

PRESIDENT INVITE OPPOSITION DISCUSS TREATY AND LEAGUE

Washington, July 16.—President Wilson has decided to invite republican senators to call at the white house to discuss the peace treaty and the league of nations, Secretary Tumulty announced today.

Senator Lodge, chairman of the foreign relations committee, was understood to be one of fifteen republican senators with whom the president desired especially to confer.

Will Answer Questions It was said that the invitations would not be limited to members of the foreign relations committee. The president was represented as being anxious to talk to all members of the senate, republicans as well as democrats and to answer any questions they might desire to ask.

It also was indicated that as the president had placed himself at the disposal of the foreign relations committee, he would not begin his tour of the country until the committee had had a reasonable time in which to decide whether it wished to confer with him.

Senator Chamberlain of Oregon, former chairman of the senate military committee whose criticism of the war department early in the war led to a sharp statement from President Wilson was among those invited to the white house today and those close to the president hoped the conference would result in the establishment of harmonious relations between the executive and the Oregon senator.

BUSINESS CHANGES OWNERS

Misses Maude McLean and Anna McCreary from Gothenburg have purchased the millinery stock and business from Jessie Grace, and have taken possession. The room has been newly papered, painted, and put in shape for the coming fall millinery season; and the new owners have left for the markets where they will purchase their stock in readiness when needed. Omaha, Kansas City and Chicago will be visited.

The ladies are both experienced in the millinery business, having had the experience of several years in the business, so the patrons of the house need not fear but that their needs will be properly cared for.

Miss Grace, who has spent five successful years here is not decided as to where she will next locate in business, but is first planning for a well-earned vacation, which she will spend with home folks at Dexter, Iowa. Miss Grace has won many business and social friends during her residence at Wayne.

NELLIE GUSTAFSON DOTSON

Funeral services for Mrs. E. H. Dotson were held at the home in the north part of the city, Saturday, July 12, the Rev. Mr. Fetterolf officiating. The little home but recently bought and in which the young wife expected to spend many pleasant hours, was full of friends and relatives whose hearts ached for the untimely end of this young life. The casket was covered with flowers, silent reminders of the love and respect in which she was held by all. The ladies of the Rebekah lodge attended the services in a body. Rev. Fetterolf gave a short talk, beautiful in its simplicity, pointing the way to the "Sabbath rest." Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

A BIG DAY AT STANTON

The Stanton people are evidently moving forward in providing amusement for the people of this part of Nebraska. After their races and celebration they have taken contract for a big Aero circus at their fair grounds. Donaldson Brothers are to be there Wednesday, July 30, at 6 p. m., with three planes and five racing autos. The autos will exhibit their speed and the planes will do all manner of stunts except bombing the enemy, for they are real army planes in charge of army aviators. There will also be races between the planes and the automobiles. They promise plenty of thrills, and beyond a doubt many Wayne people will drive over if road and weather conditions are at all favorable.—1

DAVIES OPERA COMPANY AT OPERA HOUSE TONIGHT

Owing to the fact that the Davies Opera Company which had an engagement at the college for an afternoon and evening entertainment being caught behind a freight wreck, and unable to reach Wayne on time, one entertainment was given each evening of Tuesday and Wednesday, instead of both on Tuesday, afternoon and evening. This still leaves the company behind on their schedule, and by having to cancel a date they are left free for this evening, and have engaged to give the comic opera Olivet this evening at the opera house for a benefit for the Woman's club of this city. This company has won a place with the music loving people of Wayne and vicinity, and their misfortune in the wrecking of their schedule will be appreciated here.

BRIDGE ACROSS MISSOURI RIVER IS NOW ASSURED

Hard-surfaced roads for north Nebraska and southern South Dakota, and a bridge across the Missouri river at Yankton, were the chief subjects before one of the most enthusiastic good roads meetings ever held in Norfolk. The occasion was the combined annual meetings of the Grainland Highway association and the yearly convention of the North Platte division of the Meridian Highway association. Approximately sixty out-of-town good roads enthusiasts were guests of the Norfolk Commercial club at a banquet in the Pacific hotel Tuesday evening.

This from the News will be good news to Wayne people for our new road to Hartington from Wisner is heading for that crossing of the big ruddy.

NEWS ITEMS OF INTEREST

The blockade against Germany has been raised, and a lot of profiteers who had been cornering food and other necessities have been caught with great supplies which they must now sell in competition with world trade. Too bad. We hope that they have to give it away. It is right and proper that any profiteer in necessities should meet a like fate.

The strike of the marine workers has made three hundred ships idle. That means much in a busy time like this. Vast amounts of freight is accumulating, and foreign as well as home ships are held for want of men to place cargoes. The strike evil is one in which innocent as well as guilty parties suffer. You may lead a horse to water, but you cannot make him drink is an old saying. But in the strike situation you have those who would like to be taken to the water and allowed to drink. The labor question is becoming more and more complex, and we will not settle it here this week.

Labor is said to be plentiful in the harvest belts. It is reported that western harvest fields are well supplied with help. This is one of the results of looking after such matters in time. The government agencies have been looking after the matter of telling those who wanted to work in the harvest, when and where they might find a chance.

The kaiser is said to be suffering from a cold to such an extent that he has ceased for a few days his occupation of sawing wood.

MASS CONVENTION

There will be held a Farmers' Mass Convention at the city hall in Wayne Saturday, July 19, at 2:30 p. m. for the purpose of nominating a candidate for the constitutional convention. This is a matter of great importance. So don't miss this opportunity of selecting a man to serve you.—Nels Johnson, Committee.

THE COURT NEWS OF THE WEEK

We will begin our court news this week with an apology for an error which passed unnoticed last week. In telling of the charge sustained against Emmet Dewey, the writer used the name of his father, Boyd Dewey, and naturally and justly Mr. Dewey feels that it is casting unjust and untruthful charges against him. It was an error that might easily be overlooked once it was so written. We trust that Mr. Dewey will forgive.

Not much was reported this week in the matter of police court news, but J. C. Pawalski, the "sleepless teamster" was in court Wednesday to answer to the charge of permitting stock to run at large in the city, as he was found to be guilty, and this was not his first offense the court said the fine would be only $50. Defendant is talking of appealing.

Walter Miller was arraigned on charge of provoking assault on an officer by using profane and abusive language, and plead guilty, and his Honor fixed the fine at $10 and costs. The penalty provided by law is a fine of $10, or ten days in jail.

In the county court L. W. Needham brought a charge of blackmail against Barney Miller, both of Winfield. Defendant was required to give bond in the sum of $2,000 for appearance for trial in the near future. This gives promise of being quite an interesting case and doubtless will prove so.

Last evening Chas. Christensen was fined $25 and costs for running an automobile without license. The license comes a little high now, but it is cheaper to buy it first—for one must have them to do business.

Alvin Rennick Wednesday afternoon entered a plea of guilty to a charge of speeding, and his fine and costs amounted to a trifle more than $14.

Elmer Lampz from near Wakefield seemed to think that he could borrow a truck license for his Ford and get past with it. This and some other experiments he tried, the court said the fine would be $25, and the costs were a bit more than $18.

CODE REFERENDUM PETITION

The authorities at Lincoln—the state officials we mean by that, are not acting just to the liking of some as to the filing of the petition of nearly 30,000 names for a referendum on the code bill, and we read in a dispatch from Lincoln that an alternative writ of mandamus directing Secretary of State D. M. Amsberry to either accept and file a petition for referendum on the action of the Nebraska legislature in ratifying the federal prohibition amendment or show cause by August 4 for not doing so, was issued by the district court here.

The court's order was made on request of John H. Hopkins, an Omaha attorney, following the refusal of Secretary Amsberry to permit the referendum petition to be filed. Secretary Amsberry declined to accept the petition on the ground submission of the ratification of the prohibitory amendment would be in contravention of the federal constitution.

PLAYING CONFIDENCE GAME FOR AUTOMOBILE

A crooked fellow giving his name as Sam Gammel, and supposed to be long at Bloomfield, or who once lived there, and whose father is said to be in that vicinity, virtually stole a $1,400 Moon care from the Anderson Bros. garage here. Joe Baker is manager of the Wayne branch of the business. Gammel was about Wayne for a short time. Employed for a while by Dick Auker, and latter at the Norman barber shop, we are told. He frequented the West garage and talked of purchasing a car to both Manager Baker and O. W. Briggs who looks after the mechanical part of the business.

One evening last week he was in negotiating with Baker when Mr. Briggs had finished his work and left for home. Next morning, after Mr. Baker had left town for the day he came to the garage and said he had purchased and paid Baker for the car, and would take it out, which he did. When Mr. Baker reached home there was something stirring. The man and car were finally located at Bloomfield, and with the aid of the sheriff of the county, Baker recovered the car and drove it home.

The case should be taken up by the authorities at once and Gammel found and sent to trial. Baker was very lucky to get his car again, and he learned that had he been a day later getting trace of the fellow the car would have been taken up into the devil's nest said to be in the vicinity of Bloomfield where many a horse and lot of valuable property has gone never more to be seen by the rightful owner.

HOSPITAL NOTES

John Ulrich went to the local hospital this morning for a minor operation and is soon to be out again. Mrs. Peters of Belden came the first of the week for a major operation and was on the table Monday, and today reports are that she is improving nicely.

Mrs. Coon from west of Wayne who had an appendix removed last week is well on the road to recovery.

Mrs. Pratt, who underwent a serious operation last week is gaining daily.

Work on the new hospital building is progressing, and there is prospect that September may see the move to larger quarters. Their present building is too small to care for all who would come at times, and it will be a fine thing for all when the present nine bed hospital will be replaced by one with more than four-times its capacity.

STEELE-BLOOMBERG

At Sioux City, Wednesday, July 16, 1919, Miss Nancy Steele of this city and Mr. Elmer Bloomberg of Swedona, Illinois, were united in marriage by Rev. H. R. McKarg of Morningside. Mr. and Mrs. Bloomberg returned to Wayne on the morning train, and will make their home here for the present, and plan to go on a farm in the spring if not earlier.

The groom is reported to be an excellent young man, and the bride, who grew to womanhood in this vicinity, has a host of friends who wish her all there is of happiness in life.

Luther Steele, son of Mrs. E. W. Steele of this city, who went to war from Sioux City and served in the Third Balloon company landed from the other side two weeks or more ago, and soon reached his home at Sioux City, and came from there the last of the week to visit his mother, sisters and brother here for a day or two. He returned to Sioux City the first of the week. His brother, Lt. James Steele is still in service in New York, where he has work in connection with closing and adjusting matters which had to be changed because of the sudden closing of the war.

WINNING GLORY AT THE GOLF LINKS

Messrs. F. S. Morgan, G. H. Fisher, J. J. Ahern and Frank Gaertner of this city are among those who are this week attending the state golf meet at Omaha. We have failed to see any report of the meet, but it is taken for granted that they are having a good time, and those who know, claim that Wayne men will be among those who make creditable scores.

SOCIAL NOTES

Part of Mrs. Grace Keyser's piano pupils gave a recital at her home on the west side Thursday evening last. Besides the pupils many of the parents were present and the program was greatly enjoyed. From the small tot with a little touch of stage fright to the carefully trained pupil who played with perfect ease, the writer enjoyed every number. Perhaps one of the most pleasing things we noticed was the intense interest Mrs. Keyser displayed in each pupil. For a busy teacher with more than sixty pupils depending on her, this personal interest has ninety per cent of the credit for the success of the recital. Saturday afternoon this week Mrs. Keyser will furnish one hour of pleasure for the Woman's club. Pupils, from beginners to those more accomplished, will take part in the program.

The Ladies' Bible Study Circle met at the home of Mrs. Wm. Beckenhauer Tuesday afternoon with Miss Charlotte Ziegler as lesson leader. After the inspiring lesson and testimonies from various sources as to blessing received at the late Victorian Life Conference, a small remembrance was presented to Mrs. Meeker as a token of appreciation for her splendid work in the Bible Circle as she is leaving Thursday for Webster City, Iowa, with her daughter to join her husband. The circle also had the joy of listening to Miss Householder a Methodist missionary from China, who told very particularly of her experiences as teacher in a union normal school in west China the past six years. The circle will meet with Mrs. McClennen next Tuesday afternoon and a cordial invitation is extended to every one.

Epworth League Feeds Students

The Epworth League gave a Welner roast for the students of the college last Friday evening. The guests were taken to Bressler's grove in cars. Upon arriving the guests were divided into two groups. One group then chose sides and an interesting ball game followed. The other group played "three deep." Next in order was dare base and after this a number of fires were built. Here wieners and marshmallows were roasted in true Indian fashion around the fires.

The guests then returned home, many enjoying the short walk made merry by singing songs.

The Eastern Star met in regular session Monday evening at the Masonic hall. A good attendance was in evidence to hear the report of the delegates to the state convention. Mrs. H. S. Ringland and Mrs. James Miller were the delegates and Mrs. Ringland gave a very good report. Several important changes were made in the by-laws, changes for the good of the order. At the next regular meeting several candidates will be initiated and a covered dish luncheon will be served.

Miss Elsie Brinkman was the victim of a happy surprise Sunday evening, it being her sixteenth birthday, writes one who was there. The guests were about twenty in number, and the young people scored a complete surprise. The time was spent in games and general sociability, and at midnight ice cream and cake were served, after which the guests departed wishing Miss Elsie many happy returns of the day.

The Ladies of the Methodist church were entertained at the Wm. Beckenhauer home Tuesday afternoon. Miss Ethel Householder, who spoke so entertainingly at the Normal Monday evening was invited to give a short talk which was greatly enjoyed. Miss Householder has been a teacher at the Union State Normal in China for several years and gave some of her varied experiences there.

The Friwohe Campfire girls met Wednesday evening with Misses Alma and Lucile McLennen. A short business meeting was held after which the girls proceeded to initiate two new members into their campfire. Outdoor games occupied the remainder of the evening's entertainment. Light refreshments were served. The next meeting will be with Opal Thompson next Wednesday.

The Ladies of the Woman's club and any one who wishes to spend a pleasant afternoon are requested to meet at the Methodist church at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

The members of the Monday club announce that they will meet for a picnic at the Country club grounds next Monday afternoon and evening and enjoy a social time and a picnic dinner. This is to be the event for which much preparation has been made on other dates when the weather man made a postponement necessary. It will be one of the real social events of the season.

At the meeting of the P. E. O. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fisher last evening the attendance was 100 per cent, and it was a most interesting gathering. Miss Fairchild gave a report of the state meeting that was most complete as well as instructive, entertaining and amusing. The hostess served ice cream and cake.

At the I. O. O. F. hall Monday evening occurred the annual installation of officers for both orders. Many members and guests were out and the evening, despite the heat, was one of rare enjoyment. The work was put on in fine shape by both orders in full regalia. At the close of the evening the Odd Fellows served ice cream and cake and wafers.

The Hofflochen Campfire girls, eight in number, and their guardian Miss Fannie Britell and assistant guardian, Miss Mabel Britell, had an all-day hike Thursday of last week. They went out to the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Will Gamble and cooked the three meals over a campfire and had a very enjoyable time.

The Central Social Circle met last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Gus Weidt. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. W. E. Beck; vice president, Mrs. John Grier; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Chris Peterson. The next meeting will be with Mrs. John Grier, August 14.

Woman's Club

The Woman's club will meet at the Methodist church Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock in regular session. A large attendance is desired as a great deal of important business must be taken up and settled. A one hour musical program will be furnished by pupils of Mrs. Keyser.

The Rural Home society will hold their regular meeting Thursday, the 24th, with Mrs. John McIntyre at the usual hour, and all members are requested to be present. The usual program will be the order of the meeting.

The Young Ladies' Bible Circle will have their farewell meeting for the Normal students on Saturday evening at Mrs. Young's at 7:30.

DADDY LONG LEGS HERE

From what those who have seen the picture, from the story in the book; by all of the signs of the times, and the many who come from afar to attend, the Crystal has seldom if ever put an attraction before this people more popular and pleasing than the Mary Pickford production which was presented last evening and continues afternoon matinee and evening today and Friday. It is a pleasing story because so true to life, and human nature of both innocent childhood and grouchy, grasping manhood and womanhood.

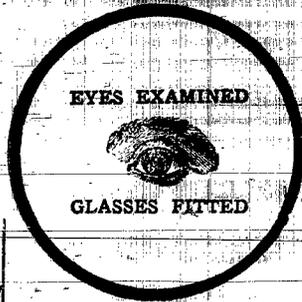

Mary Pickford has always been a favorite here, and in this her best production she is winning new friends. A few people will not go to see this production during its run here; and they will long regret the fact as they hear those who enjoyed it tell of its merits.

We cannot here tell of the homeless wail, the cruelties of the head of the orphanage, the tyrannical matron, the loneliness of the inmates who are deprived of the love and kindness of parents and relatives and blessings of a real home; nor of the development and growth of one of the inmates who won a place in the heart of a kindly peculiar character who was able to make a happy life for one of the victims of a charity institution which led to the making of a useful citizen. You will have to see it to know and appreciate.

C. E. Nevin of the Laurel Advocate and his daughter, Hazel, are over at Spirit Lake, Iowa, for a vacation, whatever that may be in newspaper language, we do not seem to remember. But at any rate they are there for a vacation, and have engaged furnished room or rooms at $30 per week, and the room has three windows. But it was raining, and no other place to go - which means that advertisers and subscribers will have to chip in and help business boom at the Advocate office. We are mighty glad that brother Nevin could find a chance to sneak out and fish a bit.

Mrs. Brown and daughter, Miss Irene, were visitors at Norfolk over Sunday.

Wm. Dammeyer was a visitor at Norfolk Monday and admits that so far as a dry place is concerned, he does not see but that he might as well have stayed at Wayne. There was once a difference between the two places as to drinks and liquid refreshments.

A young man of 34, single with home quarters at Columbus is said to have fallen heir to $55,000 and is enlisting in the cavalry as fast as he can fit himself to pass the physical examination, because he loves horses and fears the women, who are said to be persistent suitors. He feels that he must get away before leap year or not at all. Shame, girls to drive this young man to war.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Dotson came last Friday from Pierre, South Dakota, to visit their son, E. H. Dotson, and attend the funeral of his wife Saturday. He was at Osmond before coming here, and has now left to visit relatives and see the country about Grand Junction, Colorado. When he has finished visiting and looking he will locate somewhere possibly in this county, as he had opportunities to enter business offered while here.

The weather man all but spoiled the celebration at Allen on the 4th, but they tried again the next day, and worked out a fairly good program of band music, speaking and ball games for the two days, though the ball teams expected could not come on account of weather, and they used some pickup nines one day, and from another two the second day. Rev. Beard from this place was called in to take the place of their Sioux City speaker who was not able to get there because of road conditions, so we knew they had a good speaker.

W. I. Kortright, by virtue of the volume of business he turned into the offices of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, which he represents in this good part of Nebraska, was given a vacation trip to Portland, Oregon, where he will meet other live men of the company at the Field club of the Mutual. Mr. Kortright is justly proud of the emblem given him by the company because the best business producer in his district, and second best in the state, as we understood the story which he modestly admitted was true. MONUMENTS

To The Public:

We have just received the finest line of monuments ever brought to Wayne. Beautiful and lasting Pink and Blue Westerly granite. "Westerly" in granite is like Sterling on silver—it means quality. We feel that never in the two years since we located at Wayne have we had a large supply of better granites. In this part of the state we have become so well known that most of our advertising is done through our friends. But we take this means to urge any one contemplating the purchase of a monument to come in while our stock is complete. But a short time ago we could only say that our stock was second to several others in the state, NOW we can say it is second to NONE. Our display room is interesting to anyone. Come in.

Mrs. Martina Peterson came Sunday evening from Wichita, Kansas, to visit at the home of her brother, J. C. Hanson. Mrs. Peterson's coming was a surprise to the relatives here, coming without sending word ahead. Herself and brother had met but once before in more than a quarter of a century.

E. Q. Sala returned home the first of the week from a visit of three weeks with relatives in Illinois and Wisconsin. He visited his brother and two sisters, and the four met in a family reunion, meeting some he had not before seen for years. He tells us that things are looking well in western Illinois.

At this writing the farm near Carroll has not been sold, but its purchase is being considered by some who want a good home—and by some speculators. If you want it quick action may be necessary, for if a speculator gets it, the price will be advanced. In fact the present owner is tempted to do that thing. The Democrat can tell you.—adv-1p

Jerome R. Forbes was here over Sunday, coming down from Minneapolis to visit his sister, Miss Marguerite at Sioux City and his parents here. Since receiving his discharge from service Mr. Forbes has devoted his energies to establishing a weekly newspaper which he hopes to make the organ of the soldiers, sailors and marines of the United States. It is published by the Northwestern Appeal Publishing Co., and the Northwestern Appeal is its name. Mr. Forbes is editor. The Democrat acknowledges a copy of the publication, and finds it full of excellent matter, of interest not only to the boys who were in service, but to any American who enjoys reading of the exploits and experiences of the boys who served as well as well-told and well authenticated news of the times. The number we have is full of interesting matter.

Miss Charlotte White left Wednesday to visit at the home of J. T. Barada, at Rosalea. Miss White had just finished the day before closing the deal by which her home place at Wayne was transferred to Frank Whitney, and she had a word or two to say about the abstract system and its shortcomings and the costs thereof made necessary by the errors of abstractors of other days—for which the person getting the abstract must pay. From this time on Miss White will champion a more simple system of record keeping for realty. And why should not all of us be glad to eliminate a cumbersome expensive system? Since living at Wayne the editor has been called upon several times to make statements and affidavits to quiet title, because of the little neglect of some one in making a transfer years before. It is but a few months since he was asked to certify to clear a title in a matter which happened before the writer was born. It related to whether or not the editor's grandfather's wife was living at the time a transfer was made. By referring to the record in the family bible it was known that grandmother died before the date named, and also that grandfather never married again. Grandfather had been dead more than fifty years before the question was ever raised. Some one was over particular or over zealous in perfecting a title.

A CHAUTAUQUA CHAT

Chautauqua is coming again! How much it has meant to town in better community health—a more harmonious, pull-together spirit! How many of our boys and girls have, through it, received the inspiration starting them SUCCESS-WARD!

It is a Good Community Investment

presents a distinguished array of talent, contains something to please everybody, is constructive, informing, and harmonious.

Probably the most startling thing on the program will be the epoch-making attempt of Lt. "ANDY" NIELSON, "THE FLYING PARSON," former army instructor, in "stunt" flying to fly the circuit on schedule and deliver his intensely interesting and instructive lecture on "Problems of the Air," fully illustrated by amusing incidents and an exhibition flight, at each town on the circuit—one of the biggest things any circuit ever attempted. DR. PECK, with his wonderful pictures and description of Europe. JAS. T. NICHOLS, world traveler, at the peace conference, three times across the Atlantic during the war—with his intimate story of conditions, will help you to see the Europe of today as it is and has been. DR. LYMAN P. POWELL, distinguished author and educator, will tell the great plans of the government for war prevention thru education, and give you close-up views of the great leaders of the day almost better than meeting them. H. V. ADAMS, in his happy way that has aroused hundreds of audiences to enthusiasm, will keep you laughing while you think, and ALVA MREITZEL will hold you spell-bound while he discusses those "Problems of Patriotism" in which we are all vitally interested. In the hands of that great friend of humanity, DR. DAVID D. VAUGHAN, our city problems illustrated by his marvelous experiences in a parish where 50,000 people are crowded into a square mile, become as fascinating as the story of Tom Sawyer. DR. ANATHELY MARS, editor, physician, member French Legion, prisoner three years from beginning of war altho an American, has a thrilling story of escaping from German prison camp. Gerard saved him from death. MAJ. ARTHUR S. LIBBY was in Berlin when the war broke out—saw the preparations—heard the Kaiser's speech—and brings information from behind the German curtain. American general staff interpreter.

MUSIC

Several very special attractions will claim your delighted approval. The great OVERSEAS BAND, composed of men back from the battle fronts, under Ewing's leadership, will be not only a treat but an inspiration, and their dress suits, modeled on the French Colonial Zouave uniform, will add to the charm. In contrast will be the ROYAL WELSH LADIES' CHOIR, under the distinguished leadership of Mme. Hughes-Thomas, wife of the mayor of Cardiff, Wales, a singing organization which has won signal and royal honors thru-out England and Wales. TAGGART, "The Man from Vermont," known by his Victor records as "The Old Country Fiddler," is a musical humorist of national reputation. The SEVEN LIBERTY BELLES won fresh chautauqua laurels last year and will be better this year—a singing orchestra with a program full of the breath of spring, vibrant with melody and with the dash and abandon of youth, but refined and artistic. The MATHISEN GRAND CONCERT CO. will appeal to every music lover—grand opera quality for popular consumption—Mathisen's voice is even more clear and limpid than his records. A male quartet never fails to please, but you will enjoy "THE AMPHION FOUR" unusually well with "Dick" Richards leading the tenor. HENRY AND CO., MAGICIANS—Art Mystery, Mirth, Crayon, Sand Painting.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Ellis were Wednesday visitors at Sioux City.

S. R. Libengood and family came two weeks ago from Blairville, Pennsylvania, to visit at the home of his brother, S. R. Libengood and see this west country. He thinks it a great farming country, and admits that we have Pennsylvania backed off the map for agriculture; and he feels that he knows, for he was here at the right time to assist his brother in harvesting his rye crop, which he thinks is a great yield of both straw and grain. They left the last of the week very favorably impressed with Wayne county and Wayne.

Canning season is again at hand, and no limit to the sugar—except the price—and compared to other things, sugar is not now so powerful high.

Ex-President Taft said that the senate in its wisdom during his administration so mutilated a lot of treaties which had been agreed to by himself and the proper cabinet officers with other countries that he would not submit the senate amendments to the powers that were interested. The senate is supposed to ratify or refuse to do so—it is not their province to change treaties.

Strange what a love the republicans of the Borah-Jennison stripe have developed for the Chinaman—but they won't let him live in America, and they never uttered a protest when Germany took a chunk of their territory—but now that Japan is to have the privileges for a short time which Germany had taken for all time—lord how they howl. It is a case of looking for something real to holler about and failing to find it—after they had made up their mind to howl.

Messrs. Ford and son have purchased a considerable bunch of stock in the Ford concern, of which they are founders, and are now in complete control. There was friction in the company as to the profit sharing with employees and the public. Mr. Ford claiming that they wanted to keep dividends low and give the employee a share and also the consumer in the way of reduced prices on the product of their factories. We understand that from now on this will be the policy of the company.

The code bill is to be submitted to a referendum vote. The governor is reported to have said that the referendum had the support of the old wet machine that has repeatedly thwarted the will of the people in the past. Well, some pretty dry men at Wayne signed the petition, and they may wish to withdraw their names when they look over the other Wayne names and see what a lot of old soaks they are classed with. Of the 100 who signed at Wayne we venture the assertion that there are not one in five who would make the state wet again if their vote would change it. Was it the will of the people that made the code bill a law? That is what we want to find out before it becomes a law.

STATE NORMAL NOTES

Two of the most important addresses to the conference of county superintendents held at the Normal last week were those by President U. S. Conn of the Normal and Judge Wilbur F. Bryant of Hartington. President Conn spoke concerning the most important duties of the county superintendent. He called attention to the fact that this official is obliged to act as a business manager, a clerk, to some degree as a lawyer and judge, and as a supervisor of instruction. He noted that the growing complexity of his office more and more demanded that the county superintendent lay special stress upon a few of these many aspects of his work. The chief thing, President Conn holds, is that the superintendent shall become a leader in procurring the assent of the public to his plans. This he can do by securing the cooperation of other leaders of the community and the assistance of all who are interested in the schools. Judge Bryant, in presenting the work of the juvenile court in Cedar county, stated that the child is subject first of all to the state, that the state shall have complete supervision of all instruction of its officials. Both these speeches created a good deal of favorable comment.

On adjournment of the conference the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, We the county superintendents of Nebraska, in conference assembled, having been immeasurably aided and benefited by the programs so ably and efficiently planned for us by the faculty of the Wayne State Normal.

Be it resolved, that we extend to President Conn, Professor Teed, and the members of the faculty our appreciation of the excellent programs provided, and

Be it further resolved, that we extend to the citizens of Wayne our thanks for the splendid entertainment which the city has provided and to Superintendent Pearl E. Sewell for the splendid reception tendered us. County Superintendents of Nebraska.

"A great nation of four hundred million people just beginning to awake and find themselves," was the way in which Miss Ethel Householder, teacher in the Union Normal school in west China, prefaced her address last Monday evening at the auditorium. Miss Householder spoke especially on the educational phase of missionary work in China and showed a comprehensive understanding of the complexity of the problems of organizations—both political and economic.

Several features were forcibly impressed upon the minds of Miss Householder's audience; first, the backward economic conditions of western China particularly as noticed in transportation and communication; second, the enormous handicap of a non-uniform language depending for its inflection and meaning on context and on the intonation of the spoken word; and thirdly, the slow but encouraging progress noticeable in the educational method of speaking the ideals of christianity.

At the close of the address Miss Householder showed a collection of interesting curios.

On Monday morning in chapel, Professor E. E. Lackey spoke in an interesting way of his recent experience as a teacher in the university of the A. E. F. in France, and on Wednesday morning Miss Catherine Owen, a former student of the Normal who has been studying voice in Chicago and has just finished a season's engagement with a chautauqua sang very acceptably.

On the evening of Tuesday and Wednesday the Davies Opera Company filled their engagement on the Normal entertainment course, giving Mascot and the Mikado. This is a popular company and their work was much enjoyed.

The Hartington Herald is using a bit of Republican Publicity association dope that we do not believe he very heartily endorses. He credits it regularly, but he should mark it advertising, and collect for it unless he believes this country should reject the league of nations and put the world back where it was before 7,000,000 lives or more were lost over a war about nothing.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Burgess are now residents of Wayne, or at least as near so as they can well be until they secure a place in which to go to housekeeping. Mr. Burgess comes to Wayne to accept the place as bookkeeper made vacant at the Citizens National bank by the resignation of Will Jenkins, and he is now to be found at the bank daily. Mr. Burgess, we are told, is one of the boys who went across and helped put the ax in the Kaiser and his clans which is credential enough for any. They were but recently wed at Sioux City from which place they came to Wayne.

ANOTHER OF WAR'S RESULTS

Direct Connection Traced Between Great Conflict and the Annoying Scarcity of Laundresses.

This is from Alexandria, our neighboring city down the Potomac. Housekeepers there are having quite a time getting "help," especially some one to do the family wash. The necessity for clean clothes is one which devolves upon civilized beings. Wars may come and wars may go, but the washtub and washboard go on forever. But it has been hard to get a laundress in Alexandria. War-time conditions have enabled many who earned their living at the tub to turn to less arduous pursuits, with the result that there is a scarcity of "wash ladies." The condition is one paralleled in many other cities.

"Aunt Lucy," said one Alexandrian woman, addressing a colored woman whom she had known for many years, "don't you know some one who can do my washing?"

"No, ma'am I don't know no one," she said.

The woman made a last attempt. "Won't you do it for me, Aunt Lucy?" she asked, with a winning smile.

"Deed, chile," said Aunt Lucy, "I don't have to do no washing no more."

"Why?" asked the woman. "Well, honey, hit is jes like this," explained Aunt Lucy with a nice distinction: "De Civil war made us free. And dis here worl' war has made us independent."—Washington Star.

Extinct Species.

Two grizzly bear skulls from the foothills of San Jose (California) county have been classified at the Smithsonian Institution at Washington, showing that in days gone by a now extinct species of grizzly roamed the hills of Alum Rock and Mount Hamilton ranges, according to announcement there.

Dr. C. Hart-Merriman of the Institution came here for the skulls of the bears, which were killed more than fifty years ago by Clark Hubbard, a pioneer. According to Doctor Merriman the skulls are from a species clearly distinct from the 38 other species and subspecies classified by the Institution. Doctor Merriman has searched the mountains of the entire West for grizzly bear relics.

"Chromokipkips."

Edward R. Hewitt of New York is a man of science who also owns a large estate in New Jersey, where he carries on interesting experiments. The Little Journal recounts that several years ago a great lawn fete on his place was one of the leading social events of the season, and he added to the gala aspect of the occasion by dipping the wings of his White Leghorn fowls into red, blue, yellow and green dye solutions. They made a great sensation.

He said they were Tasmanian Chromokipkips and intimated something about $50 a dozen for their eggs. Soon he received inquiries for settings with checks inclosed, and it was only when these were returned and the method of "raising" Tasmanian Chromokipkips was explained that would-be purchasers gave up their quest.

Mrs. S. Y. High of Bloomfield has been a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Gould for a few days during the past week. They were neighbors and friends when the Gould family lived at the end of the line which meanders northwest of Wayne.

Mrs. Maxwell and son, Berl, who have been looking after their land in the western part of the state and visiting at Ogallala, came home Tuesday. Mrs. Maxwell says that their wheat crop prospects are very good this season. Last year they did not gather enough to pay for harvesting and threshing.

I have a half section farm for sale one-half mile from town of 1200—Gordon. Hundred and forty acres broke and in wheat, corn and potatoes, has house, barn, windmill, good water. Owner wants to sell. If you want a good farm at a bargain price see C. Clasen or phone Red 42, Wayne, Nebraska.—adv.

Chester Wilson has been here from Bloomfield, visiting with his classmate of school days and his comrade of their soldier days, Roy Gould, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Gould. The lads have but recently returned from over on the other side of the pond. We sometimes think that the lads who were together in the war times will have much pleasure as the years pass in recounting their experiences during those days spent in war. Certain it is that they may entertain the rising generation. As a boy we had no greater pleasure than an opportunity to sit and listen to two or more soldiers of the Civil war recount experiences.

IT IS ECONOMY

to take your partly worn tires, your blowouts and your rim cuts to a competent workman and have them repaired—it is far cheaper than to purchase a new tire, and in many cases you get as much service as from a new tire.

We make a specialty of tire work, and have enough confidence in our judgment and skill that we absolutely guarantee every job we put out to be up to specifications. If we fall down on the job you get your money back. That's fair, we say.

ONLY GOAT HERD IN TOWN INCREASED BY THREE DOES

The M. E. Conn goat herd was increased last week by three baby does.

The Conn's have two "grown-up" does and hope to raise the little ones; so, cheer up, your chances to buy goat's milk are increasing.

Previous to the introduction of goats in Laurel a little over a year ago by A. B. DeHaan, goat's milk was an untried beverage to most of us; now some of us, at least, have learned its value and are glad of the prospect of being able to obtain a quart or so daily.

For several months—as long as the supply lasted—The Advocate family had no other milk in the house.

It is a matter of record that the majority of goat owners in the United States are physicians and women; the reason assigned is that they are in a position to know the value of the milk—especially for babies. —Laurel Advocate.

THE DANGER POINT FOR BATTERIES

One thing that a good many automobile owners can't understand about batteries is the way they hang on and keep giving service right up to the minute when they refuse to work at all.

"These folks reason," say Mr. Gurnon local Willard Service Station Dealer, "that the light ought to get a little weaker and start a little slower until the battery gradually wears out."

"Sometimes a battery acts that way, but another one may keep right on working until it is actually ready to fall to pieces. When the cells are opened up for inspection, the active material is in some cases so broken up that it will not hold together. This may be due either to old age or abuse. Of course, we never open up a battery without the owner's consent, but a battery in this condition could not last a great while and might go out of service at any time on the road."

Most car owners are anxious to know the truth about their batteries and prefer to have a brand new battery when they know their old one is approaching the deadline.

Why Worry About Insulation?

There's only one time that you ought ever to think about insulation—that's when you buy your battery.

Right then is the time to remember that Threaded Rubber Insulation is the most important battery improvement in years—and the greatest trouble-saver.

Remember that it can be had only in the Still Better Willard Battery.

You'll know the Still Better Willard by the Mark that stands for Threaded Rubber Insulation.

Mr. Reitzel Brings a Nut to Crack but Also a Nut Cracker.

Mr. Reitzel, one of our Chautauquus lecturers this season, has for a topic "The Problems of Patriotism." In these chaotic days, that's quite a nut to crack, but we understand that Mr.

Reitzel's philosophy is sound, that he has been trained in the law, spent some years in the ministry and has been for some time on the lecture platform, so we anticipate that he will bring a "nut cracker" with him that will be sufficient at least to open up to view the meat in this topic he is to discuss. Do not be surprised if you find some good stories scattered along during the discussion.

A GOOD SUGGESTION

(Norfolk Press)
The Press would like to see a few women in the coming constitutional convention at Lincoln. We believe the woman's point of view would help very materially in drafting the new constitution and to that end we would ask that our Madison county friends consider the idea of sending a woman there. Among those whom we would consider worthy of the place are Mrs. McDuffee of Madison and Mrs. Geo. Beels of Norfolk. We do not know that either could be elected from a county which has always been conservatively opposed to women taking part in public life but we do know that either would represent her county with ability, honesty and would give the convention the benefit of a broad-minded woman's thought, a thought that naturally clings to home and children and which in its broader relations mean the very foundation of civilization.

An Announcement

That all people may know

Way back in 1893 a thoughtful doctor, sitting in his laboratory in Davenport, Iowa, made a discovery which has proved of incalculable value to suffering humanity. It was purely scientific in its principles, and when put into practice, is widely known under the name of Chiropractic (Ky-ro). Chiropractic is widely different from any other curative agency. The results which its practitioners have achieved are truly remarkable. The legislatures of many states including Nebraska, have ordained that the science of Chiropractic is on a par with all other accepted schools whose graduates minister to the sick and infirm. The Chiropractors of Nebraska must meet the legal educational requirements established by law before practicing in this state.

The Nebraska Chiropractic Association in annual convention in June adopted a resolution and created a special committee on publicity authorized to publish to the people of Nebraska the simple facts about Chiropractic—what it is and what it is doing every day to relieve physical and mental suffering.

Accordingly the committee will present to the readers of this journal, from time to time, salient facts relating to the subject, believing that a campaign of education will tend to conserve the public health and add to the sum of human happiness.

The Ford trial is disclosing some things which show that the Ford Company and the Chicago Tribune are both prosperous concerns, and that the Tribune might well have looked at home when trying to question the loyalty of Henry Ford, for according to the evidence we have at hand in the reports, the Tribune's attitude toward war with Germany and Mexico was not at all commendable.

McCormick Harvest Tools The Best

The McCormick Binder Saves Down and Tangled Grain

When it comes to cutting extremely short grain or grain that is down tangled and lodged, as yours often is, the binder must have exceptionally rigid reel with a wide range of adjustment.

The Reel on The McCormick Binder can be adjusted very close to the guards, so that the operator can force short grain or grain that is lodged and tangled, on to the platform canvas. There is never any accumulation of grain in front of the cutter bar. No matter how badly the grain is down, the McCormick binder picks it up and binds it all.

It is the unfavorable season that tries the worth of a binder. The McCormick stands the test. Come in and let's talk it over.

McCormick Elevator Turns the Trick

Did you ever go into a field of grain where one side was tall, heavy, and perhaps lodged? Then on the other side find the stand thin, short, and over-ripe? It's a pretty hard matter to set your machine so that it will take care of such conditions without loss from shelling or without clogging, isn't it? Here is where a McCormick binder proves its true worth.

The McCormick Elevator Floats at Four Points

This means that if the grain is thick, tangled and matted, the upper elevator will expand to allow the increased volume to pass through, and then drop back to its original position for short, thin grain. There are no changes or adjustments to make—the movement is entirely automatic. Come in and see how simple this valuable feature is.

THE SAFETY FIRST MOVEMENT IS GROWING

Herman Sund was at Omaha the first of the week, going as a representative from here to the "Safety First" meeting at that city Sunday. He tells us that this was a joint meeting of the two branches, one with headquarters at Omaha and the other at Sioux City. Reports read there showed that during the special safety week the latter part of June but three minor accidents were reported from the entire Northwestern division; and that the "Omaha" part of the system was 100 per cent that week. The system has been a wonderful aid in reducing accidents. When men, officers and the public all unite in cooperating to eliminate accidents, and work together in an intelligent manner it is sure to bring results.

We saw a little demonstration of the idea the other morning. Two little lads aged perhaps 26 and 44 months were apparently having a real fight, and it was near that. Watching the proceedings a moment we observed that it was a safety first program. The older of the two lads was evidently instructed to keep an eye on his brother and not let him get on the track (though the train was 40 minutes late and no traffic stirring) and the little fellow wanted to play about the platform. No sooner would he get on the track side of the platform than his brother would earnestly try to haul him back to safety. This the little one resented, and trouble followed. Both lads fell down, and both were persistent. The little one was too large for the larger one to carry, and so the struggle was on. Hats were off and clean clothes of both lads well dusted as they fell and wrestled. Finally the father took both in charge and corralled them against the depot wall, where there was safety from train and from strife. But the older boy had "safety first" in his system in the proper shape to be effective.

NOW OR NOT AT ALL

That is the edict of the owner of the two-story brick building on Main street, offered for sale last week at less than it will now cost to build for unless sold before August 1. It will be withdrawn from the market. The price and terms are right, and one who is paying rent for business place in Wayne will save money by simply making a safe investment. POPULAR VICTOR ARTIST

And Brilliant Brazilian Violinist in Big Concert Party at Chautauqua.

Christian Mathiesen, the popular Norwegian tenor, who has made so many records for the Victor Company, will head his own company this year, and is one of the big musical attractions scheduled for the Chautauqua. He is bringing with him Ignatius Tello, the brilliant Brazilian violinist, whose impetuous playing has been receiving such favorable comment of late, his work showing refinement and excellent taste. In Pittsburgh, where she holds one of the best church positions, Miss Jeannette Booher, the soprano, is known as a remarkably successful singer, and comes from the Cincinnati Symphony. Miss Marguerite Poindexter is the pianist and accompanist of the party and justifies the use of both titles. Temperamentally and technically it is a great combination.

EWING'S OVERSEAS MILITARY BAND

Veterans From All Branches—Big Chautauqua Attraction.

William Ewing, one of the most successful band leaders in the country, a director of many years' experience, has literally scoured the country to make his band of overseas veterans this year one of the biggest attractions on any Chautauqua circuit.

These men are recruited from every branch of the service. They have in them and will put into their music under this great leader the pep and go that made the American Army a terror to the German hordes. They will put on a wonderful program with all kinds of variety—a program that will please everyone. To give the proper touch and finish to the program it is understood that the band will appear at night in the zouave costumes of the French Colonials.

SAND ARTIST-MAGICIAN

Among Chautauqua Attractions.

Henry, the well-known artist and magician, is one of the few men on the platform doing art work in sand, one of the greatest novelties of recent years. While not detracting from his work as a magician and manipulator, his artistic work in creating pictures with the aid of colored sand as well as his work with crayon, adds a pleasing variety to an already interesting program, and on Sundays gives him an opportunity to develop a program that is entirely unique and thoroughly in keeping with the day.

THE OLD COUNTRY FIDDLER COMES TO TOWN

Famous Yankee Entertainer to Appear at Chautauqua Here.

Charles R. Taggart did not need to cultivate any Yankee dialect, as he comes naturally by it, having been born where it grows. He did not inherit everything else that he puts into his program, however. Practically everything he does is original: monologues, solos, instrumental music and all. Piano, violin and vocal chord are all alike with him. He just puts on his old felt hat and sings and plays and fiddles his way right into your heart. His Victor records are widely known and very popular. We happened to get hold of this characteristic photo where he "hears his own voice."

BLUBBER A DELICIOUS VIAND

Said to Be of Immensely Pleasant Taste, When Eaten Raw From the Seal.

It has always been a mystery to me why the word "blubber" should carry such a disagreeable connotation to millions of people, though not one in a million has ever tasted it, writes Viljalmar Stefansson in Harper's.

I am often asked what seal meat tastes like and am driven to saying that it tastes like seal meat, for it does not resemble any commonly-known type of meat. But neither does mutton resemble any meat known to me, and still mutton is good eating, and so is seal. But the fat is much easier to describe. When the blubber is eaten raw, as we commonly eat it by preference, it has a flavor very similar to that of fresh cow's cream, but when boiled it closely resembles the fat of mutton. For that reason Mr. Wilkins, who came from the sheep district of Australia, was that member of our whole expedition who most readily fell into the eating of the seal fat.

In general most men refrain from tasting blubber because it is named blubber, until they become so fat hungry that they are eventually driven to trying it, and when they try it, to their surprise they invariably find it so delicious that, if not restrained they overeat and, as is well known, overeating any form of fat causes nausea and other distressing symptoms. After one or two experiences of this sort I am now careful never to allow a man to eat all the blubber he wants the first time he tries it, for if he gets sick he is almost certain to blame the seal and not his own gluttony.

NEED NOT TRANSFER GERMS

Disease Will Not Be Transmitted if Soiled Hands Are Kept Away From Mouth.

It is glaringly obvious that the biting of finger nails, the moistening of fingers in turning the pages of a book, and similar half-conscious acts greatly enhance the opportunities for planting undesirable germs where they can multiply," says the Journal of the American Medical Association. "On the fingers they may be harmless; transferred to the mouth they have a wide field for development.

The soiling of the hands is impossible to avoid altogether, but the swallowing of germs from one's own soiled hands is largely under individual control.

It may fairly be assumed that the most useful safeguards against this form of disease transmission are to be found in such practices as hand washing and in refraining from using the tongue or the lips as a moistening pad, rather than in hysterical attempts at avoidance of all hand contamination. Children are best protected through the inculcation of similar desirable habits at an early age. In a word, some degree of hand-contamination is unavoidable; but the transference of the contaminating germs to the mouth is largely under individual control and is subject to the powerful influence of early-formed habit.

First in the Field.

The mild surprise with which one occasionally notes the name of a foreign city on a penny box of matches purchased in the United States may before long include boxes of matches bearing the far-away name of Dairen, Manchuria. The world's appetite for matches is apparently insatiable. An American company has been studying Manchuria and Siberia from the match manufacturing point of view, but so has a large Japanese concern, and this concern, it now seems, will be first in the field at Dairen, the chief Manchurian port. But then if Japan were not first in the field in Manchuria, where would she be first in the field?

Dodging Shop.

They struck up a conversation in the hotel lobby and finally one man suggested a trip to the movies. The other politely declined.

"Don't you want to see Viola Vampire?"

"Nope."

"Nor Yorick Hamm in his latest comedy?"

"Nope."

"What's the matter, my friend? Aren't you interested in the various stars?"

"Not this evening. I'm an astronomer taking a night off."

Probably Dogfish.

Blank had had a day off, and when he returned to the office the following morning his pals wanted to know why he looked so disgruntled.

"Everything went wrong," grumbled Blank.

"How was that?" one asked.

"Ever go fishing with a girl?"

"Once."

"Did she protest against hurting the fish?"

"No. She said she was sure they were perfectly happy, because they were all wagging their tails."—London Tit-Bits.

One at a Time.

We attended a country wedding and at the conclusion of the ceremony were astonished to see the bride start on the honeymoon alone. When asked the reason the bridegroom explained that both couldn't be away at the same time as there would be no one to feed the stock and he would take his trip down the river shooting ducks when the bride came back.—Chicago Tribune.

THE TRUDGEON

(From the Goldenrod)

The trudgeon is the least tiring of strokes, when its relative speed is considered, and may be used for any distance. A judicious alternating of the breast stroke and the trudgeon will tire less and give better results than the use of the under and over arm strokes.

The trudgeon is a double over-arm stroke combined with the previous described scissor kick. In a few cases, however, it has been modified by an additional fluttering of the lower legs as the under arm goes forward. This keeps the body moving until the upper arm is ready to start downward again. That the name of trudgeon should be given to this new form of stroke is rather odd, as it does not resemble it very closely, but then, "trudgeon" has come to be a sort of generic appellation to be given to any variety of double over-arm.

In learning the trudgeon the swimmer should take up the more simple kind, adding the crawl flutter later, if found advisable. The kick is the first thing to study and if one has tried the side stroke the arm action only will have to be practiced, as the scissor kick is used in both. I will remark here, though, that it is a great mistake to pass from one part of the stroke to another until the first has been thoroughly mastered. The trudgeon is far too complicated a stroke to allow of its being learned all together. Therefore, until that scissor kick is perfect, do not attempt to go any further.

When you feel confident of being an adept kicker, take up breathing. It is essential that this most important part of the stroke be acquired before bothering with the arms. To learn to breathe properly, lie flat on the water, face down, and begin to free the lungs of air, blowing it out under water, slowly and easily. Do not attempt to clear the lungs with one powerful blow, but let the air out gradually; it should take at least three or four seconds. This done, turn your head from the shoulders, to the side the upper arm is going to be, and take a long deep breath, without haste. Then the lungs are full, twist the head back and exhale under the water as before, through the nostrils. Repeat until the method has lost its strangeness.

In choosing a side to swim on, consult inclination. If you feel more comfortable on the right, adopt that side, but if you are equally comfortable on both sides, swim with the right shoulder down, as this brings up the left flank and relieves the heart of a good deal of pressure that is placed upon it when swimming the other way.

For the arm movement let the body rest on the water with hands at full reach above the head, palms down. This is the first and last position of the stroke. In catching, the water the body is rolled a little and the head twisted around to bring the mouth above the water. The palms are turned a wee bit to the side the body turns on, and the upper arm is brought down with a strong, steady pull—elbow fairly rigid, wrist the least bit bent down, fingers together—until straight down alongside, then the elbow is bent and the arm brought forward well above the water. The semi-circle described by the arm in the trudgeon is not like in the side stroke, parallel to the water, but almost at right angles to it. It is at right angles to the body, really, and as the body is rolled, the angle becomes more acute. Some men, in swimming distance, roll until the arms are at an angle of about 45 degrees. The under arm is started just as the upper finishes, except in some cases. The under arm follows the same orbit as does the upper one, almost parallel to it; as it reaches completion the body is rolled back on its face, the elbow bent, and the arm shot forward as the other, clear of the water; just as it gets to the full reach the upper arm is started down again.

In swimming the whole stroke, the time to be followed is: Upper arm first; legs are opened up as it starts and snapped together as it finishes; under arm comes down next; upper arm starts the recovery as the under arm catches the water and begins another stroke as the under arm lifts to go forward. Breath is inhaled while the upper arm is pulling and exhaled while the under arm recovers.

(The crawl stroke and a few hints on diving will be taken up next.)

THE NEW TYPE OF RECITATION

(From the Goldenrod)

People strolling down "Faculty Row" last Monday evening doubtless observed a number of young ladies and two gentlemen conversing on the cool, airy porch of Dr. House's pleasant home. If they looked closely they perceived that one of the young men was Dr. House himself and perhaps concluded that he was celebrating his birthday. As a matter of fact that festive looking group was the Advanced Poetry Class assembled to finish reading "The Song of Three Friends." Leading educators all over this country have been searching for the ideal type of recitation and we believe that Dr. House demonstrated Monday evening that he has found it.

We wish therefore to call the attention of all instructors to the three new features which Dr. House has introduced: First, the class met in the coolest place available; second, the chairs were all exceedingly comfortable; third, ice cream was served. It is the third feature we wish especially to recommend. All instructors are anxious: first, that pupils come regularly to classes; second, that they be alert and watchful during classes; third, that they prepare properly for the classes.

Introduce the serving of ice cream in your classes and you will find no one missing when you call the roll. Introduce it at the end of the recitation and you will find every pupil watchful and alert. Introduce the custom of giving the prepared students a bigger dish and the response will amaze you.

As to the objection of cost, we quote an axiom often quoted to us, "Money is no consideration to the true teacher."

For all these reasons therefore we earnestly recommend the new type of recitation to each and every instructor at the Normal and we sincerely hope its merits will cause it to become the established form of recitation but should our teachers for some reason fail to live up to the "light" which is given them, we wish to sincerely thank Dr. House for demonstrating to us the ideal method.

The Fanciulla d'Anzio.

One of the gifts that President Wilson received in Italy was a silver model of the statue known as the Fanciulla d'Anzio, presented to him by the Roman municipality. The original is a Greek statue, discovered not long ago at the villa of Nero, in the seaport town of Anzio, near Rome, and purchased by the Italian government for $50,000 lire. Admirers of art and students of archeology had traveled from all over Europe to see it, and the youthful draped figure, carrying a platter from which the object it long ago held had been broken, was named the Maid of Anzio. Then somebody noticed that the long robe was lifted a little, as if to avoid tripping over it, that the biceps muscle of the bare arm was more boyish than girlish, and so on, until modern judgment has decided that the title Fanciulla d'Anzio is a misnomer, and that the unknown sculptor was really modeling the figure of a handsome youth performing some service in an ancient temple.

Bran Muffins.

Roger W. Babson of the department of labor said at a dinner in Washington:

"Speaking of labor, it has been a tough job to eat some of the health foods that were turned out during the war."

"A young lady said to a young man at a Washington dance:

"Are you the same young man who ate so many of my bran muffins at the Red Cross last fall?"

"No," he answered, "and what's more, the doctor says I never will be."

The Sign on the Church.

Many a pedestrian and motorist looked, observed and smiled Wednesday night as he passed a church on Clinton hill. Obvious and elaborate preparations for a wedding were under way. Coaches and florist wagons were bustling. The unmistakable canopy was being erected from sidewalk to door. And in big letters on the front of the church was blazoned the minister's subject for an approaching service: "This Is the Life."—Newark News.

tell the story in a nutshell. The upper one shows part of Dr. Vaughan's parish, while pastor of the church mentioned above with a population of fifty thousand per square mile. It was along the alleys and over the roofs of this district that Dr. Vaughan got out in his overalls and strung telephone wires so that the man of the lower picture, who was discouraged because he had been told that his disease was incurable and downcast because he could no longer attend the church services, might enjoy every service of the church through the telephone instruments which Dr. Vaughan provided. The Doctor, now the pastor of one of the wealthiest churches in Chicago, has lost none of his interest in those who struggle, and his present position shows that he is not only big and brotherly, but broad and brainy.
