

The Nebraska Democrat

County of Wayne
ESTABLISHED 1884

WAYNE, WAYNE COUNTY, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, MAY 1, 1919

$1.50 PER YEAR

MOVE TO ORGANIZE THE SOLDIER MEN

To the County Clerk: Will you help bring this matter to the attention of the soldiers, sailors and marines of your county who served during the war?

It is necessary that Nebraska be fully represented at the caucus of the American legion to be held at St. Louis the 8th, 9th, and 10th of May. To make this possible a state convention will be held at the Lincoln Commercial club at 3 p. m. Saturday, May 3. We want as many delegates as your county can send. This is to be a mass convention and each county represented will have the same number of votes regardless of the number of delegates sent.

The purpose of the caucus is to take the necessary initial steps toward the formation of a non-partisan and non-political association of the veterans of the Great War, an association which shall keep alive the principles of justice, freedom and democracy for which these veterans fought; shall preserve to future generations the history and incidents of their participation in the war; and shall cement and perpetuate the ties of comradeship formed in service.

Will you please help make the organization a success by putting this letter in the hands of the men who will see that your county is well represented at Lincoln? If you have a local organization of soldiers please call this to their attention. Be sure the enlisted men are well represented at Lincoln.

Remember May 3, Lincoln, at the Commercial club, 2 p. m.—Yours very truly, Allan A. Tukey, Temporary State Secretary, 620 First National Bank Building, Omaha.

P. S.—The Lincoln Commercial club has invited these delegates to be their guests at luncheon at 12 o'clock.

The time is short and if Wayne is to be represented some one should plan to move at once. The county has a few soldier lads now at Lincoln, and they might attend and represent the county if others cannot go.

BOND ELECTION CALLED

At the meeting of the city council Tuesday evening a call was issued in due form for a bond election, to be held June 9th, to pass upon the question of issuing $37,000 storm sewer bonds for the purpose of establishing an adequate drainage as a preliminary step to paving. There is some division of opinion as to the necessity of this sewer system, but those who have studied drainage problems and speak from the knowledge acquired by study, experience and observation, say that it is unwise to attempt to pave the amount which we will eventually have paved at Wayne and make no adequate provision for the care of the water. There are places where they got the cart before the horse, and paved first, where they are now going to the expense of tearing up the paving and inserting the proper drainage. We should profit by their mistake, and not put our foot in as others have done.

The Democrat favors all needed improvements, including drainage and paving as fast as we can get to the work and provide for paying for it, but we want it understood that if there are any who wish to present an opposite view of the question, that our columns are open for the discussion of the question looking to the greatest good to the greatest number.

DEATH ENTERS THE CLAUDE FERRELL HOME

Wednesday evening, April 30, 1919, death came to end the sufferings of Claude, Jr., the 15-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Ferrell at their home in this city. The little fellow had been suffering for a few days from a severe cold, from which double pneumonia developed, and in spite of medical skill and careful nursing, the little one could not pass the crisis, which came late Wednesday afternoon. Funeral plans are not yet made, except that the burial will be at Wayne. Mr. and Mrs. Ferrell will have the sympathy of all in this sad loss.

REV. PRATT COMES TO WAYNE

The Baptist church of this city extended a call to Rev. Pratt, of Beatrice, who preached here two weeks ago, and have received a message of acceptance. The committee were much pleased with the result of their investigation of his merits, and feel that they will once more have a working pastor to advance the interests of their church and the community.

THE HIGH SCHOOL JUNIOR CLASS PLAY A SUCCESS

A splendid audience, filling the last available seat at the opera house, enjoyed the annual class play and the bit of program before the play was presented in which class history, and prophesy, song and music had a part. The orchestra is a credit to the school, and tells of the benefits derived from teaching music in the school. Some things might have been criticized in the play, but there were many things to be executed. The fact that all could not be heard in all parts of the room was largely due to the fact that they were not able to have the opera house for a complete evening rehearsal, and therefore did not realize that their voices did not fill the room, as all rehearsals had been in a much smaller room. Neither could the building be decorated for the occasion for the same reason.

"The Call of U' Colors" was well calculated to be of interest at this time, and truly portrayed the patriotism and hypocrisy developed in our country by the recent stirring events through which we have been passing. It demonstrated how such times develop patriots and traitors. The many characters were well portrayed, and the climax of the evening at the close of the presentation was roundly applauded, showing appreciation of the work of both teacher and pupil.

CARNIVAL WEEK MAY 6 TO 10

The Walter Savidge company of players and special performers, the ferris wheel, the merry-go-round, and many other attractions are being placed on the carnival grounds in the south part of the city by a busy bunch of men. The "big top" is up, and things are being fixed for the opening of the season of 1919 at Wayne. Just now the weather man is promising to be on fairly good behavior, but he is so changeable here this spring—that is when he lets the sun shine, he has soon changed—but of unchanging cloudy and wet weather we have had plenty to be entitled to some change.

Mr. Savidge has an entirely new program for his theatrical entertainments, which are becoming to be the drawing attraction to his carnival more and more—and they are each high class productions, new and given complete the same as one might see in a city.

From Wayne the company will make a short jump to Tilden, then to Alnsworth, after which they will go on to Wyoming for a number of dates, and get back into Nebraska in time for a Fourth of July celebration a few counties west of here.

PIONEER COUPLE HONORED ON 50TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

(Pender Times)

Monday last was the fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sneath and their family home in Leslie precinct—west of Pender—was the scene of a gathering of relatives and many of their friends who desired to assist this worthy couple to properly observe the occasion. It was in Fostoria, Pennsylvania, on April 23, 1869, that Rebecca E. Bressler and Robert Sneath joined their hands in holy wedlock, and started on the journey down the road of life, and at this stage of it—half a century—surrounded by children and hosts of friends they received congratulations due people whose lives were well spent, whose patriotism is of the highest quality and whose neighborly duties and acts are fulfilled according to the standards Americans expect of their countrymen. The Sneaths are pioneers of this locality having taken their homestead in what is now Leslie township in the early '70s—and it was a high tribute to them that all the old neighbors now residing there were present at this anniversary to show the respect and esteem in which they were held. The loving relatives and friends gathered around Mr. and Mrs. Sneath in the family home, Monday, and listened to the words of Rev. Frank Williams of Wakefield in which he repeated the words and received the vows spoken fifty years before, and the congratulations of the other day were no more hearty or cheerfully given than on this last occasion.

Ten children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Sneath: Mary, Lizzie, Catterall, Grigla, Minn.; Josie May Young deceased; James E. Sneath of Oklahoma; George Sneath, deceased; John D. Sneath, now in South Dakota; Alta M. Brewster of Clyde, North Dakota; Richard Sneath, deceased; Catherine McKean of Wisner. There are fifteen grand children and two great grandchildren.

Robert Sneath is a veteran of the northern army in the Civil war, and service April 19, 1861, and served un-til July, 1863, seven months of which time was in a rebel prison. He has an enviable record as a soldier as well as a good citizen.

A delightful dinner was served and many beautiful and useful presents were given the worthy bride and groom.

Among those who couldn't come was Mrs. S. J. Bressler, a sister-in-law, who is 90 years of age and an invalid, but whose letter of regret is very much treasured.

Those present were: Mrs. Julia Bressler, Frank P. Bressler and wife, S. C. Bressler and wife, J. M. Bressler and wife, Anderson E. Bressler and Hannah M. Bressler of Wayne, L. K. Keenan, wife and five children, Wisner, Carlos D. Martin and wife of Wayne, Anna M. Young, at home, John Sneath and wife, Wakefield, John McGuire and wife, George Buskirk, David Herner and wife, J. Hill and wife, John W. Brennehan and wife, J. P. Claussen, Clarence Clausen, Edna Clausen, Ed Hoar and wife, R. A. Thomas and wife, Jennie Bayer, Mrs. E. M. U. M. Club Report

M. U. M. club met at the home of Mrs. DeVille Tuesday evening. Each member responded to roll call with current events. Miss Martha Pierce, chairman of the Art department in the third district of Nebraska Federated clubs, gave a complete and interesting report of the convention at Neligh. The best part of every lecture was given in a most impressive way. Mentioning the talks by Mrs. Stoner, Mrs. Sheldon and Dr. Hastings.

Mrs. Beckenhauer gave an excellent report on the work done in all the clubs in this district. The hostess served delicious refreshments and regretted very much it was the last time that she would be able to meet with the club as they will move to Lincoln in the near future. The club feels they are losing a very faithful worker.

The ladies voted to have a potted plant and flower sale May 10th.

TANK VISITS WAYNE

All Wayne and many from the surrounding country came to town Friday to see the little machine which had defeated the Germans—or at least played an important part in the winning of the war. Tank No. 9 came in by special train about three o'clock, and after being backed onto a siding proceeded to come down out of the car; but something about the appearance of our Wayne streets must have discouraged the little traveler, for it appeared to break a leg just as it struck the street, and the doctor called spent an hour or more getting it in shape to go up against the real thing—a Wayne street—but it made it, all right. It ambled along at a rate of about six miles an hour, and made for a pile of ties placed in the street, and easily climbed over them—then turned and came back over the pile, stopping on top to give the kodak fellows a chance to shoot it. It had been over where the German machine guns had been pointed at it, and so a camera did not scare it. Its work was simple here, but in other places, where they had some ditches, cactars and rough ground, it skowed what it could do in action.

While the repair work was under way the people were addressed by a former Wayne citizen, W. C. Cunningham of Omaha, and by Lyle Abbott, also of Omaha.

Their talks were of the successes of the American soldier and the American people, and how our aid had come in to throw the tide of battle from defeat to victory for the allies. What the men in the tanks risked in storming the enemy country, and what they had accomplished—and now it is all over but the shouting, and paying the bills—and raising the money to get the boys home, and care for those who need care.

The exhibition gave many people a clear idea of the mission of the tank, and the small boy was especially delighted with an opportunity to go into the tank and see every detail, and if they would multiply the tank here by six or eight as to size, they might know what a terrible monster was turned loose upon the face, then multiply by the hundreds as to numbers, and they might begin to get some conception of a small section of a battle line which extended hundreds of miles across the country. With this little exhibit of war machinery, it requires a big imagination to picture the magnitude of the part the tanks played in the war.

ADVERTISED LETTERS

Wayne, Nebraska, April 30, 1919.—Letters: John Berger, Howard Reed, Miss Ida Schutte.—C. A. Berry, Postmaster.

In New York the street cars and the automobiles and the taxis are making a close race so far as fatalities and injuries are concerned with the work of the Central powers on the front against the American forces. The man who was president of the Chicago world's fair nearly thirty years ago was killed by an automobile there, a few days ago. Then Samuel Gompers, the leader of organized labor in America was put into a hospital for repairs after an encounter in which a street car and a taxi participated.

Dr. K. J. Holtz, from Seattle, who has been attending a post graduate course at Chicago, returned to Wayne the first of the week, and will remain here a few days with his wife, visiting at the homes of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Holtz and Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Hughes.

WAYNE STATE NORMAL NOTES

On Monday morning of this week Prof. Charles R. Chind, a captain in the late war, gave a very interesting address on his experiences in camp. He dwelt largely upon the psychology of soldier life, including pressure to enlist, the attitude toward conscription and the preliminaries of the soldier's life. He finds that the instinct of imitation plays a great part in the lives of large bodies of men. He said, "We have out-aped the apex in imitation." The speaker urged that when the young men return from the army that they be expected to do each a man's part in civic life, that while they should be admired for what they have done speculatively should not permit them to shed any sense of responsibility for the future of the country. The address was from a new angle and was carefully listened to.

On Wednesday morning, in view of the approaching drive for the liberty loan, the students and faculty sang the late war songs under the energetic direction of Professor Coleman. A good deal of interest and amusement were aroused by this experience. Western communities will do well to learn more of the value of community singing. It is more democratic than golf, less dangerous than football, and more inspiring than a woman's club.

The proofs of the Spitzerinkum, the school annual, are now being read by the editors. It is a book of 176 pages. Owing to the fact that because of war conditions there was no annual last year a special section is set aside for the class of 1918. Also considerable space is given to the sayings and doings of the S. A. T. C.—The book is dedicated to the boys who were in service during the late war. It is felt that the material and manner of the book are fully up to those of previous years.

The Science club held its last meeting of the year on Tuesday of this week. Mr. Waxman told some interesting things concerning the moving picture industry; Mr. Sabin ably discussed the induced current and made some very interesting demonstrations; Professor Britell explained the making of photographic slides and exhibited some of his own products by throwing the pictures upon a screen by means of a lantern. At a business meeting following the program a picnic was planned to be held soon.

Beryl Kneeland, a member of the Junior class, underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Samaritan hospital in Sioux City last Saturday, and at this time is recovering nicely. This makes it impossible for Miss Kneeland to continue in school for the remainder of the semester, but she plans to return in June for the completion of the year's work.

Miss Mildred Bacon of Randolph, a sister of Glennie Bacon, class of '18, visited at the Normal on Monday and made arrangements to enroll in advanced work in June. She will return in September as a member of the class of 1920.

FLAG UNION

Mr. Peterson from Sloux City was a caller at H. C. Lyons' Monday. Miss Maude Clark went to Norfolk Monday to spend a few weeks. A welcome roast was enjoyed at Flag school house Friday evening.

A great many from this vicinity attended the memorial services held in the Laurel M. E. church Sunday evening.

Italy had decided not to enter the peace pact just now. Orlando is quoted as saying that as between troubles at home and troubles abroad, he prefers not to buck the home people. Well, we are sorry that Italy—or the Italian people permitted themselves to be lead to believe that they were entitled to so much more than they were ever promised or could have ever attained, unaided. In fact, through treachery at home or poor management of troops Italy was whipped so far as all of the territory she was promised in event of victory was concerned, and had lost a great chunk of territory to the Central powers before the American troops appeared on the scene. Their enemy had driven them back many miles, and Italy was not able alone to regain the lost territory.

SOCIAL NOTES

The Minerva club met for their last meeting Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Lackey. Mrs. Ley, Mrs. Brittain and Mrs. Grothe, who have returned from their sojourn in California, were present and each gave a short talk about their trip. Mrs. Armstrong was leader for the afternoon. She took for her subject, "After the War, Then What?" She told about the reconstruction, her main talk was on the industrial employment of women. She told how proficient they were in their work and many would be retained even if some had to give up their places to returned soldiers, that other pursuits had been opened for women. This was followed by a short discussion of the problem of employment of women. Frances Lackey sang a group of children's songs, accompanied by his sister Neva, and responded to an encore with "The Sunbeam." Piano solo by Neva Lackey entitled "An Autumn Evening." Mrs. J. G. W. Lewis gave a brief talk of the district convention of Women's club which met at Neligh last week. Mrs. House and Neva Lackey gave a piano duet. Mrs. Lackey and her committee served a splendid two-course luncheon.

The Bible Study Circle had a very interesting meeting Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Carlos Martin as leader of International Sunday school lesson. After the fine study a social hour was enjoyed as a farewell reception to Mrs. D. C. Hogue, a greatly appreciated member, who is leaving soon for Fullerton where her husband is taking up a different line of work. Mrs. Hogue was presented with a set of teaspoons as a token of esteem from her many friends. Among a number of special letters received but not read, was one from Miss Grace Soderberg, now a missionary in China, formerly of near Wakefield. Miss Soderberg writes: "China is so beautiful now. The flowers are opening up to look into the face of their creator and the birds are singing His praises. Everything seems to be honoring God save these teeming millions—masses who walk up and down these streets doing the work of beasts of burden. How my heart aches for these millions without joy in this world or hope of a better life. I am here at Hankow to attend Miss Anna Munson's wedding." (Miss Munson is also a Nebraska lady.) Special requests for prayer were definitely remembered and the meeting adjourned to meet with Mrs. J. J. Coleman next Tuesday at 2:30.

Members of the Monday club met at the home of Mrs. Moran. Mrs. Hahn gave a lesson on flax. Mrs. Melior gave a lesson on linen. Mrs. Carlhart gave a reading. Mrs. T. T. Jones sang two solos. The hostess served lovely refreshments. Next meeting will be with Mrs. Chace when officers will be elected. This meeting completes the year's work.

Woman's club meets next Saturday at the city hall. The Girls' quartet of the Normal will sing for 20 minutes, Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. Beckenhauer and Miss Pierce will give a report on the district meeting which was held at Neligh last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrington will entertain the members of the Early Hour club this evening at a 6:30 dinner which will be served in two courses. The evening will be spent in playing "500" at eight tables.

The Girls' Bible Study Circle met with Miss Hannah West Friday evening. The study in John's gospel was much enjoyed. Miss Katharine Bradford will be hostess Friday evening and all are cordially invited.

The Boy Scouts and their scoutmaster, W. R. Ellis, took a hike out to the McIntosh grove, Tuesday after school and had a picnic supper. The boys had a fine time judging by the time they came home.

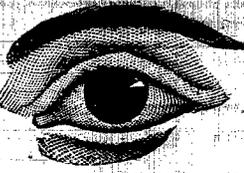

The Presbyterian Aid society will meet with Mrs. W. O. Gamble Wednesday, May 7, at 2:30. There will be plenty of work to do.

The Fayhelo Campfire girls held a business meeting at the home of Miss Helen Reynolds last Saturday afternoon.

Eyes Refitted

I fit some one with glasses almost every day who has paid good money for a fit.

The accurate fitting of lenses involves a degree of scientific knowledge little understood by people generally until they have proved the fact by costly experience.

If I do your work it will not have to be redone or repaid for. My service costs no more than the inferior kind.

Miss Linda Needham of the Bloomfield Monitor, called a moment Saturday while on her way to Norfolk. She spent the afternoon with her friend, Mrs. Claude Mitchell.

The Bloomfield Journal has installed a new typesetting machine, a Linotype. Beyond a doubt the Journal will take another step up in the newspaper world, as they learn to get the full benefit of their new machine.

Miss Beryl Kneeland from Martinsburg, who has been attending the Normal left for home last week because of ill health. Symptoms indicate appendix trouble, but they still have hope of it not being necessary to resort to an operation.

Leading republican senators agree that a resolution submitting the suffrage amendment will be passed shortly after congress meets in extra session. That's another place where the democrats were weak. They gave the republicans the glory and the advantage of being the party to give the ballot to women, and many of them will vote with that party to show their appreciation.

R. P. Williams went to Omaha Saturday to participate in the centennial Odd-Fellow celebration, held at that place on the anniversary of the hundredth birthday of the first lodge of the order founded in America. R. P. thought he had better go this time, as it might not be convenient for him to be present at the next centennial celebration, and he wanted to see how they pulled off a stunt of that kind.

Bloomfield has organized a building and loan association, and their charter is granted, and business started. Paid up stock will draw 7 per cent interest, and they are ready to sell stock or make loans on the installment payment plan. Such an organization is a fine thing in any growing community.

Glenn Reynolds, one of Uncle Sam's lads from Camp Lewis, has been released from service, and came here last week to visit his friend Hugh Griffith. He will probably become a member of the Johnson bridge crew, of the Omaha railway, as he has experience in that kind of work. There seems to be no lack of employment here for those who wish work.

Jens Jensen, one of the boys who went from Wayne county to France, returned to his home at Winside last week, and was visiting Wayne friends Saturday. He was in France nine months, and was slightly wounded while in battle, and contracted the flu before able to return to the lines, and then the armistice was signed, and he did not get a chance for revenge on the fellow who wounded him, unless, perchance he got it before put out of action. He admits that America looks better to him now than ever before.

One of the duties of the postmaster general is to deny the use of the mails to persons, firms, and corporations making fraudulent representations. The drug division of the Bureau of Chemistry, United States Department of Agriculture, has been assisting the Postoffice department in prosecuting medical schemes and adulterated products that are exploited or marketed through the use of the mails. The cooperation has proved beneficial, and the chief of the bureau has directed the drug division to give more attention to this line of work.

THE MISSISSIPPI LANDMARK IS GONE

Waukon, (Ia.) Standard: The two long, short whistles of the Diamond Jo packets will no longer be heard in the upper Mississippi river cities and towns. It is the passing of the last vestige of the picturesque old river life. For 40 years the big double deckers have plied the Mississippi between St. Louis and St. Paul, carrying freight and passengers, and the hills have echoed their whistles as they made a landing to deliver and receive freight and passengers. By the time the gang plank had touched the shore a crowd had always gathered to watch with never flagging interest the "line of negro roustabouts with freight on head and back, lock step up and down the gang plank shouting in sing-song fashion as they broke now and then into a run when the mate yelled at them to "get a move on."

One by one the big packets since they were bought from the Diamond Jo people by the Streckfus Steamboat Company have been made over into excursion steamers and turned down freight and passenger service to pleasure boating. The very last one, the Quincy, will be in the excursion trade this season. It is now in the docks at Davenport being fitted for the purpose.

While freight and passenger business has declined almost to zero point on the upper Mississippi, excursioning has acquired such popularity that it is now a lucrative business for quite a number of large steamers.

As chance had it, the very season that beholds the passing of the old time passenger and freight boats is to witness a fleet of modern freight barges put on the upper Mississippi. The government is building 30 barges for the purpose. It is believed that these will be so much better suited to the freighting on the upper river that a revival of freighting will result.

"UNCLE DUD," SAYS "WHERE'S MOTHER?"

When dad comes home at eventide, as tired as tired can be, he hardly sets his foot inside until he says, says he, "Where's mother?" He may not want a blessed thing, but if she's not in sight the fact is almost sure to bring this query, day or night, "Where's mother?" The children popping in from play, her absence soon detect and straightway they are heard to say in accents most direct, "Where's mother?" Though they've no task for her to do—no clothes with tears or rips—if she is absent from their view this question leaves their lips, "Where's mother?" A score of times in every day that question's always heard in lowly cot or mansion gay, 'tis given word for word, "Where's mother?" From banker down to section hand, the mason, painter, clerk—each in his domicile will stand and forth this query jerk, "Where's mother?" Should mother take a little trip to visit for awhile, the family all, from baby May to dad, refuse to smile. No mother! And when at last she reaches home, the house it fairly rocks with shouts of joy that leave each dome and can be heard four blocks, "There's mother!" Oh, let us stray her path with flowers, kissed by the morning dew, this ever-constant friend of ours—none else so good and true—as mother. Smooth out the rough spots in her way and strive to make her glad in all that you can do or say—the best friend you e'er had. Dear mother.

A MACHINE PARTY

The republican party seems to be a machine party, the individual members of which may not express their convictions as individuals or officials. Here is the order sent out to members of the United States senate who wear that party collar:

Washington, April 29.—Telegrams were sent to all republican senators today by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, floor leader, and Senator Curtis of Kansas, whip, asking that public expressions of opinion upon the league of nations covenant be withheld until a republican conference could decide on what attitude should be adopted.

The message follows:
"We suggest that republican senators reserve final expressions of opinion respecting the amended league covenant until the latest draft has been carefully studied and until there has been an opportunity for conference."

It was understood that no date has been fixed for the conference.

If there is an independent republican in the senate, he will and should tell the "leader" and the "whip" to go straight to hell. No American worthy of the name wants to have his convictions censored before he dare express them.

ITALIAN HYSTERIA

Norfolk News: In all the Italian comment on the controversy at Paris there is an incredible ignoring of the real points at issue. This is true alike of the public statement of Premier Orlando and the editorials of the Italian newspapers.

There is a vast amount of bluster about Italy "ascending from the abyss of misfortunes to the radiant crest of most glorious victory," of the Italians "demanding with unswerving tenacity their sacred and impregnable rights," of the allies "snatching from Italy the fruits of her heroic sacrifice and victories."

There is no mention of the fact that Italy last year accepted the new set of allied principles condemning secret treaties and offering all nations self-determination and access to the sea. There is no mention of the fact that Flume was not even promised to Italy by the secret pact of London, but promised to Croatia. There is no mention of the fact that by that same treaty Italy was to receive only a portion of the Dalmatian islands and coast. There is no mention of the fact that while the little seaport town of Flume proper has about 24,000 Italians to 16,000 Slavs, the suburbs that inevitably go with it are preponderantly Slav, and that possession by Italy would give Italy authority over 100,000 Slavs to 30,000 Italians. There is no mention of the fact that Dalmatia contains 600,000 Slavs to 18,000 Italians. There is no mention of the fact that the great enemy, Austria-Hungary, against whom it was natural that Italy should want to erect defenses, no longer exists; that Italy has already got more than she went to war for; that if she has her own way now, Jugoslavia, the new republic associated with the allies, on terms approved by Italy herself, will be shut off entirely from the sea and rendered economically helpless.

All glittering generalities, but no logic, no reason, no sense! Nothing but wild excitement over a program of imperialistic expansion. That program is contrary to the previously declared purposes of Italy herself. It would make the allies' idealistic professions mere lies. It is comparable to the purpose and spirit with which Prussia launched this war. False leadership has imposed it on the Italian people; always emotional and impressionable, until it seems to have become a "fixed idea," a symptom of national hysteria which lately has seemed to verge on national insanity. The hysteria will doubtless calm down in time. But meanwhile it creates one of the strangest and most troublesome episodes of the world war.

NEWS NOTES OF INTEREST

Peace congress has adopted the League of Nations pact, unanimously, the greatest move for universal peace in the world history.

The Kaiser is to be tried for his sins of omission and commission. Five judges are to have the conduct of the trial in charge. Holland is to be asked to deliver him for trial, in due time. It would be all right to try him; but it would be better to hang him first—for he stands convicted before the world today without further trial.

Telegraph and telephone wires are to be returned to private owners soon, and the cables may be turned back most any time now, is the opinion.

The president has decided, and so informs Mr. Hitchcock that it will require action of congress to restrict the import of potash. When did our senator join the ranks of those who ask for a protective act from the government?

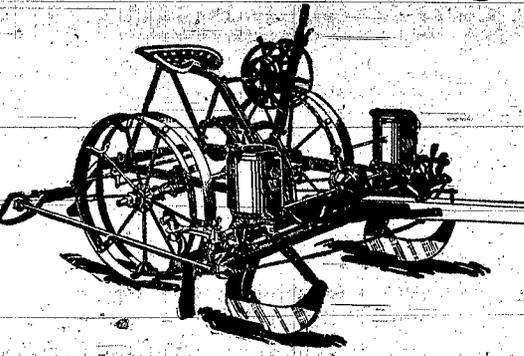

We are assured by some papers that the United States senate or senators will oppose the ratification of the peace pact of the League of Nations. Ex-President Taft when speaking here, said that the senate when he was president so badly mutilated a series of peace treaties that they could not be recognized by their father when they came out after being considered by the great "deliberative body."

In 1917-18 seventeen state legislatures endorsed the league of nations idea, and since the first of January, 1919, thirteen other legislative bodies have given the league as far as organized hearty endorsement, and that accounts for most of the states which have been having legislative sessions since this question became a national proposition. Perhaps President Wilson was about right when he said that the people of America are for the league. And so they are. A few who thought they were politicians professed not to favor the idea. When Ex-President Taft was here, and spoke on the question—and spoke with authority, some of those who had opposed the league, thinking it a purely democratic invention, learned that a number of republicans claimed the honor of sharing in the glory of the league idea, and since that time they have been gradually warming up to the project. It is small wonder that they thought it was another good democratic measure, of which so many

The Importance of Correct Planting

Correct Planting Is The First Step Toward A Big Corn Harvest

You Must Plant It Right

The C B & Q Corn Planter

has attained as near perfection as seems possible—meeting the many requirements for all kinds of soil and all conditions of soil and seed.

SOME OF ITS BEST FEATURES

- A large variety of seed plates.
- A foot drop for convenient planting of the head rows.
- Force feed valves insure proper depth of planting.
- An adjustable tongue, permitting an adjustment for height of horses.
- A lifting spring which assists in raising the runners.
- An automatic reel.
- A fertilizer attachment.

To secure the best planting results all seed corn should be graded and seed plates selected that will fit the size and shape of the kernels to be planted. The planter then has an even chance to perform its work.

On the C B & Q planter the plates are operated directly from the solid steel axle. The drive chain is always kept taut by an automatic chain tightener, which prevents any lost motion in transmitting power.

This construction all has to do with the efficient working of the plates and the valves of the planter. The plates operate exactly on time so that the desired number of kernels are delivered to the upper valves and are there waiting to drop when the valves are tripped. The valves have a force feed action—in other words, a plunger which forces the kernels out together and into the bottom of the furrow.

The action of both the plates and the valves is positive. The power is dependable, the gears are carefully cut and therefore mesh properly, insuring a high percentage of accurate dropping for this planter. Adverse field conditions are met successfully by the C B & Q planter.

One of the strongest features of the C B & Q planter is the combined variable drop and clutch. The clutch is built into the dropping mechanism in a way that is simple and effective. By means of the variable drop, 2, 3, or 4 kernels can be planted in each hill and the change can be made from the seat without stopping the team. The clutch is positive and accurate.

This is one of the strongest features on the C B & Q planter.

Strongly constructed runner frame insures durability, smooth running and even dropping.

The runner frame can be made to float.

Built in four sizes, with adjustable planting widths. Four types of runners, regular sled runners, stub runners, disk and double disk runners.

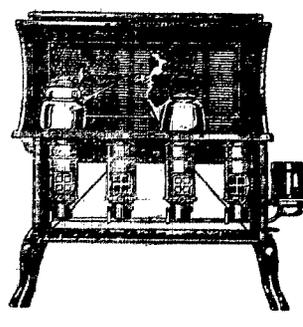

Open or solid wheels. Automatic marker, requires no attention when turning.

Send for catalogue giving more detail as to merits of this planter.

The new or revised covenant of the League of Nations appears to have left a little hole through which the senators who rushed to oppose it may crawl in—and not one of them needs a large hole to enter—just any old excuse.

And now the news dispatches are making it worse or better as to our late legislature; for they assert that the total appropriations total nearer $20,000,000 than $15,000,000 as first reported. Let us hope that it grows no larger.

The work of classifying the different kinds of wheat grown in this country is one of the works the government has undertaken. They have thus far identified more than 150 different varieties, and these have been known by more than 500 names. So it seems that each variety thus far found to be distinct, has been masking under several names.

The Fremont Tribune endorses the act of the late legislature in relation to schools and the languages taught and not taught, and sums up its comment that the law has a worthy purpose and is so worded that those affected were "wholly reconciled" to the new educational plan. In other words the editor might have said if it does no good it will not make matters worse than they were.

And now we see by the republican papers that a "formidable boom" has been inaugurated in behalf of our Senator Hitchcock for the democratic presidential nomination. The republican papers are the ones to conduct his presidential boom, for beyond a doubt he would be their favorite. He has been against too many progressive measures. Not all who have put on the party label for campaign purposes are democrats.

It is stated that the next meeting of congress will see the passage of the suffrage amendment, which lacked one vote of passing the senate at the last session. And that one vote was cast by a Nebraska senator, G. M. Hitchcock—that is he voted against it, though his state had declared in favor of the principle—but not until after he had been elected. That shows how progressive Gilbert is on great questions of the day. Perhaps he would be glad to have the primary repealed as to senator before he comes before the people again.

Land is going to be in greater demand in the near future than ever before, is evident from the active inquiries now coming in at the department of the interior which has to do with the reclamation of lands in both irrigation and drainage districts. It is planned to make large tracts of these lands available for the returning soldiers, and already more than 35,000 inquiries are filed by interested people. That makes it appear that those who wish to secure land for their own use should not delay. Speculators are taking advantage of the opportunity in increasing numbers.

Republicans as well as democrats are in favor of asking the referendum on the measure which killed the primary law. Editor Don C. Van Deusen of the Blair Pilot volunteers to be one to circulate a petition asking that the people pass on the law before it is finally adopted. A corporation man who was elected with a democratic label on may be said to be responsible for the passage of the bill—that is it passed by the bare number of votes necessary, and he among others voted for the measure. That will give the people a chance to say it was done by the democrats; so it will be the duty of democrats all over the state to repudiate the act.

Good Groceries Please The Taste

Compare the taste of a can of High Grade Peaches put up in rich sugar syrup with a can of bargain peaches sold at 5c or 10c less and put up in a sugary water. Compare a can of juicy, tender sweet corn with the cheap watery corn in which you so often find the pieces of husks, cobs and silk.

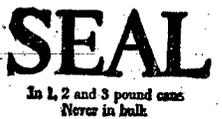

Compare a cup of good full flavored coffee fresh roasted and ground with a cup made from the ordinary coffee sold at a few cents less. What is 5 or 10 or even 15 cents on a pound of coffee when you consider the number of cups and the pleasure the better coffee gives.

The Importers

What do you or what do we storekeepers know about coffee until we taste it in the cup. Who can judge coffee by looking at the beans or smelling of them? Good coffee is a mixture of coffees grown in different places and this mixing can only be done by trained experts and coffee tasters. We couldn't buy a bag of green coffee beans—the finest grown—and roast a coffee fit to drink nor can any other storekeeper.

How then are we to be safe in buying coffee? There is only one way and that is to buy it from a firm whom you can trust to give you your money's worth.

That is why we stick to Chase and Sanborn. They have built up the biggest coffee business in the world by always delivering a coffee worth the money.

We take no chances when we buy from them. A pound of their 40 cent coffee is worth 40 cents. A pound of their 30 cent coffee we can depend on to be the best coffee obtainable for 30 cents. And so it is with every grade they sell us from 25c to 50c. You can also be safe in buying your coffee if you will ask for Chase and Sanborn's.

Just come in and say "Give me a pound of Chase and Sanborn's 30c or 40c or 50c coffee," or whatever price you generally pay and you'll get a coffee worth the money year and year out.

They advise us that coffee freshly roasted goes one-third farther than coffee 30 to 60 days old so you'll find no coffee around this store that has been on hand for longer than that. We order every two weeks and never change brands. So if you get to like a certain grade we will always have it for you—fresh roasted and the best to be had for the price you pay.

PUTTING SENATORS IN PRESIDENTIAL CHAIR

During these times when there is a lull of excitement while waiting for the peace terms, some of the papers of the cities are amusing themselves in picking out presidential nominees for the two parties. The Sunday papers filled space that way, picking a list of the senators who have aspirations that way, and it looks as though the next president would not be much of a fellow, if he must be hand-picked by the metropolitan press from the United States senate. Here is the list:

Republicans—Johnson of California, Borah of Idaho, Kenyon of Iowa, Lodge of Massachusetts, Kellogg of Minnesota, Spencer of Missouri, Frelinghuysen of New Jersey, Edge of New Jersey, Harding of Ohio, Wadsworth of New York, Knox of Pennsylvania, Poindexter of Washington, Sutherland of West Virginia, Lenrot of Wisconsin.

Democrats—Underwood of Alabama, Walsh of Massachusetts, Hitchcock of Nebraska, Pomerene of Ohio. The dispatch continues, senators in a receptive mood in addition to the above named are too numerous to mention.

Disparity in Number Explained
The disparity between the number of republican and democratic candidates causes comment. The explanation is this: Political tradition, if not expediency requires a middle western address for candidates. The middle west is practically unrepresented in the senate so far as democrats are concerned. Senator Pomerene of Ohio is practically the only remnant of the democratic heyday west of the Alleghenies.

But whatever shortage of presidential timber there may be on the democratic side of the senate is more than offset by the abundance of hoons and bees in the president's own cabinet. A democratic observer today remarked that outside of Secretary of the Interior Lane, and Secretary of Labor Wilson, who were not born in the United States, every member of the cabinet is hoping, if not expecting, that his chief will select him as his successor.

Almost every state has at least one candidate, regardless of geographical disadvantages, and some have more. Ohio, the well known pivotal state, has come to the fore with no less than four favorite sons. The Ohio republicans seem fairly well united on Senator Warren Harding, but a three-cornered contest is developing for possession of the democratic delegates. Governor Cox's friends, are actively in quest of the Ohio delegation. The secretary of war, Mr. Baker, whose home is in Cleveland, and who according to the president, is "the most efficient public servant I have ever known," does not look with entire favor upon the governor's proposed monopoly of the Ohio delegation. It is said, Senator Pomerene's friends think he is entitled to Ohio democratic support at the convention. It would not be surprising to see a Baker-Pomerene combine to beat Governor Cox.

FREE HIGH SCHOOL ATTENDANCE
(From Wayne County Teacher)

Pupils desiring to take advantage of the free high school attendance law must file written application with the county superintendent before the second Monday in June. These applications must be received every year. All who finish the eighth grade this year will be mailed application blanks which they must have filled out and properly signed and return. All others must see to it that they secure the necessary blanks from the superintendent of the school where they are attending or from this office.

Those who attended the high school last year will not be entitled to high school privileges for the ensuing year without making new application. Applications may be made at any time now and parents should attend to this, as it will be too late after the second Monday in June. A diploma does not entitle the holder to free high school privileges, but applications must be made on blanks procurable at this office.

BROTHERHOOD OF AMERICAN YEOMEN

Next Friday will be the regular meeting of the Yeomen, and it will be one of special interest to the members for several reasons which we cannot publish to outsiders, and therefore the members will naturally wish to know the particulars. Owing to the removal from Wayne of some of the officers there will be some vacancies to fill, and the election for same will be held that evening. No one is promising anything to eat, so far as we know—but, well if necessary we can have a good time without the eats—and just as good with them.

Now we are going to repeat something of the offer of prizes for new members, as given in the paper last week. These prizes are now on exhibition at the Wayne Bakery, and you should drop in and see them, and get busy for your share.

As District Manager of the Brotherhood of American Yeomen, I am launching a campaign for the Homestead at Wayne and desire to make it one of the best in this part of my territory. I will devote my time to building up, the order here and want your cooperation.

This campaign will continue until the first meeting in June. It is my object to secure one hundred new benefit members. I will give to the present members and those who become members, $1.00 for each new benefit member secured. In addition I will give the following grand prizes provided the full one hundred new benefit members are secured during this campaign.

Remember no prizes will be given unless the full one hundred new benefit members are secured in the campaign.

Grand prizes will be awarded as follows:

Ladies securing largest number of new benefit members.

First prize—One 20 year gold filled watch, 0 size, 15 jewel, Elgin or Waltham movement or $20.00 in cash.

Second prize—One 20 year gold filled watch, 0 size, 7 jewel, Elgin or Waltham movement or $15.00 in cash.

KIDNEYS WEAKENING?

Kidney troubles don't disappear of themselves. They grow slowly but steadily undermining health with deadly certainty until you fall a victim to incurable disease.

Stop your troubles while there is time. Don't wait until little pains become big aches. Don't trifle with disease. To avoid future suffering begin treatment with GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules now. Take three or four every day until you are entirely free from pain.

This well-known preparation has been one of the national remedies of Holland for centuries. In 1698 the government of the Netherlands granted a special charter authorizing its preparation and sale.

The housewife of Holland would almost as soon be without food as without her "Real Dutch Drops," as she quaintly calls GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. They restore strength and are responsible in a great measure for the sturdy, robust health of the Hollanders.

Do not delay. Go to your druggist and insist on his supplying you with GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. Take them as directed, and if you are not satisfied with results your druggist will gladly refund you money. Look for the name GOLD MEDAL on the box and accept no other. PROGRESSIVES IN FIGHT TO RULE CONVENTION

Nebraska progressives are lining up for the fight over selection of delegates to the Constitutional convention next December.

The law provides for election of delegates on a nonpartisan ballot, giving progressives of all parties opportunity to unite on the best men available.

For the first time, perhaps, in Nebraska, the progressives plan to "get the jump" on the reactionaries, and start the fight.

Independent and progressive newspaper men are enlisting for the fight.

Don C. VanDeusen, editor of the Blair Pilot, and A. W. Ladd, of Albia, another progressive newspaper man, are candidates for delegates.

In every county, forward-looking forces of both parties are preparing to elect delegates who will not be controlled by any special interests.

They do not ask a man's politics, merely asking that he be right on fundamental principles, and that he favor a modern constitution that will not tie the hands of the people or the legislature.—Omaha News.

THE LATE LAMENTED!

Crofton Journal: The legislature promises to adjourn this week after a twelve or fourteen weeks session. The fruits of the session will prove about as satisfactory as most of its predecessors. It has done some good things, some not so good, and frittered away a lot of time and other people's money. Time was when a member of the legislature was looked up to and honored greatly but the public estimate of its lawmakers has almost hit the zero mark. Fact is there's too blamed much legislating. Too many regulations that don't regulate and too many new commissions and investigating committees appointed to make jobs for politicians. A legislature that would repeal about half the laws and throw out every application for a raise of salaries would make a hit with a long suffering constituency. We have no doubt this legislature was good as any that has gone before, but that ain't meant as a great compliment.

THE ITALIAN QUESTION

Four weeks before Italy, in May, 1915, joined the allies against Germany, it entered into a secret treaty at London with Great Britain, France and Russia. Clause four of this treaty, given as a part of the price of Italy's entrance into the war, guaranteed to Italy, when a victorious peace was made, the district of Trentino and southern Tyrol. Clause five guaranteed to Italy the province of Dalmatia and the islands of the coast, territory skirting the east shore of the sea whose western boundary is the coast of Italy.

The territories named in clause four were Italy's by right of history and race and the wishes of the inhabitants. They were Italian provinces which free Italy had not been able to wrest from Austria. There has been no question in the peace conference of giving Italy these lands. That was in accordance with the fourteen points.

Upon the territories included in clause five, the eastern shore of the Adriatic, Italy had no such claim. This coast belongs naturally to the Slavic peoples occupying the lands behind it—Herzegovina, Bosnia, Croatia and so forth. Italy has colonized this coast to some extent, just as Germans have colonized in the United States. But its claim to possession is based on nothing stronger than military need, the claim made by the Germans upon Alsace-Lorraine. The port of Fiume, on this coast is the sole outlet to the sea of the republic which the Slavs of southern Austria have set up, Jugoslavia. For Italy to hold this coast in fee, including Fiume, would be equivalent to America's claiming the Mexican coast along the gulf, including Vera Cruz, to protect us against attack by Mexico. Italy's claim would have some point were old autocratic Austria to hold this coast as a vantage from which to menace the Italian coast. Instead, this coast is to be held, if Italy fails to obtain it, either internationally or by a republic smaller and weaker than Italy and incapable of menacing Italian territory.

The agreement, as it has proceeded at Paris, has been on Italy's part, a question of contract. It has been promised this imperial gain as the price of its assistance to the allies in the war. The president's view, and in England and seemingly France also agree, is that this contract, a secret treaty, was abrogated by later developments. Germany offered peace on the basis of the fourteen points. The allies agreed to the armistice on that basis. The fourteen points thus supersede the secret treaties. Italy gets the protection it desired by other means.

It could be added further that the war fought under that contract was not won, but lost. When the United States entered the war under implied conditions setting aside the secret treaties, German armies had penetrated into the heart of Italy and Italy had no strength to eject them. Instead of gaining the Trentino and winning the Adriatic provinces, Italy stood to lose its own territory down to the Piave and perhaps to Venice. America's entrance, supposing it did set aside the London treaty, saved Italy all this.

It is hard to see how the president could take any other stand than he has taken on this question without scrapping the principles of international adjustment to which the United States has been committed. We went into the war, among other things, to free the oppressed peoples under the Austrian yoke. We have seen with satisfaction the setting up of a Jugo-Slav republic. Could we now proceed to wall this republic in from the sea by granting an imperialist demand of one of the allied nations for a territorial annexation? That would make a jest of our every pretention to international justice.

What will be the result of the president's remarkable appeal from the Italian delegates to the sentiment of the world cannot be guessed. It may end in Italy's withdrawal and in efforts to carry out its threat to hold Fiume by force if it cannot have it by international agreement. That means an immediate blaze in the Balkans. But it would mean as immediate a blaze if the peace conference decided to smother Jugoslavia behind an Italian coast line. The war possibilities are equally evil in either case. But as the matter now stands, the advantage is gained of precipitating the crisis by an appeal to the moral sense of the world rather than by an action in violation of that moral sense. The president has shown that he has meant what he said in declaring that the war must be settled according to principles of justice rather than according to imperialistic secret treaties. His declaration may precipitate a crisis, but it has cleared the moral atmosphere.—Journal.

Major General Whittlesey, of the Los Angeles battalion, with several other army officers, has written to the New York legislature in protest against a proposed bill giving preference to war veterans in civil service and promotions. He says it is not "for the best interests of the returning soldiers," and is "subversive of the spirit of the civil service."

Western Canadian cattle raisers say the American quarantine has forced Canadian cattle men to dispose of most of their stock at Winnipeg, where prices have averaged $2 to $3 a head less than in St. Paul, and that the quarantining has placed the live stock industry "in an intolerable position" in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

German newspapers are increasing the campaign to organize resistance to a peace dictated by the allies, according to advices from London. The Berlin Tageblatt urges the government not to sign the treaty if France gets the Saar valley. The Vossische Zeitung openly advocates a break with France, so "we can have it out with her."

The "Wild West Division" broke all records for the number of decorations it had received. Among them were 150 distinguished service crosses, 101 French Croix de Guerre, 150 Belgian Croix de Guerre and 5 congressional medals. The Wild West division is made up of men from California, Oregon, Washington and other far western states.

Rear Admiral Sims, who commanded the American fleet during its wartime activities in European waters, says he believes there are "205 German submarines at the bottom of the sea." He says the fleet "found many submarines stuck on the bottom, with indications that many of the men caught inside had committed suicide or killed each other."

Negotiations between employers and employees in various industries with reference to increased pay and the right of employes to have a voice in the questions of management, have failed. The employes, therefore, have decided on a general strike, says Berlin.

Capt. Marshall Field III, who was discharged from service a month ago, has voluntarily gone back to take up the management of the federal employment bureau for returned soldiers, sailors and marines, until the last member of the Prairie division, to which he belonged, is mustered out.

The Woolworth estate is computed to be worth between $25,000,000 and $40,000,000. For about a week preceding his death, Mr. Woolworth had been at work upon a will, making gifts to various charities, relatives and old friends, but it was not quite completed when he died. In consequence, by provisions of a will made 30 years ago, the entire estate goes to his widow, who has been held incompetent.

Roger E. Simmons, who was sent to Russia in 1917 as a member of a United States government commission to study the lumber situation in the war devastated country, and who was taken prisoner by the bolshevik government and at one time sentenced to be shot, has told the United States government commission investigating high prices of building material that the world is facing a lumber famine.

An advisory committee of the British ministry of labor has laid down the first official minimum wage scale for domestic servants. It ranges from $10 a year for a housemaid of 13 years or more up to $150 for a cook or housekeeper, in addition to board and washing. Hours of leisure are fixed at two hours daily, a half holiday every week, part time on Sundays and two weeks' holiday each year with wages.

Charles Farman has handed Premier Clemenceau the following resolution, said to be signed by 8,000,000 American women: "Whereas, There is overwhelming evidence that the armies of the central powers committed and were encouraged to commit every form of sexual offense against women in every country invaded, the women of the United States, associated with the women of France, protest and appeal for punishment of those guilty and treatment of injured girls and women as war wounded."

Among the decorated men arriving this week with the "Wild West" division—the 31st—was J. H. Larue, Santa Clara, Cal., a chauffeur whose work was to drive the high officials. One afternoon he was driving alone, and saw an enemy airplane flying low overhead. Training his machine gun he carried in his automobile on the flier, he shot it down. Asked if he had received a decoration for his deed, he said: "Hell, no; but look at these," and opening his coat he revealed two German war crosses on his breast. "I took these from the pilot and observer before I turned them over to the medical department," he observed laconically.

Mr. and Mrs. Kinne are occupying their residence for a short time, until they move from Wayne, thus vacating the M. S. Davies house they have occupied so long. Today Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Davies are moving into their brick house vacated by Mr. Kinne, and thus vacating their old home for Mr. and Mrs. Cavanaugh, who purchased the place, to have possession today.

WILL HARNESS ELKHORN

West Point people are waking up to the fact that they have a lot of water power running to waste there, and are planning to corner it and put it to work. Here is what the Democrat says was reported at a meeting of citizens called to consider the matter:

It is proposed to construct a dam in the Elkhorn river out near the old Schademan home, run a canal south along the hillside west of the river, erect a power house through which to pass the water of the canal to generate electric power, to turn the used water back again into the channel of the Elkhorn, and thus to get electricity for light, heat and power for the city, the surrounding country and possibly for other towns, from this plant.

Those who have studied the project with care are certain that it is practicable. They state that the physical construction and the successful operation of the proposed plant is feasible. What we need is concerted action. The Democrat believes there will be no lack of community spirit judging from the enthusiasm manifested in this matter.

It is proposed to make this a community project, as it is too big for individual enterprise, as has been proven by previous efforts.

Complete the Joy of Motoring

Have a convenient place for housing your car and making the small repairs.

One of the first requirements of a complete garage is the work bench—you need a place for the tools and accessories. This bench may be built along the side or in the rear, according to choice. Of course, you'll arrange for the windows. Good lighting is first-aid to handy repair work.

A concrete floor provides good drainage and you can wash the automobile in all kinds of weather.

Build a garage now. It's a year 'round necessity.

Clark's Garage

Has, on account of the ever increasing volume of all branches of the automotive industry, found it impossible to continue with it in a general way. Since the truck unit manufacturing and sales end has grown to such an extent that I cannot do justice to that part and general repair at the same time, I have decided that it is best to discontinue the repair end of the business and devote my entire time to that branch which is most in line with my plans for the future. This change will also allow us to render better service to our customers, on all lines that I have built or sold and on what we expect to build and sell from now on.

For the past year I have been building and have placed within Wayne territory, a good quantity of truck units and a reasonable number of Chalmers cars (with the famous hot-spot manifold) all of which are giving excellent results, and whose users are all boosters.
We expect to continue the manufacture of the truck unit in three capacities, but with some moderate improvements and with the additional feature of pneumatic equipment, which is optional, at a price.

In addition to the Chalmers cars and truck units, we have the Huber tractor, which ranks high in the tractor field, and the Clydesdale truck, a truck absolutely in a class by itself and without peer.

We shall continue with a good line of staple accessories, and are in a position to sell you guaranteed tires at a price that will be cheaper, in most cases, than having your old tires repaired.

Our business will be carried on under the name of R. A. CLARK CO. and don't forget that "Clark Did It" and will continue to do it, so that when you are in the market for accessories, a truck unit, touring car, truck or tractor, remember that its R. A. CLARK CO.
for service because we are equipped to deliver it, that valued assistance which is as worthy of consideration as the product you seek to buy.

Thanking you for past favors and assuring you that we are in a position to serve you in a bigger and better way, we are

Yours eventually,

WILL THE PRICE OF HOGS FALL TO NORMAL?

Mr. Gates, chairman of the Chicago board of trade says they will.
He reasons from the assumption that war causes high prices and that low prices will follow the resumption of peace, which indicates that he got his impressions from political discussions, as that question was paramount, politically for many years.
Statesmen and philanthropists are thinking seriously on the question of present and future world peace, but the farmer who is paying cash rent or is in debt for land at present prices should worry.

The following historical facts prove that Mr. Gates' conclusions are not well founded:

(a) In 1862 we were at war and the price of dressed pork was 3c and cheese 5½c; formerly 9c and 12½c respectively.

(b) In the fall of 1867, after two and a half years of peace, cheese sold at 24c and wheat $2.50 the bushel and hogs, live weight at 12½c.

(c) In 1873 Wayne county farmers hauled hogs to Sioux City for $1.50 per cwt., and wheat at 30c and used their corn for fuel.

(d) In 1855 and '56 flour was selling at $13.00 a barrel, and other farm products at corresponding prices.

If the reader cares to know what caused these extremely high and low prices, he may find an explanation in the succeeding chapters.

Telephone Rates Must Be Higher

Increased Operating Expenses Require More Money

Telephone expenses have gone up rapidly the last few years.

Telephone rates have not advanced in proportion to the cost of furnishing the service.

The cost of furnishing telephone service has advanced because of the increased cost of material to the telephone company and the increased living expenses of employees.

Everyone realizes the necessity of paying more for rent, for food, for clothing, for wages and for transportation.

The telephone industry has been affected by the same conditions which have produced higher prices in all the necessities of life.

If this Company is to continue to furnish dependable telephone service to the public it must obtain such rates as will produce a revenue sufficient to cover the cost of providing the service.

Eighty-five thousand German helmets, captured by allied troops in Coblenz, are to be awarded as prizes by Federal district committees in the Victory Liberty Loan campaign. They will be given to victory note salesmen making the best selling records under competition in counties and cities. In the picture shown above, taken on the Treasury steps in Washington, are shown Frank R. Wilson, director of publicity (left), and Lewis B. Franklin, director of War Loan Organization (right). Wilson created a panic in the helmet market by buying the entire $5,000 allotment from the War Department for $1. It cost the German Government more than that amount to manufacture each one of the helmets. The helmets shown were a special supply held in reserve for a triumphal entry into Paris. Eventually they arrived there by freight.

SECRETARY GLASS TO THE SCHOOLS

(Normal Instructor)

Secretary of the Treasury Carter Glass sent the following telegram to the Department of Superintendence meeting:

"I wish to extend the sincere appreciation of the Treasury Department for the assistance rendered by the members of the teaching profession in the Liberty loan and war saving campaigns during the past year. Besides being of immediate value in meeting the financial needs of the Government, these campaigns have been of permanent value to the country in encouraging habits of wise spending, intelligent saving, and investment. These habits of saving and patriotism encouraged and stimulated by the necessities of the war, will have a great permanent value to the country if applied to its development in time of peace. The teachers of the country, by their daily contact with the children who are to be its future citizens, can do much to influence them in teaching good citizenship and thrift. It is therefore my earnest request, in behalf of the Treasury Department, that the school authorities throughout the country incorporate the teaching of thrift in the school curriculum for 1919."

National School Service: The public school teachers scarcely appreciate what a powerful influence they may exert in the improvement of educational conditions provided only that they work together in the common cause and with an eye single to the public good. They number more than six hundred thousand—the largest group of practitioners in any one of the so-called professions. They are in close touch with the people—charged with the care and oversight of the people's children. In spite of the slurs that are sometimes cast upon their service, and in spite of the meagre financial rewards that even the most faithful and efficient teaching brings, it still remains true that the teacher as a type has the confidence of the public. It is not too much to say that, within a decade, this great group of six hundred thousand teachers could by concerted and unselfish action raise the public schools of the nation to a plane of efficiency that would be worthy of the place that education must come to occupy if the democratic ideal is to be realized.

They could solve the rural school problem. They could reduce illiteracy. They could insure the dominance of sterling Americanism in every corner of the land. They could place their own calling upon the basis of a permanent and well-rewarded profession. Through a program of health education, they could double or treble the effective strength of the nation. All of these achievements which would mean so much to the permanence of democratic institutions, are possible to them in a measure unapproached by any other group in our population. It is only a matter of "getting together" and working together for the common good.

EIGHTH GRADE EXAMINATIONS (Wayne County Teacher)

One hundred and thirty pupils took the examination at the five towns in the county in which they were held. The next examination will be held in the court room at Wayne on May 8 and 9.

The program for the subjects and the rules governing the examination will be exactly the same as for the April examination.

Pupils who fail in five or more subjects are evidently not ready for the examination and probably should not write again this year.

Subjects in which a grade of 75 per cent is earned should not be retaken.

The following pupils earned 100 per cent in mental arithmetic: Louie Meierhenry of Hoskins, Pearl Anderson of district 55, Harry Mitchell of district 46, Lloyd Jones and Wilma Francis of Carroll, Samuel Rees and Howard Winget of district 54, Louie Kahl, Avery Casteel, Edna Nielsen, Worley Benshoof and LaVern Lewis of Winside, Bertha Berres of district 26, Elnora Claussen of district 69, and Arnold Vahlkamp of district 20.

As the time between receiving the grades and the next examination will be so short the time between examinations should be spent in reviewing.

Many of the grades in grammar were low. The questions that many of the pupils failed on were these:

1. Define infinitive, participle. Give an example of each.
2. What are the modifications of the noun, pronoun, verb? (They probably did not know the meaning of the word, modifications.)
3. Write a sentence having a clause used as the subject. As the object. (Underline the examples given.)
4. Define a simple sentence, a complex sentence, a compound sentence. Give an example of each.

(THE participle and infinite are given quite nicely in the Hoenshel's Advanced Grammar.)

Many pupils gave the following sentence as an example of a transitive verb: The boy went home.

The questions in physiology that seemed to bother the most were:

1. Name three furms and three uses of the bones. Locate the following: patella, femur, humerus, frontal, tibia.
2. Distinguish between voluntary and involuntary muscles. Give an example of each.

THE YOUNG MAN AND HIS FLIVVER

(A "True" Fable)

(From Mid-West School Review)

Once upon a time a Pretty Young Thing was engaged to teach the school at Cottonwood Hollow. Jane had ambition, yes she had lots of it. So said the recommendation the school director received. That was the kind of teacher he was looking for and soon he had the signature of the pretty and ambitious Miss on a contract.

The contract said that Jane was to keep herself qualified to teach the school, and of course her second grade certificate surely was evidence of that. She had passed the examinations and got through with having to take Theory only three times, so of course she knew her business, and Mr. Blankety Blank had said in the recommendation that she had ambition to make good.

The first week of school passed, and the pupils brought glowing reports home about the new teacher. Mr. Director rubbed his hands in glee and declared that at last Cottonwood Hollow was to have a real school, and he began to figure how much of an advance in salary he would be able to offer Jane to return to the Hollow a second year.

On Friday of the second week the pretty teacher appeared to be somewhat nervous. The morning lessons were heard in a perfunctory manner. Noon came on for some reason the pupils could not understand, school was called half an hour earlier than usual. During the afternoon little Jane was at the window most of the time. There was no recess. The teacher told the pupils that they would be dismissed earlier, if they had no recess, so they all voted in favor of it.

About three o'clock the pupils heard a car coming down the road. This was nothing unusual, but they noticed that the teacher appeared more nervous than ever, and when the car stopped right in front of the school house her face got "redder'n our barn" as little Johnnie told his parents that night.

The teacher went to the door, "hello, little one, send the kids home in a hurry. We're late now," is what the children heard. The pupils were dismissed, and without even a word of good-night, the teacher got into the flivver and was soon out of sight. That is the last anyone in the district saw of her until eight-forty-five the next Monday morning.

The following Wednesday evening the flivver again put in its appearance, Jane did not get home until late that night and the next day she slapped Johnnie, because he asked her why her eyes were so red, a thing she had never done before. Friday the pupils again were allowed to vote on an early dismissal, and the children anxiously waited the sound of the flivver which was to release them from their bondage. Most of the afternoon was taken up singing songs, and the teacher forgot to assign a new lesson to the sixth grade geography class.

The flivver came, this time at two-thirty, and when it left, the teacher was with it. She was back again Monday of the fourth week in time to ring the last bell. Johnnie had built the fire. Monday night the flivver reappeared. Tuesday it was there again. Wednesday he came in the afternoon. Teacher was not feeling well, and dismissed school early, but that night Johnnie's big brother saw her at the dance over at Podunkville. Thursday little Jane went to sleep in her chair during the noon hour and did not call school until nearly two o'clock, and the children had "written lessons"—all that afternoon.

The next day the director received two visitors. They were the moderator and treasurer of the Cottonwood Hollow district. They wanted to see the recommendation that spoke in such glowing terms about Jane's ambition. They even looked up the meaning of the word ambition and found Webster said, "An eager and sometimes inordinate desire after some object."

"Some Object." It did not take the Moderator long to make up his mind concerning the object which Jane's ambition sought. "By heck," she thought more of that drug clerk over at Podunkville than she did of her school, and for one he would stand it no longer. "That's my idea," said the Treasurer, and when the Director handed Jane her first month's pay, he also handed a request for her resignation.

Jane is now boarding with her parents. She declares that she never saw such an unreasonable set of men as the district board of Cottonwood Hollow school district.

Moral? If you must have one, Young men, flivvers and late hours, never accompany good school teaching.

OF INTEREST TO TEACHERS

(From Wayne County Teacher)

Reports have come in that some teachers, especially where there has been a change of teachers, have not kept up their daily attendance registers. This should be attended to carefully every day for the report must be made at the end of the year giving the exact number of days each child has attended.

Monthly reports still come in incorrectly made out. Please give male and female in all of first 7 items except the 5th. It shows right on the report how to get item 5. To get item 3. (average daily attendance) divide the number of days attended by the number of days of school. Since item 5 asks for PER CENT of attendance there will be two figures in the answer, not one. On your form summary just give the number of days each child has attended in YOUR school, paying no attention to how many days he may have attended in some other school.

It will be of interest to our readers to know that nearly all have paid their subscription to the Wayne County Teacher, and that the editor and printer are waiting hopefully for the few delinquents to respond to this gentle hint to remit.

And I resolve to brush my teeth, because that's only right.

WHAT SHALL WE DO ABOUT IT?

(From Current Events)

Eight and a half million people in the United States, over 10 years old, who cannot read and write! That is the appalling statement put out officially by authority of the U. S. Bureau of Education.

The unnaturalized aliens and the illiterates outnumber the entire population of fifteen of our smaller states. In number, it is 11, in the entire population of the vast Dominion of Canada, every one was illiterate or alien.

With such a mass of people whose minds are practically closed to the good influences of education and love of country, is it any wonder that Bolshevism, Socialism, Anarchism, and other "isms" based on ignorance or envy, flourish even here in free America?

At Washington they are talking of a law to shut out immigration altogether for a term of years. It would give the country time to assimilate and educate a mass of indigestible human materials already here.

GOLD SEALS

Those earning Gold Seals for an additional year's attendance are Ronald Reed and George Hoffman of district 48, Bennie and Albert Damm of district 10, Otto Frevert of district 64, Lena Hammer of district 2, and Alta Bernhardt of district 3.

Edwin Ford Piper, author of the following poem, is an uncle of Miss Piper of the State Normal faculty. He is a native of Nebraska, and at present professor of English in the University of Iowa. His early boyhood was spent in western Nebraska, and the pioneer life made a great impression upon him. Many of his poems are in this vein. He received his education at Alma (Nebraska) high school, University of Nebraska, and at Harvard. Below is printed the poem "Gee-up Dar, Mules!" with an introductory paragraph as found in the Literary Digest.

"A characteristic American war-poem is contributed to Contemporary Verse (Philadelphia) by Mr. Edwin Ford Piper. We have come to know our negro population much better through the glorious record of negro troops on the Western Front, and Mr. Piper is very successful in giving a portrait of one of these men that is unmistakable."

GEE-UP DAR, MULES

(By Edwin Ford Piper.)

He stood up in our khaki with the poise
Of perfect soldiery beneath the praise
Of the French officer. We caught
The words,
"Conspicuous courage," "bringing wounded in,"
And "decorated with the Cross of War."
Black-faced? Yes, just a nigger. Nine months since
He drove a span of bony cotton mules,
And never had been out of Jasper

County,
In Georgia, U. S. A.

They drafted him,
Shipped him to barracks, broke him
into drill;
It was a changeling's life. I saw the lad
After his first three days in cantonment,
He had just finished polishing his teeth—
Novel achievement, and he swung the brush
With beat ecstatic, chanting joyously:
"Lordy, lordy, got a toothbrush,
"Lordy, lordy, got a toothbrush,
"Lordy, lordy, got a toothbrush,
And I'll go to heaven on a-high!"

Perhaps he sings now of the service-medal,
Or of some other meager badge or symbol
Out of that rich and shattering experience Hurled round his simple soul. With hasty hand,
Life sweats a tooth-brushing brush
Over his old dull past.

And yet, I like
To think he will come back to Jasper
County;
I picture him in patched and faded
denims,
Over the wagon-wheel he mounts the seat,
Evens the lines so the lead team
won't jerk,
Then all together the four nervous
mules
Whi straighten tugs, dig in their toes, and pull.

She shakes, she creaks, she rolls!
"Gee-up dar, mules!"

"General Foch is a fine old French,
He puts us niggers in a front-line
trench;
The barb-wire down, and the barrage begun—
Boche see a nigger, and the Boche
he run,
O po' mourner!
You shall be free
When the good Lord sets you
free!"

"Oh, I hitched up the mules, the mules worked fine;
I hitched 'em to that Hinnenburg
line,
I drewed her back till I snagged her on the Rhine,
An' the boss come' along, and he give me my time,
O po' mourner!
You shall be free
When the good Lord sets you
free."

Gwan-n, mules! Gee-up dar, mules!"

Wayne County and Western Lands

I am agent for lands in Western Nebraska and Eastern Colorado. I have spent a season selecting lands for sale in what is acknowledged to be the very best parts of western Nebraska and eastern Colorado. The development of these sections is assured, and there is every indication that the early purchasers will be the ones who buy for least money. Good lands are becoming scarce, and constantly advancing in price, and judged from all views I can give bargains to the early buyer. These lands are not merely speculative propositions, but have the virtue of fertility which assures a real value.

As to the Wayne county lands, all know their worth, and that each year sees an added recognition of their value reflected in the constantly advancing prices, so if you contemplate procuring a farm in this good county of Wayne it may be bought for less money this spring than next.

WILL WAYNE COUNTY GO OVER OR FLUNK?

This morning, Chairman Wilson of the Victory Liberty Loan drive tells us that the returns are coming too slow to meet the county quota by Saturday night, unless the people speed up. For at this writing not quite two-thirds of the sum has been subscribed. Bad weather, busy times and almost impassible roads are excuses, but these things did not stop the boys from "going over" and getting the foe—had they waited for weather, roads and a convenient time to move, the peace terms which were given out for Germany to sign yesterday would have been written by Germany, as they were in 1871, and they would not have been pleasant.

Prosperity is indicated here on every hand, producers receive top prices, business seems good and money plentiful for many. Bank statements show an abundance of deposits—and we all know it simply requires action to put Wayne county in the proud place she is entitled to and can hold—of going over on every drive—filling every quota to overflowing. Will you act now?

"The First one took them over.
The Second helped them fight,
The Third kept home fires burning
And the Fourth put Huns to flight.
The Victory boys are homesick—
Your Buddy and your Jack—
Come put the Fifth one over
And bring them safely back."

ELKHORN VALLEY ASSOCIATION MEETS NEAR CARROLL

Wednesday evening began the sessions of the thirty-fifth annual meeting of the Elkhorn Valley association of Congregational churches at the new Welsh church just west of Carroll, and a number of ministers and delegates were at Wayne Wednesday afternoon on their way to attend the gathering. The organization is largely Welsh, but they are first American, and they have changed their program and service to English, and in this magnificent new church finished last year they will hold their first associational gathering in the language of their adopted country.

The association covers a large scope of country, though perhaps not a section which has many churches of that faith and nationality. Among the places represented are Neligh, Long Pine, Ainsworth, Crawford, Norfolk, Butte, Creighton, Bloomfield, Hartington, Wisner, Scribner and other places.

The program, which closes this evening, consists of preaching services, addresses and discussions of topics of interest to the churches and the country. A banquet will be given at the church basement this evening at 6 o'clock, after which came a song service and a program from the Woman's Home Missions, with several speakers from over the state.

OPP FOR LINCOLN FOR INDEFINITE STAY

In district court last week O. N. Elcher and Everett Hoguewood each had a hearing charged with violation of parole, they having been convicted of crime, and sentence suspended under the provision by which a judge may grant parole.

Sheriff Lewis went to Lincoln Tuesday, and delivered Elcher to the prison authorities; but Hoguewood asked for a stay of thirty days before beginning his sentence, which was granted, and he will be retained at the county jail for a time. Hoguewood's term is from one to seven years, and Elcher from one to five years.

Also that they have been prospecting for sand, and have discovered a bed which they think is in water enough to permit it to be pumped to the surface. The quality he says is reported good and the supply apparently unlimited.

YOUNG MAN FORGES CHECKS—LANDS IN JAIL

Tuesday a young fellow, hailing from Bloomfield, struck Wayne and proceeded to do a rushing business, writing no less than eight checks in the time, and offering to trade some other merchants checks, which they did not want. He purchased some articles in the places visited, and made a check for more than the purchase price and secured the change. Most of the checks were for only $5, two of them were each twice that sum. Checks were held by Gamble & Senter, Allaway & Hassan, Carhart Hardware, F. H. Jones, F. S. Morgan and Sam Temple. When arrested the goods purchased were returned, but only 15 cents in money was found on his person, indicating that he must have had a partner. And perhaps he did, as Agent Moran sold a ticket just before the Emerson train left to a stranger, who has not since been seen.

When arrested the lad gave his name as Fritz Leullman, son of Henry Leullman of Bloomfield. Word was sent to his father, but he declined to aid the boy, who has been making trouble before this, and the chances are that he is now in so deep that he will find a home behind prison bars for some time.

This morning the young man was called to appear before Judge Cherry on the charge of forgery. He pleaded not guilty, waived examination, and in default of $500 bail bond, is waiting in jail for court to convene.

DEATH OF MRS. E. C. TWEED

Thursday afternoon, May 1, 1919, death claimed Mrs. E. C. Tweed of this city, who had been ill several days of pneumonia. Maren Andersen was born at Christina, Norway, September 22, 1853, and was therefore 65 years, 7 months and 9 days of age when called.

She came to America in 1880, living at Chicago, where she united in marriage to Mr. E. C. Tweed June 28, 1884. Three years later, in 1887, they moved to Sioux City, and in 1891 to Wayne, and this city has been their home since that time. She is survived by the husband and one sister, Mrs. F. M. Reed of Hartington and by a sister and two brothers who live in Australia. Many Wayne friends, and associates will sadly miss her from their circle.

Mrs. Tweed was a member of the English Lutheran church from childhood, and has been a faithful and consistent member of the church at Wayne since moving here nearly thirty years ago. She was also a member of the Degree of Honor of this place for many years.

The funeral services were from the English Lutheran church Sunday afternoon, conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. H. Fetterolf, and attended by a large number of friends who came to pay a tribute of love and respect to a worthy friend, and sympathy to the bereaved husband and sister.

THE OLD OUT AND THE NEW IN

Tuesday morning the new city council, J. H. Kemp, mayor, E. Bichel, W. H. Gildersleeve of First ward; Herman Lundberg, C. W. Hiscox of Second ward; C. E. Carhart and L. C. Gildersleeve of Third ward met to organize and issue licenses and approve bonds.

Herman Lundberg was elected president pro tem, and Mayor Kemp named the following committees for the coming year:

Streets and Alleys—E. Bichel, L. C. Gildersleeve, C. W. Hiscox.
Electric Light Carhart, Hiscox, Bichel.

Water W. H. Gildersleeve, Lundberg, L. C. Gildersleeve.
Finance—Lundberg, Carhart, W. H. Gildersleeve.

For Park Commissioners—J. T. Bressler, J. M. Cherry, R. H. Jones.
For City Attorney—F. S. Berry was named; water commissioner, L. W. Roe, chief of police, Andy Chance, street commissioner, Eli Bonawitz. These appointments were unanimously confirmed by the council.

The official bonds of H. S. Ringland, treasurer, and L. W. Roe, city clerk and water commissioner, in the sum of $5,000 and $8,000 respectively were approved.

Elmer E. Gailley was granted license to conduct a picture show during the coming year; Wm. Danneberg, J. H. Rehder and Wm. Hostettler were each given license to conduct pool halls for the 1919-20 year.

It was voted to accept the Workmen Compensation and Employment insurance for the city employees the coming year.

THE HIGH SCHOOL JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET

Last Friday evening the Junior high school class entertained the Seniors at a banquet at Hotel Boyd, and a most enjoyable evening was passed. It was the occasion all members of the two classes look forward to as one of the events of the year—a time when Juniors and Seniors bury the hatchet, which in some schools is too frequently in use, for at least one joyful evening. The dress of the class members for the occasion seems to be one of the important considerations, and the graduation dress is not now considered more important than the banquet attire. In fact, there are schools and places where the dress of the graduates is considered of secondary importance, and scholarship is recognized as the first requisite for place in the class and the esteem of the community. But we must not urge reform in these lines now, for it is too late for this year, and it will be forgotten before another banquet is to be held.

We can perhaps give no better story of the evening than to give the program and the names of the two classes, and let each reader use his imagination as to the happy scene, as we would have to do were we to write more of the event:

VICTORY LOAN SLOW

Reports from all parts of the country indicate that subscriptions to the Victory loans are coming in very slowly—and with but three days of the time set to finish, and but little more than half the sum reported, though it is evident that much more than that sum is subscribed, but the reports appear to be slow in filling—probably waiting to make them better.

CALL CONGRESS

President Wilson has issued a call for congress to convene in extra session May 19th. That is when trouble will begin again.

Eighth grade examinations are being held again this week. Anxious times for a lot of the pupils.

SENIOR SNEAK DAY TUESDAY; JUNIORS OUT GENERALIZED

Following the custom established some years ago the Normal Senior class decided to observe Tuesday as "sneak day" and forget to consult the weather man. Plans were made to make an early start by auto truck and drive to Wakefield where a special car left here the evening before, was to be at their disposal when the train pulled into that station; but the heavy rain coming just at the time planned for the start put a stop to that plan. The change of plans almost lead to their undoing—for it was decided to eat a hurried breakfast at the Hunterer home and come to the car, enter and were locked in—and here the members of the Junior class found them, but were unable to capture any of the class and held them as prisoners for the day, as they had hoped to do, but one Junior was taken prisoner and carried away, much to his disgust and to the displeasure of the Seniors. The Sioux City Journal tells of his adventure as follows:

The would-be heroism of Joe Chudomelka, a Junior, who, "facing fearful odds," climbed through the window of a locked passenger coach on the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha railroad to lead the attack, was turned into mock comedy when members of the beleaguered senior class in the coach tore the army shirt from Chudomelka's back and took him with them as far as Wakefield. At that place they tossed him from the train in a rainstorm, leaving him to get back to Wayne as best he might, shiftless and "sore as a boil."

The "sneak" of the senior class for a day's outing has been an annual affair at the school from time immemorial and for the same length of time it has been the business of the Junior class to do all in its power to imprison the runaways and thus put a damper on the holiday. This year the odds were against the seniors, who number but thirty-six, while the juniors number seventy.

From 6 o'clock until 8, the time of the train's departure, the Juniors stormed the coach, only one window of which was open. Fear of destroying government property kept them from breaking the rest of the windows.

The seniors spent a lively day in Sioux City, taking in a theatrical performance and visiting some "well known points of interest."

THE PEACE TREATY NOW BEFORE GERMANS

Wednesday afternoon the terms of peace laid down by the allies were given to the delegation from Germany named to receive and act for the government. By its terms Germany shall restore Alsace-Lorraine, give control of the Saar basin for a time, pay indemnities and make reparations, restore shipping destroyed for ton, lose all colonies, lose the navy and may have but 100,000 of an army. They must destroy forts within fifty kilometers of the Rhine, make Kiel canal free to the world, acknowledge the independence of a lot of smaller countries that claimed right to control. In fact, they must begin over again, with every opportunity to grab control taken from them. And they are in position where they must accept; and the terms make it possible for them to be kept in that humble condition.

HANSEN-LIEDTKE

Monday, May 5, 1919, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jans, occurred the marriage of their granddaughter, Miss Camilla Hansen and Mr. Oscar C. Liedtke. The ceremony was performed at high noon in presence of immediate relatives by the Rev. Mr. Moehring. A sumptuous dinner was served, after which the happy couple left by auto to Wakefield where they took the train to Sioux City and other Iowa points for a week's visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Liedtke will take up their residence with the groom's mother, Mrs. Anna Liedtke and make their home at Wayne where the groom is employed in the postoffice. The Democrat offers congratulations.

LOCAL AGENTS OF THE OMAHA MEET AT EMERSON

T. W. Moran, for so many years the local agent at the Wayne railway station, went to Emerson Monday and spent the day there with other local agents of the Nebraska division of the "Omaha" as this line of the Northwestern is called. He tells us that it was a most interesting and instructive meeting. All of the head offices were represented, and each one present was not only free to ask questions and tell ex-cesses and suggest means of bettering the service, but was urged to do so, and if one left the gathering without receiving a benefit from the experience of all others present, as well as the decision or rule applied at the head office for any particular case, he was to blame for it, for the opportunity was there to learn. He told us that there were no "crabbers" in the bunch, but every man a booster, anxious to give the public the best of service. The following program was followed, and each subject given attention of both the agents and the officials. If a question about which there was doubt in the minds of any came up, it was decided, and as much of the trouble between the public and the railroads is due to misunderstandings, the report of this meeting may help some of us to see the viewpoint of the other fellow, and show to the readers some of the phases of questions which the railroad men have to meet:

STATE NORMAL NEWS

On Monday morning Professor O. R. Bowen spoke on the Mexican situation. In general he showed that there is a real Mexican problem, one that concerns us as a nation and one that will not be settled at the peace conference. Mexico is a problem, first, because it has a vast extent of country. It is as large as Germany, France, Belgium, Holland, Switzerland, Italy and Spain combined. It is ten times as large as the state of Nebraska. The international boundary line between United States and Mexico is fifteen hundred miles in length. Second, Mexico has resources, silver and gold mines and immense oil fields, which are not well utilized for the good of society. Third, she has a population of 15,000,000 people, backward, unsettled and ignorant. The result of all this is that neither in her international nor in her internal relations is Mexico an efficient nation. She lacks a strong government. This is of peculiar interest to us because there is a conflict in sentiment between Pan-Latinism and Pan-Americanism. The nations of the world at large demand stable relationships between Mexico and the South American countries and themselves. Thus far our Monroe Doctrine has obliged us to uphold a high standard of international relations among all American and other states. But Pan-Latinism resents this and Mexico is distinctly antagonistic to us. Professor Bowen did not undertake to say how this matter is to be settled, but called attention to its importance in the near future.

The cast for the Senior play have been rehearsing for the past month for their play, "Mother." The story is one of present day life in which idealism and politics and machine control of social processes are mingled in a most delightful way. The heroine is a young widow, so young, indeed, that she is easily mistaken for her own daughter. The hero is the aspiring son of this widow and the way in which she ministers to his success is characteristic of all mothers. The play is written by Percy MacKaye, is witty, charming and all who attend will be pleased. The Seniors taking part in the presentation of this play are: Nada Addison, Dorothy Bessire, Julius Young, Ralph Clayton, Adlia C. Johnson.

Tuesday was enjoyed by the Seniors as official "sneak day." With the consent of the president but without knowledge of others, except as the secret leaked out, the class went in a special coach to Sioux City where they spent the day in merriment and excursions, returning in the evening. They then went to the Gansko Hotel for a dinner, after which they attended the carnival. Reaching the Normal late that night, they were surprised and pleased to find that the Juniors had prepared for them a reception in the gymnasium. After passing down the receiving line composed of the entire Junior class, the Seniors were directed to the recreation room where refreshments were served. Following that, dancing was the order until the small hours of the night.

Yesterday morning at chapel President Conn announced the commencement speakers. The baccalaureate sermon will be delivered in the auditorium Sunday evening, May 18, at 8 o'clock by Reverend H. E. Hutchinson, pastor of the First Methodist church of Sioux City. The orator on commencement day will be Professor J. L. McBrien, formerly state superintendent of public instruction of Nebraska and now rural expert in the national department of education at Washington, D. C. Mr. McBrien's powers as a public speaker are well known by people of this community and it is felt that both these speakers will be highly acceptable.
