VICTOR CARLSON TO VISIT IN SWEDEN

Tuesday morning Victor Carlson left for New York, from which port he plans to sail on the steamship Bergens for Bergen, Norway, and cross that country by rail to his native Sweden, stopping first at Gothenburg. He has his passport good for six months, and an option of another six months by extension, so it may be a year or nearly that before our citizen returns to America. Before returning to America he plans to visit some of the war-ridden countries of Europe. His address while away will be at his little old home town of Vimmerby, and he adds that if perchance he has gotten away missing any of his creditors they may send their bills to that place for consideration.

Beyond a doubt Mr. Carlson will enjoy his visit, and it may also be true, as is frequently the case when such visits are made that he will not find conditions there as good as it seemed that they once were. In other words, he will have changed more than conditions there, and will more fully realize the fact when he sets foot on the old home soil. He has promised to let the Democrat readers know something of what it looks like to him after he has had a chance to look the old home land over a bit.

DEATH OF HERMAN H. DUNKLAU

Death came to Hermann Henry Dunklau at his home ten miles north-west of Wayne, Monday, August 5, at the age of 80 years, 2 months and 23 days. He was born in Oettinghausen, Westphalia, Germany, May 11, 1839. He came to America first in 1869 and lived here five years, returning again to Germany where he stayed until 1879, when he again came to this country and located in Washington county. Was married to Marie Wrich in 1862 and moved to Wayne county in 1892. Two children John Dunklau and Mrs. Henry Mau, and a brother and sister survive him and eight grandchildren, a brother and a sister, who live at Arlington, and were here to attend the funeral service, which was held Wednesday afternoon from the Lutheran church in this city. Rev. Rudolph Moehring, coming from Oto to preach the sermon.

A large number of his neighbors and friends were present at the service showing the esteem in which he was held by those who knew him best.

HOME FROM EUROPE

Harry Hohimer, who went from Wayne nearly two years ago, and became a member of the 7th U. S. engineers, who were a part of the 5th division, came home Tuesday evening with his discharge in his pocket. In his eighteen months of service he saw some of the real fighting, and said that more than once he would have thought he was ahead of the game if he could have sold his hide for a small sum, but he was one of the fellows they missed in spite of all their careless shooting. He thinks he will wear the uniform a week or two and play lazy soldier, then peel it off and get to work again. Yes, he is glad to get back to the old town again.

A FLEXIBLE CONSTITUTION

It seems pretty generally conceded that the public demand is for a state constitution that will permit progress and expansion in the future. Our present basis law probably worked well when it was adopted but for twenty years it has cramped a growing commonwealth and retarded its natural development. The present constitution is too inclusive. It has prevented the expansion of the state government in a natural way and has forced the legislature to resort to unnatural and inefficient methods of "getting around" its provisions.

The new document should establish the fundamental processes of state government and leave the details to the people or their legislature to determine.—Norfolk News

STARTING FROM A GOOD TOWN

Oliver H. Holm from Fort Dodge, Iowa, and Hazel Whitted from Rockwell City of the same state wanted to find a good place from which to start life in double harness, and so came to Wayne and procured a license from Judge J. M. Cherry—and as he looked so much like a real preacher, they simply asked him to tie the knot, which he did Thursday, July 31. May they never regret it.

WHERE WILL WE LAND?

That is the question, frequently asked by those in the airship—not only where but "how?" We are up in the air now, as a people, not only in America, but the world over. Strikes, revolutions and kindred disturbances fill the atmosphere with eddies and cross currents—and even cyclones. It needs a steady hand on a cool head at the steering wheel.

One great upheaval of social unrest follows another in rapid succession, and the people of this great free farming west may think we know a lot about trouble, but it seems from a perusal of the daily press that our troubles are minor affairs—and yet they must be considered, for on such foundation as this rests the great economic structures of the universe. We have our farmer unions and our non-partisan leagues, indicating a feeling of unrest and dissatisfaction, and if they but ask justice and that will satisfy, it should be granted. But justice pure and simple meets the true needs of others and they and their just claims must be considered.

In railroad circles comes the last great general disturbance that has or is threatening our tranquility.

For a solution of the trouble, many interests are looking. What will they find? Eventually a just basis must be found. Capital and labor have long been fighting over difference, and in the lines troubled by this or that struggle the fight has been fierce, and the public has often taken more real punishment than both of the contending parties, and yet as a rule it has not been considered or recognized as an interested or injured party. Is it not time for the great masses of the people to have consideration? Why should a hundred people suffer because Bill Squeezum and John Skinner are each trying to get the best of each other, and incidentally the rest of mankind?

Just now the railway men—that is an important division of them—feel that they have a grievance because living costs have been boosted by the profiteers faster and higher than wages have risen. Out of it may come some permanent relief for the great question of transportation, which is one of the very greatest interests to be considered. The labor men are suggesting as a remedy the following plan which should receive careful consideration as a possible step toward a just settlement of a phase of the question. They propose:

"That the railroads of the United States be vested in the public; that those actually engaged in conducting that industry, not from Wall street, but from the railroad offices and yards and out on the railroad lines shall take charge of this service for the public."

Briefly, labor's plan demands: That private capital be eliminated from the railroads.

That the private owners receive for them government bonds with a fixed interest return for every honest dollar that they have invested.

That the tripartite control, heretofore referred to, be established in corporations which shall lease the roads and in which the public, the operating managements and labor shall be represented equally.

That the public, the operators and the wage earners share equally all revenue in excess of the guarantee to private capital, by granting to the operators and the employes one-half the savings which are expected to be made by such a perfected organization and to the public the other half as consumers, either by increasing service without adding costs or by reducing costs.

"This rule originates with labor," says the statement, "because labor happens to have firm organizations through which it may become articulate."

The trainmen are not represented in the statement because W. G. Lee, president of the brotherhood, was out of the city, but it was said that they join in it.

WAKEFIELD MEN VISIT FARMERS' ELEVATOR

Tuesday a party of Wakefield men visited Wayne. They were manager and directors of the Farmers' Elevator Co., of that place, and as their elevator building needs to be replaced with a larger or better one, or have some repair at once they came to inspect the new farmers' building here and get such pointers as they could from it. They appeared to like the building and equipment here and inspected it quite carefully. They told the reporter who was trailing them that they might decide to build one of tile, similar to the silo tile, as while the first cost would be much greater the building would be better and more safe from fire, and the difference in the insurance on the building full of grain would do much toward paying interest on the excess cost. Such a building would also afford greater security from rats, which have to be fought.

Those present were Manager Wm. Anderson, Andrew Mathieson, Henry Ruback, Ole Dahlgren, John Erickson, Ed Sundahl, G. A. Segren, Chas. Killen, and Eph Anderson. Time will be taken to consider what they learned here, and possibly a committee will go to see one of the tile elevators before they decide just where to head in.

CLUB MEMBERS

(From Wayne County Teacher) The Junior Extension Department at Lincoln has recently sent us the names of all Club Members in Wayne county.

BUSINESS CHANGE MADE

Last week a deal was closed by which the C. C. Forney Company became the owners of the Ralph Clark garage, building, business, equipment and car selling agencies. Claude C. Forney, a farmer just east of Wayne is the man from whom the new company takes its name, and who is the most largely interested in the new business. As we have it, the office and shop and selling force remains as it has been, the same competent force therefore will be met by patrons of the place, and for the present Mr. Forney will divide time between the farm and his new business. Frank Henrahan will continue to look after the selling end of the business, a position in which he has proven his efficiency. Mr. Clark has not told us what he proposes to do, but we heard him talking of a winter in some warmer place than northeast Nebraska. Perhaps California. Possibly he is going to become an independent farmer. For Tuesday he purchased the S. E. Auker farm just east of Wayne, 240 acres at $325 the acre. Or he may be going to speculate in land, or perhaps put his money in this good land for safe keeping. Mr. Forney engineered the land deal. Ralph Clark has made good in his automobile business—beginning at the bottom in a little frame building up Main street, now gone and almost forgotten, he plodded along there for a year or two, then took a larger and better building on the corner of First and Main streets, where the depot grounds now are. His business soon out grew this shop, and it was abandoned for the large block building he has just sold, a building about 50x150, built for an incubator factory and converted into a model garage—one of the best lighted and heated buildings in the city for that work. Ralph has won a right to take a breathing spell if he so wishes, for he has been diligent in season and out for ten long years, and made it win. Success to you in your new field wherever it may be.

RAILROAD STRIKE NEAR HOME

(Norfolk News)

The strike of the federated railroad shopen in Norfolk was unchanged Wednesday morning and union leaders expressed little hope of returning to work for several days. No news came from R. C. Geath, chairman of the federated crafts, during the morning and no move will be undertaken by the strikers until that official speaks. In the meantime railroad officials are working to capacity to keep passenger trains moving and give some attention to extra freight trains. If the present situation continues several more days it is feared that passenger trains will be affected due to lack of power.

All efforts on the part of the railroad officials is centered on keeping the mail and passenger trains going and that task has been accomplished thus far notwithstanding hardships undergone by the officials who are taking the places of the strikers in many instances. Efforts on the part of the officials to have the strikers furnish men to couple the albrake hose on passenger cars failed, Tuesday afternoon when the strikers at a meeting decided to leave the coupling problem up to the men individually. There was however, no response to the request.

Freight Temp Serious

In the meantime the lack of freight shipments is beginning to assert itself seriously among Norfolk business houses and industries. Lack of deliveries is blamed directly to the strike and business men fear a shortage of certain commodities will be felt here within a short time. One Norfolk restaurant has resorted to the automobile to haul meats to Norfolk from South Omaha.

IMPROVEMENT TO MAIN STREET STORE

Mrs. Jffries tells us that Mr. Jones, owner of the building, is soon to begin remodeling the store room, inserting a new front, and perhaps extending the building back a number of feet. With a modern front this will be a very neat room, and it is nicely located for business.

NOTICE OF REMOVAL

Doctor Blair has removed his office and is now located in the second story of the Berry building at the corner of Third and Main streets and above the law office of F. S. Berry. Here he has large and pleasant rooms and will be pleased to greet and serve all who may call upon him.—adv.

CHAUTAUQUA WEEK HERE

Our chautauqua began Tuesday afternoon, Arthur S. Libby playing to a fair audience, considering the heat. His lecture was splendid, and all wished that it might have been longer. It was a story of conditions in Germany, which so many desired to know, and it was well told. The male quartet was good—but their program lacked variety. Wednesday afternoon was a concert by the Liberty Bells—seven accomplished young ladies.

This afternoon we have Dr. Lyman P. Powell a great man, and violinist, Charles R. Taggart the man with a fiddle. This evening after the Taggart prelude Dr. Amaury Mars will speak, and it is a number of the course which no one should miss, if they want to know of things which have been happening—things which could not and did not get into the newspaper. It will be a wonderful message if the truth has been told by those who have heard him.

The program provided by the local association this season is especially instructive as well as entertaining, and it is the common remark that one hears from those who have attended that "I would not have missed that for anything. That was worth all I paid for the season ticket." There are plenty of good numbers yet and it will be far better to get a program and select those you want most, than to regret after it is too late that you missed the opportunity. The Junior work is in competent hands and the work with the little folks is or should be one of the great missions of the chautauqua. They have a fine class here, and will put on an entertainment at the close of the week, and it promises to be good.

BLOOMFIELD BUILDING FALLS

Of the accident at Bloomfield last week, of which we made mention in the Journal of that place give more particulars than were available to us and we use a part of their story. Shortly after the noon hour on Wednesday of this week the old A. I. Waters brick garage building just opposite the postoffice collapsed. The building was just recently purchased by J. G. Gossard and was being remodeled for the Bloomfield Motor Co. The workmen had just returned to work when the accident happened.

The old floor had been taken up and some of the floor joists had been removed when suddenly without warning the roof supports either gave way under the weight of the roof or twisted and the roof commenced to fall. The roof in falling pushed out both ends and the east wall.

Immediately after the crash an alarm of fire was turned in and soon scores of men were on the scene. Some of the men picked up the body of the Ranny child and he was rushed to a doctor, who found that his head had been crushed by a falling beam. The little fellow was just riding past the building on his velocipede when he met instant death. A party of men released Harry Stuckstorf who was pinned under the fallen debris. It was thought at first when he was taken out that he was severely injured but later examination proved that outside of a tight squeeze he was uninjured and later reports say that he is resting nicely.

Antone Schulte who was pinned under the roof was unhurt. Schulte on hearing the fire alarm thought that perhaps the building was on fire. After being assured that it was not, he waited patiently while the men chopped a hole through the roof and he climbed out.

BURR CUNNINGHAM IN LIMELIGHT OF PUBLICITY

(Bloomfield Journal)

Wednesday of last week the first roasting contest of the season was staged at the B. Cunningham home by the lucky folks who wax fat and indolent on Mrs. Cunningham's bountiful board. Mrs. Cunningham, as Judge, awarded first prize to Burr, but we claim partially was shown and feel that Miss Larson should contest the decision.—Mr. Marshall and Mrs. Neff deserve honorable mention while Peter Neff was unanimously awarded the hooby prize. The mystery of the corn that disappeared just before dinner was called eliminated the writer from competing in the contest but nevertheless I join the "bunch" in the resolution. Resolved, that Mrs. B. Cunningham is some little old corn raiser and Resolved, that Mrs. B. sure knows how to cook 'em.—Contributed by A. Boarder.

MAYOR OF GERING AT WAYNE

Friday last the editor saw a car halted in front of the Democrat office bearing the name "Gering" on the pennant, and as we were not able to visit that famous city with the other editors this year, thought it lucky that Gering had come and stopped in our front yard. In order to show that they were welcome to park there we took a Democrat and a pencil and scrap of paper and went out to visit. It was learned that the head of the family—that is the one who is usually spoken of as the "head" by us men folks, was no other than T. L. O'Harra, mayor of Gering. He expressed regret that it had been his fortune—misfortune, perhaps—to have to be absent from home and his town when the very pick and flower of the state came to his domain, but it had so happened that it was unavoidable.

The mayor assured us that the pen-pushers would have the time of their lives while at Gering, and that committees representing the different interests of the place were all named and waiting for the guests. Banquets were planned, and other entertainment, including a visit to their big sugar plant and their great beet fields and an automobile ride. What he appeared to grieve most over, however, was the fact that he would not be able to attend the great and only "minstrel" show which the talented artists of the state press association are to favor their citizens with. We thought that owing to the high price of eggs the boys might escape, even if the mayor was not there to protect them.

Speaking of crop conditions, he said that the beet crop promised well, and is one of their principle crops. He had found roads pretty good except from Columbus to Wayne. They were driving to Minneapolis.

COUNTRY CLUB NOTES

The Country club enjoyed a visit from Dr. Eby, Bob Mason and Mr. Richards of Hartington who drove down last Sunday.

Beginning next Wednesday there will be a dance at the Country club for all club members. Dance will be held on Wednesday night until further notice. These dances are for club members only and their out of town friends.

New members of the club are Martin L. Ringer, L. W. Vath, Reuben Elarth, Clyde Williamson, G. A. Wade, W. K. Smith, J. O. Peterson of Wakefield, W. E. Philby of Sholes, L. T. Burgess, J. R. Armstrong, Harvey Neely, and D. E. Brainard.

Golfers are urged to turn in their score cards to the secretary for the purpose of handicapping. Several tournaments will be held in the near future.

NEW MOTOR FOR CITY

After much delay, and long waiting, the new motor, or generator for the city power plant came this week, and when installed will put the patrons of the new current in shape that they will not need to worry about power. They are still waiting for new bearings for the engine that is to pull this machine, and expect them any day, and then in a short time they will be off with an abundance of juice.

Owing to war demands for the output of many factories there has been a year delay—and Wayne had to wait her turn, we suppose.

ROAD DELEGATION VISIT HERE

Tuesday a large delegation of farmers from south of Wakefield visited the county commissioners in session here that day to see that the proposed state road south from Wakefield was located as they thought it should be, and the road selected will be ten miles south from Wakefield on a section line, thence east to the county line, where it enters Thurston county.

J. M. ROBERTS TOPS MARKET

On the last Monday market at Omaha J. M. Roberts had three cars of cattle from his feed lots here that were good enough to top the market. They were a well-finished bunch, averaging 1327 pounds, and sold at $17.65, which Mr. Roberts said did not leave him much margin, but if they were the best, and sold the best it was all he could do, and he must be satisfied.

Wynot people are to vote on the question of securing a municipal water and light plant. A shortage of water and the need of making wells in another part of the town is one of the reasons why action is to be taken on the question.

This is a day to be looking up if you want to see things. Nearly every week we read of some people in neighboring towns looking up and seeing an airship sail over. At Chicago, one failed to go over and came down and crushed a roof in on a large building and caused the death of several people.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Fogleson and their son, Rennzie, who has but recently returned from oversea service, were here to visit at the home of her sister, Mrs. Ed Ellis. They drove to Wisner Friday to visit Mr. Ellis, who is engaged with the Savidge Amusement Co. Saturday morning they left for their home at Woodbine, Iowa.

Joe Ellenberg returned home the last of the week from an absence of two or three months. Seven weeks of the time he spent at Hot Springs, Arkansas, where he took treatment for a cough and throat trouble which had been bothering him for some time. He was much improved by the rest and treatment and climate. From here he made a trip through the south and southeast, going as far as Georgia east, and into some of the gulf states south, and returning through Texas, Oklahoma and eastern Kansas. He tells us that crop conditions looked good to him in nearly all of the country he passed through. He hopes that his throat trouble, however, will not make it seem necessary for him to cease to reside in this good county of Wayne.

WHAT THE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE IS DOING

(Briefly Told)

Plans are perfected so that the regular weather bulletins are also going to tell road conditions in a general way, a move that will be of great value to the man traveling by auto.

The fight against the barberry bushes is to continue until the plant is practically exterminated. This is done in the interest of better and greater wheat crops. Thirteen states are carrying on the fight.

It is shown that the club work among pupils of the rural schools is beneficial, and that the club members as a rule excel those who do not participate in those activities in their studies. The fact is noticed by the county superintendents.

How a bull association transformed a community with eighteen nondescript bulls into a community with one-third that number of good purebred sires from high producing ancestors is explained by an extension worker of the Dairy Division, United States department of agriculture.

It is found that the club method of interesting the young men and boys in farm work is instrumental in increasing the contentment of the lads with farm life and farm work. In fact the club is most beneficial in inspiring the lads to think and do for themselves. It has encouraged many a lad to make a start that is meaning much to him and the community in which he resides. It has been the means of the lads investing a quarter of a million dollars in government securities.

Specialists are going to help fight the diseases and insects which render the raspberry crop a failure so often in the middle west.

Another feature that is now receiving attention that will tend to make the cost of living less, or at least make the food supply more plentiful is the work under way to prevent spoilage in transit and in the markets. Refrigeration and sterilization methods are being investigated with that end in view. In the west the fruit growers have long recognized the need of such measures, and one reason why western fruit is in so much greater and better demand than from some other sections is due to the fact that it must all stand inspection, and unless it meet a certain test it can not be shipped, but must be used for canning and immediate local consumption. Candling, cooling and packing of eggs as they should be, is resulting in added dollars to the value of the hen-product of every community where the hen is grown.

A sugar cane blight is also being fought, and barred from entrance to this country. Even as the cotton enemy has been put to flight, so will the blight of the cane have to be met and defeated. In fact, the value to both producer and consumer of the systematic work of the department of agriculture is hard to estimate, but it certainly is worth to the people many times its cost, and in some instances it costs too much for the results obtained. Inefficient employees must be weeded out, on the same principle that the scrub sires are eliminated from the herds.

WANTED—A CREED

It is difficult at times, to know whether to speak kindly or unkindly of socialism. It is, in fact, difficult to talk about socialism at all.

The reason is that there is a little uncertainty as to what socialism is, at least in the average mind. There are many doctrines which we once called socialistic and which are now part of a conservative policy. One might almost say reactionary, or imperialistic.

The term "socialism" as generally understood, embraces almost anything, from the best to the worst. In the socialist party there is as much divergence of opinion as in the republican or democratic parties—probably a good deal more. It is difficult to determine upon labels for any of our parties and to classify each group under one of them.

For example, There are socialists who say that all men are born equal. This is lunacy. We are not. Some men are born transcendent geniuses, some are born imbeciles. It is not the fault of imbeciles, but the two classes are not equal. That is, unless the word "equal" means something it has never yet meant.

One man has the manual dexterity to make a first-class paper hanger. Unless a man can hang a certain number of rolls a day he can not qualify for the union. It isn't as easy as it seems. Some men try for a long time to learn it, and never succeed. They can only qualify at pushing a wheelbarrow. It is unfortunate, but we are not all born equal.

Many socialists admit this, but declare that we should all be given equal opportunities of learning. This is good sense. And if this is socialism we take off our hats to that part of it.

We have not yet attained to this consummation, but we ought to try by legislation. Many a man's best faculties remain undeveloped because he has to earn a living at a very early age. He has no time to train these dormant faculties, and is therefore at a disadvantage in competing with the rich man's son.

It is unquestionably an advantage to have a rich father, and there is no sense in taking that advantage away. That is bolshevism. Give everybody the same advantages in education; it is simply a matter of taxation. There is many a brilliant intellect which under present conditions, never works at full pressure for the benefit of mankind.

The truth of the matter is, that we are still lacking a sane and sensible creed. If the best in all parties could be grouped into one new creed we might come somewhere near to the point in the life of the present generation.—Ex.

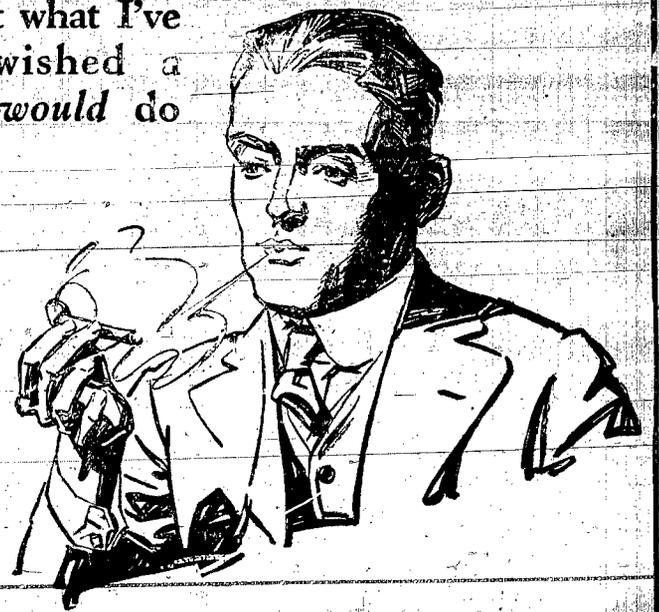

WHAT A TOWN NEEDS

After all, there are just two things that go toward making a good little town—one is persistent, thorough and attractive advertising and the other is backing up the advertising with performance. There is no use advertising if you haven't the goods and there is no use having the goods if you don't advertise them. No town was ever benefited by the man who sits down and waits for more enterprising and public-spirited persons to bring trade to him, and neither is by the man who fails to deliver the goods when called upon. The first is a leach, and the second an oyster, and both help make a cow pasture out of a town.—Gazette, Waverly, Kansas.

The feature of Chesterfields is that they begin where other cigarettes leave off.

In other words, besides pleasing the taste, Chesterfields go 'em all one better—they satisfy! Just like a long drink of cold water satisfies when you're downright thirsty.

No other cigarette can give you this new thing in cigarette enjoyment because none can copy Chesterfield's blend.

It's a blend of the finest TURKISH tobaccos from Xanthi, Cavalla, Smyrna and Samsoun and several varieties of the choicest DOMESTIC. And the blend itself—the skill with which these tobaccos have been proportioned—is a real discovery in cigarette making.

A BIT OF THE FORD TRIAL DEFINING ANARCHY

Below we give an extract from the trial of the Chicago Tribune, defending itself against the Hbel charge of Henry Ford. This bit of evidence developed during the twelfth week of the trial:

Prof Dunning was then asked to run eye through the articles and indicate the portions which would convince a critical examiner that Mr. Ford was not an anarchist. Prof. Dunning pointed to numerous references to government whose tone and context indicated that Mr. Ford believed in government.

He also called attention to Mr. Ford's numerous references to the ballot in advising its use. These, he said, indicated a confidence in the orderly processes of government.

In no writing or interview of Mr. Ford did he find a single indication that Mr. Ford was an anarchist, either in the common or philosophical conception of that term.

Tribune counsel worked hard to get damaging admissions from Prof. Dunning who, by the way, is the foremost American authority in his field.

Prof. Dunning said that the essentials of anarchy are three in number: Denial of Almighty God, abolition of property, and destruction of organized society. Anarchists oppose God, the State, and Society, because the purpose of these can only be fulfilled by the sub-ordination of Humanity.

None of these ideas, nor any ideas even remotely resembling them, occur in Henry Ford's utterances, the witness testified.

"Henry Ford knows nothing whatever of the anarchist antagonism of God."

"Henry Ford does not share the anarchist antagonism to property—quite the contrary."

"Henry Ford expresses no opposition to the orderly processes of society; he rather upholds them."

"Henry Ford stands for no idea or reform which, carried to its ultimate limit, would involve anarchy or anything resembling it."

Tribune counsel insistently linked the names of Henry Ford and Emma Goldman, intimating that both stood for the same ideas. After an exhaustive examination on the principal teachings of Emma Goldman, the witness gave the inclusive answer that their ideas were as opposite as day from night, and Emma Goldman would be the last person to say that Henry Ford was even inclined toward anarchism. It was shown that she had violently attacked the Ford profit-sharing plan, calling it "sharing with the thief," Ford being the "thief."

The present congress is fooling away a lot of time, and the president did the right thing in asking them to keep at work rather than stop for a play day. What right have they to a vacation until their work is finished?

No less authority than Charles D. Hillis, formerly chairman of the republican national committee, says that the basic idea of the league is wholly in accord with republican principles as urged and advocated by all the great leaders of the party, and the only thing wrong with the present treaty is that they did not happen to have a chance to make it.

The republican party seems to be in a fair way to split on the question of treaty ratification, and if they reject ratification they must wide open, and it is possible that their fool leaders have so committed themselves and their party that it will split whether or no. In fact, the party ties will never be strong enough to long bind the real progressive and the true blue conservative in the same party.

The Democrat has just received a number of the Dearborn Independent, the paper of Henry Ford. It contains some most excellent matter, and is neatly gotten up, and well illustrated. The number we have carries no advertising. It has a page editorial and a page called Henry Ford's Own Page. It carries some story, and articles by well-known writers on economic questions. The cartoon on the first page shows the Ultimate consumer taking punishment as Willard did, from landlord, butcher, grocer, coal dealer and taxes.

From what we have read of the evidence given the Chicago Tribune came nearer acting the part of an anarchist than did Henry Ford, whom the Tribune charged with being anarchist, and for which alleged libel Mr. Ford is asking a million dollars damage. Mr. Ford is entirely consistent in his plea for damages, because he believes in publicity and buys it in large quantities. But for one in business who never advertises a plea for damages because of publicity would not be consistent, because they do not value publicity favorable to their business sufficiently to buy it, though it is offered at very reasonable prices.

ONE MORE CHANCE

Information comes from Washington that there is one more chance to repeal the daylight saving law at this session of the congress. It will be remembered that President Wilson vetoed the entire agricultural appropriation bill because it carried a clause repealing the daylight saving law. We cannot help but believe that President Wilson was badly advised of the wishes and desires of the people of the United States and if he doesn't find it out before the next election rolls around he will at least find it then.

An attempt to pass a bill carrying a repeal over the president's veto failed. A bill has passed the house relating only to the so-called daylight saving law. This bill calls for its immediate repeal. It is now before the senate and according to senators who claim to know it will undoubtedly pass, for the senate only recorded six votes against the amendment to the agricultural bill.

It would now seem that the only chance to secure a repeal this year is to convince President Wilson that the people actually want the law repealed. This can only be done by getting as directly in touch with him as possible. During the last seven or eight months he has not been in the United States and so we may assume has not been informed of the widespread feeling among the rural people caused by the injustice that the law works. He can be speedily informed concerning the situation if farmers will individually write or telegraph, or if every Grange, Farmers' Union, Society of Equity or other farmers' organization will send petitions stating why they are calling for such a repeal. The most important thing is to send these petitions at once and to send them direct to President Wilson. Speed is needed and action of this sort must certainly be taken if the law is to be changed this year.—Nebraska Farmer.

OUR NEW DAIRY LAW

We hear some complaint about the new dairy law, and cannot yet say whether or not we think the law or the complaint just, but while it seems to some a hardship, it may not so prove. But a few years ago the producers thought it wrong not to let them sell rotten eggs and not pay a penalty, but the enforcement of the egg law has made the hen and her fruit worth more to the people of Nebraska than they were before.

One of the deputy commissioners has been in this part of the state and will soon be in this county. Here are some of the provisions of the law:

The new dairy law provides that all producers and dealers of milk and cream sold for consumption as milk and cream must secure a license when the product is obtained from a herd consisting of more than five cows. This license must be secured from the Food, Drug, Dairy and Oil commission, and the fee charged is $1 per year. The license is not transferable and expires on July 1, next following its issue.

A license is not required for (a) a producer or dealer who sells the product obtained from a herd of five cows or less, (b) a producer or dealer who sells his entire product to be manufactured into butter, cheese, ice cream or condensed milk.

The law also provides that no milk shall be sold which has been taken (a) from any animal having any disease or sickness, (b) from any animal which has not been examined by a duly licensed veterinarian, and certified by him to be free from disease, within not to exceed one year previously. Milk which has been taken from any animal which has not been examined by a licensed veterinarian, must be pasteurized before it is offered for sale. This latter provision applies to all producers of milk or cream regardless of the size of the herd, whenever the product is sold to be consumed as milk or cream.

ARE WE LAND CRAZY?

If so it is becoming world-wide.
But we are not wild or crazy.
People are now waking up to Land Values.

I have been making regular trips to Cheyenne county, Nebraska, and to Cheyenne county, Colorado, in vicinity of Cheyenne Wells, and I have seen their crops there—I have taken men there to see the crops—and after seeing they wanted some of the land that raised such crops—and in the past few weeks many pieces of land have been sold through my agency—a total of several sections. If you want land that will advance in price as surely as land is doing here—as it is doing in Iowa, come with me and price some of the good land I am offering in these good western localities. I can tell you truthfully that it will advance sharply in price very shortly—in fact it is already doing so. Every advance in this country—and you know they are being made daily, means an advance there. It is the only logical conclusion. In these western counties men of more moderate means can buy—men of ample means can purchase more acres.

If you want a home we can locate you where opportunity is good—if you want an investment, we feel confident that we can help you make it where it will prove valuable—especially if you decide to purchase in the very near future.

Call and let us talk it over in confidence.

Those "red-blooded Americans" who are opposing the league of nations are taking the same position that the pacifists did prior to the world war. They are like those who said that we should stay off the high seas because Germany made the great sea highway unsafe by her barbarous submarine warfare. These anti-league agitators would make the "world safe for democracy" on the Chinese method. They would have America crawl into her hole and pull the hole in after her. A league of nations, to prevent war insofar as that is humanly possible has been dreamed of for many years. It is the dream of idealism, to be sure, but it now has the best show of being put into practical application that it will ever have, providing there are not too many fool "red-blooded Americans" who have not yet passed beyond the stage of the primitive real Americans of the colonist times. Miss Barbara Goedert, from the Mrs. Jeffries store is in the eastern market getting pointers on the new fall millinery and selecting stock. She will visit St. Paul, Minneapolis and other millinery centers.

Albert MacGregor, who has been employed at Tekamah for several months, came home the last of the week to have vacation until school begins, when he plans to go to Lincoln and enter school there.

Misses Anna and Esther Vennenberg left Tuesday morning to visit relatives at Stanton, Red Oak and Essex, Iowa. They will make headquarters with their uncle Axel Vennenberg at Stanton, and from there make trips to the other two places.

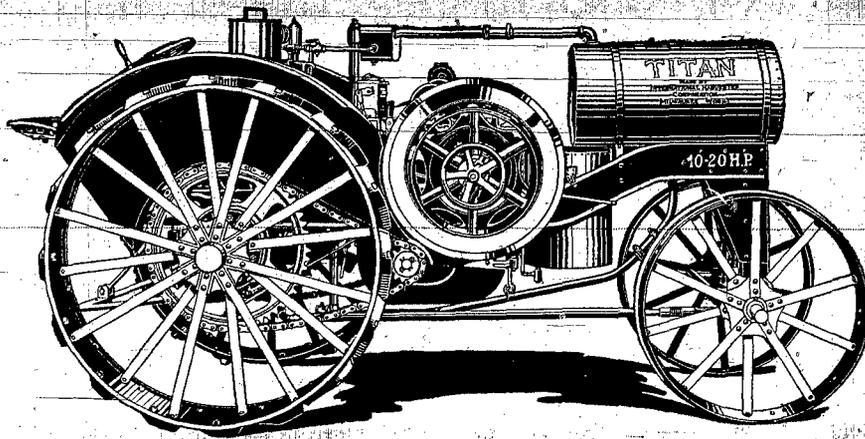

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hughes and daughter, Miss Ina, left Tuesday morning to establish a new home at Seattle, Washington. They have been respected residents of Wayne county for the past thirty years, and have many friends who regret their going, wish them well in their new home and assure them a hearty welcome should they ever decide to again make their home at Wayne.

Robert Stambaugh and sister, Miss Addie, left Tuesday afternoon to visit their old home in the vicinity of Blair, Pennsylvania. They plan to be absent about five weeks, and will spend most of the time among relatives in Perry county. It has been several years since they have visited there, and they anticipate a good time. The sister was cautioned to keep a very close watch of the brother and not let any of the fair maiden ladies of the "keystone" state, of which it is said there are many, capture the young man and snare him with a matrimonial noose. But we think this precaution unnecessary for Robert has been eligible for many years and wise enough to escape.

R. V. Smith returned Sunday from a trip to Joplin, Missouri, where he was called by the death of his brother. On the return trip, which he made mostly in day time journeys, he noted crop conditions as well as one could from the train. He saw no place where they looked better than in this vicinity, and few that looked as well. He came through southern Iowa on the Burlington from the south to Oskola, and then west to the river, and said that it looked pretty dry, and that corn was thin. Of hay, he said he saw more in eastern Nebraska, than in all the rest of the trip together. He said that the lead and zinc mines there were closed down, as the prices of their product and the demand for the same is much less now than before the war ended. But that is about the only thing we have heard of that has come off the perch.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Jeffries returned last Thursday evening from a month's vacation trip spent in the west, where they visited her sister at Washington, Washington, and went sightseeing in many places. They were at Seattle, Portland, Van Couver and other lesser cities. Enroute they spent most of three days each at Salt Lake City and Denver. Mrs. Jeffries is enthusiastic over the outlook for the future of the west, and says they are full of push. They start a town out there, and pave it and build it all at the same time. The fruit there is something which appealed, and especially did they appreciate going out into the garden patch back of the house and gathering a bucket of choice berries, which grow there in numerous variety and endless profusion. They have ever-bearing berries which supply the table all the season through. Mrs. Jeffries is anxious to make a fortune in business here and retire when she will pick a home some where in that land of fruit and delightful climate, where the nights are not so hot and the winters not so cold. They are promising themselves another vacation trip there next year.

$225 Cut in Price of Titan 10-20

Beginning July 1st, 1919, the 1920 price of the Titan 10-20 kerosene tractor is $1,000 cash f. o. b. factory; $1050 when time is given.

Reasonable terms will be given to any man who needs the Titan now and cannot pay cash in full. These terms are new.

We have reduced the price of the Titan 10-20 from $1,225 to $1,000. This big cut is not justified by present prices of materials and labor, but is made in anticipation that the largely increased volume of business developed will offset the reduction. The Titan now becomes the world's most popular priced 3-plow tractor.

If you have been holding off buying a tractor because $1,000 was your limit for a good 3-plow machine, your price will now buy the best one.

To sell the Titan 10-20 at this low price, not a single necessary feature has been taken off to be bought at extra cost. The Titan comes to you complete. The Harvester Company is too old at the business to offer you a tractor which is not 100% efficient at the drawbar and 100% efficient on the belt.

Remember, the Titan is a 3-plow tractor. Don't confuse it with low-powered 2-plow machines. For a fair comparison as to price, add one-half the cost of any 2-plow tractor to its advertised price, then add the cost of all the extras you must buy, and that will put it on a par with the Titan 3-plow tractor. Then compare values.

In addition, remember the Titan is a genuine kerosene tractor. Gasoline as tractor fuel is unwarranted extravagance. Don't forget that we give you a written guarantee that the Titan operates efficiently on kerosene.

You can't make a mistake if you select a Titan 10-20 at its present low price. It will give you power satisfaction that will stand by you steadily season after season at drawbar and belt. You may rely on Harvester reputation for good service and fair dealing. Go to your dealer. Arrange for immediate shipment. This price reduction may make delivery difficult later. Place your order now.

These Features, Regular with Titan, are Charged for Extra by Some Tractor Makers:

- Friction Clutch Pulley—No extra charge.
- Throttle Governor—No extra charge
- Starting and Service—No extra charge.
- Drawbar—No extra charge.
- Fenders—No extra charge.
- Platform—No extra charge.

PACKING COMPANIES ATTACKED IN SENATE

Debate on the Kenyon bill for the regulation and licensing of the packing industry in America brought out some serious charges against the great packing companies on the floor of the senate recently. Senator Kenyon, of Iowa, republican, said that the packers were maintaining vast lobbies for the defeat of the legislation. On the other hand Senator Smoot of Utah, also a republican, said that the National Wholesale Grocers' association was just as active in support of the measure, and Senator Sherman, republican, of Illinois, said that supporters of the Kenyon bill were engaged in propaganda in order to pass the bill.

In the course of his speech Senator Kenyon said that the packers constituted the most powerful industrial influence in the United States and were a "menace." He also said that he spoke before the senate on the matter "because it is impossible to get anything in the newspapers concerning the packers." He added that the people are as vitally interested in reducing the high cost of living as they are in the proper disposition of the league of nations problem.

"The people," the senator said, "are looking to congress to do something. The only bills before congress that try to do something are those of myself and Senator Kendrick, of Wyoming. It is apparent they have many rocks in their path, with some thorns on the side."

"Never has there been such a campaign to debauch the American press," the senator continued. Advertising space, he asserted, had been bought lavishly in the newspapers "for no purpose but to sway editorial opinion."—Blair Pilot.

Prof. J. G. W. Lewis of Wayne, was in the city yesterday and had the following to say concerning the constitutional convention: "The things that most need emphasis just now relative to the coming constitutional convention, are the type of work to be done and the type of men best fitted to do it. The work is to be that of suggesting material improvements in the fundamental law of the state under which people of all opinions and occupations must somehow live together.

"This is not to be attained simply by having different classes of men in the convention pitted against each other in a sort of balance of power. The work calls for a concert of the best powers that can be concentrated upon it. It is pre-eminently a matter of establishing correct relationships. Each delegate should be able to contribute something to this general co-operative effort, and should be broad-minded enough to see things in relation. These it would seem, should be better tests of qualifications than is membership in any calling, or mere voting power in the convention.

"Fears are expressed in many quarters that this is not a good time to make changes in a constitution because of an existing spirit of radicalism. On the contrary it may confidently be stated that the people as a whole will probably be found too conservative to support some of the most radical proposals. They probably are less radical now than they will be two years hence if they denied a hearing."

ADVANTAGES OF AN ALFALFA COUNTRY IN DAIRYING

From the report of the different dairy associations to the national show, we glean the following figures which tend to show the advantages which may accrue to the farmers of this country who care to enter the dairy branch of farming over that of a section where they cannot get the alfalfa except by adding freight cost to the original cost of the feed where it is grown as easily as in this vicinity. The report says:

That profits may sometimes be increased by the substitution of legums for a large part of the concentrates in the dairy ration, is brought out by cow-testing association records obtained by the Dairy division of the United States department of agriculture. The records from six associations where alfalfa formed a large part of the dairy ration was compared with the records from eight associations where legums were fed sparingly with the following results:

In the alfalfa district the cost of grain was 16 per cent of the total feed cost, and in the other district the cost of grain was 41 per cent of the total feed cost. The average milk yield of the alfalfa-fed cows was 6,895 pounds and the average yield of butter fat was 251 pounds. In the other districts the average milk yield was 5,234 pounds and the average yield of butterfat was 238 pounds. For the alfalfa-fed cows the average income over cost of feed was $73 and for the grain-fed cows the average income over the feed was $37.

The alfalfa-fed cows may have been better cows and the climate may have been better adapted to dairying, but as both districts are favorably known for their dairy products it may be assumed that the cows were of good quality and well cared for in both districts. It seems fair, therefore, to conclude that the higher production and greater income above feed cost of the alfalfa-fed cows was due largely to the feeding of home-grown legums. In any case it is well worth while for the farmers of one district to study the feeding practices of other districts. If legums add to net profits, why not grow and feed more legums? If the soil is not adapted to legums it may pay to add lime or manure, or whatever else it lacks in order that the dairy herd may be supplied with an abundance of home-grown legums.

WHAT THE PRESIDENT DID
(by John F. Moores, Member of Boston Finance Commission and Member of Harvard Corporation.)

The president could not in six months transform human nature throughout the world. Only the ages can do that, and until human nature changes the task which he set himself will not be fully accomplished. But he has taken the lead in transforming the old diplomatic standards of the world. It was he and not Clemenceau or Lloyd George who stood alone against what seemed to him unjust Italian ambitions and appealed to the world over the heads of the Italian peace delegation. Neither Clemenceau nor Lloyd George faced the world even in company with him against Italy, yet he did not lose their good will and cooperation. It was clearly he who took the lead in denying to France her cherished "protection" in the

More than 32,871,000 tins of Velvet Tobacco were sent to the boys in France—enough, if placed end to end, to reach 2340 miles or nearly from New York to Brest. How much it helped them, their friendly letters testify.

Velvet makes friends easily—because, like true friendship, it has been allowed to ripen naturally. For two years, Velvet ages in wooden hogsheads, and when it comes out it is just right—no kick, no bite, no harshness.

The president has laid at our feet a priceless opportunity. Shall we pass it by and prefer the mess of pottage that the senate has been holding before us while he has been gone?

NATIONAL THRIFT CAMPAIGN: WHAT CAN WE DO WITHOUT?

When the Savings Division of the Treasury Department appointed Dr. J. Stanley Brown of Joliet, Illinois, in charge of a thrift campaign in the schools, organizations throughout the country began to formulate independent campaigns through other channels.

In Chicago, a Do-Without Club of national scope has been formed to further the savings habit, and is furnishing free membership buttons and pledges to those in any part of the country who wish to join and save money for some definite purpose, and who send stamped addressed envelopes to headquarters, 634-635, 410 S. Michigan Ave., Chicago, for return literature. There are no membership dues and no expense to members.

Mrs. Roy Dickey, former editor of one of the national magazines, organized the Do-Without Club during the war as part of her work in connection with the Woman's Committee Council of National Defense.

"We should not lose the spirit either of saving or growing which the war encouraged," says Mrs. Dickey. "Dr. J. Stanley Brown says that everybody who 'sufficiently desires' can put away some part of every income. The Do-Without Club preaches systematic saving for the future good of the individual and a considered use of the pennies, dimes or dollars we expect to give to church, Sunday school, home charities, or other worthy objects. We believe the American public needs to learn to think about saving and think about proper methods of saving."

THE GOVERNOR'S CHANCE

Governor McKelvie now has in his hand an anti-profiteering weapon of his own devising. In his address to the legislature, refusing to call a special session to deal with profiteering the governor said:

"There was introduced in the regular session two bills bearing upon this subject either of which would meet the requirements of the situation quite full. Senate File No. 2, known as the Code Bill, passed both houses and is now being delayed, pending the decision of the court upon the sufficiency of a referendum petition which was attempted to be invoked against it.

"The state administration some time ago prepared a plan of procedure for handling this matter. This action has been delayed, pending the decision of the courts with reference to the referendum against the Code Bill."

The court has now denied the validity of the referendum against the "Code Bill" and the governor has ordered it put in immediate effect. With abiding trust in the governor's declaration that this law "meets the requirements of the situation quite fully, the people await with interest what the governor will do to bring down the high cost of living.—World-Herald.

day or two while visiting this part of the country. Mrs. Brown has been visiting her parents at Winside for several weeks, and other places in the state, and came to greet her Wayne friends before returning to her California home at Porterville.

The afternoon was happily passed, every member of the club who is in the city being present to extend greeting to a former member. The hostess served dainty refreshments.

Monday was a gala day for O. S. Gamble and family, who are planning ere long to go to California. In order that they might become a bit used to picnicking, and sporting in the waves, a party of two score or more of their relatives went with them to spend Monday at Crystal lake, and four car loads went down and passed the day at that place. Bathing, swimming, fishing and a big picnic dinner and supper made the entertainment for the day, which was an ideal one. Among those who went besides the ones in whose honor the event was planned were J. S. and Will Gamble and families and E. Fox and wife from this place and J. H. Smith and family from Carroll. It was a jolly party and they made a full day of it.

The young people of the Baptist church held one of their monthly social parties at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rimmel Friday evening, and this was no exception to the rule of having a splendid time at these gatherings. Host and hostess demonstrated that they are royal entertainers. Elegant refreshments were served.

One of the recent social events was the lawn party given last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lessman. The evening was happily spent in games and various other amusements, and listening to music and song.

The basket picnic of the Missionary society, planned to be with Mrs. W. A. K. Neely has been postponed. The regular meeting will be with Mrs. C. W. Hiscox, Thursday, August 14, at 8 o'clock.

The Helping Hand society meet Thursday the 14th at the home of Mrs. Andrew Stamm in an all-day session to sew for the hostess.

POLICE AND COUNTY COURT REPORT FOR WEEK

Four were fined for speeding by His Honor during the past week, as follows: Harold Bonta, Fred DeGraff, F. H. Benschhof, S. A. Lutgen, in the police court.

In county court John Nugent was fined for driving car without license or number. August Frederickson, a farmer from near Hartington who was brought in here and unloaded took drunk to know where he was at, was fined $25 and costs. His story was that he had missed the train at Wakefield and paid an auto man $20 to drive him to Hartington, and he had left him here instead. At any rate he woke up in the Wayne jail instead of at Hartington.

Emil Luntz brought a suit against Geo. Harder for $81.50 for wages, and when the testimony was all in, court gave Harder judgment for $23.35, indicating that something must have been wrong with Luntz's bookkeeping.

Wm. Moran was brought before the court this morning on a charge of participating in an automobile ride the night of July 4th in a car not his own, waived examination and gave bond for appearance at district court.
