certain that the agreements of the peace will be honored and fulfilled.

"That price is impartial justice in every item of the settlement, no matter whose interest is crossed; and not only impartial justice, but also the satisfaction of the several peoples whose fortunes are dealt with. That indispensable instrumentality is a league of nations formed under covenants that will be efficacious. Without such an instrumentality by which the peace of the world can be guaranteed, peace will rest in part upon the word of outlaws and only upon that word. For Germany will have to redeem her character, not by what happens at the peace table, but by what follows.

"And, as I see it, the constitution of that league of nations and the clear definition of its objects must be in part in a sense the most essential part of the peace settlement itself. It cannot be formed now. If formed now, it would be merely a new alliance confined to the nations associated against a common enemy. It is not likely that it could be formed after the settlement. It is necessary to guarantee the peace as an afterthought.

"The reason, to speak in plain terms again, why it must be guaranteed, is that there will be parties to the peace whose promises have proved untrustworthy, and means must be found in connection with the peace settlement itself to remove that source of insecurity. It would be folly to leave the guarantee to the subsequent voluntary action of the governments we have seen destroy Russia and deceive Rumania."

The reference in the dispatch to the president's address of August 1, evidently is an error. The president made no speech on that date. It may be an error of transmission or the Huns may be confused as to the date of one of his earlier addresses.

Wilson's Fourteen Terms
A Stockholm dispatch, dated October 5, says that reports from Berlin indicate that Prince Maximilian is willing to accept President Wilson's fourteen conditions of peace. Even though this for many reasons may be thoroughly demonstrated in his statement before the reichstag.

The conditions referred to were stated by President Wilson in an address to congress January 8, 1918, and are as follows:

First—Open covenants of peace, openly arrived at. No more private international understandings.

Second—Freedom of the seas, in peace and war, except as agreed by international understanding.

Third—Removal of economic barriers and establishment of equality of trade conditions.

Fourth—Adequate guaranties for reduction of armaments.

Fifth—Adjustment of all colonial claims, the interests of the natives to have equal weight with the claims of governments.

Sixth—Evacuation of all Russian territory and a chance for her unhampered national development.

Seventh—Evacuation, restoration and complete independence of Belgium.

Eighth—Liberation and restoration of invaded part of France and "righting of the wrong of 1871."

Ninth—Readjustment of Italian frontiers on the principle of nationality.

Tenth—Opportunity for the autonomous development of the peoples in Austria-Hungary.

Eleventh—Evacuation of Rumania, Serbia and Montenegro. Access to the sea for Serbia. Restoration of occupied territories. Balkan boundaries to be established and internationally guaranteed along national lines.

Twelfth—Turkey to retain purely Turkish territory. Autonomy for other races in Turkey. Dardanelles to be open under international guarantees.

Thirteenth—Erection and international guaranty of a Polish state, including all territory indisputably Polish, with access to the sea.

Fourteenth—Formation of a league of nations to guarantee independence and integrity of great and small nations alike.

ORDER OF HEARING ON PETITION FOR APPOINTMENT OF ADMINISTRATOR

In the county court of Wayne county, Nebraska.

State of Nebraska, county of Wayne, ss.

To all persons interested in the estate of Thomas Busby, deceased: On reading the petition of Mary Childs praying that the administration of said estate be granted to Thomas Busby, son of deceased, as administrator. It is hereby ordered that you, and all persons interested in said matter, may and do, appear at the County Court to be held in and for said county, on the 21st day of October, A. D. 1918, at 11 o'clock a. m., to show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted, and that notice of the pendency of said petition and that the hearing thereof be given to all persons interested in said matter by publishing a copy of this order in the Nebraska Democrat a weekly newspaper printed in said county, for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing.

Witness my hand, and seal of said court, this 27th day of September, A. D. 1918.

(Seal) JAS. E. BRITTAIN, County Judge.

DELINQUENT TAX LIST FOR THE YEAR 1917

County treasurer's office, Wayne county, Neb., October 1, 1918.

Notice is hereby given that in compliance with the revenue laws of the State of Nebraska, I, W. O. Hanssen, the county treasurer of Wayne county, will on Monday, the 4th day of November, 1918, between the hours of 9 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m., at the office of the county treasurer in the county court house in Wayne, in said county, offer at public sale and sell the following described real estate, or as much of each tract of land or town lot, as shall be necessary for the amount due thereon for the taxes for the year 1917, as herein stated together with all expenses for advertising, costs and fees that by law have or may be accrued at the time of payment. I will adjourn the sale from day to day until all the said real estate has been offered for sale.—W. O. Hanssen, County Treasurer.

CONGRESSMAN DAN V. STEPHENS
Candidate for Re-Election

CONGRESSMAN STEPHENS AND "WINNING THE WAR"

Elections in England have been suspended during the war, but under our laws they cannot be suspended here, but the President has asked the people to adjourn politics and return to office men who have stood squarely back of the war program. If a Congress in sympathy with the President is not elected then the war program which is being executed will have been repudiated. This does not mean that the candidates of the Republican party are disloyal by any means, but it would mean that the President who is a Democrat, and the Congress, which is Democratic, have not been endorsed in the prosecution of the war. That is what it would mean to us if the situation was reversed, and word should come out of Germany that those in control of the Government charged with the prosecution of the war were defeated. We would at once interpret it to mean the people of Germany were opposed to the war policy and wanted the policy changed. In justice to the Republicans no fair minded man would contend they would fail to prosecute the war with vigor, but no one who is practical and with business experience will contend that the efficiency of government could be maintained with a divided responsibility. In the eyes of our Allies, President Wilson would be weakened during the next two years, for they could not help wondering whether the American people were back of him and did not intend to reverse his foreign policy at the end of his term of office.

Europe would not understand it in any other way. Roosevelt said it would mean that in 1898, during the Spanish-American war, if McKinley was not sustained by the election of a Republican Congress, and so did ex-President Harrison, two as great Republicans as ever lived.

If it were true when Lincoln was endorsed during the Civil War and when McKinley was endorsed during the Spanish-American War, why isn't it true today in the case of President Wilson during the World War? There is no question about it being true, and only a hide-bound partisan has the face to argue otherwise. It is not a question of loyalty at all, because both great parties stand for a vigorous prosecution of the war, but it is one rather of common sense and public policy.

Both parties admit of only one issue in the campaign, namely, "Winning the War." That being the only issue and Congressman Stephens being sound as a nut on that issue, the question naturally arises upon what ground does his opponent claim the suffrage of the people?

Does he claim that he, a Republican in politics, can better support a Democratic President, the Commander-in-Chief, than can Stephens? Does he claim it would be better to divide the Government against itself in the face of a deadly foe by starting a political dog fight as the result of electing a Republican Congress to heckle the President during the next two years? That is what history shows us is the result when the President and Congress are of different political faith.

Does he claim to be an abler man, or more patriotic than Congressman Stephens?

Does he claim his inexperience as a legislator is worth more than Congressman Stephens' eight years' experience in Congress, four of which has been dealing with war problems?

Does he claim a single merit on the only issue, "Winning the War," which Congressman Stephens does not possess?

Does he claim that he, a new member, at the foot of an unimportant committee, to which he would naturally be assigned, would be worth as much to the country and the district as is Congressman Stephens, who has reached a high position on one of the greatest committees of the House by reason of his long service?

The voter's common sense will tell him in answer to these test questions that a change of legislators who really represent the people at any time is a distinct loss, because the knowledge that an experienced man has gained at the expense of the people as a legislator is thereby thrown away. But in time of war, when the life of the nation is at stake, to remove an experienced man from office who represents the aims and purposes of the people is not only dangerous, but it is a wanton waste of the prestige an experienced legislator brings to his constituency. Long service of a public official is a great asset to the people.

No, neither Congressman Stephens' opponent nor any of his friends can honestly answer affirmatively a single query propounded, nor will they honestly say that there is a single reason for his election on the issue of winning the war.

Then what is the purpose in attempting to elect a Republican in Congressman Stephens' place? "Politics" is the only answer. To argue for the election of Congressman Stephens' opponent is an absolute repudiation of the request of the President that politics should be adjourned during the war, and an absolute repudiation of the statement that "Winning the War" is the only issue. Electing a Republican Congress, political prestige, the resurrection of a protective tariff, are bigger questions in the minds of a hide-bound partisan than "Winning the War," but patriotic Republicans and Democrats alike are not going to be pulled about by partisans in either party to a confusion of the object this Government is now seeking, namely, "Winning the War." They are going to do what the people have done for every war President we have had, endorse President Wilson by returning Dan V. Stephens to Congress.

HARRY EVANS TELLS WAR STORIES TO HOME FOLKS

(In Yeomen Shield)

Among the varied experiences in France the following may prove of interest to Shield readers:

We left the walled city at 6 p. m. for the front, twelve miles away. We had gone about half way when we had a blowout. We had not distinguished the noise of the bursting tire from that of shells that were bursting in the field to the right.

The boches evidently thought they had located something in that field, for they had been peppering it for two hours. They had made a slight mistake, however, in the location of the "something." Had they selected a woods on the other side of the road, and a little to the rear, they might have disturbed a battery and a large cache of munitions. Their airplanes hadn't exactly located the spot.

As it was our boys sat about their guns in the edge of the woods grinning as they watched the shells tear up the potato patch on the hillside a quarter of a mile away. We ran on a few hundred yards and pulled the car to the side of the road underneath a tree. Trees, shrubs, woods, the verdure of the war zone, are better friends to man than barricades, stone fences and cement walls, for beneath them men, horses, batteries and munition trucks are concealed from the eyes of the enemy peering from airplanes overhead.

If you never change a tire on a Ford car under shell fire I advise you not to try it. I had formed some affection for Henry Ford in the days when we were trying to stop the war by milder methods than he and I are now employing.

Those were the days of our verdancy, when we were to have the boys out of the trenches some Christmas ago, before we realized that nothing but bayonets and bullets will stop the Hun. But my esteem for Henry Ford vanished with my courage as I tugged at that tire, trying to rip it off the rim. When it finally yielded the new tire proved more obstinate still. Where's the sense in a man inventing such a d—n fool car anyway? Why wouldn't things be?

Just as I had firmly secured the end of the crowbar over the edge of the rim, and was using my strength to shove the casing over, a shell burst behind me. The crowbar slipped and fell forward cutting my nose, which bled copiously, on the wheel. I was sure I was blown to pieces. With the wheel finally mended we donned helmets, hung gas masks about our necks and proceeded on our journey.

To the left of the road some 500 yards, a captive balloon swung just below a low cloud. A captive balloon is one that is anchored to the ground by a cable. As the cable is tugged out the balloon rises to such a height as will permit the man in it to look across the trenches and observe the enemy's position and movements. These the observers communicate by certain signs to his own troops.

These observation balloons are the special prey of enemy airplanes. Presently above the cloud there appeared a German flyer. Down he came, swift as an eagle's flight, direct for the helpless balloon, his machine gun ablaze with its rapid fire. As he passed the balloon it burst into flames and out of the noise and flames a man plunged headlong toward the ground. It was the observer. Before he struck he managed to open his parachute and landed safely. He came into the line a few minutes later none the worse for his experience. Meanwhile the German plane escaped back across the trenches.

It was a strange road, that, and strange things all about the road. I remember once witnessing a play called "Sinbad the Sailor." The wood-side reminded me of the weird scenic effects of that play.

Here was the same blending of green colors and objects I had seen on the stage, making it difficult to distinguish or define any particular object. Open spaces were no longer open, but were connected up in some mysterious way with the foliage about them. The roadway was transformed into a pergola. Funny little railway tracks, not more than four feet wide, ran under boughs and led back through narrow avenues of trees, their tops intermingling in the dynamic forces of war.

A weird note of alarm, such as the sealy monster of the sea emitted as he emerged from behind the curtain, and the forms along the roadside quickly assumed the appearance of gnomes and hob goblins, as the men put on gas masks.

It proved a false alarm, however, and presently we went on to a village into which our boys go to rest immediately they come out of the trenches. This village is a mile from the front line trench. A ravine that is just a dry wash across the field connects the village and trench. Down this we went with haversacks filled with chocolate bars and tobacco strapped to our backs—seventy-five pounds in each haversack.

On our arrival there was a commotion, quickly stopped by a sign from the lieutenant. These boys had been there seven days. They were out of smokes and crazy for something sweet. We passed along the trench the mouth of our bag open, and not once did a boy take more than his allotment. Not a word was spoken audibly, but volumes came from grateful eyes. An occasional tap, tap, on the shoulder by a private was more satisfying than would have been the placement of the double bars or the gold leaf in the same spot by the commanding general.

The trench was dry and as comfortable as a trench may be. The bombardment had stopped, and with the exception of an occasional zip of a bullet just over our heads, or the thud of one that struck, there was no enemy fire. We went into an excavation in the side of the trench with a sergeant where we dumped what was left in our two haversacks. The sergeant told us there was a tense feeling among the boys of that company. A few hours before Lieutenant A. W. J. with a squad of men, had gone on the daily round into a trench that led into No Man's Land.

SOCIAL NOTES

The Minerva club held their regular meeting Monday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. W. E. Beaman with but few members present. They remained for a short program, and adjourned to meet October 28, if the health conditions permit, at the home of Mrs. J. R. Armstrong. Mrs. Henry Ley gave a 4-minute talk, comparing the hardships of the Civil war days with the inconveniences we experience today, and closed with an excellent original poem. Mrs. J. G. W. Lewis also talked on Civil Service Reform, and gave much information as to the growth and development of that economic question.

A very delightful party was given at the home of C. W. Hiscox Saturday afternoon in honor of little Miss Helen, it being her fifth birthday. Fourteen little boys and girls were present. It being such a beautiful afternoon the time was spent in playing out-door games. A birthday luncheon was served, the centerpiece being a big birthday cake with five candles.

Nineteen little girls met at the home of Mrs. Frank Whitney Friday, October 11, from 3 to 5:30 to celebrate the sixth birthday of little Miss Maryetta. Games were played and then a beautiful birthday luncheon was served, the main feature being individual cakes, with a candle for each one, served with ice cream.

MOREHEAD INVITES SCRUTINY OF WORK

PLEDGES HIMSELF TO GIVE BEST SERVICE FOR RECONSTRUCTION AFTER THE WAR

With respect to certain grotesque and ridiculous charges from the political opposition, such as that he had spent a quarter of a million dollars to secure the democratic nomination for United States senator, John H. Morehead gave out a statement Saturday asking that his candidacy be judged by his official and private record of the past and not by the misrepresentations emanating from partisan sources. The statement says:

"I seldom reply to statements maliciously made against me as a candidate for public office. I have always credited the people with knowing more than a few disappointed or ambitious politicians, concerning men who, like myself, have served in public office. A record, either creditable or discreditable, is always left by a man who has served the public. Having served my county as treasurer for two terms and having been state senator and twice governor, the records speak for themselves as to whether or not I was a conscientious, capable, honest official. No Moneybags Campaign.

"I never have believed that a large expenditure of money in an endeavor to corrupt or purchase votes, was effective; and I have never resorted to that means. I do not believe in it, in the first place; and in the second place, my property holdings would not justify it, as I am a man of only moderate means. I started life in a most humble way and have had no financial assistance, but have been fairly successful in my business undertakings; and I am satisfied that people who know me will accredit me with pursuing an honest, upright course in the business world, and of using no sharp practices.

"I have never placed myself in the attitude of a martyr, as some candidates do, in an appeal to the prejudice of the voters, as I believe there is room for all who do a legitimate business. I have never catered to any faction or big interests; have never accepted free transportation on any railroad; but have always maintained that no part of our constitution should be more religiously lived up to than that which guarantees equal rights to all and privileges to none.

"I have never asked for a vote from a poverty standpoint. I have always been self-supporting, and it would humiliate me and place me in a position I should very much regret, to admit that I was unable to take care of myself and my dependents in this world of opportunity. My sacrifice has been in the neglect of my business when I am giving service in a public way, as I have always divorced myself completely from my private business and given my entire time to the official duties of the position which I was filling.

Not Making Class Appeal.

"The insinuation that I spent large sums of money in the recent primary, and contemplate so doing in the present election, is absolutely false. All advertising, traveling expenses and other necessary expenditures have been borne by me, and I have never appealed to a federal appointee or any outsider for financial assistance. As stated, I have no use for the man who undertakes to use class against class, constantly endeavoring to create prejudice against any legitimate line of business.

"If elected United States senator, I shall endeavor to serve the people in such a way that no legitimate line of business will feel that I am hostile to it or favor any other. This is stated for the purpose of placing myself in the proper light concerning the statements made in the press that I was using in my campaign an abnormal amount of money to influence voters. I want to be elected, as I feel that my services, because of my long residence in the state and my extensive business experience, will be valuable to the government at this particular time, as well as during the reconstruction period. But if elected, as I stated, I want it to come from the people and because they have faith in me. I want to serve them; and all I expect as a reward is the commendation of the people I serve, if I have been able to do some good for my fellow man."

MOREHEAD WILL VOTE FOR WOMAN SUFFRAGE

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR SENATOR DECLARES HIS POSITION UNEQUIVOCALLY

FALLS CITY, Neb., Oct. 7.—Former Governor John H. Morehead, democratic nominee for United States senator, has pledged himself to support equal suffrage by federal amendment, in case of his election. He does so in a letter replying to an inquiry from a representative of the Nebraska suffrage organization, who was delegated to secure an expression from the democratic candidates for senator and congressman.

Mr. Morehead leaves no doubt whatever as to where he stands on the question. His letter is as follows: "FALLS CITY, Neb., Oct. 7.—Mrs. F. J. Birss, 1308 Lincoln Boulevard, Omaha, Neb.

Dear Madam: "I am in receipt of your letter of the 4th instant in which you ask: 'Should the federal amendment now pending in the senate, or a similar suffrage measure, come to a vote during your term of office, will you vote for its passage?'

"Answering your inquiry, I beg to advise that if I am elected to the United States senate and the amendment now pending, or a similar one thereto, is submitted, I shall vote for it. Thanking you for your interest in the matter, I am

Yours respectfully,

of it requiring drainage, stump removal and other improvements to make it ready for the settler.

This congress will receive the advice of many eminent engineers, financiers and social experts concerning the best way to get the soldiers to the farms and to make them prosperous after they reach them. The ill effects of non-employment after the civil war were felt hardly at all because the free homestead law provided an immediate occupation for the soldiers as fast as they were mustered out. The problem now is more difficult because the lands are not free and they cannot be operated without capital. The congress has a job before it in arranging a practicable scheme to put the landless man on the manless land.—Lincoln State Journal.

To be sure, and while talking of land, it might be wise to consider the idea of taxing idle land held for speculation as much as you do the land improved and farmed. A just system of taxation—a plan for taking from land not occupied or tilled a tax equal to the increased value of the land annually. What is called the unearned increment. Bill Jones gobbles a section of land, and sets down to let the land surrounding him fill up with real settlers. Every one who comes, adds to his land value, and he simply holds on and pockets it. That increased value belongs to those who improve adjoining lands, and it should be taken in a tax and thus reduce the tax burden of the actual settler. At the same time it would knock the profit of the speculation, and leave the land for the one who would like to use it, and who would willingly pay the tax for the privilege.

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

The following proposed amendment to the constitution of the State of Nebraska, as hereinafter set forth in full, is submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska to be voted upon at the general election to be held Tuesday, November 5th, A. D. 1918:

A JOINT RESOLUTION to amend Section one (1) of Article seven (7) of the Constitution of the State of Nebraska.

Be it Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Nebraska:

Section 1. That Section One of Article Seven of the Constitution of the State of Nebraska be and the same hereby is amended by striking out the following words:

"Second. Persons of foreign birth who shall have declared their intention to become citizens conformably to the laws of the United States, on the subject of naturalization, at least thirty days prior to an election."

And inserting in the place of the words so stricken, the following words:

"Second. Persons of foreign birth who shall have become citizens of the United States by naturalization or otherwise conformably to the laws of the United States at least thirty days prior to an election."

Sec. 2. That at the general election nineteen hundred and eighteen (1918) there shall be submitted to the electors of the state for their approval or rejection the foregoing proposed amendment to the constitution relating to the right of suffrage. At such election, on the ballot of each elector voting for or against said proposed amendment, shall be written or printed the words: "For proposed amendment to the constitution relating to the right of suffrage," and "Against said proposed amendment to the constitution relating to the right of suffrage."

Sec. 3. If such amendment shall be approved by a majority of all electors voting at such election, said amendment shall constitute Section One (1) Article Seven (7) of the Constitution of the State of Nebraska.

Approved, April 9, 1918.
