S. A. T. C. IMPROVING MAY ENROLL TO OCTOBER 30

The influenza at the State Normal seems to be practically checked. There have been five new cases in the last four days but no new cases developed on Wednesday. The majority of the members of the S. A. T. C. who have contracted the disease are able to report for duty again, and everyone seems to be well on the road to recovery. Orders have been received from the war department to extend the time of enrollment to October 30 and permission has also been received to increase the unit from 100 to 150 men. The number actually inducted or whose papers are being completed is 107. Three of the ten men registered prior to September 12 have been refused admission by the war department for the reason that they belong in Class I-A. This seems to be the only class of men who may not be inducted into the S. A. T. C. Unless orders to the contrary are received from the state board of health, the regular class work of the Normal school will again convene on Monday, October 28.

On Tuesday Prof. Greer, educational inspector for the S. A. T. C. unit, was at the Normal. He expressed himself as well pleased. He reports that the military unit at the Wayne State Normal is much larger than that of any other state normal school in Nebraska. Chadron has no unit at all, Peru has about thirty students in their unit, and Kearney about seventy-five.

On Wednesday Lieutenant Sheldon of Minneapolis, military inspector for the northwest, was conferring with Lieutenant Brooks in regard to equipment and military instruction.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED

Resolutions adopted by the Wayne County Council of Defense, October 18, 1918.

Whereas, the present war with Germany and her allies has shown to the people of the United States that citizenship is the paramount duty an inhabitant of any nation owes to that nation, and

Whereas, the lack of such citizenship has proved a hindrance to ready response to the war demands of the United States, in the case of many individuals, and

Whereas, it is extremely desirable that questions which arise during the reconstruction period following the war, be settled rightly and to the best interests of the nation, and

Believing that an intelligent and unprejudiced electorate is essential in the settlement of these questions therefore

Be it resolved, by the Wayne County Council of Defense, that all loyal citizens of the state of Nebraska be urged to vote for constitutional amendment to the state constitution at the coming November election, granting only to citizens of the United States the right of ballot, and that every effort be made to influence others to do likewise.

JENS J. JENSEN DEAD

Mr. and Mrs. Jens P. Jensen received a telegram the first of the week announcing the death of their son, Jens J. Jensen, of Co. R, Regt. U. S. M. C., while enroute over there. Jens was a volunteer in the U. S. Marine Corps and has been acting as a member of the troop ships crossing the Atlantic for some time.

At this time we have no definite information in regard to his death although it occurred about a month ago. The remains will be brought to Winside for burial.—Winside Tribune.

TWO DIE IN ONE RAN- DOLPH HOME MONDAY

Monday morning Leo Carroll of Randolph died at his home of pneumonia, contracted following an attack of the flu, at the age of 24 years. A few hours later his cousin, Florence Sellon, a young lady of about 19 years, passed away of the same complaint. They had been ill, and apparently recovered, and Sunday, a week before their death, drove to visit his wife's folks at a nearby town, catching a cold which terminated in pneumonia.

Leo Carroll is a son of the late Ed Carroll of Randolph and of Mrs. Cynthia Carroll of this city. He leaves a wife and an infant son, two sisters and five brothers. Two of the brothers are in the navy, but both by chance are home on a furlough, Paul and Charles. Other brothers live on farms near Randolph, and the daughters with their mother at this place. He was born and grew to manhood in Wayne county, moving to Randolph a few years ago.

Miss Florence Sellon is a daughter of Roy Sellon who lives near Randolph, and she too was a resident of Wayne county most of her short life.

A double funeral service was held Wednesday afternoon by Father Kearns of this city and the bodies were laid away in the Randolph cemetery. The young man by the body of his father and a sister, and the young lady rests beside her mother, who passed away a few years ago. The sympathy of many friends go out to the bereaved families.

THE FLU NEAR ALTONA

The epidemic is not respecter of places, and every community appears to have its share. Near Altona Chris Barrelman was a victim of the disease, passing away Sunday. The funeral was held Tuesday, under auspices of the home guards, of which organization he was a member. A minister from Wisner preached his funeral sermon, from the Lutheran church near the Von Seggern place.

Bloomfield is credited with between thirty and forty deaths from the flu, with many still ill there.

At Allen it is said that seven deaths came in one week.

John Shannon, who has been gathering cattle in the western part of the state tells that the disease there is far more serious than in these parts. In some lines and some places business is suspended. At some stations the entire telephone force is off duty with the flu, and service dead. Nine Indians were reported to have died in one day at one of the little camps in the cattle country. Gordon is under strict quarantine.

Ivan Frey from Pierce, son of Harvey Frey was transacting business at Wayne the first of the week, and visiting his sister, Mrs. Herman Dose, who was reported ill threatened with the flu. He reports the Frey folks well at Pierce.

At Pender the plague has been particularly severe, and apparent large fatality. The Times last week tells of about eight deaths, and a number have occurred since that paper was issued. Among the deaths mentioned were: Mrs. Chas. Wurth, Joseph E. Welling, William Eugene Hitchings, a child, Mrs. Beulah Dubay, Harry Kingston and Raymond Pierce.

ED RUBECK DIES OF PNEUMONIA

The death messenger entered the home of Charles Rubeck and wife Wednesday evening, October 23, 1918, and called their son, Edward, a lad of 18 years. The young man had been suffering from pneumonia following the flu. Other members of the family are seriously ill at this writing, with the termination of the disease in doubt.

Edward James Rubeck was born at Wakefield in September, 1900, and spent most of his life here, except two or three years at Granite Falls, Minnesota. Death came at the end of ten days of illness, and leaves a father, mother, a sister and six brothers to mourn his death. They are Lloyd of this place, LeRoy is at Camp Kearney, California, Leslie at Camp Lewis, Washington, Mrs. Albert Graham (who came Tuesday with her husband) from Crandall, South Dakota, and George, Albert and Richard at home.

An out-of-door funeral will be held from the home Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Jorden of the Baptist church preaching.

For Sale Right

If taken soon, couch, chair, bedroom suit, kitchen cabinet, buffet, and other household articles. Over Orr's store. I. W. Alter.—Adv

MRS. EARL NEILEN OF NORFOLK DIES SUNDAY

The news of the death of Mrs. Earl Neilen of Norfolk was received here Sunday, death resulting from pneumonia. The body was taken to Sioux City for burial and laid away at the Graceland Park cemetery, Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Neilen formerly lived at Wayne, moving to Norfolk about a year ago. Their Wayne friends extend sympathy to the husband and motherless little one. Mr. Neilen returned to his home at Norfolk Wednesday evening.

A DINNER FOR LYLE GAMBLE

Sunday last a number of relatives and a few of his intimate young friends gathered at the W. B. Gamble home south of Wayne for a farewell dinner for the lad, who was one of the drafted men, expecting to leave early this week for the training camp. Among the out-of-town guests were the J. H. Smith family from Carroll, the E. Thomas family from Randolph, Oliver and James Gamble and families of this place, and some of his young friends. All spent a social hour about the well-filled tables, and wished the lad the best of luck and a safe return—and then the entrainment of the boys was called off for a time, and there may be chance some day, when the flu has subsided, to do it all over again.

WILLIAM BAKER DIES

William, the 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Baker of Winside died at a Norfolk hospital of pneumonia the first of the week, and the funeral and burial was Tuesday, Rev. Mogerling preaching the sermon. This is the second son from the family, one dying last week, and other members of the family being ill made it necessary to send this lad to a hospital.

The Acme club was to have met Monday afternoon at the Red Cross rooms but was postponed on account of the influenza, and unless further notice will meet Monday, October 28, at the home of Mrs. J. J. Williams.

WAYNE AND WAYNE COUNTY GO OVER THE TOP AGAIN

Although Chairman Wilson of the fourth Liberty loan cannot yet give the figures by precincts and the number of who subscribed for the fourth Liberty bonds, because they are still climbing higher, and because all precincts have not yet reported, he knows, and can tell that the bonds will probably be over-subscribed as much as $20,000, for there has already been reported the sum of $932,400 and the quota for the county was $913,750. Next week he promises a report by precincts of the sums subscribed and the number of subscribers, and there is some speculation as to which precinct will show the greatest per cent of over-subscription, and also the largest number of contributors. We would be glad to have published the names of all who purchased, but it would be too much like a directory of the county to be easily handled by the printer or the committee.

Word has just been received that the Ladies of the county, under the direction of Mrs. Chapin of Winside, head of the county committee, raised practically one-third of the county quota, securing about $225,000 of sales of the fourth Liberty bonds.

NEW TIME SUNDAY MORNING

"Backward, turn backward, O time in your flight;" that is planned for Sunday morning at 2 o'clock. At that hour clocks are to be set back one hour and thus make the clock time more nearly correspond with the winter sun time at it has been for many years.

Of course, most people may just change the clock Saturday evening and go to bed for the extra hour; but that will not do for railroads and some similar concerns that run largely by schedule. They must have a fixed time, and all flop at once.

If you have a clock that strikes set it at a time when you will not have to turn it back past the striking time, and thus avoid trouble; or you may turn it ahead eleven hours and let it tick along. Sure it is, 7 o'clock in the morning will not appear to come so early in the day as now, but six at night will seem a whole lot later. But you cannot eat your cake and keep it too—and there you are.

DEATH OF FRANK WEST

Frank West died at Oakland, last Friday from pneumonia. He was a son of Mrs. Star West of this county, who was at his bedside caring for him when the end came after a week or more of sickness. With her daughter, and his wife, they passed through here last week on their way to Hamill, South Dakota, where the funeral and burial were held. He leaves mother, wife and child, brother and two sisters, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel McManigal. Mrs. West returned from the funeral Wednesday afternoon. The young man was a Wayne county boy, going to Dakota with his parents ten or twelve years ago.

THERE ARE NONE

There are no social notes.
There are no church notes.
There are no school notes.
There are no lodge notes.
There are no college notes.
There are no political talks.
There are no Wayne funerals yet, we are glad to say.
There are no movie shows.
There are no sidewalk gatherings.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many neighbors and kind friends who so kindly and helpfully assisted us during our great bereavement in the death and burial of our beloved wife and mother and care of sick children.

J. C. Hansen and Children.

Early Ohio Potatoes for Sale

I have at the Ellis building 200 bushels of very choice Early Ohio potatoes, the remainder of a car lot, for sale. They will be fine for seed next spring, if some farmer is planning to grow potatoes next season and wants seed before the prices go up. W. L. Fisher, Phone Red 50 or 359.—Adv

Furniture For Sale

As we are leaving Wayne soon, and have a number of good pieces of furniture that we don't care to move, will dispose of them at private sale at my home. Those interested call and see or phone 113.—A. D. Erickson.—Adv

Mr. and Mrs. Fitch who were called to Walthill a short time ago by the serious illness and death of a grandson, returned home Thursday.

FLU AND PNEUMONIA CONDITIONS IMPROVING

The past week has been indeed one of much anxiety and worry and many cases of the epidemic so prevalent the country over. The Wayne physicians inform us that there has been a marked improvement during the past week. Less new cases are reported—early care of cases reported has tended to make them much less severe, and the fact that but one death has been reported for the week, is a most excellent testimonial for the care of physicians and nurses. To give a report of the number of cases we are not able; but there are comparatively few new ones in the last twenty-four hours. Many are on the way to recovery, and are not considered in critical condition.

Among those who have been quite seriously ill are Mrs. Rollie W. Ley, now improving slowly, and several of the boys at the training camp. Miss Jenk is convalescing. Dr. Ingham is able to leave the bed. J. C. Nuss and Claude Mitchell are among the business men who have been unable to come to their place of business; but are improving. Art Ahern has been having a stubborn fight, but at last reports is winning.

It is not possible to give nearly all who have been suffering, but the sickness here thus far has been comparatively light—compared with many nearby towns. Care should be taken by all to keep in condition to resist the germ, whatever it may be, and whenever and however it attacks.

DEATH OF WILLIAM F. BOYER

William F. Boyer, who left Wayne July 22, for Camp Dodge with a bunch of other young men, died of pneumonia Monday, October 21, 1918, in Camp Lee, Virginia, to which place he was transferred shortly after leaving Wayne to take a course in veterinary work, and was assigned to Co. 8 in that camp.

He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Boyer, for many years residents of this county, but now of Zimmerman, Minnesota, where they moved a year or two ago, and to which place the body will be sent.

William Boyer was born January 25, 1891, in Cook county, Illinois, and came with his folks to this county about sixteen years ago. He was an industrious, dependable young man, a faithful member of the Lutheran church, and also a member of the Altona home guards, and one much respected and beloved by all. He worked for twelve years for Frank Exleben and to him it was a second home, and by that family he will be greatly missed. He leaves a father, mother, two brothers and a sister to mourn his death.

His parents came from Minnesota to visit him here before his departure, and remained until he was called to go. Thus another young life has been given for the cause of all of the people, and though his end came not on field of battle amid scenes of strife, yet he none the less made the "supreme sacrifice" while on duty to which he was ever faithful, and thus another gold star must be added to the Wayne county service flag.

SOLDIER LADS REMAIN HOME

The seventy-five soldier boys called and inducted into service at the court house Sunday afternoon, and who were to have entrained for California Monday forenoon received orders to remain at home until further notice. About twelve of the number called were unable to appear, or were released by the examining physician on account of sickness; but the others were inducted into service. In the usual form, though the public could not be admitted to the room owing to board of health regulations. The boys were given their instructions from A. R. Davis, W. O. Hansen and S. X. Cross of the committee named for that purpose. A large number of friends and relatives assembled outside, and Attorney F. S. Berry made a short talk to them. A representative of the Red Cross gave to each one a comfort kit.

Monday morning the boys reported as directed, but though special cars were sent for them the order to start was not given; and late in the afternoon an order came from the governor releasing all for the present. Many of the young men expressed much disappointment at the turn events had taken; but all realized that it was not wise to start the new men to camp in the face of the epidemic of influenza and pneumonia prevailing, and Governor Neville is to be commended for securing the recall of the order. Iowa troops had much the same experience.

THE DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE FOR STATE SENATOR

Before the voter goes to the booth to select a man to stand as his representative in the upper house of the legislative body, it is right that he should know what kind of a man has been selected as a candidate by the members of a great political party, and also what he thinks and pledges to do for the people, if made a representative. Chas. Graff of Bancroft was the choice of one party for the place, and the Democrat editor from acquaintance with the man and his record on economic questions in the past and his pledges for the future takes a pride in endorsing and supporting the nominee of the party.

Born in the state of Illinois, he came to Nebraska when he became of age, in the days when the state was comparatively young, and he has been a force for right things as he saw them in his home community and the state ever since. He has made enemies in other days by his fearless and independent action and efforts to place good legislation on the statutes of the state. He is not a party man in the sense the "peanut" politician who log-rolls and trades and swaps support for measures of doubtful merit and trades for what he cannot get on the merits of his proposition. Mr. Graff served one term in the lower house of our legislature, and as chairman of one of the committees on banks and banking assumed the responsibility of putting our excellent state banking guarantee law on the statute, and it has well stood the test of time and the assaults of those who believed or professed to believe that the bank could do no wrong, and that those who deposited their money there needed no protection. It has proven a strength to the banking institutions of the state and a benefit to the people.

As a farmer and stock grower and a member of the state board of agriculture he has gained a wide acquaintance over the state, and he is known as a man of good judgment who has confidence in his ability to see right, and acts from conviction. In the performance of his duties as a member of this board he has made a record which classes him as able, fearless and honorable; one who is not a dodger on any question, and thus he has come to be recognized as a leading member of that board whose opinion is given great weight by his associates on the board.

Since war began, and before, he has been actively identified with the war workers in many lines of endeavor, and much of his time has been freely given for duties along that line. Twice this year he has been sent to Washington, D. C., on matters of importance relating to what seemed to be serious problems affecting our state's interest in war activities. His judgment, his charity and kindness and known honesty of purpose have been of untold value in uniting citizens as one man in confronting many of the crises arising these days.

His campaign has been made secondary to these great community interests, and his greater gift to his country; for a son has been taken from their home never to return; he passing away from pneumonia at a southern camp two weeks ago.

In these days when men of courage, judgment and charity are needed in our legislative halls, men of wide acquaintance and ripe experience; men who will without fear or favor carry out the policies of the government in state and nation, it is a real pleasure to commend to our readers such a nominee as Hon. Chas. Graff for a seat in the state senate.

R. R. VALUATION PROCEEDING

Two special cars have been here several days carrying crews of men who are representing the railroads and the government, and their duties are to measure up the track, the sidings, the switches and note the condition of all equipment and the kind and quantity and report for a complete valuation of every bit of railroad property on the "Omaha." This work is going on over the entire country, and some day the reports will be in, and Uncle Sam will have an idea of what he has on hand in the shape of railroad property. Tuesday the cars moved on to Winside.

Miss Beatty of Orchard, came Saturday afternoon to be with her nephew, Howard Miller, who is sick at the Normal.

Mrs. Phoebe Brink and daughter spent several days visiting Mrs. Brink's sister, Mrs. Wm. Wroebel and family, returned to their home at Emerson Friday.

Mrs. Dan McManigal, who is visiting at Los Angeles, California, sends her address to the Democrat, and adds that she is feeling pretty well, and that it is very warm there—old timers say warmer than usual for the time of the year. She has met a few Nebraska people in the two weeks she has been there, and they are all well, and all she is lacking is the home news, which is now on the way.

Matt Jones of Carroll, made a business trip to Wayne Saturday morning. Dr. C. A. McMaster went to Lincoln Saturday to see a brother who leaves for camp soon.

Earl Rimel and wife returned from Laurel Saturday morning after a few days visit with Mrs. Rimel's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kramer of Butte, came Friday to care for their son who is very ill at the Normal with influenza.

Miss Josephine Briggs of Hawarden, Iowa, came Friday evening for a week's visit with her brother Orin Briggs and family.

Miss Julia Brown from Valentine came Saturday evening to visit here at the home of her uncle, A. S. Lowther and family.

Mrs. J. H. Poster went to Norfolk Friday evening for a visit with friends and help care for some who are sick with influenza.

Mrs. S. E. Overocker, mother of Mrs. W. B. Vail, who has been visiting a son at Rock Rapids, Iowa, returned to Wayne Friday evening.

Miss Maghild Nelson, who teaches northwest of Wayne, left Friday morning for a visit with home folks at Wausa. Her school being closed.

Geo. McEachen's Poland China boar sale will be held as scheduled, Saturday, October 26, at Wayne. Permission to hold public sales has been obtained from the State Board of Health.—Adv

Sergeant Elmer Gailey who has been here from Camp Funston enjoying a ten-day furlough here with his wife and his parents at Elgin, left for camp Friday morning. His wife accompanied him as far as Norfolk.

Harry Ellsworth from Tabor, Iowa, came Sunday morning to shuck corn in the good fields of this county. Elmer Jones, near Carroll, one of his neighbors when Jones lived in Iowa, engaged him to go to his place. The young man is a nephew of Harry McMillan, but as Mr. and Mrs. McMillan were away from home he will make his visit with them later.

Mrs. Mary A. Biggins from Bonesteel, South Dakota, came Sunday to accompany her daughter, who has been sick at the Normal to her home. They left Monday morning. Her daughter is very much improved in health and Mrs. Biggins said the treatment she had received while sick at the school was certainly worthy of great praise.

Dr. Young's Dental Office over the First National Bank Phone 307.—Adv-29-44

Miss Alice Pearson who has been attending the Wayne Normal, left Monday for her home in Tekamah.

Miss Josephine Briggs who has been a guest at the Orin Briggs home, returned to Hawarden, Iowa Monday.

Miss Ethel Hill who has been here visiting a brother at the Normal, returned to her home at Thurston Monday afternoon.

Miss Bernice and Morris Blake, who have been visiting at the Chas. Lessman home, returned to their home at Wakefield Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. W. W. Roberts has been here helping care for her son, H. H. Roberts, who is sick with influenza, left for her home at Oakland Monday afternoon.

Mrs. O. E. Jackson who has been here for some time helping nurse Mrs. Victor Carlson, left Monday afternoon for her home in Sioux City. She reports Mrs. Carlson's condition as critical.

Geo. McEachen's Poland China boar sale will be held as scheduled, Saturday, October 26, at Wayne. Permission to hold public sales has been obtained from the State Board of Health.—Adv

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Sweet who have been visiting Mrs. Sweet's sister, Mrs. Elmer Noakes and family, for the past three weeks and who had quite an attack of influenza while here, returned to their home at Omaha Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry McMillan and Mrs. Bessie Church went to Long Pine Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. McMillan went there to visit their brother-in-law, and Mrs. McMillan's sister before he left for camp in California, he being one of the men to go this week.

R. C. Benson, brother of Bill Benson, who had been to Omaha to accompany the body of his sister-in-law who had been there visiting and contracted the Spanish influenza which caused her death to her home and last resting place at Dallas, South Dakota, stopped over between trains in Wayne.

Two of the boys from Lincoln training were home Saturday and Sunday, and as they have finished the course there, they expect orders to move soon, and the order perhaps would have come before this but for the epidemic breaking into plans, Arthur Hinnerichs and William Thielman were the lads.

It is the strangest thing in the world that a newspaper man should be compelled to solicit advertising or offer argument for its use. Funny isn't it, that the man who thinks he is a business man, will get up in the morning from an advertised mattress shave with an advertised razor, put on advertised pajamas and put on advertised underwear, advertised hose, shirt, collar, tie, advertised hat, seat himself at the table and eat advertised breakfast food, drink advertised coffee or substitute, put on an advertised hat, light an advertised cigar, go to his place of business and turn down an advertising solicitor for his home newspaper on the ground that advertising does not pay.—Pierston (Iowa) Progress.

Kimball (S. D.) Graphic: Here is rather a rich story from a preacher that has been in the Y. M. C. A. work among the soldiers and who is now on his way to France. He was formerly a pastor of the Presbyterian church at Mitchell, and he was down at some training camp recently. They were examining a fellow for service and had him stripped to the waist. He had an emblem tattooed on his chest of the American flag with the bust of Washington and Wilson on either side of it. The physician thumped him over, listened to his heart and lungs and so on, and finally pointing to the design on his chest, said: "You are pretty patriotic, all right." "Yes," he said, "but that isn't anything; I am sitting on the kaiser and Hendenberg," and he was too.

We have heard some complaint of the condition of Wayne streets of late as not being kept in shape for automobile speeding. But that does not seem to make much difference to many, for they speed just the same. Perhaps some of those who objected to having a special officer call them for speeding will feel honored by having the regular chief of police call them into court. When in court we hope the fine will be large enough. If they are guilty so that they will feel honored to pay it. A dollar is just a joke when people persistently violate speed ordinances. Twenty-five or fifty would perhaps be in keeping with an offense which might result in great damage, and even in death. It is not revenge that the law wants, but public safety. No one should needlessly endanger the lives and property of others.

AMERICANS HAVE MORE BECAUSE THEY DO MORE

Just as the American farmer reduced the time necessary to raise a bushel of wheat from 3½ hours to 8 minutes by improved machinery, so have Americans in all walks of life doubled and trebled their producing capacity. They bring to their aid every improved device or machine that increases the result of their labor. Instead of skimping and saving they get busy and do more that they may have more.

Now they are equipping the kitchen with real machinery, and it is high time, as the kitchen range is a cooking machine that works three times a day, every day in the year. As a machine it should be the very best possible. That means that their kitchen should be equip with a Copper-Clad Range, which is plain, smooth, free from hinges, catches and latches, rivet and bolt heads, a range that cleans like a dish and never rusts out.

Holt County Land

Let me put a few ideas into your head about Holt county. The people in Holt county are just as happy and contented as they are in Wayne county, and the opportunity to make money is just as great.

They raise cattle, horses, and pigs, and have lots of room to raise them in. The life is free and open and not crowded. The problem of getting help does not bother them, as it does in the eastern part of the state. A poor man can buy land up there and it is bound to increase in value, to double or treble while land here has just about reached the limit.

Which would you rather have, a nice herd of thoroughbred cattle or a field of corn?

THE DEMOCRAT'S CHURCH

As the ministers of this place were deprived of the opportunity of speaking to their usual congregations Sunday last, and will probably be the next Sunday, we have offered to them space for a sermonette in the Democrat. This will give them a new and often a larger congregation to speak to, and carry their message from coast to coast in this country and from near the gulf to Canada, and in to that country, and across the great deep to the soldier lads in France. Below we give the messages offered, and so long as the churches are closed there will be a place for a sermonette from each local pastor each week, the proviso being that copy come early in the week:

Rev. S. X. Cross says

If those who believe in following Jesus are willing to listen, they may hear him say today: "Inasmuch as ye do it to these my brethren ye do it unto me." "I was sick and ye visited me, or ye visited me not," are his words as recorded.

The Good Samaritan is the person who recognizes his neighbor in the individual who needs help.

We cannot "Go to church" next Sunday, but possibly we can do a service that is even better. Rather, we church folks can now prove the seriousness of the professions we make in church on Sunday. No one can marvel that any thinking person should doubt the genuineness of the religion of a man or woman whose actions are selfish.

It is a great thing—almost a wonderful thing—to live in this day of sacrifice. We who live selfishly today do so at our peril. The world today is a world of struggle. Back of the great war lies the proud, selfish, brutal struggle of social ambition with all its ugly envy and bitterness. Human need summons you and me to succor: let us not, with sanctimonious faces averted pass by on the other side!

Possibly the meanest type of selfishness in the world today is cloaked by a profession of unselfish devotion to the interests of a group. But from Jesus' viewpoint, no boundaries of family or lodge or church can circumscribe the sphere in which a man is born to serve.

Where shall the church be found when it comes to ministering to human suffering and sickness? Maybe the church at large is doing such service unto the least of these!

Shame upon the individual who seeks to shield his indifference or indolence, in the presence of a cry for help, behind any claim of service rendered by the church at large. The fact that there still may be found the milk of human kindness in the hearts of some makes my neglect to visit Him when he is sick all the more culpable.

Jesus also said: "He that is greatest among you shall be your servant." A person's true greatness is measured by the amount of helpfulness he renders to his fellow men. On the world's honor roll, the names of the great are the names of humanity's servants. Human society is a large family. The greatest in the long run shall be servant of all.

The Changeless Christ —
Rev. F. J. Jordan

Jesus, Christ the same yesterday, and today and forever. Hebrews 13:8. The greatest blessing which can come to the world and church is that of knowing there is a changeless person, one who is absolute, one whom time has not altered.

Geographically we have changed from a land which was at one time isolated to a country of many cities and varied industries. Intellectually we have changed from ignorance and superstition to the greatest enlightened age in history. In the realm of spiritual things we have made progress from great formalism to spirituality and this world war has had its influence upon these various phases of theological thought. Nature changes four times each year, and to many it would be monotonous if she did not put on a new dress occasionally. We change continually during our pilgrimage upon this earth. Scientists tell us that we are new individuals every seven years. One day we are strong, the next weak,—one day resolved, the next wavering,—one day holy, the next sinning. The world is in a state of constant instability; but the Christian world is secure because it rests on the words of our text.

1. Christ is the same in His personality and power.

His character has never changed. He is still the sinless, holy, perfect, true and pure person that he was while he tabernacled on this earth. He is rejected by many today as he was in his own life time. He is cursed, condemned, abused and yet the same. His power is seen in the world at the present hour, although manifested in different ways. His authority cannot be questioned and is as strong as when he said: "All power and authority is given to me both in heaven and on earth."

2. He is the same in His attitude toward the church.

His love for it has never changed, although the church in its organized forms has materially been transformed from one generation to another. Christ still gives us power over temptation. Think of the thousands who would fall by the wayside with burdens too grievous to be borne if it were not for the dynamic which comes from personal communion with our Lord. And again his promises are as constant to us as they were to the early church: "Lo I am with you always, even unto the end of the ages."

3. He is the same in His attitude towards sinners.

Here too his love for them has not changed. He will save to the uttermost all that come to him. The plan of redemption is the same as when he gave it to the church. He is still saying to the thirsty ones come and be filled; to the impure be pure; to the naked be clothed and to the lost ones be saved. He is uncompromising in his attitude toward sin. This has no place in his holy character. He who rejects Christ's offered mercy condemns himself. It is not God's plan that any should perish, but that all should come to a knowledge of the truth. To him who comes to the Christ he gives abundant life in this world and the one to come.

In conclusion we find that changes are necessary and this world would be a tiresome place to live in if it were not for this fact. But because everything is in flux about us this is all the more reason we need a changeless Christ to direct and mold our lives so that we may become like him in thought and in deed.

Jesus Christ, the same yesterday, and today and forever. What the Greeks said to Philip long ago the people of the new world after the war will continue to say: "Sirs, we would see Jesus." The supreme task of the church is to lift up the Crucified Christ more than it has in the past. He alone can satisfy the deepest longings of the human soul.

At even ere the sun was set,
The sick, O Lord around Thee lay;
O in what divers pains they met!
O with what joy they went away!

Once more 'tis eventide, and we,
Oppressed with various ills, draw near
What if thy form we cannot see?
We know and feel that thou art here.

As has been said above, the world changes, but the hungering and thirsting after righteousness is just as deep in the hearts of men as ever it was. Jesus Christ is the way, the truth and the life, no man cometh to the Father except by me. He is the same yesterday, and today, and forever.

The Meaning of Trial
Rev. J. H. Fetterolf

James 1:2. The trying of your faith worketh patience.

Perhaps never in history has the world faced trials and burdens as now. The world is rent by sorrow and agony. Millions of people have their peace of mind disturbed by anxiety for the safety of their loved ones or for the speedy bringing about of a victorious and righteous peace. The long continued war has brought hunger, suffering and death upon a distracted world. In the midst of these hardships and trials men are seriously asking themselves what the meaning and explanation of this long continued tribulation may be. Does it in any way relate itself to our deeper life? Does it have any relation to the purpose of God toward men? We believe it has.

"The trying of your faith worketh patience" is the word of inspiration. We generally think that trial and sorrow have the opposite effect, for that they work impatience. But God contradicts that view. When we are led by the Spirit of God to do his will, trial produces patience. Sorrow, or trial has always been a great teacher. Its gifts to the cause of religion have been great. Out of it has sprung a life-experience that we would not gladly surrender. To make the richest contributions to the cause of Christ most of us have to be chafed and twisted and disturbed by God's providences. Were we permitted to remain at ease there would be grave danger that we would "settle on the less" and so miss the richest treasures of our experience.

Nothing could be truer than the words of Christ, "In the world ye shall have tribulation." It is always so. Rich and poor, believer and unbeliever have it. We are in a sea of trouble. We get it somewhere. It comes to all whether we have an explanation for it or not. We may not be able to square it with infinite love and pity but the fact of its presence cannot be denied.

The text gives a hint as to the purpose of trials. They are sent of God, or permitted by Him, not for his children's destruction but for their discipline. They lead us to examine ourselves. They arouse an interest in our standing and relation to God. Well that they do, for only as we become conscious of our weakness and dependence do we commit all our interests to an unflinching God. The shepherd casts his flock into deep waters to wash them, not to drown them. The gardener uses his knife to prune the vines that he may keep them from running to leaves. Pruning brings fruit, and that is what God wants in us. Trial is the school in which the richest graces are acquired. It is an expensive school but from it the best characters are graduated.

Very few have any doubt but that God has a deep purpose in every trial. Trials are not hindrances to brave, but the agencies, or wings to bear us up. They are meant to strengthen our faith in God. Nor are we to regard trials as judgments. If anything they are disciplinary. Everywhere discipline means growth. It is only by discipline that we grow in body, mind or spirit.

No man knows the quality of his faith until it has been tested. In fair weather we may appear strong, but our true character is never made manifest until the storm comes. What is our attitude then? Do we trust Him, or do we falter and fail? No man should boast of the fruits of his life until he has passed the crisis of trial. These times today are testing times, when men's souls are tried by a supreme test. Are we made humble and contrite by the events of today? Does our faith ring true?

THE JOINT DRIVE

On November 11, a combined drive will be made in behalf of the various organizations that are aiding the government in its effort to maintain in the army the moral standards of the home. Heretofore, these organizations have presented separate appeals, but it has been decided, and wisely so, to combine them and divide according to a ratio agreed upon all subscriptions which do not specifically name one of the organizations as a beneficiary.

The war has exerted a powerful influence in drawing the different denominations nearer together. Gentle and Jew, Protestant and Catholic are fighting side by side; they are sharing risk and glory together. They have learned to respect each other and each has become more tolerant of the other's religion. They are not less religious—on the contrary, their religious convictions have been deepened—but they have learned charity, and that charity will have influence when the war is over.

The joint appeal is a result of this coming together and will, in turn, prove the cause of a still closer union. The response ought to be prompt and generous.—W. J. Bryan.

Was born in Jones county, Iowa. Answering the question all voters are interested in as to my ability: I completed high school in Wyoming, Jones county, Iowa, in 1887. Came west the same year. Taught seven terms of school in Polk county, Nebraska. Went back to Jones county, taught one winter term, and farmed there until I came to Wayne in 1899.

Howard M. James, my proposed deputy, is a high school graduate. Spent three years and one summer studying shorthand, typewriting, bookkeeping, banking business and the regular college course at the State Normal.

Did you hear anything snap—it was Hendenberg line.

The kaiser seems to be trying the "kamerad" cry these days. But he must give up the gun before it will be accepted as serious.

Do not be a slacker—which means in this instance, vote on election day, and vote for the good of your country and humanity, as you are given light to see the truth.

Let's see, the kaiser had Napoleon as one of his patron saints—well he had better go to Hell—aha and follow the other world-conqueror all the way to purgatory.

We have it on no less authority than the Hartington Herald, that the entire republican state committee and organization is backing up the candidacy of Senator Norris. Well, from reports, they will need all of the united effort to pull their man across.

The latest German note in reply to the Wilson note of the week before, appears to be a clumsy effort to divide the allies, gain time for the army to get a new foot hold and appease home folks who are tired of war. It is very apt to prove a failure along the entire line.

S. R. McKelvie, the republican nominee for governor, was at Wayne Friday, and as he is in the newspaper business to the extent of running a farm paper by proxy, he paid the Democrat a fraternal call. His little platform declares for winning the war—no partisanship in war activities; is against profiteering and the development of the natural resources of the state, (but he does not say who by or who for), and that waste, graft and favoritism must be displaced by efficiency and honest service. Well, that is just what the democrats have been doing since they ousted the republicans, and the records show it clearly.

Chas. Graff of Bancroft was nominated as a candidate from this senatorial district on a platform of his own make, and it did not ask anyone to vote for him, but it did urge every voter to exercise the right of franchise and vote as to him seemed right. So we believe he would say now. That our readers may know for what he stands, space is taken elsewhere to tell a little of the man, and his characteristics, and for what he will strive if made the representative of the people of this senatorial district. Read the little story.

Roosevelt hopes that the senate of the United States and all other persons competent to speak for the American people will emphatically repudiate the so-called fourteen points and various similar utterances of President Wilson, according to a quotation from a recent utterance. Well, will Theodore, or any one else, give us something better? We hate to see a fellow knock what the other fellow does and not give a substitute that is an improvement. Senator Sherman objects in the name of protection. If we have a class of citizens who must be hired by the government to be loyal—it is time to find out who they are, and their price, that the question of whether they are worth it or not may be considered. Let us prepare to live up to the democracy we are fighting to establish, at home as well as abroad.

Robert E. Evans from Dakota City, republican candidate for congress from this district, was at Wayne one morning last week, while making his tour of the district. We have not yet seen anything which tells for what he is standing, except the office. He is a splendid citizen, we are told, and an able attorney; but personally the editor is fairly well satisfied with the record made by Congressman Dan V. Stephens, and many others seem of that opinion. We believe that now is a poor time to trade, unless you know you have a bad one in stock. No one need be accused of disloyalty for running for office on any ticket, we believe, but we also believe that it is the part of wisdom on part of the people to return men to congress who have proven loyal there, and in accord with practically every move of the head of the administration. Upon President Wilson rests the burden of responsibility for all great questions come to him for final adjustment. He selects his advisors and his aids, and he is entitled to a congress that will be in complete harmony with his policy so long as it is right and so very successful in every department as it has been. Congressman Stephens is in position now, and will so continue if reelected to congress, to be of far more aid to the president and also to the people of this district than can a new man, no matter how able. We would favor keeping the worthy and able members of congress for another term rather than change. While the Democrat is for men of its party so long as it believes them right, it is for our country before our party; but in this instance we believe we can be for both our country and our party by supporting the present member of congress from this district.

See the Democrat for sale bills.

LISTEN—NEBRASKA DEMOCRAT NAMED A POET

Not one of the impractical dreamy kind of poets, but none the less a man with a vision—a song in his heart and the flow of language to express it in verse. In addition to the ability to write verses he has performed a wonderful, practical and valuable work during the first term as commissioner of public lands and buildings. We refer to G. L. Shumway of Scotts Bluff, and after we have given you a chance to read his record as a public official, briefly told, you may have the verse, which came to us on a card giving the view so graphically told. Wish we had a hundred of those cards.

A Business Record
 "Value of school lands increased more than one and one-half million dollars in one and one-half years."
 "Annual rentals for support of common schools increased $95,804 or $17,591 more than the total in ten previous years."

"Lost, unused, escheated and exchanged lands have been found, reclaimed, recovered and selected, adding $50,000 value to permanent school funds."

"A mineral law enacted and the 'spoilers' stopped from a 'big grab' at the state's resources. Potash exploiters must come clean and pay the state."

"Activities of this office has encouraged the test drillings for oil in six sections of the state."

Old loose ways have been thrown out, and the office is now conducted on a business basis.

"If the record suits you, please remember with your votes and it will be appreciated in good services for two years more."

Is there a friend of the public school system of the state who can vote against such a man? If so, his friendship to schools might be well questioned. Here is the poem; which calls to mind lines of "Scott's Lady of the Lake":

Moonlight on Scottsbluff
 Low in the West
 The silhouette of hills,
 Then beetling crags,
 Of Scottsbluff Mountain rise.
 The atmosphere
 A vibrant silence fills
 Presaging tempests;
 Hanging from the skies
 Dark cumulus swings,
 And low upon the lands,
 But through a rift
 Pierces a moonbeam bright
 Revealing
 A shimmering expanse
 Of water, all
 Aquivering with light.
 And from the shade
 Ascending to the skies
 The signal smokes
 Of Hiram Scott arise.
 —G. L. Shumway.

Chas. Spurway, editor and publisher of the Dakota County Record of South Sioux City, was looking after business matters at Wayne Wednesday. From here he went to Plainview on a business mission. He is having a very fine harvest of advertising in the Record, as politics seems to be warm up in that vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. George Miner, who have been at Wessington, South Dakota, for the past three months came home Thursday and are greeting friends and neighbors.

The war is going merrily on at this writing, and a bunch of 15,000 German soldiers are said to have thought internment in Holland better than to be prisoners of war. Perhaps, but they should be made to pay in work for their board in either event. When the war news tells that the enemy is on a speedy retreat along a 250 mile front it looks pretty good. Of course, when they come to the German border there are fortifications calculated to stop any ordinary army. But who knows but that a fleet of airships may start in some evening and land 50,000 allied troops behind their lines before morning, armed with death dealing shot guns, and march on to Berlin.

INTERESTING WAR LETTER FROM SOLDIER AT FRONT

Lieut. Warren E. MacGregor Sends Splendid Letter to Parents Here, Rev. and Mrs. MacGregor

France, October 3, 1918.

Dear Mother and Father:

I received your letter today and it took it a month and one day to reach me. I was very glad to get it, because my mail has been slow in reaching me since being transferred to the 129th Field hospital. You asked me how I am getting along, well I feel fine, but believe I am some thinner. Our cats are better now, since we are in the American sector. You asked me if we would be in action again. We are at present. This field hospital is some three miles from the front lines. We take care of all the wounded from the 129th and 130th infantries. The boys have been in the trenches for about twenty-four days and we are all looking for the time when we will be relieved for a few days rest. I guess a rest is due us, but it seems as if the German are on the run and we have to keep them going. A good many wounded come in every day and night. Not over fifteen minutes ago the Germans blew up our advanced dressing station. One M. D. captain was killed and many of the hospital corps boys and ambulance drivers were hurt. A field hospital one half mile from us was blown up by artillery fire. It had over 3,000 wounded and dying soldiers in it, many of the men who were able came over to us. Shells fall on all sides of us many times a day, but we have been lucky so far as none of the shells have hit us. The 25th of September this division made a push ahead, we had to follow the infantry over by two days. The territory we crossed was land Germany held for four years, our men took it with very few casualties. I never saw a stretch of country in all this war so badly torn to pieces. Shell holes as large as half of our front yard 12 and 15 feet deep, two and three together, most of them not more than a foot apart. Crossing "Dead Man's Hill" was the worst. I spent a whole night there in mud and rain, coming forward with six large trucks that carried our hospital equipment. We traveled some twenty miles and it took us fifty-eight hours to make the trip. We were stuck in the mud some thirty times, the roads had been torn up by our barrage, and the enemy had mined all the bridges which were destroyed. I saw many dead Germans and a few Americans where they had fallen, some in shell holes, others in the fields.

Along the road, the soldiers were digging a trench to put the dead Germans in. They were all piled up near the road ready for burial. German soldiers have been coming out of dugouts and surrendering for almost a week, many of them were missed in our advance as we drove thousands of them back. Some of them had not eaten a meal in four days.

We captured a good many prisoners and from what they say we think the end is near.

The airplanes drop the evening papers to us every night. We hear Bulgaria has surrendered, and Austria-Hungary is thinking of doing so, this kind of news makes us boys in the lines happy, and we are all wearing a smile.

I am writing this letter on a magazine so can hardly read it myself. When the artillery behind us starts shooting I usually write a word in double-quick time.

Our wounded soldiers are a very brave bunch of men. None complain and take their wounds as if they were only scratches. They always want a cigarette, so we always have plenty on hand for them. I try to do my bit to relieve their suffering, but we only keep them here a few hours before we send them back farther from danger. We are getting plenty of gas here in this part of the front. Many gas cases come in each day. It is a very peculiar smelling gas. The gas alarm goes off three or four times every night. Fritz will never get a chance to gas me for I am usually awake at the sound of the first gong. I have had very little sleep of late, but one of these days we will be coming home and then I pity the fellow who will try to keep me from sleeping. The Huns have put over about thirty shells since I started this letter, we have sent back about four times that many.

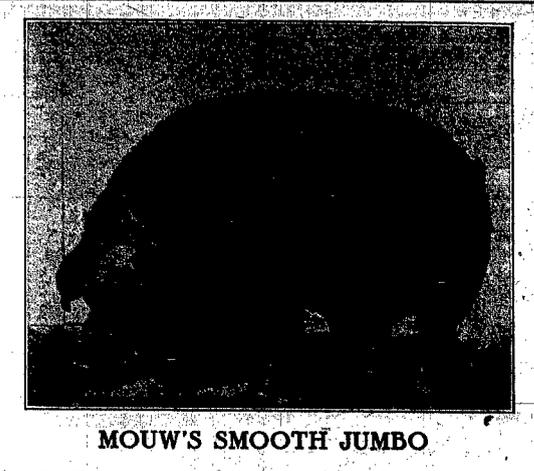

Your loving son, Warren E. MacGregor, First Lieutenant, D. D. S.

LETTER FROM WAYNE EVANS

Somewhere in France, August 10, 1918.—Dear Folks: Received your letter and have been trying to answer for quite a while, but it seems as though I never could get a letter finished, but I have a good enough excuse as you can see by all the papers within the last month or so what we boys have been doing, and of course, I am one of the many boys. Was somewhat "bummed up" for a few days, but you know one cannot let a good thing go after once started, so you can bet what keeps the Germans from enjoying their sauerkraut. We have plenty of it, and surely enjoy using it on them. Their old "kamerad" stuff don't go with us any longer and they are aware of the fact now. I am feeling fine now and just raring to go at it again.

Well, I am wearing two gold stripes now, which represents one year over in actual service, so you see we who wear them class ourselves with all French and English veterans; can go wherever they do and can hold our own with the next one wherever we are put.

You know before you do a Yankee you have to show them, and we all think the sooner the better, for we are all anxious to have it over to get back to the good old U. S. A. I see by the papers I get that you are all staying by the Red Cross at home. Everything is for the Red Cross, and I tell you folks it is sure a fine organization, for I certainly have been across long enough to know they do grand work, and when one of us go down we know it will be but a short time before that one is picked up, wounds dressed, then rushed to a hospital, where he gets the very best of care. The Red Cross is surely grand.

I have not been able to see many of the boys from home. Haven't seen Albert or Keith since last spring but hear from them. I had one great surprise. While we were going through a place where some American soldiers are billeted, we stopped for a rest. I looked the soldiers over but saw no one who looked like Traer, when some one came up and spoke. Who was it but Harry Geehl? I was surely surprised as I didn't know he was over here. It surely seems good to run onto some familiar face.

I suppose Traer is about run out of young men, as from what I hear everyone is in the army, and if they are not, they better be or they will be roasted alive when we get back. Wait until we "all" get back (I said pall, did you get it?) then we will talk about what we have seen, and all the hairbreadth stunts that we pulled off, and believe me, I'll try to have a jack knife left so as to be able to sit on a cracker box (if it's large enough—235 pounds) and whittle as much as the next fellow. I understand that it is about all we did before we left. Nevertheless, we are doing our part to save the country for those who slam us.

Haven't seen or heard from Elwyn yet. Send me his address. I don't suppose I'll ever run onto him as there are soldiers of every size, shape and color here.

Well, this is about all for now. Hope this finds you all as well as I am now. Will write again soon as I can. Don't worry about me. Lots of love.—Wayne Evans, in Carroll Index.

HARRY EVANS TELLS WAR STORIES TO HOME FOLKS

He was in advance of his men and had just reached the farthest end of the trench when he was shot through the body by half dozen boches who had stolen into the place. Immediately the Germans threw a barrage between the body of the lieutenant and his men.

Then they threw a bomb on the prostrate body of the lieutenant, then turned him over and shot him through the forehead. After cutting off his insignia that his regiment might be identified, they ran.

Meanwhile the barrage had been silenced by our guns, and as the Germans were endeavoring to make their getaway, four of them were killed by the lieutenant's men. They took his body back and carried it to the village. It was taken to a dugout and later in the evening with a number of his company, I visited the place. The dugout was lined with wild flowers and they were piled high on the pier. A skillful undertaker had dressed the body and the features of the young lieutenant were beautiful in the composure of the last sleep.

And here on this historic ground over which Caesar fought his wars with Gauls, ravished by Attila, red-dened with the blood of soldiers under Napoleon and Blucher, this young American hero was laid to rest.

Of all the wars that have ravished this fair land, the present war in which our American boys are engaged is the only one every fought for freedom. When the records of men who have fallen on this field in this century, and in the bloody centuries of the past, are made up, the record-angel may note this distinction.

When we returned to the village although the hour was late, the boys were waiting and insisted on a meeting. Some three hundred, crowded into a trench foyer—and such a meeting! An intimate, friendly, roundtable discussion of the war, of home affairs and home folks, of the strange environments surrounding us. During the meeting a sergeant came in and announced that the men of Company B were to report at headquarters at once.

About forty left, we learned later that suspicious circumstances had arisen on the line and they were sent to reinforce the men already there. The men were as responsive to a bit of humor as to the pathos surrounding the death of their loved lieutenant—responding to the first by roars of laughter; to the latter by oppressive stillness. And how they stood and cheered at the news received that day that there were practically one million Americans on French soil, and another million would land in the next ten weeks.

A captain told me the boys were demanding opportunity for reprisal for the lieutenant's death. He stated they were enraged over the treatment of the body after death was certain, and that it had been necessary to give strict commands that no adventures be undertaken against the Huns without authorization.

"They will pay for it," declared the captain, with a snap of the jaw. "The boys will have their opportunity."

The boys are in the best of physical condition, thanks to life in the open and good wholesome food—and their spirits are fine. I have yet to see the chap who complained of homesickness. I have not seen one moping about camp in a fit of the blues.

"My old dad seems to think we all have the dumps over here," said an upstanding fellow from M—. "I wrote and told him to can that stuff and that if he'd hold out 'till we finish the job, I sure would."

One is impressed by their levity. It's give and take and no quarter. To use a common but expressive phrase, they rag each other to beat the band. One chap inquired, why it is that the powers that be have divided up the regiments.

"Why, my regiment," he exclaimed, "is tore up into a dozen pieces. There's only two companies of us here. Why don't they leave us all together? And our companies are all torn up. We fellows volunteered from my town and supposed we'd be together."

"Don't you understand," explained another, "Suppose they left us fellows from one town together, and suppose we got in a hot fight—and all were killed. That would be hard on the town."

"O, I don't know as it would hurt your town," was the quick retort.

Just at the close of the meeting Sergeant C. was brought in badly wounded. He was in an observation post when a barrage was thrown between him and his trench. Six Germans attacked him. Instead of surrendering he gave fight, using his revolver. Later when our troops reached the spot four men were lying prone on the ground—three dead Germans and the sergeant, the latter shot through the lungs.

An ambulance carried him back to the hospital where he is putting up a splendid fight for recovery.

As he left the camp, smiling in spite of his suffering, he said, "Go after 'em boys. One American is good for three Fritzies any day!"

The bodies of the Germans had been brought in and were laid away for burial in the morning. The boys stood about quietly discussing the courage of their comrade.

PATRIOTISM

A nation is made great, not by its fruitful acres, but by the men, who cultivate them; not by its great forests, but by the men who use them; not by its mines, but by the men who work them; not by its railways, but by the men who build and run them. America was a great land when Columbus discovered it; Americans have made of it a great nation.

In 1776 our fathers had a vision of a new nation "conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal." Without an army they fought the greatest of existing world empires that they might realize this vision. A third of a century later, without a navy they fought the greatest navy in the world that they might win for their nation the freedom of the seas. Half a century later they fought through an unparalleled Civil war that they might establish for all time on this continent the inalienable right of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. A third of a century later they fought to emancipate an oppressed neighbor, and, victory won, gave back Cuba to the Cubans, sent an army of schoolmasters to educate for liberty the Filipinos, asked no war indemnity from their vanquished enemy, but paid him liberally for his property. Meanwhile they offered land freely to any farmer who would live upon and cultivate it, opened to foreign immigrants on equal terms the door of industrial opportunity, and provided by universal taxation for universal education.

The cynic who can see in this history only a theme for his egotistical satire, is no true American, whatever his parentage, whatever his birthplace. He who looks with pride upon this history which his fathers have written by their heroic deeds, who accept with gratitude the inheritance which they have bequeathed to him, and who highly resolves to preserve this inheritance unimpaired and to pass it on to his descendants, enlarged and enriched, is a true American, be his birthplace or his parentage what may.—Lyman Abbott in the Outlook.

THE GOVERNOR AT WEST POINT

Concerning the visit of Governor Neville at West Point last week the Democrat gives the following account, and as it is possible the governor may not be able to come to Wayne during the campaign, and should he come, but few could hear him under present conditions of health regulation, we give this brief report:

Governor Keith Neville was in the city Monday noon and delivered a short but able address on the issues before us in this campaign, to a fair sized crowd near the postoffice. The chairman of the democratic central committee, introduced the governor. No one can listen to Governor Neville without at once observing his open, candid expression of his policy regarding the affairs of state, and admire him for it. Men may honestly differ, but none can dispute the governor's sincerity and his ability in meeting the duties of that office. The voters who heard him here on Monday again assert their support of his candidacy for a reelection and desire that on November 5 he be returned to the governor's chair with a magnificent majority, and that he be entrusted with the affairs of state for a second term. With the governor was W. B. Banning of Union, the democratic candidate for Lieutenant Governor. He spoke but a few minutes, yet therein showed those qualities which appeal to men. The two gentlemen made an overland trip by automobile to visit as many voters as possible in this congressional district, in their limited time.

"Spokes"—and the Swift "Wheel"

What would you consumers think of a wheel without spokes?

What would you think of a man who would take any or all of the spokes out of a wheel to make it run better?

Swift & Company's business of getting fresh meat to you is a wheel, of which the packing plant is only the hub. Retail dealers are the rim—and Swift & Company Branch Houses are the spokes.

The hub wouldn't do the wheel much good and you wouldn't have much use for hub or rim if it weren't for the spokes that fit them all together to make a wheel of it.

Swift & Company Branch Houses are placed, after thorough investigation, in centers where they can be successfully operated and do the most good for the most people at the least possible cost.

Each "spoke" is in charge of a man who knows that he is there to keep you supplied at all times with meat, sweet and fresh; and who knows that if he doesn't do it, his competitor will.

How much good would the hub and the rim of the Swift "wheel" do you if the spokes were done away with?

THE FLU IN OTHER PLACES

At Bloomfield a dozen or more deaths have been reported, and many are ill of the trouble. Many cases are very severe. Four died in one family and three in another. All ages and classes appear to be suffering from the epidemic.

At Randolph there have been many deaths, and many severe cases. In addition to closing the schools and public meeting, the mayor has issued orders for the business houses to close daily at noon, and remain closed until 8 o'clock the following morning. No gatherings are permitted on the street, and Sunday opening, except for medicine is strictly forbidden.

At Crofton many are said to be ill, and a number of deaths have resulted.

Ponca had many serious cases and seven or eight deaths were reported last week.

Of conditions at Hartington last week the Herald said: The Spanish influenza is still raging in this vicinity, and, in spite of the most strenuous efforts of the physicians and the authorities to check the spread of the disease, its ravages continue unabated, and the dreadful malady is reaping a big harvest in this community. Cases of the epidemic are multiplying rapidly, and, while the doctors are literally traveling day and night, they cannot begin to cover the ground, and hours of delay sometimes occur before a sick person can receive attention. Dr. Johnson of Fordyce is himself seriously sick with the disease, and this leaves only the two local physicians to cover this entire territory. They are doing the best they can and are putting in long hours of strenuous toil, but there is a limit to what even a doctor can do. The influenza is rampant here, as it is all over the country, and many of the cases are proving fatal. The strictest kind of a quarantine is being maintained—everything closed down tight as a drum, and every sort of public gathering prohibited—but even these stringent precautions are unavailing to stop the spread of the disease. The epidemic is growing rather than abating at the present time, and it will probably be a number of days before the danger is past.

The influenza, as it has been observed in this locality, is a peculiar and malignant disease—harder to deal with, it is said, than such diseases as the scarlet fever. In its early stages, the influenza does not seem so very serious, the patient suffering little or no pain, but more serious symptoms develop as the disease progresses, and the great danger is that pneumonia may set in, which in most cases proves fatal. Influenza is accompanied by a fever which runs all the way from 100 to 104, and which is strangely persistent. In some cases, it subsides at an early stage, but in others, it continues for a number of days. The danger is that the patient, feeling better, may leave his bed too soon and contract the pneumonia. There are a number of cases of this kind in this vicinity, and the important thing for everyone to remember is that the only safe way to combat influenza is for the patient to stay in bed and keep warm until all danger is past—at least 24 hours after the fever is gone.

3. He has made it possible for Nebraska's heroic sons in the service to exercise the right of franchise, and has protected their property rights in their absence from the State.
4. He will exert every effort to protect the people of Nebraska from organized profiteering.
5. He has vigorously opposed all things calculated to embarrass the Government in the prosecution of the war.
6. His administration has been clean, honest and businesslike, free from graft, favoritism and ostentation.
7. The General Fund levy for 1918 has been reduced to three mills, and the amount raised in taxes for the General Fund, will be the least raised in thirty years.
8. Hundreds of thousands of dollars were saved to the farmers through the embargo placed upon seed corn in 1917. The price per bushel in Nebraska ranged from $3.00 to $5.00, while in Iowa and surrounding states, the prices reaped by seed speculators ranged from $5.00 to $12.00.
9. He appointed a committee of prominent stock feeders to confer with the Federal Food Administration, and a market for heavy beef cattle was created, averting disaster to the stock-feeding industry of Nebraska.
10. The State Hail Insurance law has been administered in an efficient and businesslike manner, and all losses sustained by policy holders during the past season will be paid in full. No other State selling hail insurance has ever paid 100 per cent of its losses.
11. The Seed Analysis Branch of the Pure Food Department has, during Governor Neville's administration, made more than 5,000 seed tests, without cost to the farmers of Nebraska.
12. Being advised that there was a shortage of hog cholera serum and virus, and that Nebraska hog raisers were experiencing difficulty in securing prompt delivery of the product, Governor Neville recommended to the Regents of the State University, that the state serum plant be reopened. The Regents acted favorably upon the Governor's recommendation, and immediately directed the reopening of the plant.
13. Prohibition has been energetically enforced throughout the State. There have been 4,527 prosecutions and fines have been assessed aggregating $125,000.00.
14. He was born and reared in Nebraska, and understands the needs of the people.
15. It is unwise to change horses in the middle of a stream.

Nebraska has excelled all other states in many phases of war work endeavor. The re-election of Nebraska's war governor will mean a continuation of effective co-operation in this work.

Harry McMillan and wife and Mrs. Church, returned from their visit to Long Pine Tuesday afternoon.

The reporter for the Minerva club asks that we report that their meetings will be indefinitely postponed.

Mrs. George Lamberson left Wednesday for Bonesteel, South Dakota, to be gone a week or longer to care for her daughter, Mrs. J. E. Bliervnicht, who is sick with influenza.

Mabel Johnson passed through Wayne Thursday evening from Boone, Iowa, where she has been attending school to her home in Hoskins. The school being closed on account of influenza.

Mrs. N. H. Lowry of Chicago, came Tuesday evening for a week's visit with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Frank Gamble. Mrs. Lowry's husband is a surgeon in a base hospital somewhere in France.

Judge A. A. Welch drove to Stanton Monday for a short session of the district court at that place, and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Chace rode over with him to visit relatives at that place until he returned.

Mrs. Shulthels went to Wessington, South Dakota, for a visit at the farm near that place where her son, Arthur, resides. The young man, we are told is developing into a successful farmer and feeder.

Mrs. James Horney, a sister of Mr. Hufford, came from Shreveport, Louisiana, Monday evening. Mr. Horney and daughter came about three weeks ago. Three years ago they purchased a farm near Wayne and are now settling on the place.

The daughter came with the father to enter college at the opening of the school year.

The fuel proposition is one of grave moment these times. Coal is high and scarce, and some day we are going to heat with water, but in the mean time what? Elsewhere is an advertisement which may throw some light on the subject—for it tells of a new burner which economically makes a gas from coal oil and burns it, doing away with much labor, dirt, smoke and litter, without increasing the fuel cost. Read the advertisement of the Valco gas burner.

This is potato week at Wayne, a number of cars having been on track here while being unloaded into the cellars of both merchants and consumers. At least three car loads were on track Tuesday, with about 2,700 bushels. The quality appears to be far better than some other years.

This in part is due to government grading and inspection; but they do say that the farmers of the potato belt are learning to grade same at home so that they do not have so many to haul back. It is better to do part of the work at home than to haul them both ways.

Wayne friends of Mrs. Glenn Wilhelm (nee Mabel Clark) were pleased to read of his recent promotion in the regular army. The story goes that he started as a private some years ago, and by merit made rapid progress, and kept stepping up, sometimes missing a rung of the ladder and going two steps at a time. His latest promotion lands him the rank of Lieut.-Colonel, or second in command of a regiment of 3,600 men.

Mrs. Wilhelm is at Springfield, Massachusetts.

Geo. McEachen has been walking the floor and swearing in his sleep for the past few days, but is better now. He had everything shaped for a big sale of big hogs Saturday—the hogs grown, which is a secondary consideration, the advertising—the prime move in the matter all out, when he thought the state board of health ruling was going to shut off the sale on account of the flu. But after George got the board on the wire, and they heard him say it, they decided that the flu would have no chance where George was speaking, and said "let her go, George." The sale will be held as advertised.

Candidate David Horner, the farmer candidate for the legislature, was a caller Tuesday, coming in on a business mission while it was too wet to successfully run the corn husker. He thought it would be about the right kind of weather to visit a few of the voters, and look after some business matters at the county seat. Speaking of the corn husker, the gentleman told a farmer with whom he was talking that thus far they are pleased with its work, and while it does not leave the fodder in as good shape as the hand husking, the chance to get corn husking through so that stock may get into fields earlier will in a measure balance that difference.

If one may believe the reports in the daily press, the military power of Germany must abdicate or hell will be a popping over in that country which the Hohenzollerns have ridden so long and so hard.

War work and flu fighting are the leading industries thus far at Wayne these days, and we are glad to report that the flu fight has been most successful here thus far.

There will be no "fine distinction" says an exchange, drawn by the nations of Europe when the votes are counted in November. If the election favors the administration at Washington they will our enemies know for certain that the people are behind its great war issues in this country. That the United States will continue to fight regardless of this issue until the war is won does not enter into the question. But our duty as citizens of our common country is to refrain from giving our antagonists even a grain of hope on which to base a continuance of the war.

President Wilson needs men in congress of his own political faith who will back him to the limit, and the voter's duty is plain.

Big Men Believe In The Church

A large percentage of the big men of this big country come from small country towns. Most of the real big men never forget their boyhood days when they went to the small country church. The simple lessons that were taught there have guided them through life. Their lives have been clean.

The country church laid the foundation for the later success in life. Read the lives of the great men of the country. They take pride in recalling their early religious training—the fine ideas that were inculcated when they were young. Surely they put to shame some of the scoffers at churches among the flippant youths of this material age.

At Valley Forge, with the destiny of a nation in his hands, Washington went out alone under the trees—and knelt in prayer.

Lincoln in the days when responsibility seemed most heavy, traveled many miles to say to Bishop Ames, "Pray with me."

The letters of Lee are letters of prayer. Often the dusty road was his altar.

These men were not too great to realize the strengthening influence of the church.

What about you?

No matter how many men attend church, they can not take your place. As long as you are absent there is a vacant place—your place.

TORRE PAPERS
From the Stars and Stripes, France. A lanky private was detailed to take a captured German artillery officer to regimental headquarters. He had progressed about half a mile when the American noticed that his charge was tearing up some papers. He evidently didn't want to get in American hands and scattering the pieces along the road.

"Ain't you the cute cuss?" said the American. "Now you just go back and pick them all up." The officer may not have understood the instructions, but he did the gestures which accompanied them. He stood the instructions, but he did the gestures which accompanied them. He stood the instructions, but he did the gestures which accompanied them. He stood the instructions, but he did the gestures which accompanied them.

TO THE VOTERS OF NEBRASKA

Judge Charles B. Letton, formerly District Judge at Fairbury, one of the Judges of the Supreme Court, is a candidate for reelection.

The Judge has made a record as an able, independent, honest and industrious member of the Court. His ability is recognized by the District Judges of the state, by lawyers generally, and by men of all stations in life who know him personally. This is too important an office to be considered lightly by the voter. Every voter should think twice before casting his ballot. "Hold fast to that which is good."

INTERESTING LETTERS FROM HARVEY & MARION HOSTETTER

During the past few days Mr. and Mrs. Hostetter have received letters from their sons, Harvey at Camp Lewis, Washington and Fort Steven, Oregon.

Harvey is at Camp Lewis, where both of the boys were for a short time, and occasionally saw each other. He told that all of the boys who came to the camp from Wyoming had gone but one, and that most of them went to Fremont, California. He thought he might soon be moved to Jacksonville. He is worrying for fear the Germans will run themselves to death or defeat before he can get a chance to go to France and help chase them. He then tells of selling his place in Wyoming to a neighbor who was not able to stand up under army requirements. This letter was written the latter part of September, and told of the first rain of the season there.

The second letter was written by Marion about two weeks later from Fort Stevens, Oregon, and tells that he had just come in from the rifle range, where they had been doing most of their drilling except a little infantry drill. He learned that rumor had them all booked for an eight-day trip on the cars, which would land them at some camp in the east, which meant a step toward France. Of army life he says its "here today, and gone tomorrow." He had just had orders to report for examination for overseas duty and passed o. k., and was told they were to go to a Virginia camp, and that usually meant that within a month they would be in France. Drilling had not been very hard at the fort, but they were put into permanent companies, and would not probably be broken up again.

He is in the coast artillery, and hopes they will be given work on nothing smaller than 10-inch guns.

When he left Camp Lewis they began to go within thirty minutes after receiving orders to move, and that gave him slight chance to see his brother, but they had a few minutes together. Few people, he says realize that the soldiers are busy. He says they are on duty about sixteen hours daily, and the rest of the day you may do your washing and ironing, and patch your clothes, so all may see that it is some snap.

A nice little rain again this week makes the streets show the need of paving—but let's wait until the kaiser is licked.

SOLDIERS' CHRISTMAS PARCELS

Red Cross issues regulations for sending Christmas parcels to men with the American expeditionary forces abroad; no duplication of packets is rule of no exceptions.

In an effort to meet the eager desires of the families of men in service abroad, the war department has decided that each man may receive from his family a Christmas package of standard size and approximately standard articles. To this end an arrangement has been completed between the war department, postoffice department and the American Red Cross, whereby the latter has undertaken to cooperate in the preparation and mailing of these Christmas parcels. To expedite the plan a large number of specially manufactured cardboard cartons have been purchased which will be distributed through the chapters to the relatives and friends of men in service overseas.

To insure avoidance of duplication and of erroneous addresses, army authorities, under General Pershing, are issuing a Christmas parcel label to each man. This measure is required by shipping space limitations. The men will be instructed to mail this label to home relatives, or friends, who, upon receiving it, will present it to the nearest chapter headquarters. They will secure one carton 3x4x9 inches in size. The person receiving a carton may fill it with any combination of articles which will fit in it, and which are not barred by the postoffice department. When completely packed and ready for mailing the weight of the carton must not exceed three pounds.

Parcels ready for shipment shall be presented at place designated where Red Cross representatives will examine the contents, in order to exclude any articles barred by postoffice department; remove any notes or messages; place on the parcel the Christmas parcel label received from abroad. The person sending the parcel shall then, in the presence of the Red Cross representatives, affix stamps sufficient to carry the parcel to Hoboken, N. J., and the Red Cross inspection label.

Bear in Mind

Nothing should go in a Christmas parcel which will not keep fresh from the time of packing until Christmas. Dried fruits and other food products should be packed in small tin or wooden boxes, one-quarter to one-half pound size. Hard candy, including chocolate, would probably be safe in tin foil or heavy cardboard, but no soft choco-

100% RECORD

Congressman Stephens' Voting Record Equals the Best.—Supported All War Legislation

A glance over this great mass of war legislation which was necessary to put the country on a war footing is impressive. Congressman Dan V. Stephens has supported it all, either by vote or otherwise, without exception, from the very beginning of the war. Not only has he supported the war bills since war began, but he supported all the great constructive measures that were passed during the five years preceding the war, such as the Federal Reserve Bank Act, Farm Loan Bank Act, and the law creating a Merchant Marine, which have contributed enormously to a successful conduct of the war. They were measures of preparedness.

Read the marvelous Record of Accomplishments:

SIXTY-FOURTH CONGRESS, FIRST SESSION.

1. National-defense act, for Regular Army and to Federalize the National Guard.
2. National-defense act, authorizing the President to use the armed forces of the United States in Mexico.
3. National-defense act, providing for the construction of a Government-owned armor plant to free the Government from the shackles of the Steel Trust. (126 Republicans and 8 Democrats voted NO.)
4. National-defense act, to further improve and enlarge the National Guard and Military Establishment.
5. National-defense act, for greatly increased fortifications.
6. National-defense act, to pay families of National Guard on duty in Mexico.
7. The shipping bill, for the creation of the United States Shipping Board and the construction and equipment of shipyards. This bill for the creation of a merchant marine was held up by Republican opposition in Congress for nearly two years, thus delaying our building program and making it impossible to immediately transport our troops to Europe after we got into the war. We would now have hundreds of new ships for service had this bill passed at once. (For creation of a shipping board, 155 Republicans and 10 Democrats voted NO.)

SECOND SESSION.

8. Appropriation bill for extension of fortifications.
9. Bill to arm merchant ships against attacks of submarines. This was the first step to force Germany to recognize our rights. Ten Republicans and two Democrats voted against this bill.
10. Cooper amendment to bill arming ships provided that these ships should not carry arms and ammunition to the allies. If passed, it would have crippled the allies and aided Germany. There were 68 Republicans voted for it and 55 Democrats. Congressman Stephens voted against the amendment.
11. Bill for raising revenue for expense of Army and Navy and for fortifications. This was a new bill levying additional income and excess-profit taxes. (189 Republicans and 2 Democrats voted against it. Not a single Republican for it.)
12. Bill for greatly increasing appropriations for Navy. This bill provided for a three-year building program.

SIXTY-FIFTH CONGRESS, FIRST SESSION.

13. Resolution declaring war against Germany. There were 31 Republicans and 17 Democrats who voted against war.
14. Bill providing for first liberty loan to cover cost of war.
15. The espionage act, to punish conspirators, spies, and traitors. (96 Republicans and 10 Democrats voted NO.)
16. Bill providing for selective draft to increase Military Establishment of country. Congressman Stephens

- voted for this and made a speech on the subject. (9 Republicans and 13 Democrats voted NO.)
17. Military appropriation to cover added expenses of organizing the Army.
18. New revenue bill, to provide for additional tax to support the war. (76 Republicans and no Democrats voted NO.)
19. The war-risk insurance bill, made necessary on account of the great risk and danger to shipping by German submarine policy.
20. The food-control bill, which made it possible to feed the allied armies and stabilize prices at home and abroad.
21. Bill to increase the enlisted strength of the Navy and Marine Corps.
22. Trading-with-the-enemy act, to define, regulate, and punish those attempting to trade with the enemy.
23. Bill providing for second liberty loan.
24. Bill to take over foreign vessels in United States ports.

SIXTY-FIFTH CONGRESS, SECOND SESSION.

25. New revenue bill providing for increase of war expense.
26. Bill to punish for destruction of war material.
27. Bill for the creation of War Finance Corporation, made necessary to finance the great war industries of the country.
28. Bill to condemn land for the construction of nitrate plant making war explosives.
29. Bill calling into the military service of the United States the Philippine military forces.
30. The daylight-saving act, which has resulted in saving a vast quantity of coal.
31. Bill providing for the operation of the railroad systems of the country. This was a bill of vast importance in winning the war. Congressman Stephens assisted in reporting it to the House.
32. Bill creating Bureau of War-Risk Insurance for insurance of those engaged in the Army and the Navy of the United States. This is a bill that will replace pensions to a large extent. It was reported by Congressman Stephens' committee, Interstate and Foreign Commerce.
33. Bill for the promotion of our export trade.
34. Bill creating a system of education for the rehabilitation of soldiers and sailors. A humane act of far-reaching importance.
35. Bill authorizing Emergency Shipping Board to take over lines of steamship companies.
36. Bill providing for the consolidation of Government bureaus to facilitate the conduct of the war.
37. Bill to provide for housing war workers and war industries.
38. Bill providing for third liberty loan.
39. Bills providing for appropriations for Army and Navy.
40. Bill providing for the fourth liberty loan.
41. Bill providing for $8,000,000,000 revenue measure just passed by the House.

No member of Congress has a better record and few have as good. Upon this record of performances Congressman DAN V. STEPHENS is entitled to the suffrage of his constituency.

lates nor anything that could possibly be crushed should be used. Several dairies packed in oblong tin boxes holding each a quarter of a pound will provide a better variety for a packet than a larger quantity of a single confection. For wrapping the gifts use a blank-colored handkerchief, 27 inches square. The receipt of a Christmas parcel overseas entitles the holder to a shipping carton. These may be procured any day in the week, except Sunday and Monday, at the Red Cross room in basement of the public library. Before wrapping parcels they must be brought to the Red Cross room for inspection by the committee. No parcel can be mailed later than November 15. The chairman of Wayne county chapter has appointed the following committee to supervise the sending of Christmas parcels: Mrs. E. E. Lackey, Miss Helen McNeal, Mrs. M. A. Jacobs, Mrs. Hamer Wilson, Mrs. A. B. Carhart, Mrs. W. E. Jenkins, Mrs. Warren Shulteis. Red Cross meeting postponed to November 20 in accordance with advice received from central division headquarters, Wayne county chapter A. R. C. will postpone the annual meeting for the election of officers until November 20, 1918.—Mrs. H. H. Hahn, Secretary.

If the business men of Wayne county who have had their fire insurance rate practically doubled within the past two years, and then a 10 per cent raise arbitrarily attached on renewals by the insurance combine of this state, will vote for David Herner for representative and Chas. Graff for senator election day, they will be voting for men who will not favor legislation which will make such a combination for exorbitant possible. Vote in the interest of your pocketbook this time.

A prediction is made by a republican friend, whom we will not name just now, that when the polls close and the votes are counted it will be found that the democratic ticket is defeated except for governor, and possibly state senator from this district. It is generous of the fellow to leave us one man and the prospect of another. Then under cross examination he admitted that there is also a show for the representative from the county, and in fact, he was not really talking about the county ticket.

If the news dispatches are true which say that Denmark is spunking up a bit as the Kaiser gets into such trouble as to keep him busy without crushing Denmark, he may have to restore Schleswig-Holstein which he stole from Denmark a half a century or more ago. In case he does so, then what is to become of the Danes who were made German against their will when they were stolen? Will they be Dane or German? We have some of these people here, and it is a safe bet they will not remain subjects of Germany unless they have to do so.

Check C. Moore of Stouox City, was a guest at the home of his cousin, E. O. Gardner and family Monday, while here in the course of his business, which is selling rubber goods for one of the big concerns. Check has been in the business for nearly a quarter of a century for these people, and while he had to lay off a time last summer on account of sickness his patrons welcomed him back this fall. His son, St. Clair, was here with him last season, handling another line, and they traveled together by car. The young man was with the soldier boys on the border before that, a member of the engineering corps, and he has since married and then went with the men he was with to France, where he now is within hearing of the shells the Huns send over. He writes his father that the soldier boys are still chanting that famous saying of "Hell, Heaven or Hoboken for Christmas." The lad is getting fat on army rations and work, and thinks the end may be near—nearer than they dare think—and then again, it may not be.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION

Is worth more to family life today than ever before. Today, those who are responsible for the welfare of the family realize the imperative need of worthwhile reading and what it means to individual character, the home life and the state. Everywhere the waste and chaff, the worthless and inferior, are going to the discard.
The Youth's Companion stands first, last and continually for the best there is for all ages. It has character and creates like character. That is why, in these shifting times, the family turns to its 52 issues a year full of entertainment and suggestion and information, and is never disappointed.

It costs only $2 a year to provide your family with the very best reading matter published. In both quantity and quality as well as in variety. The Youth's Companion excels.
Don't miss Grace Richmond's great serial, Anne Exeter, 10 chapters, beginning December 12.

MINDEN MAN FOR STATE TREASURER

County Treasurer J. S. Canaday is the democratic candidate for election to the office of state treasurer this year and we believe him the best man who has ever filled for that position. He has served Kearney county as a school teacher, county superintendent, state senator, and at the head of the school board of the city schools of Minden, and is now, as he has been for years, the president of the Farmers' Grain and Live Stock association, and has always been actively engaged in championing the rights of the farmers and the common people. As a farmer and business man he has always been a success, and for himself he is a thoroughly honest, broad-minded and capable man in every way qualified for the position to which he aspires. He is much beloved of his friends and neighbors, for his splendid character and for his efficient handling of the business of the people which has been entrusted to him.—The Minden Courier.

HONOR ROLL

From The G. Cent.
The "boys" and the students are beginning to answer our Honor Roll requests. Occasionally names and corrections came to us. Especially glad are we to submit this letter from one of our ex-students. We report it almost in full.—Come on, boys, with more.
Camp Dix, N. J., Sept. 29, 1918.
Dear President Conn:

As I haven't written to you for quite a time, and have received the Goldenrod right along I think I'd better acknowledge the compliment.
We, at last, are out of the desert. We left Cody August 27 and arrived here September 2 after a wonderful trip through the southern and Atlantic states. We crossed New Mexico, Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, District of Columbia, Delaware, Pennsylvania and into New Jersey. We passed numerous camps along the border and saw the aviation fields and schools at San Antonio and Houston, Texas. Down in Louisiana we saw the rice fields and the timber lands and crossed the Father of Waters at New Orleans. The ferry that took us across was a big affair, holding the whole train at one trip.

Next morning we were outward bound into Mississippi. It was wonderful and that southern talk was just that musical that most of us wished they would camp us right in the heart of Old Dixie.
Everywhere, we were met with open arms and I must say that the American Red Cross "could" never have been better than to us poor sand-blown troopers.
Enroute a soldier doesn't get too much to eat but the good old R. C. gave us those little things that gladden, such as sandwiches, ice cream, chocolate and candy, post cards, stamps and everything that a woman always thinks of and which a man always forgets.
We all had the time of our lives though we were pretty dirty by the time we struck camp here at Dix. The sight I saw I'd never have been able to see any other way. When people speak to us they just seem to say, "Goodbye—good luck—and give 'em— for me."

Believe me, the men from Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota and South Dakota will be true to their flag and the hopes of the folks at home when the time comes. I only hope that is soon.
I've been interested in the program at the Normal which includes military training. It is a splendid thing. You would be of the greater opinion if you had seen the rookies I've seen this past year. A green man is the worst thing a crack company has to take and it isn't every man who can soldier. To soldier means to be a soldier at all times and not every man wants to do that. The training at the Normal will be just what a man should have for his own good and the efficiency of the command to which he will be assigned.
Here is hoping the best for dear, old Wayne. We boys are gone now but we don't forget and we are with her every effort to make her ever bigger and greater.
With best wishes and kindest regards, I am

Sincerely yours,

GOOD LAND BARGAINS

400-Acre Farm at $150 Per—
For sale a farm of 400 acres, eight miles from Randolph. Good soil, fair improvements, and easy terms. Seeing is believing. Write the owner for particulars. G. A. Hanssen, Randolph, Nebraska, or W. O. Hanssen of this place, can tell you much about the place.—Adv. 40-2

A good half section, eight miles east of Bloomfield, Nebraska, well improved and favorable terms. Priced for quick sale at $140 per acre.
Also 160 acres of land five miles west of Bloomfield; lays well and has house of 8-rooms, barn, hog and poultry houses, grove and fruit. Whole place may be cultivated, and it is priced to turn quick at $100 the acre—but it won't stay long at that price. Terms most favorable. The name of owner, who wants to deal direct, may be had at Democrat office.—Adv. 40-2

I have at bargain prices a section, a half section and a quarter section of land not far from Bismarck, North Dakota, more than worth the money for any one looking for a home. Geo. E. Wallace, Bismarck, N. D.—Adv.

Hawkeye Truck For Sale
We have for sale a splendid Hawkeye ton and a half truck, nearly new, and as good as new, at less than new price. We must have heavier truck for our business. Mitchell & Christensen, at Wayne Monument Works. Also have good, wide-tire truck wagon at a bargain.—Adv.

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

The following proposed amendment to the constitution of the State of Nebraska, as hereinafter set forth in full, is submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska to be voted upon at the general election to be held Tuesday, November 5th, A. D. 1918:

A JOINT RESOLUTION to amend Section one (1) of Article seven (7) of the Constitution of the State of Nebraska.

Be it Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Nebraska:
Section 1. That Section One of Article Seven of the Constitution of the State of Nebraska be and the same hereby is amended by striking out the following words:
"Second. Persons of foreign birth who shall have declared their intention to become citizens conformably to the laws of the United States, on the subject of naturalization, at least thirty days prior to an election."
And inserting in the place of the words so stricken, the following words:

"Second. Persons of foreign birth who shall have become citizens of the United States by naturalization or otherwise conformably to the laws of the United States at least thirty days prior to an election.
Sec. 2. That at the general election nineteen hundred and eighteen (1918) there shall be submitted to the electors of the state for their approval or rejection the foregoing proposed amendment to the constitution relating to the right of suffrage. At such election, on the ballot of each elector voting for or against said proposed amendment, shall be written or printed the words: "For proposed amendment to the constitution relating to the right of suffrage," and "Against said proposed amendment to the constitution relating to the right of suffrage."

Sec. 3. If such amendment shall be approved by a majority of all electors voting at such election, said amendment shall constitute Section One (1) Article Seven (7) of the Constitution of the State of Nebraska.
Approved, April 9, 1918.

KEITH NEVILLE, Governor.
Attest: CHARLES W. POOL, Secretary of State.
